14 Q. Did the Charitable DAF Fund, L.P., 15 and Highland Capital Management, L.P., enter
16 into an Amended and Restated Investment
17 Advisory Agreement, to the best of your
18 knowledge?

19 A. There was an Investment Advisory
20 Agreement, as far as I knew.

21 Q. And what is your understanding of 22 the purpose of the Investment Advisory
23 Agreement?

24 A. Excuse me.

25 To provide portfolio management to

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 achieve adequate returns on the portfolio to
3 support the charitable giving of the DAF.

4 Q. Did Mr. Scott lack the capability to 5 provide portfolio management services to the 6 Charitable DAF Fund, L.P., to the best of your
7 knowledge?

8 A. I would not say that.

9 Q. So why -- why did -- withdrawn.

10 Was the -- did you participate in 11 the negotiation -- withdrawn.

12 Can we please put up the next
13 exhibit? We'll call it Exhibit 3.

14 (Exhibit 3 introduced.)

15 BY MR. MORRIS:

16 Q. Do you see this is an Amended and 17 Restated Investment Advisory Agreement between 18 the Charitable DAF Fund, L.P.; the Charitable 19 DAF, GP, LLC; and Highland Capital Management, 20 L.P.?

21 A. Yes.

22 Q. Is this the agreement you were just 23 referring to?

24 A. Unless there was another amended
25 one. I believe there was always one -- best

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 practice is to have an investment advisory
3 group.

4 Q. And do you know who prepared this 5 document?

6 A. No.

7 Q. Do you know if it was the subject of 8 any negotiation?

9 A. I don't know.

10 Q. Do you know if the Charitable DAF
11 Fund, L.P., or the Charitable DAF GP, LLC, had 12 independent counsel in connection with the 13 negotiation and execution of this Amended and 14 Restated Investment Advisory Agreement?

15 A. I don't know.

16 Q. Do you know if the Charitable DAF
17 Fund, L.P., or the Charitable DAF GP, LLC, ever
18 hired independent counsel prior to the 19 commencement of Highland's bankruptcy in 20 October 2019?

21 A. I don't know.

22 Q. Did those entities also enter into a
23 Shared Services Agreement with Highland Capital
24 Management?

25 A. I believe there was a Shared

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 Services Agreement. I don't know which DAF
3 entities entered it.

4 Q. Before we get to that, pursuant to 5 the Investment and Advisory Agreement, did
6 Highland Capital Management, L.P., manage the 7 assets of the DAF and CLO HoldCo?

8 MR. TAYLOR: Objection, vague.

9 A. Can you repeat the question again?

10 BY MR. MORRIS:

11 Q. Sure. Is it your understanding that 12 pursuant to this agreement, HCMLP managed the 13 assets of the DAF and CLO HoldCo?

14 A. This agreement discusses the DAF,
15 right?

16 This disagreement doesn't discuss
17 CLO HoldCo, right?

18 Q. Do you know whether HCMLP ever had 19 any agreement of any kind with CLO HoldCo
20 pursuant to which it managed CLO HoldCo's
21 assets?

22 A. I don't know for certain.

23 Q. Do you have any understanding at all
24 as to whether such an agreement existed?

25 A. I -- I don't know for certain. I'm

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 willing to be refreshed.

3 Q. Do you know who provides --
4 withdrawn.

5 Do you know whether anybody provides
6 independent -- withdrawn.

7 Do you know whether anybody has an
8 agreement with the Charitable DAF Fund, L.P., 9 or the Charitable DAF GP, LLC, today similar to 10 the type that had been previously entered into 11 with HCMLP?

12 MR. TAYLOR: Objection, vague.

13 A. I believe Skygate has a similar --
14 similar agreements in place.

15 BY MR. MORRIS:

16 Q. Is it your understanding that 17 Skygate effectively replaced HCMLP as the 18 investment advisor to the DAF?

19 A. Let me clarify that for a second.

20 I believe Skygate has the Shared
21 Services Agreement. I don't know whether it's 22 Skygate or NexPoint has the Investment Advisory
23 Agreement or if it was another entity. I
24 don't -- I don't know. I -- I don't know the 25 specifics.

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 Q. Okay. While Mr. Scott served -- I
3 think you said as the trustee of the DAF, can
4 you identify any investment decision that HCMLP
5 had recommended that Mr. Scott rejected?

6 A. No.

7 Q. Can you think of any investment that
8 Mr. Scott made on behalf of the DAF that didn't 9 originate with HCMLP?

10 A. He wasn't the investment advisor,
11 but, no, I don't -- I don't recall.

12 Q. Let's just speed this up a bit.

13 Do you recall that in October 2019,
14 the debtor filed for bankruptcy?

15 A. Yes.

16 Q. And do you recall that after the 17 debtor filed for bankruptcy, CLO HoldCo, Ltd., 18 retained John Kane to act as counsel on its 19 behalf?

20 A. I -- I know he was retained. I
21 don't know which entities in particular.

22 Q. Do you have any understanding as to
23 who Mr. Kane represented?

24 A. My understanding was that he
25 represented the DAF. Now, whether it included

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021
2 all entities, CLO HoldCo, the offshore
3 entities, which entities, I -- I don't know.

4 Q. Do you know if -- do you know how
5 Mr. Kane came to be retained by the DAF?

6 MR. SBAITI: Objection to the extent
7 it calls for the DAF's confidential
8 privileged information (inaudible.)

9 A. I -- I don't remember. I know the 10 lawyers -- I let the legal department or 11 lawyers find and identify good -- I let them go
12 through the process of identifying and vetting
13 law firms.

14 BY MR. MORRIS:

15 Q. And are the lawyers that you're 16 referring to in-house counsel at HCMLP?

17 A. I -- I don't know which lawyers were 18 involved.

19 Q. Well, you just said that you let the 20 lawyers do the vetting. Which lawyers were you
21 referring to?

22 A. It could have been the HCMLP
23 lawyers, it could have been NexPoint lawyers.
24 I don't know.

25 Q. Could it have been any other lawyers

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 besides the HCMLP lawyers and the NexPoint
3 lawyers?

4 A. I mean -- yes. I mean, sometimes we
5 get recommendations from outside counsel
6 regarding other outside counsel. The 7 recommendation could have come from one of the 8 other bankruptcy attorneys involved in the 9 case. I don't know.

10 Q. Do you recall that in October 2020,
11 Mr. Scott caused CLO HoldCo to amend its proof
12 of claim?

13 MR. TAYLOR: Objection, assumes
14 facts not before the witness.

15 A. Yeah, I don't -- I don't know.

16 BY MR. MORRIS:

17 Q. Let me take it out of the --
18 (Simultaneous conversation.)

19 BY MR. MORRIS:

20 Q. Okay. Let me take it out of the 21 time frame.

22 Do you recall that there came a
23 moment in time when Mr. Scott caused CLO HoldCo
24 to amend its proof of claim by reducing the 25 value of the claim to zero dollars?

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 A. I -- I know there was ultimately a
3 settlement agreement. I don't know how that 4 manifested itself.

5 Q. Okay. So, just to be clear, you
6 don't have any memory of CLO HoldCo --
7 withdrawn.

8 Do you have a memory of CLO HoldCo
9 filing its original proof of claim in the 10 amount of approximately $11 million?

11 A. I -- I don't recall the amount. I
12 do remember that the DAF was overbilled by 13 Highland and there was a claim. Whether it was 14 a POC or an administrative claim or -- I don't 15 know how that manifested itself in the 16 bankruptcy. It's -- yeah.

17 Q. Okay. And regardless of the form of 18 the claim, do you remember that there came a
19 point in time when Mr. Scott amended the claim
20 to reduce the value to zero?

21 A. I -- I heard a hundred thousand
22 dollars, but it's essentially zero, I guess.

23 Q. And did you know that Mr. Scott was 24 going to amend the proof of claim in that 25 manner prior to the time that he actually did

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 so?

3 MR. TAYLOR: Objection to the extent
4 it calls for him to invade the
5 attorney-client privilege.

6 A. I don't -- I don't have knowledge of 7 what you just said. I -- my recollection is 8 there was a legitimate overbilling that 9 Highland did to multiple parties who have 10 pursued multiple -- those multiple claims
11 against the estate, but I don't have -- I don't 12 have specific knowledge of why the 11 was 13 reduced to zero, but --

14 BY MR. MORRIS:

15 Q. Did you ever discuss with Mr. Scott
16 his decision to reduce the claim to zero?

17 A. Not -- not before he did it.

18 Q. At any time, did you ever discuss
19 with Mr. Scott his decision to reduce the claim
20 to zero?

21 A. I believe afterwards.

22 Q. And what do you recall about your 23 discussions with Mr. Scott afterwards?

24 A. That he had given up bona fide
25 claims against the debtor, and I didn't

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 understand why.

3 Q. Did he explain to you why he thought
4 he was not giving up bona fide claims --
5 withdrawn.

6 What did he say in response?

7 MR. SBAITI: Objection, calls
8 for legal --

9 (Audio distortion.)

10 BY MR. MORRIS:

11 Q. If anything?

12 A. I don't remember him having an 13 explanation.

14 Q. Was anybody else -- did anybody else
15 participate in this discussion?

16 A. No.

17 Q. Did this discussion occur in a
18 singular phone call, or was it in multiple -- 19 during multiple conversations?

20 A. A couple, one or two.

21 Q. Do you remember anything about your 22 discussions with Mr. Scott concerning his 23 decision to amend CLO HoldCo's proof of claim
24 by reducing it to zero, other than what you've 25 testified to so far?

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 MR. TAYLOR: Objection, vague.

3 A. No, but I'm willing -- I'm willing 4 to be refreshed or answer more questions, but 5 those are the only things that come to mind.

6 BY MR. MORRIS:

7 Q. Okay. So, I think what you've told
8 me--and I just want to make sure that I have 9 this right--that after the amendment was filed,
10 you had several conversations with Mr. Scott in 11 which you told him that you believed he had 12 given up bona fide claims against the debtor,
13 but that you don't recall what, if anything, he 14 said in response.

15 Have I missed anything?

16 A. You used "several." It's -- I said
17 "a couple."

18 Q. Okay.

19 A. But otherwise, that's -- that's my
20 testimony.

21 Q. Do you recall that sometime after 22 that, CLO HoldCo had filed an objection to the 23 proposed HarbourVest Settlement?

24 A. Yes.

25 Q. And did you subsequently learn that

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 CLO HoldCo withdrew its objection to the
3 HarbourVest Settlement?

4 A. Yes.

5 Q. Do you recall if you learned that 6 before or after CLO HoldCo withdrew its 7 objection -- withdrawn.

8 That wasn't a good question.

9 Did you know, prior to the time that
10 CLO HoldCo announced that it was withdrawing
11 its objection, that it intended to do so; or 12 did you learn about that after -- you know, as 13 the announcement was being made?

14 MR. SBAITI: Objection, compound.

15 MR. TAYLOR: Objection, compound.

16 BY MR. MORRIS:

17 Q. You can answer.

18 A. I learned about it at the hearing.

19 BY MR. MORRIS:

20 Q. Were you surprised?

21 A. Yes.

22 Q. And why were you surprised?

23 A. It was inappropriate.

24 Q. Why did you believe it was 25 inappropriate?

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 A. The night before, Counsel had
3 confirmed with other counsel.

4 MR. TAYLOR: Instruct the witness
5 not to reveal any privileged information.

6 THE WITNESS: Okay.

7 BY MR. MORRIS:

8 Q. Mr. Dondero, you and I have done
9 this many, many times. I hope that you
10 understand that I'm never, ever asking or 11 hoping that you'll mistakenly divulge
12 attorney-client communications.

13 A. Yeah. Let me rephrase.

14 Q. Yeah. So, having said that, you
15 said that you believed it was inappropriate;
16 and the question is really simple: Why did you
17 believe it was inappropriate?

18 A. There was legal basis or legal
19 interpretation, I believed, in the governing
20 partnership agreement justifying the objection;
21 and I also believed there were duties under the 22 Advisors Act to -- for the DAF to continue with 23 its -- or to argue its objections.

24 Q. And after you learned that Mr. Scott
25 instructed his attorneys to withdraw CLO

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 HoldCo's objection to the HarbourVest
3 Settlement, did you have a conversation with 4 Mr. Scott about his decision?

5 MR. TAYLOR: Objection, assumes
6 facts not in evidence.

7 A. Yeah, I don't agree with the first
8 part of that question, so I need you to 9 rephrase it, please.

10 BY MR. MORRIS:

11 Q. After you -- after you learned that
12 CLO HoldCo withdrew the objection, did you
13 speak with Mr. Scott about that?

14 A. Yes.

15 Q. Okay. Did you have one conversation
16 or more than one conversation with Mr. Scott
17 concerning CLO HoldCo's withdrawal of its 18 objection to the HarbourVest Settlement?

19 A. I -- I only recall one.

20 Q. Did anybody participate in that 21 conversation besides the two of you?

22 A. No.

23 Q. Did that conversation take place on 24 the telephone or in some other form?

25 A. I -- I don't know.

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 Q. Do you know how long after the
3 conclusion of the hearing the conversation took
4 place? Was it the same day? Was it
5 afterwards?

6 A. I believe it was the same day or 7 shortly thereafter.

8 Q. And what do you recall -- please
9 tell me everything you recall about the 10 conversation, everything that you said and 11 everything that he said.

12 A. The only two points I remember was 13 that it was inappropriate for the DAF to change
14 direction an hour before the hearing without 15 informing anybody else when it was -- yeah,
16 when it was a reversal of the direction he had 17 been going in for weeks and that it was also 18 inappropriate to -- well, no, that's -- that 19 was -- that was really -- that was really it, I
20 guess.

21 Q. Do you recall what, if anything,
22 Mr. Scott said in response?

23 MR. SBAITI: Objection calls --
24 (inaudible.)

25 MR. MORRIS: What's the basis for

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 the objection?

3 MR. TAYLOR: Objection, calls for
4 hearsay.

5 MR. SBAITI: Calls for hearsay.

6 BY MR. MORRIS:

7 Q. You can answer.

8 A. That he had done it based on advice
9 of counsel.

10 Q. Did you have any reason to doubt
11 that?

12 A. It -- it didn't -- it didn't make
13 sense that counsel would change their opinion
14 between the night before and the morning of the 15 hearing, but I guess that -- that is a reason
16 to doubt it.

17 Q. Do you think -- do you think
18 Mr. Scott acted in good faith when he made the 19 decision to withdraw CLO HoldCo's objection to 20 the HarbourVest Settlement?

21 A. Can you ask that question -- ask
22 that question again, please?

23 Q. Sure. Do you believe that Mr. Scott
24 acted in good faith when he made the decision
25 to withdraw the CLO HoldCo objection to the

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 HarbourVest Settlement?

3 A. I don't believe he operated in the 4 best interest of the DAF or CLO HoldCo by 5 withdrawing the claims or withdrawing the 6 objectives -- objections.

7 Q. Did you -- did the subject of the 8 Advisors Act come up during this conversation?

9 A. I don't -- I don't remember if it
10 specifically came up.

11 Q. Do you recall if the subject of 12 "fiduciary duties" came up in this
13 conversation?

14 A. Not using those words, but reminding
15 him he needed to do what was in the best
16 interest of the DAF was definitely part of the 17 conversation.

18 Q. Earlier you said -- and I -- if I
19 miss -- if I don't get this right, please feel 20 free to correct me; but I believe you said that 21 it was inappropriate for the DAF to change
22 direction without informing anybody else.

23 Do I have that right?

24 A. Yes.

25 Q. And who do you believe Mr. Scott

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 needed to inform of his decision?

3 A. There was some coordination and
4 cooperation among lawyers representing
5 different parties and I believe there was some 6 obligation -- some professional obligation as 7 part of that to inform and keep people abreast
8 of it.

9 Q. And would the lawyers at Bonds
10 Ellis, your personal counsel, be among those 11 lawyers that you believed he had the 12 professional obligation to inform?

13 MR. SBAITI: Objection --

14 A. I don't know.

15 MR. SBAITI: -- lacks foundation.

16 A. I don't know who was in the 17 coordination group.

18 BY MR. MORRIS:

19 Q. Do you believe that he had an 20 obligation to inform you in advance?

21 MR. SBAITI: Objection, vague.

22 A. I don't know if I would use the word
23 "obligation," but, again, as the founder or the 24 primary donor and continued donor to the DAF
25 and as the investment advisor fighting for

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 above-average returns on a daily basis for the 3 fund, significant decisions that affect the 4 finances of the fund would be something I would
5 expect typically a trustee to discuss with a
6 primary donor.

7 BY MR. MORRIS:

8 Q. And which primary donor are you
9 referring to?

10 A. Highland, prior to bankruptcy, and 11 myself or NexPoint post-bankruptcy.

12 Q. Is Dugaboy -- The Dugaboy Investment
13 Trust a donor to the DAF?

14 MR. SBAITI: Objection, relevance.

15 A. I -- I believe it's been a donor
16 over the years. It wasn't the initial donor, I
17 don't believe.

18 BY MR. MORRIS:

19 Q. How about the Get Good Trust? Is 20 the Get Good Trust a donor to the DAF?

21 MR. SBAITI: Objection, relevance.

22 A. I don't know.

23 BY MR. MORRIS:

24 Q. Do you know if either the Get Good
25 Trust or the Dugaboy Trust has any beneficial

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 interest in any of the DAF entities?

3 A. It does not -- or they do not.

4 Q. Do you know if either of the Get
5 Good or Dugaboy trusts have an interest in the 6 CLO HoldCo, Ltd., entity?

7 A. They -- they do not. They do not.

8 Q. Do you recall that a short while
9 later or -- or maybe even within the same
10 month, the debtor commenced a lawsuit against 11 the entities that we've referred to previously
12 as the Advisors, the Funds, and CLO HoldCo,
13 Ltd.?

14 A. Which litigation is that?

15 Q. That was the one where the debtor is 16 seeking injunctive relief; and there was a
17 hearing in late January on the debtor's motion
18 for preliminary injunction against the Funds,
19 the Advisors, and CLO HoldCo?

20 A. There's -- there's -- which
21 specifically?

22 Q. Do you remember that there came a
23 point in time when -- when Mr. Scott, on behalf
24 of CLO HoldCo, reached a settlement with the 25 debtor that resolved the debtor's claim against

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 CLO HoldCo, Ltd.?

3 A. I'm aware there was a settlement
4 that resolved most of his -- the -- most of the 5 issues with the debtor.

6 Q. Okay. And do you recall how you
7 learned about that settlement?

8 MR. TAYLOR: Objection to the extent
9 it invades any attorney-client privilege.

10 A. I learned about it after it was 11 done.

12 BY MR. MORRIS:

13 Q. Okay. And do you have an 14 understanding of the basic terms of the 15 settlement?

16 A. I think that was the hundred
17 thousand I spoke of earlier that the -- as the 18 11 or $12 million of overbilling that every 19 other entity has pursued, you know, for -- the 20 overbilling was traded for a hundred thousand
21 dollars, and the -- I think Grant agreed to not
22 pursue some historic actions and not pursue
23 replacement of HCMLP as manager, regardless of 24 whether it was in the best interest of the DAF
25 or not.

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 Q. And did you ever have a conversation
3 with Mr. Scott about his decision to enter into 4 that settlement on behalf of CLO HoldCo, Ltd.?

5 A. Yes.

6 Q. And did that -- did the
7 communications take place in one conversation,
8 more than one conversation, or in some other
9 form?

10 A. It was a couple times.

11 Q. Do you recall if anybody --
12 (Simultaneous conversation.)

13 BY MR. MORRIS:

14 Q. I'm sorry, were you finished?

15 A. It might have been just once, but 16 either one or two times.

17 Q. Okay. And did anybody participate
18 in that conversation other than the two of you?

19 A. No.

20 Q. Can you recall everything that was 21 discussed during that conversation, everything
22 that you recall saying in sum or substance and 23 everything that you can recall Mr. Scott
24 saying?

25 A. My message was what I just

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 articulated, that -- that the compromise or the 3 settlement wasn't in the best interest of the 4 DAF, it wasn't in the best interest of the 5 investments in the DAF.

6 Q. Do you recall how long the 7 conversation lasted?

8 A. No. It wasn't that long.

9 Q. Do you recall that shortly after 10 Mr. Scott reached the settlement on behalf of 11 CLO HoldCo, that he gave notice of his intent
12 to resign from his positions with the DAF
13 entities and CLO HoldCo, Ltd.?

14 A. Yes.

15 Q. And do you recall that there was a
16 telephone conversation between and among you
17 and Mr. Scott and certain lawyers at around the 18 same time?

19 A. I don't -- I don't remember that 20 specifically with the lawyers.

21 MR. MORRIS: Can we please put up
22 the next exhibit, which I think we're
23 marking as Exhibit 4, which is Scott Bates
24 No. 11?

25 (Exhibit 4 introduced.)

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 BY MR. MORRIS:

3 Q. So, I'll represent to you,
4 Mr. Dondero, that the hearing at which the CLO
5 HoldCo, Ltd., settlement was presented took 6 place on January 26th. And so, this is the 7 following Sunday.

8 And do you see there's a list of 9 people who were going to participate in a
10 conference call on Sunday, January 31st?

11 A. Yes.

12 Q. And you and Mr. Scott are among 13 those people?

14 A. Yes.

15 Q. Do you recall if this phone call
16 took place?

17 A. Yes.

18 Q. Do you recall the purpose of the 19 phone call?

20 A. Yes. It didn't have anything to do
21 with his resignation, this phone call.

22 Q. So, what was the purpose of this 23 call?

24 A. Earlier, I stated that to make -- to 25 pivot the plans or what he was -- or to

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 withdraw without telling anybody, to reach
3 settlements without telling anybody that had a
4 material negative impact on the DAF was 5 inappropriate. And I believe the purpose of 6 this call was his representation that John Kane
7 had, in fact, told everybody, so -- but when I
8 spoke with everybody else, everybody said he
9 hadn't talked to them, and so to figure out --
10 to try and figure out what the truth was, we 11 had a conference call with everybody.

12 Q. Did you figure out what the truth
13 was during that conference call?

14 MR. TAYLOR: Objection. I'm going
15 to have to instruct the client not to 16 answer. This was a conversation with 17 attorneys that were acting in concert under 18 joint-defense agreement, or at least had a
19 common interest in litigation at that point
20 in time.

21 MR. MORRIS: I think it's a little 22 late for that.

23 BY MR. MORRIS:

24 Q. And there's no lawyer for you on 25 this call, at least that's identified on this

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 email string, correct?

3 MR. TAYLOR: That's incorrect.

4 You'll see -- note that Judge Lynn's -- why
5 it was his email, I don't know, but Judge
6 Lynn's email address is on there.

7 MR. MORRIS: Okay. I think having
8 told me the purpose of the call, I think he 9 ought to be able to disclose what the 10 result of the call was. So I'm going to 11 ask my question again.

12 BY MR. MORRIS:

13 Q. And that is, did you learn the truth
14 as to whether or not Mr. Kane had given advance
15 notice to any of the lawyers on this email
16 string about any of the decisions you're 17 referring to?

18 MR. TAYLOR: I'm going to renew my
19 objection. You can answer the question,
20 but I do want to state for the record we 21 believe it's inappropriate and if brought 22 up in later proceedings, we'll move to 23 strike.

24 A. None of the lawyers on this email or 25 that participated in the call acknowledged any

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 advanced conversations with Kane.

3 BY MR. MORRIS:

4 Q. Do you remember anything else about
5 the phone call that's referred to on this
6 exhibit?

7 MR. TAYLOR: I'm just going to renew
8 my objection.

9 A. No.

10 BY MR. MORRIS:

11 Q. And do you recall that Mr. Scott
12 gave notice of his intent to resign on the same
13 day?

14 A. I -- I didn't know it was exactly
15 the same day, but I knew it was on or around 16 that time.

17 Q. Okay.

18 MR. MORRIS: Can we pull up the next
19 exhibit, please, Exhibit Number 5, which is 20 Bates stamped Scott 18 and start at the 21 bottom.

22 (Exhibit 5 introduced.)

23 BY MR. MORRIS:

24 Q. Do you recall receiving this email
25 from Mr. Scott on January 31st, in the

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 afternoon?

3 A. Yes.

4 Q. Do you know why Mr. Scott gave
5 notice of his resignation at that time?

6 MR. TAYLOR: Objection, calls for
7 speculation.

8 A. No. It -- you would have to 9 answer -- I have my own speculation, but you
10 would have to ask him.

11 BY MR. MORRIS:

12 Q. Did you ever have a conversation
13 with Mr. Scott where he informed you of the 14 reasons for his decision to give notice of his 15 resignation?

17 hearsay.

18 A. I knew he was suffering from anxiety
19 and health issues regarding the challenges and 20 the confrontation.

21 MR. MORRIS: I move to strike.

22 I just want you to listen carefully
23 to my question, sir.

24 BY MR. MORRIS:

25 Q. Did Mr. Scott tell you why he had

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 decided to give notice of his intent to resign?

3 MR. TAYLOR: Objection, calls for

4 hearsay.

5 A. He told me he was suffering from

6 health and anxiety issues regarding the

7 confrontation and the challenges of 8 administering the DAF, given the bankruptcy.

9 BY MR. MORRIS:

10 Q. I'm sorry, did you use the word

11 "confrontation"?

12 A. Yes.

13 Q. Do you have an understanding as to 14 what confrontation he was referring to?

16 speculation.

17 A. I believe it was the interaction,

18 challenges of dealing with your firm.

19 BY MR. MORRIS:

20 Q. Did you have any advanced notice

21 that Mr. Scott would be sending this email to

22 you?

23 A. Not exactly. But a couple days

24 beforehand, he did propose it, that he was

25 considering resigning.

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 Q. Did you ever ask him to reconsider?

3 A. No.

4 Q. You'll see in the third paragraph,
5 he states, quote: My resignation will not be 6 effective until I approve of the 7 indemnification provisions and obtain any and 8 all necessary releases.

9 Do you see that?

10 A. Yes.

11 Q. Did he ever explain to you why his 12 release wouldn't become -- his resignation
13 wouldn't become effective until those things
14 happened?

15 MR. TAYLOR: Objection, calls for
16 hearsay.

17 A. No.

18 BY MR. MORRIS:

19 Q. Did he ever tell you who he wanted a 20 release from?

21 MR. TAYLOR: Objection, calls for
22 hearsay.

23 A. No.

24 BY MR. MORRIS:

25 Q. Do you know if there is any

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021
2 agreement today that relates to the
3 indemnification and release provisions cited in 4 Mr. Scott's email?

5 MR. SBAITI: Objection, calls for a
6 legal conclusion, lacks foundation, lacks
7 relevance.

8 A. There's no new agreement that I'm 9 aware of. There's an existing agreement from 10 when he was originally put in place.

11 BY MR. MORRIS:

12 Q. Did you ask for Mr. Scott's
13 resignation?

14 A. No.

15 Q. Did Mr. Scott or anybody acting on 16 his behalf ever explain to you or anybody
17 acting on your behalf why he wanted the 18 indemnification and release provisions?

19 MR. TAYLOR: Objection, hearsay.

20 A. No.

21 BY MR. MORRIS:

22 Q. Did you ever say or suggest to
23 Mr. Scott that he had breached his fiduciary
24 duties to anybody at any time?

25 A. I -- I don't -- I don't remember if

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 I spoke to anybody else about it.

3 Q. I'm just asking if you ever -- if 4 you or anybody on your behalf ever told that to 5 Mr. Scott or anybody acting on Mr. Scott's
6 behalf, like Mr. Kane.

7 MR. SBAITI: Objection, compound.

8 A. I -- I believe I testified already 9 that I told him he didn't do what was in the 10 best interest of the fund.

11 BY MR. MORRIS:

12 Q. And did you ever tell him, in sum or 13 substance, that you believed he had breached
14 his fiduciary duties to anybody in the world by 15 not acting in the best interest of the fund?

16 MR. SBAITI: Objection, vague.

17 A. I don't recall if I had those 18 discussions with somebody else. I mean -- no,
19 that's -- I don't -- I don't recall if I've had 20 those conversations with anybody else.

21 BY MR. MORRIS:

22 Q. Did you ever threaten to sue
23 Mr. Scott?

24 A. Did I -- no.

25 Q. Did you ever tell Mr. Scott that you

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 were considering suing him?

3 A. I remember telling him he needed to 4 do what was in the best interest of the funds.
5 That's -- that's as far as I remember.

6 Q. Did you ever tell Mr. Scott that you
7 believed that the fund had claims against him?

8 A. I believe anytime you're a trustee
9 and you don't do what's in the best interest of 10 the funds, you leave yourself open for that,
11 potentially.

12 Q. I appreciate that that's your
13 perspective, but I'm asking you whether you
14 ever told Mr. Scott that you believed that the 15 fund could assert claims against him.

16 A. I don't recall that.

17 Q. Do you recall if you ever told
18 Mr. Scott that you believed the fund should 19 assert claims against him?

20 A. No, I don't recall that.

21 Q. Okay. Did you ever tell Mr. Scott
22 that you believed anybody in the world had 23 potential causes of action against him for 24 actions or inactions taken on behalf of the DAF
25 or CLO HoldCo?

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 MR. SBAITI: Objection, vague.

3 A. I don't recall that.

4 BY MR. MORRIS:

5 Q. What did you do after you received
6 this email?

7 Withdrawn.

8 Did you do anything in response to 9 receiving this email?

10 MR. TAYLOR: For the record, we're
11 talking about Exhibit 5?

12 MR. MORRIS: Yes, I believe so.

13 Is that right, La Asia?

14 MR. TAYLOR: For that -- sorry, 4.

15 MS. CANTY: I'm sorry, John. Repeat
16 that.

17 MR. MORRIS: Is this document on the 18 screen Exhibit 5?

19 MS. CANTY: It's going to be 20 Exhibit 5, but what we had -- we had 21 premarked them. So, we skipped one in 22 sequence. So, when I upload it, it will be 23 5.

24 MR. MORRIS: Okay. Thank you.

25 MS. CANTY: You're welcome.

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 MR. MORRIS: Yes, Clay, we're going
3 to -- ultimately, this will be marked as
4 Exhibit 5.

5 MR. TAYLOR: Thank you.

6 MR. MORRIS: Yeah.

7 BY MR. MORRIS:

8 Q. So, the question, Mr. Dondero, is:
9 Do you recall doing anything after receiving
10 this email?

11 MR. TAYLOR: Objection, vague.

12 A. I don't remember doing anything with 13 it. I -- I didn't know what to do with it. I 14 didn't know how the DAF structure worked when 15 there was a resignation.

16 BY MR. MORRIS:

17 Q. Did you ask Mr. Scott why he chose
18 to send it to you?

19 A. No.

20 Q. Did you forward it to anybody?

21 A. I don't recall.

22 Q. Did you notify anybody that you had 23 received this?

24 A. I -- I don't remember.

25 MR. MORRIS: Can we scroll up to

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 Mr. Dondero's response?

3 (Scrolling.)

4 BY MR. MORRIS:

5 Q. You can see --

6 MR. MORRIS: That's perfect right
7 there.

8 BY MR. MORRIS:

9 Q. You can see in the first sentence of 10 Mr. Scott's email there's a reference to 11 resigning and divesting. Do you see that? I'm 12 summarizing.

13 A. Yes.

14 Q. And you responded, and you requested
15 clarification that -- the next morning; is that 16 fair?

17 That's the first question.

18 A. Yes.

19 Q. And then you tried to explain to 20 Mr. Scott what your view was of the phrase
21 "divestment" or "divest."

22 Do I have that right?

23 A. Yes. Divest has a different meaning
24 in investments than it does, I guess, in legal 25 structuring; and I just wanted to make sure

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 you -- you didn't mean liquidation of the
3 assets.

4 Q. Okay. That's what I'm getting to.

5 MR. MORRIS: So can we scroll up to 6 Mr. Scott's response?

7 (Scrolling.)

8 BY MR. MORRIS:

9 Q. And Mr. Scott tried to clarify why
10 he -- he used the word "divest." Do you see
11 that?

12 A. Yes.

13 Q. Okay.

14 MR. MORRIS: And then if we can 15 scroll up to your response.

16 (Scrolling.)

17 BY MR. MORRIS:

18 Q. Do you see your response says: What 19 does that mean? Quote, you need to tell me
20 ASAP that you have no intent to divest assets.

21 Do you see that?

22 A. Yes.

23 Q. Why did you write that?

24 A. It was unpredictable -- some of his 25 behavior was unpredictable at this point. I

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 just wanted to make sure he wasn't liquidating
3 or intending to liquidate the portfolio.

4 Q. What interest did you have in making
5 sure that Mr. Scott didn't liquidate the 6 portfolio?

7 A. It could materially damage the value
8 of the DAF and its ability to continue its 9 mission as a charitable entity.

10 Q. Had Mr. Scott ever divested assets
11 before?

12 MR. TAYLOR: Objection, vague.

13 A. Well, by giving up the 14 11 million-dollar disclaim against the debtor,
15 he divested an 11 million-dollar asset.

16 BY MR. MORRIS:

17 Q. Anything else?

18 A. Not that I can recall.

19 Q. When was the last time you
20 communicated with Mr. Scott?

21 A. I sent him a Happy Birthday text a
22 couple days ago.

23 Q. And when was the last time you spoke
24 with him?

25 A. It's been a couple months.

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 Q. Is the last time you spoke to him at 3 around the time that he gave notice of his 4 intent to resign?

5 A. No. It was about a month after
6 that.

7 Q. Mr. Patrick replaced Mr. Scott as 8 the managing member of the DAF GP and as the 9 director of the affiliated DAF entities and CLO
10 HoldCo, correct?

11 MR. SBAITI: Objection --
12 (Audio distortion.)

13 A. Ultimately, yes.

14 BY MR. MORRIS:

15 Q. Do you know how Mr. Patrick came to 16 replace Mr. Scott?

17 MR. TAYLOR: Objection to the extent
18 it calls for a legal conclusion.

19 A. I -- I found out about it after it
20 happened, you know, only from things that Mark
21 Patrick told me.

22 BY MR. MORRIS:

23 Q. Did you know that it was going to 24 happen before the event occurred, before the 25 actual replacement occurred?

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 MR. TAYLOR: Objection, relevance.

3 A. No.

4 BY MR. MORRIS:

5 Q. Do you know who -- who gave

6 Mr. Patrick -- withdrawn.

7 Do you know anything about the
8 circumstances by which Mr. Patrick replaced
9 Mr. Scott?

10 A. I -- only from conversations with 11 Mark Patrick after the fact.

12 Q. What did Mr. Patrick tell you?

13 MR. TAYLOR: Objection, hearsay.

14 A. He had struggled to -- he had 15 struggled to find other candidates or entities.
16 He had struggled with D&O insurance around some 17 of the alternative candidates.

18 And one day, when he was talking to 19 Grant Scott, they came to some -- I don't know
20 who said what to who, but that -- why doesn't 21 Mark Patrick do it and he has knowledge of the 22 structure, he enjoys the charitable giving 23 part.

24 And unbeknownst to me, they agreed,
25 and he sent over the appropriate documentation

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 or transfer of shares of voting--again, I don't
3 know how it works specifically--and Grant
4 signed it, and Mark Patrick became the trustee.

5 BY MR. MORRIS:

6 Q. So, it's your testimony that, prior
7 to the time they signed the documentation
8 pursuant to which Patrick replaced Scott, you
9 had no knowledge that there were discussions
10 underway pursuant to which that would occur?

11 A. Correct.

12 Q. You mentioned that Mr. Patrick told
13 you that they had trouble getting D&O
14 insurance.

15 Do I have that right?

16 A. That was -- yeah, that was one of 17 the factors with a couple of the candidates.

18 Q. And did he tell you who those 19 candidates were?

20 MR. TAYLOR: Objection, hearsay.

21 A. He did at the time. I can't
22 remember who they were. One was -- one was a
23 former Dean Foods executive, I believe; and the 24 other was an offshore sole practitioner.

25 BY MR. MORRIS:

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 Q. Did he tell you what the
3 difficulties were in obtaining D&O insurance?

4 A. No.

5 Q. Did you ask?

6 A. No.

7 Q. Do you know where Mr. Patrick got 8 the authority to -- withdrawn.

9 Do you know who determined to 10 replace Mr. Scott with Mr. Patrick?

11 MR. TAYLOR: Objection to the extent
12 it calls for a legal conclusion.

13 A. As I testified, I believe it was the 14 two of them together.

15 BY MR. MORRIS:

16 Q. And do you have any understanding as 17 to what authority they had to designate
18 Mr. Scott's successor?

19 MR. TAYLOR: Objection, calls for a
20 legal conclusion.

21 A. I -- I believed, between the two of 22 them, they knew how the structure worked, and I
23 believed between the two of them, they had 24 authority -- believed they had authority, and 25 that's why they effectuated it.

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 BY MR. MORRIS:

3 Q. Okay. Was Mr. Patrick ever employed
4 by HCMLP?

5 A. Yes.

6 Q. Do you know what period of time he
7 was employed by HCMLP?

8 A. He's been there for quite a while.
9 I mean, he was there for quite a while. I
10 believe over a decade.

11 Q. And what positions did he hold, if 12 you recall?

13 A. He headed up our tax department. I
14 don't remember him having any position other 15 than that or before that.

16 Q. Is he a lawyer, to the best of your
17 knowledge?

18 A. He's -- he's a tax lawyer, yeah.

19 Q. And do you know if he's employed
20 today?

21 A. I -- yes.

22 Q. Do you know where he's employed?

23 A. Yes.

24 Q. Where do you understand Mr. Patrick
25 is employed?

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 A. At SkyBridge.

3 Q. Do you know where SkyBridge's
4 offices are located?

5 A. Yes.

6 Q. Where are they located?

7 A. On McKinney Avenue. I believe it's 8 2515.

9 Q. Is that the same suite of offices
10 where your office is located?

11 MR. SBAITI: Objection, vague.

12 A. It's not the same floor. We -- we
13 left, as you know, the Highland offices
14 suddenly, and so until we establish permanent
15 office locations, they're located there, but I 16 expect they will be relocating in the 17 not-too-distant future.

18 BY MR. MORRIS:

19 Q. Did you have any discussions with 20 Mr. Patrick concerning the positions he was 21 inheriting from Mr. Scott before he agreed to 22 accept them?

23 A. No.

24 Q. Do you have any written or oral
25 agreements with Mr. Patrick of any kind?

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 MR. SBAITI: Objection --

3 MR. TAYLOR: Objection, vague.

4 A. Yeah, not that I know of, but I'm 5 not sure what you're asking.

6 BY MR. MORRIS:

7 Q. All right. Do you have any written
8 oral agreements of any kind with Mr. Patrick
9 pertaining to his role as an authorized
10 representative of any of the DAF entities or
11 CLO HoldCo, Ltd.?

12 MR. TAYLOR: Objection, vague.

13 A. I do not, no.

14 BY MR. MORRIS:

15 Q. Do you know if Mr. Patrick has any
16 agreement with any of the DAF entities or CLO
17 HoldCo, Ltd., other than those set forth in the 18 limited partnership agreement and the Amended
19 and Restated Limited Liability Company
20 Agreement for the general partnership?

21 A. I don't know of any.

22 Q. Okay. So, there was almost a
23 two-year period between the date that Mr. Scott
24 sent his notice to you of his intent to resign
25 and Mr. Patrick's replacement of Mr. Scott at

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 the end of March. Do I have that right?

3 MR. TAYLOR: Objection. I think you
4 said two-year period.

5 MR. MORRIS: If I did, let me
6 restate it.

7 BY MR. MORRIS:

8 Q. There was approximately a two-month
9 period between the time that Mr. Scott sent his 10 notice to you of his intention to resign and 11 Mr. Patrick's replacement at the end of 12 March 2021. Do I have that right?

13 A. Yes.

14 Q. Okay. Are you aware that during
15 that interim period, Mr. Patrick gave certain 16 instructions to Mr. Scott?

17 MR. TAYLOR: Objection, calls for
18 hearsay.

19 MR. SBAITI: Lacks foundation.

20 A. I -- I don't know specifically.

21 BY MR. MORRIS:

22 Q. Do you know generally? Are you
23 aware of any instructions that Mr. --
24 withdrawn.

25 Can I call that period between

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 January 31st and the time that Mr. Patrick
3 formally replaced Mr. Scott as "the interim
4 period"? Is that okay?

5 A. Sure.

6 Q. Okay. Did you ever learn at any
7 time during the interim period that Mr. Patrick
8 was giving Mr. Scott instructions with respect
9 to the duties and responsibilities concerning
10 the DAF and CLO HoldCo?

11 MR. SBAITI: Objection, assumes
12 facts not in evidence.

13 A. Not that I recall.

14 BY MR. MORRIS:

15 Q. Okay. Did you communicate with 16 Mr. Scott at all during the interim period
17 other than the birthday text that you
18 mentioned?

19 MR. SBAITI: Objection, misstates
20 testimony.

21 A. I don't -- I don't recall. I mean,
22 I know I've had some conversations with him,
23 yeah, about that -- I have a house in Aspen
24 but -- and we had some conversations about
25 Aspen and skiing and stuff like that, but I

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 don't remember -- I don't remember
3 specifically --

4 BY MR. MORRIS:

5 Q. Did -- did --

6 A. -- anything else.

7 Q. -- Mr. Patrick --

8 I apologize, Mr. Dondero. Were you
9 finished?

10 A. Yeah, I'm done.

11 Q. Okay. Did Mr. Patrick inform you of 12 any issues that were being raised that needed
13 to be addressed with Mr. Scott during the 14 interim period?

15 A. Not that I recall.

16 Q. Did you ever instruct Mr. Patrick on 17 what to tell Mr. Scott with respect to any 18 matter concerning any of the DAF entities or 19 CLO HoldCo during the interim period?

20 A. Not that I recall.

21 Q. Are you familiar with the phrase
22 "adherence agreement"?

23 A. No.

24 MR. MORRIS: Can we please put up
25 the next exhibit, which we'll mark as

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 Exhibit 6, Grant Scott, beginning at Bates
3 No. 85.

4 (Exhibit 6 introduced.)

5 MR. MORRIS: And if we could --

6 BY MR. MORRIS:

7 Q. Did you ever learn that there was a
8 point in time when the debtor was requesting
9 that CLO HoldCo, Ltd., enter into an adherence
10 agreement?

11 A. No.

12 MR. MORRIS: Can we scroll up a 13 little bit, please?

14 (Scrolling.)

15 MR. MORRIS: And just a little 16 further.

17 (Scrolling.)

18 BY MR. MORRIS:

19 Q. And do you see that Grant Scott
20 forwards it to Mark Patrick and says, "This 21 relates to the second issue from the debtor"?

22 A. Yes.

23 MR. MORRIS: And can you scroll up a 24 little more?

25 (Scrolling.)

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 BY MR. MORRIS:

3 Q. And you see Mr. Patrick's
4 instruction, "Do not sign the adherence
5 agreement from the debtor. The successor will 6 address this"?

7 A. Yes.

8 Q. Do you have any knowledge that
9 Mr. Patrick instructed Mr. Scott on March 2nd, 10 2001, not to sign an adherence agreement from 11 the debtor?

12 A. I have no knowledge prior to this.

13 Q. Okay.

14 MR. MORRIS: Can you scroll to the 15 top?

16 (Scrolling.)

17 BY MR. MORRIS:

18 Q. Do you see Mr. Patrick further
19 instructed Mr. Scott on March 2nd to, quote,
20 "Stand down on any communication," close quote?

21 A. Yes.

22 Q. Were you aware that Mr. Patrick had 23 instructed Mr. Scott to stand down?

24 A. No.

25 Q. Did you ever tell Mr. Patrick to

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 instruct Mr. Scott to stand down?

3 A. No.

4 Q. Do you have any understanding as to
5 where Mr. Patrick obtained the authority to
6 instruct Mr. Scott to stand down?

7 MR. SBAITI: Objection, vague,
8 assumes facts not in evidence.

9 A. I -- I wouldn't view it as an
10 authority issue. I think they had a long-term
11 relationship, friendship, working relationship
12 with regard to the DAF; and I think Mark was 13 giving him advice.

14 MR. MORRIS: Okay. It's 12:20 New
15 York time. I'd like to just take a short
16 break until 12:30, and I shouldn't have too
17 much more left.

18 MR. TAYLOR: Okay.

19 (Recess held 11:19a-11:31a.)

20 MR. MORRIS: Okay. Hopefully just 21 15 or 20 minutes more. A half hour at 22 most, I promise.

23 BY MR. MORRIS:

24 Q. Are you ready to proceed,
25 Mr. Dondero?

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 A. Yes.

3 Q. You've told me that you expressed to 4 Mr. Scott--and I'm, you know,
5 paraphrasing--that you expressed to Mr. Scott
6 your concerns with respect to his -- certain of 7 the decisions that he made during the course of 8 the bankruptcy.

9 Do I have that right? Is that fair?

10 A. Yes.

11 Q. Do you know whether anybody else
12 besides yourself expressed any concerns to 13 Mr. Scott concerning any of the decisions that 14 he made during the post-petition period?

15 MR. SBAITI: Objection, vague.

16 A. I -- I don't recall.

17 BY MR. MORRIS:

18 Q. Are you aware of anybody other than 19 yourself telling Mr. Scott, in sum or 20 substance, that any of the decisions he made 21 post-petition were inappropriate or not in the 22 best interests of the DAF or CLO HoldCo, Ltd.?

23 A. I don't know.

24 Q. Okay. You're not aware of anybody;
25 is that fair?

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 A. Not as I sit here today.

3 Q. Okay. We talked earlier about the
4 suggestion -- and again, if I get this wrong,
5 just correct me.

6 But I think you testified that
7 implicit in your conversations with Mr. Scott
8 was your belief that he wasn't acting in the 9 best interests of the DAF and CLO HoldCo, Ltd., 10 and had breached his fiduciary duties; is that 11 fair?

12 A. I think I testified that I didn't
13 use the word "fiduciary duties" but -- I don't
14 recall using those words, but I do recall
15 stating that he was making decisions that 16 weren't in the best interest of the fund.

17 Q. Okay. And I appreciate the 18 clarification and -- I appreciate the 19 clarification.

20 Do you have your own personal belief
21 as to whom Mr. Scott owed fiduciary duties to?

22 MR. SBAITI: Objection, vague.

23 MR. MORRIS: Withdrawn.

24 I'm going to try and do this a
25 different way.

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 Ms. Canty, can we please put back up
3 on the screen Exhibit 1?

4 (Exhibit 1 on the screen.)

5 BY MR. MORRIS:

6 Q. Can you see that, sir?

7 A. Yes.

8 Q. Is there any entity on this
9 Exhibit 1 that you do not believe Mr. Scott
10 owed a fiduciary duty to prior to the time of 11 his resignation in late March 2021?

12 MR. SBAITI: Object to the extent it
13 calls for a legal conclusion.

14 A. Yeah. I -- I can't answer that 15 question.

16 BY MR. MORRIS:

17 Q. Well, do you believe that Mr. Scott
18 owed a fiduciary duty to the three entities
19 that have in their name "Charitable DAF"?

20 MR. SBAITI: Same objection.

21 A. Again, regardless of where the 22 assets are held, he has a responsibility, in my 23 mind, as the trustee or the managing member, to 24 optimize those assets and protect those assets
25 and to efficiently, effectively administer

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 expenses.

3 BY MR. MORRIS:

4 Q. I appreciate that. I'm just asking
5 you to whom he owes the duty to do those
6 things, if you have an understanding. I'm
7 just -- I'm not asking for a legal conclusion.
8 I'm asking you if you have an understanding as 9 to whom he owes those duties.

10 A. Not specifically.

11 Q. Okay. Did you ever discuss at any 12 time with Mr. Patrick your views concerning
13 Mr. Scott's decision to withdraw the objection
14 to the HarbourVest Settlement?

15 MR. SBAITI: Objection, vague, lacks
16 foundation.

17 A. I don't -- I don't specifically
18 recall. It's -- I'm willing to be refreshed,
19 but I -- I don't specifically recall, but 20 that's -- yeah, I don't specifically recall.
21 It's not -- I don't want to speculate.

22 BY MR. MORRIS:

23 Q. I don't want you to speculate,
24 either.

25 Do you have any recollection of --

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 at all of ever discussing with Mr. Patrick your
3 views as to Mr. Scott's decision to withdraw
4 the objection to the HarbourVest Settlement?

5 MR. TAYLOR: Objection, asked and
6 answered.

7 A. Yeah, I don't recall.

8 BY MR. MORRIS:

9 Q. Did you -- do you have any
10 recollection at all of ever discussing with 11 Mr. Patrick your views concerning Mr. Scott's
12 decision to enter into the settlement agreement
13 on behalf of CLO HoldCo?

14 A. I don't recall.

15 Q. I'm sorry. Are you -- yeah, are you
16 aware that CLO HoldCo and the DAF, Ltd., 17 commenced the lawsuit against the debtor and 18 others in the United States District Court for 19 the Northern District of Texas?

20 A. Yes.

21 Q. Okay.

22 MR. MORRIS: Can we put that 23 complaint up on the screen and mark it as 24 Exhibit 7, I believe?

25 (Exhibit 7 introduced.)

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 BY MR. MORRIS:

3 Q. I'll just represent to you that this
4 is the first page of the complaint. If you
5 need to refer to it for any purpose, just let 6 me know.

7 But I'm going to start with the 8 question of, have you ever seen a copy of the 9 complaint that was filed by the Charitable DAF
10 Fund, L.P., and CLO HoldCo, Ltd., against the 11 debtor and certain other entities?

12 A. Yes.

13 Q. When did you see the complaint for 14 the first time, that you recall?

15 MR. TAYLOR: Objection, vague.

16 A. Near final versions before it was 17 filed.

18 BY MR. MORRIS:

19 Q. So you saw -- you saw versions of 20 the complaint before it was filed. Do I have 21 that right?

22 A. Yes.

23 Q. Okay. Did you participate in any 24 discussions concerning the substance of the 25 complaint before it was filed?

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 MR. TAYLOR: I'm just going to
3 caution the witness: You can tell him if 4 you participated in any conversations; but
5 to the extent that you had conversations
6 with any attorneys who were acting as 7 lawyers, please do not go into the 8 substance of those conversations.

9 A. Yeah. I mean, yes, I had 10 conversations with attorneys.

11 BY MR. MORRIS:

12 Q. Which attorneys did you speak with 13 about this complaint before it was filed?

14 A. Mazin. I can't remember -- I can't
15 remember -- I talked to a lot of attorneys. I
16 can't remember -- I can't remember besides
17 Mazin.

18 Q. Okay. Now, Mazin doesn't represent
19 you personally, does he?

20 A. No.

21 Q. Can you please tell me everything
22 you discussed with Mazin concerning this
23 complaint?

24 MR. TAYLOR: Objection,
25 attorney-client privilege.

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 MR. SBAITI: Well, I'm also -- DAF
3 is asserting work-product privilege and 4 joint-interest privilege regarding 5 communication through DAF with us.

6 MR. MORRIS: I'm sorry. I'm sorry.
7 I'm having a little trouble hearing you. I
8 think I heard attorney work product. What 9 over privileges are being asserted here?

10 MR. SBAITI: Joint interest. As 11 advisor to the DAF, he provided us some 12 information that we used and helped us
13 identify information that we were using.
14 So, helping his advisee's counsel perform
15 their duties falls under the work-product
16 privilege. We're claiming work-product
17 privilege over the content of his
18 conversation.

19 MR. MORRIS: Okay. Did I hear
20 somebody say attorney-client privilege,
21 too?

22 MR. TAYLOR: I had said that, but I
23 was just making sure that Mazin jumped in 24 with his objections --

25 (Whereupon, the court reporter's

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 computer crashed, calls were made, and an
3 iPad was engaged to finish the deposition.)

4 MR. MORRIS: All right.

5 Mr. Dondero, can you hear me?

6 THE WITNESS: Yes.

7 MR. MORRIS: Mr. Court Reporter, can
8 you hear me?

9 THE REPORTER: Yes, sir.

10 BY MR. MORRIS:

11 Q. Mr. Dondero, did you provide any 12 comments to the Sbaiti firm on any draft of the 13 complaint before it was filed?

14 MR. SBAITI: You can answer that
15 question yes or no. I'll just instruct the 16 witness not to answer with any content of 17 any kind on the basis -- and we're
18 instructing him not to answer on the basis
19 of work-product privilege and
20 joint-interest privilege.

21 A. Some.

22 BY MR. MORRIS:

23 Q. Can you disclose for me all of the 24 information and comments you provided that --
25 to the draft complaints?

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 MR. SBAITI: Instruct the witness
3 not to answer on the basis of work-product
4 privilege and joint-interest privilege.

5 BY MR. MORRIS:

6 Q. Are you going to follow Counsel's
7 advice, Mr. Dondero?

8 A. Yes.

9 Q. Did you provide any conceptual or 10 strategic ideas about what claims to pursue to 11 the Sbaiti firm prior to the time the complaint
12 was filed?

13 MR. SBAITI: Can you repeat the 14 question?

15 BY MR. MORRIS:

16 Q. Did you provide any thoughts or 17 ideas as to what claims should be pursued in 18 this complaint prior to the time it was filed?

19 MR. TAYLOR: I'm going to first
20 lodge an objection as to vague, and I
21 believe Mazin has some other objection.

22 MR. SBAITI: Yeah. I would -- I
23 will say the same objection, and we will 24 object to any content of the -- within the 25 attorney-client work-product and

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 joint-interest privilege.

3 A. Not that I recall.

4 BY MR. MORRIS:

5 Q. Did you provide any facts that are 6 set forth in the complaint?

7 Withdrawn.

8 Did you -- did you provide to the 9 Sbaiti firm any facts that are reflected in the 10 final version of the complaint?

11 MR. SBAITI: Mr. Dondero, you can
12 answer that question yes or no; otherwise,
13 we instruct you not to answer on the basis
14 of -- the content on the basis of
15 attorney-client, work-product and
16 joint-interest privilege.

17 A. Not that I recall.

18 BY MR. MORRIS:

19 Q. You don't recall providing any facts
20 at all?

21 A. Not specifically.

22 Q. Did you provide any general facts or 23 ideas to the Sbaiti firm in connection with 24 your review of the drafts of the complaint?

25 MR. SBAITI: Same instruction, same

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 objections.

3 A. Maybe some.

4 BY MR. MORRIS:

5 Q. Okay. Can you describe those for 6 me, please?

7 MR. SBAITI: I'll instruct you not 8 to answer that on the basis of 9 attorney-client work-product privilege and 10 joint-interest privilege.

11 BY MR. MORRIS:

12 Q. Are you going to follow Counsel's
13 advice, Mr. Dondero?

14 A. Yes.

15 Q. Did you have any discussions with 16 the Sbaiti firm concerning whether or not to 17 name James Seery as a defendant in the original
18 complaint?

19 MR. SBAITI: I'll instruct the 20 witness not to answer on the basis of
21 attorney-client, work-product and
22 joint-interest privilege as doing so would
23 reveal the contents of such communication.

24 BY MR. MORRIS:

25 Q. Can you just answer yes or no?

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 A. No.

3 Q. You didn't have -- that wasn't part
4 of any of the discussions you had prior to the 5 time the complaint was filed?

6 MR. SBAITI: Same instruction. Just 7 don't answer.

8 THE WITNESS: So please don't
9 answer, right, or don't answer --

10 MR. SBAITI: Don't answer.

11 THE WITNESS: Okay.

12 BY MR. MORRIS:

13 Q. Are you going to follow Counsel's
14 advice?

15 A. Yes.

16 Q. Did you -- did you suggest that 17 Mr. Seery should be named as a defendant in 18 this lawsuit to the Sbaiti firm prior to the 19 time it was filed?

20 MR. SBAITI: Instruct the witness
21 not to answer on the basis of
22 attorney-client work product and
23 joint-interest privilege, as doing so would 24 reveal the contents of those
25 communications.

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 BY MR. MORRIS:

3 Q. Are you going to follow Counsel's
4 advice?

5 A. Yes.

6 Q. Did you know, prior to the time the 7 complaint was filed, that the Sbaiti firm
8 intended to file a motion for leave to amend
9 their complaint to add Mr. Seery as a
10 defendant?

11 MR. SBAITI: You can answer that
12 question yes or no, but, otherwise, it will 13 reveal the content of any underlying 14 communication on the basis of 15 attorney-client work product, or 16 joint-interest privilege.

17 A. No.

18 BY MR. MORRIS:

19 Q. When did you learn that the Sbaiti
20 firm filed a motion for leave to amend their 21 complaint to add Mr. Seery as a defendant?

22 A. I don't -- I don't recall.

23 Q. Do you recall whether you had any 24 conversations with anybody in the world at any 25 time prior to the time that motion was filed

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021
2 regarding the possibility of filing a motion
3 for leave to amend the pleading to add
4 Mr. Seery as a defendant?

5 MR. SBAITI: Objection, vague, lacks
6 foundation; and instruct the witness not to 7 reveal the content of any communications on 8 the basis protected under the 9 attorney-client, work-product,
10 common-interest privilege.

11 A. I don't recall.

12 BY MR. MORRIS:

13 Q. Okay. Did you ever discuss with 14 Mr. Patrick the topic of whether or not 15 Mr. Seery should be sued?

16 A. No.

17 Q. Did you ever discuss with the Sbaiti
18 firm the topic of whether Mr. Seery should be 19 sued?

20 MR. SBAITI: Instruct the witness
21 not to answer on the basis of attorney work
22 product -- attorney-client, and
23 common-interest privilege as answering
24 would reveal the contents of such
25 communications, if they occurred.

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 BY MR. MORRIS:

3 Q. Are you going to follow Counsel's
4 advise?

5 A. Yes.

6 MR. MORRIS: I think I may be done.

7 Can we just take a three-minute
8 break and let me just check my notes?

9 MR. SBAITI: Sure.

10 (Recess held.)

11 MR. MORRIS: All right. I have no
12 further questions. I would request the 13 production of a privilege log reflecting
14 the communications, if any, between 15 Mr. Dondero and the Sbaiti firm; but,
16 otherwise, I have nothing further at this
17 time.

18 MR. SBAITI: Okay.

19 MR. MORRIS: Again, I appreciate
20 your time, Mr. Dondero.

21 MR. SBAITI: We'll reserve our
22 questions.

23 MR. MORRIS: Okay. Thank you,
24 everybody.

25 MR. SBAITI: Thank you. Take care.

1 Dondero - 6-1-2021

2 THE REPORTER: Mr. Sbaiti, do you
3 guys need a copy of this deposition?

4 MR. SBAITI: Yeah, we would just
5 need a PTX of the deposition transcript and 6 soft copies of the exhibits. Are you going
7 to send something to the witness to read
8 and sign? I think you could send it to him
9 either directly or to Mr. Taylor on his 10 behalf.

2 THE COURT: Counsel in the courtroom first in

4 MR. POMERANTZ: Good morning, Your Honor. Jeff

6 Ziehl & Jones, counsel for the Debtor.

7 THE COURT: Good morning.

8 MR. POMERANTZ: Also in the courtroom are the members
9 of the independent board: John Dubel, Jim Seery, and Russell
10 Nelms.

11 THE COURT: Good morning.

13 Hayward and Zachery Annable on behalf of the Debtor.

14 THE COURT: Good morning.

15 MS. LAMBERT: Lisa Lambert with the U.S. Department
16 of Justice representing William Neary, the United States
17 Trustee. I believe Ms. Kippes will also be joining later this 18 morning.

19 THE COURT: Okay. Good morning.

20 MS. LAMBERT: Thank you.

21 MR. TWOMEY: Good morning, Your Honor. Dennis
22 Twomey, Penny Reid, and Juliana Hoffman on behalf of the 23 Unsecured Creditors' Committee from Sidley Austin. Thank you.

24 THE COURT: Good morning.

25 MS. PATEL: Good morning, Your Honor. Rakhee Patel

1 of Winstead, P.C. on behalf of ACIS Capital Management, LP and 2 ACIS Capital Management, GP, LLC.

3 THE COURT: Good morning.

4 MS. PATEL: Thank you.

5 MR. PLATT: Good morning, Your Honor. Mark Platt.

6 I'm here on behalf of the Redeemer Committee of the Highland 7 Crusader Fund. And Mark Hankin, I believe, is on the phone as
8 well.

9 THE COURT: Okay. Good morning.

10 MS. POSIN: Good morning, Your Honor. Kim Posin of 11 Latham & Watkins. Also here is Asif Attarwala from Latham.
12 We represent creditor UBS Securities, LLC and UBS AG London
13 Branch.

14 THE COURT: Good morning.

15 MS. ANDERSON: Good morning, Your Honor. Amy
16 Anderson with Jones Walker on behalf of the Issuer Entities.
17 And with me on the phone is Mr. James Bentley with Schulte
18 Roth.

19 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

20 All right. That's all the courtroom appearances. If 21 you're on the phone and wish to appear, you may go ahead. I
22 think we heard at least Mr. Bentley, you're on the phone,
23 correct?

24 MR. BENTLEY: Yes, Your Honor. Thank you.

25 THE COURT: All right. And we heard Mr. Mark Hankin

1 should be on the phone, correct?

2 MR. HANKIN: Yes, Your Honor.

3 THE COURT: All right. Anyone else wishing to 4 appear?

5 All right. Well, we originally had quite a few things on 6 the calendar, and it looks like we're down just to four or 7 five maybe at this point, correct?

8 MR. POMERANTZ: That is correct, Your Honor. Again,
9 Jeff Pomerantz; Pachulski Stang Ziehl & Jones.

10 There has been a flurry of paperwork. I have either
11 inserts or replacements to things in your binders, or I have 12 completely new binders. What would Your Honor prefer?

13 THE COURT: Well, by the way, you had a very helpful
14 binder, whoever was responsible for that. I think just the 15 inserts will do.

16 MR. POMERANTZ: Okay. May I approach?

17 THE COURT: You may. And I assume we're talking
18 about the pleadings binder that you sent over Friday-ish?

19 MR. POMERANTZ: Correct.

20 THE COURT: Okay.

21 (Pause.)

22 THE COURT: Okay. Very good. Thank you.

23 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, I thought I would take 24 Your Honor through the agenda. And if the agenda that we 25 provided today was helpful, we would propose to do it for all

1 hearings, if that would be acceptable.

2 THE COURT: That would be great, yes.

3 MR. POMERANTZ: Thank you, Your Honor.

4 So, Your Honor, number one on the agenda was the DSI
5 retention motion. Your Honor has already entered an order
6 approving that motion.

7 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

8 MR. POMERANTZ: Number two is the ordinary course of 9 business protocol motion, which was rendered moot by Your 10 Honor's approval of the settlement, so a notice of withdrawal
11 of that motion has been filed on the docket.

12 THE COURT: Okay.

13 MR. POMERANTZ: The number three and four, the 14 retentions of Foley Gardere and Lynn Pinker, we have agreed
15 with the Committee and ACIS to continue those hearings. At the 16 conclusion of this hearing, I will be asking perhaps for a
17 couple of hearing dates --

18 THE COURT: Okay.

19 MR. POMERANTZ: -- over the next couple of months so
20 that --

21 THE COURT: Okay.

22 MR. POMERANTZ: -- we can set these for the next one.
23 Number five is the PensionDanmark relief from stay motion.
24 That also by agreement has been continued until the next date.

