    from Reed Smith. I didn't hear anyone else on the line.
 3 don't know if they're planning to appear, or if there's anyone 4 else that they're waiting for. But I should, just as good 5
    form, make sure that everybody that's expected to be here is 6
    here.
8
             THE COURT:
                         Okay.
                         Good morning, Your Honor. This is Josh
 9
             MR. PELES:
            I'm trying to get in touch with my colleague. My 10 11 apologies.
12
             THE COURT:
                         Okay. No problem. Would you like us to wait, or would you like to proceed?
13
             MR. PELES:
                         If you give me just a minute, I can report
14
    back.
                         Okay. We'll hold on.
16
             THE COURT:
17
             MR. PELES:
                         Sorry, Your Honor.
             THE COURT: We'll hold on for a moment. Let us know 18
    when you can.
19
                           Your Honor, it's Lou Solomon with 21

    I apologize. I had spasmed by back and I was not able to get 22 in on my phone when I was at the urgent care place. So I do 23 apologize.
24
25
             THE COURT: No worries.

8 1 MR. SOLOMON: Terribly sorry. THE COURT: No worries. Thank you for joining. 2 3 MR. SOLOMON: I am terribly sorry. THE COURT: Thank you. 4 5 Who would like to begin? Good morning, Your Honor. Kyle Ortiz oh 6 MR. ORTIZ: 7 HSF Kramer for Eletson Holdings. Your Honor, we filed an revised agenda at docket 1791. Unless Your Honor has anything 8 you'd like to address first, we had planned to just kind of 9 10 jump into that agenda. THE COURT: Okay. 11 MR. ORTIZ: Thank you, Your Honor. The first item on 12 the agenda is holdings application for fees and costs, which we 13 filed at docket 7029. There was an objection by Respondent and 14 15 adjoined to that objection by that certain former shareholders that were filed at docket 1755 and 1782, respectively. 16 filed our reply on Sunday at docket 1787, Your Honor. As 17 usual, Your Honor, the objection contains a lot of volume and 18 protest, includes some efforts that were arguing issues long 19 ago settled by this Court. 20 It makes the latest ask for a back door stay, but not 21 a terrible amount of substance. In the first instance, Your 22 Honor already ruled on May 15th that we are entitled to the 23 The only real question for today is are the fees sought 24 reasonable? And under the applicable lode star method we submitted, Your Honor, that it is clear from the time records that the time spent was reasonable under the kind of truly unique circumstances presented by this case post effective date, Your Honor.

As Your Honor determined when entering the fee order at docket 1712, both violating parties quote, "Willfully disregarded and continued to willfully disregard this Court's decisions and orders including the confirmation order, the January 24 decision, the consummation order, the February 20th decision, the AOR sanctions order, the March 12th decision, and the foreign opposition sanctions order", end quote.

And as Your Honor is fully aware, having subsequently entered further sanctions orders, the violating parties' willful disregard of those orders and decisions has continued unabated. Thus, there's also an element of absurdity to parties, that refuse to comply with orders once entered, objecting to relief that they have demonstrated that they won't comply with in any event. Similarly, Your Honor, the repeated presentation and argument of already settled issues while simultaneously refusing to comply with any of the multiple orders of this Court is the definition of frivolous and is frankly evidence of the unnecessary expense that we continue to be subjected to.

For instance, the objection claims that the efforts in Greece and Liberia are not compensable because the plan is supposedly replete with provisions about compliance with foreign law. But as Your Honor is aware, this court and the district court have rejected that argument repeatedly. For instance -- just one of many examples -- on January 20th, Your Honor stated in response to identical arguments that, quote, "The Court disagrees for the following reasons: The Court agrees with Reorganized Holdings, that just because the plan references applicable law that does not mean that there's applicable law that needs to be applied here or that is not being followed for purposes of this motion."

And I'm sure I don't need to remind Your Honor that all of these parties are related parties that are required, pursuant to the confirmation order and the consummation order, to work in good faith to implement a plan. They have not. Your Honor has already determined back on May 15th, their contempt has led to the necessity to bring multiple sanctions motions leading to the entry of multiple sanctions orders and we are entitled to fees and costs for being forced to bring such motions. And we have only had to bring further motions because they continue to willfully disregard multiple orders of this Court.

To state the obvious, Your Honor, that is not normal. This is not ordinary course litigation like the cases that they misleadingly cite, like, Creative Resource Group and others in paragraph 31 of their objection about costs that would have been incurred in the normal course of litigation. Those cases simply do not apply here, Your Honor. The litigation happened last year. We're not here asking Your Honor for reimbursement for the confirmation trial. These are additional actions required to be brought because the violating parties have refused to comply with the Court's orders post-litigation through to today.

There is no legitimate question that these expenses were only incurred because of actions that this Court has already found to be contemptuous of previously entered orders. Most notably, the unstayed confirmation order. The cases talking about ordinary litigation are completely incalculable. If this sort of conduct were ordinary, we'd have a complete breakdown of the judicial system. The proper functioning of the judicial system, or any judicial system, relies on those involved respecting and upholding court decisions. Here, sadly, we have a coordinated campaign to undermine court decisions.

I'm not going to spend much time, Your Honor, on the argument that the Court should defer ruling on the applications until all of the countless appeals are resolved. This argument has been made and rejected many times. Most recently on July 2nd, when the Court ruled in connection with a motion for further sanctions. And as is equally applicable here, quote, "Here, deferring ruling on the motion to increase sanctions would advantage the objecting parties by allowing them to avoid increased and additional sanctions pending appeal. Especially as noted since Reorganized Holdings has raised additional material violations that warrant this court's rulings."

This Court also ruled on the appeal issue in connection with this very motion previously on May 15th, stating, quote, "Provisional Holdings and Elafonissos argue that the Court cannot award damages in the form of attorney's fees because the January 29th order and March 13th order are on appeal to the district court. However, the Court disagrees. The Court has the authority to impose additional sanctions. In this case, the attorney's fees are expressly provided in the Court's prior orders based on the violating party's failure to comply with the Court's previous orders", end quote.

Your Honor then supported your conclusion with a discussion of the BOC Aviation Limited Case. All the counsel on the line today were on the line for that ruling, and yet they're still making those exact same arguments to Your Honor. It's impeachable, but it's also consistent with the attitude that they've taken towards the Court since the confirmation decision. Namely, Your Honor, that they don't have to comply with orders they don't agree with. And again, this simply evidences why these fees are justified.

Your Honor, these fees were incurred to combat a uniquely obstruction campaign. It's led to numerous sanctions.

