- b. The Assets are owned of record and beneficially by Acis, free and clear of any obligation, lien, claim, pledge, security interest, liability, charge, contingency or other encumbrance or claim of any nature. therein are referred to collectively as "Damages"), except to the extent that it shall have been determined ultimately by a court of competent jurisdiction, in a final nonappealable judgment, that such Damages arose primarily from fraud, bad faith or willful misconduct of such Covered Person. The termination of any Proceeding by settlement, judgment, order, conviction or upon a plea of nolo contendere or its equivalent shall not, of itself, create a presumption that any Damages relating to such settlement, judgment, order, conviction or plea of nolo contendere or its equivalent or otherwise relating to such Proceeding arose primarily from fraud, bad faith or willful misconduct of any Covered Persons. "Covered Person" means each of HCL011, C-Moa, Holdings LP GP, Holdings LP, Acis Intermediate II and Acis Intermediate I, as well as each and every one of their current and future affiliates (other than Acis), including all of such Covered Person's respective current and future managers, members, principals, partners, directors, officers, shareholders, employees, agents and successors in interest (other than Acis).

IN THE DISTRICT COURT

OF DALLAS COUNTY, TEXAS

DECLARATION OF JOSHUA N. TERRY

STATE OF TEXAS

COUNTY OF DALLAS

1. My name is Joshua N. Terry.
2. I am both qualified and competent to give this declaration, and I have personal knowledge of the facts stated herein based upon my extensive experience as a partner in Acis Capital Management, L.P. (“Acis”), as well as my personal involvement in the matters discussed herein. I have never been convicted of a felony or crime of moral turpitude.
3. I give this declaration in conjunction with the filing of Plaintiff’s Application for Temporary Restraining Order (the “Application”), and all defined terms in the Application are incorporated herein.
4. Attached as Exhibits 1-2 and 4-8 are true and correct copies of documents produced by Acis pursuant to Court order or in the underlying arbitration proceeding.
5. I ran Acis’ day-to-day operations from 2011 until I was wrongfully terminated in June 2016. In my capacity as portfolio manager of Acis, I had involvement in all facets of Acis’ business operations, strategy, and finances.
6. I am well-versed in the CLO industry, where I have worked since 2005. I have earned the right to use the Chartered Financial Analyst designation. From my experience, education, and training, I became very familiar with the common and legitimate business practices of CLO managers in the industry, as well as the value of CLO management contracts.
7. In 2015, I valued Acis in excess of $70 million, a conclusion that was accepted by David Klos, a Highland employee.
8. On February 28, 2012, Highland sold four European CLO management contracts to The Carlyle Group for $43.6 million in an arms-length transaction. Those four CLO management contracts are less valuable than the five Management Contracts Acis owns and which it now seeks to transfer for no consideration;

9. The Management Contracts are the most substantial asset of Acis and are valued in excess of $30 million.

10. There is no legitimate business purpose for Acis to transfer the Management Contracts for no consideration. This transaction makes no business sense. Typically, CLO management contracts like these in the CLO industry would be transferred only for a significant amount of cash or other valuable consideration.

11. There is no legitimate business purpose for Acis to transfer the Highland Note for no consideration.

12. It is not in the normal course of Acis' business to transfer all of its Management Contracts for no consideration, or to transfer the Highland Note for no consideration.

13. If Acis transfers the Management Contracts, Acis will not have assets adequate to satisfy the Judgment.

JURAT

My name is Joshua N. Terry. My date of birth is 1/16/81, and my address is 25 Highland Park Village, Suite 100-848, Dallas Texas 75205. I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct. This declaration is being executed pursuant to Tex. Civ. Prac. & Rem. Code § 132.001, and any other applicable law authorizing use of an unsworn declaration.

Executed in Dallas County, State of Texas, on the 23rd day of January 2018.

1 of these agreements.

2 THE COURT: All right. I tell you what.
3 You all need to confer. I need to go get ahold of 4 Jonathan, my court coordinator.

5 MR. SHAW: Thank you, Judge.

6 THE COURT: You're welcome. Off the 7 record.

9 (There was a discussion off the record.)

10

11 THE COURT: Let's put this on the record,
12 and then we will give you a date. Go ahead.

13 MR. SHAW: Judge, Brian Shaw on behalf of 14 the plaintiff. The parties have agreed to an order for 15 the Court.

16 The first agreement, which is -- when 17 it comes to the order, is Acis agrees that it shall 18 not make any change from Acis to another manager on 19 any CLOs between now and a hearing on plaintiff's
20 Application for Temporary Injunction, defined TI
21 hearing.

22 Number two, Acis agrees that:

23 A. Any money received by Acis between 24 now and the TI hearing will be preserved in an Acis
25 bank account;

1           B. There shall be no changes to Acis'
2 right to receive servicing fees between now and the 3 TI hearing; and

4           C. Acis shall not divert any moneys owed
5 to it between now and the TI hearing:

6           Plaintiff submits that is the Agreed
7 Order that the plaintiff is submitting to the Court.

8           THE COURT: Okay. Are you going to get 9 that to me in a document that I can actually sign?

10           MR. SHAW: We can do that. Do you have 11 any problem with that?

12           MR. CRUCIANI: I would prefer it just 13 be an order of the Court, as opposed to a contractual 14 Rule 11 agreement. I agree that that is the agreement
15 of the parties.

16           And if the Court would give its 17 imprimatur of the agreement, that would be our 18 preference.

19           MR. SHAW: And if we have an issue, then 20 we will just go back and get the record.

21           THE COURT: Okay.

22           MR. SHAW: So that's fine with us.

23           THE COURT: It will be so ordered. Let's 24 go off the record for a second.

25           (There was a discussion off the record.)

1 THE COURT: All right. This is what I'm
2 going to allow. February 1st, you all are not coming 3 in until 1:00. You have the morning to take the 4 deposition briefly, two hours each side.

5 If the plaintiff chooses to retain an
6 expert, you will have two hours with that retained
7 expert. And then you can also have two hours with 8 Mr. Terry so that we can go forward.

9 And you are not committed to the time at 10 the court-ordered deposition. As soon as you can give 11 him notification, as soon as you know you are going to 12 have a retained expert.

13 The 29th is five days from now. Do you
14 think you will have that by the 29th, do you believe?

15 MR. SHAW: I should. I will do
16 everything I can to get that done by then.

17 THE COURT: All right. So if you can 18 give them notice by the 29th, with the CV and 19 everything that they would be entitled to.

20 MR. CRUCIANI: With the report. Right?

21 THE COURT: With the report.

22 MR. CRUCIANI: All right.

23 THE COURT: Okay. And we will set this 24 for February 1st at 1:00 p.m., acknowledging that that 25 gives you at least two hours and hopefully maybe a

1 little bit more than that.

2 MR. CRUCIANI: Okay.

3 MR. SHAW: Thank you for getting us in,
4 Judge. I appreciate your time.

5 MR. CRUCIANI: We really do.

6 THE COURT: You're welcome. Thank you.
7 We are off the record.

TO THE HONORABLE STACEY G. C. JERNIGAN, UNITED STATES BANKRUPTCY
JUDGE:

Acis Capital Management, L.P. ("Acis LP") and Acis Capital Management GP, LLC ("Acis GP" and together with Acis LP, "Acis"), the alleged debtors in the above-captioned cases, hereby submit this Joint Objection (the "Objection") to the Emergency Motion of Petitioning Creditor to Abrogate or Modify 11 U.S.C. § 303(f), Prohibit Transfer of Assets, and

Impose, inter alia, 11 U.S.C. 363 [Case No. 18-30264-SGJ7, Docket No. 3; Case No. 18-30265-SGJ7, Docket No. 3] (the “303(f) Motion”) filed by Joshua Terry (“Terry”). In support of this Objection, Acis respectfully states as follows:

I.
INTRODUCTION

1. Terry holds a state-court judgment against Acis and is one of 18 creditors of Acis. Terry initiated these involuntary chapter 7 cases—acting alone as opposed to in concert with other creditors as required by Section 303(b)(1) of Title 11 of the United States Code (the “Bankruptcy Code”) - as a bad-faith litigation tactic and attempt at forum shopping in the context of his longstanding dispute with Acis. Terry filed his involuntary petition against Acis LP at 11:57 p.m. on January 30 and against Acis GP on January 31 at 12:00 a.m. (the “Involuntary Petitions”). On January 31, Acis filed a Joint Motion to Dismiss the Involuntary Petitions (the “Motion to Dismiss”) and a Notice of List of Creditors Pursuant to Fed. R. Bankr. P. 1003(d) (the “Creditor List”). Acis’s Motion to Dismiss establishes that the Involuntary Petitions are fatally defective because Acis has more than 12 creditors, thereby requiring a minimum of 3 creditors to join in the filing of the Involuntary Petitions. Yet, Terry was the sole creditor to file.

2. The filing of the Involuntary Petitions filings was a transparent attempt to derail two imminent events. The first was a temporary injunction hearing that was scheduled to be heard in Dallas state court on January 31 (the “Temporary Injunction Hearing”). The second was the closing of a $420 million transaction involving the reissuance of CLO-3 (as detailed and defined below) (the “$420 Million CLO-3 Reissue Transaction” or “Transaction”) that has been in the making since May 2017 and that was scheduled to close on February 1.

3. Terry sought a state-court injunction to prevent Acis from transferring a management contract (the “Collateral Management Agreement” or “CMA”) from Acis to a Highland entity as part of the Transaction. As will be explained, this CMA is central to Terry’s 303(f) Motion. The transfer of the CMA is a ministerial task that Acis is contractually required to perform and is the last remaining condition to close the $420 Million CLO-3 Reissue Transaction. Terry has falsely and without any basis claimed that this CMA is worth multiple millions of dollars and that Acis is attempting to fraudulently transfer the CMA in order to avoid paying an $8 million judgment (that will be appealed) that Terry recently obtained against Acis. But, as set forth below, the facts are the opposite.

4. First, contrary to Terry’s unsupported assertions, the CMA has no value. Acis has no employees, and has never had any employees. Acis has always performed the management services required of it by the CMA by subcontracting those obligations to certain Highland entities (“Highland Servicers”). Thus, Acis receives management fees (the “cash inflows”) but then pays fees to the Highland Servicers (the “cash outflows”) under contracts that have been in place for years. Presently, the cash outflows under the CMA exceed the cash inflows that results in negative cash flow, and thereby rendering the CMA worthless.

5. Second, and a point that cannot be overstated, the very relief that Terry previously sought in state court, and now seeks in this Court, would cause the CMA to be terminated pursuant to its terms and thereby also render the CMA worthless. On January 29, Terry filed an application with the state court seeking the appointment of a receiver over Acis. In this Court, Terry has filed Involuntary Petitions against Acis. However, under paragraph 15 of the CMA, [1] the appointment of a receiver and [2] an involuntary bankruptcy petition that “remain[s] undismissed for 60 days and result[s] in an adjudication of bankruptcy or insolvency” are grounds for the CMA to be terminated and for Acis to be removed “for cause” as the collateral manager upon 30 days’ notice. On the one hand, Terry argues that the CMA is worth millions of dollars and asks this Court to preserve its value by preventing the CMA from being transferred as part of the $420 Million CLO-3 Reissue Transaction. On the other hand, if Terry succeeds in his effort to throw Acis into bankruptcy, the CMA will be terminated and will cease to have any value. These undisputed facts expose Terry’s bad faith motive behind his state-court and bankruptcy-court filings. Ironically, the very relief requested by Terry in state court and in Bankruptcy Court regarding the CMA would itself destroy any value associated with the CMA by causing the CMA to be terminated.

6. So, why is Terry engaging in this act of self-immolation that will guarantee the CMA will be terminated and any value associated with it to be extinguished? The answer: to try to hold hostage the $420 Million CLO-3 Reissue Transaction and extort a settlement. Terry’s motive is not to preserve the CMA as part of Acis’s assets that would be available to satisfy his judgment. As discussed herein, the CMA has no value and is going away regardless of whether or not the Transaction closes.

7. To fully understand the context of the 303(f) Motion, it is important to understand what transpired in the underlying litigation that resulted in the judgment that Terry obtained against Acis, which judgment Terry is now using as a pretext to throw Acis into bankruptcy and block the $420 Million CLO-3 Reissue Transaction. Terry was an employee of Highland who was integrally involved in the formation and management of Highland’s CLO business, including CLO-3. In 2016, Highland fired Terry for cause for various acts of misconduct. Terry is persona non grata in the CLO industry because he secretly tape recorded his Highland colleagues, and no one in the CLO industry wants anything to do with Terry or Acis, and the Acis name is now toxic as a result of Terry's actions.

8. Upon being terminated by Highland, Terry filed arbitration claims against six parties: Acis LP; Acis GP; Highland; Highland's two founders (James Dondero and Mark Okada); and Dugaboy Investment Trust ("Dugaboy"). Terry asserted a claim for more than $200 million and received an $8 million award against Acis. Terry's claims against Highland, Dondero, Okada, and Dugaboy were all dismissed. Also, Terry's claim that the promissory note transaction between Highland and Acis (the "Promissory Note") (the same note referenced at paragraphs 2 and 6 of the 303(f) Motion) was a fraudulent transfer, but the arbitration panel likewise rejected this claim.

9. As a result of losing on all his claims against the deep-pocketed defendants in the arbitration and losing on his fraudulent transfer claim, Terry is left with a pyrrhic victory—a largely uncollectible judgment against Acis. If that fact was not already apparent to Terry, it became so on January 29 when, pursuant to Texas state law, Acis filed a motion to post a supersedeas bond in the amount of $495,070.50, which is equal to 50 percent of Acis's net worth as of January 29. Terry thus realized that even if he ultimately prevailed on Acis's appeal of the $8 million judgment, Terry was never going to recover more than the approximately $500,000 bond amount.

10. Thus, Terry has been flailing about trying to create as much mayhem as possible to see if he can succeed in a shakedown by attempting to block the $420 Million CLO-3 Reissue Transaction from closing. Terry's filings are made in complete disregard of Terry's own self-interest (the request for a receiver and the Involuntary Petitions) and in complete disregard for the investors in the $420 Million CLO-3 Transaction who stand to lose tens of millions of dollars if the Transaction does not close.

11. According to Terry’s fanciful allegations, the Transaction is itself a fraudulent transfer that Highland and Acis allegedly orchestrated to deprive him of the ability to satisfy his judgment against Acis. But, as will be explained, there are numerous reissues or refinances that have taken place, and are scheduled to take place, throughout the CLO industry as a result of changing market forces—specifically, declining interest rates from the time the CLOs were first issued.

12. In fact, Highland has been engaged in efforts to restructure the Acis CLOs long before the arbitration award was issued in October 2017. Highland closed on a restructure of CLO-2 on April 10, 2017 and it began work on the restructure of CLO-3 (the CLO at issue) as far back as May 2017. Thus, contrary to Terry’s wild assertions, the $420 Million CLO-3 Reissue Transaction is being driven by legitimate business purposes in the ordinary course of business and not by some Machiavellian scheme by Acis to “dismantle their business to the great detriment of their single largest creditor, Mr. Terry” as Terry falsely claims.

13. Another important point for the Court to consider is that Terry’s 303(f) Motion is long on hyperbole and name-calling but short on facts regarding alleged past fraudulent transfers and future fraudulent transfers. But, here are the facts. To date, there has been a single fraudulent-transfer claim that has been litigated and that is Terry’s claim in the arbitration involving the October 2016 transaction giving rise to the Promissory Note in which Highland agreed to pay $12.6 million to Acis in return for Acis transferring to Highland the right to certain future cash flows was a fraudulent transfer.<sup>1</sup> The arbitration panel roundly rejected Terry’s fraudulent-transfer claims, holding that “[t]he transactional documents recite business purpose and reasonable consideration for the sale.” Final Award, at 17, Exhibit No. 1, hereto.<sup>2</sup> Moreover, “Terry offer[ed] no evidence that ACIS did not receive reasonable equivalent value in the transaction or that ACIS made the transfer with ‘actual intent to hinder delay or defraud.’” Id. With respect to the fraudulent-transfer allegations that are littered throughout the 303(f) Motion, this Court should take such allegations with a heavy dose of salt given Terry’s prior, unsuccessful claims of fraudulent transfers.

14. To bring things full circle, given that the same relief that Terry now seeks in his 303(f) Motion—blocking the $420 Million CLO-3 Reissuance Transaction—was scheduled to be heard by the state court judge at the Temporary Injunction Hearing on January 31, that begs the following question: Why did Terry simply not go forward with the January 31 Temporary Injunction Hearing in state court and instead file the Involuntary Petitions against Acis and file an emergency 303(f) Motion? The answer is clear: Terry knew that the handwriting was on the wall and that the state court was not going to enjoin the $420 Million CLO-3 Reissuance Transaction from closing the next day and then Terry would lose all leverage to try to block the Transaction. Terry’s machinations did succeed in causing the closing of the Transaction to be rescheduled from February 1 to February 13. However, as the evidence will show, if this for the Note Transfer.” This assertion is in sharp contrast to a sworn declaration that Terry signed on January 23 in support of a temporary restraining order in which he falsely claimed based upon his “personal knowledge” that the November 2017 Note Transfer was for “no consideration.” Terry Decl. ¶11, Exhibit No.2. At a TRO hearing in state court on January 24, Acis’s counsel pointed out that this statement in Terry’s declaration was false because, among other consideration, the Note Transfer reflected a commitment by a Highland entity to pay Acis upon demand up to $2 million in legal expenses and an additional $1 million in administrative expenses. Thus, in his 303(f) Motion, Terry has been forced to change his tune that the Note Transfer was a fraudulent transfer based upon his “personal knowledge” that Acis received “no consideration” for the transfer to a statement that “upon information and belief” Acis did not receive “sufficient consideration” for the transfer. The sworn statement in Terry’s January 23 declaration is just one of many misleading and false statements that Terry has made and Acis intends to bring to light in its cross-examination of him at the hearing on his 303(f) Motion.

Transaction does not close on February 13, it will never close and will cause innocent third party investors to lose tens of millions of dollars.

15. As is detailed herein, Acis's interest in the Transaction is limited to the ministerial assignment of the CMA and not a transfer of millions of dollars of assets of Acis—as Terry suggests is happening. Moreover, Terry's requested relief is an exercise in futility because whether or not the Transaction closes Terry will be in same position. Either the Transaction goes forward or CLO-3 will liquidate. In either case, Acis no longer will manager CLO-3 and the CMA will have no value. However, if CLO-3 liquidates, the third-party investors to whom Acis owes a fiduciary duty stand to lose tens of millions of dollars. Preventing the Transaction therefore would create no additional value for Acis, while creating substantial damages for the investors and risk of claims by them against Acis (and Terry).

16. Because Section 303(f) of the Bankruptcy Code would have allowed Acis to complete the closing of the $420 Million CLO-3 Reissue Transaction, notwithstanding the Involuntary Petitions, Terry compounded his ill-conceived litigation strategy in filing the Involuntary Petitions by filing the 303(f) Motion, which seeks to impose (before an order for relief is entered and on the strength of Involuntary Petitions which are deficient on their face) the requirements of Section 363 of the Bankruptcy Code. For the reasons set forth below, the 303(f) Motion should be denied.

II. HISTORICAL BACKGROUND<sup>3</sup>

A. Acis, Highland, and the CLO Structure

17. Highland is in the business of putting together and managing collateralized loan obligations (“CLOs”). It is one of the primary players in the CLO industry. A CLO is a legal entity that owns a basket of loans, which are managed by a collateral manager (the “Collateral Manager”). The Collateral Manager buys loans into, or sells them out of, the basket. The CLO has its own bondholders (lenders to the CLO) (“Bondholders”), and its own equity holders (“Equity Holders”).

18. Acis LP is the Collateral Manager for CLO-3 as well as four other distinct CLOs. Acis has absolutely no economic interest in any of the CLOs, which includes CLO-3 and the $420 million in loans that CLO-3 holds. Rather, Acis, as Collateral Manager, provides services to the CLO and is compensated for its services in accordance with the Collateral Management Agreement or CMA. Exhibit No. 3, hereto. The duties and obligations Acis owes CLO-3, in its capacity as Collateral Manager, are governed by the CMA. Among other things, Acis’s duties as Collateral Manager include: supervising and directing the investment and reinvestment of CLO assets; monitoring the CLO assets and providing to the Issuer (the CLO) certain reports, schedules, and other data; and directing an optional redemption under the Indenture on behalf of the Issuer. CMA § 3. Additionally, Acis is obligated to “use commercially reasonable efforts to ensure that no action is taken by it” that would materially and adversely affect the Issuer.” CMA § 8.

19. Because Acis has no employees it does not and cannot provide any services directly to the CLOs as required by the CMAs. However, the CMA allows Acis to contract with third parties to provide these services, which Acis has done. Specifically, Acis has entered into several agreements with other Highland affiliates to provide the required services. In one such agreement, a Highland affiliate provides “front-office” services that include the buying and selling of the loans that comprise the CLO (the “Sub-Advisory Agreement”). Pursuant to the Sub-Advisory Agreement, Highland provides to Acis, among other things, the following services: “mak[ing] recommendations to [Acis] . . . as to the general composition and allocation of the Portfolio . . . including recommendations as to the specific loans and other assets to be purchased, retained or sold”; “plac[ing] orders with respect to, and arrang[ing] for, any investment by or on behalf of [an] Account”; “identify[ing], evaluat[ing], recommend[ing] to [Acis] . . . the structure and/or terms of investment opportunities within the specific investment strategy of [Acis]”; “provid[ing] information to [Acis] . . . regarding any investments to facilitate the monitoring and servicing of such investments”; and “assist[ing] and advis[ing] [Acis] . . . with respect to credit functions including, but not limited to, credit analysis and market research and analysis.” Sub-Advisory Agreement § 1(b). Exhibit No. 4, hereto. The Sub-Advisory Agreement “shall terminate automatically with respect to any Management Agreement on the date on which (i) such Management Agreement has been terminated . . . or (ii) [Acis] is no longer acting as portfolio manager . . . whether due to removal, resignation or assignment.” Id. § 6(b).

20. In another agreement, a Highland affiliate provides “back-office” services that include the accounting, legal, and other administrative functions necessary in servicing the loans (the “Shared Services Agreement”). Under the Shared Services Agreement, Highland provides to Acis essential services, including: “[a]ssistance and advice with respect to back- and middle-office functions including, but not limited to, accounting, payments, operations, technology and finance”; “[a]ssistance and advice with respect to legal issues, compliance support and implementation and general risk analysis”; “access to marketing team representatives to assist with the marketing of [Acis]”; “[a]ssistance relating to any reporting [Acis] is required to make”; and “[t]he provision of office space, information technology services and equipment, infrastructure and other related services requested or utilized by [Acis].” Shared Services Agreement § 2.02. Exhibit No. 5. Though these services are essential to Acis’s capacity to serve as Collateral Manager, “[e]ither party may terminate [the Shared Services] Agreement at any time upon at least thirty (30) days’ written notice to the other.” Id. § 7.01 (emphasis added).

21. The Highland affiliates have notified Acis that they no longer intend to provide services to Acis pursuant either to the Sub-Advisory Agreement or Shared Services Agreement for CLO-3. Thus, even if the Transaction did not close, that would leave Acis unable to provide the services it is required to provide as Collateral Manager, which failure constitutes a basis for removing Acis as collateral manager and terminating the CMA on 30 days’ notice. See CMA § 15(g) (CMA may be terminated and Acis may be removed as Collateral Manager upon 30 days’ notice due to “the inability of [Acis] to perform its duties hereunder in accordance with the standard of care specified herein due to the termination of the Service Agreements [defined as the Shared Services Agreement and Sub-Advisory Agreement].” Exhibit No. 3.

22. Terry was an employee of Highland from 2005 until June 2016 when Highland terminated Terry for cause. Terry was integrally involved in the Acis CLOs, having launched the CLOs, set up their structure, and serving as portfolio manager for several years.

23. Highland helped put together six CLOs bearing the Acis name from 2013 until 2015. These are named Acis CLO-I through Acis CLO-6. These CLOs had loan portfolios ranging in value from around $300 million to $550 million at the time they were initiated.

B. CLO Reissuances Prompted by Falling Interest Rates

24. The loans held by the CLO pay cash when the borrowers from the CLO pay interest and principal on the loans. The borrowers send their payments to the CLO Trustee's<sup>4</sup> collections account. Each quarter, the Trustee pays out the cash in the collections account. The quarterly payments, also called the "waterfall," are made according to the priority set out in the CLO's indenture (the CLO's governing document). First, the CLO's Collateral Manager receives a fee. Second, the Bondholders are paid in order of priority: the AAA bondholders are paid first, the AA bondholders are paid, etc., until the most-junior bondholders are paid. Third, the Equity Holders—the last group to be paid in a CLO structure—receive what is left from the collections account after all the management expenses and Bondholders are paid. If there is enough cash left at the bottom of the waterfall, the Equity Holders receive a good return. If there is not enough cash, the Equity Holders may get no money for that quarter.

25. The amount of money paid to the Equity Holders in a given quarter will depend on the amount of cash paid into the CLO by the borrowers, less the amount that has to be paid out to the CLO's Bondholders for that quarter. When loan interest rates are high in the market, the borrowers pay more cash into the CLO and the Equity Holders receive a good return each quarter. CLOs created in calendar year 2014, including CLO-3, were issued when interest rates were higher than they are today. Given these lower interest rates Borrowers have refinanced their loans to lower interest rates. (This is no different than a homeowner taking advantage of lower interest rates to refinance their home, which would result in the lender receiving reduced principal and interest payments). As a result, the borrowers pay less cash into the CLO each quarter than the prior quarter. This is what is currently happening with CLO-3.

26. However, the amount owed to the Bondholders does not change with interest rates. Rather, it is fixed by the indenture (the agreement under which the Bondholders loan money to the CLO), so that amount paid to the Bondholders remains constant. Therefore, as interest rates fall, there is less, and potentially no money left for the Equity Holders at the end of each quarter. The CLO industry has solved this problem by restructuring currently-existing CLOs, called a “reissue.” The reissued CLO will pay lower interest rates to the CLO’s Bondholders. This reduces the cash the CLO must pay out each quarter to the Bondholders, leaving more cash available to pay to the Equity Holders. As loan interest rates fall, a CLO must reissue or its Equity Holders will get no more return on their CLO equity-holdings. Last year, 125 CLOs reissued for a total of $62 billion.<sup>5</sup> One such transaction involved Acis CLO-2 refinancing $192 million of its loans in April 2017. This reissue or refinancing trend has continued in 2018 with 19 CLOs reissuing for a total of $10 billion in transactions. Id.

27. In addition to doing a reissuance of the CLO, another option available to Equity Holders who are dissatisfied with reduced payments that they are receiving in an era of lower interest rates is to shut down the CLO. Pursuant to the CLO’s indenture, the Equity Holders have the right to “call” the CLO, which means to demand that the CLO sell its basket of loans into the market, distribute the remaining proceeds in one, final waterfall, and then cease operations. When a CLO is called, the loans must be liquidated on the open market within a set period of time, usually between one and four weeks. Though the Equity Holders often realize a substantial loss in this process, it is better than leaving their money in an investment that pays little or no returns for years to come. (Each CLO has a finite life after which it automatically terminates. In the case of CLO-3, it terminates in 2026). Acis CLO-2014-C Indenture at §1.1, Def. Payment Date, p44, and §2.7(e) re: Final Payment Date, and §9.5, re: surrender of Notes. Exhibit 7.

28. A Collateral Manager only receives management fees for as long as the CLO operates. The Collateral Manager has no control over when a CLO is reissued or called. Instead, the Collateral Manager must follow the directions of the Bondholders and the Equity Holders to whom it owes a fiduciary duty. Once the decision to either reissue or call a CLO has been made, the Collateral Manager is duty-bound to undertake all necessary actions to effectuate the directed outcome. After a CLO is called, the Collateral Manager no longer will get any management fees. Moreover, regardless of whether a CLO is reissued or called, the Collateral Manager does not receive any compensation relating to the reissuance.

C. The Planned Reissuance of CLO-3

29. CLO-3 (Acis CLO 2014-3, Ltd.) was created on February 1, 2014 and terminates on February 1, 2026. CLO-3 owns a basket of loans valued at $420 million, including loans to Delta Airlines, Dunkin Donuts, and Tribune Media. CLO-3's Bondholders and Equity Holders own the economic interest in this $420 million basket of loans. CLO-3's Bondholders include public pension funds, insurance companies, and banks. The Equity Holder of CLO-3 is Acis

Loan Funding, Ltd. (“ALF”),<sup>6</sup> which in turn is owned by two entities: a charitable foundation and a third-party private firm (collectively, the “CLO-3 Equity Holders”).

30. When CLO-3 was created, its basket of loans had an average interest rate of 4.59%, resulting in a quarterly waterfall payment of approximately $2 million to the CLO-3 Equity Holders. However, in recent years, the borrowers on these loans have been refinancing to a lower average interest rate (3.21%). This has resulted in falling distributions to the CLO-3 Equity Holders for each quarter. The returns to the CLO-3 Equity Holders have been as follows: $1.4 million in the first quarter of 2017, $1.36 million in the second quarter, $875,000 in the third quarter, and $1.1 million in the last quarter of 2017. The quarterly payment for the first quarter of 2018 is $470,000, and the CLO-3 Equity Holders are expected to receive no distributions by the next waterfall, scheduled for May 2018. Like other similarly-situated CLOs, CLO-3 either needed to be reissued or called to protect the CLO-3 Equity Holders’ interests.<sup>7</sup>

31. Starting in May 2017, CLO-3 started the reissuance process on behalf of its Equity Holders. Typically, the most difficult investors to sign up are the equity holders. As previously explained, the equity is the riskiest investment because it is last in line for payment under the CLO waterfall and faces the prospect of receiving reduced or no payments (which is expected to happen with the May 2018 quarterly payment). In May 2017, a private equity firm

Wells calculated that the weighted average CLO spread dropped 31 bps during 2017. Without refinancings (which simply reduce spread) and resets (which reduce spread, extend tenor and can reset tests), economics on existing CLOs simply might not work.” (c) Reissuances will become industry standard: “Ultimately, Wells concluded that we may be seeing the development of a new lifecycle for CLOs: i) issuance, ii) refinancing after the non-call expires and then iii) a reset as the end of reinvestment nears.”

expressed an interest in making a $150 million investment in ALF (the “$150 Million Equity Investor”). ALF was the investment vehicle used for the various Acis CLOs, including CLO-3. However, one of the conditions demanded by the $150 Million Equity Investor in making its investment was that ALF would instruct the reissuance of certain CLOs, including CLO-3 and would sever any continuing connection that Acis had with the CLOs, including removing it as Collateral Manager. ALF issued this instruction requested by the $150 Million Equity Investor on October 6, 2017 (two weeks prior to the arbitration award).<sup>8</sup>

32. An investment bank was required to be engaged in connection with the contemplated reissuance transaction. The investment bank’s responsibilities included securing new equity investors and new bondholders. Goldman Sachs was the first investment bank that was approached in connection with the reissue of CLO-3. Goldman Sachs recommended that all the CLOs be “called” and that the CLOs start with a fresh slate. Goldman Sachs also unambiguously communicated that Acis could not be the Collateral Manager following the reissuance of the CLOs because of Acis’ now toxic public image after the Terry dispute had so damaged the Acis brand. CLO-3’s Equity Holders agreed. As part of the reissuance, the CMA for CLO-3 would have to be assigned to a new Collateral Manager, in this instance, Highland CLO Management, LLC (the “New Collateral Manager”), another Highland affiliate.

33. Goldman Sachs ultimately dropped out due to the “noise” associated with Terry and the Acis brand. Thereafter, in November 2017, CLO-3 engaged a new investment bank, Mizuho, to undertake the efforts to reissue CLO-3. Mizuho worked to find new Bondholders to invest in the reissued CLO-3. It completed that process on January 26, 2018. On or about January 29, the Bondholders of the reissued CLO-3 agreed to purchase approximately $375 million of new bonds issued by the reissued CLO-3. The $375 million from the purchase of the new bonds would in turn be used to pay-off the old Bondholders in the original CLO-3. Collectively the foregoing process is referred to as the “Reissuance of CLO-3”.

34. At this point in time, the transfer of the CMA from ACIS, LP to the New Collateral Manager, is the sole remaining formality before closing of the Reissuance of CLO-3 can occur.<sup>9</sup> This is the transaction that Terry argues should require compliance with Section 363 of the Bankruptcy Code, and not be completed by Acis LP in accordance with Section 303(f) of the Bankruptcy Code.

35. But, based on Acis’ fiduciary duty to CLO-3’s Equity Holders, it must execute the transfer.<sup>10</sup> To do otherwise would be to put its interests before those of the CLO-3 Equity Holders. Acis has been instructed to execute the transfer of the CLO-3 Management Agreement to the New Collateral Manager. Holding-up the assignment of the CLO-3 Management Agreement will not result in Acis receiving any more value or funds. Rather, failing to act in the best interest of the CLO subjects Acis to liability to CLO-3, its Bondholders, and its Equity Holders.

<sup>9</sup> The CMA may be assigned by either Acis or CLO-3 if certain requirements are met. Specifically, Acis may not assign any of the management agreements “without the written consent of the Issuer, at least a Majority of the Subordinated Notes . . . and at least a Majority of the Controlling Class.” CMA § 14(a). Likewise, the Issuer may not assign a management agreement “without the prior written consent of [Acis].” Id. § 14(c).

<sup>10</sup> As a registered investment advisor, Acis is bound to act in accordance with the Investment Advisors Act of 1940 (the “IAA”). Under the IAA, it is “unlawful for any investment advisor . . . to engage in any act, practice, or course of business which is fraudulent, deceptive, or manipulative.” IAA § 206. Section 206 has since been interpreted as establishing “a statutory fiduciary duty for investment advisers to act for the benefit of their clients, requiring advisers to exercise the utmost good faith in dealing with clients, to disclose all material facts, and to employ reasonable care to avoid misleading clients.” S.E.C. v. Treadway, 430 F. Supp. 2d 293, 338 (S.D.N.Y. 2006) (internal quotations omitted).

36. Terry completely understands the foregoing reissue process, why it is necessary, and the devastating consequences of the reissuance not closing. Terry launched CLO-3, set up its structure, and managed its portfolio for several years. Moreover, never in the history of the CLO industry has a CLO reissuance progressed to the point of funding, and then not closed. The new Bondholders already have committed to buy $375 million in bonds, the old Bondholders already have been assured they will be paid off, and the CLO-3 Equity Holders already have been assured that their investment will not face liquidation.

37. Knowing this, Terry sought to leverage the situation. On January 24, he filed an application for a TRO to, among other things, prevent Acis from assigning the CMA. The TRO was supported by a declaration from Terry that contained materially misleading statements and omissions, and outright falsehoods. The state court conducted a hearing that resulted in Acis and Terry reaching a short-term agreement that would remain in place until the temporary injunction that was scheduled to be heard within the week. Specifically, Acis agreed in the state court to not transfer the CMAs or remove Acis as manager until the temporary injunction hearing. Acis also informed the state court that the Reissuance of CLO-3 was in progress and, therefore, it was important to have the temporary injunction heard as soon as possible. The temporary injunction hearing was originally scheduled for February 1.

38. On January 29, Terry filed a supplemental TRO, also supported by a declaration from Terry, that Acis "had transferred" management of CLO-3 to a Highland entity. The TRO and Terry's supporting declaration, once again, were false. Acis had not transferred management of CLO-3 to a Highland entity as Acis had agreed not to transfer such rights until the temporary injunction hearing and had honored that agreement.

39. Also, on January 29, Terry filed an application for a turnover order and for appointment of a receiver (the “Application for Receiver”). In the Application for Receiver, Terry made false and unsubstantiated allegations that Acis had fraudulently transferred more than $16 million in assets to affiliated entities after entry of the arbitration award in October 2016. As noted in the Introduction, under paragraph 15 of the CMA, the appointment of a receiver would cause the CMA to be terminated and Acis to be removed as the Collateral Manager, thereby rendering the CMA worthless. Yet, Terry inexplicably asked for the appointment of a receiver as just another litigation tactic designed to sow confusion regardless of the fatal consequences to Terry’s claims, i.e. his supposed attempts to preserve the value of the CMA.

40. At the January 29 hearing, the Court did not make any substantive rulings. Rather, at the request of Acis’s counsel and in light of the scheduled closing of the Reissuance of CLO-3 on February 1, the state court moved the temporary injunction hearing up from February 1 to January 31 to ensure that the hearing would take place prior to the scheduled February 1 closing. Also, the Court reconfirmed its prior orders that Terry would supply an expert report by noon on January 30 and that both Terry and his expert would appear for deposition for up to two hours’ each prior to the temporary injunction hearing that had been rescheduled for January 31 at 2:00 p.m.

41. On January 30, Terry provided his expert report as ordered. Later that day, Terry withdrew his expert, which resulted in the expert deposition being called off. However, Terry’s deposition remained scheduled to take place at 10:00 a.m. on January 31, the day of the temporary injunction hearing. Then, out of the blue and with no advance notice, Terry filed his Involuntary Petitions against Acis at midnight on January 30 and filed a “suggestion of bankruptcy” with the state court. Terry’s counsel advised that in light of the bankruptcy filings that Terry would not appear for his court-ordered deposition on January 31 and would not appear at the temporary injunction hearing. In response, on January 31, Acis filed a motion to vacate the agreed order that the parties had entered on January 24 and advised Terry that Acis intended to present the motion to vacate to the state court at the 2:00 p.m. hearing.

42. The parties appeared at the 2:00 p.m. hearing on January 31. During the middle of argument, Judge Goldstein announced that Judge Jernigan was on the phone, which resulted in a recess of about one hour as Judge Goldstein took Judge Jernigan’s call. When Judge Goldstein returned to the bench after that call, she announced her view that the filing of the Involuntary Petitions deprived her of jurisdiction to make any further rulings pending action by the Bankruptcy Court.

E. Closing of the Transaction is rescheduled from February 1 to February 13

43. CLO-3 has been able to move the closing date for the Transaction from February 1 to February 13. However, this is a short-term fix that demands a permanent solution. The very pendency of these involuntary cases severely impacts CLO-3’s ability to ensure that all of the constituent parties remain committed to the transaction. Each day that passes creates greater risk for this $420 million transaction. The new Bondholders will grow nervous about the unprecedented delay. The ratings agencies, law firms offering opinion letters, and various trustees have refused to act in the shadow of a potential bankruptcy stay. Indeed, for the Transaction to go forward on February 13, it must “price” five business days in advance, on February 8; and the pendency of these Involuntary cases likely will prevent pricing – which will likely quash the Transaction before the February 13th closing date. And the longer the Transaction waits, the more likely that changing market conditions, such last Friday's precipitous stock market fall, will cause parties to reconsider if they want to enter into the Transaction at the previously negotiated prices. Absent the denial of the 303(f) Motion and the granting of the Motions to Dismiss,<sup>11</sup> the Reissuance of CLO-3 may never close,<sup>12</sup> to the detriment of the CLO-3 Equity Holders and Bondholders to whom Acis owes a fiduciary duty.<sup>13</sup> However, it is beyond question if the assignment of the CMA is not executed prior to February 13, CLO-3 will be called, its basket of loans liquidated, and the CLO-3 Equity Holders and other parties will incur tens of millions of dollars in losses.

44. The CLO-3 Indenture provides that the Equity Holders may "call"—i.e., force the liquidation of—CLO-3 through an optional redemption of the outstanding notes. Specifically, a majority of the Equity Holders may initiate an optional redemption "on any Business Day after the Non-Call Period." CLO-3 Indenture § 9.2(a). Exhibit No. 7. The Non-Call Period for CLO-3 ended in February 2016. CLO-3 Indenture § 1.1. Exhibit No. 7. After being notified of an optional redemption, "the Portfolio Manager [Acis] in its sole discretion shall direct the sale (and the manner thereof) of all or part of the Collateral Obligations and other Assets." Id. § 9.2(b).

45. Even if Acis subsequently escapes bankruptcy and the appointment of a receiver, the Equity Holders in CLO-3 will nonetheless issue an optional redemption, thereby liquidating

<sup>11</sup> In connection with the Motions to Expedite the Hearing on the Motions to Dismiss (which will be considered by the Court current with the 303(f) Motion), Acis is filing a Supplemental Brief, in support of the expedited consideration. As noted therein, it is not enough to simply deny the 303(f) Motion, thus permitting Acis to continue operations, unrestricted by Section 363 of the Bankruptcy Code, until an Order for Relief is entered or the Involuntary Cases are dismissed, as, and most important, the mere existence of the Involuntary Petitions against Acis is interfering with and causing damage to all of the CLO's managed by Acis.

all CLO-3 assets. Under such a scenario, the CMA will automatically terminate upon “the liquidation of the Assets and the final distribution of the proceeds of such liquidation to the Holders.” CMA § 13(a)(ii).

46. What appears to be lost on Terry is that regardless of whether the Reissuance of CLO-3 occurs, Acis’s fate is sealed. In short order, Acis will no longer be the Collateral Manager for CLO-3. Either the Collateral Management Agreement will be transferred pursuant to a reissuance or it will expire when CLO-3 is called and liquidated.

47. Furthermore, and as previously discussed, even if Acis is prohibited from transferring the Collateral Management Agreement, Acis will nonetheless be terminated as Collateral Manager due to (1) the bankruptcy filing, (2) a receivership requested by Terry in state court, or (3) Acis’s inability to provide management services as a result of the Highland Servicers exercising their contractual right to refuse to continue to provide services to Acis under the Sub-Advisory Agreement and Shares Services Agreement. The delay or even prevention of the assignment of the CMA to the New Collateral Manager will not result in more assets owned by Acis, and, in fact, will increase the claims against Acis (not to mention the forthcoming claims against Terry) for its breach of fiduciary duties owed to CLO-3, its Bondholders and the CLO-3 Equity Holders.

III. OBJECTIONS TO THE 303(f) MOTION

48. The relief Terry seeks in the 303(f) Motion has no basis in law or fact and is nothing more than the latest maneuver in his scheme to exert pressure on Acis (and Highland) by jeopardizing the closing of the Reissuance of CLO-3.

49. As set forth in the Motions to Dismiss, Terry has improperly invoked the jurisdiction of this Court and did so in bad faith. Allowing Terry to compound those abuses by imposing on Acis the requirements of Section 363 of the Bankruptcy Code would not only be inequitable, but also has the potential to cause millions of dollars of damage to multiple parties, including creditors of Acis or affiliates thereof. Moreover, it would be inappropriate for this Court to condone such abuses by modifying Section 303(f) before this Court has considered the propriety of Acis being subject to Title 11 cases.

50. Section 303(f) provides:

“Notwithstanding Section 363 of [the Bankruptcy Code,] except to the extent that the court orders otherwise, and until an order for relief in the case, any business of the debtor may continue to operate, and the debtor may continue to use, acquire, or dispose of property as if an involuntary case concerning the debtor had not been commenced.”

51. In the Texas Rangers case the Court confirmed the scope and rationale of Section 303(f) by quoting from Consolidated Partners Inv. Co. v. Lake, 152 B.R. 485, 490 (Bankr. N.D. Ohio 1993):

By virtue of § 303(f), during the gap period, the Debtor was authorized to continue such operations until an order for relief was entered as though no involuntary petition had been filed. The rationale for allowing the debtor to operate during the involuntary gap period is that prior to the entry of an order for relief, the subject of an involuntary petition should not be adversely affected by the case.”

In re Texas Rangers Baseball Partners, 434 B.R. 393 ( Bankr. N.D. Tex. 2010).

52. In the 303(f) Motion, Terry cites two cases for the proposition that “courts have imposed restrictions on an involuntary gap debtor’s operations to preserve and protect assets; especially where there is a concern that a debtor may dispose of assets for less than fair value or dismantle a business for the private gain of its principals.” 303(f) Motion, at ¶¶ 18-19; In re Texas Rangers Baseball Partners, 434 B.R. 393 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 2010); Wilson v. Davis (In re Wilson), 62 B.R. 42 (E.D. Tenn. 1985).

53. Terry’s characterization and attempts to analogize the facts of those cases is unavailing. First, in the Wilson case, the court did not modify Section 303(f), but simply observed that because Section 303 permits an involuntary debtor to use, acquire, or dispose of property through the time the order for relief is entered (as opposed to through the date of the involuntary filing, which the appellee had argued), that the proper date for determining the scope of an involuntary debtor’s exempt property was the date on which an order for relief was entered. Id. at 45-46.

54. In Texas Rangers the Court abrogated Section 303(f), but, the main reason for doing so was that the alleged debtors’ sole asset was itself a debtor in a voluntary chapter 11 case and that it was appropriate to impose on the involuntary debtors the same fiduciary duties as a debtor in possession because of such ownership structure. 434 B.R. at 404-405. Indeed, the Court acknowledged that section 303(f) generally permits an involuntary debtor to “proceed without court oversight[,] . . . so long as [its] conduct can be justified under the business judgment rule.” Id. at 405. Moreover, as acknowledged by Terry, the Court’s conclusion was very much “based on the facts and circumstances of the case.” 303(f) Motion, at ¶ 19.

55. The Texas Rangers Court was further concerned that the alleged debtors were not operating consistent with the fiduciary duties of a debtor-in-possession in the gap period. Thus, the Court imposed the obligations of Section 363 of the Bankruptcy Code on the alleged debtors.

Terry makes no comparison of the facts of that case to the facts of this matter in support of his 303(f) Motion – and he cannot.

56. Here, Acis is operating consistent with both Acis’s fiduciary duties and the industry trend of almost 140 CLO reissuances. As noted above, blocking the Transaction benefits neither Acis nor its creditors. In fact, the liabilities undertaken from a failure to comply will surely injure Acis, and its creditors. Further, to cause the assertion of claims against Acis is contrary to its fiduciary duties to its creditors and third parties.

57. In connection with the assignment of the CMA as part and parcel of the Reissuance of CLO-3, there is no evidence to suggest that Acis is not acting in a fashion consistent with the fiduciary responsibilities of a debtor-in-possession (were Acis to become debtors-in-possession at a later date). Rather, the unsupported allegations by Terry of pre-petition transactions undertaken by Acis fail to demonstrate in any regard that the assignment of the CMA to complete the Reissuance of CLO-3 is inappropriate.

58. As demonstrated above, Acis is, by assigning the CMA to the New Collateral Manager, performing exactly as is required of it and is complying with its fiduciary duties to CLO-3. To do otherwise would be a breach of its fiduciary duties as well as cause significant damage to innocent third parties, all of which may assert claims against Acis. Thus, by complying with its fiduciary duties to CLO-3, Acis is also complying with its fiduciary duties to its creditors (if Acis were to become debtors-in-possession).

59. The drastic remedy of imposing upon Acis obligations to comply with Section 363 during the gap period makes no sense when what is being undertaken by Acis is exactly what is in the best interests of all interested parties.

B. Terry’s “Fraudulent Transfer” Argument is Based on an Incorrect Understanding of the CMA and the Law

60. Boiled down to its essence, Terry’s “fraudulent transfer” argument asserts the following positions: (i) the CMA (the management agreement by which Acis manages CLO-3) is a valuable asset of Acis; (ii) Acis proposes to transfer that valuable asset to the New Collateral Manager; and (iii) the New Collateral Manager is not providing anything to Acis in exchange for the transfer of the CMA. Thus, Terry argues, the transfer of the CMA eliminates a valuable asset of Acis for no consideration.

61. The flaws in Terry’s “fraudulent transfer” argument, however, are fatal. First, the CMA has no value, as Acis’s operation thereunder results in a loss to Acis (see ¶ 4, infra). Second, the contractual arrangement between Acis and CLO-3 (i.e., the CMA), which has been in place since 2014, provides, among other things, that Acis will perform various services, be compensated for those services, and, most relevant here, undertake actions as instructed by CLO-3, including, in this instance, assign the contract (the CMA). Simply put, the provisions of the CMA requiring the Collateral Manager (Acis) to perform as instructed – in this instance to transfer the CMA, is a negotiated contractual obligation among Acis and CLO-3 that has nothing to do with the transferee (i.e., the New Collateral Manager). From the outset of the relationship among Acis and CLO-3, Acis has performed in accordance with its fiduciary duties to the CLO, its Equity Holders and its Bondholders; and has been compensated all along by CLO-3 for such performance. It is not being instructed to make the assignment – which it must do consistent with its fiduciary duties.

62. The four year long relationship among Acis and CLO-3 has included performance of the back and forth obligations of the parties, which has resulted in consideration flowing to and among the parties. Thus, Acis has already been compensated in anticipation of performing its instructed obligations including assigning the CMA in further of the Transactions. There is no consideration or value flowing from Acis to the New Collateral Manager. Rather, Acis continues to perform under the terms of its existing contract (i.e., the CMA) by making the assignment as instructed CLO-3.

63. Accordingly, Terry's suggestion that the New Collateral Manager is receiving a fraudulent transfer, and that Acis is making a fraudulent transfer, is not correct. Rather, Acis simply is performing in accordance with a contractual obligation, long-ago entered into, and for which it has been, and continues to be, compensated. The transfer is not anything more than Acis's compliance with the terms of a contract – the CMA. The foregoing analysis debunks any assertion that the assignment of the CMA, a ministerial act to be performed by Acis as part and of the Reissuance of CLO-3, is a fraudulent transfer.

C. The Involuntary Petitions are Factually Defective

64. As described in detail in the Motions to Dismiss, the Involuntary Petitions are subject to dismissal because they are not supported by the requisite number of creditors needed to commence an involuntary chapter 7 case under Section 303 of the Bankruptcy Code. Section 303(b)(1) of the Bankruptcy Code states, in relevant part:

An involuntary case against a person is commenced by the filing with the bankruptcy court of a petition under chapter 7 or 11 of this title—

(1) by three or more entities, each of which is either a holder of a claim against such person that is not contingent as to liability or the subject of a bona fide dispute as to liability or amount, or an indenture trustee representing such a holder, if such noncontingent, undisputed claims aggregate at least $15,775 more than the value of any lien on property of the debtor securing such claims held by the holders of such claims;

(2) if there are fewer than 12 such holders, excluding any employee or insider of such person and any transferee of a transfer that is voidable under section 544, 545, 547, 548, 549, or 724 (a) of this title, by one or more of such holders that hold in the aggregate at least $15,775 of such claims . . . .

65. Section 303(b) contains “very specific requirements concerning the number of entities that are necessary to commence an involuntary filing.” 2 COLLIER ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 303.14 (16th rev. ed. 2013). Those requirements are based on the policy of preventing one or more “recalcitrant creditors” from filing an involuntary case to harass a debtor. Id.

66. Perhaps the most basic of all requirements is that section 303(b)(1) requires that when a debtor has twelve or more creditors, an involuntary case may be commenced only by three or more entities. See In re Tichy Elec. Co., Inc., 332 B.R. 364, 372-73 (Bankr. N.D. Iowa 2005) (citations omitted); Sipple v. Atwood (In re Atwood), 124 B.R. 402, 406 (S.D. Ga. 1991) (“If there are twelve or more qualifying claims, excluding voidable claims, the debtor cannot be forced into involuntary bankruptcy by fewer than three of the qualifying creditors.”). Where a debtor has twelve or more creditors and there are less than three petitioning creditors, the case must be dismissed—section 303(b)(1) leaves no room for Court discretion.

67. Terry has the burden of demonstrating that he has satisfied the numerosity requirement under section 303(b) of the Bankruptcy Code. Pleas Doyle & Assocs. v. James Plaza Joint Venture (In re James Plaza Joint Venture), 67 B.R. 445, 448 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. 1986) (“It is plaintiffs’ burden to demonstrate the number of creditors of [the] debtor’s estate.”); In re Charon, 94 B.R. 403, 405-06 (Bankr. E.D. Va. 1988) (petitioner has “burden of proving that it satisfied the jurisdictional requirements of § 303(b)"); 2 COLLIER ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 303.15, at 76 (15th ed. 1988) (“When fewer than three creditors file an involuntary petition, the alleged debtor has the burden to raise the issue that it has 12 or more creditors by filing a list pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 1003(b). The petitioning creditor then has the burden to show that the alleged debtor actually has fewer than 12.”). Terry cannot do so.

68. Here, it is beyond dispute that Acis has twelve or more creditors. Ironically, substantially all of Acis’s creditors became creditors because of the pending state court action between Terry and Acis. Specifically, Acis’s creditors include numerous law firms, professionals, and experts, which are creditors of Acis LP and also creditors of Acis GP due to its role as the general partner. Acis has filed with this Court a statement pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 1003(b) listing such creditors. See Case No. 18-30264-SGJ7, Docket No. 7; Case No. 18-30265-SGJ7, Docket No. 7. Exhibit No. 13. Thus, Acis has more than twelve creditors, making clear that three creditors are required to force Acis into bankruptcy pursuant to section 303(b)(1).<sup>14</sup>

69. Based on the foregoing, the Involuntary Petitions lack the statutorily required number of petitioning creditors and therefore are subject to dismissal because they are factually defective.

70. The significance of the Motion to Dismiss cannot be over emphasized. As the fatal flaw in the Involuntary Petitions – only one creditor filed the Involuntary Petitions – is so obvious, this Court should not consider the 303(f) Motion, until and unless consideration has been given to the Dismissal Motion.<sup>15</sup>

<sup>14</sup> In addition to filing the 1003(b) Notice, Acis has provided to Terry copies of the invoices, statements and other documents evidencing and supporting each of the creditors’ asserted claims. In addition, Acis also offered to present a witness to provide a deposition (including the offer of a deposition to be conducted over the just-concluded weekend) to testify to the creditors and their claims. Terry failed to respond to this offer.

<sup>15</sup> While the Motion to Expedite the Court’s consideration of the Motions to Dismiss is being considered concurrently with the Court’s consideration of the 303(f) Motion, Acis asserts that Dismissal of the Involuntary Petitions should be heard in advance of the 303(f) Motion. Were the blatant disagreement and failure to comply with Section 303(b) not as obvious as it is, this Court might consider the 303(f) Motion in advance of the Motions to

D. The 303(f) Motion is a Blatant Attempt to Pressure Acis by Threatening the Reissuance of CLO-3, in Contravention of the Intent Underlying the Bankruptcy Code’s Involuntary Provisions.

71. Terry’s bad faith litigation strategy is clear—he intends to exert pressure on Acis (and Highland) by jeopardizing the Reissuance of CLO-3. In furtherance of that ill-conceived objective, Terry filed the 303(f) Motion, which seeks to impose the requirements of Section 363 of the Bankruptcy Code before there has been an adjudication on the merits of the propriety or validity of the Involuntary Petitions. Granting the relief requested would run completely counter to the balance Congress attempted to strike in the Bankruptcy Code’s involuntary bankruptcy provisions.

72. The filing of an involuntary petition is a drastic remedy. See Credit Union Liquidity Servs., L.L.C. v. Green Hills Dev. Co., L.L.C. (In re Green Hills Dev. Co., L.L.C.), 741 F.3d 651, 655 (5th Cir. 2014). In recognition of this fact, “Congress limited the circumstances in which creditors may force a debtor into such a proceeding.” Id. (citing, inter alia, 30 Cong. Rec. S7618 (daily ed. June 19, 1984)); see In re Landmark Distribs., Inc., 189 B.R. 290, 306 (Bankr. D.N.J. 1995) (“The filing of an involuntary petition by a creditor must be carefully scrutinized by the Court because such an action is extreme in nature and carries with it serious consequences to the alleged debtor, examples of which include loss of credit standing, interference with general business affairs and public embarrassment.”) (citations omitted). Congress created the Bankruptcy Code to serve “as a shield for debtors, not a sword for creditors,” In re R.N. Salem Corp., 29 B.R. 424, 429 (S.D. Ohio 1983), and even the good-faith filing of an involuntary petition creates onerous circumstances for an alleged debtor. Schmid v.

Dismiss. However, the immediately apparent flaw in the Involuntary Petitions warrants consideration of the Motions to Dismiss first.

Yorke (In re Reid), 773 F.2d 945, 946 (7th Cir. 1985) (the filing of an involuntary petition is “an extreme remedy with serious consequences to the alleged debtor”) (citations omitted).

73. Balancing the harshness of the possibility of an entity being put into bankruptcy against its will is the protection afforded by Section 303(f) of the Bankruptcy Code. Recognizing that an alleged debtor should be afforded due process and its day in Court before being required to abide the restrictions the Bankruptcy Code imposes on its operations, Section 303(f) allows an alleged debtor to operate free of those restrictions pending an adjudication of the involuntary petition. The presumption that an alleged debtor should be free to operate its business without restriction pending adjudication of an order for relief is even more critical when the petitioning creditor, like Terry here, has acted alone in an attempt to gain an improper tactical advantage in a longstanding two-party dispute in state court.

74. As set forth in the Motion to Dismiss, the Involuntary Petitions are blatant examples of forum shopping. Terry filed the Involuntary Petitions literally on the eve on an evidentiary hearing in the state court that Terry knew would have resulted in Acis being free to close the Reissuance of CLO-3. Rather than participate in that hearing (and sit for the deposition that was to precede that hearing), Terry attempted a “Hail Mary pass” and precipitously attempted to transfer the venue of his dispute with Acis to this Court. Having done so, Terry should be forced to await the adjudication of the merits of the Involuntary Petitions (already the subject of the Motions to Dismiss, filed less than 24 hours after the Involuntary Petitions themselves) before being granted relief that is akin to a pre-determination that the Acis entities should be adjudicated debtors. To hold otherwise would offend the balancing Congress built into Section 303 and would offend notions of equity and due process.<sup>16</sup>

<sup>16</sup> As the Motions to Dismiss demonstrate, Acis asserts that the Involuntary Petitions suffer from fatal flaws, both because the numerosity requirement of Section 303(b)(1) is not met and because the filings were made in

IV.
CONCLUSION

WHEREFORE, for the reasons set forth herein, Acis respectfully requests that the Court enter an Order denying the Motion and granting such other relief as the Court deems just and proper.

bad faith. At a minimum, the relief Terry seeks in the 303(f) Motion should await this Court's adjudication of the Motions to Dismiss. At most, the 303(f) Motion should be denied, without prejudice to Terry's right to seek the same relief if these involuntary cases proceed beyond Acis' Motions to Dismiss.

Colloquy

1 MS. PATEL: -- I haven't put on --

2 THE COURT: You may have a witness on that if it --

3 MS. PATEL: I don't know what their evidence --

4 THE COURT: Okay.

5 MS. PATEL: -- is going to be, so I may very well,
6 yes.

7 THE COURT: All right. Well, then let's go to the 8 other side. To expedite things, I think I made clear but 9 maybe I didn't make clear, Mr. Cruciani, your witness can be 10 combined testimony in response to the 303(f) as well in 11 support of your motion to expedite. And so --

12 MR. CRUCIANI: Okay. Thank you, Your Honor. So Mr.
13 Ellington will testify to both.

14 THE COURT: Okay.

15 MR. CRUCIANI: As relates to the motion to expedite, 16 the actual substantive testimony on our motion to dismiss will 17 be primarily Mr. Leventon; I understand that was kind of the 18 next step, but that's not something we'll be doing for this 19 particular motion, right?

20 THE COURT: Correct.

21 MR. CRUCIANI: Okay.

22 THE COURT: Um-hum.

23 MR. CRUCIANI: Yes, ma'am.

24 THE COURT: All right. So it's Mr. Ellington? Okay,
25 welcome. If you could approach the witness stand.

1 All right, please raise your right hand.

2 (Witness sworn)

3 THE COURT: All right, please take a seat.

4 THE WITNESS: Thank you.

5 THE CLERK: I will get them and come back here.

6 MR. CRUCIANI: Okay.

7 THE CLERK: It's very directional.

8 MR. CRUCIANI: Okay. Thank you, ma'am.

9 DIRECT EXAMINATION

10 BY MR. CRUCIANI:

11 Q. Please state your name for the record.

12 A. Scott Ellington.

13 Q. What is your position, Mr. Ellington?

14 A. I am the general counsel, chief legal officer, and 15 partner at Highland Capital Management, L.P.

16 Q. Okay. I'd like to start with just a few things we just 17 heard from Mr. Terry.

18 A. Okay.

19 MR. CRUCIANI: Let's put up, Omar, slide 4, please.

20 Q. Recall Mr. Terry just testified that the reason Acis is 21 in this structure was due to the toxic brand name of Highland 22 back in the 2012 time period?

23 A. Yes, I do.

24 Q. Now, fast-forward; today. What is, based on your 25 dealings with the marketplace, the nature of the Acis brand

1 today --

2 MR. SHAW: Your Honor, I'm going to object on 3 foundation. If he's going to testify that his knowledge
4 regarding the perception is based upon hearsay, people are 5 telling him what the perception of Acis is, it's rank hearsay.
6 So if the basis is what others are telling him, it's hearsay
7 and it's not admissible; there's no exception to that. So --

8 MR. CRUCIANI: It's not offered to prove the truth of 9 the matter asserted. Doesn't matter whether they in their 10 heart of hearts believe it. It's just what's been 11 communicated and how they respond to that.

12 THE COURT: Okay --

13 MR. SHAW: It's --

14 THE COURT: -- overruled.

15 MR. CRUCIANI: Okay.

16 THE COURT: I'll allow it.

17 Q. Do you deal with market participants in the CLO industry?

18 A. Yes.

19 Q. Give us a general overview of the nature of those 20 dealings

21 A. Especially around these transactions, I've dealt directly 22 with two investment banks and with the equity holders.

23 Q. Okay. And has the subject of the Acis brand name come up
24 in those discussions?

25 A. Countless times.

1 Q. What has been communicated to you?

2 A. That it is so toxic that it's impossible to sell the 3 bonds with Acis as the manager, that you would not be able to 4 raise the equity and, due to this litigation and allegations
5 that've been in the litigations and the press, by Mr. Terry's
6 actions, that nothing can be associated with the Acis brand
7 and be managed as a CLO or marketed as a CLO.

8 Q. Who has communicated that to you?

9 A. Goldman Sachs, equity holders, large law firms that do
10 structured products, CLO work for a living, and Mizuho.

11 Q. What role was Goldman Sachs slated to have in this case?

12 A. They were the investment banker that was going to 13 refinance these CLOs.

14 Q. Who is the current investment banker?

15 A. Mizuho.

16 Q. Why is Goldman Sachs not the investment banker?

17 A. They dropped out because of the Acis name and dealing 18 with these Acis transactions.

19 Q. How did what you were hearing about the Acis name impact 20 the decision of whether or not Acis would continue as the 21 collateral manager in these ventures?

22 A. The bondholders, the -- and -- existing and purchasing,
23 and the equity holders, existing and new equity holders, said
24 categorically, with absolute certainty, if there's any 25 relation to Acis, the Acis brand, the Acis structure, we have

1 no interest in doing business with you at all.

2 Q. How were these -- how was this new reissue transaction
3 marketed? What was the document that was sent to the 4 investors?

5 A. Was called a circular, and it lays out -- it's 6 essentially a term sheet of how the deal will look.

7 Q. Was there any discussion in the circular about who the 8 collateral manager would be in the new deal?

9 A. Yes.

10 Q. Who was it?

11 A. Highland Capital Loan -- it's that HCLOM -- sorry, 12 there's just so many names; I'd have to look at the chart.

13 Q. A Highland entity?

14 A. A Highland affiliate, correct, yes.

15 Q. Not Acis?

16 A. Correct.

17 Q. Is it important that these offering circulars be 18 accurate?

19 A. They have to be.

20 Q. What are the penalties if they're not?

21 A. Securities fraud, negligent misrep., fraud in the 22 inducement. I mean, it's severe.

23 Q. Okay. And so the information that the investors had -- 24 what information did they have at the time they're making 25 their investment? What were they told as to who that

1 investment manager would be?

2 A. It would be a new entity per their request.

3 Q. What would be -- would it be of any concern to you -- and 4 if so, how -- if they changed that after the investment
5 decision was made in part (indiscernible)?

6 A. We'd have to go and redo the circular, go out and 7 resolicit the bond and equity tranches. It -- it would
8 essentially be a recasting of the entire deal, and then it
9 looks like you don't have your ducks in a row. They're more
10 likely to not fix.

11 Q. And then what rights would the new investors have to say,
12 well -- say, now you're telling me there's a new -- Acis is 13 back in the play, what rights would they have in terms of 14 going forward or not?

15 A. Rescission, various breaches, you know, lost
16 relationship, goodwill, brand again. I mean, it's -- it's a 17 whole host of things, probably a lot that I couldn't even 18 think of at the top of my head.

19 Q. Okay. Another thing -- let's go to Exhibit 7, the 20 indenture, paragraph 8.3(e), which is page 164. This is what 21 Mr. Terry and I just got done discussing. He pointed me to 22 this in response to my question whether there was anything in 23 the documents that gave the collateral manager effectively a 24 veto right over the (indiscernible) transaction. Recall that 25 discussion?

1 A. Correct.

2 Q. Bloomberg issued some media publications as well, right?

3 A. Correct.

4 Q. There was a Dealbreaker internet post about the dispute,
5 right?

6 A. I remember that, yes.

7 Q. Right. And this issue with Mr. Terry having recorded 8 while he was an employee of Highland was well known to the 9 market, right?

10 A. I would assume so.

11 Q. So despite the fact that this is common knowledge that 12 Mr. Terry did this, you have Mr. Covitz, who's running Acis in 13 August of 2017, well after all this stuff comes out, saying 14 that Acis still intends to issue new CLOs, right?

15 A. Yes, that was the plan.

16 Q. And Acis is risk-retention-compliant, right?

17 A. Yes.

18 Q. And Acis has been risk-retention-compliant?

19 A. As far as I understand, yes.

20 Q. Yet now, fast forward to October or November of 2017 into 21 the new year in 2018, all of a sudden, this noise about Mr.
22 Terry recording is what creates the toxic nature of the Acis
23 brand; is that right?

24 A. No, I don't think that's -- the timing is right. I think 25 the toxicity was there, but I think the effectuation was

1 actually around this mechanism.

2 Q. You're familiar with the news article that came out in 3 The Wall Street Journal after the award was made public, when 4 Mr. Terry went to confirm that award, right?

5 A. Yes, I do.

6 Q. But one of the things that's changed since Mr. Covitz
7 makes this representation in this document that's posted on 8 Highland's website about Acis' intent to issue new CLOs as 9 Acis and now, is that we've got an arbitration award and we've 10 got a judgment, right?

11 A. And we have third-party investors that said we don't want 12 to be involved in this brand; and their equity is one of the 13 reasons that new CLOs can be launched.

14 Q. I want to follow up on that. Those third-party 15 investors, they never told Highland or Mr. Dondero or you or 16 Mr. Covitz that in order for them to invest that they were 17 going to bar this new entity -- this Highland Cayman entity or 18 the Delaware new Highland CLO entity -- from paying for the 19 transfer of these CMAs, right?

20 A. What do you mean by "paying for the transfers"?

21 Q. Paying some amount of consideration for Acis to transfer 22 the management contract?

23 A. No, they just said we want things to be structured in 24 this way or we're not investing.

25 Q. Right. They didn't say hey, we'll do the deal, but as a

1 condition of doing the deal, we want you to transfer these 2 assets -- this collateral-management agreement from Acis to 3 Acis Cayman; and we don't want you to pay -- we don't want
4 Acis Cayman to pay a dollar for the transfer of that CMA?

5 A. Well, I think there's two questions. I'll try to address
6 them both.

7 It was call the deal and terminate the CMAs or transfer
8 the CMAs. That's question one. So yes, they not only 9 necessitated, they demanded it.

10 How we paid consideration for those transfers to Acis,
11 they didn't have any involvement in it.

12 Q. Right. I mean, again, I may be belaboring the point, but 13 I think it's an important one. These investors' involvement 14 is not an impediment to Acis receiving value in exchange for 15 the transfer of the CMAs?

16 A. I disagree.

17 Q. Tell me why?

18 A. If they do not become investors or you cannot reset or 19 refi, the deals will be called and therefore Acis' CMAs don't 20 have any value.

21 Q. No, no, no. What I'm saying is, everything is the same, 22 right? The transaction that's going forward on the 13th is 23 the same. Everything. Right?

24 A. Wrong.

25 Q. No, no. This is -- a hypothetical, what I'm saying.

1 A. Oh, I'm sorry. Okay, I misunderstood.

2 Q. All right. Everything is going forward as is, right?

3 It's going to close on the 13th. There's going to be a 4 transfer of the collateral-management agreement. There's 5 going to be a reset. All these things are going to happen,
6 right, just like you planned. The one variable that's changed
7 is that instead of Acis receiving nothing for the transfer of 8 the collateral-management agreement, is that Acis receives
9 something for the transfer of the collateral-management
10 agreement to a Highland affiliate.

11 A. Correct. But they weren't going to receive anything from 12 a refi or a reset or a call anyway.

13 Q. I understand that.

14 A. Okay.

15 Q. But there's nothing that the investors are saying that 16 stops Highland Cayman or Highland or anybody else giving Acis
17 value for the CMAs.

18 A. As a directive from the investors; is that what you're 19 asking me?

20 Q. Right.

21 A. No, they have not given that directive. Their only 22 directive was call and get rid of Acis or get rid of Acis or 23 we're not doing the deal through a reset.

24 Q. All right, so you said that when Acis was set up that -- 25 in 2011, that that was directly analogous to what this new

1 transaction that you're doing or that Highland and its 2 affiliates are doing with regard to the reset and the 3 transfers of the collateral-management agreement. Do you
4 remember that?

5 A. Yeah, the idea of Acis and -- yes.

6 Q. Right.

7 A. Correct.

8 Q. Now, when --

9 A. A new brand.

10 Q. Right. Now, when Acis was set up, Highland had existing 11 CLOs that it managed, right?

12 A. Correct.

13 Q. None of those existing collateral-management agreements 14 from Highland were transferred as a part of the formation of 15 Acis to Acis, right?

16 A. I don't recall, but I think Mr. Terry earlier said one
17 CLO was taken over and managed by Acis. I just don't remember 18 how it was effectuated, and I didn't remember that till he 19 said it.

20 Q. But you don't know if that CLO was originally managed by 21 Highland or if it was managed by some other third party?

22 A. I believe he said it was managed by Highland. But 23 again --

24 Q. I --

25 A. -- Mr. Terry would know more than me. I just can't

1 bankers didn't want to be involved with the name.

2 THE COURT: All right, late '16 or early 2017. All
3 right. Well, how then, were you all able to do the refi on 4 CLO 2?

5 THE WITNESS: Well, because I think CLO 2 was before 6 things got to the point where people would say no, because 7 there was successive articles as things developed in the 8 litigation.

9 THE COURT: Okay. When was CLO 2, the refi closed?

10 THE WITNESS: I believe it was closed on April, but 11 they usually take several months to effectuate. So that 12 was -- call it -- and these are just generalizations. But 13 let's say you start on January 2017, you'll close March or 14 April of '17. And that process is already ongoing, just like 15 in these resets, things were ongoing.

16 THE COURT: Well, the name got toxic late 2016 or 17 early 2017.

18 THE WITNESS: Correct. So you had a bank willing to 19 do it, and then it got to the point to where they didn't want 20 to be involved in ongoing litigation. The snowball just got 21 larger.

22 THE COURT: Well, but April 2017, there was a refi
23 with Acis as the portfolio manager on CLO 2.

24 THE WITNESS: Correct.

25 THE COURT: I'm trying to understand why was

1 everything fine and rosy in April 2002 (sic) to have Acis in 2 there, even though its name had gotten toxic in late 2016 or 3 early 2017, and now just no go, no one will touch it?

4 THE WITNESS: I don't think it was rosy. I think it
5 was tolerable. And then as things got worse and there was 6 more mud that was slung, it became intolerable.

7 And you also have the addition of the third-party
8 investor coming in who gets to start calling the shots.

9 THE COURT: Okay. When was the decision made to do
10 this refi on CLO 3?

11 THE WITNESS: That began back in the May/June time
12 frame on that particular CLO, because that's when I got 13 involved on the due diligence calls with the third-party
14 investor. And it wasn't just about 3; it was about resetting
15 them all.

16 THE COURT: All. All the others.

17 THE WITNESS: And then the actual structure, Your 18 Honor, is what dictates why they were taken out of order, just 19 the way they economically worked.

20 THE COURT: Okay. Um-hum. Um-hum.

21 So May/June of 2017, discussion of doing a refi on 22 all of the five remaining?

23 THE WITNESS: Yes, with the new equity investor.
24 Then they were able to dictate this is what we want the world
25 to look like that we'll be sticking our 150 million dollars.

1 THE COURT: Okay. When did the offering circular go
2 out for the one you want to close February 13th?

3 THE WITNESS: I don't know the exact date, but it was 4 sometime last fall-ish. It may have been after that. I just 5 don't recall. Because they would be drafted; they would be 6 changed; you had Goldman doing some; then it got changed. If 7 anyone knows the date -- I simply don't know the date.

8 THE COURT: Okay. This is a really big deal.

9 THE WITNESS: No, I know.

10 THE COURT: And you don't know the date?

11 THE WITNESS: That's -- I know. I just don't have 12 this memorized. Does anybody know when the offer circular 13 went out on 3?

14 THE COURT: You don't know?

15 THE WITNESS: I can't remember now.

16 THE COURT: It wasn't -- you don't know if it was 17 before or after October 20th, 2017?

18 THE WITNESS: Oh, I think it was after. The circular 19 goes out when everything else is finished in terms of this is 20 what we're going to do; this is what the terms are going to 21 look like; this is what the structure's going to look like.

22 THE COURT: Well, it had to be after this Exhibit 22,
23 when Goldman is saying --

24 THE WITNESS: Oh, yes, it was after --

25 THE COURT: -- we're not going to do it.

1 November 3, 2017. And you'll see at the beginning paragraph
2 the parties are Acis, Highland, and then an entity called
3 Highland CLO Management, Ltd. with a acronym "HCLOM". Do you
4 know the function or purpose of HCLOM?

5 A. Not -- not specifically.

6 Q. And there are a lot of acronyms here, so let me maybe
7 help you out on this one if I may. I believe this was the 8 entity designed to be the successor portfolio manager to Acis.
9 Does that perhaps refresh your memory on it?

10 (Sneeze)

11 A. Bless you. Yes, okay.

12 Q. Okay, and let's go back to the signature page here. And 13 there's your signature on behalf of Highland and on behalf of 14 Acis. And then there's actually another signature here on 15 behalf of Highland CLO Management, Ltd. I'm not sure if you 16 can make out that signature or not. Do you know who's 17 actually signing that? Can you tell?

18 A. No. I imagine it's one of the board members of that 19 entity.

20 Q. And why is it that this Cayman entity has a -- is a -- is 21 signing this agreement; do you know?

22 A. I believe -- I would -- I'm guessing it's a -- a 23 requisite for a Cayman Island entity to have approval of the 24 board member -- or a board member.

25 Q. Okay, and I see this is on behalf of the director, this

1 signature you see there at the bottom?

2 A. Yes.

3 Q. All right, now, this timing wise was entered about two
4 weeks after the arbitration award. So first question is did
5 you have any role in negotiating Exhibit 16?

6 A. No.

7 Q. What role, if any, did you play in connection with 8 Exhibit 16?

9 A. Just final approval.

10 Q. Do you know -- do you have any understanding about what 11 group of people would have been responsible for putting 12 together the document -- for putting together the document?

13 A. Sure. Yeah, I mean, the general context is we'd been 14 negotiating for months with a large institutional investor out 15 of Boston to come in for approximately fifty percent of the 16 ALF. And the investor came into fifty percent of the ALF
17 based on a schedule of refining -- refining and redoing of the 18 various different Acis transactions.

19 The refi -- the refining the whole operation of the ALF
20 post the investor coming in from Boston was all dependent upon 21 getting as far away from Acis and a new collateral manager as 22 possible. And so this was part of that as far as I
23 understand.

24 Q. To your understanding, was that institutional investor
25 willing to invest if Acis remained as collateral manager?

1 A. No, the way it was described to me, which I believe and 2 have no reason to disbelieve even at this point, is no
3 investor or no underwriter wanted to have any legacy or 4 reputational exposure to Acis, period.

5 Q. And again, this is sort of coming full circle. Highland 6 had this problem '08, '09 period and now it's Acis having this 7 brand period.

8 A. Yeah, I would describe it as different. I mean, Highland
9 back in the day was performance related to real estate. You
10 know, the Acis problem is terrorism around a former employee 11 trying to reputationally tarnish in the press as much as 12 possible a brand.

13 Q. Okay. Let's look at a couple of the whereas clauses here
14 if we may, on the first page. The third whereas clause says, 15 "Highland has notified Acis that Highland is unwilling to 16 continue to provide support personnel and other critical 17 services to Acis with respect to the CLOs." Did Highland have 18 that right to do that?

19 A. Yes.

20 Q. And why was that Highland's position?

21 A. It -- it's under no obli -- it's under no obligation. As 22 a matter of fact, the -- the only reason why it was at this 23 point was to just facilitate the refinancings, you know, but 24 it -- but it's under no obligation to provide services to a 25 shell.

VERIFIED ORIGINAL COMPLAINT AND APPLICATION FOR TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDER AND PRELIMINARY INJUNCTION

TO THE HONORABLE STACEY G. C. JERNIGAN, UNITED STATES BANKRUPTCY
JUDGE:

Robin Phelan (the "Trustee"), the Chapter 11 trustee of Acis Capital Management, L.P. ("Acis LP") and Acis Capital Management GP, LLC ("Acis GP" together with Acis LP, the "Debtors" or "Acis") in the above styled and jointly administered bankruptcy cases (the "Bankruptcy Cases"), files this Verified Original Complaint and Application for Temporary Restraining Order and Preliminary Injunction (this "Complaint") against Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Highland"), Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. f/k/a Acis Loan Funding, Ltd. ("HCLOF" or "ALF"),<sup>1</sup> CLO Holdco, Ltd. ("Holdco"), Neutra, Ltd. ("Neutra," and together with HCLOF, and Holdco, the "Highland Affiliates"), Acis CLO 2014-3 Ltd. ("CLO-3"), Acis CLO 2014-4 Ltd. ("CLO-4"), Acis CLO 2014-5 Ltd. ("CLO-5"), Acis CLO 2015-6 Ltd. ("CLO-6," and together with CLO-3, CLO-4, and CLO-5, the "Issuers"), Acis CLO 2014-3 LLC ("CLO-3 LLC"), Acis CLO 2014-4 LLC ("CLO-4 LLC"), Acis CLO 2014-5 LLC ("CLO-5 LLC"), and Acis CLO 2015-6 LLC ("CLO-6 LLC," and together with CLO-3 LLC, CLO-4 LLC, CLO-5 LLC, the "Co-Issuers"), and respectfully states as follows:

I. INTRODUCTION<sup>2</sup>

1. On May 31, 2018, as an extraordinary measure, this Court issued a temporary restraining order ("TRO"), sua sponte, pursuant to section 105 of the Bankruptcy Code—which the Court stated it did not take lightly—preventing all Restrained Parties from taking any action in furtherance of an Optional Redemption for fourteen (14) days. This TRO ended on June 15 at 12:01 a.m.

<sup>1</sup> On October 30, 2017, Acis Loan Funding, Ltd. changed its name to Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. The defined term "ALF" used herein denotes Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. f/k/a Acis Loan Funding, Ltd. prior to October 30, 2017 and the defined term "HCLOF" used herein denotes Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. f/k/a Acis Loan Funding, Ltd. on and after October 30, 2017.

<sup>2</sup> Capitalized terms not defined in the Introduction have the meaning ascribed to such terms later in the Complaint.

2. It appears that Highland violated the TRO by selling approximately $23 million of loans pursuant to the First Optional Redemption Notices after May 31, 2018.<sup>3</sup>

3. On June 13, 2018, the day before the hearing on the Trustee's Motion to Extend the TRO, HCLOF advised the Trustee that it would withdraw the First Optional Redemption Notices. Consequently, the Trustee advised the Court that there was no need to go forward with the Motion to Extend the TRO on the following day.

4. On June 14, 2018, HCLOF's counsel told the Court that HCLOF had withdrawn the First Optional Redemption Notices but reserved the right to reissue the notices at some future date, stating:

That process has, in fact, concluded. That was done obviously for multiple reasons. My client doesn't believe that this is the appropriate time to be effectuating such a redemption for its own economic reasons, setting aside the complications it's obviously caused for others in this room. But needless to say, that, too, is an effort to try to bring, as I believe the Court has requested, and others have, some sanity to this process.<sup>4</sup>

Because the First Optional Redemption Notices had been withdrawn, the Trustee did not proceed with the Motion to Extend the TRO.

5. At that hearing, the Trustee informed the Court and the parties that after hearing the testimony of Mr. Scott on June 12, 2018, he was developing additional options in an attempt to accommodate HCLOF.

<sup>3</sup> Considering Highland's current and prior actions in attempting to effectuate (and possibly completing) unauthorized trades without approval of the Trustee, the Trustee believes there is sufficient urgency to the Court hearing the application for a TRO on an emergency basis. The Trustee does not waive and reserves all rights in connection with any unauthorized trades or transfers that have occurred or may occur.

6. On June 15, 2018, the very day after the hearing on the Motion to Extend the TRO was to have taken place, and after the TRO had expired, HCLOF—without requesting relief from the stay under section 362(d) of the Bankruptcy Code or requesting authority to take such action under section 363(b) of the Bankruptcy Code—again advised the Trustee that it had directed the Issuers to effectuate the Optional Redemption on July 30, 2018.

7. On June 20, 2018, Highland presented to the Trustee hundreds of millions of dollars of "proposed trades" pursuant to this second Optional Redemption, and further advised the Trustee:

In order to effectuate the Transaction and obtain best execution, Highland requests your consent by no later than 2pm tomorrow, Thursday June 21, 2018 (the "Deadline"). The Acis Accounts may incur losses as a result of your failure to respond by the Deadline.

Highland believes it has an independent fiduciary obligation to the CLOs. If you instruct Highland not to proceed to undertake the Optional Redemption, Highland reserves its rights to seek appropriate protection and redress at law or in equity.<sup>5</sup>

8. Once again, Highland and the Highland Affiliates, through this purported Optional Redemption, without Court approval, have attempted to exert control over Acis's property, the PMAs, in violation of the automatic stay and outside the ordinary course of Acis's business. In addition, Acis, pursuant to the PMAs, controls trading of the loans in the CLOs. Consequently, the notices of optional redemption sent by HCOLF are an attempt to obtain a property right (the right to control trading of the loans in the CLOs) from Acis as well as an attempt to exercise control over contractual property rights of Acis, all in violation of section 362(a)(3) of the Bankruptcy Code.

9. This action by Highland and the Highland Affiliates represents yet another attempt in their greater scheme to systematically dismantle and strip away Acis's assets, with the larger goal of leaving effectively nothing for its creditors. In fact, HCLOF is attempting to use rights transferred prepetition, for no value, from Acis to now strip Acis of its remaining rights.

10. By this Complaint, the Trustee seeks: (i) a temporary restraining order and preliminary injunction to preserve the status quo and protect the estates by enjoining the Defendants from taking any action in furtherance of the Optional Redemption, or any action to effectuate yet another optional redemption at some future time under section 9.2 of the Indentures, unless the Defendants seek Court approval, and the Court lifts the automatic stay to allow such actions, or the Court confirms a plan pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1129; (ii) relief pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(k) for Defendants' willful violation of the automatic stay for actions taken in furtherance of the Optional Redemption; (iii) a declaratory judgment that the Optional Redemption Notices are defective and ineffective pursuant to the PMAs and the Indentures; (iv) a declaratory judgment that the Optional Redemption Notices are ineffective pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 363(b) because such actions are outside the ordinary course of Acis's business and were taken without Court approval; and (v) a declaratory judgment that the Trustee has not violated his fiduciary duties by declining to carry out the Optional Redemption.

IV. BACKGROUND

A. The Bankruptcy Cases

1. Involuntary Petitions

27. On January 30, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Joshua N. Terry ("Mr. Terry"), as petitioning creditor, filed involuntary petitions against both Acis LP and Acis GP, thereby initiating the Bankruptcy Cases. See Case No. 18-30264, Docket No. 1 & Case No. 18-30265, Docket No. 1.

28. On January 31, 2018, Mr. Terry filed the Emergency Motion of Petitioning Creditor to Abrogate or Modify 11 U.S.C § 303(f), Prohibit Transfer of Assets, and Impose, Inter Alia, 11 U.S.C § 363 [Case No. 18-30264, Docket No. 3 & Case No. 18-30265, Docket No. 3] (the "303(f) Motion"). After a two-day hearing on February 6 and 7, 2018 (the "303(f) Hearing"), the Court found that it was proper to impose section 363 of the Bankruptcy Code<sup>6</sup> before the hearing on the Involuntary Petitions and granted the 303(f) Motion.

29. On April 13, 2018, after six days of testimony and argument, this Court entered its Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law in Support of Orders for Relief Issued After Trial on Involuntary Bankruptcy Petition [Case No. 18-30264, Docket No. 118 & Case No. 18-30265, Docket No. 113] (the "Opinion") and Order for Relief in an Involuntary Case [Case No. 18-30264, Docket No. 119 & Case No. 18-30265, Docket No. 114] (the "Order for Relief").

2. Chapter 7 Cases Converted to Chapter 11

30. Following entry of the Order for Relief, Diane Reed (the "Chapter 7 Trustee") was appointed the interim Chapter 7 trustee for these Bankruptcy Cases.

31. On May 4, 2018, the Chapter 7 Trustee filed the Trustee's Expedited Motion to Convert Cases to Chapter 11 [Docket No. 171] (the "Conversion Motion").

32. On May 4, 2018, Mr. Terry filed his Emergency Motion for an Order Appointing a Trustee for the Chapter 11 Estates of Acis Capital Management, L.P. and Acis Capital Management GP, LLC Pursuant to Bankruptcy Code Section 1104(a) [Docket No. 173] (the "Trustee Motion").

33. On May 8, 2018, Highland filed its Comments by Highland Capital Management L.P. on (A) Chapter 7 Trustee's Expedited Motion to Convert Cases to Chapter 11; and (B) Creditor Joshua Terry's Motion for an Order Appointing a Trustee for the Chapter 11 Estates for the Debtors [Docket No. 190] (the "Comment"). The Comment states that the requisite equity and subordinated noteholders of the CLOs have issued Optional Redemption Notices . . . . These Optional Redemption Notices mandate that the CLOs be liquidated by June 14, 2018, in accordance with the terms of the Indentures as set forth therein. There is a potential that any change in the trustees could create market risks in effectuating the liquidation of the CLOs.

Comment ¶ 11.<sup>7</sup> A true and correct copy of the Comment (including the optional redemption notices as exhibits thereto) is attached hereto as Exhibit "A."

34. On May 11, 2018, the Court entered its Order Granting Trustee's Expedited Motion to Convert Cases to Chapter 11 [Docket No. 205] (the "Conversion Order").

35. Following entry of the Conversion Order, Robin Phelan was appointed Chapter 11 Trustee of the Debtors in the Bankruptcy Cases.

B. Highland and the Highland Affiliates' Role in these Cases

1. Highland

36. Although Highland did not appear in the Bankruptcy Cases until after the entry of the Order for Relief, Highland employees directed Acis's actions at all times before the Order for Relief. See Opinion ¶ 30.

Mr. Dondero [the Chief Executive of Highland] testified that he has decision making authority for the Alleged Debtors but usually delegates that authority to Highland's in-house lawyers, Scott Ellington (General Counsel, Chief Legal Officer, and Partner of Highland) and Isaac Leventon (Assistant General Counsel of Highland) . . . . Mr. Leventon is designated to be the representative for the Alleged Debtors (and testified as a Rule 30(b)(6) witness during pre-trial discovery)—he explained that this representative-authority derives from the Shared Services Agreement. Mr. Leventon testified that he takes his instructions generally through his direct supervisor, Mr. Ellington.

Id. Additionally, the two indirect owners of Highland, James Dondero and Mark Okada, testified at the Involuntary Trial.<sup>8</sup>

2. The Highland Affiliates

37. As the Court is aware, Highland and its network of affiliates have numerous other connections to this case. HCLOF, Holdco, and Neutra attempted to intervene in the trial on the Involuntary Petitions.

38. HCLOF is the holder of subordinated notes issued by the CLOs (i.e., the bottom tranche of notes on which the CLO special purpose entity is obligated), and has voting rights and is itself a capital provider, but it takes the most risk and receives the very last cash flow from the CLOs. It, in certain ways, controls the CLO vehicle—for example, by virtue of having the ability to make a redemption call after a certain 'no-call' period—which would force a liquidation of the basket of loans in the CLO, with the proceeds paying down the tranches of notes, starting at the top with the Triple A's). Note that, until recently, a separate entity known as Acis Loan Funding, Ltd. ('ALF'), which was incorporated under the laws of the island nation of Guernsey, was the CLO equity holder. To be clear, ALF was essentially the equity owner in the CLO special purpose entities—not the equity owner of Acis LP. Acis LP was a party to a separate portfolio management agreement with ALF (hereinafter, the 'ALF Portfolio Management Agreement'— not to be confused with the CLO Collateral Management Agreements that Acis LP separately has with the special purpose CLOs). No fees were paid from ALF to Acis LP pursuant to the ALF Portfolio Management Agreement (rather, fees are only paid to Acis LP on the CLO Collateral Management Agreements).

C. Additional Factual Background

1. The CLOs, the PMAs, and the Indentures

39. Acis LP is the portfolio manager for funds of certain CLO's: (i) Acis CLO 2013-1 Ltd. ("CLO-1"), (ii) CLO-3, (iii) CLO-4, (iv) CLO-5, and (v) CLO-6. See Opinion ¶ 24. CLO-1, CLO-3, CLO-4, CLO-5 and CLO-6 are collectively referred to herein as the "Acis CLOs."

40. As relevant herein, Acis LP manages the Acis CLOs through five PMAs.<sup>9</sup> Acis LP generates revenue primarily through the management of the Acis CLOs via the PMAs. See Opinion ¶ 13. True and correct copies of the PMAs are attached hereto as Exhibit "B." Each of the Acis CLOs is governed by the Indentures.<sup>10</sup> True and correct copies of the Indentures are attached hereto as Exhibit "C."

2. Shared Services and Sub-Advisory Agreement

41. Acis contracts out its operations to Highland pursuant to the Third Amended and Restated Sub-Advisory Agreement by and between Acis LP and Highland, dated March 17, 2017 (the "Sub-Advisory Agreement"), and the Fourth Amended and Restated Shared Services Agreement by and between Acis LP and Highland, dated March 17, 2017 (the "Shared Services Agreement"). These agreements are terminable by Acis on 30-days' notice, without cause. As the Court explained in its Opinion:

Acis LP and Acis GP/LLC have never had any employees. Rather, all employees that work for any of the Highland family of companies (including Mr. Terry) have, almost without exception, been employees of Highland itself. Highland has approximately 150 employees in the United States. Highland provides employees to entities in the organizational structure, such as Acis LP and Acis GP/LLC, through both the mechanism of: (a) a Shared Services Agreement (herein so called), which provides "back office" personnel—such as human resources, accounting, legal and information technology to the Highland family of companies; and (b) a Sub-Advisory Agreement (herein so called), which provides "front office" personnel to entities—such as the managers of investments like Mr. Terry. The evidence indicated that this is typical in the CLO industry to have such agreements.

<sup>9</sup> The PMAs include: (i) that certain Portfolio Management Agreement by and between Acis LP and CLO-1, dated March 18, 2013 (the "CLO-1 PMA"); (ii) that certain Portfolio Management Agreement by and between Acis LP and CLO-3, dated February 25, 2014 (the "CLO-3 PMA"); (iii) that certain Portfolio Management Agreement by and between Acis LP and CLO-4, dated June 5, 2014 (the "CLO-4 PMA"); (iv) that certain Portfolio Management Agreement by and between Acis LP and CLO-5, dated November 18, 2014 (the "CLO-5 PMA"); and (v) that certain Portfolio Management Agreement by and between Acis LP and CLO-6, dated April 16, 2015 (the "CLO-6 PMA"). The CLO-1 PMA, CLO-3 PMA, CLO-4 PMA, CLO-5 PMA, and CLO-6 PMA are collectively referred to herein as the "PMAs."

<sup>10</sup> The Indentures include: (i) that certain Indenture, dated as of March 18, 2013, issued by CLO-1, as issuer, Acis CLO 2013-1 LLC, as co-issuer, and U.S. Bank, as trustee (the "CLO-1 Indenture"); (ii) that certain Indenture, dated as of February 25, 2014, issued by CLO-3, as issuer, CLO-3 LLC, as co-issuer, and U.S. Bank, as trustee (the "CLO-3 Indenture"); (iii) that certain Indenture, dated as of June 5, 2014, issued by CLO-4, as issuer, CLO-4 LLC, as co-issuer, and U.S. Bank, as trustee (the "CLO-4 Indenture"); (iv) that certain Indenture, dated as of November 18, 2014, issued by CLO-5, as issuer, CLO-5 LLC, as co-issuer, and U.S. Bank, as trustee (the "CLO-5 Indenture"); and (v) that certain Indenture, dated as of April 16, 2015, issued by CLO-6, as issuer, CLO-6 LLC, as co-issuer and U.S. Bank, as trustee (the "CLO-6 Indenture"). The CLO-1 Indenture, CLO-3 Indenture, CLO-4 Indenture, CLO-5 Indenture, and CLO-6 Indenture are collectively referred to herein as the "Indentures."

Opinion at p. 14 (footnotes omitted).

3. The ALF PMA Transfer

42. Prior to October 27, 2017, Acis LP—not ALF—had authority to direct and effectuate an optional redemption under the PMAs. Acis LP had this authority pursuant to another Portfolio Management Agreement by and between Acis LP and ALF, dated December 22, 2016 (the "ALF PMA"). The ALF PMA provided broad authority to Acis LP as the portfolio manager of ALF. Section 5 of the ALF PMA set out Acis LP's authority, which included authority for and in the name of ALF to:

- (i) invest, directly or indirectly . . . in all types of securities and other financial instruments of United States and non-U.S. entities . . . including without limitation . . . notes representing tranches of debt ('CLO Notes') issued by a special purpose vehicle which issues notes backed by a pool of collateral consisting primarily of loans (which may be represented by a debt or equity security) (a 'CLO') . . . (each of such items, 'Financial Instruments'), (ii) provide credit and market research and analysis in connection with the investments and ongoing management of [ALF] and direct the formulation of investment policies and strategies for [ALF] . . . ; (iii) cause [ALF] to engage in . . . agency, agency cross, related party principal transactions with affiliates of [Acis LP] . . . ; and (iv) vote Financial Instruments, participate in arrangements with creditors, the institution and settlement or compromise of suits and administrative proceedings and other like or similar matters.

ALF PMA § 5(a)-(q) (emphasis added). A true and correct of the ALF PMA is attached hereto as

Exhibit "D."

43. While ALF did not have authority to terminate the ALF PMA, Acis LP could terminate the ALF PMA without cause upon at least ninety (90) days' notice. See ALF PMA § 13(a)-(c). Still, the ALF PMA provided for the removal of Acis LP as portfolio manager "for cause." See ALF PMA § 14(a)-(e).

44. On October 27, 2017, just seven days after Mr. Terry's arbitration award, Acis LP effectively terminated its own portfolio management rights under the ALF PMA and transferred its authority and those valuable portfolio management rights—for no value—to Highland HCF Advisors, Ltd. ("Highland HCF").

45. This transfer of Acis LP's portfolio management rights to Highland HCF was accomplished by way of a new Portfolio Management Agreement entered into by ALF and Highland HCF on October 27, 2017 (the "October 2017 PMA"), which cancelled and terminated the ALF PMA and empowered Highland HCF with the same broad authority to direct the management of ALF as was previously held by Acis LP under the ALF PMA (the "ALF PMA Transfer"). See October 2017 PMA §§ 1 & 5(a)-(q). A true and correct of the October 2017 PMA is attached hereto as Exhibit "E."

46. As the Court explained:

On October 27, 2017 (seven days after the Arbitration Award), ALF—having purchased back the ownership interest that Acis LP had in it, just three days earlier—decided that it would no longer use Acis LP as its portfolio manager and entered into a new portfolio management agreement to supersede and replace the ALF Portfolio Management Agreement. Specifically, on October 27, 2017, ALF entered into a new Portfolio Management Agreement with a Cayman Island entity called Highland HCF Advisor, Ltd., replacing Acis LP in its role with ALF. This agreement appears to have been further solidified in a second portfolio management agreement dated November 15, 2017.

Opinion at p. 19 (footnotes omitted).

47. Under the prior ALF PMA, Acis LP's consent to the termination of the ALF PMA was required in order to effectuate the ALF PMA Transfer. So, (without expressing its business judgment to this transfer) Acis LP simply signed the October 2017 PMA, consenting and agreeing to its removal and replacement, and transferring all authority and management rights as portfolio manager of ALF to Highland HCF under the October 2017 PMA.

48. Without this ALF PMA Transfer, which transferred Acis LP's rights under the ALF PMA to Highland HCF, HCLOF could not have attempted to direct and effectuate an optional redemption, and deplete Acis's assets, as it is now attempting to do.

4. The First Optional Redemption Notices

49. On April 30, 2018, HCLOF sent five notices purportedly requesting optional redemption pursuant to the Section 9.2 of each of the Indentures (the "First Optional Redemption Notices").<sup>11</sup> True and correct copies of the First Optional Redemption Notices are attached hereto as Exhibit "F."

50. The First Optional Redemption Notices directed Acis LP to effectuate an Optional Redemption (as defined under each Indenture). Under Section 9.2 of each Indenture, upon the receipt of a notice of redemption, Acis, in its discretion, is to direct the sale of the Collateral Obligations (as defined by each Indenture) and other Assets. See CLO-1 Indenture, § 9.2; CLO-3 Indenture, § 9.2(b); CLO-4 Indenture, § 9.2; CLO-5 Indenture, § 9.2; & CLO-6 Indenture, § 9.2. In the Indentures, "Assets" is defined to include the PMAs. See CLO-1 Indenture, p. 8; CLO-3 Indenture, p. 10; CLO-4 Indenture, p. 10; CLO-5 Indenture, p. 10; & CLO-6 Indenture p. 10. Consequently, the Optional Redemption directs Acis LP to liquidate assets of the CLOs over which Acis has certain property rights and, effectively, the PMAs.

51. The Trustee analyzed the First Optional Redemption Notices and determined there were various defects which rendered them ineffective. Therefore, on May 22, 2018, the Trustee sent his responses to the five First Optional Redemption Notices (the "Redemption Responses"). True and correct copies of the Redemption Responses are attached hereto as Exhibit "G."

D. Highland Litigation and TRO

52. On May 30, 2018, Highland and HCLOF filed Adversary No. 18-03078, styled Highland Capital Management, L.P. and Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. v. Robin Phelan, Chapter 11 Trustee, in this Court (the "Highland Adversary"). The Highland Adversary alleges, among other things, that the Trustee, by failing to effectuate the Optional Redemption pursuant to the First Optional Redemption Notices, breached the PMAs.

53. On May 31, 2018, upon the request of the Trustee, the Court held a status conference in the Bankruptcy Cases, and the Trustee explained that, almost immediately after his appointment, he began exploring plan options regarding a potential transaction that would transfer rights under the PMAs, the Sub-Advisory Agreement, the Shared Services Agreement, and the subordinated notes, with respect to CLO-3, CLO-4, CLO-5, and CLO-6, with the goal of maximizing value for all parties. The Trustee informed the Court that he was in the process of negotiating a transaction with a party that would potentially provide enough value to pay all parties, including all of Acis's creditors in full.

54. On May 31, 2018, at the conclusion of the status conference, the Court, sua sponte, issued a TRO, which prevented all parties from taking any action in furtherance of the Optional Redemption for fourteen (14) days.

55. On June 6, 2018 the Court entered its Temporary Restraining Order, whereby the Restrained Parties (as defined in the TRO) were enjoined until 12:01 a.m. on June 15, 2018, from:

- a) proceeding with, effectuating, or otherwise taking any action in furtherance of the Optional Redemption, call, or other liquidation of the Acis CLOs; and
- b) sending, mailing, or otherwise distributing any notice to the holders of the Acis CLOs in connection with the Optional Redemption, call, or other liquidation of the Acis CLOs.

56. On June 8, 2018, the Trustee filed the Emergency Motion to Approve Break-Up Fee, Expense Reimbursement, and Replacement Sub-Advisory and Shared Services Provider, Oaktree Capital Management, L.P. (the "Motion to Approve Break-Up Fee"). See Docket No. 263.

57. As described in the Motion to Approve Break-Up Fee, the Trustee has executed a Commitment Letter (the "Commitment Letter") with Oaktree Capital Management, L.P. ("Oaktree") whereby Oaktree would: (i) obtain the subordinated equity rights in CLO-3, CLO-4, CLO-5, and CLO-6 after payment in full to HCLOF of a premium above the value of those rights; (ii) obtain Acis LP's rights, title and interests in the respective PMAs for enough to pay the creditors of Acis in full; and (iii) replace Highland as provider of the services currently provided by Highland under the Sub-Advisory Agreement and the Shared Services Agreement, at a fraction of the cost currently being charged by Highland (the "Oaktree Transaction"). A true and correct copy of the Commitment Letter is attached hereto as Exhibit "H."

58. The Oaktree Transaction, if consummated, would provide a return to all holders of the subordinated notes in excess of what they would receive in an optional redemption and pay all Acis's allowed creditors in full.<sup>12</sup> The Trustee intends to effectuate the Oaktree Transaction via a Chapter 11 plan.

59. On June 11, 2018, the Trustee filed his Motion to Extend the Temporary Restraining Order (the "Motion to Extend the TRO"), in which the Trustee sought to extend the TRO for an additional 14 days. See Docket No. 275.

60. Also on June 11, 2018, HCLOF filed its Memorandum of Law in Opposition to the Continuance of the Temporary Restraining Order (the "Brief in Opposition to Extending the TRO"). See Docket. No. 271. This pleading did not mention that Highland apparently violated the TRO by initiating approximately $23 million of sales of CLO assets pursuant to the Optional Redemption after the Court issued its TRO on May 31.

E. The Second Optional Redemption Notices

61. On June 13, 2018, the day before the hearing on the Motion to Extend the TRO, HCLOF advised the Trustee that HCLOF would withdraw the First Optional Redemption Notices. HCLOF's correspondence with the Trustee indicating its intent to withdraw the First Optional Redemption Notices is attached hereto as Exhibit "I" and incorporated herein for all purposes. Thereafter, the Trustee advised the Court that HCLOF was withdrawing the First Optional Redemption Notices, and the Trustee therefore did not intend to go forward with the Motion to Extend the TRO on June 14.

62. On June 14, 2018, counsel for HCLOF advised the Court that HCLOF had withdrawn the First Optional Redemption Notices. Counsel for HCLOF further advised the Court that the First Optional Redemption Notices were withdrawn to bring "some sanity to this process":

That was done obviously for multiple reasons. My client doesn't believe that this is the appropriate time to be effectuating such a redemption for its own economic reasons, setting aside the complications it's obviously caused for others in this room. But needless to say, that, too, is an effort to try to bring, as I believe the Court has requested, and others have, some sanity to this process.<sup>13</sup>

63. On June 15, 2018, at 12:01 a.m., the TRO expired.

64. Later on June 15, 2018, despite the fact that HCLOF had just withdrawn the First Optional Redemption Notices, had advised the Court of the same, and the Trustee and the Court acted in reliance on same, HCLOF gave notice to the Trustee that it was again requesting an Optional Redemption pursuant to the Section 9.2 of each of the Indentures (the "Second Optional Redemption Notices," and together with the First Optional Redemption Notices, the "Optional Redemption Notices"). The Second Optional Redemption Notices are attached hereto as Exhibit "J" and are incorporated herein for all purposes.

65. By the Second Optional Redemption Notices, HCLOF directed the Issuers:

to effect an Optional Redemption of all Secured Notes and the Subordinated Notes in full on July 30, 2018 for the express purpose of placement of a portion of the portfolio of assets held by the Co-Issuers into a warehouse arrangement or a total return swap or other derivative arrangement with Highland Capital Management, L.P. acting as the Sub-Advisor pursuant to a Sub-Advisory Agreement.

66. On June 20, 2018, Highland presented to the Trustee hundreds of millions of dollars of "proposed trades" pursuant to this second Optional Redemption. In its correspondence to the Trustee regarding such proposed trades, Highland further stated:

In order to effectuate the Transaction and obtain best execution, Highland requests your consent by no later than 2pm tomorrow, Thursday June 21, 2018 (the "Deadline"). The Acis Accounts may incur losses as a result of your failure to respond by the Deadline.

Highland believes it has an independent fiduciary obligation to the CLOs. If you instruct Highland not to proceed to undertake the Optional Redemption, Highland reserves it rights to seek appropriate protection and redress at law or in equity.<sup>14</sup>

V. CAUSES OF ACTION

Count 1: Temporary Restraining Order and Preliminary Injunction

67. Plaintiff incorporates the preceding paragraphs as if set forth fully herein.

68. Absent affirmative relief from the automatic stay, any action to effectuate the Optional Redemption by way of the Optional Redemption Notices violates the automatic stay because it represents an "act to obtain possession of property of the estate or of property from the estate or to exercise control over property of the estate."<sup>15</sup> Further, any action taken by the Defendants to effectuate the Optional Redemption is outside the ordinary course of Acis's business, and therefore requires Court approval.<sup>16</sup> Acis's rights under the PMAs are valuable, and if Acis were to lose such rights, immediate and irreparable harm would result to Acis's creditors and third parties with financial interests in Acis's bankruptcy estates because confirmation of a plan of reorganization funded by Oaktree pursuant to the Oaktree Transaction would be impossible. In addition to the Oaktree Transaction, the Trustee has received proposals from other qualified parties to fund alternative plans of reorganization which may include a reset of the CLOs and continuance of Acis as the portfolio manager of the CLOs. In addition, HCLOF is using rights fraudulently transferred from Acis to effectuate the Optional Redemptions. Therefore, pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 7001(7) and Civil Rule 65, incorporated by Bankruptcy Rule 7065, the Trustee seeks a temporary restraining order and preliminary injunction, to prohibit the Defendants from taking any further actions to effectuate the Optional Redemption, or any action to effectuate yet another optional redemption at some future time under section 9.2 of the Indentures, unless the Defendants seek Court approval, and the Court lifts the automatic stay to allow such actions, or the Court confirms a plan pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1129.

69. The standards for a temporary restraining order and a preliminary injunction are the same.<sup>17</sup> To obtain either, the movant must show (a) it has a substantial likelihood of prevailing on the merits; (b) it will suffer irreparable injury without the injunction; (c) the threatened injury to the movant outweighs the damage the proposed injunction may cause to the parties opposing it; and (d) that the requested injunction would not be against the public interest.<sup>18</sup> The Court must necessarily make its decision by relying on an early and abbreviated proceeding and set of facts.<sup>19</sup> Quick and abbreviated determinations are necessary to recognize the goal of injunctive relief, which is to maintain the status quo to permit the Court the time necessary to make a decision on the merits after full development of the facts.<sup>20</sup>

70. Moreover, not all of the four (4) factors must be given equal weight. According to the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals: “a sliding scale must be applied in considering the probability of plaintiffs’ winning on the merits and plaintiffs’ irreparable injury in the absence of interlocutory relief...”<sup>21</sup> and “...none of the four prerequisites has a fixed quantitative value. Rather, a sliding scale is utilized, which takes into account the intensity of each in a given calculus.”<sup>22</sup> This means that as long as the Court finds that there is some likelihood of ultimate success (i.e., not zero likelihood of success), the Court can give greater weight to the severity and irreparability of the harm and the relative hardships to the movant and opponent of the injunctive relief.<sup>23</sup>

71. The Trustee can show that the elements warranting a temporary restraining order and preliminary injunction exist here: (1) the Trustee has a "substantial likelihood of success on the merits" of a claim regarding (i) violation of the automatic stay if injunction is not granted, (ii) failing to comply with the requirements of an optional redemption, (iii) utilizing assets transferred for no value to attempt to effectuate an optional redemption, (iv) failing to obtain court authority under Section 363 to effectuate an optional redemption, and (v) confirmation of an effective plan of reorganization; (2) creditors and interested third-parties face a substantial threat of imminent and irreparable injury to their interests in the Debtors' bankruptcy estates if an injunction is not issued since confirmation of a plan of reorganization funded by Oaktree or other competent party will be eliminated; (3) the threatened injury to interested parties "if the injunction is denied outweighs any harm that will result if the injunction is granted"; and (4) "public interest" favors letting the Trustee exercise its fiduciary duties and effectuate his process over costly litigation.<sup>24</sup>

A. Substantial Likelihood of Success on the Merits

72. The Optional Redemption Notices demand the liquidation of property currently under the control of Acis LP, as portfolio manager, as well as the PMAs, which are defined as Assets under the Indentures and are property of the Acis LP estate. Indeed, the main, if not sole, purpose of the redemptions appears to be to remove Acis LP as portfolio manager and terminate its primary asset, the PMAs. Accordingly, by extinguishing the PMAs, the purported Optional Redemption is prohibited because it represents an "act to obtain possession of property of the estate or of property from the estate or to exercise control over property of the estate" in violation of 11 U.S.C. § 362(a)(3).