25 Number six is the settlement motion. The only trailing

1 issue, if Your Honor may recall, the CLO Issuers had raised
2 some concerns that the ordinary course of business protocols
3 would somehow impact the ability of the Debtor and the CLO
4 Funds to operate in accordance with their contractual
5 documents. We have been engaged with them and with the 6 Creditors' Committee in discussions on how to address their 7 concerns. We are still working on that, and we would ask that 8 that matter continue to trail to the next hearing.

9 THE COURT: Okay. All right.

10 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, number seven and number
11 eight and number nine, we are -- we were -- they were -- 12 they're unopposed. There have been some discussions, both in 13 connection with the cash management motion and on the bonus
14 motion, of the Committee and others. We would propose to hear
15 those after the contested matters. So we would prefer to trail
16 them until after the three contested matters.

17 THE COURT: All right.

18 MR. POMERANTZ: And Your Honor, the three contested
19 matters remaining, we would propose to take them in the order
20 of argument on the agreed protective order. There is 21 opposition by the Trustee's Office. Then an argument on the 22 Committee seal motion, and then followed by the United States
23 Trustee's motion to appoint a trustee.

24 THE COURT: All right. I am good with that sequence.
25 Anyone want to comment?

1 All right. So we'll start with the protective order.

2 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, and I will cede the
3 podium to my partner, John Morris, who will be handling
4 argument on that.

5 THE COURT: All right. Thank you. Mr. Morris?

6 MR. MORRIS: Good morning, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: Good morning.

8 MR. MORRIS: John Morris; Pachulski Stang Ziehl &
9 Jones; for the Debtor.

10 Your Honor, the Committee and the Debtor have agreed upon 11 the terms of a protective order. The protective order really 12 is a garden-variety protective order. And if I may, I would 13 just like to spend a couple of minutes giving the Court some 14 background as to how we got here.

15 THE COURT: Okay.

16 MR. MORRIS: This case has been going on for three 17 months, and obviously there's been a substantial exchange of 18 information during the interim. The case was filed in mid-
19 October. Almost immediately, the Debtor received substantial
20 requests from the Committee's professionals, both the lawyers
21 as well as the financial advisors. Under the leadership of 22 Brad Sharp, who was acting at that point as the CRO, the Debtor
23 acted very quickly to provide the information that it could.

24 Given that it was asked to produce documents on a very 25 expedited basis, given that it was asked to produce information

1 on a wide variety of issues that didn't concern an adversary
2 proceeding, that didn't concern a contested matter, some of 3 which related to, for example, transactions that were being
4 contemplated and we wanted to give the Committee visibility,
5 for all those reasons, the documents were produced initially on 6 a professional-eyes-only basis.

7 From time to time, the Committee sought the Debtor's
8 consent to share certain of that information with the Committee
9 members in order to enable the Committee members to fulfill
10 their duties. And I won't go into detail, but most of the time
11 we agreed. Sometimes we didn't.

12 The fact is, Your Honor, the parties worked very 13 cooperatively throughout the fall, notwithstanding the 14 adversarial nature of the proceedings, to provide information.
15 And we continued on that basis until late December, when the 16 Committee and the Debtor finally reached an agreement on the 17 terms of a protective order, and that's what we filed I think 18 on December 27th.

19 And the flow of information continued. The parties, I
20 think it's fair to say, have relied upon the terms of that 21 order. Under the guidance of the newly-appointed independent 22 directors, the Debtor has continued to provide information to 23 the Debtor as well as to other parties.

24 What information has been provided during this time? I
25 think it's important for Your Honor to understand the

1 magnitude of just what the Debtor has done here. I think the 2 Committee has made over 30 -- no, let me state it differently.
3 The Debtor has made over 30 separate document productions. It
4 covers more than 10,000 pages of material. It covers the 5 laundry list of issues that the Committee is interested in,
6 again, both with respect to contested matters and stuff that 7 has absolutely nothing to do with anything that's on the 8 Court's calendar today.

9 We've engaged in depositions. The Committee took three 10 very extensive depositions of Mr. Sharp, the CRO, of Mr.
11 Caruso, his partner at DSI, and they took a more-than-seven-
12 hour deposition of Frank Waterhouse, the CFO of the Debtor. I
13 defended each of those depositions. I didn't direct any of my 14 witnesses not to answer a single question. So there's been 15 full transparency here. I think there was maybe one question
16 that I asked to be marked confidential because it pertained to 17 the identity of investors in a nondebtor entity, and the 18 Committee didn't object to that.

19 So there's been that free flow of information.

20 Of course, Your Honor, the Debtor has filed its schedules,
21 its SOFAs. The Debtor sat for an almost-two-hour examination
22 before the United States Trustee and creditors, answering 23 questions about those documents at a 341 meeting that is going
24 to be continued tomorrow morning.

25 The point here, Your Honor, is that the agreed-upon rules

1 as reflected in the protective order haven't hindered the flow
2 of information. In fact, it's enhanced the ability of the 3 Creditors' Committee to gain information.

4 In the absence of the cooperation between the Committee
5 and the Debtor, Your Honor, I believe it's hard to imagine how 6 we could have reached an agreement on things like corporate
7 governance and the bonus motion, which includes information
8 relating to personnel matters, salaries and things of that 9 nature. And so this flow of information I think is helping 10 the Debtor's estate, it's helping the process, and I think it
11 ought to be encouraged, frankly.

12 As I mentioned earlier, another very critical component of 13 the information-sharing is sharing with the Committee
14 information relating to proposed transactions. That has 15 nothing, again, to do with an adversary proceeding, has 16 nothing to do with a contested matter, but it would really
17 hinder the Debtor's ability to operate if it was in a
18 contentious situation with the Committee over its day-to-day
19 business. And so, again, this protective order enables the 20 Debtor to carry forth its business.

21 I think it's important, Your Honor, to look at what the 22 consequences of this have been. Neither the Committee nor 23 anybody else has ever filed a motion to compel the Debtor to 24 provide information. Neither the Committee nor any other 25 party in interest has ever even requested a conference with

1 this Court or the Court in Delaware on matters relating to 2 discovery.

3 No one has objected to the protective order except the 4 United States Trustee. And we do appreciate the perspective
5 and the position that the United States Trustee is in, but 6 it's got to be taken into the context of this case. And in 7 the context of this case, where the Committee is on board,
8 where nobody else is objecting, the Court ought to ask itself
9 why. And I think the reason why is because the process is 10 really working, and it's working very well.

11 The people and the entities that are mentioned in the 12 United States Trustee's objection, whether it's ACIS or the 13 SEC or the PBGC or investors, they're all very sophisticated
14 parties, they're all well aware of what's happening, they all 15 have notice, and nobody is here objecting. And I think that's 16 very important.

17 The good news, Your Honor, I think the good news, anyway,
18 is the Committee and the Debtor have agreed to amend its form
19 of protective order in a way that we hope and we believe goes
20 a long way to addressing the United States Trustee's concerns.
21 In particular, what we've done is we've added the United 22 States Trustee as one of the parties who will receive
23 everything. Okay. So we've amended that. And Your Honor, I
24 have both clean and blacklines of the revised protective
25 order, if you'd like me to hand it up.

1 THE COURT: All right. You may approach.

2 MR. MORRIS: And I can just show you exactly where 3 these changes have been made.

4 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you. Thank you.

5 MR. MORRIS: So, Your Honor, you'll see in the 6 blackline at Paragraph 2 on Page 7 that we've added in 7 Subparagraph 2(f) the United States Trustee's Office. So
8 they're now one of the people or entities --

9 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

10 MR. MORRIS: -- who will receive everything. And 11 then on Page 11 in Paragraph 10, we've tried to make it very 12 clear that the protective order is not intended to prevent the 13 U.S. Trustee from disclosing discovery material in compliance
14 with a subpoena or court order or a FOIA request, provided
15 that the Debtor and the Committee are given notice pursuant to 16 Paragraph 9 so that we have an opportunity to intervene if we 17 think that there's a reason not to engage in that process.

18 So, as long as we receive notice, you know, the U.S.
19 Trustee can be responsive in the way that I think, I think at 20 least to some degree, they want to.

21 This order now, Your Honor, and I think this is -- I'll 22 thank the Committee for pointing this out -- this order is now
23 really wholly consistent with a protective order that was 24 entered by Judge Hale in the PHI case. It was entered just 25 last April, and it's filed at Docket #316. And that's a

1 protective order that wasn't entered in connection with an
2 adversary proceeding or a contested matter. It was a
3 protective order that was for use to all parties who wanted to 4 participate in discovery at any stage of the case. It also 5 included the United States Trustee's Office as one of the 6 recipients of documents, and it specifically provided not only
7 for confidential information but for professional-eyes-only
8 designation. I have a copy of that order if it would be 9 helpful for the Court to see.

10 THE COURT: All right. You may approach.

11 (Pause.)

12 MR. MORRIS: To the extent that there's any party who 13 has not yet requested information or has not sought discovery,
14 if the Court enters this order they'll be able to do so
15 pursuant to this order. And to be clear, as soon as a party
16 either requests or produces information, discovery
17 information, they become a party to this document. And so 18 they'll have all of the rights and the abilities to seek 19 information, to challenge designations. So nobody's rights
20 are really being curtailed in their ability to gain discovery.
21 And at this point, Your Honor, we have both the Committee as 22 well as the United States Trustee's Office who are going to 23 see everything. And so if either the Committee or the 24 Trustee's Office believe that the Debtor has improperly
25 labeled or categorized any document as either confidential or

1 highly confidential, there's a process to be followed. And
2 that process, I think, is quite reasonable. It's pretty
3 standard, at least in my experience. They'll let us know that
4 they disagree. We'll have a conversation. We'll either --
5 the Debtor will either agree to redesignate the document or 6 we'll bring the matter to the Court for the Court's
7 determination.

8 Sealing issues. Again, the U.S. Trustee's Office and the 9 Committee will both be fully informed as to what's happening
10 here. And if either of them has an issue, they can bring that 11 to the Court's attention.

12 To the extent that there is a disputed matter before the 13 Court on a sealing motion, the rules of engagement remain the 14 same. There's nothing in this protective order that seeks to 15 shift the burden. There's nothing in this protective order
16 that seeks to change the burden. The only thing that it does 17 is it attempts to identify, through the agreement with the 18 Committee, the types of information that the Debtor reserves
19 the right to designate as highly confidential.

20 It doesn't mean that that's now the standard that the 21 Court has -- the Court will rule, employ whatever standard it
22 thinks is appropriate, frankly. But it's a description, I
23 think it's in Paragraph 12, of the type of information that we 24 would mark as highly confidential. And I think the Committee
25 would agree, if given the opportunity, to give the Court some

1 comfort that at this point the Debtor has been quite judicious
2 and limiting in terms of the amount of information that
3 they've designated for that particular category.

4 So, in summary, Your Honor, there's no dispute that it's 5 needed. Gratefully, even the U.S. Trustee isn't telling the 6 Court that a protective order is not needed. From the 7 Debtor's perspective, it's not only needed, I would -- I
8 daresay it's required. Because if you want the Debtor and the 9 Committee to continue to engage in a free flow of information
10 outside of an adversary proceeding, outside of a contested
11 matter, this is the only way to do it. And I know that's what 12 the Debtor wants. I believe that's what the Committee wants.
13 It's why we've entered into this agreement. So these are 14 matters that ought to be protected.

15 1102(b)(3) doesn't give all creditors a right to all 16 documents. It gives them the right to information. And we 17 believe that this agreement facilitates the Committee's 18 ability to get information and to share it, as they determine,
19 with their members.

20 Unless Your Honor has any questions, I have nothing
21 further.

22 THE COURT: I do not. All right. Ms. Reid, did you
23 -- it's a joint motion. Did you want to say something?

24 MS. REID: Yes, Your Honor. Penny Reid with Sidley
25 Austin on behalf of the Creditors' Committee.

1 Just briefly, I would agree with Mr. Morris that this
2 protective order was a heavily-negotiated protective order
3 that took quite a while to get the parties' agreement, and it
4 enabled the Creditors' Committee to get the documents it
5 needed.

6 What is very important to note is two things. It does
7 provide a mechanism for any party to object to the 8 designation. And it's the burden of the party designating it
9 to support the designation. And all disputes or anything
10 related to this order comes to Your Honor. It's the 11 jurisdiction of this Court to decide everything, which is also 12 very important to our client.

13 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

14 MS. REID: Thank you, Your Honor.

15 THE COURT: All right. Ms. Lambert? Have we at 16 least made some progress from your prospective with the added
17 language?

18 MS. LAMBERT: We're making some progress, but not
19 sufficient progress. May I approach the bench --

20 THE COURT: You may.

21 MS. LAMBERT: -- with the exhibit binders?

22 THE COURT: All right.

23 MS. LAMBERT: Your Honor, this is not, as the Debtor
24 characterized it, a garden-variety protective order. This is 25 not like the PHI order, which was a confidentiality order that

1 defined parameters for sharing information with the creditors.
2 This is a motion that prevents the sharing of matters.
3 Protective orders are granted in contested matters and in 4 adversaries, not in the case in chief. Rule 23 is not
5 available in the case in chief. Section 1102, the only 6 statute that they cite, presumes sharing, not failing to 7 disclose. And the reason --

8 THE COURT: Well, let me ask you this. I want to 9 really drill down on this, because, you know, he used the 10 words, counsel used the words garden-variety. And frankly,
11 when I read these pleadings back in chambers, I thought, I
12 think this is pretty standard fare, this protective order. I
13 think I've signed something like this many times before.

14 And I get what you're saying. Well, let me see if I get 15 what you're saying. It feels like your main issue is that we 16 don't have a contested matter or an adversary proceeding. But 17 what I will throw out is this: Had we had a motion for a 2004
18 exam, a gazillion times I have seen people come back with 19 okay, we, debtor, will produce, but we want this protective 20 order. And it ends up looking maybe almost identical to this 21 one.

22 Another context I thought of was back shortly after the 23 2005 amendments when these new provisions were added with 24 regard to creditors' committees and sharing in 1102(b), I very 25 often saw, in complex Chapter 11s, a protocol order, we

1 sometimes called it, where a creditors' committee sort of
2 wanted cover for their dos and don'ts, and it resulted in sort
3 of a protective order. You know, I haven't gone back and 4 looked and compared terms, but something like this.

5 MS. LAMBERT: Right.

6 THE COURT: So, --

7 MS. LAMBERT: And the PHI order is --

8 THE COURT: -- are we punishing -- is this a no good
9 deed goes unpunished sort of thing? They didn't make the 10 Creditors' Committee file a 2004 motion.

11 MS. LAMBERT: The difference --

12 THE COURT: They've produced. And then now they've 13 negotiated this. I mean, --

14 MS. LAMBERT: The difference is very important, Your 15 Honor. You have --

16 THE COURT: What is --

17 MS. LAMBERT: -- gone right to the crux. A motion
18 for 2004 exam defines the areas to be discovered. An 19 adversary proceeding defines the areas to be discovered. A 20 motion for contested matter defines the issues that are 21 subject to discovery. Here, --

22 THE COURT: They -- the Debtor --

23 MS. LAMBERT: -- no one --

24 THE COURT: -- didn't insist on that. The Debtor is 25 just like, fine. We're going to in good faith produce.

1 MS. LAMBERT: But it's not the Debtor's issue.

2 THE COURT: We just want this order.

3 MS. LAMBERT: It's also the parties' issues, the 4 other creditors. If you have some knowledge of what is at 5 issue, you have some opportunity to come to the Court and say
6 hey, I, the SEC, or I, Creditor X, also am interested in what 7 --

8 THE COURT: But nothing about this order would 9 prevent them from filing --

10 MS. LAMBERT: But they don't know --

11 THE COURT: -- a 2004 motion and seeking the 12 information themselves, correct?

13 MS. LAMBERT: Right. And then they're going to have 14 to fight the sealing provision. So -- or the fact that it's 15 been designated highly confidential, which they would not have 16 had to fight otherwise until an opportunity came and they knew 17 what the information was. But now they don't have the 18 information. See, the information would have been given to 19 them as highly confidential, --

20 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

21 MS. LAMBERT: -- maybe labeled that way, in a
22 protective order in connection with their litigation.

23 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

24 MS. LAMBERT: But now they don't even get to get it
25 because it's already protected from them. Already insulated.

1 This is the problem.

2 So the -- if the Court compares the PHI order -- and the 3 U.S. Trustee certainly understands that there must be sharing
4 protocols or some type of confidentiality in general. This is 5 not it, though. This goes way beyond that. There should be a
6 provision that creditors can get information under certain 7 circumstances.

8 If the Court looks at the orders that are typical in these 9 cases, there is such a provision. That does not exist. In 10 addition, the carve-out in the order for contested matters, 11 2004 exams, and adversaries is material. And they should be 12 carved out here, too.

13 So those are the substantive, big-parameter issues of why
14 this, as a matter of law, is problematic.

15 In addition, there are particular provisions that are 16 untenable. The first is the limitation on the Government.
17 And this goes all the way back to the WorldCom case, Your 18 Honor. In WorldCom, a court entered an order for the examiner
19 to be able to interview people under seal, basically, in 20 confidence. An examiner prepared various reports. Later, the 21 U.S. Attorney's Office sought to obtain those, and they were 22 not able to because they had been done under seal originally 23 and that was material to the disclosure of the information.
24 This Court should not modify the statutory obligations that 25 the parties have to refer matters, either for ethical or

1 criminal matters. The U.S. Trustee circulated the routine
2 language that we ask for in every order of this type, and they
3 declined to do it.

4 THE COURT: Show me that language.

5 MS. LAMBERT: I can -- I can provide the Court with a
6 -- the language. I emailed it to them. I don't have it here
7 right now, but I can provide it to the Court. But basically,
8 I'm sure the Court has seen it before, we put it in all of our 9 languages, and it says nothing in this order constrains the 10 obligations of any party under ethical or federal statute to 11 share information. But now what's required is, if the U.S.
12 Trustee wants --

13 THE COURT: I don't know if I've ever signed -- I
14 mean, that might be an exception that would swallow up the 15 rule. I feel like I have -- I've approved language before 16 that, you know, says kind of the sky is blue, nothing prevents 17 a party from seeking modification of this order on notice to 18 parties and a hearing.

19 MS. LAMBERT: Your Honor, --

20 THE COURT: I mean, --

21 MS. LAMBERT: -- the United States Trustee should not 22 be required to come to this Court to tell -- or to tell the 23 Debtor that they have a subpoena for information or that 24 they're sending a criminal referral.

25 THE COURT: No, no, no. There's already an exception

1 on there for a subpoena.

2 MS. LAMBERT: No. No. The issue is --

3 THE COURT: But you don't think you have to give them
4 notice if you did a subpoena?

5 MS. LAMBERT: I have to give them notice. If I have 6 a FOIA request --

7 THE COURT: I mean, but you don't think that's 8 appropriate?

9 MS. LAMBERT: No, Your Honor. I don't think it's 10 appropriate that the U.S. Trustee, who has an obligation
11 statutorily, and the Court has an obligation statutorily, to 12 send matters to the U.S. Attorney's Office, that we have to 13 disclose when we're doing that. No. And other parties in 14 interest should be free to do that, too. That's what the 15 statute says. We have an obligation to do that.

16 We don't have to tell them what our whole case is. It
17 will become apparent if the U.S. Attorney's Office pursues it.
18 They release the information, usually. But this is not 19 standard. It has never been --

20 THE COURT: Okay. I just want the language that you
21 --

22 MS. LAMBERT: All right.

23 THE COURT: -- you argue is standard, and you said
24 that --

25 MS. LAMBERT: That language is, Nothing in this order

1 constrains anybody --

2 THE COURT: I want to see it. I want to get -- see
3 examples.

4 MS. LAMBERT: All right. Well, I'm happy --

5 THE COURT: Because I don't remember -- maybe I've
6 signed it a million times and I just don't remember, but I
7 don't really remember that.

8 MS. LAMBERT: I'm happy to provide the Court with a
9 number of orders signed by a number of judges in this 10 district.

11 THE COURT: I would like to see it now.

12 MS. LAMBERT: Okay. Well, I will have Ms. Kippes
13 provide that. But --

14 THE COURT: She's sitting in the back of the 15 courtroom now.

16 MS. LAMBERT: I'm sure that she is.

17 So, the other thing is, Your Honor, --

18 THE COURT: Unless you can show me right now, look, 19 here, in fact, is the garden-variety form of order, here is 20 the language that time after time after time after time after 21 time courts insist upon, --

22 MS. LAMBERT: Your Honor has not required -- Your 23 Honor has not required them to provide any evidence that this
24 language is standard. And it's not. So, --

25 THE COURT: I have a form of order that the

1 Creditors' Committee is supportive of and has heavily
2 negotiated. And it just looks at first glance to me to be
3 somewhat garden-variety. So, --

4 MS. LAMBERT: Well, --

5 THE COURT: -- you as the objector need to, you know,
6 point out why it's not.

7 MS. LAMBERT: Your Honor, the appearance of this case
8 is that there's a desire to keep it from being public. This 9 Court routinely, all the time, says bankruptcy is an open
10 process.

11 THE COURT: But I also, routinely, all the time, sign
12 protective orders. And it's like, We'll have a hearing down
13 the road if something needs to get in the record. This is 14 about discovery outside the courtroom.

15 MS. LAMBERT: Correct. And the order in PHI, I think
16 the Court will find, is very different from the order in this 17 case. So -- and is useful for that reason. I anticipate the 18 --

19 THE COURT: Okay. Go through the protective order in 20 PHI and highlight for me provisions that it has --

21 MS. LAMBERT: It does not bar sharing with government
22 entities. It is not as limiting to professional eyes, though
23 it has some limitations. And it contemplates sharing with 24 creditors under defined provisions.

25 THE COURT: Okay. Again, lengthy order. Point out

1 which provision from PHI you would like to see in this order.

2 MS. LAMBERT: All right. If the Court gives me a
3 break, I will annotate the order.

4 The IRS, I anticipate the evidence will be, has an
5 estimated claim of $8 million to $9 million that's on appeal.
6 The SEC is involved in the oversight of this Debtor. The PBGC
7 is a creditor.

8 THE COURT: They can file motions for a 2004 or file
9 an adversary. Or they file a proof of claim, it's objected
10 to, we can have discovery.

11 MS. LAMBERT: That changes the --

12 THE COURT: They got notice of this motion --

13 MS. LAMBERT: The change --

14 THE COURT: -- for approval of a protective order.

15 Yes or no?

16 MS. LAMBERT: Yes. I'm not -- I question whether the 17 IRS has as a creditor. I think they received notice because 18 they're not really listed as a creditor, they're listed as 19 contested.

20 THE COURT: Okay. But they got notice. They have 21 able counsel that shows up all the time in cases.

22 MS. LAMBERT: So, Your Honor, the statute, 1102,
23 presumes the disclosure of information, not the constraining
24 of information.

25 THE COURT: But you would agree, would you not, that

1 many, many times courts have entered protective orders in 2 connection with a Committee's 1102(b) obligations?

3 MS. LAMBERT: No.

4 THE COURT: Again, I use the analogy back shortly
5 after the 2005 amendments, --

6 MS. LAMBERT: They're referred --

7 THE COURT: -- where people prospectively said hey,
8 we want -- we want to be clear we're doing things correct,
9 we'll share information with our constituency, we, the 10 Creditors' Committee, but there's certain confidential,
11 privileged items we may somehow get into our hands, and we 12 want to --

13 MS. LAMBERT: It is --

14 THE COURT: -- be clear about what we have to share
15 and what we should not.

16 MS. LAMBERT: It is true that the Court enters
17 confidentiality orders in cases. I'm well aware of that. The 18 issues of this one is different. It is not garden-variety.
19 The difference goes right to the language of confidential
20 versus protected.

21 Your Honor, another aspect of this case or this motion
22 that is not workable is the sealing provision being co-
23 extensive with those, the items that are designated as highly 24 protected. You heard at the Federal Bar Association meeting
25 only last week that the magistrate judges were talking about

1 striking these provisions routinely. The FJC's publication on 2 protective orders and sealing also says it should not be
3 coextensive, should be a separate motion to seal. The 4 standards are totally different and much higher for sealing
5 the documents. This is a public process, and it should be 6 maintained as a public process.

7 THE COURT: All right. Any --

8 MS. LAMBERT: The Court delegates under this motion
9 its responsibility to evaluate information to the Debtor
10 unilaterally. The Debtor gets to make the decisions, not the 11 Court. And nobody knows what those decisions are, except 12 maybe the party that is asking for the information. If you
13 don't know that the information exists and it's already 14 subject to protection, you never get that opportunity.

15 It's for these reasons that the motion should be denied or 16 tailored.

17 THE COURT: All right. Anything else?

18 You know, no one has mentioned this, but it danced through 19 my brain: Part of the settlement I approved with the 20 Committee contemplated sort of a common interest privilege on 21 some things, right? Or am I misremembering that?

22 MR. MORRIS: They will have access, Your Honor, to 23 information as part of their investigation. I can't tell you
24 off the top of my head --

25 THE COURT: Okay. No one --

1 MR. MORRIS: -- the precise parameters of it.

2 THE COURT: No one can immediately tell me?

3 MR. MORRIS: Yeah.

4 THE COURT: Okay. Anything else?

5 MS. LAMBERT: Your Honor, if the Court would like,
6 the U.S. Trustee is happy to annotate one of the orders and to 7 provide a supplement with the orders that contain the 8 language, both that the Court -- this Court has entered and 9 other courts have entered from the district.

10 THE COURT: All right. Well, --

11 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, just very briefly. John 12 Morris, again. Pachulski Stang Ziehl & Jones.

13 THE COURT: This motion has been pending for a long
14 time. It was actually filed in Delaware?

15 MR. MORRIS: It has.

16 THE COURT: Okay.

17 MR. MORRIS: And it's -- and we've relied on it.

18 THE COURT: Okay.

19 MR. MORRIS: The reason that I went through the 20 background, Your Honor, is to give the Court the assurance 21 that it's working, it's not being abused. By bringing the 22 U.S. Trustee under the tent with the Creditors' Committee, 23 you're going to have two independent parties who are going to 24 review and challenge, if they think appropriate, the Debtor's
25 designations.

1 Nobody is being prevented here from filing a motion,
2 whether it's for a 2004 or another contested matter. Nobody
3 here is -- just because something is marked as highly 4 confidential doesn't mean that other people can't get access
5 to it. They just need to come and use a device pursuant to 6 which it's responsive. That's all it is. It is garden-
7 variety, Your Honor. Thank you.

8 THE COURT: All right. I'm going to overrule the 9 objections and approve the proposed agreed protective order as 10 amended in accordance with the mark-up that was shown and the 11 announcement made.

12 I am also, even though I think this is like saying the sky
13 is blue, I'm also going to direct that the Debtor and 14 Committee add a sentence at the very last paragraph that the 15 Court reserves the right to amend or -- amend this order upon
16 motion by any party in interest and notice and a hearing.

17 Again, I think that's probably a no-brainer, doesn't need
18 to be said, but I'm going to direct it to be said in there.
19 And, again, it would have to be on motion of a party in 20 interest and notice and a hearing, and we can all come and 21 argue whether some sort of amendment is needed to this order.
22 And, you know, you already have provisions in there that 23 contemplate, you know, someone may file a motion pursuant to 24 this order, but we'll just throw that in for good measure.

25 Again, I feel like this is an agreed order that is not

1 substantially different from forms of order this Court and
2 other courts have approved many times before. While the 3 timing and context may seem different, feel different to the 4 U.S. Trustee, I feel like, as we say in the law, it's a
5 difference -- a distinction without a difference, or whatever
6 the expression is.

7 Again, I allude to the many times in the past where a
8 creditors' committee, early in the case, before there were 9 contested matters, before there were adversary proceedings,
10 filed motion for approval of protocols under 1102(b) regarding 11 its obligation to share information, and by the time we showed 12 up for the hearing, there was an agreed protective order that 13 had been negotiated.

14 I compare it to the context of the committee or somebody 15 files a motion for a 2004 exam early in the case, and then we 16 come back with an agreed protective order.

17 I said before it's as though, to me, no good deed goes
18 unpunished. We have cooperation early on the case, and now, 19 you know, when this agreed protective order is proposed, the 20 argument is, well, there wasn't a 2004, there wasn't a 21 contested matter. Again, I don't think that distinction from 22 other cases makes any meaningful difference. I think there's 23 good cause pursuant to 1102(b), 105, and Rule 26. While maybe
24 not triggered yet with a contested matter or adversary
25 proceeding, I think there's good cause to approve this agreed

1 form of protective order.

2 All right. So, if you all could make those changes that
3 we discussed here on the record, and I'll sign it right away.

4 MR. MORRIS: Thank you, Your Honor.

5 THE COURT: All right. We now had the seal motion of 6 the Committee that I think you all proposed we go to second
7 today. And I'll tell you what floated through my head,
8 reading these pleadings. It almost felt like a moot issue by 9 this point. I don't know if anyone -- maybe I took your 10 thunder here, but --

11 MR. TWOMEY: You did somewhat steal my thunder, Your 12 Honor. I just wanted --

13 THE COURT: Okay.

14 MR. TWOMEY: Dennis Twomey again on behalf of the 15 Creditors' Committee.

16 THE COURT: I'm sure you're going to articulate it
17 much better than I just did.

18 MR. TWOMEY: If I might, Your Honor, maybe I'll take 19 a minute just to describe the genesis of the motion, which, --

20 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

21 MR. TWOMEY: -- just like the motion you heard, is 22 also about two months old and has been on ice for a while.
23 The Committee filed a motion to seal back in early December in 24 conjunction with, at the time, the Committee's objection, the 25 omnibus objection to the Debtor's second-day motions. As you

1 just noted, those objections were all resolved as part of the 2 governance settlement that you approved at the last hearing.
3 In terms of what was covered by the motion to seal as part of 4 that omnibus objection, which has now been resolved, the 5 Committee had attached as Exhibits C and D two orders that
6 were issued in the arbitration proceedings between the Debtor
7 and the Redeemer Committee, which, as Your Honor is aware, the 8 Redeemer Committee is a member of our Creditors' Committee
9 here. And at the time of the filing, the Committee sought to 10 seal the awards, primarily because the Debtor had previously
11 expressed to the Redeemer Committee that the Debtor believed 12 the rewards were subject to a protective order in that 13 litigation. And the Redeemer Committee at the time, while --

14 THE COURT: Now, let me ask you to repeat what you
15 just said, because I know this was brought up in the U.S.
16 Trustee's motion. You alluded to a protective order in your 17 motion. Are you saying now that you thought at the time there
18 was a protective order in place in the arbitration that you
19 might be running afoul of by disclosing it?

20 MR. TWOMEY: Correct.

21 THE COURT: Okay.

22 MR. TWOMEY: More specifically, Your Honor, we had to 23 get our omnibus objection, the Committee's omnibus objection
24 on file, and we wanted to include those awards as exhibits to 25 our omnibus objection. And the Redeemer Committee, who sits

1 on our Creditors' Committee, had indicated to the full
2 Committee that the Debtor had previously expressed the view
3 that these awards were subject to that separate protective
4 order in the other case.

5 And so, out of an abundance of caution, so that we could 6 get our omnibus objection on file, we sought -- we filed the 7 seal motion. And so that was sort of the genesis of the 8 motion.

9 So we filed it out of an abundance of caution in order to 10 press forward with our filing of the omnibus objection at the 11 time. And since that time, we've had the opportunity to 12 consider it more, and the Redeemer Committee has sort of 13 indicated its views on the protective order. But most 14 importantly, our objection, obviously, has now been resolved
15 as part of the settlement that Your Honor approved last week.

16 So, given that, coming full circle, Your Honor, the 17 Committee is no longer seeking the relief that we had 18 requested in the seal motion, and so that's where things stand
19 today. The Committee has communicated its position to both 20 the U.S. Trustee and the Debtor, and that's where things
21 stand.

22 So I believe the Debtor, in terms of the underlying
23 merits, I believe the Debtor still believes that those awards
24 contain some confidential information. Mr. Morris can speak
25 to that. And obviously, the U.S. Trustee had objected to our

1 seal motion.

2 But, again, Your Honor, coming full circle to the point
3 you raised initially, this really isn't an issue -- this isn't 4 a motion that the Committee continues to pursue, because the 5 objection, the underlying objection, the omnibus objection to 6 those second-day motions has been resolved as part of last
7 week's, or almost two weeks ago, the order that Your Honor
8 entered.

9 THE COURT: All right. So, to recap: The two 10 arbitration awards, or parts of them, I don't know if it was 11 the whole thing, but they were attached to the omnibus
12 objection, which is now moot because it was an objection to 13 the cash management motion, the DSI retention application, and 14 the ordinary course business protocols. That objection is 15 totally moot, if you will, now, because the global settlement
16 or the -- well, the settlement I approved last week resolved
17 all the issues raised in that objection. So, well, I guess, I
18 mean, what -- I was going to say, what would stop you from 19 just withdrawing the objection?

20 MR. TWOMEY: We can -- I think we can withdraw the 21 motion. Because it's a motion, obviously. We can withdraw
22 the motion to file under seal. That's --

23 THE COURT: Well, and again, I'm not telling you how 24 to do things, but I'm just saying that's what rolled through 25 my mind as far as why this might be a moot point.

1 MR. TWOMEY: Understood, Your Honor. And certainly,
2 from the Committee's perspective, we're not trying to, you
3 know, add more --

4 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

5 MR. TWOMEY: -- more issues that don't need to be 6 added. And I think that's exactly right. That's what I was 7 going to --

8 THE COURT: And that's part of what I'm getting here.
9 I mean, this could be a battle for another day. At some 10 point, someone may want to file a pleading attaching those 11 arbitration awards.

12 MS. LAMBERT: Your Honor, they are in evidence for 13 the motion to appoint a Chapter 11 trustee. That's why we're 14 having this motion before. The U.S. Trustee was constrained 15 to file its pleading redacted and all the documents under seal

17 THE COURT: Right.

18 MS. LAMBERT: -- because they're filed under seal
19 here and the order seals it.

20 THE COURT: Okay. Well, I guess what you're saying
21 is you're going to move, in connection with your trustee
22 motion in a few minutes, for me to admit into evidence these 23 arbitration awards we're arguing about right now?

24 MS. LAMBERT: That is correct.

25 THE COURT: Okay. Okay.

1 MR. TWOMEY: Thank you, Your Honor.

2 THE COURT: Thank you. Who else wishes to speak on 3 this?

4 MR. MORRIS: John Morris for Pachulski Stang Ziehl &
5 Jones for the Debtor.

6 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

7 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, my first point here was 8 objection moot; procedurally nothing before the Court. I
9 think that's been taken care of.

10 But it's a very important point. And the reason why it's 11 very important is because the Redeemer award was first
12 proffered by the Committee in opposition to the Debtor's
13 motion for the appointment of a CRO. Old management was going 14 to stay in place, and they were using -- I presume that they 15 would have attempted to use the Redeemer award to show that,
16 notwithstanding the Debtor's desire to appoint the CRO, old
17 management was still in place.

18 The reason why it's very important to note that the 19 objection that the Committee filed is now moot is because 20 we're now here in a very different context. We're here
21 because the United States Trustee's Office wants to offer the 22 Redeemer awards into evidence in support of their motion for 23 the appointment of a trustee. That motion is going to be 24 determined under 1104. 1104 relates solely to current 25 management. We were here two weeks ago, Your Honor, and the

1 Court approved an order appointing new management.

2 And so our first argument, Your Honor, is that there is no
3 sealing issue for the Court to decide in the first instance
4 because the Redeemer awards simply are not relevant and 5 shouldn't be admitted into evidence, and we can leave it for 6 another day when and if another party in interest seeks to 7 either discover or otherwise introduce into evidence the 8 Redeemer awards.

9 If you recall, the week before last we were here and the 10 United States Trustee's Office attempted to elicit argument
11 over prior acts that were described in Your Honor's ACIS
12 decision, in a prior SEC order, in the Redeemer awards. And I
13 think Your Honor properly at that point kind of shut it down
14 and said, We're here on a motion to appoint new management.
15 And we have new management. And I'm prepared to put my 16 witness in the box who will testify that the independent 17 directors are firmly in control of this debtor, that every 18 single employee is under their authority and control, that 19 they have the ability to fire any of them, that none of them 20 are able to engage in any conduct that is outside their 21 approval.

22 And so I think the Redeemer award -- and, frankly, we're
23 going to have the same objection to the U.S. Trustee's offer
24 of the ACIS opinion into evidence and the SEC order, because 25 they're all related to conduct that took place prepetition

1 under old management.

2 1104, the only section upon which this motion is based,
3 refers to current management. And I don't think that we want
4 to spend a whole day. I mean, I just don't think it's 5 relevant. And so if it's not relevant, then it's not 6 admissible into evidence. The Court need not even get to the 7 issue of sealing.

8 If the Court were inclined to introduce it into evidence,
9 we would still request that it be marked under seal.

10 Specifically, Your Honor, under 107, the Debtor believes
11 that there is a very compelling interest in keeping the 12 Redeemer awards confidential. It does go into substantial
13 allegations and findings pertaining to the Debtor's business
14 practices. We do believe it contains confidential
15 information, confidential commercial information, as required
16 under 107. And the Debtor is very concerned. And you will 17 hear the testimony from the independent directors about 18 innuendo and rumor that can get into the marketplace and 19 hinder the ability of the Debtor to reorganize and to go
20 forward with their business operations.

21 So, in sum, Your Honor, I think we've got two points to 22 make. One is that the Redeemer award has nothing to do with 23 current management. There's no allegation that it has 24 anything to do with current management. There won't be any 25 facts to establish that the Redeemer award has anything to do

1 with current management. And we think that kind of ends
2 everything.

3 But if Your Honor really is inclined to allow that into 4 evidence, we would still ask that it be marked under seal.

5 THE COURT: Okay.

6 MR. MORRIS: Thank you.

7 MS. LAMBERT: Your Honor, the U.S. Trustee has two 8 responses. And the first really goes to the motion to seal.
9 Cause can be broader than the items listed. That goes all the 10 way to Little Creek and is carried through into the Fifth
11 Circuit's precedent on trustee appointment. The statute says
12 "or similar cause."

13 So the U.S. Trustee has raised three issues in connection
14 with the appointment of a trustee, and one of those issues is 15 that the legal division of the Debtor has so much control over
16 the Debtor's conduct that that establishes cause to appoint a 17 trustee so that there is somebody to replace the (inaudible)
18 decisions.

19 I anticipate the evidence will be that the Court in ACIS
20 and that the arbitration award and the SEC opinion all go to 21 those types of issues. That's number one.

22 Number two, technically, and it's not just a bureaucratic
23 technicality under the facts, the management of this debtor
24 has not changed. Individuals at Strand have changed. And the 25 U.S. Trustee agrees that, under some circumstances, that might

1 resolve the issues. But not under the facts of this case.

2 And that's because Dondero remains the sole shareholder of the 3 Strand entity. And --

4 THE COURT: That's not management.

5 MS. LAMBERT: No, it's not.

6 THE COURT: It's an equity interest.

7 MS. LAMBERT: It's an equity interest. That's
8 correct. Management has changed, but the management owes a 9 fiduciary duty to the stockholder. And there are a lot of 10 things --

11 THE COURT: Didn't they contract around that --

12 MS. LAMBERT: No.

13 THE COURT: -- in the settlement agreement?

14 MS. LAMBERT: Mr. Dondero contracted around various 15 provisions, but the board did not. And the reason the board
16 did not, I believe, is that the Delaware statute prohibits
17 contracting around a fiduciary duty to shareholders. If you
18 think about it, it makes a lot of sense.

19 THE COURT: I signed an order.

20 MS. LAMBERT: You did sign an order.

21 THE COURT: It's not a contract.

22 MS. LAMBERT: And you signed an order where Mr.
23 Dondero constrained his rights to vote the stock and a variety
24 of other things, but that doesn't change the fiduciary
25 obligations of the board to Mr. Dondero's stock equity

1 interests. And the case law is that corporate fiduciary
2 duties to shareholders, generally speaking, cannot be changed.

3 So it's a problem. It's a problem that, you know, it's 4 not because I'm a genius, it's because I've played chess on 5 this table a number of times that I know that this problem can
6 arise. And it's an issue of conflict for the new board.

7 THE COURT: Okay. Let -- my brain needs to take
8 things in a certain sequence. In all the arguments, we've 9 bled over a little bit to your motion for appointment of a
10 trustee. On the motion to seal, --

11 MS. LAMBERT: On the motion --

12 THE COURT: -- I am inclined, and tell me why I
13 shouldn't, I'm inclined to punt. The objection is now moot.
14 The motion to seal to which it attaches, in my mind, is moot.
15 So I'm inclined to just deny for mootness, and then we --

16 MS. LAMBERT: Your Honor, --

17 THE COURT: -- punt to another day whether these 18 arbitration awards get in in some context. Can -- is there
19 any disagreement with that, so we can just roll into the U.S.
20 Trustee's motion?

21 MS. LAMBERT: The U.S. Trustee is not subject to a 22 protective order except one the Court's about to enter. At 23 the time this was entered, the U.S. Trustee had no -- was not 24 subject to the protective order, but we did receive these 25 documents under the motion to seal order. So I need some

1 clarity on what I'm going to be doing.

2 This arbitration award was the basis, according to the 3 declaration, the catalyst for the filing of this bankruptcy
4 case. And the Court is considering and being asked to 5 restrain its disclosure to the public. It's highly material
6 to the facts of this case --

7 THE COURT: Okay.

8 MS. LAMBERT: -- generally.

9 THE COURT: All right. Well, again, my simple brain
10 is going to take these things in sequence. I am denying the 11 motion to seal merely for mootness, okay? I'm overruling the 12 objection -- well, I'm deeming the objection of the Committee
13 as moot, the omnibus objection to the CRO, the cash management 14 motion. It's moot, and therefore the motion to seal relating 15 to it is moot.

16 I haven't made any ruling broader than that with regard to 17 this motion to seal.

18 Now, I realize there's the protective order I've just 19 approved, and that has some relevance here, but we're done on 20 the motion to seal. Okay? Denied for mootness only.

21 MS. LAMBERT: Dismissed for mootness?

22 THE COURT: Denied. Dismissed. Is there a
23 distinction there that I'm glossing over?

24 MS. LAMBERT: I think, procedurally, dismissed for 25 mootness.

1 THE COURT: All right. It's one or the other.
2 Committee, you can draft the order as you think is
3 appropriate. I dismiss/deny, either one.

4 All right. Let's --

5 MR. TWOMEY: Thank you, Your Honor.

6 THE COURT: Let's move to the motion for appointment
7 of a trustee. I assume you're going to want opening
8 statements. I've read the pleadings. They don't need to be 9 lengthy.

10 OPENING STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF THE U.S. TRUSTEE

11 MS. LAMBERT: Judge Jernigan, the Debtor and the U.S.
12 Trustee have agreed to do brief opening statements, and the 13 U.S. Trustee is going to move for the admission of the binders
14 to establish its case in chief. The Debtor has some 15 objections, some of which you've already heard, to the U.S.
16 Trustee's exhibits. And then we'll move to the Debtor's case
17 in chief.

18 THE COURT: All right. In your opening statement, 19 you're asking the Court to admit the ACIS opinion, the 20 Redeemer Committee's arbitration award, the partial award
21 dated March 3, 2019, the final award dated April 29, 2019, and 22 an SEC order of September 25, 2014?

23 MS. LAMBERT: That is --

24 THE COURT: You're asking me, in your opening
25 statement, to admit those?

1 MS. LAMBERT: No, Your Honor. I was going to do that
2 after my opening statement, --

3 THE COURT: Well, I was confused.

4 MS. LAMBERT: -- but I will do it now if you'd like.

5 THE COURT: I misunderstood your statement.

6 MS. LAMBERT: I was going to make my opening
7 statement, they're going to make their --

8 THE COURT: You may proceed.

9 MS. LAMBERT: All right.

10 THE COURT: You may proceed.

11 MS. LAMBERT: So, the issues in the motion to appoint
12 a Chapter 11 trustee are three.

13 First, the management is the same because Strand is still 14 the general partner. In some context, because the individuals
15 at Strand have changed, it is material. On the other hand, it 16 has created its own conflict, and that is the basis for the 17 appointment of a trustee.

18 Number two, the legal team is central. I anticipate the 19 evidence will be that many of the compliance issues that 20 caused problems in past cases and have -- and the evidence
21 will indicate that the management -- the legal management team
22 ignored the advice of outside counsel. The Court's findings
23 in the ACIS opinion go to individuals at the legal team who 24 still remain there. And the testimony I anticipate will be 25 that they continue to maintain control over compliance

1 decisions and other decisions at the Debtor, based on the 2 testimony of the CRO.

3 And, finally, the efforts to keep this case sub rosa by 4 filing expansive protective orders and seeking expansive
5 sealing of documents that are central to the case continue to 6 prevent the transparency that's necessary, and a Chapter 11
7 trustee would facilitate the transparency that the Court has 8 always emphasized in all of its cases is a cornerstone of 9 Chapter 11.

10 For these reasons, the U.S. Trustee seeks the appointment
11 of a Chapter 11 trustee in this case.

12 THE COURT: All right. Other opening statements?

13 OPENING STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF THE DEBTOR

14 MR. POMERANTZ: Good morning again, Your Honor. Jeff
15 Pomerantz; Pachulski Stang Ziehl & Jones.

16 Your Honor, the burden is on the United States Trustee to 17 demonstrate by clear and convincing evidence that cause exists
18 for the appointment of a Chapter 11 trustee or that the 19 appointment of a Chapter 11 trustee is in the best interest of 20 parties. The Debtor intends to present the testimony of Mr.
21 John Dubel, one of the Debtor's independent directors, which 22 will demonstrate that the U.S. Trustee cannot come close to 23 meeting its burden.

24 Rather, the testimony will unequivocally demonstrate that 25 the alternative governance structure approved by this Court on

1 January 9th satisfactorily addresses any concerns with the 2 Debtor's prepetition management, allows the parties to put the 3 acrimony which marked the first three and a half months of 4 this case behind them, and allows them to focus on efforts to 5 restructure the Debtor's liabilities in an efficient and 6 timely manner.

7 Specifically, the testimony will show that, since its 8 employment, the board has been fully engaged in managing the 9 Debtor's business. That a member of the board has physically
10 been at the Debtor's headquarters for six of the seven days
11 since their appointment, and that Mr. Dubel, the testifying
12 witness, has devoted in excess of 80 hours to the engagement
13 in the last 12 days.

14 The testimony will show that the board has met with 15 department heads and received briefings from them regarding 16 all facets of the Debtor's operations. And that, importantly,
17 the Debtor's employees, including the legal department, are 18 respecting the independent board members' authority and are 19 fully cooperating with the board.

20 And lastly, that the board is effectively overseeing the 21 implementation of the court-approved protocols.

22 Lastly, Your Honor, the evidence will demonstrate that the 23 appointment of a Chapter 11 trustee would destabilize the 24 business further, creating further uncertainty and adversely
25 affect the Debtor's ability to restructure.

1 For these reasons, Your Honor, the Debtor opposes the 2 appointment of a trustee. Thank you, Your Honor.

3 THE COURT: All right. Any other opening statements?

4 MR. TWOMEY: Your Honor, Dennis Twomey on behalf of 5 the Committee. The Committee did file an objection, Your 6 Honor, but does not intend to put forth any evidence. So if 7 it's okay with Your Honor, we would prefer to just wait to 8 make our statement until the end of the proceedings.

9 THE COURT: All right. That's fine.

10 MR. TWOMEY: Thank you.

11 THE COURT: Thank you. All right. Ms. Lambert?

12 MS. LAMBERT: Your Honor, Ms. Kippes has provided me
13 with this Court's order in the Adeptus case, where the Court
14 did include the standard language that the U.S. Trustee has 15 about referring criminal or ethical obligations. I'm happy to 16 present it to the Court.

17 THE COURT: All right. Well, you may. I've made my 18 ruling, but --

19 (Pause.)

20 THE COURT: Again, I've made my ruling. And, you
21 know, I don't know if this was heavily negotiated in that 22 case. If it was, you know, fine. I just don't know.

23 MS. LAMBERT: If I may I approach the bench?

24 THE COURT: Okay. These are the proposed exhibits
25 for the Trustee now?

1 MS. LAMBERT: Yes.

2 THE COURT: Okay.

3 MS. LAMBERT: Your Honor, I have an additional set of 4 binders. I'd intended for the ones that I presented to the 5 Court to be the work copies, and there to be an original set.
6 Does the Court not need the original set?

7 THE COURT: Well, did you give one to Tom?

8 MS. LAMBERT: I did.

9 THE COURT: Okay. We're good, then. Well, Tom,
10 don't work on yours.

11 MS. LAMBERT: No, I have an additional one.

12 THE COURT: Oh, well, if you have an additional one, 13 fine.

14 MS. LAMBERT: Yeah.

15 THE COURT: Give it to Michael over here.

16 (Pause.)

17 MS. LAMBERT: Your Honor, the U.S. Trustee moves for 18 the admission of all but Exhibit 6, which the U.S. Trustee
19 hasn't been able to obtain, which is the transcript of the 341
20 meeting.

21 THE COURT: Okay. So, 1 through 5 and 7 through 11?

22 MS. LAMBERT: Yes, Your Honor.

23 THE COURT: All right. I know there are objections
24 to some of these. Are there some that are not objected to?

25 MR. MORRIS: May I speak from here, Your Honor?

1 THE COURT: Yes.

2 MR. MORRIS: Okay. John Morris for the Debtor. The 3 Debtor has no objection to Exhibits 4, 5, 8, and 9.

4 (U.S. Trustee's Exhibits 4, 5, 8, and 9 are received into 5 evidence without objection.)

6 MR. MORRIS: With respect to Exhibit #7, which
7 pertains to certain deposition designations, we've got a list
8 here that we shared with the U.S. Trustee's Office yesterday
9 that goes through each of the designations and identifies 10 those with which we have objections, those with which we do
11 not. We identified the bases for each of the objections, and 12 we've also offered a limited set of counterdesignations, to 13 which I understand the U.S. Trustee does not object.

14 If it would be easier, I could just mark this as an 15 exhibit and give it to the Court for the Court's 16 consideration.

17 THE COURT: All right. He's got a substitute, it
18 sounds like, for Exhibit 7. Do you have an issue with that?

19 MS. LAMBERT: Your Honor, the U.S. Trustee put in the 20 entire deposition, anticipating that the rule of completeness
21 would be sought and due to the time constraints and the 22 holiday weekend, not being able to change our depositions. So 23 we don't have any objections to the rule of completeness and 24 the entire deposition transcript, statement of a party, is in 25 the binder under Tab 7.

1 THE COURT: All right. Well, --

2 MR. MORRIS: That's not what we were asking, Your 3 Honor. We do not want the entire transcript admitted into 4 evidence for any reason. The U.S. Trustee's Office
5 specifically identified certain pages and lines, and we 6 responded. And there's a very limited set of 7 counterdesignations that we've offered simply for purposes, I
8 think, of I say completeness in two instances and context in 9 one. But nothing should go into evidence that is either
10 unobjected to or if the Court overrules any of our objections.
11 We don't want the whole transcript into evidence.

12 THE COURT: All right. So, do you need to look at 13 his revised version of your Exhibit 7?

14 MS. LAMBERT: Well, I would, yes.

15 THE COURT: Okay. And, again, I understood he gave 16 it to you earlier.

17 MS. LAMBERT: He gave it to me yesterday during the 18 holiday.

19 The objections that they've made are on relevance, and the 20 U.S. Trustee's response on the relevance is that the 21 management issues go to the in-house counsel as well, and 22 there's testimony about the in-house counsel. The only
23 objections are on relevance, Your Honor, and because this is a
24 bench trial, the Court has broader discretion on a relevance
25 objection than it would in a jury trial, as the Court is

1 disciplined and can scan out those materials that are not
2 relevant. And, more importantly, they are relevant to the 3 case as the U.S. Trustee has alleged it.

4 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, the relevance objections
5 actually are not limited to issues of whether or not the 6 testimony relates to current management. Some of them have to 7 do with venue and I'm not even sure why it was designated.
8 But we've made our objections, and I think it would be
9 appropriate for the Court to rule. We understand that it's a
10 bench trial, but that doesn't -- that doesn't negate the Rules
11 of Evidence.

12 THE COURT: All right. Well, I certainly don't want
13 to go back in chambers and read the entire deposition if 14 that's not really what anyone was originally wanting me to do.

15 MS. LAMBERT: For this reason, Your Honor, the U.S.
16 Trustee has designated the lines that were relevant in the 17 U.S. Trustee's witness and exhibit list 7. And they 18 corresponding have designated the lines that they feel are 19 necessary for completeness and context.

20 THE COURT: Okay. I'm going to -- I guess I'm 21 overruling the objection to 7. I will look at your deposition
22 excerpts and I will look at what Mr. Morris has handed you as 23 far as his supplemental excerpts. All right?

24 (U.S. Trustee's Exhibit 7 is received into evidence as 25 specified. Debtor's supplement is received into evidence as

1 specified.)

2 MR. MORRIS: So then with respect to the exhibits,
3 Your Honor, I don't know if you want to hear argument now on 4 the objections.

5 THE COURT: All right. So, we have objections to 1,
6 2, and 3.

7 MR. MORRIS: Right. And those really just follow
8 along the argument that I made earlier. All of these 9 documents, the first one, I believe, is the ACIS opinion. The 10 second is the Redeemer awards. The third is a more than five-
11 year-old SEC cease-and-desist order. And our argument is that 12 they should not come into evidence for any purpose. They all,
13 to the extent -- you know, I'm not sure what they're trying to 14 use with them, but, again, 1104 is crystal clear. It relates 15 to the current management. None of the current managers were 16 at the Debtor prior to two weeks ago, let alone at the time
17 these orders were entered.

18 THE COURT: All right. Let me tell you where I am on 19 this, Ms. Lambert. I almost think of this as a summary
20 judgment issue on current management. I mean, I am inclined
21 to agree with the Debtor's argument that 1104 -- is it (b)(1)?
22 No. Which one? (a)(1). Just simply doesn't apply as a
23 matter of law anymore because we're not talking about current 24 management anymore.

25 Now, your U.S. Trustee motion lives another day, in my

1 view, because of 1104(a)(2), because you might still convince 2 me that it's in the interest of creditors, equity holders, or 3 other interests of the estate. But it almost feels like,
4 again, a summary judgment issue on current management.

5 So, what is your response to that?

6 MS. LAMBERT: Your Honor, the Fifth Circuit case law
7 is not limited to just management. Fraud, dishonesty,
8 incompetence, or gross [mis]management of the affairs of the 9 debtor by current management, either before or after the 10 commencement of the case, or similar. Or similar cause. The 11 U.S. Trustee is under 1104(a)(1). The Fifth Circuit precedent
12 establishes that cause for purposes of (a)(1) should be 13 considered like cause for bad faith or other factors such as 14 Little --

15 THE COURT: So you're saying there's clear Fifth 16 Circuit authority that says --

17 MS. LAMBERT: That --

18 THE COURT: -- similar cause --

19 MS. LAMBERT: -- inherent --

20 THE COURT: -- goes beyond the context of activities
21 of current management?

22 MS. LAMBERT: Correct. Like inherent conflicts,
23 which is what we have, an inherent conflict.

24 THE COURT: All right. Well, I am going to sustain
25 the objection to those three, but without prejudice,

1 basically, to me reconsidering your offer, for example, during
2 a rebuttal stage. Okay? If I hear something from witnesses
3 that makes me see this in a different light. But my view now
4 is that things changed when we replaced the current management
5 structure of the Debtor, the management structure that it had 6 when it filed bankruptcy, and all of these --

7 MS. LAMBERT: These issues -- these are not --

8 THE COURT: -- these orders --

9 MS. LAMBERT: Are not for current --

10 THE COURT: -- pertain to the prior regime.

11 MS. LAMBERT: No. The ACIS opinion, the Redeemer
12 arbitration partial award, also go line by line to the legal 13 counsel as being in control of decisions.

14 THE COURT: Okay. Again, I'm over -- I'm sustaining
15 the objection to these exhibits, subject to you re-offering
16 them after I've heard witness testimony --

17 MS. LAMBERT: But --

18 THE COURT: -- essentially as rebuttal evidence if 19 you convince me that --

20 MS. LAMBERT: But this is my case-in-chief evidence.

21 THE COURT: I've ruled.

22 MS. LAMBERT: So, the Court is determining that cause
23 must be management? Because these are being introduced for 24 issues as to the counsel.

25 THE COURT: Well, give me -- make your best argument

1 again on why 11(a)(1) is broader than just the context of 2 current management.

3 MS. LAMBERT: Cause can be items other than those 4 that are listed. Or similar cause. That's what the statute
5 says --

6 THE COURT: You're giving me a statutory
7 interpretation I disagree with, but do you have Fifth Circuit
8 authority binding on me --

9 MS. LAMBERT: Yes, Your Honor.

10 THE COURT: -- that --

11 MS. LAMBERT: It's cited in the U.S. Trustee's
12 motion, and it is --

13 THE COURT: I mean, I know Cajun Electric and --

14 MS. LAMBERT: Cajun Electric involves an inherent 15 conflict between --

16 THE COURT: But was that a context, I don't think it
17 was, where a whole new slate of directors and managers had 18 been put in place?

19 MS. LAMBERT: It was not a case involving wrongdoing.
20 And so the facts are totally --

21 THE COURT: Conflicts of interest.

22 MS. LAMBERT: It involves directly conflicts of 23 interest, yes, in the positions that must be decided by the 24 controlling board.

25 THE COURT: I am --

1 MS. LAMBERT: And I --

2 THE COURT: -- asking you, had a whole new slate of 3 officers and directors been brought in in Cajun Electric?

4 MS. LAMBERT: No, and that would not have resolved
5 the --

6 THE COURT: It's been many years since I've read it.

7 MS. LAMBERT: That would not have resolved the 8 problem in Cajun Electric.

9 THE COURT: Okay. So Cajun Electric is not --

10 MS. LAMBERT: But Cajun Electric stands for the 11 proposition that cause is broader than the items listed here.

12 THE COURT: Of course. But it's still pertaining to 13 current management. I'm not reading those words "for cause"
14 out of the statute. I'm just saying I think --

15 MS. LAMBERT: Right.

16 THE COURT: -- they all pertain to current
17 management.

18 MS. LAMBERT: But here's the thing on the Court's 19 statutory construction.

20 THE COURT: I either have --

21 MS. LAMBERT: The Court has --

22 THE COURT: -- a binding case or not. I'm telling 23 you what my interpretation of the statute is.

24 MS. LAMBERT: Right. Well, --

25 THE COURT: I either have a binding case or not.

1 MS. LAMBERT: -- Cajun Electric is binding and it
2 establishes, as do Little Creek and other Fifth Circuit cases,
3 in every context --

4 THE COURT: Okay.

5 MS. LAMBERT: -- where cause is used, --

6 THE COURT: But I am looking for a case on point.

7 MS. LAMBERT: Your Honor, this is a matter of 8 statutory construction. The Court is reading out a full 9 clause of the statute.

10 THE COURT: Okay.

11 MS. LAMBERT: Current management is at the --

12 THE COURT: I've ruled on the evidence. Do we want
13 to talk about Exhibit 6, which was objected to, and Exhibit
14 10?

15 MS. LAMBERT: No. 6 is out. That was the 16 transcript.

17 THE COURT: Oh, I'm sorry. 6 is out. So, 10 was the 18 one that --

19 MS. LAMBERT: And 10, the purpose of 10 is to 20 establish that Strand is -- Advisors is a Delaware
21 corporation, and I think that's stipulated to.

22 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

23 MR. MORRIS: If that's the only fact for which it's 24 offered, we withdraw the objection.

25 THE COURT: Okay. 10 is admitted.

1 (U.S. Trustee's Exhibit 10 is received into evidence.)

2 THE COURT: And 11, that's something that obviously I
3 can take judicial notice of the docket entry in this case.
4 Right?

5 MS. LAMBERT: Right.

6 THE COURT: Okay. So I just, I'll take judicial 7 notice of 11.

8 All right. You may call your first witness.

9 MS. LAMBERT: Your Honor, the U.S. Trustee rests on 10 its documentary exhibits.

11 THE COURT: All right. Debtor, your witness?

12 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, before we call our case, we 13 move for a directed verdict based on the evidence or lack 14 thereof that was adduced.

15 THE COURT: Okay. Well, I'm going to deny that. I
16 haven't had a chance to go back and look at this Frank
17 Waterhouse deposition testimony. It may or may not resolve
18 the issue. So, --

19 MR. MORRIS: Thank you, Your Honor. I just wanted to 20 preserve the record.

21 The Debtor calls John Dubel.

22 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Dubel, if you could 23 approach our witness box. Yes. Please raise your right hand.
24 Please raise your right hand.

25 JOHN DUBEL, DEBTOR'S WITNESS, SWORN

Dubel - Direct

61

1 THE COURT: All right. Please be seated.

2 DIRECT EXAMINATION

3 BY MR. MORRIS:

4 Q Good morning, Mr. Dubel. Take your time.

5 (Pause.)

6 MR. MORRIS: May I proceed, Your Honor?

7 THE COURT: You may.

8 MR. MORRIS: Okay.

9 BY MR. MORRIS:

10 Q Mr. Dubel, do you currently have a relationship to the 11 Debtor?

12 A Yes, I do.

13 Q And can you describe for the Court your understanding of 14 your relationship to the Debtor?

15 A Yes. I am one of the three independent directors
16 appointed at the Strand Advisors, Inc. level, which is the 17 general partner of Highland Capital Management, LP, which I'll 18 probably refer to as HCMLP, just for brevity, Your Honor.

19 Q Okay. I may refer to it as the Debtor, if I may.

20 A You may.

21 Q Do you recall when you were appointed as an independent
22 director?

23 A Yes. January 9th of 2020.

24 Q Okay. And prior to that time, did you personally have 25 experience in bankruptcy and the insolvency areas?

004209

1 A Yes, I do.

2 Q Can you describe that experience for the Court?

3 A My experience is about 35-plus years of working on all the 4 arenas of the restructuring, both from creditor side, debtor
5 side, as an investor in distressed. The majority of my work
6 over the years has been in the debtor side of running
7 companies as a CEO or a chief restructuring officer, sitting 8 on boards of directors as an independent director for 9 companies going through stress, either bankruptcy or 10 restructuring.

11 Q And are there other independent directors at the Strand
12 level today?

13 A There are.

14 Q And who are they?

15 A There are two of them. Russell Nelms, who is a retired
16 bankruptcy judge from the Fort Worth area, and Mr. James 17 Seery, who is an investor, also an attorney, but an investor
18 in distressed, and has also practiced law.

19 Q Okay.

20 MR. MORRIS: I want to spend a few minutes, if I may,
21 Your Honor, just asking the witness about the independent
22 directors' activities --

23 THE COURT: Okay.

24 MR. MORRIS: -- since appointment.

25 BY MR. MORRIS:

1 Q Has the board, in fact, been engaged in managing the 2 Debtor since being appointed?

3 A We have.

4 Q Can you describe for the Court generally the types of 5 tasks that the independent directors have covered since their 6 appointment?