13
    And unfortunately, to date still, no compliance. They are 1 absolutely reasonable, and to rule otherwise would simply 2 embolden and reward those who seem to believe themselves beyond 3
    the Court's reach.
 4
             I should also note, Your Honor, that most of the 5
    parties didn't respond. They continued to allow Reed Smith, 6
    through the Trojan horse of Provisional Holdings or Respondent or whatever it is they're called today, to essentially 8 represent them all. Here or not here, they should all be 9
    sanctioned.
10
             Therefore, we respectfully request, Your Honor, that 11 the Court enter the order as adjusted to reflect the voluntary 12
    deferrals of $171,086.30 that were noted in our reply in response to some of the issues raised. Unless Your Honor has any questions, that's all I have for now.
15
16
             THE COURT:
                         Thank you, counsel.
                         Thank you, Your Honor.
17
             MR. ORTIZ:
             THE COURT: Would anyone else like to be heard in 18 support of the motion? Okay. Would anyone like to be heard in 19 opposition?
20
             MR. SOLOMON: Yes, Your Honor. Lou Solomon for -- I'm 21
    not sure that -- are there others who wish to be heard?
22
    don't need to go first, but I'm happy to.
             MR. BODNAR: Rich Bodnar from RKS, but we'll follow
24
25

MR. SOLOMON: All right. Thank you. The entity that we are representing, Your Honor, is not trying to pick a fight with any court. Our client is doing everything he can to comply with all of the orders, as is Reed Smith. Nor does Reed Smith represent all of the parties. We represent an entity that Mr. Ortiz was calling Provisional Holdings. I don't want to trip any wire. The Second Circuit has described a client of Reed Smith as Eletson Holdings, and that's the entity that we are representing. We believe that we are entitled to represent that entity, and that entity is entitled to be heard. Unless Your Honor wishes -- I'll call it anything Your Honor wants. I thought I would call it Holdings Greece or Provisional Holdings just so that we don't get ourselves confused.

We do recognize that there are issues here. We don't think that now is an appropriate time to issue a lump sum undifferentiated attorney's fees orders. Our client was a Respondent on one motion. The waving of the hand by Mr. Ortiz that, well, they're all the same and Reed Smith keeps representing all of them is simply not true, not proven, never found. Not by Your Honor, not by Judge Liman, not by the Second Circuit. There are clear issues here. The court in Greece that found that what Murchinson is doing with the bankruptcy order of this court is, in fact, a disgrace under public policy.

It's unlawful under public policy, violates international law, is something that Provisional Holdings has been arguing and is in fact, reflected in some of what the Reorganized Holdings is arguing with respect to some of the orders at issue here. So this is -- it may not be a common case, Your Honor, but it's not a common case because in our mind the abuse that's being leveled by Reorganized Holdings. And we do think it is the perfect case for Your Honor to accept the cases that we have cited in our opposition where it makes, sense since these matters are on appeal, to defer this. This is not a question of whether Your Honor has jurisdiction; we don't dispute that issue.

On the other hand, the Second Circuit says that Your Honor is not required to resolve the motion before the appeal is completed. Courts in this circuit regularly defer the award of attorney's fees or deny the motion without prejudice pending the resolution of an appeal on demerits. And when we were here a couple of times ago, Your Honor, the Second Circuit had stated its confidence in Your Honor and in Judge Liman to protect privileges. And Your Honor had said at that point that Your Honor felt without jurisdiction because the matter was on appeal. I think that's the proper paradigm here.

If Your Honor wishes to proceed notwithstanding the appeals, which go to the heart of the attorney's fees, then we do urge -- I'll be very brief, we have put it into our papers -- lumping together all of these parties is a denial of due process. Lumping together all of the fees and saying, well, they must have been reasonable, and now coming up in their reply with a handcrafted exclusion that we can't test at all, is not the stuff of due process. We don't think that it's appropriate.

Our client was a Respondent on one of the motions. Why do they want joint and severable liability against our client for all of the motions? That's obviously not proper. It doesn't behoove Mr. Ortiz to say, well, this is extraordinary litigation. Do you know when judges feel that there's litigation that's extraordinary, then sometimes extraordinary errors are made.

And Your Honor should decline to do that. So telling us that they're carve out things that we don't know what they're doing, telling us that -- trust them, okay, they have incurred these costs in connection with the right motion is not anything that can be trusted because it's not an evidentiary form and it's not anything that Your Honor should rely on. I would be happy to answer any other questions, but otherwise, I will rest on the papers and hope that we have covered the issues in our papers.

THE COURT: Thank you, Counsel.

MR. BODNAR: Your Honor, Rich Bodnar from Rolnick Kramer Sadighi for the former majority shareholders and Elafonissos. If Your Honor will permit, I'll be very brief.

THE COURT: Please.

MR. BODNAR: Mr. Ortiz's presentation lays bare exactly the problem here. He uses the term violating parties with a handwave. He never specifies what any particular violating party has done, what fees were expended with that particular violating party. And then worse, he says at the very end of his presentation, well, some are here, and some are not here, but it doesn't matter.

Your Honor, I represent specific clients. I don't represent some sort of inculcate group. And Mr. Ortiz's papers in, frankly, both applications have made no effort to separate the fees associated with each individual party. We should not be held responsible for people who aren't here, simply put. And I'm sure that they wouldn't want to be held responsible for anything done by those who are here. These fundamental issues, as Mr. Solomon just mentioned, go to due process and they should be fatal for this particular application. Thank Your Honor for your time.

THE COURT: Thank you, counsel. Did anyone else wish to be heard in opposition to the motion? Counsel?

MR. ORTIZ: Good morning, Your Honor. Kyle Ortiz of HSF Kramer for Eletson Holdings. I don't think that requires much of a response. I'm just going to note really quickly on the Greek order, I think that public policy argument was kind of remarkably dishonest. I'm not going to get into it because I know that Your Honor reads and doesn't need us all to mischaracterize or characterize. The words on the page say what they say.

And frankly, the concept of it being a group of companies as opposed to Eletson Holdings was introduced by these very parties in obstruction. And it led to some confusion for the Greek court, which again, is the whole purpose of saying they need to withdraw those oppositions. So that's not really, I think, a useful argument for today. The comments from the Rolnick firm, I would note that the majority shareholders were involved in all of this, in every single one of these motions. So I don't think it's really relevant that there's parties that aren't here that nobody is speaking for. Although, these parties do often speak for them.

In any event, I do think that all of these motions and all of the evidence that people talk about, Your Honor, we've done that for the last eight months and it's all been put in. The only party that had no involvement in one of these motions was -- the minority shareholders didn't have an involvement in the AOR motion. I think that comes to $469,000 that they would not be responsible for. And that would be carved out in the order that we send down to Your Honor. But otherwise, we believe all these parties are certainly involved in all of these actions to obstruct the plan, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Thank you, Counsel.

Did anyone else wish to be heard?

MR. SOLOMON: Your Honor, Lou Solomon. I have one factual statement if Your Honor please. Provisional Holdings was not named in any motion until April. Thank you.

THE COURT: Thank you, counsel.