73. Further, any action taken by the Defendants to effectuate the Optional Redemption, and thereby extinguish rights under the PMAs, is outside the ordinary course of Acis's business, and therefore would require Court approval pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 363(b).

1. The Automatic Stay

74. Section 362 of the Bankruptcy Code operates as a stay, applicable to all entities of: "any act to obtain possession of property of the estate or of property from the estate or to exercise control over property of the estate."<sup>25</sup> Property of the estate is defined by section 541 of the Bankruptcy Code as including: "all legal or equitable interests of the debtor in property as of the commencement of the case."<sup>26</sup>

75. The protection afforded to a debtor by the automatic stay is one of the most important benefits that a debtor and its creditors receive when filing for bankruptcy. "The automatic stay has broad scope."<sup>27</sup> "This breadth suggests Congressional intent that, in the face of uncertainty or ambiguity, courts should presume protection of arguable property."<sup>28</sup> The stay is automatic and "springs into being immediately upon the filing of a bankruptcy petition."<sup>29</sup> Actions in violation of the automatic stay are voidable.<sup>30</sup>

2. The Automatic Stay is Applicable to the PMAs and CLOs

76. In the TRO, the Court enjoined "the Optional Redemption, call, or other liquidation of the Acis CLOs" because such actions appeared to this Court to have the potential to liquidate or harm valuable property of the Debtors, namely the PMAs. Moreover, this Court found the "Trustee has a substantial case on the merits on a serious legal question" that such actions would constitute a violation of the automatic stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(a)(3). Thus, to obtain a second TRO and a preliminary injunction, the Trustee must demonstrate a substantial likelihood of success on the merits regarding whether the actions by HCLOF and others to liquidate the assets of the Acis CLOs, and thereby eviscerate the value of Acis LP's interest in the PMAs, violate the automatic stay.

77. The Debtors' rights under the PMAs, which are executory contracts, are property of the estate.<sup>31</sup> The Debtors' rights under the PMAs are therefore protected by the automatic stay.<sup>32</sup> If the Optional Redemption or other liquidation of the assets in the Acis CLOs is permitted to go forward, it would render the PMAs valueless. Consequently, the Optional Redemption and any other attempt by HCLOF liquidate the assets of the Acis CLOs would violate section 362(a)(3) because such actions involve exercising control over property of the estate (the PMAs).

78. In Three Strokes Limited Partnership, this Court held that a foreclosure sale was an attempt to exercise control over property of the estate under 11 U.S.C. § 362(a)(3) where the debtor held the second lien, but not the first lien on the property subject to foreclosure.<sup>33</sup> The Court held that, even though the underlying asset (i.e., the real property subject to foreclosure) was not the debtor's property:

[T]he second line interest of the Debtor in that property is a property interest worth of recognition and protection. Thus, Section 362 applies to automatically stay the foreclosure proceedings. The foreclosure proceedings could have the effect of extinguishing the Debtor's second lien interest. The foreclosure proceedings would constitute an exercise of control over property of the estate, pursuant to Bankruptcy Code Section 362(a)(3). The court recognizes that the automatic stay is generally a tool to stop creditor collection efforts, and Consecro is not a creditor of this Debtor. However, section 362 is worded to prevent "of all entities" (not merely creditors) from engaging in certain accts including "an act ... to exercise control over property of the estate." 11 U.S.C. § 362(a)(3). Clearly, Section 362(a)(3) is intended to prevent dismemberment of the estate and to allow a breathing spell for a debtor-in-possession."<sup>34</sup>

The Three Strokes case is analogous to this one. Here, Acis has a property interest in the PMAs – an interest “worthy of recognition and protection” – that will be extinguished if the CLOs are liquidated. Consequently, any attempt to extinguish Acis LP's property interest in the PMAs would be an exercise of control over property of the estate, and is therefore stayed by Section 362(a)(3).

79. The Three Strokes opinion is consistent with a long line of cases holding that where a non-debtor's actions would directly or indirectly interfere with and/or substantially diminish a debtor (or trustee's) intangible property rights, such actions violate section 362(a)(3) of the Bankruptcy Code. See, e.g., In re 48th Street Steakhouse, 835 F.2d 427, 430-31 (2d Cir. 1987) (finding landlord's termination as to the primary tenant would destroy the debtor's subtenancy violated the automatic stay and was therefore void because, where a non-debtor's interest is intertwined with that of a bankrupt debtor and an action would "inevitably have an adverse impact on property of the estate," such action is barred by the automatic stay); In re Prudential Lines, 928 F.2d 565, 573-574 (2d Cir. 1991) (affirming order of the bankruptcy court permanently enjoining parent from taking a "worthless stock" deduction on its tax return where it would effectively eliminate the value of the debtor's net operating loss and have an adverse impact on its reorganization); cf., Allentown Ambassadors, Inc. v. Northeast Am. Baseball, LLC (In re Allentown Ambassadors, Inc.), 361 B.R. 422, 438 and n. 34 (Bankr. E.D. Pa. 2007) (analyzing the phrase "to exercise control over property of the estate" and collecting cases explaining what that means in the context of section 362(a)(3)). Thus, because the liquidation of the CLOs represents an "act to obtain possession of property of the estate," – namely, Acis LP's intangible property rights in the PMAs – such actions constitute a violation of section 362(a)(3).

80. Moreover, apart from the fact that the Optional Redemption directs Acis LP to cancel the PMAs, the Optional Redemption also seeks to force the winding down of the CLOs. By Acis LP's own admission on the Acis LP SOFA, Acis LP has at least a possessory interest in the CLO assets, such that a transfer of CLO assets constitutes a transfer of property from the estate under section 362(a)(3) of the Bankruptcy Code. Property from the estate includes property that does not belong to debtor, but over which the debtor has possession or control. The legislative history of section 362(a)(3) makes this clear:

Paragraph (3) stays any act to obtain possession of property of the estate (that is, property of the debtor as of the date of the filing of the petition) or property from the estate (property over which the estate has control or possession). The purpose of this provision is to prevent dismemberment of the estate. Liquidation must proceed in an orderly fashion. Any distribution of property must be by the trustee after he has had an opportunity to familiarize himself with the various rights and interests involved and with the property available for distribution.<sup>35</sup>

Similarly, Collier extensively discusses the concept that property over which a debtor has possession or control is appropriately covered by the automatic stay:

Section 362(a)(3) stays all actions, whether judicial or private, that seek to obtain possession of property of the estate or of property from the estate or to exercise control over property of the estate. The trustee or debtor in possession takes control of all property of the estate in order to maintain any going concern value and to ensure an equitable distribution of the property among creditors. This requires that no entity seek to interfere with these tasks by taking possession or exercising control over property of the estate. It also requires that no entity grab non-estate property from the estate without the court supervision that comes from a stay relief proceeding . . . . The property protected may be property of the estate or property in the possession of the estate.<sup>36</sup>

81. Finally, cases interpreting section 362(a)(3) uniformly hold that property in the possession of a debtor (even if not property of the estate) is covered by the protections and procedures of Section 362(a)(3). For example, Judge Isgur has called section 362(a)(3) an "anti-grab-law statute" and noted that "[t]he intent and purpose of (a)(3) is to prohibit physical taking of property . . . ." In Adana Mortgage, the Georgia bankruptcy court thoroughly explained the purpose of section 362(a)(3) related to property from the estate in finding a willful violation of the automatic stay:

Title or ownership of property is not controlling to a Section 362(a)(3) violation. Possession or control by the debtor is sufficient to enact the protection of the automatic stay. The prohibition against any act to remove property from the estate was apparently "included to forestall a lienor or other adverse claimant from asserting as a justification for an exercise of selfhelp that the property taken from the debtor did not belong to the estate." The accounts clearly were under the control of Debtor at the time of filing. Thus, regardless of whether they are property of the estate, the accounts constituted property from the estate at the time of filing and were under the protection of Section 362(a)(3). The actions taken by GNMA to attempt to divest the Debtor of control and to obtain possession of these accounts were, therefore, in violation of the automatic stay.<sup>37</sup>

82. Likewise, many cases have found that a debtor's mere possessory interest in property is sufficient to make it property of the estate under section 541 of the Bankruptcy Code and subject to the stay.<sup>38</sup>

3. Section 555 of the Bankruptcy Code Does Not Apply to HCLOF

83. Section 365(e)(1) prohibits the operation of an ipso facto clause in an executory contract or unexpired lease due the filing of a bankruptcy case.<sup>39</sup> Section 555 provides a "safe harbor" from the automatic stay when a stockbroker, financial institution, financial participant, or securities clearing agency exercises its contractual right under an ipso facto clause to liquidate, terminate, or accelerate a securities contract for one of the conditions specified in section 365(e)(1)—that is, the insolvency or financial condition of the debtor, the commencement of a case under title 11, or the appointment of or taking possession by a trustee

in a case under title 11.<sup>40</sup> Section 555 does not provide an unqualified right to liquidate, terminate, or accelerate a securities contract in violation of the automatic stay merely because the contract contains a broad termination provision.<sup>41</sup>

84. Here, although HCLOF has asserted that it is protected by the safe harbor of section 555 of the Bankruptcy Code, HCLOF is not exercising a "contractual right . . . [under a] securities contract . . . because of a condition of the kind specified in section 365(e)(1) of [the Bankruptcy Code]."<sup>42</sup>

85. Specifically, HCLOF has not demonstrated that it is exercising its contractual right under a securities contract to liquidate, accelerate, or terminate due to an ipso facto clause in such contract.

86. Further, HCLOF must show that it has:

agreements or transactions described in described in paragraph (1), (2), (3), (4), (5), or (6) of section 561(a) with the debtor or any other entity (other than an affiliate) of a total gross dollar value of not less than $1,000,000,000 in notional or actual principal amount outstanding (aggregated across counterparties) at such time or on any day during the 15-month period preceding the date of the filing of the petition, or has gross market-to-market positions of not less than $100,000,000 (aggregated across counterparties) in one or more such agreements or transactions with the debtor of any other entity (other than an affiliate) at such time or on any day during the 15-month period preceding the date of the filing of the petition.<sup>43</sup>

87. HCLOF has not demonstrated that it is exercising purported contractual rights under securities contracts with the Debtors or non-affiliates. HCLOF has also not demonstrated that it is a "financial participant," as required under section 555. Accordingly, HCLOF has not shown that the safe harbor of section 555 of the Bankruptcy Code applies to its actions to effectuate the Optional Redemption.

4. The Optional Redemption is Outside the Ordinary Course of the Debtors' Business

88. Under section 363(b) of the Bankruptcy Code, the "trustee, after notice and a hearing, may use, sell, or lease, other than in the ordinary course of business, property of the estate."

89. To determine whether a transaction is within the ordinary course of business, courts look to "whether the transaction is abnormal or unusual, in which case it is probably not in the ordinary course of business, or whether it is a reasonably common type of transaction."<sup>44</sup> The Optional Redemption contemplated by HCLOF is not a common event in the course of the Debtors' business. Indeed, the Optional Redemption is an extraordinary event, which would effectively cause the liquidation of the CLOs and the PMAs. This is not in the ordinary course of business.

90. Further, any party that "deals with a bankruptcy trustee in a transaction that is not in the ordinary course of business is charged with the knowledge that the law may require court approval."<sup>45</sup>

91. Actions taken by Defendants in furtherance of the purported Optional Redemption were outside the ordinary course of the Debtors' business and were taken without the Trustee's consent or authorization from the Court. Thus, such actions are ineffective pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 363(b).

92. For the reasons set forth above, sections 362(a)(3) and 363(b) of the Bankruptcy Code foreclose any action by the Defendants in furtherance of the Optional Redemption, call, or liquidation of the Acis CLOs. Thus, the Trustee has a substantial likelihood of succeeding on the merits.

B. Substantial Threat of Irreparable Injury

93. Injunctive relief is necessary to prevent imminent and irreparable injury in the form of substantial losses to creditors and parties-in-interest, as well as to third parties' financial interests, related to the Optional Redemption, call, or other liquidation of the Acis CLOs. The losses that would result in the event an injunction is not issued cannot be presently measured by any certain pecuniary standard, are not reasonably quantifiable, and cannot be adequately compensated with monetary damages; thus, creditors and interested third parties otherwise would have no adequate remedy at law. The Optional Redemption would eliminate the confirmation of a plan of reorganization based on the Oaktree Transaction, or a similar plan.

C. Balancing of Harms

94. The balancing of the harms weighs in favor of issuing a preliminary injunction because any alleged harm to Highland, or any of the Highland Affiliates, is substantially outweighed by the damage that would be caused to all parties-in-interest if the Court does not enjoin the Optional Redemption, call, or other liquidation of the Acis CLOs, and return more to all affected parties than would be received by the Optional Redemption.<sup>46</sup> Highland and the Highland Entities will receive the same monetary benefit from the Oaktree Transaction, creditors will be paid in full, and economic stakeholders would reap a benefit. HCLOF's claimed harm is exaggerated.

<sup>46</sup> Any alleged harm to Defendants is illusory and specious because, among other things, the Defendants have options available that immediately mitigate any purported damage. Namely, Defendants could (1) authorize a "refinance" or "reset" transaction or (2) sell their equity to a third party in an amount that exceeds what they would receive in an Optional Redemption.

D. Public Interest

95. Public policy supports restraining the actions described herein to allow the Trustee to exercise his fiduciary duties to maximize the value of the estate for the benefit of creditors by allowing the Trustee to direct and control the refinancing, sale, or other monetization of Debtors' property and other assets. Further, there is a public interest in allowing for a Chapter 11 process, rather than costly prolonged litigation.

96. Therefore, the Trustee asks that the Court, after a hearing on this application, grant a temporary restraining order and preliminary injunction enjoining the Defendants and Defendants' officers, agents, servants, employees, and attorneys from engaging in the following actions:

- a) proceeding with, effectuating, or otherwise taking any action in furtherance of the Optional Redemption, call, or other liquidation of the Acis CLOs, including any further optional redemption under section 9.2 of the Indentures; and
- b) sending, mailing, or otherwise distributing any notice to the holders of the Acis CLOs in connection with the Optional Redemption, call, or other liquidation of the Acis CLOs.

97. The Trustee requests that such injunctive relief remain effective unless the Defendants seek Court approval, and the Court lifts the automatic stay to allow such actions, or the Court confirms a plan pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1129.

Count 2: Willful Violation of the Automatic Stay

98. A willful violation of the automatic stay does not require a specific intent.

Rather, the statute provides for damages upon a finding that the defendant knew of the automatic stay and the defendant's actions which violated the stay were intentional. Whether the party believes in good faith that it had a right to the property is not relevant to whether the act was 'willful' or whether compensation must be awarded.<sup>47</sup>

99. "It is not up to a party exercising a self-help remedy to determine, to the preclusion of this court, what is or is not property of the estate."<sup>48</sup>

100. Section 362(k)(1) of the Bankruptcy Code provides that "an individual injured by any willful violation of a stay provided by this section shall recover actual damages, including costs and attorneys' fees, and, in appropriate circumstances, may recover punitive damages." The Fifth Circuit has indicated that remedies under 362(k)(1) are available to trustees.<sup>49</sup>

101. Further, pursuant to section 105(a) of the Bankruptcy Code, "[t]he Court may issue any order, process, or judgment that is necessary or appropriate to carry out the provisions of this title."<sup>50</sup> The purpose of section 105(a) is "to assure the bankruptcy courts power to take whatever action is appropriate or necessary in aid of the exercise of their jurisdiction."<sup>51</sup> This is consistent with the broad equitable authority of the bankruptcy courts.<sup>52</sup>

102. Pursuant to section 362(k)(1), Plaintiff seeks recovery of damages commensurate with its injury, due to Defendants' violation of the automatic stay. Further, given Defendants' blatant and willful violation of the automatic stay (as well as the TRO), the Plaintiff seeks attorneys' fees and sanctions against Defendants, as the Court finds appropriate, pursuant to section 105(a) of the Bankruptcy Code.

Count 3: Declaratory Judgment that the Optional Redemption Notices Were Defective and Ineffective Under the PMAs and Indentures

103. Plaintiff incorporates the preceding paragraphs as if set forth fully herein.

See Homer Nat'l Bank v. Namie, 96 B.R. 652, 654 (W.D. La. 1989) (citing, inter alia, 11 U.S.C. §§ 522(b) (individual as debtor), 321(a)(1) (individual as trustee)).

104. The Optional Redemption Notices were not sent by properly authorized parties, pursuant to the certain PMA, dated November 15, 2017 (the "11-15-17 PMA"), between HCLOF and Highland HCF. A true and correct copy of the 11-15-17 PMA is attached hereto as Exhibit "K."

105. Under Section 5(a)(xvii) of this 11-15-17 PMA, Highland HCF has the authority for and in the name of HCLOF to "vote Financial Instruments . . . ." The Subordinated Notes referenced in the Optional Redemption Notices are clearly Financial Instruments covered by Section 5(a)(xvii). Further, Section 4 of the 11-15-17 PMA requires that State Street Custodial Services (Ireland) Limited ("State Street"), as custodian, "shall at all times be responsible for the . . . exercise of rights and tenders on the Financial Instruments after consultation with and as then directed by [HCLOF]." Yet, the Optional Redemption Notices were signed only by directors of HCLOF, not Highland HCF or State Street.

106. Section 9.4(a) of the Indenture states that, with any redemption under Section 9.2, the Holders of the Subordinated Notes (currently, HCLOF) must provide written direction/notice of such redemption no later than 45 days prior to the Redemption Date, and Section 9.4(b) requires that all notices of redemption delivered pursuant to Section 9.4(a) state:

- (i) the applicable Redemption Date;
- (ii) the Redemption Prices of the Notes to be redeemed;
- (iii) that all of the Secured Notes are to be redeemed in full and that interest on such Secured Notes shall cease to accrue on the Redemption Date specified in the notice;
- (iv) the place or places where Notes are to be surrendered for payment of the Redemption Prices, which shall be the office or agency of the Co-Issuers to be maintained as provided in Section 7.2; and
- (v) if all Secured Notes are being redeemed, whether the Subordinated Notes are to be redeemed in full on such Redemption Date and, if so, the place or places where the Subordinated Notes (other than any Uncertificated Subordinated Notes) are to be surrendered for payment of the Redemption Prices, which shall be the office or agency of the Co-Issuers to be maintained as provided in Section 7.2 in order to receive payment therefor.

107. The Optional Redemption Notices fail to provide any such information other than the Redemption Date. Thus, the Optional Redemption Notices are defective on their face. Additionally, it has not been demonstrated that the Optional Redemption Notices were actually received by the required parties, which is required at least with respect to U.S. Bank.

108. Also, as originally referenced the Trustee's May 22, 2018 Redemption Responses, and as adduced above, completion of the Optional Redemption as requested by the Optional Redemption Notices would, or could reasonably be expected to: (i) violate applicable law; and/or (ii) knowingly and willfully adversely affect the interests of the Holders in the Assets in any material respect that is not expressly permitted under the PMAs or the Indentures. Under such circumstances, Section 8 of the PMAs requires coordination with the Trustee in order to make indemnification arrangements and providing a legal opinion from outside counsel, which must meet the Trustee's approval. Defendants have not complied with Section 8 of the PMAs.

109. Finally, the Second Optional Redemption Notices make reference to placing "a portion of the portfolio of assets held by the Co-Issuers into a warehouse arrangement or a total return swap or other derivative arrangement with Highland Capital Management, L.P." The Indentures and PMAs do not provide for such an arrangement.

110. Thus, for the numerous deficiencies set forth above, the Optional Redemption Notices are defective and ineffective.

Count 4: Declaratory Judgment that the Optional Redemption Notices Were Outside the Ordinary Course of Business and Therefore Ineffective under 11 U.S.C. § 363(b)

111. Plaintiff incorporates the preceding paragraphs as if set forth fully herein.

112. Under section 363(b) of the Bankruptcy Code, the "trustee, after notice and a hearing, may use, sell, or lease, other than in the ordinary course of business, property of the estate."

113. The Trustee did not consent to Defendants' actions taken in connection with the Optional Redemption Notices.

114. Actions taken by Defendants in furtherance of the purported Optional Redemption were outside the ordinary course of the Debtors' business and were taken without the Trustee's consent or authorization from the Court. Thus, such actions are ineffective pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 363(b).

Count 5: Declaratory Judgment that the Trustee Has Not Violated His Fiduciary Duties by Declining to Carry Out the Optional Redemption

115. Plaintiff incorporates the preceding paragraphs as if set forth fully herein.

116. The Trustee is mindful of his fiduciary obligations under the PMAs and Indentures. At the same time, the Trustee believes any action taken to effectuate the Optional Redemption are in violation of the automatic stay, outside the ordinary course of Acis's business, and an attempt to destroy the primary vehicle by which Acis generates revenue.

117. The Trustee was appointed on Monday, May 14, 2018. In the brief period of time since the Trustee's appointment, Highland, pursuant to the Shared Services Agreement and Sub-Advisory Agreement, has advised the Trustee on the day-to-day business operations of Acis. Highland, as a fiduciary for Acis LP, pursuant to the Sub-Advisory Agreement, has stated that if the Trustee does not begin the process of liquidating the Acis CLOs and comply with the Optional Redemption, the Trustee will breach certain fiduciary duties owed to the Acis CLOs. As described believe, the Trustee believes the Optional Redemption will violate sections 362 and 363 of the Bankruptcy Code and leave Acis without its most valuable assets, the PMAs. Highland has further suggested to the Trustee that if he does not agree to effectuate the Optional Redemption, he was be individually liable for violating his fiduciary duty to the Acis CLO's equity.<sup>53</sup> At the May 31, 2018 status conference in these Cases, the Trustee advised the Court of Highland's demands related to the Optional Redemption. The Trustee believes that he has proposed a plan of reorganization that maximizes recovery for all parties, including HCLOF.

118. As such, the Trustee seeks a declaratory judgment that he has not violated his fiduciary obligations by declining to carry out the Optional Redemption, as ordered by HCLOF.

VI. PRAYER

119. For the foregoing reasons, the Trustee respectfully requests that the Court enter judgment in favor of the Trustee, and specifically and expressly provide the following relief to the Plaintiff for the benefit of the Debtors' bankruptcy estates:

- (i) Temporary restraining order and preliminary injunction pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 7065, to preserve the status quo and protect the estates by enjoining the Defendants from taking any action in furtherance of the Optional Redemption, or any action to effectuate yet another optional redemption at some future time under section 9.2 of the Indentures, unless the Defendants seek Court approval, and the Court lifts the automatic stay to allow such actions, or the Court confirms a plan pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1129;
- (ii) Plaintiff's recovery of damages pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(k), for Defendants' violation of the automatic stay;
- (iii) Declaratory judgment that the Optional Redemption Notices are defective and ineffective pursuant to the PMAs and Indentures;
- (iv) Declaratory judgment that the Optional Redemption Notices are ineffective pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 363(b);
- (v) Declaratory judgment that the Trustee has not violated his fiduciary duties by declining to carry out the Optional Redemption;

<sup>53</sup> HCLOF is the only signatory on the Optional Redemptions related to CLO-3, CLO-4, CLO-5, and CLO-6. The signatories for the Optional Redemption related to CLO-1 are New ALF, Nexpoint Strategic Opportunities Fund (f/k/a NexPoint Credit Strategic Fund) (a Highland affiliate), and Drexel Limited.

- (vi) Plaintiff's recovery from Defendants of pre- and post-judgment interest, at the greatest rate permitted by law, on all amounts awarded to Plaintiff;
- (vii) Plaintiff's recovery from Defendants of all attorney's fees and costs incurred in connection with the prosecution of this Adversary Proceeding;
- (viii) All such other and further relief as to which Plaintiff has shown or hereafter shows himself to be justly entitled in law or in equity.

("Neutra") (HCLOF, Holdco and Neutra are collectively referred to herein as the "Highland-Related Parties"), U.S. Bank National Association ("US Bank"), Acis CLO 2013-1 LTD. ("CLO-1"), Acis CLO 2014-3 LTD. ("CLO-3"), Acis CLO 2014-4 LTD. ("CLO-4"), Acis CLO 2014-5 LTD. ("CLO-5"), Acis CLO 2015-6 LTD. ("CLO-6") (CLO-1, CLO-3, CLO-4, CLO-5, and CLO-6 are collectively referred to herein as the "Acis CLOs"), Acis CLO 2013-1 LLC ("CLO-1 LLC"), Acis CLO 2014-3 LLC ("CLO-3 LLC"), Acis CLO 2014-4 LLC ("CLO-4 LLC"), Acis CLO 2014-5 LLC ("CLO-5 LLC"), Acis CLO 2015-6 LLC ("CLO-6 LLC") (CLO-1 LLC, CLO-3 LLC, CLO-4 LLC, CLO-5 LLC, and CLO-6 LLC are collectively referred to herein as the "Acis CLO Co-Issuer") and other parties (the Trustee, Highland, the Highland-Related Parties, US Bank, the Acis CLOs, and the Acis Co-Issuers are referred to herein as the "Restrained Parties") are not immediately restrained and enjoined from effectuating the Optional Redemption, call, or other liquidation of the Acis CLOs. "Optional Redemption" is defined by and effectuated pursuant to Sections 9.2 of each of the following: (i) that certain Indenture, dated as of March 18, 2013, issued by CLO-1, as issuer, CLO-1 LLC, as co-Issuer and US Bank as Trustee (the "CLO-1 Indenture"); (ii) that certain Indenture, dated as of February 25, 2014, issued by CLO-3, as issuer, CLO-3 LLC, as co-Issuer and US Bank, as Trustee (the "CLO-3 Indenture"); (iii) that certain Indenture, dated as of June 5, 2014, issued by CLO-4, as issuer, CLO-4 LLC, as co-Issuer and US Bank, as Trustee (the "CLO-4 Indenture"); (iv) that certain Indenture, dated as of November 18, 2014, issued by CLO-5, as issuer, CLO-5 LLC, as co-Issuer and US Bank, as Trustee (the "CLO-5 Indenture"); and (v) that certain Indenture, dated as of April 16, 2015, issued by CLO-6, as issuer, CLO-6 LLC, as co-Issuer and US Bank, as Trustee (the "CLO-6 Indenture"). CLO-1 Indenture, CLO-3 Indenture, CLO-4 Indenture, CLO-5 Indenture, and CLO-6 Indenture are collectively referred to herein as the "Indentures"). The Optional Redemption, call, or other liquidation of the Acis CLOs threatens to liquidate or harm valuable property of the Debtors, the Debtors' rights, the Debtors' estates, and other assets in this matter, to the detriment of the Parties.

2. Injunctive relief is necessary to prevent imminent and irreparable injury to the Parties in the form of substantial losses to the Parties and third parties' financial interests related to the Optional Redemption, call, or other liquidation of the Acis CLOs and the threatened liquidation of valuable property of the Debtors, the Debtors' rights, the Debtors' estates, and other assets in this matter. The losses that would result in the event a temporary restraining order is not issued cannot be presently measured by any certain pecuniary standard, are not reasonably quantifiable, and cannot be adequately compensated with monetary damages; thus, the Parties and interested third parties otherwise have no adequate remedy at law.
3. The Trustee has a substantial case on the merits on a serious legal question—to wit: that the threatened actions described herein, if not enjoined, will violate the automatic stay in this matter, pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(a)(3).
4. The balancing of the harms weighs in favor of issuing the temporary injunction because any harm to Highland, or any of the Highland-Related Parties, is substantially outweighed by the damage that would be caused to Parties if the Optional Redemption, call, or other liquidation of the Acis CLOs is not enjoined.
5. Public policy supports restraining the actions described herein and allowing the Trustee to exercise his fiduciary duties to maximize the value of the estate for the benefit of the Parties by allowing the Trustee to direct and control the refinancing, sale, or other monetization of Debtors' property, the Debtors' rights, the Debtors' estates, and other assets in this matter.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that all Restrained Parties<sup>2</sup> and their officers, agents, servants, employees, attorneys, and any other person or entity acting on the Restrained Parties' behalf are enjoined for a period of fourteen (14) days from:

1. proceeding with, effectuating, or otherwise taking any action in furtherance of the Optional Redemption, call, or other liquidation of the Acis CLOs; and
2. sending, mailing, or otherwise distributing any notice to the holders of the Acis CLOs in connection with the effectuation of the Optional Redemption, call, or other liquidation of the Acis CLOs.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, for the avoidance of doubt, that U.S. Bank may continue to perform its ministerial functions in respect of sale trades that were executed and settled, at the initiation of the CLO issuers or Highland-Related Parties prior to May 31, 2018, without running afoul of this TRO.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that this Order expires on 12:01 a.m. (Central Daylight Time) on June 15, 2018, unless further extended by this Court or by agreement of the parties.

PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. (“HCLOF”) holds bargained-for contractual rights under non-debtor contracts with respect to non-debtor CLOs that hold over $2 billion in assets. For months now, the Chapter 11 Trustee (the “Trustee”) has enjoyed the benefits of a preliminary injunction that has barred HCLOF from exercising these rights. That injunction was granted, in part, upon the Trustee’s belief that he could effect a plan of reorganization that would pay creditors and HCLOF in full. HCLOF objected to the Trustee’s proposed plan because it did not pay HCLOF “in full” and forced a sale of its property, or altered its non-debtor contract rights, against its will. The Court denied approval of all three plans.

The Trustee now wants to try again — this time with “Plan D.” Plan D suffers from the same defects that rendered Plans B and C unconfirmable because it presumes that the Trustee can alter rights that HCLOF has under the CLO indentures — contracts to which debtor Acis LP is not a party. The CLOs are not in bankruptcy, the CLO indentures are non-debtor contracts, and HCLOF is not even a creditor in this case. Plan D will fail just as the other plans have failed.

The Trustee had his chance. If there were ever justification for the injunction, that justification no longer exists. There is no “quick fix” to this bankruptcy case. If the Trustee believes he has claims against HCLOF and others, he should not ask the Court to prejudge those claims, or prejudge whether HCLOF or others should be “collapsed” into parties against whom Mr. Terry has a pre-petition arbitration award. Instead, the Trustee should pursue those claims to judgment. If he prevails, he has a remedy. That stands in stark contrast to HCLOF, which has been held in stasis for months with no remedy against the Debtors or the Trustee. The Court recently concluded that HCLOF is not a creditor; it follows that HCLOF has no claim against the Trustee for the harm he is causing. A party with an adequate legal remedy (the Trustee) is not entitled to an injunction.

Accordingly, HCLOF respectfully requests that the preliminary injunction be dissolved, and that it be granted relief from the automatic stay, to the extent applicable, to exercise its contractual rights as it sees fit, with the discretion it bargained for, and to which it is entitled.

RELEVANT FACTS

A. Background

1. The debtors in this case are Acis Capital Management, L.P. (“Acis LP”) and Acis Capital Management GP, LLC (collectively, the “Debtors”). Acis LP is the portfolio manager of five financial investment vehicles known as collateralized loan obligations (“CLOs”).<sup>1</sup>

2. Each CLO holds a portfolio of diversified syndicated leveraged commercial loans through the private placement of rated secured notes (“Secured Notes”) and unsecured subordinated securities (“Equity Notes” together with the Secured Notes, the “Notes”), providing investors with differentiated risk and reward profiles. Hr’g Tr. (Feb. 7, 2018), at 73:1–74:20.

3. Each Note is subject to an indenture (the “Indenture”) that establishes the rights of the noteholders and the indenture investment criteria.<sup>2</sup> Neither of the Debtors are a party to any of the Indentures.

4. Through a Portfolio Management Agreement (“PMA”) for each CLO, Acis LP agreed to manage the assets securing the Notes according to the criteria specified in the respective Indentures.<sup>3</sup> In return for its services, Acis LP earns management fees, which are specified percentages of the principal amount of the total assets under management. See, e.g., 2013-1 Indenture at 31–32, 64, 66. Acis LP has no employees or other infrastructure necessary to manage the CLOs, and has historically employed Highland-related entities as sub-advisors and sub-servicers to perform the necessary front, middle, and back office services.

<sup>2</sup> E.g., Indenture for Acis CLO 2013-1 (Exhibit 1 at Plan Confirmation) (“2013-1 Indenture”). The indentures for the other CLOs were Exhibits 2 through 5 at Plan Confirmation. References to specific provisions of the Indentures are illustrated by reference to the 2013-1 Indenture. The provisions are substantially similar, if not identical, across the various indentures.

5. At the time of their respective investments in the CLOs, it was represented to the investors, including the Equity Noteholders, that Highland Capital Management, L.P. (“Highland”) would perform all of the portfolio management duties, and the CLOs and the Equity Noteholders, including HCLOF, relied on that representation and the reputation of Highland in the industry to manage their investments. Hr’g Tr. (June 12, 2018), at 36:25–38:25; see also HCLOF Offering Memorandum dated Nov. 15, 2017 (Ex. 90 at Plan Confirmation).

6. Pursuant to the Indentures, the CLOs can redeem the Secured Notes under certain conditions, including at the written direction of 66 2/3% of the aggregate outstanding amount of the Equity Notes. E.g., 2013-1 Indentures § 9.2. Through this right of redemption, the Equity Noteholders can restructure the CLOs when they no longer meet their investment objectives.

7. Acis LP is not a party to the Indenture but must comply with certain aspects of the Indenture in its capacity as the Portfolio Manager of the CLOs. See, e.g., 2013-1 PMA § 3(a). As relevant here, the Indentures require Acis LP, “[u]pon receipt or delivery of a notice of a redemption of the Secured Notes,” to “direct the sale of all or part of the Collateral Obligations and other Assets” to effect a redemption. E.g., 2013-1 Indenture § 9.2. Acis LP has no discretion to refuse this directive.

<sup>3</sup> E.g., Portfolio Management Agreement between Acis CLO 2013-1, Ltd. and Acis Capital Management, LP (Exhibit 6 at Plan Confirmation) (“2013-1 PMA”). The PMAs for the other CLOs were Exhibits 7 through 10 at Plan Confirmation. References to specific PMAs are illustrated by reference to the 2013-1 PMA. The provisions are substantially similar, if not identical, across the various PMAs.

B. HCLOF's Efforts To Reset The CLOs

8. Because changes in interest rates affect the return on the CLOs' investments, HCLOF has the contractual right under the Indentures to "reset" the CLO, which is a process of refinancing currently existing collateral loan obligations. Once refinanced, the reset CLO will pay lower interest rates to the Secured Noteholders and thus maintain or improve the yield to the Equity Noteholders. See Hr'g Tr. (Feb. 6, 2018), at 73:22–75:1.

9. By January 2018, HCLOF had secured sufficient capital to effectuate the reset for Acis CLO 2014-3. Hr'g Tr. (Feb. 7, 2018), at 81:1–83:7. But the transaction did not close because the involuntary bankruptcy petitions were filed. Id. at 83:8–84:7, 85:20–89:2.<sup>4</sup> As a result, HCLOF remains stuck in subpar investments, and it is losing approximately $59,000 per CLO per week — a total of approximately $295,000 per week — compared to what it could earn by redeploying this capital to a better investment. Hr'g Tr. (June 12, 2018), at 40:20–23, 73:1–8.<sup>5</sup>

C. The Bankruptcy Proceedings

10. Following the bankruptcy petitions and the appointment of a Chapter 7 bankruptcy trustee, HCLOF decided to cut its losses, as a now bankrupt portfolio manager was untenable and the future of its investment was uncertain. HCLOF determined that a redemption, effectuated by Highland as the sub-manager for Acis LP, was its sole remedy under the circumstances. Accordingly, on April 30, 2018, HCLOF instructed the Indenture Trustee and Acis LP to initiate an optional redemption (the "Initial Notices"). See Hr'g Tr. (Feb. 6, 2018), at 157:9–160:11.

<sup>4</sup> Mr. Terry has admitted that preventing the reset was a reason why he filed the involuntary. Hr'g Tr. (Mar. 27, 2018), [Doc. 107], at 27:22–28:1 (Q: "And you knew that there was an extreme likelihood that the transaction was not going to go forward as a result of the bankruptcy filing." Joshua Terry: "Yes, that was our goal on filing the involuntary petitions . . .").

11. After the Initial Notices were issued, on May 11, 2018, the Bankruptcy Court converted the Chapter 7 cases and granted a motion to appoint a Chapter 11 trustee. See Order [Doc. 205]. The Trustee was appointed by this Court on May 17, 2018. See Order [Doc. 221].

12. The Trustee refused to authorize the processes to allow Highland, as sub-manager, to take the actions necessary to effect the Initial Notices. See Trustee Letters (May 22, 2018) (Exhibit 40 at Plan Confirmation); Trustee Email (May 27, 2018) (Exhibit 44 at Plan Confirmation). At a status conference on May 31, 2018, the Court sua sponte entered a temporary restraining order (“TRO”) which effectively stayed the optional redemption process. [Doc. 256]. Hr’g Tr. (May 31, 2018), at 66:11–69:2.

13. On June 13, 2018, HCLOF withdrew the Initial Notices. See Revocation and Withdrawal Notices (Exhibit 97 at Plan Confirmation). On June 15, 2018 at 12:01 a.m., the TRO expired by its own terms.

14. Later on June 15, 2018, HCLOF issued new Notices of Redemption (the “Second Notices”) with a redemption date of July 30, 2018, in the manner required by the Indentures. See June 15, 2018 Redemption Notices (Exhibit 20 at Plan Confirmation). The Second Notices were withdrawn on July 6, 2018. See Revocation and Withdrawal Notices (Exhibit 98 at Plan Confirmation).

15. On June 21, 2018, the Trustee filed the Verified Original Complaint and Application for Temporary Restraining Order and Preliminary Injunction [Adv. No. 18-03212, Doc. 1] seeking, among other things, a temporary restraining order and preliminary injunction prohibiting HCLOF from taking any actions to effectuate an optional redemption. The Court entered an ex parte temporary restraining order on June 21, 2018 and held a preliminary injunction hearing on July 6, 2018.

16. On July 10, 2018, the Court entered a preliminary injunction (the “Preliminary Injunction”) enjoining HCLOF from “proceeding with, effectuating, or otherwise taking any action in furtherance of any Optional Redemption.” Preliminary Injunction Order [Adv. No. 18-03212, Doc. 21] (“PI Order”), at 13.

D. The Proposed Plans And Confirmation Hearing

17. On July 5, 2018, the Trustee filed his joint plan for the Debtors [Doc. 383], proposing three (3) alternatives — Plans A, B and C. Plan A proposed to transfer non-estate property (i.e., HCLOF’s Equity Notes) and the PMAs (the “Oaktree Transaction”) to Oaktree Capital Management, L.P. (“Oaktree”). Alternatively, the Trustee proposed Plans B and C, both of which were premised on preventing HCLOF from exercising certain rights under the Indentures, thereby ensuring future revenue streams from which the estates would pay creditors.

18. On August 30, 2018, the Court denied confirmation of all three plans. See generally Court’s Ruling on Confirmation [Doc. 549] (“Confirmation Decision”) and subsequent Order entered at Doc. 569.

19. On September 28, 2018, the Trustee filed a Second Amended Joint Plan for Acis Capital Management, L.P. and Acis Capital Management GP, LLC [Doc. 612] (“Plan D”). Plan D is very similar to Plans B and C in that it seeks to modify the Indentures to restrict HCLOF’s contractual rights. Plan D relies on a plan injunction, issued pursuant to sections 105(a), 1123(a)(5), and 1123(b)(6), and other plan provisions to achieve the same result. See Plan D §§ 14.03 (plan injunction), § 6.08 (restricting HCLOF’s right to withdraw redemptions).

ARGUMENT

20. With the benefit of the Preliminary Injunction granted by this Court, the Trustee took his chances with Plans A, B, and C. The Court denied confirmation of all three plans, concluding that HCLOF's rights could not be so modified because it was neither (1) a creditor of the estates nor (2) a contract counter party to the Debtors. For these same reasons, the Trustee cannot confirm any plan that alters HCLOF's rights without its consent.

21. Nonetheless, the Trustee has determined to continue on his war path, seeking to confirm his new Plan D. That new plan relies on a continued injunction barring HCLOF from exercising its rights. But, Plan D is no less confirmable than Plans A, B, or C without HCLOF's consent. The same jurisdictional infirmities apply: (1) HCLOF is neither a creditor nor a contract-counterparty to the Debtors, and (2) this Court does not have the jurisdiction to impair HCLOF's rights under the Indentures through such an injunction. The Trustee's proposal of another unconfirmable plan only highlights that there is no likelihood of a successful reorganization justifying a continued injunction.<sup>6</sup>

22. Nor is the Preliminary Injunction necessary pending the Trustee's current prosecution of his fraudulent transfer claims. If the Trustee succeeds on those claims, he has a legal remedy. There is no irreparable harm and thus no need for an injunction. Even if the Trustee were successful in avoiding the alleged "transfer" of the ALF PMA,<sup>7</sup> that contract on its face would not grant the Trustee unfettered rights with respect to the Equity Notes. No witness in this case has so testified, and the contract language is perfectly clear. At all times, HCLOF's portfolio manager, whether it be Highland, Acis LP or anyone else, is subject to the direction and control of HCLOF with respect to its investments. The Court should not effectively pre-judge those claims through the Preliminary Injunction. Nor would lifting the injunction necessarily pre-judge the outcome of that proceeding. See Vogel v. Am. Society of Appraisers, 744 F.2d 598, 604 (7th Cir. 1984) (emphasizing that denial of preliminary injunction did not serve to “prejudge the trial”).

<sup>6</sup> See Highland's Motion for an Order Dismissing the Debtors' Chapter 11 Cases Or, in the Alternative, Converting the Cases to Chapter 7 for Cause [Doc. 604] ("Motion to Dismiss").

23. The continuation of the Preliminary Injunction only exacerbates the great prejudice and irreparable harm to HCLOF. As stated throughout these cases, HCLOF continues to suffer irreparable damages (per a June analysis, $295,000 on a weekly basis). Moreover, HCLOF should not be compelled into a forced marriage with an investment adviser that has been openly hostile to HCLOF and its interests.

24. If the balance of harms and the public interest ever tipped in favor of the Trustee, that is no longer the case. The Court gave the Trustee an opportunity to deliver what he promised would be a quick-fix and win for everyone, but he has failed at great expense. Plan D stands on no better footing. The public interest now demands that HCLOF’s rights under non-debtor contracts, with non-debtor CLOs, be respected and that the Preliminary Injunction be dissolved. Those same reasons also constitute “cause” for this Court to lift the automatic stay (to the extent it applies) so that HCLOF can exercise its contractual rights.

I. THE PRELIMINARY INJUNCTION SHOULD BE DISSOLVED

25. “The district courts apply the same standards in reviewing a preliminary injunction under a motion to dissolve as they do in deciding whether to grant one in the first instance.” Texas v. United States, No. 7:15-cv-00056-O, 2015 WL 13424776, at *1 (N.D. Tex. June 26, 2015) (quoting Vaughn v. St. Helena Parish Police Jury, 261 F. Supp. 2d 553, 556 (M.D. La. 2002)). These elements are: (1) a substantial likelihood of success on the merits; (2) a substantial threat of irreparable harm if the injunction is not granted; (3) that the threatened injury to the plaintiff outweighs the injury to the defendant; and (4) that granting the injunction does not disserve the public interest. See, e.g., Janvey v. Alguire, 647 F.3d 585, 595 (5th Cir. 2011) (citation omitted).

A. The Trustee Cannot Show Irreparable Harm; HCLOF Continues to Be Irreparably Harmed by the Preliminary Injunction.

26. In rendering its confirmation decision, this Court made it crystal clear: HCLOF is not a creditor and does not have a claim against the Trustee or the estates. See Confirmation Ruling at *3-4. HCLOF therefore has no remedy against these estates — for the Trustee’s failure to effect an optional redemption and for the millions of dollars in damages that it has accrued and will continue to accrue. That is a textbook example of “irreparable harm.” See Deerfield Med. Ctr. v. City of Deerfield Beach, 661 F.2d 328, 338 (5th Cir. 1981) (“An injury is ‘irreparable’ only if it cannot be undone through monetary remedies.”).

27. On the other hand, the Trustee continues to benefit from the Preliminary Injunction even though he continues to have every remedy available at law against Highland or HCLOF — whether arising from any purported fraudulent transfers or otherwise. Indeed, the Trustee is now affirmatively pursuing those claims. The Trustee cannot suffer irreparable harm if he has an adequate remedy at law. See, e.g., Sec. Inv’r Prot. Corp. v. Bernard L. Madoff Inv. Sec. LLC, 491 B.R. 27, 39 (S.D.N.Y. 2013), aff’d sub nom. Picard v. Fairfield Greenwich Ltd., 762 F.3d 199 (2d Cir. 2014) (“Since the Trustee would be able to recover any property deemed to be property of the estate in the fraudulent transfer action, the Trustee has failed to demonstrate . . . that the Madoff Securities estate would suffer irreparable harm under the traditional test for an injunction . . .”).

28. There has never been a suggestion that the Trustee is without a legal remedy. Instead, the Trustee stated previously only that he wanted to avoid lengthy litigation. As the Fifth Circuit has concluded, the inconvenience of having to litigate is not irreparable harm:

Mere injuries, however substantial, in terms of money, time and energy necessarily expended in the absence of [an injunction], are not enough. The possibility that adequate compensatory or other corrective relief will be available at a later date, in the ordinary course of litigation, weighs heavily against a claim of irreparable harm.

Morgan v. Fletcher, 518 F.2d 236, 240 (5th Cir. 1975) (quoting Va. Petroleum Jobbers Ass'n v. Fed. Power Comm'n, 259 F.2d 921, 925 (D.C. Cir. 1958)); see also Dennis Melancon, Inc. v. City of New Orleans, 703 F.3d 262, 279 (5th Cir. 2012) (same); Jones v. Dallas County, No. 3:11-CV-2153-D, 2013 WL 4045291, *3 (N.D. Tex. Aug. 9, 2013) (same); Controls Int'l, Inc. v. Kinetrol, Ltd., No. 3:97-CV-2504-D, 1998 WL 158678, * 2 (N.D. Tex. Mar. 25, 1998) (same).

29. That is the case even if the costs of litigation would be substantial or even unrecoverable. See Renegotiation Bd. v. Bannerkraft Clothing Co., 415 U.S. 1, 24 (1974) (“Mere litigation expense, even substantial and unrecoverable cost, does not constitute irreparable injury.”) (citing Myers v. Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corp., 303 U.S. 41, 51-52, 58 (1938)).

30. Moreover, it is neither necessary nor appropriate to leave the injunction in place pending a resolution of the fraudulent transfer claims. The Court can dissolve the Preliminary Injunction and allow HCLOF to reset or redeem the CLOs pursuant to its existing contractual rights, thereby avoiding the ongoing harm caused by the injunction. Again, the Trustee will be able to present his claims and present every theory of damages available to him. If the Trustee can successfully prove his theories (he has stated he has claims against Highland of more than $20 million), he can collect damages and pay creditors in full. The existence of an injunction does nothing to preserve or enhance those claims. There is no need for any injunction to preserve the prosecution of these claims.<sup>8</sup>

31. The Fifth Circuit has long recognized that an injunction should not be imposed merely to protect legal remedies. See F.D.I.C. v. Faulkner, 991 F.2d 262, 265 (5th Cir. 1993) (“Because the availability of a legal remedy often indicates that an applicant’s injury is not irreparable, courts generally do not issue injunctions to protect legal remedies.”). In fact, the Fifth Circuit has likened such an injunction to an impermissible “prejudgment attachment.” Fed. Sav. & Loan Ins. Corp. v. Dixon, 835 F.2d 554, 560 (5th Cir. 1987).

32. In granting the Preliminary Injunction, the Court also found that irreparable harm would ensue because “[t]he Optional Redemption would eliminate any chance of confirmation of a plan of reorganization based on the Oaktree Transaction, or a similar plan.” PI Order ¶ 14. As explained below, the Trustee had his chances at reorganization, and failed. A transaction such as that contemplated by the Oaktree Transaction is no longer possible. The Court has concluded that the Trustee cannot transfer HCLOF’s notes without its consent.

33. The Court also noted that “[t]he Optional Redemption, call, or other liquidation of the Acis CLOs threatens to liquidate or harm valuable property of the Debtors, the Debtors’ rights, the Debtors’ estates, and other assets in this matter, to the detriment of the Parties.” Id. ¶ 18. Here, it has been demonstrated conclusively that the PMAs have no significant value unless the HCLOF’s notes are sold or the Indentures are amended (both of which the Court has rejected). Hr’g Tr. (Aug. 28, 2018) (AM), at 124:10–128:9. The injunction is thus not necessary to preserve the value of the PMAs. Finally, and as noted above, if there is any alleged value attributable to the prosecution of the fraudulent transfer claims, such damages are easily subject to quantification (the Trustee has already proffered opinion testimony on this issue)<sup>9</sup> and therefore can be adequately compensated by monetary damages from financially capable defendants if the Trustee is able to prove his claims.

<sup>8</sup> Indeed, Plan D makes no provision for how the fraudulent transfer or other litigations will be pursued (if at all).

B. The Trustee Cannot Show Reasonable Likelihood of Success on the Merits.

34. In granting the Preliminary Injunction, the Court found that “[t]he Trustee has a ‘substantial likelihood of success on the merits’ of a claim regarding: (i) violation of the automatic stay if this temporary restraining order is not issued, (ii) failing to obtain court authority under Section 363 to effectuate an optional redemption, and (iii) confirmation of an effective plan of reorganization.” PI Order ¶ 20. While the issues have evolved in the past several months, the bottom-line questions with respect the “success on the merits” prong to the injunction analysis distill down to the following: (1) do these Debtors have a legitimate chance at reorganization? and (2) are the fraudulent transfer claims are likely to succeed? As explained below, the answer to both questions is no.

i. Plan D Is Dead On Arrival; There is No Reasonable Likelihood of a Successful Reorganization Without HCLOF Consent.

35. Plan D is nothing but a reworked version of Plans B and C. The reorganized Acis LP (owned by Josh Terry) will assume the PMAs, and Brigade Capital Management, LP (“Brigade”) will provide operational support. As in Plans B and C, HCLOF’s rights under the Indentures will be modified by way of a Court-ordered injunction designed to prohibit HCLOF from exercising under the Indentures, thereby holding HCLOF and the cash flow from the PMAs captive. See Plan D § 14.03 (“Plan Injunction”).<sup>10</sup>

without jurisdiction to modify the Indentures to affect HCLOF's rights thereunder. Again, the Debtors are not a party to the Indentures. The Court cannot modify the Indentures either through section 1123(a)(5) (like under Plans B or C) or through an injunction (like under Plan D). In addition to depriving HCLOF of its right to seek a redemption, Plan D also modifies other of HCLOF's rights under the Indentures. See, e.g., Plan D § 6.08 (foreclosing HCLOF's right to withdraw an optional redemption "in the reasonable business judgment of the Reorganized Debtor."). This Court already held that section 1123(a)(5)(F) does not authorize such modifications. Confirmation Decision at *1. That notwithstanding, the Trustee has invoked section 1123(a)(5) as a basis for the proposed injunction. The Trustee cannot seek to do through section 105(a), what the Court has already said he cannot do under section 1123(a)(5)(F).<sup>11</sup>

37. The Trustee's reliance on section 105(a) is improper. Section 105(a) must be exercised within the boundaries of the Bankruptcy Code and is not intended to create new, substantive rights. As the Fifth Circuit has stated:

While the bankruptcy courts have fashioned relief under Section 105(a) in a variety of situations, the powers granted by that statute may be exercised only in a manner consistent with the provisions of the Bankruptcy Code. That statute does not authorize the bankruptcy courts to create substantive rights that are otherwise unavailable under applicable law, or constitute a roving commission to do equity.

U.S. v. Sutton, 786 F.2d 1305, 1308 (5th Cir. 1986); see also Norwest Bank Worthington v. Ahlers, 485 U.S. 197, 206, (1988) (a bankruptcy court's powers "must and can only be exercised within the confines of the Bankruptcy Code.").

38. In keeping with this limitation, courts have refused to use section 105(a) to expand the scope of specific statutes and rules. See, e.g., In re Smith, 21 F.3d 660, 666 (5th Cir.

<sup>11</sup> 11 U.S.C. 1123(b)(6) provides that "Subject to subsection (a) of this section, a plan may ... include any other appropriate provision not inconsistent with the applicable provisions of this title."

1994) (“Bankruptcy courts cannot use their equitable powers created by Section 105(a) to expand the requirements of Rules 3003(c)(3) and 9006(b)(1).”); U.S. Bank Nat’l Ass’n v. Verizon Commcn’s Inc., No. 3:10-CV-1842-G, 2012 WL 3100778, *7 (N.D. Tex. July 31, 2012) (Fish, J.) (refusing to expand scope of section 550 under “equitable jurisdiction and Section 105... [b]ecause allowing this action would be inconsistent with a more specific provision of the Code.”).

39. These principles also accord with the bankruptcy axiom that the debtor in possession or trustee steps into the shoes of a debtor and has no greater rights than that of the debtor. See Majestic Star Casino, LLC v. Barden Dev., Inc. (In re Majestic Star Casino, LLC), 716 F.3d 736, 748 (3d Cir. 2013) (“It is a given that the trustee or debtor-in-possession can assert no greater rights than the debtor himself had on the date the bankruptcy case was commenced.” (internal alterations omitted)); In re Gibraltar Res., Inc., 197 B.R. 246, 253 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 1996) (“the general rule is that a trustee has no greater rights than the debtor”).

40. The PMAs, which are proposed to be assumed by the reorganized debtors, do not provide Acis LP with any guarantee to management fees or any right to prevent HCLOF from exercising the options available to it under the Indentures. Such rights cannot now be created out of whole cloth either through modification of the PMAs or the Indentures (which the Debtors are not even party to), and doing so would be inconsistent with section 1123(a)(5) and other black-letter bankruptcy principles. See In re Advent Corp., 24 B.R. 612, 614 (B.A.P. 1st Cir. 1982) (“A bankruptcy court may not extend a contract beyond its original terms. The Bankruptcy Code neither enlarges the rights of a debtor under a contract, nor prevents the termination of a contract by its own terms.”); see also In re Nat’l Gypsum Co., 208 F.3d 498, 506 (5th Cir. 2000) (executory contracts must be assumed cum onere); In re Texas Rangers Baseball Partners, 521

B.R. 134, 179–80 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 2014) (Jernigan, J.) (“A debtor may not merely accept the benefits of a contract and reject the burdens to the detriment of the other party.”).

41. Second, this Court has already established that HCLOF is not a creditor of the estates. HCLOF does not hold a claim that would allow the Debtors to modify HCLOF’s rights through a plan. In fact, because HCLOF does not hold a claim, it cannot even vote on Plan D.

42. Plan D proposes to modify the rights of HCLOF, a third party, for absolutely no consideration, again raising issues relating to the taking of third-party rights that the Irving Tanning case explicitly identified and denounced. See In re Irving Tanning Co., 496 B.R. 644, 664-65 (B.A.P. 1st Cir. 2013). To be sure, not only does Plan D propose to modify HCLOF’s contract rights under the Indentures, it also seeks to seize and hold captive HCLOF’s investments in the CLOs, i.e., its property, without its consent.

43. The words of the First Circuit B.A.P. bear repeating:

[F]or both statutory and constitutional reasons, the preemptive effect of § 1123(a) cannot extend to laws defining and protecting the property rights of third parties. . . . Indeed, what the Debtors urge us to find—a grant of power to appropriate the property of third parties—is so bold and remarkable a grant that one cannot imagine Congress having inserted it without a clear and specific indication of such intent. . . . Constitutional concerns also inform this interpretation. Any interpretation of the preemptive scope of § 1123(a)(5) that permitted plan proponents to appropriate or overwrite the property rights of third parties under applicable nonbankruptcy law would run headlong into constraints and quite possibly outright impediments in the takings clause of the Fifth Amendment. . . Even if the takings clause were deemed to permit a private plan proponent to appropriate the property of another for plan purposes, “just compensation” would be a necessary condition of that appropriation. . . .

Id. at 664-65 (emphasis added). While the B.A.P. was speaking specifically to section 1123(a), the same rationale logically extends to section 105(a) and section 1123(b)(6), which the Trustee is attempting to use to preempt and overwrite fundamental protections. Holding HCLOF hostage, and giving it the false option of a reset — a right that HCLOF already possesses — is no less of an offensive intrusion upon HCLOF’s property rights than what was proposed in Plan A.

44. Third, the Trustee will still have to satisfy the numerous confirmation requirements of the Bankruptcy Code for any new plan, including the flawed Plan D. Highland and HCLOF will reiterate each of their prior confirmation objections with respect to the lack of good faith, the failure of the best interests test, the failure to satisfy the cram-down standard, and Josh Terry’s insider status, among others.<sup>12</sup>

45. Fourth, and more practically, it is highly unlikely that Acis will ever be able to deliver a reset for HCLOF, rendering that critical aspect of Plan D entirely illusory. HCLOF has presented credible testimony that industry participants would not want to engage with a reorganized portfolio manager in a reset transaction, let alone the four or five sequential resets that would be required in this case. Hr’g (July 6, 2018) at 200:8–14.<sup>13</sup>

46. And even if resets could be effectuated, they would necessarily be on terms highly unfavorable to HCLOF. As a third party to these proceedings, HCLOF cannot be compelled against its will into transactions that it does not wish to enter into by giving it a choice between a bad choice and a worse one. HCLOF never bargained for investment into CLOs managed by Brigade, Josh Terry, or anyone other than Highland when it invested in the Equity Notes. Moreover, the involvement of a formerly-bankrupt portfolio manager, let alone one that is helmed by Joshua Terry, and a mandatory two-year lock up will undoubtedly result in sub-market terms that will be unfavorable to HCLOF. The market is very well aware of this bankruptcy case and the pricing of any Acis-led reset will reflect that market perception.

<sup>12</sup> See generally Joint Objection of Highland Capital Management, L.P. and Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. to Final Approval of Disclosure Statement and to Confirmation of the Joint Plan for Acis Capital Management, L.P. and Acis Capital Management GP, LLC [Doc. 497]. In the event Plan D is set for a confirmation hearing, HCLOF and Highland will further articulate their objections in written pleadings.

47. Outside of bankruptcy, Acis, a portfolio manager and fiduciary, would never have been able to effect such transactions without the consent of its investors.<sup>14</sup> It cannot try to do that now in bankruptcy.

ii. The Trustee’s Fraudulent Transfer Claims Will Not Succeed, and Even If They Do, Will Not Provide the Result Desired By the Trustee.

48. In denying confirmation, the Court found “a basis for keeping the preliminary injunction in place pending determination of the Acis Trustee’s fraudulent transfer lawsuits.” Confirmation Opinion at *6. However, the injunction is not necessary at all to allow for a determination of those claims or to preserve a right to monetary damages. Moreover, even if the Trustee were to prevail on those claims, they would not provide the Trustee with the rights he is touting.

49. The crux of the Trustee’s claims is that HCLOF’s rights under the Indentures once belonged to Acis LP pursuant to the ALF PMA. See PI Order ¶ 10.<sup>15</sup> At Plan Confirmation, the Trustee presented his evidence in support of avoidance, which consisted entirely of Mr. Terry’s self-serving legal conclusions disguised as “testimony” that the ALF PMA allowed Acis to make all decisions on behalf of HCLOF. Hr’g Tr. (Aug. 28, 2018) (AM), at 69:7–76:11. In support of this interpretation, the Trustee points to Section 5 of the ALF PMA, which provided Acis LP authority to take specified actions “[s]ubject at all times to . . . the Investment Policy” of the Fund. ALF PMA § 5.

50. First, as repeated at the confirmation hearing, the ALF PMA explicitly limits the authority delegated under Section 5 as follows:

Policies of the Company. The activities engaged in by the Portfolio Manager shall be subject to the policies and control of the Company, including (without limitation) the Investment Policy. . . .

In furtherance of the foregoing, the Company hereby appoints the Portfolio Manager as the Company’s attorney-in-fact, with full power of authority to act in the Company’s name and on its behalf with respect to the matters set forth in Section 5 above.

Id. § 6 (emphasis added); see also Hr’g Tr. (Aug. 28, 2018) (AM), at 157:3–158:21 (testimony of Dan Castro, Jr. explaining that “th[e] control provisions, it’s explicit there, and that is the market understanding”). At all times, HCLOF’s portfolio manager, whether Acis LP or anyone else, has been subject to the direction and control of HCLOF with respect to its investments.

51. Second, Acis LP’s exercise of its delegated authority was subject at all times to the fiduciary duties it owes as an investment adviser. See Hr’g Tr. (Aug. 28, 2018) (AM), at 157:3–158:21 (testimony of Dan Castro, Jr. that “if the portfolio manager disagrees with [the investor], the fiduciary duty of the portfolio manager is, well, I may not agree with it, I may - - maybe I think this is a better trade or a different way to go, but if that’s what he wants me to do, I’m supposed to do it.”). It would defy common sense for any investment adviser to be given authority to take actions that would be contrary to the directives of its investor. Yet it is clear that the Trustee’s intention, if given his alleged “control” over HCLOF’s rights, is to attempt to force decisions on behalf of HCLOF that preserve at all costs the right of Acis to earn an income stream. Such a course of action would be illegal, and it cannot be, and would not be, condoned.<sup>16</sup>

C. The Balance of Equities Weighs in Favor of Lifting the Preliminary Injunction.

52. The balance of equities favors lifting of the Preliminary Injunction. The Trustee has had the benefit of an injunction for months while he pressed forward with three patently unconfirmable plans. During that time, HCLOF has continued to incur losses of approximately $295,000 per week (an annualized loss of over $15 million). Hr’g Tr. (June 12, 2018) at 40:20–

23, 73:1–8. Again, to the extent HCLOF were somehow able to later prevail on any claims for these losses, it will hold a judgment against Acis LP, a Chapter 11 debtor with no meaningful assets. See Dresser-Rand Co. v. Virtual Automation, Inc., 361 F.3d 831, 848 (5th Cir. 2004) (“there is no adequate remedy at law if the defendant is incapable of responding in damages”) see also Aspen Tech., Inc. v. M3 Tech., Inc., 569 F. App’x 259, 273 (5th Cir. 2014) (affirming finding of irreparable harm where there was a substantial probability that movant would be unable to collect a judgment against bankruptcy debtor) (citation omitted). Meanwhile, the Trustee continues to possess legal remedies against HCLOF and Highland.

53. The Trustee has repeatedly appealed to this Court’s equity sounding the call that HCLOF is acting “economically irrationally” and that he is trying to save HCLOF from committing “economic suicide.” The Trustee (a bankruptcy attorney with no background in CLO investing or portfolio management) is in no position to instruct HCLOF on how to run its business. There is nothing economically irrational or suicidal in HCLOF’s efforts to divorce itself of Acis LP or avoid a forced sale of its property. HCLOF has every right to take the actions that it is legally entitled to take, regardless of the motivations, and the Trustee’s judgment should not be supplanted for HCLOF’s judgment with respect to its own property.

54. In fact, and ironically, it is the Trustee who has been acting in an economically irrational manner, choosing to never once approach HCLOF regarding a consensual plan, while reiterating the disingenuous notion that he is giving HCLOF “everything it wants.” In that process, he has pursued manifestly unconfirmable plans while racking up millions in administrative expenses, driving the estates into administrative insolvency, all while continuously placing the estates’ interests in earning management fees above all other interests. No investor anywhere would voluntarily tolerate this behavior from an investment advisor. The equities here demand that the Trustee’s runway be cut off. The Trustee obtained an injunction on a promise to deliver and he has failed. He cannot be allowed to further harm the estates and HCLOF in this manner.

55. Moreover, the estates and creditors will not be harmed if these cases are converted and the fraudulent transfer litigation pursued alongside a Chapter 7 proceeding. In fact, creditor recoveries may very well be enhanced through avoiding the costs associated with another plan solicitation and confirmation process and the heavier carrying costs of Chapter 11 – especially where, as here, the Trustee has employed two sets of counsel and has wasted millions of dollars in payments to Oaktree and other unnecessary expenses.

D. The Public Interest Is Served By Lifting the Preliminary Injunction.

56. In granting the Preliminary Injunction, the Court found that “[p]ublic policy supports [the injunction] to allow the Trustee to exercise his fiduciary duties to maximize the value of the estate for the benefit of creditors by allowing the Trustee to direct and control the refinancing, sale, or other monetization of Debtors’ property and other assets. Further there is a public interest in allowing for a Chapter 11 process, rather than costly prolonged litigation.” PI Order ¶ 16.

57. Again, the Trustee has wasted his opportunity to maximize value and the Chapter 11 process was given its due course. The Trustee now has nothing to show for his attempt other than a mountain of administrative expenses and another doomed plan. The Trustee’s shortcut has in fact turned out to be the long way, and likely more expensive than litigation alone would have been. If the Trustee from the beginning had shut down the business, initiated litigation, and treated this as the “cash and claims case” that it is, millions of dollars and untold judicial resources would have been saved. The public interest would not be served by the Trustee’s attempt to effectively “cram-down” a Plan D on a non-voting, non-creditor HCLOF, which HCLOF will contest just as vigorously as it did Plans A, B, and C.

58. And again, the Trustee owes fiduciary duties to the CLOs, and, by extension, to the CLOs’ investors. The Trustee cannot in good conscience be said to be fulfilling those fiduciary duties when he is continuously in pursuit of plans that seek to undermine the interests of the CLOs and their investors — the very parties that he is duty-bound, by contract and state and federal law, to serve. See, e.g., 2013-1 PMA § 17(b)(i); see also Transamerica Mortg. Advisors v. Lewis, 444 U.S. 11, 17 (1979) (“Congress intended to impose enforceable fiduciary obligations” in passing the Investment Advisers Act of 1940); 15 U.S.C. § 80b-6; Bullmore v. Ernst & Young Cayman Islands, 846 N.Y.S.2d 145, 148 (N.Y. App. Div. 2007) (“Professionals such as investment advisors, who owe fiduciary duties to their clients. . . .”) (citations omitted).

59. Furthermore, the public interest would not be served by unfairly holding HCLOF hostage to an investment, tying up its property and its funds, solely so that a bankrupt portfolio manager can generate fees from that relationship. Nor would the public interest be served by binding HCLOF into a continuing relationship with a reorganized debtor helmed by Joshua Terry, whom HCLOF is actively litigating against. A continued injunction would be manifestly unjust with respect to HCLOF and its expectations as an investor.

60. Moreover, it bears noting that the Debtors here are no more than shell entities with nothing other than a conditional, unguaranteed payment stream. There are no jobs to be saved or an enterprise to be preserved through a reorganization. Thus, traditional policy concerns weighing in favor of Chapter 11 rehabilitation are just not present here.<sup>17</sup> Here, there are only a sparse number of creditors—and only one who timely voted in favor of the Trustee’s original plans—who have every avenue of recovery left open to them through the prosecution of causes of action in a Chapter 7 proceeding. Again, these cases have been “cash and claims” cases since the very beginning. The injunction should be lifted and this unproductive and lengthy detour through Chapter 11 should be put to an end.

<sup>17</sup> Courts have refused to confirm plans of reorganization involving shell companies on the basis that they were not filed in good faith where the goal was not rehabilitation (e.g., tax avoidance purposes). See, e.g., In re Maxim Indus., Inc. 22 B.R. 611 (Bankr. D. Mass. 1982).

II. The Automatic Stay Does Not Apply; To the Extent it Applies, the Stay Should Be Lifted to Permit HCLOF’s Exercise of Its Rights.

61. In its Confirmation Decision, the Court noted that it would keep the Preliminary Injunction “in place for now” because the “effect of an optional redemption is to exercise control over the Acis PMAs and revenue stream (property of the estate).” Confirmation Decision at *5 (citing Hometown 2006-11925 Valley View, L.L.C. v. Prime Income Asset Mgmt., L.L.C., 847 F.3d 302 (5th Cir. 2017)). HCLOF respectfully disagrees with this portion of the Court’s Confirmation Decision and reiterates its belief that the automatic stay does not apply to HCLOF’s exercise of its rights under the Indenture.<sup>18</sup>

62. This case is very different from the Hometown case cited by the Court in its Confirmation Decision. Unlike the debtor there, Acis LP has no property interest in any future, unearned management fees. That is because the PMAs provide no guarantee, after an initial two year non-redemption period (which has long passed), that the CLO structure or the collateral therein will continue to exist. This is not a case involving a debtor with a vested property interest in a fixed or guaranteed payment stream, such as a right to a structured settlement payment or a coupon under a bond. Cf. Hometown, 847 F.3d at 302 (fee stream earned during

As alleged by Highland in its Motion to Dismiss, the Chapter 11 process has been essentially used as a collection device for Josh Terry and the Court should not condone the further abuse of the process and confirm a plan that will essentially act as nothing more than a collection device for Josh Terry.

required termination notice period were “sufficiently vested” and therefore constituted “assets” for purposes of Texas fraudulent transfer statute). There is likewise no mechanism in the PMAs that permits Acis LP to compel that the CLO assets remain in place so that it can continue to earn fees. Acis LP has already received multiples of what it is entitled to under the PMAs and it is not entitled to another dollar.

63. To the extent the Court believes the stay applies, HCLOF asks that that the Court grant HCLOF stay relief for “cause” under section 362(d)(1).

64. Because “cause” is not defined in the Bankruptcy Code, bankruptcy courts have the flexibility to define cause in a particular case. Little Creek Dev. Co. v. Commonwealth Mtg. Corp. (In re Little Creek Dev. Co.), 779 F.2d 1068, 1072 (5th Cir. 1986). Whether cause exists to grant relief from the stay is determined on a case-by-case basis, based on the totality of the circumstances. In re Trident Assocs. Ltd. P'ship, 52 F.3d 127, 131 (6th Cir. 1995).

65. “Cause” exists for all of the reasons stated above. The estates’ only asset of any value (other than causes of action) are the PMAs, which have little or no value. The Debtors have little chance at a successful reorganization with or without the PMAs, without HCLOF consent. On the other hand, the stay continues to irreparably harm HCLOF and greatly prejudice its rights. The balance of equities and the public interest also weigh in favor of lifting the stay.

66. The Court should also consider lifting the stay under the factors articulated in section 362(d)(2). While section 362(d)(2) applies to lifting the stay with respect to a secured creditors’ collateral, the principles that undergird that analysis apply here. Section 362(d)(2) provides that the court shall grant relief from the stay “with respect to a stay of an act against property ... (A) the debtor does not have any equity in such property; and (B) such property is not necessary to an effective reorganization.” 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(2).<sup>19</sup>

67. This Court has considered a request for stay relief under section 362(d)(2) in similar circumstances. In that case, the Court considered whether the stay should be lifted to allow a secured creditor to proceed against its collateral, which was central to any reorganization in that case. In deciding to lift the stay, the Court stated as follows:

It is undisputed that the Debtors will be unable to reorganize without the properties. However, the properties must be essential for an effective reorganization that is in prospect. This means there must be a reasonable possibility of a successful reorganization within a reasonable time. However honest in its efforts the debtor may be, and however sincere its motives, the Court is not bound to clog its docket with visionary or impracticable schemes for resuscitation. In essence, courts usually require the debtor to do more than manifest unsubstantiated hopes for a successful reorganization.

In re Northwest Timberline Enters., 348 B.R. 412, 430 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 2006) (Jernigan, J.) (emphasis in original) (internal citations and alterations omitted).

68. Although the debtor in that case had languished in Chapter 11 for two years, the rationale in lifting the stay apply equally here. The Trustee has not demonstrated that he can, in fact, propose a reorganization “that is in prospect.” See id. (citing United Sav. Ass’n v. Timbers of Inwood Forest Assocs., 484 U.S. 365, 376 (1988)).

69. HCLOF should not and cannot be held hostage to an investment because the portfolio manager wants to earn or monetize future management fees—fees that are in no way assured or guaranteed under the PMAs—and the Court should not allow this to continue. The stay should be lifted.

<sup>19</sup> It bears noting that the PMAs are pledged by the CLOs to the Indenture Trustee pursuant to the Indentures in order to permit the Indenture Trustee to enforce the obligations of Acis LP under the PMAs. E.g., 2013-1 Indenture § 15.1.

CONCLUSION

WHEREFORE, HCLOF respectfully requests that the Court (a) enter an order dissolving the Preliminary Injunction, (b) to the extent applicable, enter an order granting HCLOF relief from the automatic stay to exercise its rights under the Indentures, and (c) grant to HCLOF such other and further relief as the Court may deem proper.

PRELIMINARY INJUNCTION ORDER

Upon the Verified Original Complaint and Application for Temporary Restraining Order and Preliminary Injunction [Adversary No. 18-03212, Docket No. 1] (the "Complaint")<sup>1</sup> filed by Robin Phelan, the Chapter 11 Trustee (the "Trustee") for Acis Capital Management, L.P. ("Acis LP") and Acis Capital Management GP, LLC ("Acis GP", with Acis LP, "Debtors"); and the Court having jurisdiction over this matter pursuant 28 U.S.C. §§ 157 and 1334; and venue being proper in this district pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1408 and 1409; and the Complaint constituting a core proceeding pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2)(A) and (O); and the substantive law being 11 U.S.C. §§ 105, 362, and 363; and it appearing that there was good and sufficient notice of the Trustee's Application for Preliminary Injunction ("Application"); and upon the record of the July 6, 2018 hearing on the Application (the "Hearing"); and upon the Trustee's verification of the Complaint; and pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 65, incorporated by Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 7065, the Court finds that there is compelling evidence that irreparable harm is imminent to the Debtors, the Debtors' estates, the Debtors' rights, the Debtors' creditors, and to interested third parties (collectively the "Parties"), and if the Court does not issue a preliminary injunction enjoining the actions described herein, the Parties will be irreparably injured. All objections to the Trustee's Application are hereby overruled. As the basis for this order, the Court states the following:

1. The Chapter 11 Debtor, Acis LP—which is affiliated with the large investment advisor firm Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Highland")—is a company that, for several years, has been engaged in the business of managing investments for special purpose entities that hold collateralized loan obligations ("CLOs"). Acis LP is currently the portfolio manager for, inter alia, funds of the following CLOs: (i) Acis CLO 2013-1 Ltd. ("CLO-1"), (ii) Acis CLO 2014-3 Ltd. ("CLO-3"), (iii) Acis CLO 2014-4 Ltd. ("CLO-4"), (iv) Acis CLO 2014-5 Ltd. ("CLO-5"), and (v) Acis CLO 2015-6 Ltd. ("CLO-6" and together with CLO-1, CLO-3, CLO-4, and CLO-5, the "Issuers" or the "Acis CLOs"). As relevant herein, Acis LP manages the Acis CLOs through five portfolio management agreements ("PMAs").<sup>2</sup> Acis LP generates revenue primarily through the management of the Acis CLOs via the PMAs. True and correct copies of the PMAs were submitted into evidence at the Hearing (Trustee's Exhibits B-F). The Acis CLOs are subject to: (i) that certain Indenture, dated as of March 18, 2013, by and among CLO-1, as Issuer, Acis CLO 2013-1 LLC, as Co-Issuer and U.S. Bank National Association ("US Bank"); (ii) that certain Indenture, dated as of February 25, 2014, by and among CLO-3, as Issuer, Acis CLO 2014-3 LLC, as Co-Issuer and U.S. Bank, as Indenture Trustee (the "CLO-3 Indenture"); (iii) that certain Indenture, dated as of June 5, 2014, by and among CLO-4, as Issuer, Acis CLO 2014-4 LLC, as Co-Issuer and US Bank, as Indenture Trustee (the "CLO-4 Indenture"); (iv) that certain Indenture, dated as of November 18, 2014, by and among CLO-5, as Issuer, Acis CLO 2014-5 LLC, as Co-Issuer and US Bank, as Indenture Trustee (the "CLO-5 Indenture"); and (v) that certain Indenture, dated as of April 16, 2015, by and among CLO-6, as Issuer, Acis CLO 2015-6 LLC, as Co-Issuer and US Bank, as Indenture Trustee (the "CLO-6 Indenture"). The CLO-1 Indenture, CLO-3 Indenture, CLO-4 Indenture, CLO-5 Indenture, and CLO-6 Indenture are collectively referred to herein as the "Indentures." True and correct copies of the Indentures were submitted into evidence (Trustee's Exhibits G-K).

<sup>2</sup> The PMAs include: (i) that certain Portfolio Management Agreement by and between Acis LP and CLO-1, dated March 18, 2013 (the "CLO-1 PMA"); (ii) that certain Portfolio Management Agreement by and between Acis LP and CLO-3, dated February 25, 2014 (the "CLO-3 PMA"); (iii) that certain Portfolio Management Agreement by and between Acis LP and CLO-4, dated June 5, 2014 (the "CLO-4 PMA"); (iv) that certain Portfolio Management Agreement by and between Acis LP and CLO-5, dated November 18, 2014 (the "CLO-5 PMA"); and (v) that certain Portfolio Management Agreement by and between Acis LP and CLO-6, dated April 16, 2015 (the "CLO-6 PMA"). The CLO-1 PMA, CLO-3 PMA, CLO-4 PMA, CLO-5 PMA, and CLO-6 PMA are collectively referred to herein as the "PMAs."

2. Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. f/k/a/ Acis Loan Funding Ltd. ("HCLOF" or "ALF") has had, in recent months, a significant role with regard to Acis LP, and the PMAs, and the whole "CLO ecosystem"—as the parties in this bankruptcy case have been known to call the structure of the Acis LP CLO business. ALF apparently was originally created, in large part, to comply with certain risk-retention requirements of federal law relating to CLOs. ALF has been the holder of the equity in the Acis CLOs (which "equity" is actually in the form of subordinated notes, and is the bottom tranch of the capital structure of the Acis CLOs—i.e., the last investor to get paid upon a liquidation of the Acis CLOs). Notably, persons connected with Highland began implementing transactions that changed the Acis LP "CLO ecosystem" and impaired Acis LP's contractual rights, almost immediately after October 20, 2017—the date that an individual named Joshua Terry obtained a multi-million arbitration award against Acis LP. For example, prior to October 24, 2017, Acis LP had a small ownership interest in ALF. Acis LP (being controlled at that time by the same persons that control Highland) decided to sell its interest in ALF back to ALF on or around October 24, 2017

3. Prior to October 27, 2017, Acis LP—not ALF—had authority to direct and effectuate an optional redemption under the PMAs. Acis LP had this authority pursuant to another Portfolio Management Agreement by and between Acis LP and ALF, dated December 22, 2016 (the "ALF PMA"). A true and correct copy of the ALF PMA was submitted into evidence (Trustee's Exhibit L). The ALF PMA provided broad authority to Acis LP as the portfolio manager of ALF. Section 5 of the ALF PMA set out Acis LP's authority, which included authority for and in the name of ALF to:

- (i) invest, directly or indirectly . . . in all types of securities and other financial instruments of United States and non-U.S. entities . . . including without limitation . . . notes representing tranches of debt ('CLO Notes') issued by a special purpose vehicle which issues notes backed by a pool of collateral consisting primarily of loans (which may be represented by a debt or equity security) (a 'CLO') . . . (each of such items, 'Financial Instruments'), (ii) provide credit and market research and analysis in connection with the investments and ongoing management of [ALF] and direct the formulation of investment policies and strategies for [ALF] . . . ; (iii) cause [ALF] to engage in . . . agency, agency cross, related party principal transactions with affiliates of [Acis LP] . . . ; and (iv) vote Financial Instruments, participate in arrangements with creditors, the institution and settlement or compromise of suits and administrative proceedings and other like or similar matters.

See ALF PMA § 5(a)-(q).

4. While ALF did not have authority to terminate the ALF PMA, Acis LP could terminate the ALF PMA without cause upon at least ninety (90) days' notice. See ALF PMA § 13(a)-(c). Still, the ALF PMA provided for the removal of Acis LP as portfolio manager "for cause." See ALF PMA § 14(a)-(e).

5. Significantly, on October 27, 2017, just seven days after Joshua Terry's arbitration award, Acis LP effectively terminated its own portfolio management rights under the ALF PMA and transferred its authority and those valuable portfolio management rights—for no apparent value—to Highland HCF Advisors, Ltd. ("Highland HCF").

6. This transfer of Acis LP's portfolio management rights to Highland HCF was accomplished by way of a new Portfolio Management Agreement entered into by ALF and Highland HCF on October 27, 2017 (the "October 2017 PMA"), which cancelled and terminated the ALF PMA and empowered Highland HCF with the same broad authority to direct the management of ALF as was previously held by Acis LP under the ALF PMA (the "ALF PMA Transfer"). See October 2017 PMA §§ 1 & 5(a)-(q).

7. Under the prior ALF PMA, Acis LP's consent to the termination of the ALF PMA was required in order to effectuate the ALF PMA Transfer. Nevertheless, just days after the Joshua Terry multimillion dollar arbitration award was issued, the persons controlling Acis LP (and Highland), without expressing the basis for reasonable business judgment for this transfer, simply directed Acis LP to sign the October 2017 PMA, consenting and agreeing to Acis LP's removal and replacement, and transferring all authority and management rights as portfolio manager of ALF to Highland HCF under the October 2017 PMA. It appears to the Court that, without this ALF PMA Transfer, which transferred Acis LP's rights under the ALF PMA to Highland HCF, ALF—which changed its name in late October 2017 to Highland CLO Funding Ltd.—could not have attempted to direct and effectuate an optional redemption, which it is now attempting to do.

8. On April 30, 2018, HCLOF sent five notices purportedly requesting optional redemption pursuant to the Section 9.2 of each of the Indentures (the "First Optional Redemption Notices")—which essentially ordered a liquidation of the Acis CLOs, which among other things, would have rendered valueless the Acis PMA and Acis LP's value. Those notices were later withdrawn, after resistance from the Trustee and Court intervention.

9. Later, on June 15, 2018, after HCLOF withdrew the First Optional Redemption Notices, HCLOF gave notice to the Trustee that it was again requesting an Optional Redemption pursuant to the Section 9.2 of each of the Indentures (the "Second Optional Redemption Notices"). Apparently, HCLOF has now withdrawn the Second Optional Redemption Notices. However, the Trustee seeks a preliminary injunction preventing further attempts by HCLOF at effectuating Optional Redemptions while the Trustee attempts to confirm a plan or otherwise resolve the Acis LP bankruptcy case in a way beneficial to creditors and interest holders. "Optional Redemption" is defined by and effectuated pursuant to Sections 9.2 of each of the Indentures. For the avoidance of doubt, Optional Redemption as used herein refers to an Optional Redemption previously or currently issued by HCLOF or any of the Defendants (as hereinafter defined) or any other attempt to liquidate the Acis CLOs now or in the future by any means.

10. The Trustee has sustained his heavy burden of entitlement to a preliminary injunction in this Adversary Proceeding. First, absent affirmative relief from the automatic stay, any action to effectuate an Optional Redemption by way of any Optional Redemption notices violates the automatic stay of the Acis LP bankruptcy case because it represents an "act to obtain possession of property of the estate or of property from the estate or to exercise control over property of the estate." Further, any action taken by the Defendants to effectuate an Optional Redemption is outside the ordinary course of Acis LP's business, and therefore requires bankruptcy court approval. Acis LP's rights under the PMAs are valuable, and if Acis LP were to lose such rights, immediate and irreparable harm would result to Acis LP's creditors and third parties with financial interests in the Acis LP's bankruptcy estates because confirmation of a plan of reorganization funded by Oaktree Capital Management, L.P. ("Oaktree") pursuant to the Oaktree Transaction (as defined and explained by the Emergency Motion to Approve Break-Up Fee, Expense Reimbursement, and Replacement Sub-Advisory and Shared Services Provider, Oaktree Capital Management, L.P. [Case No. 18-30264, Docket No. 263] (the "Break-Up Fee Motion")—or, perhaps, any other viable transaction—would be impossible. In addition to the Oaktree Transaction, the Trustee credibly testified that he has received expressions of interests from other qualified parties to fund alternative plans of reorganization for Acis LP, which may include a reset of the CLOs and continuance of Acis LP as the portfolio manager of the CLOs. Finally, HCLOF is using rights that appear to have been fraudulently transferred from Acis LP (i.e., rights under the ALF PMA) to attempt to effectuate the Optional Redemptions.

11. To obtain a preliminary injunction, the movant must show that (a) it has a substantial likelihood of prevailing on the merits; (b) it will suffer irreparable injury without the injunction; (c) the threatened injury to the movant outweighs the damage the proposed injunction may cause to the parties opposing it; and (d) the requested injunction would not be against the public interest. Clark v. Pritchard, 812 F.2d 991, 993 (5th Cir. 1987); Planned Parenthood Gulf Coast, Inc. v. Kliebert, 141 F.Supp. 3d 604, 635 (M.D. La. 2015); Miranda v. Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., No. 3:13-CV-2217-L, 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 90632 (N.D. Tex. June 27, 2013). The Court must necessarily make its decision by relying on an early and abbreviated proceeding and set of facts. Texas v. Seatrain Int'l, S.A., 518 F.2d 175, 179 (5th Cir. 1975). Quick and abbreviated determinations are necessary to recognize the goal of injunctive relief, which is to maintain the status quo to permit the court the time necessary to make a decision on the merits after full development of the facts. Kliebert, 141 F. Supp. 3d at 635. Moreover, not all of the four (4) factors must be given equal weight. According to the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals: "a sliding scale must be applied in considering the probability of plaintiffs' winning on the merits and plaintiffs' irreparable injury in the absence of interlocutory relief...." (Siff v. State Democratic Executive Committee, 500 F.2d 1307, 1309 (5th Cir. 1974)) and "...none of the four prerequisites has a fixed quantitative value. Rather, a sliding scale is utilized, which takes into account the intensity of each in a given calculus." Texas v. Seatrain Int'l, S.A., 518 F.2d 175, 179-180 (5th Cir. 1975). This means that as long as the court finds that there is some likelihood of ultimate success (i.e., not zero likelihood of success), the court can give greater weight to the severity and irreparability of the harm and the relative hardships to the movant and opponent of the injunctive relief. Id.

12. The Trustee has shown that the elements warranting a preliminary injunction exist here: (1) the Trustee has a "substantial likelihood of success on the merits" of a claim regarding (i) violation of the automatic stay if injunction is not granted, (ii) utilizing rights transferred for no or insufficient value to attempt to effectuate an optional redemption, (iii) failing to obtain court authority under Section 363 to effectuate an optional redemption, and (iv) confirmation of an effective plan of reorganization; (2) creditors and interested third-parties face a substantial threat of imminent and irreparable injury to their interests in the Debtors' bankruptcy estates if an injunction is not issued since confirmation of a plan of reorganization funded by Oaktree or other competent party will be eliminated; (3) the threatened injury to interested parties "if the injunction is denied outweighs any harm that will result if the injunction is granted"; and (4) "public interest" favors letting the Trustee exercise his fiduciary duties and effectuate his process over costly litigation. See Byrum v. Landreth, 566 F.3d 442, 445 (5th Cir. 2009) (stating the elements of a preliminary injunction).

13. As earlier noted, the Optional Redemption Notices essentially demand the liquidation of property currently under the control of Acis LP, as portfolio manager, and, in effect, the PMAs themselves, which are defined as Assets under the Indentures and are property of the Acis LP estate. Indeed, the main, if not sole, purpose of the redemptions appears to be to remove Acis LP as portfolio manager and terminate its primary asset, the PMAs. Accordingly, by extinguishing the PMAs, a purported Optional Redemption in this context should be deemed prohibited because it would represent an "act to obtain possession of property of the estate or of property from the estate or to exercise control over property of the estate" in violation of 11 U.S.C. § 362(a)(3). The Debtors' rights under the PMAs, which are executory contracts, are property of the estate. The Debtors' rights under the PMAs are therefore protected by the automatic stay. In re Mirant Corp., 303 B.R. 319, 328 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 2003) ("a debtor has rights under the contract which are property of the estate and so are protected by the automatic stay from actions of other parties"). If the Optional Redemption or other liquidation of the assets in the Acis CLOs is permitted to go forward, it would render the PMAs valueless. Consequently, the Optional Redemption and any other attempt by HCLOF to liquidate the assets of the Acis CLOs would violate Section 362(a)(3) because such actions involve exercising control over property of the estate (the PMAs). Thus, because the liquidation of the CLOs represents an "act to obtain possession of property of the estate,"—namely, Acis LP's intangible property rights in the PMAs—such actions constitute a violation of Section 362(a)(3).

14. Injunctive relief is necessary here to prevent imminent and irreparable injury in the form of substantial losses to creditors and parties-in-interest, as well as to third parties' financial interests, related to the Optional Redemption, call, or other liquidation of the Acis CLOs. The losses that would result in the event an injunction is not issued cannot be presently measured by any certain pecuniary standard, are not reasonably quantifiable, and cannot be adequately compensated with monetary damages; thus, creditors and interested third parties otherwise would have no adequate remedy at law. The Optional Redemption would eliminate any chance of confirmation of a plan of reorganization based on the Oaktree Transaction, or a similar plan. HCLOF has not shown that the safe harbor of Section 555 of the Bankruptcy Code applies to its actions to effectuate the Optional Redemption.

15. The balancing of the harms weighs in favor of issuing a preliminary injunction because any alleged harm to HCLOF, Highland, or any of the Highland Affiliates,<sup>3</sup> is substantially outweighed by the damage that would be caused to all parties-in-interest if the

Court does not enjoin the Optional Redemption, call, or other liquidation of the Acis CLOs, and return more to all affected parties than would be received by the Optional Redemption. Any alleged harm to Defendants is illusory and specious because, among other things, the Defendants have options available that immediately mitigate any purported damage. Namely, Defendants could (1) authorize a "refinance" or "reset" transaction or (2) sell their equity to a third party in an amount that exceeds what they would receive in an Optional Redemption. There seems to the Court to be a highly meaningful chance that HCLOF, Highland and the Highland Affiliates will receive the same or more monetary benefit from the Oaktree Transaction than they would from an Optional Redemption, and creditors will likely be paid in full. HCLOF's claimed harm is exaggerated.

16. Public policy supports restraining the actions described herein to allow the Trustee to exercise his fiduciary duties to maximize the value of the estate for the benefit of creditors by allowing the Trustee to direct and control the refinancing, sale, or other monetization of Debtors' property and other assets. Further, there is a public interest in allowing for a Chapter 11 process, rather than costly prolonged litigation.

17. Accordingly, the Court issues this preliminary injunction preventing the Defendants from taking any action in furtherance of any Optional Redemption. Any notices of optional redemption sent by HCOLF would be an attempt to obtain a property right (the right to control trading of the loans in the CLOs) from Acis LP as well as an attempt to exercise control over contractual property rights of Acis LP, all in violation of Section 362(a)(3) of the Bankruptcy Code.

18. The Parties will suffer immediate and irreparable harm in the form of substantial losses to the Parties and third parties' financial interests if the Trustee, Highland, CLO-1, CLO-3, CLO-4, CLO-5, CLO-6, Acis CLO 2013-1 LLC ("CLO-1 LLC"), Acis CLO 2014-3 LLC ("CLO-3 LLC"), Acis CLO 2014-4 LLC ("CLO-4 LLC"), Acis CLO 2014-5 LLC ("CLO-5 LLC"), and Acis CLO 2015-6 LLC ("CLO-6 LLC," and together with CLO-1 LLC, CLO-3 LLC, CLO-4 LLC, CLO-5 LLC, the "Co-Issuers"), and other parties (the Trustee, Highland, HCLOF, the Issuers, and the Co-Issuers are referred to herein as the "Defendants") are not immediately restrained and enjoined from effectuating the Optional Redemption, call, or other liquidation of the Acis CLOs. The Optional Redemption, call, or other liquidation of the Acis CLOs threatens to liquidate or harm valuable property of the Debtors, the Debtors' rights, the Debtors' estates, and other assets in this matter, to the detriment of the Parties.

19. Injunctive relief is necessary to prevent imminent and irreparable injury to the Parties in the form of substantial losses to the Parties and third parties' financial interests related to the Optional Redemption, call, or other liquidation of the Acis CLOs and the threatened liquidation of valuable property of the Debtors, the Debtors' rights, the Debtors' estates, and other assets in this matter. The losses that would result in the event a preliminary injunction order is not issued cannot be presently measured by any certain pecuniary standard, are not reasonably quantifiable, and cannot be adequately compensated with monetary damages; thus, the Parties and interested third parties otherwise have no adequate remedy at law.

20. The Trustee has a "substantial likelihood of success on the merits" of a claim regarding: (i) violation of the automatic stay if this temporary restraining order is not issued, (ii) failing to obtain court authority under Section 363 to effectuate an optional redemption, and (iii) confirmation of an effective plan of reorganization.

21. The balancing of the harms weighs in favor of issuing the temporary injunction because any harm to Highland, or any of the Highland Affiliates, is substantially outweighed by the damage that would be caused to Parties if the Optional Redemption, call, or other liquidation of the Acis CLOs is not enjoined.

22. Public policy supports restraining the actions described herein and allowing the Trustee to exercise his fiduciary duties to maximize the value of the estate for the benefit of the Parties by allowing the Trustee to direct and control the refinancing, sale, or other monetization of Debtors' property, the Debtors' rights, the Debtors' estates, and other assets in this matter.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that for the reasons stated herein and pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 65, made applicable herein by Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure Rule 7065 and pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure Rule 7001(7) the Court finds the Trustee is entitled to a preliminary injunction, that all Defendants and their officers, agents, servants, employees, attorneys, and any other person or entity acting on the Defendants' behalf are enjoined from:

- a. proceeding with, effectuating, or otherwise taking any action in furtherance of any Optional Redemption, call, or other liquidation of the Acis CLOs previously or currently issued by the Defendants and any other attempt to liquidate the Acis CLOs now or in the future by any means;
- b. trading any Acis CLO collateral, whether in furtherance of the Optional Redemption, call, or other liquidation of the Acis CLOs or otherwise, without the express and explicit written authorization of the Trustee; and
- c. sending, mailing, or otherwise distributing any notice to the holders of the Acis CLOs in connection with the effectuation of any Optional Redemption, call, or other liquidation of the Acis CLOs.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 7065, the Trustee is not required to provide security or bond in connection with this Order.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED for the avoidance of doubt, that U.S. Bank, as Indenture Trustee, may perform its ministerial functions in respect of sale trades executed at the initiation of the Issuers or Highland Affiliates prior to July 9, 2018.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that this Order expires upon confirmation of any plan of reorganization or conversion of the Bankruptcy Cases unless further extended by the Court or by the agreement of the parties, or until such time as the Defendants seek Court approval to dissolve this Order or until such time as the Defendants seek and are granted relief from the automatic stay pursuant Section 362 of the Bankruptcy Code.

Re: Resets or refinancings of Acis CLOs

Dear Counsel,

I am responding to your letter of February 26, attached, which I have discussed with Highland CLO Funding Limited ("HCLOF").

As you know, Highland CLO Funding Limited ("HCLOF") is appealing the bankruptcy court's confirmation order. As you also know, HCLOF has repeatedly denied that a reset transaction led by Acis and Brigade is either feasible, or in HCLOF's best interests, and HCLOF has received and continued to rely on independent advice to that effect. Further, as also noted in connection with HCLOF's objections to confirmation of the plan of reorganization, HCLOF is constrained under its governing Investment Policy from authorizing a reset transaction with Acis and Brigade.

For the above reasons, while HCLOF will continue to evaluate all options and alternatives, at present HCLOF is neither interested in pursuing, nor able to pursue, a reset transaction.

Sincerely,

Mark M. Maloney

Re: Resets or refinancings of Acis CLOs

Dear Counsel:

I represent Acis Capital Management, L.P. ("Acis"). I write to you as counsel for Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. ("HCLOF"), Highland Capital Management, L.P., and Highland HCF Advisor, Ltd., respectively.

I assume HCLOF still maintains its position in the subordinated notes of CLOs for which Acis presently serves as portfolio manager. If so, Acis desires to work with HCLOF to attempt a reset or refinance of the relevant CLOs, as provided in the plan of reorganization for Acis (the "Plan"). This desire is constrained, of course, by market conditions, the governing documents of the CLOs, the Plan, as well as any other applicable law or contractual limitation.

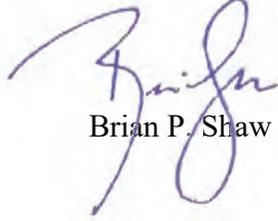

HCLOF and its directors have repeatedly stated that a reset or refinance of the relevant CLOs is in HCLOF's best interests. Acis wants to do everything reasonably practicable to accomplish that goal.

Acis notes that while it is not presently a shareholder in HCLOF, Acis believes its status as a shareholder will be recognized in the future by courts in the United States, and that recognition will be retroactive.

Please contact me as soon as possible so we can get this process moving. My hope is that the attorneys can step aside and we can let the business people get to business.

X. INTRODUCTION

140. After the commencement of litigation with Mr. Terry and in earnest after Mr. Terry received the Final Award (as hereinafter defined) Highland, Highland CLOM, Highland HCF and HCLOF sought to fraudulently transfer the assets of Acis LP pursuant to a scheme comprised of a series of fraudulent transfers in an effort to denude Acis LP of value (Highland, Highland CLOM, Highland HCF and HCLOF collectively referred to herein as the "Highland Enterprise"). This fraudulent transfer scheme was accomplished through, inter alia, the Note Transfer, the ALF Share Transfer, and ALF PMA Transfer (as hereinafter defined), which fraudulently transferred economic rights away from Acis LP to the Highland Enterprise. The Trustee seeks to recover the fraudulent transfers, as further described herein.

XI. BACKGROUND FACTS

A. State Court Litigation And Final Award

141. Highland commenced litigation against Mr. Terry on or about September 8, 2016 in the 162nd Judicial District Court of Texas (the "162nd Action"). Mr. Terry subsequently moved to compel arbitration, which request was granted. Accordingly, the 162nd Action was stayed pending resolution of the arbitration on the merits.

142. On October 20, 2017, a JAMS arbitration panel made up of former or retired judges (the "Arbitration") entered a Final Award (the "Final Award") in favor of Mr. Terry in the amount of $7,949,749.15<sup>2</sup> against the Debtors.

143. On December 18, 2017, the Final Award was reduced to a final judgment by the 44th Judicial District Court of Dallas County, Texas, and the Final Judgment was entered in Cause No. DC-17-15244 (the "Judgment").

B. The Bankruptcy Cases

144. On January 30, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Mr. Terry as petitioning creditor, filed involuntary petitions (the "Involuntary Petitions") against both Acis LP and Acis GP, thereby initiating the Bankruptcy Cases. See Case No. 18-30264, Docket No. 1 & Case No. 18-30265, Docket No. 1.

<sup>2</sup> Pursuant to the Judgment, interest accrues on the Judgment from October 20, 2017 until such time as the Judgment is paid in full, at an interest rate of 5% per annum. The total amount due to Mr. Terry, pursuant to the Judgment, as of the date of filing the involuntary bankruptcy, January 30, 2018, was at least $8,060,827.84.

145. On April 13, 2018, after six days of testimony and argument, this Court entered its Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law in Support of Orders for Relief Issued After Trial on Involuntary Bankruptcy Petition [Case No. 18-30264, Docket No. 118 & Case No. 18-30265, Docket No. 113] (the "Opinion") and Order for Relief in an Involuntary Case [Case No. 18-30264, Docket No. 119 & Case No. 18-30265, Docket No. 114] (the "Order for Relief").

146. After the Order for Relief was entered these cases were converted to Chapter 7 cases. Robin Phelan was appointed Chapter 11 Trustee of the Debtors' the bankruptcy estates.

C. Highland and the Highland Enterprise's Role in these Cases

147. Although Highland did not appear in these cases until after the entry of the Order for Relief, Highland employees directed Acis's actions at all times before the Order for Relief.

See Opinion ¶ 30.

Mr. Dondero [the Chief Executive of Highland] testified that he has decision making authority for the Alleged Debtors but usually delegates that authority to Highland's in-house lawyers, Scott Ellington (General Counsel, Chief Legal Officer, and Partner of Highland) and Isaac Leventon (Assistant General Counsel of Highland) . . . . Mr. Leventon is designated to be the representative for the Alleged Debtors (and testified as a Rule 30(b)(6) witness during pre-trial discovery)—he explained that this representative-authority derives from the Shared Services Agreement. Mr. Leventon testified that he takes his instructions generally through his direct supervisor, Mr. Ellington.

Id.

148. Additionally, the two indirect owners of Highland, James Dondero and Mark Okada, testified at the trial on the Involuntary Petitions.<sup>3</sup>

149. Highland and its network of affiliates have numerous other connections to this case. HCLOF and other Highland affiliates attempted to intervene in the trial on the Involuntary Petitions.

HCLOF is the

holder of subordinated notes issued by the CLOs (i.e., the bottom tranche of notes on which the CLO special purpose entity is obligated), and has voting rights and is itself a capital provider, but it takes the most risk and receives the very last cash flow from the CLOs. It, in certain ways, controls the CLO vehicle—for example, by virtue of having the ability to make a redemption call after a certain 'no-call' period—which would force a liquidation of the basket of loans in the CLO, with the proceeds paying down the tranches of notes, starting at the top with the Triple A's). Note that, until recently, a separate entity known as Acis Loan Funding, Ltd. ('ALF'), which was incorporated under the laws of the island nation of Guernsey, was the CLO equity holder. To be clear, ALF was essentially the equity owner in the CLO special purpose entities—not the equity owner of Acis LP. Acis LP was a party to a separate portfolio management agreement with ALF (hereinafter, the 'ALF Portfolio Management Agreement'— not to be confused with the CLO Collateral Management Agreements that Acis LP separately has with the special purpose CLOs). No fees were paid from ALF to Acis LP pursuant to the ALF Portfolio Management Agreement (rather, fees are only paid to Acis LP on the CLO Collateral Management Agreements).

Opinion at pp. 12-13 (footnotes omitted).

D. The CLOs, the PMAs, and the Indentures

150. Acis LP is the portfolio manager for funds of certain Collateralized Loan Obligations ("CLOs"): (i) Acis CLO 2013-1, Ltd. ("CLO-1"), (ii) Acis CLO 2014-3, Ltd ("CLO-3"), (iii) Acis CLO 2014-4, Ltd. ("CLO-4"), (iv) Acis CLO 2014-5, Ltd. ("CLO-5"), and (v) Acis CLO 2015-6 Ltd. ("CLO-6"). See Opinion ¶ 24. CLO-1, CLO-3, CLO-4, CLO-5 and CLO-6 are collectively referred to herein as the "Acis CLOs."

151. As relevant herein, Acis LP manages the Acis CLOs through five PMAs.<sup>4</sup> Acis LP generates revenue primarily through the management of the Acis CLOs via the PMAs. See Opinion ¶ 13. True and correct copies of the PMAs are attached hereto as Exhibit "A." Each of the Acis CLOs is governed by the Indentures.<sup>5</sup> True and correct copies of the Indentures are attached hereto as Exhibit "B."

XII. FRAUDULENT TRANSFERS

A. The ALF PMA Transfer

152. Prior to October 27, 2017, Acis LP—not ALF—had authority to direct and effectuate an optional redemption under the PMAs. Acis LP had this authority pursuant to that certain Portfolio Services Agreement by and between Acis LP and ALF, dated August 10, 2015 (the "First ALF PMA") and that certain Portfolio Management Agreement by and between Acis LP and ALF, dated December 22, 2016 (the "Second ALF PMA"). A true and correct copy of the First ALF PMA is attached hereto as Exhibit "C." A true and correct copy of the Second ALF PMA is attached hereto as Exhibit "D."

<sup>4</sup> The PMAs include: (i) that certain Portfolio Management Agreement by and between Acis LP and CLO-1, dated March 18, 2013 (the "CLO-1 PMA"); (ii) that certain Portfolio Management Agreement by and between Acis LP and CLO-3, dated February 25, 2014 (the "CLO-3 PMA"); (iii) that certain Portfolio Management Agreement by and between Acis LP and CLO-4, dated June 5, 2014 (the "CLO-4 PMA"); (iv) that certain Portfolio Management Agreement by and between Acis LP and CLO-5, dated November 18, 2014 (the "CLO-5 PMA"); and (v) that certain Portfolio Management Agreement by and between Acis LP and CLO-6, dated April 16, 2015 (the "CLO-6 PMA"). The CLO-1 PMA, CLO-3 PMA, CLO-4 PMA, CLO-5 PMA, and CLO-6 PMA are collectively referred to herein as the "PMAs."

<sup>5</sup> The Indentures include: (i) that certain Indenture, dated as of March 18, 2013, issued by CLO-1, as issuer, Acis CLO 2013-1 LLC, as co-issuer, and U.S. Bank, as trustee (the "CLO-1 Indenture"); (ii) that certain Indenture, dated as of February 25, 2014, issued by CLO-3, as issuer, CLO-3 LLC, as co-issuer, and U.S. Bank, as trustee (the "CLO-3 Indenture"); (iii) that certain Indenture, dated as of June 5, 2014, issued by CLO-4, as issuer, CLO-4 LLC, as co-issuer, and U.S. Bank, as trustee (the "CLO-4 Indenture"); (iv) that certain Indenture, dated as of November 18, 2014, issued by CLO-5, as issuer, CLO-5 LLC, as co-issuer, and U.S. Bank, as trustee (the "CLO-5 Indenture"); and (v) that certain Indenture, dated as of April 16, 2015, issued by CLO-6, as issuer, CLO-6 LLC, as co-issuer and U.S. Bank, as trustee (the "CLO-6 Indenture"). The CLO-1 Indenture, CLO-3 Indenture, CLO-4 Indenture, CLO-5 Indenture, and CLO-6 Indenture are collectively referred to herein as the "Indentures."

DEFENDANT’S ANSWER, AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSES, COUNTERCLAIMS, AND THIRD PARTY CLAIMS

153. The Second ALF PMA provided broad authority to Acis LP as the portfolio manager of ALF. Section 5 of the Second ALF PMA set out Acis LP's authority, which included authority for and in the name of ALF to:

(i) invest, directly or indirectly . . . in all types of securities and other financial instruments of United States and non-U.S. entities . . . including without limitation . . . notes representing tranches of debt ('CLO Notes') issued by a special purpose vehicle which issues notes backed by a pool of collateral consisting primarily of loans (which may be represented by a debt or equity security) (a 'CLO') . . . (each of such items, 'Financial Instruments'), (ii) provide credit and market research and analysis in connection with the investments and ongoing management of [ALF] and direct the formulation of investment policies and strategies for [ALF] . . . ; (iii) cause [ALF] to engage in . . . agency, agency cross, related party principal transactions with affiliates of [Acis LP] . . . ; and (iv) vote Financial Instruments, participate in arrangements with creditors, the institution and settlement or compromise of suits and administrative proceedings and other like or similar matters.

Second ALF PMA § 5(a)-(q) (emphasis added).

154. While ALF did not have authority to terminate the Second ALF PMA, Acis LP could terminate the Second ALF PMA without cause upon at least ninety (90) days' notice. See Second ALF PMA § 13(a)-(c). Still, the Second ALF PMA provided for the removal of Acis LP as portfolio manager "for cause." See ALF PMA § 14(a)-(e).

155. On October 27, 2017, just seven days after Mr. Terry's arbitration award, Acis LP ostensibly terminated its own portfolio management rights under the Second ALF PMA and transferred its authority and those valuable portfolio management rights—for no value—to Highland HCF Advisor, Ltd. ("Highland HCF"), an affiliate of Highland.

156. This transfer of Acis LP's portfolio management rights to Highland HCF was accomplished by way of a new Portfolio Management Agreement entered into by ALF and Highland HCF on October 27, 2017 (the "October 2017 PMA"), which empowered Highland

DEFENDANT'S ANSWER, AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSES, COUNTERCLAIMS, AND THIRD PARTY CLAIMS

HCF with the same broad authority to direct the management of ALF as was previously held by Acis LP under the ALF PMA (the "ALF PMA Transfer"). See October 2017 PMA §§ 1 & 5(a)-(q). A true and correct of the October 2017 PMA is attached hereto as Exhibit "E."

As the Court explained:

On October 27, 2017 (seven days after the Arbitration Award), ALF—having purchased back the ownership interest that Acis LP had in it, just three days earlier—decided that it would no longer use Acis LP as its portfolio manager and entered into a new portfolio management agreement to supersede and replace the ALF Portfolio Management Agreement. Specifically, on October 27, 2017, ALF entered into a new Portfolio Management Agreement with a Cayman Island entity called Highland HCF Advisor, Ltd., replacing Acis LP in its role with ALF. This agreement appears to have been further solidified in a second portfolio management agreement dated November 15, 2017.

Opinion at p. 19 (footnotes omitted).

157. Under the prior ALF PMA, Acis LP's consent to the termination of the ALF PMA was required in order to effectuate the ALF PMA Transfer. So, (without expressing its business judgment to this transfer) Acis LP simply signed the October 2017 PMA, consenting and agreeing to its removal and replacement, and transferring all authority and management rights as portfolio manager of ALF to Highland HCF under the October 2017 PMA.

158. Without this ALF PMA Transfer, which transferred Acis LP's valuable rights under the ALF PMA to Highland HCF, HCLOF could not have attempted to direct and effectuate an optional redemption, and deplete Acis's assets, as it is now attempting to do.