7 A The first day of our appointment, on the 9th, we met as a
8 board, which the board meeting actually continued through 9 until the 10th, on that Friday, in which we sat down with the 10 chief restructuring officer and his team. We met with the 11 vast majority of the senior managers within the company to 12 make sure that we could hear from them what was going on 13 within the company and to convey to them what our duties and 14 responsibilities were, so it was very clear to both the CRO
15 and to all the management, the senior management, of what the 16 responsibilities were for the independent board and how the 17 protocol would work and how they would need to interact with 18 us in a -- in what has now become a daily basis.

19 Q And since being appointed, have the independent directors
20 received presentations from the Debtor and from DSI concerning 21 the Debtor's operations, assets, and liabilities?

22 A We have.

23 Q Can you describe just generally the nature and scope of 24 those presentations?

25 A Yes. So we've gone through, which is not untypical for

64

1 situations like this when you get involved, go through each of
2 the departments and ask them to walk us through how their 3 department works, what they're working on, key issues that are 4 necessary for us to pay attention to immediately, key issues
5 that we would look at further down the road, understand who 6 the personnel are within the organization, their group.

7 And we, of course, because there were a lot of issues that 8 were very time-sensitive, we reacted to those issues to be 9 able to give them guidance on what we needed, what we needed
10 further information for or what decisions we would make 11 immediately on those decisions -- on those issues.

12 Q Since being appointed, have you -- have the independent
13 directors also reviewed and authorized certain court filings?

14 A We have. We had a protocol in place where one or -- or 15 all three, depending on the filings, are required to sign off
16 on any filings before they're submitted to the Court so that 17 we have a good understanding and can make sure that we have 18 good -- good direction to our counsel as to what would be 19 going forward.

20 Q Mr. Dubel, in the last 12 days, how much time have you
21 personally spent managing the Debtor?

22 A In excess of 80 hours, probably closer to 90 hours. I
23 don't keep a -- I'm fortunate I don't have to keep time
24 records to the tenths of an hour like counsel does. But just 25 in looking at my calendar, in excess of 80 hours. And it's 004212

1 been literally every single day, Saturdays and Sundays
2 included.

3 Q And to the best of your understanding, is the same true
4 with respect to Mr. Nelms and Mr. Seery?

5 A Yes, it is. In fact, a lot of the time has been spent
6 with them together on these issues. So, I, you know, I have 7 firsthand knowledge of the amount of time that they are 8 putting in also.

9 Q Can you describe for the Court the extent to which the 10 three of you have been physically present in the Debtor's
11 office since being appointed as independent directors?

12 A Yes. During the work days, which it's now I think been 13 seven business days that the offices have been open, we have 14 been there six of those days. Actually, seven, if you count
15 this morning. We spent some time in the offices this morning
16 working with folks before we came over here. And either one
17 or all three of us have been there during those six days.
18 We're trying to balance out the workload a little bit with the 19 needs of the organization.

20 Q Can you describe for the Court the role that Mr. Sharp and 21 DSI have played since the time that you were appointed as an 22 independent director?

23 A Yes. Mr. Sharp, as the chief restructuring officer, and 24 his team have provided us with a tremendous amount of 25 information on the organization, on the assets of the various

1 different entities that the Debtor has to manage. Provided us
2 with asset positions, liability issues, and has basically been 3 very helpful in bringing us up to speed immediately on 4 everything we need to know to understand how to operate the 5 business, and acted in a very, you know, forthright manner.

6 Q Since being appointed, have the independent directors
7 played a role in the implementation of the protocols that were 8 part of the order appointing them?

9 A Yes. We have made sure that everybody -- all the senior 10 managers in the organization understand what the protocols are 11 and worked with either DSI or directly with us, depending on 12 the facts and circumstances of the particular situation, so
13 that the protocols are being followed. And we continue to do
14 that on a daily basis.

15 Q Have you and the other directors had an opportunity to 16 review proposed transactions since being appointed?

17 A Yes, we have, starting on Thursday, January 9th, through,
18 actually, this morning. While we were sitting in court, we 19 got confirmation of things that were taking place as it
20 related to the protocols.

21 Q Since being appointed, have you and the other directors
22 communicated with the Creditors' Committee and its 23 professionals?

24 A We have. In accordance with the protocol, we have, but we 25 would be doing that anyway, even if the protocols didn't

1 require it, because we feel it's good for the transparency in
2 this case. But we have met with the Committee professionals
3 many times and with the Committee members themselves via 4 conference call.

5 Q Let's shift gears a little bit and talk about your 6 interaction and the interaction of the other directors with 7 the Debtor and its employees. Have the directors sought
8 information from the Debtor's employees as part of the tasks
9 that you've just described?

10 A Yes, we have.

11 Q And can you describe for the Court, you know, either by 12 name or by title or by department, the places within the 13 organization from which the directors have sought information?

14 A Yeah. So, I can kind of -- maybe it's easiest by 15 department. There have been investment decisions that have 16 been needed to be made. Part of those investment decisions
17 require compliance reviews and a legal understanding of those 18 decisions. So we have reached out to the three different 19 department heads or the individuals responsible within those 20 departments for information that was necessary for us to 21 understand and be able to make decisions.

22 So, as an example, for compliance, making sure that 23 whatever it is that's being asked of us is in accordance with 24 all of the compliance requirements under the various different 25 regulatory authorities, looking at it from a legal point of

1 view, making sure we understand how that transaction legally
2 might fit in with something else, whether it's a related party
3 issue or making sure that it fits in with the protocols.

4 And then, obviously, from the actual asset manager point
5 of view, the trader, understanding how the impact of our 6 decision would be able to be implemented in the ordinary
7 course process of trading a position as necessary or holding 8 onto a position.

9 Q To the best of your knowledge, have the independent
10 directors timely received the information that was sought to 11 fulfill your duties?

12 A We have.

13 Q And do you have any concerns that anyone at the Debtor has 14 withheld information from you or the other directors?

15 A I do not. In fact, I think they've been very forthright
16 in presenting us with information that we have requested and 17 been very responsive.

18 Q To the best of your knowledge, have either of the other 19 directors ever expressed any concern to you about the flow of 20 information?

21 A No, they have not.

22 Q Do you have any reason to believe that any information
23 provided to the independent directors by any of the employees
24 at the Debtor is false or inaccurate?

25 A No, I do not.

1 Q Have you and the other independent directors requested to
2 meet with certain employees?

3 A We've requested to meet with many of the employees, yes.

4 Q Can you just describe for the Court, again, either by 5 title or by department, the employees with whom the directors
6 have met thus far?

7 A Pretty much every single department head, whether it's the 8 finance office through the chief financial officer, the 9 controller, the -- looking through, then, to the chief
10 compliance officer, the trading groups for a variety of 11 different entities that we have under management. Our private 12 equity group, the leadership in that. The legal group, 13 looking -- we've met with pretty much everybody in the legal 14 group to understand various issues and get a better
15 understanding of the business. Human resources, et cetera.

16 Q Um, --

17 A Communications. Forgot about that one.

18 Q Have you or any of the other independent directors ever
19 expressed any concerns about the reliability of information
20 provided by any of the Debtor's employees?

21 A No, we have not.

22 Q Are you generally familiar with the Court's order that 23 appointed you as an independent director?

24 A I am.

25 Q Are you generally familiar with the duties and

1 responsibilities that have been bestowed upon you as set forth
2 in that order?

3 A I am.

4 Q Have you and the other independent directors discussed the 5 scope and responsibilities for your duties as an independent
6 director?

7 A We have.

8 Q And do you have a general understanding as to what those 9 duties are?

10 A Yes. As the independent directors of Strand, we are the 11 general partner for the Debtor's estate, HCMLP, and it's my 12 understanding that those duties lie to -- go to the Debtor's
13 estate, to maximize value for the Debtor.

14 Q And is it your understanding that the order that was 15 entered was an order that was entered after the Committee and 16 the Debtor reached an agreement for the appointment of new 17 management?

18 A That is my understanding.

19 Q Okay. Did -- have the independent directors taken any 20 steps to make sure that the Debtor's employees are aware of 21 your duties and responsibilities?

22 A Yes. From the first day that we got there, as I mentioned
23 earlier, we've met with all the department heads, explained to 24 them what the roles and responsibilities are. Walked through 25 with them the protocol that is laid out in the order. Asked

1 them to communicate that down into the organization.

2 We continue to walk around the offices. All of our 3 employees, except with the exception of one or two who are 4 overseas, all reside in the offices here in Dallas, and so
5 we've walked around and met with many of the other employees.
6 We've had our communications department put together
7 communication that's been posted on the Intranet and -- the 8 Intranet, the internal communications, and also on the 9 company's website for all employees to see and understand.
10 And we actually will be having an all-hands meeting this 11 afternoon with all of the employees.

12 Q Do you have any concerns that any of the Debtor's
13 employees either don't understand or don't respect the 14 authority and role of the independent directors?

15 A I do not.

16 Q Have either of the other independent directors ever
17 expressed to you any concern at all that any of the Debtor's
18 employees either don't understand or fail to respect the 19 authority and role that the three of you play?

20 A I've not heard any concerns, no.

21 Q Do you have any concerns at all that the Debtors engage in 22 any transactions that don't have the independent directors'
23 knowledge and approval?

24 A I do not.

25 Q Do you -- have the independent directors taken any steps

1 to try to prevent any unauthorized transactions from taking
2 place?

3 A Yes, through communications directly with all of the 4 individuals that could have the authority to do -- or the 5 apparent authority to enter into transactions, making it very 6 clear what our role and responsibility is, making it clear
7 what they have to do in order to execute anything.

8 We've also engaged, through working with the chief
9 restructuring officer and his team, to have them be 10 continuously looking at transactions that take place through 11 the Debtor's systems.

12 Q So, is it your understanding that the CRO has visibility
13 into the movement of the Debtor's assets?

14 A Yes.

15 Q Okay. Do you have any concern that the independent
16 directors are not firmly in control of the Debtor?

17 A I do not.

18 Q Have either of the other independent directors expressed
19 any concern to you at all that the independent directors might 20 not be fully in control of the Debtor?

21 A They have not expressed that.

22 Q I think you were in the courtroom for the argument that 23 preceded your testimony; is that right?

24 A I was.

25 Q Um, --

1 A Or, except for a very short period of time.

2 Q Pursuant to the order that was entered by this Court, is 3 it your understanding that the independent directors have the 4 ability to fire any employee of the Debtor?

5 A That is my understanding and that is exactly what we have 6 the authority to do.

7 Q And is it your understanding that the independent
8 directors have the final authority over transactions that are 9 being made on behalf of the Debtor?

10 A It is very clear in my mind that we have that authority.

11 Q Is there any aspect of the Debtor's business in which any 12 employee of the Debtor has authority that exceeds any of the 13 independent directors'?

14 A When you say exceeds, meaning overrides?

15 Q Correct.

16 A No. There's no -- no one has the authority that overrides
17 our decisions. We may authorize people to do things, but no
18 one has the authority to override our decisions.

19 Q And have the independent directors made that known to all
20 of the department heads?

21 A We have.

22 Q And have the independent directors made that known to all
23 of the employees in the legal department?

24 A We have.

25 Q And have the independent directors made that known to all

1 of the employees in the compliance department?

2 A I think there's only one person who's in Compliance, but

3 --

4 Q That's --

5 A Our chief compliance officer. Yes.

6 Q I do love precision. Thank you.

7 Does the independent -- do you or any of the independent
8 directors have any concerns at all that the message of control
9 has not been adequately conveyed to the people who are 10 executing your orders?

11 A I don't have any concerns about that.

12 Q Okay. Do you believe the independent directors -- have 13 you begun to kind of familiarize yourself with the Debtor's
14 operations, structures, and assets?

15 A Yes, we have.

16 Q And does the Debtor oppose the motion for the appointment
17 of a trustee at this time?

18 A Yes, the Debtor does.

19 Q Can you explain to the Court why the Debtor opposes the 20 appointment of a trustee at this time?

21 A Yes. There is a new management team in place, led by the 22 -- you know, with the independent directors in place, having 23 the authority over all of the actions of the Debtor. And we 24 believe that, based upon the expertise of the three 25 individuals, that we have the right expertise to run the

1 company, between legal, trading, restructuring, investment
2 management, that the expertise that we bring to the table is
3 what is necessary to run the company, and that if there were a
4 change in that it would obviously cause a tremendous amount of 5 disruption in the business. If there were a Chapter 11
6 trustee appointed, that it would have a tremendous negative
7 impact on the Debtor's ability to create the greatest value
8 for our creditors and other stakeholders.

9 Q Have any of the Debtor's employees quit since the 10 independent directors were appointed?

11 A We've lost a couple of people. I just don't remember the 12 exact timeline. But it's -- it has happened. It's -- you
13 know, we've had three -- I think three resignations.

14 Q Okay. Does the Debtor have any concerns that if a trustee
15 is appointed that the Debtor will be at risk of losing senior 16 -- senior management or other -- you know, senior employees or 17 other employees of the Debtor?

18 A Yes, we do.

19 Q And what's the basis for that concern?

20 A Our goal here is to reorganize the company and create the 21 greatest value for our creditors and others. And if an 22 appointment of a trustee was to be so ordered, that it would 23 send the wrong message to the employees and the employees
24 would lose confidence and seek employment elsewhere. And it's 25 a vibrant market for employees right now.

1 Q Based on your experience in the insolvency area, do you
2 have a view as to how the appointment of a Chapter 11 trustee
3 might be viewed in the marketplace?

4 A This is a business that trades on credibility. It's not
5 walking into a store and buying an item off of a shelf of a
6 company that's in Chapter 11, but it's all about the 7 credibility of the individuals. And if an appointment of a
8 Chapter 11 trustee was so ordered, we think it would have a 9 negative impact on our ability to continue to have that 10 relationship with the third parties that we have to deal with 11 on a daily basis.

12 Q Do you have a view as to whether or not the appointment of 13 a trustee could impair the Debtor's ability to reorganize?

14 A I do.

15 Q And can you share that view with the Court?

16 A I think it's for the exact same things that I just 17 mentioned. Our ability to create the greatest value and 18 reorganize and -- would be impacted by, you know, loss of 19 personnel who might not want to work in that environment and 20 also the loss of the relationships in the trading partners
21 that we have to deal with. And so it would -- it would 22 inhibit our ability to reorganize properly for this and create 23 greatest value.

24 MR. MORRIS: I have no further questions, Your Honor.

25 THE COURT: All right. Cross?

1 CROSS-EXAMINATION

2 BY MS. LAMBERT:

3 Q Hello again. We talked before the hearing. But my name
4 is Lisa Lambert. I'm with the U.S. Trustee's Office.

5 A Good morning, Ms. Lambert.

6 Q How are you?

7 A Good.

8 Q So, you're an independent director of Strand, and Strand
9 is the general partner of the Debtor, right?

10 A That's correct.

11 Q And your testimony is that the duties to the Debtor trump
12 any duties to the stockholders of Strand, right?

13 A It is my testimony that, as the general partner, our 14 duties are to the Debtor's estate and to protect the Debtor's 15 estate and create the greatest value there, which would 16 ultimately benefit Strand.

17 Q Okay. So is it your testimony that there's no duty to the 18 stockholders of Strand?

19 A Our duty is to the Debtor's estate as the general partner,
20 and that would then protect Strand.

21 Q So your perspective is the duties are not in conflict?
22 They are coextensive, right?

23 A I apologize. I don't know -- I'm not a lawyer, so --

24 Q I'm going to --

25 A -- the reference to coextensive might be something that's

1 a legal term, but --

2 Q But the duties are the same, --

3 A Uh, --

4 Q -- is your testimony?

5 A I don't know if they're the same. My -- my view is the 6 duties are to the Debtor's estate as the general partner of 7 Strand.

8 Q Okay. Mr. Dondero is the -- still a stockholder of 9 Strand, right?

10 A As I understand, yes.

11 Q And Mr. Dondero currently is an employee of the Debtor?

12 A He is a nonpaid employee of the Debtor.

13 Q So if the decision came to terminate Mr. Dondero as an 14 employee, do you think it impacts his -- your fiduciary role
15 to him as the stockholder?

16 MR. MORRIS: Objection, Your Honor, to the extent all
17 of this calls for a legal conclusion. I just want to make 18 sure that we're just talking about the witness's lay
19 understanding.

20 MS. LAMBERT: No. His understanding.

21 THE COURT: Okay. Over...

22 MS. LAMBERT: His under...

23 THE COURT: Overruled.

24 BY MS. LAMBERT:

25 Q What is your understanding?

1 A I'm sorry. Could you repeat the question, Ms. Lambert?

2 Q Mr. Dondero is an employee of the Debtor, whether unpaid
3 or not. And does the board's -- the directors' decisions
4 about whether to maintain him or terminate him, is that
5 impacted by his holding all of the stock of Strand?

6 A From my perspective, it would have no impact. If there
7 was a decision to be made to keep him on board or terminate,
8 it would have no impact as to what his holdings are in Strand.

9 Q Why is that?

10 A Because our duties in managing the Debtor would be to 11 figure out what the right answer is for the Debtor. And if 12 that decision was to either keep him in place, as we currently 13 have, or to terminate him because there was no longer a need
14 for him at that level, it would be a decision we would make on 15 behalf of managing the Debtor.

16 Q You would agree with me that he might have a different
17 perspective on that, right?

18 A I don't know what his decision -- what his view would be.
19 It may be different; it may not be. It depends on the facts
20 and circumstances at the time that we would have to make that 21 decision.

22 Q Now, you testified that you've been very busy with the 23 activities of the Debtor. Did you have an opportunity to read
24 the Court's ACIS opinion?

25 A Yeah. I've read multiple decisions or multiple filings on

1 -- on ACIS. I --

2 Q I'm talking about the published opinion. It's a little
3 bit lengthy. You would have remembered seeing it, I think.

4 A I believe I did read that prior to our appointment, yes.

5 Q Okay. And then did you also read the Redeemer arbitration
6 awards?

7 A I've read a few different Redeemer arbitration awards. I
8 think there were two or three of them.

9 Q Two.

10 A Yeah.

11 Q And I'm talking about the partial --

12 A Yeah.

13 Q -- and the final judgments.

14 A Yes, I have.

15 Q Okay. You're aware that both of those opinions talk about 16 the attorneys testifying with plausible deniability, --

17 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor?

18 MS. LAMBERT: -- the in-house counsel?

19 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, I would just ask the witness
20 not to answer the question until I state my objection.

21 This is exactly why we objected to the relevance of these 22 exhibits into evidence, and now she's just doing orally what 23 she has not yet been able to do with the admission of the 24 documents.

25 She should establish a foundation first that there's

1 anybody in any of those decisions who are in control of the 2 Debtor or who are deemed to be current management. Because 3 the evidence at this point I think is undisputed that the 4 independent directors are in fully -- are in full control of 5 this enterprise. They -- everybody reports to them. All
6 decisions are made with their knowledge and approval. And 7 there's no evidence to the contrary.

8 So I don't, you know, I don't think the U.S. Trustee
9 should be able to get through the back door what they're not 10 able to get through the front door.

11 THE COURT: I sustain that objection.

12 BY MS. LAMBERT:

13 Q Have you worked with the in-house legal department?

14 A Of the Debtor?

15 Q Of the Debtor.

16 A Yes.

17 Q Can you name for me the employees of the legal department
18 of the Debtor?

19 A I probably can't name all of them, but starting from the 20 top, Scott Ellington. Isaac Leventon. J.P. Sevilla. Tim
21 Cournoyer. Thomas Surgent is an in-house -- he's a lawyer.
22 He's also our chief compliance officer. I don't know
23 technically which -- whether he covers both. And then there
24 have been others in the group that I -- I don't remember all 25 the names. But those are the main folks that we've had to 1 deal with.

2 Q And Compliance is part of Legal, right?

3 A I don't technically know. I think it stands on its own.

4 But Mr. Surgent is an attorney, as I understand.

5 Q And how often have you dealt with Mr. Ellington?

6 A In the seven days that we've been there, probably five or 7 six of them he's had to travel for, you know, for work, so we
8 haven't always, you know, seen him every day. But pretty much
9 every day, including yesterday, when we were in the office.

10 Q And Mr. Leventon, how often have you consulted with him?

11 A Unfortunately, not as often as we would like, because Mr.
12 Ellington -- Mr. Leventon had an auto accident that he was 13 involved with, so he's been out of the office. But I've dealt 14 with him a little bit over the last several days as he, you
15 know, as he's allowed to -- as he's recuperating.

16 Q So, the board has been talking with the legal department
17 almost every day, right?

18 A Yes.

19 Q And the legal department in this particular business is 20 particularly important for management decisions, right?

21 A It's important to get information from them to inform us
22 as the managers, meaning the board, yes.

23 Q You rely on their advice, don't you?

24 A We take into consideration what they -- what they share
25 with us, yes.

1 Q And they have expertise in the areas of the legal issues
2 that are central to this case, right?

3 A They have expertise. Fortunately, the board also has a
4 tremendous amount of legal expertise, both in the -- specific
5 to investment management and also corporate governance. And 6 having been a CEO and a CRO and been involved for the last 35
7 years in some highly-contentious, litigious litigations, I've 8 unfortunately picked up a little bit of how to understand what 9 is given to me and interpret it.

10 Q All right. Have you had any hesitation in relying on 11 their legal advice?

12 A No.

13 Q Are you aware that the -- that the Redeemer's arbitration
14 award determines that their advice ignored the advice of 15 outside counsel?

16 MR. MORRIS: Objection, Your Honor. Relevance.

17 THE COURT: Sustained.

18 MS. LAMBERT: Your Honor, the relevant --

19 BY MS. LAMBERT:

20 Q Are you aware that the ACIS Court also determined that Mr.
21 Ellington and Mr. Leventon were providing affidavits for the 22 Debtor rather than the Debtor, --

23 MR. MORRIS: Object, Your Honor.

24 MS. LAMBERT: -- Mr. Dondero?

25 MR. MORRIS: Same objection.

1 THE COURT: Sustained.

2 MS. LAMBERT: Your Honor, these -- both of these 3 questions go to our presentation that the in-house counsel is 4 not providing advice that's in the interest of the Debtor and 5 has ignored outside counsel. It's relevant to whether -- to 6 the case if current management knows that, which the evidence
7 is unclear, and whether they're doing something about it.
8 That's the United States Trustee's case.

9 THE COURT: All right. I don't think you've laid the 10 foundation to go this route.

11 MS. LAMBERT: Okay.

12 BY MS. LAMBERT:

13 Q You're relying on the advice of the legal counsel on a
14 daily basis, right?

15 A We take information from counsel and we process it. We 16 talk as a group, meaning the board. And as I referenced 17 earlier, two of our board members happen to be experienced 18 lawyers, one of whom is an expert in corporate governance and 19 bankruptcy law, having been a judge for 14 years. We sift the 20 information that comes from all different parties and make our 21 decisions based upon our experience in these situations. We 22 talk to outside counsel also as necessary.

23 Q Are you aware of any concerns about the advice that your 24 legal counsel in-house has provided to you?

25 A I'm sorry. Could you -- are -- excuse --

1 Q Are you aware of any concerns about the advice that the 2 in-house legal counsel has provided to you?

3 A Nothing that's been provided to us, no. No concerns about
4 that.

5 Q Are you aware of any concerns historically?

6 A I understand that there -- and have read that there were 7 issues related to that on a historical basis, yes.

8 Q Has that impacted the way you interact with the legal 9 counsel?

10 A Sure. A healthy dose of skepticism is always important
11 whenever you get into a new situation, whether there are those 12 allegations or rulings or what have you. It's always 13 important to have a healthy set of skepticism on these things.

14 Q All right.

15 MS. LAMBERT: Your Honor, the U.S. Trustee moves for 16 the admission of U.S. Trustee's 1, 2, and 3.

17 MR. MORRIS: Voir dire, Your Honor?

18 THE COURT: Pardon?

19 MR. MORRIS: Voir dire? Can I just ask a few
20 questions?

21 THE COURT: You may. Uh-huh.

22 VOIR DIRE EXAMINATION

23 BY MR. MORRIS:

24 Q Sir, has -- have the members of the legal department been 25 cooperative?

1 A Yes.

2 Q Have the members of the legal department been responsive
3 to the independent directors' requests?

4 A Yes, they have.

5 Q Have the members of the legal department been authorized
6 to do anything without the independent directors' knowledge
7 and approval?

8 A No.

9 Q Are the independent directors aware of any member of the 10 legal department having done anything without the knowledge
11 and approval of any of the independent directors?

12 A I am not.

13 Q Do the members of the legal department all report to the 14 independent directors?

15 A They report through the legal department organization,
16 which reports to the independent directors.

17 Q And the independent directors ultimately have the sole 18 authority as to whether or not to fire any member of the legal 19 department, as true with any member of the organization; is 20 that right?

21 A That is correct.

22 Q All right.

23 MR. MORRIS: I have no further questions.

24 MS. LAMBERT: Your Honor, the U.S. Trustee contends
25 that this is -- these opinions are highly relevant to the

1 board's understanding of the current situation. The 2 cooperativeness and the responsiveness and the doing of the 3 acts for the board members is not the issue if the information
4 that is being provided to the board is fundamentally
5 unreliable. And that's the issue the U.S. Trustee wants to 6 raise.

7 THE COURT: Okay. I sustain the objection and I
8 overrule the request to have the Court admit Exhibits 1
9 through 3.

10 MS. LAMBERT: Your Honor, is it necessary for me to 11 do an offer of proof, given that these exhibits are already in 12 the binder and have been -- everybody is familiar with the 13 desire that they be admitted?

14 THE COURT: All right. Well, if you're not wanting 15 any testimony, if you're just wanting the admission of the 16 exhibits, they will certainly be included in the record as 17 offered but not admitted. So if there's an appeal, they're in 18 there for the Court of Appeals to see.

19 CROSS-EXAMINATION, RESUMED

20 BY MS. LAMBERT:

21 Q So, it's your testimony that the Debtor's legal counsel
22 have been cooperative, responsive, and doing acts for the 23 board, and that ultimately the board acts as the sole 24 authority, right?

25 A That's correct.

1 Q Has the legal counsel provided the board with any advice
2 that they have -- that the board has disagreed with?

3 MR. MORRIS: Objection, Your Honor. To the extent
4 that this calls for the disclosure of attorney-client
5 communications, I would object.

6 THE COURT: All right. If you can answer without 7 disclosing privileged information, you may answer.

8 THE WITNESS: Okay. May I ask if you could repeat
9 the question, just so I --

10 BY MS. LAMBERT:

11 Q Has the board reached a determination that disagreed with 12 the legal counsel's recommendations?

13 A I don't believe so.

14 Q Has the board sought outside legal counsel after receiving 15 a report from in-house counsel that they -- that they wanted
16 more information on?

17 A That would be very common practice for getting information
18 from in-house counsel, then getting additional information
19 from outside counsel. It's -- we have done that. I would say
20 that's just a normal part of any organization, and I would do
21 that in every situation I'm involved with, --

22 Q Okay. But --

23 A -- if it was so relevant.

24 Q But I'm asking a little different question, which is, to 25 date, in this case, has the board done that?

1 A Have we sought advice from outside counsel on something --

2 Q That the in-house counsel provided advice on.

3 A Yes. And as I said, I think that's just a normal part of 4 our understanding information so that we can make decisions.

5 Q Now, you testified that having a trustee would impact the 6 Debtor's credibility in the market, right?

7 A That's my --

8 Q And ACIS --

9 A -- view.

10 Q -- had a trustee, correct?

11 A As I understand, yes.

12 Q And ACIS reorganized, didn't it?

13 A I am not familiar with the ACIS case, you know, whether it
14 was a reorganization. I'm just not familiar with the details
15 of it.

16 Q Okay. So, earlier, I had asked you if you were familiar
17 with the ACIS opinion and with the ACIS case, and my 18 understanding was you had read documents in the ACIS case.
19 Right?

20 A I've read them. I haven't studied them. I believe ACIS
21 was a reorganization, but I'm not familiar with the details of 22 it.

23 MS. LAMBERT: No further questions.

24 THE COURT: All right. Any other examination?

25 MR. MORRIS: No, Your Honor.

1 THE COURT: All right. Thank you. You're excused.

2 (The witness steps down.)

3 THE COURT: Does the Debtor have other evidence?

4 MR. MORRIS: No, Your Honor. The Debtor rests.

5 THE COURT: All right.

6 MR. MORRIS: Oh, I apologize. The only exhibit that
7 we did have that we noted on the exhibit list was the Court's
8 order and the exhibits that appointed the independent
9 directors. The protocols. We'd just --

10 THE COURT: All right. Well, the Court can take 11 judicial notice of those.

12 MR. MORRIS: Exactly. And just for the record, it's 13 at Docket #354-1.

14 THE COURT: Thank you.

15 MR. MORRIS: And I have a binder of exhibits if --

16 THE COURT: All right. You may approach with that.
17 Thank you.

18 All right. And the Committee said it did not intend to 19 put on evidence, correct?

20 MR. TWOMEY: That's correct.

21 THE COURT: All right. Any rebuttal evidence?

22 MS. LAMBERT: No, Your Honor.

23 THE COURT: All right. I'll hear closing arguments.

24 CLOSING ARGUMENT ON BEHALF OF THE U.S. TRUSTEE

25 MS. LAMBERT: Your Honor, Section 1104(a) is

1 structured with the clause about fraud, dishonesty, and gross
2 [mis]management, referring to -- management. Thereafter, the 3 statute says "or for other cause." The structure
4 grammatically of the statute is important because the 5 management provisions are one set and the "or for cause" is 6 another.

7 The Fifth Circuit precedent is clear that there can be 8 other types of cause. The inability to manage this Debtor and 9 to rely on its in-house legal counsel is pervasive in the 10 prior opinions and remains an issue today.

11 It is for this reason that the U.S. Trustee sought the 12 admission of Exhibits 1 through 3. There are not just issues
13 with Mr. Dondero, but there remains an issue with Dondero,
14 which brings me to point two, which is that the Delaware
15 corporate statute requires that there be a fiduciary duty to 16 him. There are many contexts where one can contract around a 17 fiduciary duty in partnerships, limited partnerships, but not 18 in corporations, because corporations have the stockholder and 19 creditor function. There is no evidence, no evidence, about 20 what creditors there might be of Strand. We have no knowledge
21 of that. And the Delaware case law is that there is a
22 fiduciary duty to creditors.

23 But if there are no creditors, then that duty runs to Mr.
24 Dondero. This remains a conflict of interest issue for 25 consideration. And it is an actual conflict, especially

1 because Mr. Dondero remains in the Debtor as an employee. And
2 the evidence is that, today, he, Mr. Ellington, and Mr.
3 Leventon, all of whom have been cited in prior opinions as 4 trying to establish plausible credibility, remain at the 5 Debtor, advising the management. And the board -- no one
6 questions that the board is some of the best people that we 7 have. But the issue is that, as a board, they are separate
8 from the Debtor, and there is a CRO in, but the CRO, I
9 anticipate the evidence will be that the CFO relies on the in-
10 house legal counsel, and that's -- the deposition transcript
11 cites go to the reliance on in-house legal counsel for major
12 decisions.

13 And so this remains a concern. And it is within Section
14 1104.

15 Finally, Your Honor, the effort to seal matters, including 16 the sine qua non, the catalyst for the bankruptcy filing, the 17 arbitration award, impede the ability of the public to 18 understand the facts of this case, impede the ability of the 19 regulators to understand this case, and it's too far. For 20 these reasons, the U.S. Trustee moves for the appointment of a
21 Chapter 11 trustee.

22 THE COURT: Let me just ask. I'm going to hit on 23 something you said there at the end, because you've said it a
24 few times. It concerns me a little. The words I remember Mr.
25 Pomerantz using on day one, and maybe using a couple of times

1 thereafter, was that the Redeemer Committee's arbitration
2 award created a liquidity problem at the Debtor's level and
3 that was the impetus for the bankruptcy.

4 MS. LAMBERT: Yes, Your Honor.

5 THE COURT: That is a little bit more of a narrow
6 statement than what I think your last sentence has implied.

7 MS. LAMBERT: Well, --

8 THE COURT: I mean, I hear what you're saying, tell
9 me if I'm hearing wrong, that there are statements in that 10 arbitration award that were the impetus for the bankruptcy
11 filing and the public needs to hear that. But that's not what 12 I heard Mr. Pomerantz say from day one. He said the 13 arbitration award, $180 million in amount or whatever it was,
14 in that neighborhood, caused a liquidity problem that caused
15 the bankruptcy.

16 MS. LAMBERT: Yes, Your Honor. But the testimony is 17 today that the Debtor's credibility in the market is 18 important, and the Redeemer arbitration award and its basis --
19 I mean, it's not just that it was $180 million. It's that 20 there was a basis for it -- they caused this bankruptcy [five-
21 second audio recording malfunction at 11:40 a.m.] award.

22 THE COURT: Okay. Well, again, maybe I shouldn't 23 have opened up that can of worms, but I just felt like there
24 was incorrect --

25 MS. LAMBERT: The --

1 THE COURT: -- repeating of the words of the Debtor.

2 MS. LAMBERT: The Court is right to be precise, and
3 it -- I suppose, from the U.S. Trustee's perspective, it's the 4 straw that broke the camel's back, and that's what we meant in 5 terms of a catalyst. And it is a judgment. But normally the 6 public has the opportunity to know what the basis of the 7 judgment is. And the basis of that ruling.

8 THE COURT: All right. Well, again, this is an issue
9 that may come up on another day and the Court will decide
10 whether it needs to come into the record. But, today, I
11 didn't think it was relevant for the motion before the Court.

12 All right. Anything else?

13 MS. LAMBERT: Finally, Your Honor, the evidence is 14 that, historically, the Debtor has had oversight externally as 15 a result of the same kind of problems that led to this, and 16 yet that did not work. And so for all those reasons, the U.S.
17 Trustee moves for the appointment of a trustee.

18 THE COURT: All right. Other arguments?

19 CLOSING ARGUMENT ON BEHALF OF THE DEBTOR

20 MR. POMERANTZ: Good morning again, Your Honor. Jeff
21 Pomerantz; Pachulski Stang Ziehl & Jones; on behalf of the
22 Debtor.

23 Just to pick up on the last point of your colloquy with 24 Ms. Lambert, Your Honor was correct. My statements at the 25 beginning of the case were that the reason the case was filed

1 was because of the Debtor's inability to satisfy the award
2 which was about to be confirmed in a judgment. It's not 3 inconsistent with what the testimony you heard today that the 4 disclosure of that award in the current context, where 5 management has completely changed, is totally irrelevant and 6 would be unduly prejudicial, and that is why we have 7 consistently sought to have that sealed and why we have 8 indicated to Your Honor and Your Honor has ruled that it's not 9 relevant for today's hearing.

10 Your Honor, the Trustee seeks appointment of a Chapter 11
11 trustee, notwithstanding Your Honor's January 9th approval of 12 a settlement between the Debtor and the Committee that 13 restructured management. And I think it's important to just 14 highlight some of the things that the settlement that Your 15 Honor approved did.

16 First, it involved a sweeping governance change,
17 highlighted by the establishment of a new board of directors
18 with three individuals who have exceptional reputations and a 19 diverse skillset that makes them unquestionably qualified to 20 manage a complex business such as the Debtor.

21 It also involved the removal of Mr. Dondero as the 22 Debtor's decision-maker, along with his agreement, which is 23 the subject, as Your Honor pointed out, of a separate court
24 order, not to interfere with the board's performance of its 25 duties, along with his agreement not to terminate substantial

1 contracts his affiliated entities have with the Debtor.

2 The settlement also established detailed operating
3 protocols which provide significant transparency regarding the 4 Debtor's operations and ensures, among other things, that the 5 Committee will have visibility into any related transactions
6 before they are consummated.

7 The settlement also granted standing to the Committee to 8 investigate and prosecute certain insider claims, along with 9 broad access to the Debtor's books and records, including 10 attorney-client information necessary to prosecute those 11 claims. While perhaps not unprecedented, this type of 12 authority being granted to Committee at this early in the case
13 is rarely granted and is quite unusual.

14 It is against this backdrop, Your Honor, that the Court
15 must evaluate the Trustee's motion. The applicable standard,
16 as you have heard, is under 1104 of the Bankruptcy Code, which 17 provides that the Court shall appoint a trustee for cause or 18 if the appointment is in the best interest of parties in 19 interest or for other cause.

20 As Your Honor wrote in the Patman Drilling case years ago,
21 "Appointment of a Chapter 11 trustee is a draconian remedy,
22 and there is a strong presumption that Chapter 11 -- a debtor
23 shall remain in possession."

24 And notwithstanding the Trustee's argument to the 25 contrary, the courts in the Fifth Circuit, including Your

1 Honor in Patman Drilling, follow Cajun Electric and require a
2 movant to demonstrate that appointment of a trustee is 3 justified by clear and convincing evidence.

4 Not only has the U.S. Trustee not met his burden, but the 5 facts demonstrate overwhelmingly that allowing the Debtor to 6 remain in possession is clearly in the best interests of all
7 parties in interest. In fact, no stakeholder supports the 8 U.S. Trustee's motion, and the Creditors' Committee, which 9 comprises the vast majority of unsecured claims in this case,
10 opposes the motion.

11 This bankruptcy case has been pending for over three 12 months and has been marked by significant acrimony and 13 litigation over governance and control. With the installation
14 of the board, the establishment of the protocols, the case is 15 finally on a positive trajectory, and the Debtor, through the 16 independent board, is now in a position to sit down and 17 cooperatively work with the Committee to develop a plan so
18 that the Debtor can exit Chapter 11 as quickly as possible.
19 Appointment of a Chapter 11 trustee would create further
20 uncertainty, adversely affect operations, and further delay
21 the efforts of the Debtor towards developing an exit strategy.

22 The Trustee has advanced three principal arguments on why
23 the Court should appoint a Chapter 11 trustee, none of which 24 are persuasive.

25 First, the United States Trustee argues that a Chapter 11

1 trustee is the only remedy to address various forms of 2 malfeasance that courts have found the Debtor to have
3 committed in the past. In so arguing to the Court, the U.S.
4 Trustee ignores the court-approved settlement, ignores the 5 existence of the independent board, ignores the removal of Mr.
6 Dondero from any position of control in the Debtor.

7 Section 1104 authorizes the appointment of a trustee for
8 cause, including fraud, dishonesty, incompetence, or gross
9 [mis]management of the affairs by current management. Case
10 law is clear that the focus is on the actions of current 11 management and not prior management. And, in fact, in the 12 Bayou case from the Second Circuit, which we identified and 13 cited, the Court refused to appoint a Chapter 11 trustee where 14 new management had been installed and there had been no
15 allegation that new management had committed any of those 16 acts.

17 The Debtor doesn't dispute that, prepetition, the Debtor
18 was involved in litigation where the courts found wrongdoing
19 by the Debtor. However, those findings are irrelevant if the 20 Debtor is under new management. New management, through the 21 independent board, is now in control, managing the Debtor's
22 operation. And importantly, James Dondero is not in a
23 position of control anymore. And as I said, there have been 24 no allegations that current management has engaged in any type
25 of fraud or mismanagement or done anything not to engender

1 confidence by the Court or the creditors. The independent
2 board consists of individuals with sterling reputations with 3 substantial skill.

4 Second, the Trustee argues that the independent board is 5 incapable of effectively managing the Debtor's affairs; the 6 structures implemented in other situations to combat Debtor's
7 bad acts have failed. Essentially, the Debtor [sic] is 8 arguing that other members of management, including the legal 9 team, may remain employed by the Debtor and the board will not 10 be able to prevent the Debtor from engaging in the same type
11 of activities that occurred prior to Chapter 11.

12 There is absolutely no evidence, Your Honor, to support
13 the U.S. Trustee's unfounded allegations. Rather, all the 14 evidence before Your Honor contradicts this argument and 15 demonstrates that the independent board has been and continue
16 to be an independent fiduciary to the estate and ensuring that 17 the Debtor takes only actions that are, in fact, benefiting
18 the estate and all parties in interest.

19 The only evidence before Your Honor regarding this is the 20 testimony you heard from John Dubel, one of the independent
21 directors. He testified as follows. Since his appointment
22 was effective on January 9th, at least one member of the board
23 has been present at the Debtor's headquarters for six of the 24 seven business days. Mr. Dubel himself has worked over 80
25 hours on the Debtor since the 9th. He testified that he

1 believes that other members of the board have put in the same
2 amount of work.

3 The board conducted a board meeting immediately upon its 4 appointment on January 9th and January 10th, and has had many
5 other informal discussions among themselves on a daily basis.

6 Mr. Dubel testified that the board has received
7 comprehensive presentations from counsel, from the CRO and his 8 team, and from each of the Debtor's department heads, and is 9 in daily communications with all such parties. He testified
10 that such presentations have covered the Debtor's structure, 11 organizations, operations, assets and liabilities, and the 12 rights and responsibilities of the board.

13 He testified that the board is reviewing and overseeing on 14 a daily basis implementing -- implementation of the protocols
15 approved by the Court.

16 He testified that, as any good board and fiduciary would 17 do, he has reached out and he has been in contact with the 18 Committee, the Committee members and their advisors on a 19 variety of issues. He's also testified that he has -- that 20 the board has reached out to department heads, who have 21 provided information without question to the board, and that 22 he believes and other members of the board believe that all
23 such information is truthful and accurate information.

24 He's testified that the authority of the board has been 25 communicated to employees, and that he believes and other

1 directors believe that the employees are respecting such 2 authority and that the CRO and the independent board are
3 providing critical interaction with the other Debtor's
4 employees and approval of transactions that are required.

5 He's testified that resolution of the corporate governance
6 will now allow the Debtor to move forward towards pursuing a
7 plan, and that appointment of a trustee would be very divisive
8 to the Debtor's operations and adversely affect operations.

9 In fact, Your Honor, the uncontradicted evidence is that 10 the independent board members are doing exactly what an 11 independent fiduciary like the trustee should or would be 12 doing: assessing the Debtor's operations and assets and 13 liabilities and evaluating how to maximize the Debtor's assets
14 for all stakeholders.

15 Moreover, the Trustee's argument that prior structures
16 implemented were insufficient is irrelevant. Never before has 17 an independent board been installed in this company, and never 18 before has Mr. Dondero been removed completely from a position
19 of authority.

20 It is also telling that two of the litigants who have had 21 significant dealings with the Debtor and its management over
22 the last years -- the Redeemer Committee and ACIS, both
23 members of the Committee -- oppose the U.S. Trustee's motion
24 and believe that the current structure is in the best
25 interests of the Debtor's stakeholders.

1 I would like to turn, Your Honor, to the last of the U.S.
2 Trustee's arguments with respect to the fiduciary duty, which
3 the Trustee says constitutes other cause because of some 4 apparent conflict. First, Your Honor, I would mention that 5 there is nothing in the pleadings regarding the fiduciary duty
6 issue. When --

7 MS. LAMBERT: Your Honor, I object.

8 MR. POMERANTZ: Excuse me.

9 MS. LAMBERT: I couldn't put it in the pleadings
10 because it didn't exist.

11 THE COURT: I'm not sure --

12 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor?

13 THE COURT: -- I understand the objection. He's 14 about to say what was in your pleadings.

15 MS. LAMBERT: Right. And he's saying that I should 16 have put it in my pleading, which was filed before there was 17 any management agreement, at a time when it looked like there
18 wasn't going to be a management agreement.

19 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, then --

20 THE COURT: Well, --

21 MR. POMERANTZ: All right.

22 THE COURT: -- clarify. You were about to say
23 there's nothing about --

24 MR. POMERANTZ: Yes.

25 THE COURT: -- breach of fiduciary duty in --

1 MR. POMERANTZ: I was going to say, --

2 THE COURT: -- the motion?

3 MR. POMERANTZ: -- Your Honor, that the motion that
4 was filed was before the Committee settlement.

5 THE COURT: Right.

6 MR. POMERANTZ: The Committee settlement happened.
7 We opposed. In our position, we addressed the fiduciary duty
8 issue head-on. The U.S. Trustee chose not to file a reply.

9 THE COURT: Okay.

10 MR. POMERANTZ: The U.S. Trustee stood up and, Your 11 Honor, cited case law on what Delaware fiduciary duty is.
12 There is nothing in their pleadings. And the argument that 13 she -- the Trustee could not --

14 MS. LAMBERT: I again object.

15 MR. POMERANTZ: -- put that in the pleading --

16 MS. LAMBERT: The reason that they raised this in 17 their response is that, and they said in there, we anticipate 18 the U.S. Trustee will raise it, it's because I raised it at 19 the hearing on the management.

20 MR. POMERANTZ: Well, Your --

21 THE COURT: Okay. I overrule --

22 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor?

23 THE COURT: -- that objection. You can make your 24 argument.

25 MR. POMERANTZ: I will move on. It -- my only point

1 was there was a little bit of trial by ambush here, with 2 counsel standing up at the podium, talking about case law and
3 talking about Delaware fiduciary duties. That's not in the 4 record. But I'll move on, Your Honor.

5 Second, this issue was raised at the January 9th hearing
6 and Your Honor ruled that there was no conflict. So, in some 7 sense, it is res judicata to the issues that are here.

8 And most importantly, Your Honor, the Committee, as you
9 know, has been extremely active in this case, is represented
10 by competent professionals. There is no way that the 11 Committee would have allowed management to come in if they 12 believed that management would be subject to competing duties.

13 Nevertheless, Your Honor, I'd like to address the argument
14 head-on. The Debtor is a limited partnership. The limited
15 partnership is managed by Strand, which is the general
16 partner. And the management of the Debtor is carried out by a
17 board that has been installed at Strand at the general
18 partnership level.

19 When the Debtor filed its bankruptcy, its managers at 20 Strand owed a fiduciary duty to the bankruptcy estate. The 21 managers owe a fiduciary duty to the bankruptcy estate in the 22 same way that a trustee, if appointed, would owe a fiduciary
23 duty to the bankruptcy estate. And the argument that Jim 24 Dondero is an equity holder at Strand and somehow creates a
25 conflict is a red herring. Strand is a single-purpose entity.

1 All it does is manage the Debtor. Strand has an obligation to 2 manage the Debtor appropriately. If the board at Strand is
3 fulfilling its duties to the Debtor, it's fulfilling Strand's
4 duties to the Debtor.

5 So, in other words, Your Honor, what the board does that 6 is in honor of its fiduciary duties: makes sure Strand is 7 complying with its obligations and makes sure Strand is not 8 subject to any claims that they have not fulfilled their 9 obligations under the management agreement.

10 This was the situation in a case before Judge Isgur in 11 2014 in the Houston Regional Sports case, which we cite in our 12 papers at 505 B.R. 468. The debtor, a limited partnership,
13 was managed by a general partnership. The partners, ultimate 14 partners, disagreed in how the company should proceed, and the 15 company found itself subject to an involuntary bankruptcy
16 proceeding. One of the partners, the Houston Astros -- I
17 guess this is rag on Houston Astros week -- was --

18 THE COURT: Don't mention that, please.

19 MR. POMERANTZ: -- appointed a board member to the 20 general partner and argued to Judge Isgur that that board
21 member had duties to it as the general partner and that 22 because of that, and since its consent was needed for any 23 restructuring, that any Chapter 11 would have to fail.

24 Judge Isgur said no, no, no. A general partner, a board
25 member of a general partner, regardless of that it was

1 appointed by the Houston Astros, who may have different views,
2 had the obligations to the estate and to fulfill its the 3 obligations to the estate, and that if they did anything in 4 violation of that, it would create liability.

5 So that Judge Isgur directly challenged and opposed the 6 conclusion that there's somehow a different fiduciary duty.
7 Now, he did sort of, in a footnote, say that he wasn't finally 8 determining fiduciary duty issues, but he did not find any 9 conflict.

10 The same is true here. And the argument that there is 11 somehow this conflict, somehow these competing interests,
12 somehow that the board may act in favor of Jim Dondero that's 13 not in favor the board and that's different than a trustee,
14 that is essentially a red herring. It's hornbook law. When 15 an estate files bankruptcy, its managers owe a fiduciary duty
16 to the estate.

17 And who do we have on our board? We have a former judge.
18 What better to have on a board, considering what its fiduciary 19 duties are, as a former judge, a former bankruptcy judge who 20 is well-familiar with what fiduciary duties exist and to whom 21 they exist?

22 So, Your Honor, we don't think there's a conflict, and 23 there's certainly not a conflict that would rise to the level
24 of "other cause" that the Trustee is trying to fit and 25 shoehorn its motion for appointment of a trustee.

1 In conclusion, Your Honor, the Trustee has not carried its
2 burden of establishing that cause exists for the appointment
3 of a Chapter 11 Trustee, that "other cause" exists, or that it
4 is in the best interest of parties in interest. The corporate
5 governance structure approved by the Court renders moot the 6 concerns about the prepetition conduct and Debtor's prior 7 management, and there's nothing been adduced through the 8 testimony to lead to the conclusion that any of the members of 9 the -- employees of the Debtor are not doing what they're 10 supposed to be doing, reporting to the independent board, and 11 that the independent board cannot fulfill their duties.

12 Appointment of a Chapter 11 trustee would adversely impact
13 the Debtor's operations, jeopardize restructuring efforts.
14 And for all of these reasons, Your Honor, the Debtor requests
15 that the Court deny the Trustee's motion.

16 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Twomey, anything from
17 you?

18 CLOSING ARGUMENT ON BEHALF OF THE OFFICIAL COMMITTEE

19 MR. TWOMEY: Thank you, Your Honor. I will be brief,
20 but I do want to provide the Committee's perspective on this,
21 given in particular 1104's focus on stakeholders.

22 As Your Honor is aware, the Committee represents the 23 primary economic stakeholders in this case. Even more than 24 most cases, the unsecured creditors in this case comprise the 25 vast majority of creditors, given how little secured debt

1 there is. And Your Honor, the Committee which represents
2 those unsecured creditors strongly disputes the notion that
3 appointment of a Chapter 11 trustee would be in the best
4 interest of stakeholders, for many of the same reasons as Mr.
5 Clemente discussed at the prior hearing in support of the 6 settlement.

7 The Committee believes the settlement approved by this
8 Court a week and a half ago, and the corporate governance
9 structures embodied therein, provide the Debtor with the best
10 opportunity to maximize value in this case.

11 As described earlier, the Committee believes that the 12 board members are highly qualified, with complementary 13 skillsets. It's hard to imagine that there's a single trustee
14 out there that could match their combined experience and 15 expertise.

16 Any Chapter 11 trustee would face the same challenges that 17 the board is facing, and those challenges just wouldn't 18 magically go away by appointment of a trustee.

19 In addition, appointment of a Chapter 11 trustee at this 20 point would lead to more delay getting up to speed, additional 21 cost for the trustee trying to get up to speed in the case,
22 and it obviously would basically undo the settlement that the 23 Committee and the Debtor spent so much time trying to pull 24 together.

25 As Your Honor has heard today, the board clearly has

1 rolled up their sleeves. They're becoming heavily involved in 2 the case. And the Committee also has information and 3 oversight rights and standing to pursue certain claims under 4 the settlement that provides an additional check on all of 5 this process going forward.

6 So, Your Honor, in light of the foregoing, especially the 7 settlement that Your Honor approved a little over ten days
8 ago, the U.S. Trustee simply can't meet its burden of showing,
9 under these circumstances, that cause warrants appointment of 10 a Chapter 11 trustee or that appointment of a Chapter 11
11 trustee would be in the best interest of stakeholders.

12 So, Your Honor, the Committee respectfully requests that 13 the motion be denied.

14 THE COURT: Counsel for UBS, did you have something?

15 CLOSING ARGUMENT ON BEHALF OF THE UBS PARTIES

16 MS. POSIN: Yes, Your Honor. Thank you, Your Honor.
17 Kim Posin of Latham & Watkins, counsel for creditors and 18 Unsecured Creditors' Committee members, UBS Securities, LLC,
19 and UBS AG London Branch.

20 Your Honor, just very briefly, I wanted to say that UBS
21 has a very substantial claim against Debtors and this estate.
22 We believe our claim to be in excess of $1 billion. And that 23 results from a November 2019 judgment in the New York Supreme 24 -- or Superior Court -- Supreme Court, excuse me, on a breach
25 of contract claim.

1 So, as a very significant creditor of this estate, we have
2 spent a substantial amount of time with the Committee and with
3 Committee counsel over the last few weeks creating this new 4 governance structure that the Court has put into place in the 5 last week and a half.

6 We are hopeful and we fully expect that, now the new 7 governance is in place, that the Debtors will be able to 8 proceed with a path forward and avoid the distractions and,
9 you know, influences that may have hindered their decision-
10 making processes to date or before the new governance
11 structure was put into place.

12 While we appreciate the U.S. Trustee's concerns with the 13 pre-existing management structure, we believe that that broken
14 structure has now been fixed. And unless and until the new 15 governance structure proves to be unworkable or detrimental to 16 the Debtor's estate or to its creditors in some fashion, the 17 -- there is no need and it would be inappropriate to appoint a
18 Chapter 11 trustee.

19 In fact, we agree with Mr. Twomey and Mr. Pomerantz that 20 the appointment of a Chapter 11 trustee at this point in these 21 cases would be detrimental, it would be disruptive, it would 22 cause delays, and there's no assurances that any Chapter 11
23 trustee that could be appointed would be -- would have 24 anywhere near the qualifications and capabilities of the new 25 board members.

1 So, Your Honor, we believe it is in the best interests of
2 all creditors, not just the numbers of this Committee, to deny
3 the motion, to allow the new governance structure to proceed,
4 and to give the board members an opportunity to manage the 5 Debtor's decision-making processes to preserve value and 6 hopefully to reach a resolution of this case in an appropriate
7 manner as efficiently and effectively as possible.

8 THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

9 MS. POSIN: Thank you.

10 THE COURT: Anyone else? Any rebuttal? All right.
11 We'll take a 15-minute break. It's 12:02. We'll come back at 12 12:17 and I'll give you a ruling.

13 THE CLERK: All rise.

14 (A recess ensued from 12:02 p.m. until 12:34 p.m.)

15 THE COURT: All right. We are going back on the 16 record in the Highland case. This is the Court's ruling on 17 the United States Trustee's motion for appointment of a
18 trustee.

19 The Court has bankruptcy subject matter jurisdiction
20 pursuant to 28 U.S.C. Section 1334. This is a statutory core
21 proceeding pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 157. The Court concludes 22 it has constitutional authority to make a final ruling in this 23 contested matter. And the Bankruptcy Code section that 24 governs the merits of the motion is Section 1104.

25 Based on the totality of the evidence, the Court believes

1 -- well, let me back up. Based on case authority, the Court
2 believes the legal standard is that there must be clear and
3 convincing evidence establishing the need for a trustee. But 4 even if I am misremembering the procedural history of Cajun
5 Electric, and even if the Fifth Circuit later, on a
6 rehearing, adopted a preponderance of the evidence standard
7 that had been suggested in a prior dissent, I would still find
8 here, under a preponderance of the evidence standard, that 9 there are not grounds under Section 1104(a)(1) or (2) for the 10 appointment of a trustee in this case. So the motion of the 11 U.S. Trustee is denied.

12 I frequently say in court hearings, some folks know, that 13 facts matter. It's kind of a mantra of mine. It seems like a 14 very obvious statement, I know. But facts, evidence, really 15 does matter. And here are some of the facts involved that 16 are, frankly, quite atypical compared to what bankruptcy
17 courts frequently see with trustee motions, motions to appoint
18 a Chapter 11 trustee.

19 First, as I've noted a couple of times before, we have a
20 well-constituted and well-represented Official Unsecured
21 Creditors' Committee. Three of the four members of the 22 Committee have extensive multi-year experience litigating with 23 this debtor. They are collectively owed many millions of 24 dollars. Actually, one Committee member, UBS, represented
25 today it thinks it's owed a billion dollars.

1 They are, beyond any doubt, sophisticated, well-
2 represented parties. And with all of their background and 3 breadth of knowledge about this debtor and its now-former 4 control person, Jim Dondero, with all of their history of 5 distrust and acrimony, they do not at this juncture support a
6 Chapter 11 trustee.

7 In fact, as we all know, the Committee and its 8 professionals worked mightily for several weeks with the 9 Debtor's professionals to come up with a new corporate 10 governance structure that, in their reasonable view, could 11 serve as a much more favorable vehicle than a Chapter 11
12 trustee.

13 They, as we all know, negotiated and chose three new 14 independent board members of the general partner of the 15 Debtor, Strand, which general partner, of course, ultimately 16 controls the Debtor and has fiduciary duties to the Debtor as 17 a general partner. And this new board not only has all the 18 attributes, benefits of independence and an understanding of 19 fiduciary duties, the Court has issued an order defining its 20 role as such, but, in this Court's opinion, this new board has 21 at least two distinct advantages over a Chapter 11 trustee.

22 First, with no offense to any of the Chapter 11 trustee
23 candidates out there that might be able to serve, the three
24 board members bring a fabulous skillset to the process. A
25 retired bankruptcy judge, an individual with tremendous high-

1 yield investment and portfolio management experience, and an
2 individual with significant experience as an independent
3 director in difficult, large restructuring cases.

4 Second, the Debtor and the Committee professionals believe
5 that a new board, with the ability to retain or terminate
6 employees as they deem fit, would be less disruptive overall 7 and could potentially preserve enterprise value better than 8 the more drastic mechanism of a Chapter 11 trustee.

9 Moreover, in connection with this overhaul of governance,
10 corporate governance, the UCC, the Official Unsecured
11 Creditors' Committee, also negotiated mechanisms for 12 transparency in the Debtor's operation of its business, and 13 the Committee, Official Unsecured Creditors' Committee, was 14 given standing to pursue certain actions.

15 So, back to my mantra. The bottom line is facts matter,
16 and the facts are that we have sophisticated, well-heeled
17 economic stakeholders who have worked mightily to essentially
18 overhaul the entire corporate governance as to this debtor.
19 They have sanitized the problems.

20 Again, some of these Unsecured Creditors' Committee have a 21 history with this debtor. They have a history with putting 22 checks and balances in place and those not ideally working.
23 It is with this background that they have worked mightily for 24 several weeks with Debtor's professionals to come up with this 25 new corporate governance structure that, in their reasonable

1 view, provides the appropriate oversight and control that the 2 mechanisms perhaps in prior situations did not provide.

3 The U.S. Trustee relies on the strict wording of Section
4 1104 in urging its motion. Specifically, the wording that,
5 quote, The Court shall order the appointment of a trustee for
6 cause, including fraud, dishonesty, incompetence, or gross
7 [mis]management of the affairs of the debtor by current 8 management, either before or after the commencement of the 9 case, or similar cause.

10 The Court believes this statutory provision is aimed at 11 problems or malfeasance with current management. All of this 12 has been fixed. It's a very different scenario than when this 13 case was filed. If there are problems with remaining 14 employees, like in-house lawyers or treasurers or others, the 15 board has the ability to terminate these individuals. But I
16 had no evidence that there are specific problems with any 17 particular remaining individuals.

18 Simply because I or another Court may have made statements
19 in prior rulings about unreliable testimony or may have found
20 evidence of fraudulent transfers is not a problem that taints
21 this completely-overhauled management structure. Again, this 22 was a complete overhaul. The facts and timing are such today
23 that Mr. Dondero is no longer current management. Current 24 management are the words used in Section 1104.

25 This case is no different than numerous other large

1 Chapter 11 cases when, often before the petition date but
2 sometimes after, old board members resign, new board members
3 are brought in, CEOs are ousted. It's common. It avoids the 4 possible need for a Chapter 11 trustee. It brings integrity
5 to the process and hopefully preserves the ability to 6 reorganize. Creditors sometimes demand it. The debtor's
7 professionals sometimes suggest it. Sometimes, current 8 management resigns before being told they'll need to. This is 9 one of the realities with distressed companies.

10 A new board and new management are not only a pragmatic
11 solution, but this Court concludes are totally within the 12 parameters and the provisions and overall structure of Chapter
13 11.

14 At bottom, the professionals for the Debtor and the 15 Official Unsecured Creditors' Committee have fixed the 16 problem, the problems with the current management that existed
17 as of the petition date. I approved the new governance
18 structure pursuant to Sections 363 and 105, and now we don't 19 have the cause that 1104 refers to.

20 Moreover, I have no evidence that a trustee is in the best
21 interest of parties pursuant to Section 1104(a)(2). So, no
22 cause for a Chapter 11 trustee.

23 I reserve the right to supplement or amend in a form of 24 order, but I will ask Debtor's counsel to submit a form of 25 order.

1 All right. Well, turning to the remaining business, I
2 know we had two or three other motions, and there were no
3 objections to those motions.

4 MR. LITVAK: Good afternoon, Your Honor.

5 THE COURT: Good afternoon.

6 MR. LITVAK: Max Litvak; Pachulski Stang Ziehl &
7 Jones; on behalf of the Debtor.

8 THE COURT: Okay.

9 MR. LITVAK: I'm here to present those last three 10 items on the agenda, which are 7, 8, and 9.

11 THE COURT: All right.

12 MR. LITVAK: And Your Honor, if I may suggest that we 13 go in reverse order.

14 THE COURT: All right. I'm pulling out my agenda to 15 the appropriate --

16 MR. LITVAK: Yes, Your Honor. Number 9 is the Mercer
17 retention application.

18 THE COURT: Okay. That is the compensation expert
19 professional, correct?

20 MR. LITVAK: Exactly right, Your Honor. We have no
21 objections to this application, and Mercer has already, some 22 time ago, actually, commenced rendering services for -- to the 23 Debtor with respect to compensation issues.

24 THE COURT: All right. Again, we did not have any 25 written objection. Anybody want to say anything about this

1 application?

2 All right. Well, notice has been proper. We have no
3 objections. They appear to be well-qualified. I approve this 4 under 327 and 328 of the Bankruptcy Code.

5 MR. LITVAK: Your Honor, would you like to see a
6 proposed form of order, or -- it is essentially the same one
7 that we filed with the application, except we have updated the 8 caption because the application was actually originally filed
9 in Delaware.

10 THE COURT: All right. No. You may simply upload it
11 electronically, please.

12 MR. LITVAK: Yes, Your Honor. Will do. Thank you.

13 Moving to Number 8 on the agenda, Your Honor, is the bonus
14 motion. It is the Debtor's motion to pay our ordinary course
15 obligations under employee bonus plans. And Your Honor, there 16 are no pending objections with respect to this motion. The 17 U.S. Trustee has filed no objection. We did negotiate
18 resolution with the Creditors' Committee that I wanted to tell 19 you about.

20 THE COURT: Okay.

21 MR. LITVAK: We have agreed, for purposes of today,
22 to exclude four statutory insiders.

23 THE COURT: All right.

24 MR. LITVAK: So, from our perspective, there are no
25 -- no insiders who are covered by the motion. Or covered with

1 respect to the proposed order that we'd be submitting to you
2 today, which has been reviewed and approved by the Creditors'
3 Committee. There are a few others that are being pulled out
4 as well.