MR. ORTIZ: Your Honor, sorry, if I may respond really quickly to that. Kyle Ortiz of HSF Kramer. I would note that the very first order that you entered, the consummation order says the debtors and the related parties. As you know, Your Honor, we've been dealing with, like, the goofiness of this nomenclature because it's unique in maybe once in the history of the law thing where there's somebody who just continues to show up and pretend that they're an entity. And using the term Provisional Holdings or calling them the debtors or calling them the provisional board, I don't think -- I think it's a difference without a distinction. Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Thank you, Counsel.

Did anyone else wish to be heard? Okay. Pending before the Court is Eletson Holdings Inc.'s application for attorney's fees and costs. The fee application was filed at docket 1729 on July 16th, 2025. And in connection with the fee application, also submitted the declaration of Kyle Ortiz in support of Eletson Holdings' application for attorney's fees and costs, that is at docket 1730; and the declaration of James Pierre in support of Eletson Holdings' application for attorney's fees and costs, that is at docket 1732; and the declaration of Maria Orfanidou (ph.) in support of Eletson Holdings' application for attorney's fees and costs, that is docket 1733.

Eletson Holdings seeks attorney's fees and costs for Togut, Segal, and Segal; DK Avgitidis and Associates; and Pierre, Tweh, and Associates from November 11th, 2025 through May 2025, in the amount $2,083,529.33 in fees and $19,105.05 in expenses. That's from docket 1729 of pages 4 through 5. If the application was filed pursuant to this Court's entry awarding attorney's fees and costs, the attorney's fees order we will call it, which is at docket 1712, which was entered on July 2nd 2025. Which granted the motion for entry of an order awarding attorney's fees and costs, that attorney's fees motion was at docket 1597, and that motion had been filed on April 16th, 2025.

In the attorney's fees order, the Court approved the attorney's fees motion pending an application detailing the fees. Again, that's at docket 1712. On July 31st, 2024, Reed Smith filed the Eletson Holdings Inc. entities that the Second Circuit recognizes as being represented by the undersigned counsel In Re: Eletson Holdings, Inc. No. 25-176 docket 50.1. The memorandum of law and opposition to Eletson Holdings' application for attorney's fees and cost. We'll call that the Reed Smith objection at docket 1755.

Reed Smith argues interrogatory alia that the fee application is unreasonable based on the work done in the case, and that this Court should defer issuing a ruling on the motion pending the resolution of the appeals. See (indiscernible) at paragraphs 23, 43, and 54.

On August 13th, 2025, the joinder of majority shareholders and Elafonissos Shipping Corp. in opposition to Eletson Holdings Inc.'s application for attorney's fees and costs was filed. That's the shareholders objection found at docket 1782. On August 17th, 2025, Eletson Holdings filed the Eletson Holdings Inc.'s response to objections to the application for attorney's fees and costs referred to as the reply, that's at docket 1787.

To address certain objections that hadn't been filed, the reply states that the attorney's fees will be voluntarily reduced by $171,086.30. That's docket 1787 at paragraph 17. The reply also states that, quote, "Purported Provisional Holdings cannot have it both ways. Either it does not exist and therefore its objection should be disregarded, or it is pretending to exist for limited purposes and should be held responsible for the attorney's fees and costs inferred by holders to overcome the actions taken by purported Provisional Holdings", close quote. That's from docket 1787, paragraph 2.

The reply further asserts that the fees are reasonable contrary to the arguments raised by the objections and that the fees are commensurate with the time spent and actions taken post-confirmation to pursue the implementation of the Chapter 11 planning confirmation order. That's it at paragraph 12.

Now, the Court has reviewed the application at docket 1729, the declaration of Mr. Ortiz at docket 1730, the declaration of Mr. Pierre at docket 1732, and the declaration of Maria Orfanidou at docket 1733. And the Court finds that the fee application is reasonable and the request contained therein are reasonable and consistent with this Court's previous attorney's fees order and the Court's prior rulings on various motions, including as outlined in the application, the attorney's fees motion, the consummation motion, the AOR sanctions motion, the foreign opposition sanctions motion, and issues related to the Liberian proceedings, the Greek proceedings, and additional enforcement actions regarding the Court's orders.

The objections raised are overruled largely for the reasons previously ruled upon by the Court in numerous of its carious rulings, including the substantive rulings on those motions as well as the attorney's fees motion and the attorney's fees order. Therefore, the attorney's fees and expenses in the fee application, subject to the reduction of $171,086.30, the attorney's fees and expenses are granted subject to the carveout that Mr. Ortiz referenced, which is contained in the proposed order regarding the former minority shareholders and the AOR sanctions motion. Thus, the application is granted. If counsel can submit a revised order reflecting today's hearings and those revisions, that would be appreciated.

MR. ORTIZ: Good morning, Your Honor. Kyle Ortiz, HSF Kramer for Eletson Holdings. Happy to do that, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Can we move on to item 2?

MR. ORTIZ: Yes. And item 2, I think, is brought by the Greenberg Firm. So I'll hand that over to Mr. Shaftel.

MR. SHAFTEL: Thank you. Good morning, Your Honor. Hal Shaftel from Greenberg Traurig again. I think I had my courthouses inverted when I first introduced myself. We represent here the, I guess, what is labeled as the preferred nominees. I think I described us at the intervenors. That's who we are at 500 Pearl Street. And as the Court knows, my clients claim an ownership interest in the preferred shares as found by Justice Belen in the underlying JAMS arbitration.

We have a motion before the Court to quash three Rule 2004 subpoenas directed, respectively, at the three preferred nominees. There's a procedural aspect to the motion, but frankly, it really feeds into a much more substantive aspect. Procedurally of note, there are, there have been two pending adversary proceedings, which we believe override and are the appropriate -- or have been the appropriate venue for discovery. And in fact -- at least in one -- has been the venue for discovery already from my clients.

The two actions, of course, one is the arbitration case before Justice Liman where Reorganized Holdings has obtained discovery. And I think all the discovery, I could imagine, is relevant already. And two, they now have brought -- not against the preferred nominees -- but they have brought an adversary against who they describe as the formers DNO's and the former shareholders of various parties. And that's at ECF 1747. As I note, the preferred nominees are not parties to that case, however, in the application -- the ex parte application to obtain the Rule 2004 subpoenas, the purpose stated was to explore and investigate dealings of the quote, unquote "former insiders". The same parties that we know have an adversary proceeding brought against.

All this discovery should have been either -- and frankly was -- part of the case before Justice Liman or should be part of the adversary proceeding. So we have the appropriate rules about burden and efficiency and economy and allocation as to what the most efficiency sources of information is and trying to skirt that by a more roaming ambassador approach under Rule 2004, we don't think is right. And certainly it doesn't fit the circumstances here. So when a --

THE COURT: Can you tell me about --

MR. SHAFTEL: Yeah.