B. ALF Share Transfer

159. On October 24, 2017, a mere four days after the Final Award was entered, an employee of Highland and representative of Acis LF, Frank Waterhouse and Grant Scott, for CLO Holdco. Ltd., entered into that certain special resolution whereby HCLOF, then known as

ALF acquired back Acis's interest in ALF (the "ALF Share Transfer"). A true and correct copy of the special resolution is attached hereto as Exhibit "F."

160. By the ALF Share Transfer, HCLOF paid Acis LP $999,1180.13 for its shares of ALF. HCLOF is an insider of Acis LP. By November 1, 2017, Acis LP had given up its shares of HCLOF and its control of HCLOF.

C. Note Transfer

161. On November 3, 2017, Acis LP, Highland, and Highland CLO Management Ltd., a Cayman entity ("Highland CLOM"), an affiliate of Highland, entered into the Agreement for Assignment and Transfer of Promissory Note (the "Assignment and Transfer Agreement"). A true and correct copy of the Assignment and Transfer Agreement is attached here to as Exhibit "G." The Assignment and Transfer Agreement, among other things, transferred the $9.5 million promissory note by Highland in favor of Acis LP (the "Note") from Acis LP to Highland CLOM (the "Note Transfer"). Acis LP received no or insufficient consideration for the Note Transfer.

The Assignment and Transfer Agreement memorializing this transaction is signed by Mr. Dondero for Acis LP and Mr. Dondero for Highland and some undecipherable name for Highland CLO Management Ltd.

The document recites that (i) Highland is no longer willing to continue providing support services to Acis LP, (ii) Acis LP, therefore, can no longer fulfill its duties as a collateral manager, and (iii) Highland CLO Management Ltd. agrees to step into the collateral manager role if Acis LP will assign to it the Acis LP Note Receivable from Highland. One more thing: since Acis LP was expected to potentially incur future legal and accounting/administrative fees, and might not have the ability to pay them when due, Highland CLO Management Ltd. agreed to reimburse Acis LP (or pays its vendors directly) up to $2 million of future legal expenses and up to $1 million of future accounting/administrative expenses

Opinion at p. 20.

162. Additionally, the Assignment and Transfer Agreement also purports to initiate the transfer of the PMA between Acis and the CLOs to Highland CLOM. Again, Acis LP is to receive no consideration for transferring its most significant assets, the PMAs. Upon information and belief, Acis LP did not in fact transfer the PMAs pursuant to the Assignment and Transfer Agreement.

Acis Capital Management, L.P. ("Acis LP") and Acis Capital Management GP, LLC ("Acis GP" together with Acis LP, the "Reorganized Debtors" or "Acis")<sup>1</sup> the reorganized debtors in the above-styled and jointly administered bankruptcy cases (the "Bankruptcy Cases"), and Plaintiffs in the in the above-styled adversary proceeding (the "Adversary Proceeding"), file this Second Amended Complaint (Including Claim Objections and Objections to Administrative Expense Claim) (this "Second Amended Complaint"), objections to the proofs of claims filed by Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Highland Capital"), and objections to the administrative expense claim filed by Highland Capital, and respectfully state as follows:<sup>2</sup>

ANSWER AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSES

("Highland Funding") have been dismissed without prejudice. See Adv. No. 18-03078, Docket No. 79. Accordingly, such dismissal of Highland Capital's and Highland Funding's claims obviates the Trustee's, now Acis's, answer and affirmative defenses thereto;

Prior to the date upon which the Plan (defined below) became effective, Acis may be referred to as the "Debtors."

however, Acis reserves all rights with respect to answering or asserting affirmative defenses to any future-filed claims by any parties in this Adversary Proceeding.

2. Additionally, pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 41(a)(2), such dismissal of Highland Capital's and Highland Funding's claims is without prejudice to any counterclaims asserted by the Trustee, now Acis, in the Defendant's Answer, Affirmative Defenses, Counterclaims, and Third Party Claims [Adv. No. 18-03078, Docket No. 23] (the "Original Answer"), as may be amended, and such counterclaims remain pending for independent adjudication.

CLAIMS AND COUNTERCLAIMS

3. Acis hereby asserts the following claims for affirmative recovery against Highland Capital, Highland Funding, Highland HCF Advisor, Ltd. ("Highland Advisor"), Highland CLO Management Ltd. ("Highland Management"), and Highland CLO Holdings, Ltd. ("Highland Holdings"). Additionally, Acis asserts the following claims and counterclaims against Highland Capital and such claims and counterclaims shall also constitute recoupment or offset to any claim Highland Capital has against Acis.

4. This Court has subject matter jurisdiction over the Bankruptcy Cases and this adversary proceeding pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 157 and 1334. Venue of the Adversary Proceeding in this district is proper under 28 U.S.C. § 1409.

6. This Adversary Proceeding constitutes a core proceeding pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2). Acis hereby consents to the Court's entry of a final judgment resolving this Adversary Proceeding. This Adversary Proceeding includes an objection to Highland Capital's proofs of claim pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 3007(b), and the claims and counterclaims asserted herein shall constitute recoupment and/or offset to such proofs of claim, to the extent such claims are otherwise allowed. This Adversary Proceeding also includes an objection to Highland Capital's administrative expense claim, and the claims and counterclaims asserted herein shall constitute recoupment and/or offset to such administrative expense claim, to the extent such claims are otherwise allowed.

III. JURISDICTIONAL BACKGROUND<sup>3</sup>

A. Highland Advisor Jurisdictional Background

13. Upon information and belief, on October 26, 2017, Jean Paul Sevilla ("Sevilla"), a Highland employee and associate general counsel, requested Maples and Calder create Highland Advisor. On information and belief, on October 27, 2017, Mr. Sevilla requested that Highland Advisor be established such that Highland is the 100% owner of the "high" share class of Highland Advisor.

14. Highland Advisor's principal place of business is 300 Crescent Court, Suite 700, Dallas, Texas 75201, Highland Capital's office and headquarters. See Exhibit T at 88. Highland Advisor is ultimately, directly or indirectly, owned or controlled by James Dondero

("Dondero") and Mark Okada ("Okada"), who ultimately, directly or indirectly, own or control Highland Capital. See id. at 89 and Opinion at 8.

15. Upon information and belief, the principals of Highland Capital, Dondero and Okada, serve as the president and executive vice president, respectively, of Highland Advisor. See Opinion at 8 and Exhibit T at 89. Other Highland Capital employees serve as officers of Highland Advisor including Scott Ellington, Lee "Trey" Parker, Thomas Surgent, and Frank Waterhouse. See Exhibit T at 89.

16. Dondero signed the November 15, 2017 Portfolio Management Agreement by and between Highland Advisor and Highland Funding (the "November 2017 PMA") on behalf of Highland Advisor. A true and correct copy of the November 2017 PMA is attached hereto as Exhibit P.

17. Attached hereto as Exhibit Q is the December 13, 2018 (A.M.) hearing transcript from In re Acis Capital Management, L.P., et al. At the December 13, 2018 hearing, Hunter Covitz, a Highland Capital employee, testified: "As I understand HCF Advisor is a relying advisor of Highland." See Exhibit Q at 78, ll. 15-16. Hunter Covitz further testified, "[b]ut HCF Advisor is Highland. . . . That's the distinction between Highland HCF Advisor could be well capitalized, the substance of Highland Capital, its office space, employees, balance sheet, back office, legal, what [have] you, would all be incorporated with HCF Advisor, where Acis with no employees is not looked at that way." Id. at 61, ll. 5 & 11-15. Finally, Hunter Covitz testified, "there's really no differentiation between HCF Advisor and Highland." Id. at 62, ll. 21-23.

18. Attached hereto as Exhibit R are meeting minutes of Acis Loan Funding, Ltd. and Highland Funding, which contain a Highland Funding Bates label and were produced in connection with the Bankruptcy Cases or related adversary case. These meeting minutes reflect that various Highland Capital employees, including Sevilla, Hunter Covtiz, Tim Cournoyer, David Wilmore, Issace Leventon, and Thomas Surgent appeared at Highland Funding's board meeting on behalf of Highland Advisor. The parties that conduct the day-to-day operations of Highland Advisor are Highland Capital employees that office in Dallas, Texas.

19. Attached hereto as Exhibit S is Highland Capital's 2017 Form ADV, which states that Highland Advisor is another business name of Highland Capital.

20. Attached hereto as Exhibit T is Highland Capital's 2019 Form ADV, which states that Highland Advisor's principal place of business is 300 Crescent Court, Suite 700, Dallas, Texas 75201—Highland Capital's office and headquarters. Highland Capital's 2019 Form ADV also states that Highland Capital is a shareholder of Highland Advisor and that Highland Advisor is another business name of Highland Capital.

21. The Confirmation Opinion states that "Dondero, in addition to being the chief executive of Highland and the Debtor-Acis, also became the president of the newly formed Highland [Advisor]." Confirmation Opinion at 8. Additionally, the Confirmation Opinion states that "Highland [Advisor] (i.e., the Cayman Island entity that was recently formed to essentially replace the Debtor-Acis under the Equity/ALF PMA)." Confirmation Opinion at 19. Additionally, the Confirmation Opinion states that Highland Advisor is an affiliate of Highland Capital. Confirmation Opinion at 21.

B. Highland Management Jurisdictional Background

22. Upon information and belief, on or about October 27, 2017 (7 days after the Arbitration Award), Highland Management was created at the direction of Sevilla, a Highland lawyer and employee, using the same structure as Highland Advisor. Upon information and belief, Highland Management's mailing address is 300 Crescent Court, Suite 700, Dallas, Texas 75201, Highland's Dallas office and headquarters.

23. Upon information and belief, Highland Management is ultimately, directly or indirectly, owned or controlled by Dondero and Okada, who ultimately, directly or indirectly, own or control Highland Capital.

24. Additionally, in connection with the hearing on the involuntary petitions, Dondero testified at great length regarding the Note Transfer to Highland Management on behalf of Highland Management.<sup>4</sup> Dondero testified upon direct examination by Acis's (at the time, a putative debtor) counsel about the Note Transfer, stating:

Q: Now, if there came a time with litigation costs and other expenses where Acis was unable to pay its expenses when they became due, what was your intent in signing this as to whether or not HCLOM [Highland Management] would honor this and make the payment?

A: We would -- we would honor it and -- and pay as appropriate.

See Exhibit U (March 23, 2018 Hr'g Tr., In re Acis Capital Management, L.P., et al. 146:7-12) (emphasis added). When Dondero says "we," Acis contends that he is speaking on behalf of Highland Capital and Highland Management. Additionally, Dondero testified that the Note Transfer was an "economic wash" for him as "it doesn't matter which pocket it goes into." Id. at 152:20-24.

25. The Opinion states that, "Highland Management was registered in the Cayman Islands on October 27, 2017, roughly a week before the Note Transfer... it appears Highland Management was an entity that was created specifically to hold the Note and eventually take possession of the CLO PMAs in an international forum that would be difficult for Mr. Terry to reach." Opinion at 20-21, n. 37 (emphasis added).

26. Upon information and belief, Dondero is the managing or general agent of Highland Management.

27. The Confirmation Opinion states that Highland Management is "an entity registered in the Cayman Islands on October 27, 2017—seven days after Mr. Terry's Arbitration Award)." Confirmation Opinion at 19. The Confirmation Opinion further states that "it appears Highland Management was an entity that was created specifically to hold the Note and eventually take possession of the CLO PMAs in an international forum that would be difficult for Mr. Terry to reach." Opinion at 20-21, n.37. Finally, the Confirmation Opinion states that "Highland Management (the Highland-created entity that entered into a portfolio management agreement with a new Acis-CLO that was established in 2017)." Confirmation Opinion at 24.

C. Highland Holdings Jurisdictional Background

28. The Confirmation Opinion states that Highland Holdings is "(yet another entity incorporated in the Cayman Island on October 27, 2017)." Confirmation Opinion at 19.

29. Attached hereto as Exhibit T is Highland Capital's 2019 Form ADV, which states that Highland Holding's principal place of business is 300 Crescent Court, Suite 700, Dallas, Texas 75201, Highland Capital's office and headquarters. Exhibit T at 103. Highland Capital's 2019 Form ADV also states that Highland Holdings is another business name of Highland Capital. Highland Capital's 2019 Form ADV further states Highland Capital, Dondero, and other Highland affiliates are "control persons" of Highland Holdings.

IV. PROCEDURAL BACKGROUND

30. On January 30, 2018 (the "Petition Date"), Joshua N. Terry ("Terry"), as petitioning creditor, filed involuntary petitions under section 303 of the Bankruptcy Code against both Acis LP and Acis GP, thereby initiating the Bankruptcy Cases. See Case No. 18-30264, Docket No. 1 & Case No. 18-30265, Docket No. 1.

31. On April 13, 2018, this Court entered its Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law in Support of Orders for Relief Issued After Trial on Involuntary Bankruptcy Petition [Case No. 18-30264, Docket No. 118 & Case No. 18-30265, Docket No. 113] (the "Opinion") and Order for Relief in an Involuntary Case in each of the Bankruptcy Cases [Case No. 18-30264, Docket No. 119 & Case No. 18-30265, Docket No. 114] (the "Orders for Relief"). The Opinion is hereby incorporated by reference as if fully set forth herein.

32. On May 14, 2018, Robin Phelan (the "Trustee") was appointed chapter 11 trustee of the Debtors' bankruptcy estates in the Bankruptcy Cases. See Case No. 18-30264, Docket No. 213.

33. On May 30, 2018, Highland Capital and Highland Funding filed their Original Complaint, initiating this Adversary Proceeding, in which Highland Capital and Highland Funding asserted various claims for breach of contract, declaratory relief, and injunctive relief against the Trustee. See Adv. No. 18-03078, Docket No. 1.

34. On June 21, 2018, the Trustee filed his Verified Original Complaint and Application for Temporary Restraining Order and Preliminary Injunction [Adv. No. 18-03212, Docket No. 1] ("Complaint and Application for TRO"), initiating Adversary No. 18-03212, in which the Trustee sought, inter alia, injunctive relief to prevent Highland Capital, Highland Funding, and their affiliates from taking any action to effectuate an optional redemption (which would result in liquidation of the Acis CLOs (defined below)), as well as relief pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(k) for willful violations of the automatic stay for actions taken by Highland Capital and its affiliates, including Highland Funding, in attempting to effectuate an optional redemption.<sup>5</sup> Highland Capital and Highland Funding subsequently filed their answers to the Trustee's Complaint and Application for TRO. See Adv. No. 18-03212, Docket Nos. 32 & 33.

35. On July 2, 2018, the Trustee filed his Original Answer in this Adversary Proceeding, in which the Trustee asserted certain counterclaims and third-party claims against Highland Capital, Highland Funding, Highland Advisor, and Highland Management (collectively and along with Highland Holdings, the "Highlands") in connection with the Highlands' scheme, described more fully below, to fraudulently transfer Acis LP's assets to the Highlands and otherwise appropriate the business of Acis LP. See Adv. No. 18-03078, Docket No. 23.

36. On July 23, 2018, Highland Capital filed Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Motion to Dismiss Counterclaims or, Alternatively, for a More Definite Statement [Adv. No. 18-03078, Docket No. 42] ("Highland's Motion to Dismiss"), in which Highland Capital sought, inter alia, to dismiss the Trustee's counterclaims pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6).

37. Also on July 23, 2018, Highland Funding filed Highland CLO Funding Ltd.'s Motion to Dismiss [Adv. No. 18-03078, Docket No. 43] ("Highland Funding's Motion to Dismiss") and Highland CLO Funding Ltd.'s Brief in Support of its Motion to Dismiss [Adv. No. 18-03078, Docket No. 44], in which Highland Funding sought, inter alia, to dismiss the Trustee's counterclaims pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 12(b)(2) and 12(b)(6).

38. On August 1, 2018, Highland Capital filed Proof of Claim No. 27 in the claims register for Case No. 18-30264 (the "Highland Acis LP Claim"), in the amount of $4,672,140.38, with the basis of the claim listed as "Sub-Advisory Services and Shared Services."

<sup>5</sup> Certain portions of the Complaint and Application for TRO were subsequently dismissed, ultimately leaving only: Count 1 for Temporary Restraining Order and Preliminary Injunction (which injunctive relief expired with confirmation of the Plan (defined below)); and Count 2 for Willful Violation of the Automatic Stay against Highland Capital and Highland Funding. See Adv. No. 18-03212, Docket Nos. 49 & 56.

39. Also on August 1, 2018, Highland Capital filed Proof of Claim No. 13 in the claims register for Case No. 18-30265 (the "Highland Acis GP Claim," together with the Highland Acis LP Claim, the "Highland Capital Claims"), in the amount of $4,672,140.38, with the basis of the claim listed as "Sub-Advisory Services and Shared Services." The Highland Acis GP Claim is identical to the Highland Acis LP Claim.

40. On August 10, 2018, Highland Capital and Highland Funding filed Highland Capital Management, L.P. and Highland CLO Funding Ltd.'s Motion for Leave to Amend Adversary Complaint and Brief in Support [Docket No. 51] (the "Motion to Amend"), in which Highland Capital and Highland Funding sought to amend their Original Complaint to remove all claims against the Trustee, except for one claim by Highland Funding for a declaratory judgment that the Trustee cannot "sell or transfer Highland Funding's property without Highland Funding's consent."

41. On October 9, 2018, the Court heard Highland Capital's Motion to Dismiss, Highland Funding's Motion to Dismiss, and the Motion to Amend. Considering that the Trustee expressed his intent to amend his Original Answer, the parties agreed that all arguments made by Highland Capital and Highland Funding to dismiss the Trustee's counterclaims pursuant to Rule 12(b)(6) were moot. With respect to Highland Funding's argument to dismiss for lack of personal jurisdiction under Rule 12(b)(2), the Court ruled that Highland Funding has minimum contacts with the United States, and that the Court, has personal jurisdiction over Highland Funding in this Adversary Proceeding, and exercising personal jurisdiction over Highland Funding would not violate any traditional notions of fair play and substantial justice. Further, the Court ruled that, even if sufficient minimum contacts did not exist, Highland Funding has waived personal jurisdiction in this Adversary Proceeding.

42. With respect to the Motion to Amend, due to the change in circumstances in the Bankruptcy Cases, Highland Capital and Highland Funding agreed to voluntarily dismiss all claims asserted in the Original Complaint, without prejudice.

43. On November 13, 2018, the Trustee filed his Defendant's Amended Answer, Counterclaims (Including Claim Objections) and Third-Party Claims [Adv. No. 18-03078, Docket No. 84] (the "Amended Counterclaims") in this Adversary Proceeding, in which the Trustee asserted numerous counterclaims and third-party claims against Highland Capital and various of its affiliates in connection with, inter alia, their scheme to fraudulently transfer Acis LP's assets to the Highlands and otherwise appropriate the business of Acis LP. Additionally, with the Amended Counterclaims, the Trustee included his objections to the Highland Claims pursuant to section 502(b)(1), (b)(4), and (d) of the Bankruptcy Code (the "Objections to Claim"), and further asserted that, to the extent allowed, the Highland Claims should be equitably subordinated pursuant to section 510(c) of the Bankruptcy Code.

44. On December 11, 2018, Highland Capital filed Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Application for Administrative Expense Claim Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 503(b) [Case No. 18-30264, Docket No. 772] (the "Application") for approval of an administrative expense claim pursuant to section 503(b)(1) of the Bankruptcy Code, in the amount of $3,554,224.29 (the "Administrative Claim"), for purportedly providing postpetition services to the Debtors in connection with the Sub Agreements (defined below) and the Universal/BVK Agreement (defined below), which Highland Capital contends were actual, necessary costs and expenses of preserving the estate.

45. On January 10, 2019, the Trustee timely filed his Objection to Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Application for Administrative Expense Claim Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 503(b) [Case No. 18-30264, Docket No. 772].

46. On January 31, 2019, this Court entered its Findings of Fact, Conclusions of Law, and Order Granting Final Approval of Disclosure Statement and Confirming the Third Amended Joint Plan for Acis Capital Management, L.P. and Acis Capital Management GP, LLC, as Modified (the "Confirmation Order") [Case No. 18-30264, Docket Nos. 829 & 830], which approves the Third Amended Joint Plan for Acis Capital Management, L.P. and Acis Capital Management GP, LLC (the "Plan") and is supplemented by the Court's Bench Ruling and Memorandum of Law in Support of: (A) Final Approval of Disclosure Statement; and (B) Confirmation of Chapter 11 Trustee's Third Amended Joint Plan (the "Confirmation Opinion") [Case No. 18-30264, Docket No. 827]. The Confirmation Opinion is hereby incorporated by reference as if fully set forth herein.

47. On February 15, 2019 (the "Effective Date"), the Trustee filed the Notice of February 15, 2019 Effective Date for the Third Amended Joint Plan for Acis Capital Management, LP and Acis Capital Management GP, LLC [Case No. 18-30264, Docket No. 863]. On the Effective Date, Acis (as the Reorganized Debtors) became substituted for the Trustee in the above-referenced consolidated adversary cases pursuant to the Plan, which provides:

Upon the Effective Date, the Reorganized Debtor (a) shall automatically be substituted in place of the Chapter 11 Trustee as the party representing the Estate in respect of any pending lawsuit, motion or other pleading pending before the Bankruptcy Court or any other tribunal, and (b) is authorized to file a notice on the docket of each adversary proceeding or the Chapter 11 Cases regarding such substitution. The Reorganized Debtor shall have exclusive standing and authority to prosecute, settle or compromise Estate Claims for the benefit of the Estate in the manner set forth in this Plan.

Plan § 7.03.

48. On March 11, 2019, the Court entered its Order Consolidating Adversary Case Nos. 18-03078 & 18-03212 [Adv. No. 18-03078, Docket No. 127; Adv. No. 18-03212, Docket No. 63], under which the Court ordered that Adversary Nos. 18-03078 and 18-03212 are consolidated under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 42(a), incorporated by Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 7042. The Court further directed the Clerk to caption the case as Robin Phelan, Chapter 11 Trustee v. Highland Capital Management, L.P., et al., resulting in the designation of the Trustee, now Acis, as the Plaintiff(s) and Highland Capital and its affiliates as Defendants in this Adversary Proceeding.

49. On May 1, 2019, the Court entered its Order Addressing DE #825 and Directing that: (A) Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Administrative Expense Request [DE #722] Be Converted from a Contested Matter to Adversary Proceeding; and (B) Counts 27-31 Be Transferred in Adversary Proceeding No. 18-03078 into a New Adversary Proceeding [Case No. 18-30264, Docket No. 919], whereby the Court converted Highland Capital's Application into a new adversary proceeding, and thereby initiating Adversary No. 19-03103.

50. On June 10, 2019, the Court held a status conference and directed: (i) that Adversary No. 19-03103 should be consolidated under this Adversary No. 18-03078; and (ii) that Acis will file an amended complaint, consolidating all claims, counterclaims, third-party claims against Highland Capital and its affiliates, as well as any objections to the Highland Capital Claims and Administrative Claim, by June 20, 2019.

V. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

A. The Debtors' Business

51. Dondero, Okada, and Terry formed Acis LP in 2011 as a registered investment advisor to raise money from third-party investors to invest in certain collateralized loan obligation funds (the "CLOs").<sup>6</sup> The CLOs are governed by certain indentures (the

<sup>6</sup> The Acis CLOs include: (i) Acis CLO 2013-1 Ltd. ("CLO-1"), (ii) Acis CLO 2014-3 Ltd. ("CLO-3"), (iii) Acis CLO 2014-4 Ltd. ("CLO-4"), (iv) Acis CLO 2014-5 Ltd. ("CLO-5"), and (v) Acis CLO 2015-6 Ltd. ("CLO-6").

"Indentures").<sup>7</sup> Acis LP is the portfolio manager for the CLOs and generates revenue primarily through the management of the CLOs via certain portfolio management agreements ("PMAs").<sup>8</sup> See Opinion ¶¶ 22-28. While Dondero made and approved the higher-level financial strategies and decisions of Acis, Terry was responsible for the day-to-day management of Acis.

52. Acis LP's business as portfolio manager for the CLOs has been incredibly successful. Between 2011 and 2017, Acis LP distributed profits of $11,037,445.00 to Dondero, $4,598,935.00 to Terry, and $2,759,361.00 to Okada, its partners. Further, on August 31, 2017, right before Highland Capital began its campaign to denude Acis LP and take over its business, Acis LP also boasted millions of dollars in investment assets and total shareholder equity of roughly $3.4 million. Without question, Acis LP's business as portfolio manager for the CLOs and others has been very valuable and lucrative.

53. As is common with the numerous Highland Capital affiliates, Acis LP contracted out certain of its administrative functions and portfolio management responsibilities to Highland Capital pursuant to that certain Sub-Advisory Agreement, originally dated January 1, 2011 (as amended, the "Sub-Advisory Agreement") and that certain Shared Services Agreement, originally dated January 1, 2011 (as amended, the "Shared Services Agreement," and together with the "Sub Agreements"). The Sub-Advisory Agreement and Shared Services Agreement have each been amended multiple times.

<sup>7</sup> The Indentures include: (i) that certain Indenture, dated as of March 18, 2013, issued by CLO-1, as issuer, Acis CLO 2013-1 LLC, as co-issuer, and U.S. Bank, as trustee (the "CLO-1 Indenture"); (ii) that certain Indenture, dated as of February 25, 2014, issued by CLO-3, as issuer, Acis CLO 2014-3 LLC, as co-issuer, and U.S. Bank, as trustee (the "CLO-3 Indenture"); (iii) that certain Indenture, dated as of June 5, 2014, issued by CLO-4, as issuer, Acis CLO 2014-4 LLC, as co-issuer, and U.S. Bank, as trustee (the "CLO-4 Indenture"); (iv) that certain Indenture, dated as of November 18, 2014, issued by CLO-5, as issuer, Acis CLO 2014-5 LLC, as co-issuer, and U.S. Bank, as trustee (the "CLO-5 Indenture"); and (v) that certain Indenture, dated as of April 16, 2015, issued by CLO-6, as issuer, Acis CLO 2015-6 LLC, as co-issuer and U.S. Bank, as trustee (the "CLO-6 Indenture").

<sup>8</sup> The PMAs include: (i) that certain Portfolio Management Agreement by and between Acis LP and CLO-1, dated March 18, 2013 (the "CLO-1 PMA"); (ii) that certain Portfolio Management Agreement by and between Acis LP and CLO-3, dated February 25, 2014 (the "CLO-3 PMA"); (iii) that certain Portfolio Management Agreement by and between Acis LP and CLO-4, dated June 5, 2014 (the "CLO-4 PMA"); (iv) that certain Portfolio Management Agreement by and between Acis LP and CLO-5, dated November 18, 2014 (the "CLO-5 PMA"); and (v) that certain Portfolio Management Agreement by and between Acis LP and CLO-6, dated April 16, 2015 (the "CLO-6 PMA").

54. As the Court explained in its Opinion:

Acis LP and Acis GP/LLC have never had any employees. Rather, all employees that work for any of the Highland family of companies (including Mr. Terry) have, almost without exception, been employees of Highland itself. Highland has approximately 150 employees in the United States. Highland provides employees to entities in the organizational structure, such as Acis LP and Acis GP/LLC, through both the mechanism of: (a) a Shared Services Agreement (herein so called), which provides "back office" personnel—such as human resources, accounting, legal and information technology to the Highland family of companies; and (b) a Sub-Advisory Agreement (herein so called), which provides "front office" personnel to entities—such as the managers of investments like Mr. Terry. The evidence indicated that this is typical in the CLO industry to have such agreements.

Opinion at 14 (footnotes omitted).

55. Prior to entry of the Orders for Relief, Dondero directed, either himself or through Highland Capital employees, all actions taken by Acis. See Opinion ¶ 30.

Mr. Dondero [the Chief Executive of Highland] testified that he has decision making authority for the Alleged Debtors but usually delegates that authority to Highland's in-house lawyers, Scott Ellington (General Counsel, Chief Legal Officer, and Partner of Highland) and Isaac Leventon (Assistant General Counsel of Highland) . . . Mr. Leventon is designated to be the representative for the Alleged Debtors (and testified as a Rule 30(b)(6) witness during pre-trial discovery)—he explained that this representative-authority derives from the Shared Services Agreement. Mr. Leventon testified that he takes his instructions generally through his direct supervisor, Mr. Ellington.

56. Highland Funding, formerly known as Acis Loan Funding, Ltd. ("ALF"),<sup>9</sup> holds the subordinated notes issued by the CLOs and receives the "very last cash flow from the CLOs." Opinion at pp. 12-13. "It, in certain ways, controls the CLO vehicle . . . [and] was essentially the equity owner in the CLO special purpose entities." Id. Until the ALF PMA Transfer in the Fall of 2017 (described below), Acis LP had complete control of Highland Funding and its valuable subordinated note rights to further enhance its successful portfolio management business.

<sup>9</sup> On October 30, 2017, Acis Loan Funding, Ltd. changed its name to Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. The defined term "ALF" used herein denotes Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. f/k/a Acis Loan Funding, Ltd. before October 30, 2017.

B. Section 3.10(a) of the Limited Partnership Agreement

57. In order to form Acis LP, Acis GP, the general partner, and limited partners The Dugaboy Investment Trust<sup>10</sup> (the "Trust"), Okada, and Terry entered into that certain Amended and Restated Agreement of Limited Partnership of Acis Capital Management, L.P. (the "LPA"), dated to be effective as of January 21, 2011.<sup>11</sup> The LPA is attached hereto as Exhibit A. The LPA is governed by Delaware Law. LPA § 6.11. At all relevant times herein, the officers of Acis GP are Dondero, as President, and Frank Waterhouse ("Waterhouse")<sup>12</sup>, as Treasurer. Further, at least between October 14, 2015, and December 19, 2017, Dondero was the sole member of Acis GP. See Case No. 18-30265, Docket No. 152.

58. Pursuant to the Sub Agreements, Highland Capital received compensation for providing services to Acis LP, but amounts of compensation were subject to certain terms of the LPA. Section 3.10 of the LPA directs compensation and reimbursement of the General Partner and contains subpart (a), which limits compensation and reimbursement of expenses payable to the General Partner and any Affiliate of the General Partner without proper consent:

Compensation. The General Partner and any Affiliate of the General Partner shall receive no compensation from the Partnership for services rendered pursuant to this Agreement or any other agreements unless approved by a Majority Interest; provided, however, that the aggregate annual expenses of the Partnership, inclusive of such compensation, may not exceed 20% of Revenues without the consent of all of the members of the Founding Partner Group.

LPA § 3.10(a) (emphasis added).

59. An Affiliate under the LPA is defined as:

[A]ny [entity] that directly or indirectly controls, is controlled by, or is under common control with the [entity] in question. As used in this definition, the term "control" means the possession, directly or indirectly, of the power to direct or cause the direction of the management and policies of [an entity], whether through ownership of voting Securities, by contract, or otherwise.

Id. § 2.01.

60. Highland Capital was at all times relevant to this Second Amended Complaint, an Affiliate of Acis GP and Acis LP. Further, Highland Capital was at all times relevant to this Second Amended Complaint, an insider of Acis GP and Acis LP.

C. State Court Litigation and Arbitration

61. In June 2016, Highland Capital advised Terry that he had been terminated.

62. In September 2016, Highland Capital sued Terry in the 162nd Judicial District Court of Dallas County, Texas (the "State Court") under a variety of legal theories and causes of action, including breach of fiduciary duty/self-dealing, disparagement, and breach of contract. Terry asserted his own claims against Highland Capital, as well as claims against the Debtors, Dondero, and others, and demanded arbitration. Opinion ¶ 8.

63. On September 28, 2016, the State Court stayed the litigation and ordered the parties to arbitrate. Id. The parties then participated in a ten-day arbitration proceeding before JAMS, styled as Terry v. Highland, JAMS Arbitration No. 1310022713.

D. The Arbitration Award

64. On October 20, 2017, Terry obtained an arbitration award (the "Arbitration Award") jointly and severally against the Debtors in the amount of $7,949,749.15, plus post-award interest at the legal rate. The Arbitration Award was based on theories of breach of contract and breach of fiduciary duties. The Arbitration Award is attached hereto as Exhibit B.

65. Under the Arbitration Award, the arbitration panel found that Terry's termination by Dondero/Highland Capital was without cause and that, among other things, Acis breached the LPA and breached fiduciary duties owed to Terry as Acis's limited partner. Importantly, the arbitration panel found that Highland Capital had been paid more than 20% of Revenues (as such term is understood under the LPA), without Terry's consent, in violation of Section 3.10(a) of the LPA:

It is undisputed that ACIS habitually paid more than 20% of Revenues to Highland for providing ACIS with overhead and administration. Respondents' evidence and arguments that Terry waived or consented to ACIS's payment of excess expenses is not persuasive. At most, Terry accepted his ACIS distributions without regard to the expenses paid to Highland. This is not consent contemplated by the ACIS LPA.

The evidence establishes that Terry did not consent to ACIS payments of expenses in excess of 20% of Revenue and Terry has not waived his right to claim damages directly resulting from ACIS's and ACIS GP's breach of contract and breach of fiduciary duty. Clearly, ACIS and ACIS GP ignored Terry's contractual rights and ACIS GP as a general partner has a fiduciary duty not to benefit itself or another at the expense of its limited partner, as they ignore and breach the terms of the partnership agreement and diminish Terry's distributions.

Arbitration Award at pp. 15-16.

66. Additionally, in the analysis of Terry's damages, the arbitration panel stated:

The evidence establishes that ACIS and ACIS GP paid excess expenses to Highland during the years of 2013, 2014, 2015 and January through May 2016. These expenses paid exceeded the 20% of Revenues cap stated in Section 3.10(a) of the ACIS LPA. The payment of these excess expenses reduced Terry's ACIS partnership distributions during this period. Had excess expenses not been paid and only the contractually capped expenses had been paid, Terry would have received additional ACIS profits distributions of $1,755,481.00 for his 25% partnership interest in ACIS.

Arbitration Award at 20.

67. Finally, in its findings and conclusions, the arbitration panel stated: "ACIS [LP] and ACIS GP paid Highland Capital expenses in excess of the contractual limit imposed by Section 3.10(a) of the ACIS LPA." Arbitration Award at 22, ¶ 7.

68. On December 18, 2017, the 44th Judicial District Court of Dallas County, Texas, entered a final judgment confirming the Arbitration Award. Opinion ¶ 10. The judgment was abstracted in the Official Public Records of Dallas County, Texas, as Instrument No. 201800008611, and writs of garnishment were issued and served pursuant to the judgment.

69. Pursuant to the Arbitration Award, Highland Capital wrongly received at least $7,021,924.00 (collectively, the "Expense Overpayments") in excess of the clear cap under Section 3.10(a) of the LPA.<sup>13</sup> On information and belief, Highland Capital wrongfully received other overpayments of expenses for many years in excess of the express limitations contained in the LPA. The Expense Overpayments for which the Plaintiffs seek relief herein include all overpayments by Acis LP to Highland Capital in violation of the expense cap pursuant to the LPA whether or not addressed in the Arbitration Award. The Plaintiffs seek a declaratory judgment that such Expense Overpayments to Highland Capital and any agreements supporting such overpayments were ultra vires and, thus, void or voidable. The Plaintiffs also seek to recover from Highland Capital all such Expense Overpayments, which rightfully belong to Acis LP, as set forth below.

E. Modifications to the Sub-Advisory Agreement and Shared Services Agreement

70. The Sub-Advisory Agreement has been amended from time to time. The first iteration the Sub-Advisory Agreement by and between Acis LP and Highland Capital dated January 1, 2011 (the "Original Sub-Advisory Agreement") provided that Acis LP was to pay Highland Capital certain amounts for assisting Acis LP with the advisory services required by the PMAs. Under the Original Sub-Advisory Agreement, Acis LP paid Highland Capital 5 bps of the management fees received by Acis LP pursuant to the various PMAs for the sub-advisory services provided to Acis LP by Highland Capital.

<sup>13</sup> If $1,755,481.00 represents 25% of the amount overpaid to Highland Capital, then the total amount paid to Highland Capital in excess of the 20% cap would be at least $7,021,924.00.

71. On July 29, 2016, the Sub-Advisory Agreement was modified to increase the sub-advisory fee from 5 basis points to 20 basis points (the "Second Amended Sub-Advisory Agreement"). The effective date of the Second Amended Sub-Advisory Agreement was also back-dated to January 1, 2016. The fourfold increase in the sub-advisory fees via the Second Amended Sub-Advisory Agreement siphons off the funds of Acis LP and effectively gifts the additional amounts to Highland Capital. Highland Capital was already contractually obligated to provide the sub-advisory services for the lower 5 basis points fee and no legitimate justification for this fourfold increase was ever presented. Notably, Terry was unjustifiably terminated from Acis in June 2016, roughly one month before Acis and Highland Capital amended the Sub-Advisory Agreement to increase the fee paid fourfold. Further, Dondero consented to the increased sub-advisory fee on behalf of both Acis LP and Highland Capital. Dondero signed the Second Amended Sub-Advisory Agreement as president of Highland Capital's general partner, Strand Advisors, Inc., and as president of Acis GP, the general partner of Acis LP.<sup>14</sup>

72. The Shared Services Agreement has also been amended from time to time. The first iteration of the shared services agreement, the Shared Services Agreement by and between Acis LP and Highland Capital, dated January 1, 2011 (the "Original Shared Services Agreement"), provided that Acis LP was to pay Highland Capital certain amounts for providing Acis LP with the back-office services such as book keeping, compliance, human resources and marketing. Under the Original Shared Services Agreement, Acis LP reimbursed Highland Capital for amounts directly attributable to Acis LP for these services. The Shared Services

<sup>14</sup> Dondero also signed the Third Amended and Restated Sub-Advisory Agreement, entered into on March 17, 2017, on behalf of both parties (Acis LP and Highland Capital) to the agreement; this amendment retained the 20 bps fee put in place by the Second Amended Sub-Advisory Agreement.

Agreement was later amended to provide compensation to Highland Capital of 15 to 20 basis points, depending on the nature of the fund for which services were provided. Thus, shortly after Terry was terminated by Acis in June 2016, Acis was paying Highland Capital a total of 35 to 40 basis points for the sub-advisory and shared services it provided.

73. Due to the retroactive nature of the amendments to the Sub-Advisory Agreement and Shared Services Agreement, Highland, at all times relevant to this proceeding, held an antecedent debt related to Acis.

74. Finally, as the Court has already found and as described in more detail below, Highland Capital, Dondero, and various of their affiliates and insiders (including Highland Funding, Highland Advisor and Highland Holdings) entered into numerous other transactions through the Fall of 2017 in an attempt to take control of Acis's assets and effectively take over Acis's business. The combination of all of these actions evidence a clear pattern of behavior by Highland Capital, Dondero, and various of their affiliates and insiders (including Highland Funding, Highland Advisor, Highland Management, and Highland Holdings)<sup>15</sup> to hinder, delay or defraud Terry as a creditor and appropriate the going-concern business of Acis LP for the Highlands. Opinion, Section 1.C. (pp. 16-23).

F. Highland Capital's Mismanagement of the CLOs and the Trustee's Engagement of Brigade Capital Management, L.P.

75. During the pendency of these Bankruptcy Cases, while acting as sub-advisor, Highland Capital grossly mismanaged the CLOs. Following the Trustee's appointment in these Bankruptcy Cases, in disregard of its duties under the Sub-Advisory Agreement, Highland

<sup>15</sup> The Debtors were also under Highland Capital and Dondero's control at this time and were active participants in all of Highland Capital and Dondero's schemes to denude the Debtors and make them "judgment proof" as the Debtors' own counsel, Jamie Welton, later boasted. In fact, Highland Funding has admitted that the Debtors were "no more than shell entities" in pleadings recently filed with the Court. Highland Funding's Motion to Dissolve Preliminary Injunction and Lift the Automatic Stay at page 21, Docket # 639 in Case No. 18-30264.

Capital failed to purchase a single loan for the CLOs. Yet, at the same time, in an apparent tactical move to accumulate cash in the CLOs (prior to an attempted liquidation), Highland Capital ordered that the Trustee sell numerous loans. Indeed, during this time, Highland Capital's own analysis showed that 19.7% to 32.4% of available loans were eligible for consideration for purchase in the CLOs. Although the Trustee expressed his concerns to Highland Capital about the accumulation of cash in the CLOs and Highland Capital's failure to recommend purchases of eligible collateral in the CLOs, Highland Capital failed to make any change or correction in its sub-advisor role, in abrogation of its duties.

76. In July 2018, considering Highland Capital's mismanagement of the CLOs and the exorbitant amounts attempted to be charged to Acis for its services under the Sub Agreements, the Trustee solicited potential third parties to provide shared services and sub-advisory services to the Debtors. After contacting over 40 parties, the Trustee received bids from nine parties to perform the services provided by Highland Capital under the Sub Agreements. Through this process, the Trustee was able to locate Brigade Capital Management, LP ("Brigade") and Cortland Capital Markets Services LLC ("Cortland") to provide such services to the Debtors at a rate far less than that charged by Highland Capital. As set forth more fully in the Emergency Motion to Approve Replacement Sub-Advisory and Shared Services Providers, Brigade Capital Management, LP and Cortland Capital Markets Services LLC [Case No. 18-30264, Docket No. 448] (the "Brigade Motion"), Brigade agreed to sub-advise the CLOs for 15 basis points. As further described by the Brigade Motion, Cortland agreed to provide middle and back office CLO outsourcing (previously provided by Highland Capital under the Shared Services Agreement) for $30,000 per month, $250-$350 per trade, and a one-time fee of $75,000. Cortland's fee equates to roughly 3 basis points per month.<sup>16</sup>

77. On August 1, 2018, the Court granted the Brigade Motion, and Brigade and Cortland began performing the services previously provided by Highland Capital under the Sub Agreements. See Case No. 18-30264, Docket No. 464. Notably, on the record at the hearing on July 6, 2018, Highland offered to provide the same services it was providing Acis for 17.5 basis points less than it previously charged, a tacit acknowledgement that Highland had grossly overcharged Acis. See Case No. 18-30264, Docket No. 369 at 243-44.

78. From approximately August 2, 2018 through December 11, 2018, Brigade directed the purchase of approximately $300 million in conforming loans for the CLOs. See Case No. 18-30264, Docket No. 790 at 100-01 & 134.

G. The Highlands' Fraudulent Scheme to Take Over Acis's Business and Dismantle Acis's Assets.

79. After Terry received the Arbitration Award on October 20, 2017, the Highlands immediately began work to systematically transfer the assets of Acis LP to other Highlands. This was done to denude Acis LP of value and make the Debtors "judgment proof." This was also done to ensure that Acis LP's very valuable business as portfolio manager was taken over by other Highlands and remained under Highland Capital and Dondero's control.

80. Prior to the filing of the Bankruptcy Cases, the Highlands' scheme was accomplished through, inter alia, the ALF PMA Transfer, the ALF Share Transfer, the Note Transfer, and the transfer of the 2017-7 Equity and the 2017-7 Agreements (as each is defined below), which all occurred in the three months between October 23 and December 19, 2017. Each of these transfers followed the same pattern: Highland Capital caused Acis LP to fraudulently convey valuable economic rights away from Acis LP to offshore (often newly created) Highland Capital affiliates that were not subject to Terry's Arbitration Award and judgment, thus, safely remaining under the control of Highland Capital and Dondero. Further, the only alleged consideration for these transfers, to the extent there was any, was the satisfaction of purported debts owed to other Highlands or their representatives.

<sup>16</sup> Thus, the Trustee was paying roughly 18 basis points, instead of the 35 to 40 basis points charged by Highland Capital starting shortly after Terry was terminated by Acis in June 2016, for the work previously performed by Highland Capital under the Sub Agreements. The definitive agreement between the Reorganized Debtors and Brigade removes Cortland and the Reorganized Debtors pay roughly 15 basis points to Brigade for essentially the same services previously provided by Highland Capital.

81. Reference to Acis LP's balance sheets right before and right after the Highlands began their campaign of fraud against Terry and Acis demonstrate just how effective their scheme was. On August 31, 2017—roughly 45 days before the Arbitration Award—Acis LP boasted $15,441,551 in total assets (including nearly $4 million in valuable portfolio management investments and the $9.5 million note) as well as $3,372,851 in total equity value.<sup>17</sup> After the Arbitration Award and the judgment enforcing it, Acis presented the affidavit of David Klos, Highland Capital's Controller, to the State Court in furtherance of Highland Capital's efforts to get a pathetically small bond for Terry's judgment. The Klos affidavit and attached balance sheet demonstrate that as of February 1, 2018 (the day after the Involuntary Petitions were filed) Acis LP had only $2,855,050 in total assets, no investment assets or notes, and a paltry $35,709 in total equity value.<sup>18</sup> Thus, the amount of value destruction and asset concealment caused by the Highlands' brazen fraud in just the few months immediately after the Arbitration Award is staggering.

82. Even the filing of the Bankruptcy Cases did not deter the Highlands from attempting to complete their goal of denuding Acis. During the Bankruptcy Cases, in disregard of the automatic stay, on multiple occasions, the Highlands directed the Trustee to effectuate optional redemptions, which would result in the liquidation of the CLOs and render Acis incapable of reorganizing and paying its creditors.

1. *The ALF PMA Transfer and the ALF Share Transfer

83. Prior to October 27, 2017, Acis LP—not ALF (or Highland Funding as it is currently named)—had authority to direct and effectuate an optional redemption and otherwise pervasively control ALF's assets. Acis LP had this authority pursuant to that certain Portfolio Services Agreement by and between Acis LP and ALF, dated August 10, 2015 (the "First ALF PMA") and that certain Portfolio Management Agreement by and between Acis LP and ALF, dated December 22, 2016 (the "Second ALF PMA"). A true and correct copy of the First ALF PMA is attached hereto as Exhibit E. A true and correct copy of the Second ALF PMA is attached hereto as Exhibit F.

84. The Second ALF PMA granted Acis LP, as the portfolio manager of ALF, extensive rights and discretion to control and manage ALF's assets, including its interests in the Acis CLOs. Section 5 of the Second ALF PMA set out Acis LP's authority, which included authority for and in the name of ALF to:

- (a) invest, directly or indirectly . . . in all types of securities and other financial instruments of United States and non-U.S. entities . . . including without limitation . . . notes representing tranches of debt ('CLO Notes') issued by a special purpose vehicle which issues notes backed by a pool of collateral consisting primarily of loans (which may be represented by a debt or equity security) (a 'CLO') . . . (each of such items, 'Financial Instruments'), (c) provide credit and market research and analysis in connection with the investments and ongoing management of [ALF] and direct the formulation of investment policies and strategies for [ALF] . . . ; (g) possess, transfer, mortgage, pledge or otherwise deal in, and exercise all rights, powers, privileges and other incidents of ownership or possession with respect to Financial Instruments and other property and funds held or owned by [ALF] . . . ; (n) cause [ALF] to engage in . . . agency, agency cross, related party principal transactions with affiliates of [Acis LP] . . . ; and (q) vote Financial Instruments, participate in arrangements with creditors, the institution and settlement or compromise of suits and administrative proceedings and other like or similar matters.

Second ALF PMA § 5(a)-(q) (emphasis added).<sup>19</sup>

85. While ALF did not have authority to terminate the Second ALF PMA, Acis LP could terminate the Second ALF PMA without cause upon at least ninety (90) days' notice. See Second ALF PMA § 13(a)-(c). The Second ALF PMA provided that Acis LP could be removed as portfolio manager only "for cause." See ALF PMA § 14(a)-(e).

86. On October 27, 2017, just seven days after Terry's Arbitration Award, Acis LP ostensibly terminated its own portfolio management rights under the Second ALF PMA and transferred its authority and its valuable portfolio management rights—for no value—to Highland Advisor, an affiliate of Highland Capital.<sup>20</sup>

87. This transfer of Acis LP's portfolio management rights to Highland Advisor was accomplished by way of a new Portfolio Management Agreement entered into by ALF and Highland Advisor on October 27, 2017 (the "October 2017 PMA"), which empowered Highland Advisor with the same broad authority to direct the management of ALF as was previously held by Acis LP under the ALF PMA (the "ALF PMA Transfer"). See October 2017 PMA §§ 1 & 5(a)-(q). A true and correct copy of the October 2017 PMA is attached hereto as Exhibit G.

88. As the Court explained:

On October 27, 2017 (seven days after the Arbitration Award), ALF—having purchased back the ownership interest that Acis LP had in it, just three days earlier—decided that it would no longer use Acis LP as its portfolio manager and entered into a new portfolio management agreement to supersede and replace the ALF Portfolio Management Agreement. Specifically, on October 27, 2017, ALF entered into a new Portfolio Management Agreement with a Cayman Island entity called Highland HCF Advisor, Ltd., replacing Acis LP in its role with ALF. This agreement appears to have been further solidified in a second portfolio management agreement dated November 15, 2017.

<sup>19</sup> The Highlands contend that the reference to "control" in Section 6 of the Second ALF PMA negates the broad language of Section 5 of the Second ALF PMA. The Plaintiffs disagree.

Opinion at 19 (footnotes omitted).

89. Under the prior ALF PMA, Acis LP's consent to the termination of the ALF PMA was required in order to effectuate the ALF PMA Transfer. So, Dondero, on behalf of Acis LP, simply signed the October 2017 PMA, consenting and agreeing to its removal and replacement, and transferring all authority and management rights as portfolio manager of ALF to Highland Advisor under the October 2017 PMA. Acis received no consideration for this transfer.

90. Without this ALF PMA Transfer, which transferred Acis LP's valuable rights under the ALF PMA to Highland Advisor, Highland Funding could not have attempted to liquidate the CLOs, by directing optional redemptions, and further deplete Acis's assets.<sup>21</sup>

91. On October 24, 2017, a mere four days after the Arbitration Award was entered, Waterhouse, on behalf of Acis LP, and Grant Scott, for CLO Holdco Ltd., entered into that certain special resolution whereby Highland Funding, then known as ALF, acquired back Acis's equity interest in ALF (the "ALF Share Transfer"). A true and correct copy of the special resolution is attached hereto as Exhibit H. Pursuant the ALF Share Transfer, ALF paid Acis LP $991,180.13 for all of its shares of ALF.

92. Thus, by virtue of the ALF PMA Transfer and the ALF Share Transfer, by October 31, 2017, Acis LP had given up all of its shares of ALF and all of its control of ALF.

<sup>21</sup> After the ALF PMA Transfer, Highland Funding and Highland Advisor have issued at least three different optional redemption notices, in an attempt to terminate the PMAs and cut off the Debtors' primary source of cash. All three notices have been withdrawn and/or enjoined by this Court.

93. On November 15, 2017 – only days after the ALF Share Transfer and ALF PMA Transfer were completed – Highland Funding,<sup>22</sup> Highland Advisor and CLO Holdco, Ltd. (another Highland Capital affiliate) entered into a subscription agreement whereby Highland Funding completed a private placement of its equity (including, upon information and belief, the equity acquired in the ALF Share Transfer) to third-party investors. The Plaintiffs believe both the ALF PMA Transfer and the ALF Share Transfer were concocted by Highland Capital and Highland Funding to complete this private placement, which was of great value to Highland Funding (then known as Acis Loan Funding, Ltd.) and Highland Capital, but after the transfers, of no value to Acis.<sup>23</sup> Without the ALF PMA Transfer and the ALF Share Transfer, control of Highland Funding's assets, and the Highland Funding stock held by Acis, would be vested in an entity (Acis LP) that was subject to a looming judgment based on Terry's recently acquired Arbitration Award. That would compromise the Highlands' control of Highland Funding.

2. The Note Transfer

94. On November 3, 2017, Acis LP, Highland Capital, and Highland Management (a newly created, offshore Highland Capital affiliate) entered into that certain Agreement for Assignment and Transfer of Promissory Note (the "Note Assignment and Transfer Agreement"). A true and correct copy of the Note Assignment and Transfer Agreement is attached hereto as Exhibit I. The Note Assignment and Transfer Agreement, among other things, transferred the

<sup>23</sup> Highland Funding's (then Acis Loan Funding Ltd.) board of director minutes from October 6, 2017, disclose that the private placement investment would bring $150 million in new investment in Highland Funding and that they were "confident that they could develop further interest and ... bring the total capital to up to around $325 million." The Arbitration Award was issued against Acis LP exactly two weeks later, throwing a huge monkey wrench in Highland Funding's plans to raise hundreds of millions of dollars for Highland Capital and its cronies. Testimony in the bankruptcy case as well as the subscription agreement demonstrate that numerous Highland Capital executives, as well as Highland Capital itself, received Highland Funding stock in connection with this private placement. Thus, they were highly motivated to close this transaction and also deprive the Acis LP of any value in this transaction.

$9.5 million promissory note executed by Highland Capital and payable to Acis LP (the "Note") from Acis LP to Highland Management (the "Note Transfer"). As noted in the Opinion:

The Assignment and Transfer Agreement memorializing this transaction is signed by Mr. Dondero for Acis LP and Mr. Dondero for Highland and some undecipherable name for Highland CLO Management Ltd.

The document recites that (i) Highland is no longer willing to continue providing support services to Acis LP, (ii) Acis LP, therefore, can no longer fulfill its duties as a collateral manager, and (iii) Highland CLO Management Ltd. agrees to step into the collateral manager role if Acis LP will assign to it the Acis LP Note Receivable from Highland. One more thing: since Acis LP was expected to potentially incur future legal and accounting/administrative fees, and might not have the ability to pay them when due, Highland CLO Management Ltd. agreed to reimburse Acis LP (or pays its vendors directly) up to $2 million of future legal expenses and up to $1 million of future accounting/administrative expenses.

95. Acis LP received no or insufficient consideration for the Note Transfer.

96. The Note Transfer was also of great benefit to Highland Capital because it transferred Highland Capital's liability under the Note away from Acis LP (and its legal woes with Terry) and allowed Highland Capital's liability under the Note, and any payments made thereunder, to stay well within the control of the Highlands. Just as importantly to Highland Capital and Dondero, and in furtherance to their ongoing feud with Terry, the Note Transfer took away the Note as an asset from which Terry could collect his judgment and allowed Highland Capital to argue (as repeatedly argued in the Bankruptcy Cases) that Terry got his judgment against the "wrong" entities and that Highland Capital has no liability related to Terry's claim.

97. Additionally, the Note Assignment and Transfer Agreement also purports to initiate the transfer of the PMAs between Acis and the CLOs to Highland Management.<sup>24</sup> Again,

<sup>24</sup> Highland Management was registered in the Cayman Islands on October 27, 2017, roughly a week before the Note Transfer (and on the exact day of the ALF PMA Transfer). Thus, Highland Management had no portfolio or collateral management experience whatsoever when it entered the Assignment and Transfer Agreement. To the contrary, it appears Highland Management was an entity that was created specifically to hold the Note and eventually take possession of the PMAs in an international forum that would be difficult for Terry to reach, similar Acis LP was to receive no consideration for transferring its most significant assets, the PMAs. As the Court is aware, Acis LP did not in fact transfer the PMAs pursuant to the Note Assignment and Transfer Agreement, but it was clearly the plan as outlined in that agreement and further evidence of Highland Capital's intent to steal Acis LP's valuable going-concern business.

3. The Acis CLO 2017-7 Transfers

98. On December 19, 2017, Acis LP and Highland Holdings (another newly created, offshore Highland Capital affiliate)<sup>25</sup> entered into that certain Agreement for Assignment and Transfer (the "2017-7 Assignment and Transfer Agreement"). A true and correct copy of the 2017-7 Assignment and Transfer Agreement is attached hereto as Exhibit J. The 2017-7 Assignment and Transfer Agreement focused on Acis CLO Management, LLC ("Acis CLO Management"), which is an entity that had been formed to enter into a portfolio management agreement with Acis CLO 2017-7, Ltd. ("CLO 2017-7"). CLO 2017-7 is the last CLO the Highlands formed. Acis CLO Management was indirectly owned by Acis LP, and Acis LP and Acis CLO Management had entered into a Master Sub-Advisory Agreement and a Staff and Services Agreement (the "2017-7 Agreements") that allowed Acis LP to manage the CLO 2017-7 portfolio and collect management fees for CLO 2017-7.

99. The 2017-7 Assignment and Transfer Agreement, among other things, transferred to Highland Holdings all of Acis LP's interest in the 2017-7 Agreements. The 2017-7 Assignment and Transfer Agreement also transferred to Highland Holdings all of Acis LP's to the transferees for the ALF PMA Transfer (Highland Advisor, a Cayman Island entity) the ALF Share Transfer (Highland Funding, a Guernsey entity) and the 2017-1 Assignment and Transfer Agreement (Highland Holdings, a Cayman Island entity). Thus, not only did Highland Capital and Dondero scheme to transfer Acis LP's assets away from it, but they also slyly chose entities in offshore jurisdictions that would be hard for a judgment creditor to reach.

equity interests in various entities that constituted Acis LP's indirect equity interests in Acis CLO Management (the "2017-7 Equity"). Thus, similar to the ALF PMA Transfer and the ALF Share Transfer that occurred roughly two months before, Acis LP was divested of both its ownership in Acis CLO Management and its control of Acis CLO Management (and related management fee stream) in one fell swoop on December 19, 2017, which is the day after Terry received his judgment based on the Arbitration Award. Also, importantly, the 2017-7 Assignment and Transfer Agreement rendered Acis non-compliant with relevant U.S. and European risk retention requirements.

100. Significantly, also on December 19, 2017, Highland Capital entered into an agreement with Highland Holdings that allowed Highland Capital to sub-advise and manage CLO 2017-7 and get paid the management fees that otherwise would have flowed to Acis LP. So, like the numerous transfers before it, Highland Capital effectuated the transfer of the 2017-7 Agreements and 2017-7 Equity to cut out Acis LP, while Highland Capital stayed in complete control of CLO 2017-7 and its stream of management fees.

101. As the Court noted in the Opinion:

On December 19, 2017—just one day after the Arbitration Award was confirmed with the entry of the Final Judgment—the vehicle that can most easily be described as the Acis LP "risk retention structure" (necessitated by federal Dodd Frank law) was transferred away from Acis LP and into the ownership of Highland CLO Holdings, Ltd. (yet another Cayman Island entity, incorporated on October 27, 2017).

In addition to transferring Acis LP's interest in the Acis LP risk retention structure on December 19, 2017, Acis LP also transferred its contractual right to receive management fees for Acis CLO 2017-7, Ltd. (which had just closed April 10, 2017), which Mr. Terry credibly testified had a combined value of $5 million, to Highland CLO Holdings, Ltd., another Cayman entity, purportedly in exchange for forgiveness of a $2.8 million receivable that was owed to Highland under the most recent iteration of the Shared Services Agreement and Sub-Advisory Agreement for CLO-7. In conjunction with this transfer, Highland CLO Holdings, Ltd. then entered into new Shared Services and Sub-Advisory Agreements with Highland.

102. The purported consideration for the 2017-7 Equity transferred in the 2017-7 Assignment and Transfer Agreement was the forgiveness of a $2,804,870 payable allegedly owed by Acis LP to Highland Capital and transferred to Highland Funding sometime before the agreement was entered. According to Acis LP's financial statements, this payable to Highland Capital entirely comprises amounts due under the Sub-Advisory Agreement and Shared Services Agreement. Thus, the "consideration" provided in exchange for the 2017-7 Assignment and Transfer Agreement would suffer from the same defects as outlined throughout this Second Amended Complaint related to the Sub Agreements; i.e., Acis only "owed" Highland Capital these amounts because Highland Capital grossly overcharged Acis. Finally, like the Note Transfer, the 2017-7 Equity transfer allowed Highland Capital to effectively collect all of the $2.8 million owed by Acis LP (assuming it is even a valid debt) through the use of an offshore intermediary.

103. Further, the 2017-7 Assignment and Transfer Agreement itself discloses that no consideration was provided for the transfer of the 2017-7 Agreements. Rather, the justification for the transfer of the 2017-7 Agreements is Highland Capital's self-serving refusal to continue to do business with Acis LP after the Arbitration Award and related judgment.

4. *Thwarted Attempts to Transfer the Universal/BVK Agreement and Force an Optional Redemption

104. Highland Capital and the other Highlands did not stop with the transfers in the Fall of 2017. Immediately after the Involuntary Petitions were filed on January 30, 2018, Highland Capital conspired with Acis LP's own bankruptcy counsel in an effort to appropriate Acis LP's valuable sub-advisor rights under the Agreement for the Outsourcing of Asset Management (the "Universal/BVK Agreement") between Acis LP and Universal–Investment-

Luxembourg S.A. ("Universal"), which provided sub-advisory services for a German fund called BayVK R2 Lux S.A., SICAV-FIS ("BVK").<sup>26</sup> Like the many transfers before it, Highland Capital's plan (as clearly outlined in an email from Isaac Leventon to Mike Warner) was "to transfer the BVK investment management agreement from Acis LP to another Highland-affiliated manager."<sup>27</sup> Immediately after Highland Capital sought (and presumably received) advice from Acis's own counsel, Highland Capital reached out to Universal and BVK to solicit their participation in Highland Capital's scheme. In fact, BVK acknowledged in its very first email with Highland Capital after Acis LP's bankruptcy filing that Highland Capital's plan was to replace Acis LP.

105. Over the several weeks leading up to this Court's ruling on the Orders for Relief, Highland Capital and Universal/BVK did, in fact, frequently discuss replacing Acis LP, conducted extensive due diligence in order to replace Acis LP and even negotiated and prepared a new asset management agreement between Highland Capital and Universal that was to take effect once Acis LP and its bankruptcy were out of the way. But even after the Orders for Relief were entered and the Debtors were under the control of a trustee, the communications did not stop. Among other things, Highland Capital volunteered to pay Universal and BVK's legal costs incurred in terminating Acis LP and making Highland Capital the new sub-advisor for Universal and BVK, Highland Capital repeatedly criticized the Trustee for his management of Acis, and Highland Capital repeatedly expressed its desire to negotiate with Universal and to "onboard" Highland Capital as Universal's new sub-advisor. And even after Highland Capital was fired by the Trustee as Acis LP's sub-advisor and replaced with Brigade and Cortland, the communications did not stop. Highland Capital's scheme to transfer the Universal/BVK Agreement to Highland Capital or its affiliate was apparently only prevented by this Court imposing 11 U.S.C. § 363, effectively taking away Acis LP's right to operate outside the ordinary course of business without Court authority under 11 U.S.C. § 303(f) and then later not immediately lifting the automatic stay as to the Universal/BVK Agreement.

106. Finally, Highland Advisor and its sub-manager Highland Capital, used its newly acquired management rights (by way of the ALF PMA Transfer) to attempt to destroy the Debtor, as further described below.

5. *The First Optional Redemption Notices

107. On April 30, 2018, without requesting relief from the automatic stay, Highland Funding sent five notices purportedly requesting optional redemption pursuant to Section 9.2 of each of the Indentures (the "First Optional Redemption Notices").<sup>28</sup> True and correct copies of the First Optional Redemption Notices are attached hereto as Exhibit L.

108. The First Optional Redemption Notices directed Acis LP to effectuate an Optional Redemption (as defined under each Indenture). Under Section 9.2 of each Indenture, upon the receipt of a notice of redemption, Acis, in its discretion, is to direct the sale of the Collateral Obligations (as defined by each Indenture) and other Assets. See CLO-1 Indenture, § 9.2; CLO-3 Indenture, § 9.2(b); CLO-4 Indenture, § 9.2; CLO-5 Indenture, § 9.2; & CLO-6 Indenture, § 9.2. In the Indentures, "Assets" is defined to include the PMAs. See CLO-1 Indenture, p. 8; CLO-3 Indenture, p. 10; CLO-4 Indenture, p. 10; CLO-5 Indenture, p. 10; & CLO-6 Indenture p. 10. Consequently, an Optional Redemption directs Acis LP to liquidate assets of the CLOs over which Acis has certain property rights, including, effectively, the PMAs.

109. The Trustee analyzed the First Optional Redemption Notices and determined there were various defects which rendered them ineffective. Therefore, on May 22, 2018, the Trustee sent his responses to the five First Optional Redemption Notices (the "Redemption Responses"). True and correct copies of the Redemption Responses are attached hereto as Exhibit M.

6. *The Temporary Restraining Order Against the Highlands

110. On May 30, 2018, Highland Capital and Highland Funding initiated this Adversary Proceeding and alleged, among other things, that the Trustee breached the PMAs by failing to effectuate an Optional Redemption pursuant to the First Optional Redemption Notices.

111. The next day, on May 31, 2018, upon the request of the Trustee, the Court held a status conference in the Bankruptcy Cases, and the Trustee explained that, almost immediately after his appointment, he began exploring plan options regarding a potential transaction that would transfer rights under the PMAs, the Sub-Advisory Agreement, the Shared Services Agreement, and the subordinated notes, with respect to CLO-3, CLO-4, CLO-5, and CLO-6, with the goal of maximizing value for all parties. The Trustee informed the Court that he was in the process of negotiating a transaction with a party that would potentially provide enough value to pay all parties, including potentially all of Acis's creditors in full.

112. On May 31, 2018, at the conclusion of the status conference, the Court, sua sponte, issued a temporary restraining order, which prevented all parties from taking any action in furtherance of the Optional Redemption for fourteen (14) days.

113. On June 6, 2018 the Court entered its Temporary Restraining Order (the "TRO"), whereby the Restrained Parties (as defined in the TRO) were enjoined until 12:01 a.m. on June 15, 2018, from:

- a) proceeding with, effectuating, or otherwise taking any action in furtherance of the Optional Redemption, call, or other liquidation of the Acis CLOs; and
- b) sending, mailing, or otherwise distributing any notice to the holders of the Acis CLOs in connection with the Optional Redemption, call, or other liquidation of the Acis CLOs.

114. On June 11, 2018, the Trustee filed his Motion to Extend the Temporary Restraining Order (the "Motion to Extend the TRO"), in which the Trustee sought to extend the TRO for an additional 14 days. See Docket No. 275.

115. Also on June 11, 2018, Highland Funding filed its Memorandum of Law in Opposition to the Continuance of the Temporary Restraining Order (the "Brief in Opposition to Extending the TRO"). See Case No. 18-3264, Docket. No. 271. This pleading did not mention that Highland Capital apparently violated the TRO by initiating approximately $23 million of sales of CLO assets pursuant to the Optional Redemption after the Court issued its sua sponte TRO on May 31.

7. *The Second Optional Redemption Notices

116. On June 13, 2018, the day before the hearing on the Motion to Extend the TRO, Highland Funding advised the Trustee that Highland Funding would withdraw the First Optional Redemption Notices. Highland Funding's correspondence with the Trustee indicating its intent to withdraw the First Optional Redemption Notices is attached hereto as Exhibit N and incorporated herein for all purposes. Thereafter, the Trustee advised the Court that Highland Funding was withdrawing the First Optional Redemption Notices, and the Trustee therefore did not intend to go forward with the Motion to Extend the TRO on June 14.

117. On June 14, 2018, counsel for Highland Funding advised the Court that Highland Funding had withdrawn the First Optional Redemption Notices. Counsel for Highland Funding further advised the Court that the First Optional Redemption Notices were withdrawn to bring "some sanity to this process":

That was done obviously for multiple reasons. My client doesn't believe that this is the appropriate time to be effectuating such a redemption for its own economic reasons, setting aside the complications it's obviously caused for others in this room. But needless to say, that, too, is an effort to try to bring, as I believe the Court has requested, and others have, some sanity to this process.<sup>29</sup>

118. On June 15, 2018, at 12:01 a.m., the TRO expired.

119. Later on June 15, 2018, despite the fact that Highland Funding had just withdrawn the First Optional Redemption Notices, had advised the Court of the same, and the Trustee and the Court acted in reliance on same, (again, without requesting relief from the automatic stay) Highland Funding gave notice to the Trustee that it was again requesting an Optional Redemption pursuant to the Section 9.2 of each of the Indentures (the "Second Optional Redemption Notices," and together with the First Optional Redemption Notices, the "Optional Redemption Notices"). The Second Optional Redemption Notices are attached hereto as Exhibit Q and are incorporated herein for all purposes.

120. By the Second Optional Redemption Notices, Highland Funding directed the Issuers:

to effect an Optional Redemption of all Secured Notes and the Subordinated Notes in full on July 30, 2018 for the express purpose of placement of a portion of the portfolio of assets held by the Co-Issuers into a warehouse arrangement or a total return swap or other derivative arrangement with Highland Capital Management, L.P. acting as the Sub-Advisor pursuant to a Sub-Advisory Agreement.

121. On June 20, 2018, Highland Capital presented to the Trustee hundreds of millions of dollars of "proposed trades" pursuant to this second Optional Redemption. In its correspondence to the Trustee regarding such proposed trades, Highland Capital further stated:

In order to effectuate the Transaction and obtain best execution, Highland requests your consent by no later than 2pm tomorrow, Thursday June 21, 2018 (the "Deadline"). The Acis Accounts may incur losses as a result of your failure to respond by the Deadline.

Highland believes it has an independent fiduciary obligation to the CLOs. If you instruct Highland not to proceed to undertake the Optional Redemption, Highland reserves its rights to seek appropriate protection and redress at law or in equity.<sup>30</sup>

H. Preferential Transfers Made within One Year of the Petition Date

122. Acis's Statement of Financial Affairs [ Case No. 18-30264, Docket No. 165] (the "SOFA")<sup>31</sup> and its general ledger disclose more than two dozen payments totaling $16,113,790.14 made to Highland Capital within one year of the Petition Date based on four categories (the "Prepetition Payments"):

- (i) Contractual Payments: $5,011,836.72
- (ii) Services: $7,672,145.25<sup>32</sup>
- (iii) Unsecured Loan Repayments Including Interest: $3,311,497.65
- (iv) Expense Reimbursement: $118,311.32

123. The Prepetition Payments were made for the benefit of Highland Capital for or on account of an antecedent debt owed by the Debtors before the Prepetition Payments were made. Acis was insolvent at all times when the Prepetition Payments were made. Based on Terry's pending—or already decided—claims, as well as Highland Capital's absolute operational and financial control of Acis, Highland Capital was aware that Acis was insolvent or reasonably should have been aware Acis was insolvent at all times when the Prepetition Payments were made. The Prepetition Payments were made within one year of the Petition Date. At the time the

<sup>32</sup> The Statement of Financial Affairs, filed in the bankruptcy cases by Acis while under Highland Capital control, fails to list an additional $1,868,203.44 in transfers to Highland Capital for "Services" that were made shortly before the Petition Date.

Prepetition Payments were made Highland Capital was an insider of the Debtors. The Prepetition Payments enabled Highland Capital to receive more than Highland Capital would have received if the cases were a case under chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code and if the Prepetition Payments had not been made. Highland Capital received the Prepetition Payments. See Williams v. Mckesson Corp. (In re Quality Infusion Care, Inc.), Nos. 10-36675, 13-3056, 2013 Bankr. LEXIS 5044 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. Nov. 25, 2013) (citing Palmer Clay Prods. Co. v. Brown, 297 U.S. 227, 229 (1936) and stating the 547(b)(5) is to be analyzed as of the Petition Date).

124. Further, to the extent that the Acis LP payables that served as the consideration for the Note Transfer and the 2017-7 Equity transfer were valid, these transfers would also constitute preferential payments to Highland Capital, Highland Management and Highland Holdings. The SOFA discloses that Highland Management is an "affiliate" of the Debtors and the Note Transfer is included on the list of "payments, distributions, withdrawals credited, or given to insiders" within one year before filing the Bankruptcy Cases. See SOFA p. 12.

VI. CAUSES OF ACTION<sup>33</sup>

Count 1: Declaratory Judgment that Expense Overpayments to Highland Capital Were Ultra Vires in Violation of the LPA [Against Highland Capital]

125. The Plaintiffs incorporate the preceding paragraphs as if set forth fully herein.

126. Under Delaware law, ultra vires corporate acts are either void or voidable. See Klaassen v. Allegro Dev. Corp., C.A. No. 8626-VCL, 2013 Del. Ch. LEXIS 247, at *48-50 (Oct. 11, 2013); see also Stephen A. Solomon v. Armstrong, 747 A.2d 1098, 1114 n.45 (1999) (explaining the difference between void and voidable acts). Delaware courts apply the doctrine of ultra vires to partnerships by analogy. See, e.g., In re Mesa Ltd. P'ship Preferred Unitholders Litig., Civil Action No. 12,243, 1991 Del. Ch. LEXIS 214, at *20 (Dec. 10, 1991).

127. Highland Capital invoiced Acis for, and received payments for, at least $7,021,924.00 in excess of 20% of Revenues, in violation of the LPA. Highland Capital, an Affiliate of Acis GP, accepted such funds in violation of Section 3.10(a) of the LPA.

128. Such Expense Overpayments, and any agreements supporting such Expense Overpayments, were economically irrational, not in the interest of Acis LP, and are therefore void; however, if not void, such actions are voidable because they were done without the consent or ratification of all members of the Founding Partner Group. The payments to Highland Capital of the Expense Overpayments in the amount of at least $7,021,924.00 and any agreements supporting such overpayments were unauthorized or ultra vires acts of the partnership in violation of the LPA, and are therefore void or voidable.

Count 2: Turnover of Property of the Estate under 11 U.S.C. § 542(a) for Unauthorized Overpayments
[Against Highland Capital]

129. The Plaintiffs incorporate the preceding paragraphs as if set forth fully herein.

130. Under section 542(a) of the Bankruptcy Code, "an entity, other than a custodian, in possession, custody, or control, during the case, of property that the trustee may use, sell, or lease under section 363 . . . shall deliver to the trustee, and account for, such property or the value of such property, unless such property is of inconsequential value or benefit to the estate." 11 U.S.C. § 542(a).

131. Under section 541(a) of the Bankruptcy Code, property of the estate includes "all legal or equitable interests of the debtor in property as of the commencement of the case." 11 U.S.C. § 541(a). Further, the "estate is comprised of [such] property, wherever located and by whomever held." Id.

132. Highland Capital wrongfully received Expense Overpayments of at least $7,021,924.00 in excess of 20% of Revenues in violation of the LPA.

133. The property, or value of such property, from the overpayment of funds wrongfully transferred to Highland Capital totaling at least $7,021,924.00, in Highland Capital's possession, custody, or control is property of the estate, and the value of such property is not of inconsequential value or benefit to the estate.

134. Pursuant to section 542(a) of the Bankruptcy Code, Highland Capital must deliver to the Trustee the property or value of such property, totaling at least $7,021,924.00, wrongfully transferred to Highland Capital.

135. Therefore, the Plaintiffs, now vested with all claims of the Trustee, seek turnover of the funds, totaling at least $7,021,924.00, transferred to Highland Capital, to the extent allowed pursuant to section 542 of the Bankruptcy Code.

Count 3: Money Had and Received for Overcharges and Unauthorized Overpayments
[Against Highland Capital]

136. The Plaintiffs incorporate the preceding paragraphs as if set forth fully herein.

137. "An action for money had and received arises when the defendant obtains money which in equity and good conscience belongs to the plaintiff. This action . . . looks only to the justice of the case and inquires whether the defendant has received money which rightfully belongs to another." Amoco Prod. Co. v. Smith, 946 S.W.2d 162, 164 (Tex. App.—El Paso 1997, no pet.) (internal citations omitted).

138. Highland Capital invoiced Acis for, and received Expense Overpayments for, at least $7,021,924.00 in excess of 20% of Revenues in violation of the LPA. Highland Capital, an Affiliate of Acis GP, accepted such funds in violation of Section 3.10(a) of the LPA. Highland Capital was therefore unjustly enriched in the amount of the Expense Overpayments of at least $7,021,924.00.

139. Highland Capital invoiced Acis and accepted such Expense Overpayments from Acis despite Highland Capital's knowledge of the LPA. This money rightfully belongs to Acis, and the overpayment creates a debt in favor of Acis. Therefore, the Plaintiffs are entitled to damages on behalf of Acis in the amount of at least $7,021,924.00. In addition, Highland Capital charged Acis more than a market rate under the Second Amended Sub-Advisory Agreement and the Third Amended Sub-Services Agreement and is liable to Acis in the amount of these overcharges.

Count 4: Conversion for Unauthorized Overpayments
[Against Highland Capital]

140. The Plaintiffs incorporate the preceding paragraphs as if set forth fully herein.

141. "Conversion is defined as the wrongful exercise of dominion and control over another's property in denial of or inconsistent with his rights." Green Int'l v. Solis, 951 S.W.2d 384, 391 (Tex. 1997).

142. Highland Capital wrongfully exercised dominion and control over at least $7,021,924.00 in excess of 20% of Revenues in violation of the LPA. Highland Capital, through the common control of Dondero, was aware that it was prohibited from receiving payment in excess of 20% of Revenues without the consent of all members of the Founding Partner Group. Highland Capital also had actual notice of the Arbitration Award through Dondero (who was represented at the arbitration proceeding) that Highland Capital was wrongfully in possession of such money. Despite Highland Capital's actual knowledge that the money does not rightfully belong to Highland Capital, Highland Capital continues to improperly retain the overpaid funds. Therefore, the Plaintiffs are entitled to damages in the amount of at least $7,021,924.00. In addition, Highland Capital charged Acis more than a market rate under the Second Amended Sub-Advisory Agreement and the Third Amended Shared Services Agreement and is liable to Acis in the amount of these overcharges.

Count 5: Actual Fraudulent Transfer under 11 U.S.C. § 548(a)(1)(A) related to the Sub-Advisory Agreement [Against Highland Capital]

143. The Plaintiffs incorporate the preceding paragraphs as if set forth fully herein.

144. Section 548(a)(1)(A) of the Bankruptcy Code provides that a trustee may avoid any transfer of an interest of the debtor in property, or any obligation incurred by the debtor, if the debtor made such transfer or incurred such obligation with actual intent to hinder, delay, or defraud any entity to which the debtor was or became, on or after the date that such transfer was made or such obligation was incurred, indebted.

145. The Plaintiffs, now vested with all claims of the Trustee, seek to avoid the modifications to the Sub-Advisory Agreement made in the Second Amended Sub-Advisory Agreement and Third Amended Sub-Advisory Agreement, any obligations incurred by Acis in connection with these modifications to the Sub-Advisory Agreement, and any payments made (including increase in payments made) by Acis to Highland Capital in connection with these modifications to the Sub-Advisory Agreement because such modifications and payments were made with an actual intent to hinder, delay, or defraud Terry, a creditor of Acis, demonstrated by, among other things, that:

- (i) The modifications to the Sub-Advisory Agreement were made shortly after Terry's termination and just prior to litigation with Terry;
- (ii) The modifications to the Sub-Advisory Agreement—entered into by Dondero on behalf of Acis and Highland Capital—and payments thereunder were made with the actual intent to divert assets to and for the benefit of Highland Capital, in fraud upon Acis's creditors, namely Terry.

- (iii) Acis was or became insolvent as a result of the modifications to the Sub-Advisory Agreement and payments thereunder;
- (iv) The modifications to the Sub-Advisory Agreement and payments thereunder occurred both before and after substantial debts were incurred by Acis;
- (v) The consideration received by Acis for the modifications to the Sub-Advisory Agreement and payments thereunder were not reasonably equivalent in value; and
- (vi) the transfer/obligation incurred was to an insider.

146. Therefore, such modifications to the Sub-Advisory Agreements and payments to Highland Capital pursuant to such modifications should be avoided to the extent avoidable under section 548(a)(1)(A) of the Bankruptcy Code.

Count 6: Actual Fraudulent Transfer under Tex. Bus. & Com. Code § 24.005(a)(1) related to the Sub-Advisory Agreement [Against Highland Capital]

147. The Plaintiffs incorporate the preceding paragraphs as if set forth fully herein.

148. Section 544 of the Bankruptcy Code provides the Trustee with the ability to avoid transfers or obligations that would be avoidable by certain prepetition creditors of Acis. Texas Business and Commerce Code section 24.005(a)(1) provides that a current or future creditor may avoid a transfer if the debtor made the transfer or incurred the obligation with an actual intent to hinder, delay or defraud any creditor of the debtor. Pursuant to section 544 of the Bankruptcy Code, the Trustee may seek to avoid transfers made by Acis, or obligations incurred by Acis, pursuant to Texas Business and Commerce Code sections 24.005(a)(1).

149. The Plaintiffs, now vested with all claims of the Trustee, seek to avoid the modifications to the Sub-Advisory Agreement made in the Second Amended Sub-Advisory Agreement and Third Amended Sub-Advisory Agreement, any obligations incurred by Acis in connection with these modifications to the Sub-Advisory Agreement, and any payments made (including increase in payments made) by Acis to Highland Capital in connection with these modifications to the Sub-Advisory Agreement because such modifications and payments were made with an actual intent to hinder, delay, or defraud Terry, a creditor of Acis, demonstrated by, among other things, that:

- (i) The modifications to the Sub-Advisory Agreement were made shortly after Terry's termination and just prior to litigation with Terry;
- (ii) The modifications to the Sub-Advisory Agreement—entered into by Dondero on behalf of Acis and Highland Capital—and payments thereunder were made with the actual intent to divert assets to and for the benefit of Highland Capital, in fraud upon Acis's creditors, namely Terry.
- (iii) Acis was or became insolvent as a result of the modifications to the Sub-Advisory Agreement and payments thereunder;
- (iv) The modifications to the Sub-Advisory Agreement and payments thereunder occurred both before and after substantial debts were incurred by Acis;
- (v) The consideration received by Acis for the modifications to the Sub-Advisory Agreement and payments thereunder were not reasonably equivalent in value; and
- (vi) The transfer/obligation incurred was to an insider.

150. Therefore, Acis's creditors have the right to avoid the Sub-Advisory Agreement and payments thereunder under section 24.005(a)(1) of the Texas Business and Commerce Code, and the Plaintiffs, now vested with all claims of the Trustee, can seek to enforce that right under section 544 of the Bankruptcy Code.

Count 7: Constructive Fraudulent Transfer under 11 U.S.C. § 548(a)(1)(B) related to the Sub-Advisory Agreement [Against Highland Capital]

151. The Plaintiffs incorporate the preceding paragraphs as if set forth fully herein.

152. Section 548(a)(1)(B) of the Bankruptcy Code provides that a trustee may avoid any transfer of any interest of the debtor in property, or any obligation incurred by the debtor, if the debtor (i) received less than reasonably equivalent value in exchange for the transfer or obligation; and (ii) (A) was insolvent on the date the transfer was made or the obligation was incurred, or became insolvent as the result of the transfer or obligation; (B) was engaged in business or a transaction, or was about to engage in business or a transaction for which any remaining property was unreasonably small capital; or (C) intended to incur, or believed the debtor would incur, debts that would be beyond the debtors' ability to pay such debts.

153. As described above, among other things, Acis LP:

- (i) received less than reasonably equivalent value in exchange for the modifications to the Sub-Advisory Agreement and payments made thereunder;
- (ii) was or became insolvent as the result of the modifications to the Sub-Advisory Agreement and payments made thereunder; and
- (iii) intended to incur, or believed Acis would incur, debts that would be beyond Acis's ability to pay such debts.

154. Therefore, the modifications to the Sub-Advisory Agreement made in the Second Amended Sub-Advisory Agreement and the Third Amended Sub-Advisory Agreement, any obligations incurred by Acis in connection with these modifications to the Sub-Advisory Agreement and any payments made (including increase in payments made) by Acis to Highland Capital in connection with these modifications to the Sub-Advisory Agreement are avoidable by the Plaintiffs, now vested with all claims of the Trustee, under section 548(a)(1)(B).

Count 8: Constructive Fraudulent Transfer under Tex. Bus. & Com. Code §§ 24.005(a)(2) and 24.006(a) related to the Sub-Advisory Agreement
[Against Highland Capital]

155. The Plaintiffs incorporate the preceding paragraphs as if set forth fully herein.

156. Section 544 of the Bankruptcy Code provides the Trustee with the ability to avoid transfers or obligations that would be avoidable by certain prepetition creditors of Acis. Texas Business and Commerce Code section 24.005(a)(2) provides that a current or future creditor may avoid a transfer if the debtor made the transfer or incurred the obligation (i) without receiving reasonably equivalent value in exchange for the transfer or obligation; and (ii) (A) was engaged or about to engage in a business or transaction for which the remaining assets were unreasonably small in relation to the business or transaction, or (B) intended to incur, or believed or reasonably should have believed, that the debtor would incur debts beyond the debtor's ability to pay as they became due. Similarly, Texas Business and Commerce Code section 24.006(a) provides that a current creditor may avoid a transfer if the debtor made the transfer or incurred the obligation (i) without receiving reasonably equivalent value in exchange for the transfer or obligation; and (ii) the debtor was insolvent or rendered insolvent by the transfer or obligation sought to be avoided. Pursuant to section 544 of the Bankruptcy Code, the Plaintiffs, now vested with all claims of the Trustee, may seek to avoid transfers made by Acis, or obligations incurred by Acis, pursuant to Texas Business and Commerce Code sections 24.005(a)(2) and 24.006(a).

157. As described above, Acis LP did not receive reasonably equivalent value in exchange for the modifications to the Sub-Advisory Agreement and payments made thereunder to Highland Capital, and creditors at the time of such modifications and payments could have avoided such modifications and payments under section 24.005(a)(2) of the Texas Business and Commerce Code.

158. At the time of the modifications to the Sub-Advisory Agreement and payments made thereunder to Highland Capital, Acis intended to incur, or believed or reasonably should have believed that Acis would incur, debts beyond its ability to pay as they became due, and/or was engaged, or was about to engage in a business or transaction for which the remaining assets of Acis were unreasonably small in relation to such business or transaction.

159. Moreover, as described above, Acis was insolvent or became insolvent by the modifications to the Sub-Advisory Agreement and payments made thereunder.

160. Therefore, the modifications to the Sub-Advisory Agreement made in the Second Amended Sub-Advisory Agreement and the Third Amended Sub-Advisory Agreement, any obligations incurred by Acis in connection with these modifications to the Sub-Advisory Agreement and any payments made (including increase in payments made) by Acis to Highland Capital in connection with these modifications to the Sub-Advisory Agreement are avoidable under Texas Business and Commerce Code sections 24.005(a)(2) and 24.006(a).

Count 9: Actual Fraudulent Transfer under 11 U.S.C. § 548(a)(1)(A)
for the ALF PMA Transfer
[Against Highland Capital, Highland Funding, and Highland Advisor]

161. The Plaintiffs incorporate the preceding paragraphs as if set forth fully herein.

162. Section 548(a)(1)(A) of the Bankruptcy Code provides that a trustee may avoid any transfer of an interest of the debtor in property, or any obligation incurred by the debtor, if the debtor made such transfer or incurred such obligation with actual intent to hinder, delay, or defraud any entity to which the debtor was or became, on or after the date that such transfer was made or such obligation was incurred, indebted.

163. The Plaintiffs, now vested with all claims of the Trustee, seek to avoid the ALF PMA Transfer because such transfer was made with an actual intent to hinder, delay, or defraud Terry, a creditor of Acis, demonstrated by, among other things, that:

- (i) The ALF PMA Transfer was made just seven days after Terry's Arbitration Award against Acis;
- (ii) The ALF PMA Transfer was made with the actual intent to divert Acis LP's contractual rights under the ALF PMA to and for the benefit of Highland Advisor, in fraud upon Acis LP's creditors, namely Terry.
- (iii) Acis LP was insolvent at the time of the ALF PMA Transfer or became insolvent as a result of the ALF PMA Transfer;
- (iv) The ALF PMA Transfer occurred both before and after substantial debts were incurred by Acis LP;
- (v) Acis LP received less than a reasonably equivalent value in exchange for the ALF PMA Transfer;
- (vi) The transfer was made to an insider (Highland Advisor) and for the benefit of insiders (Highland Funding and Highland Capital); and
- (vii) Highland Capital (as sub-advisor to Highland Advisor) retained effective possession and control of the property transferred after the transfer.

164. Therefore, the ALF PMA Transfer should be avoided to the extent avoidable under section 548(a)(1)(A) of the Bankruptcy Code.

Count 10: Actual Fraudulent Transfer under Tex. Bus. & Com. Code § 24.005(a)(1)
for the ALF PMA Transfer

165. The Plaintiffs incorporate the preceding paragraphs as if set forth fully herein.

166. Section 544 of the Bankruptcy Code provides the Trustee with the ability to avoid transfers or obligations that would be avoidable by certain prepetition creditors of Acis. Texas Business and Commerce Code section 24.005(a)(1) provides that a current or future creditor may avoid a transfer if the debtor made the transfer or incurred the obligation with an actual intent to hinder, delay or defraud any creditor of the debtor. Pursuant to section 544 of the Bankruptcy Code, the Trustee may seek to avoid transfers made by Acis, or obligations incurred by Acis, pursuant to Texas Business and Commerce Code sections 24.005(a)(1).

167. The Plaintiffs, now vested with all claims of the Trustee, seek to avoid the ALF PMA Transfer because such transfer was made with an actual intent to hinder, delay, or defraud Terry, a creditor of Acis, demonstrated by, among other things, that:

- (i) The ALF PMA Transfer was made just seven days after Terry's Arbitration Award against Acis;
- (ii) The ALF PMA Transfer was made with the actual intent to divert Acis LP's contractual rights under the ALF PMA to and for the benefit of Highland Advisor, in fraud upon Acis LP's creditors, namely Terry.
- (iii) Acis LP was insolvent at the time of the ALF PMA Transfer or became insolvent as a result of the ALF PMA Transfer;
- (iv) The ALF PMA Transfer occurred both before and after substantial debts were incurred by Acis LP; and
- (v) Acis LP received less than a reasonably equivalent value in exchange for the ALF PMA Transfer;

- (vi) The transfer was made to an insider (Highland Advisor) and for the benefit of insiders (Highland Funding and Highland Capital); and
- (vii) Highland Capital (as sub-advisor to Highland Advisor) retained effective possession and control of the property transferred after the transfer.

168. Therefore, Acis's creditors have the right to avoid the ALF PMA Transfer under section 24.005(a)(1) of the Texas Business and Commerce Code, and the Plaintiffs can seek to enforce that right under section 544 of the Bankruptcy Code.

Count 11: Constructive Fraudulent Transfers under 11 U.S.C. § 548(a)(1)(B)
for the ALF PMA Transfer

169. The Plaintiffs incorporate the preceding paragraphs as if set forth fully herein.

170. Section 548(a)(1)(B) of the Bankruptcy Code provides that a trustee may avoid any transfer of any interest of the debtor in property, or any obligation incurred by the debtor, if the debtor (i) received less than reasonably equivalent value in exchange for the transfer or obligation; and (ii) (A) was insolvent on the date the transfer was made or the obligation was incurred, or became insolvent as the result of the transfer or obligation; (B) was engaged in business or a transaction, or was about to engage in business or a transaction for which any remaining property was unreasonably small capital; or (C) intended to incur, or believed the debtor would incur, debts that would be beyond the debtors' ability to pay such debts.

171. As described above, among other things, Acis LP:

- (i) received less than reasonably equivalent value in exchange for the ALF PMA Transfer;
- (ii) was insolvent on the date the ALF PMA Transfer was made or became insolvent as the result of the ALF PMA Transfer;

- (iii) was engaged in business or a transaction, or was about to engage in business or a transaction for which any remaining property was unreasonably small capital; and
- (iii) intended to incur, or believed Acis would incur, debts that would be beyond Acis's ability to pay such debts.

172. Therefore, ALF PMA Transfer is avoidable under section 548(a)(1)(B) of the Bankruptcy Code.

Count 12: Constructive Fraudulent Transfer under Tex. Bus. & Com. Code §§ 24.005(a)(2) and 24.006(a) for the ALF PMA Transfer [Against Highland Capital, Highland Funding, and Highland Advisor]

173. The Plaintiffs incorporate the preceding paragraphs as if set forth fully herein.

174. Section 544 of the Bankruptcy Code provides the Trustee with the ability to avoid transfers or obligations that would be avoidable by certain prepetition creditors of Acis. Texas Business and Commerce Code section 24.005(a)(2) provides that a current or future creditor may avoid a transfer if the debtor made the transfer or incurred the obligation (i) without receiving reasonably equivalent value in exchange for the transfer or obligation; and (ii) (A) was engaged or about to engage in a business or transaction for which the remaining assets were unreasonably small in relation to the business or transaction, or (B) intended to incur, or believed or reasonably should have believed, that the debtor would incur debts beyond the debtor's ability to pay as they became due. Similarly, Texas Business and Commerce Code section 24.006(a) provides that a current creditor may avoid a transfer if the debtor made the transfer or incurred the obligation (i) without receiving reasonably equivalent value in exchange for the transfer or obligation; and (ii) the debtor was insolvent or rendered insolvent by the transfer or obligation sought to be avoided. Pursuant to section 544 of the Bankruptcy Code, the Plaintiffs, now vested with all claims of the Trustee, may seek to avoid transfers made by Acis, or obligations incurred by Acis, pursuant to Texas Business and Commerce Code sections 24.005(a)(2) and 24.006(a).

175. As described above, Acis LP did not receive reasonably equivalent value in exchange for the ALF PMA Transfer, and creditors at the time of the ALF PMA Transfer could have avoided such transfer under section 24.005(a)(2) of the Texas Business and Commerce Code.

176. At the time of the ALF PMA Transfer, Acis intended to incur, or believed or reasonably should have believed that Acis would incur, debts beyond its ability to pay as they became due, and/or was engaged, or was about to engage in a business or transaction for which the remaining assets of Acis were unreasonably small in relation to such business or transaction.

177. Moreover, as described above, Acis was insolvent or was rendered insolvent by the ALF PMA Transfer.

178. The ALF PMA Transfer is therefore avoidable under Texas Business and Commerce Code sections 24.005(a)(2) and 24.006(a).

Count 13: Actual Fraudulent Transfer under 11 U.S.C. § 548(a)(1)(A)
for the ALF Share Transfer
[Against Highland Capital and Highland Funding]

179. The Plaintiffs incorporate the preceding paragraphs as if set forth fully herein.

180. Section 548(a)(1)(A) of the Bankruptcy Code provides that a trustee may avoid any transfer of an interest of the debtor in property, or any obligation incurred by the debtor, if the debtor made such transfer or incurred such obligation with actual intent to hinder, delay, or defraud any entity to which the debtor was or became, on or after the date that such transfer was made or such obligation was incurred, indebted.

181. The Plaintiffs, now vested with all claims of the Trustee, seek to avoid the ALF Share Transfer because such transfer was made with an actual intent to hinder, delay, or defraud Terry, a creditor of Acis, demonstrated by, among other things, that:

- (i) The ALF Share Transfer was made just four days after Terry's Arbitration Award against Acis;
- (ii) The ALF Share Transfer was made with the actual intent to divert Acis LP's interest and control in ALF to and for the benefit of Highland Funding, in fraud upon Acis LP's creditors, namely Terry.

- (vi) The transfer was made to an insider (Highland Funding) and for the benefit of an insider (Highland Capital); and
- (vii) Highland Capital (as sub-advisor to Highland Advisor) retained effective possession and control of the property transferred after the transfer.

Count 14: Actual Fraudulent Transfer under Tex. Bus. & Com. Code § 24.005(a)(1) for the ALF Share Transfer [Against Highland Capital and Highland Funding]

183. The Plaintiffs incorporate the preceding paragraphs as if set forth fully herein.

184. Section 544 of the Bankruptcy Code provides the Trustee with the ability to avoid transfers or obligations that would be avoidable by certain prepetition creditors of Acis. Texas Business and Commerce Code section 24.005(a)(1) provides that a current or future creditor may avoid a transfer if the debtor made the transfer or incurred the obligation with an actual intent to hinder, delay or defraud any creditor of the debtor. Pursuant to section 544 of the Bankruptcy Code, the Trustee may seek to avoid transfers made by Acis, or obligations incurred by Acis, pursuant to Texas Business and Commerce Code sections 24.005(a)(1).

185. The Plaintiffs, now vested with all claims of the Trustee, seek to avoid the ALF Share Transfer because such transfer was made with an actual intent to hinder, delay, or defraud Terry, a creditor of Acis, demonstrated by, among other things, that:

- (i) The ALF Share Transfer was made just four days after Terry's Arbitration Award against Acis;
- (ii) The ALF Share Transfer was made with the actual intent to divert Acis LP's interest and control in ALF to and for the benefit of Highland Funding, in fraud upon Acis LP's creditors, namely Terry.
- (iii) Acis LP was insolvent at the time of the ALF Share Transfer or became insolvent as a result of the ALF Share Transfer;
- (iv) The ALF Share Transfer occurred both before and after substantial debts were incurred by Acis LP; and

- (vi) The transfer was made to an insider (Highland Funding) and for the benefit of an insider (Highland Capital); and

- (vii) Highland Capital (as sub-advisor to Highland Advisor) retained effective possession and control of the property transferred after the transfer.

186. Therefore, Acis's creditors have the right to avoid the ALF Share Transfer under section 24.005(a)(1) of the Texas Business and Commerce Code, and the Plaintiffs can seek to enforce that right under section 544 of the Bankruptcy Code.

Count 15: Constructive Fraudulent Transfers under 11 U.S.C. § 548(a)(1)(B)
for the ALF Share Transfer
[Against Highland Capital and Highland Funding]

187. The Plaintiffs incorporate the preceding paragraphs as if set forth fully herein.

188. Section 548(a)(1)(B) of the Bankruptcy Code provides that a trustee may avoid any transfer of any interest of the debtor in property, or any obligation incurred by the debtor, if the debtor (i) received less than reasonably equivalent value in exchange for the transfer or obligation; and (ii) (A) was insolvent on the date the transfer was made or the obligation was incurred, or became insolvent as the result of the transfer or obligation: (B) was engaged in business or a transaction, or was about to engage in business or a transaction for which any remaining property was unreasonably small capital; or (C) intended to incur, or believed the debtor would incur, debts that would be beyond the debtors' ability to pay such debts.

189. As described above, among other things, Acis LP:

- (i) received less than reasonably equivalent value in exchange for the ALF Share Transfer;
- (ii) was insolvent on the date the ALF Share Transfer was made or became insolvent as the result of the ALF Share Transfer;
- (iii) was engaged in business or a transaction, or was about to engage in business or a transaction for which any remaining property was unreasonably small capital; and

- (iii) intended to incur, or believed Acis would incur, debts that would be beyond Acis's ability to pay such debts.

191. The Plaintiffs incorporate the preceding paragraphs as if set forth fully herein.

192. Section 544 of the Bankruptcy Code provides the Trustee with the ability to avoid transfers or obligations that would be avoidable by certain prepetition creditors of Acis. Texas Business and Commerce Code section 24.005(a)(2) provides that a current or future creditor may avoid a transfer if the debtor made the transfer or incurred the obligation (i) without receiving reasonably equivalent value in exchange for the transfer or obligation; and (ii) (A) was engaged or about to engage in a business or transaction for which the remaining assets were unreasonably small in relation to the business or transaction, or (B) intended to incur, or believed or reasonably should have believed, that the debtor would incur debts beyond the debtor's ability to pay as they became due. Similarly, Texas Business and Commerce Code section 24.006(a) provides that a current creditor may avoid a transfer if the debtor made the transfer or incurred the obligation (i) without receiving reasonably equivalent value in exchange for the transfer or obligation; and (ii) the debtor was insolvent or rendered insolvent by the transfer or obligation sought to be avoided. Pursuant to section 544 of the Bankruptcy Code, the Plaintiffs, now vested with all claims of the Trustee, may seek to avoid transfers made by Acis, or obligations incurred by Acis, pursuant to Texas Business and Commerce Code sections 24.005(a)(2) and 24.006(a).

193. As described above, Acis LP did not receive reasonably equivalent value in exchange for the ALF Share Transfer, and creditors at the time of the ALF Share Transfer could have avoided such transfer under section 24.005(a)(2) of the Texas Business and Commerce Code.

194. At the time of the ALF Share Transfer, Acis intended to incur, or believed or reasonably should have believed that Acis would incur, debts beyond its ability to pay as they became due, and/or was engaged, or was about to engage in a business or transaction for which the remaining assets of Acis were unreasonably small in relation to such business or transaction.

195. Moreover, as described above, Acis was insolvent or rendered insolvent by the ALF Share Transfer.

196. The ALF Share Transfer is therefore avoidable under Texas Business and Commerce Code sections 24.005(a)(2) and 24.006(a).

199. The Plaintiffs, now vested with all claims of the Trustee, seek to avoid the Note Transfer because such transfer was made with an actual intent to hinder, delay, or defraud Terry, a creditor of Acis, demonstrated by, among other things, that:

- (i) The Note Transfer was made shortly after Terry's Arbitration Award against Acis;

220. Section 544 of the Bankruptcy Code provides the Trustee with the ability to avoid transfers or obligations that would be avoidable by certain prepetition creditors of Acis. Texas Business and Commerce Code section 24.005(a)(1) provides that a current or future creditor may avoid a transfer if the debtor made the transfer or incurred the obligation with an actual intent to hinder, delay or defraud any creditor of the debtor. 251. The Plaintiffs incorporate the preceding paragraphs as if set forth fully herein.

252. Under Texas law, a claim for tortious interference with contract requires: "(1) an existing contract subject to interference, (2) a willful and intentional act of interference with the contract, (3) that proximately caused the plaintiff's injury, and (4) caused actual damages or loss." Official Brands, Inc. v. Roc Nation Sports, LLC, 2015 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 167320 *7 (N.D. Tex.) (J. Boyle) (quoting Prudential Ins. Co. of Am. v. Fin. Review Servs., Inc., 29 S.W.3d 74, 77 (Tex. 2000)). The fact that a contract is an at-will agreement is no defense to a tortious interference claim. Id.

253. The Universal/BVK Agreement is an existing contract to which Acis LP is a party. The Universal/BVK Agreement is an existing contract that is subject to interference.

254. From nearly day one of these Bankruptcy Cases, Highland Capital has sought to terminate Acis LP as the manager under the Universal/BVK Agreement, and replace Acis LP with Highland Capital or one of its affiliates. Highland Capital's actions involve communications over many months with Universal and BVK, including numerous communications after Highland Capital was terminated as sub-advisor on August 1, 2018 and no longer had any legitimate reason to communicate with Universal or BVK. Highland Capital even prepared and sent to Universal and BVK a new outsourcing agreement, which would be entered once Acis LP and its bankruptcy were out of the way.

255. Acis LP and its estate have suffered and will suffer actual damages as a proximate result of the interference of Highland Capital.

256. The Plaintiffs, now vested with all claims of the Trustee, seek actual and exemplary damages for Highland Capital's tortious interference with the Universal/BVK Agreement.

Count 29: Breach of Contract by Highland Capital under the Sub-Advisory Agreement and Shared Services Agreement
[Against Highland Capital]

257. The Plaintiffs incorporate the preceding paragraphs as if set forth fully herein.

258. Under Texas law, to prevail on a breach of contract claim, a party must show: "(1) the existence of a valid contract; (2) the plaintiff performed or tendered performance as the contract required; (3) the defendant breached the contract by failing to perform or tender performance as the contract required; and (4) the plaintiff sustained damages as a result of the breach." USAA Tex. Lloyds Co. v. Menchaca, 545 S.W.3d 479, 501 n.21 (Tex. 2018).

259. The Sub-Advisory Agreement is a valid contract between Acis LP and Highland Capital, under which Highland Capital was obligated to, inter alia:<sup>35</sup>

- (i) make recommendations to Acis LP for the purchase, retention, or sale of specific loans or assets in the CLOs;
- (ii) place orders with respect to the purchase or sale of specific loans or assets for the CLOs, upon instruction from Acis LP;
- (iii) identify, evaluate, recommend to Acis LP, and, if applicable, negotiate the structure or terms of investment opportunities for the CLOs;
- (iv) assist Acis LP in performing its due diligence on prospective investments for the CLOs; and

<sup>35</sup> Although the Plaintiffs plead herein that certain provisions of the Sub-Advisory Agreement, which are in violation of the LPA, are unauthorized and ultra vires, section 15 of the Sub-Advisory Agreement provides that any such invalid provision does not affect or render "invalid or unenforceable by virtue of the fact that for any reason any other or others of them may be invalid or unenforceable in whole or in part."

(v) provide information to Acis LP regarding any investments in the CLOs, and, if requested by Acis LP, provide information to assist in monitoring and servicing investments by the CLOs.

See Sub-Advisory Agreement § 1(b). Further, "[n]otwithstanding the foregoing, all investment decisions will ultimately be the responsibility of, and will be made by and at the sole discretion of, [Acis LP]." Id.

260. Section 4(a) of the Sub-Advisory Agreement specifically provides:

[T]he Sub-Advisor will perform its obligations [under the Sub-Advisory Agreement] in good faith with reasonable care using a degree of skill and attention no less than that which the Sub-Advisor uses with respect to comparable assets that it manages for others and, without limiting the foregoing, in a manner which the Sub-Advisor reasonably believes to be consistent with the practices and procedures followed by institutional managers of national standing relating to assets of the nature and character of the Portfolios[.]

261. Since at least the time the Trustee was appointed in these Bankruptcy Cases, while acting as sub-advisor, Highland Capital failed to purchase a single loan for the CLOs, and only provided for the sale of loans, in an attempt to complete a stealth liquidation of the CLOs for the Highlands' benefit, and to the detriment of Acis LP. Such practice is inconsistent with the practices and procedures followed by institutional managers of national standing, such as Brigade, relating to assets of the nature and character of the CLOs. Highland Capital's activities are, however, completely consistent with the Highlands' ultimate goal to take away Acis LP's valuable assets and take over Acis LP's valuable business as portfolio manager of the CLOs.

262. Highland Capital grossly mismanaged the CLOs, in abrogation of its duties and disregard of the standard of care under the Sub-Advisory Agreement. Accordingly, Highland Capital has breached its obligations under the Sub-Advisory Agreement, and such breach caused economic damages to Acis LP. Acis LP is therefore entitled to recover, to the fullest extent under applicable law, the amount of such damages from Highland Capital.

263. Further, to the extent any of the above-mentioned acts constitute services Highland Capital asserts it provided pursuant to the Shared Services Agreement, such services failed to meet the "Standard of Care" set forth in the Shared Services Agreement and were committed in bad faith or were the result of gross negligence, fraud, and/or willful misconduct. Highland Capital's breach of the Shared Services Agreement caused economic damages to Acis LP. Acis LP is therefore entitled to recover, to the fullest extent under applicable law, the amount of such damages from Highland Capital.

Count 30: Breach of Fiduciary Duties by Highland Capital
[Against Highland Capital]

264. The Plaintiffs incorporate the preceding paragraphs as if fully set forth herein.

265. Pursuant to the Sub-Advisory Agreement, a principal-agent relationship existed between Acis LP and Highland Capital. As its investment adviser, Highland Capital owed Acis LP fiduciary duties. See Sec. & Exch. Comm'n v. Capital Gains Research Bureau, Inc., 375 U.S. 180, 191, (1963); Commission Interpretation Regarding Standard of Conduct for Investment Advisers, Release No. IA-5248. 17, C.F.R. Part 276 (June 5, 2019). Further, based on Highland Capital's role as sub-advisor and investment adviser to Acis LP, a special relationship of trust and confidence existed between Acis LP and Highland Capital. See W. Reserve Life Assur. Co. of Ohio v. Graben, 233 S.W.3d 360, 373-74 (Tex. App.—Fort Worth 2007, no pet.). Accordingly, in its capacity of sub-advisor to Acis LP, Highland Capital owed fiduciary duties to Acis LP.

266. Highland Capital, while acting as sub-advisor for Acis LP, purposefully engaged in conduct that was detrimental to Acis LP in order to enrich itself. As outlined in detail above, Highland Capital increased the amount due to Highland Capital under the Sub-Advisory Agreement, including charging amounts far in excess of appropriate market rates and amounts in excess of the compensation limits of the LPA. Highland Capital was also the ringleader, and ultimate beneficiary, for the series of fraudulent schemes executed in the Fall of 2017 that terminated or transferred away Acis LP's valuable rights in the ALF PMA, the ALF Shares, the Note, the 2017-7 Equity and the 2017-7 Agreements. This was done with the very specific intent to make Acis "judgment proof," as Acis's own counsel later boasted, and in order to ensure that Terry would never receive payment on his judgment, as Dondero has threatened. These transfers, while very damaging to Acis LP, also furthered Highland Capital's plan to take over Acis LP's very lucrative portfolio management business and keep it under the control of Highland Capital and Dondero. Finally, Highland Capital sought to transfer the Universal/BVK Agreement away from Acis LP and to itself or an affiliate, including while Highland Capital was serving as sub-advisor (and as a fiduciary) for such agreement.

267. By its actions, Highland Capital specifically intended to cause harm to Acis LP by denuding it of its assets and enriching Highland Capital. In doing so, Highland Capital breached its fiduciary duties to Acis LP.

268. As a consequence, the Plaintiffs, now vested with all claims of the Trustee, are entitled to an award of punitive damages against Highland Capital in an amount to be determined by the Court.

Count 31: Punitive Damages [Against All Defendants]

269. The Plaintiffs incorporate the preceding paragraphs as if set forth fully herein.

270. The Highlands, led by Highland Capital and Dondero, engaged in fraud against Acis and its creditors, acted with malice toward Acis and its creditors, and were, at best, grossly negligent in their dealings with Acis.