5 But the net result of it, Your Honor, is that we are 6 asking for approval of ordinary course plans in an amount
7 that's substantially reduced from what was initially asked
8 for, the initial request for relief.

9 Specifically, Your Honor, the order for relief here today
10 is with respect to what we've called an annual bonus plan and 11 also what we've called a -- as a deferred bonus plan. The 12 annual bonus plan was actually approved almost a year ago, in 13 February 2019. It relates to employee performance in 2018
14 calendar year. As I mentioned, it's all ordinary course. But 15 the payments are in installments. So it's deferred
16 compensation, which actually is a substantial portion of 17 employee compensation in the industry as well as for this 18 Debtor. Employees agree to take reduced salaries with the 19 expectation that they're going to be compensated substantially
20 with respect to bonuses.

21 And that is, in fact, what happened here, and what has 22 happened in the ordinary course. And in February 2019, the 23 company approved bonuses for employees for their performance
24 in 2018, but employees will only be entitled to receive those 25 bonuses to the extent they continue to be employed with the

1 Debtor on deferred payment dates. And there are four
2 installments. Two were made prepetition and two remain to be
3 paid. And what we're asking for today, Your Honor, is for 4 your authority to continue to make those payments in the 5 ordinary course.

6 So the third installment comes due on February, in 7 February 2020, and then the fourth installment comes due in 8 August 2020. So this year, next month, and then a few months
9 down the road.

10 The deferred bonus plan goes back even further. It was 11 approved in February 2017 for the 2016 calendar year. And it, 12 in the ordinary course, is deferred 39 months, and those 13 payments are actually tied in with certain publicly-traded
14 allocated -- allocated publicly-traded stock. So an employee
15 is awarded a certain amount, and that value is represented in 16 publicly-traded stock, which is actually set aside, held by 17 the company for the benefit of that employee.

18 If the employee sticks around for 39 months, then on the 19 39th month there will be a vesting. And the next vesting will 20 be in May, May 2020 for the February 2017 awards.

21 And the stock in many cases has increased in value, just 22 as the stock market has increased in value, generally
23 speaking. So the amounts that were awarded in February 2017
24 have actually increased in value, and the employees would be 25 expecting that, that if they're continuing to perform and do

1 their job and they're still employed on that date of when
2 there is a vesting, that they would be entitled to that stock
3 at the value -- at the market value of that stock on the 4 vesting date.

5 Your Honor, another important thing that's significant
6 about the Debtor's bonus plans is that they are not
7 guaranteed. Even -- even when they're awarded. An employee
8 has to continue to perform at a very high level or they can be 9 terminated. Frankly, an employee can continue to perform at a
10 high level and still be terminated. So someone can be 11 terminated without cause, and then they will not be entitled
12 to the bonus, unless they're there on the actual payment date.
13 So, come February 28th, the employees that are there, the 14 board will decide which employees are there. Presumably, it's 15 the bulk of the employees. Then those employees will be 16 entitled to what they have been awarded prepetition. And 17 that's what we're asking the Court to approve today.

18 We're not asking Your Honor to approve anything with 19 respect to 2019 bonuses yet. Frankly, the board is still 20 getting its arms around that and making determinations as to 21 what bonuses will be payable.

22 Your Honor, the board, the independent board, has closely
23 evaluated the Debtor's employee compensation structure and 24 reached a decision that most aspects of the bonus should be 25 approved, to avoid potentially catastrophic consequences for

1 this estate.

2 The board has considered input from the Creditors'
3 Committee. The board has decided to make certain 4 modifications to the bonus plans as they were proposed in the 5 initial filing. So the initial motion that we filed was 6 actually filed in Delaware, I believe on November 26, 2019.
7 And the matter was initially set for hearing on December 17th
8 in Delaware. Then venue was transferred, and we have 9 subsequently renoticed the hearing a couple of times to today,
10 ultimately.

11 The bonus amounts -- as I mentioned, Your Honor, the board
12 has decided with respect to the modifications to exclude the 13 four statutory insiders as well as a few others, and the board
14 intends to address the compensation of those employees
15 separately.

16 The bonus amounts that are requested today, Your Honor,
17 after reductions, now aggregate $1.8 million in February, $1.2
18 million in May, and $1.7 million in August, for a grand total
19 of approximately $4.6 million, Your Honor. That would cover
20 approximately 40 employees.

21 In the original motion, we actually asked for over $10
22 million, so this is more than cutting it in half. The board
23 has had the benefit of a compensation expert, which is Mercer,
24 who has confirmed that the Debtor's bonus, bonus plans, are 25 well within market, and that if such bonuses are not paid, the

1 Debtor's employees would be severely undercompensated.

2 The bottom line, Your Honor, is that the board has 3 concluded, in its sound business judgment, that continuing to 4 honor the Debtor's ordinary course bonus obligations, as 5 modified, to employees is critical. The failure to do so is 6 likely to cause an employee exodus and will adversely
7 prejudice the Debtor's efforts to maximize value for all
8 constituents.

9 Your Honor, we're asking you to approve the payments, the 10 bonus payments, under Sections 105 and 363 of the Bankruptcy
11 Code as a sound exercise of business judgment. Also, under 12 Section 1107 of the Bankruptcy Code in that the Debtor is 13 exercising its fiduciary duty to try and maximize value,
14 consistent with a couple opinions that we've run across in 15 this district from Judge Lynn.

16 Most recently, Your Honor, there is a decision called In 17 re Tusa -- T-U-S-A hyphen -- Expo Holdings, 2008 Bankr. LEXIS
18 2852. It's Judge Lynn's opinion from 2008 where he clarifies
19 an earlier opinion, In re CoServ, 273 B.R. 487. He basically
20 reaches the conclusion, Your Honor, that, under Section 1107,
21 the Debtor has a fiduciary duty to maximize value, and 22 maintaining relationships with employees is a necessity.

23 So, under the necessity of payment doctrine, we would ask
24 Your Honor to approve these payments. Even though they were 25 approved prepetition, they are coming due postpetition. We

(“Appellants”) hereby designate the following items to be included in the record and identify the following issues with respect to their appeal of the Order Denying Motion for Modification of Order Authorizing Retention of James P. Seery, Jr., which was entered by the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas on June 30, 2021.

I. STATEMENT OF ISSUES TO BE PRESENTED ON APPEAL

1. Did the bankruptcy court err in refusing to modify its order extending quasi-judicial immunity to a debtor’s chief executive officer?

2. Did the bankruptcy court err in refusing to modify its order asserting exclusive gatekeeping and adjudicatory authority over certain accrued and unaccrued causes of action against the debtor’s chief executive officer?
3. Did the bankruptcy court err in treating its order approving appointment of the debtor’s chief executive officer as final rather than interlocutory and therefore subject to the requirements of Rule 60(b)? Did appellants satisfy Rule 60(b) in any event?

II. DESIGNATION OF ITEMS TO BE INCLUDED IN THE RECORD

1 would ask the Court to approve that.

2 Further, Your Honor, because we have carved out insiders,
3 we do not believe that Sections 503(c)(1) or (c)(2) of the 4 Bankruptcy Code apply at all to what we're asking for today,
5 and that 503(c)(3) also doesn't apply. Even though that 6 section is not limited to insiders, we don't think it applies
7 because this is an ordinary course program and 503(c)(3) talks
8 about outside the ordinary course.

9 Here, the bonus plans are entirely consistent with the 10 ordinary course operations of the Debtor and completely
11 consistent with prepetition practice.

12 Your Honor, in addition to the bonus plans, just as a
13 minor point, there is what is called a dividend reinvestment
14 plan where the Debtor will contribute -- gross up, effectively
15 -- an employee contribution into an investment fund, which is 16 actually with an affiliate called NexPoint. So, basically,
17 employees of the Debtor are given the opportunity to invest in 18 a couple of mutual funds that are run by affiliates. If they 19 choose to do that, then the Debtor will gross up the value of 20 those employees' investments as an employee benefit. So it's 21 really just another form of compensation to employees. It's a
22 15 percent gross-up. And with respect to possible prepetition
23 obligations under the DRIP, they're very nominal. Less than 24 $30,000, if any. So we are asking approval in the motion up 25 to $30,000, and then authority to continue the program in the

1 ordinary course.

2 The Debtor also has certain of its own funds invested in
3 these mutual funds, and those mutual funds throw off
4 dividends. And the Debtor in the ordinary course reinvests
5 the dividends in those funds. And the Debtor is asking for 6 authority to continue to do that.

7 These are not huge numbers, Your Honor, but it's -- it's 8 maybe $10,000 to $20,000 a month.

9 For these reasons, Your Honor, the Debtor would urge you
10 to approve the motion. If you need any further factual
11 support, I'm prepared to offer it, but the motions are 12 uncontested, as far as we know.

13 THE COURT: All right.

14 MR. LITVAK: Or the motion is.

15 THE COURT: All right. Well, I certainly didn't see 16 written objections. Do we have comments from, first, the 17 Committee? Are you willing to accept these facts as 18 unrefuted, or do you have a desire to examine witnesses on 19 this?

20 MR. TWOMEY: Absolutely not, Your Honor. Just wanted
21 to confirm for Your Honor that the Committee did originally 22 have issues with the scope of the relief requested in the 23 motion as it was filed back in November, but the Committee and 24 its advisors have worked with the Debtor, primarily through 25 their directors and advisors, to narrow the scope of the

1 relief requested to the point where it is, in fact, acceptable
2 to the Committee, as outlined by Mr. Litvak. So, the 3 Committee is now comfortable with the narrowed relief as just 4 outlined and is comfortable with the Court approving that 5 requested relief.

6 THE COURT: All right. Well, we appreciate your role
7 --

8 MR. TWOMEY: Thank you, Your Honor.

9 THE COURT: -- in negotiating some narrowing of the 10 relief.

11 Anyone else? U.S. Trustee or anyone else have issues?
12 All right. Ms. Lambert, you had something?

13 MS. LAMBERT: No. No issues, Your Honor. It is our 14 understanding that any new bonus program will be subject to a
15 separate motion.

16 THE COURT: All right. I think that's what I
17 inferred, but maybe you should clarify on the record.

18 MR. LITVAK: Your Honor, I would like to clarify
19 that, because we -- we actually have not reached that 20 determination. We are evaluating what the bonus plan will 21 look like, and then we'll confer with the board, do some 22 research of our own, and make that determination. But if it
23 would make Ms. Lambert happy, I'm sure we could agree to 24 communicate to her our decision.

25 THE COURT: All right. So think what I'm hearing is

1 you're reserving the right to take the position that any new 2 bonus program would be ordinary course of business and
3 wouldn't need court approval?

4 MR. LITVAK: Yes, Your Honor.

5 THE COURT: All right. Well, then I am going to 6 accept you at your word made on the record that you will 7 communicate, you'll give notice to the U.S. Trustee if any new 8 bonus plan is -- the Debtor desires to implement one and takes 9 the position it doesn't need court approval, and then if she 10 disagrees or the Committee disagrees, someone can file a 11 motion to, whatever the motion would be worded, to have the 12 Court weigh in on the subject.

13 MR. LITVAK: Yes, ma'am.

14 THE COURT: Okay. All right.

15 MR. LITVAK: Your Honor, I do have a proposed form of 16 order, along with a redline against the original form of order
17 that we had filed, if you'd care to see that with respect to 18 the bonus motions.

19 THE COURT: You --

20 MR. LITVAK: If I may approach.

21 THE COURT: You can approach on that.

22 (Pause.)

23 THE COURT: Thank you.

24 MR. LITVAK: The redline primarily reflects changes
25 that were requested by the Creditors' Committee, Your Honor.

1 THE COURT: Okay.

2 MR. LITVAK: And clarifying that the motion is 3 granted as presented at the hearing today minus the few
4 employees, insiders that I had mentioned.

5 THE COURT: All right. Well, the Court is going to 6 approve the bonus motion as narrowed here on the record today.
7 The Court believes that, based on the unrefuted facts, there's 8 a sound exercise of business judgment reflected in this 9 proposal, and that it would certainly be a preservation of 10 value by keeping these bonuses in place that were negotiated
11 or put in place prepetition. So the Court thinks this form of 12 order looks fine and the motion is hereby approved.

13 MR. LITVAK: Thank you very much, Your Honor.

14 With that, I'll move to the last item on the agenda, which 15 is Number 7, the cash management motion, which was filed some 16 time ago as a first-day filing. Judge Sontchi did enter an 17 interim order. We've been operating under the interim order
18 ever since. It's been over three months now.

19 And at the last hearing, we were prepared to present the 20 final order, but the U.S. Trustee, as I understand it, stood
21 up and made a speaking objection to the effect that the Debtor
22 should be required to bond a couple of brokerage accounts.

23 So the Debtor has two brokerage accounts that are at 24 issue. There is a Jefferies account and then there's an 25 account at Maxim. And there is a significant amount in terms

1 of value of securities there. At Jefferies, we're looking at 2 in the range of $80 million, and at Maxim $30 million. At 3 Jefferies, there is a margin balance, so basically a
4 prepetition secured claim by Jefferies against the estate of 5 $30 million.

6 We have gone to these brokers to ask them if they would be 7 willing to participate in a bond or surety relationship of 8 some sort with a third party. We have also gone out and 9 obtained one quote so far with respect to how much that would 10 cost. The one quote was in the range of $200,000 or $300,000.

11 The board -- I've discussed this with the board. It is 12 the board's view that spending that money to buy a surety bond
13 is not a good use of the estate's limited resources. But 14 further, as a practical matter, Your Honor, we have gone to 15 Jefferies, and they are unwilling to enter into surety -- they 16 would be required to sign an indemnity agreement with a 17 surety. So if a surety is ever called upon to pay because the 18 securities that are supposed to be there for some reason are 19 not there, then Jefferies would be obligated to reimburse the 20 surety. That's the indemnity. And further, Jefferies would 21 be required to become an approved depository here. They're 22 not willing to do that.

23 So, Your Honor, I think we're at the position, from the 24 Debtor's perspective, that we would ask you to, to the extent
25 that the U.S. Trustee still has an objection, that we would

1 ask you to approve a waiver of the 345 requirement for cause,
2 the cause being that the Debtor does not believe that this is
3 a good use of estate resources. The Debtor is in the business
4 of doing just this, which is money management, investing in 5 securities. This is not a retail business that, on the side,
6 is trying to make some money off securities. This is what the 7 Debtor does. So it is a very unique set of facts here.

8 The Debtor also doesn't have the ability to move the 9 accounts, particularly the one at Jefferies, because Jefferies
10 has a significant margin balance which secures them. So
11 they're not going to let us move the money out. So we're kind
12 of stuck.

13 And it has never been an issue before, Your Honor.
14 Jefferies, incidentally, has, we found out from their website
15 -- it is obviously a highly-regulated entity, as is Maxim --
16 Jefferies has significant insurance in place. Beyond the SIPC
17 coverage for securities accounts, which is tapped at $500,000,
18 Jefferies has another -- an excess policy of $24-1/2 million
19 on top of that, and maybe more.

20 So, Your Honor, from the Debtor's perspective, we would 21 ask the Court to give us the waiver here under the unique
22 circumstances here of 345 and that the Debtor be permitted to 23 continue to maintain those two brokerage accounts in the 24 ordinary course.

25 THE COURT: All right. Others wish to be heard?

1 MS. LAMBERT: So, to be clear, Your Honor, the United
2 States Trustee didn't ask them to bond the amounts. The U.S.
3 Trustee asked that the insurance parallel the specific 4 insurance, or the bonding, parallel that, so that if the 5 actual stocks are not there, there's something to go against,
6 and so, therefore, making it parallel to the same kind of 7 posting of collateral with the Fed in case an institution
8 fails.

9 So, it is also possible to get insurance, just as 10 Jefferies has, for the Debtor. And they're still outstanding 11 on several requests. But if Jefferies won't sign the 12 indemnification agreement, they won't sign it. So that's the 13 issue. I mean, could they get insurance separately? I don't 14 know. They haven't tried. But I will want the Court -- I
15 mean, like Judge Houser will never ever grant this kind of 16 relief. I want the Court to be aware that the estate is at 17 risk if there's a problem at Jefferies or if there's a problem
18 at the other institution.

19 THE COURT: All right. Anyone else wish to weigh in?

20 And I'm going to go back to my mantra. Facts matter. I'm 21 not sure Judge Houser has ever had this type of entity. You
22 know, it's not a retail store, it's not a restaurant, it's not 23 an apartment complex. It's a debtor whose reason for existing 24 is money management and investing. Not that it doesn't ever
25 make mistakes, but, again, I think the unique circumstances of

1 this debtor in this case merit a waiver of the Section 345(b)
2 requirement.

3 I think it would not be an exercise of reasonable
4 judgment, under the facts I have before me, to require, you
5 know, a $200,000 or $300,000 cost surety bond. So I grant the 6 motion and grant the waiver.

7 And as with any order, I won't require this blue sky
8 language, but certainly if, you know, Jefferies and Maxim, you
9 know, it's well publicized, they go into distress themselves
10 and we need to revisit this ruling, the Court would certainly 11 be willing to revisit the issue if the world changes, and I
12 think that's a good thing to do.

13 All right. Before we end matters on this motion, I left
14 my notes on my desk, but I had in my brain that at one time
15 there were four stray issues that the Committee had. And I 16 just want to double-check these four stray issues were 17 resolved with the settlement. I know there was an issue with 18 regard to a couple, I mean, well, four recurring commitments
19 of the Debtor. One regarding that life settlement entity,
20 where the premium was something like a million dollars a month
21 that Debtor was paying. There was another, you know,
22 Singapore office and a Korea investment company. And I can't 23 remember, I think the other was just general overhead
24 provided. Have those issues been resolved, wrapped up in the 25 settlement? I did not go back and double-check the

1 settlement.

2 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, Jeff Pomerantz. We had
3 interim approval under the cash management to do certain
4 things.

5 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

6 MR. POMERANTZ: But Your Honor is correct that any 7 continued intercompany cash management issues were covered by 8 the protocols. So that is where we will be seeking authority
9 to do any other type of intercompany transactions. It will 10 not be pursuant to this cash management order, but it was 11 important for this cash management order to become final 12 because it did govern the case before the case got transferred 13 here and we took action as we were permitted to do under the 14 interim order.

15 THE COURT: Okay. So without asking you to recite
16 every single sentence of the settlement motion and order,
17 there's some sort of oversight and approval mechanism for 18 those payments, those obligations?

19 MR. POMERANTZ: Correct. Correct. Correct.
20 Intercompany transactions, related-party transactions, is a --

21 THE COURT: Just that general umbrella?

22 MR. POMERANTZ: -- is the general umbrella.

23 THE COURT: Okay.

24 MR. POMERANTZ: And there's a certain process and 25 procedure how we would get approval from that, giving

1 visibility to the Creditors' Committee.

2 THE COURT: Okay. Counsel, did you want to add
3 anything?

4 MR. TWOMEY: Just to confirm that's correct, Your 5 Honor. We had an operating protocol that was approved as part 6 of the settlement. And so, pursuant to that, these types of 7 transactions will be, you know, for example, run by the 8 Committee, and only if there are issues will we have to come
9 back to the Court.

10 THE COURT: The general umbrella --

11 MR. TWOMEY: Yes.

12 THE COURT: -- of intercompany transactions? All 13 right. I bet Retired Judge Nelms' ears perked up when he 14 heard about life settlements. If you don't understand that 15 comment, I'm sure he'll love to talk to you about Life
16 Partners.

17 MR. POMERANTZ: Yes. We've had those discussions,
18 Your Honor.

19 THE COURT: Okay.

20 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, I think the only thing
21 remaining to be done is a couple of dates.

22 THE COURT: Okay.

23 MR. POMERANTZ: We thought it would be helpful to set
24 sort of, you know, essentially omnibus dates.

25 THE COURT: Okay.

1 MR. POMERANTZ: We may have things relating to the 2 continued bonus programs to bring before the Court. May not.
3 And just so people generally could know when to file things.
4 So we've conferred with the Creditors' Committee counsel. I
5 didn't have the opportunity to confer with the Trustee. But 6 we have a date in February, perhaps either February 19th or 7 20th.

8 THE COURT: Okay.

9 MR. POMERANTZ: And then also a date in March, either
10 the 10th, 11th, or 12th.

11 THE COURT: Okay. Let me see what we can do.

12 (Pause.)

13 THE COURT: Okay. We can give you 2/19 at 9:30 in 14 the morning.

15 (Pause.)

16 THE COURT: Okay. We can give you Wednesday, March
17 11th, at 9:30.

18 MR. POMERANTZ: Thank you very much, Your Honor.

19 THE COURT: All right. So, for now, do we want to 20 absolutely set some of these carryover matters? I know we had 21 the retention application.

22 MR. POMERANTZ: We have the retention applications,
23 we have the PensionDanmark, --

24 THE COURT: The Pension --

25 MR. POMERANTZ: -- and then we have the settlement

1 related to the CLO Issuer. So why don't we put all those 2 three on for the 19th at 9:30 a.m.?

3 THE COURT: Okay. I think it's four things. I think
4 there were two retention applications.

5 So, for now, Traci, we're going to set the Foley Gardere
6 and Lynn Pinkerton retention applications on February 19th, as 7 well as the Pension motion to lift stay. I can't remember the 8 exact name of that. And then, okay, you said there's a CLO
9 Issuers motion?

10 MR. POMERANTZ: Well, it was the -- it was the 11 overall settlement motion, if Your Honor recalls, that I
12 mentioned at the beginning of the hearing.

13 THE COURT: Oh, the language --

14 MR. POMERANTZ: That specific issue on the protocols.

15 THE COURT: -- they were hoping to have for 16 protocols?

17 MR. POMERANTZ: Correct.

18 THE COURT: Okay. Yeah. So we'll carry over the 19 settlement motion between the Committee and the Debtor. Even 20 though I've entered an order, we actually have some carryover
21 language. So we'll put that on the calendar again. No, all
22 of those on February 19th. And, again, you'll coordinate with 23 Traci if you have add-on matters that you need --

24 MR. POMERANTZ: Correct, Your Honor. And then we 25 will file the appropriate agenda of that in advance and

1 provide Your Honor with notebooks so that Your Honor will know
2 exactly what was on. I know Traci was -- did a great job of 3 trying to figure it out, and we didn't make her life easier up
4 until the agenda, but we promise to make both yours and her
5 life easier going forward.

6 THE COURT: Well, for my life, the notebook and 7 everything was great when I started looking at it over the 8 weekend, so thank you. Appreciate it.

9 MR. POMERANTZ: Thank you very much, Your Honor.

10 THE COURT: All right. I appreciate everyone's
11 positions and courtesies today. All right.

12 MR. POMERANTZ: Thank you, Your Honor.

13 THE CLERK: All rise.

WHEREAS, the Company was formed by filing a Certificate of Formation with the Secretary of State of the State of Delaware on October 25, 2011, pursuant to the provisions of the Delaware Limited Liability Company Act, 6 Del. C. §§18-101, et seq., as amended from time to time (the "Act"), and has entered into this Agreement;

WHEREAS, the former Managing Member entered into that certain Limited Liability Company Agreement dated October 25, 2011 (the "Original Agreement");

WHEREAS, the Company now desires to amend and restate the Original Agreement in its entirety pursuant to the terms set forth below.

NOW THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual covenants and agreements set forth herein and for other good and valuable consideration the receipt and sufficiency of which are hereby acknowledged, the parties hereto, intending to be legally bound, hereby agree as follows:

The Company shall have no economic interest in the assets, profits or losses of Charitable DAF Fund, LP or the right to receive distributions from Charitable DAF Fund, LP except as may be required by law.

3. Registered Office; Registered Agent. The address of the Company's registered office in the State of Delaware is Corporation Trust Center, 1209 Orange Street, Wilmington, County of New Castle, State of Delaware 19901. 4. Member. The name and address of the Managing Member is as follows:

Name	Address
Grant J. Scott, Managing Member	4140 Park Lake Avenue, Suite 600 Raleigh, North Carolina 27612

5. Management of the Company and Officers. The business and affairs of the Company shall be managed by the Managing Member, who shall have the exclusive power and authority, on behalf of the Company, to take any action of any kind not inconsistent with the provisions of this Agreement and to do anything and everything it deems necessary or appropriate to carry on the business and purposes of the Company. The Managing Member will be the “manager” (within the meaning of the Act) of the Company. Except as authorized by the Managing Member, those persons, if any, admitted to the Company after the date hereof shall be non-managing Members and shall have no right to participate in the management or control of the business of the Company. The Managing Member may, from time to time, designate one or more persons to be officers of the Company (each, an “Officer” and collectively, the “Officers”). Each Officer shall hold office for the term for which such Officer is designated and until his or her successor shall be duly designated and shall qualify or until his or her death, resignation or removal (with or without cause) by the Managing Member or as otherwise provided for in this Agreement. If an Officer is employed by the Company or any of its affiliates, such designation as an Officer shall terminate automatically upon termination of his or her employment with the Company and/or such affiliates. Any Officer so designated shall have such authority and perform such duties as the Managing Member is permitted to perform under this Agreement and may, from time to time, delegate to such person. The Managing Member may assign titles to particular Officers, and unless the Managing Member decides otherwise, the assignment of such title shall constitute the delegation to such Officer of the authority and duties that are normally associated with that office. Any person may hold any number of offices. No Officer need be a manager, a Member, a Delaware resident or a United States citizen. Designation of such a person as an Officer of the Company shall not of itself create any contract rights in such person.

6. Dissolution. The Company shall be dissolved and its affairs shall be wound up upon the determination of the Managing Member or upon the effective date of a decree of judicial dissolution under the Act.

7. Initial Capital Contributions; Percentage Interests. The Managing Member has made a capital contribution to the Company in the amount set forth in the books and records of the Company. The capital account (the “Capital Account”) of each Member shall be in an amount equal to such Member’s initial capital contribution, adjusted from time to time for additional contributions, withdrawals, allocations of appreciation and depreciation and other appropriate items.

8. Additional Contributions. No Member shall have any obligation to make additional capital contributions to the Company.

9. Allocations; Tax Matters. The Managing Member intends that the Company be treated as a disregarded entity for U.S. federal income tax purposes and not be treated as an association taxable as a corporation for Federal tax purposes. If applicable, the Company shall maintain the Capital Accounts for each Member in accordance with the principles of Section 704(b) and 704(c) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the “Code”), and the Treasury Regulations promulgated thereunder. The Company’s income, gains, deductions, and losses shall be allocated to the Members’ Capital Accounts as shall be determined by the Managing Member. If applicable, allocations for Federal income tax purposes shall be made to the Members in a similar manner. If applicable, the Managing Member is hereby designated as the "Tax Matters Partner" of the Company for purposes of Section 6231(a)(7) of the Code.

10. Withdrawals.

(a) Without the written consent of the Managing Member, no Member may withdraw capital from the Company.

(b) Without the written consent of the Managing Member, no Member may voluntarily withdraw as a Member of the Company.

(c) The Managing Member may terminate the interest of any Member, at any time by written notice.

11. Payments to Withdrawing Members. A withdrawn Member, or the legal representative of a Member that has died or become disabled, shall in all events be entitled to be paid as soon as reasonably practicable after the date of such withdrawal, death or disability the balance in his Capital Account (less any amount owing to the Company by such Member and unless otherwise agreed to with the Managing Member). Unless otherwise consented to by the Managing Member, a withdrawn Member shall not be entitled to any further allocation of any other net income in which the Member would otherwise thereafter have shared.

12. Transfer. A Member may not sell, assign, pledge, transfer or otherwise dispose of all or any part of his or her interest in the Company without the consent of the Managing Member, and any purported sale, assignment, pledge, transfer or other disposition of all or any part of a Member's interest in the Company without the Managing Member's consent shall be null and void.

13. Admission of Additional or Substitute Members. The Company may admit substitute or additional members at the Managing Member's discretion.

14. Liability of the Members. The Members shall not have any liability for the obligations or liabilities of the Company except to the extent expressly provided in the Act.

15. Exculpation and Indemnification. To the fullest extent permitted by applicable law, a Covered Person (defined below), shall be entitled to exculpation and indemnification from the Company and its Members for any loss, damage or claim incurred by such Covered Person by reason of any act or omission performed or omitted by such a Covered Person in a manner reasonably believed to be within the scope of authority conferred on such Covered Person by this Agreement, unless such action or inaction was made in bad faith or constitutes fraud, willful misconduct or gross negligence; provided, however, that any indemnity under this Section 16 shall be provided out of and to the extent of Company assets only, and no Covered Person shall have any personal liability on account thereof.

"Covered Person" means the Members (including the Managing Member), any affiliate of the Members, any representatives or agents of the Members, any Officer of the Company or their respective affiliates.

16. Fiscal Year. The fiscal year of the Company shall end on December 31.

18. Headings. The titles of Sections of this Agreement are for convenience of reference only and shall not define or limit any of the provisions of this Agreement.

19. Counterparts. This Agreement may be executed by the parties hereto in counterparts, each of which shall be considered an original, and all of which shall together constitute one and the same instrument.

20. Governing Law. This Agreement shall be governed by, and construed in accordance with, the laws of the State of Delaware, without giving effect to conflicts of law principles of such State.

21. Integration. This Agreement constitutes the entire agreement among the parties hereto pertaining to the subject matter hereof and supersedes all prior and contemporaneous agreements and understandings of the parties in connection herewith.

22. Amendments. The terms and provisions of this Agreement may be modified or amended at any time and from time to time by the Managing Member in its sole discretion.

- (f) To open, maintain and close bank accounts and brokerage accounts, including the power to draw checks or other orders for the payment of monies; and
- (g) To enter into, make and perform all contracts, agreements and other undertakings as may be necessary or advisable or incidental to the carrying out of the foregoing objects and purposes.

2.2 Rights, Powers, Limitations on Liability and Indemnification of General Partner.

- (a) Whether or not herein expressly so provided, every provision of this Agreement relating to the conduct or affecting the liability of or affording protection to the General Partner, its members or any of their respective affiliates and their respective partners, members, officers, directors, employees, shareholders and agents (including members of any committee and parties acting as agents for the execution of transactions) (each, a “Covered Person” and collectively, “Covered Persons”) shall be subject to the provisions of this Section.
- (b) To the fullest extent permitted by law, no Covered Person shall be liable to the Partnership or anyone for any reason whatsoever (including but not limited to (i) any act or omission by any Covered Person in connection with the conduct of the business of the Partnership, that is determined by such Covered Person in good faith to be in or not opposed to the best interests of the Partnership, (ii) any act or omission by any Covered Person based on the suggestions of any professional advisor of the Partnership whom such Covered Person believes is authorized to make such suggestions on behalf of the Partnership, (iii) any act or omission by the Partnership, or (iv) any mistake, negligence, misconduct or bad faith of any broker or other agent of the Partnership selected by Covered Person with reasonable care), unless any act or omission by such Covered Person constitutes willful misconduct or gross negligence by such Covered Person (as determined by a non-appealable judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction).

- (c) Covered Person may consult with legal counsel or accountants selected by such Covered Person and any act or omission by such Covered Person on behalf of the Partnership or in furtherance of the business of the Partnership in good faith in reliance on and in accordance with the advice of such counsel or accountants shall be full justification for the act or omission, and such Covered Person shall be fully protected in so acting or omitting to act if the counsel or accountants were selected with reasonable care.
- (d) To the fullest extent permitted by law, the Partnership shall indemnify and save harmless Covered Persons (the “Indemnitees”), from and against any and all claims, liabilities, damages, losses, costs and expenses, including amounts paid in satisfaction of judgments, in compromises and settlements, as fines and penalties and legal or other costs and expenses of investigating or defending against any claim or alleged claim, of any nature whatsoever, known or unknown, liquidated or unliquidated, that are incurred by any Indemnitee and arise out of or in connection with the business of the Partnership, any investment made under or in connection with this Agreement, or the performance by the Indemnitee of Covered Person’s responsibilities hereunder and against all taxes, charges, duties or levies incurred by such Covered Person or any Indemnitee in connection with the Partnership, provided that an Indemnitee shall not be entitled to indemnification hereunder to the extent the Indemnitee’s conduct constitutes willful misconduct or gross negligence (as determined by a non-appealable judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction). The termination of any proceeding by settlement, judgment, order or upon a plea of nolo contendere or its equivalent shall not, of itself, create a presumption that the Indemnitee’s conduct constituted willful misconduct or gross negligence.
- (e) Expenses incurred by an Indemnitee in defense or settlement of any claim that shall be subject to a right of indemnification hereunder, shall be advanced by the Partnership prior to the final disposition thereof upon receipt of an undertaking by or on behalf of the Indemnitee to repay the amount advanced to the extent that it shall be determined ultimately that the Indemnitee is not entitled to be indemnified hereunder.
- (f) The right of any Indemnitee to the indemnification provided herein shall be cumulative of, and in addition to, any and all rights to which the Indemnitee may otherwise be entitled by contract or as a matter of law or equity and shall be extended to the Indemnitee's successors, assigns and legal representatives.

- (g) The provisions of this Section are expressly intended to confer benefits upon Covered Persons and such provisions shall remain operative and in full force and effect regardless of the expiration or any termination of this Agreement.
- (h) Notwithstanding anything in this Agreement to the contrary, the aggregate maximum amount that a Covered Person may be liable to the Partnership and/or any of the Partners pursuant to this Agreement shall, to the extent not prohibited by law, never exceed the amount of management and incentive fees received by such Covered Person from the Partnership under this Agreement prior to the date that the acts or omissions giving rise to a claim for indemnification or liability shall have occurred. In no event shall any Covered Person be liable for special, exemplary, punitive, indirect, or consequential loss, or damage of any kind whatsoever, including without limitation lost profits. No Covered Person shall incur any liability for interest on any monies at any time received by such Covered Person or any investment loss or other charge resulting therefrom with respect to amounts invested hereunder.
- (i) WAIVER OF CONSUMER RIGHTS: The Partnership and each of the Limited Partners waive all of their respective rights, if any, under the Deceptive Trade Practices-Consumer Protection Act, Section 17.41 et seq., Texas Business & Commerce Code ("DTPA"), a law that gives consumers special rights and protections. After consultation with an attorney of Partnership's own selection, Partnership voluntarily consents to this waiver. This waiver includes any right to recover attorneys' fees under the DTPA. Further, Partnership waives all of its rights to any and all protections afforded by any other state or federal Consumer Protection Acts, including the recovery of attorneys' fees.
- (j) No Covered Person shall be liable hereunder for any settlement of any action or claim effected without its written consent thereto.

Pursuant to the foregoing indemnification and exculpation provisions applicable to each Covered Person, the Partnership (and not the applicable Covered Person) shall be responsible for any losses resulting from trading errors and similar human errors, absent gross negligence or reckless or intentional misconduct of any Covered Person. Given the volume of transactions executed on behalf of the Partnership, Limited Partners acknowledge that trading errors (and similar errors) will occur and that the Partnership shall be responsible for any resulting losses, even if such losses result from the negligence (but not gross negligence) of any Covered Person.

- (k) This Section 2.2 shall survive a Limited Partner's withdrawal as a limited partner of the Partnership and any termination of this Agreement.

ARTICLE III
CAPITAL ACCOUNTS AND DIVISION OF PROFITS AND LOSSES

3.1 Capital Contributions.

- (a) Each Partner has made the capital contributions to the Partnership in the amount set forth in the records of the Partnership. The Limited Partner has contributed to the Partnership all of the outstanding equity interests of CLO HoldCo.

3.2 Capital Account; Allocation of Profits and Losses.

- (a) There shall be established for each Partner on the books of the Partnership as of the first day of the fiscal period during which such Partner was admitted to the Partnership a capital account for such Partner in an amount equal to his capital contribution to the Partnership.
- (b) Since the General Partner's capital account and contributions shall be the minimum required by Law, all income, deductions, gains, losses and credits of the Partnership shall be allocated shall be for the benefit of the Limited Partner, except as may otherwise be required by law. In the event any valuation of assets is necessary or appropriate, the General Partner shall determine such value in any reasonable manner determined by the General Partner in its sole discretion consistent with relevant accounting principles and applicable law.
- (c) For purposes of determining the share of any items allocated to any period during the relevant Taxable Year of the Partnership, such shares shall be determined by the General Partner using any method permitted by the Code and the regulations thereunder. All allocations to be made by the General Partner may be overridden if necessary to comply with the Code, the regulations thereunder or other applicable law.
- (d) To the extent that the Partnership pays withholding taxes as to a Partner, such amounts shall be charged to the applicable Partner's capital account; provided, however, that any such amounts may be treated as an advance to the Partner with interest to be charged to that Partner's capital account at a rate determined by the General Partner.
- (e) Each Partner agrees not to treat, on any tax return or in any claim for a refund, any item of income, gain, loss, deduction or credit in a manner inconsistent with treatment of such item by the Partnership.

ARTICLE IV
LEGAL INTERESTS, DISTRIBUTIONS AND PARTIAL WITHDRAWALS FROM CAPITAL ACCOUNT

- 4.1 Legal Interest. Each Partner shall have and own during any Taxable Year an undivided interest in the Partnership equal to his opening capital account for such period.

4.2 Distributions.

- (a) Distributions shall be made to the Limited Partner at the times, in a manner (including in kind) and in the aggregate amounts determined by the General Partner, after taking into consideration available cash and the needs of the Indirect Charitable Owners of the Limited Partner for funds to cover their administrative and operating expenses. In determining the amount of cash or securities available for distribution, the General Partner may retain reasonable reserves in such amounts as it determines may be necessary to cover expenses, contingencies and losses. Notwithstanding the foregoing, distributions made in connection with a sale of all or substantially all of the Partnership's assets or a liquidation of the Partnership shall be made in accordance with the capital account balances of the Partners within the time period set forth in Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-1(b)(2)(ii)(b)(3).
- (b) The General Partner may withhold and pay over to the U.S. Internal Revenue Service (or any other relevant taxing authority) such amounts as the Partnership is required to withhold or pay over, pursuant to the Code or any other applicable law, on account of a Partner's distributive share of the Partnership's items of gross income, income or gain.

For purposes of this Agreement, any taxes so withheld or paid over by the Partnership with respect to a Partner's distributive share of the Partnership's gross income, income or gain shall be deemed to be a distribution or payment to such Partner, reducing the amount otherwise distributable to such Partner pursuant to this Agreement and reducing the capital account of such Partner. If the amount of such taxes is greater than any such distributable amounts, then such Partner and any successor to such Partner's interest shall pay the amount of such excess to the Partnership, as a contribution to the capital of the Partnership.

- 4.3 Withdrawal. Without the consent of the General Partner, no Partner may withdraw as a Partner or make withdrawals from such Partner's capital account. In the event the General Partner permits any such withdrawal, the withdrawal shall be on such terms and conditions as the General Partner shall determine in its sole discretion. The General Partner may terminate all or any part of the interest of any Limited Partner at any time for any reason or no reason by written notice; provided that any new or additional Limited Partner shall be directly or indirectly an entity or organization exempt from taxation under Section 501(c)(3) of the Code.

ARTICLE V
DURATION OF PARTNERSHIP

- 5.1 Termination. The Partnership shall be required to be wound up and dissolved upon:

- (a) the service of a notice by the General Partner on the other Partners requiring that the Partnership be wound up and dissolved; or

- (b) the withdrawal by or resignation of the General Partner as general partner of the Partnership; or
- (c) the withdrawal of all Limited Partners.

Upon the occurrence of any such event, the Partnership's affairs shall be wound up by the General Partner or such other Person as the General Partner shall appoint.

- 5.2 Winding Up. Upon the Partnership being required to be wound up and dissolved, the General Partner shall proceed with the liquidation and distribution of the assets of the Partnership, and upon completion of the winding up of the Partnership, shall have the authority to and shall execute and file a dissolution notice and such other documents required to effect the dissolution and termination of the Partnership in accordance with the Law. Before the distribution of all the assets of the Partnership, the business of the Partnership and the affairs of the Partners, as such, shall continue to be governed by this Agreement. The winding up of the Partnership and payment of creditors shall be effected in accordance with the Law.

ARTICLE VI MISCELLANEOUS

- 6.1 Tax Matters Partner. The General Partner shall at all times constitute, and have full powers and responsibilities, as the Tax Matters Partner of the Partnership. In the event the Partnership shall be the subject of an income tax audit by any Federal, state or local authority, to the extent the Partnership is treated as an entity for purposes of such audit, including administrative settlement and judicial review, the Tax Matters Partner shall be authorized to act for, and his decision shall be final and binding upon, the Partnership and each Partner thereof, and the Tax Matters Partner shall be indemnified and held harmless by the Partnership and each Partner for any action so taken by him in good faith. All expenses incurred in connection with any such audit, investigation, settlement or review shall be borne by the Partnership to the extent of available Partnership funds, and any excess shall be paid by the Partners individually in proportion to their percentage interests in the Partnership.

6.2 Right to Hire.

- (a) Nothing herein shall preclude the General Partner from engaging on behalf of the Partnership the services of any person or firm, whether or not affiliated with the General Partner, including the General Partner, to render for compensation such services to the Partnership as may be necessary to implement the business purposes of the Partnership.
- (b) Each of the Partners consents that the General Partner, the Investment Manager or any Limited Partner or any affiliate (as defined in the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and the regulations thereunder) of any of them, including without limitation the investment manager of the CLO HoldCo, may engage in or possess an interest in directly or indirectly, any other present or future business venture of any nature or description for his own account, independently or with others, including but not limited to, any aspect of the securities business or any other business engaged in by the Partnership, and may become the general partner in other partnerships; and neither the Partnership nor any Partner shall have any rights in or to such independent venture or the income or profits derived therefrom.

(c) The General Partner, the Investment Manager and any affiliate or employee of such General Partner or Investment Manager, may hereafter render investment advisory services to other investors with respect to, and/or may own, purchase or sell, securities or other interests in property the same as or similar to those which the General Partner may purchase, hold or sell on behalf of the Partnership.

6.3 Applicable Law, etc. This Limited Partnership Agreement: (i) shall be binding on the executors, administrators, estates, heirs and legal successors of the Partners; (ii) shall be governed by, and construed in accordance with, the laws of the Cayman Islands; and (iii) may be executed in more than one counterpart with the same effect as if the parties executing the several counterparts had all executed one counterpart as of the day and year first above written; provided, however, that in the aggregate, they shall have been signed by all of the Partners. All pronouns and any variations thereof shall be deemed to refer to the masculine, feminine or neuter, singular or plural as the identity of the person may require. The term “gross negligence” and its cognates shall be interpreted in accordance with the laws of the State of Delaware.

6.4 Power of Attorney. Each of the undersigned does hereby constitute and appoint the General Partner, with full power of substitution, his true and lawful representative and attorney in-fact, in his name, place and stead to make, execute, sign and file this Agreement and any amendment to this Agreement authorized by the terms of this Agreement, and all such other instruments, documents and certificates (and any amendments thereto) which may from time to time be required by the laws of the Cayman Islands, the United States of America, or any state in which the Partnership shall determine to do business, or any political subdivision or agency thereof, to effectuate, implement and continue the valid and subsisting existence of the Partnership and to take any further action that the General Partner considers advisable in its sole discretion in connection with the exercise of its authority pursuant to this Agreement. This power of attorney is intended to secure an interest in property and, in addition, the obligations of each relevant Limited Partner under this Agreement and shall be irrevocable.

6.5 Tax Elections Under the Internal Revenue Code. The General Partner shall have the authority to make all tax elections and determinations on behalf of the Partnership under the Internal Revenue Code, the regulations promulgated thereunder or other applicable law to effect any elections, determinations or capital allocations.

6.6 Amendments to Partnership Agreement. The terms and provisions of this Agreement may be modified or amended at any time and from time to time with the consent of the General Partner together with the consent of a majority in interest of the Limited Partners, insofar as is consistent with the laws governing this Agreement. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the General Partner shall have the right to effect amendments to this Agreement without the consent of any Limited Partner, including without limitation, to reflect: a change in the location of the Partnership's principal place of business; a change in the registered office or registered agent; a change in the name of the Partnership; admission of Partners in accordance with this Agreement; a change that is necessary to qualify the Partnership as a limited partnership under the laws of any state or that is necessary or advisable in the opinion of the Tax Matters Partner to ensure that the Partnership will not be treated as an association taxable as a corporation for Federal income tax purposes; a change of the provisions relating to the management fee or other compensation to the Investment Manager or the General Partner so that such provisions conform to any applicable requirements of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission and other regulatory authorities; a change (i) that is necessary or desirable to satisfy any requirements, conditions or guidelines contained in any opinion, directive, order, ruling or regulation of any Federal or state agency or contained in any Federal or state statute, compliance with any of which the General Partner deems to be in the best interests of the Partnership and the Limited Partners, (ii) that is required or contemplated by this Agreement, or (iii) that is necessary or desirable to implement new regulations published by the Internal Revenue Service with respect to partnership allocations of income, gain, loss, deduction and credit; a change to cure any ambiguity, to correct or supplement any provision herein which may be inconsistent with any other provision herein, or to make any other provision with respect to the matters or questions arising under this Agreement which will not be inconsistent with the provisions hereof; or a change that does not adversely affect the Limited Partners in any material respect; provided, that in no event shall the General Partner effect any amendment to this Agreement that has the effect of giving the General Partner any economic benefits in the assets of the Partnership; provided further, that the General Partner shall give notice to the Limited Partners of any such amendment.

- 6.7 Investment Representation. Each Partner hereby acknowledges and represents that it acquired its interest in the Partnership for investment purposes only and not with a view to its resale or distribution.
- 6.8 Notices. All notices, requests or approvals that any party hereto is required or desires to give to any Partner or to the Partnership shall be in writing signed by or on behalf of the party giving the same and delivered personally or sent overnight express mail by a reputable private carrier or by prepaid registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, addressed (i) to the Limited Partner at the addresses set forth beneath his signature to this Agreement; (ii) to the Partnership at the principal place of business of the Partnership with a copy of each such notice sent simultaneously to the General Partner and the Investment Manager at Nextbank Tower, 13455 Noel Road, 8th Floor, Dallas, Texas 75240; or (iii) to the respective party at such other address or addresses as the party may specify from time to time in a writing given to the Partnership in the manner provided in this Section 6.8 of ARTICLE VI. 6.9 General Partner Determinations. Any determinations or calculations made by the General Partner shall, if made in good faith and in the absence of manifest error, be binding upon the Partnership and its Limited Partners.

6.10 Dispute Resolution. The following procedures shall be used to resolve any controversy or claim (“Dispute”) arising out of, relating to or in connection with the Agreement or otherwise involving the Partnership, its Partners and/or any Covered Person. If any of these provisions are determined to be invalid or unenforceable, the remaining provisions shall remain in effect and binding on the parties to the fullest extent permitted by law.

(a) Mediation.

(1) Any Dispute shall be submitted to mediation by written notice to the other party or parties. In the mediation process, the parties will try to resolve their differences voluntarily with the aid of an impartial mediator, who will attempt to facilitate negotiations. The mediator will be selected by agreement of the parties. If the parties cannot agree on a mediator, a mediator shall be designated by JAMS/Endispute at the request of a party using, if necessary, strike and rank procedures then in effect.

(2) The mediation will be conducted as specified by the mediator and agreed upon by the parties. The parties agree to discuss their differences in good faith and to attempt, with the assistance of the mediator, to reach an amicable resolution of the dispute.

(3) The mediation will be treated as a settlement discussion and therefore will be confidential. The mediator may not testify for either party in any later proceeding relating to the dispute. No recording or transcript shall be made of the mediation proceedings.

(4) Each party will bear its own costs in the mediation. The fees and expenses of the mediator will be shared equally by the parties.

(b) Arbitration. If a Dispute has not been resolved within 90 days after the written notice beginning the mediation process (or a longer period, if the parties agree to extend the mediation), the mediation shall terminate and the dispute will be settled by arbitration. A party who files a suit in court regarding a Dispute rather than in arbitration waives its claim and must pay all attorney’s fees and costs incurred by the other party in seeking to have such suit dismissed. Under no circumstances will a party maintain its right to pursue his/her/its Dispute if that party initiates a judicial suit instead of complying with the mediation and arbitration provisions herein. The arbitration will be conducted through JAMS/Endispute in accordance with the procedures in this document and the commercial dispute arbitration rules then in effect (“Arbitration Rules”). In the event of a conflict, the provisions of this document will control.

(1) The arbitration will be conducted before a panel of three arbitrators, regardless of the size of the dispute, to be selected as provided in the Arbitration Rules. Any issue concerning the extent to which any dispute is subject to arbitration, or concerning the applicability, interpretation, or enforceability of these procedures, including any contention that all or part of these procedures are invalid or unenforceable, shall be governed by the Federal Arbitration Act (“FAA”), and resolved by the arbitrators, provided, however, that the Partnership or such applicable affiliate thereof may pursue a temporary restraining order and/or preliminary injunctive relief in connection with confidentiality covenants or agreements binding on any party, with related expedited discovery for the parties, in a court of law, and, thereafter, require arbitration of all issues of final relief. Under no circumstances will a state arbitration act preclude application of the FAA, including any choice of law provisions in this agreement, or any other agreement. No potential arbitrator may serve on the panel unless he or she has agreed in writing to abide and be bound by these procedures.

- (2) The arbitrators may not award non-monetary or equitable relief of any sort. They shall have no power to award punitive damages or any other damages not measured by the prevailing party’s actual damages, and the parties expressly waive their right to obtain such damages in arbitration or any in other forum. In no event, even if any other portion of these provisions is held to be invalid or unenforceable, shall the arbitrators have power to make an award or impose a remedy that could not be made or imposed by a court deciding the matter in the same jurisdiction. The arbitrator(s) shall be required to state in a written opinion all facts and conclusions of law relied upon to support any decision rendered. Any dispute over whether the arbitrator(s) has failed to comply with the foregoing will be resolved by summary judgment in a court of law.
- (3) The party initiating arbitration shall pay all arbitration costs and arbitrator's fees, subject to a final arbitration award on who should bear costs and fees. All proceedings shall be conducted in Dallas, Texas, or another mutually agreeable site. Each party shall bear its own attorneys fees, costs and expenses, including any costs of experts, witnesses and/or travel, subject to a final arbitration award on who should bear costs and fees. The duty to arbitrate described above shall survive the termination of this Agreement. This provision is intended to supersede any rights under Texas Civil Practices and Remedies Code § 38.001(8), which rights the parties expressly waive.
- (4) No discovery will be allowed in connection with the arbitration unless the arbitration panel, upon a showing of substantial need, expressly authorizes it. In any event, there shall be no more than (i) two party depositions of six hours each. Each deposition is to be taken pursuant to the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure; (ii) one non-party deposition of six hours; (iii) twenty-five interrogatories; (iv) twenty-five requests for admission; (v) ten requests for production. In response, the producing party shall not be obligated to produce in excess of 5,000 total pages of documents. The total pages of documents shall include electronic documents; (vi) one request for disclosure pursuant to the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure. Any discovery not specifically provided for in this paragraph, whether to parties or non-parties, shall not be permitted.

- (5) All aspects of the arbitration shall be treated as confidential, including its institution and/or settlement. Neither the parties nor the arbitrators may disclose the existence, content or results of the arbitration, except as necessary to comply with legal or regulatory requirements. Before making any such disclosure, a party shall give written notice to all other parties and shall afford such parties a reasonable opportunity to protect their interests. In the event a party who recovered monies by settlement, award by the arbitration panel, or otherwise in connection with the Dispute violates this confidentiality term, he, she, or it shall refund all such sums recovered. The parties expressly intend to waive the right to retain any monies received through settlement, award by the arbitration panel, or otherwise in connection with the Dispute in the event that that party violates the aforementioned confidentiality term.
- (6) The result of the arbitration will be binding on the parties, and judgment on the arbitrators' award may be entered in any court having jurisdiction.

- 6.11 Successors and Assigns. Subject to the limitations set forth in Section 1.11, this Agreement shall inure to the benefit of and be binding upon the parties and to their respective heirs, executors, administrators, successors and permitted assigns. For the avoidance of doubt, any Limited Partner who becomes a former Limited Partner shall remain bound to all terms and conditions of this Agreement.
- 6.12 Severability. Every provision of this Agreement is intended to be severable. If any term or provision hereof is illegal or invalid for any reason whatsoever, such term or provision will be enforced to the maximum extent permitted by law and, in any event, such illegality or invalidity shall not affect the validity of the remainder of the Agreement.
- 6.13 No Third Party Rights. Except for rights expressly granted hereunder to the Covered Persons, this Agreement is intended solely for the benefit of the parties hereto and is not intended to confer any benefits upon, or create any rights in favor of, any Person other than the parties hereto.
- 6.14 No Right to Partition. Each of the Partners, on behalf of themselves and their shareholders, partners, principals, members, successors and assigns, if any and as permitted hereunder, hereby specifically renounce, waive and forfeit all rights, whether arising under contract or statute or by operation of law, except as otherwise expressly provided in this Agreement, to seek, bring or maintain any action in any court of law or equity for partition of the Partnership or any asset of the Partnership, or any interest which is considered to be Partnership property, regardless of the manner in which title to such property may be held.

3. Subject to the last two preceding Articles, any words defined in the Law shall, if not inconsistent with the subject or context, bear the same meaning in these Articles.

PRELIMINARY

- 4. The business of the Company may be commenced at any time after incorporation.
- 5. The Office shall be at such address in the Cayman Islands as the Directors may from time to time determine. The Company may in addition establish and maintain such other offices and places of business and agencies in such places as the Directors may from time to time determine.
- 6. The expenses incurred in the formation of the Company and in connection with the offer for subscription and issue of Shares shall be paid by the Company. Such expenses may be amortised over such period as the Directors may determine and the amount so paid shall be charged against income and/or capital in the accounts of the Company as the Directors shall determine.
- 7. The Directors shall keep, or cause to be kept, the Register at such place as the Directors may from time to time determine and, in the absence of any such determination, the Register shall be kept at the Office.

SHARES

- 8. Subject to these Articles, all Shares for the time being unissued shall be under the control of the Directors who may:
 - (a) issue, allot and dispose of the same to such Persons, in such manner, on such terms and having such rights and being subject to such restrictions as they may from time to time determine; and
 - (b) grant options with respect to such Shares and issue warrants or similar instruments with respect thereto;

and, for such purposes, the Directors may reserve an appropriate number of Shares for the time being unissued.

9. The Directors may authorise the division of Shares into any number of Classes and the different Classes shall be authorised, established and designated (or re-designated as the case may be) and the variations in the relative rights (including, without limitation, voting, dividend and redemption rights), restrictions, preferences, privileges and payment obligations as between the different Classes (if any) may be fixed and determined by the Directors.
10. The Company may insofar as may be permitted by law, pay a commission to any Person in consideration of his subscribing or agreeing to subscribe whether absolutely or conditionally for any Shares. Such commissions may be satisfied by the payment of cash or the lodgement of fully or partly paid-up Shares or partly in one way and partly in the other. The Company may also pay such brokerage as may be lawful on any issue of Shares.
11. The Directors may refuse to accept any application for Shares, and may accept any application in whole or in part, for any reason or for no reason.

MODIFICATION OF RIGHTS

12. Whenever the capital of the Company is divided into different Classes the rights attached to any such Class may, subject to any rights or restrictions for the time being attached to any Class, only be materially adversely varied or abrogated with the consent in writing of the holders of not less than two-thirds of the issued Shares of the relevant Class, or with the sanction of a resolution passed at a separate meeting of the holders of the Shares of such Class by a majority of two-thirds of the votes cast at such a meeting. To every such separate meeting all the provisions of these Articles relating to general meetings of the Company or to the proceedings thereat shall, mutatis mutandis, apply, except that the necessary quorum shall be one or more Persons at least holding or representing by proxy one-third in nominal or par value amount of the issued Shares of the relevant Class (but so that if at any adjourned meeting of such holders a quorum as above defined is not present, those Shareholders who are present shall form a quorum) and that, subject to any rights or restrictions for the time being attached to the Shares of that Class, every Shareholder of the Class shall on a poll have one vote for each Share of the Class held by him. For the purposes of this Article the Directors may treat all the Classes or any two or more Classes as forming one Class if they consider that all such Classes would be affected in the same way by the proposals under consideration, but in any other case shall treat them as separate Classes.
13. The rights conferred upon the holders of the Shares of any Class issued with preferred or other rights shall not, subject to any rights or restrictions for the time being attached to the Shares of that Class, be deemed to be materially adversely varied or abrogated by, inter alia, the creation, allotment or issue of further Shares ranking pari passu with or subsequent to them or the redemption or purchase of any Shares of any Class by the Company.

CERTIFICATES

14. No Person shall be entitled to a certificate for any or all of his Shares, unless the Directors shall determine otherwise.

FRACTIONAL SHARES

15. The Directors may issue fractions of a Share and, if so issued, a fraction of a Share shall be subject to and carry the corresponding fraction of liabilities (whether with respect to nominal or par value, premium, contributions, calls or otherwise), limitations, preferences, privileges, qualifications, restrictions, rights (including, without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing, voting and participation rights) and other attributes of a whole Share. If more than one fraction of a Share of the same Class is issued to or acquired by the same Shareholder such fractions shall be accumulated.

LIEN

16. The Company has a first and paramount lien on every Share (whether or not fully paid) for all amounts (whether presently payable or not) payable at a fixed time or called in respect of that Share. The Company also has a first and paramount lien on every Share registered in the name of a Person indebted or under liability to the Company (whether he is the sole registered holder of a Share or one of two or more joint holders) for all amounts owing by him or his estate to the Company (whether or not presently payable). The Directors may at any time declare a Share to be wholly or in part exempt from the provisions of this Article. The Company's lien on a Share extends to any amount payable in respect of it.
17. The Company may sell, in such manner as the Directors in their absolute discretion think fit, any Share on which the Company has a lien, but no sale shall be made unless an amount in respect of which the lien exists is presently payable nor until the expiration of fourteen days after a notice in writing, demanding payment of such part of the amount in respect of which the lien exists as is presently payable, has been given to the registered holder for the time being of the Share, or the Persons entitled thereto by reason of his death or bankruptcy.
18. For giving effect to any such sale the Directors may authorise some Person to transfer the Shares sold to the purchaser thereof. The purchaser shall be registered as the holder of the Shares comprised in any such transfer and he shall not be bound to see to the application of the purchase money, nor shall his title to the Shares be affected by any irregularity or invalidity in the proceedings in reference to the sale.
19. The proceeds of the sale after deduction of expenses, fees and commission incurred by the Company shall be received by the Company and applied in payment of such part of the amount in respect of which the lien exists as is presently payable, and the residue shall (subject to a like lien for sums not presently payable as existed upon the Shares prior to the sale) be paid to the Person entitled to the Shares immediately prior to the sale.

CALLS ON SHARES

20. The Directors may from time to time make calls upon the Shareholders in respect of any moneys unpaid on their Shares, and each Shareholder shall (subject to receiving at least fourteen days' notice specifying the time or times of payment) pay to the Company at the time or times so specified the amount called on such Shares.
21. The joint holders of a Share shall be jointly and severally liable to pay calls in respect thereof.
22. If a sum called in respect of a Share is not paid before or on the day appointed for payment thereof, the Person from whom the sum is due shall pay interest upon the sum at the rate of eight percent per annum from the day appointed for the payment thereof to the time of the actual payment, but the Directors shall be at liberty to waive payment of that interest wholly or in part.
23. The provisions of these Articles as to the liability of joint holders and as to payment of interest shall apply in the case of non-payment of any sum which, by the terms of issue of a Share, becomes payable at a fixed time, whether on account of the amount of the Share, or by way of premium, as if the same had become payable by virtue of a call duly made and notified.

24. The Directors may make arrangements on the issue of partly paid Shares for a difference between the Shareholders, or the particular Shares, in the amount of calls to be paid and in the times of payment.
25. The Directors may, if they think fit, receive from any Shareholder willing to advance the same all or any part of the moneys uncalled and unpaid upon any partly paid Shares held by him, and upon all or any of the moneys so advanced may (until the same would, but for such advance, become presently payable) pay interest at such rate (not exceeding without the sanction of an Ordinary Resolution, eight percent per annum) as may be agreed upon between the Shareholder paying the sum in advance and the Directors.

FORFEITURE OF SHARES

26. If a Shareholder fails to pay any call or instalment of a call in respect of partly paid Shares on the day appointed for payment, the Directors may, at any time thereafter during such time as any part of such call or instalment remains unpaid, serve a notice on him requiring payment of so much of the call or instalment as is unpaid, together with any interest which may have accrued.
27. The notice shall name a further day (not earlier than the expiration of fourteen days from the date of the notice) on or before which the payment required by the notice is to be made, and shall state that in the event of non-payment at or before the time appointed the Shares in respect of which the call was made will be liable to be forfeited.
28. If the requirements of any such notice as aforesaid are not complied with, any Share in respect of which the notice has been given may at any time thereafter, before the payment required by notice has been made, be forfeited by a resolution of the Directors to that effect.
29. A forfeited Share may be sold or otherwise disposed of on such terms and in such manner as the Directors think fit, and at any time before a sale or disposition the forfeiture may be cancelled on such terms as the Directors think fit.
30. A Person whose Shares have been forfeited shall cease to be a Shareholder in respect of the forfeited Shares, but shall, notwithstanding, remain liable to pay to the Company all moneys which at the date of forfeiture were payable by him to the Company in respect of the Shares forfeited, but his liability shall cease if and when the Company receives payment in full of the amount unpaid on the Shares forfeited.
31. A statutory declaration in writing that the declarant is a Director, and that a Share has been duly forfeited on a date stated in the declaration, shall be conclusive evidence of the facts in the declaration as against all Persons claiming to be entitled to the Share.
32. The Company may receive the consideration, if any, given for a Share on any sale or disposition thereof pursuant to the provisions of these Articles as to forfeiture and may execute a transfer of the Share in favour of the Person to whom the Share is sold or disposed of and that Person shall be registered as the holder of the Share, and shall not be bound to see to the application of the purchase money, if any, nor shall his title to the Shares be affected by any irregularity or invalidity in the proceedings in reference to the disposition or sale.
33. The provisions of these Articles as to forfeiture shall apply in the case of non-payment of any sum which by the terms of issue of a Share becomes due and payable, whether on account of the amount of the Share, or by way of premium, as if the same had been payable by virtue of a call duly made and notified.

TRANSFER OF SHARES

34. The instrument of transfer of any Share shall be in any usual or common form or such other form as the Directors may, in their absolute discretion, approve and be executed by or on behalf of the transferor and if in respect of a nil or partly paid up Share, or if so required by the Directors, shall also be executed on behalf of the transferee and shall be accompanied by the certificate (if any) of the Shares to which it relates and such other evidence as the Directors may reasonably require to show the right of the transferor to make the transfer. The transferor shall be deemed to remain a Shareholder until the name of the transferee is entered in the Register in respect of the relevant Shares.
35. The Directors may in their absolute discretion decline to register any transfer of Shares without assigning any reason therefor.
36. The registration of transfers may be suspended at such times and for such periods as the Directors may from time to time determine.
37. All instruments of transfer that are registered shall be retained by the Company, but any instrument of transfer that the Directors decline to register shall (except in any case of fraud) be returned to the Person depositing the same.