THE COURT: If you think you can, what discovery has taken place before Judge Liman, and have the parties discussed applying that or agreeing to use that here?

MR. SHAFTEL: Your Honor, thank you, because frankly that is my thunder. My clients have produced -- if you look at the document requests served in the case before Judge Liman and the requests that are part of the Rule 2004 subpoenas, there is virtual substantive overlap in the, I think, two or three main categories. Documents about the preferred shares, documents about vessels that are ultimately owned by entities under Gas, documents about the finances of Gas. Those were all part, the focus of the document -- the discovery requests that were made on us in the case before Judge Liman. We produced everything relevant.

By way of context, the three preferred nominees are in the nature, if you will, of investment vehicles. They're not operating companies that, frankly, have a lot of documents. But what they have were provided. Now, in that case, Reorganized Holdings largely piggy backed on Levona for the discovery, but it's the same discovery. They have it already. I had a meet and confer with Reorganized Holdings' counsel, and frankly said, what more is there? Because I'm not aware of any and nothing was identified. Maybe the one category that jumps to mind, Your Honor -- because it does make no sense -- we produced it, they have it. Making us run through hoops again makes no sense.

There is a category where we're requested to produce all documents. And I emphasize all because the law is quite clear. All documents relating to broad categories is presumptively disfavored, presumptively suspect. They asked for all documents about various proceedings. Whether it be the arbitration, foreign proceedings -- most of which, my clients are not even parties. I'm not sure what they're asking. Am I supposed to go to the public courthouses in different countries and pull documents and do Reorganized Holdings --

THE COURT: Well, so isn't it also easy to say, if it's the case, that my client doesn't have any documents on a certain category if that's the case?

MR. SHAFTEL: Your Honor, we've done it already.

We've produced these documents, and if the burden, as it is, is on Reorganized Holdings to show good cause, what more do they need? Okay. I think the burden should be on them to come to this court if it's under Rule 2004 and make that showing, particularly in the context of all the discovery that's provided. I will add that the 2004 requests include a request for depositions.

Mr. Kertsikoff appeared for deposition in the case before Judge Liman as the 30(b)(6) witness for all three. He was furnished, he was presented for all three entities.

Reorganized Holdings, for whatever tactical reason, decided to treat him as only the 30(b)(6) witness for one of the entities. But frankly, it doesn't matter because there's not a lot of daylight, if any daylight, in terms of the information and the knowledge available between these three preferred nominees.

Kertsikoff sat for eight hours of testimony.

Reorganized Holdings cross-examined him, along with Levona, during the course of the eight hours. What more do they have to ask? And at the very least, they should make a showing what more that they have to ask. They haven't, and they need to.

I'll also just note, I think, a clear technical defect. The subpoenas request on these depositions to be 5,000 miles away from where these entities and people affiliated with these entities reside. The deposition notice itself, of course, references Rule 45(c), that's 100 miles, not 5,000 miles. So maybe we can put that location issue to the side. But it's a clear, facial defect.

If there's more discovery to be had -- and frankly, Your Honor, I don't see it and I think it's undeniable they've not explained what it is. They've not identified it -- it should be done as part of -- well, it should have been done as part of the pending proceeding before Judge Liman. Maybe, if there's anything additional, as part of the adversary proceeding now brought against the very parties -- not my clients -- but the very parties that they claim they are seeking to investigate in the Rule 2004 context.

It's too many bites at the same apple. And what we're really asking for -- let's have this properly framed. And in that context, I do think we'll be arguing perhaps a lot about nothing because I do not know of any additional relevant information. To us, this smacks of harassment, it smacks of increasing our costs, it smacks of us jumping through more and more hurdles. For what? And for those reasons, Your Honor, we think these subpoenas should be quashed. They're just not proper.

THE COURT: I have a question. So I'm assuming they're going to disagree and state they need more discovery and not everything has been covered. But even in the context of the adversary, is your client -- your client's going to claim, well, we're not here, so we're not in this case, so you can't get discovery from us? Or are you saying the context of an adversary, they would be willing to produce documents and sit for depositions?

MR. SHAFTEL: Well, Your Honor, I'm not going to -and I'm not authorized to waive any substantive objections.

But there is an process in place. We are non-parties to that case. But there is a process in place to obtain discovery from non-parties, a process in place for us to large appropriate, well founded objections.

THE COURT: No, I understand. But there's also the 2004, which is also another --

             MR. SHAFTEL:
                           But Your Honor, respectfully, my motion to quash is procedurally improper. I know we're here.

I know you're hearing the arguments. But I at least want to lay out for the record that they, the purported nominees, they did not seek a meet and confer, they did not request a premotion conference. They just went straight to their motion to quash.

This is obviously a violation of chamber's rules on these issues. And the point of that is to avoid costly motions. Especially motions like this one, which are completely frivolous. Again, this is not about elevating form over substance. This is really about old Eletson's penchant for disregarding court rules and orders, obviously. Related to that, they filed their reply a day late. Of course, they said they filed it on time, but they didn't. The notice said August 17th; they filed it the next day.

And also, this may be a minor thing, but courts in this district have not found it to be minor. Mr. Shaftel signed the reply, but it was filed under the ECF of Adam Kirschbaum. This is either sloppy lawyering, or its just ignoring court rules. Either way, it's improper. So the motion to quash is procedurally improper and whether or not the Court finds that enough justification to deny it, I still wanted to lay out for the record how this is just another example of these parties ignoring this Court's orders and rules.

Now, Mr. Shaftel talked about a lot of things. Let's talk about the breadth of these subpoenas first. They've sent in their reply, and they said that they're overbroad. Look, at the end of the day, Mr. Shaftel just said they don't have a lot of documents. You can't say there's undue burden if you say you don't have a lot of documents. He's contradicting himself and just saying whatever he can to suit his client's arguments. They're not consistent.

And in any event, there was no meet and confer regarding the burden. We asked them, in a meet and confer that we requested after the motion of quash was filed, whether they would consider collecting documents, running search terms to see what the burden would be, to see if they had responsive documents, and Mr. Shaftel said no. So that meet and confer happened, but it happened after the motion was filed and they refused to look into those things. So they cannot make a burden argument. They have a duty to show burden. They didn't show it, and they didn't attempt to justify it.

When it comes to burden, the parties are supposed to talk about search terms and custodians. We know who the principals are and there could be other individuals who have documents. We have ideas for search terms. They should certainly consider those, run those, and you come back and if you have lots of hits, then you can talk about burden. On the depositions --

THE COURT: Were search terms -- sorry to interrupt -- were search terms and custodians used in the proceedings before Judge Liman?

MR. SHAUGHNESSY: Your Honor, I can't answer that question because we have not been directly involved in that. And if there were, we don't know who the custodians were or what the search terms were.

THE COURT: Okay. Fair enough.