271. Further, Plaintiffs are entitled to punitive damages in connection with Highland Capital's: (i) breach of fiduciary duties to Acis due to its fraudulent conduct, (ii) tortious interference, and (iii) violations of TUFTA. See Bombardier Aerospace Corp. v. SPEP Aircraft Holdings, LLC, 572 S.W. 3d 213, 232 (Tex. 2019) (fiduciary duties); Texas Beef Cattle Co. v. Green, 921 S.W.2d 203, 210 (Tex. 1996) (tortious interference); Mullins v. Testamerica, Inc., CIV.A. 3:02-CV-0106-, 2006 WL 2167401, at *10 (N.D. Tex. Aug. 2, 2006) (TUFTA).

272. Thus, the Plaintiffs, now vested with all claims of the Trustee, are entitled to punitive damages, and the Plaintiffs plead for such damages in connection with each Count pleaded herein that will support a claim for punitive damages.

Count 32: Disregarding the Corporate Form/Alter Ego/Collapsing Doctrine/Unjust Enrichment
[Against All Defendants]

273. The Plaintiffs incorporate the preceding paragraphs as if set forth fully herein.

274. Under Texas law, ignoring the separateness of business entities and holding affiliated entities liable for all debts of the fraudulent enterprise is appropriate "when the corporate form has been used as part of a basically unfair device to achieve and inequitable result. Examples are when the corporate structure has been abused to perpetrate a fraud, evade an existing obligation . . . or justify a wrong." SSP Partners v. Gladstrong Inv. (USA) Corp., 275 S.W.3d 444, 451 (Tex. 2008); see also Flores v. Bodden, 488 Fed. App'x 770, 775-76 (5th Cir. 2012) (listing "six situations in which a court may disregard the corporate form"); Bridas S.A.P.I.C. v. Gov't of Turkmenistan, 447 F.3d 411, 416 (5th Cir. 2006) (finding alter ego present).<sup>36</sup>

<sup>36</sup> To the extent Delaware law applies to any of the alter ego claims, Delaware also recognizes alter ego on similar grounds. "Delaware does, however, recognize the traditional alter ego doctrine as grounds to pierce the corporate veil in cases involving the members of a corporate group. To state an alter ego claim under Delaware law, the [plaintiff] must plead (1) that [the] defendants 'operated as a single economic entity' and (2) that an 'overall element

275. Highland Capital, Highland Funding, Highland Adviser, Highland Management, and Highland Holdings (the "Alter Egos") are all controlled by the CEO and ultimate majority owner of Highland Capital, Dondero. Each of the Alter Egos should be held liable for any damages awarded under any Count in this Second Amended Complaint, as each is the alter ego of the others. Further, each of the Alter Egos should be held liable for any debts of the Debtors, as they are also the alter ego of the Debtors.

276. In this case, the Alter Egos unquestionably used the corporate form as a means of perpetuating the fraudulent scheme set forth above. For example, creating shell corporations in the Cayman Islands days after the Arbitration Award in order to avoid payment of Acis's creditors is precisely the type fraud or injustice that warrants disregarding the corporate form. Such actions satisfy, at a minimum, the first three situations in which a court may disregard the corporate form.

277. Further, "multistep transactions can be collapsed when the steps of the transaction are `part of one integrated transaction.'" In re Yazoo Pipeline Co., L.P., 448 B.R. 163, 187 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. 2011) (J. Isgur) (internal citations omitted). The Supreme Court likewise has held that a bankruptcy court, as a court of equity, may look through form to substance when determining the true nature of a transaction as it relates to the rights of parties against a bankrupt's estate. Pepper v. Litton, 308 U.S. 295, 304-05 (1939).

278. The ALF PMA Transfer, the ALF Share Transfer, the Note Transfer, and the transfer of the 2017-7 Equity and the 2017-7 Agreements should be collapsed and recognized for what they are: Highland Capital using offshore entities to take over Acis LP's assets and business while Highland Capital maintains absolute control over such assets and business, and even using

alleged debt owed to Highland Capital as the purported consideration for these transactions in order to mask Highland Capital's otherwise clear liability for avoidable transfers.

279. Finally, unjust enrichment is an equitable theory of recovery holding that one who receives benefits unjustly should make restitution for those benefits. Bransom v. Standard Hardware, Inc., 874 S.W.2d 919, 927 (Tex. App.--Fort Worth 1994). A party is unjustly enriched when it obtains a "benefit from another by fraud, duress, or the taking of an undue advantage." Heldenfels Bros., Inc. v. City of Corpus Christi, 832 S.W.2d 39, 41 (Tex. 1992).

280. Each of the Highlands, and in particular Highland Capital and Highland Funding, benefitted from the ALF PMA Transfer, the ALF Share Transfer, the Note Transfer, and the transfer of the 2017-7 Equity and the 2017-7 Agreements even if they were not the direct transferee. Each of the Highlands should be held liable for benefits unjustly received and make restitution to the Debtors and their estates for those benefits.

Count 33: Willful Violation of the Automatic Stay [Against Highland Capital and Highland Funding]

281. The Plaintiffs incorporate the preceding paragraphs as if set forth fully herein.

282. A willful violation of the automatic stay does not require a specific intent.

Rather, the statute provides for damages upon a finding that the defendant knew of the automatic stay and the defendant's actions which violated the stay were intentional. Whether the party believes in good faith that it had a right to the property is not relevant to whether the act was 'willful' or whether compensation must be awarded.

Campbell v. Countrywide Home Loan, Inc., 545 F.3d 348, 355 (5th Cir. 2008) (quoting In re Chestnut, 422 F.3d.298, 302 (5th Cir. 2005).

283. "It is not up to a party exercising a self-help remedy to determine, to the preclusion of this court, what is or is not property of the estate." Chesnut v. Brown (In re Chesnut), 300 B.R. 880, 887 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 2003).

284. Section 362(k)(1) of the Bankruptcy Code provides that "an individual injured by any willful violation of a stay provided by this section shall recover actual damages, including costs and attorneys' fees, and, in appropriate circumstances, may recover punitive damages." The Fifth Circuit has indicated that remedies under 362(k)(1) are available to trustees. St Paul Fire & Marine Ins. Co. v. Labuzan, 579 F.3d 533, 539-540 (5th Cir. 2009). The term "individual" is not defined by the Bankruptcy Code, but it is used throughout the Code to refer to debtors and non-debtors. See Homer Nat'l Bank v. Namie, 96 B.R. 652, 654 (W.D. La. 1989) (citing, inter alia, 11 U.S.C. §§ 522(b) (individual as debtor), 321(a)(1) (individual as trustee)).

285. Further, pursuant to section 105(a) of the Bankruptcy Code, "[t]he Court may issue any order, process, or judgment that is necessary or appropriate to carry out the provisions of this title." 11 U.S.C. § 105(a). The purpose of section 105(a) is "to assure the bankruptcy courts power to take whatever action is appropriate or necessary in aid of the exercise of their jurisdiction." 2 COLLIER ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 105.01 (collecting cases). This is consistent with the broad equitable authority of the bankruptcy courts. See United States v. Energy Resources Co., Inc., 495 U.S. 545, 549 (1990).

286. Highland Capital knew the automatic stay was in effect when it intentionally acted, without Court approval, to force the Trustee to effectuate the optional redemptions, including when it demanded on June 20, 2018, that the Trustee take actions to effectuate the optional redemption by June 21, 2018.

287. Highland Funding knew the automatic stay was in effect when it intentionally acted, without Court approval, to force the Trustee to effectuate the optional redemptions, including each occasion described herein when it sent the Trustee the Optional Redemption Notices.

288. Pursuant to section 362(k)(1), the Plaintiffs seek recovery of damages commensurate with its injury, due to Highland Capital's and Highland Funding's violations of the automatic stay. Further, given Highland Capital's and Highland Funding's blatant and willful violation of the automatic stay (as well as the TRO), the Plaintiffs seek attorneys' fees, punitive damages, and sanctions, as the Court finds appropriate, pursuant to section 105(a) of the Bankruptcy Code.

Count 34: Attorneys' Fees and Costs,
Including all Allowed Professionals' Fees and Expenses in the Bankruptcy Cases [Against All Defendants]

289. The Plaintiffs incorporate the preceding paragraphs as if set forth fully herein.

290. Pursuant to Texas Business and Commerce Code section 24.013, Civil Practice and Remedies Code section 38.001, TUFTA, and any other applicable law, the Plaintiffs may recovery attorneys' fees and costs incurred in bringing this Adversary Proceeding.

291. Plaintiffs further seek recovery from Highland Capital of all allowed professionals' fees and expenses in the Bankruptcy Cases, which were losses to Acis resulting from Highland Capital's breach of fiduciary duties to Acis. See Meyers v. Moody, 693 F.2d 1196, 1214 (5th Cir. 1982).

VII. REQUEST FOR DISGORGEMENT

292. The Plaintiffs incorporate the preceding paragraphs as if set forth fully herein.

293. "Under the equitable remedy of disgorgement or fee forfeiture, a person who renders service to another in a relationship of trust may be denied compensation for his service if he breaches that trust." McCullough v. Scarbrough, Medlin & Assocs., 435 S.W.3d 871, 904-05 (Tex. App.—Dallas 2014) (citing Burrow v. Arce, 997 S.W.2d 229, 237 (Tex. 1999)). "The remedy essentially returns to the principal the value of what it paid for because it did not receive the trust or loyalty." McCullough, 435 S.W.3d at 905 (citing Burrow, 997 S.W.2d at 237-38).

"The amount of disgorgement is within the trial court's discretion; the court may 'deny him all compensation or allow him a reduced compensation or allow him full compensation.'" McCullough, 435 S.W.3d at 905 (citing Burrow, 997 S.W.2d at 237 (quoting RESTATEMENT (SECOND) OF TORTS § 243 (1959))).

294. "Equitable disgorgement is distinct from an award of actual damages in that the disgorgement award 'serves a separate function of protecting fiduciary relationships.'" McCullough, 435 S.W.3d at 905 (quoting Saden v. Smith, 415 S.W.3d 450, 469 (Tex. App.—Houston [1st] Dist. 2013, pet. denied)); see also Burrow, 997 S.W.2d at 238 ("[T]he central purpose of the equitable remedy of [disgorgement] is to protect relationships of trust by discouraging agent's disloyalty.").

295. The basis for the disgorgement award against Highland Capital stems from its liability in connection with its breach of fiduciary duty, as pleaded herein, and should be "phrased in terms of the salary, profits or other income [Highland Capital] received during the time [it] committed the tortious conduct." McCullough, 435 S.W.3d at 905 (internal quotation marks omitted).

296. Accordingly, Plaintiffs request disgorgement of all funds received by Highland Capital, who breached its fiduciary duties to Acis.

VIII. REQUEST FOR IMPOSITION OF CONSTRUCTIVE TRUST

297. The Plaintiffs incorporate the preceding paragraphs as if set forth fully herein.

298. "A constructive trust is not a cause of action under Texas law." In re Moore, 608 F.3d 253, 263 (5th Cir. 2010). Rather, "[a] constructive trust is an equitable remedy used to prevent unjust enrichment." Baxter v. PNC Bank Nat'l Ass'n, 541 Fed. App'x 395, 398 (5th Cir. 2013) (citing Everett v. TK-Taito, LLC, 178 S.W.3d 844, 859 (Tex. App.—Fort Worth 2005, no pet.)); see also Messier v. Messier, 458 S.W.3d 155, 164 (Tex. App.—Houston [14th Dist.] 2015, no pet.) ("A constructive trust is imposed when one party holds property that legally belongs to the other.")). "In order to establish a constructive trust, the proponent must prove: (1) breach of a special trust, fiduciary relationship, or actual fraud; (2) unjust enrichment of the wrongdoer; and, (3) tracing to an identifiable res." Baxter, 541 Fed. App'x at 398; accord Clapper v. Am. Realty Inv'rs, Inc., 3:14-CV-2970-D, 2015 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 71543, at *26 (N.D. Tex. June 3, 2015).

299. As described herein, Highland Capital breached its fiduciary duties to Acis, and the Highlands acted in concert to perpetrate the series of fraudulent transfers in order to strip Acis of its assets for the benefit of Highlands.

300. The Highlands were unjustly enriched because they benefitted from the "fraud [and] the taking of an undue advantage" against Acis. See Heldenfels Bros., 832 S.W.2d at 41. Each of the Highlands, and in particular Highland Capital and Highland Funding, benefitted from the property transferred, which is traceable and identified herein, as a result of the ALF PMA Transfer, the ALF Share Transfer, the Note Transfer, and the transfer of the 2017-7 Equity and the 2017-7 Agreements even if they were not the direct transferee.

301. Further, Highland Capital, who breached its fiduciary duties to Acis, was unjustly enriched in connection with the Expense Overpayments as well as by the payments received as a result of the modifications to the Sub Agreements, and such benefits may be traced and identified by the payments from Acis LP to Highland Capital under the modified Sub Agreements.

302. Accordingly, the Plaintiffs requests that a constructive trust is established for those benefits unjustly received by the Highlands.

IX. OBJECTIONS TO HIGHLAND CAPITAL PROOFS OF CLAIM

303. The Plaintiffs incorporate the preceding paragraphs as if set forth fully herein.

304. The Highland Capital Claims are allegedly based on claims arising from the Sub-Advisory Agreement and the Shared Services Agreement. The Highland Capital Claims<sup>37</sup> are summarized as follows:

Sub-Advisory Agreement	$1,605,362.41
Shared Services Agreement	$1,017,213.62
Total alleged Pre-Petition Claim	$2,622,576.03
Alleged 502(f) Claim<sup>39</sup>	Alleged 502(f) Claim Amount
Sub-Advisory Agreement	$1,170,147.06
Shared Services Agreement	$ 879,417.29
Total alleged 502(f) Claim	$2,049,564.35
Total Claim Amount	$4,672,140.38

<sup>37</sup> Highland Capital filed identical claims against both Acis LP and Acis GP. Acis GP is not a party to the Sub-Advisory Agreement or the Shared Services Agreement. Presumably, Highland Capital is relying on Delaware partnership law to argue that Acis GP is also liable under the Sub-Advisory Agreement and Shared Services Agreement. See 6 Del. C. § 17-403(b) ("Except as provided in this chapter, a general partner of a limited partnership has the liabilities of a partner in a partnership that is governed by the Delaware Uniform Partnership Law in effect on July 11, 1999 (6 Del. C. § 1501 et seq.) to persons other than the partnership and the other partners. Except as provided in this chapter or in the partnership agreement, a general partner of a limited partnership has the liabilities of a partner in a partnership that is governed by the Delaware Uniform Partnership Law in effect on July 11, 1999 (6 Del. C. § 1501 et seq.) to the partnership and to the other partners."); see also 6 Del. C. § 15-306(a) ("(a) Except as otherwise provided in subsections (b) and (c) of this section, all partners are liable jointly and severally for all obligations of the partnership unless otherwise agreed by the claimant or provided by law"). If this is the case, Acis does not dispute this basic tenet of partnership law; however, Acis disputes the Highland Capital Claims for the reasons set forth herein. Accordingly, all arguments set forth herein are applicable to both Highland Capital Claims.

The Highland Capital Claims also include contingent indemnity claims arising under the Sub Agreements.

305. The Highland Capital Claims should be disallowed under (i) section 502(b)(1) of the Bankruptcy Code; (ii) section 502(b)(4) of the Bankruptcy Code; (iii) and section 502(d) of the Bankruptcy Code. The Highland Capital Claims are unenforceable against the Debtors under the LPA and applicable law. The Highland Capital Claims are for services of an insider of the Debtors and exceed the reasonable value of the services. As set forth above, Plaintiffs have asserted avoidance actions against Highland Capital such that the Highland Capital Claims should be disallowed. Finally, to the extent allowed at all, the Highland Capital Claims should be equitably subordinated under section 510(c) of the Bankruptcy Code.

306. Pursuant to section 502(b) and (d) of the Bankruptcy Code and Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 3007, the Plaintiffs seek entry of an order disallowing and expunging the Highland Capital Claims from the Debtors' claims registers.

A. The Highland Capital Claims Should be Disallowed under 11 U.S.C. § 502(b)(1).

307. "Section 502(b)(1) provides that a claim is allowed except to the extent it is unenforceable under applicable law." In re White, No. 06-50247-RLJ-13, 2008 Bankr. LEXIS 167, at *17-18 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. Jan. 28, 2008). "[T]he the validity of a creditor's claims against the debtor at the time the bankruptcy petition is filed 'is to be determined by reference to state law.'" Carrieri v. Jobs.com, Inc., 393 F.3d 508, 529 (5th Cir. 2004) (quoting Kellogg v. United States (In re W. Tex. Mktg. Co.), 54 F.3d 1194, 1196 (5th Cir. 1995)).

308. As set forth more fully above, the Highland Capital Claims are based entirely on amounts alleged to be due pursuant to the Sub Agreements. As outlined in the causes of action above, there are significant amounts due to Acis LP by Highland Capital under or in connection with the Sub Agreements, which constitute a right of recoupment and/or offset to the entirety of the Highland Capital Claims. Further, any portion of the Highland Capital Claims that are based on ultra vires acts, as alleged in Count 1 above, are void or voidable. Accordingly, the Highland Capital Claims are not enforceable under applicable law, and the Highland Capital Claims should therefore be disallowed.

B. The Highland Capital Claims Should be Disallowed under 11 U.S.C. § 502(b)(4).

309. The Highland Capital Claims are claims for services by an insider, Highland Capital, and the Highland Capital Claims exceed the reasonable value of the services provided by Highland Capital. Section 502(b)(4) of the Bankruptcy Code provides, in relevant part, that a claim for services of an insider or attorney of a debtor shall not be allowed to the extent that "such claim exceeds the reasonable value of such services."

310. The purpose of section 502(b)(4) is: "(1) to prevent insiders of a debtor from extracting inflated compensation from the debtor at the expense of the debtor's creditors; and (2) to prevent over-generosity of a debtor prior to a bankruptcy filing." Faulkner v. Canada (In re Heritage Org., L.L.C.), Case No. 04-35574-BJH-11, Adv. No. 04-3338, 2006 Bankr. LEXIS 4662, at *22-23 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. Jan. 5, 2006); see also In re Allegheny Int'l, 158 B.R. 332, 339 (Bankr. W.D. Pa. 1992) ("The purpose underlying 11 U.S.C. § 502(b)(4) is to prevent officers and directors (insiders) of a debtor from extracting inflated amounts for their services at the expense of the creditors.").

1. Highland Capital is an Insider of the Debtors.

311. Under section 101(31) of the Bankruptcy Code, an insider includes certain enumerated parties, such as an officer of the debtor, affiliate, etc. Further, the list of enumerated "insiders" is not exclusive or exhaustive. See In re Missionary Baptist Foundation of Am., Inc., 712 F.2d 206, 210 (5th Cir. 1983). Recently, the United States Supreme Court stated: "Courts have additionally recognized as insiders some persons not on that [101(31)] list—commonly known as 'nonstatutory insiders.' The conferral of that status often turns on whether the person's transactions with the debtor (or another of its insiders) were at arm's length." U.S. Bank N.A. v. Vill. at Lakeridge, LLC, 138 S. Ct. 960, 963 (2018).

312. The Fifth Circuit has noted that "cases which have considered whether insider status exists generally have focused on two factors in making that determination: (1) the closeness of the relationship between the parties and (2) whether the transaction . . . [was] conducted at arm's length." In re Holloway, 955 F.2d 1008, 1011 (5th Cir. 1992).

313. Highland Capital is a statutory insider, a non-statutory insider, an admitted insider, and an adjudicated insider. The statutory definition of "insider" includes an "affiliate" of the debtor. 11 U.S.C. § 101(31)(E). Prior to the entry of the Orders for Relief, Highland Capital met the statutory definition of "affiliate" because Highland Capital "operate[d] the business or substantially all of the property of the [D]ebtor under a[n] . . . operating agreement." See 11 U.S.C. § 101(2)(D). Under the Sub Agreements, Acis LP effectively ceded control over its operations to Highland Capital.<sup>40</sup>

314. Highland Capital is a non-statutory insider because Dondero controlled both Acis and Highland Capital prior to the date the Court entered the Orders for Relief. The closeness of the Highland Capital-Acis relationship is demonstrated by the fact that both companies are under Dondero's common control, Acis had no employees and Acis was operated exclusively by Highland Capital employees. Transactions were not conducted at arm's length. Indeed, Dondero

<sup>40</sup> For purposes of section 502(b)(4), courts examine whether a party is an "insider" on the date the operative document was executed. Here, it is indisputable that Highland Capital was an insider when the Sub-Advisory Agreement and the Shared Services Agreement were executed, and Highland Capital was an insider on the Petition Date. See Faulkner, 2006 Bankr. LEXIS 4662, at *17 ("The determination of insider status is made as of the time the claimant provided services to the debtor."); In re Allegheny Int'l, 158 B.R. 332, 339 (Bankr. W.D. Pa. 1992) ("[T]he relevant time for determining one's status as an insider, under 11 U.S.C. § 502(b)(4), is the time services were rendered and when the compensation contracts for such services were formed[.]").

signed both the Sub-Advisory Agreement and the Shared Services Agreement for Highland Capital and Acis.

315. Highland Capital is an admitted insider and an adjudicated insider. During the trial on the involuntary petitions, the Debtors, controlled by Highland Capital, admitted that Highland Capital is an insider of the Debtors.<sup>41</sup> Acis LP's SOFA lists payments to Highland Capital in the section titled "Payments or transfers of property made within 1 year before the filing of this case that benefited any insider." The SOFA is signed by Isaac Leventon, an employee of Highland Capital (who, on information and belief, had no official title or position with the Debtors). Additionally, this Court has found that Highland Capital is an insider of the Debtors, stating: "the court believes it necessary to remove certain insider creditor claims, which are required not to be counted pursuant to section 303(b)(2) of the Bankruptcy Code. This would clearly include Highland Capital (the Alleged Debtors do not dispute this)." Opinion ¶ 38 (footnotes omitted) (emphasis added).

2. The Highland Capital Claims Exceed the Reasonable Value of the Services Provided.

316. "In analyzing the reasonableness of a claim for services under § 502(b)(4), a court should consider the totality of the circumstances involved at the time that the services were rendered." Faulkner, 2006 Bankr. LEXIS 4662, at *23 (citing In re Gutierrez, 309 B.R. 488, 493 (Bankr. W.D. Tex. 2004)). "Reasonable value" under Section 502(b)(4) is "synonymous with 'market value.'" In re Delta Air Lines, Inc., No. 05-17923 (cgm), 2010 Bankr. LEXIS 233, at *22 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. Feb. 3, 2010). "The burden of proof on reasonableness under § 502(b)(4) ultimately lies with the insider." Id. at 24. Thus, Highland Capital has the burden to establish the reasonableness of its claims. Further, when the validity of an insider's contract with a corporation is at issue, the burden is on the insider "not only to prove the good faith of the transaction but also to show its inherent fairness from the viewpoint of the corporation and those interested therein." In re Marquam Inv. Corp., 942 F.2d 1462, 1465 (9th Cir. 1991) (quoting Pepper v. Litton, 308 U.S. 295, 306 (1939)).

317. Together, the Sub Agreements (as amended) charge Acis LP fees far exceeding the market value of the services provided under such agreements. First, the Trustee's professionals engaged in a marketing process in connection with the Brigade Motion. After conducting a diligent search of the market, the Trustee located a replacement for Highland Capital that provided the services Highland Capital previously provided the Debtor for roughly half the cost Highland Capital charged Acis LP. The Sub Agreements also significantly contributed to rendering Acis insolvent. In fact, the General Counsel of Highland Capital, Scott Ellington, admitted that as of February 7, 2018—one week after the Petition Date—Acis was insolvent or close to insolvent.<sup>42</sup>

318. Highland Capital cannot show that the exorbitant fees charged under the Sub Agreements are reasonable or that entry into such agreements was in good faith and demonstrates inherent fairness. Therefore, pursuant to section 502(b)(4), the Highland Capital Claims should be disallowed in their entirety.

C. Highland Capital Received Voidable Transfers and Holds Property of the Estate, and the Trustee is Entitled to Setoff under Section 502(d) of the Bankruptcy Code.

319. As set out more fully in the causes of action above, the Plaintiffs seek: (i) avoidance of actual and constructively fraudulent transfers and obligations pursuant to sections

<sup>42</sup> 2-7-18 Transcript at 219: 22-25 (THE COURT: Do you think Acis is in the zone of insolvency? THE WITNESS: I don't know the answer to that, but I would -- I would assume that it was -- that it's close.)

544 and 548 of the Bankruptcy Code, (ii) avoidance of preferential transfers pursuant to section 547 of the Bankruptcy Code; (iii) turnover of property the estate pursuant to section 542 of the Bankruptcy Code; and (iv) liability for the foregoing under section 550 of the Bankruptcy Code.

320. "Under section 502(d), 'the court shall disallow any claim of any entity . . . that is a transferee of a transfer avoidable under section . . . 544 [or 548] of this title, unless such . . . transferee has paid the amount, or turned over any such property.'" In re Consol. Capital Equities Corp., 143 B.R. 80, 84 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 1992) (quoting 11 U.S.C. § 502(d)) (emphasis in original).<sup>43</sup> Application of section 502(d) is not restricted to cases where a fraudulent transfer has already been avoided, but rather applies to pending fraudulent transfer claims as well. In other words, the statute does not require that the transfer actually be avoided, only that it be "avoidable." Id. As a result, once a fraudulent transfer claim has been asserted, the mandatory language of section 502(d) requires bankruptcy courts to consider the fraudulent transfer issue as a component of the claims allowance process. U.S. Bank N.A. v. Verizon Communs., Inc., 761 F.3d 409, 419 (5th Cir. 2014) (finding mandatory language of section 502(d) precluded the court from resolving claims where the trustee alleged the claimant was the transferee of a fraudulent transfer). Moreover, the Court may disallow the Highland Capital Claims before adjudicating the causes of action set forth herein. See In re Heritage Org., L.L.C., 375 B.R. 230, 288-289 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 2007) (finding a court order avoiding a transfer is not a prerequisite to disallowance of a claim).

321. Thus, pursuant to section 502(d) of the Bankruptcy Code, the Court should disallow the Highland Capital Claims.

<sup>43</sup> "Notwithstanding subsections (a) and (b) of this section, the court shall disallow any claim of any entity from which property is recoverable under section 542, 543, 550, or 553 of this title [11 USCS § 542, 543, 550, or 553] or that is a transferee of a transfer avoidable under section 522(f), 522(h), 544, 545, 547, 548, 549, or 724(a) of this title, unless such entity or transferee has paid the amount, or turned over any such property, for which such entity or transferee is liable under section 522(i), 542, 543, 550, or 553 of this title." 11 U.S.C. § 502(d)

D. The Highland Capital Claims Should be Equitably Subordinated.

322. Section 510(c) of the Bankruptcy Code expressly authorizes subordination of the allowed claim of one creditor to the allowed claims of other creditors "under principles of equitable subordination."

323. In In re Mobile Steel Co., 563 F.2d 692 (5th Cir. 1977), the Fifth Circuit articulated what has become the most commonly accepted standard for equitable subordination of a claim. Under the Mobile Steel standard, a claim can be subordinated if the claimant engaged in some type of inequitable conduct that resulted in injury to creditors (or conferred an unfair advantage on the claimant) and if equitable subordination of the claim is consistent with the provisions of the Bankruptcy Code.

324. During the time it completely dominated control of Acis, Highland Capital clearly engaged in abundant inequitable conduct related to Acis, as well as conferring numerous unfair advantages to itself, which resulted in injury to Acis's creditors. As outlined in detail above, Highland Capital increased the amount due to Highland Capital under the Sub-Advisory Agreement, including charging amounts far in excess of appropriate market rates. This has resulted in a grossly inflated claim for Highland Capital as well as significant overpayments to Highland Capital for whatever services and value it did provide to Acis under these agreements.

325. Highland Capital was also the ringleader, and ultimate beneficiary, for the series of fraudulent schemes executed in the fall of 2017 that terminated or transferred away Acis LP's valuable rights in the ALF PMA, the ALF Shares, the Note, the 2017-7 Equity and the 2017-7 Agreements. This was done with the very specific intent to make Acis "judgment proof," as Acis's own counsel later boasted,<sup>44</sup> and in order to ensure that Terry and other creditors would never receive payment on his judgment, as Dondero has threatened.<sup>45</sup> These transfers, while very damaging to Acis LP and its creditors, also furthered Highland Capital's plan to take over Acis LP's very lucrative portfolio management business and keep it under the control of Highland Capital and Dondero. Finally, even during the Bankruptcy Cases, Highland Capital has attempted to transfer and take over Acis LP's very lucrative Universal/BVK Agreement.

326. To the extent the Highland Capital Claims are allowed in any amount, they are subject to equitable subordination and should be subordinated below all other allowed unsecured claims in the bankruptcy case.

X. OBJECTIONS TO HIGHLAND CAPITAL'S ADMINISTRATIVE CLAIM

A. Highland Capital's Administrative Claim is Subject to Disallowance for the Same Reasons the Highland Capital Claims Should be Disallowed.

1. Prevailing on the Causes of Action Set Forth Herein Mandates the Disallowance of Highland Capital's Administrative Claim.

327. In its Application, without specifically citing the causes of actions or making any reference whatsoever to the objections to the Highland Capital Claims contained herein (as they were previously asserted in the Amended Counterclaims), Highland Capital asserts that the Trustee "apparently has furthered a theory that Highland overcharged the Debtors," but must "provide evidence, not simply allegations, to rebut the prima facie case that Highland is entitled to an administrative claim." Application ¶ 33. Highland Capital then rashly contends that the Trustee "has provided no such evidence" and that "the Contracts speak for themselves and are the best evidence of the validity of the claim asserted by Highland." Id. A simple review of the causes of action herein (as well as evidence presented in connection with the involuntary hearings, confirmation hearings, and other hearings during these Bankruptcy Cases) belies its position and demonstrates otherwise.

Acis Capital Mgmt., L.P.*, Cause No. DC-17-15244, 44th District Court of Dallas County, Texas ("On October 31, 2017, counsel for Acis, Jamie Welton, called me on the telephone. In that call, Mr. Welton stated that Acis is 'judgment proof.'").

<sup>45</sup> See June 28, 2017 Dondero Dep. Tr. 262:2-8 (Ex. 101 from the involuntary trial) ("Nobody's going to let a dime go out of the firm that we don't have to pay ever to – to Josh, period. I mean, it's . . . I think it's personal[.]").

328. As is discussed below, Highland Capital must demonstrate that the services provided conferred a direct and substantial benefit on the Debtors' estates. And before Highland Capital can ask the Court to assess whether its services provided the required direct and substantial benefit, it must first demonstrate that it had the right to even charge the Debtors the amount set forth in the agreements. The causes of action asserted against Highland Capital herein, which dispute the amounts charged by Highland Capital, directly implicate the validity of, and support the disallowance of, the Administrative Claim (just as they refute Highland Capital's purported prepetition claims). The Plaintiffs therefore expressly incorporate Counts 1, 5 – 8, and 27 – 30 herein and specifically raises such Counts as objections to the Administrative Claim asserted by Highland Capital in its Application.

329. If the Plaintiffs prevail on the causes of action against Highland Capital as set forth herein, the basis for allowance of the Administrative Claim would also be invalidated. Moreover, as discussed below, based on such causes of action, the Plaintiffs are entitled to recover millions of dollars in damages, all of which may be offset against the Administrative Claim.

2. Highland Capital's Administrative Claim is Also Subject to Disallowance under Section 502(d).

330. Because Highland Capital is alleged to have received fraudulent transfers, its Administrative Claim is also subject to disallowance under section 502(d) until the property or its value has been returned to the Debtors.

331. Although Highland Capital's Application involves an administrative claim, nothing in section 502(d) limits its application to prepetition claims. MicroAge, Inc. v. Viewsonic Corp. (In re MicroAge, Inc.), 291 B.R. 503, 508 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2002). Section 502(d) by its terms applies to "any claim" and the definition of a "claim" in section 101(5) is sufficiently broad to include requests for payment of expenses of administration. Id. Because the objective of section 502(d) is to encourage transferees to return avoidable transfers to the estate, a number of courts have held that section 502(d) applies to administrative claims. See, e.g., id. at 508-12; In re Georgia Steel, 38 B.R. 829, 839-40 (Bankr. M.D. Ga. 1984) (applying section 502(d) and stating, "[t]he fact that [the] claim is for an administrative expense has no bearing").

332. The Plaintiffs acknowledge that courts are split on the issue of whether section 502(d) applies to administrative expenses. Compare MicroAge, Inc., 291 B.R. at 508-512 (considering split of authority and finding that "the better analysis is that § 502(d) may be raised in response to the allowance of an administrative claim"), and Georgia Steel, 38 B.R. at 839-40 (finding the fact that the claim "is for an administrative expense has no bearing" for purposes of section 502(d)), with In re Plastech Engineered Prods., 394 B.R. 147, 164 (Bankr. E.D. Mich. 2008) (concluding that "§ 502(d) does not apply to the allowance and payment of administrative expenses under § 503(b)"). Although not binding on this Court, the Plaintiffs also note that one bankruptcy court in this district has found that section 502(d) does not apply to administrative claims. Rand Energy Co. v. Del Mar Drilling Co. (In re Rand Energy Co.), 256 B.R. 712, 719 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 2000) (Felsenthal, J.).

333. As described above, Highland Capital is the recipient of certain preferential payments and/or fraudulent transfers. Thus, while acknowledging the split of authority on the issue, the Plaintiffs assert that the plain language of section 502(d), as well as the policy underlying section 502(d), requires that Highland Capital's Administrative Claim be disallowed in its entirety.

3. The Indemnity Provisions Relied on by Highland Capital Are Invalid and, in Any Event, Do Not Apply to Highland Capital's Intentional Torts.

334. In the Application, Highland Capital also asserts defenses against the causes of action brought herein pursuant to its purported indemnity rights against the Debtors under section 6.03 of the Shared Services Agreement and section 4(c) of the Sub-Advisory Agreement. Application ¶ 34. Any contention by Highland Capital that it is immune from liability arising from the causes of action brought against it herein due to the indemnity provisions of the Sub Agreements lacks merit. First, the indemnity provisions cited by Highland Capital were included only in the last iteration of the Sub Agreements, in March 2017. Thus, even if valid and applicable (which they are not), such provisions do not cover actions of Highland Capital prior to March 2017. Second, to the extent that the indemnity provisions in the Sub Agreements were included in an attempt to shield Highland Capital from liability in connection with its fraudulent scheme to denude Acis (and were added for no consideration), such provisions were themselves fraudulently incurred and should be avoided pursuant to section 548 of the Bankruptcy Code and sections 24.005 and 24.006 of TUFTA.<sup>46</sup> Further, the protection Highland Capital seeks is outside the scope of the indemnity provisions, which indemnify Highland Capital in connection with its actions taken as sub-advisor under the Sub Agreements—not in connection with torts and other wrongful conduct intentionally committed against Acis as part of Highland Capital's calculated scheme to denude the estate. Finally, it is against public policy for indemnity provisions in contract to shield a party from intentional tortious conduct. See, e.g., Hamblin v.

<sup>46</sup> Notably, all versions prior to the last iteration of the Sub-Advisory Agreement (before March 2017) contained no indemnity provision; also, it is telling that the indemnity provisions were added to the Sub-Advisory Agreement and significantly amended in the Shared Services Agreement only after arbitration had been ordered in state court.

Lamont, 433 S.W.3d 51, 55 (Tex. App.—San Antonio 2013, pet. denied); In re Oil Spill by the Oil Rig, 841 F. Supp. 2d 988, 1001-02 (E.D. La. 2012). Accordingly, such provisions are inapplicable as a defense to the causes of action asserted herein against Highland Capital.

B. Highland Capital Cannot Satisfy Its Burden of Proving Its Services Directly and Substantially Benefitted the Debtors' Estates.

1. Administrative Priority Status is Narrowly Construed and Only Awarded Upon a Showing of a Direct and Substantial Benefit to the Estate.

335. Under section 503(b)(1) of the Bankruptcy Code, an administrative expense claim shall be allowed for "the actual, necessary costs and expenses of preserving the estate." 11 U.S.C. § 503(b)(1)(A). The ultimate burden of proof is on Highland Capital to establish it is entitled to an administrative priority claim pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 503(b). See In re Transamerican Natural Gas Corp., 978 F.2d 1409, 1416 (5th Cir. 1992). Further, because section 503 administrative claims are priority claims, which are entitled to special treatment, section 503 must be narrowly construed. See In re Templeton, 154 B.R. 930, 934 (Bankr. W.D. Tex. 2009); see also In re Federated Dep't Stores, Inc., 270 F.3d 994, 1000 (6th Cir. 2001) ("Claims for administrative expenses under § 503(b) are strictly construed because priority claims reduce the funds available for creditors and other claimants.").

336. At a minimum, Highland Capital must establish that "(1) the claim arises from a transaction with the [debtor]; and (2) the goods or services supplied enhanced the ability of the [debtor's] business to function." See Total Minatome Corp. v. Jack/Wade Drilling, Inc. (In re Jack/Wade Drilling, Inc.), 258 F.3d 385, 387 (5th Cir. 2001) (citing Transamerican, 978 F.2d at 1416); see also ASARCO, Inc. v. Elliott Mgmt. (In re ASARCO, LLC), 650 F.3d 593, 601 (5th Cir. 2011) ("Claim under this section 'generally stem from voluntary transactions with third parties who lend goods or services necessary to the successful reorganization of the debtor's estate.'" (quoting Jack/Wade Drilling, 258 F.3d at 387)).

337. Moreover, the benefit is measured from the point of view of the bankruptcy estate, not that of the applicant. In re Premium Well Drilling, Inc., 2012 Bankr. LEXIS 1554, at *9 (Bankr. W.D. Tex. Apr. 10, 2012). "The focus on allowance of administrative claims which enjoy priority over other creditors is to prevent unjust enrichment of the estate. It is not to compensate the creditor . . . for his or her loss." In re Am. Plumbing & Mech., Inc., 323 B.R. 442, 462 (Bankr. W.D. Tex. 2005) (emphasis in original).

2. Highland Capital Cannot Demonstrate It Conferred a Direct and Substantial Benefit on the Debtors' Estates.

338. As set forth herein, as it had done prior to these Bankruptcy Cases, following entry of the Orders for Relief, Highland Capital continued perpetrating its scheme to steal, and otherwise attempted to damage, Acis's business—in order to minimize value for creditors and ensure that Acis could not successfully reorganize—and to line its own pockets. Aside from Highland Capital's actions in sending notices of optional redemption to liquidate the CLOs (without Court approval and in violation of the automatic stay), following entry of the Orders for Relief, Highland Capital also actively mismanaged the Acis CLOs to undermine the business of the Debtors, as evidenced by, inter alia, the vast disparity between the trades made in CLOs 3, 4 5, and 6, as opposed to CLO 7, in 2018, as testified to by Terry at the second confirmation hearing. See Dec. 12, 2018 Hr'g Tr. (AM) at pp. 19-35.

339. Additionally, while mismanaging CLOs 3, 4 5, and 6, Highland Capital sought to carry out its plan "to transfer the BVK investment management agreement from Acis LP to another Highland-affiliated manager."<sup>47</sup> As explained herein, Highland Capital's attempt to steal BVK's business from Acis began from nearly day one of these Bankruptcy Cases and continued

even after Highland Capital was terminated as sub-advisor on August 1, 2018—when Highland Capital no longer had any legitimate reason to communicate with Universal or BVK.

340. Highland Capital's actions during the pendency of these Bankruptcy Cases demonstrate that Highland Capital did not service the Acis CLOs in a way that "enhanced the ability of the [debtor's] business to function." Transamerican, 978 F.2d at 1416. Indeed, Highland Capital acted to destroy the Debtors' business—therefore, Highland Capital's request for allowance of its Administrative Claim must be denied.

341. In its Application, Highland Capital essentially asserts that it provided services to the Debtors on a postpetition basis pursuant to various prepetition agreements and, therefore, the expenses are entitled to administrative priority. In order to qualify as an administrative expense, however, Highland Capital must show that its claim arose postpetition "as a result of actions by the trustee that benefitted the estate." Id. Further, although the terms of the Debtors' prepetition contracts may be probative of the reasonable value of postpetition services, they are not dispositive. In re Am. Plumbing & Mech., Inc., 323 B.R. at 462. Indeed, "all that the estate is required to pay is the reasonable value of those services which were rendered." Id. (emphasis in original) (citing NLRB v. Bildisco & Bildisco, 465 U.S. 513, 531, 104 S. Ct. 1188, 79 L. Ed. 2d 482 (1984)). Consequently, the provisions of the prepetition contracts do not automatically and dispositively translate into an allowed administrative claim. Highland Capital must still demonstrate a quantifiable benefit to the estate.

342. Highland Capital's assertion that its costs were incurred postpetition fails to satisfy its burden of proving entitlement to administrative priority. Specifically, aside from merely referencing the Sub-Agreements and the Universal/BVK Agreement, and contending that monies owed to it under such agreements are an administrative expense, Highland Capital fails to show that (i) such costs were necessary for the preservation of the Debtors' estate, and (ii) the Debtors received any benefit, let alone a direct and substantial benefit, as a result of such services and expenses.

3. The Amount Charged by Highland Capital Was Inflated and Unnecessary.

343. Further, even if Highland Capital could show that, rather than undermining Acis's business, it provided postpetition services that enhanced the ability of Acis to function, to the extent the rates Highland Capital charged Acis were inflated or above market, the amounts charged to Acis under the Sub Agreements did not benefit the estates or its creditors, and such inflated amounts were therefore not necessary. See NL Indus., Inc. v. GHR Energy Corp., 940 F.2d 957, 966 (5th Cir. 1991) ("Courts have construed the words 'actual' and 'necessary' narrowly: the debt must benefit the estate and its creditors."). Indeed, at the July 6, 2018 hearing, regarding approval of the break-up fee and replacement of Highland Capital as sub-servicer with Oaktree, J.P. Sevilla, assistant general counsel for Highland Capital, testified that Highland Capital would reduce its rates charged to Acis LP for sub-servicing from 35 basis points to 17.5 basis points, in order to match competing offers:

Q Okay. Would Highland be willing to reduce its fee during the pendency of the bankruptcy, maybe without its rights to assert the validity of the contract, but would Highland otherwise be willing to assert -- to reduce its fees during the pendency of the bankruptcy?

A I think at the very least Highland would match Saratoga or whatever the 17.5 bps offer is. Again, reserving all rights, but in order to stay in the deal and to establish Highland's commitment to this deal, we would do it for 17-1/2 basis points, no question.

July 6, 2018 Hr'g Tr. at pp. 243-44. Moreover, the effective rate for such services charged by Brigade and Cortland also approached 17.5 basis points.<sup>48</sup> Accordingly, notwithstanding the objections otherwise raised herein, and assuming the services provided to Acis LP enhanced, rather than undermined, the ability of Acis's business to function, such amounts should be reduced to reflect a rate of at most 17.5 basis points.

<sup>48</sup> Pursuant to the Third Amended Joint Plan, Brigade agreed to provide sub-advisory and shared services to the Acis CLOs for 15 basis points (and decreasing after one year). See Docket No. 661 at pp. 28, 136; see also Dec. 11, 2018 (PM) Hr'g Tr. at 89 & Dec. 12, 2018 (AM) Hr'g Tr. at 62.

4. The Plaintiffs Dispute Highland Capital's Calculation of its Administrative Claim.

344. The Plaintiffs further object to Highland Capital's calculation of the amount of the Administrative Claim. Subject to the objections raised herein, in the Amended Disclosure Statement Pursuant to Section 1125 of the United States Bankruptcy Code with Respect to the Second Amended Joint Plan for Acis Capital Management, L.P. and Acis Capital Management GP, LLC [Case No. 18-30264, Docket No. 621] (the "Disclosure Statement"), the Trustee estimated that under the terms of the Sub Agreements, Highland Capital's alleged Administrative Claim would be approximately $2,612,574.00, rather than $3,007,678.41. Highland Capital fails to explain or substantiate this discrepancy. The Administrative Claim also includes $543,545.88 for expenses. Highland Capital fails to show that these alleged expenses were incurred or payable under the Sub Agreements. See In re Packard Props., Ltd., 118 B.R. 61, 63 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 1990) ("Since this claim is a request for payment of administrative expenses, the [creditor] carries the burden of proof throughout the entire proceeding."). Therefore, in addition to the objections herein, the Plaintiffs also object to Highland Capital's calculation of its purported Administrative Claim.

C. Highland Capital Is Not Entitled to Payment of Any Allowed Administrative Claim Because Acis's Right of Offset and Recoupment May Reduce or Eliminate Its Administrative Claim.

345. Even if the Court were to determine that Highland Capital is entitled to an allowed Administrative Claim, it should not be entitled to payment because Acis has rights of offset and recoupment that may be applied under section 558 of the Bankruptcy Code to reduce or eliminate any allowed Administrative Claim.<sup>49</sup> As set forth above, Highland Capital charged Acis excessive and unreasonable fees for its services, and Acis has asserted a number of causes of action against Highland Capital for such overcharges, including for recovery of overcharges resulting from ultra vires actions, turnover of unauthorized payments, money had and received, conversion, fraudulent transfer, civil conspiracy, breach of contract, and breach of fiduciary duty. As a result of these overcharges, the Debtors' estates suffered many millions of dollars in damages which should be offset against any valid administrative claim awarded to Highland Capital. Indeed, the causes of action against Highland Capital may offset, or eliminate altogether, any right of recovery Highland Capital may have against the Debtors' estates on account of any Administrative Claim.

D. To the Extent Allowed, Highland Capital's Administrative Claim Should Also Be Equitably Subordinated.

346. In addition to applying equitable subordination to prepetition claims, courts have equitably subordinated administrative claims when the claimant acted in ways to harm the estate. See, e.g., Principal Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. Langhorne (In re 848 Brickell Ltd.), 243 B.R.142, 149 (S.D. Fla. 1998) (holding that while "pursuit of one's legal rights may not be grounds for equitable subordination, the lower court's findings that [the claimant's] protracted and abusive litigation tactics harmed the estate by causing it to incur about $400,000 in fees" justified equitable subordination of its administrative claim).

347. For the same reasons described above with respect to Highland Capital's prepetition claims, Highland Capital's Administrative Claim should also be equitably subordinated to the extent allowed. Further, during these Bankruptcy Cases, the Debtors' estates and the Reorganized Debtors have incurred substantial administrative fees in responding to the protracted and abusive litigation tactics of Highland Capital, including arguing for (and against) injunctive relief to prevent the liquidation of the CLOs and litigating the numerous appeals initiated by Highland Capital against the Trustee. Such litigation tactics by Highland Capital were attempts to thwart the reorganization of the Debtors, damage the estate, and harm its creditors. Accordingly, the Court should equitably subordinate Highland Capital's Administrative Claim. See Principal Mut. Life Ins. Co., 243 B.R. at 149.

<sup>49</sup> The Plan provided for the payment of allowed administrative claims on (i) the later of the effective date or the tenth business day after the administrative expense is allowed, or (ii) as otherwise agreed in writing between the Reorganized Debtor, or as otherwise ordered by the Bankruptcy Court. See Case No. 18-30264, Docket No. 660 at 11, § 3.01(b).

348. Thus, to the extent the Highland Capital's Administrative Claim is allowed in any amount, it should be subordinated below all other allowed claims in these Bankruptcy Cases.

VI. PRAYER

Plaintiffs respectfully request that the Court:

(i) enter judgment declaring that Expense Overpayments made to Highland Capital in excess of 20% of Revenue and any agreements supporting such overpayments were ultra vires and, thus, void or voidable;

(ii) enter judgment against Highland Capital for the recovery of any ultra vires payments made to Highland Capital;

(iii) enter judgment against Highland Capital, Highland Funding, Highland Advisor, Highland Holdings, and Highland Management for the avoidance and recovery of transfers fraudulently made and obligations fraudulently incurred and for civil conspiracy in connection with such fraudulent transfers and schemes;

(iv) enter judgment against Highland Capital, Highland Holdings, and Highland Management for avoidance and recovery of preferential transfers received;

(v) enter judgment against Highland Capital for tortious interference with contract;

(vi) enter judgment against Highland Capital for breach of contract;

(vii) enter judgment against Highland Capital for breach of its fiduciary duties and order disgorgement of all funds received by Highland Capital as a result of such breach;

(viii) enter judgment against Highland Capital and Highland Funding for willful violation of the automatic stay, pursuant to section 362(k) of the Bankruptcy Code;

(ix) enter judgment against Highland Capital, Highland Funding, Highland Advisor, Highland Management, and Highland Holdings for punitive damages;

(x) enter judgment against Highland Capital, Highland Funding, Highland Advisor, Highland Management, and Highland Holdings for pre- and post-judgment interest at the greatest amount permitted by law;

(xi) enter judgment against Highland Capital, Highland Funding, Highland Advisor, Highland Management, and Highland Holdings for all attorneys' fees and costs incurred in connection with the prosecution of this Adversary Proceeding and for all allowed professionals' fees and expenses incurred by the estates in the Bankruptcy Cases;

(xii) establish a constructive trust for all benefits unjustly received by that Highland Capital, Highland Funding, Highland Advisor, Highland Management and Highland Holdings;

(xiii) declare that Highland Capital, Highland Funding, Highland Advisor, Highland Management and Highland Holdings are alter egos of each other, or that the corporate for should otherwise be disregarded, and each is fully liable for any judgment entered for the Plaintiffs in this Adversary Proceeding;

(xiv) disallow, expunge and/or subordinate the Highland Capital Claims;

(xv) deny, disallow, and/or subordinate Highland Capital's Administrative Claim; and

(xvi) grant any other such relief that the Plaintiffs may show themselves to be justly entitled in law or in equity.

1 interest in the fund?
2 MR. MALONEY: Objection, foundation.
3 A. It's because they're the portfolio manager,
4 and they have their duties to the fund.
5 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) But you previously
6 testified that their portfolio management role is solely 7 with respect to managing the portfolio, right? Isn't
8 that correct?
9 MR. MALONEY: Objection, foundation.
10 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Well, let me ask you.
11 Isn't what Highland does is serve only as a portfolio
12 manager? Do they play any other role in the operation
13 or management of HCLOF?
14 A. Well, HCLOF, as you know, is a Guernsey 15 entity, and we have lots of service providers apart from 16 the portfolio manager.
17 Q. And which one of those sit in on your board
18 meetings?
19 A. Well, we have State Street there, obviously, 20 because they're the administrator. We have the 21 custodian.
22 Q. They sit in on every board meeting?
23 A. Of course.
24 Q. Okay.
25 A. The custodian dials in, generally, from

Page 47

1 Ireland to give their report.
2 Q. And they sit through the entire meeting?
3 A. Not always. Sometimes they do. Actually,
4 no, they tend to come just for their report. And, of 5 course, when we're dealing with auditors, they will come
6 and report to us as well. So --
7 Q. Does PWC sit through the meetings?
8 A. No, not all of them, but they'll be there for 9 the meeting where we're discussing the accounts.
10 Q. So both of -- PWC and State Street only sit 11 through a portion of the meetings, but Highland always 12 sits through the entire meeting --
13 MR. MALONEY: Objection, foundation.
14 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) -- is that correct?
15 A. Not always.
16 Q. So now you're saying they don't sit through 17 the entire meeting?
18 A. No. What I said was that they don't if they 19 have other things to do or if they have commitments or 20 they have to go on other calls or they're traveling,
21 that sort of thing.
22 Q. But other than they're not being able to 23 attend for some reason, they otherwise will sit through 24 the entire board meetings; is that correct?
25 A. Pretty much, yes.

1 Q. And who is it from Highland that sits in 2 those meetings?
3 A. It's generally Hunter Covitz. Tim Cournoyer
4 will sometimes join. They're the main contacts we have.
5 Q. Okay. You mentioned there's only two members
6 of the board, correct?
7 A. Yes.
8 Q. And do you vote on all issues?
9 MR. MALONEY: Objection, form.
10 A. We don't have a formal voting procedure
11 because it's just the two of us and we're sitting around 12 a table. It's in the nature of our relationship that we 13 discuss things. We don't have a formal vote. We come 14 to agreement by discussion.
15 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) On everything?
16 A. Well, that's generally the way that we 17 operate. You know, our role is not to be 18 confrontational with each other. Our role is to look 19 after the fund in the best way that we can. So we don't 20 row or argue; we discuss issues and come to a consensual 21 decision.
22 Q. Is there anything you've ever disagreed with 23 Mr. Scott on any issue?
24 A. I can't think of an out-and-out disagreement.
25 Q. Did you ever have a disagreement with

Page 49

1 Highland or its advice?
2 A. Again, I don't think that I can recall a
3 particular disagreement. That's not to say that we 4 don't have robust discussions and challenge because, of 5 course, we do, and that's the purpose of the quarterly
6 board meetings and all the various reports. We do
7 interrogate them.
8 Q. But you've never had a disagreement with him?
9 A. I can't recall that we've disagreed.
10 Q. And you've always accepted their advice?
11 A. Yes. On the basis that they are the experts,
12 and it's their role to do what they do.
13 Q. Now, what type of decisions do you make for 14 the -- as a member of the board that are not based on 15 the portfolio manager's advice?
16 A. You mean outside of portfolio management all
17 together? So just day-to-day running?
18 Q. I'm asking you.
19 A. -- of the fund?
20 Q. I don't know what things you might decide on 21 that doesn't involve the portfolio manager.
22 A. Well, obviously, we have the relationship
23 with the administrator. We had what -- for instance,
24 when we were set up, we were going to be a listed fund
25 on the stock exchange, so we had a registrar company

HEATHER BESTWICK

14 (Pages 50 to 53)

Page 50 1 called Computer Share. We didn't get listed, we didn't 2 go down that route, so there was no point in paying 3 another service provider money for doing something we 4 didn't need so we decided that the best thing would be 5 to terminate Computer Share. 6 So we discussed that with Highland. I think, 7 you know, we -- the decisions that we make, obviously, 8 we will make as a board, but we do it in discussion with 9 Highland, the portfolio manager. 10 Q. Is it pretty much fair to say that most 11 decisions that you do make as board member are in or 12 through discussions with Highland as portfolio manager? 13 MR. MALONEY: Objection to form. 14 A. I think there's some pretty basic sort of 15 admin-type things that we get on with without 16 necessarily discussing with Highland, but that's just 17 the nature of the fund. 18 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) But anything substantive 19 Highland is involved and you discuss it with them; is 20 that what I understand? 21 MR. MALONEY: Objection to form. 22 A. I think we would always want to involve 23 Highland and the portfolio manager in discussions about 24 anything substantive. 25 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) When was HCLOF formed?		Page 52 1 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Ms. Bestwick, we're back 2 on the record. 3 A. Okay. 4 Q. You mentioned -- you mentioned earlier that 5 Highland, as the promoter, selected you and Mr. Scott. 6 Do you remember that? 7 A. Yes. 8 Q. Who makes the decision to fire you or 9 Mr. Scott? 10 A. Well, that will be the shareholders who have 11 that authority. 12 Q. Okay. And those are the shareholders you 13 mentioned before, Harbour Vest and the DAF, as well as 14 the 2 percent interest held by -- 15 A. Yes. 16 Q. -- the Highland entities? 17 A. Yes. 18 Q. So essentially Highland controls that 19 decision on firing because they control the majority of 20 the investments; is that correct? 21 MR. MALONEY: Objection, foundation. 22 A. Well, no. If it is put to a resolution of 23 the shareholders, my understanding is that it would have 24 to be a 75 percent decision. 25 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) And what's that based
Page 51 1 A. 2015. I can't tell you the exact date. 2 Q. And under what circumstances? 3 A. With a view to being part of the structure 4 that we've described. 5 Q. And this is your -- this is your first 6 involvement with Highland, correct? 7 A. Yes. 8 Q. Is it Bill's first involvement with Highland? 9 Do you know? 10 A. I believe so, but you'd have to ask him for 11 sure. 12 Q. And do you or Bill have any other connections 13 with Highland or any of the Highland affiliates? 14 A. No. 15 MR. WIELEBINSKI: You know what, can we 16 take a short break? We've gone now for almost an 17 hour -- or a little over an hour. 18 MR. MALONEY: How long do you want to 19 take? 20 MR. WIELEBINSKI: Five minutes. 21 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Off the record at 22 9:18. This is Disk 1, Volume 1. 23 (Break taken.) 24 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: On the record at 25 9:35. This is Disk 2, Volume 1.		Page 53 1 on, that understanding? 2 A. Because it's a special resolution rather than 3 an ordinary resolution. 4 Q. And that's contained where, that that 5 requirement -- 6 A. In the Articles of Association. 7 Q. Remember you had mentioned that HCLOF had 8 initially hired the Gardere Foley law firm -- 9 A. Yes. 10 Q. -- and they that were involved representing 11 you for some period of time in this bankruptcy? 12 A. Yes. 13 Q. Who made the decision to hire Gardere Foley? 14 A. I think that was Highland. 15 Q. It was a recommendation made by Highland, and 16 you, as the board member, and Mr. Scott decided to 17 accept that recommendation? 18 A. Yes. Because when we were initially told 19 about the proceedings, then clearly we weren't aware 20 that the fund was involved. 21 Q. You weren't even aware when the bankruptcies 22 were filed that you had some involvement in that? When 23 the bankruptcy was filed, it was Highland that had to 24 tell you that, hey, you guys need to get involved. 25 You're involved in this?

Page 54 1 A. Highland did tell the fund that that was the 2 case, yes. 3 Q. And then they told you to hire Gardere? 4 A. Well, no. I think that the firm was already 5 instructed to represent Highland. 6 Q. And then they told you that you needed to 7 retain Gardere as well for your interests in the -- as 8 it related to the bankruptcy? 9 MR. MALONEY: Objection, form. 10 A. We had common interests in that we needed to 11 have the fund out of the mess, so to that extent, yes. 12 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) And who, then, told you 13 that you needed to get King &amp; Spalding? 14 MS. O'NEIL: Objection. Caution the 15 witness not to divulge attorney-client privileged 16 communications. 17 A. I think as any discussion of the board, it 18 would have involved a discussion between Bill and 19 myself. 20 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) With any Highland 21 involvement? 22 A. I think there probably was a discussion had 23 at some point with Highland, but that's not to say that 24 we didn't have a discussion just between the two of us. 25 Q. And do you recall specifically when you and		Page 56 1 objection to the extent it calls for speculation. 2 A. I -- 3 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Excuse me. Harbour Vest 4 is disclosed in information that's publicly available in 5 Guernsey, is it not, as an investor in the fund? 6 A. Well, it's on the shareholder registry, but 7 that's not a public document. 8 Q. But it is disclosed in that information, 9 correct? 10 A. Yes. It has to be, as a matter of Guernsey 11 law. 12 Q. And it's been disclosed through this 13 proceeding as well, correct? 14 A. Yes. 15 Q. So can you speculate as to a reason why they 16 wouldn't want their name mentioned and why you actually 17 didn't mention it when your counsel asked you questions? 18 MR. MALONEY: Objection, calls for 19 speculation. 20 A. I can give you my view on it. 21 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Do you mind? 22 A. I think that they have been what you would 23 call a passive investor throughout. They haven't wanted 24 particular involvement, so it could be argued, I 25 suppose, that they want to continue in that sort of role
Page 55 1 Bill made the decision to essentially remove -- or end 2 the relationship with Gardere Foley? 3 MR. MALONEY: Objection to form. You 4 can answer. 5 A. I don't have that information in my head, I'm 6 afraid. 7 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Do you remember when 8 your counsel mentioned something about Harbour Vest 9 being -- asking that its name not be raised and that it 10 be referred to in a more ambiguous way? 11 A. Yes. 12 Q. Do you know why? Why is Harbour Vest 13 concerned about its name being mentioned? 14 A. I don't know the reason from Harbour Vest, 15 but -- 16 Q. Did they talk to you about it at all? 17 A. No. 18 Q. Did they talk to Bill about it, to your 19 knowledge? 20 A. Not to my knowledge. 21 Q. Can you think of a reason why they wouldn't 22 want to have their name mentioned considering that it's 23 public information in a number of -- from a number of 24 sources, including in Guernsey? 25 MR. MALONEY: Objection to form, and		Page 57 1 as a passive investor. 2 Q. As a board member for HCLOF, who do you serve 3 for the benefit of? 4 A. We serve for the benefit of the company, and 5 that is generally taken to mean the best economic 6 interests of the shareholders as a whole. 7 Q. Is it fair to say that your role is to 8 attempt to maximize the recovery for your shareholders? 9 A. Well, our role is to make sure that the 10 company is run properly; and, obviously, if you're 11 running an investment fund, then the idea is to maximize 12 returns for investors. 13 Q. What exactly does HCLOF own? 14 A. It owns investments, equity strips, and CLOs. 15 Q. And does it have -- do you know how many CLOs 16 are involved in this matter that we're talking about? 17 A. Yes. Five. Five or six. 18 Q. And does HCLOF own equity strips in all five 19 CLOs? 20 A. Yes. 21 Q. Are you certain of that? 22 A. I think there's one that is being liquidated, 23 so to the extent that that has happened. 24 Q. I'm not trying to trick you on that. But 25 your understanding is that HCLOF owns equity strips in

Page 58 1 all five CLOs? 2 A. Yes. Yes. 3 Q. What involvement, if any, does HCLOF have 4 with ACIS Capital Management? 5 A. Now? 6 Q. Yes. 7 A. Well, it's the -- it was the portfolio 8 manager, but now it isn't. And ACIS is working with 9 Brigade on the underlying CLOs. 10 Q. Including your equity strips? 11 A. Yes. 12 Q. Are you familiar with the series of transfers 13 and transactions in the fall of 2017 that involved ACIS 14 and HCLOF? 15 A. Yes. 16 Q. And were you involved in those transactions 17 and transfers? 18 MR. MALONEY: Objection to form; vague. 19 You can answer if you know the transactions specifically 20 that he's talking about. 21 A. Well, as a director, we were involved in the 22 incoming new investor, and I think I mentioned earlier 23 that involved, as a condition precedent to the closing 24 of that deal, that ACIS be replaced as portfolio 25 manager.		Page 60 1 A. The fact that it was going to help in the 2 marketing of the business going forward and that it was 3 a condition precedent to the new investor coming in. 4 Q. Now, if I told you in discussions with 5 Harbour Vest they disclaimed any condition precedent to 6 their investment and said they didn't care one way or 7 the other, would that surprise you? 8 A. That would certainly be news to me, because 9 we were advised that that was the case. 10 Q. By Highland? 11 A. By Highland. 12 Q. And subsequent to your first being advised by 13 Highland about this condition precedent, have you ever 14 spoken to Harbour Vest about its investment and the 15 condition precedent? 16 A. No, we've never discussed or spoken to 17 Harbour Vest about that. 18 Q. When were you first made aware of the Terry 19 litigation in the United States involving Mr. Terry and 20 the Highland entities? 21 A. It was the middle of April this year. 22 Q. You never knew about it before that time 23 period? 24 A. No. 25 Q. Do you know if Mr. Scott did?
Page 59 1 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) And your testimony is 2 that Harbour Vest made that a condition precedent? 3 A. That's what the board revised, yes. 4 Q. And they were advised that by whom? 5 A. By the portfolio manager, by Highland. 6 Q. And what did you do as a board member to 7 verify that? 8 (At this time Mr. Shaw enters the room.) 9 A. We listened to the rationale and were happy 10 to accept the advice on the basis that the portfolio 11 manager was acting in the best interest of the investors 12 as they were supposed to do. So we were happy to accept 13 that to be the case. 14 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Did you do any 15 independent verification of that information conveyed to 16 you by Highland regarding Harbour Vest? 17 A. No. And it wouldn't be something that would 18 be in the normal course of business that you would seek 19 independent verification of what your portfolio manager 20 was advising. 21 Q. Do you know why the Portfolio Management 22 Agreement of HCLOF was transferred from ACIS to a 23 Highland affiliate or a Highland-related entity? 24 A. For the reason that I've just explained. 25 Q. That was the only reason, as far as you know?		Page 61 1 A. I don't believe he did, but you'd have to ask 2 him. 3 Q. And who made you aware of the Terry 4 litigation? 5 A. Highland. 6 Q. And what did they tell you? 7 A. That there had been a proceeding in a Dallas 8 court the previous week to the call which meant that we 9 couldn't do the resets which had been anticipated and 10 that it was causing damage to the fund. 11 Q. And who told you that? 12 A. I believe it was Isaac Leventon. I think he 13 was on the call. It was a conference call, but I think 14 it was probably Mr. Leventon who explained it. 15 Q. And this was in April of this year? 16 A. Yes. 17 Q. It was the first time you heard anything 18 about the Terry litigation? 19 A. Yes. 20 Q. And was it a special board meeting when he 21 told you this? 22 A. No. It was a conference call, an update 23 call. We'd been asked to join a call for an update. 24 Q. I'm sorry, I didn't hear you. You'd been 25 asked to join a call?

Page 62 1 A. A conference call by way of update. 2 Q. Would that not be a special board meeting? 3 A. Well, no, not if it involved others. There 4 are certain formalities around board meetings, and it 5 was an update call. 6 Q. Okay. Who all was on that call? Do you 7 recall? 8 A. Obviously, a few people from Highland. I 9 think probably Hunter might have been on the call, Tim 10 Cournoyer was probably on the call, and then Bill and 11 myself. 12 Q. And what you've testified to was that they 13 told you two things. One, there was a proceeding in a 14 Dallas court involving Mr. Terry and that they -- 15 A. Involving ACIS. 16 Q. Involving ACIS? 17 A. Yes. Yes. 18 Q. Did they say it also involved Mr. Terry? 19 A. I don't think so. I think it was specific to 20 ACIS. 21 Q. And it wouldn't allow you to do the resets 22 anticipated? 23 A. Yes. 24 Q. Are those the ones with Mizuho? 25 A. Yes. We've been talking about resets		Page 64 1 A. I think we were told that things were influx, 2 and so we asked to be kept updated. 3 Q. But you didn't ask for any of the pleadings 4 and you didn't receive any of the pleadings at that 5 time? 6 A. No. Because we weren't aware that it 7 particularly involved the fund in a way that it has 8 transpired. 9 Q. It really wasn't that important. You just 10 know there was a proceeding going on, correct? 11 A. Well, no. 12 MR. MALONEY: Objection, form. You can 13 answer. 14 A. The fact that our investments were not able 15 to be reset as anticipated obviously was an impact on 16 the fund. 17 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) For some reason I 18 thought that those Mizuho resets were to occur in 19 January or February. Wasn't that the case? 20 A. We had been talking about resets throughout 21 2017, so I'm -- 22 Q. Understood. 23 A. -- not quite sure. 24 Q. Now I'm talking about January or February of 25 2018. Weren't they to have occurred by that point?
Page 63 1 throughout 2017 as part of the general board meetings, 2 updates, etcetera, and I think there was a contract with 3 Mizuho being talked about. 4 Q. And did they tell you anything else about the 5 litigation? 6 MS. O'NEIL: Object to the extent it may 7 call for attorney-client communications. 8 MR. MALONEY: I would join in that. 9 A. I think it was an update. There were 10 proceedings in a court in Dallas. 11 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) There were no attorneys 12 involved other -- well, strike. Strike. 13 Was Mr. Maloney involved on the call? 14 A. No. 15 Q. Was Ms. O'Neil or anybody from her firm 16 involved in the call? 17 A. No. 18 Q. So it was just those two pieces of 19 information that were shared with you at that point? 20 A. (Nods head affirmatively.) 21 Q. Did you ask for any -- you have to 22 acknowledge yes. 23 A. Sorry. Yes. 24 Q. Did you ask for any additional information at 25 that time?		Page 65 1 A. I'd need to refresh my memory with board 2 minutes, etcetera, but I think the timing was probably 3 year end, beginning of 2018. 4 Q. Why was it important for Highland to share 5 this information with you in April? 6 MS. O'NEIL: Objection to the extent it 7 calls for disclosure of privileged attorney-client 8 communication. 9 MR. MALONEY: I also to the extent -- 10 I'd also object to the extent it calls for speculation. 11 To the extent the witness knows why Highland said, you 12 can answer. 13 A. We have update calls with Highland. This was 14 an update call about -- 15 COURT REPORTER: About what? 16 THE WITNESS: An event. 17 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Did they ever tell you 18 how they proposed to address this situation? 19 MS. O'NEIL: Objection to the extent it 20 calls for disclosure of attorney-client privileged 21 communications. 22 MR. MALONEY: I join in that, and the 23 instruction to avoid disclosing communications and 24 advice you received from counsel. 25 A. I think it would be difficult for me to

Page 66 1 respond because, of course, we do, then, take advice 2 from counsel about precisely what you're talking about, 3 the options. 4 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Did you ask the 5 question, What are we going to do to clean up this 6 situation? 7 A. I think we asked the question, How are we 8 involved and what is the impact in all of this? 9 Q. And other than the reset, how did they answer 10 that question? 11 A. Well, it was -- it was around the reset and 12 the fact that that was costing the fund money. 13 Q. How did you understand the -- you couldn't do 14 the resets at this point. That was going to be a 15 problem for the fund, correct? 16 A. Yes. 17 Q. How did you understand at that point you were 18 going to move forward in connection with this -- the 19 current situation? What were you, as a board member, 20 going to do for the company as a result? 21 A. Well, given that this was something we needed 22 more information about, we had asked Highland to keep us 23 advised and informed. So we were waiting for more 24 information as to what the options were. 25 Q. At that point, when you were advised of this,		Page 68 1 the problems that were encountered that was causing the 2 funds not to be able to do resets? 3 A. I can't remember the exact timing, but the 4 question was asked, Are our shareholders advised? And 5 the question [sic] was yes. So that confirmed the way 6 that the portfolio manager is in charge of investor 7 relations. 8 Q. Why was Harbour Vest brought into the fund? 9 A. I can't speak to any of the discussions prior 10 to them coming in, because that was very much led by 11 Highland. If you look at -- the original intention with 12 the fund was that we were going to be a listed entity 13 listed on the London Stock Exchange and that was how we 14 were going to increase the investor base. 15 The market changed on NAV, went down quite 16 substantially, and there came a point when it was clear 17 that achieving a listing wasn't going to happen. So you 18 then have to decide how you're going to increase your 19 investor base. So having an investor like Harbour Vest 20 come on board is a sensible way to grow your investor 21 base. A very well-known house. 22 Q. The losses were actually pretty severe for 23 the fund, weren't they? 24 A. Uh-huh. Yes. 25 Q. And overall this fund has not performed very
Page 67 1 did you immediately call Harbour Vest and advise them of 2 the situation? 3 A. No. 4 Q. Why not? 5 A. It wasn't even considered as an appropriate 6 thing to do. 7 Q. Well, wouldn't it have been material to them 8 to know that there was a problem in the United States 9 that was causing an inability to proceed with resets 10 that would impact them? 11 MR. MALONEY: Objection, foundation 12 witnesses knowledge. 13 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Let me ask it this way: 14 Would the inability to do the resets impact the Harbour 15 Vest investment in your fund? 16 A. I think to go back to the question that you 17 asked, Highland is the portfolio manager. They have 18 investor relations as part of their role. That's how we 19 understand it. That's part of what they do as portfolio 20 manager. So to the extent that there's any 21 communication with shareholders, then we would expect 22 and assume that that is something that Highland does 23 rather than the directors. 24 Q. Did you ask Highland to make sure they did 25 that, that they reached out and advised Harbour Vest of		Page 69 1 well, has it? 2 A. It's certainly improved after the losses and 3 was doing far better. And if you were an external 4 investor, you wouldn't come in unless you had a belief 5 that the fund was going to carry on performing well. 6 Q. You know, my broker answers my questions much 7 like you did: That my performance is a lot better after 8 I've suffered a large loss. The losses were in the 25 9 percent range, weren't they, within the first six weeks 10 of the funding? 11 A. Yes, they were. 12 Q. So thank goodness there was a better 13 performance after that. 14 A. Yes. 15 MR. MALONEY: Objection, form. 16 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) And -- but overall, 17 since the formation of the fund, has the performance 18 been above average, average, mediocre? How would you 19 describe it? 20 A. I would describe it as challenging in that 21 period when the NAV was going down fairly substantially. 22 And, obviously, you want to know from the portfolio 23 manager that they're doing all they can to improve the 24 performance of the fund, and that was the role of the 25 portfolio manager and the reports that we had from them

Yes. 10 Q. -- and authorized the filing of that lawsuit? 11 A. Yes. 12 Q. Was that done by what law firm? Do you 13 recall? 14 A. That was done by Carey Olsen. 15 Q. That's one of the firms you use? 16 A. Yes. 17 Q. And what was the nature of the lawsuit? Can 18 you describe that to me, your understanding? 19 A. Yes. Well, our understanding -- my 20 understanding is that the losses that have been -- 21 COURT REPORTER: Wait. Hang on. Losses 22 what? 23 A. The losses that have been caused to the fund 24 as a result of the ACIS bankruptcy have been very 25 severe, as I'm sure you know. And as directors of the		Page 72 1 Q. Highland told you that. And did you do any 2 independent verification or calculations on your own to 3 see what the losses were? 4 A. No, I don't think that we would have been 5 equipped to do that. And, again, we're perfectly 6 comfortable to rely on the advice and information 7 provided by the portfolio manager. 8 Q. What do you believe the losses are today on a 9 weekly and daily basis? Is it still about the same 10 amount? 11 A. I don't know the actual amount. I think it's 12 probably not as much as that, but I don't know. 13 Q. And $300,000 a week. Five, six, seven 14 million dollars by this point of the year; is that a 15 good estimate. Is my math -- 16 A. Uh-huh. Yes. 17 Q. Okay. 18 A. Yes. 19 Q. Pretty -- pretty significant loss you're 20 claiming. 21 A. Yes. 22 Q. And it's because you can't do anything with 23 your investments; is that your testimony? 24 A. Well -- 25 MR. MALONEY: Objection to form and
Page 71 1 fund, we have a duty if we think that there is any 2 opportunity to recover those losses, then obviously we 3 have to investigate our options. 4 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Now, you're not talking 5 about the losses caused in the beginning of the fund, 6 correct? The loss as much as 25 percent of the net 7 asset value in the first six weeks -- 8 A. No. 9 Q. -- those aren't the losses you're referring 10 to? 11 A. No. 12 Q. What losses are you referring to? 13 A. The losses as a result of being -- the fund 14 being dragged into all of this litigation, and the fact 15 that our investments are effectively tied up and we 16 can't do what we want with them. 17 Q. And Mr. Scott previously testified that the 18 losses were accruing at $59,000 a day, $300,000 a week. 19 Are you familiar with that testimony? 20 A. Yes. Yes. 21 Q. Do you agree with that testimony? 22 A. That's certainly the information we were 23 given, yes. 24 Q. By whom? 25 A. By Highland.		Page 73 1 foundation. Go ahead. You can answer. 2 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Well, help me again. 3 What's the basis of that loss? 4 A. We cannot do what we would like to do and as 5 we're entitled to do under the indentures which govern 6 the CLOs. We're engaged in the litigation, and 7 obviously, therefore, have lots of costs around counsel, 8 etcetera. So it's all of the costs around the 9 litigation on top of not being able to do the things we 10 would like to with those investments. 11 Q. And what is it you'd like to do with those 12 investments? 13 A. Well, we were aiming for resets, which was 14 stalled, and, of course -- again, I'm not an expert in 15 CLOs, but I'm advised that being unable to do a reset 16 means that our investments aren't performing -- 17 Q. Have you looked -- 18 A. -- as they should. 19 Q. I'm sorry, I didn't mean to interrupt. Have 20 you looked at other options to mitigate your losses? 21 A. We've certainly attended mediation with a 22 view to hopefully settling, but that wasn't successful. 23 Q. And anything else you've looked at besides 24 mediation? 25 A. I can't think.

Page 94 1 Mr. Terry. So there is an expectation that that would 2 be due and payable. 3 Q. Is there an expectation that it will be paid? 4 MR. WIELEBINSKI) You don't have any 7 independent knowledge to know whether a judgment that 8 might be rendered in your favor is collectible, do you? 9 A. I think that might be a legal technicality, 10 and I don't know the answer to it. 11 Q. Have -- you had told me earlier that you had 12 seen the trustee's current plan. 13 A. Yes. 14 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Well, let me give you 6 what is Exhibit No. -- is it 4? 7 A. Yes. 8 Q. And what is that? 9 A. This is titled the Third Amended Joint Plan 10 for ACIS. 11 Q. And this is the plan you've been discussing? 12 A. Yes. 13 Q. Now you said that you're allowed to do a 14 reset but not a redemption. 15 A. Uh-huh. 16 Q. What's the difference and why does that 17 matter to you? 18 A. The rights that you have as the holder of the 19 equity strips is that you can call for an option or 20 redemption which can take the form of a reset, but it 21 could also take the form of a liquidation into a 22 warehouse or a liquidation at the market, so it's the 23 optionality. 24 Q. And your preferred option is what? 25 A. Our preferred option has always been a reset,
Page 95 1 A. It affects the fund because we'll be locked 2 into arrangements with ACIS and Brigade for a period of 3 up to two years, and that is not something that would be 4 of our choosing. We would have a plan injunction, which 5 would mean that we couldn't exercise our rights under 6 the CLO indentures, which we're entitled to do as a 7 noteholder. 8 Q. What are you entitled to do? I'm sorry, I 9 didn't understand that. 10 A. We have the right to call for a redemption 11 under the indentures. And, of course, if Mr. Terry is 12 made 100 percent owner of the reorganized debtor, then 13 clearly will be in a relationship with ACIS on that 14 basis. 15 Q. So you told me that there's a two-year time 16 period during which you have to be involved with ACIS. 17 A. Uh-huh. 18 Q. And you told me that there's an inability to 19 call a redemption. 20 A. (Nods head affirmatively.) 21 Q. Are there any other ways the plan impacts 22 you? 23 MR. MALONEY: Objection, foundation; 24 calls for a legal conclusion. 25 A. We are allowed to call for reset but not an		Page 97 1 which is the original intention that we've been 2 prevented from doing. 3 Q. Mr. Scott said that it was a reset. He said 4 it numerous times that was his first option. 5 A. Uh-huh. 6 Q. Indeed, it was, I believe, a basis for his 7 objection -- HCLOF's objection to the prior plan. Do 8 you recall that? 9 A. Yes. 10 Q. This plan allows you to do a reset. Why is 11 that a problem? 12 A. Because the reset that it allows us to do is 13 with ACIS and Brigade, and we were set up to do 14 transactions involving Highland products, 15 Highland-managed CLOs, not managed by Brigade but by 16 Highland. 17 Q. And that's the only problem you have with 18 that reset provision? 19 A. We don't feel that -- 20 Q. Let's -- I think just a yes or no. Is 21 that -- 22 A. Sorry, say the question again. 23 Q. Is that the only problem you have with that 24 reset provision? 25 A. I have a problem with who would be doing the

Page 99 1 October reports. And even the senior noteholders, I 2 think -- 3 COURT REPORTER: The what? 4 A. -- senior noteholders in one instance weren't 5 paid. So it seems to us that the CLOs are being managed 6 to generate fees for the manager, but they're not being 7 managed for the benefit of the investors, which is what 8 they should be. 9 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Let me just explore that 10 a little bit. Brigade is charging a fee significantly 11 lower than Highland is charging; isn't that correct? 12 A. Yes. 13 Q. How much lower? Do you know? 14 A. I think it's 15 basis points. 15 Q. And Highland was actually removed as a 16 service provider to ACIS because of mismanagement. 17 That's what was alleged by the trustee. 18 A. That's what was alleged, yes, but -- 19 Q. The judge found that, did the judge not? 20 A. The judge did, but our investors didn't 21 express any disquiet with the way that Highland was 22 managing the fund. They came into the fund on the basis 23 of the fee structure that was in place, so they were 24 perfectly accepting of it. As far as I knew, there was 25 no concern raised by investors about the level of fees.		Page 101 1 revelation of any attorney-client communications. 2 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) I'm not asking you for 3 any attorney-client revelations. But you're going to 4 file a public document this afternoon, so I'd like to 5 know the bases are for the objection that I would expect 6 to see in the public filing. 7 A. I think it's probably arguments that have 8 been used before in relation to the objection to the 9 previous plans: That it prevents the fund doing what 10 it's legally entitled to do under the indentures for the 11 CLOs; it puts us into a relationship with people that we 12 don't want to have a relationship with for the reasons 13 that I've briefly explained. I think that's the basis 14 of it. 15 Q. You've never worked with Brigade before, have 16 you? 17 A. No. 18 Q. And you have worked with Mr. Terry before, 19 though, correct? 20 A. Mr. Terry was part of the fund when it was 21 launched, yes. 22 Q. You worked with him quite well, didn't you? 23 A. We had no disagreements. 24 Q. And you never challenged any of his advice or 25 any recommendations; isn't that correct?

Page 102 1 A. I think we probably challenged them, but we 2 didn't not agree with the conclusion that he reached. 3 Q. You do that with everybody, though, right? 4 A. Yes. 5 Q. You have robust discussions, but eventually 6 you come to an agreement with Mr. Scott and accept what 7 the portfolio manager recommends? 8 MR. MALONEY: I'm going to object to 9 form; foundation. You can answer. Go ahead. 10 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) And you did that with 11 Mr. Terry when he served in that role, correct? 12 A. Yes. 13 Q. And, again, he served in a very significant 14 role, covered -- based on your lawsuit, there were a 15 number of things he was doing that were very fundamental 16 to the performance of your fund. 17 A. Yes. 18 Q. But you have a problem with him now coming in 19 and doing that, correct? 20 A. I have a problem with him coming in, because 21 throughout these proceedings it seems that he's been 22 very hostile to the fund. And I think having a manager 23 who is hostile to a fund is not a good idea. 24 Q. And tell me how he's been hostile to the fund 25 during these proceedings.		Page 104 1 lawsuit is about? 2 A. Yes. 3 MR. MALONEY: Objection, foundation. 4 But you can answer. 5 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Well, you're a lawyer, 6 right, and that's your understanding of what the thrust 7 of the lawsuit is, correct, disclosure of confidential 8 information by Mr. Terry; is that correct? 9 MR. MALONEY: Same objection. 10 A. That's certainly the thrust of it. 11 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) What confidential 12 information did he disclose? 13 A. I think it's any information that he would 14 have had by virtue of his role with the portfolio 15 manager prior to his termination. 16 Q. Any information that he had? 17 A. Confidential information. 18 Q. What confidential information did he have? 19 Do you have any specifics? 20 MR. MALONEY: I'm going to object on 21 foundation. The lawsuit is a matter of record, it 22 speaks for itself, but the witness can answer to the 23 extent she can recall. 24 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Well, tell me, does the 25 lawsuit anywhere describe what that confidential
Page 103 1 A. Because of the way that the case has 2 progressed. 3 Q. Well, what has Mr. Terry done that has 4 exhibited his hostility towards the fund during these 5 proceedings? 6 MS. O'NEIL: Object to form. 7 A. Everything that has happened that has 8 involved the fund since we were aware of it in April has 9 been connected to what Mr. Terry did in terms of putting 10 ACIS into involuntary proceedings, so is that not 11 evidence that it's a pretty hostile environment that we 12 find ourselves in? 13 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Other than him 14 exercising a right he has to file an involuntary 15 bankruptcy that was hotly contested and that the Court 16 approved, what else has he done in these proceedings 17 that has been hostile versus what the trustee may have 18 done? 19 MR. MALONEY: Objection, foundation. 20 A. I don't think there's anything I can add. 21 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) By the way, in your 22 lawsuit the basis for the damages is a disclosure of 23 confidential information, is it not? 24 A. Uh-huh. Yes. 25 Q. Isn't that what really the thrust of the		Page 105 1 information is? 2 A. I don't -- I cannot tell you off the top of 3 my head what that is, but it's information that would 4 have been around the CLOs that I think we talked about 5 in -- we listed the CLOs, for instance, didn't we? So 6 all of the information in 22, the structuring of the 7 sub-notes, etcetera, that's information that would have 8 been come by as a result of working for the portfolio 9 manager. 10 Q. Who did Mr. Terry share that information 11 with? 12 MR. MALONEY: Objection, foundation. 13 You can answer if you can. 14 A. Well, my understanding is with the trustee. 15 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) The trustee of the 16 company that served as the portfolio manager for your 17 fund? 18 A. Yes. 19 Q. He shared that information that ACIS 20 acquired, or had, serving in that capacity; is that 21 correct? 22 A. He personally had. And, you know, it's the 23 confidentiality obligations he has as an employee of 24 ACIS. 25 Q. Right. But assuming there are

Page 126 1 board were told that -- from Harbour Vest that the 2 portfolio manager be changed, then that clearly was 3 something already discussed, and the share buyback was 4 much more of an internal thing. 5 Q. And what independent investigation did you do 6 in connection with this Offering Memorandum? 7 A. You mean taking any sort of external advice 8 on it? 9 Q. Or investigating anything that was in the 10 Offering Memorandum to verify its accuracy or that it 11 was disclosed? 12 A. Well, as I said earlier, we do rely on the 13 portfolio manager to provide information about the 14 portfolio. And so a lot of this clearly relates to 15 that, and we're happy to rely on -- 16 Q. But did you do any independent investigation 17 as part of the securities offering? 18 A. Not outside of reviewing it and making 19 whatever comments were made on it. 20 Q. And Mr. Scott, did he do any independent 21 investigation? 22 A. Not to my knowledge. 23 Q. So everything was what was provided by 24 Highland or a Highland affiliate -- 25 A. And with lawyers, obviously, because, you		Page 128 1 sensible, and we have in this case, because it's a 2 Guernsey entity -- Guernsey counsel preparing documents 3 including, for instance, the share buyback agreement 4 sets of resolutions which memorialize what the decisions 5 are, then we're content. 6 Q. Did you tell me -- is there any disclosure in 7 here about the dispute with Mr. Terry and Highland over 8 his employment that ultimately led to the final award? 9 A. No. 10 Q. Do you think it should have been disclosed in 11 there? 12 A. I'm struggling to understand why it would be 13 in an offering document. To the extent that the 14 investor, the new investor, needed to know or raised 15 questions, then that would be dealt with between 16 themselves. 17 Q. How would the new investor know to ask those 18 questions when you, at that time, didn't even know about 19 what was going on with that litigation? 20 MR. MALONEY: Objection, foundation. 21 A. I don't know. I can't speak to discussions 22 between Harbour Vest and Highland which I wasn't a 23 party. 24 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) But your answer was that 25 Harbour Vest might ask some questions and, therefore,
Page 127 1 know, the lawyers would be advising on what needed to go 2 into the offering document, etcetera. 3 Q. Did anybody, whether you -- well, you said 4 neither you nor Mr. Scott conducted any investigation, 5 but did the lawyers look at and bless this series of 6 transactions you just described? 7 A. Well, yes, because they prepared the 8 documentation for it. 9 Q. Well, not the ones involved. Any independent 10 lawyers look at the transactions and determine whether 11 they were valid and wouldn't be subject to subsequent 12 litigation, anything along those lines? 13 MR. MALONEY: Objection, form; 14 foundation. You can answer if you know. 15 MS. O'NEIL: Objection -- I'm sorry, did 16 you finish, Mark? 17 MR. MALONEY: Go ahead. 18 MS. O'NEIL: Objection to the extent 19 that answering that question would require you to 20 consider privileged communication with counsel. 21 A. It wouldn't be the norm to have an external 22 review of absolutely everything that is around the 23 transaction. So if we are advised that we're going to 24 be pursuing a course of action and we're given a 25 rationale for it which seems perfectly reasonable and		Page 129 1 you might make some additional disclosures. 2 A. No, no. What I meant was if Harbour Vest had 3 any questions during the course of the discussions being 4 had around which they were thinking of coming into the 5 fund, then they would be held with Highland. 6 Q. Do you know if Highland had any of those 7 discussions with Harbour Vest regarding the litigation 8 with Mr. Terry? 9 A. I don't know. 10 Q. Do you think they should have? I mean, in 11 light of what you know today that litigation has ended 12 up causing, do you think they should have disclosed 13 that? 14 A. I would imagine that as a very sophisticated 15 investor, they'd know what questions to ask which should 16 have been the responses around it, but I don't know 17 because I wasn't a part of the -- 18 Q. Do you think they -- 19 A. -- conversation. 20 Q. I'm sorry. Do you think they would have 21 known to ask those questions if nobody told them about 22 the litigation? I don't see how you could ask questions 23 about it and its impact if you weren't made aware of it. 24 MR. MALONEY: Objection to the form. 6 A. I think it's evidence of the breakdown in 7 relationship between Mr. Terry and his previous 8 employer. 9 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Right. And Highland, 10 who you have a lot of relationships with through your 11 fund, obviously created a pretext to try to terminate 12 somebody that you were working very closely with through 13 ACIS; isn't that correct? 14 MR. MALONEY: Objection to form. And 15 the document speaks for itself. 16 A. That's what the document says. 17 Q. (BY MR. I don't remember, other than reading it as 23 part of the award document, but... 24 Q. Didn't have any reaction to it that it was 25 something you needed to investigate further or find out
Page 131 1 A. Yes. I believe I have read this. 2 Q. And do you know when you first saw this? 3 A. I cannot say when, but it would have been in 4 the period between April and now. 5 Q. But never before April of 2018, correct? 6 A. No. No. 7 Q. And other than -- well, did you know anything 8 about this arbitration prior to April? 9 A. No. 10 Q. Did you know anything about the litigation 11 that led up to this arbitration before April? 12 A. No. 13 Q. Okay. And, again, you did review this 14 previously once it was given to you? 15 A. I have received a copy and read it, yes. 16 Q. And can you look at page 21, please? 17 A. Yes. 18 Q. Paragraph 5. Can you just read that to 19 yourself? Do you see that it says Highland's 20 termination of Terry's employment was not, in fact, for 21 cause? 22 A. I see that. 23 Q. And that it was, in fact, pretextual and for 24 the purpose of denying Terry benefits of employment? 25 A. I see that.		Page 133 1 about -- find more out about? 2 MR. MALONEY: Object to form. 3 A. This was one of many documents that we 4 received following the update call in mid-April when we 5 were told about the case. 6 Q. (BY MR. MALONEY: Objection -- 11 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Is that what you're 12 telling me? 13 MR. MALONEY: Objection, foundation. 14 You can answer. 15 A. My view continues to be that if an employment 16 relationship has gone wrong, then it's not necessarily 17 appropriate that I, as a director of the fund, should 18 know the level of detail. And my relationship is with 19 the portfolio manager who gives us sufficient 20 information in my view, and I'm happy to rely on that 21 information. 22 Q. (BY MR. Did -- did the idea that 18 there was now a monetary judgment against ACIS cause any 19 concern that that may create some issue or some problem 20 that you needed to get more information on or do 21 additional due diligence on? 22 A. No. As I said, any information that we were 23 receiving by way of updates was adequate and sufficient, 24 and I didn't feel the need to have any further 25 information.
Page 135 1 A. I was satisfied with the information that I'd 2 received from Highland and didn't feel the need for 3 anything else. 4 Q. Which was what? What was the information 5 from Highland other than sending this to you six months 6 after it occurred? 7 A. Well, I think this document actually came via 8 counsel rather than -- 9 Q. Meaning your counsel? 10 A. Yes. 11 Q. So Highland didn't even send this to you; is 12 that what you're saying? 13 A. Correct. 14 Q. You had to go on your own and get your 15 counsel to dig it up and give it to you? 16 MR. MALONEY: Objection to form. 17 A. I wouldn't characterize it like that. This 18 was one of a multitude of documents that the directors 19 were provided with after we were made known in April of 20 the situation. 21 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) And when you were made 22 known of this in April of 2018, six months after it was 23 entered, did it cause you to do any further independent 24 investigation? 25 MR. MALONEY: Objection, foundation.		Page 137 1 Q. And you say that even today knowing 2 everything you know that you feel like Highland gave you 3 all the appropriate information and all the answers you 4 needed to ask? 5 A. Yes. 6 Q. And is that why they never told you about the 7 involuntary bankruptcy that was filed in February of 8 2018 at the time? 9 MR. MALONEY: Objection to the form of 10 the question. 11 A. I can't speak for Highland as to -- 12 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Well, I'm asking you -- 13 A. -- their rationale. 14 Q. -- to speak for you as to when you first 15 learned about the bankruptcy. When was it? 16 A. In mid-April. 17 Q. Okay. So why the three-month delay before 18 you found out something that significant had occurred? 19 MR. MALONEY: Objection to form and 20 foundation. 21 A. You'd have to ask Highland the reason for 22 that. I don't -- I don't know. Because it wasn't a 23 question we asked. 24 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Did -- did you ask 25 Highland why it took them so long to do that?

Page 138 1 A. No. We didn't ask the question because we 2 were content that the information we were given was 3 adequate until we had the call in April. 4 Q. Did you know that HCLOF actually hired 5 counsel that was involved in the involuntary proceeding 6 and it was hired by counsel on your behalf? Did they 7 tell you that at the time? 8 A. I'm now aware of that, but I'm -- 9 Q. When did you first learn that? 10 A. I can't give you a date. 11 Q. After April? 12 A. But it was after April. 13 Q. Okay. Didn't cause you to question your 14 relationship with Highland? Is that norm -- well, let 15 me ask the question that's there. Didn't cause you to 16 question your relationship with Highland? 17 A. I think that we have a relationship with 18 Highland such that we are content to rely on their 19 advice and their judgment as to what is in the best 20 interest of the investors because they are the portfolio 21 manager. 22 Q. But isn't that your role to make sure that 23 your reliance on this third party is really designed to 24 maximize value for the investors? 25 A. We have overall oversight.		Page 140 1 course, we rely on our service providers to act properly 2 and in accordance with the contractual obligations they 3 have with the fund. 4 Q. The final award, I think you said, caused a 5 problem with doing the Mizuho reset, correct? 6 MR. MALONEY: Objection to form and 7 foundation. 8 A. We were advised in mid-April about the case 9 in Dallas, as a result of which was the inability to 10 proceed with the resets. 11 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Didn't the final award 12 also lead to the filing of the involuntary bankruptcy? 13 MR. MALONEY: Objection, legal 14 conclusion; foundation of the witness's knowledge. You 15 can answer if you can. 16 A. I assume that to be the case. 17 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) And didn't that 18 bankruptcy prevent you from doing redemptions of the 19 portfolio at least twice where you tried to do a 20 redemption, a liquidation, and weren't able to? 21 A. We are Guernsey directors of the Guernsey 22 entity. What's happening in a U.S. bankruptcy court is 23 not something that we would have a lot of knowledge 24 around and so even more reason that we would be reliant 25 on our manager to keep us informed and tell us updates
Page 139 1 Q. Well, you -- you have overall responsibility, 2 do you not? 3 A. Yes. 4 Q. And do you feel like you honored your 5 responsibility by just deferring to Highland -- 6 MR. MALONEY: Objection. 7 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) -- on virtually 8 everything? 9 MR. MALONEY: Objection to form and 10 foundation. 11 A. I don't believe we have deferred to Highland 12 on virtually everything. 13 Q. Well, what have you not relied on them for? 14 MS. O'NEIL: Object to form. 15 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Other than the 16 administrative tasks that you mentioned, what has 17 Highland done that you have ever called into question or 18 said no to? 19 A. The relationship with Highland is such that 20 we challenge any proposals or reports made, and that's 21 as it should be, and that's what the market recognizes 22 happens in structures such as this. We don't have 23 carriage of the day-to-day executive functions. That's 24 why Highland is the portfolio manager. That's why State 25 Street is the administrator and custodian. So, of		Page 141 1 as and when they did. 2 Q. Ten months have gone by since the filing of 3 the involuntary. Are you satisfied today with 4 everything that Highland has done in its various 5 capacities for the fund? 6 A. Yes, I am. 7 MS. O'NEIL: Object to form. 8 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) And you have no reason 9 to question any advice or recommendations they've given 10 you? 11 MS. O'NEIL: Object to form. 12 A. I'm content with the advice and information 13 we've been given. 14 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) And just so I 15 understand, you're content with the idea that they 16 didn't share with you the filing of the bankruptcy until 17 several months later and hired counsel in the meantime 18 for you that you weren't aware of? And you're saying, 19 as an independent director, you're content with that? 20 A. I think we have to rely on our portfolio 21 manager to understand the American bankruptcy system far 22 better than two Guernsey directors could possibly do, so 23 I think we have to rely on the advice that we receive. 24 We have a common interest to ensure the success of the 25 fund, so there was no suggestion that Highland was doing

Page 142 1 anything remotely other than what they should be doing. 2 Q. Well, that common interest that you 3 mentioned, do you see any variance in that interest 4 where Highland's interest may be different than yours as 5 an independent director of the fund? 6 A. Well, it could happen if -- if Highland came 7 to us with a decision which contravened the investment 8 policy or the Portfolio Management Agreement, of course 9 we wouldn't agree to it, but that has never happened. 10 Q. Could it ever diverge when it relates to the 11 legal positions taken and the results obtained? 12 MS. O'NEIL: Object to form. 13 MR. MALONEY: Objection to form, legal 14 conclusion and speculation. 15 A. I didn't understand the question, actually. 16 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Are you -- could 17 Highland have different objectives and motives in 18 connection with these bankruptcy proceedings that are 19 different from the funds of maximizing recovery for the 20 investors? 21 MS. O'NEIL: Object to the form of the 22 question. 23 MR. MALONEY: And same objections as the 24 previous question. 25 A. I can't speak to that.		Page 144 1 to ask you specifically what information -- what 2 specific confidential information Mr. Terry has utilized 3 and shared with third parties? 4 MR. MALONEY: Objection, foundation and 5 legal conclusion. 6 A. I take that advice and -- 7 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Well, the advice was an 8 objection. 9 A. -- I'm unable to -- 10 Q. You can answer the question. 11 A. The carriage of the litigation is in the 12 hands of our lawyers. 13 Q. I understand. But you authorized the filing 14 of the lawsuit. You consulted with Mr. Scott regarding 15 that lawsuit, correct? 16 A. Uh-huh. 17 Q. You obviously knew what the basis was of the 18 litigation, you told me about it, and I'm sure you read 19 the pleadings beforehand. So I'm asking a simple 20 question: What confidential information do you believe 21 was taken and utilized by Mr. Terry? 22 MS. O'NEIL: Objection. 23 MR. MALONEY: I'm going to continue to 24 object to foundation. The witness is not the legal or 25 factual architect of the complaint, but she can answer
Page 143 1 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Do you believe that your 2 interests are completely 100 percent aligned in terms of 3 the bankruptcy proceeding? 4 MS. O'NEIL: Object to the form. 5 MR. MALONEY: Same objections. 6 A. I'm not sure that I have enough knowledge 7 about the bankruptcy proceedings to enable me to respond 8 to that. 9 MR. MALONEY: Is anybody getting any -- 10 I'm sorry, is anybody getting any emails? 11 MS. O'NEIL: We need to ask her. 12 MR. MALONEY: Hello? Are we still on 13 the teleconference? Can you hear me? 14 MR. SEVILLA: I'm still here. 15 MR. MALONEY: Okay. 16 MR. WIELEBINSKI: Are you hearing -- are 17 you hearing some beeping that's intermittent? It just 18 occurred -- 19 MR. ALVES: I'm here. 20 MR. SEVILLA: No. 21 MR. WIELEBINSKI: Okay. 22 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) I want to go back and 23 ask a question about your lawsuit before I forget. You 24 said the basis of it was confidential information that 25 Mr. Terry has utilized and shared with others. I want		Page 145 1 to the extent she knows. 2 MS. O'NEIL: It also calls for a legal 3 conclusion. 4 A. As I said, I think this is something that 5 we're advised on by our lawyers, so... 6 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) And you never questioned 7 them to say, Well, what information is that that you're 8 saying he took that wasn't already public or previously 9 disclosed? No independent investigation of anything? 10 MR. MALONEY: I'm going to -- I'm going 11 to object to the extent you're asking for communications 12 and conversations with counsel. 13 And I instruct the witness not to answer 14 to the extent he's asking you for conversations you had 15 with your counsel. 16 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) I'm not asking for any 17 of those conversations. Just asking whether you did 18 anything independent to verify what you said was the 19 main basis for your complaint against Mr. Terry? 20 A. I think that that would have been the subject 21 of discussions with counsel. 22 Q. Well, let me ask you this: Who told counsel 23 about the confidential information that they had to look 24 at to put together the architecture for the lawsuit? 25 MS. O'NEIL: Same objection.

Page 146 1 MR. MALONEY: Yeah -- 2 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) I'm not asking for your 3 communications. I'm just saying who would have given 4 them that information? 5 A. I think that -- 6 MS. O'NEIL: Same objection. 7 A. -- relates to conversations that we would 8 have had with counsel. 9 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) But would it have been 10 you and Mr. Scott that would have said, This is the 11 confidential information that is the basis for this 12 lawsuit? 13 A. I think this is all information that would 14 have been part of the discussions we had with counsel. 15 Q. Well, would there have been anybody else that 16 could have given them that information? 17 A. I think that to the extent that there is 18 information that has been discussed with counsel, then 19 I'm not sure I can respond to that. 20 Q. Going back to the trustee's plan. If it's 21 confirmed and a reset is done, that's not going to be a 22 bad result for your investors, correct? 23 MR. MALONEY: I'm going to object to 24 form, foundation, and speculation. 25 A. I'm not sure we can do a reset. I'm not sure		Page 148 1 comfortable then to do a reset? 2 MR. MALONEY: Objection, foundation and 3 calls for a potential legal conclusion. 4 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) You can answer if you 5 know. 6 A. The Court doesn't -- if a Court were to do 7 that, then the Court couldn't then tell me and tell Bill 8 what our duties and authority were because that's a 9 matter of Guernsey law. 10 Q. You told me you're going to object to the 11 plan. I assume -- well, you're not a creditor so you 12 don't get a vote. Would you agree that if the plan was 13 confirmed and a reset was authorized that that would be 14 a better result for your investors than the present 15 circumstances? 16 MR. MALONEY: I'm going to object to 17 form and foundation. 18 A. As I said earlier, I don't believe that we, 19 as a board, have the authority to do that and -- nor do 20 I believe for reasons that I've explained earlier that 21 it's in the best interest of our investors to have the 22 relationship with Brigade that that would entail. 23 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) But if the plan was 24 confirmed, you're going to have that relationship with 25 Brigade and ACIS. You -- you'll agree with me on that,
Page 147 1 we have the authority as directors of this fund. 2 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Why is that? Why 3 wouldn't you have the authority to do a reset? 4 A. Because in the offering documents we state 5 quite clearly what the intention of the policy and 6 strategy is, and it doesn't involve doing any 7 transactions with Brigade. 8 Q. Right. But you also said there's no 9 requirement that you can't do what the plan proposes, 10 right? It doesn't have to be Highland managed. It's 11 not required that it be Highland managed; isn't that 12 correct? 13 A. There's no text in the offering document to 14 say that it is required. But as a director of this 15 fund, I do not believe that we would have the authority 16 to do a transaction with Brigade. 17 Q. Right. On your own, you couldn't do it 18 voluntarily. You would need the Court to order you to 19 do it; is that what you're saying? 20 MR. MALONEY: I'm going to object to the 21 form and foundation. I don't think the Court is 22 ordering the fund to do anything. That misstates the 23 plan. 24 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) If the Court approves 25 the plan and says a reset is allowed, are you more		Page 149 1 correct? In other words, it will be ordered because 2 that's what the plan says. 3 A. Yes, that's a term of the plan. 4 Q. And Highland's out. It's not a subservicer 5 or submanager at this point, correct? 6 A. Correct. 7 Q. And at that point, at least you have the 8 option to do a reset if you felt you could approve that 9 or you're authorized to do that, correct? 10 MR. MALONEY: I object to form. 11 A. Under the plan, the fund would be allowed to 12 proceed with a reset. 13 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) And who would need to 14 give you authorization to do that, to proceed with a 15 reset that was proposed? Would it be the investors? 16 A. It would be -- to do -- to take this out -- 17 well, the board have the authority, taking the advice of 18 the investment manager, to do an action like a reset. 19 But in this sort of circumstance where we are, if the 20 plan is confirmed, forced into that relationship and we 21 don't believe it's in the best interest of our 22 investors, then perhaps we would need to seek approval 23 or consent or an idea from the investors as to the views 24 of that. 25 Q. So you might solicit their views and see if

Page 150 1 it's okay to proceed with a reset under the 2 circumstances with a confirmed plan? 3 A. It's a possibility. 4 Q. And they might say yes? 5 A. That's a possibility. 6 Q. And their alternative is they just keep 7 rocking along and losing $300,000 a week, correct? 8 MR. MALONEY: I'm going to object. It 9 lacks foundation. It ignores legal remedies that I 10 believe counsel is aware of, such as an appeal, so I 11 object to the foundation. 12 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Is it better than losing 13 $300,000 a week? 14 MR. MALONEY: Objection, foundation. 15 A. I think as counsel has indicated that, you 16 know, we would be evaluating our position at the time. 17 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Well, you're a lawyer. 18 You know that parties can appeal. Appeals can go on for 19 years. 20 MR. MALONEY: Objection, foundation. 21 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Isn't that correct? 22 A. I'll just make the point that I'm not a 23 practicing lawyer -- 24 Q. Okay. 25 A. -- and haven't been for some years. And I		Page 152 1 was the subject of attorney-client communications. 2 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) I'm not asking you for 3 those communications. I'm asking you simply, has 4 Highland offered any solution to this problem short of 5 objecting to the plan? 6 MR. MALONEY: Same objections. 7 MS. O'NEIL: I'm also going to object to 8 the extent it calls for a disclosure of common interest 9 privileged communications. 10 A. I think I have to listen to the objections 11 and -- 12 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) As an independent 13 director, what steps have you taken to solve the 14 problems caused by this bankruptcy? 15 A. I think this goes to the point that I made 16 probably a few hours ago when I was talking about the 17 differing roles of entities within structures such as 18 this, and I think that we would be heavily reliant on 19 our service providers, and that means Highland in this 20 case. 21 Q. Well, it's actually a Cayman -- a newly 22 formed Cayman entity that's your service provider, 23 correct? 24 A. Yes. 25 Q. And what have they offered to try to solve
Page 151 1 was never a litigation lawyer, so I know nothing about 2 the appeal process -- 3 Q. Fair enough. If I told you -- 4 A. -- and particularly not American appeal 5 processes. 6 Q. If I told you in the American appeal process 7 it could go on for years, it would mean that rather than 8 doing a reset you would continue to lose what you allege 9 was $300,000 a week for your investors as well as the 10 attorneys' fees that you'd be incurring in the meantime, 11 correct? 12 MR. MALONEY: I'm going to object to the 13 preface, foundation, speculation, form. 14 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Do you have a fiduciary 15 duty to Highland or any Highland entities or affiliates? 16 A. Our duties are to the investors and the 17 company. 18 Q. And your duties, as you told me, was to 19 maximize the return for investors, correct? 20 A. That's the idea, yes. 21 Q. To your knowledge, has Highland offered any 22 solution to this bankruptcy problem that we all face? 23 MR. MALONEY: I'm going to object to 24 foundation, to form, and also to the extent that any 25 information you have that would be responsive to that		Page 153 1 this problem? 2 A. Well, again, I think this goes back to the 3 whole -- 4 MR. MALONEY: I'm going -- I'm going to 5 renew the same objections that I made before. I'm 6 sorry. You can answer to the extent you can with those 7 guidance. 8 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Have you personally had 9 any discussions with that service provider -- 10 A. We -- 11 Q. -- about solving the problems of this 12 bankruptcy? 13 A. We, the board, have had lots of conversations 14 with Highland, with counsel for Highland, and with our 15 own counsel about the circumstances. 16 Q. So who at Highland is -- is -- who have you 17 spoken with at HCF Advisors? 18 A. We have spoken with Hunter, who appears at 19 our board meetings on behalf of the portfolio manager. 20 Q. What does he do for that portfolio manager? 21 How -- what relationship does he have to the portfolio 22 manager? I understand he works for Highland Capital, 23 but does he do anything for Highland HCF Advisors? 24 A. He is provided to the portfolio manager to 25 the fund.