TRANSMISSION OF SHARES

38. The legal personal representative of a deceased sole holder of a Share shall be the only Person recognised by the Company as having any title to the Share. In the case of a Share registered in the name of two or more holders, the survivors or survivor, or the legal personal representatives of the deceased survivor, shall be the only Person recognised by the Company as having any title to the Share.
39. Any Person becoming entitled to a Share in consequence of the death or bankruptcy of a Shareholder shall upon such evidence being produced as may from time to time be required by the Directors, have the right either to be registered as a Shareholder in respect of the Share or, instead of being registered himself, to make such transfer of the Share as the deceased or bankrupt Person could have made; but the Directors shall, in either case, have the same right to decline or suspend registration as they would have had in the case of a transfer of the Share by the deceased or bankrupt Person before the death or bankruptcy.
40. A Person becoming entitled to a Share by reason of the death or bankruptcy of a Shareholder shall be entitled to the same dividends and other advantages to which he would be entitled if he were the registered Shareholder, except that he shall not, before being registered as a Shareholder in respect of the Share, be entitled in respect of it to exercise any right conferred by membership in relation to meetings of the Company.

ALTERATION OF SHARE CAPITAL

41. The Company may from time to time by Ordinary Resolution increase the share capital by such sum, to be divided into Shares of such Classes and amount, as the resolution shall prescribe.
42. The Company may by Ordinary Resolution:

- (a) consolidate and divide all or any of its share capital into Shares of a larger amount than its existing Shares;
 - (b) convert all or any of its paid up Shares into stock and reconvert that stock into paid up Shares of any denomination;
 - (c) subdivide its existing Shares, or any of them into Shares of a smaller amount provided that in the subdivision the proportion between the amount paid and the amount, if any, unpaid on each reduced Share shall be the same as it was in case of the Share from which the reduced Share is derived; and
 - (d) cancel any Shares that, at the date of the passing of the resolution, have not been taken or agreed to be taken by any Person and diminish the amount of its share capital by the amount of the Shares so cancelled.
43. The Company may by Special Resolution reduce its share capital and any capital redemption reserve in any manner authorised by law.

REDEMPTION AND PURCHASE OF SHARES

44. Subject to the Law, the Company may:
- (a) issue Shares on terms that they are to be redeemed or are liable to be redeemed at the option of the Company or the Shareholder on such terms and in such manner as the Directors may, before the issue of such Shares, determine;
 - (b) purchase its own Shares (including any redeemable Shares) on such terms and in such manner as the Directors may determine and agree with the Shareholder; and
 - (c) make a payment in respect of the redemption or purchase of its own Shares in any manner authorised by the Law, including out of its capital, profits or the proceeds of a fresh issue of Shares.
45. Any Share in respect of which notice of redemption has been given shall not be entitled to participate in the profits of the Company in respect of the period after the date specified as the date of redemption in the notice of redemption.
46. The redemption or purchase of any Share shall not be deemed to give rise to the redemption or purchase of any other Share.

134. Every Director (including for the purposes of this Article any alternate Director appointed pursuant to the provisions of these Articles), Secretary, assistant Secretary, or other officer for the time being and from time to time of the Company (but not including the Company's auditors) and the personal representatives of the same (each an "Indemnified Person") shall be indemnified and secured harmless against all actions, proceedings, costs, charges, expenses, losses, damages or liabilities incurred or sustained by such Indemnified Person, other than by reason of such Indemnified Person's own dishonesty, wilful default or fraud, in or about the conduct of the Company's business or affairs (including as a result of any mistake of judgment) or in the execution or discharge of his duties, powers, authorities or discretions, including without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing, any costs, expenses, losses or liabilities incurred by such Indemnified Person in defending (whether successfully or otherwise) any civil proceedings concerning the Company or its affairs in any court whether in the Cayman Islands or elsewhere.

135. No Indemnified Person shall be liable:

- (a) for the acts, receipts, neglects, defaults or omissions of any other Director or officer or agent of the Company; or
- (b) for any loss on account of defect of title to any property of the Company; or
- (c) on account of the insufficiency of any security in or upon which any money of the Company shall be invested; or
- (d) for any loss incurred through any bank, broker or other similar Person; or
- (e) for any loss occasioned by any negligence, default, breach of duty, breach of trust, error of judgement or oversight on such Indemnified Person's part; or
- (f) for any loss, damage or misfortune whatsoever which may happen in or arise from the execution or discharge of the duties, powers, authorities, or discretions of such Indemnified Person's office or in relation thereto;

unless the same shall happen through such Indemnified Person's own dishonesty, wilful default or fraud.

NON-RECOGNITION OF TRUSTS

136. Subject to the proviso hereto, no Person shall be recognised by the Company as holding any Share upon any trust and the Company shall not, unless required by law, be bound by or be compelled in any way to recognise (even when having notice thereof) any equitable, contingent, future or partial interest in any Share or (except only as otherwise provided by these Articles or as the Law requires) any other right in respect of any Share except an absolute right to the entirety thereof in each Shareholder registered in the Register, provided that, notwithstanding the foregoing, the Company shall be entitled to recognise any such interests as shall be determined by the Directors.

WINDING UP

137. If the Company shall be wound up the liquidator shall apply the assets of the Company in such manner and order as he thinks fit in satisfaction of creditors' claims.

138. If the Company shall be wound up, the liquidator may, with the sanction of an Ordinary Resolution divide amongst the Shareholders in specie or kind the whole or any part of the assets of the Company (whether they shall consist of property of the same kind or not) and may, for such purpose set such value as he deems fair upon any property to be divided as aforesaid and may determine how such division shall be carried out as between the Shareholders or different Classes. The liquidator may, with the like sanction, vest the whole or any part of such assets in trustees upon such trusts for the benefit of the Shareholders as the liquidator, with the like sanction shall think fit, but so that no Shareholder shall be compelled to accept any assets whereon there is any liability.

AMENDMENT OF ARTICLES OF ASSOCIATION

139. Subject to the Law and the rights attaching to the various Classes, the Company may at any time and from time to time by Special Resolution alter or amend these Articles in whole or in part.

CLOSING OF REGISTER OR FIXING RECORD DATE

140. For the purpose of determining those Shareholders that are entitled to receive notice of, attend or vote at any meeting of Shareholders or any adjournment thereof, or those Shareholders that are entitled to receive payment of any dividend, or in order to make a determination as to who is a Shareholder for any other purpose, the Directors may provide that the Register shall be closed for transfers for a stated period which shall not exceed in any case 40 days. If the Register shall be so closed for the purpose of determining those Shareholders that are entitled to receive notice of, attend or vote at a meeting of Shareholders the Register shall be so closed for at least ten days immediately preceding such meeting and the record date for such determination shall be the date of the closure of the Register.
141. In lieu of or apart from closing the Register, the Directors may fix in advance a date as the record date for any such determination of those Shareholders that are entitled to receive notice of, attend or vote at a meeting of the Shareholders and for the purpose of determining those Shareholders that are entitled to receive payment of any dividend the Directors may, at or within 90 days prior to the date of declaration of such dividend, fix a subsequent date as the record date for such determination.
142. If the Register is not so closed and no record date is fixed for the determination of those Shareholders entitled to receive notice of, attend or vote at a meeting of Shareholders or those Shareholders that are entitled to receive payment of a dividend, the date on which notice of the meeting is posted or the date on which the resolution of the Directors declaring such dividend is adopted, as the case may be, shall be the record date for such determination of Shareholders. When a determination of those Shareholders that are entitled to receive notice of, attend or vote at a meeting of Shareholders has been made as provided in this Article, such determination shall apply to any adjournment thereof.

REGISTRATION BY WAY OF CONTINUATION

143. The Company may by Special Resolution resolve to be registered by way of continuation in a jurisdiction outside the Cayman Islands or such other jurisdiction in which it is for the time being incorporated, registered or existing. In furtherance of a resolution adopted pursuant to this Article, the Directors may cause an application to be made to the Registrar of Companies to deregister the Company in the Cayman Islands or such other jurisdiction in which it is for the time being incorporated, registered or existing and may cause all such further steps as they consider appropriate to be taken to effect the transfer by way of continuation of the Company.

DISCLOSURE

144. The Directors, or any authorised service providers (including the officers, the Secretary and the registered office agent of the Company), shall be entitled to disclose to any regulatory or judicial authority, or to any stock exchange on which the Shares may from time to time be listed, any information regarding the affairs of the Company including, without limitation, information contained in the Register and books of the Company.

5. The expenses incurred in the formation of the Company and in connection with the offer for subscription and issue of Participating Shares shall be paid by the Company. Such expenses may be amortised over such period as the Directors may determine and the amount so paid shall be charged against income and/or capital in the accounts of the Company as the Directors shall determine.
6. The Directors shall keep, or cause to be kept, the Register at such place or (subject to compliance with the Law and these Articles) places as the Directors may from time to time determine. In the absence of any such determination, the Register shall be kept at the Office. The Directors may keep, or cause to be kept, one or more Branch Registers as well as the Principal Register in accordance with the Law, provided always that a duplicate of such Branch Register(s) shall be maintained with the Principal Register in accordance with the Law.

SHARES

7. Subject to these Articles, all Shares for the time being unissued shall be under the control of the Directors who may
- (a) issue, allot and dispose of the same to such Persons, in such manner, on such terms and having such rights and being subject to such restrictions as they may from time to time determine; and
 - (b) grant options with respect to such Shares and issue warrants or similar instruments with respect thereto;
- and, for such purposes, the Directors may reserve an appropriate number of Shares for the time being unissued.
8. The Directors, or the Shareholders by Ordinary Resolution, may authorise the division of Participating Shares into any number of Classes and the different Classes shall be authorised, established and designated (or re-designated as the case may be) and the variations in the relative rights (including, without limitation, voting, dividend and redemption rights), restrictions, preferences, privileges and payment obligations as between the different Classes (if any) may be fixed and determined by the Directors or the Shareholders by Ordinary Resolution.

9. The Company may insofar as may be permitted by law, pay a commission to any Person in consideration of his subscribing or agreeing to subscribe whether absolutely or conditionally for any Shares. Such commissions may be satisfied by the payment of cash or the lodgement of fully or partly paid-up Shares or partly in one way and partly in the other. The Company may also pay such brokerage as may be lawful on any issue of Shares.
10. The Directors may refuse to accept any application for Shares, and may accept any application in whole or in part, for any reason or for no reason.

MANAGEMENT SHARES

11. The Management Shares shall be issued at par value and shall carry the right to receive notice of and to attend, to speak at and to vote at any general meeting of the Company. In the event of a winding up or dissolution of the Company, whether voluntary or involuntary or for the purposes of a reorganisation or otherwise or upon any distribution of capital, the entitlement of the holders of Management Shares shall be determined in accordance with these Articles. Management Shares confer no other right to participate in the profits or assets of the Company.
12. Any Management Shares held by Grant Scott will be automatically redeemed by the Company upon his death or upon the Company receiving written notice from two board certified physicians confirming that he is of unsound mind or otherwise incapacitated ("Automatic Redemption").
13. If at the time of an Automatic Redemption, Grant Scott is the sole Director of the Company, such office will be automatically vacated by Grant Scott.
14. Upon an Automatic Redemption, the Company shall issue 100 Management Shares to a successor management shareholder ("Successor Management Shareholder") designated by James Dondero ("Designator"), or, if he is unable or declines to act, by an individual or individuals designated by James Dondero ("Successor Designator"), in either case within 15 days of the Automatic Redemption. If the Designator is:
 - (a) deceased and has not named a Successor Designator, or if each named Successor Designator is unable or declines to act, the designation of the Successor Management Shareholder shall be made in accordance with the provisions of the Designator's will, or if his will contains no such provisions, by the qualified personal representative of his estate (the "Designator's Personal Representative"); or
 - (b) otherwise incapacitated and has not previously designated a Successor Designator, or if each named Successor Designator is unable or declines to act, the designation of the Successor Management Shareholder shall be made by the Designator's attorney-in-fact appointed for such purpose, under a valid, effective power of attorney instrument (the "Designator's Attorney").
15. Any designation of a Successor Management Shareholder must be notified to the Company in writing and signed by either the Designator, the Successor Designator, the Designator's Personal Representative, or the Designator's Attorney, as appropriate, and accompanied by a consent to become a Shareholder signed by the Successor Management Shareholder ("Issue Notice"). The issue of the 100 Management Shares to the Successor Management Shareholder shall take effect upon receipt by the Company of the Issue Notice and the Register will be updated accordingly.

16. The Designator may name a Successor Designator (including an individual, or a series of individuals) at any time pursuant to a written notice delivered to the Company during his lifetime or by a provision in his will. Each Successor Designator upon succeeding and replacing the Designator or a prior Successor Designator, may in the same manner as set out above, designate an individual, or a series of individuals, to succeed him as Successor Designator. In the event of a conflict between such instruments, the one bearing the latest date shall control. A Successor Designator will assume such office upon consenting to so act.
17. The Successor Management Shareholder may not be a "disqualified person" (as that term is defined in Section 4946 of the United States Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended), other than a foundation manager, with respect to Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc., Highland Santa Barbara Foundation, Inc., or Highland Kansas City Foundation, Inc.
18. In connection with the appointment of the Successor Management Shareholder, the Company and its registered office service provider will be entitled to rely on the advice of counsel confirming that the designation of the Successor Management Shareholder has been made in accordance with the procedures set out in these Articles.

PARTICIPATING SHARES

19. Participating Shares shall confer upon a Shareholder no right to receive notice of, to attend, to speak at nor to vote at general meetings of the Company but shall confer upon the Shareholders rights in a winding-up or repayment of capital and the right to participate in the profits or assets of the Company in accordance with these Articles.

MODIFICATION OF RIGHTS

20. Whenever the capital of the Company is divided into different Classes the rights attached to any such Class may, subject to any rights or restrictions for the time being attached to any Class, only be materially adversely varied or abrogated with the consent in writing of the holders of not less than two-thirds of the issued Participating Shares of the relevant Class or with the sanction of a resolution passed at a separate meeting of the holders of the Participating Shares of such Class by a majority of two-thirds of the votes cast at such a meeting. To every such separate meeting all the provisions of these Articles relating to general meetings of the Company or to the proceedings thereat shall, mutatis mutandis, apply, except that the necessary quorum shall be one or more Persons at least holding or representing by proxy one-third in nominal or par value amount of the issued Participating Shares of the relevant Class (but so that if at any adjourned meeting of such holders a quorum as above defined is not present, those Shareholders who are present shall form a quorum) and that, subject to any rights or restrictions for the time being attached to the Participating Shares of that Class, every Shareholder of the Class shall on a poll have one vote for each Share of the Class held by him. For the purposes of this Article the Directors may treat all the Classes or any two or more Classes as forming one Class if they consider that the variation or abrogation of the rights attached to such Classes proposed for consideration is the same variation or abrogation for all such relevant Classes, but in any other case shall treat them as separate Classes.
21. The rights conferred upon the holders of the Participating Shares of any Class issued with preferred or other rights shall not, subject to any rights or restrictions for the time being attached to the Participating Shares of that Class, be deemed to be materially adversely varied or abrogated by, inter alia, the creation, allotment or issue of further Participating Shares ranking pari passu with or subsequent to them or the redemption or purchase of any Participating Shares of any Class by the Company.

CERTIFICATES

22. No Person shall be entitled to a certificate for any or all of his Shares, unless the Directors shall determine otherwise.

FRACTIONAL SHARES

23. The Directors may issue fractions of a Share and, if so issued, a fraction of a Share shall be subject to and carry the corresponding fraction of liabilities (whether with respect to nominal or par value, premium, contributions, calls or otherwise), limitations, preferences, privileges, qualifications, restrictions, rights (including, without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing, voting and participation rights) and other attributes of a whole Share. If more than one fraction of a Share of the same Class is issued to or acquired by the same Shareholder such fractions shall be accumulated.

TRANSFER OF SHARES

24. The instrument of transfer of any Share shall be in any usual or common form or such other form as the Directors may, in their absolute discretion, approve and be executed by or on behalf of the transferor and if in respect of a nil or partly paid up Share, or if so required by the Directors, shall also be executed on behalf of the transferee and shall be accompanied by the certificate (if any) of the Shares to which it relates and such other evidence as the Directors may reasonably require to show the right of the transferor to make the transfer. The transferor shall be deemed to remain a Shareholder until the name of the transferee is entered in the Register in respect of the relevant Shares.
25. The Directors may in their absolute discretion decline to register any transfer of Shares without assigning any reason therefor including any purported transfer that does not comply with applicable securities or tax laws.
26. The registration of transfers may be suspended at such times and for such periods as the Directors may from time to time determine.
27. All instruments of transfer that are registered shall be retained by the Company, but any instrument of transfer that the Directors decline to register shall (except in any case of fraud) be returned to the Person depositing the same.
28. If it comes to the notice of the Directors that any Shares are held by a Restricted Person the Directors may by notice in writing require the transfer of such Shares in exercise of their powers under these Articles.

TRANSMISSION OF SHARES

29. The legal personal representative of a deceased sole holder of a Share shall be the only Person recognised by the Company as having any title to the Share. In the case of a Share registered in the name of two or more holders, the survivors or survivor, or the legal personal representatives of the deceased holder of the Share, shall be the only Person recognised by the Company as having any title to the Share.
30. Any Person becoming entitled to a Share in consequence of the death or bankruptcy of a Shareholder shall upon such evidence being produced as may from time to time be required by the Directors, have the right either to be registered as a Shareholder in respect of the Share or, instead of being registered himself, to make such transfer of the Share as the deceased or bankrupt Person could have made; but the Directors shall, in either case, have the same right to decline or suspend registration as they would have had in the case of a transfer of the Share by the deceased or bankrupt Person before the death or bankruptcy.

31. A Person becoming entitled to a Share by reason of the death or bankruptcy of a Shareholder shall be entitled to the same dividends and other advantages to which he would be entitled if he were the registered Shareholder, except that he shall not, before being registered as a Shareholder in respect of the Share, be entitled in respect of it to exercise any right conferred by membership in relation to meetings of the Company.

ALTERATION OF SHARE CAPITAL

32. The Company may from time to time by Ordinary Resolution increase the share capital by such sum, to be divided into Shares of such Classes and amount, as the resolution shall prescribe.
33. The Company may by Ordinary Resolution:
- (a) consolidate and divide all or any of its share capital into Shares of a larger amount than its existing Shares;
 - (b) convert all or any of its paid up Shares into stock and reconvert that stock into paid up Shares of any denomination;
 - (c) subdivide its existing Shares, or any of them into Shares of a smaller amount provided that in the subdivision the proportion between the amount paid and the amount, if any, unpaid on each reduced Share shall be the same as it was in case of the Share from which the reduced Share is derived; and
 - (d) cancel any Shares that, at the date of the passing of the resolution, have not been taken or agreed to be taken by any Person and diminish the amount of its share capital by the amount of the Shares so cancelled.
34. The Company may by Special Resolution reduce its share capital and any capital redemption reserve in any manner authorised by law.

REDEMPTION, PURCHASE AND SURRENDER OF SHARES

35. Subject to the Law, the Company may:
- (a) issue Shares on terms that they are to be redeemed or are liable to be redeemed at the option of the Company or the Shareholder on such terms and in such manner as the Directors may determine;
 - (b) purchase its own Shares (including any redeemable Shares) on such terms and in such manner as the Directors may determine and agree with the Shareholder;
 - (c) make a payment in respect of the redemption or purchase of its own Shares in any manner authorised by the Law; and
 - (d) accept the surrender for no consideration of any paid up Share (including any redeemable Share) on such terms and in such manner as the Directors may determine.

36. Any Share in respect of which notice of redemption has been given shall not be entitled to participate in the profits of the Company in respect of the period after the date specified as the date of redemption in the notice of redemption.
37. The redemption, purchase or surrender of any Share shall not be deemed to give rise to the redemption, purchase or surrender of any other Share.

 - (c) recognised courier service, shall be deemed to have been served 48 hours after the time when the letter containing the same is delivered to the courier service; or
 - (d) electronic mail, shall be deemed to have been served immediately upon the time of the transmission by electronic mail.

In proving service by post or courier service it shall be sufficient to prove that the letter containing the notice or documents was properly addressed and duly posted or delivered to the courier service.

127. Any notice or document delivered or sent by post to or left at the registered address of any Shareholder in accordance with the terms of these Articles shall notwithstanding that such Shareholder be then dead or bankrupt, and whether or not the Company has notice of his death or bankruptcy, be deemed to have been duly served in respect of any Share registered in the name of such Shareholder as sole or joint holder, unless his name shall at the time of the service of the notice or document, have been removed from the Register as the holder of the Share, and such service shall for all purposes be deemed a sufficient service of such notice or document on all Persons interested (whether jointly with or as claiming through or under him) in the Share.
128. Notice of every general meeting of the Company shall be given to:
- (a) all Shareholders holding Shares with the right to receive notice and who have supplied to the Company an address for the giving of notices to them, and
 - (b) every Person entitled to a Share in consequence of the death or bankruptcy of a Shareholder, who but for his death or bankruptcy would be entitled to receive notice of the meeting.

No other Person shall be entitled to receive notices of general meetings.

NON-RECOGNITION OF TRUSTS

129. Subject to the proviso hereto, no Person shall be recognised by the Company as holding any Share upon any trust and the Company shall not, unless required by law, be bound by or be compelled in any way to recognise (even when having notice thereof) any equitable, contingent, future or partial interest in any Share or (except only as otherwise provided by these Articles or as the Law requires) any other right in respect of any Share except an absolute right to the entirety thereof in each Shareholder registered in the Register, provided that, notwithstanding the foregoing, the Company shall be entitled to recognise any such interests as shall be determined by the Directors.

WINDING UP

130. If the Company shall be wound up the liquidator shall apply the assets of the Company in such manner and order as he thinks fit in satisfaction of creditors' claims.
131. Subject to any rights and restrictions for the time being attributed to any Class or Series, the assets available for distribution among the Shareholders shall then be applied in the following priority:
- (a) first, in the payment to the holders of Participating Shares and Management Shares, pari passu, of a sum equal to the par value of the Participating Shares or Management Shares held by them; and
 - (b) second, in the payment of any balance to holders of Participating Shares, such payment being made in proportion to the number Participating Shares of the relevant Class and Series held.
132. If the Company shall be wound up, the liquidator may, with the sanction of an Ordinary Resolution divide amongst the Participating Shareholders in specie or kind the whole or any part of the assets of the Company (whether they shall consist of property of the same kind or not) and may, for such purpose set such value as he deems fair upon any property to be divided as aforesaid and may determine how such division shall be carried out as between the Participating Shareholders or different Classes. The liquidator may, with the like sanction, vest the whole or any part of such assets in trustees upon such trusts for the benefit of the Participating Shareholders as the liquidator, with the like sanction shall think fit, but so that no Shareholder shall be compelled to accept any assets whereon there is any liability.

AMENDMENT OF ARTICLES OF ASSOCIATION

133. Subject to the Law and the rights attaching to the various Classes, the Company may at any time and from time to time by Special Resolution alter or amend these Articles in whole or in part.

CLOSING OF REGISTER OR FIXING RECORD DATE

134. For the purpose of determining those Shareholders that are entitled to receive notice of, attend or vote at any meeting of Shareholders or any adjournment thereof, or those Shareholders that are entitled to receive payment of any dividend, or in order to make a determination as to who is a Shareholder for any other purpose, the Directors may provide that the Register shall be closed for transfers for a stated period which shall not exceed in any case 40 days. If the Register shall be so closed for the purpose of determining those Shareholders that are entitled to receive notice of, attend or vote at a meeting of Shareholders the Register shall be so closed for at least ten days immediately preceding such meeting and the record date for such determination shall be the date of the closure of the Register.
135. In lieu of or apart from closing the Register, the Directors may fix in advance a date as the record date for any such determination of those Shareholders that are entitled to receive notice of, attend or vote at a meeting of the Shareholders and for the purpose of determining those Shareholders that are entitled to receive payment of any dividend the Directors may, at or within 90 days prior to the date of declaration of such dividend, fix a subsequent date as the record date for such determination.
136. If the Register is not so closed and no record date is fixed for the determination of those Shareholders entitled to receive notice of, attend or vote at a meeting of Shareholders or those Shareholders that are entitled to receive payment of a dividend, the date on which notice of the meeting is posted or the date on which the resolution of the Directors declaring such dividend is adopted, as the case may be, shall be the record date for such determination of Shareholders. When a determination of those Shareholders that are entitled to receive notice of, attend or vote at a meeting of Shareholders has been made as provided in this Article, such determination shall apply to any adjournment thereof.

REGISTRATION BY WAY OF CONTINUATION

137. The Company may by Special Resolution resolve to be registered by way of continuation in a jurisdiction outside the Cayman Islands or such other jurisdiction in which it is for the time being incorporated, registered or existing. In furtherance of a resolution adopted pursuant to this Article, the Directors may cause an application to be made to the Registrar of Companies to deregister the Company in the Cayman Islands or such other jurisdiction in which it is for the time being incorporated, registered or existing and may cause all such further steps as they consider appropriate to be taken to effect the transfer by way of continuation of the Company.

MERGERS AND CONSOLIDATION

138. The Company may by Special Resolution resolve to merge or consolidate the Company in accordance with the Law.

DISCLOSURE

139. The Directors, or any authorised service providers (including the officers, the Secretary and the registered office agent of the Company), shall be entitled to disclose to any regulatory or judicial authority, or to any stock exchange on which the Shares or any Class or Series may from time to time be listed, any information regarding the affairs of the Company including, without limitation, information contained in the Register and books of the Company.

INDEMNITY

140. To the fullest extent permitted by law, no Director, Secretary, Assistant Secretary, committee member or other officer for the time being and from time to time of the Company (each, a "Covered Person" and collectively, "Covered Persons") shall be liable to the Company or anyone for any reason whatsoever (including but not limited to (i) any act or omission by any Covered Person in connection with the conduct of the business of the Company, that is determined by such Covered Person in good faith to be in or not opposed to the best interests of the Company, (ii) any act or omission by any Covered Person based on the suggestions of any professional advisor of the Company whom such Covered Person believes is authorized to make such suggestions on behalf of the Company, (iii) any act or omission by the Company, or (iv) any mistake, negligence, misconduct or bad faith of any broker or other agent of the Company selected by Covered Person with reasonable care), unless any act or omission by such Covered Person constitutes willful misconduct or Gross Negligence by such Covered Person (as determined by a non-appealable judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction).
141. Covered Person may consult with legal counsel or accountants selected by such Covered Person and any act or omission by such Covered Person on behalf of the Company or in furtherance of the business of the Company in good faith in reliance on and in accordance with the advice of such counsel or accountants shall be full justification for the act or omission, and such Covered Person shall be fully protected in so acting or omitting to act if the counsel or accountants were selected with reasonable care.
142. To the fullest extent permitted by law, the Company shall indemnify and save harmless Covered Persons (the "Indemnitees"), from and against any and all claims, liabilities, damages, losses, costs and expenses, including amounts paid in satisfaction of judgments, in compromises and settlements, as fines and penalties and legal or other costs and expenses of investigating or defending against any claim or alleged claim, of any nature whatsoever, known or unknown, liquidated or unliquidated, that are incurred by any Indemnitee and arise out of or in connection with the business of the Company, any investment made, or the performance by the Indemnitee of Covered Person's responsibilities hereunder and against all taxes, charges, duties or levies incurred by such Covered Person or any Indemnitee in connection with the Company, provided that an Indemnitee shall not be entitled to indemnification hereunder to the extent the Indemnitee's conduct constitutes willful misconduct or Gross Negligence (as determined by a non-appealable judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction). The termination of any proceeding by settlement, judgment, order or upon a plea of nolo contendere or its equivalent shall not, of itself, create a presumption that the Indemnitee's conduct constituted willful misconduct or Gross Negligence.
143. Expenses incurred by an Indemnitee in defense or settlement of any claim that shall be subject to a right of indemnification hereunder, shall be advanced by the Company prior to the final disposition thereof upon receipt of an undertaking by or on behalf of the Indemnitee to repay the amount advanced to the extent that it shall be determined ultimately that the Indemnitee is not entitled to be indemnified hereunder.

144. The right of any Indemnitee to the indemnification provided herein shall be cumulative of, and in addition to, any and all rights to which the Indemnitee may otherwise be entitled by contract or as a matter of law or equity and shall be extended to the Indemnitee's successors, assigns and legal representatives

DISPUTE RESOLUTION

145. The following procedures shall be used to resolve any controversy or claim ("Dispute") arising out of, relating to or in connection with these Articles or otherwise involving the Company, its Shareholders and/or any Covered Person. If any of these provisions are determined to be invalid or unenforceable, the remaining provisions shall remain in effect and binding on the parties to the fullest extent permitted by law.

(a) Mediation:

- (i) any Dispute shall be submitted to mediation by written notice to the other party or parties. In the mediation process, the parties will try to resolve their differences voluntarily with the aid of an impartial mediator, who will attempt to facilitate negotiations. The mediator will be selected by agreement of the parties. If the parties cannot agree on a mediator, a mediator shall be designated by JAMS/Endispute at the request of a party using, if necessary, strike and rank procedures then in effect;
- (ii) the mediation will be conducted as specified by the mediator and agreed upon by the parties. The parties agree to discuss their differences in good faith and to attempt, with the assistance of the mediator, to reach an amicable resolution of the dispute;
- (iii) the mediation will be treated as a settlement discussion and therefore will be confidential. The mediator may not testify for either party in any later proceeding relating to the dispute. No recording or transcript shall be made of the mediation proceedings; and
- (iv) each party will bear its own costs in the mediation. The fees and expenses of the mediator will be shared equally by the parties.

(b) Arbitration:

if a Dispute has not been resolved within 90 days after the written notice beginning the mediation process (or a longer period, if the parties agree to extend the mediation), the mediation shall terminate and the dispute will be settled by arbitration. A party who files a suit in court regarding a Dispute rather than in arbitration waives its claim and must pay all attorney's fees and costs incurred by the other party in seeking to have such suit dismissed. Under no circumstances will a party maintain its right to pursue his/her/its Dispute if that party initiates a judicial suit instead of complying with the mediation and arbitration provisions herein. The arbitration will be conducted through JAMS/Endispute in accordance with the procedures in these Articles and the commercial dispute arbitration rules then in effect ("Arbitration Rules"). In the event of a conflict, the provisions of these Articles will control:

- (i) the arbitration will be conducted before a panel of three arbitrators, regardless of the size of the dispute, to be selected as provided in the Arbitration Rules. Any issue concerning the extent to which any dispute is subject to arbitration, or concerning the applicability, interpretation, or enforceability of these procedures, including any contention that all or part of these procedures are invalid or unenforceable, shall be governed by the United States Federal Arbitration Act ("FAA"), and resolved by the arbitrators, provided, however, that the Company or such applicable affiliate thereof may pursue a temporary restraining order and/or preliminary injunctive relief in connection with confidentiality covenants or agreements binding on any party, with related expedited discovery for the parties, in a court of law, and, thereafter, require arbitration of all issues of final relief. Under no circumstances will a State arbitration act of the United States preclude application of the FAA, including any choice of law provisions in this agreement, or any other agreement. No potential arbitrator may serve on the panel unless he or she has agreed in writing to abide and be bound by these procedures;

- (ii) the arbitrators may not award non-monetary or equitable relief of any sort. They shall have no power to award punitive damages or any other damages not measured by the prevailing party's actual damages, and the parties expressly waive their right to obtain such damages in arbitration or any in other forum. In no event, even if any other portion of these provisions is held to be invalid or unenforceable, shall the arbitrators have power to make an award or impose a remedy that could not be made or imposed by a court deciding the matter in the same jurisdiction. The arbitrator(s) shall be required to state in a written opinion all facts and conclusions of law relied upon to support any decision rendered. Any dispute over whether the arbitrator(s) has failed to comply with the foregoing will be resolved by summary judgment in a court of law,
- (iii) the party initiating arbitration shall pay all arbitration costs and arbitrator's fees, subject to a final arbitration award on who should bear costs and fees. All proceedings shall be conducted in Dallas, Texas, or another mutually agreeable site. Each party shall bear its own attorneys fees, costs and expenses, including any costs of experts, witnesses and/or travel, subject to a final arbitration award on who should bear costs and fees. This provision is intended to supersede any rights under Texas Civil Practices and Remedies Code § 38.001(8), which rights the parties expressly waive;
- (iv) no discovery will be allowed in connection with the arbitration unless the arbitration panel, upon a showing of substantial need, expressly authorizes it. In any event, there shall be no more than (i) two party depositions of six hours each. Each deposition is to be taken pursuant to the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure; (ii) one non-party deposition of six hours; (iii) twenty-five interrogatories; (iv) twenty-five requests for admission; (v) ten requests for production. In response, the producing party shall not be obligated to produce in excess of 5,000 total pages of documents. The total pages of documents shall include electronic documents; (vi) one request for disclosure pursuant to the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure. Any discovery not specifically provided for in this paragraph, whether to parties or non-parties, shall not be permitted;
- (v) all aspects of the arbitration shall be treated as confidential, including its institution and/or settlement. Neither the parties nor the arbitrators may disclose the existence, content or results of the arbitration, except as necessary to comply with legal or regulatory requirements. Before making any such disclosure, a party shall give written notice to all other parties and shall afford such parties a reasonable opportunity to protect their interests. In the event a party who recovered monies by settlement, award by the arbitration panel, or otherwise in connection with the Dispute violates this confidentiality term, he, she, or it shall refund all such sums recovered. The parties expressly intend to waive the right to retain any monies received through settlement, award by the arbitration panel, or otherwise in connection with the Dispute in the event that that party violates the aforementioned confidentiality term; and

- (vi) the result of the arbitration will be binding on the parties, and judgment on the arbitrators' award may be entered in any court having jurisdiction.

At all relevant times, HCM was headed by CEO and potential party James P. Seery (“Seery”). Seery negotiated a settlement with the several Harbourvest² entities who owned 49.98% of HCLOF. The deal had HCM (or its designee) purchasing the Harbourvest membership interests in HCLOF for $22.5 million. Recent revelations, however, show that the sale was predicated upon a sales price that was vastly below the Net Asset Value (“NAV”) of those interests. Upon information and belief, the NAV of HCLOF’s assets had risen precipitously, but was not disclosed to Harbourvest nor to Plaintiffs.

Under the Advisers Act, Defendants have a non-waivable duty of loyalty and candor, which includes its duty not to inside trade with its own investors, i.e., not to trade with an investor to which HCM and Seery had access to superior non-public information. Upon information and belief, HCM’s internal compliance policies required by the Advisers Act would not generally have allowed a trade of this nature to go forward—meaning, the trade either was approved in spite of compliance rules preventing it, or the compliance protocols themselves were disabled or amended to a level that leaves Defendants HCM and HCLOF exposed to liability. Thus, Defendants have created an unacceptable perpetuation of exposure to liability.

Additionally, Defendants are liable for a pattern of conduct that gives rise to liability for their conduct of the enterprise consisting of HCM in relation to HCFA and HCLOF, through a pattern of concealment, misrepresentation, and violations of the securities rules. In the alternative, HCFA and HCM, are guilty of self-dealing, violations of the Advisers Act, and tortious interference by (a) not disclosing that Harbourvest had agreed to sell at a price well below the current NAV, and (b) diverting the Harbourvest opportunity to themselves.

For these reasons, judgment should be issued in Plaintiffs' favor.

IV.

RELEVANT BACKGROUND

HCLOF IS FORMED

10. Plaintiff DAF is a charitable fund that helps several causes throughout the country, including providing funding for humanitarian issues (such as veteran's welfare associations and women's shelters), public works (such as museums, parks and zoos), and education (such as specialty schools in underserved communities). Its mission is critical.

11. Since 2012, DAF was advised by its registered investment adviser, Highland Capital Management, L.P., and its various subsidiaries, about where to invest. This relationship was governed by an Investment advisory Agreement.

12. At one point in 2017, HCM advised DAF to acquire 143,454,001 shares of HCLOF, with HCFA (a subsidiary of HCM) serving as the portfolio manager. DAF did so via a holding entity, Plaintiff CLO Holdco, Ltd.

13. On November 15, 2017, through a Subscription and Transfer Agreement, the DAF entered into an agreement with others to sell and transfer shares in HCLOF, wherein the DAF retained 49.02% in CLO Holdco.

14. Pursuant to that agreement, Harbourvest acquired the following interests in the following entities:

Harbourvest Dover Street IX Investment, L.P., acquired 35.49%;

Harbourvest 2017 Global AIF, L.P., acquired 2.42%;

Harbourvest 2017 lobal Fund, L.P., acquired 4.85%;

HV International VIII Secondary, L.P., acquired 6.5%; and for a total of 49.98% (altogether, the “Harbourvest interests”).

15. On or about October 16, 2019, Highland Capital Management filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy in Delaware Bankruptcy Court, which was later transferred to the Northern District of Texas Bankruptcy Court, in the case styled In Re: Highland Capital Management, L.P., Debtor, Cause No. 19-34054, (the “HCM Bankruptcy” and the Court is the “Bankruptcy Court”).

The Harbourvest Settlement with Highland Capital Management in Bankruptcy

16. On April 8, 2020, Harbourvest submitted its proofs of claim in the HCM bankruptcy proceeding. Annexed to its proofs of claims was an explanation of the Proof of Claim and the basis therefor setting out various pre-petition allegations of wrongdoing by HCM. See, e.g., Case No. 19-bk-34054, Doc. 1631-5.

17. The debtor, HCM, made an omnibus response to the proofs of claims, stating they were duplicative of each other, overstated, late, and otherwise meritless.

18. Harbourvest responded to the omnibus objections on September 11, 2020. See Cause No. 19-bk-34054, Doc. 1057.

19. Harbourvest represented that it had invested in HCLOF, purchasing 49.98% of HCLOF's outstanding shares.

20. Plaintiff CLO Holdco was and is also a 49.02% holder of HCLOF's member interests.

21. In its Omnibus Response, Harbourvest explained that its claims included unliquidated legal claims for fraud, fraud in the inducement, RICO violations under 18 U.S.C. 1964, among others (the "Harbourvest Claims"). See Cause No. 19-bk-34054, Doc. 1057.

22. The Harbourvest Claims centered on allegations that when Harbourvest was intending to invest in a pool of Collateralized Loan Obligations, or CLOs, that were then-managed by Acis Capital Management ("Acis"), a subsidiary of HCM, HCM failed to disclose key facts about ongoing litigation with a former employee, Josh Terry.

23. Harbourvest contended that HCM never sufficiently disclosed the underlying facts about the litigation with Terry, and HCM's then-intended strategy to fight Terry caused HCLOF to incur around $15 million in legal fees and costs. It contended that had it known the nature of the lawsuit and how it would eventually turn out, Harbourvest never would have invested in HCLOF. See Cause No. 19-bk-34054, Doc. 1057.

24. HCLOF's portfolio manager is HCFA. HCM is the parent of HCFA and is managed by its General Partner, Strand Management, who employs Seery and acts on behalf of HCM.

25. Before acceding to the Harbourvest interests, HCM was a 0.6% holder of HCLOF interests.

26. While even assuming Harbourvest's underlying claims were valid as far as the lost $15 million went, the true damage of the legal fees to Harbourvest would have been 49.98% of the HCLOF losses (i.e., less than $7.5 million). Harbourvest claimed that it had lost over $100 million in the HCLOF transaction due to fraud, which, after trebling under the racketeering statute, it claimed it was entitled to over $300 million in damages.

27. In truth, as of September 2020, Harbourvest had indeed lost some $52 million due to the alleged diminishing value of the HCLOF assets (largely due to the underperformance of the Acis entities³)—and the values were starting to recover.

28. HCM denied the allegations in the Bankruptcy Court. Other than the claim for waste of corporate assets of $15 million, HCM at all times viewed the Harbourvest legal claims as being worth near zero and having no merit.

29. On December 23, 2020, HCM moved the Court to approve a settlement between itself and Harbourvest. No discovery had taken place between the parties, and Plaintiff did not have any notice of the settlement terms or other factors prior to the motion's filing (or even during its pendency) in order to investigate its rights.

30. HCM set the hearing right after the Christmas and New Year's holidays, almost ensuring that no party would have the time to scrutinize the underpinnings of the deal.

31. On January 14, 2021, the Bankruptcy Court held an evidentiary hearing and approved the settlement in a bench ruling, overruling the objections to the settlement.

³ Acis was being managed by Joshua Terry. JP Morgan had listed the four ACIS entities under his management as the four worst performers of the 1200 CLOs it evaluated.

32. An integral part of the settlement was allowing $45 million in unsecured claims that, at the time of the agreement, were expected to net Harbourvest around 70 cents on the dollar. In other words, Harbourvest was expected to recover around $31,500,000 from the allowed claims.

33. As part of the consideration for the $45 million in allowed claims, Harbourvest agreed to transfer all of its interests in HCLOF to HCM or its designee.

34. HCM and Seery rationalized the settlement value by allocating $22.5 million of the net value of the $45 million in unsecured claims as consideration to purchase Harbourvest's interests in HCLOF, meaning, if 70% of the unsecured claims—i.e., $31.5 million—was realized, because $22.5 million of that would be allocated to the purchase price of the Harbourvest interests in HCLOF, the true “settlement” for Harbourvest's legal claims was closer to $9 million.

35. Plaintiffs here are taking no position at this time about the propriety of settling the Harbourvest legal claims for $9 million. That is for another day.

36. At the core of this lawsuit is the fact that HCM purchased the Harbourvest interests in HCLOF for $22.5 million knowing that they were worth far more than that.

37. It has recently come to light that, upon information and belief, the Harbourvest interests, as of December 31, 2020, were worth in excess of $41,750,000, and they have continued to go up in value.

38. On November 30, 2020, which was less than a month prior to the filing of the Motion to Approve the Settlement, the net asset value of those interests was over $34.5 million. Plaintiffs were never made aware of that.

39. The change is due to how the net asset value, or NAV, was calculated. The means and methods for calculating the “net asset value” of the assets of HCLOF are subject to and governed by the regulations passed by the SEC pursuant to the Adviser's Act, and by HCM's internal policies and procedures.

40. Typically, the value of the securities reflected by a market price quote.

41. However, the underlying securities in HCLOF are not liquid and had not been traded in a long while.

42. There not having been any contemporaneous market quotations that could be used in good faith to set the marks⁴ meant that other prescribed methods of assessing the value of the interests, such as the NAV, would have been the proper substitutes.

43. Seery testified that the fair market value of the Harbourvest HCLOF interests was $22.5 million. Even allowing some leeway there, it was off the mark by a mile.

44. Given the artifice described herein, Seery and the entity Defendants had to know that the representation of the fair market value was false. But it does not appear that they disclosed it to Harbourvest to whom they owed fiduciary duties as the RIA in charge of HCLOF, and they certainly did not disclose the truth to the Plaintiff.

45. It is either the case that (i) Defendants conducted the proper analysis to obtain a current value of the assets but decided to use a far lower valuation in order to whitewash the settlement or enrich the bankruptcy estate; or (ii) Defendants never conducted the proper current valuation, and therefore baselessly represented what the current value of the assets was, despite knowingly having no reasonable basis for making such a claim.

46. For years HCM had such internal procedures and compliance protocols. HCM was not allowed by its own compliance officers to trade with an investor where HCM had superior knowledge about the value of the assets, for example. While Plaintiff has no reason to believe that those procedures were scrapped in recent months, it can only assume that they were either overridden improperly or circumvented wholesale.

⁴ The term "mark" is shorthand for an estimated or calculated value for a non-publicly traded instrument.

47. Upon finalizing the Harbourvest Settlement Agreement and making representations to the Bankruptcy Court to the Plaintiffs about the value of the Harbourvest Interests, Seery and HCM had a duty to use current values and not rely on old valuations of the assets or the HCLOF interests.

48. Given Defendants' actual or constructive knowledge that they were purchasing Harbourvest's Interests in HCLOF for a less than 50% of what those interests were worth—Defendants owed Plaintiff a fiduciary duty not to purchase them for themselves.

49. Defendants should have either had HCLOF repurchase the interests with cash, or offer those interests to Plaintiff and the other members pro rata, before HCM agreed to purchase them all lock, stock and barrel, for no up-front cash.

50. Indeed, had Plaintiff been offered those interests, it would have happily purchased them and therefore would have infused over $20 million in cash into the estate for the purpose of executing the Harbourvest Settlement.

51. That Defendants (and to perhaps a lesser extent, the Unsecured Creditors Committee (the "UCC")) agreed to pay $22.5 million for the HCLOF assets, where they had previously not consented to any such expenditure by the estate on behalf of HCLOF, strongly indicates their awareness that they were purchasing assets for far below market value.

52. The above is the most reasonable and plausible explanation for why Defendants and the UCC forwent raising as much as $22.5 million in cash now in favor of hanging on to the HCLOF assets.

53. Indeed, in January 2021 Seery threatened Ethen Powell that “[Judge Jernigan] is laughing at you” and “we are coming after you” in response to the latter’s attempt to exercise his right as beneficial holder of the CLO, and pointing out a conflict of interest in Seery’s plan to liquidate the funds.

54. HCM’s threat, made by Seery, is tantamount to not only a declaration that he intends to liquidate the funds regardless of whether the investors want to do so, and whether it is in their best interests, but also that HCM intends to leverage what it views as the Bankruptcy Court’s sympathy to evade accountability.

V.

CAUSES OF ACTION

FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION Breaches of Fiduciary Duty

55. Plaintiffs respectfully incorporate the foregoing factual averments as if fully set forth herein and further alleges the following:

56. HCM is a registered investment advisor and acts on behalf of HCFA. Both are fiduciaries to Plaintiffs.

57. The Advisers Act establishes an unwaivable federal fiduciary duty for investment advisers.⁵

⁵ See e.g., SEC v. Capital Gains Research Bureau, Inc., 375 U.S. 180, 194 (1963); Transamerica Mortg. Advisors (tama) v. Lewis, 444 U.S. 11, 17 (1979) (“§ 206 establishes ‘federal fiduciary standards’ to govern the conduct of investment advisers.”); Santa Fe Indus. v. Green, 430 U.S. 462, 471, n.11 (1977) (in discussing SEC v. Capital Gains, stating that the Supreme Court’s reference to fraud in the “equitable” sense of the term was “premised on its recognition that Congress intended the Investment Advisers Act to establish federal fiduciary standards for investment advisers”). See also Investment Advisers Act Release No. 3060 (July 28, 2010) (“Under the Advisers Act, an adviser is a fiduciary whose duty is to serve the best interests of its clients, which includes an obligation not to subrogate clients’ interests to its own”) (citing Proxy Voting by Investment Advisers, Investment Advisers Act Release No. 2106 (Jan. 31, 2003)).

58. HCM and the DAF entered into an Amended and Restated Investment Advisory Agreement, executed between them on July 1, 2014 (the “RIA Agreement”). It renews annually and continued until the end of January 2021.

59. In addition to being the RIA to the DAF, HCM was appointed the DAF’s attorney-in-fact for certain actions, such as “to purchase or otherwise trade in Financial Instruments that have been approved by the General Partner.” RIA Agreement ¶ 4.

60. The RIA Agreement further commits HCM to value financial assets “in accordance with the then current valuation policy of the Investment Advisor [HCM], a copy of which will provided to the General Partner upon request.” RIA Agreement ¶ 5.

61. While HCM contracted for the recognition that it would be acting on behalf of others and could be in conflict with advice given the DAF, (RIA Agreement ¶ 12), nowhere did it purport to waive the fiduciary duties owed to the DAF not to trade as a principal in a manner that harmed the DAF.

62. HCFA owed a fiduciary duty to Holdco as an investor in HCLOF and to which HCFA was the portfolio manager. HCM owed a fiduciary duty to the DAF (and to Holdco as its subsidiary) pursuant to a written Advisory Agreement HCM and the DAF had where HCM agreed to provide sound investment advice and management functions.

63. As a registered investment adviser, HCM’s fiduciary duty is broad and applies to the entire advisor-client relationship.

64. The core of the fiduciary duty is to act in the best interest of their investors—the advisor must put the ends of the client before its own ends or the ends of a third party.

65. This is manifested in a duty of loyalty and a duty of utmost care. It also means that the RIA has to follow the terms of the company agreements and the regulations that apply to the investment vehicle.

66. The fiduciary duty that HCM and Seery owed to Plaintiff is predicated on trust and confidence. Section 204A of the Advisers Act requires investment advisors (whether SEC-registered or not) to establish, maintain, and enforce written policies and procedures reasonably designed to prevent the RIA from trading on material, non-public information. See 17 C.F.R. § 275.206(4)-7. That means that Plaintiff should be able to take Defendants at their word and not have to second guess or dig behind representations made by them.

67. The simple thesis of this claim is that Defendants HCFA and HCM breached their fiduciary duties by (i) insider trading with Harbourvest and concealing the rising NAV of the underlying assets—i.e., trading with Harbourvest on superior, non-public information that was neither revealed to Harbourvest nor to Plaintiff; (ii) concealing the value of the Harbourvest Interests; and (iii) diverting the investment opportunity in the Harbourvest entities to HCM (or its designee) without offering it to or making it available to Plaintiff or the DAF.

68. HCM, as part of its contractual advisory function with Plaintiffs, had expressly recommended the HCLOF investment to the DAF. Thus, diverting the opportunity for returns on its investment was an additional breach of fiduciary duty.

69. This violated a multitude of regulations under 27 C.F.R. part 275, in addition to Rules 10b-5 and 10b5-1. 17 CFR 240.10b5-1 (“Rule 10b5-1”) explains that one who trades while possessing non-public information is liable for insider trading, and they do not necessarily have to have used the specific inside information.

70. It also violated HCM’s own internal policies and procedures.

71. Also, the regulations impose obligations on Defendants to calculate a current valuation when communicating with an investor, such as what may or may not be taken into account, and what cannot pass muster as a current valuation. Upon information and belief, these regulations were not followed by the Defendants.

72. HCM's internal policies and procedures, which it promised to abide by both in the RIA Agreement and in its Form ADV SEC filing, provided for the means of properly calculating the value of the assets.

73. HCM either did not follow these policies, changed them to be out of compliance both with the Adviser Act regulations and its Form ADV representations, and/or simply misrepresented or concealed their results.

74. In so doing, because the fiduciary duty owed to Plaintiff is a broad one, and because Defendants' malfeasance directly implicates its relationship with Plaintiff, Defendants have breached the Advisers Act's fiduciary duties owed to Plaintiff as part of their fiduciary relationship.⁶

75. At no time between agreeing with Harbourvest to the purchase of its interests and the court approval did Defendants disclose to either Harbourvest or to Plaintiff (and the Bankruptcy Court for that matter) that the purchase was at below 50% the current net asset value as well, and when they failed to offer Plaintiff (and the other members of HCLOF) their right to purchase the interests pro rata at such advantageous valuations. Plaintiff's lost opportunity to purchase has harmed Plaintiff. Plaintiff had been led to believe by the Defendants that the value of what was being purchased in the Harbourvest settlement by HCM (or its designee) was at fair market value. This representation, repeated again in the Bankruptcy Court during the Harbourvest confirmation, implicitly suggested that a proper current valuation had been performed.

76. Defendant's principal, Seery, testified in January 2021 that the then-current fair market value of Harbourvest's 49.98% interest in HCLOF was worth around $22.5 million. But by then, it was worth almost double that amount and has continued to appreciate. Seery knew or should have known that fact because the value of some of the HCLOF assets had increased, and he had a duty to know the current value. His lack of actual knowledge, while potentially not overtly fraudulent, would nonetheless amount to a breach of fiduciary duty for acting without proper diligence and information that was plainly available.

77. Furthermore, HCLOF holds equity in MGM Studios and debt in CCS Medical via various CLO positions. But Seery, in his role as CEO of HCM, was made aware during an advisors meeting in December 2020 that Highland would have to restrict its trading in MGM because of its insider status due to activities that were likely to apply upward pressure on MGM's share price.

78. Furthermore, Seery controlled the Board of CCS Medical. And in or around October 2020, Seery was advocating an equatization that would have increased the value of the CCS securities by 25%, which was not reflected in the HCM report of the NAV of HCLOF's holdings.

79. Seery's knowledge is imputed to HCM.

80. Moreover, it is a breach of fiduciary duty to commit corporate waste, which is effectively what disposing of the HCLOF assets would constitute in a rising market, where there is no demand for disposition by the investors (save for HCM, whose proper 0.6% interest could easily be sold to the DAF at fair value).

81. As holder of 0.6% of the HCLOF interests, and now assignee of the 49.98% Harbourvest Interests), HCM has essentially committed self-dealing by threatening to liquidate HCLOF now that it may be compelled to do so under its proposed liquidation plan, which perhaps inures to the short term goals of HCM but to the pecuniary detriment of the other holders of HCLOF whose upside will be prematurely truncated.

82. Seery and HCM should not be allowed to benefit from the breach of their fiduciary duties because doing so would also cause Plaintiffs irreparable harm. The means and methods of disposal would likely render the full scope of damages to the DAF not susceptible to specific calculation—particularly as they would relate to calculating the lost opportunity cost. Seery and HCM likely do not have the assets to pay a judgment to Plaintiffs that would be rendered, simply taking the lost appreciation of the HCLOF assets.

83. Defendants are thus liable for diverting a corporate opportunity or asset that would or should have been offered to Plaintiff and the other investors. Because federal law makes the duties invoked herein unwaivable, it is preposterous that HCM, as a 0.6% holder of HCLOF, deemed itself entitled to the all of the value and optionality of the below-market Harbourvest purchase.

84. Defendants cannot rely on any contractual provision that purports to waive this violation. Nothing in any agreement purports to permit, authorize or otherwise sanitize Defendants' self-dealing. All such provisions are void.

85. In the fourth quarter of 2020, Seery and HCM notified staff that they would be terminated on December 31, 2020. That termination was postponed to February 28, 2021.

Purchasing the Harbourvest assets without staffing necessary to be a functioning Registered Investment Advisor was a strategic reversal from prior filings that outlined canceling the CLO management contracts and allowing investors to replace Highland as manager.

86. Seery's compensation agreement with the UCC incentivizes him to expedite recoveries and to prevent transparency regarding the Harbourvest settlement.

87. What is more, Seery had previously testified that the management contracts for the funds—HCLOF included—were unprofitable, and that he intended to transfer them. But he later rejected offers to purchase those management contracts for fair value and instead decided to continue to manage the funds—which is what apparently gave rise to the Harbourvest Settlement, among others. He simultaneously rejected an offer for the Harbourvest assets of $24 million, stating that they were worth much more than that.

88. Because of Defendants' malfeasance, Plaintiffs have lost over $25 million in damages—a number that continues to rise—and the Defendants should not be able to obtain a windfall.

89. For the same reason, Defendants' malfeasance has also exposed HCLOF to a massive liability from Harbourvest since the assignment of those interests is now one that is likely unenforceable under the Advisers Act, Section 47(b), if there was unequal information.

90. HCM and HCFA are liable as principals for breach of fiduciary duty, as are the principals and compliance staff of each entity.

91. Plaintiffs seek disgorgement, damages, exemplary damages, attorneys' fees and costs. To the extent the Court determines that this claim had to have been brought derivatively on behalf of HCLOF, then Plaintiffs represent that any pre-suit demand would have been futile since asking HCM to bring suit against its principal, Seery, would have been futile.

SECOND CAUSE OF ACTION
Breach of HCLOF Company Agreement
(By Holdco against HCLOF, HCM and HCFA)

92. Plaintiffs respectfully incorporate the foregoing factual averments as if fully set forth herein and further alleges the following:

93. On November 15, 2017, the members of HCLOF, along with HCLOF and HCFA, executed the Members Agreement Relating to the Company (the “Company Agreement”).

94. The Company Agreement governs the rights and duties of the members of HCLOF.

95. Section 6.2 of HCLOF Company Agreement provides that when a member “other than ... CLO Holdco [Plaintiff] or a Highland Affiliate,” intends to sell its interest in HCLOF to a third party (i.e., not to an affiliate of the selling member), then the other members have the first right of refusal to purchase those interests pro rata for the same price that the member has agreed to sell.

96. Here, despite the fact that Harbourvest agreed to sell its interests in HCLOF for $22.5 million when they were worth more than double that, Defendants did not offer Plaintiff the chance to buy its pro rata share of those interests at the same agreed price of $22.5 million (adjusted pro rata).

97. The transfer and sale of the interests to HCM were accomplished as part of the Harbourvest Settlement which was approved by the Bankruptcy Court.

98. Plaintiff was not informed of the fact that Harbourvest had offered its shares to Defendant HCM for $22.5 million—which was under 50% of their true value.

99. Plaintiff was not offered the right to purchase its pro rata share of the Harbourvest interests prior to the agreement being struck or prior to court approval being sought.

100. Had Plaintiff been allowed to do so, it would have obtained the interests with a net equity value over their purchase price worth in excess of $20 million.

101. No discovery or opportunity to investigate was afforded Plaintiff prior to lodging an objection in the Bankruptcy Court.

102. Plaintiff is entitled to specific performance or, alternatively, disgorgement, constructive trust, damages, attorneys' fees and costs.

THIRD CAUSE OF ACTION
Negligence
(By the DAF and CLO Holdco against HCM and HCFA)

103. Plaintiffs respectfully incorporate the foregoing factual averments as if fully set forth herein, and further alleges the following:

104. Plaintiffs incorporate the foregoing causes of action and note that all the foregoing violations were breaches of the common law duty of care imposed by law on each of Seery, HCFA and HCM.

105. Each of these Defendants should have known that their actions were violations of the Advisers Act, HCM's internal policies and procedures, the Company Agreement, or all three.

106. Seery and HCM owed duties of care to Plaintiffs to follow HCM's internal policies and procedures regarding both the propriety and means of trading with a customer [Harbourvest], the propriety and means of trading as a principal in an account but in a manner adverse to another customer [the DAF and Holdco], and the proper means of valuing the CLOs and other assets held by HCLOF.

107. It would be foreseeable that failing to disclose the current value of the assets in the HCLOF would impact Plaintiffs negatively in a variety of ways.

108. It would be reasonably foreseeable that failing to correctly and accurately calculate the current net asset value of the market value of the interests would cause Plaintiffs to value the Harbourvest Interests differently.

109. It would be reasonably foreseeable that referring to old and antiquated market quotations and/or valuations of the HCLOF assets or interests would result in a mis-valuation of HCLOF and, therefore, a mis-valuation of the Harbourvest Interests.

110. Likewise, it would have been foreseeable that Plaintiff's failure to give Plaintiff the opportunity to purchase the Harbourvest shares at a $22.5 million valuation would cause Plaintiff damages. Defendants knew that the value of those assets was rising. They further knew or should have known that whereas those assets were sold to HCM for an allowance of claims to be funded in the future, selling them to Plaintiff would have provided the estate with cash funds.

111. Defendants' negligence foreseeably and directly caused Plaintiff harm.

112. Plaintiff is thus entitled to damages.

FOURTH CAUSE OF ACTION
Racketeering Influenced Corrupt Organizations Act
(CLO Holdco and DAF against HCM)

113. Plaintiffs respectfully incorporate the foregoing factual averments as if fully set forth herein, and further alleges the following:

114. Defendants are liable for violations of the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations ("RICO") Act, 18 U.S.C. § 1961 et seq., for the conduct of an enterprise through a pattern of racketeering activity.

115. HCLOF constitutes an enterprise under the RICO Act. Additionally, or in the alternative, HCM, HCLA, and HCLOF constituted an association-in-fact enterprise. The purpose of the association-in-fact was the perpetuation of Seery's position at HCM and using the Harbourvest settlement as a vehicle to enrich persons other than the HCLOF investors, including Holdco and the DAF, and the perpetuation of HCM's holdings in collateralized loan obligations owned by HCLOF, while attempting to deny Plaintiffs the benefit of its rights of ownership.

116. The association-in-fact was bound by informal and formal connections for years prior to the illicit purpose, and then changed when HCM joined it in order to achieve the association's illicit purpose. For example, HCM is the parent and control person over HCFA, which is the portfolio manager of HCLOF pursuant to a contractual agreement—both are registered investment advisors and provide advisory and management services to HCLOF.

117. Defendants injured Plaintiffs through their continuous course of conduct of the HCM-HCLA-HCLOF association-in-fact enterprise. HCM's actions (performed through Seery and others) constitute violations of the federal wire fraud, mail fraud, fraud in connection with a case under Title 11, and/or securities fraud laws, pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 1961(1)(B) and (D).

118. HCM operated in such a way as to violate insider trading rules and regulations when it traded with Harbourvest while it had material, non-public information that it had not supplied to Harbourvest or to Plaintiffs.

119. In or about November 2020, HCM and Harbourvest entered into discussions about settling the Harbourvest Claims. Seery's conduct of HCLOF and HCLA on behalf of HCM through the interstate mails and/or wires caused HCM to agree to the purchase of Harbourvest's interests in HCLOF.

120. On or about each of September 30, 2020, through December 31, 2020, Seery, through his conduct of the enterprise, utilized the interstate wires and/or mails to obtain or arrive at valuations of the HCLOF interests. Seery's conduct of the enterprise caused them to cease sending the valuation reports to Plaintiffs, which eventually allowed Plaintiffs to be misled into believing that Seery had properly valued the interests.

121. On or about September 30, 2020, Seery transmitted or caused to be transmitted through the interstate wires information to HCLOF investors from HCM (via HCFA), including Harbourvest, regarding the value of HCLOF interests and underlying assets.

122. Additionally, Seery operated HCM in such a way that he concealed the true value of the HCLOF interests by utilizing the interstate wires and mails to transmit communications to the court in the form of written representations on or about December 23, 2020, and then further transmitted verbal representations of the current market value (the vastly understated one) on January 14, 2021, during live testimony.

123. However, Harbourvest was denied the full picture and the true value of the underlying portfolio. At the end of October and November of 2020, HCM had updated the net asset values of the HCLOF portfolio. According to sources at HCM at the time, the HCLOF assets were worth north of $72,969,492 as of November 30, 2020. Harbourvest's share of that would have been $36,484,746.

124. The HCLOF net asset value had reached $86,440,024 as of December 31, 2021, which means that by the time Seery was testifying in the Bankruptcy Court on January 14, 2021, the fair market value of the Harbourvest Assets was $22.5 million, when it was actually closer to $43,202,724. Seery, speaking on behalf of HCM, knew of the distinction in value.

125. On January 14, 2021, Seery also testified that he (implying HCM, HCLA and HCLOF) had valued the Harbourvest Assets at their current valuation and at fair market value. This was not true because the valuation that was used and testified to was ancient. The ostensible purpose of this concealment was to induce Plaintiff and other interest holdings to take no action.

126. In supporting HCM’s motion to the Bankruptcy Court to approve the Harbourvest Settlement, Seery omitted the fact that HCM was purchasing the interests at a massive discount, which would violate the letter and spirit of the Adviser’s Act.

127. Seery was informed in late December 2020 at an in-person meeting in Dallas to which Seery had to fly that HCLOF and HCM had to suspend trading in MGM Studios’ securities because Seery had learned from James Dondero, who was on the Board of MGM, of a potential purchase of the company. The news of the MGM purchase should have caused Seery to revalue the HCLOF investment in MGM.