MR. SHAUGHNESSY: That's obviously why you have a meet and confer about these issues with opposing counsel willing to discuss these issues and you figure it out. On the depositions issue, we made clear in our objection, the depositions argument is premature. We're not going to take depositions until we get documents and figure out the scope of those depositions and what we want to ask. Because we don't want to retread ground that has been covered in prior depositions. And so that issue's premature.

But I do want to point out that Judge Liman ignored and rejected the same precise arguments. He ordered that the three principals of the purported nominees show up for depositions. And only Mr. Kertsikoff showed up. The other two violated the order, did not show up. They sought reconsideration of this before they failed to show up, arguing that they were being intimidated, they were afraid of being served, afraid of being sent to jail or whatever it was. And Judge Liman rejected those arguments. So they cite a whole bunch of cases to you saying that they can object to coming 5,000 miles, but Judge Liman, in a case related to this, rejected those arguments. They didn't mention that. Again, improper lawyering. They're not being honest with you, Your Honor.

All right. Let me look at my notes. Now obviously, Mr. Shaftel said we have all these requests asking for all documents. I don't know if he's read the actual document request closely, but it's pretty boiler plate to be only asking for documents in your possession, custody, and control. We're not asking for them to give us documents that they don't have.

But these parties, since they were the debtors two years ago when the committee was conducting 2004 discovery, when the petition of creditors were conducting 2004 discovery, they were always saying that they didn't have the documents. It was some other related affiliate of Eletson that had the documents.

These parties are always looking to say that they don't have the documents and put it on someone else. So obviously, we need to understand what these parties have. And obviously, they've produced some documents in the arbitration. We were not involved in the collection process. I remember in the bankruptcy, when Reed Smith was advising the debtor at that point and representing them, they let the principals do their own document collections. I don't know if Your Honor remembered that, but that was completely improper. There was a whole dispute on that.

We need to understand how they're going to collect the documents. The documents have to be collected properly. We need to be involved and closely supervise and scrutinize how they collect those documents before they apply search terms to that collection. This is a process that needs to be done and needs to be done very carefully. Some blanket assertion that they produced thousands of pages of documents in the arbitration is meaningless without understanding how the documents were collected, filtered, reviewed, and produced.

So obviously that argument is completely baseless and meritless. Now, Mr. Shaftel talked about, we shouldn't give these parties too many bites at the apple. We're not looking for multiple bites at the apple. We are desperately trying to understand what assets there are out there, how to get control of them. These parties have been fighting the confirmation order for more than eight months. So yes, we are going after whoever we can to find out where the assets are, what they are, whether they're being misappropriated. And we're entitled to that. Your Honor's already found good cause and there is good cause.

I'm not going to go into that in any depth because it's laid out in the papers and Your Honor's already held that the principals of purported nominees and the purported nominees themselves and the former majority shareholders are all in close privity with each other, just as Judge Liman has already held. I'm not going to retread that.

Now also, about this adversary proceeding that Holdings filed on July 30th. In their reply, the purported nominees point out in -- I think it's paragraph 12 -- that Vassilis Kertsikoff was not properly served. So again, Mr. Shaftel tries to deflect and says we don't have any authority to say whether service has been accepted, but he said it was improper.

He's arguing on behalf of these people that there has been no service. So they're arguing the pending proceeding rule, but they are not admitting that there was valid service on the one party that was validly served and we're working on the other Defendants. So if you're going to say there's a pending proceeding, you have to acknowledge that it is a valid pending proceeding. Of course, Mr. Shaftel is not going to concede that, but he shouldn't be able to rely on that argument if they're argue that the pending proceeding is not, in fact, valid.

Now, Your Honor had touched on the point about the arbitration. The subpoena covers many things that do not involve the arbitration. And Your Honor also seemed to insinuate, well, whatever was produced in the arbitration, give it to us. And our view is whatever was not produced in the arbitration related to the arbitration that is relevant, that would be properly collected and searched for, filtered, reviewed, and produced should also be produced. Again, we need to scrutinize them.

I also want to point out on the pending proceeding argument, one of the purported nominee's own cases, In re:

Drexel, completely contradicts their position. And this is why I always advise our junior associates to read the cases before they go on a brief to make sure that they don't hurt our position. Now, this case completely contradicts their position. In In re: Drexel, which they cite in paragraph 5 of their reply, they cite it for the proposition that 2004 discovery is discouraged when there's a pending proceeding.

But in In re: Drexel, we had a conservator, the FDIC already had a pending proceeding against a party, but also wanted to conduct 2004 discovery against that party. And this was an SDNY case, and the court agreed that there should be 2004 discovery. And I'm going to read the quote that was obviously not included in the reply because it contradicts their position. Quote, "Good cause may ordinarily be sustained by a claim that the requested documents are necessary to establishment of the moving party's claim, or the denial of production would cause undue hardship or injustice." Let me pause right there.

With respect to Holdings, as Mr. Shaftel conceded, the purported nominees are not Defendants in this new adversary proceeding that Holdings commenced on July 30th. We are investigating claims against them, and that's totally appropriate. And obviously, we've laid out in the papers that we are desperately trying to get all the information we need to identify our assets and see what has happened to them. That's where the injustice lies.

I'm going to go back to the next part of the quote.

Quote, "There is no doubt FDIC/RTC needs a large amount of discovery to buttress its claims. It somehow seems impractical and unfair to prevent the potentially largest claimant from an investigation of the parameter of its claims and possible defenses. It is also no defense that FDIC/RTC might use the 2004 examination to bolster its claims. FDIC/RTC's claims may well have an effect on the administration of the estates."

And the court went on to say -- and this is on page 712 of the decision. It's 123 B.R. 702. Again, it's in their own reply. The court went on to say, quote, "In any event, FDIC/RTC may be entitled to the requested discovery at a future date in claims litigation or an adversary proceeding. We believe, as Thomas Jefferson said to George Wythe, quote, 'Preach a crusade against ignorance'" end quote.

Now, the point is that the discovery is relevant, it should be produced, we need it, and some pending adversary proceeding that is relevant or related should not preclude that. I'll also point out that the requests in the subpoena are not overbroad. I don't know if Your Honor's reviewed them closely. They're all about relevant issues. I'm happy to walk through them. But in our view, they would --

THE COURT: I reviewed them.

MR. SHAUGHNESSY: Oh, thank you, Your Honor. In our view, they satisfy Rule 26. This whole 2004 mechanism for a fishing expedition, that's not what we've tried to do. They're still narrowly tailored to issues that are directly relevant to the sanction's motions and to the behavior of the purported and their principals in this bankruptcy case. The overlap with the arbitration, there is some overlap with the documents requested. Duplicative documents do not need to be produced. But they have not cooperated in front of Judge Liman, and so we think it's appropriate to seek the balance of those documents in front of Your Honor because it is relevant to what is going on in front of this court.