Page 154 1 Q. How do you know that? 2 A. Because he was effectively a replacement for 3 Mr. Terry. When we were advised of Mr. Terry's 4 departure, we were told that Hunter would be working 5 with the fund going forward. 6 Q. Well, working with the fund. Does he -- is 7 he an officer or a director of that fund? Do you know? 8 A. I can't remember what he -- 9 Q. So you're not even certain whether -- 10 MR. No. 3 Q. Did you know that Highland could file its own 4 plan in the bankruptcy case? 5 A. (Shakes head negatively.) 6 Q. You didn't know that? 7 A. I don't think I did know that. 8 Q. And did you know that HCLOF may be able to 9 file its own plan in the bankruptcy case? 10 A. I wasn't aware that that was a -- 11 Q. Page 155 1 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) It's just one of the 2 many Highland affiliates and entity? 3 A. No, no. We're talking about have any 4 solutions been proposed. And I think in the 5 circumstances, the conversations that we have are with 6 lots of people on a conference call. We don't go around 7 the table identifying who is who and who -- which hat 8 they're wearing at any particular time. 9 Q. You don't think that's appropriate to know 10 who is talking and what hat they're wearing? 11 A. I know who's talking, but I don't think it's 12 necessarily appropriate to have the hat disclosed. 13 Q. Do you -- do you think that Highland Capital, 14 for example, might have differing interests than HCF 15 Advisors? 16 MR. MALONEY: I'm going to object to 17 foundation and to form. 18 MS. O'NEIL: I also object to the extent 19 it calls for speculation. 20 A. I don't know. 21 Q. (BY MR. Page 158 1 bankruptcy? 2 MR. MALONEY: Objection, form; vague. 3 A. If you could give me a bit more detail around 4 that. 5 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Judge has suggested at 6 some point that an amount of money be put up, and with 7 that money set aside that the parties could go about 8 their business and get out of the bankruptcy, something 9 along those lines she's inquired of that. 10 A. Yes, I'm aware of that. 11 Q. She's -- okay. And she's done it, like I 12 said, three or four times. You're aware of that? 13 A. Yes. 14 Q. Neither Highland -- Highland has never 15 accepted that offer or tried to fashion a remedy to 16 solve these problems along those lines, has it? 17 MR. MALONEY: Objection to form. 18 MS. O'NEIL: Objection to the extent it 19 calls for disclosure of common interest privileged 20 communications. 21 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Has Highland done that? 22 A. I think that this is something that has been 23 part of the discussions that we've been having on an 24 ongoing basis that I probably have to say are privileged 25 and can't go into the question.		Page 160 1 A. No. But by the same token, we haven't had 2 any approaches ourselves. 3 Q. By the trustee, you're saying? 4 A. Yes. 5 Q. What could the trustee do that would allow 6 you to be able to resolve -- would allow all the parties 7 to be able to resolve their issues? Anything you can 8 think of? 9 A. I don't know. I don't know. 10 Q. You're familiar with the litigation the 11 trustee has commenced against Highland and HCLOF, 12 correct? 13 A. Yes. 14 Q. And you've read it, you sort of understand 15 what the nature of the claims are? 16 A. I think so. 17 Q. A lot of them result -- a lot of them arise 18 because of those transactions that you described, a 19 series of transactions, in October of 2017, correct? 20 A. Yes. 21 Q. Do you feel like Highland has gotten you into 22 a pickle -- that's maybe a Texas term -- but has gotten 23 you into a difficult situation because of those 24 transfers? 25 MR. MALONEY: Objection --
Page 159 1 MR. MALONEY: Let me -- Joe, are you 2 saying is she aware of whether Highland has filed 3 something or said something publicly? 4 MR. WIELEBINSKI: I think she's answered 5 the question, I think. 6 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) You know that there was 7 a mediation -- 8 A. Yes. 9 Q. -- that occurred? You participated, correct? 10 A. Yes. 11 Q. That didn't go anywhere, did it? 12 A. No. 13 Q. Have you ever reached out to the trustee to 14 try to solve the problems that HCLOF is facing to try to 15 come up with some solution that would work? 16 MR. MALONEY: Objection to form. Do you 17 mean her personally? 18 MR. WIELEBINSKI: Yes. 19 A. I haven't, no. 20 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Has Mr. Scott? 21 A. Not to my knowledge. 22 Q. Have you had any sit-downs with the trustee 23 over this latest plan to try to negotiate any of the 24 terms or provisions that might make it more workable 25 for you?		Page 161 1 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) You're now being sued 2 for them. 3 MR. MALONEY: Objection to form. 4 MS. O'NEIL: Object to form. 5 A. I -- we are where we are. 6 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Still comfortable with 7 Highland, though, and everything that it's -- 8 A. Yes. 9 Q. -- doing and has done? 10 A. Yes. 11 (Exhibit 7 marked.) 12 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) I'm going to hand you 13 what's been marked as Exhibit No. 7. Have you seen this 14 before? 15 A. Yes. 16 Q. What is it? 17 A. It's the letter from Mr. Leventon. 18 Q. And who's it addressed to? 19 A. To the Chapter 7 trustee. 20 Q. And what's the substance of the letter? 21 MR. MALONEY: Objection, document speaks 22 for itself. 23 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) What do you understand 24 it to be saying? 25 MR. MALONEY: Same objection.

Page 162 1 A. I think it says what it says. 2 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Well, does it say that 3 you -- the trustee is being asked to liquidate the 4 portfolio? 5 MR. MALONEY: Objection to form. 6 A. I think it's interpreted as something which 7 it wasn't intended to be. I think -- 8 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Well, let me ask you 9 this: It talks about effectuating the optional 10 redemptions, correct? Do you see that on page 3? 11 A. Yeah. 12 Q. And it says that there are three mechanisms 13 for effectuating the optional redemptions, right? And 14 the three are: Reset transactions. That's Option 1. 15 A. Uh-huh. 16 Q. And then there is Option 2, sell the 17 collateral into a warehouse; and the third one is sell 18 all collateral into the market. How do you understand 19 that third one -- is that a liquidation? 20 MR. MALONEY: I'm going to object to the 21 foundation of the witness as to her involvement and 22 understanding of this document at the time it was sent. 23 Object to the form of the question. 24 A. I think it describes what Option 3 is. 25 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Which is a liquidation,		Page 164 1 A. I think it's clear on the face of it. 2 Q. To liquidate? Option 3. 3 A. The sentence you're referring to is, 4 "Highland will prepare to effectuate Option 3 -- 5 Q. -- to sell the collateral into -- 6 A. -- as the default instruction -- 7 COURT REPORTER: Hang on. 8 MR. WIELEBINSKI: I'm sorry. 9 COURT REPORTER: -- I didn't get the 10 whole answer. 11 A. -- as the default instruction under the 12 optional redemption." 13 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Okay. What do you 14 understand that to mean? 15 A. My understanding at the time was that the 16 Chapter 7 trustee had a limited period, I think, of 60 17 days in which she could operate ACIS, and there wasn't 18 much in the way of progress during those 60 days. So as 19 a party that was being harmed by that, I think that the 20 intent of this letter was to promote some action from 21 the Chapter 7 trustee and -- 22 Q. And you were prepared to accept that if the 23 trustee would have gone forward with it, correct? 24 MR. MALONEY: Objection to form. 25 MS. O'NEIL: Objection, calls for
Page 163 1 correct? 2 A. "The Chapter 7 trustee's final option in 3 compliance with the redemption notices is to liquidate 4 the collateral into the market." 5 Q. And you understand that to be a liquidation? 6 A. Yes. 7 Q. You're liquidating the portfolio's position, 8 correct? 9 A. Uh-huh. Yes. 10 Q. And then it says in that same -- under 11 Option 3, "The investors in the CLOs would then be able 12 to take this cash and reinvest it in CLOs, or other 13 investments, with a better return profile." And then at 14 the end isn't what's being requested of the trustee is 15 to authorize the liquidation of the collateral under 16 Option 3? 17 MR. MALONEY: Objection, foundation. 18 The document says what it says. It's been the subject 19 of extensive testimony. I object to the foundation of 20 this witness. 21 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) What do you understand, 22 Ms. Bestwick? What do you understand was being 23 recommended to the trustee to do? And I'll point out 24 the second to last sentence of the last paragraph on 25 page 4.		Page 165 1 speculation. 2 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) I definitely don't want 3 you to speculate, Ms. Bestwick. You saw this letter, 4 correct, at the -- at or about the time it was sent? 5 A. Yes. 6 Q. You had no objection to it; is that correct? 7 A. I didn't have an objection to it, no. 8 Q. And so you were prepared if the trustee would 9 not do Option 1 or 2 to accept Option 3, a 10 liquidation -- 11 MR. MALONEY: I'm going to object -- 12 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) -- is that correct? 13 MR. MALONEY: I'm going to object to 14 form and foundation. 15 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Is that correct, 16 Ms. Bestwick? 17 A. I think that consistently there has been the 18 intent to go -- to do what we were poised to do 19 originally, which is to do the reset transactions, and 20 that was always going to be the option, the preferred 21 option. 22 Q. But only under certain circumstances. I 23 mean, your statement that you just made has to be 24 qualified, correct? 25 A. We're talking about the time that this was --

Page 166 1 Q. I understand. 2 A. Yeah. Yeah. 3 Q. Okay. That Exhibit No. 1 was a Portfolio Management 4 Agreement of December 22nd, correct? 5 A. Yes. 6 Q. Why were there two done in such close 14 proximity? Can you -- can you explain that to me? 15 A. My recall is that it was part of the step 16 plan that I referred to earlier. The replacement of the 17 portfolio manager had to take place as a condition 18 precedent to the incoming new -- 19 Q. That was to get rid of ACIS -- 20 COURT REPORTER: Wait. Wait. Precedent 21 to the incoming new? 22 THE WITNESS: Investor. 23 Q. (BY MR. Page 167 1 for speculation and ignores prior testimony of other 2 options. 3 A. I think we have to take a view at the 4 appropriate time with the information we have to hand. 5 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Sure. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) And there was another 11 attempt. It was a notice of redemption issued. You're 12 aware of that, correct? 13 A. Yes. 14 Q. That never went forward either. It was 15 actually voluntarily withdrawn by you. 16 A. The June, yes. 17 Q. Yes. 1 MS. O'NEIL: You said 8 and 9, right?
2 MR. WIELEBINSKI: Yes.
3 MS. O'NEIL: These are two different
4 documents.
5 MR. WIELEBINSKI: Right. Do you mind
6 showing those to Mr. Shaw?
7 MR. SHAW: It's -- I mean, it's okay.
8 I'm fine.
9 MR. PHELAN: What are they, Joe?
10 MR. MALONEY: Yeah. Exhibit 8 is 11 November 15, 2017 and Exhibit 9 is 27 October 2017.
12 MR. SHAW: Portfolio Management
13 Agreement. All right.
14 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Sorry, Ms. Bestwick, so
15 you have seen these before?
16 A. Yes.
17 Q. And obviously the October 27th occurred first 18 and then the November 15th occurred second?
19 A. Yes.
20 Q. And I think you described that under the 21 October 27th PMA that's where ACIS was removed,
22 terminated?
23 A. Yes.
24 Q. Okay. And then the second one, November
25 15th, is when Highland HCF Advisors took over?

Page 171

1 A. Highland HCF Advisors were the incoming
2 portfolio manager on the prior one as well, the 27th of 3 October. But the difference was I think the governing
4 law clause was changed in the later one.
5 Q. Why -- why is that? Do you know? Why was 6 that change made?
7 A. I believe that it was a conforming exercise
8 because it's governed by the law of Texas.
9 Q. Okay.
10 MR. WIELEBINSKI: Let's see if we can
11 take a short break for 5 or 10 minutes, if that's okay.
12 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Off the record at 13 1:01. This is Disk 3, Volume 1.
14 (Break taken.)
15 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: On the record at 16 1:19, Disk 4, Volume 1.
17 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Ms. Bestwick, we're back
18 on the record. I just wanted to ask some follow-up 19 questions. So the first is, one option you have and 20 have had to try to solve the problems we're all
21 encountering is just to sell your debt, correct, sell it
22 in the open market, sell the investors' debt, the notes?
23 MR. MALONEY: I'm going to object to 24 foundation to whether that's actually an option.
25 A. I think that would have been my question. It

1 might be a possibility, it might be an option, but I
2 don't know if that's possible as a matter of fact.
3 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Why not? Why would it
4 not be an option? Do you know? Why would that not be 5 an option?
6 A. I obviously have to defer to the greater
7 knowledge of Highland and the experts, but I understand
8 that it is unlikely to provide an optimal result for us.
9 Q. Okay. I understand that. Have you done an 10 analysis of the pros and cons of selling the positions
11 in your fund versus the current situation and the 12 potential way things may play out?
13 A. I'm not aware. We have seen an awful lot of 14 documentation and charts and things, so I'm not aware of 15 what the current position is on that, so I couldn't say.
16 Q. Well, I don't know that I need to know
17 specifics, but I need to ask, has that analysis been 18 done?
19 A. I'm not sure. I'm not sure.
20 Q. Do you think it would be a helpful
21 analysis --
22 A. I'd have to check.
23 Q. -- to look at to determine whether there's an 24 option available for the investors short of accepting 25 the plan?

1 A. I think it's always useful to have as much
2 information as you possibly can.
3 Q. But you haven't ordered that kind of analysis
4 from the PMA?
5 MR. MALONEY: Objection, foundation.
6 A. I'm not aware that we have.
7 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Right. Is it the job of 8 the portfolio manager to actually find investors like 9 Harbour Vest and to negotiate the entire agreement with 10 them?
11 A. I think that's the market norm that the 12 portfolio manager has. I referred earlier to the whole
13 investor relation's function. So to my knowledge, you
14 have portfolio managers who have staff who, you know,
15 are on the road most of the year trying to drum up 16 business for the fund and speaking to investors and 17 giving them information which might make them
18 interested, so yes.
19 Q. All right. I want to go back to the lawsuit
20 against Mr. Terry again with the confidential
21 information. What information did you or Mr. Scott make 22 available to the lawyers for them to do the analysis and 23 develop the claims and causes of action against 24 Mr. Terry?
25 A. I think that to answer that would probably be

MALONEY: I'll -- I will counsel you 5 and instruct you to the extent you're answering that 6 question would reveal conversations with counsel, yes. 7 But I can't -- if there's -- if it's not, then you can 8 certainly answer. 9 Q. (BY MR. MALONEY: I'm going to object to 16 foundation that she is the repository of that 17 confidential information. 18 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Well, who else would 19 have confidential information of your fund that might 20 have made that information available to your lawyers? 21 A. Well, clearly our delegated service 22 providers. 23 Q. Did they sit down with your counsel to go 24 through that information? Do you know? 25 A. I think information has obviously been		Page 176 1 Q. But in connection with this lawsuit, I want 2 to hone in on that group. 3 MR. MALONEY: The Guernsey lawsuit? 4 MR. WIELEBINSKI: Yes. 5 MR. MALONEY: Okay. 6 A. I think that was Collas Crill. 7 COURT REPORTER: Who? 8 THE WITNESS: Collas Crill. 9 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) I'll take that at face 10 value. One of the allegations in that lawsuit had to do 11 with a payment that Mr. Terry is asking for. Do you 12 know anything about that $750,000 payment? 13 A. I'd have to look back and refresh my memory 14 on that. 15 Q. Okay. Is it fair for me to assume that if 16 you were going to ask your investors about the reset, 17 for example, under the plan, that the main investor that 18 you need to discuss things with would be Harbour Vest 19 because the other Highland-related entities you'd 20 probably know what their position would be? 21 MR. MALONEY: I'm going to object to 22 foundation and form. 23 A. Well, no. I think -- 24 THE WITNESS: If I may answer it. 25 MR. MALONEY: You can answer it.
Page 175 1 requested of our service providers. To the extent that 2 they can provide it, they will have done it. 3 Q. You're saying your lawyers would have 4 requested that information in connection with putting 5 the lawsuit together? 6 A. To understand the case, yes. 7 Q. And you know that for -- for a fact? 8 A. I think that is correct. I think that our 9 lawyers would have made inquiry because they would have 10 needed to have known how to. 11 Q. And they would have talked to, then, the HCF 12 Advisors? 13 A. They would have talked to our service 14 providers, so our portfolio manager as well. 15 Q. Okay. As well as HCF Advisors, State Street, 16 and others? 17 A. Yes. 18 Q. I don't want to put words into your mouth, 19 but is that what you -- you think is -- 20 A. That's my understanding of how it would work. 21 Q. And what lawyers was that information being 22 made available to? When you say our lawyers, who would 23 that be? 24 A. Well, we have, I think I said earlier, quite 25 a range of lawyers in Guernsey.		Page 177 1 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) You may. 2 A. Harbour Vest is a 49 percent investor, and 3 the donor-advised fund that sits behind the sale of 4 holdco is the other main investor, and then you've got 5 the 2 percent Highland employees. But that -- 6 Q. But the only independent investor is Harbour 7 Vest; is that a fair statement? 8 MR. MALONEY: I'm going to object to the 9 foundation and to the extent it calls for legal or other 10 knowledge that this witness may not have. 11 MS. O'NEIL: Object to form. 12 A. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) Harbour Vest has no 13 connection to Highland other than as an investor in this 14 fund. 15 Q. (BY MR. WIELEBINSKI) That's what I wanted to 16 confirm. Thank you. What attorneys from Highland were 17 on the April special call that you had regarding, among 18 other things, the final award? 19 A. On the mid-April call, I think we had Tim 20 Cournoyer and Isaac Leventon from Highland. 21 Q. And when you say from Highland, are they 22 counsel for HCF Advisors? 23 A. No. Sorry. I misunderstood your question. 24 They are the counsel for Highland. We didn't have our 25 counsel on that initial call. Subsequent calls we did.

Page 198 1 Q. Welcome to my world on keeping time. You 2 thought you'd gotten away from the law, but now 3 you're -- 4 A. Indeed. 5 Q. -- having to keep time again. Do you know 6 the hourly rate? 7 A. I think we agreed an hourly rate of 350 8 pounds. 9 Q. And that has been approved? 10 A. Yes. 11 Q. And who approved that? 12 A. Well, that would be Highland. Sorry, that's 13 not Highland. Of course it's not. It's the fund 14 because it's the fund who employs us. Apologies. 15 Q. So did the directors have a vote on whether 16 or not to compensate the directors for the work that 17 they're doing in conjunction with the litigation? 18 A. It's a director decision because the fund is 19 managed by the director. 20 Q. Did you consult with Highland with regard to 21 whether or not they would object to you and Mr. Scott 22 receiving additional compensation in connection with 23 this litigation? 24 A. Yes, we did. 25 Q. And did they have any objection?		Page 200 1 Q. All right. So October 27th, seven days after 2 the arbitration award, you approve this new portfolio 3 manager of the fund that you are the director of. It's 4 called Highland HCF Advisors Limited, right? 5 A. Yes. 6 MR. MALONEY: Objection to form. 7 Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Do you understand that that 8 entity was formed on the same day that the portfolio 9 management services were transferred to it? 10 A. I don't think I did know that. 11 Q. And that's a Cayman entity, that Highland HCF 12 Advisors Limited, right? 13 A. Yes. 14 Q. What due diligence did you do with regard to 15 Highland HCF Advisors Limited? 16 A. We had the conversations with Highland. So 17 having been given the rationale for the decision to have 18 the existing portfolio management group terminated and a 19 new one with a new advisor, that was the extent of the 20 due diligence. It was a Highland entity. 21 We were comfortable that it was going to be 22 pretty much business as usual, no change in personnel, 23 so we were content that the information presented to us 24 was adequate. 25 Q. So, I mean, was this, the way that you saw
Page 199 1 A. No. There was a full and frank discussion 2 about the time and the additional effort over and above 3 what we're paid for, and we came to an agreement. 4 Q. And do you have minutes memorializing that 5 director's meeting? 6 A. Yes. 7 Q. And those were prepared by State Street? 8 A. I believe they were prepared by Carey Olsen. 9 Q. Have you ever seen Mr. Terry in person before 10 this litigation? 11 A. No. 12 Q. Have you ever spoken to Mr. Terry before this 13 litigation? 14 A. I believe that for the first few board 15 meetings Mr. Terry gave the portfolio manager's report; 16 so we would be sitting in Guernsey around a table at the 17 board meeting, and Mr. Terry would have been one dialing 18 from Highland to give the report of the portfolio 19 manager. 20 Q. So you're in Guernsey and Mr. Terry is 21 somewhere else? 22 A. Yes. 23 Q. You've never seen Mr. Guern -- 24 Mr. Guernsey -- Mr. Terry in Guernsey, right? 25 A. No.		Page 201 1 it, just a paper transaction? 2 MR. MALONEY: Objection to form. 3 Q. (BY MR. SHAW) I mean, if I'm 4 mischaracterizing it, I want to know how you perceived 5 what was going on here. You know, you have ACIS, which 6 was the portfolio manager, which is obviously a 7 significant role with the fund, right? I mean, you're 8 relying on the portfolio management -- portfolio manager 9 for almost everything, and then all of a sudden you have 10 this new Cayman entity come in. And so I just -- how 11 did you perceive what was going on there with that? 12 MR. MALONEY: I'm going to object to the 13 form and foundation of the question. 14 THE WITNESS: But I can answer? 15 MR. MALONEY: Yes. If you can. 16 A. It was our understanding that it was -- it 17 was pretty much no difference. The personnel were the 18 same. The entity was different because that was a CP to 19 the transaction involving a new investor, but everything 20 else would remain the same. 21 Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Now let's look at Exhibit 22 No. 4, please. That's the Guernsey lawsuit. And if you 23 will turn to paragraph 37. There are no page numbers, 24 but if you'll look at paragraph 37. 25 A. No. 3, I think.

Page 202 1 Q. Oh, I'm sorry, I wrote it down wrong. No. 3. 2 My apologies. 3 A. I'm sorry, which page? 4 Q. There are no page numbers, but it's 5 paragraph 37. 6 A. Okay. 7 Q. Are you with me? 8 A. Yes. 9 Q. Okay. It says, "By 1 February 2018 the only 10 remaining condition precedent to the reset transaction 11 for CLO 3 was for a Portfolio Management Agreement to be 12 transferred from ACIS." Do you see that? 13 A. Yes. 14 Q. And I want to concentrate on those last three 15 words: transferred from ACIS. Do you see that? 16 A. Yeah. 17 Q. So you understood that the reset transactions 18 were not simply a standalone reset, but it was a reset 19 in conjunction with the transfer of the Portfolio 20 Management Agreements away from ACIS, right? 21 MR. MALONEY: Objection, form. 22 A. I would need to refresh my memory around the 23 time that this was being drafted. I'd need to go back 24 and have a look at -- the reason I'm saying that is 25 because the condition precedent was for the Portfolio		Page 204 1 we're talking about transferring the Portfolio 2 Management Agreements for the CLO transferred from ACIS. 3 Do you see that? 4 A. Yes. Yes. 5 Q. So going back to my question. You understood 6 that the reset transactions that were contemplated were 7 not simply standalone resets, but they were in 8 conjunction with the transfer of the Portfolio 9 Management Agreement for the CLOs to a new entity. 10 MR. MALONEY: Objection, form and 11 foundation. 12 A. I think, if I can refer back -- and, again, I 13 just need to double check on this, but my understanding 14 that -- obviously, it's something that is happening as 15 part of the Chapter 7 bankruptcy proceedings, but I 16 think I referred earlier to the 60-day period during 17 which the Chapter 7 trustee had been appointed and had 18 the limited authority, and we weren't sure that any 19 activity was going to take place. 20 But as I recall, I think one option was that 21 the Portfolio Management Agreements could be transferred 22 from ACIS because that would mean that we could continue 23 with the reset and just continue as we had been as a 24 fund and we wouldn't be involved in this. 25 Q. (BY MR. SHAW) Okay. Here we're talking about
Page 203 1 Management Agreement existing to be terminated and the 2 new one executed. 3 But we're talking about the new transaction 4 in October '17, and you're saying here that by this 5 paragraph we're talking about February 2018. And the 6 only remaining condition precedent to the reset 7 transaction was the Portfolio Management Agreement to be 8 transferred from ACIS. But that should be done in 9 October. 10 Q. Maybe I can help because I think we're 11 talking about two different things. 12 A. Okay. 13 Q. In this context -- on this context in 14 paragraph 37, we're talking about the portfolio 15 management agreements that are for the CLOs themselves. 16 A. Sorry. 17 Q. All right. 18 A. Apologies. 19 Q. As opposed to -- as opposed to in October 20 we're talking about the Portfolio Management Agreements 21 for the fund. 22 A. For the fund. 23 Q. Do you understand that? 24 A. Yes. 25 Q. And so you see here in that paragraph 37		Page 205 1 February of 2018, so that was February 1st of 2018. Do 2 you see that? 3 A. Yeah. 4 Q. So we're not talking about the Chapter 7 5 trustee or anything like that. Do you see that? 6 A. I mean, I will have to go back and just -- 7 Q. Let's move on. 8 A. -- reconsider what was happening at that 9 time. Apologies. 10 Q. All right. And I'm trying to expedite so all 11 the lawyers can get to the investiture. Go to 12 paragraph 41, if you will, please. 13 A. Yes. 14 Q. All right. At the bottom of that paragraph 15 it says, "ACIS's trustee in bankruptcy disclosed that 16 the bankruptcy estate should pay a fee of some $750,000 17 to the defendant in connection with assistance he had 18 been providing in connection with certain reorganization 19 proposals affecting the four CLOs and the company's 20 investments therein." Did I read that correctly? 21 A. Yes. 22 Q. Do you agree with that statement? 23 MR. MALONEY: Objection, foundation and 24 form. 25 A. I think it is the case that that fee was

VIDEOTAPED ORAL DEPOSITION OF
WILLIAM SCOTT
DECEMBER 3, 2018

ORAL DEPOSITION OF WILLIAM SCOTT, produced as a witness at the instance of Robin Phelan, Chapter 11 Trustee, and duly sworn, was taken in the above-styled and numbered cause on December 3, 2018, from 9:43 a.m. to 6:36 p.m. before Brent Sturgess, CSR in and for the State of Texas, reported by machine shorthand at the law offices of Winstead, P.C., 500 Winstead Building, 2728 North Harwood Street, Dallas, Texas, 75201, pursuant to Notice, the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, and the provisions stated on the record or attached hereto.

1 discussed the Members Agreement and the offering
2 memorandum. Indeed I think all -- all these things
3 that counsel has shown to me are -- are documents that 4 we have reviewed to some extent in the past week or at 5 least touched upon.
6 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) Did you review the 7 trustee's plan?
8 A. Not in the last week, no.
9 Q. Did you review the trustee's -- but you have 10 reviewed it before; correct?
11 A. I've -- I've -- I've seen it in, I think, 12 more than one iteration, but I haven't looked at it in 13 the last couple of weeks. I'm not -- I'm not aware 14 that it's changed.
15 Q. And when we're talking about the trustee's
16 plan, we're talking about the latest plan that's up
17 for confirmation next week; correct?
18 A. Yes, that's right. We're -- we're talking
19 about what's colloquially referred to as Plan D.
20 Q. And the trustee's lawsuit recently filed,
21 did you review that?
22 A. Which lawsuit do you refer to there?
23 Q. The one that was recently filed, and it
24 named, among others, your company.
25 A. Okay. Yes. I have looked at it in very

1 broad detail, but it wasn't -- well, it concerns
2 principally Highland Capital. I mean, yes, there
3 is -- we are a defendant, but it -- in respect of the 4 fund, it hasn't really moved on very much since the 5 early version of that, which I think I saw something
6 around about the beginning of July or the end of June 7 or something like that.
8 Q. Did you speak with anybody at Highland about 9 your deposition?
10 A. No.
11 Q. Any Highland affiliates? Just to make sure
12 that when I say "Highland," you're not thinking of one 13 particular --
14 A. No.
15 Q. -- Highland entity.
16 So no -- nobody at all?
17 A. You know, I -- I -- I'm -- I haven't talked 18 to anybody affiliated with Highland or employed by 19 Highland or whatever.
20 Q. And you represented through your counsel
21 that you're not available next week to appear in 22 person --
23 A. That's -- 24 Q. -- is that correct?
25 A. That is correct.

Page 88

1 Q. And why is that?
2 A. I'm -- I already have pre-existing board
3 meetings for three other companies, and they are in 4 Guernsey.
5 Q. All of the companies other than HCLOF that
6 you serve as a director for, none of them are CLOs,
7 are they?
8 A. No. I mean, HCLOF itself is not a CLO in 9 the strict sense of it.
10 Q. Are any of the companies that you serve as a 11 director for companies whose shareholders have 12 invested in CLOs directly as a part of that company?
13 A. If I -- if I might sort of slightly expand 14 the answer to make it a more helpful answer. Some of 15 the funds companies on which I serve, upon the boards
16 of which I serve, do invest both in CLOs and in 17 portfolios of CLO equity strips, if -- if -- if that 18 helps at all. So none of them is a CLO, but some of 19 them do have within their portfolios investments in 20 CLOs or in segregated accounts which invest in CLOs.
21 Does -- does that help?
22 Q. It -- it does help. I appreciate that.
23 But those investments in CLOs by those 24 other companies are not what you are involved in as a 25 director; is that correct?

Page 89

1 MR. MALONEY: Object to form.
2 A. How do you mean "involved in as a director"?
3 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) They --
4 A. As I say, I'm a director of these funds and 5 they invest in these things, but --
6 Q. The actual funds that you are the director
7 of invest in CLOs?
8 A. Yes. Some of them do.
9 Q. Okay. Which ones?
10 A. The particular one I'm referring to here is 11 Absolute Alpha PCC, Ltd., which invests through FRM
12 Diversified II Fund, Ltd., which then all invest in a 13 wide range of funds and segregated accounts, which, 14 amongst other things, includes CLOs and other forms of 15 structured finance.
16 Q. And what's the name of the company that 17 Absolute Alpha PCC invests in?
18 A. Oh, FRM Diversified II Fund SPC, Ltd., which 19 is a part of -- which is another fund on which -- of 20 which I used to be a director, but which is registered
21 in the Cayman Islands. And I've recently come off
22 that board in the last couple of years.
23 Q. You've never owned a CLO, have you?
24 A. Personally? No.
25 Q. Have you ever managed one?

WILLIAM SCOTT

24 (Pages 90 to 93)

Page 90 1 A. No. 2 Q. Have you ever sat on the board of a company 3 that managed a CLO? 4 A. No. 5 Q. And would you say your experience with CLOs 6 and CLO investments is broad or limited? 7 A. I have an adequate working knowledge. I 8 would not hold myself out to be an expert in the way 9 that, for example, Mr. Covitz at Highland is. But I 10 understand the basics of it. 11 Q. Okay. I want to understand now your 12 connections with Highland and the Highland entities. 13 Do you, Mr. Scott, have any connections 14 with Highland or its affiliates or entity other than 15 through HCLOF? 16 A. No. 17 MR. MALONEY: Objection, foundation. 18 A. Well, the answer's "No" anyway. 19 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) Do you have any 20 investments with Highland? 21 A. No. 22 Q. Do companies or entities you own have 23 investments with Highland? 24 A. Companies' investments that I own do not 25 have any investments with Highland.		Page 92 1 firm; is that correct? 2 A. It was for a period, that's right. 3 Q. Who made that selection? 4 A. Highland proposed it. 5 Q. And... 6 A. And we then had a discussion with 7 Ms. O'Neil. 8 Q. That discussion with Ms. O'Neil regarding -- 9 I'm not trying to get into attorney-client privilege, 10 but I'm not sure how that -- where you're going with 11 that answer. 12 A. Well, you asked me who selected them. And I 13 said, you know, they were proposed by Highland, and 14 then we had a discussion with Ms. O'Neil as a partner 15 in that firm whereby Ms. Bestwick and I considered 16 whether -- I can't remember whether they were then 17 called Foley Gardere or whether they were Foley &amp; 18 Lardner. It was an appropriate firm to represent us 19 in the context of -- that we then find ourselves, and 20 at the time her firm was also representing Highland 21 Capital with its common interest. 22 Q. Did Highland already hire Gardere and just 23 tell you that they should serve as your counsel? Or 24 did they give you the option to go to somebody else? 25 A. Well, we always have the -- the -- the --

25 (Pages 94 to 97)

Page 94 1 A. I'm not familiar with that firm. I've heard 2 the name, but I'm not familiar with them. 3 Q. If I told you that HCLOF hired them in 4 connection with the involuntary, would that surprise 5 you? 6 A. Well, we've already had a discussion 7 regarding that. Highland thought that it would be, as 8 it were, appropriate in the circumstances of the time 9 in context of those proceedings. I have no particular 10 sort of anything further to say about that really. 11 Q. Well, it's true they hired them without you 12 approving them; isn't that correct? 13 A. We didn't preapprove that, that's correct. 14 Q. And it was without your knowledge that they 15 hired them; correct? 16 A. At the time, that's correct. 17 Q. And -- and they were actually appearing in 18 proceedings on your behalf without your knowledge or 19 approval; isn't that correct? 20 MR. MALONEY: Objection to form. You 21 can answer. 22 A. Yes. I think it logically follows from 23 that. We had not been involved in those discussions. 24 As you quite rightly said, you know, Highland engaged 25 them on our behalf and -- and instructed them.		Page 96 1 providers for the fund, what other service providers 2 do you use? 3 A. The principal service provider is State 4 Street (Guernsey) Limited, who are our designated 5 administrator. There are other entities in the State 6 Street group, State Street Ireland who act as our 7 custodian and also, I think, provide certain 8 bookkeeping services as subcontractors, if you will, 9 to State Street (Guernsey) Limited. 10 We've in the past had a registrar. But 11 as an ambition to become a listed entity has gone 12 away, the need for that appointment diminished. So we 13 terminated the external registrar, and that's now 14 carried out by State Street, also. And in the usual 15 way, you know, we have external counsel, and we also 16 have, of course, our external auditors as well. 17 Q. Who's your external counsel? 18 A. Well, we have a number of external counsel. 19 The ones who have handled the documentation and so on 20 hitherto have been Mourant Ozannes, who are a well- 21 known -- 22 I'm sorry. Would you like me to spell 23 that? 24 THE REPORTER: Please. 25 THE WITNESS: Okay. M-o-u-r-a-n-t, new
Page 95 1 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) Did you ever comment 2 to Highland about the appropriateness or lack thereof 3 with doing such a thing? 4 A. We have had discussions on the matter. 5 Q. And who communicates with your counsel? Is 6 it you or Ms. Bestwick? 7 A. We both communicate with King &amp; Spalding. I 8 mean, we -- as -- as a matter of general rule, trying 9 to ensure that both directors are equally involved in 10 everything as much as possible simultaneously. So 11 there's no, if you like, information gap between the 12 two of us. 13 Q. And Highland and Highland representatives 14 also speak with your counsel on a regular basis about 15 this matter; isn't that correct? 16 MR. MALONEY: Objection, foundation. 17 But you can answer to the extent you know. 18 A. Well, I -- I believe that there are 19 interchanges between Foley Gardere and King &amp; 20 Spalding. There may be additional conversations 21 between internal counsel at Highland and those two 22 firms. I mean, it's no secret that I think we have a 23 common interest in some of this. 24 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) Besides Highland 25 Capital Management serving as one of your service		Page 97 1 word, O-z-a-n-n-e-s. 2 THE REPORTER: Thank you. 3 THE WITNESS: You're welcome. 4 So, as I say, we have Mourant Ozannes. 5 We have also engaged Carey Olsen. They handled the -- 6 the amendment to the Members Agreement. We thought it 7 more appropriate to use them than Mourant Ozannes 8 because personally they're a much bigger and, in my, 9 well, opinion, more appropriate firm, and also they 10 are correcting a drafting error in a Mourant Ozannes 11 document. So I think better for them to do it than 12 Mourant. I'm just trying to think about whether we 13 have engaged any other law firms locally in Guernsey. 14 I don't think we have, no. 15 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) Who are the 16 shareholders of HCLOF? 17 A. Who are the shareholders of HCLOF? Well, I 18 think I answered that earlier. There's CLO Holdings 19 or Holdco, which has 49 percent. There is the -- the 20 group of funds which are managed by the party we've 21 agreed to refer to as the investor. They also have 49 22 percent. 23 Q. That's HarbourVest; correct? 24 A. If you say so, yes. 25 MR. MALONEY: You can confirm that.

26 (Pages 98 to 101)

Page 98 1 A. Okay. Yes, it is. And then there's the 2 balance, the 2 percent in the middle, so to speak, 3 which is held partly by Highland Capital Management 4 itself. I think they're about half of that. And then 5 the other bit is split amongst -- I forget exactly how 6 many. Well, actually it says on the front of the 7 Members -- set out in the front of the Members 8 Agreement. So it's one -- two -- three -- four -- 9 five -- five executives at Highland. 10 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) And you said part of 11 the split is the five executives, but also Highland 12 Capital Management itself? 13 A. That's right. 14 Q. Is that through a director-advised fund? 15 A. No. As far as I'm aware, that's directly 16 held by them. 17 Q. All right. Ms. Best -- Bestwick described 18 her position as a nonexecutive independent director. 19 Is that how you describe your position 20 for HCLOF? 21 A. Yes. 22 Q. And what does it mean, "independent 23 director"? 24 A. Well, what it means is that we are not 25 beholden to any party. We act independently of		Page 100 1 A. That's right. 2 Q. You're the chairman? 3 A. That's right. 4 Q. Tell me about your relationship with 5 Ms. Bestwick other than your relationship as a fellow 6 board member on HCLOF. 7 Do you have any other connections with 8 her? 9 A. No, I don't. 10 Q. Any other connections with her companies? 11 A. No, I don't. 12 Q. Are there other companies you work for with 13 Ms. Bestwick? 14 A. No, not at all. 15 Q. Did Highland select her as well? 16 A. I believe so, but I didn't have visibility 17 into that process. But I -- I just assumed that it 18 was pretty similar to how they came to know me. 19 Q. And how often do you lead on HCLOF issues 20 normally? 21 A. Normally. Normally we will have a quarterly 22 board meeting to review the progress of the company, 23 et cetera. And there will probably be perhaps two 24 board meetings which are concerned with the financial 25 statements of the company and the -- the audit
Page 99 1 Highland or any shareholder or anybody on behalf of 2 the company. 3 Q. Well, isn't it true that you are beholden to 4 your shareholders? Highland being the largest one? 5 A. No. I don't regard myself as being beholden 6 to them at all. 7 Q. Okay. How were you selected? 8 A. Oh, that's a -- that's a long time ago. I 9 was approached, I think, by somebody who then worked 10 at Highland Capital. I think his name was Phillip 11 Braner if I remember correctly. And there were a 12 number of e-mails and discussions and telephone calls. 13 Maybe you might even characterize some 14 in the nature of being an interview whereby we gained 15 a mutual understanding of the project as it then was 16 and the nature of the directors that they were looking 17 for and whether we could help them with that sort of 18 a -- you know, somebody else might be more 19 appropriate. 20 Q. Highland selected you? 21 A. Yes. I mean, Highland were initially at 22 that time, you know, orchestrating the cre -- creation 23 of the fund. 24 Q. There's two members of your board of 25 directors; correct?		Page 101 1 planning process with the auditors. And there will 2 occasionally be ad hoc board meetings if something 3 comes up that needs to be disposed of by the board of 4 directors. So it's sort of 4 plus 2 plus ad hoc. 5 Q. Ms. Bestwick told me that Highland sits in 6 on all of your board meetings; is that true? 7 A. Well, Highland is normally there at all of 8 the quarterly board meetings certainly because the key 9 elements of that is for them to present their 10 investment report. And they are not always there 11 particularly where it comes to talking with the 12 auditors, and sometimes our discussions with the 13 auditors are just Ms. Bestwick and me and the auditors 14 not necessarily even including State Street. 15 Q. Otherwise, they're -- they've been at every 16 meeting; correct? 17 A. Well, they've been at every sort of 18 business-as-usual meeting. Since the start of this 19 whole process, you know, we've had a number of 20 meetings which have not involved Highland because they 21 have related to legal matters. 22 Q. Do you vote on every issue that comes up 23 as -- as a board? 24 A. Yes, we do. Well, where -- where -- where 25 we are required really either to pass a resolution

27 (Pages 102 to 105)

Page 102 1 or -- yes. I suppose we do, yes. Because sometimes 2 resolutions aren't necessarily required, but we review 3 and agree what we've been looking at. 4 Q. And do you keep minutes of every board 5 meeting? 6 A. Yes, we do. 7 Q. And do you know if you've produced all of 8 the board minutes to the trustee through your counsel? 9 A. So far as I'm aware, they've all been 10 produced. They may have been redacted for legal 11 reasons, but I'm not aware that there are any that are 12 being withheld. 13 Q. Now, you said you vote on -- on most 14 matters that req -- on all matters that require a 15 vote. 16 Have you ever disagreed with 17 Ms. Bestwick on any substantive issue? 18 A. No, no. No such issue has presented itself. 19 Q. And have you ever disagreed with Highland's 20 advice? 21 A. No. We haven't disagreed with Highland's 22 advice. I mean, we've had discussions. We've 23 explored what they mean. Sometimes when they say some 24 things, we have perhaps offered constructive 25 challenge. But, no. Highland has never sort of, if		Page 104 1 sense, rubber-stamped them. 2 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) What do you mean that 3 you've tested it? 4 A. Well, I mean, we -- we'll discuss what 5 the -- so, for example, if we're talking about 6 acquiring some CLO holdings, you know, we will ask 7 them, you know, what anticipated rate of return is, 8 you know, how long the investment will last, what cash 9 flows we would expect from it, and whether it sits 10 with our overall investment objectives. So that's 11 what I mean by testing it. 12 And we might also actually sit back and 13 reflect, if I could use that metaphor, as to 14 whether what we're being told is consistent with what 15 we understand about the wider world. And that's, you 16 know, the context of those research notes and things 17 that we were talking about with Mr. Maloney a little 18 while ago. 19 Q. You remember you answered the question that 20 CLO Holdco cannot remove you? 21 A. That's correct. 22 Q. Okay. 23 A. Not on its own. 24 Q. And HarbourVest cannot remove you; correct? 25 A. That's also correct, yes.
Page 103 1 you like, proposed something that we have thought was 2 inappropriate, and therefore we should vote down if 3 that is what you mean. 4 THE REPORTER: Therefore we should? 5 THE WITNESS: Vote down. 6 THE REPORTER: Thank you. 7 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) So there's no point 8 where you ever disregarded their advice; is that 9 correct? 10 A. No. I'm sorry. Yes, that is correct. I 11 think it would be wrong to disregard it. I -- I can 12 envisage circumstances where we might disagree with 13 it, not that that's arisen. But I -- I think it would 14 be quite wrong to simply disregard it if that's what 15 you mean. 16 Q. So whenever they've made a recommendation, 17 you've always accepted it? 18 Even though you might consult with 19 Ms. Bestwick and -- and flesh it out, you've always 20 agreed with what they've recommended or advised you to 21 do? 22 MR. MALONEY: Objection, form. 23 A. Well, ultimately, yes. We've tested the 24 propositions and we've been okay with them. But 25 that's certainly not to imply that we have, in any		Page 105 1 Q. So to the extent that the party that 2 appointed you, Highland, wants to keep you as a board 3 member, they can block HarbourVest from ever removing 4 you. 5 Do I understand that correctly? 6 A. Yes. I suppose that that's the consequence 7 of the Members Agreement as negotiated between the 8 parties. I mean, it's a negative control agreement, 9 not a, if you like, a positive assertive control 10 agreement. 11 Q. So Highland controls you sitting on the 12 board and Ms. Bestwick sitting on the board? 13 A. No, it doesn't. I mean, you say it controls 14 us. So that -- I mean, Highland can't fire us, they 15 can't stop us from resigning, and -- and neither can, 16 if you like, the -- the fund's represented by the 17 investor. So to say that fund controls us is not a 18 completely fair representation of the picture. 19 Q. Okay. 20 A. In a way you can say we're actually -- as a 21 consequence our independence is entrenched. 22 Q. Who makes investment decisions for HCLOF? 23 A. Well, investment decisions are formulated by 24 Highland. That's what we have a Portfolio Management 25 Agreement with them for.

28 (Pages 106 to 109)

Page 106 1 Q. So what is it that you and Ms. Bestwick make 2 decisions on? 3 A. Well, the governance of an investment fund 4 essentially is not that the board re-performs or 5 second-guesses the roles of any of our service 6 providers. What we do is, we police them, if I could 7 use that shorthand. We ensure that -- 8 THE REPORTER: If I could use that 9 short? 10 THE WITNESS: Shorthand. 11 THE REPORTER: Thank you. 12 THE WITNESS: As in shorthand. 13 So with -- I mean, you know, with -- to 14 get it offhand per se, you know, with respect to the 15 administrator, again, we review in great detail a 16 report from the administrator at each quarterly board 17 meeting and -- and how things have been going and 18 whether there have been any mistakes or errors or 19 whatever, and we assess their performance in context. 20 And similarly with Highland or, as I say, indeed any 21 other service provider. We -- we review the 22 performance of the auditors as well. 23 Q. And the custodians? 24 A. And the custodian, yeah. I mean, the 25 custodian really comes effectively as a package with		Page 108 1 A. We -- we were comfortable with their 2 performance. It was certainly much better than it is 3 now. 4 Q. And you were comfortable with their 5 performance when they were converting positions to 6 cash; correct? 7 A. Well, now I -- I -- we -- we -- we have to 8 be clear about where we're -- we're talking about. 9 Are you talking within the CLOs? Or are you talking 10 about within the fund? Because the mission of the 11 fund is to own equity positions in CLOs. We don't get 12 into the, if you like, the -- an overly detailed 13 involvement in, if you like, each individual loan 14 position within those CLOs. I mean, that's a -- 15 that's a level of detail that's different. 16 So whether it's appropriate to cash out 17 of one loan or another -- or in some cases I think 18 there are bankruptcy proceedings. So the nature of 19 the position changes. That -- that -- that's not a 20 level of detail, I think, that is necessary for our 21 mission on a fund level. 22 Q. So, if I understand it, you police the 23 service providers, but not on any kind of in-depth 24 level? 25 MR. MALONEY: Objection to form. It
Page 107 1 the administrator by State Street. 2 Q. So you serve in a policing function as a 3 board member. 4 Is that what I understand? 5 A. Yeah, absolutely. 6 Q. And in that policing function you've yet to 7 have any disagreement or second-guessing of what 8 Highland has ever advised you or recommended to you? 9 A. Well, we -- we have had no disagreements at 10 all about, if -- if you're getting at this, the -- the 11 conduct of the portfolio management. Although, it's, 12 strictly speaking, a discretion of the arrangement, 13 the practice has been hitherto that they always 14 discuss with us beforehand material, indeed any 15 investment transactions that they intend to propose so 16 they know we're onboard with them. I think that's a 17 good practice. 18 Q. And are you pleased with their performance 19 today? 20 A. Well, their performance is fine. Things 21 have obviously gone a bit pear-shaped since, you know, 22 Brigade were inserted, but that's a -- that's a 23 different matter. 24 Q. But not before Brigade got in. You were 25 comfortable with everything that --		Page 109 1 misstates the record. 2 A. No. We police them to a level that's 3 appropriate in the context in which we have engaged 4 them. 5 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) Appropriate based on 6 what you and Ms. Bestwick think is appropriate? 7 A. Well, necessarily, of course. I mean, we 8 wouldn't be doing it to a level that we thought was 9 inappropriate. 10 Q. And you were satisfied with them -- 11 You're -- you're aware that their 12 converting positions to cash was the basis for their 13 removal by the trustee as approved by the court; isn't 14 that correct? 15 A. I think that's a mischaracterization. I 16 regarded -- at the time I think the trustee said, "I 17 don't trust them," quote-unquote. I think he said 18 that several times. 19 Q. And do you know why he didn't trust them? 20 What's your recollection there? 21 A. I have even today no understanding of why he 22 could make such an assertion. I mean, to me it just 23 doesn't make any sense. I think it was -- how do you 24 put it -- his strategic stance that he took. 25 MR. WIELEBINSKI: Are we at 13?

Page 110 1 THE REPORTER: Yes. 2 (Exhibit Number 13 marked.) 3 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) I'm going to hand you 4 what's been -- 5 A. Can you look at Page 4, please? 21 Do you see the statement -- it's in 22 Section 4 -- Highland's mismanagement of the CLOs? 23 A. I see that statement. 24 Q. Do you know if that was true that there were 3 questionable -- there were only questionable loans on 4 the market that were available, and that's why 5 Highland didn't do that? 6 MR. MALONEY: Objection, form. 7 A. Well, I -- I believe from previous testimony 8 in court Highland expressed an opinion there was a 9 shortage of eligible collateral? 10 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) And can you read the 11 next sentence for me, please? 12 A. This is the top of Page 5? 13 Q. Yes, sir. 14 A. "Indeed Highlands has not purchased a loan 15 since prior to the trustee's appointment as a Chapter 16 11 trustee." 17 Q. And this -- do you remember when the trustee 18 was appointed? 19 A. The Chapter 11 trustee? 20 Q. Yes, sir. 21 A. Sometime around about the middle of May. 22 Q. Okay. Page 111 1 Q. And trustee had some concerns about gross 2 mismanagement, did he not? 3 A. That's what he said, yes. 4 Q. Can you read the -- the sentence? 10 The third sentence? 11 A. On which page now? 12 Q. Paragraph 10, third sentence? 13 A. Paragraph 10, third sentence. Well, "The 14 trustee has repeatedly expressed concern over the 15 bal -- cash balances which have accumulated in the 16 Acis CLOs and Highland's failure to recommend 17 purchases of eligible collateral in the CLOs." Yes, I 18 see it. 19 Q. Do you know if that's true? 20 A. Well, the trustee has said that. Whether 21 it's true or not is actually sort of slightly beside 22 the point. Because I do not accept the underlying 23 premise of the question that the CLO manager should go 24 out and willy-nilly buy, if you like, additional 25 assets, the quest -- the quality of which may become		Page 113 1 Q. I have no more detailed knowledge of it than 9 is set out in this document and similar pleadings. So 10 I'm -- I'm taking, for the sake of argument, that it's 11 true. 12 Q. Okay. Did you do checking with Highland 13 to -- to determine whether any of this was true? 14 A. The premise is actually entirely wrong. I 15 mean, we were happy that in overall terms the seer of 16 the CLOs were performing adequately in circumstances. 17 Well, let me wind back on that. We were happy that 18 the portfolio was being managed correctly. Although, 19 they needed to be reset in terms of the capital 20 structure. 21 Q. So you -- 22 A. Oh, it's -- it's almost inevitably the case 20 that it will have changed, but the end of November one 21 will not yet be available. For example, pricing the 22 investments of fair value, which are predominantly the 23 CLO investments, that's quite a long process. 24 Because, you know, it goes from pricing every 25 individual loan position up to working out the		Page 132 1 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) You -- I'm sorry. I 2 didn't mean to talk over you. 3 A. No. I mean, you know, we could. We're 4 considering whether we should continue to pay a 5 dividend of the pre-existing quarterly rate. And so 6 there's all sorts of considerations that will go into 7 this. 8 Q. Okay. And much like what occurred in 9 October of 2017, you could transfer these assets to 10 another entity; is that not correct? 11 MR. We could not transfer 16 away from HCLO Funding, Ltd., its assets. Why would 17 we do that? That would be a fraud on our 18 shareholders. I'm not quite sure what you mean 19 therefore. 20 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) Were you ever made 21 aware of the Terry litigation in the United States 22 involving Josh Terry and the Highland entities? 23 MR. MALONEY: I'm going to object -- 19 excuse me -- object to form and foundation. 20 A. Well, I'm not quite sure what you mean 21 exactly by that. But, yes, the numbers will change. 22 The accrual of expenses will erode the cash balance. 23 But if and when we ever get any income out of the 24 CLOs, then the cash balances will go up because of 25 that, which would be --		Page 133 1 of stuff? 2 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) Yes, sir. 3 A. Well, as I've already explained, we were not 4 aware of that until sometime in 2018, certainly long 5 after October or November 2017. In fact, the full 6 extent of it, to be quite frank, we only really became 7 aware of as these processes dragged HCLO Funding into 8 it. 9 THE REPORTER: Repeat the last part of 10 your answer, please. 11 THE WITNESS: We only became aware of 12 it as these proceedings dragged HCLO Funding into it. 13 Probably not the best grammar, but... 14 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) Who told you about the 15 Terry litigation? 16 A. We had a -- I'm not quite sure whether it's 17 appropriate for me to -- whether this gets into 18 questions of attorney-client privilege. But a meeting 19 was arranged, a telephonic meeting, at which were 20 present Ms. Bestwick and myself, certain internal 21 counsel at Highland, and I think Ms. O'Neil may have 22 attended it as well. 23 Q. And what did they tell you? 24 MR. MALONEY: I'm going to instruct the 25 witness not to reveal any attorney-client privileges.

Page 134 1 I think your prior question, Mr. Wielebinski, was, 2 "Who told you about the Terry litigation?" If you can 3 answer that, that factually, I don't have an objection 4 to you answering that if that's your question. 5 A. Okay. We were told that by the internal 6 counsel at Highland during that call. 7 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) And that would be who? 8 Mr. Sevilla? 9 A. No. Mr. Sevilla -- we didn't come across 10 him for -- until some later time. There was certainly 11 a Mr. Leventon, and I think -- I'm trying to think of 12 the other guy's name. David -- I'm sorry. Tim 13 Courmoyer, I think. 14 Q. And what did they tell you? 15 MR. MALONEY: I'm going to object to 16 the extent that they've told you anything of -- of -- 17 other than a factual nature. Do not -- do not testify 18 to legal advice conveyed in the presence of your 19 counsel. 20 A. They apprised us of the facts of the 21 involuntary proceedings. 22 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) Did they tell you 23 anything about the Terry litigation? 24 A. Again, other than the fact of it, no. I 25 mean, we've -- we never got into the -- the rights and		Page 136 1 A. I'm not at all sure why it should. As I've 2 said before, this is effectively a two-party dispute 3 between Mr. Terry and his former employers and/or 4 business partners within the Highland group. 5 So from that point of view, it's not 6 really our concern unless something emerges which 7 gives us cause. And nothing has emerged that's been 8 brought to our attention that gives us cause to, in 9 any way, doubt the -- the voracity of the relationship 10 that we have with Highland. 11 Q. Nothing's caused you to doubt that, the 12 voracity of -- 13 A. Nobody has -- I mean, lots of people have 14 made lurid allegations about all sorts of things. But 15 I wasn't there, neither was Ms. Bestwick. And as I've 16 said in other context, I'm not going to take the 17 position one way or another about the rights and the 18 wrongs of the Terry dispute. 19 As far as we are concerned, it's an 20 internal Highland group matter. And it's simply, if 21 you like, a matter of established fact that, as a 22 consequence thereof, Mr. Terry is a judgment creditor 23 of Acis Capital Management. And that -- that really 24 is as far as -- as I go. 25 Q. Well, isn't it true that the Terry
Page 135 1 the wrongs of who did what to whom and when and all -- 2 all the rest of that. That's -- it's -- obviously 3 it's the foundation of the dispute between Mr. Terry 4 and the various Highland parties, but it's an internal 5 matter be -- employment matter between them, and it's 6 not strictly of itself a matter that is our -- our 7 matter. We're -- we're not involved. 8 Q. And when were you told this? 9 A. Well, as I've said, there was a call which 10 was arranged in April this year. 11 Q. And that's the first time you became aware 12 of the involuntary bankruptcy or anything having to do 13 with this Terry litigation; is that correct? 14 MR. MALONEY: Objection to form. 15 A. Yes, that's correct. 16 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) Did they tell you why 17 Mr. Terry left Highland's employment? 18 A. No. 19 Q. When you found out about the involuntary and 20 the litigation with Mr. Terry, did that trouble you? 21 A. Yes, it did. 22 Q. Did it cause you to second-guess your 23 relationship with Highland? 24 A. No. 25 Q. Why not?		Page 137 1 litigation and then the involuntary, which was 2 subsequently turned into Chapter 11 proceedings -- 3 haven't they just caused you to -- a number of 4 problems for you and HCLOF? 5 MR. MALONEY: Objection, foundation and 6 form. 7 A. Well, they -- they -- they -- they have 8 caused us a number of problems for all sorts of 9 reasons. And, you know, go back to my answer a few 10 minutes ago. When we found out about the proceedings, 11 of course, it caused us concern because, you know, we 12 have no desire to be dragged into law disputes over 13 here, which are predominantly really disputes between 14 other parties. 15 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) But you have been 16 drawn into those -- 17 A. Yes, we have. 18 Q. -- proceedings, have you not? 19 You've been sued in those proceedings, 20 have you not? 21 A. Yes, we have. That doesn't mean to say that 22 the party who's suing us is -- is -- is right. In 23 fact, actually objectively they're quite wrong in some 24 of the assertions they made. 25 Q. Page 138 1 the portfolio manager at this point? 2 MR. MALONEY: Objection. 3 A. Well -- 4 MR. MALONEY: Objection, foundation. 5 A. -- strictly speaking, it's caused -- 6 MR. WIELEBINSKI: Can we go off the 7 record for just a second? I'm sorry about that. 8 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Yes, sir. Off the 9 record at 2:05. This is Disk 3, Volume 1. 10 (Break.) 11 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: On the record at 12 2:07. This is Disc 3, Volume 1. 13 MR. WIELEBINSKI: Would you read the 14 last question for me, please? 15 (Record read.) 16 MR. MALONEY: Objection, foundation and 17 form. Go ahead. You can answer. 18 A. Okay. Well, first of all, strictly port -- 19 Highland remains the portfolio manager of the fund. I 20 think what you mean is, it's caused the CLOs in which 21 we hold the equity strips to be deprived of Highland 22 as a submanager or advisor. I think that has been 23 very much to the detriment of the fund's investor in 24 the equity strips of those CLOs. It didn't have to be 25 like that, but that's how it's worked out.		Page 140 1 But, you know, unfortunately it's -- it's -- it's -- 2 it's pointless as we cannot accede to, you know, what 3 we're trying to be pressured into. 4 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) And the pressure was 5 coming from who? Mr. Terry? 6 A. Well, I suppose you would say Mr. Terry, who 7 was using the trustee as his instrument to do that, 8 yes. 9 Q. Caused by the litigation and the bankruptcy? 10 MR. MALONEY: Objection to form. 11 A. Well, I'm not sure that litigation and 12 bankruptcy as such is the cause. It's more the tool. 13 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) Who commenced that 14 litigation against Mr. Terry? Do you recall? 15 A. I'm sorry. What litigation against 16 Mr. Terry? 17 Q. The litigation in Dallas that led to the 18 arbitration award. 19 A. As I say, I don't have any knowledge of 20 those proceedings. I'm simply aware after the event 21 of the fact of them and of their outcome. 22 Q. So you never asked the question, "Who 23 commenced the litigation that caused all these 24 problems"? 25 A. I -- I, honestly, really don't see the point
Page 139 1 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) Litigation has also -- 2 and the bankruptcy have caused you to incur 3 significant legal fees; isn't that correct? 4 A. Oh, absolutely, yes. 5 Q. It's also caused your investors to have to 6 absorb your additional costs that you're now charging 7 to them; isn't that correct? 8 A. That's absolutely right. 9 Q. And it's also caused you not to be able to 10 do a reset that was planned around January-February of 11 2018; is that -- 12 A. That's right. 13 MR. MALONEY: I'm going to object to 14 foundation and form. 15 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) It also caused you not 16 to be able to do a liquidation or any reset or 17 redemption over the last seven months; isn't that 18 correct? 19 MR. MALONEY: Objection, foundation and 20 form. 21 A. Well, what's certainly true is giving the 22 trustee the opportunity to interfere very 23 detrimentally with our investments. None of it needed 24 to be like that. I entirely -- well, I -- I infer 25 that the reason largely was to pile pressure on us.		Page 141 1 of it. People in the alternative asset management 2 world and others leave their employers all the time. 3 Sometimes it's amicable, sometimes it's acrimonious. 4 It's a fact of life, it happens. 5 So, you know, I'm -- as I've said 6 before, I'm not going to take a position on the rights 7 and wrongs of the case or whether Highland should or 8 should not defend itself and/or -- or -- or go on the 9 offensive. It's -- it's really not a matter that is 10 strictly within the purview of the fund. It is an 11 internal Highland versus Mr. Terry employment dispute. 12 Q. I wasn't asking whether you knew the details 13 of the litigation. I was asking if you knew who 14 commenced the litigation that now has caused all these 15 problems in -- that we just walked through for HCLOF. 16 A. I -- I'm -- 17 MR. MALONEY: I'm going to object to 18 foundation and form. You can answer. 19 A. I don't know whether Mr. Terry sued Highland 20 or Highland sued Mr. Terry. 21 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) Would it have mattered 22 to you? 23 A. Not really. 24 Q. So it doesn't matter who called -- who 25 generated the problems that you're now having to deal

Page 142 1 with? 2 MR. MALONEY: Objection to foundation 3 and form. 4 A. Well, if one goes further back -- I mean, 5 lawsuits inevitably result from disputes. And whether 6 it's having to do with money or to do with other 7 matters, there's a dispute between parties. They have 8 a different perception perhaps of a set of 9 circumstances. 10 I am aware that both Mr. Terry and 11 Highland have said things about each other that are 12 not exactly complimentary. But I -- I -- I -- I -- as 13 I've said before, I don't know the circumstances, I 14 wasn't there, I haven't heard the evidence, and I'm 15 not going to express an opinion on it because I'm -- 16 I'm not in a position to. 17 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) Did you take any steps 18 to investigate the situation? 19 MR. MALONEY: Objection to form. 20 A. What investigation do you think we should 21 have? I mean, we were simply aware that the 22 litigation -- well, actually we were aware that the 23 arbitration award had been converted into a judgment 24 and that it spilled over into a Chapter 11 bankruptcy 25 proceeding. That's all I really need to know. So I		Page 144 1 MR. MALONEY: Objection to form and 2 foundation. You can answer if you understand. 3 A. Yes, I do. And I -- I stand by that, and 4 it's qualified only to the extent that we have 5 specifically agreed with our shareholders in the 6 Members Agreements and the amendment thereto to adhere 7 to certain procedures, consents and negative control 8 rights that we thereby run them. But other than that 9 they're completely standard. 10 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) But other than that? 11 A. They're completely standard. 12 Q. What's not standard is the mess that's been 13 created in the bankruptcy because of the litigation... 14 MR. MALONEY: Objection -- 15 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) ...correct? 16 MR. MALONEY: Objection to form and 17 foundation. 18 A. I don't have enough experience of U.S. 19 bankruptcy procedures to know whether or not a mess of 20 this cataclysmic proportion is normal or not. But 21 that, I think, I do not lay either at the door of 22 Highland or indeed any of the other service providers. 23 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) But you've not taken 24 any additional steps to investigate any background 25 information regarding the Terry litigation. That's
Page 143 1 don't need to get into whether Mr. Terry breached his 2 employment contract or not as the case might be. 3 Q. Yeah. 8 Q. ...in your role? 9 A. Correct. 10 Q. That -- that's what you -- you testified to; 11 correct? 12 A. Yes, and -- and -- and in terms of the 13 discharge by various service providers of their duties 14 to the company. 15 Q. Okay. (By Mr. Wielebinski) Do you remember that 25 testimony?		Page 145 1 what you testified to. 2 A. Yes, because I -- 3 MR. MALONEY: Objection to form and 4 foundation. You may answer. 5 A. I -- I don't think it's relevant. What is 6 relevant is the fact that Mr. Terry has his judgment 7 creditor status. And as a consequence the Chapter 11 8 trustee has been appointed, and these proceedings are 9 grinding on as they are. That's what matters. 10 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) And are -- are you 11 aware that Mr. Terry was not terminated for cause? 12 A. I am aware that there have been various 13 statements made by both sides, which are arguably 14 incompatible, which is correct. I don't know. 15 Highlands say that he was terminated for cause. He 16 says he wasn't. 17 Q. Do you know how the arbitrators ruled? 18 A. Well, obviously to an extent the arbitrators 19 ruled in his favor, but I haven't read their detailed 20 judgment... 21 Q. "The evidence establishes that Highland's                  10 termination of Terry was, in fact, pretextual without                  11 basis of cause and only because Dondero wanted him                  12 gone."                  13 Q. It has no relation at all on Highland as a                  9 portfolio manager and the performance and capabilities                  10 of the portfolio and management team headed by Hunter                  11 Covitz. This relates to the breakdown in the                  12 relationship between Mr. Dondero and Mr. Terry.                  13 And I -- I have, as I say, no comment                  14 really to make on the arbitration award other than to                  15 note that it is what it is and it exists. And I --                  16 I -- I have no reason to sort of cast aspersions on                  17 the process. I mean, I understand Highland may think                  18 that they have grounds to appeal. I have no basis or                  19 standing on which to comment on that one way or                  20 another. It just is what it is.                  21 Q. But this third-party dispute over an                  22 employment arrangement and whatever else --                  23 A. Page 210 1 Mr. Sevilla. 2 (Exhibit Number 17 marked.) 3 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) Okay. Let me hand you 4 what's been marked as Exhibit Number 17. 5 Have you seen that before? 6 A. Yes. I think I've seen this before. 7 Q. And when did you see it? 8 A. Well, it's dated the 13th of November. So 9 it would be sometime subsequent to that. Probably 10 very soon thereafter. I would think about a couple of 11 weeks ago. 12 Q. All right. And you see that HCLOF is named 13 as a party, do you not? 14 A. Yes. We're named there as a third-party 15 defendant. 16 Q. Okay. 17 A. And also as a counter-defendant. 18 Q. All right. And will you look at Paragraph 1 19 on Page 2 of 80? 20 A. Yes. 21 Q. Now, do you understand that this lawsuit or 22 the claims that are asserted by the trustee are in 23 response to claims that were brought by you and 24 Highland Capital Management? And were you aware that claims that were 4 asserted by you and Highland Capital had been 5 dismissed without prejudice? 6 A. I was aware that on one of the many, many 7 hearings in this whole process some claims had been 8 dismissed without prejudice for various technical 9 reasons. 10 Q. Okay. And will you look at the heading 11 where it's titled Parties? 12 MR. MALONEY: Where are you? What 13 page? 14 MR. WIELEBINSKI: Page 4 of 80. 15 Q. Do you know what claims you're 22 being named as a party for? 23 A. Well, as I say, I've not read this 24 particular document. I -- I'm going to speculate and 25 give you the opportunity to correct me, but I think
Page 211 1 to foundation. It calls for a legal conclusion or to 2 the extent his answer reflects any information he 3 received from counsel. 4 A. Let me say a number of things. The first 5 one is, I've not read this document in detail. We 6 have had a lot to deal with. So our focus at the 7 moment has been on this Plan D confirmation process. 8 So this, if you like, is in the "In" 9 tray to be dealt with at a future date. Quite what, 10 if you like, the -- if you like, the stimulants to 11 which the trustee is -- is reacting. To the many 12 different things that there have been in this action, 13 I -- I couldn't really say at this juncture. 14 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) Okay. Look again at 15 Paragraph 1, Page 1. 16 A. Yes. 17 Q. I'm sorry, Page 2. This is on the -- the second line -- 23 Q. Correct. 24 A. -- of Paragraph 1 underneath Answer and 25 Affirmative Defenses?		Page 213 1 these are in relation to the allegations of some form 2 of fraudulent transfer. 3 Q. Would that be the transactions that you 4 described were a unitary transaction around October of 5 2017? 6 MR. MALONEY: I'm going to object to 7 form, foundation, particularly with respect to the 8 specific transactions you may be referring to. 9 A. I -- I think there's an overlap there, but I 10 don't think everything that we did in October and 11 November of 2017 is, if you like, the subject of such 12 claims. I think there are some things which have been 13 picked out. 14 My recollection is, I think there are 15 probably three sets of -- broadly, of things that the 16 trustee alleges that we've done somehow wrongful acts, 17 and in his characterization designed to strip Acis of 18 value or words to that effect. So, I mean, that -- 19 that's my understanding. Now, as I say, I've not read 20 this document, which is 80 pages long. So if I'm 21 incorrect in what I've just said, please, do correct 22 me. 23 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) Okay. If you would 24 look at -- well, just go to the headings. I 22 haven't had time to read the whole document, but -- 23 Q. What -- what are the shares -- do you 24 know -- that were transferred at or about that time? 25 A. The only shares that I'm aware of being		Page 216 1 the note transfer? 2 MR. MALONEY: Objection to foundation 3 and form. 4 A. No. I think we discovered it in various 5 filings in and around that time. It was -- it was 6 sort of brought up, as it were, I think, by the 7 trustee, to be frank. 8 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) And then if you would 9 look at the Count 21, 22, 23, 24, you notice those are 10 all counts to seek to avoid as fraudulent transfers 11 the 2017-7 equity and 2007 -- 2017-7 agreement 12 transfers. 13 Are you familiar with those at all? 14 A. It's 18 on Page 58. 19 A. 198, initial transfer -- transferee. 20 MR. MALONEY: Wait, one -- one second. 21 Let me make sure I get there. Are you talking about 22 Paragraph 198? 23 MR. Page 215 1 dealt with at that time was the repurchase by the fund 2 for cancellation of the, roughly, $1 million worth or 3 0.7 percent of the shared capital of HCLOF. 4 Q. Okay. And if you'd look at Count 17, 18, 5 19, 20, you see that they're all attempts to avoid as 6 fraudulent transfers the note transfer? 7 MR. MALONEY: Objection, foundation. 8 A. Well, that's what the document appears to 9 say. 10 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) And what was the note 11 that was transferred at or about that time? Do you 12 know? 13 A. Well, that's a very good question. We knew 14 nothing about this note. Those are an internal 15 arrangement within various parties loosely within, 16 what you might call, the Highland affiliation or 17 whatever. 18 Q. Okay. 19 A. So we didn't know anything about that until 20 about June this year. The fund was not a party to the 21 note, and it was not involved in any way in any 22 transfer or whatever in relation to the note. So 23 it's -- it's an -- it's an item that we know nothing 24 about and have no involvement in. 25 Q. So Highland is the one that told you about		Page 217 1 under something described as Count 26, Liability for 2 Avoided Transfers under 11 U.S.C., Section 550. 3 A. Well, I'm not necessarily agreeing 12 with what it says. 13 Q. Sure. 14 A. But, as a matter of fact, what the -- the 15 words on the page say is that "Highland Funding is an 16 initial transferee of all transfers sought to be 17 avoided in Counts 13 to 16 above, and Highland Capital 18 is an entity for whose benefit such transfers were 19 made. The trustee may recover all avoided transfers 20 from Highland Funding and Highland Capital pursuant to 21 Section 550." 22 Q. What do you understand that to say, if you 23 know? 24 MR. Page 218 1 also going to object to the extent that these 2 proceedings are being used to get some sort of 3 preanswer. This document has not been answered or 4 responded to, and I'd also object to the extent it 5 calls for a legal conclusion. And I would caution the 6 witness not to speculate. 7 A. Well, the answer is, I don't know. I'm not 8 an expert on U.S. bankruptcy law. I have no idea what 9 Section 550 means. It talks about transfers to be 10 avoided in Counts 13 to 16 above. We've discussed 11 some of those a moment -- a moment ago. And, as I 12 say, they are -- to the extent that they are 13 transactions at all, they are transactions in which 14 HCLOF had no involvement at all or any immoral or 15 illegal intent. 16 MR. WIELEBINSKI: Hey, guys, can you 17 moot your phone, your lines, please, if you're 18 talking? 19 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) So you're saying that 20 HCLOF knew nothing about the share transfers that's 21 Counts 13 to 16? 22 A. Well -- 23 MR. MALONEY: Objection. Objection to 24 form and -- and foundation. And I'm also going to 25 again object to the extent that this deposition is		Page 220 1 THE WITNESS: That's a net asset 2 value -- in a normal way, and we paid Acis Capital 3 Management in cash their proportionate share of the 4 fund on that basis. So there's no value transfer 5 there. 6 With respect to the note, as I say, 7 it's a matter to which we were not a party. We've 8 never had any involvement in it, and we knew nothing 9 about it until it popped up in the proceedings 10 sometime in June or whatever this year. And -- and 11 the bit about the Acis CLO equity 2017-7 or whatever, 12 I simply don't know what you're talking about there. 13 That's a new one on me. 14 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) Fair enough. Will you 15 look at Count 28, please, that's on Page 60 of 80? 16 A. 60 of 80. 28, Civil Conspiracy to Breach 17 Fiduciary Duties. 18 Q. And do you see down below in the left-hand 19 corner right at the bottom of the page Highland 20 Funding is named down there? 21 A. Yes. 22 Q. Okay. It's the sentence that reads 23 "Finally, Highland Capital, Highland Funding, Dondero 24 and Waterhouse conspired to make numerous transfers to 25 denude Acis," and then it goes on.
Page 219 1 being used to get a preanswer on a document that has 2 not yet been formally responded to in the court in 3 which -- in the proceeding in which it's filed. 4 A. Well, I -- I don't know whether this is 5 exactly answering your question on point, but in 6 substance it is. We have not participated in any 7 fraudulent transfers. And we can argue about this at 8 a later date, which I think Mr. Maloney is saying is 9 the appropriate time to do it. But there was no value 10 in the ALF PMA in the way that the Chapter 11 trustee 11 suggests. It could not be used in the way that he 12 suggests to generate value for the estate or for Acis 13 Loan Funding to the detriment of its investors. Now, 14 that's my position. I know that you disagree with it, 15 but that's what it is. 16 With respect to the ALF shareholding in 17 HCLOF, they were bought back for full value on the 18 same terms as would be offered to any other investor, 19 and they were paid out in cash on the dollar. And 20 they were -- when we calculated our NAV in a normal 21 way and they were given the -- 22 THE REPORTER: When we calculated what 23 in a normal -- 24 THE WITNESS: Our NAV. 25 THE REPORTER: Thank you.		Page 221 1 A. Yeah. Well, just because somebody makes an 2 allegation doesn't mean to say it's true. I think 3 I've already dealt with the ALF PMA transfer, the 4 share transfer, the note transfer, and the 2017-7 5 transfer, and the rest of it. 6 And this thwarting some Universal/BVK 7 agreement transfer, again, that's a subject that I 8 know nothing about in which the funds -- I had no 9 involvement. And, therefore, I don't see why we -- or 10 how we could possibly conspire with anybody in respect 11 to that. It just doesn't make sense. 12 Q. You -- will you look at Paragraph 29 for me, 13 please? That's on -- I'm sorry. 14 A. You mean Count 29? 15 Q. Count 29 -- 16 A. Right. 17 Q. -- right. It's on Page 62. 18 A. Yes. 19 Q. And you see that's Aiding and Abetting 20 Breach of Fiduciary Duties? 21 A. I see that. 22 MR. MALONEY: One second. 23 Q. And at the time we 2 interpreted that as being a, if you like, a condition 3 precedent set by HarbourVest. 4 But I understand on subsequent 5 clarification that that may not have been the reason 6 why there was a condition to the transaction. It may 7 have been a matter to do with the then applicable risk 8 retention rules and Acis being noncompliant in that 9 regard. So that's a sort of, if you like, a further 10 clarification that's been provided to us more 11 recently. 12 Q. And who provided that to you? 13 A. I think that that has come from, well, from 14 Mr. Maloney actually, but I don't want to -- 15 MR. MALONEY: Just to be clear, I don't 16 want you to reveal anything that you heard from 17 counsel; all right? 18 THE WITNESS: Okay. 19 MR. MALONEY: Okay? Let's -- let's be 20 clear about that. 21 THE WITNESS: Yeah. I don't think 22 Mis -- Mr. Maloney was necessarily providing advice in 23 that regard. I think he was passing something on. 24 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) Do you know if 25 Mr. Ellington represented something different to the		Page 257 1 demand its money back if a reset transaction was not 2 done with Acis. Are you aware of that 3 representation?" 4 Q. Okay. And then if you could skip down to 5 Line 15, do you see it says "Okay. Do you agree with 6 that statement"? 7 A. I see that. 8 Q. And then the answer is "No"? 9 A. I see that answer. 10 Q. And then the question "Why not"? 11 A. Yes. 12 Q. Can you read that answer? 13 A. Starting with Line 18, "We made an 14 investment here into a Highland-managed fund. I would 15 say that we very much viewed Acis and Highland as 16 interchangeable from the perspective of the, you know, 17 the actual investment opportunity. It was merely a 18 sort of name or branding issue from our perspective. 19 And so ultimately our investment was with the existing 20 Highland platform and the team and the strategy on a 21 go-forward basis. And so the naming convention around 22 the vehicle we invested into or the underlying CLO 23 vehicles was really of no concern from our 24 perspective." 25 Q. Okay. Are you surprised by that statement?

Page 259 1 business with Acis because the Acis brand was 2 purportedly toxic, and consequently nothing associated 3 with Acis could be managed or marketed as a CLO? Are 4 you aware of that statement?" 5 Q. Okay. And then if you skip down to Line 17, 6 18, "Okay. Is that statement true?" That's from 7 Mr. Prostok. And the answer? 8 MR. MALONEY: I'm going to object 9 again, same basis as before. You're asking the 10 witness to read another transcript into the record, 11 and I -- I object to that. I object on hearsay. I 12 object on foundation. I object to the form of the 13 question. 14 MR. WIELEBINSKI: Okay. 15 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) And are you surprised 16 by those answers? 17 A. Well, the -- the -- the answer is "Yes" and 18 "No." I'm surprised -- well, firstly, I'm not 19 surprised actually that an investor regards Acis and 20 Highland in some senses as interchangeable. Because, 21 remember, Acis was nothing more really than a paper 22 company. The investment engine was the team at 23 Highland. So, as far as HarbourVest is concerned, I 24 can see the point that they would perceive it's just a 25 bit of Highland. So I -- I can totally get that.		Page 261 1 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) Okay. Will you look 2 at Page 58, please? 3 A. We fund -- I don't think consulted with 8 HarbourVest beforehand or reported it directly to them 9 afterwards. 10 Q. So they're not aware of it today? 11 A. They may or may not be aware of it. I don't 12 know if Highland told them about it. 13 Q. Do you think it was appropriate -- 14 THE REPORTER: I don't know what? 15 THE WITNESS: If Highland told them 16 about it. 17 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) Do you think it's 18 important that they know? 19 A. I think it would be interesting for them to 20 know, but it's not a requirement necessarily they be 21 informed. I mean, they will necessarily, I think, be 22 informed in due course. 23 Q. Could you look at Page 64, please? 24 A. Yes. 25 Q. Page 262 1 with Line 13, please. I'll read it to you. "But have 2 you expressed an opinion in this case different than 3 Highland's at any point?" And there's some 4 objections, "With respect to the bankruptcy matters?" 5 And there's an objection. And then Mr. Prostok says 6 "Yes, to Highland." Deponent, "I think the --," and 7 Ms. O'Neil objects, and the deponent then answers in 8 Line 23. 9 Can you read that to me, please? 10 A. "The primary opinion we've expressed to 11 Highland, I would say, is a desire to see this all go 12 away quickly, to be able to get back to the original 13 investment thesis or premises of the investment that 14 we had made, which would have included the ability to 15 refinance or reset the underlying CLOs, given that the 16 current situation, you know, in our view, is untenable 17 vis-a-vis the go-forward equity returns of holding 18 those positions in their current capital structure or 19 form today." 20 Q. You haven't talked to HarbourVest; correct? 21 MR. MALONEY: Objection. I'm going to 22 object to the premise of the question, the reading 23 into the record of the transcript, which may or may 24 not be hearsay, may or may not have a basis to be read 25 into the record, and the foundation of the quest --		Page 264 1 have said in terms of the specific parts that you have 2 drawn to my attention because I've not seen this 3 transcript before today. So I've only got knowledge 4 of the bits that you've drawn my attention to. But 5 there's nothing in it in that sense that's a surprise 6 about HarbourVest's view of life. 7 Q. You're taking that view into consideration, 8 though, when you act as a director. 9 Is that a fair statement? 10 MR. MALONEY: Objection, foundation and 11 form. 12 A. What we're doing when we're acting as a 13 director is acting in the best interest of the company 14 as we see it on the basis of the information that's 15 available to us. And, you know, we're acting in good 16 faith in that regard. 17 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) Sometimes the 18 information hasn't been made available to you, though, 19 has it, by Highland? 20 You've -- you've given me a few 21 examples today. 22 A. It's -- it's -- it's al -- 23 MR. MALONEY: Object -- objection to 24 form and foundation. 25 A. It's always going to be the case in any sort
Page 263 1 question and the form of the question. 2 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) You've had no 3 communications with HarbourVest directly; correct? 4 A. Well, I've had no direct communication with 5 HarbourVest. The view that's expressed there doesn't 6 surprise me. It's an entirely rational view of an 7 investor to express. 8 Q. Including they want an expedient result; 9 correct? 10 Isn't that what they're saying? 11 MR. MALONEY: Objection -- 12 A. Well -- well -- 13 MR. MALONEY: -- foundation. 14 A. We would all be delighted, the board 15 included, if the trustee would just fold up his tents 16 and go away, and that would be a very quick and 17 expedient resolution. Unfortunately I don't think 18 it's going to happen. But, yes, we would all love 19 this to go away. Of course, we would. 20 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) Did Highland 21 communicate this view from HarbourVest to you as a 22 director of HCLOF? 23 A. Yes. We've had -- well, we've had periodic 24 verbal reports about liaison with HarbourVest. And, I 25 mean, there's nothing, as I say, in what HarbourVest		Page 265 1 of business situation that there are going to be 2 pieces of the information matrix that you don't have 3 either because people haven't told you or because 4 they're not discoverable or -- or whatever. So you 5 have to make judgments based on what you have. 6 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) In -- in this 7 circumstance, though, where it certainly, I think it's 8 fair to say, has been time-consuming and frustrating, 9 it's important that you have as much information as 10 possible, isn't it? 11 MR. MALONEY: Objection, form, 12 foundation. 13 A. I agree that as a matter of general 14 principle, that applies equally to this situation, the 15 more information and insight you have, the better. 16 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) Have you been 17 satisfied with the information flow that you've 18 received from Highland in -- in this matter? 19 A. Broadly, yes. I mean, there are bound to be 20 areas where I think the information flow has been less 21 good than it should have been. And I certainly would 22 have liked it to have been much better with hindsight, 23 yes. 24 Q. Can you look at Page 85 for me, please? And 25 if you would read Line 4 through 17.

68 (Pages 266 to 269)

Page 266 1 A. 85, Lines 4 through 17? 2 Q. Yes, sir. 3 MR. MALONEY: Object again to reading 4 into the record. 5 A. "I just want --." I don't believe this -- 6 oh, this is the man from HarbourVest. "I just wanted 7 to also sort of make the point that I think a 8 continuation of the status quo -- i.e., the situation 9 that we're in, without the ability to refind -- 10 refinance or reset in the immediate term -- is 11 probably the most detrimental as we think about the 12 returns -- the return potential for HCLOF and, in 13 turn, us vis-a-vis the equity investment in these 14 CLOs. So, you know, something happening -- whether 15 that's a refinancing or a reset in the near term -- or 16 absent all of that, even a redemption or call of those 17 vehicles is a better option for us, purely 18 economically speaking as an investor in HCLOF, versus 19 just a continuation of the current situation -- 20 management by Brigade, but without the ability to 21 reset or refinance the capital structure of those 22 CLOs." 23 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) Management by Brigade. 24 What does that mean? Do you know? Do 25 you think -- do you have a -- any comment to that?		Page 268 1 A. I didn't disagree with that. 2 MR. MALONEY: I'm going to object to 3 form, foundation. You can answer. 4 A. I mean, as -- as the -- the mess that 5 Brigade is currently making of it, yes, I'm -- I'm -- 6 agree -- agree with that. It's not the optimal 7 solution, but it might be better than what we have at 8 the moment. 9 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) It may be better, a 10 redemption? A liquidation may be better than what we 11 have at the moment? 12 Is that what you were saying? 13 A. It may be. 14 Q. Does it -- does it concern you at all as a 15 director that the 49 percent investor in your company 16 is -- is giving these kinds of statements? 17 A. No. 18 Q. And -- and why is that? 19 A. Well, there's nothing in the statements 20 there that he said with which I fundamentally 21 disagree. 22 Q. Can you look back at Exhibit Number 10 for 23 me? 24 A. Uh-huh. These are the board minutes. 25 Q. Yes, sir. Two things. One, can you look at
Page 267 1 MR. MALONEY: I'm going to object again 2 to the premise, to the potential hearsay premise of 3 the entire question, reading into the record of a 4 deposition transcript, object to the form of the 5 question, and foundation. 6 A. Well, you're -- you're sort of taking me 7 selectively to various paragraphs, perhaps out of 8 contextual, I know. But the section that you just got 9 me to read, I don't disagree with that at all. And 10 when it says "management by grade -- Brigade," I don't 11 know if this is what the person who is speaking meant. 12 But what I interpret by that is, he's talking about 13 the de facto management or submanagement -- call it 14 what you will -- of the CLOs by Brigade as is the 15 current situation. 16 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) He actually says in 17 here that even a redemption, essentially a 18 liquidation, would be better than what the alternative 19 is. 20 MR. MALONEY: Objection -- 21 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) Do you see that there? 22 "Even a redemption or call of those vehicles is a 23 better option for us." 24 A. Uh-huh. Yes, I've just read that. 25 Q. And you said you didn't disagree with that?		Page 269 1 6.3, Section 6.3? 2 A. Yes. 3 Q. Do you see where it says "It was noted that 4 each director undertook to disclose to the company and 5 his fellow directors any manner or circumstance of 6 which he or she was or became aware or which would 7 make the offering mem -- memorandum or any statement 8 in it misleading," and then it goes on? 9 A. I see that paragraph, yes. 10 Q. But you didn't have all the information to 11 determine whether any statement would be misleading 12 because Highland didn't share all the information with 13 you. 14 Isn't that a fair statement? 15 MR. MALONEY: Objection, foundation. 16 A. Well, what this paragraph is saying is that 17 if any of the directors knows about something, then 18 they should disclose it to the -- the boards. But, 19 you know, you're talking now about things that we 20 didn't know about. 21 Q. (By Mr. Wielebinski) Could that have an 22 impact on your investors, not being able to share 23 information that you subsequently have learned like 24 you have in this case? 25 MR. MALONEY: I'm going to object to

I, Michael J. Pugatch, declare as follows:

1. I am a managing director of HarbourVest Partners, LLC. I submit this Declaration in support of the Motion Pursuant to Rule 3018(A) of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure for Temporary Allowance of Claims for Purposes of Voting to Accept or Reject the Plan filed on behalf of HarbourVest 2017 Global Fund L.P., HarbourVest 2017 Global AIF L.P., HarbourVest Dover Street IX Investment L.P., HV International VIII Secondary L.P., HarbourVest Skew Base AIF L.P., and HarbourVest Partners L.P., on behalf of funds and accounts under management (collectively, “HarbourVest”) being filed concurrently with this Declaration. I submit this Declaration based on my personal knowledge.

2. HarbourVest is a passive minority investor in Highland CLO Funds (“HCLOF”), a vehicle managed by Highland Capital Management LP (“Highland”). HarbourVest initially invested $73,522,928 for a roughly 49% interest in HCLOF, on November 15, 2017. On February 9, 2018, HarbourVest contributed an additional $4,998,501 following a capital call. To date, HarbourVest has received three dividends from HCLOF, each totaling $1,570,429.

3. The unaudited net asset value of HCLOF as of August 31, 2020 was $44,587,820. HarbourVest’s share of HCLOF is thus valued at a mere $22,287,228. HarbourVest’s expected proceeds from the original HCLOF investment were projected to exceed $135 million.

4. Highland has charged over $15 million in attorneys’ fees for HCLOF, Highland, Acis, Highland HCF, and others, to HCLOF. We, as shareholders, were made to pay these entities’ legal fees. HarbourVest’s share of these fees stands at more than $7.5 million (as of June 30, 2020).

5. HarbourVest’s own legal fees spent protecting its interests have reached more than $1 million to date, which include legal fees associated with HarbourVest responding to Rule

2004 discovery requests seeking documents and a deposition from HarbourVest in the Acis bankruptcy, monitoring the Acis bankruptcy for false statements regarding HarbourVest, assessment of legal claims and damages to HarbourVest attributable to Highland's conduct, as well as protecting HarbourVest's rights in the Highland bankruptcy, including through filing proofs of claim regarding HarbourVest's claims. These fees continue to accrue.

Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1746, I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct to the best of my knowledge.

INTRODUCTION

1. In its Solicitation Motion, the Debtor proposes to disallow for voting purposes all claims to which it has objected for any reason. The Debtor objected to the HarbourVest Claims (as defined below) on a perfunctory and unfounded basis, by tucking them in among the 92 claims in the Debtor’s First Omnibus Objection to Certain (A) Duplicate Claims; (B) Overstated Claims; (C) Late-Filed Claims; (D) Satisfied Claims; (E) No-Liability Claims; and (F) Insufficient-Documentation Claims [Docket No. 906] (the “Claim Objection” or “Objection”), which was an omnibus objection simply claiming, with no substance or explanation, that there was “no liability” for HarbourVest’s Claims. More than a month ago, HarbourVest filed the HarbourVest Response to Debtor’s First Omnibus Objection to Certain (A) Duplicate Claims; (B) Overstated Claims; (C) Late-Filed Claims; (D) Satisfied Claims; (E) No-Liability Claims; and (F) Insufficient-Documentation Claims [Docket No. 1057] (the “Response”), which amply detailed the legal and factual predicates for its claims. To date, that Response remains entirely un rebutted.

2. If the Solicitation Motion is granted, HarbourVest—one of Highland’s most significant creditors—would be disenfranchised in this Chapter 11 Case on the basis of a meritless, one-sentence “no liability” objection that is wholly insufficient to rebut HarbourVest’s prima facie case for its Claims. To avoid this unjust result, HarbourVest has filed this Motion pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 3018, and seeks that the HarbourVest Claims be temporarily allowed for purposes of voting in full recognition of HarbourVest’s over $100 million in damages, $300 million post-trebling.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

3. The United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas (the “Court” or “Bankruptcy Court”) has jurisdiction over this matter pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1334.

4. This matter is a core proceeding within the meaning of 28 U.S.C. § 157(b).

5. Venue is proper before this Court pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1408 and 1409.

6. The statutory and legal predicates for the relief requested herein are sections 502 and 1126 of the Bankruptcy Code (“Bankruptcy Code”) and Bankruptcy Rules 3001 and 3018(a).

BACKGROUND

A. Case Background

7. On October 16, 2019 (“Petition Date”), the Debtor filed a voluntary petition for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code.

8. Since filing the petition, the Debtor has been operating as a debtor-in-possession pursuant to sections 1107(a) and 1108 of the Bankruptcy Code.

9. On September 21, 2020, the Debtor filed the First Amended Plan of Reorganization of Highland Capital Management, L.P. [Docket No. 1079] (the “Plan”) and related Disclosure Statement for the First Amended Plan of Reorganization of Highland Capital Management, L.P. [Docket No. 1080] (the “Disclosure Statement”).

10. On September 28, 2020, the Debtor submitted the Debtor’s Motion for Entry of an Order (A) Approving the Adequacy of the Disclosure Statement; (B) Scheduling a Hearing to Confirm the First Amended Plan of Reorganization; (C) Establishing Deadline for Filing Objections to Confirmation of Plan; (D) Approving Form of Ballots, Voting Deadline and Solicitation Procedures; and (E) Approving Form and Manner of Notice [Docket No. 1108] (“Solicitation Motion”). The Solicitation Motion requests that the confirmation hearing for the Plan be held on December 3, 2020 at 9:30 a.m. (prevailing Central Time), or such other date as may be scheduled by the Court, and requests a Voting Deadline (as defined in the Solicitation Motion) of November 20, 2020 at 5:00 p.m. (prevailing Central Time).

B. HarbourVest Claims

11. HarbourVest’s claims against Highland arise out of its November 15, 2017, investment in Highland CLO Funding, f/k/a Acis Loan Funding, Ltd. (“HCLOF”) to acquire a 49% interest as a minority, passive investor (the “Investment”). Highland’s pattern of fraudulent behavior preceding and following the Investment, including its scheme to drain Acis Capital Management L.P. of assets and its many lies and omissions regarding this scheme to (and, in this Court, about) HarbourVest, and the subsequent fallout, caused serious injury to HarbourVest. This caused HarbourVest damages in excess of $100 million, as detailed below. As a consequence of those damages, on April 8, 2020, HarbourVest timely filed its proofs of claim, which are listed in the Debtor’s claims register as claims number 143, 147, 149, 150, 153, and 154 (the “Proofs of Claim”), describing its claims (the “HarbourVest Claims”). In addition, in its still-unrebutted response to Highland’s Claim Objection filed on September 11, 2020, HarbourVest described the HarbourVest Claims, and the supporting facts and law, in significant detail.<sup>2</sup>

12. As described in the Response, HarbourVest has strong claims against Highland under a number of legal theories, including but not limited to claims for fraud, fraudulent concealment, fraudulent inducement, fraudulent misrepresentation, negligent misrepresentation, breach of fiduciary duties, misuse of fund assets, U.S. state and federal securities law claims, violations of the federal Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act (“RICO”), and unfair prejudice under the Guernsey Companies Law.

13. These claims entitle HarbourVest to recovery of the significant damages it has experienced following Highland’s fraudulent inducement of HarbourVest into the HCLOF investment, which include:

- Investment-related losses as of August 31, 2020 of more than $100 million, taking into account the original expected proceeds<sup>3</sup> from HarbourVest’s $78,521,429 of contributions to HCLOF<sup>4</sup> plus 5% interest per year<sup>5</sup>;

<sup>2</sup> The Response, which is incorporated into this Motion by reference to avoid repetition, provides an extensive description of the HarbourVest Claims, as well as a thorough demonstration of the fatal defects of the Claim Objection as applied to them, which are only summarized herein.

<sup>3</sup> 41 Tex. Jur. 3d Fraud and Deceit § 105; Aquaplex, Inc. v. Rancho La Valencia, Inc., 297 S.W.3d 768 (Tex. 2009). As discussed further in the Response, separate from the remedies available to HarbourVest for its claims under U.S. federal and state law, the court’s remedial powers for a Guernsey unfair prejudice claim, see Response at 23–25, are broad. Section 350 of the Guernsey Companies Law provides: “[i]f the Court is satisfied that an application under section 349 is well founded it may make such order as it thinks fit for giving relief in respect of the matters complained of.” Such relief may include ordering a buyout of the applicant’s interests as a member of the Company at a price adjusted to reflect what the value of such interests would have been had the prejudicial conduct not taken place. Id.; see also Re Bird Precision Bellows Ltd. (1985) 3 All ER 523. Relief is commonly granted against those who have caused the unfairly prejudicial conduct, including non-members of the company, where it is just to do so. Re Little Olympian Each-Ways Ltd. (1994) 2 BCLC 420.

- HarbourVest’s share of years of staggering legal fees inappropriately charged to HCLOF: more than $7.5 million to date<sup>6</sup>;
- Exemplary or punitive damages for Highland’s fraudulent behavior<sup>7</sup>;
- HarbourVest’s own legal fees incurred as a result of the Acis Trustee’s investigation of HarbourVest in the Acis bankruptcy and HarbourVest’s protection of its own rights: more than $1 million to date.<sup>8</sup>

C. Highland Objection and Subsequent Discussions

14. After HarbourVest filed its Proofs of Claim, Highland filed its Claim Objection.

While styled as a procedural and technical objection to claims which are facially deficient (such as late-filed claims and duplicate claims), it also included conclusory assertions of “no liability” regarding a number of claims, including the HarbourVest Claims. The Claim Objection—which makes no attempt to rebut any of the factual or legal bases of the well-founded HarbourVest Claims—fails for all the reasons set forth at length in the Response.

For reference, the unaudited net asset value of HCLOF as of August 31, 2020 was $44,587,820. HarbourVest’s share of HCLOF is thus valued at a mere $22,287,228.

15. The Debtor advised HarbourVest that its objection to the Highland Claims was scheduled to be heard on October 6, 2020. However, after the Response was filed, recognizing that the HarbourVest Claims could not be easily disposed of, the Debtor sought to adjourn the hearing on its objection to the HarbourVest Claims. In an effort to be accommodating, and in light of the competing demands on the Court’s time and docket, HarbourVest agreed to temporarily adjourn the hearing.<sup>9</sup> Counsel to the respective parties continue to discuss an appropriate discovery and trial schedule.

RELIEF REQUESTED

16. By this Motion, HarbourVest seeks entry of an order temporarily allowing the Claims for voting purposes, pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 3018(a), in an amount that recognizes HarbourVest’s over $100 million in damages, $300 million post-trebling.

BASIS FOR RELIEF

A. Legal Authority

17. Holders of allowed claims or interests are permitted to vote to accept or reject a chapter 11 plan. 11 U.S.C. § 1126. A claim represented by a timely and properly filed proof of claim “is deemed allowed, unless a party in interest . . . objects.” 11 U.S.C. § 502(a). Once a party in interest objects to a filed claim, the holder of that claim may not (absent other relief) be entitled to vote on a chapter 11 plan while the objection is pending. See 11 U.S.C. § 1126. The proposed Solicitation Procedures, which provide that holders of claims that are subject to a pending objection are not entitled to vote on account of the disputed portion of their claims, reflects this statutory structure. See Solicitation Motion ¶ 43(d).

18. However, where a claim is not yet allowed (due to a pending objection or otherwise), bankruptcy courts “may temporarily allow the claim or interest in an amount which the court deems proper for the purpose of accepting or rejecting a plan.” Fed. R. Bankr. P. 3018. The policy behind Bankruptcy Rule 3018(a) is “to prevent possible abuse by plan proponents” who attempt to ensure acceptance of a plan by strategically objecting to the claims of dissenting creditors. In re Armstrong, 292 B.R. 678, 686 (10th Cir. B.A.P. 2003). Unless HarbourVest is permitted to vote the estimated amount of its claim, exactly this sort of abuse will be at play in this Chapter 11 Case.

19. Bankruptcy courts are given significant discretion and flexibility in estimating claims, with the goal that the process “must be accomplished quickly and efficiently.” In re Adelpia Bus. Sols., Inc., 341 B.R. 415, 422 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2003); see also In re Ralph Lauren Womenswear, Inc., 197 B.R. 771, 774 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 1996). Bankruptcy courts also have flexibility to “employ whatever method is best suited to the circumstances of the case” when determining whether and in what amount to allow a claim for voting purposes. In re Ralph Lauren Womenswear, Inc., 197 B.R. at 775; see also In re Frascella Enters., Inc., 360 B.R. 435, 458 (Bankr. E.D. Pa. 2007). Rule 3018(a) contemplates only a summary estimation proceeding, not a full trial on the merits of the claim. See, e.g., In re Windsor Plumbing Supply Co., 170 B.R. 503, 521 (Bankr. E.D.N.Y. 1994); In re Zolner, 173 B.R. 629, 633 (Bankr. N.D. Ill. 1994).

20. Although the Bankruptcy Code and the Bankruptcy Rules do not dictate a formal procedure for calculating a claim for voting purposes, courts have held that the calculation

“should ensure that the voting power is commensurate with the creditor’s economic interests in the case.” In re Quigley Co., 346 B.R. 647, 654 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2006). When determining whether to temporarily allow a claim, courts may look to (1) the debtor’s scheduling of the claim, (2) the details of the claim itself, and (3) the debtor’s objection to determine parties’ expectations regarding the amount and nature of the claim to be voted. In re Stone Hedge Props., 191 B.R. 59, 65 (Bankr. M.D. Pa. 1995). Calculation of a claim under Bankruptcy Rule 3018(a), however, is not determinative or preclusive of the ultimate validity or amount of the claim or any causes of action before a non-bankruptcy court. See In re Quigley, 346 B.R. at 654.

B. Argument

21. The Debtor is well aware that the HarbourVest Claims cannot be disposed of through any rote objection—or even through briefing. Indeed, this is why the Debtor has sought to adjourn the hearing on the HarbourVest Claims. In three steps, the Debtor seeks to avoid having to litigate the HarbourVest Claims on a timely basis, while simultaneously denying HarbourVest a voice on the Plan and the ultimate treatment of its substantial claims in this Chapter 11 Case:

Step 1: File a one-line, baseless, procedurally improper, and facially insufficient objection to the HarbourVest Claims to render them technically “disputed” (without actually providing any facts or even argument to refute their validity).

Step 2: Refuse to withdraw the frivolous objection when HarbourVest provides a detailed basis for the HarbourVest Claims and emphasizes the impropriety of including the HarbourVest Claims in an unsupported omnibus objection.

Step 3: When publicly challenged in the Response—a pleading demonstrating the strength of the HarbourVest Claims, the extent of the Debtor’s deception and misconduct, and the vacuity of the Debtor’s objection——adjourn the hearing on that objection.

The result, if successful? The Debtor would have handily disenfranchised one of its largest creditors—located in what is likely to be a key class for its Plan—on the eve of confirmation.

22. Bankruptcy Rule 3018 is precisely the mechanism designed to avoid this sort of mischief. The Debtor contends that it cannot resolve the HarbourVest Claims prior to the confirmation hearing. While HarbourVest reserves its rights to seek formal allowance of its claims prior to confirmation, it acknowledges that a Rule 3018 valuation of its claims in full for voting purposes would allow the Debtor and the Court to focus time and resources on the Plan process while avoiding prejudice to HarbourVest.

23. Nonetheless, it is worth underscoring that the time pressure here was manufactured by the Debtor—it did not have to file a baseless objection it was unprepared to defend. It could instead have deferred litigation on the HarbourVest Claims and filed an objection later in the case (but for its desire to wrongfully strip HarbourVest, a major economic stakeholder, of its rightful say in the Plan process without a hearing). Or, the Debtor could have timely engaged with and provided a substantive response to HarbourVest’s detailed support of its claim filed weeks ago. The Debtor has done neither, however, and it would be unfair to permit the Debtor to strip HarbourVest of its voting rights based on an entirely unsupported objection that it is not timely pressing forward. Bankruptcy Rule 3018(a) “was designed to give all creditors, even those holding disputed claims, the opportunity to vote.” In re Century Glove, Inc., 88 B.R. 45, 46 (Bankr. D. Del. 1988) (emphasis added).

24. HarbourVest has presented substantial and credible evidence and arguments in support of the validity and amount of its more than $100 million damages directly caused by Highland's behavior. These damages are appropriately recoverable for the HarbourVest Claims.<sup>10</sup> In addition, HarbourVest's RICO claim entitles it to treble damages, which are properly considered in the claims estimation process. See In re Hydrox Chem. Co., 194 B.R. 617 (Bankr. N.D. Ill. 1996) (estimating value of claim for Rule 3018 purposes based off of trebled RICO damages). Thus, for purposes of this Rule 3018 motion and without prejudice to its right to adduce additional evidence in the future regarding its damages, HarbourVest respectfully requests that its claims be estimated at $300 million for voting purposes.

25. To date, the Debtor has provided no evidence, no factual assertions, and no analysis of the HarbourVest Claims under the applicable standard, to rebut the prima facie case that HarbourVest has put forward on its claims. To the contrary, Highland has unjustly attempted to disenfranchise HarbourVest on the eve of confirmation of the Plan by filing an objection to the HarbourVest Claims that does not satisfy the Debtor's minimal burden to provide sufficient evidence that an actual dispute exists as to the validity or amount of HarbourVest's Claims. Under the circumstances present here, the Court should exercise its discretion to temporarily allow the HarbourVest Claims in their full face amount for purposes of voting on the Plan. Allowing HarbourVest to vote the full face value of its claims comports with the spirit of the Bankruptcy Code, which encourages creditor voting and participation in the reorganization process. In re Amarex Inc., 61 B.R. 301, 303 (Bankr. W.D. Okla. 1985) (“[T]o allow [the disputed claims] to vote on the plans, even though some may be eventually disallowed for purposes of distribution, is more in keeping with the spirit of Chapter 11 which encourages creditor vote [sic] and participation in the reorganization process”).

26. In sum, the HarbourVest Claims should be entitled to temporary allowance for purposes of voting on the Plan because: (i) HarbourVest’s filing of proofs of claim constitutes prima facie evidence of the validity of the Claims and HarbourVest’s Response—now filed more than a month ago—provides credible and detailed descriptions of the HarbourVest Claims and remains unrebutted; (ii) the Debtor’s Objection is procedurally and substantively deficient, and (iii) even if the Debtor’s Objection were not flawed, it would have been filed with insufficient time and insufficient specificity to be addressed prior to the deadline for voting on the Plan. Allowing the full amount of the HarbourVest Claims for voting purposes simply restores the status quo that would have obtained if Highland had not engaged in yet another scheme—this time to deprive a major creditor of its voting rights—and had instead only filed objections it was prepared to defend, when it was prepared to do so. This is the precise circumstance for which temporary allowance of claims was created.

RESERVATION OF RIGHTS

27. The liquidation of the HarbourVest Claims is only for voting on the Plan and shall not constitute or be construed as an admission by HarbourVest of any limitation on the ultimate allowed amount of the HarbourVest Claims or the classification of such claims. HarbourVest does not waive, and expressly reserves, all rights, arguments, counterarguments, and defenses, including, without limitation, the right to contest in any court of competent jurisdiction any objection to the basis and/or validity of the ultimate amounts of the HarbourVest Claims.

NOTICE

28. HarbourVest will provide notice of this Motion to: (a) the Debtor; (b) counsel to the Debtor; (c) the United States Trustee; and (d) all parties that have filed a notice of appearance and request for service of papers pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 2002. In light of the nature of the relief requested herein, HarbourVest respectfully submits that such notice is sufficient and that no other or further notice is necessary.

NO PRIOR WRITTEN REQUEST

29. No prior written request for the relief sought herein has been made to this Court or any other court.

CONCLUSION

WHEREFORE, for the reasons set forth herein, HarbourVest respectfully requests that this Court enter an order granting the relief requested in the Motion and temporarily allowing the HarbourVest Claims for voting on the Plan and granting such other and further relief as the Court deems just and proper.

In the event of any conflict, inconsistency or discrepancy between a description in this Disclosure Statement and the terms and provisions of the Plan or any other documents incorporated herein by reference, the Plan or such other documents will govern and control for all purposes. Rather, this Disclosure Statement shall constitute a statement made in settlement negotiations related to potential contested matters, potential adversary proceedings and other pending or threatened litigation or actions.

No reliance should be placed on the fact that a particular litigation claim or projected objection to a particular Claim or Equity Interest is, or is not, identified in the Disclosure Statement. ARTICLE I.
EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

This Disclosure Statement is provided for informational purposes only.

In the opinion of the Debtor, the Plan is preferable to the alternatives described in this Disclosure Statement because it provides for the highest distributions to the Debtor's creditors and interest holders. The Debtor believes that any delay in confirmation of the Plan would result in significant administrative expenses resulting in less value available to the Debtor's constituents. In addition, any alternative other than confirmation of the Plan could result in extensive delays and increased administrative expenses resulting in smaller distributions to Holders of Allowed Claims and Equity Interests than that which is proposed under the Plan. Accordingly, the Debtor recommends that all Holders of Claims and Equity Interests support confirmation of the Plan.

This Executive Summary is being provided to Holders of Allowed Claims and Equity Interests as an overview of the material items addressed in the Disclosure Statement and the Plan, which is qualified by reference to the entire Disclosure Statement and by the actual terms of the Plan (including all exhibits attached hereto and to the Plan and the Plan Supplement), and should not be relied upon for a comprehensive discussion of the Disclosure Statement and/or the Plan. Section 1125 of the Bankruptcy Code requires a debtor to prepare a disclosure statement containing information of a kind, and in sufficient detail, to enable a hypothetical reasonable investor to make an informed judgment regarding acceptance or rejection of the plan of reorganization or liquidation. As such, this Disclosure Statement is being submitted in accordance with the requirements of section 1125 of the Bankruptcy Code. This Disclosure Statement includes, without limitation, information about:

- the Debtor's operating and financial history;
- the significant events that have occurred to date;
- the Confirmation process; and
- the terms and provisions of the Plan, including key aspects of the Claimant Trust and the Reorganized Debtor, certain effects of Confirmation of the Plan, certain risk factors relating to the Plan, and the manner in which distributions will be made under the Plan.

The Debtor believes that any alternative to Confirmation of the Plan would result in significant delays, litigation, and additional costs, and ultimately would diminish the Debtor's value. Accordingly, the Debtor strongly supports confirmation of the Plan.

A. Summary of the Plan

The Plan represents a significant achievement for the Debtor. As discussed herein, the Plan provides that the Claimant Trust will receive the majority of the Debtor's assets, including Causes of Action. The assets being transferred to the Claimant Trust are referred to, collectively, as the Claimant Trust Assets. The Claimant Trust will – for the benefit of the Claimant Trust Beneficiaries – monetize the Claimant Trust Assets, pursue the Causes of Action, and work to conclude the various lawsuits and litigation claims pending against the Estate.

The Plan also provides for the reorganization of the Debtor. This will be accomplished by the cancellation of the Debtor’s current Equity Interests, which consist of partnership interests held by: The Dugaboy Investment Trust;<sup>3</sup> the Hunter Mountain Investment Trust (“Hunter Mountain”); Mark Okada, personally and through family trusts; and Strand, the Debtor’s general partner. On the Effective Date, the Debtor or the Reorganized Debtor, as applicable, will issue new Class A Limited Partnership Interests to (i) the Claimant Trust, as limited partner, and (ii) New GP LLC, as general partner, and will admit (a) the Claimant Trust as the limited partner of the Reorganized Debtor, and (b) New GP LLC as the general partner of the Reorganized Debtor. The Claimant Trust, as limited partner, will ratify New GP LLC’s appointment as general partner of the Reorganized Debtor. The Reorganized Debtor will be managed by the Claimant Trust, as the managing member of New GP LLC.