128. In or around October 2020, Seery (who controls the Board of CSS Medical) was pursuing “equitization” of CSS Medical’s debt, which would have increased the value of certain securities by 25%. In several communications through the U.S. interstate wires and/or mails, and with Plaintiffs, and the several communications with Harbourvest during the negotiations of the settlement, Seery failed to disclose these changes which were responsible in part for the ever-growing value of the HCLOF CLO portfolio.

129. Seery was at all relevant times operating as an agent of HCM.

130. This series of related violations of the wire fraud, mail fraud, and securities fraud laws, in connection with the HCM bankruptcy, constitute a continuing pattern and practice of racketeering for the purpose of winning a windfall for HCM and himself--a nearly $30,000,000 payday under the confirmation agreement.

131. The federal RICO statute makes it actionable for one’s conduct of an enterprise to include “fraud in connection with a [bankruptcy case]”. The Advisers’ Act antifraud provisions require full transparency and accountability to an advisers’ investors and clients and does not require a showing of reliance or materiality. The wire fraud provision likewise is violated when, as here, the interstate wires are used as part of a “scheme or artifice ... for obtaining money or property by means of false ... pretenses, [or] representations[.]”

132. Accordingly, because Defendants’ conduct violated the wire fraud and mail fraud laws, and the Advisers’ Act antifraud provisions, and their acts and omissions were in connection with the HCM Bankruptcy proceedings under Title 11, they are sufficient to bring such conduct within the purview of the RICO civil action provisions, 18 U.S.C. § 1964.

133. Plaintiffs are thus entitled to damages, treble damages, attorneys’ fees and costs of suit, in addition to all other injunctive or equitable relief to which they are justly entitled.

FIFTH CAUSE OF ACTION
Tortious Interference
(CLO Holdco against HCM)

134. Plaintiff respectfully incorporates the foregoing factual averments as if fully set forth herein and further alleges the following:

135. At all relevant times, HCM owned a 0.6% interest in HCLOF.

136. At all relevant times, Seery and HCM knew that Plaintiff had specific rights in HCLOF under the Company Agreement, § 6.2.

137. Section 6.2 of HCLOF Company agreement provides that when a member “other than ... CLO Holdco [Plaintiff] or a Highland Affiliate,” intends to sell its interest in HCLOF to a third party (i.e., not an affiliate of the member), then the other members have the first right of refusal to purchase those interests pro rata for the same price that the member has agreed to sell.

138. HCM, through Seery, tortiously interfered with Plaintiff’s contractual rights with HCLOF by, among other things, diverting the Harbourvest Interests in HCLOF to HCM without giving HCLOF or Plaintiff the option to purchase those assets at the same favorable price that HCM obtained them.

139. HCM and Seery tortiously interfered with Plaintiff's contractual rights with HCLOF by, among other things, misrepresenting the fair market value as $22.5 million and concealing the current value of those interests.

140. But for HCM and Seery's tortious interference, Plaintiff would have been able to acquire the Harbourvest Interests at a highly favorable price. HCM and Seery's knowledge of the rights and intentional interference with these rights has caused damage to Plaintiff CLO Holdco.

141. Plaintiff is therefore entitled to damages from HCM and Seery, as well as exemplary damages.

VI.

JURY DEMAND

142. Plaintiff demands trial by jury on all claims so triable.

VII.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

143. Wherefore, for the foregoing reasons, Plaintiffs respectfully pray that the Court enter judgment in its favor and against Defendants, jointly and severally, for:

- a. Actual damages;
- b. Disgorgement;
- c. Treble damages;
- d. Exemplary and punitive damages;
- e. Attorneys' fees and costs as allowed by common law, statute or contract;
- f. A constructive trust to avoid dissipation of assets;
- g. All such other relief to which Plaintiff is justly entitled.

The process of fully institutionalizing the DAF will take much longer than I ever previously imagined (it may take months now), and therefore, I attach for your counter-signature next to mine, what is the only viable interim solution.

We're still working with JPM and Jefferies to get everything transitioned over completely. Once that is done, we can focus on getting the account holders updated.

For NexBank, Trini said that compliance was going to request an individual form for each of the accounts (see attached). I just have not had the time to fill out the forms for all the accounts yet, but it is on my radar.

Grant,

We are still in the process of changing the account access to myself. I hope this wont take longer than one week.

Further, in the near future Dallas Foundation will appoint a director to replace you on the board of HDF. The same is being done for Highland Kansas City Foundation. This may take 2-4 weeks.

During this interim period, we may make requests of you and are fine compensating you until a completed transition happened.

Please reach out to Chris Rice for wire payments for your services, although you should feel no obligation to be paid or not paid. The decision rests with you.

I appreciate your continued help during this transition.

INVESTMENT ADVISORY AGREEMENT

THIS SECOND AMENDED AND RESTATED INVESTMENT ADVISORY AGREEMENT (this “Agreement”), dated to be effective from January 1, 2017 (the “Effective Date”) is entered into by and between Charitable DAF Fund, L.P., a Cayman Islands exempted limited partnership (the “Fund”), Charitable DAF GP, LLC, a limited liability company organized under the laws of the State of Delaware (the “General Partner”), the general partner of the Fund, and Highland Capital Management, L.P., a limited partnership organized under the laws of the State of Delaware (the “Investment Advisor”). Each of the signatories hereto is sometimes referred to herein individually as a “Party” and collectively as the “Parties.”

RECITALS

WHEREAS, the Fund, the General Partner and the Investment Advisor entered into that certain Investment Advisory Agreement dated January 1, 2012 (the “Original Agreement”);

WHEREAS, the Parties amended and restated the Original Agreement in its entirety on the terms set forth in that certain Amended and Restated Investment Advisory Agreement dated July 1, 2014 (the “Existing Agreement”);

WHEREAS, the parties desire to amend and restate the Existing Agreement in its entirety with the terms as set forth in this Agreement effective as of the Effective Date;

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual covenants herein contained and for other good and valuable consideration, the receipt of which is hereby acknowledged, the Parties hereby agree, and the Existing Agreement is hereby amended and restated in its entirety, as follows:

1. Investment Advisory Services. Subject to Section 7, the Investment Advisor shall act as investment advisor to the Fund, the General Partner with respect to the Fund and its subsidiaries and shall provide investment advice with respect to the investment and reinvestment of the cash, Financial Instruments and other properties comprising the assets and liabilities of the Fund and its subsidiaries.

2. Custody. The Financial Instruments shall be held in the custody of Jefferies & Company, Inc. or one or more banks selected by the General Partner (each such bank, a “Custodian”). The General Partner will notify the Investment Advisor promptly of the proposed selection of any other Custodians. The Custodian shall at all times be responsible for the physical custody of the Financial Instruments; for the collection of interest, dividends, and other income attributable to the Financial Instruments; and for the exercise of rights and tenders on the Financial Instruments after consultation with and as then directed by the General Partner. At no time shall the Investment Advisor have possession of or maintain custody over any of the Financial Instruments. The Investment Advisor shall not be responsible for any loss incurred by reason of any act or omission of the Custodian.

3. Authority of the Investment Advisor. Subject to Section 7 of this Agreement, the Investment Advisor shall advise the General Partner on behalf of the Fund and/or its subsidiaries with respect to:

(b) engaging in such other lawful Financial Instruments transactions;

(c) research and analysis;

(d) purchasing Financial Instruments and holding them for investment;

(e) entering into contracts for or in connection with investments in Financial Instruments;

(f) investing in other pooled investment vehicles, which investments shall be subject in each case to the terms and conditions of the respective governing document for each such vehicle;

(g) possessing, transferring, mortgaging, pledging or otherwise dealing in, and exercising all rights, powers, privileges and other incidents of ownership or possession with respect to Financial Instruments and other property and funds held or owned by the Fund and/or its subsidiaries;

(i) opening, maintaining and closing accounts, including margin and custodial accounts, with brokers and dealers, including brokers and dealers located outside the United States;

(j) opening, maintaining and closing accounts, including custodial accounts, with banks, including banks located outside the United States, and drawing checks or other orders for the payment of monies;

(k) combining purchase or sale orders on behalf of the Fund with orders for other accounts to which the Investment Advisor or any of its affiliates provides investment services (“Other Accounts”) and allocating the Financial Instruments or other assets so purchased or sold, on an average-price basis or in any other manner deemed fair and equitable to the Investment Advisor in its sole discretion, among such accounts;

(l) entering into arrangements with brokers to open “average price” accounts wherein orders placed during a trading day are placed on behalf of the Fund and Other Accounts and are allocated among such accounts using an average price;

(m) organizing one or more corporations and other entities formed to hold record title, as nominee for the Fund and/or its subsidiaries (whether alone or together with the Other Accounts), to Financial Instruments or funds of the Fund and/or its subsidiaries;

(n) causing the Fund and/or its subsidiaries to engage in (i) agency, agency cross, related party principal transactions with affiliates of the Investment Manager and (ii) cross transactions with Other Accounts, in each case, to the extent permitted by applicable laws;

(o) engaging personnel, whether part-time or full-time, and attorneys, independent accountants or such other persons (including, without limitation, finders, consultants and investment bankers); and

(p) voting of Financial Instruments, participation in arrangements with creditors, the institution and settlement or compromise of suits and administrative proceedings and other like or similar matters.

4. Policies of the Fund. The activities engaged in by the Investment Advisor on behalf of the Fund and/or its subsidiaries shall be subject to the policies and control of the General Partner.

The Investment Advisor shall submit such periodic reports to the General Partner regarding the Investment Advisor's activities hereunder as the General Partner may reasonably request and a representative of the Investment Advisor shall be available to meet with the General Partner and/or any other representative of the Fund or its subsidiaries as reasonably requested by the General Partner.

In furtherance of the foregoing, the General Partner hereby appoints the Investment Advisor as the Fund's attorney-in-fact, with full power of authority to act in the Fund's name and on its behalf with respect to the Fund, as follows:

(a) to purchase or otherwise trade in Financial Instruments that have been approved by the General Partner;

(b) to execute and combine purchase or sale orders on behalf of the Fund with orders for Other Accounts and allocate the Financial Instruments or other assets so purchased or sold, on an average-price basis or in any other manner deemed fair and equitable to the Investment Advisor in its sole discretion, among such accounts; provided, however, that such purchase or sale orders shall be market rates;

(c) to direct the Custodian to deliver funds or the Financial Instruments, but only in the course of effecting trading and investment transactions for the Fund and subject to such restrictions as may be contained in the custody agreement between the Custodian and the Fund;

(d) to enter into contracts, provide certifications or take any other actions necessary to effect any of the foregoing transactions; and

(e) to select brokers on the basis of best execution and in consideration of relevant factors, including, but not limited to, price quotes; the size of the transaction; the nature of the market for the security; the timing of the transaction; the difficulty of execution; the broker-dealer's expertise in the relevant market or sector; the extent to which the broker-dealer makes market in the security or has an access to such market; the broker-dealer's skill in positioning the relevant market; the broker-dealer's facilities, reliability, promptness and financial stability; the broker-dealer's reputation for diligence and integrity (including in correcting errors); confidentiality considerations; the quality and usefulness of research services and investment ideas presented by the broker-dealer; and other factors deemed appropriate by the Investment Advisor.

5. Valuation of Financial Instruments. Financial Instruments will be valued in accordance with the then current valuation policy of the Investment Advisor, a copy of which will be provided to the General Partner upon request.

6. Status of the Investment Advisor. The Investment Advisor shall, for all purposes, be an independent contractor and not an employee of the General Partner or the Fund or its subsidiaries, nor shall anything herein be construed as making the Fund or its subsidiaries or the General Partner, a partner, member or co-venturer with the Investment Advisor or any of its affiliates or clients. The Investment Advisor shall have no authority to act for, represent, bind or obligate the Fund or its subsidiaries or the General Partner except as specifically provided herein.

7. Investments. ALL ULTIMATE INVESTMENT DECISIONS WITH RESPECT TO THE FUND AND ITS SUBSIDIARIES SHALL AT ALL TIMES REST SOLELY WITH THE GENERAL PARTNER AND/OR THE OFFICERS/DIRECTORS OF THE APPLICABLE SUBSIDIARY, IT BEING EXPRESSLY UNDERSTOOD THAT THE GENERAL PARTNER AND/OR THE OFFICERS/DIRECTORS OF THE APPLICABLE SUBSIDIARY SHALL BE FREE TO ACCEPT AND OR REJECT ANY OF THE ADVICE RENDERED BY THE INVESTMENT MANAGER HEREUNDER FOR ANY REASON OR FOR NO REASON.

8. Reimbursement by the General Partner. The Investment Advisor may retain, in connection with its responsibilities hereunder, the services of others to assist in the investment advice to be given to the General Partner with respect to the Fund and/or its subsidiaries (any such appointee, a "Sub-Advisor"), including, but not limited to, any affiliate of the Investment Advisor, but payment for any such services shall be assumed by the Investment Advisor, and, therefore, neither the General Partner nor the Fund or any of its subsidiaries shall have any liability therefor; provided, however, that the Investment Advisor, in its sole discretion, may retain the services of independent third party professionals, including, without limitation, attorneys, accountants and consultants, to advise and assist it in connection with the performance of its activities on behalf of the General Partner with respect to the Fund and/or its subsidiaries hereunder, and the Fund shall bear full responsibility therefor and the expense of any fees and disbursements arising therefrom.

9. Expenses.

(a) The Fund shall pay or reimburse the Investment Advisor and its affiliates for all expenses related to the services hereunder, including, but not limited to, investment-related expenses, brokerage commissions and other transaction costs, expenses related to clearing and settlement charges, professional fees relating to legal, auditing or valuation services, any governmental, regulatory, licensing, filing or registration fees incurred in compliance with the rules of any self-regulatory organization or any federal, state or local laws, research-related expenses (including, without limitation, news and quotation equipment and services, investment and trading-related software, including, without limitation, trade order management software (i.e., software used to route trade orders)), accounting (including accounting software), tax preparation expenses, costs and expenses associated with reporting and providing information to the Fund, any taxes imposed upon the Fund (including, but not limited to, collateralized debt obligations managed by the Investment Advisor or its affiliates), fees relating to valuing the Financial Instruments, and extraordinary expenses. In no event shall any of the foregoing costs or expenses include any salaries, occupational expense or general overhead of the Investment Advisor. For the avoidance of doubt, (i) the cost of all third party expenses incurred in connection with this Agreement shall not exceed standard market rates (which may include standard soft dollar arrangements) and (ii) to the extent any of the foregoing expenses were incurred on behalf of, or benefit of a number of Investment Advisor's advised accounts, such expenses shall be allocated pro rata among such accounts.

(b) To the extent that expenses to be borne by the Fund are paid by the Investment Advisor or by any Sub-Advisor, the Fund shall reimburse the Investment Advisor (or Sub-Advisors, as applicable) for such expenses so long as such expenses are at market rates.

10. Fees.

(a) The Fund shall pay the Investment Advisor a quarterly fee (the “Management Fee”) equal to 2.0% per annum (0.5% per quarter) of the Net Assets (as defined below) of the Fund, payable in advance at and calculated as of the first business day of each calendar quarter. For purposes of calculating the Management Fee, the Net Assets of the Fund will be determined before giving effect to any of the following amounts payable by the Fund generally or in respect of any Investment which are effective as of the date on which such determination is made: (i) any fee payable to the Investment Advisor as of the date on which such determination is made; (ii) any capital withdrawals or distributions payable by the Fund which are effective as of the date on which such determination is made; and (iii) withholding or other taxes, expenses of processing withdrawals and other items payable, any increases or decreases in any reserves, holdback or other amounts specially allocated ending as of the date on which such determination is made. The Management Fee shall be prorated for partial periods and any applicable excess fees should be returned to the Fund by the Investment Advisor. Capital contributions made to the Fund after the commencement of a calendar quarter shall be subject to a prorated Management Fee based on the number of days remaining during such quarter.

(b) Subject to clauses (c) and (d) below, at the end of each Calculation Period (as defined below), an amount equal to 20% of the net capital appreciation of the Fund’s Investments (as defined below) after deducting the Management Fee shall be paid to the Investment Advisor (the “Performance Fee”); provided, however, that the net capital appreciation upon which the calculation of the Performance is based shall be reduced to the extent of any unrecovered balance remaining in the Loss Recovery Account (as defined below) maintained on the books and records of the Fund. The amount of the unrecovered balance remaining in the Loss Recovery Account at the time of calculating the Performance Fee shall be the amount existing immediately prior to its reduction pursuant to the second clause of the second sentence of clause (c) below.

(c) There shall be established on the books of the Fund a memorandum account (the “Loss Recovery Account”), the opening balance of which shall be zero. At the end of each Calculation Period, the balance in the Loss Recovery Account shall be adjusted as follows: first, if there has been, in the aggregate, net capital depreciation of the Fund’s Investments (as adjusted pursuant to the last sentence of this paragraph) since the end of the immediately preceding Calculation Period (or with respect to the initial Calculation Period, since the Effective Date), an amount equal to such net capital depreciation shall be credited to the Loss Recovery Account, and, second, if there has been, in the aggregate, net capital appreciation of the Fund’s investments (as adjusted pursuant to the last sentence of this paragraph) since the end of the immediately preceding Calculation Period, an amount equal to such net capital appreciation, before taking into account any Performance Fee to be paid to the Investment Advisor, shall be debited to and reduce any unrecovered balance in the Loss Recovery Account, but not below zero. Solely for purposes of this paragraph, in determining the Loss Recovery Account, net capital appreciation and net capital depreciation for any applicable Calculation Period shall be calculated by taking into account the amount of the Management Fee paid for such period.

(d) In the event that all or a portion of the Fund's capital is distributed or withdrawn while there exists an unrecovered balance in the Loss Recovery Account, the unrecovered balance in the Loss Recovery Account shall be reduced as of the beginning of the next Calculation Period by an amount equal to the product obtained by multiplying the balance in such Loss Recovery Account by a fraction, the numerator of which is the amount distributed or withdrawn with respect to the immediately preceding distribution or withdrawal date, and the denominator of which is the total fair value of the Fund's Investment immediately prior to such distribution or withdrawal.

(e) For purposes of this Section 10, the net capital appreciation and net capital depreciation of the Fund's Investments for any given period will be calculation in accordance with the then current valuation policy of the Investment Advisor, a copy of which will be provided upon the General Partner's request. As soon as reasonably practicable following the end of a Calculation Period, the Investment Advisor shall deliver, or cause to be delivered, to the General Partner a statement showing the calculation of the Performance Fee, if any, with respect to such Calculation Period. The Performance Fee, if any, shall be payable within three (3) business days of the General Partner's receipt of such statement.

(f) Payments due to the Investment Advisor shall be made by wire transfer to:

Bank Name: Compass Bank
ABA#: 113010547
FBO: Highland Capital Management, L.P. (Master Operating Account)
Acct#: 0025876342

(g) For purposes of this Section 10, the following terms have the definitions set forth below:

"Calculation Period" means the period commencing on the Effective Date (in the case of the initial Calculation Period) and thereafter each period commencing as of the day following the last day of the preceding Calculation Period, and ending as of the close of business on the first to occur of the following: (i) the last day of a calendar year; (ii) the distribution or withdrawal of capital of the Fund (but only with respect to such distributed or withdrawn amount); (iii) the permitted transfer of all or any portion of a partner's interest in the Fund; and (iv) the final capital distribution of the Fund following its dissolution;

"Investments" means all investments, securities, cash, receivables, financial instruments, contracts and other assets, whether tangible or intangible, owned by the Fund;

“Net Assets” means, with respect to the Fund as of any date, the excess of the total fair value of all Investments over the total liabilities, debts and obligations of the Fund, in each case, calculated on an accrual basis in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States and the then current valuation policy of the Service Provider, a copy of which will be provided to the General Partner upon request; and

“Services Agreement” means that certain Second Amended and Restated Service Agreement, dated effective as of the Effective Date, by and among the Parties, as amended, restated, modified and supplemented from time to time.

11. Exculpation; Indemnification.

(a) Whether or not herein expressly so provided, every provision of this Agreement relating to the conduct or affecting the liability of or affording protection to the Investment Advisor, its members or any of their respective affiliates and their respective partners, members, officers, directors, employees, shareholders and agents (including parties acting as agents for the execution of transactions) (each, a “Covered Person” and collectively, “Covered Persons”) shall be subject to the provisions of this Section.

(b) To the fullest extent permitted by law, no Covered Person shall be liable to the General Partner or the Fund or any of its subsidiaries or anyone for any reason whatsoever (including but not limited to (i) any act or omission by any Covered Person in connection with the conduct of the business of the General Partner or the Fund, that is determined by such Covered Person in good faith to be in or not opposed to the best interests of the General Partner or the Fund, (ii) any act or omission by any Covered Person based on the suggestions of any professional advisor of the General Partner or the Fund or any of its subsidiaries whom such Covered Person believes is authorized to make such suggestions on behalf of the General Partner or the Fund or any of its subsidiaries, (iii) any act or omission by the General Partner or the Fund or any of its subsidiaries, or (iv) any mistake, negligence, misconduct or bad faith of any broker or other agent of the General Partner or the Fund or any of its subsidiaries selected by Covered Person with reasonable care), unless any act or omission by such Covered Person constitutes willful misconduct or gross negligence by such Covered Person (as determined by a non-appealable judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction).

(c) Covered Persons may consult with legal counsel or accountants selected by such Covered Person and any act or omission by such Covered Person on behalf of the General Partner or the Fund or any of its subsidiaries or in furtherance of the business of the General Partner or the Fund or any of its subsidiaries in good faith in reliance on and in accordance with the advice of such counsel or accountants shall be full justification for the act or omission, and such Covered Person shall be fully protected in so acting or omitting to act if the counsel or accountants were selected with reasonable care.

Party”), from and against any and all claims, liabilities, damages, losses, costs and expenses, including amounts paid in satisfaction of judgments, in compromises and settlements, as fines and penalties and legal or other costs and expenses of investigating or defending against any claim or alleged claim, of any nature whatsoever, known or unknown, liquidated or unliquidated, that are incurred by any Indemnified Party and arise out of or in connection with the business of the General Partner or the Fund or any of its subsidiaries, any investment made under or in connection with this Agreement, or the performance by the Indemnified Party of Covered Person’s responsibilities hereunder and against all taxes, charges, duties or levies incurred by such Covered Person or any Indemnified Party in connection with the General Partner or the Fund or any of its subsidiaries, provided that an Indemnified Party shall not be entitled to indemnification hereunder to the extent the Indemnified Party’s conduct constitutes willful misconduct or gross negligence (as determined by a non-appealable judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction). The termination of any proceeding by settlement, judgment, order or upon a plea of nolo contendere or its equivalent shall not, of itself, create a presumption that the Indemnified Party’s conduct constituted willful misconduct or gross negligence.

(e) Expenses incurred by an Indemnified Party in defense or settlement of any claim that shall be subject to a right of indemnification hereunder, shall be advanced by the General Partner prior to the final disposition thereof upon receipt of an undertaking by or on behalf of the Indemnified Party to repay the amount advanced to the extent that it shall be determined ultimately that the Indemnified Party is not entitled to be indemnified hereunder.

(f) The right of any Indemnified Party to the indemnification provided herein shall be cumulative of, and in addition to, any and all rights to which the Indemnified Party may otherwise be entitled by contract or as a matter of law or equity and shall be extended to the Indemnified Party’s successors, assigns and legal representatives.

(g) The provisions of this Section are expressly intended to confer benefits upon Covered Persons and such provisions shall remain operative and in full force and effect regardless of the expiration or any termination of this Agreement.

(h) In no event shall any Covered Person be liable for special, exemplary, punitive, indirect, or consequential loss, or damage of any kind whatsoever, including without limitation lost profits.

(i) No Covered Person shall be liable hereunder for any settlement of any action or claim effected without its written consent thereto.

(j) Pursuant to the exculpation and indemnification provisions described above, the Investment Advisor and each Indemnified Party will generally not be liable to the General Partner or the Fund for any act or omission (or alleged act or omission), absent bad faith, willful misconduct, fraud or gross negligence, and the General Partner and the Fund will generally be required to indemnify such persons against any Losses they may incur by reason of any act or omission (or alleged act or omission) related to the General Partner, the Fund or its subsidiaries, absent bad faith, willful misconduct, fraud or gross negligence. As a result of these provisions, the General Partner, the Fund and its subsidiaries, as applicable (not the Investment Advisor or any other Indemnified Party) will be responsible for any Losses resulting from trading errors and similar human errors, absent bad faith, willful misconduct, fraud or gross negligence or the ability to waive or limit such Losses under applicable law. Trading errors might include, for example, keystroke errors that occur when entering trades into an electronic trading system or typographical or drafting errors related to derivatives contracts or similar agreements. Given the volume of transactions executed by the Investment Advisor and its affiliates on behalf of the Fund and/or its subsidiaries, the General Partner acknowledges that trading errors (and similar errors) will occur and that the General Partner will be responsible for any resulting Losses, even if such Losses result from the negligence (but not gross negligence) of the Investment Advisor or its affiliates.

12. Activities of the Investment Advisor and Others. The Investment Advisor, and its affiliates may engage, simultaneously with their investment management activities on behalf of the Fund, in other businesses, and may render services similar to those described in this Agreement to other individuals, companies, trusts or persons, and shall not by reason of such engaging in other businesses or rendering of services for others be deemed to be acting in conflict with the interests of the Fund. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Investment Advisor and its affiliates shall devote as much time to provide advisory service to the General Partner with respect to the management of the Fund's assets as the Investment Advisor deems necessary and appropriate. In addition, the Investment Advisor or any of its affiliates, in their individual capacities, may engage in securities transactions which may be different than, and contrary to, the investment advice provided by the Investment Advisor to the General Partner with respect to the Fund. The Investment Advisor may give advice and recommend securities to, or buy securities for, accounts and other clients, which advice or securities may differ from advice given to, or securities recommended or bought for, the Fund, even though their investment objectives may be the same or similar. The Investment Advisor may recommend transactions in securities and other assets in which the Investment Advisor has an interest, including securities or other assets issued by affiliates of the Investment Manager. Each of the General Partner and the Fund acknowledges that it has received, reviewed and had an opportunity with respect to (a) a copy of Part 2 of the Investment Advisor's Form ADV, and (b) the supplemental disclosures attached hereto as Exhibit A, each of which further describes conflicts of interest relating to the Investment Advisor, its affiliates and their respective advised accounts.

13. Term. This Agreement shall remain in effect through an initial term concluding December 31, 2017 and shall be automatically extended for additional one-year terms thereafter, except that it may be terminated by the Investment Advisor, on the one hand, or by the General Partner and the Fund, on the other hand, upon at least 90 days' prior written notice to the General Partner or the Investment Advisor, as the case may be, prior to General Partner's fiscal year-end.

14. Miscellaneous.

(b) Entire Agreement. This Agreement contains all of the terms agreed upon or made by the parties relating to the subject matter of this Agreement, and supersedes all prior and contemporaneous agreements, negotiations, correspondence, undertakings and communications of the parties, oral or written, respecting such subject matter.

(c) Amendments and Waivers. No provision of this Agreement may be amended, modified, waived or discharged except as agreed to in writing by the parties. No amendment to this Agreement may be made without first obtaining the required approval from the Fund. The failure of a party to insist upon strict adherence to any term of this Agreement on any occasion shall not be considered a waiver thereof or deprive that party of the right thereafter to insist upon strict adherence to that term or any other term of this Agreement.

(d) Binding Effect; Assignment. This Agreement shall be binding upon and inure to the benefit of the General Partner, the Fund, the Investment Advisor, each Indemnified Party and their respective successors and permitted assigns. Any person that is not a signatory to this Agreement but is nevertheless conferred any rights or benefits hereunder (e.g., officers, partners and personnel of the Investment Advisor and others who are entitled to indemnification hereunder) shall be entitled to such rights and benefits as if such person were a signatory hereto, and the rights and benefits of such person hereunder may not be impaired without such person's express written consent. No party to this Agreement may assign (as such term is defined under the U.S. Investment Advisers Act of 1940, as amended) all or any portion of its rights, obligations or liabilities under this Agreement without the prior written consent of the other parties to this Agreement; provided; however, that the Investment Advisor may assign all or any portion of its rights, obligations and liabilities hereunder to any of its affiliates at its discretion.

(e) Governing Law. Notwithstanding the place where this Agreement may be executed by any of the parties thereto, the parties expressly agree that all terms and provisions hereof shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the State of Texas applicable to agreements made and to be performed in that State.

(f) Jurisdiction; Venue; Waiver of Jury Trial. The Parties hereby agree that any action, claim, litigation, or proceeding of any kind whatsoever against any other Party in any way arising from or relating to this Agreement and all contemplated transactions, including claims sounding in contract, equity, tort, fraud and statute (“Dispute”) shall be submitted exclusively to the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Texas or, if such court does not have subject matter jurisdiction, the courts of the State of Texas sitting in Dallas County, and any appellate court thereof (“Enforcement Court”). Each Party irrevocably and unconditionally submits to the exclusive personal and subject matter jurisdiction of the Enforcement Court for any Dispute and agrees to bring any Dispute only in the Enforcement Court. Each Party further agrees it shall not commence any Dispute in any forum, including administrative, arbitration, or litigation, other than the Enforcement Court. Each Party agrees that a final judgment in any such action, litigation, or proceeding is conclusive and may be enforced in other jurisdictions by suit on the judgment or in any other manner provided by law.

EACH PARTY IRREVOCABLY AND UNCONDITIONALLY WAIVES, TO THE FULLEST EXTENT PERMITTED BY APPLICABLE LAW, ANY RIGHT IT MAY HAVE TO A TRIAL BY JURY IN ANY LEGAL ACTION, PROCEEDING, CAUSE OF ACTION OR COUNTERCLAIM ARISING OUT OF OR RELATING TO THIS AGREEMENT, INCLUDING ANY EXHIBITS, SCHEDULES, AND APPENDICES ATTACHED TO THIS AGREEMENT, OR THE TRANSACTIONS CONTEMPLATED HEREBY. EACH PARTY CERTIFIES AND ACKNOWLEDGES THAT (A) NO REPRESENTATIVE OF THE OTHER PARTY HAS REPRESENTED, EXPRESSLY OR OTHERWISE, THAT THE OTHER PARTY WOULD NOT SEEK TO ENFORCE THE FOREGOING WAIVER IN THE EVENT OF A LEGAL ACTION, (B) IT HAS CONSIDERED THE IMPLICATIONS OF THIS WAIVER, (C) IT MAKES THIS WAIVER KNOWINGLY AND VOLUNTARILY, AND (D) IT HAS BEEN INDUCED TO ENTER INTO THIS AGREEMENT BY, AMONG OTHER THINGS, THE MUTUAL WAIVERS AND CERTIFICATIONS IN THIS SECTION.

Nothing in this Section 14(f) shall be construed to limit either party’s right to obtain equitable or injunctive relief in a court of competent jurisdiction in appropriate circumstances.

(g) Headings. The headings contained in this Agreement are intended solely for convenience and shall not affect the rights of the parties to this Agreement.

(h) Counterparts. This Agreement may be signed in any number of counterparts with the same effect as if the signatures to each counterpart were upon a single instrument, and all such counterparts together shall be deemed an original of this Agreement.

(i) Survival. The provisions of Sections 8, 9, 10, 11 and 14 hereof shall survive the termination of this Agreement.

(j) Pronouns. All pronouns shall be deemed to refer to the masculine, feminine, neuter, singular or plural as the identity of the person or persons’ firm or company may require in the context thereof.

(k) Arm's-Length Agreement. The General Partner and the Fund have approved this Agreement and reviewed the activities described in Section 12 and in the Investment Advisor's Form ADV and the risks related thereto.

Supplemental Disclosures

Potential Conflicts of Interest

The scope of the activities of Highland Capital Management, L.P. (the “Investment Adviser”), its affiliates, and the funds and clients managed or advised by the Investment Adviser or any of its affiliates may give rise to conflicts of interest or other restrictions and/or limitations imposed on Charitable DAF Fund, L.P. and its subsidiaries (collectively, the “Fund”) in the future that cannot be foreseen or mitigated at this time. The following briefly summarizes some of these conflicts, but is not intended to be an exhaustive list of all such conflicts. Additional conflicts are described in the Investment Adviser’s Form ADV. You are urged to review the Investment Adviser’s Form ADV in its entirety prior to investing in the Fund.¹

Highland Group & Highland Accounts. None of the Investment Adviser, its affiliates and their respective officers, directors, shareholders, members, partners, personnel and employees (collectively, the “Highland Group”) is precluded from engaging in or owning an interest in other business ventures or investment activities of any kind, whether or not such ventures are competitive with the Fund. The Investment Adviser is permitted to manage other client accounts, and does manage other client accounts, some of which may have objectives similar or identical to those of the Fund, including other collective investment vehicles that may be managed by the Highland Group and in which the Investment Adviser or any of its affiliates may have an equity interest.

The Fund will be subject to a number of actual and potential conflicts of interest involving the Highland Group including, among other things, the fact that: (i) the Highland Group conducts substantial investment activities for accounts, funds, collateralized debt obligations and collateralized loan obligations that invest in leveraged loans (collectively, “CDOs”) and other vehicles managed by members of the Highland Group (collectively, “Highland Accounts”) in which the Fund has no interest; (ii) the Highland Group advises Highland Accounts, which utilize the same, similar or different methodologies as the Fund and may have financial incentives (including, without limitation, as it relates to the composition of investors in such funds and accounts or to the Highland Group’s compensation arrangements) to favor certain Highland Accounts over the Fund; (iii) the Highland Group may use the strategy described herein in certain Highland Accounts; (iv) the Investment Adviser may give advice and recommend securities to, or buy or sell securities for, the Fund, which advice or securities may differ from advice given to, or securities recommended or bought or sold for, Highland Accounts; (v) the Investment Adviser has the discretion, to the extent permitted under applicable law, to use its affiliates as service providers to the Fund and its portfolio investments; (vi) certain investors affiliated with the Highland Group may choose to personally invest only in certain funds advised by the Highland Group and the amounts invested by them in such funds is expected to vary significantly; (vii) the Highland Group and Highland Accounts may actively engage in transactions in the same securities sought by the

Fund and, therefore, may compete with the Fund for investment opportunities or may hold positions opposite to positions maintained by the Fund; (viii) the Fund may invest in CDOs and Highland Accounts managed by members of the Highland Group; and (ix) the Investment Adviser will devote to the Fund only as much time as the Investment Adviser deems necessary and appropriate to manage the Fund's business.

The Investment Adviser undertakes to resolve conflicts in a fair and equitable basis, which in some instances may mean a resolution that would not maximize the benefit to the Fund's investors.

Allocation of Trading Opportunities. It is the policy of the Investment Adviser to allocate investment opportunities fairly and equitably over time. This means that such opportunities will be allocated among those accounts for which participation in the respective opportunity is considered appropriate, taking into account, among other considerations: (i) fiduciary duties owed to the accounts; (ii) the primary mandate of the accounts; (iii) the capital available to the accounts; (iv) any restrictions on the accounts and the investment opportunity; (v) the sourcing of the investment, size of the investment and amount of follow-on available related to the investment; (vi) whether the risk-return profile of the proposed investment is consistent with the account's objectives and program, whether such objectives are considered in light of the specific investment under consideration or in the context of the portfolio's overall holdings; (vii) the potential for the proposed investment to create an imbalance in the account's portfolio (taking into account expected inflows and outflows of capital); (viii) liquidity requirements of the account; (ix) potentially adverse tax consequences; (x) regulatory and other restrictions that would or could limit an account's ability to participate in a proposed investment; and (xi) the need to re-size risk in the account's portfolio.

The Investment Adviser has the authority to allocate trades to multiple Highland Accounts on an average price basis or on another basis it deems fair and equitable. Similarly, if an order for any accounts cannot be fully allocated under prevailing market conditions, the Investment Adviser may allocate the trades among different accounts on a basis it considers fair and equitable over time. One or more of the foregoing considerations may (and are often expected to) result in allocations among the Fund and one or more Highland Accounts on other than a pari passu basis. The Investment Adviser will allocate investment opportunities across its accounts for which the opportunities are appropriate, consistent with (i) its internal conflict of interest and allocation policies and (ii) the requirements of the U.S. Investment Advisers Act of 1940, as amended. The Investment Adviser will seek to allocate investment opportunities among such entities in a manner that is fair and equitable over time and consistent with its allocation policy. However, there is no assurance that such investment opportunities will be allocated to the Fund fairly or equitably in the short-term or over time and there can be no assurance that the Fund will be able to participate in all investment opportunities that are suitable for it.

The Investment Adviser and/or its affiliates may open "average price" accounts with brokers. In an "average price" account, purchase and sale orders placed during a trading day for the Fund, the Highland Accounts or affiliates of the Investment Adviser are combined, and securities bought and sold pursuant to such orders are allocated among such accounts on an average price basis.

Highland Group Trading. As part of their regular business, the members of the Highland Group hold, purchase, sell, trade or take other related actions both for their respective accounts and for the accounts of their respective clients, on a principal or agency basis, with respect to loans, securities and other investments and financial instruments of all types. The members of the Highland Group also provide investment advisory services, among other services, and engage in private equity, real estate and capital markets oriented investment activities. The members of the Highland Group will not be restricted in their performance of any such services or in the types of debt or equity investments which they may make. The members of the Highland Group may have economic interests in or other relationships with obligors or issuers in whose obligations or securities or credit exposures the Fund may invest. In particular, such persons may make and/or hold an investment in an obligor's or issuer's securities that may be pari passu, senior or junior in ranking to an investment in such obligor's or issuer's securities made and/or held by the Fund or in which partners, security holders, members, officers, directors, agents, personnel or employees of such persons serve on boards of directors or otherwise have ongoing relationships. Each of such ownership and other relationships may result in securities laws restrictions on transactions in such securities by the Fund and otherwise create conflicts of interest for the Fund. In such instances, the members of the Highland Group may in their discretion make investment recommendations and decisions that may be the same as or different from those made with respect to the Fund's investments. In connection with any such activities described above, the members of the Highland Group may hold, purchase, sell, trade or take other related actions in securities or investments of a type that may be suitable to investments for the Fund. The members of the Highland Group will not be required to offer such securities or investments to the Fund or provide notice of such activities to the Fund. In addition, in managing the Fund's portfolio, the Investment Adviser may take into account its relationship or the relationships of its affiliates with obligors and their respective affiliates, which may create conflicts of interest. Furthermore, in connection with actions taken in the ordinary course of business of the Investment Adviser in accordance with its fiduciary duties to its other clients, the Investment Adviser may take, or be required to take, actions which adversely affect the interests of the Fund.

The Highland Group has invested and may continue to invest in investments that would also be appropriate for the Fund. Such investments may be different from those made by the Fund. The Highland Group does not have any duty, in making or maintaining such investments, to act in a way that is favorable to the Fund or to offer any such opportunity to the Fund, subject to the Investment Adviser's internal allocation policy. The investment policies, fee arrangements and other circumstances applicable to such other accounts and investments may vary from those applicable to the Fund and its investments. The Highland Group may also provide advisory or other services for a customary fee with respect to investments made or held by the Fund, and neither the Fund nor its investors shall have any right to such fees. The Highland Group may also have ongoing relationships with, render services to or engage in transactions with other clients who make investments of a similar nature to those of the Fund, and with companies whose securities or properties are acquired by the Fund.

As further described below, in connection with the foregoing activities the Highland Group may from time to time come into possession of material nonpublic information that limits the ability of the Investment Adviser to effect a transaction for the Fund, and the Fund's investments may be constrained as a consequence of the Investment Adviser's inability to use such information for advisory purposes or otherwise to effect transactions that otherwise may have been initiated on behalf of its clients, including the Fund.

Although the professional staff of the Investment Adviser will devote as much time to the Fund as the Investment Adviser deems appropriate to perform its duties in accordance with the Fund's advisory agreement and in accordance with reasonable commercial standards, the staff may have conflicts in allocating its time and services among the Fund and the Investment Adviser's other accounts.

Various Activities of the Investment Adviser and its Affiliates. The directors, officers, personnel, employees and agents of the Investment Adviser and its affiliates may, subject to applicable law, serve as directors (whether supervisory or managing), officers, personnel, employees, partners, agents, nominees or signatories or provide banking, agency, insurance and/or other services, and receive arm's length fees in connection with such services, for the Fund or its investments or other entities that operate in the same or a related line of business as the, for other clients managed by the Investment Adviser or its affiliates, or for any obligor or issuer in respect of the CDOs, and the Fund shall have no right to any such fees. In serving in these multiple capacities, they may have obligations to such other clients or investors in those entities, the fulfillment of which may not be in the best interests of the Fund. The Fund may compete with other Highland Accounts for capital and investment opportunities.

There is no limitation or restriction on the Investment Adviser or any of its affiliates with regard to acting as investment adviser or collateral manager (or in a similar role) to other parties or persons. This and other future activities of the Investment Adviser and/or its affiliates may give rise to additional conflicts of interest. Such conflicts may relate to obligations that the Investment Adviser's investment committee, the Investment Adviser or its affiliates have to other clients.

The Investment Adviser and its affiliates may participate in creditors or other committees with respect to the bankruptcy, restructuring or workout of an investment of the Fund or another account. In such circumstances, the Investment Adviser or its affiliates may take positions on behalf of themselves or another account that are adverse to the interests of the Fund.

The Investment Adviser and/or its affiliates may act as an underwriter, arranger or placement agent, or otherwise participate in the origination, structuring, negotiation, syndication or offering of CDOs, Highland Accounts and other investments purchased by the Fund. Such transactions shall be subject to fees that are intended to be no greater than arm's-length fees, and the Fund shall have no right to any such fees. There is no expectation for preferential access to transactions involving CDOs and Highland Accounts that are underwritten, originated, arranged or placed by the Investment Adviser and/or its affiliates and the Fund shall not have any right to any such fees.

Investments in Highland Accounts Managed by the Investment Manager or its Affiliates. The Fund may invest a significant portion of its capital in Highland Accounts. The Investment Adviser or its affiliates will receive senior and subordinated management fees and, in some cases, a performance-based allocation or fee with respect to its role as general partner and/or manager of the Highland Accounts. If the Fund invests in Highland Accounts in secondary transactions, the Fund will indirectly pay the fees (senior and subordinated) of such Highland Accounts and any

APPELLANTS' AMENDED STATEMENT OF ISSUES AND DESIGNATION OF RECORD ON APPEAL

Pursuant to Rules 8009(a)(1)(A)-(B) and (a)(4) of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure, The Charitable DAF Fund, L.P. and CLO Holdco, Ltd. (“Appellants”) hereby designate the following items to be included in the record and identify the following issues with respect to their appeal of the Order Denying Motion for Modification of Order Authorizing Retention of James P. Seery, Jr., which was entered by the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas on June 30, 2021.

I. STATEMENT OF ISSUES TO BE PRESENTED ON APPEAL

1. Did the bankruptcy court err in refusing to modify its order extending quasi-judicial immunity to a debtor’s chief executive officer?

2. Did the bankruptcy court err in refusing to modify its order asserting exclusive gatekeeping and adjudicatory authority over certain accrued and unaccrued causes of action against the debtor’s chief executive officer?

3. Did the bankruptcy court err in treating its order approving appointment of the debtor’s chief executive officer as final rather than interlocutory and therefore subject to the requirements of Rule 60(b)? Did appellants satisfy Rule 60(b) in any event?

II. DESIGNATION OF ITEMS TO BE INCLUDED IN THE RECORD

carried interest. If the Fund provides all of the equity for a Highland Account, there may be no third party with whom the amount of such fees, expenses and carried interest can be negotiated on an arm's-length basis. The Investment Adviser or its affiliates will have conflicting division of loyalties and responsibilities regarding the Fund and a Highland Account, and certain other conflicts of interest would be inherent in the situation. There can be no assurance that the interests of the Fund would not be subordinated to those of a Highland Account or to other interests of the Investment Adviser.

Multiple Levels of Fees. The Investment Adviser and the Highland Accounts are expected to impose management fees, other administrative fees, carried interest and other performance allocations on realized and unrealized appreciation in the value of the assets managed and other income. This may result in greater expense than if investors in the Fund were able to invest directly in the Highland Accounts or their respective underlying investments. Investors in the Fund should take into account that the return on their investment will be reduced to the extent of both levels of fees. The general partner or manager of a Highland Account may receive the economic benefit of certain fees from its portfolio companies for services and in connection with unconsummated transactions (e.g., break-up, placement, monitoring, directors', organizational and set-up fees and financial advisory fees).

Cross Transactions and Principal Transactions. The Investment Adviser may effect client cross-transactions where the Investment Adviser causes a transaction to be effected between the Fund and another client advised by it or any of its affiliates. The Investment Adviser may engage in a client cross-transaction involving the Fund any time that the Investment Adviser believes such transaction to be fair to the Fund and such other client.

The Investment Adviser may effect principal transactions where the Fund acquires securities from or sells securities to the Investment Adviser and/or its affiliates, in each case in accordance with applicable law, which will include the Investment Adviser obtaining independent consent on behalf of the Fund prior to engaging in any such principal transaction between the Fund and the Investment Adviser or its affiliates.

The Investment Adviser may advise the Fund to acquire or dispose of securities in cross trades between the Fund and other clients of the Investment Adviser or its affiliates in accordance with applicable legal and regulatory requirements. In addition, the Fund may invest in securities of obligors or issuers in which the Investment Adviser and/or its affiliates have a debt, equity or participation interest, and the holding and sale of such investments by the Fund may enhance the profitability of the Investment Adviser's own investments in such companies. Moreover, the Fund may invest in assets originated by the Investment Adviser or its affiliates. In each such case, the Investment Adviser and such affiliates may have a potentially conflicting division of loyalties and responsibilities regarding the Fund and the other parties to such trade. Under certain circumstances, the Investment Adviser and its affiliates may determine that it is appropriate to avoid such conflicts by selling a security at a fair value that has been calculated pursuant to the Investment Adviser's valuation procedures to another client managed or advised by the Investment Adviser or such affiliates. In addition, the Investment Adviser may enter into agency cross-transactions where it or any of its affiliates acts as broker for the Fund and for the other party to the transaction, to the extent permitted under applicable law. The Investment Adviser may obtain independent consent in writing on behalf of the Fund, which consent may be provided by the managing member of the General Partner or any other independent party on behalf of the Fund, if any such transaction requires the consent of the Fund under Section 206(3) of the U.S. Investment Advisers Act of 1940, as amended.

Material Non-Public Information. There are generally no ethical screens or information barriers among the Investment Adviser and certain of its affiliates of the type that many firms implement to separate persons who make investment decisions from others who might possess material, non-public information that could influence such decisions. If the Investment Adviser, any of its personnel or its affiliates were to receive material non-public information about a particular obligor or issuer, or have an interest in causing the Fund to acquire a particular security, the Investment Adviser may be prevented from advising the Fund to purchase or sell such asset due to internal restrictions imposed on the Investment Adviser. Notwithstanding the maintenance of certain internal controls relating to the management of material nonpublic information, it is possible that such controls could fail and result in the Investment Adviser, or one of its investment professionals, buying or selling an asset while, at least constructively, in possession of material non-public information. Inadvertent trading on material nonpublic information could have adverse effects on the Investment Adviser's reputation, result in the imposition of regulatory or financial sanctions, and as a consequence, negatively impact the Investment Adviser's ability to perform its portfolio management services to the Fund. In addition, while the Investment Adviser and certain of its affiliates currently operate without information barriers on an integrated basis, such entities could be required by certain regulations, or decide that it is advisable, to establish information barriers. In such event, the Investment Adviser's ability to operate as an integrated platform could also be impaired, which would limit the Investment Adviser's access to personnel of its affiliates and potentially impair its ability to manage the Fund's investments.

Conflicts Relating to Equity and Debt Ownership by the Fund and Affiliates. In certain circumstances, the Fund and other client accounts may invest in securities or other instruments of the same issuer (or affiliated group of issuers) having a different seniority in the issuer's capital structure. If the issuer becomes insolvent, restructures or suffers financial distress, there may be a conflict between the interests in the Fund and those other accounts insofar as the issuer may be unable (or in the case of a restructuring prior to bankruptcy may be expected to be unable) to satisfy the claims of all classes of its creditors and security holders and the Fund and such other accounts may have competing claims for the remaining assets of such issuers. Under these circumstances it may not be feasible for the Investment Adviser to reconcile the conflicting interests in the Fund and such other accounts in a way that protects the Fund's interests. Additionally, the Investment Adviser or its nominees may in the future hold board or creditors' committee memberships which may require them to vote or take other actions in such capacities that might be conflicting with respect to certain funds managed by the Investment Adviser in that such votes or actions may favor the interests of one account over another account. Furthermore, the Investment Adviser's fiduciary responsibilities in these capacities might conflict with the best interests of the investors.

or offset the Management Fee. Conflicts of interest may also arise due to the allocation of such fees to or among co-investors.

Soft Dollars. The Investment Adviser's authority to use "soft dollar" credits generated by the Fund's securities transactions to pay for expenses that might otherwise have been borne by the Investment Adviser may give the Investment Adviser an incentive to select brokers or dealers for transactions, or to negotiate commission rates or other execution terms, in a manner that takes into account the soft dollar benefits received by the Investment Adviser rather than giving exclusive consideration to the interests of the Fund.

21 right. Is there anyone else who wishes to appear for today's
22 hearings?

23 MR. NEIER: Good afternoon, Your Honor. David Neier
24 of Winston & Strawn making a reappearance, but this time for 25 several employees of Highland: Mr. Leventon, Mr. Sevilla, Mr.

1 Ellington, several others.

2 THE COURT: Oh, okay. Thank you. Any other
3 appearances today?

4 (No response.)

5 THE COURT: All right. I'll assume everyone else is
6 just going to observe.

7 Well, we have two employment applications. Mr. Pomerantz,
8 how did you want to proceed on those?

9 MR. POMERANTZ: So, Your Honor, we have the two
10 motions to present, Your Honor. I'm happy to say that neither
11 of them are opposed.

12 Before I present the motions to Your Honor, I wanted to 13 ask if Your Honor would like to address the mediation issues
14 at the conclusion of the hearing or prior to the presentation
15 of the motions.

16 THE COURT: At the conclusion. Thank you.

17 MR. POMERANTZ: Thank you, Your Honor.

18 Your Honor, the first motion on the docket today is a
19 Motion to Appoint James Seery as the Debtors' chief executive
20 officer and chief restructuring officer, effective as of March
21 15th, which is about the time that Mr. Seery began performing
22 the services as the chief executive officer.

23 While there's a good argument that the retention of a
24 chief executive officer is in the ordinary course of business
25 and does not require court approval, the Debtor, out of an

1 abundance of caution, filed the motion, and the motion seeks
2 approval of the agreement which is attached to the motion.

3 The second motion, Your Honor, is a Motion to Approve the
4 Retention of DSI as the Debtors' Financial Advisor. And as
5 the Court is aware, Mr. Sharp, a managing director of DSI, was
6 approved as the Debtors' Chief Restructuring Officer pursuant
7 to this Court's January 10th order.

8 Although Mr. Seery is proposed to replace Mr. Sharp as the 9 Debtors' Chief Restructuring Officer, Mr. Seery still requires
10 the financial assistance and advisory support that DSI has 11 been providing to him, the Board, and the Debtor for several 12 months.

13 While each of these motions, as I mentioned, Your Honor,
14 are unopposed, we plan to put on the testimony of James Seery,
15 John Dubel, and Brad Sharp to provide the Court with the
16 evidentiary basis to support the relief that is requested.
17 And with the testimony, Your Honor, we intend to accomplish
18 several things.

19 First, Your Honor, in light of our exchange at the hearing
20 on July 8th, we thought it'd be appropriate for Mr. Seery to 21 provide a more fulsome response to Your Honor regarding the
22 nature and extent of the Debtors' operations and assets and
23 the variety of significant activities that the Board in 24 general and Mr. Seery as the chief executive officer has been
25 performing over the last several months.

1 We think this is very important, Your Honor, given that
2 the Debtor has substantial and multiple complex business
3 operations that it oversees that are in -- that are in
4 subsidiaries outside of Chapter 11 or are in entities managed
5 by the Debtor and also not in Chapter 11. And the Court, we
6 appreciate, especially in light of Your Honor's comments, does
7 not have the benefit of seeing what is really going on. So
8 we're hoping, by Mr. Seery's testimony, it will provide Your
9 Honor with a much clear picture, and, quite frankly, a better
10 job doing it than I was able to do last week.

11 Mr. Seery's testimony will support the need for the 12 retention of the chief executive officer and why his 13 particular background and qualifications made him the 14 appropriate choice for the role.

15 Second, Mr. Dubel, as the chairman of the compensation
16 committee of the Board, will testify regarding the process
17 undertaken by the compensation committee that led to the 18 conclusion to ask Mr. Seery to become the chief executive
19 officer and the agreement -- under the terms and conditions
20 set forth in the agreement.

21 Lastly, Mr. Sharp will testify regarding the activities he
22 and DSI have been performing since the commencement of the 23 case, the assistance they have been providing to Mr. Seery
24 over the last few months, and how the nature and extent of the 25 services they are providing will essentially remain the same

1 if Your Honor approves the motion to employ Mr. Seery.

2 Before I turn the virtual podium over to my partner, John
3 Morris, to present the testimony, Your Honor, I thought I
4 would provide the Court with a brief summary of the events
5 leading to the Debtors' filing of the motion.

6 THE COURT: Okay.

7 MR. POMERANTZ: As Your Honor will recall, the Court
8 entered an order on January 9th approving a settlement between
9 the Debtor and the Committee, and a significant part of that
10 settlement involved modifications to the Debtors' corporate
11 governance that resulted in the installation of the 12 Independent Board.

13 The term sheet that was attached in the settlement motion
14 specifically contemplated that the Independent Board, in
15 consultation with the Committee, would determine whether it
16 was appropriate to retain a chief executive officer, and
17 further went on to say that the chief executive officer could
18 be a member of the Board.

19 And the retention of a chief executive officer was on
20 everyone's minds from the beginning, because since Mr.
21 Dondero's authority as the CEO of the Debtor was being
22 terminated in connection with the settlement, the Debtor and
23 the Committee contemplated that, in order to manage a dynamic
24 and widespread asset management platform like Highland's, that
25 the retention of a chief executive officer may very well be

1 necessary.

2 I will leave it to Mr. Seery and Mr. Dubel to explain to
3 the Court what transpired during the early stages of the case
4 and the decision-making process that led to Mr. Seery starting
5 to act as the Debtors' chief executive officer. And I would
6 also leave it to Mr. Dubel to discuss the sequence of events
7 which led from the appointment of him as the chief executive
8 officer through the filing of the motion that brings us here
9 today, which events will include the establishment of a
10 compensation committee; the commissioning of a report from the 11 Debtors' compensation expert, Mercer; the procurement of the 12 Debtors' [sic] and officers insurance coverage to cover Mr.
13 Seery and Mr. Dubel; the negotiations over the (inaudible) of 14 Mr. Seery; and lastly, the negotiations with the Committee
15 which has resulted in the motion being fully consensual.

16 I'll also leave it to Mr. Seery to explain his personal --
17 professional background and why he was qualified to fill that 18 role.

19 The agreement, Your Honor, between Mr. Seery and the 20 Debtor includes the following material provisions.

21 First, there would be base compensation at the rate of
22 $150,000 a month, retroactive to March 15th. And while Mr.
23 Seery will remain on the Board as part of his role as the 24 chief executive officer, the $150,000 per month would cover
25 his services not only as a CEO but also a member of the Board.

1 In other words, the Board fees that were agreed to back in
2 January of $60,000 a month, $50,000 a month, and $30,000 a
3 month would be replaced by the $150,000 a month commencing on
4 March 15th.

5 While the compensation committee and Mr. Seery reached
6 agreement on the structure of potential bonus compensation,
7 the Committee has not agreed to that proposed structure. As a
8 result, the compensation committee and Mr. Seery decided that
9 approval sought in this motion would only be the monthly
10 compensation and the other non-economic terms, but would not
11 include the bonus compensation. Any bonus compensation sought
12 to be paid to Mr. Seery would be pursuant to a separate motion
13 filed, if at all, a lot later in the case.

14 The Committee was also uncomfortable with the open-ended
15 nature of the agreement and wanted some control in being able
16 to seek to terminate it. To accommodate the Committee, Mr.
17 Seery and the Debtor agreed to the following: After 90 days
18 from the date the Court enters an order approving this
19 agreement, if the Court is inclined to do so, the Committee
20 may provide the Debtor with notice that it does not want the 21 agreement to continue. The Debtor would then have two weeks
22 to file a motion on normal notice seeking to extend the date
23 of the agreement, and Mr. Seery would be entitled to his base
24 compensation until the Court ruled on the motion.

25 Also, the Committee asked us that be made clear in the

1 order, which we've done, that Mr. Seery's retention would
2 terminate on the effective date on the plan, subject, of
3 course, of his right to seek bonus compensation pursuant to a
4 separate motion. The agreement also contains standard
5 reimbursement and indemnification provisions.

6 Your Honor, those conclude my initial remarks. I'm happy
7 to take questions. And then, at the appropriate time, I
8 return it over to Mr. Morris, who will put on the testimony of 9 Mr. Seery, Mr. Dubel, and Mr. Sharp.

10 THE COURT: All right. I'd like to pretty quickly
11 get to the evidence. So, I'll ask: Does anyone have a
12 burning desire to make an opening statement? If so, please
13 let's keep it brief.

14 (No response.)

15 THE COURT: All right. I assume everyone is content
16 to wait until the end and speak up in any way they want to 17 speak up.

18 Mr. Morris, are you ready to call your witness?

19 MR. MORRIS: I am, Your Honor. Can you hear me right
20 now?

21 THE COURT: I can. Thank you.

22 MR. MORRIS: Okay. Your Honor, this is John Morris
23 from Pachulski Stang Ziehl & Jones for the Debtor. As the 24 Debtors' first witness, we call James Seery.

25 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Seery, I need to swear

Seery - Direct

13

1 you in by video. So could you take your phone off mute and
2 please raise your right hand. Can you say Testing 1, 2, so I
3 know you're there?

4 MR. SEERY: Testing 1, 2.

5 THE COURT: All right.

6 JAMES P. SEERY, DEBTOR'S WITNESS, SWORN

7 THE COURT: All right. Thank you. Mr. Morris?

8 MR. MORRIS: Thank you, Your Honor. Before I begin
9 my questioning of Mr. Seery, the Debtor had filed its witness
10 list and its exhibit list. We provided copies of the exhibits
11 to the Court and to the Committee, and I would like to just 12 move into evidence Debtors' Exhibits 1 through 7 at this time.

13 THE COURT: All right. So I have in front of me
14 Docket Entry No. 822 with Exhibits 1 through 7. Any 15 objection? (No response.) All right. 1 through 7 are 16 admitted.

17 (Debtors' Exhibits 1 through 7 are received into 18 evidence.)

19 MR. MORRIS: Thank you, Your Honor. And just as an
20 overview, so you have a sense of where we're going with Mr.
21 Seery's testimony, I am going to begin with some very brief
22 background questionings and then have Mr. Seery answer some 23 questions concerning the overview of the company and the 24 corporate structure of the company. You may have heard some 25 of this before, but I think in the context of a motion such as

004490

Seery - Direct

14

1 the appointment of a CEO, I think it would be helpful to hear
2 it all.

3 When I finish with that, we're going to move into the area
4 of the Board and the work that the Board has done and Mr.
5 Seery's work as a member of the Board.

6 And then we'll transition into really the meat of the 7 discussion here, and that is what has he done in his capacity
8 as CEO. And to be clear, he's not the CEO, he doesn't call
9 himself the CEO, but he's functioned as the CEO, and I think
10 that's the point that we want to present to the Court. And we
11 want to present to the Court the fact that he functioned as a
12 CEO really from day one of the process. And we're not going
13 to get into, you know, every single thing he's done, because 14 we'd be here for an awfully long time, but we do intend to 15 highlight a couple of the transactions that he worked on and 16 give you a sense of his role in trying to develop a plan and
17 resolving claims.

18 And I think, with that, you'll have a better understanding
19 of Mr. Seery, his role, and why we believe it's a proper
20 exercise of the Debtors' business judgment to appoint him as 21 CEO.

22 THE COURT: All right. Sounds good.

23 MR. MORRIS: All right.

15

1 Q Mr. Seery, can you hear me?

2 A I can. Can you hear me?

3 Q Yes, I can.

4 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, just one other point. I
5 have a legal assistant on the phone here. She's participating
6 in the WebEx. Her name is La Asia Canty. La Asia is going to
7 handle the exhibits when and if we need to put them up on the
8 screen. So we've tried to practice that, and hopefully it
9 will go smoothly, but I may turn to Ms. Canty from time to 10 time with some help with the exhibits.

11 THE COURT: All right. Fine.

12 BY MR. MORRIS:

13 Q Okay. Mr. -- what is your current relationship to the
14 Debtor?

15 A I'm an Independent Director of Strand, which is the
16 general partner of the Debtor.

17 Q All right. And when did you become the Independent
18 Director of Strand?

19 A On January 9th, along with John Dubel and Russ Nelms.

20 Q The Court has previously heard about your background, but 21 from a high level, can you just hit the highlights for the
22 Court as to your experience, et cetera?

23 A To go swiftly -- and if Your Honor wants me to go further,
24 I certainly can -- I was a restructuring and finance lawyer
25 for 10 years, handling virtually every type of restructuring

004492

Seery - Direct

16

1 matter as well as financing in distressed matters during that
2 time.

3 In 1999, I went to the business side and I began to manage
4 distressed assets at Lehman Brothers as well as a leverage
5 finance business. That grew into my running the risky finance
6 business as well as the loan business at Lehman globally,
7 which included high-grade loans, high-yield loans, trading and
8 sales of those products, a big part of distressed, all of 9 restructuring, all of asset management, and all of the hedging
10 of the portfolio that we had.

11 From there, I left Lehman with a small group and sold it
12 to Barclay's. I moved on and ran a hedge fund with two former
13 partners of mine who are the founding partners called River
14 Birch Capital. It was a long-short credit fund; mostly 15 credit, though we did structured finance as well, and we also 16 handled some equities.

17 Q Okay. Let's spend a few minutes, as a preview, talking
18 about the Debtor and its business. And let's start with the 19 basics. Is there a way you can summarize the business of the
20 Debtor?

21 A I think, from a high level, the best way to think about
22 the Debtor is that it's a registered investment advisor. As a
23 registered investment advisor, which is really any advisor of 24 third-party money over $25 million, it has to register with 25 the SEC, and it manages funds in many different ways.

004493

17

1 The Debtor manages approximately $200 million current
2 values -- it was more than that at the start of the case -- of
3 its own assets. It doesn't have to be a registered investment
4 advisor for those assets, but it does manage its own assets,
5 which include directly-owned securities; loans from mostly
6 related entities, but not all; and investments in certain
7 funds which it also manages.