Again, Your Honor recently held that the purported nominees violated the stay relief order by improperly updating the share registry. Of course, they're denying that they did it, or that they fixed it, or that they're in compliance. But the point is, even if they did fix it, they have been acting improperly. And yesterday, in front of Judge Liman, just yesterday after they told you that they complied with the stay relief order, they told Judge Liman that they should and do control Gas. Which again, is inconsistent with the confirmation order. And it's inconsistent with the stay relief order. But they don't care.

They talk out of both sides of their mouths. They say inconsistent and self-contradictory things and they flout court authority. I'm happy to quote their statements in front of Judge Liman. You don't have the transcript in front of you. Maybe we'll submit it. But it's clear that they have no respect for the authority of this court or Judge Liman's court. Again, two of their witnesses did not show up to a deposition after Judge Liman compelled them to come and denied their motion for reconsideration.

And by the way, Mr. Shaftel mistakes what happened with Mr. Kertsikoff. He said that Mr. Kertsikoff showed up to speak on behalf of all three purported nominees. That's, in fact, incorrect. From what we understand, Levona conducted the 30(b)(6) of two of the purported nominees and nobody showed up. And then after nobody showed up for those 30(b)(6) depositions, Mr. Kertsikoff then said he would represent all three. And Levona did not agree to that because they didn't show up to the deposition when it was noticed and when it was scheduled and compelled by the court.

Again, fast and loose, misstatement of facts, disrespect for court authority. This is why the 2004 discovery 40 1 is not only justified, but necessary. In case Your Honor has any questions, that's all I have. 2 THE COURT: Thank you, Counsel. 3 Would anyone else like to be heard in opposition to 4 the motion before I turn it back to counsel? Okay. Counsel? 5 MR. SHAFTEL: May I, Your Honor? Thank you. Yes, 6 fast and loose with facts and --7 THE COURT: Identify yourself for the record, counsel. 8 MR. SHAFTEL: I'm sorry, Your Honor. Again, Hal 9 Shaftel on behalf of the purported nominees. You know, 10 references, rhetoric about fast and loose with the facts and 11 dishonest and sloppy. I don't think it's becoming of this 12 13 virtual courtroom, but I do want to walk through, okay, the concrete -- and frankly, the concrete inaccuracies that just 14 15 filled the last X number of minutes. I'll try to do it as 16 briefly as I can, but there are some important points to be made. 17 First, just on procedure. And this I do only want to 18 briefly touch upon. The ex parte order that the court granted 19 authorizing the three subpoenas provided fourteen days for us 20 to bring a motion. We didn't seek an extension. We tried to 21 do the right thing. No good deed goes unpunished, all right? 22 We didn't seek an extension. We had a limited amount of time. 2.3 We brought that motion. We understood the order granted us 24 25 permission to bring a motion. It stated as such in the order.

We did make ourselves available without any protest to Reorganized Holdings for a meet and confer afterwards. It went nowhere, and I'll explain to the Court in a moment why. But we both complied with the order allowing, approving, anticipating I suppose, motion practice. And one reason the meet and confer did not really fit, okay, the shoe is that this is not about scope. We've provided the relevant information, okay. It's about the basis of the discovery request in the Rule 2004 subpoena.

But in any event, we did confer, right? We met and it went nowhere. And it went nowhere -- and this may be the most saliant point for the Court. And Mr. Shaughnessy actually made my point as good as I could because of the burden that they're trying to put us through. I explained to Mr. Shaughnessy on that call, we did search terms, okay. I don't have the invoices in front of me, Your Honor, but we spent hundreds of thousands of dollars with search terms, with a third-party vendor in the case before Judge Liman, a third-party document vendor to produce the documents that Levona and Reorganized Holdings piggy backing -- they're a party to that case as much as Levona -- piggy backing and, frankly, party to the discussions about the scope of discovery.

It was done. It was done at a high cost. It was done at a high cost even though the three purported nominees don't have all that many documents. But the process is expensive.

The lawyer process to negotiate the terms, the outside vendor process. And now to hear, you want to talk about dishonest or sloppy -- not words that I would jump to utilize with respect to my adversary, but what's good for the goose as they say, Your Honor. For Reorganized Holdings to come before this Court with the burden to show good cause for the discovery and not know that we spent hundreds of thousands of dollars negotiating search terms, having a third-party vendor go through to find identified custodians.

This, Your Honor, is exactly the harassment and the burden that has us energized about a discovery motion. Why is Shaftel so energized about a discovery motion? Because these guys are looking for us for no reason, no good cause shown, to jump through the whole same hoops. Am I not going to have to spend another 100, 200, 300,000 dollars because they want to tweak the search terms? No, we want the comma here or the semicolon over there for the term. This is quintessential harassment (indiscernible) -- made the case better than I could by saying, no, we want to negotiate search terms, we want to negotiate custodians.

It's been done. And any suggestion that, well, it wasn't don't compliant or fully, there is no motion to compel before Judge Liman that we did not address and comply with and provide the document discovery. So that really -- I do have some more points. But to me, that is what's critical here. We just saw, okay, what they're trying to do. Okay. They just showed their hand. I'm going to have to redo all this work. It makes no sense. It's not right. Now, in terms of the face of the document request. Oh, it's okay; complies with Rule 26, all documents. They want all -- one of the requests just as an exemplar, all documents relating to the underlying arbitration before Justice Belen. All documents? All emails? Oh, can we have the conference call with Justice Belen at 2 o'clock rather than 11 o'clock because of a scheduling conflict? What are they after? They have a burden; good cause shown. These requests are facially, facially, over expansive.

Let me just speak about the depositions, right? Their own subpoena notes, you've got one hundred miles, all right?

Not 5,000 miles to drag witnesses.

Now, in the case before Judge Liman, and there was motion practice, the witnesses were directed to come to New York. But based on specific circumstances where the preferred nominees as labeled intervenors in the case before Judge Liman, were and have intervened to engage in substantive evidentiary filings and submissions to play the role of a party, an intervening party. That is, if the Court will, 5,000 miles away from the situation here where we're talking about a nonparty subject to a rule 2004 subpoena. So we do stand --

THE COURT: Are you saying that they would appear for a virtual deposition?

             UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: Your Honor, in the case before Judge Liman, they --
 2
 3
             THE COURT: No, no, no. Here. Here, I'm talking about.
 5
             UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: Your Honor, we are -- let me answer the question, because I do want to be -- always do want 6
7
    to be straight.
             THE COURT: You're not able to answer right now?
 8
             UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: But well, Your Honor, can I 9 10 give -- let me try. Let me try the answer that I am able to give. We do have substantive objections to depositions.
11
    had eight hours with Kertsikoff. What more is there?
12
                         I understand. I understand that. You

14
15
             UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: But obviously, -- THE COURT: -- if they would appear for Kertsikoff's deposition.