The Reorganized Debtor will oversee the monetization of the Reorganized Debtor Assets, which consist of, among other Assets, the management of the Managed Funds. The net proceeds from the Reorganized Debtor Assets will ultimately be distributed to the Claimant Trust and available for distribution to the Claimant Trust Beneficiaries.

The following is an overview of certain other material terms of the Plan:

- Allowed Priority Non-Tax Claims will be paid in full;
- Allowed Retained Employee Claims will be Reinstated;
- Allowed Convenience Claims will receive the lesser of (i) 85% of their Allowed Claim or (ii) such Holder’s Pro Rata share of the Convenience Claims Cash Pool (i.e., $13,150,000). Holders of Convenience Claims can elect the treatment provided to General Unsecured Claims by making the GUC Election on their Ballots;
- Allowed General Unsecured Claims and Allowed Subordinated Claims will receive their Pro Rata share of Claimant Trust Interests. The Claimant Trust Interests distributed to Allowed General Unsecured Claims will be senior to those distributed to Allowed Subordinated Claims as set forth in the Claimant Trust Agreement. Holders of General Unsecured Claims that are liquidated as of the Confirmation Date can elect the treatment provided to Convenience Class Election by reducing their Claims to $1,000,000 and making the Convenience Class Election on their Ballots; and
- Allowed Class B/C Limited Partnership Interests and Allowed Class A Limited Partnership Interests will receive their Pro Rata share of the Contingent Claimant Trust Interests.

B. An Overview of the Chapter 11 Process

Chapter 11 is the principal business reorganization chapter of the Bankruptcy Code. Pursuant to chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code, a debtor may remain in possession of its assets and business and attempt to reorganize its business for the benefit of such debtor, its creditors, and other parties in interest. A plan of reorganization sets forth the means for satisfying claims against and interests in a debtor. Confirmation of a plan of reorganization by a bankruptcy court makes the plan binding upon the debtor and any creditor of or interest holder in the debtor, whether or not such creditor or interest holder (i) is impaired under or has accepted the plan or (ii) receives or retains any property under the plan.

The commencement of a Chapter 11 case creates an estate comprised of all of the legal and equitable interests of a debtor in property as of the date that the bankruptcy petition is filed. Sections 1107 and 1108 of the Bankruptcy Code provide that a debtor may continue to operate its business and remain in possession of its property as a “debtor-in-possession,” unless the bankruptcy court orders the appointment of a trustee. The filing of a bankruptcy petition also triggers the automatic stay provisions of section 362 of the Bankruptcy Code which provide, among other things, for an automatic stay of all attempts to collect prepetition claims from a debtor or otherwise interfere with its property or business. Except as otherwise ordered by the bankruptcy court, the automatic stay generally remains in full force and effect until the consummation of a plan of reorganization or liquidation, following confirmation of such plan of reorganization.

The Bankruptcy Code provides that upon commencement of a chapter 11 bankruptcy case, the Office of the United States Trustee may appoint a committee of unsecured creditors and may, in its discretion, appoint additional committees of creditors or of equity interest holders if necessary to assure adequate representation. Please see ARTICLE II for a discussion of the U.S. Trustee and the statutory committees.

Upon the commencement of a chapter 11 bankruptcy case, all creditors and equity interest holders generally have standing to be heard on any issue in the chapter 11 proceedings pursuant to section 1109(b) of the Bankruptcy Code.

The formulation and confirmation of a plan is the principal objective of a chapter 11 case. The plan sets forth the means of satisfying the claims against and equity interests in the debtor.

C. Purpose and Effect of the Plan

1. The Plan of Reorganization

The Debtor is reorganizing pursuant to chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. As a result, the Confirmation of the Plan means that the Debtor’s business will continue to operate following confirmation of the Plan through the Claimant Trust and the Reorganized Debtor to monetize assets for distribution to Holders of Allowed Claims. The Claimant Trust will hold the Claimant Trust Assets and manage the efficient monetization of, the Claimant Trust Assets. The Claimant Trust will also manage the Reorganized Debtor through the Claimant Trust’s ownership of the Reorganized Debtor’s general partner, New GP LLC. The Claimant Trust will also be the sole limited partner in the Reorganized Debtor. The Reorganized Debtor will manage the wind down of the Managed Funds as well as the monetization of the balance of the Reorganized Debtor Assets. The Claimant Trust will also establish a Litigation Sub-Trust in accordance with the Plan, which will also be for the benefit of the Claimant Trust Beneficiaries. The Litigation Sub-Trust will receive the Estate Claims. The Litigation Trustee shall be the exclusive trustee of the Estate Claims included in the Claimant Trust Assets subject to oversight by the Claimant Trust Oversight Committee

A bankruptcy court's confirmation of a plan binds the debtor, any entity acquiring property under the plan, any holder of a claim or an equity interest in a debtor and all other entities as may be ordered by the bankruptcy court in accordance with the applicable provisions of the Bankruptcy Code to the terms and conditions of the confirmed plan, whether or not such Entity voted on the plan or affirmatively voted to reject the plan.

2. Plan Overview

The Plan provides for the classification and treatment of Claims against and Equity Interests in the Debtor. For classification and treatment of Claims and Equity Interests, the Plan designates Classes of Claims and Classes of Equity Interests. These Classes and Plan treatments take into account the differing nature and priority under the Bankruptcy Code of the various Claims and Equity Interests.

The following chart briefly summarizes the classification and treatment of Claims and Equity Interests under the Plan.<sup>4</sup> Amounts listed below are estimated.

In accordance with section 1122 of the Bankruptcy Code, the Plan provides for eight Classes of Claims against and/or Equity Interests in the Debtor.

The projected recoveries set forth in the table below are estimates only and therefore are subject to change. For a complete description of the Debtor's classification and treatment of Claims or Equity Interests, reference should be made to the entire Plan and the risk factors described in ARTICLE IV below. For certain classes of Claims, the actual amount of Allowed Claims could be materially different than the estimated amounts shown in the table below.

<sup>4</sup> This chart is only a summary of the classification and treatment of Claims and Equity Interests under the Plan. References should be made to the entire Disclosure Statement and the Plan for a complete description.

Class	Type of Claim or Interest	Estimated Prepetition Claim Amount [1]	Impaired	Entitled to Vote	Estimated Recovery
1	Jefferies Secured Claim	$0.00	No	No	100%
2	Frontier Secured Claim[2]	$5,209,964	Yes	Yes	100%
3	Other Secured Claims	$551,116	No	No	100%
4	Priority Non-Tax Claim	$16,489	No	No	100%
5	Retained Employee Claim	$0	No	No	100%
6	PTO Claims [3]	$1,181,886	No	No	100%
7	Convenience Claims[4]	$12,064,333	Yes	Yes	85.00%
8	General Unsecured Claims[5]	$180,442,199	Yes	Yes	85.31%
9	Subordinated Claims	Undetermined	Yes	Yes	Undetermined
10	Class B/C Limited Partnership Interests	N/A	Yes	Yes	Undetermined
11	Class A Limited Partnership Interests	N/A	Yes	Yes	Undetermined

[1] Excludes Priority Tax Claims and certain other unclassified amounts totaling approximately $1.1 million owed to Joshua and Jennifer Terry and Acis under a settlement agreement.

[2] Excludes interest accrued postpetition estimated at $318,000, which will be paid on the Effective Date. The Liquidation Analysis/Financial Projections provide for the payment of postpetition interest.

[3] Represents outstanding PTO Claims as of September 30, 2020. PTO Claims are subject to adjustment depending on the amount of actual prepetition PTO Claims outstanding as of the Effective Date. PTO claims are accounted for in the Liquidation Analysis/Financial Projections as an administrative claim and will be paid out in ordinary courses pursuant to applicable state law.

[4] Represents the estimated gross prepetition amount of Convenience Claims with a total payout amount estimated at 85% of $12.06 million, or $10.25 million. This number includes approximately $1.113 million of potential Rejection Claims and assumes that Holders of Allowed General Unsecured Claims that are each less than $2.50 million opt into the Convenience Class.

[5] Assumes no recovery for UBS, the HarbourVest Entities, IFA, Hunter Mountain, and an Allowed Claim of only $3,722,019 for Mr. Daugherty (each as discussed further below). Assumes $1.440 million of potential rejection damage claims. The Liquidation Analysis/Financial Projections assume Highland RCP, LP and Highland RCP Offshore, LP offset their Claim of $4.4 million against amounts owed to the Debtor.

3. Voting on the Plan

Under the Bankruptcy Code, acceptance of a plan by a Class of Claims or Equity Interests is determined by calculating the number and the amount of Claims voting to accept, based on the actual total Allowed Claims or Equity Interests voting on the Plan. Acceptance by a Class of Claims requires more than one-half of the number of total Allowed Claims in the Class to vote in favor of the Plan and at least two-thirds in dollar amount of the total Allowed Claims in the Class to vote in favor of the Plan. Acceptance by a Class of Equity Interests requires at least two-thirds in amount of the total Allowed Equity Interests in the Class to vote in favor of the Plan.

Under the Bankruptcy Code, only Classes of Claims or Equity Interests that are “Impaired” and that are not deemed as a matter of law to have rejected a plan under Section 1126 of the Bankruptcy Code are entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan. Any Class that is “Unimpaired” is not entitled to vote to accept or reject a plan and is conclusively presumed to have accepted the Plan. As set forth in Section 1124 of the Bankruptcy Code, a Class is “Impaired” if the legal, equitable, or contractual rights attaching to the claims or equity interests of that Class are modified or altered.

Pursuant to the Plan, Claims and Equity Interests in Class 2 and Class 7 through Class 11 are Impaired by the Plan, and only the Holders of Claims and Equity Interests in those Classes are entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan. Whether a Holder of a Claim or Equity Interest in Class 2 and Class 7 through Class 11 may vote to accept or reject the Plan will also depend on whether the Holder held such Claim or Equity Interest as of November 23, 2020 (the “Voting Record Date”). The Voting Record Date and all of the Debtor’s solicitation and voting procedures shall apply to all of the Debtor’s Creditors and other parties in interest.

Pursuant to the Plan, Claims in Class 1 and Class 3 through Class 6 are Unimpaired by the Plan, and such Holders are deemed to have accepted the Plan and are therefore not entitled to vote on the Plan.

Pursuant to the Plan, there are no Classes that will not receive or retain any property and no Classes are deemed to reject the Plan.

4. Confirmation of the Plan

(a) Confirmation Generally

“Confirmation” is the technical term for the Bankruptcy Court’s approval of a plan of reorganization or liquidation. The timing, standards and factors considered by the Bankruptcy Court in deciding whether to confirm a plan of reorganization are discussed below.

The confirmation of a plan by the Bankruptcy Court binds the debtor, any issuer of securities under a plan, any person acquiring property under a plan, any creditor or equity interest holder of a debtor, and any other person or entity as may be ordered by the Bankruptcy Court in accordance with the applicable provisions of the Bankruptcy Code. Subject to certain limited exceptions, the order issued by the Bankruptcy Court confirming a plan discharges a debtor from any debt that arose before the confirmation of such plan and provides for the treatment of such debt in accordance with the terms of the confirmed plan.

(b) The Confirmation Hearing

Section 1128(a) of the Bankruptcy Code requires the Bankruptcy Court, after notice, to hold a hearing on Confirmation of the Plan. Section 1128(b) of the Bankruptcy Code provides that any party in interest may object to Confirmation of the Plan.

The Debtor will provide notice of the Confirmation Hearing to all necessary parties. The Confirmation Hearing may be adjourned from time to time without further notice except for an announcement of the adjourned date made at the Confirmation Hearing of any adjournment thereof.

5. Confirming and Effectuating the Plan

It is a condition to the Effective Date of the Plan that the Bankruptcy Court shall have entered the Confirmation Order in form and substance reasonably acceptable to the Debtor and the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors (the "Committee"). Certain other conditions contained in the Plan must be satisfied or waived pursuant to the provisions of the Plan.

6. Rules of Interpretation

The following rules for interpretation and construction shall apply to this Disclosure Statement: (1) capitalized terms used in the Disclosure Statement and not otherwise defined shall have the meaning ascribed to such terms in the Plan; (2) unless otherwise specified, any reference in this Disclosure Statement to a contract, instrument, release, indenture, or other agreement or document shall be a reference to such document in the particular form or substantially on such terms and conditions described; (3) unless otherwise specified, any reference in this Disclosure Statement to an existing document, schedule, or exhibit, whether or not filed, shall mean such document, schedule, or exhibit, as it may have been or may be amended, modified, or supplemented; (4) any reference to an entity as a Holder of a Claim or Equity Interest includes that Entity's successors and assigns; (5) unless otherwise specified, all references in this Disclosure Statement to Sections are references to Sections of this Disclosure Statement; (6) unless otherwise specified, all references in this Disclosure Statement to exhibits are references to exhibits in this Disclosure Statement; (7) unless otherwise set forth in this Disclosure Statement, the rules of construction set forth in section 102 of the Bankruptcy Code shall apply; and (8) any term used in capitalized form in this Disclosure Statement that is not otherwise defined in this Disclosure Statement or the Plan but that is used in the Bankruptcy Code or the Bankruptcy Rules shall have the meaning assigned to such term in the Bankruptcy Code or the Bankruptcy Rules, as applicable.

7. Distribution of Confirmation Hearing Notice and Solicitation Package to Holders of Claims and Equity Interests

As set forth above, Holders of Claims in Class 1 and Class 3 through Class 6 are not entitled to vote on the Plan. As a result, such parties will not receive solicitation packages or ballots but, instead, will receive this a notice of non-voting status, a notice of the Confirmation Hearing, and instructions on how to receive a copy of the Plan and Disclosure Statement.

The Debtor, with the approval of the Bankruptcy Court, has engaged Kurtzman Carson Consultants LLC (the "Voting Agent") to serve as the voting agent to process and tabulate Ballots for each Class entitled to vote on the Plan and to generally oversee the voting process. The following materials shall constitute the solicitation package (the "Solicitation Package"):

- The Bankruptcy Court order approving this Disclosure Statement (the “Disclosure Statement Order”) (excluding exhibits);
- The notice of, among other things, (i) the date, time, and place of the hearing to consider Confirmation of the Plan and related matters and (ii) the deadline for filing objections to Confirmation of the Plan (the “Confirmation Hearing Notice”);
- A single Ballot, to be used in voting to accept or to reject the Plan and applicable instructions with respect thereto (the “Voting Instructions”);
- A pre-addressed, postage pre-paid return envelope; and

The Plan Supplement also includes a schedule of the Causes of Action that will be retained after the Effective Date. The Plan Supplement may be supplemented or amended through and including December 18, 2020. If the Plan Supplement is supplemented, such supplemented documents will be made available on the Debtor’s restructuring website at www.kccllc.net/hcmlp.

If you are the Holder of a Claim or Equity Interest and believe that you are entitled to vote on the Plan, but you did not receive a Ballot or your Ballot is damaged or illegible, or if you have any questions concerning voting procedures, you should contact the Voting Agent by writing to Kurtzman Carson Consultants LLC, via email at HighlandInfo@kccllc.com and reference “Highland Capital Management, L.P.” in the subject line or by telephone at toll free: (877) 573-3984, or international: (310) 751-1829. Any such motion must be filed so that it is heard in sufficient time prior to the Voting Deadline to allow for your vote to be tabulated.

8. Instructions and Procedures for Voting

All votes to accept or reject the Plan must be cast by using the Ballots enclosed with the Solicitation Packages or otherwise provided by the Debtor or the Voting Agent. No votes other than ones using such Ballots will be counted, except to the extent the Bankruptcy Court orders otherwise. The Bankruptcy Court has fixed November 23, 2020, as the Voting Record Date for the determination of the Holders of Claims and Equity Interests who are entitled to (a) receive a copy of this Disclosure Statement and all of the related materials and (b) vote to accept or reject the Plan. The Voting Record Date and all of the Debtor's solicitation and voting procedures shall apply to all of the Debtor's Creditors and other parties in interest.

After carefully reviewing the Plan, this Disclosure Statement, and the detailed instructions accompanying your Ballot, you are asked to indicate your acceptance or rejection of the Plan by voting in favor of or against the Plan on the accompanying Ballot.

The deadline to vote on the Plan is January 5, 2021 at 5:00 p.m. (prevailing Central Time) (the "Voting Deadline"). In order for your vote to be counted, your Ballot must be properly completed in accordance with the Voting Instructions on the Ballot, and received no later than the Voting Deadline at the following address, as applicable:

Only the Holders of Claims and Equity Interests in Class 2 and Class 7 through Class 11 as of the Voting Record Date are entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan, and they may do so by completing the appropriate Ballots and returning them in the envelope provided to the Voting Agent so as to be actually received by the Voting Agent by the Voting Deadline. Each Holder of a Claim and Equity Interest must vote its entire Claim or Equity Interest, as applicable, within a particular Class either to accept or reject the Plan and may not split such votes. If multiple Ballots are received from the same Holder with respect to the same Claim or Equity Interest prior to the Voting Deadline, the last timely received, properly executed Ballot will be deemed to reflect that voter's intent and will supersede and revoke any prior Ballot. The Ballots will clearly indicate the appropriate return address. It is important to follow the specific instructions provided on each Ballot.

ALL BALLOTS ARE ACCOMPANIED BY VOTING INSTRUCTIONS. IT IS IMPORTANT THAT THE HOLDER OF A CLAIM OR EQUITY INTEREST IN THE CLASSES ENTITLED TO VOTE FOLLOW THE SPECIFIC INSTRUCTIONS PROVIDED WITH EACH BALLOT.

The Voting Report will, among other things, describe every Ballot that does not conform to the Voting Instructions or that contains any form of irregularity, including, but not limited to, those Ballots that are late, illegible (in whole or in material part), unidentifiable, lacking signatures, lacking necessary information, or damaged.

THE DEBTOR URGES HOLDERS OF CLAIMS AND EQUITY INTERESTS WHO ARE ENTITLED TO VOTE TO TIMELY RETURN THEIR BALLOTS AND TO VOTE TO ACCEPT THE PLAN BY THE VOTING DEADLINE.

ARTICLE II.
BACKGROUND TO THE CHAPTER 11 CASE AND SUMMARY OF
BANKRUPTCY PROCEEDINGS TO DATE

A. Description and History of the Debtor’s Business

Prior to the Petition Date, the Debtor was a multibillion-dollar global alternative investment manager founded in 1993 by James Dondero and Mark Okada. A pioneer in the leveraged loan market, the firm evolved over twenty-five years, building on its credit expertise and value-based approach to expand into other asset classes.

As of the Petition Date, the Debtor operated a diverse investment platform, serving both institutional and retail investors worldwide. In addition to high-yield credit, the Debtor’s investment capabilities include public equities, real estate, private equity and special situations, structured credit, and sector- and region-specific verticals built around specialized teams. Additionally, the Debtor provided shared services to its affiliated registered investment advisers.

B. The Debtor’s Corporate Structure

The Debtor is headquartered in Dallas, Texas. The Debtor itself is a Delaware limited partnership and one of the principal operating arms of the Debtor’s business. As of the Petition Date, the Debtor employed approximately 76 people, including executive-level management employees, finance and legal staff, investment professionals, and back-office accounting and administrative personnel.

Pursuant to various contractual arrangements, the Debtor, as of the Petition Date, provided money management and advisory services for approximately $2.5 billion of assets under management shared services for approximately $7.5 billion of assets managed by a variety of affiliated and unaffiliated entities, including other affiliated registered investment advisers. None of these affiliates filed for Chapter 11 protection. As of September 30, 2020, the Debtor provided money management and advisory services for approximately $1.641 billion of assets under management and shared services for approximately $7.136 billion of assets managed by a variety of affiliated and unaffiliated entities, including other affiliated registered investment advisers. Further, on the Petition Date, the value of the Debtor’s Assets was approximately $566.5 million. As of September 30, 2020, the total value of Debtor’s Assets totaled approximately $328.3 million.

The drop in the value of the Debtor’s Assets and assets under management was caused, in part, by the COVID-19 global pandemic. Specifically, the decline was the result of, among other things, the drop in value of the Debtor’s assets generally, the loss of value in the Prime Accounts discussed below, the professional and other costs associated with the Chapter 11 Case, and the reserve of approximately $59 million against a loan receivable listed as an asset.

[2] Net of reserve of $59 million.

The Debtor’s organizational chart is attached hereto as Exhibit B. The organizational chart is not all inclusive and certain entities have been excluded for the sake of brevity.

C. Business Overview

The Debtor’s primary means of generating revenue has historically been from fees collected for the management and advisory services provided to funds that it manages, plus fees generated for services provided to its affiliates. For additional liquidity, the Debtor, prior to the Petition Date, would sell liquid securities in the ordinary course held through its prime brokerage account at Jefferies, LLC (“Jefferies”), as described in additional detail below. The Debtor would also, from time to time, sell assets at non-Debtor subsidiaries and distribute those proceeds to the Debtor in the ordinary course of business. During calendar year 2018, the Debtor’s stand-alone annual revenue totaled approximately $50 million. During calendar year 2019, the Debtor’s stand-alone revenue totaled approximately $36.1 million.

D. Prepetition Capital Structure

1. Jefferies Margin Borrowings (Secured)

The Debtor is party to that certain Prime Brokerage Customer Agreement with Jefferies dated May 24, 2013 (the “Brokerage Agreement”). Pursuant to the terms of the Brokerage Agreement and related documents, the Debtor maintains a prime brokerage account with Jefferies (the “Prime Account”). A prime brokerage account is a unique type of brokerage account that allows sophisticated investors to, among other things, borrow both money on margin to purchase securities and common stock to facilitate short positions. A prime brokerage account also serves as a custodial account and holds client securities in the prime broker’s street name.

As of the Petition Date, the Debtor held approximately $57 million of equity in liquid and illiquid securities (the “Securities”) in the Prime Account. Pursuant to the Brokerage Agreement, the Debtor granted a lien in favor of Jefferies in the Securities and all of the proceeds thereof.

However, because of the economic distress caused by the COVID-19 global pandemic, the value of the Securities held in the Prime Account dropped since the Petition Date, and Jefferies has exerted significant pressure on the Debtor to liquidate the Securities to satisfy margin calls. As of September 30, 2020, the equity value of the Securities in the Prime Account was approximately $23.3 million, and the Debtor owed no amounts to Jefferies. The Debtor has been actively selling Securities to cover operating expenses and professional fees.

2. The Frontier Bank Loan (Secured)

The Debtor and Frontier State Bank (“Frontier Bank”) are parties to that certain Loan Agreement dated as of August 17, 2015 (the “Original Frontier Loan Agreement”), pursuant to which Frontier Bank loaned to the Debtor the aggregate principal amount of $9.5 million. On March 29, 2018, the Debtor and Frontier Bank entered into that certain First Amended and Restated Loan Agreement (the “Amended Frontier Loan Agreement”), amending and superseding the Original Frontier Loan Agreement. Pursuant to the Amended Frontier Loan Agreement, Frontier Bank made an additional $1 million loan to the Debtor (together with the borrowings under the Original Frontier Loan Agreement, the “Frontier Loan”). The Frontier Loan matures on August 17, 2021.

Pursuant to that certain Security and Pledge Agreement dated August 17, 2015, between Frontier Bank and the Debtor, as amended by the Amended Frontier Loan Agreement, the Debtor’s obligations under the Frontier Loan are secured by 171,724 shares of voting common stock of MGM Holdings, Inc. (collectively, the “Frontier Collateral”).

The aggregate principal balance of the Frontier Loan was approximately $5.2 million. As of September 30, 2020, the value of the Frontier Collateral was approximately $13.1 million, and approximately $318,000 in postpetition interest had accrued.

3. Other Unsecured Obligations

As discussed below, the Plan provides for four Classes of unsecured claims: (i) PTO Claims, (ii) the Convenience Claims, (iii) the General Unsecured Claims, and (iv) the Subordinated Claims.

The Debtor has various substantial litigation claims asserted against it, which have been classified as General Unsecured Claims. In addition, as of the Petition Date, the Debtor had ordinary course trade debt, unaccrued employee bonus obligations and loan repayment, and contractual commitments to various affiliated and unaffiliated non-Debtor entities for capital calls, contributions, and other potential reimbursement or funding obligations that were potentially in the tens of millions of dollars. The Debtor is still assessing these claims and its liability for such amounts. These Claims have been classified as Convenience Claims and Subordinated Claims.

4. Equity Interests

The Debtor is a Delaware limited partnership. As of the Petition Date, the Debtor had three classes of limited partnership interest (Class A, Class B, and Class C). The Class A interests were held by The Dugaboy Investment Trust, Mark Okada, personally and through family trusts, and Strand, the Debtor's general partner. The Class B and C interests were held by Hunter Mountain.

In the aggregate, the Debtor's limited partnership interests were held: (a) 99.5% by Hunter Mountain; (b) 0.1866% by The Dugaboy Investment Trust, (c) 0.0627% by Mark Okada, personally and through family trusts, and (d) 0.25% by Strand.

E. SEC Filings

The Debtor is an investment adviser registered with the SEC as required by the Investment Advisers Act of 1940. As a registered investment adviser, the Debtor is required to file (at least annually) a Form ADV. The Debtor's current Form ADV is available at <https://adviserinfo.sec.gov/>.

Following the Effective Date, it is anticipated that the Reorganized Debtor will maintain its registration with the SEC as a registered investment adviser.

F. Events Leading Up to the Debtor's Bankruptcy Filings

The Chapter 11 Case was precipitated by the rendering of an Arbitration Award (as that term is defined below) against the Debtor on May 9, 2019, by a panel of the American Arbitration Association (the "Panel"), in favor of the Redeemer Committee of the Highland Crusader Fund (the "Redeemer Committee").

The Debtor was formerly the investment manager for the Highland Crusader Funds (the "Crusader Funds") that were formed between 2000 and 2002. In September and October 2008, as the financial markets in the United States began to fail, the Debtor was flooded with redemption requests from Crusader Funds' investors, as the Crusader Funds' assets lost significant value.

On October 15, 2008, the Debtor placed the Crusader Funds in wind-down, thereby compulsorily redeeming the Crusader Funds' limited partnership interests. The Debtor also declared that it would liquidate the Crusader Funds' remaining assets and distribute the proceeds to investors.

However, disputes concerning the distribution of the assets arose among certain investors. After several years of negotiations, a Joint Plan of Distribution of the Crusader Funds

(the “Crusader Plan”), and the Scheme of Arrangement between Highland Crusader Fund and its Scheme Creditors (the “Crusader Scheme”), were adopted in Bermuda and became effective in August 2011. As part of the Crusader Plan and the Crusader Scheme, the Redeemer Committee was elected from among the Crusader Funds’ investors to oversee the Debtor’s management of the Crusader Funds.

Between October 2011 and January 2013, in accordance with the Crusader Plan and the Crusader Scheme, the Debtor distributed in excess of $1.2 billion to the Crusader Funds’ investors. The Debtor distributed a further $315.3 million through June 2016.

However, disputes subsequently arose between the Redeemer Committee and the Debtor. On July 5, 2016, the Redeemer Committee (a) terminated and replaced the Debtor as investment manager of the Crusader Fund, (b) commenced an arbitration against the Debtor (the “Arbitration”), and (c) commenced litigation in Delaware Chancery Court, to, among other things, obtain a status quo order in aid of the arbitration, which order was subsequently entered.

Following an evidentiary hearing, the Panel issued (a) a Partial Final Award, dated March 6, 2019 (the “March Award”), (b) a Disposition of Application for Modification of Award, dated March 14, 2019 (the “Modification Award”), and (c) a Final Award, dated May 9, 2019 (the “Final Award” and together with the March Award and the Modification Award, the “Arbitration Award”). Pursuant to the Arbitration Award, the Redeemer Committee was awarded gross damages against the Debtor in the aggregate amount of $136,808,302; as of the Petition Date, the total value of the Arbitration Award was $190,824,557, inclusive of interest

Prior to the Petition Date, the Redeemer Committee moved in the Chancery Court to confirm the Arbitration Award. For its part, the Debtor moved to vacate parts of the Final Award contending that certain aspects were procedurally improper. The Redeemer Committee’s motion to confirm the Arbitration Award and the Debtor’s motion to vacate were fully briefed and were scheduled to be heard by the Chancery Court on the day the Debtor filed for bankruptcy

On the Petition Date, the Debtor believed that the aggregate value of its assets exceeded the amount of its liabilities; however, the Debtor filed the Chapter 11 Case because it did not have sufficient liquidity to immediately satisfy the Award or post a supersedeas bond necessary to pursue an appeal.

G. Additional Prepetition Litigation

In addition to the litigation with the Redeemer Committee described above, the Debtor, both directly and through certain subsidiaries, affiliates, and related entities, was party to substantial prepetition litigation. Although the Debtor disputes the allegations raised in this litigation and believes it has substantial defenses, this litigation has resulted in substantial Claims against the Debtor’s Estate, each of which has been classified as a General Unsecured Claim. To the extent that these litigation Claims cannot be resolved consensually, they will be litigated by the Claimant Trustee or Reorganized Debtor, as applicable. The Debtor’s major prepetition litigation is as follows:

- Redeemer Committee: The dispute with the Redeemer Committee is described in ARTICLE II.F above. As discussed in ARTICLE II.R, the Bankruptcy Court entered an order approving a settlement that resolves the Redeemer Committee's claims against the Estate; however, that order is currently subject to appeal.
- Acis Capital Management, L.P., & Acis Capital Management GP, LLC: On January 30, 2018, Joshua Terry filed involuntary bankruptcy petitions against both Acis Capital Management, L.P. ("Acis LP") and its general partner, Acis Capital Management GP, LLC ("Acis GP," and collectively with Acis LP, "Acis") in the Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, Dallas Division, the Honorable Judge Jernigan presiding (the same judge presiding over the Chapter 11 Case), Case No. 18-30264-SGJ (the "Acis Case"). Mr. Terry had been an employee of the Debtor and a limited partner of Acis LP. Mr. Terry was terminated in June 2016, and obtained a multi-million dollar arbitration award against Acis. Overruling various objections, the Bankruptcy Court entered the orders for relief for the Acis debtors in April 2018, and a chapter 11 trustee was appointed. The Debtor filed a proof of claim against Acis and an administrative claim. Acis disputes the Debtor's claim, and the Debtor has not received any distributions on its claim to date. On January 31, 2019, Acis's chapter 11 plan was confirmed, and Mr. Terry become the sole owner of reorganized Acis. Several appeals remain pending, including an appeal of the entry of the Acis orders for relief and the Acis confirmation order.

The Acis trustee commenced a lawsuit against the Debtor, among others, alleging fraudulent conveyance and other causes of action in relation to the Debtor's alleged prepetition effort to control and transfer away Acis's assets to avoid paying Mr. Terry's claim. After the confirmation of the Acis plan, reorganized Acis allegedly supplanted the Acis Trustee as plaintiff and filed an amended complaint against the Debtor and other defendants, which claims comprise Acis's pending proof of claim against the Debtor.

As discussed in ARTICLE II.R, the Bankruptcy Court entered an order approving a settlement that resolves Acis's claims against the Estate; however, that order is currently subject to appeal.

- UBS Securities LLC and UBS AG London Branch: UBS Securities LLC ("UBS Securities") filed a proof of claim in the amount of $1,039,957,799.40 [Claim No. 190] (the "UBS Securities Claim"), and UBS AG, London Branch ("UBS London," and together with UBS Securities, "UBS") filed a substantively identical proof of claim in the amount of $1,039,957,799.40 [Claim No. 191] (the "UBS London Claim" and together with the UBS Securities Claim, the "UBS Claim"). The UBS Claim was based on the amount of a judgment UBS received on a breach of contract claim against funds related to the Debtor that were unable to honor margin calls in 2008. Although the Debtor had no obligation under UBS's contracts with the funds, UBS alleges the Debtor is liable for the judgment because it (i) breached an alleged duty to ensure that the funds could pay UBS, (ii) caused or permitted $233 million in alleged fraudulent transfers to be made by Highland Financial Partners, L.P. (“HFP”) in March 2009, and (iii) is an alter ego of the funds. The Debtor believes there are meritorious defenses to most, if not all, of the UBS Claim for numerous reasons, including: (i) decisions by the New York Appellate Division that limited UBS’s claims to the March 2009 transfers that it alleges were fraudulent; (ii) those decisions should also apply to any alter ego claim (which at this time has not been formally asserted against the Debtor); (iii) UBS settled claims relating to $172 million of the $233 million in alleged fraudulent transfers and the Debtor is covered by the release; and (iv) the March 2009 transfers were in any event part of a wholly legitimate transaction that did not target UBS and for which HFP received fair consideration. Those and several additional defenses are described in the Debtor’s Objection to Proofs of Claim 190 and 191 of UBS Securities LLC and UBS AG, London Branch [D.I. 928].

On October 19, 2020, both the Debtor and the Redeemer Committee filed motions seeking partial summary judgment of the UBS Claim, which, if granted, will significantly decrease the UBS Claim.<sup>5</sup> UBS responded to these motions on November 6, 2020 [D.I. 1341]. On November 20, 2020, the Bankruptcy Court granted partial summary judgment in favor of the Debtor and the Redeemer Committee. It is anticipated that the Bankruptcy Court will enter a formal order within the next couple of weeks.

- Patrick Daugherty: Patrick Daugherty has Filed a Proof of Claim for “at least $37,483,876.62” [Claim Nos. 67; 77] (the “Daugherty Claim”).<sup>6</sup> Mr. Daugherty is a former limited partner and employee of the Debtor. The Daugherty Claim has three components, and Mr. Daugherty asserts claims: (1) for indemnification for any taxes Mr. Daugherty is required to pay as a result of the IRS audit of the Debtor’s 2008-2009 tax return; (2) for defamation arising from a 2017 press release posted by the Debtor; and (3) arising from a pending Delaware lawsuit against the Debtor, which seeks to recover a judgment of $2.6 million in respect of Highland Employee Retention Assets (“HERA”), plus interest, from assets Mr. Daugherty claims were fraudulently transferred to the Debtor. The Daugherty Claim also seeks (a) the value of Mr. Daugherty’s asserted interest in HERA, which he values at approximately $26 million; and (b) indemnification for fees incurred in the Delaware action and in previous litigation in Texas State Court. The Debtor believes that the Daugherty Claim should be allowed in the amount of <sup>6</sup> On October 23, 2020, Mr. Daugherty filed Patrick Hagaman Daugherty’s Motion for Leave to Amend Proof of Claim No. 77 [D.I. 1280] pursuant to which Mr. Daugherty has asked leave to amend the Daugherty Claim to assert damages of $40,710,819.42. On November 17, 2020, the Bankruptcy Court approved Mr. Daugherty’s request to amend the Daugherty Claim from the bench.

$3,722,019; however, the Debtor believes, for various reasons, that the balance of the Daugherty Claim lacks merit. The Debtor's defenses to the Daugherty Claim are described in the Debtor's (i) Objection to Claim No. 77 of Patrick Hagaman Daugherty and (ii) Complaint to Subordinate Claim of Patrick Hagaman Daugherty [D.I. 1008].

H. The Debtor's Bankruptcy Proceeding

On October 16, 2019, the Debtor commenced a voluntary case under chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware (the "Delaware Bankruptcy Court"). On December 4, 2019, the Delaware Bankruptcy Court entered an order transferring venue of the Chapter 11 Case to the Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, Dallas Division (the "Bankruptcy Court").<sup>7</sup> The Debtor continues to operate its business and manage its properties as debtor-in-possession under the jurisdiction of the Bankruptcy Court and in accordance with the applicable provisions of the Bankruptcy Code and orders of the Bankruptcy Court.

An immediate effect of commencement of the Chapter 11 Case was the imposition of the automatic stay under the Bankruptcy Code which, with limited exceptions, enjoins the commencement or continuation of all collection efforts, the enforcement of liens against property of the Debtor, and the continuation of litigation against the Debtor during the pendency of the Chapter 11 Case. The automatic stay will remain in effect, unless modified by the Bankruptcy Court, until the later of the Effective Date and the date indicated in any order providing for the implementation of such stay or injunction.

I. First Day Relief

On or about the Petition Date, the Debtor filed certain "first day" motions and applications (the "First Day Motions") with the Delaware Bankruptcy Court seeking certain immediate relief to aid in the efficient administration of this Chapter 11 Case and to facilitate the Debtor's transition to debtor-in-possession status. A brief description of each of the First Day Motions and the evidence in support thereof is set forth in the Declaration of Frank Waterhouse in Support of First Day Motions [D.I. 11] (the "First Day Declaration"). At a hearing on October 19, 2019, the Delaware Bankruptcy Court granted virtually all of the relief initially requested in the First Day Motions [D.I. 39, 40, 42-44].

The Delaware Bankruptcy Court subsequently entered an order authorizing the Debtor to pay critical vendor claims on a final basis [D.I. 168]. Following the transfer of the Chapter 11 Case to the Bankruptcy Court, the Bankruptcy Court entered an order authorizing the Debtor to continue its cash management system on a final basis [D.I. 379].

The First Day Motions, the First Day Declaration, and all orders for relief granted in this case can be viewed free of charge at <https://www.kccllc.net/hcmlp>.

On October 29, 2019, the Debtor filed the Debtor's Motion Pursuant o Sections 105(a), 330 and 331 of the Bankruptcy Code for Administrative Order Establishing Procedures for Interim Compensation and Reimbursement of Expenses of Professionals [D.I. 72] (the "Interim Compensation Motion"). The Interim Compensation Motion sought to establish procedures for the allowance and payment of compensation and reimbursement of expenses for attorneys and other professionals whose retentions are approved by the Bankruptcy Court pursuant to section 327 or 1103 of the Bankruptcy Code and who will be required to file applications for allowance of compensation and reimbursement of expenses pursuant to section 330 and 331 of the Bankruptcy Code. Following the transfer of the Chapter 11 Case to the Bankruptcy Court, the Delaware U.S. Trustee no longer represented the U.S. Trustee, and the U.S. Trustee for Region 6 appointed Lisa Lambert as the attorney for the U.S. Trustee in connection with this Chapter 11 Case (the "Texas U.S. Trustee," and together with the Delaware U.S. Trustee, the “U.S. Trustee”). The Debtor has worked cooperatively to address concerns and comments from the U.S. Trustee’s office during this Chapter 11 Case.

L. Appointment of Committee

On October 29, 2019, the Delaware U.S. Trustee appointed the Committee in this Chapter 11 Case [D.I. 65]. Meta-E Discovery is a vendor to the Debtor. The other members of the Committee are litigants in prepetition litigation with the Debtor as described in ARTICLE II.G. The Bankruptcy Court approved the retention of Sidley Austin LLP as counsel to the Committee [D.I. 334], Young Conaway Stargatt & Taylor, LLP as Delaware co-counsel to the Committee [D.I. 337], and FTI Consulting, Inc. as financial advisor to the Committee [D.I. 336].

The Texas U.S. Trustee and creditors asked questions of a representative of the Debtor at the January 9 and January 22, 2020 meetings.

N. Schedules, Statements of Financial Affairs, and Claims Bar Date

The Debtor filed its Schedules of Assets and Liabilities and Statements of Financial Affairs (the “Schedules”) on December 19, 2019 [D.I. 247-248]. A creditor whose Claim is set forth in the Schedules and not identified as contingent, unliquidated or disputed may have elected to file a proof of claim against the Debtor.

The Bankruptcy Court established (i) April 8, 2020 as the deadline for Creditors (other than governmental units) to file proofs of claim against the Debtor; (ii) April 13, 2020, as the deadline for any governmental unit (as such term is defined in section 101(27) of the Bankruptcy Code), (iii) April 23, 2020, and as the deadline for any investors in any fund managed by the Debtor to file proofs of claim against the Debtor; and (iv) May 26, 2020 as the deadline for the Debtor’s employees to file proofs of claim against the Debtor pursuant to and accordance with Court’s order entered on April 3, 2020 [D.I. 560].<sup>8</sup> Consequently, the bar date for filing proofs of claims has passed and any claims filed after the applicable bar date will be considered late filed.

O. Governance Settlement with the Committee

On January 9, 2020, the Bankruptcy Court entered the Order Approving Settlement with Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors Regarding Governance of the Debtor and Procedures for Operations in the Ordinary Course [D.I. 339] (the “Settlement Order”).

Among other things, the Settlement Order approved a term sheet (the “Term Sheet”) agreed to by the Debtor and the Committee pursuant to which the Debtor agreed to abide by certain protocols governing the production of documents and certain protocols governing the operation of the Debtor’s business (the “Operating Protocols”). Under the Operating Protocols, the Debtor agreed to seek consent from the Committee prior to entering into certain “Transactions” (as defined in the Operating Protocols. The Operating Protocols were amended on February 21, 2020, with the consent of the Committee [D.I. 466].

Pursuant to the Term Sheet, the Debtor also granted the Committee standing to pursue certain estate claims and causes of action against Mr. Dondero, Mr. Okada, other insiders of the Debtor, and the Related Entities (as defined in the Operating Protocols) (collectively, the “Estate Claims”). To the extent permitted, the Estate Claims and the ability to pursue the Estate Claims are being transferred to either the Claimant Trust or Litigation Sub-Trust pursuant to the Plan.

In connection with the Settlement Order, an independent board of directors was also appointed at Strand, the Debtor’s general partner (the “Independent Board”). The members of the Independent Board are John S. Dubel, James P. Seery, Jr., and Russell Nelms. The Independent Board was tasked with managing the Debtor’s operations during the Chapter 11 Case and facilitating a reorganization or orderly liquidation of the Debtor’s Estate.

P. Appointment of James P. Seery, Jr., as Chief Executive Officer and Chief Restructuring Officer

Following their appointment in January 2020, the Independent Board determined that it would be more efficient for the Debtor to have a traditional corporate management structure, i.e. a fully engaged chief executive officer supervised by the Independent Board. The Independent Board ultimately determined that Mr. Seery – a member of the Independent Board – had the requisite experience and expertise to lead the Debtor. On June 23, 2020, the Debtor filed Debtor’s Motion Under Bankruptcy Code Sections 105(a) and 363(b) for Authorization to Retain James P. Seery, Jr., as Chief Executive Officer, Chief Restructuring Officer and Foreign Representative Nunc Pro Tunc to March 15, 2020 [D.I. 774] (the “Seery Retention Motion”) to retain Mr. Seery as chief executive officer, chief restructuring officer, and foreign representative.

The Bankruptcy Court entered an order approving the Seery Retention Motion on July 16, 2020 [D.I. 854]. Mr. Seery was retained as the Debtor’s chief executive officer and the duties of Bradley Sharp of DSI as the Debtor’s chief restructuring officer and foreign representative were transferred to Mr. Seery.

Q. Mediation

On August 3, 2020, the Bankruptcy Court entered the Order Directing Mediation [D.I. 912] pursuant to which the Bankruptcy Court ordered the Debtor, the Committee, UBS, Acis, the Redeemer Committee, and Mr. Dondero into mediation and appointed Sylvia Mayer and Allan Gropper as the mediators (the “Mediators”). The mediation began on August 27, 2020, and is still open as of the date of this Disclosure Statement

On October 5, 2020, James Dondero filed an objection to the Acis Settlement Motion [D.I. 1121] (the "Dondero Objection"). On October 28, 2020, the Bankruptcy Court entered an order approving the Acis Settlement Motion and overruling the Dondero Objection in its entirety [D.I. 1347]. On November 9, 2020, Mr. Dondero filed a notice of his intent to appeal the order approving the Acis Settlement Motion.

The foregoing is a summary only, and all parties are encouraged to review the Acis Settlement Motion and related documents for additional information on the Settlement Agreement and General Release.

2. Settlement with the Redeemer Committee

The Debtor, Eames, Ltd., the Redeemer Committee, and the Crusader Funds (collectively, the "Settling Parties") executed a settlement (the "Redeemer Stipulation"). The Redeemer Stipulation was also executed, solely with respect to paragraphs 10 through 15 thereof, by Hockney, Ltd., Strand, Highland CDO Opportunity Master Fund, L.P., Highland Credit Strategies Master Fund, L.P., Highland Credit Opportunities CDO, L.P., House Hanover, LLC, and Alvarez & Marsal CRF Management, LLC (collectively, the "Additional Release Parties"). On September 23, 2020, the Debtor filed Debtor's Motion for Entry of an Order Approving Settlements with (A) the Redeemer Committee of the Highland Crusader Funds (Claim No. 72), and (B) the Highland Crusader Funds (Claim No. 81), and Authorizing Actions Consistent Therewith [D.I. 1089] seeking approval of the Redeemer Stipulation (the "Redeemer Settlement Motion").

The Redeemer Stipulation contains the following material terms, among others:

- The proof of claim filed by the Redeemer Committee [Claim No. 72] will be Allowed in the amount of $137,696,610 as a General Unsecured Claim;
- The proof of claim filed by the Crusader Funds [Claim No. 81] will be Allowed in the amount of $50,000 as a General Unsecured Claim;

- The Debtor and the Redeemer Committee agreed to a form of amendment to the shareholders' agreement for Cornerstone Healthcare Group and to a process to monetize Cornerstone Healthcare Group;

- All litigation between the Debtor, Eames, Ltd., and the Additional Highland Release Parties (as defined in the Redeemer Stipulation) on the one hand, and the Redeemer Committee and the Crusader Funds, on the other hand, will cease.

On October 16, 2020, UBS filed an objection to the Redeemer Settlement Motion [D.I. 1190] (the "UBS Objection"). On October 22, 2020, the Bankruptcy Court entered an order approving the Redeemer Settlement Motion and overruling the UBS Objection in its entirety [D.I. 1273]. On November 6, 2020, UBS filed a notice of its intent to appeal the order approving the Redeemer Settlement Motion.

The foregoing is a summary only, and all parties are encouraged to review the Redeemer Settlement Motion and related documents for additional information on the Redeemer Stipulation.

S. Certain Outstanding Material Claims

As discussed above, April 8, 2020, was the general bar date for filing proofs of claim. The Debtor has begun the process of resolving those Claims. Although each Claim represents a potential liability of the Estate, the Debtor believes that, in addition to UBS's Claim, the Claims filed by Integrated Financial Associates, Inc. ("IFA"), the HarbourVest Entities,<sup>9</sup> and Hunter Mountain represent the largest unresolved Claims against the Estate.

- IFA Proof of Claim. IFA filed a proof of claim [Claim No. 93] (the "IFA Claim") seeking damages in the amount of $241,002,696.73 arising from the purported joint control of the Debtor and NexBank, SSB, and the Debtor's management of various lenders to IFA. The Debtor believes that IFA's claim should be disallowed in its entirety. IFA's claim and the Debtor's defenses thereto are described in greater detail in the Objection to Proof of Claim No. 93 of Integrated Financial Associates, Inc. [D.I. 868]. On October 4, 2020, the Bankruptcy Court entered the Order Approving Stipulation Regarding Proof of Claim No. 93 of Integrated Financial Associates, Inc. [D.I. 1126], which capped the IFA Claim, for all purposes, at $8,000,000.
- HarbourVest Entities Proofs of Claim. The HarbourVest Entities are investors in Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. ("HCLOF") and filed proofs of claim against the

Debtor's Estate [Claim No. 143, 147, 149, 150, 153, 154] (the "HarbourVest Claims"). The Debtor included an assertion of "no liability" in respect of the HarbourVest Claims in its Debtor's First Omnibus Objection to Certain (a) Duplicate Claims; (b) Overstated Claims; (c) Late-Filed Claims; (d) Satisfied Claims; (e) No-Liability Claims; and (f) Insufficient Documentation Claims [D.I. 906]. HarbourVest provided a response in its HarbourVest Response to Debtor's First Omnibus Objection to Certain (A) Duplicate Claims; (B) Overstated Claims; (C) Late-Filed Claims; (D) Satisfied Claims; (E) No-Liability Claims; and (F) Insufficient-Documentation Claims [D.I. 1057]. The HarbourVest Entities' response argued that the Debtor's objection should be overruled, and set forth allegations in support of claims under federal and state law and Guernsey law, including claims for fraud, violations of securities laws, breaches of fiduciary duties, and RICO violations. The Debtor intends to vigorously defend the HarbourVest Claims on various grounds, including, among others, the failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted, the lack of reasonable reliance, the lack of misrepresentations, the lack of reasonable reliance, the failure to mitigate damages, the parties' agreements bar or otherwise limit the Debtor's liability, and waiver and estoppel. The HarbourVest Entities invested approximately $80 million in HCLOF but seek an allowed claim in excess of $300 million dollars (after giving effect to treble damages for the alleged RICO violations).

- Hunter Mountain Proof of Claim. Hunter Mountain is one of the Debtor's limited partners. Hunter Mountain filed a proof of claim [Claim No. 152] seeking a $60,298,739 indemnification claim against the Debtor because of the Debtor's alleged failures to make priority distributions to Hunter Mountain under the Debtor's Partnership Agreement. The Debtor believes that it has meritorious defenses to Hunter Mountain's claim. Hunter Mountain's claim and the Debtor's defenses to such claim are described in greater detail in the Debtor's (i) Objection to Claim No. 152 of Hunter Mountain Investment Trust and (ii) Complaint to Subordinate Claim of Hunter Mountain Investment Trust and for Declaratory Relief [D.I. 995]. The Debtor believes that Hunter Mountain's proof of claim should either be disallowed in its entirety or subordinated in its entirety.

In addition to the foregoing, the UBS Claim (in the amount of $1,039,957,799.40) and the Daugherty Claim (in the amount of $40,710,819.42) remain outstanding. As set forth above, partial summary judgment on the UBS Claim was granted in favor of the Debtor and the Redeemer Committee on November 20, 2020, and a formal order is expected to be entered within the next couple of weeks.

The Daugherty Claim has been allowed for voting purposes only in the amount of $9,134,019 [D.I. 1422]. In a bench ruling on November 20, 2020, the Bankruptcy Court allowed UBS Claims for voting purposes only in the amount of $94,761,076 [D.I. 1646].

T. Treatment of Shared Service and Sub-Advisory Agreements

As discussed in the Plan, the Reorganized Debtor will manage the wind down of the Managed Funds. However, it is not anticipated that either the Reorganized Debtor or the Claimant Trust will assume or assume and assign the contracts between the Debtor and certain Related Entities<sup>10</sup> pursuant to which the Debtor provides shared services and sub-advisory services to those Related Entities.

Currently, the Debtor receives approximately $2.2 million per month in revenue from such contracts. However, in order to service those contracts, the Debtor must maintain a full staff and the cost of providing services under such contracts, among other factors, has historically resulted in a net loss to the Debtor. As such, the Debtor does not believe that assuming these contracts would benefit the Estate.

Further, the contracts generally contain anti-assignment provisions which the Debtor believes may be enforceable under 11 U.S.C. § 365(c). These provisions, therefore, would arguably prevent the assignment of such contracts without the consent of the Debtor's contract counterparty. However, even if 11 U.S.C. § 365(c) would not prevent assignment, the contracts are generally terminable at will by either party. As such, assuming and assigning such contracts without the consent of the contract counterparty would be of nominal or no benefit to the Estate. It is doubtful that any assignee would provide consideration to the Debtor for the assignment of such contract as the contract counterparty could simply terminate the contract immediately following assignment. As such, the Debtor does not believe that there is any benefit to the Estate in attempting to assign these contracts.

Notwithstanding the foregoing disclosure, the Debtor is currently assessing whether it is both possible and in the best interests of the Estate to assume and assign such shared services and sub-advisory agreements to a Related Entity.

During the course of this Chapter 11 Case, Mr. Daugherty stated that he would be willing to assume the Debtor's obligations under the shared service and sub-advisory contracts. The Independent Directors reviewed Mr. Daugherty's proposal and for the foregoing reasons, among others, determined that it was not workable and would provide no benefit to the Estate.

U. Portfolio Managements with Issuer Entities

The Debtor is party to certain portfolio management agreements (including any ancillary agreements relating thereto collectively being the "Portfolio Management Agreements" and each a "Portfolio Management Agreement") with ACIS CLO 2017-7 Ltd., Brentwood CLO, Ltd., Gleneagles CLO, Ltd., Greenbriar CLO, Ltd., Highland CLO 2018-1, Ltd., Highland Legacy Limited, Highland Loan Funding V Ltd., Highland Park CDO I, Ltd., Pam Capital Funding LP, PamCo Cayman Ltd., Rockwall CDO II Ltd., Rockwall CDO Ltd., Southfork CLO Ltd., Stratford CLO Ltd., Westchester CLO, Ltd., Aberdeen Loan Funding, Ltd., Bristol Bay Funding Ltd. Eastland CLO, Ltd., Grayson CLO, Ltd., Highland Credit Opportunities CDO Ltd., Jasper CLO, Ltd., Liberty Cayman Holdings, Ltd., Liberty CLO, Ltd., Red River CLO, Ltd., Valhalla CLO, Ltd. (each an "Issuer" and collectively the "Issuers") wherein the Debtor agreed to generally provide certain services to each Issuer in the Debtor's capacity as a portfolio manager in exchange for certain fees as described in the applicable Portfolio Management Agreement.

<sup>10</sup> For the avoidance of doubt, the Debtor does not consider any of the Issuers (as defined herein) to be a Related Entity.

The Issuers filed proofs of claim [Claim No. 165, 168, and 169] asserting claims against the Debtor for damages arising from, relating to or otherwise concerning (i) such Issuer's Portfolio Management Agreement(s) with the Debtor, including, without limitation, failure to perform or other breach of the Portfolio Management Agreement(s), rejection of the Portfolio Management Agreement(s), any cure amount as a result of assumption of the Portfolio Management Agreement(s), any adequate assurance of future performance as a result of assumption of the Portfolio Management Agreement(s), and any failure to provide and pay for indemnification or other obligations under the Portfolio Management Agreement(s); and (ii) the action or inaction of the Debtor to the detriment of such Issuer (collectively, the "Issuer Claims"). The Debtor believes that it has satisfied its obligations to the Issuers; that the Issuer Claims lack merit; and that the Debtor will have no liability with respect to the Issuer Claims. However, such proofs of claim remain outstanding.

The Issuers have taken the position that the rejection of the Portfolio Management Agreements (including any ancillary documents) would result in material rejection damages and have encouraged the Debtor to assume such agreements. Nonetheless, the Issuers and the Debtor are working in good faith to address any outstanding issues regarding such assumption. The Portfolio Management Agreements may be assumed either pursuant to the Plan or by separate motion filed with the Bankruptcy Court.

The Debtor is still assessing its options with respect to the Portfolio Management Agreements, including whether to assume the Portfolio Management Agreements.

V. Resignation of James Dondero

On October 9, 2020, Mr. Dondero resigned as an employee and portfolio manager of the Debtor.

W. Exclusive Periods for Filing a Plan and Soliciting Votes

Under the Bankruptcy Code, a debtor has the exclusive right to file and solicit acceptance of a plan or plans of reorganization for an initial period of 120 days from the date on which the debtor filed for voluntary relief. If a debtor files a plan within this exclusive period, then the debtor has the exclusive right for 180 days from the petition date to solicit acceptances to the plan. During these exclusive periods, no other party in interest may file a competing plan of reorganization; however, a court may extend these periods upon request of a party in interest and "for cause."

The Debtor filed motions to extend the exclusive period, and the Bankruptcy Court entered the following orders granting such applications:

- Order Granting Debtor's Motion for Entry of an Order Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1121(d) and Local Rule 3016-1 Extending the Exclusivity Periods for the Filing and Solicitation of Acceptances of a Chapter 11 Plan [D.I. 460];
- Agreed Order Extending Exclusive Periods by Thirty Days [D.I. 668];

- Order Granting Debtor’s Third Motion for Entry of an Order Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1121(d) and Local Rule 3016-1 Further Extending the Exclusivity Periods for the Filing and Solicitation of Acceptances of a Chapter 11 Plan [D.I. 820]; and
- Order Further Extending the Debtor’s Exclusive Period for Solicitation of Acceptance of a Chapter 11 Plan [D.I. 1092].

Pursuant to the foregoing orders, the Bankruptcy Court extended the exclusivity period through June 12, 2020, for the filing of a plan, which was subsequently extended through July 13, 2020, and again through August 12, 2020. The Bankruptcy Court also extended the exclusivity period for the solicitation of votes to accept such plan through August 11, 2020, which was subsequently extended through September 10, 2020, and again through October 13, 2020, and December 4, 2020.

X. Negotiations with Constituents

The Debtor, Mr. Dondero, and certain of the creditors have been negotiating a consensual reorganization plan for the Debtor that contemplates the Debtor continuing its business largely in its current form. Those negotiations have yet to reach conclusion but are continuing, and the negotiations were part of the previously discussed mediation. There is no certainty that those negotiations will reach a consensual resolution of the Debtor’s bankruptcy case.

Y. Highland Capital Management, L.P. Retirement Plan and Trust

The Highland Capital Management, L.P. Retirement Plan And Trust (“Pension Plan”) is a single-employer defined benefit pension plan covered by Title IV of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended (“ERISA”). 29 U.S.C. §§ 1301-1461.

The Debtor is the contributing sponsor of the Pension Plan. As such, the PBGC asserts that Debtor is liable to contribute to the Pension Plan the amounts necessary to satisfy the minimum funding standards in ERISA and the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (“IRC”). See 29 U.S.C. §§ 1082, 1083; 26 U.S.C. §§ 412, 430. As the sponsor of the Pension Plan, the PBGC asserts Debtor is also liable for insurance premiums owed to PBGC. See 29 U.S.C. §§ 1306, 1307. The PBGC asserts that any members of the contributing sponsor’s controlled-group within the meaning of 29 U.S.C. §§ 1301(a)(13), (14) are also jointly and severally liable with the Debtor for such obligations relating to the Pension Plan.

The Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation (“PBGC”), the federal agency that administers the pension insurance program under Title IV of ERISA, filed contingent proofs of claims against the Debtors for (1) the Pension Plan’s potential underfunded benefit liabilities; (2) the potential unliquidated unpaid minimum funding contributions owed to the Pension Plan; and (3) the potential unliquidated insurance premiums owed to PBGC. The PBGC acknowledges that, as of the date of this Disclosure Statement, there is nothing currently owed by the Debtor to the PBGC.

The Debtor reserves the right to contest any claims filed by the PBGC for any reason.

Upon the Effective Date, the Reorganized Debtor shall be deemed to have assumed the Pension Plan and shall comply with all applicable statutory provisions of ERISA and the Internal Revenue Code (the “IRC”), including, but not limited to, satisfying the minimum funding standards pursuant to 26 U.S.C. §§ 412, 430, and 29 U.S.C. §§ 1082, 1083; paying the PBGC premiums in accordance with 29 U.S.C. §§ 1306 and 1307; and administering the Pension Plan in accordance with its terms and the provisions of ERISA and the IRC. In the event that the Pension Plan terminates after the Plan of Reorganization Effective Date, the PBGC asserts that the Reorganized Debtor and each of its controlled group members will be responsible for the liabilities imposed by Title IV of ERISA.

No provision contained in the Disclosure Statement, the Plan, the Confirmation Order, or the Bankruptcy Code (including section 1141 thereof), shall be construed as discharging, releasing, exculpating, or relieving any person or entity, including the Debtor, the Reorganized Debtor, or any person or entity in any capacity, from any liability or responsibility, if any, with respect to the Pension Plan under any law, government policy, or regulatory provision. PBGC and the Pension Plan shall not be enjoined or precluded from enforcing such liability or responsibility against any person or entity as a result of any of the provisions for satisfaction, release, injunction, exculpation, and discharge of claims in the Plan, Confirmation Order, or the Bankruptcy Code.

ARTICLE III.
SUMMARY OF THE PLAN

THIS ARTICLE III IS INTENDED ONLY TO PROVIDE A SUMMARY OF THE MATERIAL TERMS OF THE PLAN AND IS QUALIFIED BY REFERENCE TO THE ENTIRE DISCLOSURE STATEMENT AND THE PLAN AND SHOULD NOT BE RELIED ON FOR A COMPREHENSIVE DISCUSSION OF THE PLAN. TO THE EXTENT THERE ARE ANY INCONSISTENCIES OR CONFLICTS BETWEEN THIS ARTICLE III AND THE PLAN, THE TERMS AND CONDITIONS SET FORTH IN THE PLAN SHALL CONTROL AND GOVERN.

A. Administrative and Priority Tax Claims

1. Administrative Expense Claims relating thereto without further notice to or order of the Bankruptcy Court. All statutory fees payable under 28 U.S.C. § 1930(a) shall be paid as such fees become due.

If an Administrative Expense Claim (other than a Professional Fee Claim) is not paid by the Debtor in the ordinary course, the Holder of such Administrative Expense Claim must File, on or before the applicable Administrative Expense Claims Bar Date, and serve on the Debtor or Reorganized Debtor, as applicable, and such other Entities who are designated by the Bankruptcy Rules, the Confirmation Order or other order of the Bankruptcy Court, an application for allowance and payment of such Administrative Expense Claim.

Objections to any Administrative Expense Claim (other than a Professional Fee Claim) must be Filed and served on the Debtor or the Reorganized Debtor, as applicable, and the party asserting such Administrative Expense Claim by the Administrative Expense Claims Objection Deadline.

2. Professional Fee Claims

Professionals or other Entities asserting a Professional Fee Claim for services rendered through the Effective Date must submit fee applications under sections 327, 328, 329, 330, 331, 503(b) or 1103 of the Bankruptcy Code and, upon entry of an order of the Bankruptcy Court granting such fee applications, such Professional Fee Claim shall promptly be paid in Cash in full to the extent provided in such order.

On the Effective Date, the Claimant Trustee shall establish the Professional Fee Reserve. The Professional Fee Reserve shall vest in the Claimant Trust and shall be maintained by the Claimant Trustee in accordance with the Plan and Claimant Trust Agreement. The Claimant Trust shall fund the Professional Fee Reserve on the Effective Date in an estimated amount determined by the Debtor in good faith prior to the Confirmation Date and that approximates the total projected amount of unpaid Professional Fee Claims on the Effective Date. Following the payment of all Allowed Professional Fee Claims, any excess funds in the Professional Fee Reserve shall be released to the Claimant Trust to be used for other purposes consistent with the Plan and the Claimant Trust Agreement.

3. Priority Tax Claims

Payment of statutory fees due pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1930(a)(6) will be made at all appropriate times until the entry of a final decree; provided, however, that the Debtor may prepay any or all such Claims at any time, without premium or penalty.

B. Classification and Treatment of Classified Claims and Equity Interests

1. Summary

All Claims and Equity Interests, except Administrative Expense Claims and Priority Tax Claims, are classified in the Classes set forth below. In accordance with section 1123(a)(1) of the Bankruptcy Code, Administrative Expense Claims, and Priority Tax Claims have not been classified.

The categories of Claims and Equity Interests listed below classify Claims and Equity Interests for all purposes including, without limitation, confirmation and distribution pursuant to the Plan and pursuant to sections 1122 and 1123(a)(1) of the Bankruptcy Code. The Plan deems a Claim or Equity Interest to be classified in a particular Class only to the extent that the Claim or Equity Interest qualifies within the description of that Class and will be deemed classified in a different Class to the extent that any remainder of such Claim or Equity Interest qualifies within the description of such different Class. A Claim or Equity Interest is in a particular Class only to the extent that any such Claim or Equity Interest is Allowed in that Class and has not been paid, released or otherwise settled (in each case, by the Debtor or any other Entity) prior to the Effective Date.

F. Means for Implementation of the Plan

1. Summary

The Plan will be implemented through (i) the Claimant Trust, (ii) the Litigation Sub-Trust, and (iii) the Reorganized Debtor.

On the Effective Date, all Class A Limited Partnership Interests, including the Class A Limited Partnership Interests held by Strand, as general partner, and Class B/C Limited Partnerships in the Debtor will be cancelled, and new Class A Limited Partnership Interests in the Reorganized Debtor will be issued to the Claimant Trust and New GP LLC – a newly-chartered limited liability company wholly-owned by the Claimant Trust. The Claimant Trust, as limited partner, will ratify New GP LLC's appointment as general partner of the Reorganized Debtor, and on and following the Effective Date, the Claimant Trust will be the Reorganized Debtor's limited partner and New GP LLC will be its general partner. The Claimant Trust, as limited partner, and New GP LLC, as general partner, will execute the Reorganized Limited Partnership Agreement, which will amend and restate, in all respects, the Debtor's current Limited Partnership Agreement. Following the Effective Date, the Reorganized Debtor will be managed consistent with the terms of the Reorganized Limited Partnership Agreement by New GP LLC. The sole managing member of New GP LLC will be the Claimant Trust, and the Claimant Trustee will be the sole officer of New GP LLC on the Effective Date.

Following the Effective Date, the Claimant Trust will administer the Claimant Trust Assets pursuant to the Plan and the Claimant Trust Agreement, and the Litigation Trustee will pursue, if applicable, the Estate Claims pursuant to the terms of the Litigation Sub-Trust Agreement and the Plan. The Reorganized Debtor will administer the Reorganized Debtor Assets and, if needed, with the utilization of a Sub-Servicer, which administration will include, among other things, managing the wind down of the Managed Funds.

The Debtor believes that the continued provision of the services under such contracts will not be cost effective.

The Reorganized Debtor will distribute all proceeds from the wind down to the Claimant Trust, as its limited partner, and New GP LLC, as its general partner, in each case in accordance with the Reorganized Limited Partnership Agreement. Such proceeds, along with the proceeds of the Claimant Trust Assets, will ultimately be distributed to the Claimant Trust Beneficiaries as set forth in the Plan and the Claimant Trust Agreement.

A. Treatment of Executory Contracts and Unexpired Leases

1. Assumption, Assignment, or Rejection of Executory Contracts and Unexpired Leases

Unless an Executory Contract or Unexpired Lease: (i) was previously assumed or rejected by the Debtor pursuant to a Final Order of the Bankruptcy Court entered prior to the Effective Date; (ii) previously expired or terminated pursuant to its own terms or by agreement of the parties thereto; (iii) is the subject of a motion to assume filed by the Debtor on or before the Confirmation Date; (iv) contains a change of control or similar provision that would be triggered by the Chapter 11 Case (unless such provision has been irrevocably waived); or (v) is specifically designated as a contract or lease to be assumed in the Plan Supplement, on the Effective Date, each Executory Contract and Unexpired Lease shall be deemed rejected pursuant to section 365 of the Bankruptcy Code, without the need for any further notice to or action, order, or approval of the Bankruptcy Court, unless such Executory Contract or Unexpired Lease is listed in the Plan Supplement.

At any time on or prior to the Effective Date, the Debtor may (i) amend the Plan Supplement in order to add or remove a contract or lease from the list of contracts to be assumed or (ii) assign (subject to applicable law) any Executory Contract or Unexpired Lease, as determined by the Debtor in consultation with the Committee, or the Reorganized Debtor, as applicable.

The Confirmation Order will constitute an order of the Bankruptcy Court approving the above-described assumptions, rejections, and assumptions and assignments. Except as otherwise provided herein or agreed to by the Debtor and the applicable counterparty, each assumed Executory Contract or Unexpired Lease shall include all modifications, amendments, supplements, restatements, or other agreements related thereto, and all rights related thereto. Modifications, amendments, supplements, and restatements to prepetition Executory Contracts and Unexpired Leases that have been executed by the Debtor during the Chapter 11 Case shall not be deemed to alter the prepetition nature of the Executory Contract or Unexpired Lease or the validity, priority, or amount of any Claims that may arise in connection therewith. To the extent applicable, no change of control (or similar provision) will be deemed to occur under any such Executory Contract or Unexpired Lease.

If certain, but not all, of a contract counterparty's Executory Contracts and/or Unexpired Leases are rejected pursuant to the Plan, the Confirmation Order shall be a determination that such counterparty's Executory Contracts and/or Unexpired Leases that are being assumed pursuant to the Plan are severable agreements that are not integrated with those Executory Contracts and/or Unexpired Leases that are being rejected pursuant to the Plan. Parties seeking to contest this finding with respect to their Executory Contracts and/or Unexpired Leases must file a timely objection to the Plan on the grounds that their agreements are integrated and not severable, and any such dispute shall be resolved by the Bankruptcy Court at the Confirmation Hearing (to the extent not resolved by the parties prior to the Confirmation Hearing).

Notwithstanding anything herein to the contrary, the Debtor shall assume or reject that certain real property lease with Crescent TC Investors L.P. ("Landlord") for the Debtor's headquarters located at 200/300 Crescent Ct., Suite #700, Dallas, Texas 75201 (the "Lease") in accordance with the notice to Landlord, procedures and timing required by 11 U.S.C. §365(d)(4), as modified by that certain Agreed Order Granting Motion to Extend Time to Assume or Reject Unexpired Nonresidential Real Property Lease [D.I. 1122].

2. Claims Based on Rejection of Executory Contracts or Unexpired Leases

Any Executory Contract or Unexpired Lease not assumed or rejected on or before the Effective Date shall be deemed rejected, pursuant to the Confirmation Order. Any Person asserting a Rejection Claim shall File a proof of claim within thirty days of the Effective Date. Any Rejection Claims that are not timely Filed pursuant to the Plan shall be forever disallowed and barred. If one or more Rejection Claims are timely Filed, the Claimant Trustee may File an objection to any Rejection Claim.

Rejection Claims shall be classified as General Unsecured Claims and shall be treated in accordance with Article III of the Plan.

3. Cure of Defaults for Assumed or Assigned Executory Contracts and Unexpired Leases

Any monetary amounts by which any Executory Contract or Unexpired Lease to be assumed or assigned hereunder is in default shall be satisfied, under section 365(b)(1) of the Bankruptcy Code, by the Debtor upon assumption or assignment thereof, by payment of the default amount in Cash as and when due in the ordinary course or on such other terms as the parties to such Executory Contracts may otherwise agree. The Debtor may serve a notice on the Committee and parties to Executory Contracts or Unexpired Leases to be assumed or assigned reflecting the Debtor's or Reorganized Debtor's intention to assume or assign the Executory Contract or Unexpired Lease in connection with the Plan and setting forth the proposed cure amount (if any).

If a dispute regarding (1) the amount of any payments to cure a default, (2) the ability of the Debtor, the Reorganized Debtor, or any assignee to provide “adequate assurance of future performance” (within the meaning of section 365 of the Bankruptcy Code) under the Executory Contract or Unexpired Lease to be assumed or assigned or (3) any other matter pertaining to assumption or assignment, the cure payments required by section 365(b)(1) of the Bankruptcy Code will be made following the entry of a Final Order or orders resolving the dispute and approving the assumption or assignment.

Assumption or assignment of any Executory Contract or Unexpired Lease pursuant to the Plan or otherwise and full payment of any applicable cure amounts pursuant to Article V.C of the Plan shall result in the full release and satisfaction of any cure amounts, Claims, or defaults, whether monetary or nonmonetary, including defaults of provisions restricting the change in control or ownership interest composition or other bankruptcy-related defaults, arising under any assumed or assigned Executory Contract or Unexpired Lease at any time prior to the effective date of assumption or assignment. Any and all Proofs of Claim based upon Executory Contracts or Unexpired Leases that have been assumed or assigned in the Chapter 11 Case, including pursuant to the Confirmation Order, and for which any cure amounts have been fully paid pursuant to Article V.C of the Plan, shall be deemed disallowed and expunged as of the Effective Date without the need for any objection thereto or any further notice to or action, order, or approval of the Bankruptcy Court.

B. Provisions Governing Distributions

1. Dates of Distributions

Except as otherwise provided in the Plan, on the Effective Date or as soon as reasonably practicable thereafter (or if a Claim is not an Allowed Claim or Equity Interest on the Effective Date, on the date that such Claim or Equity Interest becomes an Allowed Claim or Equity Interest, or as soon as reasonably practicable thereafter), each Holder of an Allowed Claim or Equity Interest against the Debtor shall receive the full amount of the distributions that the Plan provides for Allowed Claims or Allowed Equity Interests in the applicable Class and in the manner provided herein. If any payment or act under the Plan is required to be made or performed on a date that is not on a Business Day, then the making of such payment or the performance of such act may be completed on the next succeeding Business Day, but shall be deemed to have been completed as of the required date. If and to the extent there are Disputed Claims or Equity Interests, distributions on account of any such Disputed Claims or Equity Interests shall be made pursuant to the provisions provided in the Plan. Except as otherwise provided in the Plan, Holders of Claims and Equity Interests shall not be entitled to interest, dividends or accruals on the distributions provided for therein, regardless of whether distributions are delivered on or at any time after the Effective Date.

Upon the Effective Date, all Claims and Equity Interests against the Debtor shall be deemed fixed and adjusted pursuant to the Plan and none of the Debtor, the Reorganized Debtor, or the Claimant Trust will have liability on account of any Claims or Equity Interests except as set forth in the Plan and in the Confirmation Order. All payments and all distributions made by the Distribution Agent under the Plan shall be in full and final satisfaction, settlement and release of all Claims and Equity Interests against the Debtor and the Reorganized Debtor.

At the close of business on the Distribution Record Date, the transfer ledgers for the Claims against the Debtor and the Equity Interests in the Debtor shall be closed, and there shall be no further changes in the record holders of such Claims and Equity Interests. The Debtor, the Reorganized Debtor, the Trustees, and the Distribution Agent, and each of their respective agents, successors, and assigns shall have no obligation to recognize the transfer of any Claims against the Debtor or Equity Interests in the Debtor occurring after the Distribution Record Date and shall be entitled instead to recognize and deal for all purposes hereunder with only those record holders stated on the transfer ledgers as of the close of business on the Distribution Record Date irrespective of the number of distributions to be made under the Plan to such Persons or the date of such distributions.

2. Distribution Agent

Except as provided herein, all distributions under the Plan shall be made by the Claimant Trustee, as Distribution Agent, or by such other Entity designated by the Claimant Trustee, as a Distribution Agent on the Effective Date or thereafter. The Reorganized Debtor will be the Distribution Agent with respect to Claims in Class 1 through Class 7.

The Claimant Trustee, or such other Entity designated by the Claimant Trustee to be the Distribution Agent, shall not be required to give any bond or surety or other security for the performance of such Distribution Agent's duties unless otherwise ordered by the Bankruptcy Court.

The Distribution Agent shall be empowered to (a) effect all actions and execute all agreements, instruments, and other documents necessary to perform its duties under the Plan; (b) make all distributions contemplated hereby; (c) employ professionals to represent it with respect to its responsibilities; and (d) exercise such other powers as may be vested in the Distribution Agent by order of the Bankruptcy Court, pursuant to the Plan, or as deemed by the Distribution Agent to be necessary and proper to implement the provisions of the Plan.

The Distribution Agent shall not have any obligation to make a particular distribution to a specific Holder of an Allowed Claim if such Holder is also the Holder of a Disputed Claim.

3. Cash Distributions

Distributions of Cash may be made by wire transfer from a domestic bank, except that Cash payments made to foreign creditors may be made in such funds and by such means as the Distribution Agent determines are necessary or customary in a particular foreign jurisdiction.

4. Disputed Claims Reserve

On or prior to the Initial Distribution Date, the Claimant Trustee shall establish, fund and maintain the Disputed Claims Reserve(s) in the appropriate Disputed Claims Reserve Amounts on account of any Disputed Claims.

As used above, "Disputed Claims Reserve" means the appropriate reserve(s) or account(s) to be established on the Initial Distribution Date and maintained by the Claimant Trustee for distributions on account of Disputed Claims that may subsequently become an Allowed Claim.

“Disputed Claims Reserve Amount” means, for purposes of determining the Disputed Claims Reserve, the Cash that would have otherwise been distributed to a Holder of a Disputed Claim at the time any distributions of Cash are made to the Holders of Allowed Claims. The amount of the Disputed Claim upon which the Disputed Claims Reserve is calculated shall be: (a) the amount set forth on either the Schedules or the filed Proof of Claim, as applicable; (b) the amount agreed to by the Holder of the Disputed Claim and the Claimant Trustee or Reorganized Debtor, as applicable; (c) the amount ordered by the Bankruptcy Court if it enters an order disallowing, in whole or in part, a Disputed Claim; or (d) as otherwise ordered by the Bankruptcy Court, including an order estimating the Disputed Claim.

HarbourVest and Mr. Daugherty have objected to the mechanisms for calculating the amount of the Disputed Claims Reserve with respect to the HarbourVest Claim and the Daugherty Claim, respectively, and intend to press their objections at the hearing for confirmation of the Plan.

5. Distributions from the Disputed Claims Reserve

The Disputed Claims Reserve shall at all times hold Cash in an amount no less than the Disputed Claims Reserve Amount. To the extent a Disputed Claim becomes an Allowed Claim pursuant to the terms of the Plan, within 30 days of the date on which such Disputed Claim becomes an Allowed Claim pursuant to the terms of the Plan, the Claimant Trustee shall distribute from the Disputed Claims Reserve to the Holder thereof any prior distributions, in Cash, that would have been made to such Allowed Claim if it had been Allowed as of the Effective Date. For the avoidance of doubt, each Holder of a Disputed Claim that subsequently becomes an Allowed Claim will also receive its Pro Rata share of the Claimant Trust Interests. If, upon the resolution of all Disputed Claims any Cash remains in the Disputed Claims Reserve, such Cash shall be transferred to the Claimant Trust and be deemed a Claimant Trust Asset.

6. Rounding of Payments

Whenever the Plan would otherwise call for, with respect to a particular Person, payment of a fraction of a dollar, the actual payment or distribution shall reflect a rounding of such fraction to the nearest whole dollar (up or down), with half dollars being rounded down. To the extent that Cash to be distributed under the Plan remains undistributed as a result of the aforementioned rounding, such Cash or stock shall be treated as “Unclaimed Property” under the Plan.

7. De Minimis Distribution

Except as to any Allowed Claim that is Unimpaired under the Plan, none of the Debtor, the Reorganized Debtor, or the Distribution Agent shall have any obligation to make any Plan Distributions with a value of less than $100, unless a written request therefor is received by the Distribution Agent from the relevant recipient at the addresses set forth in Article VI.I of the Plan within 120 days after the later of the (i) Effective Date and (ii) the date such Claim becomes an Allowed Claim. De minimis distributions for which no such request is timely received shall revert to the Claimant Trust. Upon such reversion, the relevant Allowed Claim (and any Claim on account of missed distributions) shall be automatically deemed satisfied, discharged and forever barred, notwithstanding any federal or state escheat laws to the contrary.

8. Distributions on Account of Allowed Claims

Except as otherwise agreed by the Holder of a particular Claim or as provided in the Plan, all distributions shall be made pursuant to the terms of the Plan and the Confirmation Order. Except as otherwise provided in the Plan, distributions to any Holder of an Allowed Claim shall, to the extent applicable, be allocated first to the principal amount of any such Allowed Claim, as determined for U.S. federal income tax purposes and then, to the extent the consideration exceeds such amount, to the remainder of such Claim comprising accrued but unpaid interest, if any (but solely to the extent that interest is an allowable portion of such Allowed Claim).

9. General Distribution Procedures

The Distribution Agent shall make all distributions of Cash or other property required under the Plan, unless the Plan specifically provides otherwise. All Cash and other property held by the Debtor, the Reorganized Debtor, or the Claimant Trust, as applicable, for ultimate distribution under the Plan shall not be subject to any claim by any Person.

10. Address for Delivery of Distributions

Distributions to Holders of Allowed Claims, to the extent provided for under the Plan, shall be made (1) at the addresses set forth in any written notices of address change delivered to the Debtor and the Distribution Agent; (2) at the address set forth on any Proofs of Claim Filed by such Holders (to the extent such Proofs of Claim are Filed in the Chapter 11 Case), (2), or (3) at the addresses in the Debtor's books and records.

If there is any conflict or discrepancy between the addresses set forth in (1) through (3) in the foregoing sentence, then (i) the address in Section (2) shall control; (ii) if (2) does not apply, the address in (1) shall control, and (iii) if (1) does not apply, the address in (3) shall control.

11. Undeliverable Distributions and Unclaimed Property

If the distribution to the Holder of any Allowed Claim is returned to the Reorganized Debtor or the Claimant Trust as undeliverable, no further distribution shall be made to such Holder, and Distribution Agent shall not have any obligation to make any further distribution to the Holder, unless and until the Distribution Agent is notified in writing of such Holder's then current address.

Any Entity that fails to claim any Cash within six months from the date upon which a distribution is first made to such Entity shall forfeit all rights to any distribution under the Plan and such Cash shall thereafter be deemed an Claimant Trust Asset in all respects and for all purposes. Entities that fail to claim Cash shall forfeit their rights thereto and shall have no claim whatsoever against the Debtor's Estate, the Reorganized Debtor, the Claimant Trust, or against any Holder of an Allowed Claim to whom distributions are made by the Distribution Agent.

12. Withholding Taxes

In connection with the Plan, to the extent applicable, the Distribution Agent shall comply with all tax withholding and reporting requirements imposed on them by any Governmental Unit, and all distributions made pursuant to the Plan shall be subject to such withholding and reporting requirements. The Distribution Agent shall be entitled to deduct any U.S. federal, state or local withholding taxes from any Cash payments made with respect to Allowed Claims, as appropriate. As a condition to receiving any distribution under the Plan, the Distribution Agent may require that the Holder of an Allowed Claim entitled to receive a distribution pursuant to the Plan provide such Holder's taxpayer identification number and such other information and certification as may be deemed necessary for the Distribution Agent to comply with applicable tax reporting and withholding laws. If a Holder fails to comply with such a request within one year, such distribution shall be deemed an unclaimed distribution. Any amounts withheld pursuant hereto shall be deemed to have been distributed to and received by the applicable recipient for all purposes of the Plan.

13. Setoffs

The Distribution Agent may, to the extent permitted under applicable law, set off against any Allowed Claim and any distributions to be made pursuant to the Plan on account of such Allowed Claim, the claims, rights and causes of action of any nature that the Debtor, the Reorganized Debtor, or the Distribution Agent may hold against the Holder of such Allowed Claim that are not otherwise waived, released or compromised in accordance with the Plan; provided, however, that neither such a setoff nor the allowance of any Claim hereunder shall constitute a waiver or release by the Debtor, the Reorganized Debtor, or the Claimant Trustee of any such claims, rights and causes of action that the Debtor, the Reorganized Debtor, or Claimant Trustee possesses against such Holder. Any Holder of an Allowed Claim subject to such setoff reserves the right to challenge any such setoff in the Bankruptcy Court or any other court with jurisdiction with respect to such challenge.

14. Surrender of Cancelled Instruments or Securities

As a condition precedent to receiving any distribution pursuant to the Plan on account of an Allowed Claim evidenced by negotiable instruments, securities, or notes canceled pursuant to Article IV of the Plan, the Holder of such Claim will tender the applicable negotiable instruments, securities, or notes evidencing such Claim (or a sworn affidavit identifying the negotiable instruments, securities, or notes formerly held by such Holder and certifying that they have been lost), to the Distribution Agent unless waived in writing by the Distribution Agent.

15. Lost, Stolen, Mutilated or Destroyed Securities

In addition to any requirements under any applicable agreement and applicable law, any Holder of a Claim or Equity Interest evidenced by a security or note that has been lost, stolen, mutilated, or destroyed will, in lieu of surrendering such security or note to the extent required by the Plan, deliver to the Distribution Agent: (i) evidence reasonably satisfactory to the Distribution Agent of such loss, theft, mutilation, or destruction; and (ii) such security or indemnity as may be required by the Distribution Agent to hold such party harmless from any damages, liabilities, or costs incurred in treating such individual as a Holder of an Allowed Claim or Equity Interest. Upon compliance with Article VI.O of the Plan as determined by the Distribution Agent, by a Holder of a Claim evidenced by a security or note, such Holder will, for all purposes under the Plan, be deemed to have surrendered such security or note to the Distribution Agent.

C. Procedures for Resolving Contingent, Unliquidated and Disputed Claims

1. Filing of Proofs of Claim

Unless such Claim appeared in the Schedules and is not listed as disputed, contingent, or unliquidated, or such Claim has otherwise been Allowed or paid, each Holder of a Claim was required to file a Proof of Claim on or prior to the Bar Date.

2. Disputed Claims

Following the Effective Date, each of the Reorganized Debtor or the Claimant Trustee, as applicable, may File with the Bankruptcy Court an objection to the allowance of any Disputed Claim or Disputed Equity Interest or any other appropriate motion or adversary proceeding with respect thereto, which shall be litigated to Final Order or, at the discretion of the Reorganized Debtor or Claimant Trustee, as applicable, compromised, settled, withdrew or resolved without further order of the Bankruptcy Court, and (ii) unless otherwise provided in the Confirmation Order, the Reorganized Debtor or the Claimant Trust, as applicable, are authorized to settle, or withdraw any objections to, any Disputed Claim or Disputed Equity Interests following the Effective Date without further notice to creditors (other than the Entity holding such Disputed Claim or Disputed Equity Interest) or authorization of the Bankruptcy Court, in which event such Claim or Equity Interest shall be deemed to be an Allowed Claim or Equity Interest in the amount compromised for purposes of the Plan.

3. Procedures Regarding Disputed Claims or Disputed Equity Interests

No payment or other distribution or treatment shall be made on account of a Disputed Claim or Disputed Equity Interest unless and until such Disputed Claim or Disputed Equity Interest becomes an Allowed Claim or Equity Interests and the amount of such Allowed Claim or Equity Interest, as applicable, is determined by order of the Bankruptcy Court or by stipulation between the Reorganized Debtor or Claimant Trust, as applicable, and the Holder of the Claim or Equity Interest.

4. Allowance of Claims and Equity Interests

Following the date on which a Disputed Claim or Disputed Equity Interest becomes an Allowed Claim or Equity Interest after the Distribution Date, the Distribution Agent shall make a distribution to the Holder of such Allowed Claim or Equity Interest in accordance with the Plan.

Allowance of Claims

After the Effective Date and subject to the other provisions of the Plan, the Reorganized Debtor or the Claimant Trust, as applicable, will have and will retain any and all rights and defenses under bankruptcy or nonbankruptcy law that the Debtor had with respect to any Claim. Except as expressly provided in the Plan or in any order entered in the Chapter 11 Case prior to the Effective Date (including, without limitation, the Confirmation Order), no Claim or Equity Interest will become an Allowed Claim or Equity Interest unless and until such Claim or Equity Interest is deemed Allowed under the Plan or the Bankruptcy Code or the Bankruptcy Court has entered an order, including, without limitation, the Confirmation Order, in the Chapter 11 Case allowing such Claim or Equity Interest.

Estimation

Subject to the other provisions of the Plan, the Debtor, prior to the Effective Date, and the Reorganized Debtor or the Claimant Trustee, as applicable, after the Effective Date, may, at any time, request that the Bankruptcy Court estimate (a) any Disputed Claim or Disputed Equity Interest pursuant to applicable law and in accordance with the Plan and (b) any contingent or unliquidated Claim pursuant to applicable law, including, without limitation, section 502(c) of the Bankruptcy Code, and the Bankruptcy Court will retain jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. §§ 157 and 1334 to estimate any Disputed Claim or Disputed Equity Interest, contingent Claim or unliquidated Claim, including during the litigation concerning any objection to any Claim or Equity Interest or during the pendency of any appeal relating to any such objection. All of the aforementioned objection, estimation and resolution procedures are cumulative and not exclusive of one another. Claims or Equity Interests may be estimated and subsequently compromised, settled, withdrawn or resolved by any mechanism approved by the Bankruptcy Court. The rights and objections of all parties are reserved in connection with any such estimation proceeding.

Disallowance of Claims

Any Claims or Equity Interests held by Entities from which property is recoverable under sections 542, 543, 550, or 553 of the Bankruptcy Code, or that are a transferee of a transfer avoidable under sections 522(f), 522(h), 544, 545, 547, 548, 549, or 724(a) of the Bankruptcy Code, shall be deemed disallowed pursuant to section 502(d) of the Bankruptcy Code, and holders of such Claims or Interests may not receive any distributions on account of such Claims or Interests until such time as such Causes of Action against that Entity have been settled or a Bankruptcy Court Order with respect thereto has been entered and all sums due, if any, to the Reorganized Debtor or the Claimant Trust, as applicable, by that Entity have been turned over or paid to the Reorganized Debtor or the Claimant Trust, as applicable.

EXCEPT AS OTHERWISE PROVIDED HEREIN OR AS AGREED TO BY THE DEBTOR, REORGANIZED DEBTOR, OR CLAIMANT TRUSTEE, AS APPLICABLE, ANY AND ALL PROOFS OF CLAIM FILED AFTER THE BAR DATE SHALL BE DEEMED DISALLOWED AND EXPUNGED AS OF THE EFFECTIVE DATE WITHOUT ANY FURTHER NOTICE TO OR ACTION, ORDER, OR APPROVAL OF THE BANKRUPTCY COURT, AND HOLDERS OF SUCH CLAIMS MAY NOT RECEIVE ANY DISTRIBUTIONS ON ACCOUNT OF SUCH CLAIMS, UNLESS SUCH LATE PROOF OF CLAIM HAS BEEN DEEMED TIMELY FILED BY A FINAL ORDER.

D. Effectiveness of the Plan

1. Conditions Precedent to the Effective Date

The Effective Date of the Plan will be conditioned upon the satisfaction or waiver by the Debtor (and, to the extent such condition requires the consent of the Committee, the consent of the Committee with such consent not to be unreasonably withheld), pursuant to the provisions of Article VIII.B of the Plan of the following:

- the Plan and the Plan Documents, including the Claimant Trust Agreement and the Reorganized Limited Partnership Agreement, and all schedules, documents, supplements and exhibits to the Plan shall have been Filed in form and substance reasonably acceptable to the Debtor and the Committee.
- The Confirmation Order shall have been entered, not subject to stay pending appeal, and shall be in form and substance reasonably acceptable to the Debtor and the Committee. The Confirmation Order shall provide that, among other things, (i) the Debtor, the Reorganized Debtor, the Claimant Trustee, or the Litigation Trustee are authorized to take all actions necessary or appropriate to effectuate and consummate the Plan, including, without limitation, (a) entering into, implementing, effectuating, and consummating the contracts, instruments, releases, and other agreements or documents created in connection with or described in the Plan, (b) assuming the Executory Contracts and Unexpired Leases set forth in the Plan Supplement, (c) making all distributions and issuances as required under the Plan; and (d) entering into any transactions as set forth in the Plan Documents; (ii) the provisions of the Confirmation Order and the Plan are nonseverable and mutually dependent; (iii) the implementation of the Plan in accordance with its terms is authorized; (iv) pursuant to section 1146 of the Bankruptcy Code, the delivery of any deed or other instrument or transfer order, in furtherance of, or in connection with the Plan, including any deeds, bills of sale, or assignments executed in connection with any disposition or transfer of Assets contemplated under the Plan, shall not be subject to any Stamp or Similar Tax; and (v) the vesting of the Claimant Trust Assets in the Claimant Trust and the Reorganized Debtor Assets in the Reorganized Debtor, in each case as of the Effective Date free and clear of liens and claims to the fullest extent permissible under applicable law pursuant to section 1141(c) of the Bankruptcy Code except with respect to such Liens, Claims, charges and other encumbrances that are specifically preserved under the Plan upon the Effective Date.
- All documents and agreements necessary to implement the Plan, including without limitation, the Reorganized Limited Partnership Agreement, the Claimant Trust Agreement, and the New GP LLC Documents, in each case in form and substance reasonably acceptable to the Debtor and the Committee, shall have (a) been tendered for delivery, and (b) been effected by, executed by, or otherwise deemed binding upon, all Entities party thereto and shall be in full force and effect. All conditions precedent to such documents and agreements shall have been satisfied or waived pursuant to the terms of such documents or agreements.

- All authorizations, consents, actions, documents, approvals (including any governmental approvals), certificates and agreements necessary to implement the Plan, including, without limitation, the Reorganized Limited Partnership Agreement, the Claimant Trust Agreement, and the New GP LLC Documents, shall have been obtained, effected or executed and delivered to the required parties and, to the extent required, filed with the applicable governmental units in accordance with applicable laws and any applicable waiting periods shall have expired without any action being taken or threatened by any competent authority that would restrain or prevent effectiveness or consummation of the Restructuring.
- The Professional Fee Reserve shall be funded pursuant to the Plan in an amount determined by the Debtor in good faith.

2. Waiver of Conditions

The conditions to effectiveness of the Plan set forth in Article VIII of the Plan (other than that the Confirmation Order shall have been entered) may be waived in whole or in part by the Debtor (and, to the extent such condition requires the consent of the Committee, the consent of the Committee), without notice, leave or order of the Bankruptcy Court or any formal action other than proceeding to confirm or effectuate the Plan. The failure to satisfy or waive a condition to the Effective Date may be asserted by the Debtor regardless of the circumstances giving rise to the failure of such condition to be satisfied. The failure of the Debtor to exercise any of the foregoing rights will not be deemed a waiver of any other rights, and each right will be deemed an ongoing right that may be asserted at any time by the Debtor, the Reorganized Debtor, or the Claimant Trust, as applicable.

3. Effect of Non-Occurrence of Conditions to Effectiveness

Unless waived as set forth in Article VIII.B of the Plan, if the Effective Date of the Plan does not occur within twenty calendar days of entry of the Confirmation Order, the Debtor may withdraw the Plan and, if withdrawn, the Plan shall be of no further force or effect.

4. Dissolution of the Committee

On the Effective Date, the Committee will dissolve, and the members of the Committee and the Committee's Professionals will cease to have any role arising from or relating to the Chapter 11 Case, except in connection with final fee applications of Professionals for services rendered prior to the Effective Date (including the right to object thereto). The Professionals retained by the Committee and the members thereof will not be entitled to assert any fee claims for any services rendered to the Committee or expenses incurred in the service of the Committee after the Effective Date, except for reasonable fees for services rendered, and actual and necessary costs incurred, in connection with any applications for allowance of Professional Fees pending on the Effective Date or filed and served after the Effective Date pursuant to the Plan. Nothing in the Plan shall prohibit or limit the ability of the Debtor's or Committee's Professionals to represent either of the Trustees or to be compensated or reimbursed per the Plan and the Claimant Trust Agreement in connection with such representation.

E. Exculpation, Injunction, and Related Provisions

2. Discharge of Claims

To the fullest extent provided under section 1141(d)(1)(A) and other applicable provisions of the Bankruptcy Code, except as otherwise expressly provided by the Plan or the Confirmation Order, all consideration distributed under the Plan will be in exchange for, and in complete satisfaction, settlement, discharge, and release of, all Claims and Equity Interests of any kind or nature whatsoever against the Debtor or any of its Assets or properties, and regardless of whether any property will have been distributed or retained pursuant to the Plan on account of such Claims or Equity Interests. Except as otherwise expressly provided by the Plan or the Confirmation Order, upon the Effective Date, the Debtor and its Estate will be deemed discharged and released under and to the fullest extent provided under section 1141(d)(1)(A) and other applicable provisions of the Bankruptcy Code from any and all Claims and Equity Interests of any kind or nature whatsoever, including, but not limited to, demands and liabilities that arose before the Confirmation Date, and all debts of the kind specified in section 502(g), 502(h), or 502(i) of the Bankruptcy Code.

3. Exculpation

Subject in all respects to Article XII.D of the Plan, to the maximum extent permitted by applicable law, no Exculpated Party will have or incur, and each Exculpated Party is hereby exculpated from, any claim, obligation, suit, judgment, damage, demand, debt, right, Cause of Action, remedy, loss, and liability for conduct occurring on or after the Petition Date in connection with or arising out of (i) the filing and administration of the Chapter 11 Case; (ii) the negotiation and pursuit of the Disclosure Statement, the Plan, or the solicitation of votes for, or confirmation of, the Plan; (iii) the funding or consummation of the Plan (including the Plan Supplement) or any related agreements, instruments, or other documents, the solicitation of votes on the Plan, the offer, issuance, and Plan Distribution of any securities issued or to be issued pursuant to the Plan, including the Claimant Trust Interests, whether or not such Plan Distributions occur following the Effective Date; (iv) the implementation of the Plan; and (v) any negotiations, transactions, and documentation in connection with the foregoing clauses (i)-(v); provided, however, the foregoing will not apply to (a) any acts or omissions of an Exculpated Party arising out of or related to acts or omissions that constitute bad faith, fraud, gross negligence, criminal misconduct, or willful misconduct or (b) Strand or any Employee other than with respect to actions taken by such Entities from the date of appointment of the Independent Directors through the Effective Date. This exculpation shall be in addition to, and not in limitation of, all other releases, indemnities, exculpations, any other applicable law or rules, or any other provisions of the Plan, including Article IV.C.2 of the Plan, protecting such Exculpated Parties from liability.

4. Releases by the Debtor

On and after the Effective Date, each Released Party is deemed to be, hereby conclusively, absolutely, unconditionally, irrevocably, and forever released and discharged by the Debtor and the Estate, in each case on behalf of themselves and their respective successors, assigns, and representatives, including, but not limited to, the Claimant Trust and the Litigation Sub-Trust from any and all Causes of Action, including any derivative claims, asserted on behalf of the Debtor, whether known or unknown, foreseen or unforeseen, matured or unmatured, existing or hereafter arising, in law, equity, contract, tort or otherwise, that the Debtor or the Estate would have been legally entitled to assert in their own right (whether individually or collectively) or on behalf of the holder of any Claim against, or Interest in, a Debtor or other Person.

Notwithstanding anything contained herein to the contrary, the foregoing release does not release: (i) any obligations of any party under the Plan or any document, instrument, or agreement executed to implement the Plan, (ii) the rights or obligations of any current employee of the Debtor under any employment agreement or plan, (iii) the rights of the Debtor with respect to any confidentiality provisions or covenants restricting competition in favor of the Debtor under any employment agreement with a current or former employee of the Debtor, (iv) any Avoidance Actions, or (v) any Causes of Action arising from willful misconduct, criminal misconduct, actual fraud, or gross negligence of such applicable Released Party as determined by Final Order of the Bankruptcy Court or any other court of competent jurisdiction.

Notwithstanding anything herein to the contrary, any release provided pursuant to Article IX.D of the Plan (i) with respect to a Senior Employee, is conditioned in all respects on (a) such Senior Employee executing a Senior Employee Stipulation on or prior to the Effective Date and (b) the reduction of such Senior Employee's Allowed Claim as set forth in the Senior Employee Stipulation (such amount, the "Reduced Employee Claim"), and (ii) with respect to any Employee, including a Senior Employee, shall be deemed null and void and of no force and effect (1) if there is more than one member of the Claimant Trust Oversight Committee who does not represent entities holding a Disputed or Allowed Claim (the "Independent Members"), the Claimant Trustee and the Independent Members by majority vote determine or (2) if there is only one Independent Member, the Independent Member after discussion with the Claimant Trustee, determines (in each case after discussing with the full Claimant Trust Oversight Committee) that such Employee (regardless of whether the Employee is then currently employed by the Debtor, the Reorganized Debtor, or the Claimant Trustee):

- sues, attempts to sue, or threatens or works with or assists any entity or person to sue, attempt to sue, or threaten the Reorganized Debtor, the Claimant Trust, the Litigation Sub-Trust, or any of their respective employees or agents, or any Released Party on or in connection with any claim or cause of action arising prior to the Effective Date,
- has taken any action that, impairs or harms the value of the Claimant Trust Assets or the Reorganized Debtor Assets, or
- (x) upon the request of the Claimant Trustee, has failed to provide reasonable assistance in good faith to the Claimant Trustee or the Reorganized Debtor with respect to (1) the monetization of the Claimant Trust Assets or Reorganized Debtor Assets, as applicable, or (2) the resolution of Claims, or (y) has taken any action that impedes or frustrates the Claimant Trustee or the Reorganized Debtor with respect to any of the foregoing.

Provided, however, that the release provided pursuant to Article IX.D of the Plan will vest and the Employee will be indefeasibly released pursuant to Article IX.D of the Plan if such Employee's release has not been deemed null and void and of no force and effect on or prior to the date that is the date of dissolution of the Claimant Trust pursuant to the Claimant Trust Agreement.

By executing the Senior Employee Stipulation embodying this release, each Senior Employee acknowledges and agrees, without limitation, to the terms of this release and the tolling agreement contained in the Senior Employee Stipulation.

The provisions of this release and the execution of a Senior Employee Stipulation will not in any way prevent or limit any Employee from (i) prosecuting its Claims, if any, against the Debtor's Estate, (ii) defending him or herself against any claims or causes of action brought against the Employee by a third party, or (iii) assisting other persons in defending themselves from any Estate Claims brought by the Litigation Trustee (but only with respect to Estate Claims brought by the Litigation Trustee and not collection or other actions brought by the Claimant Trustee).

In addition to the obligations set forth in Article IX.D of the Plan, as additional consideration for the foregoing releases, the Senior Employees will waive their rights to certain deferred compensation owed to them by the Debtor. As of the date hereof, the total deferred compensation owed to the Senior Employees was approximately $3.9 million, which will be reduced by approximately $2.2 million to approximately $1.7 million. That reduction is composed of a reduction of (i) approximately $560,000 in the aggregate in order to qualify as Convenience Claims, (ii) approximately $510,000 in the aggregate to reflect the Convenience Claims treatment of 85% (and may be lower depending on the number of Convenience Claims), and (iii) of approximately $1.15 million in the aggregate to reflect an additional reduction of 40%.

As of the date of this Disclosure Statement, the Debtor has not identified any Causes of Action against any Released Parties. However, as set forth above, during the Chapter 11 Case, the Committee was granted sole standing to investigate and pursue the Estate Claims, which may include Causes of Action against certain of the Released Parties. As of the date of this Disclosure Statement, the Committee has not identified any Estate Claims against any Released Parties. The Debtor currently believes that there are no material Estate Claims or other Causes of Action against any Released Party.

5. Preservation of Rights of Action

Maintenance of Causes of Action

Except as otherwise provided in the Plan, after the Effective Date, the Reorganized Debtor or the Claimant Trust will retain all rights to commence, pursue, litigate or settle, as appropriate, any and all Causes of Action included in the Reorganized Debtor Assets or Claimant Trust Assets, as applicable, whether existing as of the Petition Date or thereafter arising, in any court or other tribunal including, without limitation, in an adversary proceeding Filed in the Chapter 11 Case and, as the successors in interest to the Debtor and the Estate, may, and will have the exclusive right to, enforce, sue on, settle, compromise, transfer or assign (or decline to do any of the foregoing) any or all of the Causes of Action without notice to or approval from the Bankruptcy Court.

Preservation of All Causes of Action Not Expressly Settled or Released

Unless a Cause of Action against a Holder of a Claim or an Equity Interest or other Entity is expressly waived, relinquished, released, compromised or settled in the Plan or any Final Order (including, without limitation, the Confirmation Order), such Cause of Action is expressly reserved for later adjudication by the Reorganized Debtor or Claimant Trust, as applicable (including, without limitation, Causes of Action not specifically identified or of which the Debtor may presently be unaware or that may arise or exist by reason of additional facts or circumstances unknown to the Debtor at this time or facts or circumstances that may change or be different from those the Debtor now believes to exist) and, therefore, no preclusion doctrine, including, without limitation, the doctrines of res judicata, collateral estoppel, issue preclusion, claim preclusion, waiver, estoppel (judicial, equitable or otherwise) or laches will apply to such Causes of Action as a consequence of the confirmation, effectiveness, or consummation of the Plan based on the Disclosure Statement, the Plan or the Confirmation Order, except where such Causes of Action have been expressly released in the Plan or any other Final Order (including, without limitation, the Confirmation Order). In addition, the right of the Reorganized Debtor or the Claimant Trust to pursue or adopt any claims alleged in any lawsuit in which the Debtor is a plaintiff, defendant or an interested party, against any Entity, including, without limitation, the plaintiffs or co-defendants in such lawsuits, is expressly reserved.

6. Injunction

Upon entry of the Confirmation Order, all holders of Claims and Equity Interests and other parties in interest, along with their respective Related Persons, shall be enjoined from taking any actions to interfere with the implementation or consummation of the Plan.

Except as expressly provided in the Plan, the Confirmation Order, or a separate order of the Bankruptcy Court, all Entities who have held, hold, or may hold Claims against or Equity Interests in the Debtor (whether proof of such Claims or Equity Interests has been filed or not and whether or not such Entities vote in favor of, against or abstain from voting on the Plan or are presumed to have accepted or deemed to have rejected the Plan) and other parties in interest, along with their respective Related Persons, are permanently enjoined, on and after the Effective Date, with respect to such Claims and Equity Interests, from (i) commencing, conducting, or continuing in any manner, directly or indirectly, any suit, action, or other proceeding of any kind (including any proceeding in a judicial, arbitral, administrative or other forum) against or affecting the Debtor, the Independent Directors, the Reorganized Debtor, or the Claimant Trust or the property of any of the Debtor, the Independent Directors, the Reorganized Debtor, or the Claimant Trust, (ii) enforcing, levying, attaching (including any prejudgment attachment), collecting, or otherwise recovering by any manner or means, whether directly or indirectly, any judgment, award, decree, or order against the Debtor, the Independent Directors, the Reorganized Debtor, or the Claimant Trust or the property of any of the Debtor, the Independent Directors, the Reorganized Debtor, or the Claimant Trust, (iii) creating, perfecting, or otherwise enforcing in any manner, directly or indirectly, any encumbrance of any kind against the Debtor, the Independent Directors, the Reorganized Debtor, or the Claimant Trust or the property of any of the Debtor, the Independent Directors, the Reorganized Debtor, or the Claimant Trust, (iv) asserting any right of setoff, directly or indirectly, against any obligation due from the Debtor, the Independent Directors, the Reorganized Debtor, or the Claimant Trust or against property or interests in property of any of the Debtor, the Independent Directors, the Reorganized Debtor, or the Claimant Trust; and (v) acting or proceeding in any manner, in any place whatsoever, that does not conform to or comply with the provisions of the Plan.

The injunctions set forth herein shall extend to any successors of the Debtor, the Reorganized Debtor, and the Claimant Trust and their respective property and interests in property.

Subject in all respects to Article XII. D of the Plan, no Entity may commence or pursue a claim or cause of action of any kind against any Protected Party that arose from or is related to the Chapter 11 Case, the negotiation of the Plan, the administration of the Plan or property to be distributed under the Plan, the wind down of the business of the Debtor or Reorganized Debtor, the administration of the Claimant Trust, or the transactions in furtherance of the foregoing without the Bankruptcy Court (i) first determining, after notice, that such claim or cause of action represents a colorable claim of bad faith, criminal misconduct, willful misconduct, fraud, or gross negligence against a Protected Party and (ii) specifically authorizing such Entity to bring such claim against any such Protected Party; provided, however, the foregoing will not apply to Strand or any Employee other than with respect to actions taken by such Entities from the date of appointment of the Independent Directors through the Effective Date. As set forth in Article XI of the Plan, the Bankruptcy Court will have sole jurisdiction to adjudicate any such claim for which approval of the Bankruptcy Court to commence or pursue has been granted.

7. Term of Injunctions or Stays

Unless otherwise provided in the Plan, the Confirmation Order, or in a Final Order of the Bankruptcy Court, all injunctions or stays arising under or entered during the Chapter 11 Case under section 105 or 362 of the Bankruptcy Code, or otherwise, and in existence on the Confirmation Date, shall remain in full force and effect until the later of the Effective Date and the date indicated in the order providing for such injunction or stay.

8. Continuance of January 9 Order

Unless otherwise provided in the Plan, the Confirmation Order, or in a Final Order of the Bankruptcy Court, the restrictions set forth in paragraphs 9 and 10 of the Order Approving Settlement with Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors Regarding Governance of the Debtor and Procedures for Operations in the Ordinary Course, entered by the Bankruptcy Court on January 9, 2020 [D.I. 339] shall remain in full force and effect following the Effective Date until the dissolution of each of the Claimant Trust and the Litigation Trust.

F. Article XII.D of the Plan

Article XII.D of the Plan provides that, notwithstanding anything in the Plan to the contrary, nothing in the Plan will affect or otherwise limit or release any non-Debtor Entity's (including any Exculpated Party's) duties or obligations, including any contractual and indemnification obligations, to the Debtor, the Reorganized Debtor, or any other Entity whether arising under contract, statute, or otherwise.

G. Binding Nature of Plan

On the Effective Date, and effective as of the Effective Date, the Plan, including, without limitation, the provisions in Article IX of the Plan, will bind, and will be deemed binding upon, all Holders of Claims against and Equity Interests in the Debtor and such Holder's respective successors and assigns, to the maximum extent permitted by applicable law, notwithstanding whether or not such Holder will receive or retain any property or interest in property under the Plan. All Claims and Debts shall be fixed and adjusted pursuant to the Plan. The Plan shall also bind any taxing authority, recorder of deeds, or similar official for any county, state, Governmental Unit or parish in which any instrument related to the Plan or related to any transaction contemplated thereby is to be recorded with respect to any taxes of the kind specified in Bankruptcy Code section 1146(a)

H. Statutory Requirements for Confirmation of the Plan

At the Confirmation Hearing, the Bankruptcy Court will determine whether the Plan satisfies the requirements of section 1129 of the Bankruptcy Code. The Debtor believes that: (i) the Plan satisfies or will satisfy all of the statutory requirements of chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code; (ii) the Debtor has complied or will have complied with all of the requirements of chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code; and (iii) the Plan has been proposed in good faith. Specifically, the Debtor believes that the Plan satisfies or will satisfy the applicable confirmation requirements of section 1129 of the Bankruptcy Code set forth below.