8 In addition, the Debtor manages about roughly $2 billion
9 in -- $2 billion in total managed assets, around $2 billion in 10 CLO assets, and then other entities, which are hedge funds or 11 PE style.

12 In addition, the Debtor provides shared services for 13 approximately $6 billion of assets. Those are assets that are 14 owned by related entities but not owned by Debtor-owned or 15 managed entities. And those are a combination of back office
16 services, which include timely reporting, asset management,
17 legal and compliance support, trading and research support,
18 but not the actual management of the assets.

19 The Debtors run -- and I think the way to think about it
20 is on a functional basis; at least, that's the way I think
21 about it -- and there's really six areas. There's corporate
22 management; finance, accounting and tax; trading and research;
23 private equity and fund investing; compliance and legal; and 24 then structured equity, which really includes all of the CLO
25 businesses.

004494

Seery - Direct

18

1 The goals of the Debtor generally are what you'd expect
2 out of an asset manager. A little bit different than most
3 because the Debtor does own assets, which is a little
4 different than when money asset managers typically hold assets
5 away from the asset manager. But number one, discharge
6 Highland's, which I'll call Highland (inaudible), LP, duties
7 to investors in the funds. Those are fiduciary duties under
8 the Investment Advisors Act. Each day, you've got to make
9 sure that you do that first and foremost.

10 Number two, create positive MPD in each of the funds that
11 we manage, either through sales, purchases, or hedging.

12 Next, make sure that we report timely finances of our own
13 assets, including in the funds, but also, to the third-party
14 investors. Maximize the value of HCMLP's owned assets. And 15 then operate as efficiently as possible for the lowest cost.

16 That's essentially how the Debtor -- how we think about
17 the Debtor from a functional perspective. It's got about 70
18 employees laid out in those areas that I mentioned, and each
19 of those employees every day usually think about those goals
20 and try to discharge their duties by focusing on those goals.

21 Q Thank you, Mr. Seery. And can you describe for the Court
22 how those 70 or so employees are organized? Is there an
23 internal corporate structure that you're working with?

24 A Yeah. The way -- the way -- I apologize. The way we 25 think about it is, as I said, corporate management, which is

004495

Seery - Direct

19

1 really HR and overseeing the function that it's filling every
2 day, that's been really -- because Mr. Dondero was removed
3 from management. It used to all roll up to him. That's been
4 effectively rolling up to me since February.

5 Finance, accounting, and tax. Each of these businesses
6 every day require certain amounts of liquidity. Each of them
7 have requirements that they have to pay out to investors.
8 Each of them have expenses. And all of them have different
9 kinds of tax either obligations or reporting. Those are
10 managed by Frank Waterhouse as the CFO. (inaudible), sorry.

11 Trading and research. With respect to the assets, they're
12 not -- they're not static assets. Many of them do get traded
13 on a regular basis. A gentleman, Joe Sowin, heads up the 14 trading of the liquid assets. John Povish (phonetic) heads up
15 the research and the trading of the more illiquid assets, but 16 not PE. In addition, we have PE assets that require some
17 management every day, including Board seats. That's a
18 gentleman by the name of Cameron Baynard, and also he will
19 fund investments in that area. J.P. Sevilla is responsible 20 for working with Cameron on those investments and leading that 21 team.

22 Importantly, because of the nature of what the Debtor
23 does, the fiduciary obligations, as well as the 24 responsibilities to each investor and the legal overlay, we 25 have a robust compliance and legal department. That's headed

004496

20

1 by Thomas Surgent and Scott Ellington. Scott: more focused
2 on transactional issues with respect to legal. He is actually
3 general counsel. Everything that has do with compliance, the 4 interrelatedness of the funds, trading between funds or
5 positions that are shared across funds, which are many, runs
6 through Thomas Surgent and his team.

7 And finally, structured equity. Sitting on top of the 8 structured finance business that we have, understanding those
9 assets, particularly of two billion-ish assets in CLOs, that's
10 headed by Hunter Covitz.

11 Q Can you describe for the Court your interaction with each
12 of the department heads that you just identified?

13 A Well, depending on the nature of the issue each day, I
14 have at least -- I'd say generally at least weekly contact
15 with most, often daily contact with most. So, for example,
16 when there are trading issues, particularly as the market was
17 extremely volatile with respect to unliquid securities, Joe
18 Sowin and I were on the phone several times a day.

19 Relating to the COVID issues, Brian Collins, who heads the
20 HR group, and I were on the phone several times a day.

21 Relating to structured equity, depending on what's
22 happening with a particular fund or what's happening in loan
23 prices, I speak to Hunter Covitz. And it goes down the line.

24 So it really depends on each of the areas and what's going
25 on in the business, but I try to touch base with each of those

004497

21

1 department heads on a regular basis.

2 Frank Waterhouse, of course, is at least weekly. We have
3 a standing call every week to make sure that we're focused on
4 liquidity, which is always a concern in a Chapter 11, and
5 Frank and his team are on that call and prepare weekly
6 materials for us.

7 Q Okay.

8 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, before I move to the next
9 area of questions, the work of the Board, I just wanted to see
10 if the Court had any questions on the corporate organizational 11 structure, the internal structure of the business, or any of 12 the matters that Mr. Seery touched on?

13 THE COURT: I do not. And I do have in front of me a
14 demonstrative aid that Mr. Annable sent over ahead of time, so
15 I appreciate that as well.

16 MR. MORRIS: Okay. Your Honor, I think Mr. Seery
17 covered much of what's on that document, but if you'd like him
18 to go through that, we're happy to do it.

19 THE COURT: No, that's fine.

20 MR. MORRIS: Okay.

21 BY MR. MORRIS:

22 Q Then let's shift gears a little bit and start talking
23 about the work of the Independent Board itself. The 24 Independent Board was appointed in mid-January; is that right?

25 A Yeah. It was the first -- January 9th, the first week of 004498

22

1 January, and we started working that afternoon.

2 Q Okay. Can you describe for the Court what the -- the
3 Board's initial focus? What were you focused on?

4 A Well, if you think about the areas that I just mentioned
5 previously, the Board initially, for lack of a better term,
6 gang-tackled everything. So we tried to make sure that we had
7 a broad base of understanding among the three of us with
8 respect to the business.

9 I, because of my background, had a lot more familiarity
10 with asset management, these type of asset security
11 businesses. But we wanted to make sure that each of us was at 12 least facile with the main areas that we had to understand.
13 First was operations. How does the company run each day?
14 Particularly, how was it going to run without Mr. Dondero?
15 And I went through some of those functional areas and how we 16 thought about those and who head each of those.

17 Next in the -- I don't mean to say it's second, because
18 it's always first, but liquidity. What did the Debtors'
19 liquidity look like? How are we going to manage that 20 liquidity, not just for the near-term, but also for the 21 medium-term, and then even into the slightly longer-term? We 22 had to think about what assets are there, what money those
23 assets might need that we would have to invest in them, and 24 whether there was liquidity in those assets that we can create
25 liquidity in order to fund the Debtors' business.

004499

23

1 Personnel, we needed a good opportunity to understand who
2 did what, not just in the senior managers that I mentioned,
3 but deeper into the staff, because we're going to rely on
4 those folks. Particularly worked through with DSI.

5 As I mentioned, the Debtor, unlike a lot of other asset
6 managers, owns a lot of assets. It's a disparate group of 7 assets, but getting a feel and understanding for what those
8 assets were, what the critical issues surrounding those assets
9 are, who managed them day-to-day: We wanted to make sure that
10 each of the directors had a good (inaudible) and understanding
11 of those issues that might arise with respect to those assets,
12 and a good sense of how quickly those issues could, you know,
13 further arise.

14 We also had to get a very good understanding of each of 15 the funds that we manage. As I said, the Investment Advisors
16 Act puts a fiduciary duty on Highland Capital to discharge its 17 duty to the investors. So while we have duties to the estate,
18 we also have duties, as I mentioned in my last testimony, to 19 each of the investors in the funds.

20 Now, some of them are related parties, and those are a
21 little bit easier. Some of them are owned by Highland. But
22 there are third-party investors in these funds who have no
23 relation whatsoever to Highland, and we owe them a fiduciary
24 duty both to manage their assets prudently but also to seek to 25 maximize value. And we wanted to make sure we had a good

004500

Seery - Direct

24

1 understanding of that.

2 Finally, with respect to the shared service arrangements,
3 we needed to get an understanding of that $6 billion in assets
4 and how our business, HCMLP, worked with those -- those shared
5 service counterparties and exactly who did what for whom.

6 It's very complicated because it had been run much more on a
7 functional basis than on a line basis from each contract. So
8 it's not as if your employees are allocated to NexBank. It's 9 the whole panoply of businesses that we enter into, and
10 providing those services to NexBank, not through a central
11 point but through whatever requests come in from the counter-
12 parties. So we needed a good understanding of what those 13 contracts looked and what those obligations were.

14 A VOICE: John, you're on mute.

15 MR. MORRIS: Thank you.

16 BY MR. MORRIS:

17 Q All of that work was going on in the first weeks of the 18 appointment of the Board?

19 A Yeah, it would not be fair to say we could do that in a
20 couple weeks. So it took far longer than that. But that 21 didn't mean that issues didn't start to arise immediately in
22 February. And so, while we were learning, we were also 23 starting to get a feel for different things that could happen
24 in the company.

25 As in many companies, immediately, one of the first things

004501

Seery - Direct

25

1 you have to deal with is, particularly at the beginning of the
2 year, what does compensation look like; who are the -- what do
3 promotions look like; are you going to be able to hold this
4 team together to service these assets? And yeah, we had that,
5 with an additional wrinkle that Highland's payment structure
6 defers a significant amount of compensation to its employees,
7 and it vests over time, and it has the very typical provision
8 that if you are not there when it vests -- when it is going to
9 be paid, actually, not when it vests. Even if you're vested,
10 if you're not there when it gets paid, you're not entitled to 11 it. And so understanding who was owed what; how the vesting
12 worked; what the compensation structure looked like compared
13 to third parties, was one of the first things we had to do.
14 And Highland has an extremely robust review process. Brian
15 Collins manages it. It's first-rate. It goes through both 16 360 in terms of what other employees think of each other as 17 well as bottoms up, in terms of performance. And then it has
18 a top-down component, which ultimately ran through Mr.
19 Dondero. Since he was effectively removed from that role, the 20 Board had to jump in and get a full understanding with Brian
21 about what the process looked like; how it was going to work;
22 how it compared to other firms; and whether we could go
23 forward with it. And that was one of the motions that was
24 brought early to the Court.

25 A Let's talk a minute about the transactional work that the 004502

Seery - Direct

26

1 Board was called to focus on initially. Are you familiar with
2 the transactional protocols that the Debtor agreed to with the 3 Committee?

4 Q I am.

5 A Can you describe for the Court the impact those protocols
6 had on the Board's work?

7 Q Well, they make it extremely difficult. And I understand
8 the purposes behind the protocols. Was not involved in 9 negotiating them. However, because of the limitations they
10 put on the Debtor, they make it very difficult to manage
11 certain of the assets. So, if an asset needs money to invest
12 in it, depending on the size, it may need Committee approval.
13 If the -- if there are expenses that need to be paid from --
14 in related entities, and the related entity does not have the 15 capital to make the expense payment, the Debtor needs to put 16 the money in. Can the Debtor put that money in without the
17 Committee's approval, and if the Committee doesn't approve,
18 would we have to go to Court?

19 So, the functioning on a day-to-day basis for how to deal
20 with those assets became very difficult. And that came up
21 really early, as the market started to get a lot more
22 volatility by mid-February. We saw with respect to the 23 internal accounts trades that we would have liked to put on,
24 for example, short position, where we just weren't able to put 25 the trades on.

004503

Seery - Direct

27

1 Now, we could go to the Committee, and we did, but
2 understanding why we wanted to put it on; explaining it;
3 presenting that opportunity to the Committee; and then having
4 them go to the full Committee with it: It's very cumbersome.
5 And the trading markets don't wait for a week to determine
6 whether that offering that you want to -- that you want to
7 access is available.

8 So, early on, we got a sense of how difficult it would be
9 to manage the business with the protocols.

10 One of the areas I think that was significant and that we
11 talked about significantly with the Committee was an entity
12 called Multi-Strat. Multi-Strat is a fund that is owned by 13 the Debtor. It's, in essence, a PUNY-style (phonetic) fund.
14 It's an older fund. And it's about 60 percent owned by the 15 Debtor and roughly 30 percent owned by Dondero-related
16 entities.

17 However, there are 90 million, roughly 89 million,
18 approximately, third-party redeemers who had redeemed in that
19 fund but have yet to be paid, so they're treated like equity
20 claims but they're a fixed dollar amount because they are set
21 at the date that they redeemed based on the NAV at that time,
22 the net asset claim.

23 So, we were -- we were stuck with looking at that fund and
24 trying to determine how do we best manage the fund to get up-
25 side for the Debtor as well as the related entities that owned

004504

Seery - Direct

28

1 the equity, making sure that we treated the redeemed entities
2 as fiduciaries, so which we acted as their fiduciaries, but
3 then also assuring that we managed the assets that that fund
4 owns in a prudent way.

5 One of the large assets in that fund were 13 life
6 policies. And these are, in essence, life insurance policies
7 that the Debtor bought from third parties. And there's a
8 market that trades life policies, and they owned these
9 policies on (inaudible). The value at the time was marked
10 around $32 million when -- when we took control.

11 The problem with the policies and some of the other
12 expenses at Multi-Strat is that they didn't -- Multi-Strat
13 didn't have the funds to continue to pay premiums. So, if the 14 premiums weren't paid, that $32 million was at risk of going
15 to zero. Why? Because if the premiums aren't paid, the 16 policies lapse. And once they lapse, the insurance company
17 will pay you zero for them. They don't them buy them back
18 anywhere. That's the market. But we looked at those assets
19 and began to consider how we would fund, from a liquidity
20 perspective, monies going into Multi-Strat.

21 The amounts required would require CC's approval under the
22 protocols, and the Debtor prepetition had advanced monies to
23 Multi-Strat to make premium payments and other expenses at 24 Multi-Strat. We went to the Committee and were able to get 25 approval to put a couple million dollars in early on to keep

004505

Seery - Direct

29

1 the policies alive while we analyzed the best opportunity for
2 maximizing value with respect to those policies.

3 But thereafter, we needed additional money to try to
4 consider how to continue to maximize value, and the Committee
5 balked. So we went to Dondero-related entities, and they
6 actually put equity into the Multi-Strats. So we -- the
7 Debtor had made a postpetition, in essence -- it wasn't a
8 postpetition advance because it was going outside of the 9 Debtor, but postpetition, the Debtor made a loan to Multi-
10 Strat to service the policies, and then Dondero-related
11 entities made an equity investment into Multi-Strat to 12 continue to service the policies.

13 Well, we understood as a Board but that wasn't going to 14 work and that the protocols were going to continue to hinder
15 us, so we entered into a sale process with respect to those 16 policies.

17 Q And the work that you're describing with respect to Multi-
18 Strat, is that -- just to transition to your work as 19 functionary CEO, would it fall into that bucket as opposed to 20 the Board work that we were talking about earlier?

21 A Yeah, absolutely. I think the -- the initial assessment,
22 as I said, we made as a group. And we looked at what the 23 opportunity set was, and determined that, because of the 24 costs, we weren't going to be able to continue to fund money
25 into Multi-Strat to make those payments.

004506

Seery - Direct

30

1 So the Board asked me to take on trying to work out a
2 process to sell those policies. So, working with Fred Caruso
3 of DSI, we hired a broker, after interviewing a couple
4 different brokers. We considered the views of the internal
5 Highland team with respect to value and how to maximize that
6 value. We entered into a sale process for those policies, and 7 we ended up with a number of bidders and broke it down to two
8 bidders for the 13 policies, breaking up the policies to
9 maximize the value. They're only on eight lives, so it's not
10 fair to call it a portfolio. And so there's significant
11 amounts of premiums that have to be paid on a monthly basis
12 and going forward, and realizations on those policies are very
13 uncertain because it's hard to take them over an actuarial
14 methodology because there's only eight lives.

15 We tried to consider other ways to finance those policies,
16 but seven turned out to be, in our view, far and away the best
17 net present value for the investors in the fund.

18 The challenge that we had, as I mentioned, is the 19 complexity of Multi-Strat was also layered with a loan from 20 NexBank that was secured by four of the policies. That $32
21 million loan was also secured by the MGM stock owned by Multi-
22 Strat.

23 And then, as we got towards closing, we learned that one
24 of the buyers wanted a more detailed title rep, and as we
25 peeled through, we found a long-dormant UBS fraudulent

004507

Seery - Direct

31

1 conveyance suit that had been brought against Multi-Strat.
2 There was no lien on the policies, but it made it impossible
3 for us to give the clean rep that the buyer wanted.

4 And at this point, I was running that with Fred Caruso, at
5 the request of the Board, and it became almost a full-time job
6 except for the five other things that we have to do during
7 April. And we negotiated a variety of different -- well,
8 considered a variety of different opportunities to try to 9 complete the sale.

10 First, I negotiated directly with UBS to see if they would
11 agree to a release, and then when the funds, other than 12 certain escrows which had to be paid out to NexBank as well as
13 repayment of the Debtors' fund, (inaudible), that didn't -- it
14 was very unfruitful in terms of those negotiations.

15 I then moved towards a potential bankruptcy of Multi-
16 Strat, where we would file Multi-Strat, have to do a 363 sale,
17 have a DIP loan to service the NexBank monthly payments. That
18 seemed very expensive.

19 We also thought about doing it as not selling them, so
20 perhaps we would a 360 -- a filing without a sale and try to 21 maximize the value by holding onto the policies but have to 22 get financing.

23 Ultimately, we came up with a structure which was we
24 escrowed funds for UBS, $10 million of funds, but they're not 25 actually for UBS. We preserved all of our rights to defend

004508

Seery - Direct

32

1 the claims and we had paid down NexBank. We allocated funds
2 to make sure that we can pay NexBank for the next year before
3 their loan comes due. We allocated for all the expenses in
4 Multi-Strat. And then when we went back to the sellers, lo
5 and behold, one of the two sellers balked. Didn't -- or
6 buyers, I'm sorry. Balked. Didn't want to complete the sale.
7 And fortunately, our broker (inaudible) and Fred Caruso had
8 had another buyer in the wings, kept them warm, and were able
9 to complete the sale for $37 million.

10 So that goes to: How does this business function, what's 11 the complexity of it, and what have I and the rest of the 12 Board been doing? That was virtually a month's worth of work.

13 Q And when did the Board ask you, if you recall, to 14 undertake this project? When did it begin and when did it
15 end?

16 A Well, the initial project, around -- around Multi-Strat,
17 we started analyzing it as a group in January, the first week
18 we were there. I started probably taking control of it
19 sometime in mid-February, with Fred Caruso. So, DSI was 20 already on it. We were looking to work with the Debtors' team
21 as well as hire a broker. We, as a group, as a Board, made
22 the decision to sell the policies. Ultimately, we sold them
23 for about $37 million, which was -- which was more, a few
24 million dollars more than the mark on the policies when we 25 took them.

004509

Seery - Direct

33

1 Q Can you give the Judge a sense of your role, as distinct
2 from the Board's role, how you went about completing or
3 attempting to complete all of the tasks that you've described
4 and the interaction with the Board and what the Board's role
5 was in assessing all of that?

6 A With respect to the Multi-Strat policies?

7 Q Uh-huh.

8 A I think, you know, initially, it was a understand, for the 9 three of us, understand the policies; understand the premium
10 obligations; understand what the benefits, the potential up-
11 sides to those policies were; and understand what the risks
12 were if we were to fail to make a premium payment; what did
13 the lapse period look like. And we did that collectively.
14 From there, all of the individual work around -- we came up
15 with a strategy to sell the policies, and then the tactical
16 work with Fred Caruso about how to execute sale of the 17 policies and completing that sale through the issues NexBank,
18 through the issues with UBS, resolving those issues, that
19 became really my job.

20 Q Now, I do want to take a step back, because we kind of
21 transitioned from the Board to the work that you were doing,
22 and I wanted to ask: You're seeking -- the Debtor is seeking
23 to have you appointed as the CEO, right?

24 A Yes.

25 Q Can you just describe for Judge Jernigan your 004510

Seery - Direct

34

1 understanding of the duties and responsibilities of the CEO
2 position that we're seeking your appointment for?

3 A Sure. From a high level, it's -- I apologize. From a
4 high level, it's what I said earlier, which is the Board sets
5 the strategy, the CEO implements the strategy. And so I work
6 with the Highland team and the managers that I described
7 earlier, whose function that is, to try to execute on that
8 strategy. So that's, that's the basic overlay of what we do.
9 But that includes everything from, as I mentioned, personnel
10 issues to COVID-19 protocol to determining whether we're going
11 to sell certain assets and then how we're going to sell them,
12 determining how we'll resolve issues like Multi-Strat.

13 Another good example was the trading accounts that the 14 Debtor had. So, on the second or third week of January, or 15 perhaps the third or fourth week, we determined as we were
16 going through the asset review that the Debtor had two primary
17 liquid or semi-liquid securities accounts, and those were in 18 the Select account, which was a separate fund that had 19 previously third-party investors but was effectively a hundred
20 percent, 99 and change percent, owned by Highland at this
21 point. And an internal account, which was basically just
22 HCMLP-owned and denominated securities. These were generally
23 at Jefferies. Both of them employed significant margin.

24 THE WITNESS: If this is too pedantic, Your Honor,
25 please tell me if I'm going too deep.

004511

1 But margin is, in essence, a way for a security purchaser
2 to borrow money to facilitate the purchase and holding of the
3 securities. In essence, the lender, which in this case was
4 Jefferies, a large, well-known, reputable financier and New
5 York investment bank, was the Debtors' account holder. The
6 Debtor would select securities. Jefferies would establish a
7 haircut. The haircut is really the -- how the lender
8 determines how much they want to lend against the assets. So
9 if there's a -- if there's a haircut of a hundred percent in
10 use there, there would be no margin against that asset. A
11 haircut of 50 percent means the debtor will give you -- or,
12 the lender will give you 50 percent of the funds you need to 13 own and hold that asset and you put up 50 percent of the 14 funds.

15 And in a margin loan, the way that the lender protects
16 itself is, each day, it assesses the value of the asset; it
17 looks at the volatility of the asset; and then it asks for 18 more margin if the asset value went down in the trading
19 markets; and then you have a day or two or three, depending on
20 the structure, to post the new margin.

21 If you don't post the new margin, and this the way every
22 margin loan works, the lender has the ability to seize the
23 asset, sell it, and pay off its loan. It will then give you
24 the proceeds above the loan, if any.

25 The debtor -- the lender does that by looking at both the

Seery - Direct

36

1 daily prices, to make sure that it can manage its exposure,
2 but also it considers the volatility. And what it does when
3 it's looking at the volatility, and volatility is really a
4 measure, the way -- the way that securities analysts look at
5 it, is a forward year of the movement, potential movement of a
6 security. And that's how you set your haircut. Because if
7 the -- if the asset is very, very stable -- for example, your
8 home -- if your home was a margin loan and your mortgage, say,
9 is a margin loan, there wouldn't be much calling of margin
10 every day, because if the lender loaned 80 percent of the 11 value of your home, there may be house sales that go higher or
12 lower, but they don't necessary move that much really quickly,
13 particularly if these loans set what's called a threshold
14 amount that allow a little bit of movement each way.

15 The margin loans, though, are on securities that can move
16 tremendously. And what happened in February and then in early
17 March, volatility spiked up, prices moved significantly,
18 prices moved against the Highland positions. So Jefferies did
19 two things. One is it called margin, because it was -- its 20 equity cushion, in essence, was getting trimmed, and it wanted
21 more protection. Number two, it increased the haircuts, which 22 it was entitled to do because it looked forward and said, The 23 volatility in this market is worse than we thought. It will 24 be a higher volatility and there's more risk to us that the 25 asset could be worth less than the loan.

004513

Seery - Direct

37

1 I started working with Joe Sowin, who's a head trader, a
2 very accomplished trader at Highland. He actually reports
3 into the -- not on the Debtors' payroll but another payroll
4 that we don't manage. But he spends a ton of time working on
5 Highland assets and trading those assets. And Joe and I
6 started working together to try to manage the Jefferies
7 exposure.

8 At one point, Jefferies actually seized the Select
9 account. Again, Select wasn't in bankruptcy, but Jefferies
10 had safe harbor provisions or protections anyway and they
11 could have done it. We felt they were about to seize the 12 internal account, and so we sent them a note that said that
13 perhaps their safe harbors weren't as good as they thought.
14 But, more importantly, here's our sale program. Jim Seery's
15 going to take over the account, working with Joe, and we're
16 going to manage it down.

17 In the Select account, Jefferies took it over -- and this
18 is not really a blame to Jefferies; it's part of the market --
19 they sold out of that account pretty quickly. They did work
20 with us, but they were the selling position and covering their
21 loan, and we lost virtually all of the value in that account.

22 In the internal account, we effectively kept Jefferies
23 from seizing it, gave them a sale program, and then day-to-day
24 managed the sale of the more significant assets, as well as 25 the hedges, which mean we traded pretty aggressively

004514

Seery - Direct

38

1 throughout the day. This was a full-day job, trading that
2 account, with Joe as the trader and then me acting as the PM,
3 effectively.

4 We took that account, which if Jefferies had taken it over
5 and done -- it had virtually the same securities, it had just 6 a small number of securities, as well as some hedges which had
7 significant basis risk related to the securities -- we took
8 that account over. If we'd gotten the same program as
9 Jefferies, we would have lost $11 million. We made about $23
10 million. So that swing, that swing was pretty significant.
11 I'm sorry, we made about $11-1/2 million, about a $23 million
12 swing than if Jefferies had taken it over.

13 So that was another example of what I've been doing that
14 the Board designated me to do to help run this business.
15 Working with Joe, as well as research, as well as discussing
16 these positions on a regular basis with Jefferies, weekly
17 calls and daily e-mails, we were able to preserve that value
18 in that account.

19 Q And so, just for context, this is happening in late
20 February or early March, as COVID is hitting and the markets
21 are volatile; is that fair?

22 A That's when we started taking it over. The real -- the 23 real -- the lay in the markets was about March 22nd or 23rd.

24 Q Uh-huh.

25 A And that's when it became a daily grind on those positions

004515

Seery - Direct

39

1 for a solid month to make sure that we got it in a decent
2 place.

3 And remind you that we were trading those accounts within
4 the strictures of the protocols. So we didn't have the
5 ability to -- the securities were -- rather less liquid. We
6 didn't have the ability to just dump them, because we would
7 have destroyed the market and taken significant losses.

8 In addition, because of the protocols, we didn't have the 9 ability to go out and buy hedges, even though we had a
10 negative bias as to where the market was, particularly in 11 those less-traded securities.

12 And it's -- it was public that Highland (inaudible) and
13 Highland (inaudible) was in bankruptcy, so you can be certain
14 that the traders were leaning on those -- those securities
15 from short decisions. So it was a very difficult, time-
16 consuming effort, and a great job by Joe.

17 Q When you talk about a time-consuming effort, how would
18 you -- how would you characterize the amount of time you spent
19 on this project in the month of March? Was it a full-time
20 job?

21 A Yeah. Yeah. I mean, full-time is relative, right, but it
22 was -- it was a lot of time. So we would start out, you know,
23 like everybody else who is in those markets and do it the same
24 way, it's pretty tried and true: By 6:30 in the morning,
25 you're starting to look at what the EOP, what Asia did, where 004516

Seery - Direct

40

1 European markets were opened up, what the futures were looking
2 like, looking at your own securities, checking all of the
3 mail, talking to your research folks. To the extent that you
4 know that there's other investors in those investments, we
5 reached out to those -- I have a number of contacts in the 6 market who are in these kinds of assets -- to see what they're
7 thinking and how they're looking at value. And then set up a
8 trading strategy with Joe, and then execute on it every day.
9 And that trading strategy, again, was not static. So during
10 the day, a dynamic trading strategy has to be adjusted
11 depending on what the market is doing, and Joe was excellent
12 at it.

13 Q I think you mentioned the protocols earlier. Can you just 14 talk a little bit more about how you and the Debtor
15 communicated with the Committee through this process of
16 addressing the Jefferies mortgage -- mortgage defaults?

17 A Well, every day, we sent a report to -- to the Debtor -- I
18 mean, to the Committee, I apologize -- with our positions in 19 each of the accounts and tell them exactly what we're doing,
20 what the plan is, what we're set up to do, where we think it's 21 going, and what assistance we might need through the 22 protocols.

23 I think it became really difficult for the Debtors'
24 professionals -- the Committee's professionals to deal with 25 these issues, because it's just not what they were used to

004517

Seery - Direct

41

1 doing every day. So we would report to them. The Committee
2 met weekly. We can -- provided direct information to
3 Committee members when they -- you know, there's members on
4 the Committee who are very versed in these types of assets.
5 We would talk to them directly, I would talk to them directly,
6 and tell them exactly what we're doing and why and get their
7 input, because there was no magic special sauce as to exactly
8 what to do.

9 Q And would you characterize the process as transparent and
10 open between you and the Committee and its members?

11 A Oh, oh, absolutely. You know, we were -- they were 12 constructive. I wouldn't say that the Committee wasn't
13 constructive. I think the difficulty the Committee had, which
14 is what, you know, any third party would have, is that: Why
15 are we going to put more money into these accounts when the 16 value is going down, and what's -- what's your -- what are
17 your price targets? How do you think about those assets;
18 who's the analyst who's working on it; how do they compare to 19 other assets? So it wasn't an easy process for the Committee
20 to get their arms around, either.

21 Q Okay.

22 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, we have other transactions
23 that we could talk about if you think that would be useful, or
24 we could continue to push this forward.

25 THE COURT: You can continue to push it forward.

004518

Seery - Direct

42

1 Thank you.

2 MR. MORRIS: Okay.

3 BY MR. MORRIS:

4 Q Then let's transition for a moment just about your
5 recollection as to kind of when and how, you know, the
6 discussions with the Board and the Committee evolved with
7 respect to your taking over as CEO. Did there come a point in 8 time that you can recall when the Board asked you to consider
9 that?

10 A Yeah. The Board asked me to consider it I would say
11 probably late January or early February. And the initial
12 discussions, even before, you know, before we were selected.
13 So, as John Dubel and I had been selected by the Debtor and
14 the Committee, we talked about the need for one central point
15 of management for this company. That it's 70 employees and 16 diverse assets, diverse business practices. How are we going
17 to mold that as a Committee? It really needed somebody to
18 execute the strategic plan that the Board put in place.

19 And so John had asked me about that even before we were 20 selected. Committee counsel asked me about it. So there was 21 -- there was some, at least away from me, there was some view
22 that perhaps I was going to be the person that was most
23 likely, if it was needed.

24 My view in early February was that, you know, we were
25 effectively, as the phrase goes, drinking from a fire hose,

004519

43

1 and I wanted to get a better sense of who the folks were at
2 Highland; what their responsibilities are; how they performed;
3 what I thought of them as performers; how -- I had -- or,
4 having some idea what the claims are and how that process
5 would work; and could we make this a success?

6 So, early on, in January and in February, as we started
7 having these discussions, I was in the Highland offices at 8 least three, usually four days a week. And I was there from 9 7:30 in the morning until 6:00 or 7:00 at night every day.
10 And that gave me just a different feel for exactly how the 11 organization was running and the issues that were coming up
12 every day.

13 That evolved into March where, after I took over the 14 securities accounts in early March and then took over the 15 Multi-Strat issues, that John and Russ Nelms pushed me to 16 really consider stepping up fully to the CEO role. So, by
17 early April, I think it's the first week of April, we actually
18 -- we put it forth and go to the Committee. So we started
19 negotiating what potential terms were, how it would work.

20 You know, one of the concerns that I had, you know, we had
21 no idea, and I suppose we still don't, how the COVID-19 issues
22 will play out and how that would both -- because at the time
23 they were really affecting New York, where I'm based and I
24 live, and less so in Dallas. But by mid-March, it was pretty
25 clear that the whole country was being affected. And now,

004520

Seery - Direct

44

1 obviously, it's hitting all over.

2 And hopefully that will settle, but what we did learn, and
3 I think a lot of businesses learned, is that particularly
4 these types of service businesses that function electronically
5 in lot of respects, even when they are in an office, because
6 you're in front of your screen, that we are very lucky to have
7 these types of roles where we can really perform the job, if 8 not equally well, pretty darn close to how you perform it when
9 you're at the office. And so that issue subsided a little bit
10 in terms of how I would interrelate -- not the issue going
11 away, obviously -- but how I could interrelate and work with 12 the team to drive the business, even if I was doing it from 13 New York.

14 Q And have you continued to play a leadership role from the 15 time you spoke with your fellow Board members in early March
16 until the present?

17 A I have. And I think one of the things that the Committee,
18 you know, recognized was that John and Russ, experienced
19 professionals, were willing to step back and let me take the 20 day-to-day working with the Committee or presenting to the 21 Committee. So we do have weekly Board meetings and we do have
22 almost daily Board calls, and then, without an official
23 meeting, we meet on the phone virtually every Saturday or
24 Sunday, sometimes both, with the three of us, to go through 25 what's happened every -- each week, how the plan has evolved

004521

Seery - Direct

45

1 and where we're pushing it.

2 But in terms of the presentations to the Committee, I took
3 the lead on those in both designing and working with the Board
4 then and then implementing them and laying them out for the
5 Committee, as well as the individual negotiations.

6 So, early on, we determined that we had to try to figure
7 out a way to push this case forward, notwithstanding that we
8 weren't getting -- we didn't see a lot of movement from any of 9 the parties, frankly, on trying to figure out a way to 10 coalesce around a direction. So we designed a program that we
11 laid out for the Committee in which we considered three main
12 areas to consider for a plan. And I took the lead on doing
13 that.

14 Q So, let's talk a little bit about the claims resolution
15 process and the formulation of a plan. Have you played any
16 role in the claims resolution process?

17 A Well, we haven't actually resolved any claims completely
18 yet, but we're very close on one, and I've taken the lead on 19 doing that.

20 On the other two, I've been involved heavily with the --
21 both counsel and with DSI in analyzing the claims. As well as 22 with the rest of the Board, frankly. The -- you know, we've
23 got a significant amount of expertise between John Dubel and
24 Russ Nelms with respect to how to think about these issues in 25 the context both of a bankruptcy, obviously, with Russ, and in

004522

Seery - Direct

46

1 the context of both a restructuring and in the business with
2 respect to John.

3 So we've gang-tackled those, again, effectively, all
4 analyzing the various issues with respect to these claims.
5 But in terms of having the direct negotiations, particularly
6 on two of them, I've taken -- I've taken more of the lead
7 about where we could go. And if you -- particularly with my
8 background in restructuring, and having wrestled with
9 substantive consolidation, alter ego, piercing the veil since
10 1988 or '89, you know, some of the issues that have arisen in
11 this case are very, very familiar to me. I've spent a
12 significant part of my career dealing with those. So I've 13 taken the lead on those types of issues.

14 I think that where I was going was in terms of structuring
15 potential outcomes for plans. And we are -- you know, we've
16 been slowed down, as I think Jeff Pomerantz mentioned last
17 week, to a fair degree by COVID, in that the business impacts,
18 we can go into, and Jeff touched on some of those, but the 19 social impacts with respect to negotiating are hard to -- are 20 hard to understate. The -- you can run a business like this
21 through your screen. It's very difficult to simply negotiate
22 by phone or by video. The face-to-face, at least in my
23 experience, makes a big difference in moving parties, and we
24 haven't had as much of that.

25 What we've tried to do recently, starting in May, is we've

004523

Seery - Direct

47

1 put together a program for the Committee, and we'll walk them
2 through what I think are the -- what we determine as a Board
3 and then we laid out the specifics -- I didn't; DSI -- of what
4 the options are in this case.

5 And I think number one was the status quo. Do we maintain
6 this case status quo, continue to run the business, and then
7 try to negotiate, resolve, mediate, or litigate, first through
8 dispositive motions, then through something more significant
9 if we can't do it through dispositive motions, these claims?

10 The Debtor right now on an operating basis does burn cash.
11 I can go into the specifics, but the Committee knows them, and
12 I'd prefer to do those in camera if we -- if the Judge would
13 like that. We do burn cash on an operating basis, but not
14 that much. The Debtor has about $30 million (inaudible) and 15 the business does run, and generally each year the operating 16 burn, if you will, which is, in compensation, is filled by 17 selling some assets that have appreciated in value. And the 18 Debtor runs real -- with those accretions, run roughly
19 breakeven.

20 The problem in this case is that we are burning a
21 significant amount of bankruptcy professional fees. And it's 22 the lament of creditors and business operators and the 23 bankruptcy bar. I think, certainly, the judges that I see for 24 a long time. And the percentage -- the cost of the cases
25 keeps going up and the percentage of the assets keeps going,

004524

Seery - Direct

48

1 but particularly if the asset values are going down.

2 So the status quo didn't make a lot of sense unless we
3 were going to get very swift movement from the parties, and I
4 mean all sides, to try to resolve the case.

5 The other type of outcome we thought about in terms of a
6 plan was a downsiding model. Downsizing model, excuse me. In
7 that model, we would try to significantly cut headcount, try
8 to significantly cut expenses. Run the business as leanly as 9 possible. And then try to go through those steps with respect
10 to resolving the claims.

11 Again, the problem, the problem with that is resolution of 12 those claims was uncertain and could take a long time, unless 13 we had significant movement from either side. But, moreover,
14 in terms of operating the business, we determined that with 15 respect to both the managed accounts and shared service
16 agreements, we really couldn't effectively do the job that the
17 Debtor does with a smaller staff. Truth is, even at 70
18 people, the HCMLP staff is pretty lean. It's a really good
19 team and they are very efficient and they've really proved it
20 through working offsite, you know, through the pandemic.

21 But we really thought that if we -- and analyzed it. If 22 we were to try to cut that team and provide the services, we
23 would fall down. So we would breach the duties or potentially
24 incur liabilities under those various contracts.

25 The third area that we took a look at, which was what we

004525

Seery - Direct

49

1 called the subservicing model. In this model, we would try to
2 separate the business of the Debtor, which has a small
3 operating loss, but it's still material money, from the asset
4 management. That way, you could hold onto the assets for the
5 benefit of the creditors or the Debtor, depending on where the
6 claims comes out, still provide the services to those third
7 parties under the subservicing agreements or the management
8 agreements. You wouldn't make money on that, but you'd get
9 rid of the operating burn.

10 And that model had a number of issues, but we've sort of 11 evolved that model to what I think has been referred to in 12 court as the debtor-creditor monetization vehicle. So a
13 little bit of a cumbersome name, but the idea would be to try
14 to separate the assets, which potentially are the ways to pay
15 the creditors, depending on where claims come out, and then --
16 and the operations, and make sure you can continue the 17 operations without a heavy burn.

18 That model also permits us to cut, we believe, bankruptcy
19 operating expenses significantly. So, right now, because of 20 the nature of the case, we have two professionals doing every 21 job: Committee professionals and Debtor professionals. We
22 would be able to reduce that cost by putting those into one
23 entity that'll be a trust-like structure to service the 24 business, resolve the claims, monetize the assets.

25 And, finally, something I started working on -- I'd say on 004526

Seery - Direct

50

1 my own, but that wouldn't be true -- with the DSI team,
2 particularly the two -- we have two excellent analysts on the
3 case. A very detailed model of what I think has been referred
4 to maybe even in court as a potential grand bargain plan. And
5 that plan looks at monetizing the assets over what period we
6 believe that we could get that done. (inaudible) we're
7 looking at the values that we could achieve as well as setting
8 out what we think are reasonable numbers for the claim
9 distributions and then how they would be made.

10 Now, on the asset side of the ledger, we have a pretty
11 good understanding. We obviously know where the assets are 12 bought, and we have a pretty good sense of what the current
13 market looks like for those assets. We're not a forced
14 seller, but we have -- we have been involved in processes
15 around a number of the assets and have a good sense of where
16 values are and how long it would take to achieve those values.

17 You don't have to sell an asset as well to get money from 18 it. There might be ways to finance those assets. Although,
19 to be sure, in this environment, financing particularly these
20 types of assets has become very, very difficult.

21 The other side of the equation of the claims, and we're
22 using our best estimate of where we think those claims come
23 out in terms of payment, the creditors often have a different
24 view as to what they would like those claims to come out with.
25 So we're trying to figure out, through negotiation and

004527

Seery - Direct

51

1 discussion, how we get those two sides closer together. And
2 that, that would be the grand bargain plan.

3 And I think where we're really focused now is that status
4 quo doesn't make sense. We've gone that way too long.
5 Downsizing doesn't work because of the complexity of these
6 operations and the contractual obligations that the Debtor
7 has. And it's really a grand bargain plan or a Debtor
8 monetization, a debtor-creditor monetization vehicle, which
9 would be structured like a trust and still be able to service
10 the business while resolving the claims.

11 Q Taking into account the uncertainty because there are
12 still some options being considered, in your leadership role,
13 have you -- do you have a sense of timing? Is there a
14 timeline by which certain milestones are at least
15 aspirational, if not achievable?

16 A Well, I don't think I'm telling anyone what they don't
17 know, that deadlines get people to act and make decisions.
18 Sometimes they're good decisions, sometimes they're not, but
19 we're going to push forward on both of these plan
20 opportunities now. So we intend to file a debtor-creditor
21 monetization vehicle plan, and we'll keep pushing the parties
22 towards settlements.

23 You know, as we say on the Multi-Strat negotiations, until 24 it was clear that we were either going to default, because we 25 didn't have the money to pay those premiums, or we're going to

004528

Seery - Direct

52

1 file Multi-Strat as a bankruptcy, it was hard to get folks to
2 really come to the table and think about how to settle that
3 issue.

4 These issues in regard to the total case are much more
5 complicated. We're going to file a plan. We believe that
6 will set a bit of a crucible to folks to think about how to
7 move forward with their claims. We are, as Jeff Pomerantz
8 mentioned last time, agreed in principle, but we have some 9 issues to work through with Redeemer that we hope to be able
10 to resolve by this week. And so that's my internal goal, but
11 I expect to be able to do it.

12 The reason that's complex is not that it's simply a -- the 13 arbitration award is not simply a money award; it actually
14 requires certain offsets, it requires certain assets be sold
15 and paid for. And we're trying to carve our way around some 16 of those, because they (inaudible) agreement, because they're
17 -- they're more difficult than simply exchanging cash for
18 assets, because we don't have the ability to do that right
19 now. We don't have the cash, and we're in bankruptcy.

20 So I do believe that we can get these done. And then if 21 mediation is something that would work, great. We're going to
22 try to do it without mediation as well. Going to try to do it
23 before we get to mediation and resolve claims. And if we're 24 unable to do that, hopefully mediation will push it forward or 25 we have to have a fallback, which will be dispositive motions

004529

Seery - Direct

53

1 with respect to certain of the claims.

2 But we expect to have and I think we have a number of
3 claims objections that have (inaudible). We've resolved
4 those. We're really down to three claims. And one of them is
5 almost done.

6 Q All right. At the last hearing, --

7 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, that really does finish the 8 substance of the testimony with respect to this motion, but at 9 the last hearing Your Honor raised some questions about PPP
10 loans.

11 THE COURT: Yes.

12 MR. MORRIS: Would you like me to just take a moment
13 with Mr. Seery to address that?

14 THE COURT: Yes, please.

15 MR. MORRIS: Okay.

16 BY MR. MORRIS:

17 Q Mr. Seery, you're aware that the Judge raised some 18 questions about whether and to what extent the Debtor may have 19 been involved in any of the PPP loans?

20 A Yes.

21 Q And have you done any work to try to figure out the
22 answers to the questions the Judge posed?

23 A Well, work in response to the question, but also work
24 previously. So, just a -- quickly, as I think we all know,
25 the PPP program was put forth to try to give companies cash

004530

Seery - Direct

54

1 that they had to use for employee payments, to continue to
2 keep payroll supported and to continue to have folks hold
3 their jobs.

4 We have -- and I think the Business Insider article, which
5 I'm not familiar, I know the publication is not something I
6 seen much, but I'm not familiar with the specifics of that
7 article, and -- but any PPP, away from the assets that HCMLP
8 actually owns or controls. And we've got -- we've got three
9 -- and I think there's some substance to the article. But
10 we've got three businesses. And these are -- this is public,
11 but I'll go into the -- sort of the obvious reasons without 12 going into the specifics of the business around the ones that
13 I know of well.

14 Carey Limousine is a business that transports folks in 15 high-quality cars from airports or from events or between
16 businesses. It was hit severely by the COVID-19 pandemic.,
17 particularly with respect to the air transportation, which was
18 really one of its biggest areas. The business,
19 notwithstanding Uber and the other type of shared ride
20 services, had actually done quite well, and Highland was an 21 owner of a significant portion of that business related to 22 some loans that it held in various funds.

23 That business's management, with its own outside counsel,
24 sought a PPP loan. Then our director came to us and discussed
25 with the Board the propriety of that loan. We engaged outside

004531

Seery - Direct

55

1 counsel, not bankruptcy counsel but counsel that had
2 particularized expertise in PPP, and spent a ton of time
3 really understanding both the law as well as the specific
4 regs. Carey did get a PPP loan. It is potentially
5 forgivable, depending on how it's used.

6 The second entity that was similar but didn't come to the
7 Board, we have a business called SSP, which is an excellent
8 highway business that provides equip -- materials for a lot of 9 different road construction, but primarily highway road
10 construction. Very well run business. That entity got a PPP
11 loan as well, primarily worried about whether the construction
12 on the highways would shut down.

13 So it's been -- I don't believe that's really happened in
14 Texas, which is where most of their business is, but they
15 qualified for that loan. They did not come to the Board. A
16 very specific carve-out, because one of the interest holders
17 that we share that position with is a Small Business
18 Administration fund and, so it was very clear that it was 19 entitled to that loan.

20 Then there's a third entity called Roma that got a very
21 small PPP loan. We don't control the entity and we were not 22 involved in its acquisition of that loan. Again, it would
23 have to be used as required.

24 One of the things I want to make sure that is in the 25 record and for Your Honor with respect to Carey, we spent a

004532

Seery - Direct

56

1 lot of time as a Board focused on, one, whether it was legal
2 to get that loan, first. We're doing everything right, by the
3 book. We're not going to play in the gray. There is no gray.
4 There's black and white in these areas.

5 Number two, was it ethical, was it appropriate that we
6 went and got this loan or that Carey went and got this loan?
7 Management, with the outside counsel, was sure that we could
8 do it, but we didn't want to take their word for it, so we 9 went out and got our own counsel, third-party counsel for the 10 Board to make sure that this was appropriate.

11 Three, the requirements around these loans are significant
12 and the penalties for violating them are severe. So if you
13 get a loan by mistake, are you really required to pay it back?
14 And if you're mistaken, that will be expensive, but it won't
15 be a real penalty. But if you get a loan that's really
16 inappropriate, that you shouldn't have gotten, that was a
17 material misstatement of any of the facts around it, the 18 penalties are significant. And not only in terms of the 19 opprobrium that you'd suffer in the press, because that's
20 coming, but in terms of how you use the funds.

21 So they can only be used in very specific ways, and we
22 were exceptionally careful around this program.

23 The basis of the program is to keep people employed. And
24 with a business like Carey Limousine in particular, where 25 there's a significant amount of debt, where the business is

004533

Seery - Examination by the Court

57

1 shut down by COVID, where we didn't have the funds to put into
2 Carey, nor even if we wanted to, we might not have been able
3 to do it without the Committee's approval because of the 4 protocol, a PPP loan was not only legal but it was
5 appropriate. And it's being used in that fashion, meaning to 6 keep employees employed.

7 Q Thank you very much, Mr. Seery.

8 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, I have no further questions
9 of Mr. Seery. Does the Court have any questions?

10 THE COURT: I actually have a follow-up question
11 regarding the PPP, just to kind of put a bow on this.

12 EXAMINATION BY THE COURT

13 THE COURT: I'm looking at the demonstrative aide. I
14 don't know if you, Mr. Seery, have it there handy.

15 THE WITNESS: I do, Your Honor.

16 THE COURT: Okay. So I'm turning to Page 6, the
17 chart, the subchart, Investments and Subsidiaries. The third
18 column, Privately-Held Equity, Various Companies. I mean,
19 that would be the type of investment entity we're talking
20 about here that got the PPP loan: Carey Limousine, SSP, Roma?
21 Nothing that was -- well, I'm going to say Highland affiliate.
22 Affiliate, that's a dicey term, but that's the type of entity
23 in the organizational structure we're talking about, correct?

24 THE WITNESS: Those are the ones -- I want to be very
25 careful, because I know what I know and I know I won't

004534

1 represent anything that I don't know.

2 So, with respect to the entities that HCMLP, the Debtor,
3 controls, that's absolutely the case. I don't know, and I can
4 try to find out, but they are not HCMLP-controlled entities.
5 Whether other entities in the related-party complex received
6 loans -- so, obviously, HCMLP did not receive a loan. And the
7 only entities that we were involved with is the ones I
8 mentioned to you.

9 And I should mention, there are other entities in the 10 privately-held equity that got other government money, in the 11 medical space, that they didn't even ask for. HHS pushed
12 forward payments to folks in the business, medical healthcare-
13 providing businesses, to assure that they had liquidity to
14 provide. And so -- and this has been described to me exactly
15 this way, that they woke up in the morning and found money in 16 their account. And with one of the companies, they actually
17 returned a bunch of the money because it was from a dormant
18 provider number and they didn't believe it was appropriate to 19 keep that money. So that was one of the entities that we 20 control with other investors.

21 But with respect to our HCMLP entities, these are the only
22 ones I know. With respect to other related entities that
23 might be in the family of businesses, for lack of a better
24 term, that were alluded to in the Business Insider article, I
25 don't know that answer. So, I -- if I -- I can try to find

Seery - Examination by the Court

59

1 out. I just don't know the answer, Your Honor.

2 THE COURT: All right. Thank you. Well, this has
3 been extremely helpful.

4 I should ask does anyone have any questions of Mr. Seery?
5 The Committee counsel, perhaps? Anyone else?

6 MR. CLUBOK: Your Honor, this is Andrew Clubok. In
7 light of the testimony, I do have some questions on behalf of 8 UBS.

9 THE COURT: All right. Briefly. Go ahead.

10 MR. CLUBOK: Okay.

11 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor? Your Honor, I'm sorry to 12 interrupt, but there's no objection lodged here. If Your
13 Honor wants to permit it, that's obviously the Court's
14 prerogative. But as just a point of order, having not lodged
15 an objection, I don't know what right anybody has to cross-
16 examine the witness.

17 THE COURT: All right. Well, that's why I said
18 briefly. I think that Mr. Morris makes a good point, Mr.
19 Clubok. You could have filed a written objection, response,
20 comment, or something. So, you're a party in interest. I'll 21 give you a little bit of leeway here. But please keep it
22 brief.

23 MR. CLUBOK: Yeah. Thank you, Your Honor. It's just
24 some of the things that Mr. Seery said which we didn't expect
25 to hear that has raised a few questions that I just very

004536

Seery - Cross

60

1 briefly will try to address.

2 CROSS-EXAMINATION

3 BY MR. CLUBOK:

4 Q Mr. Seery, good afternoon. I'm Andrew Clubok, Latham &
5 Watkins, on behalf of UBS.

6 Mr. Seery, you talked about the fiduciary duties you've
7 understood yourself to have with respect to certain parties,
8 and my question to you is: Have you understood, since the 9 beginning of your service as an Independent Director of 10 Strand, that you had fiduciary duties to the unsecured
11 creditors of the Debtor?

12 A It's a -- it's a -- the answer is I understand the 13 fiduciary duties very well. I think we have fiduciary duties
14 to the estate. So Highland -- what I tried to explain is that 15 Highland, as an asset manager, has very specific fiduciary
16 duties that are set forth in (inaudible) in the cases and the 17 rules that have interpreted it. We, as directors of Strand,
18 have a duty to the estate.

19 I don't think it's -- I don't think it's fair, and I'd
20 have to subject myself to some education from counsel, I don't 21 think it's fair to say we had a specific fiduciary duty to a
22 particular creditor.

23 So, for example, if I had a fiduciary duty to UBS, it
24 would be very difficult for me to object to UBS's claim. It
25 would be -- I don't know how I could do that as a fiduciary.

004537

1 When the claim is crystalized in the estate, I believe that we
2 have fiduciary duties to each and every interest holder in the 3 estate.

4 Q My question is a little simpler, and I just -- well, I'm
5 actually not asking legally whether you do or not. I'm asking
6 what your understanding has been since your role. Have you
7 conducted yourself in a way in which you have treated your
8 obligations as though you have a fiduciary obligation to the 9 unsecured creditors?

10 MR. MORRIS: Objection to the form of the question.

11 THE COURT: Sustained.

12 MR. CLUBOK: Okay.

13 BY MR. CLUBOK:

14 Q You said that you believe that you have, with respect to 15 Multi-Strat, which is an entity that you manage, you said that 16 you understood yourself to have fiduciary duties to the 17 redeemers of Multi-Strat. Do you recall that?

18 A Yes.

19 Q Yeah. And Multi-Strat is outside of the estate, but HCM,
20 the Debtor manages Multi-Strat. And you said because of, you
21 know, your role, you personally feel as if you have a
22 fiduciary duty to the redeemers in Multi-Strat, correct?

23 A I --

24 MR. MORRIS: Objection to the form of the question.

25 Mischaracterizes the testimony.

62

1 THE COURT: Sustained.

2 MR. CLUBOK: Your Honor, I believe that the
3 transcript -- I believe Mr. Seery said in direct that he
4 considered himself to have fiduciary duties with respect to
5 the redeemers of Multi-Strat. The transcript will show it. I
6 don't know what the objection is. Maybe I misstated when I
7 asked my question, but I'm just starting --

8 THE COURT: Okay.

9 MR. CLUBOK: I'm just trying to understand --

10 THE COURT: All right. I'll let you rephrase the
11 question, but this -- I've probably -- I may have made a
12 mistake in letting you ask questions, because this is about
13 the propriety of him being CEO and the reasonableness of 14 compensation. This isn't a discovery opportunity. So I'm a
15 little confused the relevance of what you're asking. Could
16 you address that for me?

17 MR. CLUBOK: Sure. Your Honor, Mr. Seery on direct
18 described what he understood his fiduciary duties to be. I
19 think we -- it made me wonder, he didn't mention the unsecured
20 creditors or what he believes his fiduciary relationship is,
21 if any, with the creditors, unsecured creditors. I would -- I
22 think it's a fair question to ask what his understanding is,
23 because now he's going to take on a new role as CEO, and I
24 think it's appropriate for everyone to understand, so we know
25 when we're dealing with Mr. Seery --

004539

1 THE COURT: Okay.

2 MR. CLUBOK: -- what his --

3 THE COURT: I think -- I think he --

4 MR. CLUBOK: -- he understands -- what he understands
5 his fiduciary duties to be.

6 THE COURT: I think he answered the question, and
7 frankly, I think he answered it correctly. His fiduciary
8 duties go to the estate, right? And the creditors are the
9 beneficiaries of his actions in that regard, right? So I
10 think he correctly answered the question already. All right?
11 Next question.

12 MR. CLUBOK: Okay. He says that there's three
13 aspects of the business he's been managing: $300 million,
14 roughly, of Highland's own assets; the fact that they manage
15 $3 billion in other assets, I think in managed assets; and 16 then they have shared services for $6 billion in assets owned
17 by related entities, mostly.

18 BY MR. CLUBOK:

19 Q For those three separate businesses, I just want to 20 briefly understand: With respect to the first one, for 21 example, there's $300 million, you said, roughly, of
22 (inaudible) assets. Roughly what were the value of the assets
23 when you started your role in January of 2020?

24 A It's hard to compare apples to apples on this because
25 there are certain assets that we've taken out that didn't

1 change in value. So I would say they were carried on the
2 balance sheet at different levels. I think a good rough
3 number would be in the $500 to $600 million area.

4 Q Okay.

5 A And the biggest -- the biggest movants in asset values
6 have been on securities, both ones that we continue to own and
7 the accounts that Jefferies -- that were levered, and those
8 were shown as unlevered marks on the balance sheet and the 9 losses that were incurred there. And then with respect to
10 certain of the PE assets and then a major movement on a
11 related-party loan, where the Board, through analysis that we
12 did with DSI and others, believes that loan is likely to be 13 worthless. Likewise, the claim of that entity we believe is 14 likely to be worthless.

15 Q And then to the extent the assets, you say, have a rough
16 value of $300 million, you alluded to significant professional
17 fees, bankruptcy costs, administrative fees, the Debtor is
18 burning cash. My question is, If it's $300 million today
19 roughly of total value of assets, what's your current best
20 estimate of the total amount that will be available to be 21 distributed to the creditors net of those -- that burning of 22 cash and the admin fees and the other issue that you
23 mentioned? What is your current expectation of the total
24 amount that will be able to be distributed to the creditors?

25 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, just -- I just object to

1 this line of inquiry. It's like free discovery, as Your Honor
2 suggested earlier. I don't know what it has to do with Mr.
3 Seery's work, his qualifications, the compensation
4 arrangements. And I think it's inappropriate.

5 THE COURT: Okay. I'll overrule and allow this one
6 remaining question, but that's going to be it, unless your
7 next questions pertain to the employment or compensation
8 structure.

9 THE WITNESS: Yeah, I don't have a crystal ball as to 10 what the assets are going to be worth. I think that they are
11 fairly marked right now, and we have significant discovery
12 that we've had with respect to a number of the assets and
13 marked at views as to their value. So I think that we're at a
14 pretty good base value, assuming that we don't rush into
15 forced sales of assets.

16 So, as I know the Court is aware and I hope you're aware,
17 when you look at asset values, and you look at them on a
18 liquidation basis, the numbers are normally much lower than 19 when you look at them as selling them on a more controlled
20 basis. If you have liquid securities, that's not the case.
21 So if I have $500 million of Apple at $363 today, it's 22 probably a good chance that it'll be worth something different
23 in a month, something different in two months. But if I need
24 to move my position, I can do that.

25 These assets are much more difficult to move. And the act

1 of selling them often changes the value, which is why we
2 engage professional bankers to help move, first, those assets.

3 So I just don't have a good crystal ball. I think the
4 valuations that we have now are pretty good. I think they've
5 been scrubbed well. But that doesn't mean that certain of
6 these assets will maintain the exact value they have. So, I
7 gave a good example of Carey Limousine, which is a very small
8 asset but it's an easy one to understand because everybody can
9 relate to a car service company that does, you know, a little
10 bit more high-end and is focused on the airport travel and how
11 that's been impacted.

12 That asset value has gone down precipitously, even though
13 it was small, because of that. So I don't -- I don't really
14 have a great crystal ball as to what's going to happen. If
15 we're very successful in the fourth quarter and the economy
16 stabilizes and the COVID vaccines are out in record time and
17 move forward, then I think we've got potential for upside.
18 But right now, in the current environment, I think we're
19 marked fairly.

20 BY MR. CLUBOK:

21 Q Yeah. But my question really wasn't about the value of
22 the assets. I realize those could go up or down. And you
23 think they're fairly marked. My question was, What's the 24 total amount of setoff from those assets to the extent the 25 bankruptcy fees you alluded to, the burning of cash on the

1 other businesses, you know, how much, you know, net -- what's
2 the amount that will come off of those assets or that should
3 be -- that we should assume will be deducted from those assets
4 because of the professional fees that have been incurred or
5 you predict will be incurred through the end of the year and
6 the burn of cash that you mentioned, et cetera?

7 I'm trying to understand how you supervised -- because
8 you've managed those expenses as well as the assets, right?
9 And so I just think it's important for us to understand, at 10 the end of six months, and then how things are set for the 11 rest of the year, what's the total amount of, you know, call
12 it liabilities or costs associated with running the business,
13 running the business and at a cash burn rate, bankruptcy fees,
14 et cetera, that we --

15 THE COURT: Okay. I'm going to cut it off. I'm
16 going to cut it off. That, in my view, is going a little too
17 far afield. That's a discussion outside the courtroom. So,
18 thank you, and we're going to see: Does the Committee have
19 anything they want to ask?

20 MR. CLEMENTE: Your Honor, Matt Clemente on behalf of 21 the Committee.

22 I certainly do not have any questions to ask. I do have a
23 couple of statements that I want to make, but I don't know if 24 now is the appropriate time or if there's going to be further
25 testimony.

1 THE COURT: Okay. I think there might be another
2 witness or two, but we'll let you make your comments at the
3 appropriate time.

4 EXAMINATION BY THE COURT

5 THE COURT: Mr. Seery, I meant to ask, I forgot to
6 ask: You've mentioned a couple of times the Debtor, Highland,
7 has 70-ish employees. Has the number gone down since the case
8 was filed, is Highland losing employees, or is it staying
9 stable?

10 THE WITNESS: We lost -- we lost seven employees.
11 There were some that were severed for performance reasons.
12 That happens every year. There were some that just moved on 13 because they decided to move on. And that some -- and then we
14 had some that, because of the bankruptcy, we lost. We added,
15 I think, one or two employees that we're pretty excited about
16 in the fund valuation area, which is a pretty critical area
17 for the shared services. Unfortunately, they haven't been 18 able to go to the office, but fortunately, they've been able 19 to work.

20 So we're down, Your Honor, probably eight total, and so
21 we're more of the low to mid-60 area right now.

22 THE COURT: Okay. And --

23 MR. SEERY: And we were a little bit north of 70 when
24 we took the case.

25 THE COURT: Okay. And the COVID situation, I mean,

1 if you walked into the office, would there be people around in
2 masks, or are people still working at home?

3 MR. SEERY: People -- so, in -- yeah. So, in March,
4 very early on, as things started to shut down, Brian Collins,
5 who's the director of human resources and an accomplished
6 professional, came to the Board and basically said, you know,
7 yeah, Texas is better, but it's not immune. We need to come
8 up with a program.

9 And with Russ Nelms and John Dubel and I, we developed a
10 program, with Brian -- with Brian driving it, to figure out
11 exactly how to approach going into the office; how we would
12 maintain the office; and then, if something were to happen,
13 what we would do.

14 We had an employee who, with her family, got COVID in --
15 we believe in New York, came back. And as soon as we found
16 out that person wasn't feeling good in the office, it was the 17 first day they were back, a protocol with thermometers and --
18 at that time, thermometers were thought to be valuable -- we
19 immediately sent that employee home. We then brought in a
20 cleaning crew to clean up the office with EPA and FDA-approved
21 materials, and then had several days off and brought folks
22 back the following week.

23 We found that to be, frankly, unwieldy as COVID started to 24 continue to creep a bit through March and into April. At that 25 point, we did have other employees, not who came into the

1 office, but who had contracted COVID, so we shut down HCMLP.
2 When we cleaned the office, we shut it down completely.
3 Nobody could go in.

4 When -- since then, we have set the office up where we had
5 initial (inaudible) when things were pretty good, so we
6 divided the move into -- into basically 20 percent could be in
7 the office at any one time. And then, since that time, as
8 things have gotten worse, we found that we were, one, working
9 extremely well offsite; and two, that it was just a better
10 environment for the employees. So we've been working
11 continually offsite.