17
18
             UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: Obviously, if justification existed for depositions, just frankly, just as with the case

20 themselves available remotely. That obviously takes that issue 21
    off the table. But as I think even reorganized holdings, Mr.

    Shaughnessy said the issue of depositions is somewhat premature at this point.
24
                                      I was just addressing the 5,000 mile versus 100 mile issue.

MR. SHAFTEL: And Your Honor, just the last well, maybe two last placeholders really for record purposes. I don't know if it speaks to the motion.

With respect to a reference about the service on Mr. Kertsikoff. So he was at the Quinn Emanuel offices for ten hours. We left that at about 8:30 and we're walking, and he came to New York specifically just to sit for deposition, and we're leaving the lobby. And sure enough, Reorganized Holdings has a process server there. I don't represent Mr. Kertsikoff personally. I happen to be standing next to him when this process server, after the guy just spent 10.5 hours or whatever upstairs, and he comes to New York to give testimony, is hit with this service. So I'm not here to argue for Mr. Kertsikoff, but I guess since I was standing next to him I do feel a -- I do have a personal view about that treatment.

With respect to the commentary about the discussion or the status conference before Judge Liman yesterday, I do not know what Mr. Shaughnessy's point is about the discussion. But the transcript will be the transcript.

THE COURT: With regard to the service on Mr.

Kertsikoff, you're saying he wasn't served in his capacity as a representative of your clients, and you don't represent him in whatever capacity he was purported to be?

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: Yeah, yeah, I do not represent

46
          I was standing next to him when this ugly -- in my view, 1
    this ugly conduct took place. The guy comes to New York and 2
    he's served with these papers. There is an argument; it's not 3 before the Court. I'm not the one making it, but about 4
    immunization from service when you are --
             THE COURT:
                         Right. But he wasn't served as a representative of the Cypriot nominees. Is that what you're saying?
 6 7
8 UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER:
 9 Correct. I apologize, Your 10
            I now understand the question.
             THE COURT:
                         That's okay.
11
             UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: He was not. He was not.
                                                               As I 12 understand, it was individually.
13
             THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.
14
15
             UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER:
                                    Thank you, Your Honor.
                         Thank you, Counsel.
16
             THE COURT:
             MR. SHAUGHNESSY: Your Honor?
17
             THE COURT: Did anyone else wish to be heard before I 18 turn it back to Mr. Shaughnessy?
19
20
             Okay, Counsel?
             MR. SHAUGHNESSY: Thank you, Your Honor.
21
    Shaughnessy, for Holdings. Just a couple of quick points.
22 just want to clarify for the record. That meet and confer that 2.3
    I had with Mr. Shaftel, he made no mention of applying any 24
25
    search terms whatsoever in the arbitration matter. That's just not true. He, in fact, said, you've subpoenaed the wrong party. And let's, you know, get the purported nominees out of this. There was no discussion of what they had done in the arbitration. That's completely untrue. I'm not accusing him of lying. I'm accusing him of misremembering. But it did not happen.

Now, I also want to just emphasize, and I know Your Honor has read the requests, but I want the record to be clear. The arbitration is only a small subset of the requests in the 2004 subpoena. So this emphasis on the arbitration is obviously a red herring, because there is other discovery we are seeking in the subpoena. Even if Your Honor were to agree that we should not seek discovery regarding the arbitration, it's a small subset. So take it for what it is. But they're obviously emphasizing the arbitration when it's a small subset.

I also want to point out what Your Honor has held multiple times, and Judge Liman has held multiple times.

Related parties, whether they're the principals of the former majority shareholders or the purported nominees of the former officers and directors of Eletson Holdings, they're all the same people, related entities. They have a duty to cooperate with implementation of the plan. They're not doing that.

Everything you're hearing is about resisting cooperation.

We all agree that depositions are premature. We certainly do not concede that we will do remote depositions.

If that's what Your Honor orders at the time when it comes, that's fine. We'll accept that. But we're not conceding that we will take remote depositions. Judge Liman was very forceful in making them come to New York, but again --

THE COURT: No, understood. But yeah, one difference there is they're parties from what I understand, correct?

MR. SHAUGHNESSY: Right. And we'll deal with that when it comes. And again, counsel is retreating a little bit on the Vassilis Kertsikoff piece, but the reply does state in no uncertain terms that the service was improper. So now he's saying, oh, I felt personally affronted by, you know, this person, you know, being deposed for ten hours and then being served a complaint. But they do argue that it was improper and it just shows how they are intertwined and related to these principles and that this discovery is very important. Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Thank you, Counsel.

Okay. The Court has considered the motion, and what I'm going to do is direct the parties to meet and confer. And discuss what's already been produced, search terms and custodians that have been used in the proceedings before Judge Liman, and using those materials here and seeing if there's agreement on that. And then meeting and conferring on what remains and proposals on search terms and custodians. And hopefully, the parties can reach agreement on those.

49 I believe there is good cause for the subpoenas. 1 I'm going to overrule that objection. That is why I signed the 2 ex-parte application for the Rule 2004 discovery. 3 I also don't believe there is an undue burden. But 4 that will be subject to what's discussed in the meet and 5 confer, and where the parties land. 6 I'm going to adjourn the motion to September 18th at 7 8 10 a.m. And I'm going to ask the parties to file a joint 9 status report by September 12th at 12, noon updating the Court 10 on where they stand on trying to reach agreement on these 11 discovery issues. 12 If agreement is not reached, we'll discuss it further 13 on the 18th. 14 15 MR. SHAUGHNESSY: Thank you, Your Honor. 16 THE COURT: Thank you. UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: Thank you, Your Honor. 17 THE COURT: Anything else for today? 18 MR. ORTIZ: Good morning, Your Honor. Kyle Ortiz of 19 HSF Kramer for Eletson Holdings. Your Honor, as Your Honor is 20 aware, we submitted a form of judgment relating to accrued 21 sanctions through July 31st based on previous orders which, of 22 course, led to the latest parade of firm letterhead arguing 23 issues we think have already been addressed, like that we 24 haven't shown contempt by clear and convincing evidence when 25 there were five orders finding otherwise. We're happy to let it sit on the various letters, Your Honor. But if you'd like us to briefly address today, we're happy to.

THE COURT: I don't think there's a need at this point, but if there is, I will let the parties know.

MR. ORTIZ: Thank you, Your Honor.

And then the other quick thing I just wanted to note, another kind of set of letters that came out of Your Honor's written opinion on the violation of the stay stipulation by the Cypriot nominees. The thrust of those letters seemed to be that the impact on gas didn't really have any effect because of the status quo injunction. So I think it's important to note, for Your Honor, that that specific issue was raised before the District Court yesterday. I'm sure somebody, whether it's us or another party, will file that transcript. And I agree with Mr. Shaftel that the transcript is what the transcript is. But I do think it's important just to note for Your Honor.