- The Plan complies with the applicable provisions of the Bankruptcy Code;
- The Debtor has complied and will comply with the applicable provisions of the Bankruptcy Code;
- The Plan has been proposed in good faith and not by any means forbidden by law;
- Any payment made or promised under the Plan for services or for costs and expenses in, or in connection with, the Debtor's bankruptcy case, or in connection with the Plan and incident to the case, has been or will be disclosed to the Bankruptcy Court, and any such payment: (i) made before the confirmation of the Plan is reasonable; or (ii) is subject to the approval of the Bankruptcy Court as reasonable if it is to be fixed after confirmation of the Plan;

- Each Class of Claims or Equity Interests that is entitled to vote on the Plan will have accepted the Plan, or the Plan can be confirmed without the approval of such voting Class pursuant to section 1129(b) of the Bankruptcy Code;
- Except to the extent that the Holder of a particular Claim will agree to a different treatment of its Claim, the Plan provides that Administrative Expense Claims and Priority Claims will be paid in full in Cash on the Effective Date, or as soon thereafter as is reasonably practicable;
- Confirmation of the Plan will not likely be followed by the liquidation or the need for further financial reorganization of the Debtor or any successor thereto under the Plan;
- The Debtor has paid or will pay all fees payable under section 1930 of title 28, and the Plan provides for the payment of all such fees on the Effective Date; and
- The Plan provides for the continuation after the Effective Date of payment of all retiree benefits, if applicable.

1. Best Interests of Creditors Test

Often called the “best interests” test, section 1129(a)(7) of the Bankruptcy Code requires that the bankruptcy court find, as a condition to confirmation of a chapter 11 plan, that each holder of a claim or equity interest in each impaired class: (i) has accepted the plan; or (ii) among other things, will receive or retain under the plan property of a value, as of the effective date of the plan, that is not less than the amount that such Person would receive if the debtor were liquidated under chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code. To make these findings, the Bankruptcy Court must: (a) estimate the net Cash proceeds (the “Liquidation Proceeds”) that a chapter 7 trustee would generate if the Debtor’s Chapter 11 Case were converted to a chapter 7 case on the Effective Date and the assets of such Debtor’s Estate were liquidated; (b) determine the distribution (the “Liquidation Distribution”) that each non-accepting Holder of a Claim or Equity Interest would receive from the Liquidation Proceeds under the priority scheme dictated in chapter 7; and (c) compare each Holder’s Liquidation Distribution to the distribution under the Plan that such Holder would receive if the Plan were confirmed and consummated.

2. Liquidation Analysis

Any liquidation analysis, including the estimation of Liquidation Proceeds and Liquidation Distributions, with respect to the Debtor (the “Liquidation Analysis”) is subject to numerous assumptions and there can be no guarantee that the Liquidation Analysis will be accurate. No order or finding has been entered by the Bankruptcy Court estimating or otherwise fixing the amount of Claims and Equity Interests at the projected amounts of Allowed Claims and Equity Interests set forth in the Liquidation Analysis. In preparing the Liquidation Analysis, the Debtor has projected an amount of Allowed Claims and Equity Interests that represents its best estimate of the chapter 7 liquidation dividend to Holders of Allowed Claims and Equity Interests. The estimate of the amount of Allowed Claims and Equity Interests set forth in the Liquidation Analysis should not be relied on for any other purpose, including, without limitation, any determination of the value of any Plan Distribution to be made on account of Allowed Claims and Equity Interests under the Plan and Disclosure Statement.

The full Liquidation Analysis is attached hereto as Exhibit C.

Furthermore, any chapter 7 trustee appointed in a chapter 7 liquidation would have to confront all of the issues described in this Disclosure Statement, including the prepetition litigation claims. This process would be significantly time-consuming and costly, and reduce any recoveries available to the Debtor's Estate. The Debtor believes that liquidation under chapter 7 would result in (i) smaller distributions being made to creditors than those provided for in the Plan because of the additional administrative expenses involved in the appointment of a trustee and attorneys and other professionals to assist such trustee, (ii) additional expenses and claims, some of which would be entitled to priority, which would be generated during the liquidation and from the rejection of executory contracts in connection with the cessation of the Debtor's operations, and (iii) the failure to realize greater value from all of the Debtor's assets.

Therefore, the Debtor believes that confirmation of the Plan will provide each Holder of a Claim with a greater recovery than such Holder would receive pursuant to the liquidation of the Debtor under chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code.

3. Feasibility

Section 1129(a)(11) of the Bankruptcy Code requires that the bankruptcy court find that confirmation is not likely to be followed by the liquidation, or the need for further financial reorganization of the Debtor, or any successor to the Debtor, unless the plan contemplates such liquidation or reorganization. For purposes of demonstrating that the Plan meets this "feasibility" standard, the Debtor has analyzed the ability of the Claimant Trust and the Reorganized Debtor to meet their obligations under the Plan and to retain sufficient liquidity and capital resources to conduct their business. A copy of the financial projections prepared by the Debtor is attached hereto as Exhibit C.

The Debtor believes that the Plan meets the feasibility requirement set forth in section 1129(a)(11) of the Bankruptcy Code. In connection with the development of the Plan and for the purposes of determining whether the Plan satisfies this feasibility standard, the Debtor analyzed their ability to satisfy their financial obligations while maintaining sufficient liquidity and capital resources. The Debtor believes that its available Cash and any additional proceeds from the Debtor's Assets will be sufficient to allow the Debtor, the Reorganized Debtor, and the Claimant Trust, as applicable, to make all payments required to be made under the Plan. Accordingly, the Debtor believes that the Plan is feasible.

4. Valuation

In order to provide information and full disclosure to parties in interest regarding the Debtor's assets, the Debtor estimates that its value and the total value of its Assets, as of September 30, 2020, was approximately $328.3 million.

5. Acceptance by Impaired Classes

The Bankruptcy Code requires, as a condition to confirmation, that, except as described in the following section, each class of claims or equity interests that is impaired under a plan, accepts the plan. A class that is not "impaired" under a plan is deemed to have accepted the plan and, therefore, solicitation of acceptances with respect to such class is not required. A class is "impaired" unless the plan: (i) leaves unaltered the legal, equitable, and contractual rights to which such claim or interest entitles the holder of such claim or interest; or (ii) notwithstanding any contractual provision or applicable law that entitles the holder of such claim or interest to demand or receive accelerated payment of such claim or interest after the occurrence of a default— (a) cures any such default that occurred before or after the commencement of the Chapter 11 Case, other than a default of a kind specified in section 365(b)(2) of the Bankruptcy Code or of a kind that section 365(b)(2) expressly does not require to be cured; (b) reinstates the maturity of such claim or interest as such maturity existed before such default; (c) compensates the holder of such claim or interest for any damages incurred as a result of any reasonable reliance by such holder on such contractual provision or such applicable law; (d) if such claim or such interest arises from any failure to perform a nonmonetary obligation, other than a default arising from failure to operate a nonresidential real property lease subject to section 365(b)(1)(A), compensates the holder of such claim or such interest (other than the debtor or an insider) for any actual pecuniary loss incurred by such holder as a result of such failure; and (e) does not otherwise alter the legal, equitable, or contractual rights to which such claim or interest entitles the holder of such claim or interest.

Section 1126(c) of the Bankruptcy Code defines acceptance of a plan by a class of impaired claims as acceptance by holders of at least two-thirds in dollar amount and more than one-half in number of claims in that class, but for that purpose counts only those who actually vote to accept or to reject the plan and are not insiders. Section 1126(d) of the Bankruptcy Code defines acceptance of a plan by a class of equity interests as acceptance by holders of at least two-thirds in amount of the allowed interests of such class. Thus, a class of claims will have voted to accept the plan only if two-thirds in amount and a majority in number actually voting cast their ballots in favor of acceptance. Section 1126(d) of the Bankruptcy Code, except as otherwise provided in section 1126(e) of the Bankruptcy Code, defines acceptance of a plan by a class of impaired equity interests as acceptance by holders of at least two-thirds in amount of equity interests in that class actually voting to accept or to reject the plan.

Pursuant to section 1129 of the Bankruptcy Code, the Holders of Claims or Equity Interests in any voting class must accept the Plan for the Plan to be confirmed without application of the "fair and equitable test" to such Class, and without considering whether the Plan "discriminates unfairly" with respect to such Class, as both standards are described herein.

6. Confirmation Without Acceptance by Impaired Classes

Section 1129(b) of the Bankruptcy Code allows a bankruptcy court to confirm a plan even if less than all impaired classes entitled to vote on the plan have accepted it, provided that the plan has been accepted by at least one impaired class of claims. Pursuant to section 1129(b) of the Bankruptcy Code, notwithstanding an impaired Class's rejection or deemed rejection of the Plan, the Plan will be confirmed, at the Debtor's request, in a procedure commonly known as "cram down," so long as the Plan does not "discriminate unfairly" and is "fair and equitable" with respect to each Class of Claims or Equity Interests that is impaired under, and has not accepted, the Plan.

7. No Unfair Discrimination

This test applies to classes of claims or equity interests that are of equal priority and are receiving different treatment under the Plan. The test does not require that the treatment be the same or equivalent, but that such treatment be "fair." In general, bankruptcy courts consider whether a plan discriminates unfairly in its treatment of classes of claims of equal rank (e.g., classes of the same legal character). Bankruptcy courts will take into account a number of factors in determining whether a plan discriminates unfairly and, accordingly, a plan could treat two classes of unsecured creditors differently without unfairly discriminating against either class.

8. Fair and Equitable Test

This test applies to classes of different priority and status (e.g., secured versus unsecured) and includes the general requirement that no class of claims receive more than 100% of the amount of the allowed claims in such class. As to the dissenting class, the test sets different standards depending on the type of claims or equity interests in such class:

The condition that a plan be "fair and equitable" to a non-accepting Class of Secured Claims includes the requirements that: (a) the Holders of such Secured Claims retain the liens securing such Claims to the extent of the Allowed amount of the Claims, whether the property subject to the liens is retained by the debtor or transferred to another entity under the Plan; and (b) each Holder of a Secured Claim in the Class receives deferred Cash payments totaling at least the Allowed amount of such Claim with a present value, as of the Effective Date of the Plan, at least equivalent to the value of the secured claimant's interest in the debtor's property subject to the liens.

The condition that a plan be "fair and equitable" with respect to a non-accepting Class of unsecured Claims includes the requirement that either: (a) the plan provides that each Holder of a Claim of such Class receive or retain on account of such Claim property of a value, as of the Effective Date of the plan, equal to the allowed amount of such Claim; or (b) the Holder of any Claim or Equity Interest that is junior to the Claims of such Class will not receive or retain under the plan on account of such junior Claim or Equity Interest any property.

The condition that a plan be "fair and equitable" to a non accepting Class of Equity Interests includes the requirements that either: (a) the plan provides that each Holder of an Equity Interest in that Class receives or retains under the plan, on account of that Equity Interest, property of a value, as of the Effective Date of the plan, equal to the greater of (i) the allowed amount of any fixed liquidation preference to which such Holder is entitled, (ii) any fixed redemption price to which such Holder is entitled, or (iii) the value of such interest; or (b) if the Class does not receive such an amount as required under (a), no Class of Equity Interests junior to the non-accepting Class may receive a distribution under the plan.

To the extent that any class of Claims or Class of Equity Interests rejects the Plan, the Debtor reserves the right to seek (a) confirmation of the Plan under section 1129(b) of the Bankruptcy Code and/or (b) modify the Plan in accordance with Article XIII.C of the Plan.

The Debtor believes that the Plan and the treatment of all Classes of Claims and Equity Interests under the Plan satisfy the foregoing requirements for non-consensual confirmation of the Plan.

ARTICLE IV. RISK FACTORS

ALL HOLDERS OF CLAIMS AND EQUITY INTERESTS SHOULD READ AND CONSIDER CAREFULLY THE RISK FACTORS SET FORTH HEREIN, AS WELL AS ALL OTHER INFORMATION SET FORTH OR OTHERWISE REFERENCED IN THIS DISCLOSURE STATEMENT. THESE FACTORS SHOULD NOT BE REGARDED AS CONSTITUTING THE ONLY RISKS PRESENT IN CONNECTION WITH THE DEBTOR'S BUSINESS OR THE PLAN AND ITS IMPLEMENTATION.

A. Certain Bankruptcy Law and Other Considerations

1. Parties in Interest May Object to the Debtor's Classification of Claims and Equity Interests, or Designation as Unimpaired.

Section 1122 of the Bankruptcy Code provides that a plan may place a claim or an equity interest in a particular class only if such claim or equity interest is substantially similar to the other claims or equity interests in such class. The Debtor believes that the classification of Claims and Equity Interests under the Plan complies with the requirements set forth in the Bankruptcy Code because the Debtor created Classes of Claims and Equity Interests, each encompassing Claims or Equity Interests, as applicable, that are substantially similar to the other Claims and Equity Interests in each such Class. Nevertheless, there can be no assurance that the Holders of Claims or Equity Interests or the Bankruptcy Court will reach the same conclusion.

There is also a risk that the Holders of Claims or Equity Interests could object to the Debtor's designation of Claims or Equity Interests as Unimpaired, and the Bankruptcy Court could reach the same conclusion.

2. The Debtor May Not Be Able to Secure Confirmation of the Plan.

Section 1129 of the Bankruptcy Code sets forth the requirements for confirmation of a chapter 11 plan and requires, among other things, findings by the bankruptcy court that: (i) such plan "does not unfairly discriminate" and is "fair and equitable" with respect to any non-accepting classes; (ii) confirmation of such plan is not likely to be followed by a liquidation or a need for further financial reorganization unless such liquidation or reorganization is contemplated by the plan; and (c) the value of distributions to Holders of Claims within a particular class under such plan will not be less than the value of distributions such holders would receive if the debtor was liquidated under chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code.

There can be no assurance that the Bankruptcy Court will confirm the Plan. The Bankruptcy Court could decline to confirm the Plan if it found that any of the statutory requirements for confirmation had not been met.

If the Plan is not confirmed by the Bankruptcy Court, there can be no assurance that any alternative plan of reorganization or liquidation would be on terms as favorable to Holders of Claims as the terms of the Plan. In addition, there can be no assurance that the Debtor will be able to successfully develop, prosecute, confirm and consummate an alternative plan that is acceptable to the Bankruptcy Court and the Debtor's creditors.

3. The Conditions Precedent to the Effective Date of the Plan May Not Occur.

As more fully set forth in Article IX of the Plan, the Effective Date of the Plan is subject to a number of conditions precedent. If such conditions precedent are not waived or not met, the Effective Date will not take place.

4. Continued Risk Following Effectiveness.

Even if the Effective Date of the Plan occurs, the Debtor, the Reorganized Debtor, and Claimant Trust will continue to face a number of risks, including certain risks that are beyond its control, such as changes in assets, asset values, and increasing expenses. Some of these concerns and effects typically become more acute when a case under the Bankruptcy Code continues for a protracted period without indication of how or when the case may be completed. As a result of these risks and others, there is no guarantee that a chapter 11 plan of liquidation reflecting the Plan will achieve the Debtor's stated goals.

In addition, at the outset of the Chapter 11 Case, the Bankruptcy Code provides the Debtor with the exclusive right to propose the Plan and prohibits creditors and others from proposing a plan. The Debtor will have retained the exclusive right to propose the Plan upon filing its petition. If the Bankruptcy Court terminates that right, however, or the exclusivity period expires, there could be a material adverse effect on the Debtor's ability to achieve confirmation of the Plan in order to achieve the Debtor's stated goals.

5. The Effective Date May Not Occur.

Although the Debtor believes that the Effective Date may occur quickly after the Confirmation Date, there can be no assurance as to such timing or as to whether the Effective Date will, in fact, occur.

6. The Chapter 11 Case May Be Converted to Cases Under Chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code

If the Bankruptcy Court finds that it would be in the best interest of creditors and/or the debtor in a chapter 11 case, the Bankruptcy Court may convert a chapter 11 bankruptcy case to a case under chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code. In such event, a chapter 7 trustee would be appointed or elected to liquidate the debtor's assets for distribution in accordance with the priorities established by the Bankruptcy Code. The Debtor believes that liquidation under chapter 7 would result in significantly smaller distributions being made to creditors than those provided for in the Plan because of (a) the likelihood that the assets would have to be sold or otherwise disposed of in a disorderly fashion over a short period of time, rather than selling the assets in an orderly and controlled manner, (b) additional administrative expenses involved in the appointment of a chapter 7 trustee, and (c) additional expenses and Claims, some of which would be entitled to priority, that would be generated during the liquidation.

7. Claims Estimation

There can be no assurance that the estimated Claim amounts set forth herein are correct, and the actual amount of Allowed Claims may differ from the estimates. The estimated amounts are subject to certain risks, uncertainties, and assumptions. Should one or more of these risks or uncertainties materialize, or should underlying assumptions prove incorrect, the actual amount of Allowed Claims may vary from those estimated herein.

8. The Financial Information Contained Herein is Based on the Debtor's Books and Records and, Unless Otherwise Stated, No Audit was Performed.

The financial information contained in this Disclosure Statement has not been audited. In preparing this Disclosure Statement, the Debtor relied on financial data derived from their books and records that was available at the time of such preparation. Although the Debtor has used its reasonable business judgment to ensure the accuracy of the financial information provided in this Disclosure Statement and, while the Debtor believes that such financial information fairly reflects its financial condition, the Debtor is unable to warrant or represent that the financial information contained herein and attached hereto is without inaccuracies.

B. Risks Related to Recoveries under the Plan

1. The Reorganized Debtor and/or Claimant Trust May Not Be Able to Achieve the Debtor's Projected Financial Results

The Reorganized Debtor or Claimant Trust, as applicable, may not be able to achieve their projected financial results. The Financial Projections represent the best estimate of the Debtor's future financial performance, which is necessarily based on certain assumptions regarding the anticipated future performance of the Reorganized Debtor or Claimant Trust, as well as the United States and world economies in general, and the investment industry in which the Debtor operates. The Debtor's Financial Projections include key assumptions on (i) target asset monetization values, (ii) timing of asset monetization, and (iii) costs to effectuate the Plan. In terms of achieving target asset monetization values, the Debtor faces issues including investment assets with cross-ownership across related entities and challenges associated with collecting notes due from affiliates. The Debtor's Financial Projections anticipate that all investment assets will be sold by 2022, which may be at risk due to the semi-liquid or illiquid nature of the Debtor's assets, as well as general market conditions, including the sustained impact of COVID-19. Costs are based on estimates and may increase with delays or any other unforeseen factor. If the Reorganized Debtor or Claimant Trust do not achieve their projected financial results, the recovery for Claimant Trust Beneficiaries may be negatively affected and the Claimant Trust may lack sufficient liquidity after the Effective Date.

2. Claim Contingencies Could Affect Creditor Recoveries

The estimated Claims and projected creditor recoveries set forth in this Disclosure Statement are based on various assumptions the actual amount of Allowed Claims may differ from the estimates. Should one or more of the underlying assumptions ultimately prove incorrect, the actual Allowed amounts of Claims may vary materially from the estimated Claims contained in this Disclosure Statement. Moreover, the Debtor cannot determine with any certainty at this time, the number or amount of Claims that will ultimately be Allowed. Such differences may materially and adversely affect, among other things, the percentage recoveries to Holders of Allowed Claims under the Plan.

3. If Approved, the Debtor Release Could Release Claims Against Potential Defendants of Estate Causes of Action With Respect to Which the Claimant Trust Would Otherwise Have Recourse

The Claimant Trust Assets will include, among other things, Causes of Action, including Estate Claims that will be assigned to the Litigation Sub-Trust. The Committee's investigation of potential Estate Claims is still ongoing. Because the Committee has not concluded its investigation as of the date hereof, and such investigation will be transferred to the Litigation Trustee, there is no certainty of whether there are viable Estate Claims against any of the Released Parties. In the event there are viable Estate Claims against any of the Released Parties, such claims cannot be pursued for the ultimate benefit of Claimant Trust Beneficiaries if the Debtor Release is approved.

C. Investment Risk Disclaimer

1. Investment Risks in General.

The Reorganized Debtor is and will remain a registered investment adviser under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, and the Reorganized Debtor will continue advising the Managed Funds. No guarantee or representation is made that the Reorganized Debtor's or the Managed Funds' investment strategy will be successful, and investment results may vary substantially over time.

2. General Economic and Market Conditions and Issuer Risk.

Any investment in securities carries certain market risks. Investments by the Reorganized Debtor, the Managed Funds, or the Claimant Trust may decline in value for any number of reasons over which none of the Managed Funds, the Reorganized Debtor, the Claimant Trust, or the Claimant Trustee may have control, including changes in the overall market and other general economic and market conditions, such as interest rates, availability of credit, inflation rates, economic uncertainty, changes in laws, currency exchange rates and controls and national, international political circumstances (including wars and security operations), and acts of God (including pandemics like COVID-19). The value of the Managed Funds or the assets held by the Reorganized Debtor or Claimant Trust may also decline as a result of factors pertaining to particular securities held by the Managed Funds, Reorganized Debtor, or Claimant Trust, as applicable, such as perception or changes in the issuer's management, the market for the issuer's products or services, sources of supply, technological changes within the issuer's industry, the availability of additional capital and labor, general economic conditions, political conditions, acts of God, and other similar conditions. All of these factors may affect the level and volatility of security prices and the liquidity and the value of the securities held by the Managed Fund, Reorganized Debtor, or Claimant Trust. Unexpected volatility or illiquidity could impair the Managed Funds', Reorganized Debtor's, or Claimant Trust's profitability or result in it suffering losses.

This Disclosure Statement may not be relied upon for any purpose other than as a disclosure of certain information to determine how to vote on the Plan or object to confirmation of the Plan.

5. No Admissions Are Made by This Disclosure Statement.

The information and statements contained in this Disclosure Statement will neither (i) constitute an admission of any fact or liability by any Entity (including, without limitation, the Debtor) nor (ii) be deemed evidence of the tax or other legal effects of the Plan on the Debtor, the Reorganized Debtor, the Claimant Trust, Holders of Allowed Claims or Equity Interests, or any other parties in interest.

6. No Reliance Should Be Placed on Any Failure to Identify Litigation Claims or Projected Objections.

No reliance should be placed on the fact that a particular litigation claim or projected objection to a particular Claim or Equity Interest is, or is not, identified in this Disclosure Statement. The Debtor or the Reorganized Debtor or Claimant Trustee, as applicable, may seek to investigate, file and prosecute litigation rights and claims against any third parties and may object to Claims after the Confirmation Date or Effective Date of the Plan irrespective of whether the Disclosure Statement identifies such litigation claims or objections to Claims or Equity Interests.

7. Nothing Herein Constitutes a Waiver of Any Right to Object to Claims or Equity Interests or Recover Transfers and Assets.

The Debtor, the Reorganized Debtor, the Claimant Trustee, or any party in interest, as the case may be, reserve any and all rights to object to that Holder's Allowed Claim regardless of whether any Claims or Causes of Action of the Debtor or its Estate are specifically or generally identified herein.

8. The Information Used Herein was Provided by the Debtor and was Relied Upon by the Debtor's Advisors.

Further, the information contained in this Disclosure Statement is as of the date of the Disclosure Statement and does not address events that may occur after such date. The Debtor may update this Disclosure Statement but is not required to do so.

10. No Representations Made Outside the Disclosure Statement Are Authorized.

No representations concerning or relating to the Debtor, the Chapter 11 Case, or the Plan are authorized by the Bankruptcy Court or the Bankruptcy Code, other than as set forth in this Disclosure Statement. You should promptly report unauthorized representations or inducements to the counsel to the Debtor and the U.S. Trustee.

ARTICLE V.
ALTERNATIVES TO CONFIRMATION AND EFFECTIVENESS OF THE PLAN

If no chapter 11 plan can be confirmed, the Chapter 11 Case may be converted to a case under chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code in which case, a trustee would be elected or appointed to liquidate the Debtor's assets. If the Plan is not confirmed by the Bankruptcy Court, there can be no assurance that any alternative plan of reorganization or liquidation would be on terms as favorable to Holders of Claims as the terms of the Plan. In addition, there can be no assurance that the Debtor will be able to successfully develop, prosecute, confirm and consummate an alternative plan that is acceptable to the Bankruptcy Court and the Debtor's creditors.

ARTICLE VI.
U.S. FEDERAL INCOME TAX CONSEQUENCES OF THE PLAN

Implementation of the Plan will have federal, state, local or foreign tax consequences to the Debtor and Holders of Equity Interests as well as Holders of Claims. No tax opinion or ruling has been sought or will be obtained with respect to any tax consequences of the Plan, and the following discussion does not constitute and is not intended to constitute either a tax opinion or tax advice to any person.

The following discussion summarizes certain U.S. federal income tax consequences of the Plan to the Debtor and to Holders of Claims. This discussion assumes that each Holder of Claims is for United States federal income tax purposes:

- An individual who is a citizen or resident of the United States for federal income tax purposes;
- a corporation (or other entity treated as a corporation for United States federal income tax purposes) created or organized in or under the laws of the United States, any state thereof or the District of Columbia;
- any other person that is subject to U.S. federal income taxation on a net income basis.
- an estate the income of which is subject to United States federal income tax without regard to its source; or
- a trust (1) that is subject to the primary supervision of a United States court and the control of one or more United States persons or (2) that has a valid election in effect under applicable treasury regulations to be treated as a United States person.

This discussion also assumes that each Holder holds the Claims as capital assets under Section 1221 of the Internal Revenue Code.

The summary provides general information only and does not purport to address all of the federal income tax consequences that may be applicable to the Debtor or to any particular Holder of Claims in light of such Holder's own individual circumstances. In particular, the summary does not address the federal income tax consequences of the Plan to Holders of Claims that may be subject to special rules, such as non-U.S. persons, insurance companies, financial institutions, regulated investment companies, broker-dealers, persons who acquired Claims as part of a straddle, hedge, conversion transaction or other integrated transaction, or persons who acquired Claims in connection with the performance of services; persons who hold Claims through a partnership or other pass-through entity and tax-exempt organizations. The summary does not address foreign, state, local, estate or gift tax consequences of the Plan, nor does it address the federal income tax consequences to Holders of Equity Interests.

This summary is based on the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Internal Revenue Code"), the final, temporary and proposed Treasury regulations promulgated thereunder, judicial decisions and administrative rulings and pronouncements of the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS"), all as in effect on the date hereof and all of which are subject to change (possibly with retroactive effect) by legislation, judicial decision or administrative action. Moreover, due to a lack of definitive authority, substantial uncertainties exist with respect to various tax consequences of the Plan.

THE TAX CONSEQUENCES TO THE HOLDERS OF CLAIMS OR EQUITY INTERESTS MAY VARY BASED UPON THE INDIVIDUAL CIRCUMSTANCES OF EACH HOLDER. MOREOVER, THE TAX CONSEQUENCES OF CERTAIN ASPECTS OF THE PLAN ARE UNCERTAIN DUE TO THE LACK OF APPLICABLE LEGAL PRECEDENT AND THE POSSIBILITY OF CHANGES IN THE APPLICABLE TAX LAW. THERE CAN BE NO ASSURANCE THAT THE IRS WILL NOT CHALLENGE ANY OF THE TAX CONSEQUENCES DESCRIBED HEREIN, OR THAT SUCH A CHALLENGE, IF ASSERTED, WOULD NOT BE SUSTAINED. ACCORDINGLY, EACH HOLDER OF A CLAIM OR EQUITY INTEREST SHOULD CONSULT WITH ITS OWN TAX ADVISOR REGARDING THE FOREIGN, FEDERAL, STATE AND LOCAL TAX CONSEQUENCES OF THE PLAN.

A. Consequences to the Debtor

It is anticipated that the consummation of the Plan will not result in any federal income tax liability to the Debtor. The Debtor is a partnership for federal income tax purposes. Therefore, the income and loss of the Debtor is passed-through to the Holders of its Equity Interests, and the Debtor does not pay federal income tax.

1. Cancellation of Debt

Generally, the discharge of a debt obligation of a debtor for an amount less than the adjusted issue price (in most cases, the amount the debtor received on incurring the obligation, with certain adjustments) creates cancellation of indebtedness ("COD") income that must be included in the debtor's income. Due to the nature of the Impaired Claims, it is anticipated that the Debtor will not recognize any material amount of COD income. If any such COD income is recognized, it will be passed-through to the Holders of its Equity Interests, and the Holders of such Equity Interest generally will be required to include such amounts in income, unless a Holder is entitled to exclude such amounts from income under Section 108 of the Internal Revenue Code, based on the Holder's individual circumstances.

2. Transfer of Assets

Pursuant to the Plan, the Debtor's assets (including the Claimant Trust Assets and Reorganized Debtor Assets) will be transferred directly or indirectly to the Claimant Trust. For federal income tax purposes, any such assets transferred to the Claimant Trust will be deemed to have been transferred to the Claimant Trust Beneficiaries followed by the transfer by such Holders to the Claimant Trust of such assets in exchange for the respective Holders' beneficial interests in the Claimant Trust. The Claimant Trust thereafter will be treated as a grantor trust for federal income tax purposes. See U.S. Federal Income Tax Treatment of the Claimant Trust, below.

The Debtor's transfer of its assets pursuant to the Plan will constitute a taxable disposition of such assets. As discussed above, the Debtor is a partnership for federal income tax purposes. Any gain or loss recognized as a result of the taxable disposition of such assets will be passed through to the Holders of Equity Interests in the Debtor. The Debtor will not be required to pay any tax as a result of such disposition.

B. U.S. Federal Income Tax Treatment of the Claimant Trust

It is intended that the Claimant Trust will be treated as a "grantor trust" for U.S. federal income tax purposes. In general, a grantor trust is not a separate taxable entity. The IRS, in Revenue Procedure 94-45, 1994-2 C.B. 684, set forth the general criteria for obtaining an advanced ruling as to the grantor trust status of a liquidating trust under a chapter 11 plan. Consistent with the requirements of Revenue Procedure 94-45, the Claimant Trust Agreement requires all relevant parties to treat, for U.S. federal income tax purposes, the transfer of the Debtor's assets to the Claimant Trust as (i) a transfer of such assets to the Claimant Trust Beneficiaries (to the extent of the value of their respective interests in the applicable Claimant Trust Assets) followed by (ii) a transfer of such assets by such beneficiaries to the Claimant Trust (to the extent of the value of their respective interests in the applicable Claimant Trust Assets), with the beneficiaries being treated as the grantors and owners of the Claimant Trust.

The Plan and the Claimant Trust Agreement generally provide that the Claimant Trust Beneficiaries must value the assets of the Claimant Trust consistently with the values determined by the Claimant Trustee for all U.S. federal income tax purposes. As soon as possible after the Effective Date, the Claimant Trustee, based upon his good faith determination after consultation with his counsel and other advisors, shall inform the beneficiaries in writing as to his estimate of the value of the assets transferred to the Claimant Trust and the value of such assets allocable to each Class of beneficiaries.

Consistent with the treatment of the Claimant Trust as a grantor trust, the Claimant Trust Agreement will require each beneficiary to report on its U.S. federal income tax return its allocable share of the Claimant Trust's income, gain, loss or deduction that reflects the beneficiary's interest in the interim and final distributions to be made by the Claimant Trust. Furthermore, certain of the assets of the Claimant Trust will be interests in the Reorganized Debtor, which will be a partnership for U.S. federal income tax purposes. The income, gain, loss or deduction of the Reorganized Debtor will also flow through the Claimant Trust to the beneficiaries of the Claimant Trust. Therefore, a beneficiary may incur a federal income tax liability with respect to its allocable share of the income of the Claimant Trust (including the income of the Reorganized Debtor) whether or not the Claimant Trust has made any distributions to such beneficiary. The character of items of income, gain, deduction, and credit to any beneficiary and the ability of such beneficiary to benefit from any deduction or losses will depend on the particular situation of such beneficiary. The interests of the beneficiaries may shift from time to time as the result of the allowance or disallowance of claims that have not been allowed at the Effective Date, which could give rise to tax consequences both to the Holders of claims that have, and have not been, allowed at the Effective Date. The Claimant Trustee will file with the IRS tax returns for the Claimant Trust as a grantor trust pursuant to Treasury Regulation Section 1.671-4(a) and will also send to each beneficiary a separate statement setting forth such beneficiary's share of items of Trust income, gain, loss, deduction, or credit. Each beneficiary will be required to report such items on its U.S. federal income tax return. Holders are urged to consult their tax advisors regarding the appropriate federal income tax treatment of distributions from the Claimant Trust.

The discussion above assumes that the Claimant Trust will be respected as a grantor trust for U.S. federal income tax purposes. If the IRS were to challenge successfully such classification, the U.S. federal income tax consequences to the Claimant Trust and the beneficiaries could differ materially from those discussed herein (including the potential for an entity level tax to be imposed on all income of the Claimant Trust).

C. Consequences to Holders of Allowed Claims

1. Recognized Gain or Loss

In general, each Holder of an Allowed Claim will recognize gain or loss in an amount equal to the difference between (i) the "amount realized" by such Holder in satisfaction of its Claim (other than any Claim for accrued but unpaid interest) and (ii) such holder's adjusted tax basis in such Claim (other than any Claim for accrued but unpaid interest). In general, the "amount realized" by a Holder will equal the sum of any cash and the aggregate fair market value of any property received by such Holder pursuant to the Plan (for example, such Holder's undivided beneficial interest in the assets of the Claimant Trust). A Holder that receives or is deemed to receive for U.S. federal income tax purposes a non-cash asset under the Plan in respect of its Claim should generally have a tax basis in such asset in an amount equal to the fair market value of such asset on the date of its receipt or deemed receipt. See U.S. Federal Income Tax Treatment of the Claimant Trust, above for more information regarding the tax treatment of the Claimant Trust Interests.

Where gain or loss is recognized by a Holder, the character of such gain or loss as long-term or short-term capital gain or loss or as ordinary income or loss will be determined by a number of factors, including the tax status of the Holder, whether the claim constitutes a capital asset in the hands of the Holder and how long it has been held, whether the claim was acquired at a market discount, and whether and to what extent the Holder had previously claimed a bad debt deduction.

A Holder who, under the Plan, receives in respect of an Allowed Claim an amount less than the Holder's tax basis in the Allowed Claim may be entitled to a deduction for U.S. federal income tax purposes. The rules governing the character, timing and amount of such a deduction place considerable emphasis on the facts and circumstances of the Holder, the obligor and the instrument with respect to which a deduction is claimed. Holders of Allowed Claims, therefore, are urged to consult their tax advisors with respect to their ability to take such a deduction.

2. Distribution in Discharge of Accrued Unpaid Interest

Pursuant to the Plan, a distribution received in respect of Allowed Claims will be allocated first to the principal amount of such Claims, with any excess allocated to unpaid accrued interest. However, there is no assurance that the IRS would respect such allocation for federal income tax purposes. In general, to the extent that an amount received (whether cash or other property) by a Holder of a claim is received in satisfaction of interest that accrued during its holding period, such amount will be taxable to the Holder as interest income if not previously included in the Holder's gross income. Conversely, a Holder generally recognizes a deductible loss to the extent that it does not receive payment of interest that has previously been included in its income. Holders of Claims are urged to consult their tax advisors regarding the allocation of consideration and the deductibility of unpaid interest for tax purposes.

3. Information Reporting and Withholding

All distributions to Holders of Allowed Claims under the Plan are subject to any applicable withholding tax requirements. Under federal income tax law, interest, dividends, and other reportable payments, may, under certain circumstances, be subject to "backup withholding" (currently at a rate of up to 24%). Backup withholding generally applies if the Holder (a) fails to furnish its social security number or other taxpayer identification number ("TIN"), (b) furnishes an incorrect TIN, (c) fails properly to report interest or dividends, or (d) under certain circumstances, fails to provide a certified statement, signed under penalty of perjury, that the TIN provided is its correct number and that it is not subject to backup withholding. Backup withholding is not an additional tax but merely an advance payment, which may be refunded to the extent it results in an overpayment of tax. Certain persons are exempt from backup withholding, including, in certain circumstances, corporations and financial institutions.

D. Treatment of the Disputed Claims Reserve

Pursuant to the Plan, the Claimant Trustee may file an election pursuant to Treasury Regulation 1.468B-9(c) to treat the Disputed Claims Reserve as a disputed ownership fund, in which case the Claimant Trustee will file federal income tax returns and pay taxes for the Disputed Claims Reserve as a separate taxable entity. Such taxes will be paid out of the Disputed Claims Reserve and therefore may reduce amounts paid to Holders of Allowed Claims from the Claimant Trust. If the Claimant Trustee does not make such an election to treat the Disputed Claims Reserve as a separate taxable entity, the net income, if any, earned in the Disputed Claims Reserve will be taxable to the Holders of Allowed Claims in accordance with the principles discussed above under the heading “U.S. Federal Income Tax Treatment of the Claimant Trust”, possibly in advance of any distributions to the Holders.

AS INDICATED ABOVE, THE FOREGOING IS INTENDED TO BE A SUMMARY ONLY AND NOT A SUBSTITUTE FOR CAREFUL TAX PLANNING WITH A TAX PROFESSIONAL. THE TAX CONSEQUENCES OF THE PLAN ARE COMPLEX AND, IN SOME CASES, UNCERTAIN. ACCORDINGLY, EACH HOLDER OF A CLAIM OR EQUITY INTEREST IS STRONGLY URGED TO CONSULT WITH HIS OWN TAX ADVISOR REGARDING THE TAX CONSEQUENCES OF THE PLAN.

ARTICLE VII.
RECOMMENDATION

In the opinion of the Debtor, the Plan is preferable to the alternatives described in this Disclosure Statement because it provides for the highest distribution to the Debtor’s creditors and interest holders. In addition, any alternative other than confirmation of the Plan could result in extensive delays and increased administrative expenses resulting in smaller distributions to Holders of Allowed Claims and Equity Interests than that which is proposed under the Plan. Accordingly, the Debtor recommends that all Holders of Claims and Equity Interests support confirmation of the Plan.

ARTICLE IV.

MEANS FOR IMPLEMENTATION OF THIS PLAN

A. Summary

As discussed in the Disclosure Statement, the Plan will be implemented through (i) the Claimant Trust, (ii) the Litigation Sub-Trust, and (iii) the Reorganized Debtor.

On the Effective Date, all Class A Limited Partnership Interests, including the Class A Limited Partnership Interests held by Strand, as general partner, and Class B/C Limited Partnerships in the Debtor will be cancelled, and new Class A Limited Partnership Interests in the Reorganized Debtor will be issued to the Claimant Trust and New GP LLC – a newly-chartered limited liability company wholly-owned by the Claimant Trust. The Claimant Trust, as limited partner, will ratify New GP LLC’s appointment as general partner of the Reorganized Debtor, and on and following the Effective Date, the Claimant Trust will be the Reorganized Debtor’s limited partner and New GP LLC will be its general partner. The Claimant Trust, as limited partner, and New GP LLC, as general partner, will execute the Reorganized Limited Partnership Agreement, which will amend and restate, in all respects, the Debtor’s current Limited Partnership Agreement. Following the Effective Date, the Reorganized Debtor will be managed consistent with the terms of the Reorganized Limited Partnership Agreement by New GP LLC. The sole managing member of New GP LLC will be the Claimant Trust, and the Claimant Trustee will be the sole officer of New GP LLC on the Effective Date.

Following the Effective Date, the Claimant Trust will administer the Claimant Trust Assets pursuant to this Plan and the Claimant Trust Agreement, and the Litigation Trustee will pursue, if applicable, the Estate Claims pursuant to the terms of the Litigation Sub-Trust Agreement and the Plan. The Reorganized Debtor will administer the Reorganized Debtor Assets and, if needed, with the utilization of a Sub-Servicer, which administration will include, among other things, managing the wind down of the Managed Funds.

The Debtor believes that the continued provision of the services under such contracts will not be cost effective.

The Reorganized Debtor will distribute all proceeds from the wind down to the Claimant Trust, as its limited partner, and New GP LLC, as its general partner, in each case in accordance with the Reorganized Limited Partnership Agreement. Such proceeds, along with the proceeds of the Claimant Trust Assets, will ultimately be distributed to the Claimant Trust Beneficiaries as set forth in this Plan and the Claimant Trust Agreement.

Except as otherwise ordered by the Bankruptcy Court, the Claimant Trust Expenses shall be paid from the Claimant Trust Assets in accordance with the Plan and Claimant Trust Agreement. The Claimant Trustee may establish a reserve for the payment of Claimant Trust Expenses and shall periodically replenish such reserve, as necessary.

In furtherance of, and consistent with the purpose of, the Claimant Trust and the Plan, the Trustees, for the benefit of the Claimant Trust, shall, subject to reporting and oversight by the Claimant Trust Oversight Committee as set forth in the Claimant Trust Agreement: (i) hold the Claimant Trust Assets for the benefit of the Claimant Trust Beneficiaries, (ii) make Distributions to the Claimant Trust Beneficiaries as provided herein and in the Claimant Trust Agreement, and (iii) have the sole power and authority to prosecute and resolve any Causes of Action and objections to Claims and Equity Interests (other than those assigned to the Litigation Sub-Trust), without approval of the Bankruptcy Court. The Trustees, on behalf of the Claimant Trust and Litigation Sub-Trust, as applicable, may each employ, without further order of the Bankruptcy Court, employees and other professionals (including those previously retained by the Debtor and the Committee) to assist in carrying out the Trustees' duties hereunder and may compensate and reimburse the reasonable expenses of these professionals without further Order of the Bankruptcy Court from the Claimant Trust Assets in accordance with the Plan and the Claimant Trust Agreement.

The Claimant Trust Agreement and Litigation Sub-Trust Agreement may include reasonable and customary provisions that allow for indemnification by the Claimant Trust in favor of the Claimant Trustee, Litigation Trustee, and the Claimant Trust Oversight Committee. Any such indemnification shall be the sole responsibility of the Claimant Trust and payable solely from the Claimant Trust Assets.

8. United States Federal Income Tax Treatment of the Claimant Trust.

Unless the IRS requires otherwise, for all United States federal income tax purposes, the parties shall treat the transfer of the Claimant Trust Assets to the Claimant Trust as: (a) a transfer of the Claimant Trust Assets (other than the amounts set aside in the Disputed Claims Reserve, if the Claimant Trustee makes the election described in Section 7 below) directly to the applicable Claimant Trust Beneficiaries followed by (b) the transfer by the such Claimant Trust Beneficiaries to the Claimant Trust of such Claimant Trust Assets in exchange for the Claimant Trust Interests. Accordingly, the applicable Claimant Trust Beneficiaries shall be treated for United States federal income tax purposes as the grantors and owners of their respective share of the Claimant Trust Assets. The foregoing treatment shall also apply, to the extent permitted by applicable law, for state and local income tax purposes.

Parties seeking to contest this finding with respect to their Executory Contracts and/or Unexpired Leases must file a timely objection to the Plan on the grounds that their agreements are integrated and not severable, and any such dispute shall be resolved by the Bankruptcy Court at the Confirmation Hearing (to the extent not resolved by the parties prior to the Confirmation Hearing).

The Debtor may serve a notice on the Committee and parties to Executory Contracts or Unexpired Leases to be assumed or assigned reflecting the Debtor’s or Reorganized Debtor’s intention to assume or assign the Executory Contract or Unexpired Lease in connection with this Plan and setting forth the proposed cure amount (if any).

PROVISIONS GOVERNING DISTRIBUTIONS

A. Dates of Distributions

Except as otherwise provided in this Plan, on the Effective Date or as soon as reasonably practicable thereafter (or if a Claim is not an Allowed Claim or Equity Interest on the Effective Date, on the date that such Claim or Equity Interest becomes an Allowed Claim or Equity Interest, or as soon as reasonably practicable thereafter), each Holder of an Allowed Claim or Equity Interest against the Debtor shall receive the full amount of the distributions that this Plan provides for Allowed Claims or Allowed Equity Interests in the applicable Class and in the manner provided herein. If any payment or act under this Plan is required to be made or performed on a date that is not on a Business Day, then the making of such payment or the performance of such act may be completed on the next succeeding Business Day, but shall be deemed to have been completed as of the required date. If and to the extent there are Disputed Claims or Equity Interests, distributions on account of any such Disputed Claims or Equity Interests shall be made pursuant to the provisions provided in this Plan. Except as otherwise provided in this Plan, Holders of Claims and Equity Interests shall not be entitled to interest, dividends or accruals on the distributions provided for therein, regardless of whether distributions are delivered on or at any time after the Effective Date.

Upon the Effective Date, all Claims and Equity Interests against the Debtor shall be deemed fixed and adjusted pursuant to this Plan and none of the Debtor, the Reorganized Debtor, or the Claimant Trust will have liability on account of any Claims or Equity Interests except as set forth in this Plan and in the Confirmation Order. All payments and all distributions made by the Distribution Agent under this Plan shall be in full and final satisfaction, settlement and release of all Claims and Equity Interests against the Debtor and the Reorganized Debtor.

At the close of business on the Distribution Record Date, the transfer ledgers for the Claims against the Debtor and the Equity Interests in the Debtor shall be closed, and there shall be no further changes in the record holders of such Claims and Equity Interests. The Debtor, the Reorganized Debtor, the Trustees, and the Distribution Agent, and each of their respective agents, successors, and assigns shall have no obligation to recognize the transfer of any Claims against the Debtor or Equity Interests in the Debtor occurring after the Distribution Record Date and shall be entitled instead to recognize and deal for all purposes hereunder with only those record holders stated on the transfer ledgers as of the close of business on the Distribution Record Date irrespective of the number of distributions to be made under this Plan to such Persons or the date of such distributions.

B. Distribution Agent

Except as provided herein, all distributions under this Plan shall be made by the Claimant Trustee, as Distribution Agent, or by such other Entity designated by the Claimant Trustee, as a Distribution Agent on the Effective Date or thereafter. The Reorganized Debtor will be the Distribution Agent with respect to Claims in Class 1 through Class 7.

The Claimant Trustee, or such other Entity designated by the Claimant Trustee to be the Distribution Agent, shall not be required to give any bond or surety or other security for the performance of such Distribution Agent's duties unless otherwise ordered by the Bankruptcy Court.

The Distribution Agent shall not have any obligation to make a particular distribution to a specific Holder of an Allowed Claim if such Holder is also the Holder of a Disputed Claim.

C. Cash Distributions

Distributions of Cash may be made by wire transfer from a domestic bank, except that Cash payments made to foreign creditors may be made in such funds and by such means as the Distribution Agent determines are necessary or customary in a particular foreign jurisdiction.

D. Disputed Claims Reserve

On or prior to the Initial Distribution Date, the Claimant Trustee shall establish, fund and maintain the Disputed Claims Reserve(s) in the appropriate Disputed Claims Reserve Amounts on account of any Disputed Claims.

E. Distributions from the Disputed Claims Reserve

The Disputed Claims Reserve shall at all times hold Cash in an amount no less than the Disputed Claims Reserve Amount. To the extent a Disputed Claim becomes an Allowed Claim pursuant to the terms of this Plan, within 30 days of the date on which such Disputed Claim becomes an Allowed Claim pursuant to the terms of this Plan, the Claimant Trustee shall distribute from the Disputed Claims Reserve to the Holder thereof any prior distributions, in Cash, that would have been made to such Allowed Claim if it had been Allowed as of the Effective Date. For the avoidance of doubt, each Holder of a Disputed Claim that subsequently becomes an Allowed Claim will also receive its Pro Rata share of the Claimant Trust Interests. If, upon the resolution of all Disputed Claims any Cash remains in the Disputed Claims Reserve, such Cash shall be transferred to the Claimant Trust and be deemed a Claimant Trust Asset.

F. Rounding of Payments

Whenever this Plan would otherwise call for, with respect to a particular Person, payment of a fraction of a dollar, the actual payment or distribution shall reflect a rounding of such fraction to the nearest whole dollar (up or down), with half dollars being rounded down. To the extent that Cash to be distributed under this Plan remains undistributed as a result of the aforementioned rounding, such Cash or stock shall be treated as “Unclaimed Property” under this Plan.

G. De Minimis Distribution

Except as to any Allowed Claim that is Unimpaired under this Plan, none of the Debtor, the Reorganized Debtor, or the Distribution Agent shall have any obligation to make any Plan Distributions with a value of less than $100, unless a written request therefor is received by the Distribution Agent from the relevant recipient at the addresses set forth in ARTICLE VI.J hereof within 120 days after the later of the (i) Effective Date and (ii) the date such Claim becomes an Allowed Claim. De minimis distributions for which no such request is timely received shall revert to the Claimant Trust. Upon such reversion, the relevant Allowed Claim (and any Claim on account of missed distributions) shall be automatically deemed satisfied, discharged and forever barred, notwithstanding any federal or state escheat laws to the contrary.

H. Distributions on Account of Allowed Claims

Except as otherwise agreed by the Holder of a particular Claim or as provided in this Plan, all distributions shall be made pursuant to the terms of this Plan and the Confirmation Order. Except as otherwise provided in this Plan, distributions to any Holder of an Allowed Claim shall, to the extent applicable, be allocated first to the principal amount of any such Allowed Claim, as determined for U.S. federal income tax purposes and then, to the extent the consideration exceeds such amount, to the remainder of such Claim comprising accrued but unpaid interest, if any (but solely to the extent that interest is an allowable portion of such Allowed Claim).

I. General Distribution Procedures

The Distribution Agent shall make all distributions of Cash or other property required under this Plan, unless this Plan specifically provides otherwise. All Cash and other property held by the Debtor, the Reorganized Debtor, or the Claimant Trust, as applicable, for ultimate distribution under this Plan shall not be subject to any claim by any Person.

J. Address for Delivery of Distributions

Distributions to Holders of Allowed Claims, to the extent provided for under this Plan, shall be made (1) at the addresses set forth in any written notices of address change delivered to the Debtor and the Distribution Agent; (2) at the address set forth on any Proofs of Claim Filed by such Holders (to the extent such Proofs of Claim are Filed in the Chapter 11 Case), (2), or (3) at the addresses in the Debtor’s books and records.

If there is any conflict or discrepancy between the addresses set forth in (1) through (3) in the foregoing sentence, then (i) the address in Section (2) shall control; (ii) if (2) does not apply, the address in (1) shall control, and (iii) if (1) does not apply, the address in (3) shall control.

K. Undeliverable Distributions and Unclaimed Property

If the distribution to the Holder of any Allowed Claim is returned to the Reorganized Debtor or the Claimant Trust as undeliverable, no further distribution shall be made to such Holder, and Distribution Agent shall not have any obligation to make any further distribution to the Holder, unless and until the Distribution Agent is notified in writing of such Holder's then current address.

Any Entity that fails to claim any Cash within six months from the date upon which a distribution is first made to such Entity shall forfeit all rights to any distribution under this Plan and such Cash shall thereafter be deemed an Claimant Trust Asset in all respects and for all purposes. Entities that fail to claim Cash shall forfeit their rights thereto and shall have no claim whatsoever against the Debtor's Estate, the Reorganized Debtor, the Claimant Trust, or against any Holder of an Allowed Claim to whom distributions are made by the Distribution Agent.

L. Withholding Taxes

In connection with this Plan, to the extent applicable, the Distribution Agent shall comply with all tax withholding and reporting requirements imposed on them by any Governmental Unit, and all distributions made pursuant to this Plan shall be subject to such withholding and reporting requirements. The Distribution Agent shall be entitled to deduct any U.S. federal, state or local withholding taxes from any Cash payments made with respect to Allowed Claims, as appropriate. As a condition to receiving any distribution under this Plan, the Distribution Agent may require that the Holder of an Allowed Claim entitled to receive a distribution pursuant to this Plan provide such Holder's taxpayer identification number and such other information and certification as may be deemed necessary for the Distribution Agent to comply with applicable tax reporting and withholding laws. If a Holder fails to comply with such a request within one year, such distribution shall be deemed an unclaimed distribution. Any amounts withheld pursuant hereto shall be deemed to have been distributed to and received by the applicable recipient for all purposes of this Plan.

M. Setoffs

The Distribution Agent may, to the extent permitted under applicable law, set off against any Allowed Claim and any distributions to be made pursuant to this Plan on account of such Allowed Claim, the claims, rights and causes of action of any nature that the Debtor, the Reorganized Debtor, or the Distribution Agent may hold against the Holder of such Allowed Claim that are not otherwise waived, released or compromised in accordance with this Plan; provided, however, that neither such a setoff nor the allowance of any Claim hereunder shall constitute a waiver or release by the Debtor, the Reorganized Debtor, or the Claimant Trustee of any such claims, rights and causes of action that the Debtor, the Reorganized Debtor, or Claimant Trustee possesses against such Holder. Any Holder of an Allowed Claim subject to such setoff reserves the right to challenge any such setoff in the Bankruptcy Court or any other court with jurisdiction with respect to such challenge.

N. Surrender of Cancelled Instruments or Securities

As a condition precedent to receiving any distribution pursuant to this Plan on account of an Allowed Claim evidenced by negotiable instruments, securities, or notes canceled pursuant to ARTICLE IV of this Plan, the Holder of such Claim will tender the applicable negotiable instruments, securities, or notes evidencing such Claim (or a sworn affidavit identifying the negotiable instruments, securities, or notes formerly held by such Holder and certifying that they have been lost), to the Distribution Agent unless waived in writing by the Distribution Agent.

O. Lost, Stolen, Mutilated or Destroyed Securities

In addition to any requirements under any applicable agreement and applicable law, any Holder of a Claim or Equity Interest evidenced by a security or note that has been lost, stolen, mutilated, or destroyed will, in lieu of surrendering such security or note to the extent required by this Plan, deliver to the Distribution Agent: (i) evidence reasonably satisfactory to the Distribution Agent of such loss, theft, mutilation, or destruction; and (ii) such security or indemnity as may be required by the Distribution Agent to hold such party harmless from any damages, liabilities, or costs incurred in treating such individual as a Holder of an Allowed Claim or Equity Interest. Upon compliance with ARTICLE VI.O of this Plan as determined by the Distribution Agent, by a Holder of a Claim evidenced by a security or note, such Holder will, for all purposes under this Plan, be deemed to have surrendered such security or note to the Distribution Agent.

ARTICLE VII.

UNLIQUIDATED AND DISPUTED CLAIMS

Claim or Equity Interest shall be deemed to be an Allowed Claim or Equity Interest in the amount compromised for purposes of this Plan.

C. Procedures Regarding Disputed Claims or Disputed Equity Interests

No payment or other distribution or treatment shall be made on account of a Disputed Claim or Disputed Equity Interest unless and until such Disputed Claim or Disputed Equity Interest becomes an Allowed Claim or Equity Interests and the amount of such Allowed Claim or Equity Interest, as applicable, is determined by order of the Bankruptcy Court or by stipulation between the Reorganized Debtor or Claimant Trust, as applicable, and the Holder of the Claim or Equity Interest.

D. Allowance of Claims and Equity Interests

Following the date on which a Disputed Claim or Disputed Equity Interest becomes an Allowed Claim or Equity Interest after the Distribution Date, the Distribution Agent shall make a distribution to the Holder of such Allowed Claim or Equity Interest in accordance with the Plan.

1. Allowance of Claims

After the Effective Date and subject to the other provisions of this Plan, the Reorganized Debtor or the Claimant Trust, as applicable, will have and will retain any and all rights and defenses under bankruptcy or nonbankruptcy law that the Debtor had with respect to any Claim. Except as expressly provided in this Plan or in any order entered in the Chapter 11 Case prior to the Effective Date (including, without limitation, the Confirmation Order), no Claim or Equity Interest will become an Allowed Claim or Equity Interest unless and until such Claim or Equity Interest is deemed Allowed under this Plan or the Bankruptcy Code or the Bankruptcy Court has entered an order, including, without limitation, the Confirmation Order, in the Chapter 11 Case allowing such Claim or Equity Interest.

2. Estimation

All of the aforementioned objection, estimation and resolution procedures are cumulative and not exclusive of one another. Claims or Equity Interests may be estimated and subsequently compromised, settled, withdrawn or resolved by any mechanism approved by the Bankruptcy Court. The rights and objections of all parties are reserved in connection with any such estimation proceeding.

3. Disallowance of Claims

Any Claims or Equity Interests held by Entities from which property is recoverable under sections 542, 543, 550, or 553 of the Bankruptcy Code, or that are a transferee of a transfer avoidable under sections 522(f), 522(h), 544, 545, 547, 548, 549, or 724(a) of the Bankruptcy Code, shall be deemed disallowed pursuant to section 502(d) of the Bankruptcy Code, and holders of such Claims or Interests may not receive any distributions on account of such Claims or Interests until such time as such Causes of Action against that Entity have been settled or a Bankruptcy Court Order with respect thereto has been entered and all sums due, if any, to the Reorganized Debtor or the Claimant Trust, as applicable, by that Entity have been turned over or paid to the Reorganized Debtor or the Claimant Trust, as applicable.

EXCEPT AS OTHERWISE PROVIDED HEREIN OR AS AGREED TO BY THE DEBTOR, REORGANIZED DEBTOR, OR CLAIMANT TRUSTEE, AS APPLICABLE, ANY AND ALL PROOFS OF CLAIM FILED AFTER THE BAR DATE SHALL BE DEEMED DISALLOWED AND EXPUNGED AS OF THE EFFECTIVE DATE WITHOUT ANY FURTHER NOTICE TO OR ACTION, ORDER, OR APPROVAL OF THE BANKRUPTCY COURT, AND HOLDERS OF SUCH CLAIMS MAY NOT RECEIVE ANY DISTRIBUTIONS ON ACCOUNT OF SUCH CLAIMS, UNLESS SUCH LATE PROOF OF CLAIM HAS BEEN DEEMED TIMELY FILED BY A FINAL ORDER.

  - The Professional Fee Reserve shall be funded pursuant to this Plan in an amount determined by the Debtor in good faith.

B. Waiver of Conditions

The failure to satisfy or waive a condition to the Effective Date may be asserted by the Debtor regardless of the circumstances giving rise to the failure of such condition to be satisfied. The failure of the Debtor to exercise any of the foregoing rights will not be deemed a waiver of any other rights, and each right will be deemed an ongoing right that may be asserted at any time by the Debtor, the Reorganized

ARTICLE IX.

EXCULPATION, INJUNCTION AND RELATED PROVISIONS

A. General

Notwithstanding anything contained in the Plan to the contrary, the allowance, classification and treatment of all Allowed Claims and Equity Interests and their respective distributions and treatments under the Plan shall take into account the relative priority and rights of the Claims and the Equity Interests in each Class in connection with any contractual, legal and equitable subordination rights relating thereto whether arising under general principles of equitable subordination, section 510 of the Bankruptcy Code, or otherwise.

B. Discharge of Claims

This exculpation shall be in addition to, and not in limitation of, all other releases, indemnities, exculpations, any other applicable law or rules, or any other provisions of this Plan, including ARTICLE IV.C.2, protecting such Exculpated Parties from liability.

D. Releases by the Debtor

On and after the Effective Date, each Released Party is deemed to be, hereby conclusively, absolutely, unconditionally, irrevocably, and forever released and discharged by the Debtor and the Estate, in each case on behalf of themselves and their respective successors, assigns, and representatives, including, but not limited to, the Claimant Trust and the Litigation Sub-Trust from any and all Causes of Action, including any derivative claims, asserted on behalf of the Debtor, whether known or unknown, foreseen or unforeseen, matured or unmatured, existing or hereafter arising, in law, equity, contract, tort or otherwise, that the Debtor or the Estate would have been legally entitled to assert in their own right (whether individually or collectively) or on behalf of the holder of any Claim against, or Interest in, a Debtor or other Person.

Notwithstanding anything contained herein to the contrary, the foregoing release does not release: (i) any obligations of any party under the Plan or any document, instrument, or agreement executed to implement the Plan, (ii) the rights or obligations of any current employee of the Debtor under any employment agreement or plan, (iii) the rights of the Debtor with respect to any confidentiality provisions or covenants restricting competition in favor of the Debtor under any employment agreement with a current or former employee of the Debtor, (iv) any Avoidance Actions, or (v) any Causes of Action arising from willful misconduct, criminal

- sues, attempts to sue, or threatens or works with or assists any entity or person to sue, attempt to sue, or threaten the Reorganized Debtor, the Claimant Trust, the Litigation Sub-Trust, or any of their respective employees or agents, or any Released Party on or in connection with any claim or cause of action arising prior to the Effective Date,
- has taken any action that, impairs or harms the value of the Claimant Trust Assets or the Reorganized Debtor Assets, or
- (x) upon the request of the Claimant Trustee, has failed to provide reasonable assistance in good faith to the Claimant Trustee or the Reorganized Debtor with respect to (1) the monetization of the Claimant Trust Assets or Reorganized Debtor Assets, as applicable, or (2) the resolution of Claims, or (y) has taken any action that impedes or frustrates the Claimant Trustee or the Reorganized Debtor with respect to any of the foregoing.

Provided, however, that the release provided pursuant to this ARTICLE IX.D will vest and the Employee will be indefeasibly released pursuant to this ARTICLE IX.D if such Employee's release has not been deemed null and void and of no force and effect on or prior to the date that is the date of dissolution of the Claimant Trust pursuant to the Claimant Trust Agreement.

By executing the Senior Employee Stipulation embodying this release, each Senior Employee acknowledges and agrees, without limitation, to the terms of this release and the tolling agreement contained in the Senior Employee Stipulation.

The provisions of this release and the execution of a Senior Employee Stipulation will not in any way prevent or limit any Employee from (i) prosecuting its Claims, if any, against the Debtor's Estate, (ii) defending him or herself against any claims or causes of action brought against the Employee by a third party, or (iii) assisting other persons in defending themselves from any Estate Claims brought by the Litigation Trustee (but only with respect to Estate Claims

Except as otherwise provided in this Plan, after the Effective Date, the Reorganized Debtor or the Claimant Trust will retain all rights to commence, pursue, litigate or settle, as appropriate, any and all Causes of Action included in the Reorganized Debtor Assets or Claimant Trust Assets, as applicable, whether existing as of the Petition Date or thereafter arising, in any court or other tribunal including, without limitation, in an adversary proceeding Filed in the Chapter 11 Case and, as the successors in interest to the Debtor and the Estate, may, and will have the exclusive right to, enforce, sue on, settle, compromise, transfer or assign (or decline to do any of the foregoing) any or all of the Causes of Action without notice to or approval from the Bankruptcy Court.

2. Preservation of All Causes of Action Not Expressly Settled or Released

Unless a Cause of Action against a Holder of a Claim or an Equity Interest or other Entity is expressly waived, relinquished, released, compromised or settled in this Plan or any Final Order (including, without limitation, the Confirmation Order), such Cause of Action is expressly reserved for later adjudication by the Reorganized Debtor or Claimant Trust, as applicable (including, without limitation, Causes of Action not specifically identified or of which the Debtor may presently be unaware or that may arise or exist by reason of additional facts or circumstances unknown to the Debtor at this time or facts or circumstances that may change or be different from those the Debtor now believes to exist) and, therefore, no preclusion doctrine, including, without limitation, the doctrines of res judicata, collateral estoppel, issue preclusion, claim preclusion, waiver, estoppel (judicial, equitable or otherwise) or laches will apply to such Causes of Action as a consequence of the confirmation, effectiveness, or consummation of this Plan based on the Disclosure Statement, this Plan or the Confirmation Order, except where such Causes of Action have been expressly released in this Plan or any other Final Order (including, without limitation, the Confirmation Order). In addition, the right of the Reorganized Debtor or the Claimant Trust to pursue or adopt any claims alleged in any lawsuit in which the Debtor is a plaintiff, defendant or an interested party, against any Entity, including, without limitation, the plaintiffs or co-defendants in such lawsuits, is expressly reserved.

F. Injunction

Upon entry of the Confirmation Order, all holders of Claims and Equity Interests and other parties in interest, along with their respective Related Persons, shall be enjoined from taking any actions to interfere with the implementation or consummation of the Plan.

Except as expressly provided in the Plan, the Confirmation Order, or a separate order of the Bankruptcy Court, all Entities who have held, hold, or may hold Claims against or Equity Interests in the Debtor (whether proof of such Claims or Equity Interests has been filed or not and whether or not such Entities vote in favor of, against or abstain from voting on the Plan or are presumed to have accepted or deemed to have rejected the Plan) and other parties in interest, along with their respective Related Persons, are permanently enjoined, on and after the Effective Date, with respect to such Claims and Equity Interests, from (i) commencing, conducting, or continuing in any manner, directly or indirectly, any suit, action, or other proceeding of any kind (including any proceeding in a judicial, arbitral, administrative or other forum) against or affecting the Debtor, the Independent Directors, the Reorganized Debtor, or the Claimant Trust or the property of any of the Debtor, the Independent Directors, the Reorganized Debtor, or the Claimant Trust, (ii) enforcing, levying, attaching (including any prejudgment attachment), collecting, or otherwise recovering by any manner or means, whether directly or indirectly, any judgment, award, decree, or order against the Debtor, the Independent Directors, the Reorganized Debtor, or the Claimant Trust or the property of any of the Debtor, the Independent Directors, the Reorganized Debtor, or the Claimant Trust, (iii) creating, perfecting, or otherwise enforcing in any manner, directly or indirectly, any encumbrance of any kind against the Debtor, the Independent Directors, the Reorganized Debtor, or the Claimant Trust or the property of any of the Debtor, the Independent Directors, the Reorganized Debtor, or the Claimant Trust, (iv) asserting any right of setoff, directly or indirectly, against any obligation due from the Debtor, the Independent Directors, the Reorganized Debtor, or the Claimant Trust or against property or interests in property of any of the Debtor, the Independent Directors, the Reorganized Debtor, or the Claimant Trust; and (v) acting or proceeding in any manner, in any place whatsoever, that does not conform to or comply with the provisions of the Plan.

The injunctions set forth herein shall extend to any successors of the Debtor, the Reorganized Debtor, and the Claimant Trust and their respective property and interests in property.

Subject in all respects to ARTICLE XII.D, no Entity may commence or pursue a claim or cause of action of any kind against any Protected Party that arose from or is related to the Chapter 11 Case, the negotiation of this Plan, the administration of the Plan or property to be distributed under the Plan, the wind down of the business of the Debtor or Reorganized Debtor, the administration of the Claimant Trust, or the transactions in furtherance of the foregoing without the Bankruptcy Court (i) first determining, after notice, that such claim or cause of action represents a colorable claim of bad faith, criminal misconduct, willful misconduct, fraud, or gross negligence against a Protected Party and (ii) specifically authorizing such Entity to bring such claim against any such Protected Party; provided, however, the foregoing will not apply to Strand or any Employee other than with respect to actions taken by such Entities from the date of appointment of the Independent Directors through the Effective Date. As set forth in ARTICLE XI, the Bankruptcy Court will have sole jurisdiction to adjudicate any such claim for which approval of the Bankruptcy Court to commence or pursue has been granted.

G. Term of Injunctions or Stays

Unless otherwise provided in this Plan, the Confirmation Order, or in a Final Order of the Bankruptcy Court, all injunctions or stays arising under or entered during the Chapter 11 Case under section 105 or 362 of the Bankruptcy Code, or otherwise, and in existence on the Confirmation Date, shall remain in full force and effect until the later of the Effective Date and the date indicated in the order providing for such injunction or stay.

All Claims and Debts shall be fixed and adjusted pursuant to this Plan. The Plan shall also bind any taxing authority, recorder of deeds, or similar official for any county, state, Governmental Unit or parish in which any instrument related to the Plan or related to any transaction contemplated thereby is to be recorded with respect to pay taxes of the kind specified in Bankruptcy Code section 1146(a).

Statement of Assumptions

- A. Plan effective date is January 31, 2021.
- B. All investment assets are sold by December 31, 2022.
- C. All demand notes are collected in the year 2021.
- D. All notes receivable with maturity dates beyond 12/31/2022 are sold in Q4 2022; in the interim interest income and principal payments are collected as they become due.
- E. Fixed assets used in daily business operations are sold in February 2021.
- F. Accrual for employee bonuses as of January 2021 are reversed and not paid.
- G. All Management advisory or shared service contracts are terminated on their terms by the effective date or shortly thereafter
- H. Post-effective date, the reorganized Debtor would retain three HCMLP employees as contractors to help monetize the remaining assets.
- I. Litigation Trustee budget is $6,500,000.
- J. Unrealized gains or losses are not recorded on a monthly basis; all gains or losses are recorded as realized gains or losses upon sale of asset.
- K. Plan does not provide for payment of interest to Class 8 holders of general unsecured claims, as set forth in the Plan. If holders of general unsecured claims receive 100% of their allowed claims, they would then be entitled to receive interest at the federal judgement rate, prior to any funds being available for claims or interest of junior priority.
- L. Plan assumes zero allowed claims for UBS, IFA, the HarbourVest entities (collectively "HV") and Hunter Mountain Investment Trust ("HM").
- M. Claim amounts listed in Plan vs. Liquidation schedule are subject to change; claim amounts in Class 8 assume $0 for UBS, IFA, HM and HV.
Assumes RCP claims will offset against HCMLP's interest in fund and will not be paid from Debtor assets
- N. With the exception of Class 2 - Frontier, Classes 1-7 will be paid in full within 30 days of effective date.
- O. Class 7 payout limited to 85% of each individual creditor claim or in the aggregate $13.15 million. Plan currently projects Class 7 payout of $9.96 million.
- P. See below for Class 8 estimated payout schedule; payout is subject to certain assets being monetized by payout date:
  - o By September 30, 2021 - $50,000,000
  - o By March 31, 2022 – additional $50,000,000
  - o By June 30, 2022 – additional $25,000,000
  - o All remaining proceeds are assumed to be paid out on or soon after all remaining assets are monetized.

FINDINGS OF FACT AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW IN SUPPORT OF ORDERS FOR RELIEF ISSUED AFTER TRIAL ON CONTESTED INVOLUNTARY BANKRUPTCY PETITIONS

Joshua N. Terry (the "Petitioning Creditor" or "Mr. Terry") filed involuntary bankruptcy petitions (the "Involuntary Petitions") against each of the two above-referenced related companies (the “Alleged Debtors”) on January 30, 2018.<sup>1</sup> The Involuntary Petitions were contested, and the court held a multi-day trial (the “Trial”) spanning March 21, 22, 23, 27, and March 29, 2018.<sup>2</sup> This constitutes the court’s findings of fact, conclusions of law and ruling, pursuant to Fed. Rs. Bankr. Proc. 7052 and 9014.<sup>3</sup> As explained below, the court has decided that Orders for Relief are legally required and appropriate as to each of the Alleged Debtors.

I. FINDINGS OF FACT

A. Introduction.

1. The Alleged Debtors—Acis Capital Management, L.P. (“Acis LP”), a Delaware limited partnership, and ACIS Capital Management GP, L.L.C. (“Acis GP/LLC”), a Delaware limited liability company—are two entities in the mega-organizational structure of a company that is known as Highland Capital Management, L.P. (“Highland”).

2. Highland is a Dallas, Texas-based company that is a Registered Investment Advisor. Highland was founded in 1993 (changing its original name from “Protective Asset Management” to Highland in 1997) by James D. Dondero (“Mr. Dondero”), originally with a

<sup>2</sup> Shortly after the Involuntary Petitions were filed, the court held hearings on February 6-7, 2018, on the Petitioning Creditor’s Emergency Motion to Abrogate or Modify 11 U.S.C. § 303(f), Prohibit Transfer of Assets, and Import, Inter Alia, 11 U.S.C. § 363 [DE # 3] (the “303(f) Motion”) and the Alleged Debtors’ Emergency Motion to Seek Emergency Hearing on the Alleged Debtors’ Motion to Dismiss Involuntary Petitions and Request for Award of Fees, Costs, and Damages [DE # 9] (the “Emergency Motion to Set Hearing on Motion to Dismiss”). The court ultimately granted the 303(f) Motion and denied the Emergency Motion to Set Hearing on Motion to Dismiss. Both the Petitioning Creditor and the Alleged Debtors have proposed that the court should consider the evidence it heard at the hearings held on February 6-7, 2018, in determining whether it should enter orders for relief. The court has, accordingly, considered such evidence in this ruling.

<sup>3</sup> Bankruptcy subject matter jurisdiction exists in this contested matter, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1334(b). This is a core proceeding over which the bankruptcy court may exercise subject matter jurisdiction, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 157(b)(2)(A) and (O) and the Standing Order of Reference of Bankruptcy Cases and Proceedings (Misc. Rule No. 33), for the Northern District of Texas, dated August 3, 1984. This bankruptcy court has Constitutional authority to issue a final order or judgment in this matter, as it arises under a bankruptcy statute—11 U.S.C. § 303. Venue is proper in this district, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1409(a), as the Alleged Debtors have their business headquarters in this district.

75% ownership interest, and Mark K. Akada (“Mr. Akada”), originally with a 25% ownership interest.<sup>4</sup>

3. Both Mr. Dondero and Mr. Akada provided witness testimony at the Trial on the Involuntary Petitions, and their names are mentioned numerous times herein—since they were generally the subject of significant evidence and argument presented at the Trial. Mr. Dondero is the chief executive officer for Highland and Mr. Akada is the chief investment officer. Mr. Dondero is also the president of each of the two Alleged Debtors.

4. Highland, through its organizational structure of approximately 2,000 separate business entities, manages approximately $14-$15 billion of investor capital in vehicles ranging from: collateral loan obligation funds (“CLOs”); private equity funds; and mutual funds.

5. Highland’s CLO business was front-and-center at the Trial on the Involuntary Petitions. The Alleged Debtor, Acis LP, for approximately the past seven years, has been the vehicle through which Highland’s CLO business has been managed.

6. The Petitioning Creditor, Mr. Terry, became an employee of Highland in the year 2005, starting as a portfolio analyst, promoting to a loan trader, then ultimately becoming the portfolio manager for (and 25% limited partner in) Highland’s CLO business—specifically, Mr. Terry was the human being who was acting for the CLO manager, Acis LP.

7. Mr. Terry was highly successful in his role in the CLO business, managing billions of dollars of assets during his tenure, but Mr. Terry and Mr. Dondero had a bitter parting of ways on June 9, 2016. Specifically, Mr. Terry’s employment was terminated on that date (for reasons that have been highly disputed) and his 25% limited partnership interest in Acis LP was deemed forfeited without any payment of consideration to him.

8. In September 2016, Highland sued Mr. Terry in the 162nd Judicial District Court of Dallas County, Texas (“State Court 1”) for breach of fiduciary duty/self-dealing, disparagement, breach of contract, and various other causes of action and theories. Mr. Terry asserted his own claims against Highland, and also claims against the two Alleged Debtors, Mr. Dondero, and others and demanded arbitration. On September 28, 2016, State Court 1 stayed the litigation and ordered the parties to arbitrate. The parties participated in ten days of arbitration in September 2017 before JAMS. On October 20, 2017, Mr. Terry obtained an Arbitration Award (herein so called),<sup>5</sup> jointly and severally against both of the Alleged Debtors in the amount of $7,949,749.15, plus post-award interest at the legal rate, which was based on theories of breach of contract and breach of fiduciary duties.

9. There are still claims pending between and among the Petitioning Creditor, Highland, and others (not including the Alleged Debtors) in State Court 1.

10. A Final Judgment (herein so called) confirming the Arbitration Award was entered by the 44th Judicial District Court of Dallas County, Texas (“State Court 2”) on December 18, 2017, in the same amount as that contained in the Arbitration Award—$7,949,749.15.<sup>6</sup>

11. Mr. Terry began pursuing post-judgment discovery soon after obtaining his Arbitration Award and even more so after entry of the Final Judgment. Mr. Terry undertook a UCC search on November 8, 2017, to investigate whether there were any liens on the Alleged Debtors' assets (none appeared).<sup>7</sup> Mr. Terry also pursued a garnishment of an Acis LP bank account (at a time when there was only around $2,000 in the account). Mr. Terry's counsel deposed Highland's General Counsel Scott Ellington (who sat for the deposition as a representative of Acis, LP) on January 26, 2018, and asked numerous questions about: (a) how many creditors the Alleged Debtors had,<sup>8</sup> and (b) whether Acis LP was able to pay its debts as they became due,<sup>9</sup> but did not receive meaningful answers.

12. Mr. Terry requested a temporary restraining order ("TRO") from State Court 2, on January 24, 2018, after discovering certain transactions and transfers involving Acis LP's interests, that he believed were pursued without any legitimate business purpose and with the purpose of denuding Acis LP of its assets and to make it judgment proof. Most particularly, it appeared as though Highland was engaged in a scheme to transfer certain fee-generating CLO management contracts of Acis LP away from it and into a Cayman Island affiliate of Highland.<sup>10</sup> At a January 24, 2018 hearing on the request for a TRO, Acis LP agreed and State Court 2 ordered that, between that hearing and a later hearing on a request for a temporary injunction, no CLO management contracts would be transferred away from Acis LP and that no monies would be diverted from it.<sup>11</sup>

13. Then, on January 29, 2018, the Controller of and CPA for Highland (David Klos) submitted a Declaration to State Court 2 concerning the net worth of the Alleged Debtors, stating that Acis GP/LLC had a net worth of $0 and that Acis LP might have a net worth, at best, of $990,141.<sup>12</sup> Mr. Terry thought this was preposterous—given the management fees that Acis LP was entitled to and the receivables that should be owing to it. Mr. Terry believes that the collateral management agreements on which Acis LP receives management fees have a present value of $30 million (about $6 million for each of the five CLOs which Acis LP has been managing).

14. On January 29, 2018, the Alleged Debtors filed a motion for leave to post a supersedeas bond in the amount of $495,070.50 with State Court 2 (purportedly half of the net worth of the two Alleged Debtors—as stated in the David Klos Declaration), so that they could suspend enforcement of the Final Judgment while they appealed it.<sup>13</sup> Although there is a very stringent standard for appealing an Arbitration Award, the Alleged Debtors apparently believe they have an argument that State Court 2 lacked the subject matter jurisdiction to confirm the Arbitration Award (a motion to vacate the Final Judgment based on this argument has previously been denied by State Court 2).<sup>14</sup>

15. Meanwhile, Mr. Terry was learning of more transactions and transfers involving Acis LP's assets and interests. On January 29, 2018, Mr. Terry filed supplemental pleadings with State Court 2, alleging that further shenanigans (i.e., transfers and transactions that would amount to fraudulent transfers) were underway at Acis LP and seeking a receiver.<sup>15</sup> Also, at some point, in the weeks leading up to this, an Acis LP lawyer represented to Mr. Terry's counsel that the Alleged Debtors were "judgment proof."<sup>16</sup>

16. At approximately 11:57 p.m. on January 30, 2018 (on the evening before a scheduled temporary injunction hearing in State Court 2—at which time State Court 2 presumably might have considered the Alleged Debtors' request to post the $495,070.50 supersedeas bond to stay enforcement of the Final Judgment), Mr. Terry filed the Involuntary Petitions, as a sole petitioning creditor, against both Acis LP and Acis GP/LLC.

17. For purposes of this Trial (and this Trial only), the Alleged Debtors do not dispute that Mr. Terry has standing to be a petitioning creditor pursuant to Bankruptcy Code section 303(b)—in other words, they do not dispute that Mr. Terry is a holder of a claim against the Alleged Debtors that is not contingent as to liability or the subject of a bona fide dispute as to liability or amount and that aggregates at least $15,775 in unsecured amount. However, the Alleged Debtors argue that: (a) the Alleged Debtors have 12 or more creditors and, thus, three or more petitioning creditors were required to prosecute the Involuntary Petitions pursuant to Bankruptcy Code section 303(b)(1); (b) the Petitioning Creditor did not establish, pursuant to Bankruptcy Code section 303(h)(1), that the Alleged Debtors are not generally paying their debts as such debts become due unless such debts are the subject of a bona fide dispute as to liability or amount; (c) regardless of whether the Petitioning Creditor has met the statutory tests in sections 303(b)(1) and (h)(1), the Petitioning Creditor has acted in bad faith—which serves as an equitable basis for dismissal of the Involuntary Petitions; and (d) if the court disagrees with the Alleged Debtors and determines that the section 303(b) and (h) statutory tests are met, and also determines that the Petitioning Creditor has not acted in bad faith, the court should nevertheless abstain in this matter, pursuant to Bankruptcy Code section 305, since this is essentially a two-party dispute and the interests of creditors and the debtor would be better served by dismissal.

18. The Petitioning Creditor argues that he has met the statutory tests of sections 303(b) and (h) but, even if he has not, there is a “special circumstances” exception to the section 303 statutory requirements, whenever a petitioning creditor establishes fraud, trick, scheme, artifice or the like on the part of an alleged debtor—which “special circumstances,” Mr. Terry alleges, have been established here. Moreover, the Petitioning Creditor argues that the facts here do not warrant section 305 abstention because the interests of creditors and the Alleged Debtors would not be better served by dismissal.

19. As further explained below, the court finds and concludes that the Petitioning Creditor has met his burden of proving by a preponderance of the evidence that the statutory tests of sections 303(b) and (h) are met here. Thus, the court does not need to reach the question of whether there is a “special circumstances” exception to the section 303 statutory requirements, whenever a petitioning creditor establishes fraud, trick, scheme, artifice or the like on the part of an alleged debtor, and—if so—whether the exception is applicable here.<sup>17</sup>

20. Moreover, the Alleged Debtors have not shown by a preponderance of the evidence that the Petitioning Creditor acted in bad faith, such that the Involuntary Petitions should be dismissed.

21. Finally, the Alleged Debtors also have not shown facts here that warrant section 305 abstention because they have not shown that the interests of creditors and the Alleged Debtors would be better served by dismissal.

B. The CLO Business: Understanding the Alleged Debtors' Business Operations, Structure, and What Creditors and Interest Holders They Actually Have.

22. Highland set up its first CLO in the year 1996. Highland was one of the early participants in the CLO industry.

23. The Alleged Debtors were formed in 2011 to be the new “brand” or face of the Highland CLO business, after Highland’s name had suffered some negative publicity in the marketplace.

24. Acis LP has acted as the portfolio manager of Highland’s CLOs since 2011. Acis LP currently has a contractual right to CLO portfolio management fees on five CLOs<sup>18</sup> which were referred to at the Trial as CLO 2013-1; CLO 2014-3; CLO 2014-4; CLO 2014-5; and CLO 2016-6. CLOs typically have an 8-12 year life. Thus, there are still several years of life left on these CLOs (since the oldest one was established in the year 2013).

25. The key “players” in and features with regard to the Highland CLOs, during the time period relevant to the issues adjudicated at the Trial, have been:

- (a) The CLO manager. As mentioned earlier, the CLO manager is the Alleged Debtor, Acis LP. Acis LP, has collateral management agreements (hereinafter, the “CLO Collateral Management Agreements”) with the CLOs (which CLOs were set up as special purpose entities) and, pursuant thereto, receives

<sup>18</sup> There is still another Highland CLO (CLO 2017-7), set up in April 2017, as to which Acis LP’s contractual right to manage was terminated shortly before the Petition Date, as will be further described herein.

management fees<sup>19</sup> from the CLOs in exchange for managing the pool of assets within the CLOs and communicating with investors in the CLOs.<sup>20</sup> As mentioned earlier, Mr. Terry was the human being that performed the management function at Acis LP until Highland fired him on June 9, 2016 and also terminated his limited partnership interest in Acis LP. Mr. Terry, and all employees who have ever provided services to the CLO manager, are Highland employees—which were provided to Acis LP through shared and sub-advisory services agreements—as further explained below. Thus, to be clear, Acis LP has always essentially subcontracted its CLO managerial function out to Highland.

- (b) The pool of assets. Within each CLO that the CLO manager manages is a basket of loans that the CLO manager purchases. The basket of loans typically consists of approximately 200 loans-payable (or portions of loans payable), on which large well-known companies typically are the makers/obligors (and which loans, collectively, provide a variable rate of interest).<sup>21</sup> The CLO manager can typically decide to buy and sell different loans to go into the pool of assets, with certain restrictions, during a four or five year reinvestment time period.

<sup>19</sup> These fees typically include “senior fees” (e.g., 15 basis points); additional “subordinate fees” (e.g., 25 basis points) if the CLOs are passing certain tests; and perhaps even an “incentive fee” beyond a certain hurdle rate (e.g., after the equity in the CLO received an internal rate of return of 10%, the CLO manager would get 15% of the excess). Exh. 82, p. 59, lines 14-25.

<sup>20</sup> See, as an example, Exh. 3 (the collateral management agreement between Acis LP and CLO 2014-3). Note that the document is entitled “Portfolio Management Agreement” but, to avoid confusion with other similarly titled documents and to highlight the true nature of the agreement, the court uses the defined term “CLO Collateral Management Agreement,” which terminology the lawyers also sometimes used at the Trial.

- (c) The CLO investors (i.e., CLO note holders). These may be any number of persons or entities, including pension funds, life insurance companies, or others who decide to invest in the CLOs and contribute capital to fund the purchase of a CLO's loan pool, and, in return, receive fixed rate notes payable—the ratings on which can range anywhere from Triple-A to Single-B, depending upon the risk option the investor chooses. There are typically five or six tranches of notes issued by the CLO (with the top AAA-rated tranche being the least risky and the bottom tranche being the most risky) and—to be clear—the CLO itself (again, in each case, the CLO is a special purpose vehicle) is the obligor. As the CLO manager receives income from the pool of loans in the CLO, he distributes that income to the CLO investors, in accordance with their note indentures,<sup>22</sup> starting with the top tranche of notes and then down to the other tranches. The top tranche of notes (AAA-rated) is considered the “controlling” class and a majority of holders in this class can terminate the CLO manager (i.e., Acis LP) for cause on 45 days' notice, although all parties seem to agree this would be a rare event.
- (d) The CLO equity holder. The CLO equity holder actually is a holder of subordinated notes issued by the CLOs (i.e., the bottom tranche of notes on which the CLO special purpose entity is obligated), and has voting rights and is itself a capital provider, but it takes the most risk and receives the very last cash flow from the CLOs. It, in certain ways, controls the CLO vehicle<sup>23</sup>—for example, by virtue of having the ability to make a redemption call after a certain “no-call” period—which would force a liquidation of the basket of loans in the CLO, with the proceeds paying down the tranches of notes, starting at the top with the Triple A’s). Note that, until recently, a separate entity known as Acis Loan Funding, Ltd. (“ALF”), which was incorporated under the laws of the island nation of Guernsey,<sup>24</sup> was the CLO equity holder. To be clear, ALF was essentially the equity owner in the CLO special purpose entities—not the equity owner of Acis LP. Acis LP was a party to a separate portfolio management agreement with ALF (hereinafter, the “ALF Portfolio Management Agreement”—not to be confused with the CLO Collateral Management Agreements that Acis LP separately has with the special purpose CLOs). No fees were paid from ALF to Acis LP pursuant to the ALF Portfolio Management Agreement (rather, fees are only paid to Acis LP on the CLO Collateral Management Agreements). The complicated structure of the CLO business—all parties seemed to agree—has been developed, among other reasons, to comply with “risk-retention requirements” imposed by the U.S. Congress’s massive Dodd-Frank financial reform legislation<sup>25</sup> enacted in year 2010, in response to the financial crisis and recession that first began in 2008.

<sup>22</sup> The indenture trustee on the CLO notes may actually operate as a payment agent in some cases, for purposes of making the quarterly note payments to holders.

(e) The Equity Owners of ALF. Until recently (i.e., until October 24, 2017—four days after the Arbitration Award), Acis LP itself, as required for a CLO manager, had a 15% indirect ownership in ALF, in order to be regulatory compliant.<sup>26</sup> The parties sometimes refer to ALF (and the web of ownership between it and Acis LP) as the “risk retention structure.”<sup>27</sup> The evidence at the Trial revealed that ALF (which has recently been renamed), now, has three equity owners: (i) a 49% equity owner that is a charitable fund (i.e., a donor advised fund or “DAF”) that was seeded with contributions from Highland, is managed/advised by Highland, and whose independent trustee is a long-time friend of Highland’s chief executive officer, Mr. Dondero; (ii) 2% is owned by Highland employees; and (iii) finally, ALF may be 49% owned by a third-party institutional investor based in Boston that Highland believed it was required to keep anonymous at the Trial. Not only is the court unaware of who this independent third-party is, but the evidence seems to suggest that it may have acquired its interest fairly recently or may have simply committed to invest recently.<sup>28</sup> issued, the CLO manager would need to retain at least 5% or $20 million of the assets in the CLO (which 5% could be either all at the equity level or vertically, up and down the note tranches). There are multiple ways to accomplish this 5% retention (i.e., with either the CLO manager directly investing in at least 5% of the CLO or doing it through a controlled subsidiary). This particular rule was announced in December 2014 and the SEC thereafter issued a no action letter stating that if a CLO was issued prior to December 2014, then any refinancing of such CLO that happens within four years can be done without risk retention in place. Resets of any CLO (i.e., changes in terms and maturity—as opposed to mere changes in interest rates), on the other hand, must have risk retention in place. Four of Acis LP’s current CLOs were issued prior to December 2014. Thus, these four CLOs are still technically able to do a refinancing without a risk retention structure in place. In any event, by early-to-middle 2017, Acis LP was risk retention compliant. Exh. 82, pp. 65-69 & 75. That was recently changed—on October 24, 2017—four days after the Arbitration Award—as later explained herein.

26. Mr. Terry, the Petitioning Creditor, as earlier mentioned, began working for Highland in 2005 until his employment was terminated on June 9, 2016.

27. Acis LP and Acis GP/LLC have never had any employees. Rather, all employees that work for any of the Highland family of companies (including Mr. Terry) have, almost without exception, been employees of Highland itself. Highland has approximately 150 employees in the United States. Highland provides employees to entities in the organizational structure, such as Acis LP and Acis GP/LLC, through both the mechanism of: (a) a Shared Services Agreement (herein so called),<sup>31</sup> which provides “back office” personnel—such as human resources, accounting, legal and information technology to the Highland family of companies; and (b) a Sub-Advisory Agreement (herein so called),<sup>32</sup> which provides “front office” personnel to entities—such as the managers of investments like Mr. Terry. The evidence indicated that this is typical in the CLO industry to have such agreements. The court notes that all iterations of the Shared Services Agreements and Sub-Advisory Agreements between Acis LP and Highland were signed by Mr. Dondero both as President of Acis LP and as President of the General Partner of Highland.

28. Because Acis LP essentially subcontracts out all of its functions to Highland pursuant to the Shared Services Agreement and the Sub-Advisory Agreement, Acis LP has very few vendors or creditors. Rather Highland incurs expenses and essentially bills them to Acis LP through these two agreements.<sup>33</sup> In other words, Highland is one of Acis LP's largest and most frequent creditor.

29. The evidence reflected that at all times Mr. Dondero has been the President of both of the Alleged Debtors, and there have been, at all times, very few, if any, other officers. It appears that the only other officer of Acis GP/LLC that ever existed was Frank Waterhouse, Treasurer.<sup>34</sup> It also appears that the only other officer of Acis LP that ever existed was Frank Waterhouse, Treasurer, Mr. Terry as Portfolio Manager, and someone named Patrick Boyce as Secretary at one time.<sup>35</sup>

30. Mr. Dondero testified that he has decision making authority for the Alleged Debtors but usually delegates that authority to Highland's in-house lawyers, Scott Ellington (General Counsel, Chief Legal Officer, and Partner of Highland) and Isaac Leventon (Assistant General Counsel of Highland) and is rarely involved in "nitty gritty negotiations." Sometimes instructions will come to him from the compliance group headed up by Chief Compliance Officer Thomas Surgent. Additionally, he testified that he signs hundreds of documents per week, and much of what he signs is on advice of counsel and he sometimes even delegates to his assistant the authority to sign his name. As set forth above, Mr. Ellington (who did not testify at the Trial)<sup>36</sup> and Mr. Leventon (who did testify at the Trial) are not officers, directors, or employees of the Alleged Debtors. Mr. Leventon is designated to be the representative for the Alleged Debtors (and testified as a Rule 30(b)(6) witness during pre-Trial discovery)—he explained that this representative-authority derives from the Shared Services Agreement. Mr. Leventon testified that he takes his instructions generally through his direct supervisor, Mr. Ellington, although Highland partners can ask him to perform legal services for any of Highland’s 2,000 entities.

C. Transfers and Transactions Involving the Alleged Debtors Since the Litigation with Mr. Terry Commenced—and Especially After the Arbitration Award.

31. Below is a listing of some (but not necessarily all) of the transfers and transactions that the Alleged Debtors, Highland, and related parties undertook after the litigation with Mr. Terry commenced.

- (a) Acis LP’s Sale to Highland of a “Participation Interest” in its CLO Cash Flow Stream. On October 7, 2016 (approximately one month after the litigation arose among Mr. Terry, Highland, and the Alleged Debtors), Acis LP sold to Highland a participation interest in its expected future cash flow from the CLO Collateral Management Agreements—specifically, it sold a portion of the cash flow it expected to earn from November 2016 to August 2019 (not the full life of the CLOs), for $666,655 cash, plus a $12,666,446 note payable from Highland to <sup>36</sup> Mr. Ellington did testify at a hearing in the bankruptcy court on February 6, 2018—which the parties asked this court to take judicial notice of—and also provided deposition testimony that was submitted into evidence. See Exh. 25.

Acis LP (hereinafter, the “Acis LP Note Receivable from Highland”). Mr. Dondero signed the purchase and sale agreement for both purchaser and seller.<sup>37</sup> Mr. Dondero signed the Acis LP Note Receivable from Highland, which accrued interest at 3% per annum. It appears that the $666,665 cash down payment was actually paid, and a payment required on the Acis LP Note Receivable from Highland of $3,370,694 on May 31, 2017, was actually made. The Acis LP Note Receivable from Highland was payable in three installments, with a $5,286,243 payment required on May 31, 2018, and a $4,677,690 payment required on May 31, 2019. When viewed in complete isolation, this transaction does not necessarily appear problematic. Although there was evidence that Acis LP had been managing the five CLOs for about $10 million per year of fees, some of the recitals in the purchase and sale agreement suggest that there may have been a sound business reason for the transaction and the arbitration panel,<sup>38</sup> viewing this transaction in isolation, did not think it was necessarily problematic or actionable. In any event, Highland is adamant it was a net neutral transaction.

- (b) Transfer of Acis LP’s interest in ALF. Recall that ALF was the entity that held equity (i.e., the subordinated notes) in the CLO special purpose vehicles, and held voting rights and was a capital provider to the overall risk retention structure supporting the CLOs. And Acis LP, in turn, held a 15% indirect interest in ALF. On October 24, 2017 (four days after the Arbitration Award), Acis, LP entered into an agreement with ALF whereby ALF acquired back the shares that Acis LP indirectly held in ALF (966,679 shares) for the sum of $991,180.13.<sup>39</sup> No credible business justification was offered for this transaction, other than mostly uncorroborated (and self-serving) statements from Highland witnesses that Acis LP was “toxic” in the market place (due to the litigation with Mr. Terry) and this was a step in the process of extricating Acis LP from the CLO business.<sup>40</sup> The court finds the testimony about Acis LP’s toxicity in the marketplace to not be credible or at all convincing. For one thing, a new CLO (Acis CLO 2017-7, Ltd.) was closed on April 10, 2017 with Acis LP as the portfolio manager. Moreover, Acis LP subcontracts all of its CLO management function to Highland—and there was no evidence to suggest that anyone in the marketplace at this juncture differentiates between Acis LP (whose president is Mr. Dondero) and Highland (whose president is Mr. Dondero). In any event, the October 24, 2017 transaction had the highly consequential effect of making Acis LP “noncompliant” or unable to continue serving as a CLO manager for regulatory purposes for any new CLOs or reset CLOs (or for a refinancing of any of the Highland CLOs that had been created after December 2014)<sup>41</sup> because aspects of the federal Dodd Frank legislation require CLO managers to have “skin in the game” with regard to the CLOs they manage (i.e., they must retain at least 5% of CLOs they manage). Mr. Akada, who testified that he had been involved with the CLO business from the beginning and that the CLO team reported to him (including Mr. Terry before his termination), testified that he had no knowledge of this particular transaction. The document effectuating this transaction was signed by Frank Waterhouse, Treasurer for and on behalf of Acis LP, acting by its general partner, Acis GP/LLC.<sup>42</sup>

- (c) ALF Next Decides to Jettison Acis, LP as its Portfolio Manager and Replace it with a new Highland Cayman Island Entity. On October 27, 2017 (seven days after the Arbitration Award), ALF—having purchased back the ownership interest that Acis LP had in it, just three days earlier—decided that it would no longer use Acis LP as its portfolio manager and entered into a new portfolio management agreement to supersede and replace the ALF Portfolio Management Agreement. Specifically, on October 27, 2017, ALF entered into a new Portfolio Management Agreement with a Cayman Island entity called Highland HCF Advisor, Ltd., replacing Acis LP in its role with ALF.<sup>43</sup> This agreement appears to have been further solidified in a second portfolio management agreement dated November 15, 2017.<sup>44</sup>
- (d) The Acis LP Note Receivable from Highland is Transferred from Acis LP to Yet Another Highland Cayman Island Entity. On November 3, 2017 (10 days after the Arbitration Award), Acis LP assigned and transferred its interests in the Acis LP Note Receivable from Highland—which at that point had a balance owing of over $9.5 million—to a Highland Cayman Island entity known as Highland CLO

Management Ltd. which apparently was created sometime recently to be the new collateral manager of the CLOs (in other words, the new Acis LP).<sup>45</sup> The Assignment and Transfer Agreement memorializing this transaction is signed by Mr. Dondero for Acis LP and Mr. Dondero for Highland and some undecipherable name for Highland CLO Management Ltd.<sup>46</sup> The document recites that (i) Highland is no longer willing to continue providing support services to Acis LP, (ii) Acis LP, therefore, can no longer fulfill its duties as a collateral manager, and (iii) Highland CLO Management Ltd. agrees to step into the collateral manager role if Acis LP will assign to it the Acis LP Note Receivable from Highland. One more thing: since Acis LP was expected to potentially incur future legal and accounting/administrative fees, and might not have the ability to pay them when due, Highland CLO Management Ltd. agreed to reimburse Acis LP (or pays its vendors directly) up to $2 million of future legal expenses and up to $1 million of future accounting/administrative expenses.<sup>47</sup>

- (e) Various Additional Transactions that further Transitioned CLO Management and Fees Away from Acis LP to Highland Cayman Island Entity. On December 19, 2017—just one day after the Arbitration Award was confirmed with the entry of the Final Judgment—the vehicle that can most easily be described as the Acis LP “risk retention structure” (necessitated by federal Dodd Frank law) was transferred away from Acis LP and into the ownership of Highland CLO

Holdings, Ltd. (yet another Cayman Island entity, incorporated on October 27, 2017<sup>48</sup>).

- (f) In addition to transferring Acis LP's interest in the Acis LP risk retention structure on December 19, 2017, Acis LP also transferred its contractual right to receive management fees for Acis CLO 2017-7, Ltd. (which had just closed April 10, 2017), which Mr. Terry credibly testified had a combined value of $5 million, to Highland CLO Holdings, Ltd., another Cayman entity, purportedly in exchange for forgiveness of a $2.8 million receivable that was owed to Highland under the most recent iteration of the Shared Services Agreement and Sub-Advisory Agreement for CLO-7.<sup>49</sup> In conjunction with this transfer, Highland CLO Holdings, Ltd. then entered into new Shared Services and Sub-Advisory Agreements with Highland.<sup>50</sup>
- (g) Change of Equity Owners of the Alleged Debtors. When Acis LP was first formed, it was owned by one general partner (Acis GP/LLC, with a .1% interest) and it had three limited partners: (a) Dugaboy Investment Trust (a Dondero family trust of which either Mr. Dondero or his sister, Nancy Dondero, have been the Trustee at all relevant times) with a 59.9% interest; (b) Mr. Terry with a 25% interest; and (c) Mr. Akada with a 15% interest. When Acis GP/LLC was formed

(i.e., the .1% owner of Acis LP), its sole member was the Dugaboy Investment Trust. After Mr. Terry was terminated by Highland, his 25% limited partnership interest in Acis LP was forfeited and divided among the two remaining limited partners: Mr. Akada (increasing his interest by 10% up to 25%), and Dugaboy Investment Trust (increasing its interest by 15% up to 74.9%). But, more importantly, on the day after entry of Mr. Terry's Final Judgment (i.e., on December 18, 2017), both Mr. Akada and Dugaboy Investment Trust conveyed their entire limited partnership interests in Acis LP—25% and 74.9%, respectively—to a Cayman Island entity called Neutra, Ltd., a Cayman Islands exempted company. Dugaboy Investment Trust also conveyed its 100% membership interest in Acis GP/LLC to Neutra, Ltd. Mr. Akada testified that he did this on advice of counsel. He also did not dispute that he had made millions of dollars of equity dividends from his equity investment in Acis LP in recent years<sup>51</sup>—which he conveyed away for no consideration on December 18, 2017.

- (h) The Intended Reset of Acis CLO 2014-3. With all of the above maneuverings having been accomplished, Highland was posed to do a reset on Acis CLO 2014-3 in February 2018 (until Mr. Terry filed the Involuntary Petitions). The investment bank Mizuho Securities USA, LLC was engaged November 15, 2017<sup>52</sup> and a final offering circular was issued in January 2018<sup>53</sup>—contemplating a reset of Acis CLO 20-14-3 with the recently created Highland CLO Management Ltd.

Identified as the new portfolio manager, rather than Acis LP. The act of implementing a reset on the CLO was not in itself suspect. However, the reset would, of course, have the effect of depriving Acis LP from a valuable asset—an agreement that could realistically be expected to provide millions of dollars of future collateral management fees—coincidentally (or not) just after Mr. Terry obtained his large judgment.

D. Findings Regarding Credibility of Witnesses.

32. The court found the testimony of Mr. Terry to be very credible. He was very familiar with the financial condition of the Alleged Debtors, since he presided over the business of the Alleged Debtors from their inception until June 9, 2016, and has also closely followed publicly available information regarding the companies since his termination. Mr. Terry credibly testified that the Alleged Debtors have never had a significant number of creditors, since most of the Alleged Debtors' vendors are engaged by and send their invoices to Highland, and Highland simply obtains reimbursement from the Alleged Debtors (and other entities in the Highland family), as its in-house lawyers determine is appropriate, through the Shared Services Agreement and Sub-Advisory Agreement. Thus, Highland should at all times be the Alleged Debtors' main creditor. The court finds that Mr. Terry had a good faith belief that the Alleged Debtors had only a handful of creditors (maybe four or so) besides him and Highland. The court also finds that Mr. Terry—at the time he filed the Involuntary Petitions—had a good faith belief that the Alleged Debtors and those controlling them were engaged in an orchestrated, sophisticated effort to denude the Alleged Debtors of their assets and value (i.e., transferring assets and rights for less than reasonably equivalent value), which started with intensity after issuance of the Arbitration Award (if not sooner).<sup>54</sup>

33. The court found the testimony of almost all of the witnesses for the Alleged Debtors to be of questionable reliability and, oftentimes, there seemed to be an effort to convey plausible deniability. For example, sometimes business decisions concerning the Alleged Debtors were said to have been made by a “collective,” and other times the in-house Highland lawyers (who, of course, are not themselves officers or employees of Acis LP and Acis GP/LLC) stressed that Mr. Dondero (the president and manager of the two entities) had ultimate decision making authority for them. Meanwhile, Mr. Dondero testified that, while he has decision making authority at Acis LP, he usually delegates to Highland’s in-house lawyers Scott Ellington and Isaac Leventon. He testified that he signs hundreds of documents per week and often must rely on information of others when signing. Additionally, Mr. Dondero (again, the President of each of the Alleged Debtors) testified that he had never even read the Arbitration Award. While Mr. Dondero is the chief executive of a multi-billion dollar international investment company, and naturally has widespread responsibilities and must delegate to and rely upon others including lawyers, this court simply does not believe that he never read the Arbitration Award. The court perceived the animosity between Mr. Dondero and Mr. Terry to be rather enormous and Mr. Dondero even testified (as did others) that the litigation with Mr. Terry was hurting Acis LP and Highland in the CLO marketplace (i.e., no investors or underwriters wanting to be associated with the Acis brand).<sup>55</sup> If that were the case, it strains credulity to suggest Mr. Dondero never even read the Arbitration Award.

34. As mentioned earlier, in December 2017, Acis GP/LLC became 100% owned by a Cayman Island entity known as Neutra, Ltd. (whose beneficial owner is a Dondero family trust) and Acis LP became 99.9% owned by Neutra, Ltd. The directors of Acis GP/LLC and Acis LP are provided to it now by an entity known as “Maples Fiduciary Services”—another Cayman Island entity, but the Highland Assistant General Counsel could not remember the names of those directors provided to Acis GP/LLC and Acis LP, except for perhaps one. Mr. Dondero, when questioned about some of the recent transactions pertaining to Acis LP, testified that there were tax reasons—tax lawyers recommended the recent transactions and transfers. No tax lawyers testified. Mr. Dondero also testified that certain transactions were at the directive of the Thomas Surgent group (the Highland chief compliance officer). Neither Mr. Surgent nor anyone else from the compliance group testified.

35. Meanwhile, Mr. Akada, who, while testifying, seemed like a generally lovely person and seemed as knowledgeable as a human being could possibly be on the topic of CLOs generally, had no idea if he was an officer or director of the Alleged Debtors, nor did he know whom its officers were. He could not testify as to the meaning of certain transactions in which Acis LP had engaged in during recent weeks and said that he signed certain documents on advice of counsel. He also could not even testify as to whether Highland was opposing the Involuntary Petitions.

36. Again, there was a lot of plausible deniability at Trial as to the “whos” and “whys” for the recent maneuverings involving the Alleged Debtors assets and rights in the weeks since the Arbitration Award. The one thing that the court was wholly convinced of was that conflicts of interest among Highland and the Alleged Debtors abound, and no one is looking out for the interests of the Alleged Debtors as a fiduciary should.

37. The Alleged Debtors do not dispute Mr. Terry's claim for the purposes of counting creditors under section 303(b) of the Bankruptcy Code. However, Mr. Terry asserts that the Alleged Debtors have fewer than 12 creditors, and the Alleged Debtors dispute this fact. Specifically, the Alleged Debtors initially filed on January 31, 2018, a Notice of List of Creditors Pursuant to Fed. R. Bankr. P. 1003(b) signed by Mr. Dondero listing 18 creditors (the "Original Notice of Creditors").<sup>57</sup> The Alleged Debtors subsequently filed on February 5, 2018, a First Amended Notice of List of Creditors Pursuant to Fed. R. Bankr. P. 1003(b) signed by Mr. Leventon listing 19 creditors (the "First Amended Notice of Creditors").<sup>58</sup> Finally, the Alleged Debtors filed on March 6, 2018, a Second Amended Notice of List of Creditors Pursuant to Fed. R. Bank. P. 1003(b) signed by Mr. Leventon listing 20 creditors (the "Second Amended List of Creditors").<sup>59</sup> The following chart summarizes the name, amount, and nature of the 20 creditors listed by the Alleged Debtors in their Second Amended List of Creditors.

---

<sup>56</sup> The court notes that neither Mr. Terry nor the Alleged Debtors attempted to differentiate between the creditors of Acis GP/LLC versus the creditors of Acis LP, but rather presented evidence regarding the collective number of creditors for both of the Alleged Debtors. This seems legally appropriate, since Acis LP is the entity that incurred most of the debt, and ACIS GP/LLC would be liable on such debt as the general partner of Acis LP.

38. First, the court believes it necessary to remove certain insider creditor claims, which are required not to be counted pursuant to section 303(b)(2) of the Bankruptcy Code.<sup>61</sup> This would clearly include Highland (the Alleged Debtors do not dispute this).

40. Next, the court finds that there are certain creditors included in the “Law Firm Vendor” category (e.g., experts, data hosting, document managers, court reporters) that are really creditors of the individual law firms and/or Highland, and that these law firm vendor creditors should not be considered creditors of the Alleged Debtors. For these, there was no evidence of a direct contractual obligation on the part of either the Alleged Debtors or Highland—although the court certainly understands that, when the law firms would retain vendors, they would bill these to either the Alleged Debtors or Highland as an expense to be reimbursed. Most of these were already eliminated with agreement of the Alleged Debtors but, from the remaining list of creditors, this would include David Langford (a Dallas County court reporter).<sup>66</sup> To be clear, while the individual law firm creditors may ultimately have a right to reimbursement for these vendor expenses from Highland (who may then potentially have a right to reimbursement from the Alleged Debtors via the Shared Services and Sub-Advisory Agreements), the court does not find this vendor to have a claim directly against the Alleged Debtors for purposes of section 303(b) of the Bankruptcy Code.

41. Next, as to the Stanton Law Firm, the court finds that this creditor should also be removed from the pool of creditors that “count,” for section 303(b) purposes, since this claim appears to be the subject of a “bona fide dispute as to liability or amount,”<sup>67</sup> based on the evidence presented at the Trial. First, there was no engagement letter between either of the Alleged Debtors and the Stanton Law Firm produced.<sup>68</sup> Second, the heavily redacted invoice of the Stanton Law Firm dated October 18, 2016 shows only that it was relating to the “Joshua Terry Matter” and that it was billed to Highland.<sup>69</sup> Third, the Responses and Objections to Mr. Terry’s Notice of Intention to Take Depositions by Written Questions sent to the Stanton Law Firm<sup>70</sup> provides the following responses:

Question No. 11: What is the total amount of debt Acis Capital Management L.P. to the Firm. is liable to the Firm.

Answer: Acis Capital Management L.P.’s debt to the Firm is unknown at this time.

Question No. 12: What is the total amount of debt Acis Capital Management GP, LLC is liable for to the firm?

Answer: Acis Capital Management GP, LLC to the Firm is unknown at this time.

Question No. 13: Is any other party also liable for the debt of Acis Capital Management L.P. to the Firm? If so, please state the liable party and portion of Acis Capital Management L.P. debt the other party is liable for to the Firm.

<sup>68</sup> Rather, there is only an engagement letter between Lackey Hershman LLP (acting on behalf of its client, Highland) and Stanton Advisors LLC to act as an expert in the Terry litigation. See Exh. 144. As previously noted, the claim of Stanton Advisors LLC was removed from the creditor list by agreement of the Alleged Debtors.

Answer: Whether any other party is also liable to the firm for the debt of Acis Capital Management, L.P. is unknown at this time.

Question No. 14: Is any other party also liable for the debt of Acis Capital Management GP, LLC to Firm? If so, please state the liable party and portion of Acis Capital Management GP, LLC debt the other party is liable for to the Firm.

Answer: Whether any other party is also liable for the debt of Acis Capital Management GP, LLC is unknown at this time. . . .

Question No. 21: Does the Firm currently represent Acis Capital Management, L.P.? If so, please state the representation.

Answer: Based on Acis's assertion that this question calls for information protected by the attorney-client privilege, the Firm cannot answer this question at this time.

Question No. 22: Does the Firm currently represent Acis Capital Management GP, LLC? If so, please state the representation?

Answer: Based on Acis's assertion that this question calls for information protected by the attorney-client privilege, the Firm cannot answer this question at this time. . . .<sup>71</sup>

The court finds that this evidence demonstrates that the claim of the Stanton Law Firm is the subject of a bona fide dispute as to either liability or amount and should not be counted since there is no real way of even knowing who the Stanton Law Firm was engaged by and, thus, whether the Alleged Debtors are even responsible for these alleged legal fees. The court would also specifically refer to the testimony of Mr. Leventon, the in-house lawyer employed by Highland who was in charge of allocating all of the bills that came into Highland's legal invoicing system, where he described a process in which all legal bills relating to the "Terry Matter" would automatically be assigned to the Alleged Debtors, without any real regard to whether the particular law firm had even been engaged by the Alleged Debtors or if whether the representation was actually relating to one of the other parties in the Terry litigation (e.g., Highland, Mr. Dondero, etc.). Accordingly, the court finds that there is a bona fide dispute as to whether the Alleged Debtors are actually liable for the Stanton Law Firm legal fees and that they should not be counted as a creditor for purposes of section 303(b) of the Bankruptcy Code.<sup>72</sup>

42. Thus, it appears, at most, that there are 11 creditors<sup>73</sup> of the Alleged Debtors as set forth in the chart below:

<sup>73</sup> The court notes that, in all likelihood, the list of creditors that should be tallied for purposes of section 303(b) may actually be less than 11, because certain of the remaining creditors (i.e., Drexel Limited, Highfield Equities, Inc., Lackey Hershman LLP, and David Simek) received payments during the 90 days preceding the Petition Date—and, thus, arguably should not be counted as creditors pursuant to section 303(b) of the Bankruptcy Code (which instructs that transferees of voidable transfers should not be counted). See, e.g., Exh. 124 & Exh. 131. Additionally, certain of the remaining law firm creditors that are owed legal fees are also creditors of Highland and Highland-affiliates, not just the Alleged Debtors. To elaborate, many of these law firm creditors were employed to represent not only the Alleged Debtors, but also Highland and Highland-affiliates, so there may be an actual dispute as to the allocation of these legal fees among Highland and the Alleged Debtors (thus there could be bona fide disputes as to the amounts allocated by Highland's in-house lawyers to the Alleged Debtors). See, e.g., Ex. 123 (McKool Smith, P.C. engagement letter referencing representation of numerous parties) & Exhibit 90 (Reid Collins & Tsai's Answers and Objections to Mr. Terry's Deposition by Written Questions, questions 13 & 14, stating that based upon allocation determinations to be made by Highland, other individuals may be liable for the full amount of the debt including Acis LP, Highland, Mr. Dondero, and Mr. Okada).

43. Finally, on the topic of creditor numerosity, the court further finds that the evidence strongly suggested hurried manufacturing of creditors on the part of the Alleged Debtors and Highland, in order to bolster an argument that having a sole petitioning creditor was legally inadequate in this case.<sup>75</sup> For example, the Klos Declaration and other information, that was provided to State Court 2 and in discovery, only days before the Involuntary Petitions were filed, <sup>74</sup> Mr. Terry has also argued that certain of the law firm creditors (McKool Smith, P.C., Lackey Hershman, LLP, and Reid Collins & Tsai) are “insiders” that must be excluded from the creditor list pursuant to section 303(b) of the Bankruptcy Code. While there may be some support in case law for such an argument, Mr. Terry would ultimately need to show by a preponderance of the evidence that the law firms exercised such control or influence over the Alleged Debtors as to render their transactions not at arm’s length. See In re CorrLine Intern., LLC, 516 B.R. 106, 157-58 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. 2014) (citing to Kepler v. Schmalbach (In re Lemanski), 56 B.R. 981, 983 (Bankr.W.D.Wis.1986)). See also In re Holloway, 955 F.2d 1008, 1011 (5th Cir. 1992) (in evaluating whether insider status existed for purposes of evaluating alleged fraudulent conveyance court considered (1) the closeness of the relationship between the transferee and the debtor; and (2) whether the transactions between the transferee and the debtor were conducted at arm’s length). Because there was no evidence suggesting abuse or control by these law firm creditors, nor was there any evidence that would suggest that their dealings with the Alleged Debtors were anything but arm’s length, the court finds that these law firm creditors should not be excluded from the creditor list as “insiders” pursuant to section 303(b) of the Bankruptcy Code.

seemed to show only a small number of creditors of Acis LP—Mr. Terry credibly testified that he thought there were less than 12 creditors based on his review of such information, as well as his understanding of the Alleged Debtors’ business. Yet, only a few days later, the Alleged Debtors filed their Original Notice of Creditors, which showed 18 creditors, which was amended twice to add another creditor and then yet another. This simply does not jive in the court’s mind and supports this court’s belief that the Alleged Debtors were scurrying to determine which Highland creditors might cogently be painted as Acis LP creditors—so as to preclude Mr. Terry from being able to file the Involuntary Petitions as the single, petitioning creditor.

F. Evidence Regarding Whether the Alleged Debtors are Generally Not Paying Debts as They Become Due (Unless Such Debts are the Subject of a Bona Fide Dispute as to Liability or Amount).

44. The evidence submitted reflects that, for the 11 creditors identified above, 9 out of 11 have unpaid invoices that were more than 90 days old. The remaining 2 of the 11 were McKool Smith, P.C. (current counsel for the Alleged Debtors) and the Petitioning Creditor.<sup>76</sup> The court makes findings with regard to each of the 11 creditors below—focusing specifically on whether the Alleged Debtors have been paying these creditors as their debts have become due.

45. First, with regard to Andrews Kurth & Kenyon (“AKK”), the evidence reflected that out of the $211,088.13 allegedly owed by Acis LP to AKK, the great majority of it—$173,448.42—was invoiced on November 16, 2016<sup>77</sup> (more than 14 months before the Petition Date). Other, smaller amounts were invoiced on a monthly basis in each of the months August 2017, September 2017, October 2017, November 2017, and December 2017. Although requested in discovery, no engagement letter for AKK was produced and AKK represented in written discovery that, to its knowledge, none existed.<sup>78</sup> The court notes anecdotally that AKK's invoices (although allegedly related to Acis LP legal matters) were addressed to Highland.<sup>79</sup> In any event, AKK represented that both the Alleged Debtors and Highland are jointly and severally liable for the fees owed to it.<sup>80</sup> AKK also represented that, to its knowledge, the amounts owing to it by Acis LP and Highland are not disputed.<sup>81</sup> AKK also represented that it has not provided legal work on a contingency basis for the Alleged Debtors or Highland.<sup>82</sup> The court makes a logical inference that AKK expected timely payment of its invoices—the largest of which was dated more than 14 months prior to the Petition Date—and, thus, it has generally not been paid timely.

46. Next, with regard to Drexel Limited, the Petitioning Creditor concedes that its $6,359.96 indebtedness (which is a fee rebate owing to it) is not past-due.

47. Next, with regard to Highfield Equities, Inc., the Petitioning Creditor concedes that its $2,510.04 indebtedness (which is also a fee rebate owing to it) is not past-due.

48. Next, with regard to the Jones Day law firm, the $368.75 indebtedness owed to it is well more than 90 days old. Specifically, there is a six-and-a-half-month old invoice dated July 19, 2017 invoice in the amount of $118.75, and two five-month old invoices dated August 30, 2017 (both in the amount of $150).<sup>83</sup> The court makes a logical inference that Jones Day expected timely payment of its invoices prior to the Petition Date and, thus, it has generally not been paid timely.

49. Next with regard to the Petitioning Creditor, Mr. Terry, the court notes that his liquidated claim in the amount of $8,060,827.84 first arose with the final Arbitration Award on October 20, 2017 (although such award was not confirmed by State Court 2 until December 18, 2017). The judgment was unstayed as of the January 30, 2018 Petition Date, although the Alleged Debtors state that they still desire to appeal it—as difficult as that is in the situation of an arbitration award. The court makes a logical inference that the Alleged Debtors had, on the Petition Date, no intention of paying this claim any time soon based on their conduct after the Arbitration Award—although the Arbitration Award had only been in existence for three-and-a-half months as of the Petition Date. The cash in the Alleged Debtors’ bank accounts is wholly insufficient to cover the Arbitration Award and, meanwhile, corporate transactions have been ongoing to ensure that no cash streams will be coming into Acis LP in the future in the same way that they have in the past. Thus, this court finds that this large claim, as of the Petition Date, was not being paid timely.

50. Next with regard to KPMG LLP, the $34,000 indebtedness owed to it was for the service of auditing Acis LP’s financial statements, pursuant to an engagement letter with it dated March 1, 2017.<sup>84</sup> KPMG’s engagement letter reflected a $40,000 flat fee was agreed to by Acis LP for the service, of which 40% was due October 2017 (i.e., $16,000), with another 45% was due in January 2018 ($18,000), and the remaining 15% would be due at the time that a final bill was sent. Acis LP has only paid $6,000 of the agreed upon amount—meaning $28,000 was overdue as of the January 30, 2018 Petition Date (with $10,000 of that being four months past due). The court makes a logical inference that KPMG LLP expected payment of its audit fees in accordance with its engagement letter and, thus, it has generally not been paid timely.

51. Next with regard to Lackey Hershman LLP, the $236,977.54 indebtedness owed to it was for legal services provided to the Alleged Debtors and Highland in connection with the arbitration and litigation with Mr. Terry. No engagement letter was provided, but the invoices for their services are all directed to Highland.<sup>85</sup> The evidence reflected that three invoices had not been paid as of the Petition Date: an October 31, 2017 invoice in the amount of $56,909.53; a November 30, 2017 invoice setting forth new fees in the amount of $84,789.83; and a December 31, 2017 invoice setting forth new fees in the amount of $95,278.18.<sup>86</sup> The court makes a logical inference that Lackey Hershman LLP expected prompt payment on its invoices (if nothing else, the statement on its invoice indicating “Total now due”)<sup>87</sup> and, thus, it has generally not been paid timely.

52. Next with regard to Reid Collins & Tsai LLP, the $17,383.75 indebtedness owed to it was billed in an invoice dated August 31, 2017, indicating an August 31, 2017 “Due Date” (five months before the Petition Date).<sup>88</sup> Although requested in discovery, no engagement letter for this firm was produced and Reid Collins & Tsai LLP in fact represented in written discovery that none existed.<sup>89</sup> Moreover, written discovery propounded on the law firm indicated that, while Acis LP was liable on this debt, other parties including Acis GP/LLC, Highland, Mr.

Dondero, the Dugaboy Trust, and Mr. Akada might also be liable for the full amount of the debt—subject to Highland’s allocation determinations.<sup>90</sup> Based on this evidence, the court makes a logical inference that Reid Collins & Tsai LLP generally has not been paid timely.

53. Next with regard to CT Corporation and the $517.12 indebtedness that the Alleged Debtors represent is owed, CT Corporation asserts that $4,074.84 is, in fact, owed to it by Acis LP and Acis GP/LLC.<sup>91</sup> CT Corporation also believes Highland has liability for the Alleged Debtors’ indebtedness.<sup>92</sup> CT Corporation also believes the amount owed to it is undisputed.<sup>93</sup> CT Corporation further represents that its invoices are due upon receipt.<sup>94</sup> CT Corporation produced several invoices in discovery, all showing due upon receipt, and one was dated as far back as December 31, 2016 (in the amount of $932).<sup>95</sup> Based on this evidence, the court makes a logical inference that CT Corporation expected prompt payment on its invoices and, thus, has not been paid timely.

54. Next with regard to David Simek, the Petitioning Creditor concedes that his $1,233.19 indebtedness (which is apparently an expense reimbursement relating to some consulting) is not past-due.

55. In summary, the evidence reflects that the creditors of the Alleged Debtors are generally not being paid timely (except for perhaps four that are relatively insignificant and which may also be able to look to Highland for payment).<sup>96</sup>

56. Further on the topic of timeliness, Mr. Leventon (Highland's in-house Assistant General Counsel) testified that 96% of bills submitted get paid more than 90 days after they are submitted, that approximately 70% of bills are later than 120 days after they are submitted, and some are even later than 150 days. Mr. Leventon testified that this was a result of Acis LP receiving cash on a quarterly basis from the CLOs. He further elaborated and testified that, for example, if Acis LP got cash on say February 1st, and it received a legal bill on that same day, that he would probably not approve it and allocate it until say February 8th. By that time, Acis LP would have already used up all its cash, and that particular creditor would need to wait until the next quarterly payment was received in order to be paid. He further testified that he explained this to law firms before their engagements and that, if they wanted the business, they would need to understand the process. There are several things the court finds problematic about this testimony. First, no testimony was offered showing that this was, in fact, the understanding of the law firms or other creditors, and, moreover, none of the engagement letters or invoices submitted into evidence reflect such payment terms. Without this additional evidence, the court believes that the Alleged Debtors' testimony regarding how it paid invoices was mostly self-serving and did not support a finding that the Alleged Debtors were generally paying their debts

<sup>96</sup> Courts have also held that a debtor is generally not paying its debts as they become due when a debtor is found to have been transferring assets so as to avoid paying creditors. See, e.g., In re Moss, 249 B.R. 411, 423 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 2000) (bankruptcy court determined that an alleged debtor was not paying its debts as they came due when the alleged debtor "attempted to delay creditors through the transfers of assets she has made," concluding that "[the alleged debtor's] overall conduct of her financial affairs has been poor"). This court has also found that there may have been significant transfers of the Alleged Debtors' assets prior to the filing of the Involuntary Petitions to potentially avoid paying creditors (i.e., Mr. Terry) and this may provide further support for the court's finding that the Alleged Debtors are generally not paying their debts as they become due under section 303(h).

as they became due.<sup>97</sup> Second, to the extent Mr. Leventon's testimony demonstrates that creditors of the Alleged Debtors expected to be paid on a quarterly basis (at the latest), certain of the remaining 11 creditors have debts that are significantly older than four months (i.e., CT Corporation, Jones Day, AKK, and possibly even Reid Collins & Tsai LLP). Third, the Financial Statements of Acis LP submitted into evidence do not support the notion that the cash balances at Acis LP were only sufficient enough to pay vendors once every quarter.<sup>98</sup> For example, the balance sheet for January 31, 2017 shows a cash balance in Acis LP bank accounts of $1,061,663.19; the balance sheet for February 28, 2017 shows a cash balance in Acis LP bank accounts of $905,212.36; the balance sheet for March 31, 2017 shows a cash balance in Acis LP bank accounts of $525,626.59; the balance sheet for April 30, 2017 shows a cash balance in Acis LP bank accounts of $117,885.96; the balance sheet for May 31, 2017 shows a cash balance in Acis LP bank accounts of $62,733.31; the balance sheet for June 30, 2017 shows a cash balance in Acis LP bank accounts of $10,329.15; the balance sheet for July 31, 2017 shows a cash balance in Acis LP bank accounts of $701,904.39; the balance sheet for August 31, 2017 shows a cash balance in Acis LP bank accounts of $332,847.05.<sup>99</sup> In summary, while there may be cash fluctuations with Acis LP, there is not a clear pattern of Acis LP being only able to pay vendors once every quarter.

<sup>97</sup> See In re Trans-High Corp., 3 B.R. 1, 2-3 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 1980) (bankruptcy court found that evidence showing that the petitioning creditor gave the debtor generous terms of payment (90 days) which were substantially better than the terms set forth in the actual writings between the parties supported finding that the alleged debtors were generally paying debts as they became due and that the involuntary petition must be dismissed).

II. Conclusions of Law

Section 303 of the Bankruptcy Code sets forth the various requirements for initiating an involuntary bankruptcy case. First, pursuant to section 303(b) of the Bankruptcy Code, an involuntary case may be filed against a person by the filing with the bankruptcy court of a petition under Chapter 7—

(1) by three or more entities, each of which is either a holder of a claim against such person that is not contingent as to liability or the subject of a bona fide dispute as to liability or amount ... [that] aggregate at least $15,775 more than the value of any lien on property of the debtor securing such claims held by the holders of such claims;

(2) if there are fewer than 12 such holders, excluding any employee or insider of such person and any transferee of a transfer that is voidable under section 544, 545, 547, 548, 549, or 724(a) of this title, by one or more of such holders that hold in the aggregate at least $15,775 of such claims . . .<sup>100</sup>

Thus, if there are twelve or more eligible creditors holding qualified claims on the Petition Date, three or more entities must participate in the involuntary filing and must hold unsecured claims aggregating $15,775.00. If there are less than twelve creditors, a single creditor with an unsecured claim of $15,775.00 may file the involuntary petition. To the extent a bankruptcy court finds that the requisite number of petitioning creditors have commenced the involuntary case, the court shall order relief against the debtor under the chapter under which the petition was filed only if “the debtor is generally not paying such debtor’s debts as such debts become due unless such debts are the subject of a bona fide dispute as to liability or amount.”<sup>101</sup>

Here, as noted earlier, the Alleged Debtors have made four arguments as to why an order for relief should not be entered against the Alleged Debtors: (1) the Alleged Debtors have 12 or more creditors, and, thus, with Mr. Terry being the sole petitioning creditor, the Involuntary Petitions were not commenced by the requisite number of creditors; (2) the Alleged Debtors are generally paying their debts as they become due; (3) the Involuntary Petitions were filed in bad faith by Mr. Terry; (4) the interests of creditors and the debtors would be better served by dismissal and the court should abstain pursuant to section 305 of the Bankruptcy Code.

A. *Have the Requisite Number of Creditors Commenced the Involuntary Proceedings?

Pursuant to section 303(b)(2) of the Bankruptcy Code, a sole petitioning creditor holding at least $15,775 in claims can initiate an involuntary bankruptcy case so long as the alleged debtors have fewer than 12 creditors. After the Second Amended List of Creditors was filed, Mr. Terry had the burden, by a preponderance of the evidence, of showing that the Alleged Debtors actually had less than 12 qualified creditors.<sup>102</sup> Here, the court has found that the Alleged Debtors have, at most, 11 qualified creditors.<sup>103</sup> Accordingly, Mr. Terry has met his burden of showing that the Alleged Debtors have less than 12 creditors for section 303(b) purposes, and that he, as the sole petitioning creditor, was permitted to file the Involuntary Petitions. While Mr. Terry has made additional arguments as to why certain of these 11 creditors should not be counted as creditors for purposes of section 303(b) of the Bankruptcy Code, the court does not believe it necessary to address these arguments at this time.<sup>104</sup>

<sup>103</sup> To be clear, the court believes that even on these 11, there are likely bona fide disputes as to the liability or amount that Acis LP has—as opposed to the liability or amount that Highland or other insiders bear responsibility.

<sup>104</sup> Moreover, as previously stated, since the court has determined there are fewer than 12 creditors, the court need not address whether there is a “special circumstances” exception to the statutory requirements of section 303, in situations where an alleged debtor may have engaged in fraud, schemes, or artifice to thwart a creditor or creditors. See, e.g., In re Norriss Bros. Lumber Co., 133 B.R. 599 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 1991); In re Moss, 249 B.R. 411 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 2000); In re Smith, 415 B.R. 222 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 2009).

B. Are the Alleged Debtors Generally Paying Their Debts as They Become Due?

Section 303(h) of the Bankruptcy Code requires that a court shall enter order for relief in an involuntary case “if ... (1) the debtor is generally not paying such debtor's debts as such debts become due unless such debts are the subject of a bona fide dispute as to liability or amount . . . .”<sup>105</sup> Again, the burden is on the Petitioning Creditor to prove this element by a preponderance of the evidence.<sup>106</sup> The determination is made as of the filing date of the Involuntary Petitions.<sup>107</sup> In determining whether an alleged debtor is generally paying its debts as they come due, courts typically look to four factors: (i) the number of unpaid claims; (ii) the amount of such claims; (iii) the materiality of the non-payments; and (iv) the nature of the debtor's overall conduct in its financial affairs.<sup>108</sup> No one factor is more meritorious than another; what is most relevant depends on the facts of each case.<sup>109</sup> Courts typically hold that “generally not paying debts” includes regularly missing a significant number of payments or regularly missing payments which are significant in amount in relation to the size of the debtor's operation.<sup>110</sup>

Furthermore, any debt which the alleged debtor is not current on as of the petition date should be considered as a debt not being paid as it became due.<sup>111</sup>

Here, the court concludes that the creditors of the Alleged Debtors—what few there are—are generally not being paid as their debts have become due (except for perhaps four<sup>112</sup> that are relatively insignificant and which may also be able to look to Highland for payment). Mr. Terry has met his burden by a preponderance of the evidence as to section 303(h) of the Bankruptcy Code.

C. With the Section 303 Statutory Requirements Being Met by the Petitioning Creditor, Should the Court, Nonetheless, Dismiss the Involuntary Petitions Because They Were Filed in Bad Faith?

Despite Mr. Terry meeting the necessary statutory requirements for this court to enter orders for relief as to the Alleged Debtors pursuant to section 303 of the Bankruptcy Code, the Alleged Debtors have argued that the Involuntary Petitions must, nonetheless, be dismissed because they were filed in “bad faith” by Mr. Terry. As support for this argument, the Alleged Debtors rely primarily on the Third Circuit’s decision in In re Forever Green Athletic Fields, Inc., 804 F.3d 328 (3d Cir. 2015). While the court certainly acknowledges that authority exists in other circuits that suggests that dismissal of an involuntary bankruptcy case may be appropriate—even when section 303’s statutory requirements have been met—based upon an independent finding of “bad faith,” the court need not ultimately decide the efficacy or applicability of such authority, because the court does not believe that the evidence demonstrated any “bad faith” on the part of Mr. Terry (or his counsel) in filing the Involuntary Petitions. Indeed, the evidence suggested that Mr. Terry and his counsel filed the Involuntary Petitions out of a legitimate concern that Highland was dismantling and denuding Acis LP of all of its assets and value and that a bankruptcy filing was the most effective and efficient way to preserve value for the Acis LP creditors. The court concludes that Mr. Terry was wholly justified in pursuing the Involuntary Petitions.

D. Should This Court, Nonetheless, Abstain and Dismiss the Involuntary Petitions Pursuant to Section 305 of the Bankruptcy Code?

Section 305(a)(1) of the Bankruptcy Code provides that:

- (a) The court, after notice and a hearing, may dismiss a case under this title, or may suspend all proceedings in a case under this title, at any time if—
- (1) the interests of creditors and the debtor would be better served by such dismissal or suspension; . . .<sup>113</sup>

Courts construing section 305(a)(1) of the Bankruptcy Code have found that abstention in a properly filed bankruptcy case is an extraordinary remedy.<sup>114</sup> Moreover, granting an abstention motion pursuant to section 305(a)(1) of the Bankruptcy Code requires more than a simple balancing of harm to the debtor and creditors; rather, the interests of both the debtor and its creditors must be served by granting the request to abstain.<sup>115</sup> The moving party bears the burden to demonstrate that dismissal benefits the debtor and its creditors.<sup>116</sup> Courts must look to the individual facts of each case to determine whether abstention is appropriate.<sup>117</sup>

Case law has set forth a litany of factors to be considered by the court to gauge the overall best interests of the creditors and the debtor for section 305(a)(1) purposes:

- (1) the economy and efficiency of administration;
- (2) whether another forum is available to protect the interests of both parties or there is already a pending proceeding in state court;
- (3) whether federal proceedings are necessary to reach a just and equitable solution;
- (4) whether there is an alternative means of achieving an equitable distribution of assets;
- (5) whether the debtor and the creditors are able to work out a less expensive out-of-court arrangement which better serves all interests in the case;
- (6) whether a non-federal insolvency has proceeded so far in those proceedings that it would be costly and time consuming to start afresh with the federal bankruptcy process; and
- (7) the purpose for which bankruptcy jurisdiction has been sought.<sup>118</sup>

While all factors are considered, not all are given equal weight in every case and the court should not conduct a strict balancing.<sup>119</sup>

i. Factor 1: The Economy and Efficiency of Administration.

Colo. 2001) (applied a four criteria test in evaluating section 305 abstention which included: (1) the motivation of the parties who sought bankruptcy jurisdiction; (2) whether another forum was available to protect the interests of both parties or there was already a pending proceeding in state court; (3) the economy and efficiency of administration; and (4) the prejudice to the parties). The Alleged Debtors cite to the case of In re Murray, 543 B.R. 484 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2016), in particular, as support for why this court should abstain under section 305(a) of the Bankruptcy Code and dismiss the Involuntary Petitions. However, in Murray, Judge Gerber was analyzing dismissal of an involuntary proceeding pursuant to section 707 of the Bankruptcy Code, more specifically for “cause,” and not based upon abstention under section 305(a) of the Bankruptcy Code. Thus, the court is not convinced Murray is relevant to this court’s section 305 abstention analysis.

The economy and efficiency of administering a case in the bankruptcy court is routinely evaluated in considering abstention under section 305 of the Bankruptcy Code. Here, the evidence suggests that the most economical and efficient forum for these parties to resolve their disputes is the bankruptcy court. The court heard ample evidence that the Alleged Debtors are already, essentially, in the process of being liquidated by Highland. This is not a situation where an ably-functioning, going-concern business is being foisted in disruptive fashion into a bankruptcy.<sup>120</sup> Because of the fact that the Alleged Debtors are already in the process of being liquidated, the bankruptcy court (and not a state court) is the most efficient and economical forum to complete this liquidation and distribute whatever assets remain to creditors in accordance with the distribution scheme set forth in the Bankruptcy Code and with the oversight of a neutral third-party trustee. Thus, with the bankruptcy court being the more economic and efficient forum for administering this case, this factor goes against abstention.

- ii. Factors 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6: Whether Another Forum is Available to Protect the Interests of Both Parties or There is Already a Pending Proceeding in State Court; Whether Federal Proceedings are Necessary to Reach a Just and Equitable Solution; Whether There is an Alternative Means of Achieving an Equitable Distribution of Assets; Whether the Debtor and the Creditors are Able to Work Out a Less Expensive Out-of-Court Arrangement Which Better Serves All Interests in the Case; and Whether a Non-Federal Insolvency Has Proceeded so Far in Those Proceedings That it Would Be Costly and Time Consuming to Start Afresh With the Federal Bankruptcy Process.

<sup>120</sup> See, e.g., In re The Ceiling Fan Distrib., Inc., 37 B.R. 701 (Bankr. M.D. La. 1983) (noting that while the dissection of a living business may not properly be the business of a bankruptcy court, the division of a “carcass” and the reclamation of pre-petition gouging may well be); In re Bos, 561 B.R. 868, 898-99 (Bankr. N.D. Fla. 2016) (citing as one of the reasons to abstain under section 305 of the Bankruptcy Code the fact that entities and subsidiaries under the alleged debtor’s umbrella were still operating successful businesses and had employed more than 500 people); but see Remex Elecs. Ltd. v. Axl Indus., Inc. (In re Axl Indus., Inc.), 127 B.R. 482, 484-86 (S.D. Fla. 1991) (in affirming the bankruptcy court’s decision to dismiss an involuntary bankruptcy case, the district court also found that “the interests of a defunct business enterprise would be little affected by the pendency of a bankruptcy proceeding,” which the district court believed favored abstention).

The court believes that factors 2-6 should be grouped together for purposes of its abstention analysis, since all of these factors specifically touch on the availability of an alternative forum to achieve an equitable distribution.<sup>121</sup> By way of example, where bringing a case into the bankruptcy court would simply add an additional layer of expense to the resolution of a two-party dispute and another forum already provides a suitable place to resolve the dispute, some courts have found that abstention is the more appropriate choice since keeping the case would transform the bankruptcy process into a collection device.<sup>122</sup> Here, the Alleged Debtors have repeatedly argued that, because there is already pending state court litigation involving Mr. Terry, Highland, and the Alleged Debtors, these cases should be dismissed and the parties should go back to state court to resolve their issues. The court does not agree for several reasons.

First, it is worth noting that this court has already heard multiple days of evidence in this case (including almost five days just for the Trial) and would certainly not be “starting afresh” by any means if things go forward in the bankruptcy court. Additionally, while the Alleged Debtors have argued that a significant amount of attorney’s fees have already been spent litigating this case in state court (which they believe supports abstention), the court surmises that these fees have not been wasted dollars, as the money expended by the parties developed discovery of facts that could assist a bankruptcy trustee in pursuing avoidance actions that may be viable and might lead to value that could pay creditors’ claims.<sup>123</sup>

<sup>123</sup> See, e.g., The Ceiling Fan Distributor, Inc., 37 B.R. at 703 (the court noted that, despite there being significant legal expenses in the state court, such expenses were not wasted since the legal work done to date would be quite helpful to a trustee).

Second, this court heard considerable evidence involving potentially voidable transfers that may have occurred involving the Alleged Debtors and Highland/Highland-affiliates and, while the state court certainly provides a forum for eventually bringing fraudulent transfer claims, the court also heard evidence that none of these claims have actually been brought in the state court.<sup>124</sup> Moreover, to the extent fraudulent transfer claims were to be pursued in state court and were successful, the state court would still need the ability to reach the assets of alleged fraudulent transfer recipients (which, in this situation, include certain Highland-affiliates located in the Cayman Islands). The bankruptcy court has concerns whether a state court process could efficiently accomplish this task.<sup>125</sup> Similarly, it is worth noting that, while a request for a receiver was filed in the state court by Mr. Terry, such request had not yet been heard and decided by the state court. Thus, at the present time, it does not appear that there is an alternative forum to address the pertinent issues in this case, without the necessity of significant, additional steps being taken by the parties in the state court.

Third, this court believes that a federal bankruptcy proceeding is necessary in order to achieve an equitable result in this case. Specifically, the court heard evidence from the Alleged Debtors that, if this court chose to abstain and dismiss the Involuntary Petitions, the Alleged Debtors would ultimately pay all of their creditors in full, except for Mr. Terry. This clearly demonstrates how keeping the case in the bankruptcy court is necessary to allow an equitable distribution to all creditors, including Mr. Terry. Additionally, a federal bankruptcy court has certain tools available to it that are not available to a state court such as the ability to invalidate potential ipso facto clauses in contracts pursuant to section 365 of the Bankruptcy Code, sell assets free and clear of liens, claims and encumbrances pursuant to section 363 of the Bankruptcy Code, and impose the automatic stay pursuant to section 362 of the Bankruptcy Code. These are all useful tools available to the Alleged Debtors in a bankruptcy case that would be lost if this court were to ultimately abstain.

Finally, there was more than enough evidence showing the acrimonious and bitter relationship that exists between Mr. Terry and Mr. Dondero. Thus, the availability of an out-of-court arrangement being obtained in this case is, in this court's mind, slim to none.

In summation, the court finds that all of the factors above support this case staying with the bankruptcy court.

iii. Factor 7: The Purpose for Which Bankruptcy Jurisdiction Has Been Sought.

The Alleged Debtors have repeatedly argued that Mr. Terry filed this case in bad faith and as a litigation tactic to gain some sort of advantage in the state court proceedings. The court has already found above that these cases were not filed in bad faith and that Mr. Terry has met the necessary statutory requirements of section 303 of the Bankruptcy Code. Moreover, it is worth noting that at least one court has stated that the filing of an involuntary bankruptcy petition is always a "litigation tactic," but whether the filing is inappropriate for abstention purposes is a fact-dependent determination.<sup>126</sup> Here, the facts show that there was no inappropriateness behind Mr. Terry's decision to file the Involuntary Petitions. Specifically, Mr. Terry repeatedly and credibly testified that the purpose for filing the Involuntary Petitions was to ensure that creditors (including him) were treated fairly and received an equal distribution from the Alleged Debtors' assets, not to gain some sort of advantage in the state court. This testimony was absolutely consistent with additional evidence showing that, since the entry of the arbitration award, there has been a calculated effort (largely by Highland) to effectively liquidate the Alleged Debtors. Unlike the bankruptcy court in In re Selectron Mgmt. Corp.,<sup>127</sup> which had no evidence or "smoking gun" showing that steps were being taken by the alleged debtor to evade payment on the petitioning creditor's judgment, thereby necessitating abstention, this court has heard ample evidence showing that the Alleged Debtors, with the aid of Highland, were transferring assets away from the Alleged Debtors, so that Mr. Terry would have nowhere to look at the end of the day.

<sup>126</sup> In re Marciano, 459 B.R. 27, 50 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2011) (noting that while the filing of the involuntary bankruptcy was a litigation tactic, the bankruptcy court did not abuse its discretion in denying the alleged debtor's motion to dismiss based upon the bankruptcy court's primary concern that the issue of equality of distribution would not effectively be dealt with in another forum).

In light of the court's analysis of all the seven factors above, the Alleged Debtors have not credibly shown how both the Alleged Debtors and the creditors are better served outside of bankruptcy. If this matter were to remain outside of bankruptcy, there seems to be a legitimate prospect that the Alleged Debtors and Highland will continue dismantling the Alleged Debtors, to the detriment of Acis LP creditors. Abstention would fly in the face of fundamental fairness and the principles underlying the Bankruptcy Code.

Beyond just addressing the factors above, the Alleged Debtors have also argued that, if this court were to not abstain under section 305 of the Bankruptcy Code, there would be Sept. 16, 2008) (finding that where the filing of a voluntary chapter 11 did not appear to be about insuring a distribution to creditors or winding down or giving a soft landing to a business or avoiding dismantling and dissipation of valuable assets or preserving avoidance actions, but rather was about changing the forum of ongoing litigation between the parties, abstention under section 305 was proper).

significant harm to the “equity” of the Alleged Debtors. Specifically, the Alleged Debtors have argued that, if this court were to enter orders for relief, the equity would be forced to “call” and ultimately liquidate CLO 2014-3 (and perhaps all of the CLOs Acis LP manages), resulting in substantial losses to the equity on their investments. First, to be clear, the current equity of the Alleged Debtors is being held by a Highland-affiliate called Neutra, Ltd., which actually only became the equity of the Alleged Debtors on December 19, 2017. But this is not the “equity” being referred to by the Alleged Debtors in its argument. Rather, the so-called “equity,” about which the Alleged Debtors seemed so concerned, is actually certain parties that own the equity of the entity that owns the equity in the CLOs—which includes (a) an unnamed third-party investor out of Boston (49%),<sup>128</sup> (b) a charitable foundation managed by a Highland-affiliate (49%), and (c) Highland employees (2%). However, abstention under section 305 of the Bankruptcy Code does not require this court to look at what is in the best interests of these third-parties (who are not current creditors or interest holders of the Alleged Debtors), but rather what is in the best interests of the Alleged Debtors and the creditors. Accordingly, the Alleged Debtors’ effort to argue potential harm to these parties is misplaced for purposes of evaluating abstention under section 305 of the Bankruptcy Code, and, if anything, further highlights who the Alleged Debtors are really out to protect—Highland and Highland-affiliates. Moreover, the court would note that, even if there were to be a “call” and liquidation of CLO 2014-3, thereby ending the Alleged Debtors’ right to receive future management fees, there would still be potential assets for a chapter 7 trustee to administer such as chapter 5 causes of action (which include fraudulent transfers) as well as the Alleged Debtors’ contingent claim for approximately <sup>128</sup> Notably, this entity never appeared at the Trial or filed papers stating that it would be harmed by entry of orders for relief in these cases.

$3 million in expense reimbursement owing by Highland CLO Management Ltd., as part of the November 3, 2017 transfer of the Acis LP Note Receivable from Highland. Thus, even if the so-called doomsday scenario of an equity call on CLO 2014-3 (or other CLOs) were to happen, there is still a potential benefit to creditors if this court chooses not to abstain.

III. CONCLUSION

In conclusion, these involuntary proceedings were appropriately filed under section 303, and orders for relief will be issued forthwith. This court declines to exercise its discretion to abstain, because a chapter 7 trustee appears necessary to halt the post-Arbitration Award transactions and transfers of value out of Acis LP, as discussed above. A chapter 7 trustee appears necessary to resolve the inherent conflicts of interest between the Alleged Debtors and Highland. A chapter 7 trustee will have tools available to preserve value that a state court receiver will not have. The bankruptcy court is single handedly the most efficient place to administer property of the estate for creditors. This is not just a two party dispute between Mr. Terry and the Alleged Debtors, and even if it were, dismissal or abstention is clearly not warranted.

BENCH RULING AND MEMORANDUM OF LAW IN SUPPORT OF:
(A) FINAL APPROVAL OF DISCLOSURE STATEMENT; AND (B)
CONFIRMATION OF CHAPTER 11 TRUSTEE'S THIRD AMENDED JOINT PLAN

Before this court is a request by the Chapter 11 Trustee (herein so called) for final approval of the adequacy of a disclosure statement and for confirmation of his Third Amended

Joint Plan of Reorganization,<sup>1</sup> as amended, modified or supplemented (the “Plan”), for the two above-referenced debtors: (1) Acis Capital Management, L.P. (the “Debtor-Acis”), a Delaware limited partnership, and (2) Acis Capital Management GP, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company (the general partner of the Debtor-Acis; collectively, the “Debtors”). The two chapter 11 cases have been administratively consolidated.<sup>2</sup>

The hearing on these matters transpired over multiple days in December 2018, and the court considered the testimony of more than a dozen witnesses, more than 700 exhibits, and hundreds of pages of legal briefing. Based on the foregoing, the court overrules all objections and will confirm the Plan, including all proposed modifications to it. The Chapter 11 Trustee has demonstrated, by a preponderance of the evidence, that the Plan, as modified, satisfies the applicable provisions of the Bankruptcy Code including but not limited to Sections 1122, 1123, 1127, and 1129 of the Bankruptcy Code.<sup>3</sup> The court also approves on a final basis the adequacy of the accompanying disclosure statement to the Plan, determining that it meets the requirements set forth in Section 1125 of the Bankruptcy Code. Plan is determined to have complied with the applicable Bankruptcy Rules and due process. The court provides reasoning for its ruling below. The court directs the Chapter 11 Trustee to submit to the court for signing the proposed Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law and Order that were filed at DE # 814. This Bench Ruling supplements those Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law and Order and, where appropriate, should be considered additional findings and conclusions as contemplated by Fed. R. Bankr. Proc. 7052.

I. Background.<sup>4</sup>

The above-referenced bankruptcy cases (the “Bankruptcy Cases”) have been pending since January 30, 2018 and have been astonishingly contentious. The Chapter 11 Trustee has been in place since on or about May 14, 2018. The Plan (which is the fourth one proposed by the Chapter 11 Trustee) has been objected to by three related entities: (a) Highland Capital Management, L.P. (“Highland”), (b) Highland CLO Funding Ltd. (“HCLOF Guernsey”), and (c) Neutra, Ltd. (“Neutra Cayman”). The Chapter 11 Trustee loosely refers to these three objectors (the “Objectors”) as “the Highlands” because they are not only related to each other (i.e., they are all, directly or indirectly, part of the Highland 2,000-member corporate organizational structure), but they also have been in “lockstep” with one another in objecting to virtually every position taken by the Chapter 11 Trustee during the Bankruptcy Cases.<sup>5</sup> These Objectors’ parties-in-interest status will be explained below.

---

<sup>4</sup> For a complete set of background facts, the court incorporates herein by reference its Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law in Support of Orders for Relief Issued After Trial on Contested Involuntary Petitions, entered April 13, 2018. DE # 118. Exh. 243.

<sup>5</sup> It is also undisputed that, prior to the appointment of the Chapter 11 Trustee, the Debtors and Highland were affiliated and had a close relationship. Exhs. 17, 18, 22-27, 251, 619 & 649.

In simplest terms, the Debtor-Acis, which was formed in the year 2011, is primarily a CLO portfolio manager.<sup>6</sup> It manages hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of CLOs (which is an acronym for "collateralized loan obligations"). Specifically, it provides fund management services to various special purpose entities that hold CLOs. The Debtor-Acis was providing management services for five such special purpose entities (the "Acis CLOs") as of the time that it and its general partner were put into the involuntary Bankruptcy Cases. The parties have informally referred to the special purpose entities themselves as the "CLO Issuers" or "CLO Co-Issuers" but, to be clear, these special purpose entities (hereinafter, the "CLO SPEs") are structured as follows: (a) on the asset side of their balance sheets, the entities own pieces of senior debt owed by large corporations and, therefore, earn revenue from the variable interest payments made by those corporations on such senior debt; and (b) on the liability side of their balance sheets, the entities have obligations in the form of notes (i.e., tranches of fixed interest rate notes) on which the CLO SPEs themselves are obligated—the holders of which notes are mostly institutions and pension funds (these tranches of notes are usually rated anywhere from Triple A to Single B, depending upon things such as their interest rate and perceived risk). The CLO SPEs make a profit, based on the spread or "delta" between: (a) the variable rates of interest paid on the assets that the CLO SPEs own (i.e., the basket of senior notes); and (b) the fixed rates of interest that the CLO SPEs must pay on their own tranches of debt. At the bottom of the CLO SPEs' capital structure is their equity (sometimes referred to as "subordinated notes," but these "notes" are genuinely equity). As portfolio manager, the Debtor-Acis manages the CLO SPEs' pools of assets (by buying and selling senior loans to hold in the CLO SPEs' portfolios) and communicates with investors in the CLO SPEs. The CLO SPEs' tranches of notes are traded on the Over-the-Counter market.

To be perfectly clear, none of the CLO SPEs themselves are in bankruptcy. This has never been threatened or a concern. Only the Debtor-Acis which manages the CLO business is in bankruptcy. For the most part, the CLO SPEs have continued somewhat "business as usual" during the Chapter 11 Bankruptcy Cases (i.e., they have continued to receive interest payments on their baskets of loans; the usual interest payments on their tranches of debt have been paid;<sup>7</sup> and baskets of loans have been bought and sold from time to time). The CLO SPEs have retained their own separate counsel during the Chapter 11 cases, have appeared from time-to-time on matters, and are not currently objecting to the Plan. There is also an indenture trustee (U.S. Bank National Association) for the CLO SPEs' debt, that has seemingly faithfully carried on its role during the Chapter 11 Bankruptcy Cases without many objections to the bankruptcy process—only making occasional statements aimed at ensuring that the indentures for the CLOs are not interfered with or disrespected. The indenture trustee has retained and appeared through its own separate counsel during the Chapter 11 Bankruptcy Cases and is not currently objecting to the Plan.

Historically, the Debtor-Acis has had four main sets of contracts that were at the heart of its business and allowed it to function. The Chapter 11 Trustee has from time-to-time credibly <sup>7</sup> The evidence reflected that there have been a couple of occasions recently when there were insufficient funds to make distributions to the equity. E.g., Transcript 12/11/18 (PM) [DE # 790], at p. 15 (line 2) through p. 16 (line 18). But it appears to this court that these missed distributions were due to actions of Highland—as later explained herein—in improperly, surreptitiously attempting to liquidate the Acis CLOs, from the time period after the Chapter 11 Trustee was appointed, until the bankruptcy court issued an injunction to temporarily halt Highland's actions. E.g., Transcript 12/11/18 (AM) [DE # 789], p. 67 (line 14) through p. 68 (line 6).

testified that these agreements essentially created an “eco-system” that allowed the Acis CLOs to be effectively and efficiently managed by the Debtor-Acis.

1. The PMAs with the CLO SPEs.<sup>8</sup>

First, the Debtor-Acis has various portfolio management agreements (the “PMAs”) with the CLO SPEs, pursuant to which the Debtor-Acis earns management fees. The PMAs have been the primary “assets” (loosely speaking) of the Debtor-Acis (to be more precise, the PMAs are executory contracts pursuant to section 365 of the Bankruptcy Code). They are what generate revenue for the Debtor-Acis.

2. The Sub-Advisory Agreement with Highland.<sup>9</sup>

Second, the Debtor-Acis had a Sub-Advisory Agreement (herein so called) with an insider, Highland (i.e., one of the Objectors). Highland’s “insider” status will be further explained below. Pursuant to this agreement, the Debtor-Acis essentially sub-contracted for the use of Highland front-office personnel/advisors to perform management services for the Debtor-Acis (i.e., so that the Debtor-Acis could fulfill its obligations to the CLO SPEs under the PMAs). The Debtor-Acis paid handsome fees to Highland pursuant to this agreement. This, too, was an executory contract pursuant to section 365 of the Bankruptcy Code. As explained below, this agreement was rejected (with bankruptcy court approval)<sup>10</sup> by the Chapter 11 Trustee during the Bankruptcy Cases, when the Chapter 11 Trustee credibly represented that he had not only found resources to provide these services at a much lower cost to the estate, but he also had begun to believe that Highland was engaging in stealth efforts to liquidate the Acis CLOs, to the detriment of the Debtor-Acis's creditors.<sup>11</sup>

3. The Shared Services Agreement with Highland.<sup>12</sup>

Third, the Debtor-Acis also had a Shared Services Agreement (herein so called) with Highland, pursuant to which the Debtor-Acis essentially sub-contracted for the use of Highland's back-office services (again, so that the Debtor-Acis could fulfill its obligations to the CLO SPEs under the PMAs). To be clear, the Debtor-Acis had no employees of its own—only a couple of officers and members. The Debtor-Acis paid handsome fees to Highland for the personnel and back-office services that Highland provided to the Debtor-Acis. This, too, was an executory contract pursuant to section 365 of the Bankruptcy Code. As explained below, this agreement was also rejected by the Chapter 11 Trustee during the Bankruptcy Cases (with bankruptcy court approval) for the same reasons that the Sub-Advisory Agreement with Highland was rejected.

4. The Equity PMA.<sup>13</sup>

Fourth, until a few weeks before the Bankruptcy Cases were filed, the Debtor-Acis also had yet another portfolio management agreement (distinct from its PMAs with the CLO SPEs) whereby the Debtor-Acis provided services not just to the CLO SPEs themselves, but separately to the equity holder in the CLO SPEs. This portfolio management agreement with the equity holder in the CLO SPEs is sometimes referred to by the parties as the "ALF PMA," but it would probably be easier to refer to it as the "Equity PMA" (for ease of reference, the court will refer to it as the “Equity/ALF PMA”).<sup>14</sup> The Debtor-Acis did not earn a specific fee pursuant to the Equity/ALF PMA, but the Chapter 11 Trustee and certain of his witnesses credibly testified that the Debtor-Acis considered the agreement valuable and very important, because it essentially gave the Debtor-Acis the ability to control the whole Acis CLO eco-system—in other words, gave the Debtor-Acis the ability to make substantial decisions on behalf of the CLO SPEs’ equity—distinct from making decisions for the CLO SPEs themselves pursuant to the PMAs. The more credible evidence before the court suggests that the Equity/ALF PMA delegated to the portfolio manager (i.e., the Debtor-Acis) the right to control the terms of any liquidation of collateral in an optional redemption under the terms of the CLO indentures.<sup>15</sup> In any event, shortly before the Bankruptcy Cases were filed, agents of Highland and/or others controlling the Debtor-Acis (including but not limited to Mr. James Dondero—the chief executive officer of both the Debtor-Acis and of Highland): (a) caused the Debtor-Acis to terminate this Equity/ALF PMA (notably, the counter-party to this agreement, the equity owner, would have only been able to terminate it “for cause”<sup>16</sup>); and (b) then caused the equity owner to enter into a new Equity PMA with a newly formed offshore entity called Highland HCF Advisor, Ltd. (“Highland HCF”).<sup>17</sup> Mr. Dondero, in addition to being the chief executive of Highland and the Debtor-Acis, also became the president of the newly formed Highland HCF.<sup>18</sup> The Equity/ALF PMA

<sup>14</sup> There were actually different iterations of the Equity/ALF PMA including one dated August 10, 2015, and another dated December 22, 2016.

<sup>16</sup> The Equity/ALF PMA provided that the Debtor-Acis could only be removed as portfolio manager “for cause” at § 14(a)-(e). Exh. 11. On the contrary, the Debtor-Acis could terminate the Equity/ALF PMA without cause upon at least ninety (90) days’ notice, pursuant to § 13(a)-(c). Exh. 11.

would have been an executory contract of the Debtor-Acis, pursuant to section 365 of the Bankruptcy Code, if it had not been terminated shortly before the Bankruptcy Cases. The court has heard credible testimony that leads it to conclude that the Equity/ALF PMA would have been assumed by the Debtor-Acis, pursuant to section 365 of the Bankruptcy Code, if not terminated by agents of Highland on the eve of bankruptcy. The court has heard credible testimony that it is important for a portfolio manager to have not only the PMAs with the CLO SPEs themselves, but also with the equity owners of the CLO SPEs.

II. A Few More Basics About CLOs.

In the world of CLOs (like other public debt instruments) there are occasionally redemptions, refinancings, and resets. A redemption is essentially when the equity in the CLO, before maturity, calls for the liquidation of the collateral in the CLO and the repayment of the tranches of notes, so that the CLO comes to an end. A refinancing is when a lower interest rate can be accomplished in the market place on the tranches of debt of the CLO, but the maturity date and other terms remain in place (similar to a refinancing on a home mortgage). This can happen typically after a two-year non-call period. A reset is when the maturity date, the reinvestment period, or other changes in the terms of a CLO (beyond simply interest rate) are accomplished.<sup>19</sup>

It should be noted that the top tranche of notes in the CLO SPEs (AAA-rated) is considered the “controlling” class, and a majority of holders in this class can terminate the CLO manager (i.e., the Debtor-Acis LP) for cause on 45 days’ notice, but these folks have apparently been content to ignore the Bankruptcy Cases and the fighting between the Debtor-Acis and

Highland (as further described below)—no doubt because they are earning their fixed income stream without a hitch. And the bottom tranche of “notes” in the CLO SPEs (the equity) has voting rights and is a capital provider and, in certain ways, controls the CLO SPEs, by virtue of having the ability to make a redemption call after a certain “no-call” period—which would force a liquidation of the basket of loans in the CLO, with the proceeds paying down the tranches of notes, starting at the top with the Triple A’s. But, by virtue of the Equity/ALF PMA, the Debtor-Acis was really acting for the equity. It seems substantially likely to the court that this is why Highland and its agents caused the Debtor-Acis to terminate the Equity/ALF PMA (which, as mentioned above, was an agreement that the equity could have only terminated “for cause”—and it appears there would have been no “cause”).

III. The Non-Insider Creditors.

The Debtor-Acis does not have many creditors. The non-insider creditors are, for the most part, Joshua Terry (“Mr. Terry”) and a few vendors (most of which are law firms).

Mr. Terry commenced the Bankruptcy Cases with the filing of involuntary bankruptcy petitions. Mr. Terry was the human being who formerly, quite successfully served as the portfolio manager for the Debtor-Acis for many years. Mr. Terry was terminated under contentious circumstances on June 9, 2016, after getting into disagreements with Mr. Dondero. Mr. Terry was technically an employee of Highland itself (like all employees are, in the Highland family of companies—no matter which subsidiary or affiliate they work for). After his employment termination, Highland sued Mr. Terry in September 2016. Mr. Terry asserted claims back against Highland and both of the above-referenced Debtors. The litigation was referred to arbitration, and, after a ten-day arbitration trial in September 2017 before “JAMS,” Mr. Terry obtained an Arbitration Award (herein so called), on October 20, 2017, jointly and severally, against both of the Debtors in the amount of $7,949,749.15, plus post-award interest at the legal rate. A Final Judgment (the “Terry Judgment”) confirming the Arbitration Award was entered on December 18, 2017, in the same amount as that contained in the Arbitration Award—$7,949,749.15.

Mr. Terry commenced the Bankruptcy Cases when he became concerned that the Debtor-Acis was being rendered insolvent and unable to pay creditors including himself, due to actions undertaken by Highland and its agents immediately after entry of the Arbitration Award (e.g., transfers of assets, contracts, and business away from the Debtor-Acis).

The Debtor-Acis also is obligated on large administrative expense claims, since: (a) a Chapter 11 Trustee was appointed very early—due to what the bankruptcy court perceived to be massive conflicts of interest with regard to the Debtors’ management; and (b) the Objectors have opposed virtually every action taken by the Chapter 11 Trustee during the Bankruptcy Cases, resulting in many long hearings.

IV. The Objectors (all of which are “Insiders”).

There are no non-insider creditors objecting to the Plan. Mr. Terry supports the Plan. The CLO SPEs and Indenture Trustee do not oppose the Plan. None of the vendors oppose the Plan. The U.S. Trustee is not opposing the Plan. As a technical matter, two impaired classes of creditors voted to accept the Plan.<sup>20</sup> So who are the Objectors to the Plan (which Plan will be further described below) and what is their party-in-interest status here?

As earlier mentioned, the Objectors are: (a) Highland, (b) HCLOF Guernsey, and (c) Neutra Cayman. As noted earlier, the Chapter 11 Trustee frequently refers to them collectively as “The Highlands”—but the Objectors do not like this conflation. At one time Highland and

HCLOF Guernsey had the same lawyers. They do not anymore. However, they frequently file joint pleadings and take the same positions. Highland and Neutra Cayman do still have the same lawyers.

1. Highland.

Highland is a Dallas, Texas-based company that is a Registered Investment Advisor. Highland was founded in 1993 by Mr. Dondero, originally with a 75% ownership interest, and Mark K. Akada (“Mr. Akada”), originally with a 25% ownership interest. As mentioned earlier, Mr. Dondero is the chief executive of Highland. Highland, through its organizational structure of approximately 2,000 separate business entities, manages approximately $14-$15 billion of investor capital in vehicles including CLOs, private equity funds, and mutual funds. Highland provides employees to entities in the organizational structure, such as it did with the Debtor-Acis, through the mechanism of shared services agreements and sub-advisory agreements (as mentioned above). Notably, Highland’s chief executive, Mr. Dondero, served as the President of the Debtor-Acis at all relevant times prepetition.<sup>21</sup> Highland claims to be a large creditor of the Debtor-Acis for services provided to the Debtor-Acis under the Shared Services Agreement and the Sub-Advisory Agreement. The Chapter 11 Trustee disputes these claims and has asserted numerous claims back against Highland in an adversary proceeding (the “Highland Entities Adversary Proceeding”).

In any event, Highland is a disputed insider creditor. It is an “insider,” as contemplated by Bankruptcy Code section 101(31)(C), because it, beyond any shadow of a doubt, controlled the Debtor-Acis until these Bankruptcy Cases developed to the point of having a Chapter 11

Trustee take charge of the Debtor-Acis. Highland does not seem to dispute that it is an insider.<sup>22</sup> But, for the avoidance of doubt, Highland should be considered an insider of the Debtor-Acis for at least the following reasons: (a) the same human being (Mr. Dondero) was president of the Debtor-Acis and was the chief executive of Highland; (b) Highland's General Counsel, Scott Ellington, testified that Mr. Dondero controlled them both;<sup>23</sup> and (c) Highland provided the Debtor-Acis with employees and management services pursuant to the Sub-Advisory Agreement and Shared Services Agreement.<sup>24</sup>

Additionally, the court believes that the Chapter 11 Trustee made a convincing argument in connection with Plan confirmation (and his justification for the separate classification of Highland's claim in the Plan from other general unsecured creditors) that Highland should also be regarded as a "competitor" of the Debtor-Acis at this juncture, since they are both in the fund management business and Highland's control over the Debtor-Acis has now been divested. Highland's competitor status, in addition to its insider status, warrants additional scrutiny of its

<sup>22</sup> Under section 101(31) of the Bankruptcy Code, an insider includes certain enumerated parties, such as an officer of the debtor, affiliate, etc. Further, the list of enumerated "insiders" is not exclusive or exhaustive. See Wilson v. Huffman (In re Missionary Baptist Foundation of Am., Inc.), 712 F.2d 206, 210 (5th Cir. 1983). Recently, the United States Supreme Court stated: "Courts have additionally recognized as insiders some persons not on that [101(31)] list—commonly known as 'nonstatutory insiders.' The conferral of that status often turns on whether the person's transactions with the debtor (or another of its insiders) were at arm's length." U.S. Bank N.A. v. Vill. at Lakeridge, LLC, 138 S. Ct. 960, 963 (2018). The Fifth Circuit has noted that "cases which have considered whether insider status exists generally have focused on two factors in making that determination: (1) the closeness of the relationship between the parties and (2) whether the transaction . . . [was] conducted at arm's length." Browning Interests v. Allison (In re Holloway), 955 F.2d 1008, 1011 (5th Cir. 1992).

motivations in objecting to the Plan. More importantly, it provides a sound legal and business justification for separately classifying its claim in the Plan.

2. HCLOF Guernsey.

The second Objector, HCLOF Guernsey, is an entity formed in the island nation of Guernsey. It has two allegedly independent Directors from Guernsey who have provided testimony in connection with confirmation of the Plan. It was enormously clear to the court (as will be elaborated upon below) that the two Directors of HCLOF Guernsey are—stated in the kindest way possible—mere “figureheads” for HCLOF Guernsey and they defer to Highland entirely to tell them what to do, what to say, and when. In any event, HCLOF Guernsey is the owner of the equity in the CLO SPEs (as earlier mentioned, this equity is sometimes referred to as the “subordinated notes” in the CLO SPEs). According to HCLOF Guernsey's 2017 Annual Report and Audited Financials, all of its subordinated notes issued by the Acis CLOs are physically held at and are pledged to HCLOF Guernsey's lender, NexBank, which happens to be a Dallas bank that is an affiliate of Highland.<sup>25</sup> HCLOF Guernsey was created in the year 2015 and was formerly known as “ALF.”<sup>26</sup> Its name was changed on October 30, 2017 (ten days after Mr. Terry's Arbitration Award was entered), to allegedly distance itself from the Debtor-Acis. The equity owner HCLOF Guernsey, in turn, has three equity owners: (i) a 49% equity owner that is a charitable fund (i.e., a donor advised fund or “DAF”) that was seeded with contributions from Highland, is managed/advised by Highland, and whose independent trustee is a long-time friend of Highland's chief executive officer, Mr. Dondero; (ii) 2% is owned by Highland employees; and (iii) a 49% equity owner that is a third-party institutional investor based in

Boston, Massachusetts that only recently invested in HCLOF Guernsey (i.e., in November 2017, just after the Terry Arbitration Award was issued), and desires to remain passive and anonymous (hereinafter, the “Passive Investor”).<sup>27</sup> Notably, the Debtor-Acis itself owned a small percentage of HCLOF Guernsey, in addition to providing management services to it, until October 24, 2017 (four days after the Terry Arbitration Award was issued).

The court has allowed HCLOF Guernsey to vigorously participate in the confirmation hearing (and other hearings during the Bankruptcy Cases), although its party-in-interest status has been questionable. So how is HCLOF Guernsey a party-in-interest? The answer is a bit of a stretch—but the court has decided it is impacted by the Plan, so it should have the right to object. Its party-in-interest status has evolved during the Bankruptcy Cases.

First, early on in these Bankruptcy Cases, HCLOF Guernsey (together with Highland) sued the Chapter 11 Trustee in the above-mentioned “Highland Entities Adversary Proceeding”—mostly, if not entirely, seeking injunctive relief. At that point, the Chapter 11 Trustee treated HCLOF Guernsey as a disputed creditor,<sup>28</sup> since it was seeking equitable relief that could arguably be monetized.<sup>29</sup> However, HCLOF Guernsey subsequently withdrew its requests for relief in that Highland Entities Adversary Proceeding. But then, the Chapter 11 Trustee subsequently filed claims against HCLOF Guernsey in the Highland Entities Adversary Proceeding (along with his claims against Highland and a couple of other Highland entities) asserting avoidance actions and other causes of action against HCLOF Guernsey (among other

<sup>27</sup> The testimony was that the Passive Investor committed to a $150 million investment ($75 million immediately and $75 million callable over the next several years).

things, the Chapter 11 Trustee alleged that HCLOF Guernsey schemed with Highland to terminate the Equity/ALF PMA, in a step toward systematically dismantling the Debtor-Acis of its value). Thus, HCLOF Guernsey may ultimately owe money to this estate. But most importantly, HCLOF Guernsey should be deemed a party-in-interest because of a proposed temporary injunction in the Plan that essentially would enjoin (for a finite, defined period) HCLOF Guernsey from exercising certain of its rights with regard to its equity in the CLO SPEs, pending resolution of the Highland Entities Adversary Proceeding. This temporary injunction in the Plan, directed towards HCLOF Guernsey and affiliates, will be further described below.

3. Neutra Cayman.

Neutra Cayman is a Cayman island exempted company that is the equity owner of the Debtor-Acis itself (in contrast to HCLOF Guernsey, which only owns equity in the CLO SPEs). Neutra Cayman only acquired its equity interest in the Debtor-Acis the day after the Terry Judgment was entered (on December 18, 2017), and for no consideration, from the Dugaboy Investment Trust (a family trust on which Mr. Dondero’s sister is named trustee, that previously owned 74.9% of the Debtor-Acis) and from Mr. Akada (who previously owned 25% of the Debtor-Acis).<sup>30</sup> The court concludes that Neutra Cayman has standing to object to the Plan,

<sup>30</sup> The court is repeatedly referring to the Debtor-Acis but, to be clear, there are two consolidated Debtors: Acis Capital Management, L.P. (“Acis LP”) and Acis Capital Management GP, LLC (“Acis GP/LLC”). See note 2, supra. When Acis LP was first formed, it was owned by one general partner (Acis GP/LLC, with a .1% interest) and it had three limited partners: (a) the Dugaboy Investment Trust (a Dondero family trust of which either Mr. Dondero or his sister, Nancy Dondero, have been the trustee at all relevant times) with a 59.9% interest; (b) Mr. Terry with a 25% interest; and (c) Mr. Akada with a 15% interest. When Acis GP/LLC was formed (i.e., the .1% owner of Acis LP), its sole member was the Dugaboy Investment Trust. After Mr. Terry was terminated by Highland, his 25% limited partnership interest in Acis LP was forfeited and divided among the two remaining limited partners: Mr. Akada (increasing his interest by 10% up to 25%), and the Dugaboy Investment Trust (increasing its interest by 15% up to 74.9%). But, most importantly, on the day after entry of Mr. Terry’s Final Judgment (i.e., on December 18, 2017), both Mr. Akada and the Dugaboy Investment Trust conveyed their entire limited partnership interests in Acis LP—25% and 74.9%, respectively—to Neutra Cayman. The Dugaboy Investment Trust also conveyed its 100% membership interest in Acis GP/LLC to Neutra Cayman.

since it is an equity owner of the Debtors (albeit only having acquired its equity about a month before the bankruptcy). As with HCLOF Guernsey, the court also concludes that Neutra-Cayman is absolutely, beyond any reasonable doubt, controlled by Highland, as explained further below.

V. The Plan.

The Plan is fairly simple, considering the complexity of the business and the relationships, and the contentiousness of the Bankruptcy Cases. Again, there aren't many creditors.

The Plan proposes<sup>31</sup> that the Debtor-Acis, as a "Reorganized Debtor," will continue with the business operations of the Debtors after the Effective Date<sup>32</sup> of the Plan. Specifically, the Debtor-Acis will assume, pursuant to section 365 of the Bankruptcy Code, its CLO PMAs and continue to serve as the portfolio manager to the CLO SPEs (and as to any resets of the CLOs therein). The Reorganized Debtor will continue to earn fees and will pay claims from post-Effective Date income as provided in the Plan. The Reorganized Acis will actively pursue additional fund management contracts. Again, there is no objection by the CLO SPEs to the Plan, and the indenture trustee on the tranches of CLO notes has no objection.

Mr. Terry (again, the former human manager of the Debtor-Acis and also the largest creditor) shall receive 100% of the equity interests in the Reorganized Debtor, in exchange for a negotiated $1 million reduction in his partially secured claim.<sup>33</sup> The remainder of his claim will <sup>31</sup> This is merely a high-level summary of the Plan. The Plan terms, as modified, shall in all ways govern, not this summary.

<sup>32</sup> The "Effective Date" is defined, essentially, as the first business day which is fourteen (14) days after entry of an order confirming the Plan, if the confirmation order is not stayed.

<sup>33</sup> Mr. Terry has asserted partial secured status as to his claim in the proofs of claim he has filed in these cases. The Chapter 11 Trustee credibly testified that there was no other logical party to take the equity of be treated as an unsecured claim. Each unsecured creditor will receive on the Plan Effective Date an unsecured cash flow note in the full amount of its claim, which notes will mature three years after the Effective Date of the Plan, with equal quarterly payments of principal and interest, at 5% interest per annum. These cash flow notes are expected to yield payment in full (actually 102%) to the unsecured creditors.<sup>34</sup>

As for the sub-advisory and shared services agreements with Highland, as noted earlier, the Chapter 11 Trustee, with bankruptcy court approval, has already (as of August 2018) rejected these during the Bankruptcy Cases, pursuant to section 365 of the Bankruptcy Code. The Chapter 11 Trustee caused the Debtor-Acis to subsequently contract, with bankruptcy court approval, with a different entity, Brigade Capital Management, L.P. (“Brigade”), to provide the sub-advisory and shared services going forward, for a minimum two-year term (unless the Reorganized Debtor and Brigade otherwise agree), at a much cheaper cost than Highland.<sup>35</sup> Thus, Brigade will provide sub-servicing and sub-advisory services to the Reorganized Debtor.

the Reorganized Debtor, at this juncture, and that he had negotiated this reduction to Mr. Terry’s secured claim, and he thought it was justified by the circumstances of this case. While the Objectors have argued that the secured status of Mr. Terry’s claim may be subject to challenge under section 547(b) of the Bankruptcy Code, section 547(b) is discretionary (e.g., a “trustee may avoid any transfer” that might be avoidable as a preference). The Chapter 11 Trustee credibly emphasized that this was negotiated treatment of an asserted secured claim, and he had no “exclusivity” on proposing a plan if someone else had wanted to propose something different. Transcript 12/11/18 (AM) [DE # 789], at p. 70 (line 3) through p. 71 (line 2).

<sup>34</sup> Insider claims—namely Highland—are separately classified from general unsecured claims under the Plan. To the extent such claims are ultimately allowed (after any allowed defenses and offsets), and to the extent such claims are not equitably subordinated by Bankruptcy Court adjudication, these claims will receive the same treatment as other general unsecured claims (cash flow notes). To the extent any of these claims are ultimately allowed but equitably subordinated, they will receive subordinated promissory notes, accruing interest at 5% per annum, that will not be payable until all non-subordinated claims have been paid in full (they will have maturity dates to occur on the earlier of: (i) the date that is two years after the date all Unsecured Cash Flow Notes have been paid in full, or (ii) five years after the Effective Date). The expected recovery under the Plan for the insider claims is from 65% to 100%.

As for the Equity/ALF PMA, it is not an agreement with the Debtor-Acis anymore to either be assumed or rejected, pursuant to section 365. However, in the Highland Entities Adversary Proceeding, the Chapter 11 Trustee seeks to avoid the termination of the Equity/ALF PMA. Pursuant to the Plan, the Reorganized Debtor will be vested with certain Assets of the Debtors, including Estate Claims and Estate Defenses, to be administered and liquidated by the Reorganized Debtor.

1. The Highland Entities Adversary Proceeding (Adv. Proc. No. 18-03212).

Suffice it to say that the Highland Entities Adversary Proceeding is a somewhat significant part of the Plan; it is what justifies the temporary injunction that is a critical part of the Plan. With regard to the Highland Entities Adversary Proceeding, the Defendants in it (there are five of them) are: (i) Highland; (ii) HCLOF Guernsey; (iii) Highland HCF (i.e., the Cayman Island entity that was recently formed to essentially replace the Debtor-Acis under the Equity/ALF PMA); (iv) Highland CLO Management, Ltd. (“Highland Management”) (an entity registered in the Cayman Islands on October 27, 2017—seven days after Mr. Terry’s Arbitration Award); and (v) Highland CLO Holdings, Ltd. (yet another entity incorporated in the Cayman Island on October 27, 2017). The Highland Entities Adversary Proceeding is essentially a multi-faceted fraudulent transfer action. The statutory predicates for the relief sought are sections 502, 542, 544, 547, 548, and 550 of the Bankruptcy Code and Texas Business & Commerce Code § 24.001 et seq. (“TUFTA”).

Distilled to its essence, the Highland Entities Adversary Proceeding argues that Highland, along with its related Co-Defendants, orchestrated a systematic transfer of value away from the Debtor-Acis to other Highland entities (all of those transferee-entities are offshore entities—whereas the Debtor-Acis is a Delaware entity), beginning almost immediately after Mr. Terry was terminated in June 2016, and continuing on during Mr. Terry's litigation/arbitration with the Debtor-Acis, and then rapidly unfolding after the Arbitration Award. This was allegedly done to denude the Debtor-Acis of value and make the Debtors "judgment proof." This was allegedly also done to ensure that the Debtor-Acis's very valuable business as portfolio manager would be taken over by other Highland entities and remain under Highland's and Mr. Dondero's control.<sup>36</sup>

The evidence is rather startling on this point. Among other things, pursuant to amendments made to the Debtor-Acis's Sub-Advisory Agreement and Shared Services Agreements with Highland, starting soon after Mr. Terry was terminated, the fees owed by the Debtor-Acis to Highland under these agreements shot up to an enormously higher level. Then, in April 2017, a new CLO was issued (or actually a former Acis CLO was reset) and a new Highland-affiliated Cayman Island entity was ultimately put in place to manage it instead of the Debtor-Acis (even though the Debtor-Acis managed all other CLOs in the Highland corporate empire). Numerous other transactions were undertaken through the Fall of 2017, removing assets and agreements away from the Debtor-Acis. For example, a multi-million dollar note receivable owed to the Debtor-Acis by Highland was transferred out of the Debtor-Acis,<sup>37</sup> and

<sup>37</sup> On November 3, 2017, the Debtor-Acis, Highland, and Highland Management (a newly created, offshore Highland affiliate) entered into that certain Agreement for Assignment and Transfer of Promissory Note (the "Note Assignment and Transfer Agreement"). Exh. 225. The Note Assignment and Transfer Agreement, among other things, transferred a $9.5 million principal amount promissory note executed by Highland and payable to the Debtor-Acis (the "Note"), Exh. 218, from the Debtor-Acis to Highland Management (the "Note Transfer"). The Assignment and Transfer Agreement memorializing this transaction is signed by Mr. Dondero for the Debtor-Acis. The document recites that (i) Highland is no longer willing to continue providing support services to the Debtor-Acis, (ii) the Debtor-Acis, therefore, can no longer fulfill its duties as a collateral manager, and (iii) Highland Management agrees to step into the collateral manager role if the Debtor-Acis will assign the Note to it. Notably, Highland Management was registered in the Cayman Islands on October 27, 2017, roughly a week before the Note Transfer. Thus, Highland Management had no portfolio or collateral management experience whatsoever when it entered the Assignment and Transfer Agreement. To the contrary, it appears Highland Management was an entity that was created specifically to hold the Note and eventually take possession of the CLO PMAs in an international forum that would be difficult for Mr. Terry to reach. The Debtor-shares in HCLOF Guernsey held by the Debtor-Acis were sold back to HCLOF Guernsey (four days after the Arbitration Award). And then the Equity/ALF PMA was terminated so that the Debtor-Acis would no longer have management-control over HCLOF Guernsey as its portfolio manager—arguably putting Highland in a position to liquidate the Acis CLOs and put the Debtor-Acis out of business. Specifically, on October 27, 2017, just seven days after Mr. Terry's Arbitration Award, the Debtor-Acis ostensibly terminated its own portfolio management rights under the Equity/ALF PMA<sup>38</sup> and transferred its authority and its valuable portfolio management rights—for no value—to Highland HCF, an affiliate of Highland. It appears that the only alleged consideration for these transfers, to the extent there was any, was the satisfaction of purported debts owed to other Highland entities or their representatives.

Acis appears to have received no or insufficient consideration for the Note Transfer. The primary consideration for the Note Transfer was an alleged payable due from the Debtor-Acis to Highland in the approximate amount of $7.5 million for participation fees, which was transferred to Highland Management shortly before the Note Assignment and Transfer Agreement was entered. The validity of the alleged “participation fees” is unknown. The remainder of the consideration for the Note Transfer is a promise to pay certain expenses of the Debtor-Acis, which has apparently never occurred. In any event, it appears highly likely that the Note Transfer took away the Note as an asset from which Mr. Terry could collect his judgment.

<sup>38</sup> As mentioned earlier, the Equity/ALF PMA provided that the Debtor-Acis could only be removed as portfolio manager by the equity owner (now known as HCLOF Guernsey) “for cause” at § 14(a)-(e). Exh. 11. Meanwhile, the Debtor-Acis could terminate the Equity/ALF PMA without cause upon at least ninety (90) days’ notice, pursuant to § 13(a)-(c). Exh. 11. It would appear that these terms were wholly ignored by the persons orchestrating the Equity/ALF PMA termination. It appears that the Debtor-Acis was simply manipulated to consent and agree to its removal and replacement as portfolio manager of HCLOF Guernsey. This transfer of the Debtor-Acis's portfolio management rights to the offshore entity Highland HCF was accomplished by way of a new portfolio management agreement entered into by the equity owner (now known as HCLOF Guernsey) and Highland HCF on October 27, 2017, which empowered Highland HCF with the same broad authority to direct the management of HCLOF Guernsey as was previously held by the Debtor-Acis LP under the Equity/ALF PMA. See Exh. 19, October 27, 2017 PMA §§ 1 & 5(a)-(q). This agreement appears to have been further solidified in a second portfolio management agreement dated November 15, 2017. Exh. 215. The Debtor-Acis received no consideration for this transfer.

The Highland Defendants argue that the Equity/ALF PMA (its termination being arguably the most significant transfer referenced in the Highland Entities Adversary Proceeding) did not have value. But the evidence convinces the court that it absolutely did. A witness, Mr. Zachary Alpern, credibly testified that the portfolio manager (under the Equity/ALF PMA) made decisions regarding the underlying financial instruments including seeking an optional redemption and negotiating a reset. Mr. Alpern also credibly testified about the importance, in the CLO industry, of the portfolio manager having control of a CLO's equity to ensure an "evergreen fee stream."<sup>39</sup> Additionally, Mr. Terry also credibly testified that the portfolio manager (not the CLO equity interest holder) has the right to control the terms of the liquidation of collateral in an optional redemption under the terms of the indentures.<sup>40</sup> The Chapter 11 Trustee also credibly testified that the Equity/ALF PMA allowed the Debtor-Acis to have control of an optional redemption.<sup>41</sup> Finally, a witness, Mr. Klein, credibly testified about the value of the Equity/ALF PMA and the negative impact of its transfer on the Debtor-Acis LP.<sup>42</sup>

To be clear, Highland and HCLOF Guernsey have argued in opposition to the Chapter 11 Trustee's position that it is HCLOF Guernsey—the actual equity holder of the CLO SPEs—that had/has the absolute power and authority to control the CLO SPEs' destinies and it is ludicrous to suggest otherwise. However, not only does the Equity/ALF PMA appear to this court to have delegated the relevant power and authority to the Debtor-Acis, but Highland's own expert on this topic, Mr. Castro, testified that the “actual humans” who would make the decision for HCLOF Guernsey as to whether to request an optional redemption of the Acis CLOs were not the HCLOF Guernsey directors but, rather, Highland executives Mr. Dondero, Mr. Okada, and Highland employee Mr. Covitz (acting for Highland HCF).<sup>43</sup> Moreover, Mr. Alpern credibly testified that, before the Terry Arbitration Award, the Debtor-Acis, as the portfolio manager under the Equity/ALF PMA, rather than the HCLOF Guernsey’s directors, issued the notices of optional redemption for HCLOF Guernsey.<sup>44</sup>

The court concludes that the Chapter 11 Trustee has demonstrated a likelihood of success on the merits with regard to his claims set forth in the Highland Entities Adversary Proceeding. Therefore, the Temporary Injunction that is part of the Plan is supportable (as further explained below). Of course, the nature and extent of the rights ultimately recovered by the Debtor-Acis will either be determined in the Highland Entities Adversary Proceeding or, as HCLOF Guernsey’s own Guernsey expert conceded, in a binding arbitration in Dallas, Texas under the terms of the Equity/ALF PMA.<sup>45</sup>

2. The Plan Injunction.

The most controversial aspect of the Plan—the aspect of it that seems to be the primary focus of the Objectors—is a portion of an injunction in the Plan (the “Temporary Injunction”). The Temporary Injunction would temporarily enjoin the following parties from effectuating an optional redemption or liquidating the Acis CLOs and related actions: (i) Highland; (ii) HCLOF

Guernsey; (iii) CLO Holdco, Ltd. (the donor advised fund, seeded with Highland contributions and managed by Highland that owns 49% of HCLOF Guernsey); (iv) Neutra Cayman; (v) Highland HCF (the Cayman Island entity created shortly before the Bankruptcy Cases to replace the Debtor-Acis under the Equity/ALF PMA); (vi) Highland Management (the Highland-created entity that entered into a portfolio management agreement with a new Acis-CLO that was established in 2017); and (vii) any affiliates of Highland and their respective employees, agents, representatives, transferees, assigns, and successors.<sup>46</sup> This Temporary Injunction is proposed to only last until the earlier of when: (a) the creditors of the Debtors are paid in full; (b) resolution of the Highland Entities Adversary Proceeding; (c) a material breach in the Plan; or (d) the bankruptcy court terminates the Temporary Injunction upon request of a party-in-interest. Fully consensual resets of the Acis CLOs are permissible if HCLOF Guernsey, as the equity owner in the CLO SPEs, chooses to agree to resets. The basis for the Temporary Injunction is as follows: The Chapter 11 Trustee has asserted numerous claims in the Highland Entities Adversary Proceeding against Highland, HCLOF Guernsey, and affiliates, including claims to recover the Debtor-Acis's rights under the Equity/ALF PMA.<sup>47</sup> The Temporary Plan Injunction essentially provides for the continuation, after the Effective Date, of injunctive relief that the bankruptcy court previously granted in its Preliminary Injunction Order (the "Preliminary Injunction") [DE # 21 in Adversary No. 18-03212-sgj] entered on July 10, 2018 in the Highland Entities Adversary Proceeding. The Preliminary Injunction was originally set to expire by its

<sup>46</sup> There is another portion of this Plan injunction that is more of a general plan injunction (i.e., very typical) that would prohibit actions against the Debtors, Reorganized Debtor and the Estate Assets, based on acts occurring before the Effective Date, which would be permanent and would not expire upon the occurrence of any event that causes the Temporary Plan Injunction to expire.

own terms upon confirmation of the Plan but would be extended pursuant to an order confirming the Plan, through the Effective Date of the Plan.

As the Fifth Circuit has stated, the four elements to justify a preliminary injunction are (a) substantial likelihood of success on the merits; (b) substantial threat that the plaintiff will suffer irreparable injury; (c) the threatened injury outweighs any harm the injunction might cause the defendant; and (d) the injunction is in the public interest.<sup>48</sup> Each element is present in these cases.

Immediate and Irreparable Harm. The court finds and concludes that the Temporary Injunction is legally permissible, necessary, and appropriate to avoid immediate and irreparable harm to the Reorganized Debtor (i.e., evisceration of the Acis CLOs, by parties with unclean hands, that would have no authority to effectuate a liquidation of the CLOs, absent the prepetition wrongful termination of the Equity/ALF PMA). Mr. Scott, a director of HCLOF Guernsey, testified that, absent the Temporary Plan Injunction, HCLOF Guernsey would call for an optional redemption of the Acis CLOs.<sup>49</sup> The testimony of Ms. Bestwick, the other director of HCLOF Guernsey, also implied that, when the injunction expires, HCLOF Guernsey would redeem the Acis CLOs so that they could once again be managed by Highland.<sup>50</sup> The Chapter 11 Trustee credibly testified that if the Acis CLOs are liquidated, there is nothing for the Debtor-Acis to manage.<sup>51</sup> The Chapter 11 Trustee credibly testified that the Temporary Plan Injunction is very important because it protects the revenues under the Acis PMAs, which is a source of potential recovery to creditors under the Plan.<sup>52</sup> Mr. Terry credibly testified that the Temporary Plan Injunction is a critical component of the Plan and that the Debtor-Acis would have no going concern value without it. In fact, without the Plan Injunction, Mr. Terry will be precluded from reorganizing the business and paying creditors.<sup>53</sup>

The Objectors have argued that the Chapter 11 Trustee cannot suffer irreparable harm because he has an adequate remedy at law. This argument misses the mark. The destruction of the Debtors' ongoing business, which has the potential to repay creditors under the Plan in two years, constitutes irreparable harm. The fact that the estate possesses a number of avoidance claims for damages against Highland and its affiliates, and could potentially obtain damages on such claims, does not render the destruction of the Debtor-Acis's ongoing business any less harmful. Indeed, according to the Fifth Circuit:

[T]he mere fact that economic damages may be available does not always mean that a remedy at law is 'adequate.' For example, some courts have found that a remedy at law is inadequate if legal redress may be obtained only by pursuing a multiplicity of actions.<sup>54</sup>

Likelihood of Success on the Merits. The Chapter 11 Trustee has also demonstrated a likelihood of succeeding on the merits in the Highland Entities Adversary Proceeding.

The record contains substantial evidence of both intentional and constructive fraudulent transfers with regard to the Equity/ALF PMA and other assets.<sup>55</sup> The numerous prepetition transfers that occurred around the time of and after the Terry Arbitration Award appear more likely than not to have been made to deprive the Debtor-Acis of value and with actual intent to hinder, delay or defraud the Debtors' creditors. Highland's only purported business justifications for the prepetition transfers were that the Passive Investor demanded it and that the Debtor-Acis's brand was toxic in the market place.<sup>56</sup> However, these business justifications were not supported (and, in fact, were contradicted) by the evidence.

Indeed, while representatives of Highland and its affiliates said that the Passive Investor's demands were the reason for the termination (i.e., essentially a "transfer") of the Equity/ALF PMA, the Passive Investor's representative testified that this was untrue and that these alleged demands were never made by the Passive Investor.<sup>57</sup> In fact, the Passive Investor was just that—a passive, minority investor in HCLOF Guernsey with no ability to influence or control any of <sup>56</sup> Highland General Counsel Scott Ellington testified that the Passive Investor said it had no interest in doing business with the Debtor-Acis because the Debtor-Acis brand was purportedly toxic and, consequently, nothing associated with the Debtor-Acis could be managed or marketed as a CLO. Exh. 23, Transcript 2/7/18 at pp. 55-58. Mr. Ellington further testified that the Passive Investor demanded that the Equity/ALF PMA be transferred. Exh. 23, Transcript 2/7/18 at pp. 203-204. Mr. Ellington also testified that, because the Passive Investor would be putting in additional capital in connection with any reset CLOs, it had the ability to "start calling the shots" and dictate the terms of any reset transactions. Exh. 23, Transcript 2/7/18 at p. 226. Additionally, Highland executive Mark Okada testified that a reset transaction could not be performed by the Debtor-Acis because the market would not accept the Debtor-Acis as a portfolio manager and the Debtor-Acis was no longer risk-retention compliant. Exh. 25, Transcript 3/23/18 at p. 53. Additionally, Mr. Dondero testified that the "Boston investor" deal was contingent on getting away from the Debtor-Acis and getting a new collateral manager. the actual investment decisions.<sup>58</sup> The only other business justification Highland and HCLOF Guernsey have suggested for the prepetition transfers was that the Debtor-Acis “was a shell” and not capable of being risk retention compliant.<sup>59</sup> However, Highland portfolio manager Hunter Covitz testified that in October 2017, prior to the Terry Arbitration Award, there was a structure in place that would comply with risk retention.<sup>60</sup> Mr. Covitz could not convincingly distinguish why the “shell” status of the Debtor-Acis was distinguishable from the “shell” status of other Highland-related entities that were the recipients of various fraudulent transfers.<sup>61</sup> Mr. Covitz also subsequently admitted that the Passive Investor did not request that the Debtor-Acis end its involvement with HCLOF Guernsey through the Equity/ALF PMA fraudulent transfer or request that ALF change its name to HCLOF [Guernsey].<sup>62</sup> Mr. Covitz’s testimony contradicted the testimony provided by Scott Ellington, General Counsel<sup>63</sup> and Mr. Dondero.<sup>64</sup> And, at bottom, if the Debtor-Acis was a thinly capitalized “shell,” it appears to be only because Highland systematically made it that way after the Terry Arbitration Award.

The evidence established overwhelmingly that there is a substantial likelihood that the transfers were part of an intentional scheme to keep assets away from Mr. Terry as a creditor. Highland put on an expert, Mr. Greenspan, who testified that he did not consider whether the Equity/ALF PMA transfer was an “actual” fraudulent transfer, but only considered whether the transfer was “constructively” fraudulent.<sup>65</sup> While Highland has taken the position that termination of the Equity/ALF PMA was not a transfer, Mr. Greenspan testified that the termination of a contract can constitute a transfer and acknowledged that the definition of a transfer in the Bankruptcy Code does not include a value component.<sup>66</sup>

Balance of Harms. The Chapter 11 Trustee has also shown the balance of harms weighs in his and the estates’ favor in granting the Plan’s Temporary Injunction. The Chapter 11 Trustee is entitled to the Temporary Injunction pending resolution of the claims asserted in the Highland Entities Adversary Proceeding. The Chapter 11 Trustee credibly testified that the Temporary Plan Injunction is important to the Plan, because it allows the cash flow from the CLO management to be collected by the Reorganized Debtor, and that is the source of revenue available at this time to pay creditors.<sup>67</sup> Mr. Terry also credibly testified that the Temporary Plan Injunction is a critical component of the Plan necessary to preserve the Debtors’ going concern value and allow the Reorganized Debtor to generate new business and repay creditors.<sup>68</sup> Conversely, in this court’s view, there is no real harm to Highland or the Co-Defendants because they can ask for a reset under the Plan.<sup>69</sup> Mr. Scott, a director of HCLOF Guernsey, testified that

HCLOF Guernsey can sell its interest in the subordinated notes in the market.<sup>70</sup> The Chapter 11 Trustee credibly testified that the Temporary Plan Injunction would not impair the value of the subordinated notes because a rational investor would not want to liquidate the Acis CLOs, but rather would acquire them to do a reset under the Plan.<sup>71</sup> Mr. Terry credibly testified that even if the Acis CLOs are not reset, it still does not make sense to redeem the Acis CLOs.<sup>72</sup>

Public Interest. Finally, issuance of the Plan Injunction is consistent with public policy. Public policy favors the equitable collecting of a debtor's assets, maximizing the value of those assets, and distributing the proceeds in an orderly fashion in accordance with the priorities and safeguards set forth in the Bankruptcy Code, rather than in an uncontrolled, piecemeal, and potentially wasteful way. Public policy also supports successful reorganizations.<sup>73</sup> The public interest is furthered by confirming a plan that saves the Debtor-Acis's business operations and allows it to pay its creditors under a successful plan of reorganization. The public interest is also furthered by maintaining the status quo through the Temporary Plan Injunction so that the avoidance action relating to the Equity ALF PMA can be determined on its merits. The public interest is not furthered by allowing potential wrongdoers to complete the last step in what appears likely to have been a scheme to strip the Debtor-Acis of its assets, steal its business, and leave it unable to pay creditors. The public interest is not furthered by leaving the Debtors without sufficient resources to pursue and effectively litigate potentially valuable causes of action.

In sum, the court finds and concludes that the proposed Plan injunction (including the Temporary Injunction) is legally permissible and justified under all the circumstances. It is narrowly tailored to address the specific harm to which it is directed and comports with governing case and statutory authority and applicable rules of bankruptcy and civil procedure. The Plan Injunction is consistent with Fifth Circuit precedent.<sup>74</sup> Such an injunction would not violate section 524(e) of the Bankruptcy Code. That subsection provides that “discharge of a debt of the debtor does not affect the liability of any other entity on, or the property of any other entity for, such debt.”<sup>75</sup> The Plan Injunction would not affect the liability of any entity, or the liability of any property. The injunction would only temporarily prohibit Highland and its Co-Defendants from exercising one form of economic recourse, thereby preserving the status quo while the Chapter 11 Trustee and/or Reorganized Debtor has a fair opportunity to prosecute the

3. Feasibility of the Plan—Specific Findings and Conclusions Regarding Mr. Terry and Brigade.

The Objectors have challenged the feasibility of the Plan.<sup>79</sup> The court finds and concludes that the preponderance of the evidence supported the feasibility of the Plan. Among other things, the Chapter 11 Trustee credibly testified that Mr. Terry has an excellent track record as a portfolio manager, and that there is no reason why Mr. Terry will not be able to obtain new business—that is, new portfolios to manage which will provide additional revenue streams for the Reorganized Debtor.<sup>80</sup> The evidence was credible and compelling that Mr. Terry will be capable of fulfilling the equity owner position in the Reorganized Debtor (stepping in to essentially run the Reorganized Debtor) and will be able to ensure the feasibility of the Plan. He is well qualified to reorganize the Debtor-Acis. Mr. Terry testified that his role with the Reorganized Debtor will be similar to the role he very successfully performed for the Debtor-Acis.<sup>81</sup> The Debtor-Acis received numerous awards during Mr. Terry's service as the portfolio manager of the Acis CLOs.<sup>82</sup> The arbitration panel that issued the Arbitration Award found that Mr. Terry was terminated for essentially doing the right thing for investors.<sup>83</sup> Mr. Terry credibly testified that numerous market participants have expressed an interest in working with the Reorganized Debtor if the Plan is confirmed.<sup>84</sup>

Moreover, the court finds and concludes that Brigade (who stepped in as sub-advisor in place of Highland during the Bankruptcy Cases and is a registered investment advisor) is qualified to serve as a sub-advisor to the Reorganized Acis. Mr. Jared Worman, a portfolio manager for Brigade,<sup>85</sup> credibly testified that Brigade, founded in the year 2007, currently has $20 billion of total assets under management, $5 billion of which consists of six U.S. CLOs, two U.S. CDOs, and three European CLOs.<sup>86</sup> Mr. Worman credibly testified that Brigade has issued 17 CLOs and has reset or refinanced several of them.<sup>87</sup> Mr. Worman and Mr. Terry credibly testified that Brigade is willing to serve as sub-advisor to the Reorganized Acis for fifteen basis points.<sup>88</sup> Highland attempted to show with evidence and argument that Brigade had made some failed trades since stepping in as sub-advisor to the Acis CLOs and that this perhaps made them unfit to serve in this role. But Mr. Terry credibly testified that the fact that a few failed trades were made by Brigade does not make them unfit to serve as sub-advisor to Reorganized Acis, and that trades out of compliance with the applicable CLO tests occasionally happen, and Brigade has handled them appropriately.<sup>89</sup> In fact, the evidence suggested that at least ten failed trades occurred while Highland was acting as sub-advisor to the Debtor-Acis.<sup>90</sup>

Highland's suggestions that Brigade is not up to the task to manage the Reorganized Debtor are specious. Likewise, HCLOF Guernsey's insistence that it will not be getting the benefit of its bargain if the Acis CLOs are not managed by Highland personnel going forward appears to be a manufactured position aimed at thwarting Mr. Terry at all costs. Not only is there no credible evidence of Brigade mismanagement but, to the contrary, it appears that Highland (prior to the Debtor-Acis's rejection of the Sub-Advisory Agreement and Shared Services Agreement), intentionally liquidated assets of the CLO SPEs and built up cash without reasonable justification. Specifically, Mr. Terry credibly testified that there were $85 million in purchases in the Acis CLOs in the hours leading up to the entry of the orders for relief, but virtually no purchases of loans in the CLOs afterwards—only sales.<sup>91</sup> And Mr. Worman further credibly testified that Highland, while acting as sub-advisor, allowed approximately $380 million in cash to build up in the Acis CLOs. Meanwhile, Brigade has subsequently reduced that cash balance by $280 million to approximately $100 million.<sup>92</sup> Mr. Worman also credibly testified that Brigade has purchased approximately $300 million in loans for the Acis CLOs.<sup>93</sup> The Chapter 11 Trustee and Mr. Terry both credibly testified that the build-up of cash in the Acis CLOs while Highland was sub-advisor, rather than the loans acquired by Brigade, left the Acis CLOs without sufficient interest income to make a distribution to the equity holders.<sup>94</sup> Certain contradictory testimony of Hunter Covitz was not convincing that: (a) there were very few conforming loans available to be purchased for the Acis CLOs in the approximately four months that elapsed between the entry of the Order for Relief and the time when Highland was terminated as sub-advisor;<sup>95</sup> and (b) it made more sense to accumulate cash to pay down the AAA notes rather than invest in new loans.<sup>96</sup> The court found more convincing the testimony of Mr. Terry: (a) that there was $310 billion of performing loans rated above CCC in the S&P loan index in May of 2018 available for purchase in CLO-6 that would have satisfied the weighted average life test;<sup>97</sup> (b) that Highland purchased loans for CLO-7 that would have satisfied the weighted average life constraints in the Debtor-Acis's CLO-4, CLO-5, and CLO-6;<sup>98</sup> and (c)

4. Resets—Non-impairment of Anyone’s Rights.

The Plan only contemplates consensual resets of the Acis CLOs—in other words, only if HCLOF Guernsey requests resets.<sup>101</sup> Messrs. Worman and Terry both credibly testified that they believed the Reorganized Acis and Brigade could perform a consensual reset of the Acis CLOs.<sup>102</sup> Mr. Terry credibly testified that other asset managers have been able to issue or reset CLOs after a bankruptcy proceeding.<sup>103</sup> Mr. Terry also credibly testified that he wants to come to a resolution with HCLOF Guernsey and consensually reset the Acis CLOs.<sup>104</sup>

HCLOF Guernsey has taken the position that it and its new Passive Investor (new as of mid-November 2017—just before the Bankruptcy Cases) only want to be involved with CLOs that are managed by Highland or Highland affiliates. Is the Plan impairing their rights—to the extent the Plan (and any subsequent re-sets) brings in Brigade as the sub-advisor to the Reorganized Debtor (whereas Highland was in that sub-advisor role before)? It appears no. The <sup>100</sup> Highland has also argued that the Plan is not feasible because the administrative expense claims are extremely high (to which the Chapter 11 Trustee responds, it is of Highland’s making, since Highland has objected to literally every action proposed by the Chapter 11 Trustee). The court does not believe there is a legitimate feasibility problem here. Not only has the court not ruled yet on final professional fee applications, but the Chapter 11 Trustee represented that certain professionals have agreed to defer their fees (beyond payment in full on the Effective Date) as necessary.

Mr. Terry credibly testified that a reset of the Acis CLOs can occur after the expiration of the reinvestment periods of the Acis CLOs.<sup>110</sup> The Plan is feasible regardless of whether a reset of the Acis CLOs is requested by HCLOF Guernsey. Messrs. Phelan and Terry both credibly

VI. General Credibility Assessments.

In ruling in a contested matter such as confirmation, and weighing the preponderance of the evidence, the credibility of witnesses and contradictions in their testimony naturally can be significant. Here, there were some noteworthy problems and contradictions with some of the testimony provided by the Objectors' witnesses. They are summarized below.

1. Scott Ellington: A Seemingly Manufactured Narrative to Justify Prior Actions.

Scott Ellington testified on February 7, 2018 at the trial on the involuntary petitions, and the court was asked to consider his testimony again in connection with confirmation (he did not attend the confirmation hearing). He is the General Counsel, Chief Legal Officer, and a Partner at Highland. Mr. Ellington testified that the Debtor-Acis's name is "toxic" in the market place and that, due to the litigation with Mr. Terry and allegations in that litigation, "nothing can be associated with the Acis brand and be managed as a CLO or marketed as a CLO."<sup>112</sup> Mr. Ellington elaborated that it had been determined in late 2016 or 2017 that re-sets or re-financings of the Acis CLOs were a prudent thing to pursue (in fact, there was indeed a trend of refinancings and resets for this vintage of CLOs in the market place) and, in connection with that, the Debtor-Acis's contracts and assets needed to be diverted to different, newly created entities because: (a) the "Acis" name was toxic and underwriters and investors were not going to be interested in re-financings or resets for CLOs managed by the Debtor-Acis;<sup>113</sup> and (b) the new Passive Investor wanted the Debtor-Acis out of the picture.<sup>114</sup> Mr. Ellington further elaborated: “The equity, you know, calls the tune, so to speak, in terms of the CLO . . .”<sup>115</sup> In summary, an overarching theme of Mr. Ellington’s testimony was that the Debtor-Acis was tainted or toxic in the marketplace and the Passive Investor wanted the Debtor-Acis out of the picture—thus, this was the motivation for the prepetition transactions orchestrated by Highland prior to the Bankruptcy Cases. The problems with the Scott Ellington testimony were at least two-fold. First, there is no credible evidence that the Debtor-Acis is/was toxic in the market place. In fact, in April 2017 (well after the litigation with Mr. Terry commenced), the Debtor-Acis issued a new CLO (CLO-7). And in market publications as recently as August 21, 2017, Highland was touting the Acis structure stating “our vehicle will allow us to issue between six and 12 CLOs over the next few years.”<sup>116</sup> Second, the Passive Investor denies demanding that the Debtor-Acis be removed as the CLO manager. Term sheets as recent as August 21, 2017 contemplated the Debtor-Acis as the continuing portfolio manager of CLOs, with apparently no protestations by the Passive Investor.<sup>117</sup>

2. Michael Pugatch: The Passive Investor Made Into a Scapegoat.

The reality is that Highland, indeed, started working on the concept of doing resets of some of the older vintage Acis CLOs in at least early 2017 (and perhaps late 2016). Highland, in fact, completed a reset of one Acis CLO in April 2017 (with the Debtor-Acis still in place as the portfolio manager for that reset in April 2017). As part of that process of implementing resets for the Acis CLOs, Highland worked on bringing in a new investor or investors to have a share of the equity tranche of the Acis CLOs. Highland finally obtained the commitment of the Passive Investor in November 2017, after starting initial discussions with them in the second quarter of 2017.<sup>118</sup> A representative for the Passive Investor referred to itself as “passive” in a deposition.<sup>119</sup> Concepts and documentation for the Passive Investor’s investment in the Acis CLOs were discussed for a while during 2017. As recently as August 2017, the negotiations with the Passive Investor appeared to contemplate the Debtor-Acis still as the portfolio manager for the CLOs.<sup>120</sup> Then the arbitration trial with Mr. Terry began in September 2017 and the Terry Arbitration Award was issued on October 20, 2017. Suddenly, it appears that the dismantling of the Debtor-Acis began with all deliberate speed. The court believes, based on the totality of the evidence, that it was Highland who did not want the Debtor-Acis as CLO manager going forward, so that Highland could keep reaping the benefits of the reset CLOs. Specifically, when deposed on the topic, a representative for the Passive Investor, Mr. Pugatch, denied the accuracy of Mr. Ellington’s testimony, stating that the Passive Investor “viewed Acis and Highland as interchangeable from the perspective of the—you know, the actual investment opportunity.”<sup>121</sup> When asked, “Are you aware that Scott Ellington, general counsel for HCM, testified that [the Passive Investor] said with absolute certainty that they had no interest in doing business with Acis because the Acis brand was purportedly toxic and, consequently, nothing associated with Acis could be managed or marketed as a CLO?” Mr. Pugatch testified that he had read that testimony and that the statement was not true.<sup>122</sup> He further stated that “the ultimate sort of name change did not come from [the Passive Investor].”<sup>123</sup> In fact, when further asked whether the Passive Investor knew why Acis CLO Funding Limited changed its name to Highland CLO Funding Limited (i.e., HCLOF Guernsey), Mr. Pugatch testified, “We were told that it was a change in the brand or the name, as requested by Highland.”<sup>124</sup> And when asked “Did [the Passive Investor] request that the name be changed?” he answered “No.”<sup>125</sup> When asked whether the Passive Investor considered “Acis toxic in the industry?” Mr. Pugatch answered: “No. What I would say is, when the suggested name change did occur, there were commercial reasons given to us as to why that would be beneficial in terms of the ongoing management of those CLOs and the intended investment thesis around the investment that we had made, which seemed to make commercial sense.”<sup>126</sup> When Mr. Pugatch was asked, “Those reasons were given by Highland, correct?” he replied “Correct” and confirmed that they were not demanded by the Passive Investor.<sup>127</sup> Mr. Pugatch was emphatic that the Passive Investor was just that—a passive investor—that did not have the ability to “start calling the shots” and dictate the terms of any reset transactions.<sup>128</sup> When asked if the Passive Investor was concerned about the Terry Arbitration Award, Mr. Pugatch replied: “The award itself, no. I think the only thing we were concerned about or focused on was that vis-à-vis our equity investment in Highland CLO Funding Limited and, in turn, the equity that that vehicle held in the various CLOs was appropriately, you know, ring-fenced or not exposed to any potential damages or economic loss in value as a result of that arbitration award.”<sup>129</sup>

The Passive Investor further testified that Brigade has “a fine reputation in the market” but that it had no interaction with them historically.<sup>130</sup> The Passive Investor also testified that it was concerned about the cash buildups that had happened recently due to actions while Highland had still been the sub-advisor on the Acis CLOs.<sup>131</sup>

The court was presented with video depositions of HCLOF Guernsey’s two non-executive directors (i.e., its only directors): Mr. William Scott<sup>132</sup> and Ms. Heather Bestwick.<sup>133</sup> It was very apparent to the court that HCLOF Guernsey is controlled by Highland in every way. Putting things in the kindest way possible, Mr. Scott and Ms. Bestwick appear to be nominal figureheads who are paid to act like they are in charge, while they are not. They are both basically professional directors-for-hire, for companies that choose to form/organize in the nation of Guernsey.

Ms. Bestwick testified that she is a nonexecutive director for six companies in Guernsey (none of the others are in the CLO business).<sup>134</sup> She testified that she earned £35,000 per year to serve as a director of HCLOF Guernsey.<sup>135</sup> She testified that she was selected by Highland<sup>136</sup> and that Highland also made the decision to hire HCLOF Guernsey's law firm in the Bankruptcy Cases.<sup>137</sup> Ms. Bestwick, when questioned as to why the Equity/ALF PMA it had with the Debtor-Acis was terminated shortly after the Terry Arbitration Award was issued, testified that she was told it was "a condition precedent to the new Passive Investor" coming in and that she was told this by Highland.<sup>138</sup> She also testified that she had never talked to the Passive Investor (who, of course, is a 49% owner of HCLOF Guernsey)<sup>139</sup> or Grant Scott (the trustee of the charitable organization that owns 49% of HCLOF Guernsey).<sup>140</sup> She reiterated that she only talks to Highland employees. She also was under the impression that terminating the Equity/ALF PMA would improve marketability of the CLOs going forward but that it was the same people and "business as usual for us."<sup>141</sup> She testified that she learned of the Terry Arbitration Award in mid-April 2018 (some six months after the fact)<sup>142</sup> and “[y]ou’d have to ask Highland”<sup>143</sup> why it did not inform her sooner. Her testimony was clear that she defers to Highland on everything, stating that as directors they were “heavily reliant on our service providers, and that means Highland.”<sup>144</sup> With regard to a lawsuit that HCLOF Guernsey filed against Mr. Terry in Guernsey during the Bankruptcy Cases, she testified that it was neither her nor the other director, William Scott’s, idea.

Mr. Scott, the other HCLOF Guernsey director, is a “professional director” for 10-15 Guernsey companies<sup>145</sup>—all of which are “paying assignments.”<sup>146</sup> He became rather incensed when testifying, at the suggestion that he and Ms. Bestwick were not in control of HCLOF Guernsey, stating that board minutes and other documents would show that they took a great level of interest in running the company.<sup>147</sup> He testified that he earned £40,000 per year to serve as a director of HCLOF Guernsey and that, due to the extra work of the Bankruptcy Cases, he also was charging another £350 per hour, after the first 35 hours<sup>148</sup> (the court notes, anecdotally, that it required participation in court hearings by a director of HCLOF Guernsey each time that HCLOF Guernsey took a position in court). Mr. Scott confirmed that he was not aware of the litigation with Mr. Terry nor the Acis Bankruptcy Cases until April 2018.<sup>149</sup> He also testified that Highland had proposed the legal counsel HCLOF Guernsey used in the Bankruptcy Cases and that he had never disagreed with Highland's advice.<sup>150</sup> He confirmed that all investment decisions were made by Highland and that he and Ms. Bestwick's role was to "police" service providers.<sup>151</sup> Like Ms. Bestwick, Mr. Scott testified that they were told that the Passive Investor had made it a condition precedent to their investment in HCLOF Guernsey that "Acis depart."<sup>152</sup> But he had not talked to the Passive Investor.<sup>153</sup> As if all this deference to Highland were not enough, HCLOF Guernsey's lender is NexBank (an affiliate of Highland—which is based in Dallas, not Guernsey) and HCLOF Guernsey has given its actual equity notes to NexBank as security for its loans from NexBank.<sup>154</sup> Also, interestingly, when asked about the adversary proceeding that HCLOF Guernsey filed against the Chapter 11 Trustee a few months ago in the Bankruptcy Cases (i.e., the Highland Entities Adversary Proceeding—it was originally commenced by Highland and HCLOF Guernsey as Plaintiffs), Mr. Scott testified that "we haven't sued the trustee, he has sued us" but later acknowledged his mistake when corrected by counsel.

This court is not naïve—it realizes that so-called "fiduciary services firms" are apparently a typical thing in the world of off-shore jurisdictions that are large financial centers.<sup>155</sup> Maybe <sup>155</sup> During the testimony of both Ms. Bestwick and Mr. Scott, the court was reminded of an old TV commercial in which an actor states, "I am not a doctor, but I play one on TV." The court could not help but conclude that these were not real directors but were playing them (when legally necessary).

the system works, for the most part and in many business contexts. But not when trying to convince a bankruptcy court of the bona fides of transactions that look like attempts to denude another party of value and/or to thwart creditors. And not when accusations are made that you are the alter ego of the party (Highland) who orchestrated the company's creation. The evidence was overwhelming that: (a) the HCLOF Guernsey Directors do whatever they are told to do by Highland; (b) they do not talk to anyone else but Highland; (c) they have never challenged Highland; (d) they let Highland pick and consult with their lawyers; and (e) they were not made aware by Highland of the Terry Arbitration Award, the Terry Judgment, the involuntary bankruptcy petitions, or pleadings that lawyers filed in the Bankruptcy Cases on HCLOF Guernsey's behalf.

In summary, the testimony of these two HCLOF Guernsey Directors was of little or no value in convincing the court that the Objector, HCLOF Guernsey, has valid concerns of its own (separate from Highland's) with regard to the bona fides of the Plan.

VII. Conclusion.

This Bench Ruling and Memorandum Opinion is intended to address some of the most pertinent facts and issues raised in connection with confirmation of the Plan. Among other things, the court believed it was necessary to stress, in a separate ruling: (a) the unique status of the Objectors (they are "insiders" as defined in the Bankruptcy Code whose prepetition actions suggest unclean hands—this seems highly relevant to consider, when there are no non-insider creditors or other relevant parties objecting to the Plan); (b) the appropriateness and legality of the proposed Plan Injunction that would temporarily prevent nonconsensual redemptions/liquidations (it is in all ways justified given the allegations in the Highland Entities Adversary Proceeding and under the traditional four-prong test for preliminary injunctions); and

(c) the feasibility of the Plan (Mr. Terry and Brigade are well qualified to perform their contemplated roles).

The court will separately sign the Findings of Fact, Conclusions of Law and Order Confirming Plan submitted by the Chapter 11 Trustee to address all other relevant issues.