In response to the Cypriot's arguments that the status quo injunction remains, Judge Liman did specifically say, quote, "Okay. So listen, I've heard you. The status quo injunction by the arbitrator is no longer in effect. The arbitrator is functus officio". And he stated earlier in the transcript quote, "but plainly my order should not be misrepresented". I try to be quite clear. My view is the status quo injunction is no longer in effect.

board issues?

So we just wanted to ensure that Your Honor has that context, because there are a number of letters in front of you on that issue. And I do agree that we can -- we're happy to file that transcript. So --

THE COURT: Yeah. Well, there seems to be a statement that this Court's recent order has been complied with. Are you saying that there's some relief beyond that that may be sought? Or are you saying that this Court's most recent order, I forget the date, it has not been complied with?

MR. ORTIZ: Kyle Ortiz for HSF Kramer for Eletson Holdings. Your Honor, our position is that the order was in no way complied with. Our understanding of the compliance was that they discussed with themselves. And instead of it being controlled by themselves as directors, it's now controlled by themselves as officers, which they think they can do, consistent with the status quo injunction that we think Judge Liman made very clear is not in place. So I'm sure, unfortunately for Your Honor, that there will be additional motion practice on the topic saying that indeed, this was not complied with and that the sanctions should continue. So a little preview of things to come, Your Honor. But -THE COURT: What about the share registry and the

MR. ORTIZ: We've seen no evidence of that. They said that they told Eletson Gas, but of course, that is because they consider themselves Eletson Gas. So but certainly, speaking for Eletson Holdings as the common and the one director appointed by Eletson Holdings, we certainly got no evidence of anything. And then, I don't speak for Levona, but my understanding is that directors at Levona didn't get any evidence of anything. And look, I'm sure we'll put all that in front of you, Your Honor, but our position is that in no way was that order complied with. In fact, we thought it was a somewhat kind of disingenuous pretzel twisting to say we complied without anything changing at all.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. SHAFTEL: Your Honor, Hal Shaftel. If I may be heard, because part of what I believe was an August 1 order. In fact, subject of that order, were my clients. We did write to the Court in timely fashion, I believe, August 5th that there was compliance. So by way of preview, and I appreciate where this is now a sort of a gratuitous advisory discussion, but I just want it to be clear. The purported nominees rescinded the very notices that the Court directed them to rescind.

Again, I guess it came up at the first portion of today's hearing. It's easy to just kind of wave the wand and everybody's related in the same. At least when it's on this side. Less so when it's on the other side. But when I wrote to the Court, I believe it was August 8th, I tried to be transparent and make clear. We rescinded exactly what the Court asked us. But I'm not Gas. Okay? And what the repercussions are in the effects on Gas should be, I think Mr.

Ortiz said this, but Judge Liman also said, should be the subject of a motion in relief. I'm not sure what we're discussing here, what relief. We understood and in good faith have complied. And if any party, Judge Liman really stated the same thing yesterday. If somebody has relief to be requested, make a motion and seek the relief. Otherwise, we're just sort of speaking in a circle. It is our view and we took seriously the Court's order, and we took seriously --

THE COURT: What is the status of the Board?

MR. SHAFTEL: Your Honor, I'm not in a position to -again, Hal Shaftel for the record. I'm not in a position -- as far as I understand, this Board was, shall we say, passive during these corporate governance disputes. So I'm not sure either side what the Board is doing, meeting, saying. But we rescinded the designations and the share registry requests consistent with the Court's order, Your Honor's order.

THE COURT: Thank you, Counsel.

MR. SOLOMON: Your Honor, Lou Solomon, briefly on behalf of Provisional Holdings. We weren't at this conference with Judge Liman. We're not -- nor was Gas. As I read the transcript, I very much think the matter should be brought before Your Honor. I've sent Your Honor a couple of letters suggesting that this issue of the improper, unlawful extension 1 of Your Honor's bankruptcy order to entities other than 2

54
    Holdings is now --
 3
             THE COURT: You're talking about a different issue.
 4
 5
    I'm just talking about --
             MR. SOLOMON: No, Your Honor.
 6
             THE COURT: Well, I'm talking about compliance with my 7 8
    last order.
                 I think that's what the parties were talking about.
            The order was issued. The parties are discussing 9
    whether there's been compliance or not, and I'm -- sounds like 10
    there may be further motion practice. That's all I was talking 11 12
    about.
             MR. SOLOMON: If at some point, Your Honor wishes to 13
    address the issue of the status quo injunction and how that 14
15 could not be in place any longer, but the preferred nominee is not control gas. We're happy to discuss that with Your Honor.
16
    Thank you.
17
             THE COURT: Well, it sounds like I think Mr. Ortiz 18 said that Judge Liman said the status quo injunction is not in 19
    a place?
20
             MR. SOLOMON: And for that to not be in place, that 21 means that the only way it's not in place is because of Judge 22
    Liman's order. But it's that same order that confirmed that 2.3
    the preferred nominees, Mr. Sheftel's clients, control gas.
24
25
    And so we're very happy to address that issue with Your Honor.
```

55
    As of yesterday, as I read that transcript, Judge Liman was 1 giving an advisory opinion and said, if anyone has a motion to 2
    make, make it.
 3
             THE COURT: Right.
 4
             MR. SOLOMON: And no motion had been made.
 5
                         That sounds like -- right.
                                                      That sounds
 6
             THE COURT:
7 like an issue before Judge Liman. I was talking about the narrow issue of what the parties had raised or claimed, at 8 least, that they were in compliance with my order. If they're 9
    not, I'm sure I'll hear about it further from the parties.
10
                           Thank you, Your Honor.
11
             MR. SOLOMON:
12
             MR. ORTIZ:
                         Thank you, Your Honor.
             THE COURT:
                         Thank you, Counsel.
13
             Anything else for today?
14
15
             UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: Not for today, Your Honor.
16
    Thank you for your time.
17
             THE COURT: Thank you, Counsel.
             Thank you, everyone. We're adjourned. Have a great 18
          Thank you.
19
    day.
             UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: Apologies for the delay.
20
             THE COURT: No problem.
                                       Thank you. I hope you feel

	Closed	(If so, set forth the procedure which resulted in closure, e.g., voluntary dismissal, settlement, court decision. Also, state whether there is an appeal pending.)
	Open	(If so, set forth procedural status and summarize any court rulings.)

See Appendix A for case information.

Explain in detail the reasons for your position that the newly filed case is related to the earlier filed case.

Rule 13 of the Southern District of New York Division of Business Rules provides that "[b]ankruptcy appeals are deemed related if they arise from the same order or judgment of the bankruptcy court." Although the matter does not strictly arise from the same order or judgment, Judge Liman is familiar with the parties and facts of the instant matter through the above-referenced proceedings. Appellants, therefore, file this Related Case Statement out of an abundance of caution.