12 If folks need to go in, because either they need more
13 advanced systems that they can't go to plug-and-play at home,
14 or because there's just materials that they want to get,
15 they're able to do in. We have tons of disinfectant
16 everywhere. We have masks available. We put in dividers,
17 Plexiglas dividers between the work stations to assure that if 18 someone was at a station for a long time, it didn't -- it was 19 less likely that you could have transmission.

20 I will tell Your Honor that HCMLP is not reporting to the
21 office. Some of the affiliated businesses, and I don't know
22 the percentage, have been. So those businesses, which we 23 don't control, are going in.

24 From my perspective, as long as the numbers are where they
25 are in Texas, from both a business perspective in terms of

1 making sure that the employee base doesn't contract COVID in
2 material amounts -- first, any amount -- but in material
3 amounts that would impact our ability to run the business.
4 And then with respect to the civic part of it, which is we
5 don't want to be a part of forcing the spread or causing the
6 spread of this disease, we know we can work from home. We're
7 going to continue to do that until we believe it's very safe
8 to go back.

9 Notwithstanding that we have the ability and have been
10 doing it with extensive cleaning, extensive disinfectant, and
11 with dividers, until we are very comfortable that we can go
12 back and protect our employees and that it's the right civic
13 thing to do, we're not going to go back, particularly since it
14 doesn't impact our ability to perform.

15 THE COURT: Okay. I really want to, you know, get to 16 the rest of our hearing soon, but I heard something that made
17 me have a question. You said there are other entities we
18 don't control whose employees are going in. Could you tell me
19 exactly what you meant by that?

20 THE WITNESS: There's -- away from HCMLP, there's
21 approximately another 75 to 80 -- it may be slightly more --
22 employees at the other entities that are NexPoint, NexBank,
23 NexPoint Advisors. They are under different protocols that
24 neither I nor Russ nor John control. The office --

25 THE COURT: Let me just stop you.

1 THE WITNESS: Please.

2 THE COURT: So it's just Nex -- well, NexPoint-
3 related companies?

4 THE WITNESS: Uh-huh.

5 THE COURT: NexPoint and --

6 THE WITNESS: Yes.

7 THE COURT: -- affiliates of NexPoint?

8 THE WITNESS: Correct, Your Honor. The office, the
9 HCMLP offices are huge. And when we were there pre-COVID,
10 with the full complement of folks, it felt like they were 11 relatively empty. I shouldn't say -- they felt like there was 12 plenty of space.

13 What we found, with both sets, our employees and then the 14 NexPoint-related employees, when 140 or 150 people were in
15 that office, which pre-COVID felt comfortable, post-COVID
16 didn't feel so comfortable. So our employees, we started, as 17 I mentioned, with the shift-working. And then we decided to 18 go completely mobile unless somebody feels they have to be in 19 the office, and we want to make sure that they follow the 20 protocols when they do.

21 With respect to the non-HCMLP related entities, those 22 entities, some percent of those employees are still going into
23 the office.

24 Now, when they're there, to be frank, what I said was a
25 pretty comfortable place with 140 people is a pretty empty

1 place if there's only 50. But our employees, we felt it was
2 important, since we were able to execute from home, we didn't
3 need, on most parts, the extra systems to be able to execute
4 in the office, that we could largely perform from home to make
5 sure that we weren't taking any risks with the business but
6 also taking -- one, taking risks for the employees; two,
7 taking any risks for the business; and three, as I mentioned,
8 the civil perspective.

9 THE COURT: Okay. We're going to have to take a
10 five-minute break here in just a second, but let me kind of 11 elaborate on why I was drilling down on that question about
12 NexPoint. I mean, isn't it Highland employees who service
13 NexPoint? Or am I wrong about that?

14 THE WITNESS: Highland employees service a lot of
15 NexPoint. But NexPoint, NexBank, the various funds, NXRT,
16 there's a number of businesses: They have their own employees
17 as well.

18 THE COURT: Okay.

19 THE WITNESS: So the whole complex is about 150
20 employees.

21 THE COURT: Okay.

22 THE WITNESS: Highland Management is about 70.

23 THE COURT: Okay. All right. Well, are we finished
24 with Mr. Seery's testimony, Mr. Morris?

25 MR. MORRIS: Yes, Your Honor. Our next witness after

1 the break will be John Dubel.

2 THE COURT: Okay. Very good.

3 MR. MORRIS: And we --

4 THE COURT: Mr. Seery, again, this has been extremely
5 helpful for me, and I hope for others. I hope you'll stick
6 around, because when we circle back to the mediation
7 discussion at the end of today, I really would like you to be
8 involved in that discussion. I may want your input on one or
9 two things. So can you stick around?

10 THE WITNESS: Absolutely, Your Honor. Other than 11 getting some water and maybe turning the air conditioning back
12 on in this room, I'll stay.

13 THE COURT: You must not be in Texas if you don't
14 have your air conditioning on. I assume you're in New York.
15 All right. Five-minute break. We'll be back.

16 THE WITNESS: It's hot, but not Texas hot.

17 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

18 THE WITNESS: Thank you, Your Honor.

19 THE CLERK: All rise.

20 (A recess ensued from 3:16 p.m. until 3:22 p.m.)

21 THE CLERK: All rise.

22 THE COURT: All right. Please be seated. We're back
23 on the record in Highland.

24 Mr. Morris, you were going to call Mr. Dubel next?

25 MR. MORRIS: Yes, the Debtor calls John Dubel.

Dubel - Direct

75

1 THE COURT: Dubel?

2 MR. DUBEL: Your Honor, may I have just one minute to
3 -- my air conditioner.

4 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Dubel, I said your name
5 wrong. Could you say Testing 1, 2?

6 MR. DUBEL: I can do that, Your Honor. Testing 1, 2.

7 THE COURT: Okay. Very good. Please raise your
8 right hand.

9 JOHN DUBEL, DEBTORS' WITNESS, SWORN

10 THE COURT: All right. Thank you. Mr. Morris, you
11 may proceed.

12 MR. MORRIS: Thank you, Your Honor. As Mr. Pomerantz
13 previewed, Mr. Dubel's testimony is going to largely cover the 14 corporate governance-type issues concerning the evolution of 15 the motion, the discussions or the, you know, beginning of the 16 discussions, and how the proposal itself evolved.

17 If I may, Your Honor, just to perhaps move this along, I
18 might lead the witness a little bit. If it's a problem,
19 you'll let me know, okay?

20 THE COURT: Okay. I will let you know if it's a
21 problem.

22 MR. MORRIS: Okay.

23 DIRECT EXAMINATION

24 BY MR. MORRIS:

25 Q Good afternoon, Mr. Dubel. You're a member of the Board

004552

1 of Strand today; is that right?

2 A I am.

3 Q And you've held that position since mid-January; is that
4 right?

5 A Since January 9th, yes.

6 Q Okay. And you understand that we're here today on the
7 Debtors' motion to appoint Mr. Seery as the Debtors' CEO, CRO,
8 and the Foreign Representative?

9 A I do understand that, yes, sir.

10 Q Does the Board unanimously support the motion?

11 A I think the Board does, and specifically the compensation
12 committee, because of obviously the conflict that Mr. Seery
13 might have, you know, but the Board fully supports it, and the 14 compensation committee is comprised of Mr. -- Judge -- Judge
15 Nelms and myself.

16 Q Okay. And do you believe that -- withdrawn. Does the 17 Board believe that it's in the Debtors' best interests to 18 retain Mr. Seery on the terms proposed?

19 A We do.

20 Q And why does the Board believe that?

21 A Well, as the Court has heard from the testimony of Mr.
22 Seery today, he has a tremendous amount of skills and
23 experience in the area of asset management. He's effectively
24 been serving as the CEO since -- well, in a lot of ways, since
25 January 9th, when we asked him to step up and take on some

1 additional responsibilities, but very clearly since the middle
2 of February, and specifically, the middle of March.

3 And as the Court noted, he is -- knows these assets very
4 well. He knows the operations. He's done an exemplary job of
5 handling all of the issues. He has spent a tremendous amount
6 of time working with the Committee members, trying to develop
7 good lines of communications.

8 And, you know, Russ -- having, you know, served in a C
9 Suite position for 25 years of my 30-plus years of
10 restructuring experience, and 15 years as a CEO, we need a
11 good leader, an operational leader to run the organization.
12 So we can support him because you need to have someone in 13 there who can make decisions; work quickly; obviously,
14 communicate well with the Board, which he has been doing for 15 quite some time. So, all the -- all of the reasons why we are 16 very pleased to have him take on this role.

17 Q Okay. Let's talk a little bit about what led to this 18 particular motion. Do you recall when the idea of appointing
19 a CEO first arose?

20 A I would say it was back in December, before the
21 Independent Board was put together, when we first started
22 intervening with the creditors and with the Debtor. It was 23 raised to me in my interview, would I be, you know, willing to 24 step in as a CEO if asked to? And I'm assuming it was also
25 asked of Mr. Seery. I didn't ask him that. And it was all

1 obviously coming, you know, out of the protocols that were
2 being developed where Mr. Dondero would step down as the CEO
3 and the Independent Board would basically be responsible for
4 the operations of the company. But we had the opportunity to
5 go out and seek either one of the three Independent Board
6 Members as the CEO or go outside to the marketplace and try
7 and find an independent or a third-party CEO.

8 Q And to the best of your recollection, was that flexibility
9 built into the term sheet that was part of the corporate
10 governance settlement?

11 A It was.

12 Q All right.

13 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, this is where we're going to 14 test our technological capabilities. I'm going to ask Ms.
15 Canty to put up and to share Exhibit 1, and let's see if we're
16 able to do that.

17 THE COURT: Okay. But if anything goes wrong, I
18 actually do have the docket up on my screen. I can pull them
19 up. But, oh, even better. Even better. Okay.

20 MR. MORRIS: All right. It looks like it worked.
21 Ms. Canty, if you could turn to Page 2, please. I think
22 that's Page 1.

23 (Pause.)

24 MR. MORRIS: I think it's stuck.

25 THE COURT: Hmm.

1 THE WITNESS: If need be, I have a teenager who could
2 probably figure this out, because I sure can't.

3 MR. MORRIS: I'm impressed that La Asia got to this
4 point already. Okay. Good. Just the one on the right. Is
5 there a way to focus in on the top paragraph on the right?

6 THE WITNESS: I'll put my glasses on and I'll be able
7 to read it.

8 MR. MORRIS: Okay. Right there. Perfect.

9 BY MR. MORRIS:

10 Q Is -- are you familiar with the provisions generally in 11 the term sheet relating to the opening of CEO?

12 A I am.

13 Q And is this the provision that you were referring to 14 earlier?

15 A It is.

16 Q And does this provision, to the best of your
17 understanding, provide the Board with the flexibility, in
18 consultation with the UCC, to exercise its business judgment
19 and appoint a CEO if it determined that to be in the Debtors'
20 best interest?

21 A It does. It's consistent with the discussions had -- that
22 were had prior to our appointment, and it obviously was
23 incorporated in the term sheet that was approved by the Court
24 on January 9th.

25 Q And this also reflects the understanding that you

Dubel - Direct

80

1 described earlier, where one of the Independent Directors
2 could, in fact, be selected as the CEO; is that right?

3 A That is correct.

4 MR. MORRIS: All right. Let's just take that down,
5 please, Ms. Canty.

6 BY MR. MORRIS:

7 Q Mr. Dubel, has Mr. Seery, in fact, taken on day-to-day
8 operational responsibilities for the Debtor?

9 A Yeah. Yes, he has. And I think early on the Board
10 realized that, between the three Board members, we would try
11 and divvy up the responsibilities, as Mr. Seery referred to 12 earlier, and it was definitely like drinking from a fire hose
13 in the early stages of the case, where the new Board was put
14 in place. And we tried to divvy up our responsibilities,
15 taking into consideration each of the Board Members'
16 expertise.

17 But it was pretty clear that the main business operations
18 required somebody with the skill set that Mr. Seery had, and 19 it would be much more efficient, as we progressed forward, to 20 coalesce around one individual as a CEO.

21 MR. MORRIS: Ms. Canty, can you pull up Exhibit 2?

22 BY MR. MORRIS:

23 Q And while we're doing that, Mr. Dubel, do you recall early
24 on that the Board asked Mr. Seery to become involved in the 25 trading of the prime accounts?

004557

1 A I do, yes.

2 Q Okay.

3 MR. MORRIS: La Asia, I don't know if you can scroll
4 down just to --

5 Your Honor, these are minutes from the Board's very first
6 meeting. And if we go to the next page, right here, you'll
7 see there's a discussion in the second paragraph.

8 BY MR. MORRIS:

9 Q Mr. Dubel, does that reflect the Board's deliberation and
10 decision, really, on the first day, to give Mr. Seery, you
11 know, the responsibility for dealing and overseeing the prime 12 accounts?

13 A It does. And what I was saying is, prior to the 14 appointment, in doing all of our diligence prior to joining
15 the Board, we realized there were all these issues that needed
16 to be dealt with. And so we came in on the very first day,
17 ready to recognize that there were certain things that needed
18 sort of expertise. And they were presented to us by DSI and 19 the management of HCMLP as areas that needed some additional
20 handling and oversight. And so we asked Mr. Seery to step
21 into that role on the very first day, which he -- which he
22 agreed to and the Board approved it.

23 Q Okay. Let's get to the meat and potatoes here. Did there
24 come a time when the Board and Mr. Seery actually began
25 discussing the possibility of his serving as the CEO?

1 A Yes, there did.

2 Q And can you share with the Court your recollection of how
3 that began?

4 A So, there were informal discussions, I would say, through
5 the month of February, as we started to realize that there
6 were -- the decision-making was going to be cumbersome,
7 having, you know, three parties involved. As I said earlier,
8 having spent 15 years or so my career as a chief executive
9 officer, I understand where you really want to have one person
10 be responsible for these issues.

11 And so we were conversing with Mr. Seery to see if he 12 would take on that role. And, obviously, we had felt very 13 comfortable, Mr. Nelms and I felt very comfortable with the 14 communications that he was having with us on things that we
15 had asked him to do. There was a very free and open
16 discussion with the Board members. So we continued, you know,
17 to look at opportunities where it might make sense.

18 And then, you know, towards the beginning of March, it was
19 pretty obvious that we were going to want to coalesce around
20 the motion. We thought about whether or not that would be 21 some third party. But having, again, experience of having to
22 go out in the marketplace to find CEOs when I'd been either,
23 you know, a director or involved in companies, we realized
24 that can be very time-consuming, would take us months to find
25 somebody.

1 And so we continued to discuss it with Mr. Seery. And
2 around the middle of March or so, right around the time that
3 we had a Creditors' Committee meeting in New York, we asked
4 Mr. Seery if he would take that role on, and he agreed to, to 5 take that role.

6 Q And that's -- and is that why the Debtor is seeking
7 authority to retain Mr. Seery nunc pro tunc back to March
8 15th?

9 A We are. I mean, effectively, he really started the role
10 in the February time frame. But we officially asked him about 11 this in -- right after that meeting on March -- I think it was
12 March 11th or so.

13 Q So, is it fair to say that's when the Board had a meeting
14 of the minds with respect to not necessarily the terms but at 15 least the engagement of Mr. Seery as CEO?

16 A Yes, that is fair to say.

17 Q Okay.

18 A And that's when he really did step up and take on all of 19 those responsibilities, you know, with the acknowledgement and 20 understanding that we would work out the appropriate terms for 21 his engagement.

22 Q Okay. And a couple of weeks later, do you recall that Mr.
23 Seery made a written proposal to you and Mr. Nelms?

24 A He did make a written proposal after, you know, having 25 discussions with us orally about various issues and roles and

84

1 responsibilities. I think it was around April 4th or so that
2 he presented us with a written proposal.

3 MR. MORRIS: All right. Ms. Canty, can you call up
4 Exhibit 3, please? (Pause.) Okay. If you'll scroll down.

5 BY MR. MORRIS:

6 Q Mr. Dubel, is this the April, the early April e-mail that
7 you were referring to in which Mr. Seery made a proposal for
8 the terms of his engagement as CEO?

9 A Yes. This document refreshes my recollection. It wasn't
10 April 4th. It was April (audio gap). But yes, that's the 11 document I was referring to.

12 Q Okay. What happened next, after -- after the -- after 13 this was presented to you and Mr. Nelms? What did you guys
14 do?

15 A So, what we wanted to do is understand what was our 16 responsibility as a board. So we reached out to counsel to
17 figure out how the process should work. We set up a
18 compensation committee. It's called a comp committee; it's
19 more I would call it a nomination committee or a governance
20 committee also, because it was all about retaining Mr. Seery
21 in that role.

22 We got advice from counsel on what the process should be.
23 We reached out to our compensation consultant at Mercer, who 24 had been providing us assistance in other areas of the 25 company's compensation program, to talk to them about what the 004561

1 various market comps, you know, compensation programs were and
2 what would be an appropriate market comp for Mr. Seery's
3 compensation, and, you know, moved forward that way.

4 MR. MORRIS: Ms. Canty, can you pull up Exhibit 4,
5 please?

6 BY MR. MORRIS:

7 Q Do you know what this document is, Mr. Dubel?

8 A Yes. This looks like the minutes from the meeting of our
9 first compensation committee on April 8th, compensation
10 committee of Strand Advisors.

11 Q And this was a meeting between you and Mr. Nelms, with 12 counsel; is that right?

13 A That is correct.

14 Q And this was precipitated by Mr. Seery's written proposal
15 that was made a few days before that; is that fair?

16 A Well, I would say it was precipitated by the advice we had
17 gotten through counsel that we should set up a compensation
18 committee and consider what would be the appropriate way of 19 retaining Mr. Seery, you know, as a chief executive officer.
20 His proposal came in a couple of days earlier than that, and
21 so this was our first official time to get together as a
22 committee and review it and discuss the issue.

23 Q And was this a contemporaneous record of the steps that
24 the compensation committee took to do its due diligence with 25 respect to the proposal?

1 A It is.

2 Q Okay. Did the compensation committee --

3 MR. MORRIS: You can take that down, Ms. Canty.

4 BY MR. MORRIS:

5 Q Did the compensation committee communicate with the
6 Creditors' Committee with respect to these matters?

7 A We did.

8 Q Can you --

9 A As a part of the protocols, one of the things I -- and I'd 10 go back and re-read the protocol language, but one of the 11 things it said was work with the UCC to determine who would be 12 an appropriate CEO. And so we realized we would do that, and 13 we started to reach out to the various members of the 14 Creditors' Committee to discuss that.

15 Q Okay. And do you recall whether the compensation
16 committee or the Debtor generally shared Mr. Seery's proposal
17 with the Committee?

18 A We did. I don't recall the exact date, but we did share
19 it with the UCC through the UCC counsel.

20 Q Do you recall if the report that was commissioned by the 21 Debtor with respect to Mercer, the Mercer Report, was that
22 shared with the Committee?

23 A It was.

24 Q Can you describe for Judge Jernigan your recollection as
25 to, you know, the Committee's reaction and, you know, position

Dubel - Direct

87

1 with respect to the proposed retention of Mr. Seery as CEO?

2 A We shared the report from Mercer with the Committee in --
3 I think it was early May. And we spent time with them in the 4 April time frame talking about the fact that we were going to
5 be seeking Mr. Seery's appointment as CEO and telling them
6 that we were going to be commissioning a report to make sure
7 we had what we thought was market compensation.

8 The Committee was generally very supportive. They had
9 been obviously experiencing Mr. Seery taking on that role of
10 effectively the CEO for a period of time, so they understood
11 where, you know, where he was coming from and what -- how he
12 was going to operate the business.

13 They understood, to my knowledge and in my discussions,
14 they understood the benefits of having a single person as the
15 CEO rather than trying to manage the business by committee.
16 We discussed with them why it made sense.

17 And so, you know, they were supportive of it. Obviously,
18 we had to negotiate the terms of the compensation.

19 Q And did that take some time, to negotiate the compensation
20 terms?

21 A It did. Initially, it was being done through myself and
22 Mr. Nelms, working directly with the Committee. But, again,
23 having been in that position of having to negotiate with the,
24 you know, the committee on terms of my own personal
25 compensation -- not this committee, but in other cases -- we

004564

1 recognized that it was probably more efficient for Mr. Seery
2 to speak directly with the Committee, Committee members. And
3 so we asked him to pick up that, you know, responsibility
4 also. And he did. He kept us informed every step of the way.
5 And I, as the de facto chairman of the compensation committee,
6 also spoke directly with the various members of the Committee
7 during this time frame, where there was (echoing)
8 communication about compensation.

9 Q Mr. Pomerantz mentioned it in his opening remarks, but do
10 you recall kind of what the bigger issues were with respect to 11 the proposed compensation terms with the Committee?

12 A Sure. The Committee -- well, there was always negotiation
13 going on, obviously. The Committee, at the end of it, they 14 had no problems with the monthly compensation, recognizing 15 that whatever his board compensation would be would
16 effectively be wrapped into the monthly compensation.

17 What the issues really came down to for them revolved
18 around the restructuring fee that was being proposed, success
19 fee, you know, what have you. And there was a lot of 20 different views, as you can imagine, between the four members
21 of the Committee as to how that should be set up.

22 Mr. Nelms and I were very cognizant that we did not want
23 to have Mr. Seery (echoing) -- I'm sorry. I'm getting a lot
24 of background noise here.

25 THE COURT: Yes. I'm not sure who needs to mute

1 their phone, but someone needs to mute their phone. Okay.

2 THE WITNESS: Thank you.

3 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

4 (Echoing subsides.)

5 THE WITNESS: So we were very concerned that
6 structures not be put in place that could cause the potential,
7 the appearance of a conflict between the role that Mr. Seery
8 was playing and his compensation.

9 It's always a, you know, a challenging issue here, to make
10 sure that, you know, a CEO of any company is looking out for 11 the best interests of the estate and not looking out
12 specifically for any particular creditor, equity, or group of 13 creditors, just because that's the way the compensation was
14 designed. And so that was a challenge.

15 At the end of the day, we wanted to have what we felt was
16 fair compensation for the success fee and restructuring fee
17 for Mr. Seery, because we wanted him incented to get the job
18 done, as he has alluded to in his prior testimony as to what 19 he's trying to do here. And so there did come a point where 20 we could not get to a meeting of the minds and so we chose to
21 move forward on the compensation with just the monthly agreed
22 to. Mr. Seery was good enough to agree to that for just the 23 monthly, and that we would put forward the restructuring fee
24 at a later date.

25 BY MR. MORRIS:

1 Q Okay. Thank you. In addition to the CEO title, the
2 Debtor is asking for the Court to appoint Mr. Seery as the CRO
3 and the Foreign Representative; is that right?

4 A That is correct.

5 Q And why is the Debtor seeking that relief?

6 A Well, initially, the CRO was brought in, I believe it was
7 the middle of October, when the case was filed and before the
8 Independent Board was put in place. And there were reasons
9 why, you know, the Committee had asked for the CRO to have 10 certain responsibilities. Those carried through in the 11 protocols.

12 And obviously, you know, we had no issues with those, but
13 what we also felt, Mr. Nelms and I, and in consultation with 14 Mr. Seery, was that it would be more appropriate to have one
15 person be responsible for all of the issues within the 16 company. And since there was an Independent Board, and since
17 one of those Independent Board Members was becoming the CEO,
18 the need for another individual to be the CRO might send 19 conflicting signals inside the organization. And so we 20 decided that it would be appropriate to put those
21 responsibilities into Mr. Seery's lap. And we spoke with Mr.
22 Sharp from DSI, and he agreed. And so that's the reason why
23 we moved it forward that way.

24 Q Okay. I understood you to say that the meeting of the 25 minds, at least conceptually, was somewhere around March 12th

1 in New York, or March 11th. I think the Judge may have asked
2 the question or at least implied that she wanted to know kind
3 of why it took so long to get the motion on file. I think
4 you've discussed some of the issues, but just kind of in a
5 bullet-point way, can you give the Judge an explanation as to,
6 you know, why it took several months to get this motion in
7 front of the Court if a meeting of the minds occurred back in 8 March?

9 A Sure. I believe the motion was filed on the -- I think it
10 was the 22nd or so of June.

11 Q Okay.

12 A And so we -- we asked Mr. Seery. He accepted the 13 responsibility in the middle of March. Right at that point in 14 time was when the whole pandemic issue was, you know, really
15 coming hot and heavy at the company. As Mr. Seery testified
16 earlier, he had -- he was spending a tremendous amount of time
17 just focusing on the operations of the business, focusing on 18 the assets, dealing with the prime accounts, the select
19 accounts, working with Jeff Reeves, working with the other
20 individual investments that we had, to make sure that those
21 were under control.

22 I would say I applaud him for putting the business first
23 in front of him, and then I think probably at 1:00 o'clock in 24 the morning he was able to finally sit down and put together
25 his own compensation request.

1 We did need time to go through with the Mercer folks and
2 get, you know, the market information, and that took a lot of,
3 you know, a lot of time.

4 And then, more importantly, we wanted to make sure we
5 could get something in front of the Court that was agreed to
6 by the Committee. So we did share the information with the
7 Committee. We spent a lot of time in negotiations with the
8 Committee, trying to get to a resolution. As I said earlier,
9 we asked Mr. Seery to step in and there be, you know, one-on-
10 one discussions to maybe shortcut some of that.

11 And finally, at the point in time where we realized we
12 could not get a full, you know, fully-agreed compensation
13 program, we asked him to just break it down into the monthly,
14 and then come back for a restructuring bonus at the end of the 15 case.

16 And so all of that, while trying to manage the business in
17 the COVID era, is what took such a long period of time.

18 Q Did it also take some time to obtain appropriate D&O
19 insurance for Mr. Seery as the CEO?

20 A It did. We had to, as the Board of Strand, we had to set
21 up a D&O program for the Board members when we first got 22 involved back in January. That took a tremendous amount of 23 time. It was very difficult to obtain in the marketplace, for 24 any number of reasons, but mainly because the insurance market
25 understood what Highland was all about and the various

1 players, and they were very reticent to insure Highland.

2 So, because we were Strand, because there were other
3 protections that were afforded to the Independent Directors,
4 we were able to obtain it.

5 When we asked the various carriers to add Mr. Seery on as
6 the CEO for HCMLP, it was very challenging to put folks on.
7 We were eventually able to get our first layer to sign on, the 8 first-layer insurer. The second layer would not do it, and we 9 had to go find a third carrier who would do it. And we
10 actually got that done at some time in the latter part of 11 June, right after we had filed the motion.

12 Q Okay.

13 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, I've got just a few more
14 questions, but they're going to be devoted to the DSI motion.
15 I don't know if you wanted to ask -- if you had any questions
16 on the motion with respect to Mr. Seery or I should just 17 continue on.

18 THE COURT: I do not have questions. You can
19 continue.

20 MR. MORRIS: Okay.

21 BY MR. MORRIS:

22 Q Okay. So, let's just finish up, Mr. Dubel. There is a
23 second motion in front of the Court, and this one is for the 24 appointment of DSI as financial advisor. Are you familiar
25 with that motion?

1 A I am.

2 Q Does the Board unanimously support that motion?

3 A We do.

4 Q Has the Board concluded, in an exercise of its independent
5 business judgment, that the engagement of DSI as financial
6 advisor is in the Debtors' best interests?

7 A We have. Yes.

8 Q Can you explain to the Court why the Board reached that
9 conclusion?

10 A Well, we do need the services of a financial advisor.
11 It's very important in this case to have an independent, you
12 know, restructuring, you know, financial advisor to assist us.
13 As Mr. Seery testified earlier, they have been very
14 instrumental in helping him prepare the financial analysis
15 that has been part of what he's been using to start
16 negotiating and working forward on the -- putting together a
17 plan of reorganization.

18 They've also spent a tremendous amount of time acting as a
19 bridge to FTI, the Committee's financial advisors, which is 20 very common in these types of cases. And so that's been
21 extremely helpful. And that role needs to continue.

22 They also are handling all of -- all the administrative
23 bankruptcy issues, the SOFAs, the MORs. They're doing a lot
24 of work for us, not necessarily specifically on the large
25 claims, but on helping us analyze and review all of the other

1 myriad of -- I think it's two hundred something claims that
2 have been filed in the case.

3 So they've been here since -- I guess they came in pre-
4 filing. They have a lot of history and knowledge, and we want
5 to continue to utilize that knowledge as we continue to move
6 forward. So that's why. And the Board is very comfortable
7 with the job they've been doing, and so we felt it was
8 appropriate to continue to use them as the financial advisor,
9 just in a slightly different role.

10 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, I have no more questions of 11 Mr. Dubel.

12 THE COURT: All right. Well, I'm going to just jump
13 in and ask my own questions, and then I will -- I'll, you
14 know, offer him up for cross if people will promise to 15 restrict it to employment terms.

16 EXAMINATION BY THE COURT

17 THE COURT: So, what -- my question is about Mr.
18 Sharp. As I recall, the compensation is not going to change
19 at all, even though the role is changing. He won't be CRO
20 anymore, Mr. Sharp. He won't be the Foreign Representative
21 anymore. But obviously, he and his firm will remain very
22 engaged as financial advisor.

23 What I'm getting at is there was a $100,000 per month flat
24 fee for Mr. Sharp, and then other professionals at DSI will
25 bill by the hour. Tell me why the Board thinks that's still

1 the appropriate compensation package with the modified role of
2 Mr. Sharp. I'm getting at, $100,000 a month, is that still
3 the right thing, or hourly compensation, did you discuss that,
4 and why is --

5 THE WITNESS: We did, Your Honor. And I'll be
6 (inaudible) with you. I don't know who negotiated that
7 originally for -- with, you know, with DSI, but I find it to
8 be a very fair-to-the-Debtor compensation package of $100,000
9 for Mr. Sharp, but it also includes Mr. Caruso, who Mr. Seery
10 has referenced earlier. I think it was a very good
11 negotiation that was had by the Debtor.

12 So when we looked at it, we said, if we switch to a
13 straight hourly, based upon the amount of time and effort
14 that's being put in by the two of those individuals, it might 15 cost us a little bit more. So we chose to continue it at that 16 level.

17 And I know Mr. Seery will continue to lean on those two 18 folks and get his money's worth. I'm confident of that.

19 THE COURT: Okay. You just reminded me of something
20 that I did not remember, I guess. Mr. -- we're getting two 21 for the price of one, is basically the -- Mr. Caruso does not
22 bill by the hour?

23 THE WITNESS: They -- they work together. It's their
24 compensation. I would imagine they keep hours internally,
25 just to keep track of it, but what they bill us for the two

1 individuals, Mr. Caruso and Mr. Sharp, is a flat fee of
2 $100,000 for the two of them.

3 THE COURT: Okay. All right. And do you remember,
4 by comparison, the financial advisor to the Committee -- is it
5 FDI? Whoever it is.

6 THE WITNESS: It -- it --

7 THE COURT: How are they getting compensated? Is it
8 strictly on an hourly basis, or is there also a combo flat fee
9 and hourly?

10 THE WITNESS: (echoing) on an hourly basis, and I
11 have one of their most recent charts. It was the May fee
12 application that they just filed, and they -- they bill in a
13 range from $1,245 an hour for, you know, senior managing
14 directors, to $875 an hour for managing directors, down to,
15 you know, $690 an hour for directors. Yeah. A very fair and 16 appropriate marketplace compensation, but I think what we are 17 incurring under the structure that we have for DSI is below
18 that.

19 THE COURT: If those two guys were billing normal
20 market hourly fees, you think it would be busting $100,000 a
21 month, perhaps?

22 THE WITNESS: I think it -- I think it would be well
23 in excess of $100,000, --

24 THE COURT: Okay.

25 THE WITNESS: -- based upon the hours that we have

1 seen to date from them, Your Honor.

2 THE COURT: Okay. Now, does anyone else have
3 questions for Mr. Dubel related to these employment
4 arrangements proposed?

5 (No response.)

6 THE COURT: I guess not. I actually have one more
7 question. I think it will be for my benefit, but maybe for
8 benefit of parties in interest, I hope. You made a comment
9 about getting insurance for Mr. Seery, and you said it was a
10 bit of a challenge because insurers in the marketplace kind of 11 knew what Highland was about. I think those were your words.

12 THE WITNESS: Yes, Your Honor.

13 THE COURT: Here is my question. As far as knowing
14 what Highland is about, other persons, not me, have used the 15 words that people were Mr. Dondero's puppet master, or he was 16 the puppet master, had his hands all over this, here and
17 there. And we obviously endeavored to change that with the 18 new Board in place. What would you say if people out there
19 think Dondero still might be a puppet master? What -- I mean,
20 is there any concern there that you could address?

21 THE WITNESS: Sure. And let me, let me take it in
22 two parts, because I think it's important for you to
23 understand from a third-party insurer's point of view. The 24 D&O marketplace has seen a lot of litigation surrounding the 25 Highland Capital name. And because of that, that obviously

1 causes them concern. Their business is to write insurance and
2 never pay a dime. I ran an insurance company for six years,
3 and you never want to pay a dime out, you just want to collect
4 premiums.

5 THE COURT: Yes. And I probably prefaced this in a
6 confusing way. I'm really not going back to the insurance. I
7 just said that comment, when you were talking about insurance,
8 made me want to ask, for my benefit and for other parties'
9 benefit: How much control, if any, does Dondero have? In 10 theory, he was not supposed to have any control over the 11 Debtor anymore, but can you say something to make us all feel
12 comfortable that, if he ever was a puppet master, he's not a
13 puppet master anymore?

14 THE WITNESS: Well, I won't use that terminology.
15 What I will say is, since January 9th --

16 THE COURT: Yes. It was someone else's term, not
17 mine. I'm just repeating it.

18 THE WITNESS: That's okay. Since January 9th, when
19 the Independent Board was put in place, the Independent Board
20 has had the responsibility, is responsible for the operations
21 of this business. Mr. Dondero, as Mr. Seery alluded to 22 earlier in talking about the number of people in the 23 organization, has other businesses that he's involved with 24 that operate out of the offices through shared services. But
25 it's very clear to all the employees that the Independent

Dubel - Examination by the Court

100

1 Board is responsible for HCMLP and that since, really, you
2 know, the early March time frame, that Mr. Seery is the CEO.

3 So there is no concern on my part that Mr. Dondero is
4 having undue influence. He is still our portfolio manager,
5 but Mr. Seery is working with him as appropriate, and I have
6 no concern that Mr. Seery is not getting the job done and
7 getting any undue influence from Mr. Dondero.

8 THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

9 Mr. Morris, do you have any redirect?

10 MR. MORRIS: I do not, Your Honor. I appreciate the 11 question, and I think Mr. Dubel answered it appropriately.

12 THE COURT: All right. Thank you, Mr. Dubel. I do
13 appreciate your testimony today. It was helpful.

14 All right. Mr. Morris, --

15 THE WITNESS: Thank you, ma'am.

16 THE COURT: -- what else do you have? You have Mr.
17 Sharp on your witness list. Did you want to --

18 MR. SHARP: I'm here, Your Honor.

19 THE COURT: -- put him on?

20 MR. MORRIS: I'm intending to do that. If Your Honor
21 thinks it's not necessary, I don't need to ask more questions.
22 It's a relatively brief examination that will just focus on
23 the slight change in his role.

24 THE COURT: All right. Well, if you feel the need to 25 make a record, you may. I just have one question I want to

004577

Sharp - Examination by the Court

101

1 ask him, to shore up the record.

2 MR. MORRIS: So perhaps, Your Honor, could we swear
3 him in, you ask your question, and then I'll see if there's
4 (echoing)?

5 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Sharp, I see you there.
6 Please raise your right hand.

7 (Echoing.)

8 BRADLEY SHARP, DEBTORS' WITNESS, SWORN

9 THE COURT: Thank you. We were getting some
10 distortion there. So, again, if you're not Mr. Sharp, please
11 put your phone on mute.

12 EXAMINATION BY THE COURT

13 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Sharp, I just wanted to 14 hear from you how many hours a month do you think that you and
15 Mr. Caruso are working on the Highland matter?

16 THE WITNESS: I don't have the hours in front of me,
17 Your Honor, but I think Mr. Dubel unfortunately alluded to
18 poor negotiating on DSI's part. That'd be my responsibility,
19 because I'm the one that did that.

20 From October through May, if you look at the time for Mr.
21 Caruso and myself, DSI has provided about a $730,000 discount.
22 So if we were actually being paid on our hourly rate, our fees
23 would be $730,000 more than the $100,000 a month. We
24 typically run -- my rate is $720 an hour. I think Mr.
25 Caruso's is about the same. The time for the two of us each

Sharp - Direct

102

1 month runs about $200,000, which we then write down to
2 $100,000.

3 THE COURT: All right.

4 THE WITNESS: (echoing) a month.

5 THE COURT: Okay. That answers my question. Mr.
6 Morris, is there anything you wanted to put on the record?

7 DIRECT EXAMINATION

8 BY MR. MORRIS:

9 Q Mr. Sharp, are you the person who was (echoing) with the 10 (echoing) CRO (echoing) Seery (echoing)?

11 A Yes, I am. I think it's much more efficient, frankly.
12 We've worked very well with Mr. Seery since the beginning,
13 since January 9th. That's going to continue. I think it
14 takes away some confusion, both internally and externally, in
15 that, you know, Mr. Seery is the CEO, the CRO, and everyone
16 knows that we are providing the analytical and support for him
17 with whatever he needs.

18 Q And I want to focus just for a second on DSI's (echoing).
19 Is DSI's responsibilities in the case changing at all?

20 A No. No. We have been working for the Board and 21 responding directly to Mr. Seery. You know, as Mr. Seery
22 testified, he works directly with myself and directly with my
23 team, and that's not going to change.

24 MR. MORRIS: I have no further questions, Your Honor.

25 THE COURT: All right. Anyone have any questions

004579

Sharp - Direct

103

1 regarding the employment terms?

2 (No response.)

3 THE COURT: All right. Well, I thank you, Mr. Sharp.
4 We appreciate it.

5 All right. Mr. --

6 MR. MORRIS: The Debtor rests, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: Okay. Well, I presume no one else had a
8 witness to call. Again, we didn't have any responsive
9 pleadings on this.

10 So, with that, I am going to turn to the Committee counsel
11 at this point. Mr. Clemente, I know you said early on that 12 you wanted to make some comments, so this is your opportunity.

13 MR. CLEMENTE: Well, thank you, Your Honor. Matt
14 Clemente from Sidley on behalf of the Committee.

15 And just very briefly, Your Honor, as you know, we did not 16 file an objection. It sounds from what we heard today that
17 Mr. Seery and the Board are working hard, which is, frankly,
18 what I think you expect and what we expect of them.

19 We don't have an objection to the retention of Mr. Seery
20 as CEO at $150,000 a month, which is inclusive of director
21 fees. And as Mr. Pomerantz said, the Committee does not agree
22 -- in fact, that was the source of quite a bit of the 23 negotiation of the last couple of months -- with the bonus
24 proposal. But, again, we understand that that will be 25 addressed by a separate motion.

004580

1 Your Honor, we appreciate Mr. Seery's testimony to advise
2 you and to create the record for purposes of today's
3 uncontested matter. And obviously, the Committee -- there's
4 no live objection. And while the Committee may have different
5 views of what Mr. Seery said -- for example, the working of 6 the protocols, the sophistication of the advisors to the
7 Committee -- again, for purposes of the matter before the
8 Court today, we're not going to take any issue with any of 9 those statements, Your Honor, but reserve the right to do so
10 again in future if it becomes necessary.

11 So, with that, Your Honor, I have no further comments, but 12 I did want to make those couple comments for the record, to 13 make sure Your Honor understood where the Committee is coming
14 from.

15 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you. Does anyone else wish
16 to make comments about the applications before the Court?

17 (No response.)

18 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Morris, I'll turn it back
19 to you.

20 I found in my notes one question that I had. Looking at 21 your Exhibit 3 is what made me decide I have this question.
22 The Exhibit 3 was the e-mail exchange of Sunday, April 5th
23 amongst the Board members. Let me ask you this. There was 24 something in there regarding Mr. Seery, this would be a full-
25 time position, but he would be permitted to serve on outside

1 boards of directors. Is that a term that survived, or no?

2 And if it did, I want to ask how many outside board

3 memberships does he have? Again, I expect, like I think

4 everyone, that it's going to be very full-time, so I don't

5 want to hear that he's on 12 other boards. How did that --

6 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, this is Jeff Pomerantz.

7 Since I was the one who actually was involved in negotiations

8 more than Mr. Morris, --

9 THE COURT: Okay.

10 MR. POMERANTZ: -- maybe I can answer. I believe it

11 was something that survived. I am not aware of any other

12 boards that Mr. Seery is on. And if he has actually been able

13 to do anything meaningful while performing what is I think

14 probably 200 hours a month and being available 24/7, I take my

15 hat off to him. But I would ask him to confirm if he has any

16 other material role, but I have not seen anything.

17 THE COURT: All right. What about that, Mr. Seery?

18 MR. SEERY: I -- currently, I'm not on any other

19 outside boards except two charities.

20 THE COURT: Okay.

21 MR. SEERY: One is a foundation called the

22 (inaudible) Foundation, which is a charity for (inaudible)

23 individuals, disabled folks, and -- most of whom are abused.

24 And I'm also involved with a charity, I'm not on the board but

25 on a funding committee for Team Rubicon, which is a reference

1 -- reference service, assistance in disasters. So they don't
2 take time like this, and so I'm not going to be involved in
3 any --

4 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you. That's what I would
5 hope to hear. I didn't want to hear that you were on, you
6 know, 12 other for-profit boards.

7 So, all right. So, Mr. Morris, Mr. Pomerantz, do you have
8 anything to say before we wrap up this topic?

9 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, I'm happy to give Your
10 Honor a closing statement if you think it's necessary. I
11 think you know what I would say, to summarize. But I think
12 we've been at this a while, so (inaudible).

13 So unless Your Honor has any questions for me, I would 14 just say that the evidentiary record, I believe, supports the
15 entry of an order approving both the Motion to Employ Mr.
16 Seery as the Chief Executive Officer, CRO, and Foreign
17 Representative, and the Motion to Appoint DSI as the Financial 18 Advisor.

19 THE COURT: All right. Well, I am going to grant
20 both of these motions. Again, as for Mr. Seery, it's as
21 modified per the agreements with the Committee, that
22 modification being that, as for any bonuses, we're just
23 deferring to another day whether Mr. Seery is going to get any
24 bonuses related to a plan, what kind of plan it might be, a
25 case resolution plan or a monetization vehicle plan.

1 You know, I really hope, frankly, Mr. Seery is before me
2 seeking a bonus in the very near future and we're all happy
3 about the prospect of paying him a bonus because a plan has
4 been achieved, hopefully a case resolution plan. I will just
5 tell you right now, I will have a big smile on my face and
6 will warmly consider that if we get a great result here.

7 But it's deferred to another day. So I do find it's --
8 the evidence amply shows a sound business justification and
9 reasonable business judgment on the part of the Debtor in
10 proposing that Mr. Seery be CEO and CRO, essentially, and a
11 foreign representative, where necessary, at the base pay of 12 $150,000 per month, again, with bonuses to be considered at 13 appropriate times down the road if we feel that that is a good
14 thing for Mr. Seery to be paid.

15 And I likewise find that, under 327, 328, 363, the amended
16 application with regard to DSI Specialists and Mr. Sharp and
17 Mr. Caruso should be granted, it appearing to be reasonable
18 business judgment and in the best interests of the estate and 19 appropriate in all ways under those Code sections.

20 All right. So we are going to look for orders on those
21 two matters.

22 Now, unless you have other housekeeping matters you want
23 to talk about, I want to circle back to the mediation topic.
24 Mr. Pomerantz, Mr. Morris, anything you wanted to raise?

25 MR. POMERANTZ: There is actually one other

1 housekeeping matter that Ms. Patel and I have been speaking
2 about and we said we would raise before Your Honor.

3 As Your Honor heard at the last hearing, we had filed an
4 objection to the Acis claim. We initially set the objection
5 for August 6th. Ms. Patel reached out to us, I understand, I
6 remember at the last hearing indicated that August 6th was
7 difficult for her. And especially since we were having the
8 mediation, we had talked to her about a rescheduling. So we
9 are intending put the matter on the September 10th calendar.
10 We have also granted Acis an extension to file a response to 11 July 31st.

12 What I think we would like the Court's input on, and not
13 now, but we would suggest having it done at the next hearing,
14 which is July 21st, as I'm sure Your Honor has not yet read
15 our objection, but it's a quite lengthy objection, I think 55,
16 60 pages. There's a lot of issues there. There are some
17 factual issues, some -- there are some legal issues. There
18 are some combination of factual and legal issues.

19 We think it would be helpful to the process to set up a
20 status conference with Your Honor -- again, to be held perhaps 21 on July 21st, because discovery motions are pending -- where
22 we could walk through with Your Honor what exactly everyone
23 would intend to accomplish on September 10th. We don't
24 believe it should just be a status conference. We searched
25 other dates. On the other hand, I think both parties will

1 have different views on what exactly will be at issue. But I
2 think it would be helpful, from both sides, to hear Your
3 Honor's expectations and to get some ground rules so we can
4 make a hearing, if necessary, on September 10th as productive
5 as possible.

6 THE COURT: All right. So, in writing down dates,
7 did you tell me what -- a deadline you have given Acis, or
8 what is the deadline that would apply under the Rules versus 9 what you have agreed to? Is there something different you've 10 agreed to?

11 MR. POMERANTZ: Sure. I believe, for a hearing on 12 August 6th, based upon when we filed it, I believe their 13 objection would have been due July 23rd or thereabouts. They 14 have asked us for July 31st, and I don't want to be as 15 presumptuous, Your Honor, to say that I have given them the 16 extension. I know that's up to you, Your Honor, to do so.
17 The Debtor does not have any opposition to an extension in 18 that respect, especially given the fact that we're not going
19 to have a hearing until September, although it's obviously
20 going to be important to be able to move forward with 21 negotiations to understand what their specific position is,
22 and, of course, for a mediator to look at both as well.

23 So, again, it's July 31st, September 10th, and then
24 setting up something with Your Honor, whether it be July 21st
25 or some other date, to walk through Your Honor what that

1 hearing will look like so it could be most efficient.

2 THE COURT: All right. Well, I am agreeable to that
3 set of dates and deadlines. Ms. Patel, did you want to say
4 anything about it?

5 MS. PATEL: No, Your Honor. Mr. Pomerantz hit the
6 salient terms. Yes, July 31st is the agreed response date.
7 And that allows, frankly, parties to -- an opportunity --
8 allows Acis the opportunity to meaningfully brief the issues,
9 as Mr. Pomerantz indicated.

10 It's a 60-page objection. It's very weighty. There's a
11 lot of issues that require due consideration. So we have 12 agreed on that extended date. It's in sufficient time to 13 allow the parties time to read a response and analyze it ahead
14 of a mediation in August.

15 And as Mr. Pomerantz indicated, yes, the parties would 16 like -- effectively, I think he -- he might have referred to 17 it as a status conference. Apologies, my WebEx is cutting in 18 and out a little bit this afternoon. But I think it's 19 probably a status conference/scheduling conference so we can
20 talk about what the trial of the claim objection is going to 21 look like and how it should be structured. And I think, as
22 Mr. Pomerantz alluded to, parties may have very different
23 contexts with respect to that, but we want to just run it by
24 Your Honor, and ultimately it is going to be up to Your Honor
25 with respect to how the trial goes forward.

1 THE COURT: All right. Well, I hope that you all are
2 going to have lots of specific thoughts to share on what the
3 hearing on September 10th would look like, because, holy cow,
4 a $70 million proof of claim that -- I haven't looked at your
5 proof of claim, but it is presumably based on the 34 counts in
6 the adversary proceeding filed in the Acis case, and maybe
7 then some.

8 So, you know, I don't know how in the world, if we had to
9 have a contested hearing on September 10th, we could get that
10 all done in one day.

11 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, Jeff Pomerantz again.
12 Without getting ahead of ourselves, at least the Debtors' view
13 is there are some threshold legal issues --

14 THE COURT: Okay.

15 MR. POMERANTZ: -- that are raised in the objection.
16 And then there are, of course, a series of issues that are 17 factual-intensive.

18 So what we intend to present is how we think we can
19 efficiently deal with it. Again, it's not our expectation to 20 have a lengthy trial on the entire claim objection. But,
21 again, Ms. Patel and I agreed that what we weren't going to do
22 is turn this into a status conference.

23 THE COURT: Okay.

24 MR. POMERANTZ: To the effect that neither party was 25 ready. I would just leave it at that --

1 THE COURT: Okay.

2 MR. POMERANTZ: -- and say we'd be prepared to talk
3 with you on the 21st.

4 THE COURT: Okay. Well, we -- we'll use that setting
5 partly as a status conference to talk about the September 10th
6 hearing. And, again, I hope you both will have some specific
7 ideas to give me.

8 So, July 21st, we have -- remind me what we have. We are
9 so busy, I haven't looked one week ahead to --

10 MR. POMERANTZ: I believe, and Mr. Morris could
11 correct me if I get ahead of ourselves. I know there's been
12 discussions between us and the Committee on two very -- two,
13 in some sense, the opposite sides of the coin -- discovery
14 motions that are pending before Your Honor. I thought July
15 21st may have been pre-obtained. Again, I could be ahead of 16 my partner there.

17 THE COURT: Okay. That sounds like something that
18 I've set on an expedited basis in the past few days. Mr.
19 Morris, Mr. Clemente -- Mr. Clemente filed a motion, or
20 someone from their shop filed a motion --

21 MR. CLEMENTE: Your Honor? Your Honor?

22 THE COURT: -- during the middle of our last hearing,
23 as I recall. And I was kind of surprised to get out of court
24 and learn about it. But you're saying you haven't gotten
25 information you've been asking for for months, and we also

1 have a motion for a protective order.

2 So, just give me a short -- I'm trying to figure out how
3 much time we're going to be in court next week on the 21st.
4 It's a discovery dispute.

5 MR. POMERANTZ: And I'll --

6 THE COURT: So, Mr. Pomerantz? Go ahead.

7 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, if my colleague, Paige
8 Montgomery, is on, she's in a better position to address that.
9 I don't know if Ms. Montgomery is on.

10 MS. MONTGOMERY: I'm here. I don't -- my WebEx has
11 been cutting in and out, but I think (inaudible) hear me.

12 THE COURT: We can hear you, but we can't --

13 MR. POMERANTZ: Yes, we can.

14 THE COURT: Oh, there you are. We can now see you as
15 well. So, --

16 MS. MONTGOMERY: Yes, Your Honor. I think the amount
17 of time that might be required for the discovery motions is
18 going to be dependent on the number of third-party objections
19 that may or may not be filed tomorrow. We've been in 20 communication with a number of different parties over the last
21 couple of days, trying to resolve those.

22 But I think, if it were just the two motions and the two
23 parties that filed those, John, I don't know if you disagree,
24 but I'd say that's probably an hour. I just don't know how 25 many other people -- I don't know how many other people will

1 want to participate, Your Honor.

2 THE COURT: Okay. Well, it's going to be whatever
3 it's going to be, but we're going to have -- the main event on
4 the 21st is going to be this document discovery contest, and I
5 guess there's a related motion for protective order. But I
6 don't know how much it's going to be about resisting producing
7 documents versus we'll produce documents if we have a
8 protective order.

9 Mr. Morris, can you, in, you know, a few seconds, answer
10 that?

11 MR. MORRIS: Sure. As the Debtor, we're trying to --
12 we've got certain interests to protect. We thought we were in 13 a different place in the middle of June, and, you know, this
14 proposal that the Committee made for the first time on July --
15 on June 26th is really what, from my perspective, prompted us
16 to be here.

17 But we've made a proposal to the Committee. We haven't
18 received a response to that. We're trying to address these
19 issues. But it's not, you know, it's not contentious. I
20 think our interests are legitimate. I think the motion that
21 we made is either for a protective order or for an order
22 directing us to produce the documents. Because as the motion
23 itself sets forth, Your Honor, the Debtor has certain
24 contractual and other obligations to some third parties. We 25 have given notice to those third parties of our -- of our

1 intent to make this motion, because we are kind of between a
2 rock and a hard place. We can't produce the documents
3 without, you know, potentially violating obligations to third
4 parties.

5 And so we'd just ask the Court to be the referee here, to
6 make the decision as to how it gets resolved. And we've given
7 notice to these third parties so that they fairly have an
8 opportunity to be heard, too. And I've been in communication
9 with some of them as well, and I've encouraged them to speak
10 with the Debtor, because ultimately, you know, if the Debtor
11 and the third parties can come to an agreement on the 12 production of the documents, you know, that will resolve, you
13 know, a substantial piece of the issue.

14 MR. POMERANTZ: You mentioned the -- you meant the 15 Committee, John, not the Debtor.

16 MR. MORRIS: I apologize. Yes. Thank you.

17 MR. POMERANTZ: Thank you, John.

18 THE COURT: Okay. Well, I hope you have this largely
19 worked out. Obviously, I hope that. You know, I just 20 remember doing a very quick pass through the Committee's
21 motion, but I do remember them saying they've been trying to
22 get these documents for a very long time, and I think I recall
23 there's pressure building now because I gave you a 90-day
24 deadline to either file a lawsuit regarding the CLO Holdco
25 issues that we had a hearing on a few weeks ago, a couple of

1 weeks ago, or I'm probably going to release the money in the
2 registry of the Court. And so that's part of why you're
3 trying to get these documents as soon as possible, right, Ms.
4 Montgomery?

5 MS. MONTGOMERY: Yes, Your Honor.

6 THE COURT: Okay. All right. You all try to work
7 this out. Okay?

8 MR. CLEMENTE: Thank you.

9 THE COURT: Well, I was partly pressing the issue of
10 what's July 21st going to look like because I think we may 11 carry over the discussion about mediation. We're going to 12 start it right now, but I think we may have to carry it over
13 to the 21st, and I hope finally kind of get a game plan
14 together on that day.

15 So, I wanted Mr. Seery to be available. Mr. Seery is --
16 if you're still there somewhere. You're very important, in my 17 view, to mediation potentially being successful here -- and
18 the whole Board is, for that matter -- because -- well, let me
19 digress a minute.

20 Mediation is going to be very tough here. We all know
21 that mediation tends to be more likely to succeed if we've got
22 face-to-face, in-person participation. And as I said last
23 week, I just don't know how I can order people to be in face-
24 to-face mediation right now. I just -- we've got people
25 spread out, and I think it would be very, very bad to order

1 face-to-face mediation right now.

2 But on the topic of mediation, you know, I've heard some
3 things that, you know, we all know, but I've heard some things
4 from Mr. Seery that are important to stress today. This isn't
5 the type of case that needs to be in bankruptcy for months and
6 months and months and months. Okay? We have the issue of the 7 professional fees accruing, of course, like every case. But
8 we have a company where -- it's a strange fit for bankruptcy,
9 right, this kind of company. And it's so dependent on people
10 to provide value. And people can bolt. You know, people can
11 get weary of the bankruptcy and want to be somewhere else
12 where that taint is not there in the marketplace.

13 The issue of the UCC protocols was brought up by Mr.
14 Seery, and I know that is something that is going to be
15 cumbersome, you know, for this company to be in bankruptcy
16 long-term.

17 So, I want to go to Mr. Seery, and it may be unusual for 18 me to reach out to you and ask this, but I want to hear from 19 you: Do you think mediation is a waste-of-time pipe dream,
20 for lack of a better term? I really want mediation to happen,
21 because I don't know how we quickly get a confirmed plan if we
22 have, well, the voting issue, for one, right? We have to, at 23 a minimum, figure out what is UBS's voting claim. What's its
24 claim for voting purposes? What is Acis's claim for voting
25 purposes? A looming, huge issue in my mind. So I feel like

1 we've got to have mediation. We've got to get a strong shot
2 at getting these two claims liquidated, at least for voting
3 purposes, if not overall.

4 So, is this a pipe dream, Mr. Seery, in your view, that
5 mediation might get to resolution on these two claims? What
6 do you think about it?

7 MR. SEERY: The quick answer, Your Honor, is I don't
8 think it's a pipe dream. I think there's a legitimate shot to 9 move parties together.

10 Let me just say one thing that -- reflecting on what Mr.
11 Clemente said. I want to make clear for the record that, to 12 the extent I misspoke, and it would have been misspeaking, I
13 have no negative implication regarding the sophistication,
14 professionalism, or focus of Sidley --

15 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

16 MR. SEERY: -- or FTI or any of the professionals. I
17 know these folks. They're really good. They're very
18 sophisticated. I have the highest professional and personal
19 respect for them. So, to the extent that I misspoke, I
20 apologize.

21 THE COURT: I don't think you did, and that's not how
22 I heard it --

23 MR. SEERY: Okay.

24 THE COURT: -- and that's certainly not how I meant
25 it. It's just a fact of bankruptcy that it's expensive.

1 Okay? So, --

2 MR. SEERY: Yeah.

3 THE COURT: Right.

4 MR. SEERY: I just wanted that to be clear.

5 I think, particularly with respect, Your Honor, to the
6 Acis and UBS claims, our professionals have done a lot of work
7 on them. Obviously, the professionals for Acis and UBS have
8 done a lot of work on them. There may be things that we know,
9 the perspectives that we have, and perspectives that the other
10 side has, that may not be as well-founded as each side thinks.
11 It could be very valuable to have a third-party objective
12 observer, cajoler, somebody who's strong, to help move the 13 parties off of certain positions.

14 We would like to think, as a Board, Independent Board, and
15 I'd like to think as an Independent Director and now as a CEO,
16 I didn't really have a -- the proverbial dog in that fight for 17 either of those claims. I wasn't -- I'm not a Highland
18 employee. I don't have any animus towards any of the sides.
19 I don't have any history with any of the sides.

20 But I'm realistic that I take a perspective around certain
21 claims and how they're brought, the factual and legal basis
22 for them. And I get a lot of that information from Highland
23 employees, and we use that information to then perform the 24 analysis with our professionals.

25 Likewise, these parties have been involved in, on the

1 other side, very entrenched disputes with Highland and
2 Highland employees. And they've dug in on their positions.

3 Having a third party hear each side and start to move
4 could give us the chance to break it open. I think there's --
5 and there's two really important aspects. One is the claim
6 amount, and then, obviously, the distributions on the claims:
7 How to make those, how much are they, when are they made? We
8 can work on both of those, and I think we need some help
9 moving us both on the claim amounts and on how to make the 10 distributions.

11 We've made progress with Redeemer because even though they
12 had -- they had an arbitration award, so we knew what the 13 outside would be. Now, Redeemer and their attorneys are very 14 good and very creative. They could stretch the outside in 15 those discussions. I won't get into what they are. But we 16 were able to more easily fashion around the particulars of 17 that claim because there was that judgment from the 18 arbitrators that, while it hasn't been entered, gave us much
19 more guidelines as to where we could look. The other claims
20 are much more amorphous, at least at this stage, and having a
21 third party help us develop perhaps closer goal lines would be
22 useful, in my opinion.

23 But, again, I think it's very important that we do it
24 quickly. I think we -- you know, somebody who is focused,
25 strong. I'm sure they'll be highly intelligent and versed in

1 the field, but somebody who's got the opportunity and time to
2 do it. And then, if it's unsuccessful, then, as Mr. Pomerantz
3 and Ms. Patel alluded to, then perhaps we may need some
4 judicial help to move those goal lines a little bit.

5 But I do think that mediation -- and I apologize for the 6 length of my answer -- could be a very helpful way to do it,
7 provided we get there quickly.

8 THE COURT: All right. I guess my other question I
9 wanted your view on is structure. You know, when someone --
10 Mr. Pomerantz, I think -- told me that he or others had
11 reached out to our judges in Houston, Judge Jones and Judge
12 Isgur, my initial reaction -- and, frankly, my continued
13 thought on that -- is they just don't have meaningful time,
14 because I don't think one day of cajoling is going to be 15 enough to get -- you know, you're a billion dollars apart on 16 UBS, right? The Debtor, I guess, thinks zero is the amount of 17 their claim, and UBS thinks it's a billion, and it's been
18 litigated for 11 years. And then I personally know, you know,
19 how Acis feels about its positions.

20 So, anyway, what I'm getting at is structure. I in some 21 ways think what we need here is sort of a master statesman-
22 type person who would spend meaningful time, not just a day or 23 two, but days or even weeks trying to reach a grand
24 compromise.

25 On the other hand, in my experience -- I've never done

1 that in a case as judge. But as a lawyer, I felt like that
2 kind of person can hijack a case, and we don't need that here.
3 We have wonderful professionals, a wonderful Board, a
4 wonderful CEO. We don't need that kind of help, I worry.

5 So, I guess where I'm evolving, you know, we've got the
6 two-sitting-judge option that would be free mediators that
7 could give you a day or two. Maybe. And then we have kind of 8 the master statesman who might be in there for weeks, trying
9 to help you reach a grand compromise.

10 Another option, I think, is one or two mediators who just
11 zero in, you know, on the UBS claim versus -- and the Acis
12 claim. And I have a couple of private mediators in mind that 13 have very good video capabilities to have a sophisticated
14 video mediation.

15 So, all of this rambling to say, Do you think we need to 16 just zero in on Acis and UBS and maybe have one or two people
17 to do formal video mediation with those two parties, or do we 18 need sort of more of a grand pooh-bah, grand compromise-type
19 person?

20 MR. SEERY: My view, Your Honor, is that we should
21 focus on the claims, but they're not just going to be two-
22 party, because we do have other active constituents. I think
23 Redeemer, with their party in interest status, is going to 24 want to be part of it.

25 I think if we can focus on those, we have the

1 professionals to help drive the grander bargain that I've
2 alluded to in some of those discussions we've been having. So
3 they haven't progressed as far as I would like, but they have
4 progressed. We do need the bottom line number for where
5 claims are going to come out. But also that will help frame a
6 little bit as to what parties expect in terms of distributions
7 on their claims.

8 And I think the reason that we had some impetus behind a
9 sitting judge -- frankly, I didn't know that sitting judges
10 couldn't be paid. I think that's -- there should be a
11 standard rate, because we shouldn't take people's time for 12 free in these cases, and I know judges work extremely hard and 13 if they're going to put in extra time, then they should maybe
14 be compensated, but that's a whole different issue.

15 I don't think we should get too hung up on the cost. We 16 are -- the costs of this case are extremely high, and we are,
17 with best intents, sometimes getting ourselves wrapped up in 18 things that should be, I think, more swiftly and economically
19 dealt with and dispatched.

20 So, if we can get a good mediator, and I think the reason
21 folks think about a judge is -- a sitting judge, it's not just 22 the vast experience that folks -- judges like yourself have,
23 Your Honor, and in particular with these issues, but also the 24 requirement that all the participants, notwithstanding the
25 professionals and -- that you see here, the requirement that

1 all the participants know that they're dealing with a sitting
2 judge, there's a certain decorum that's required. But that, I
3 think we get anyway. But there's also a -- there's less
4 willingness to go to the furthest reaches of your argument
5 when you have someone who's on the bench who sees those types
6 of positions taken frequently and can dispatch with them more
7 readily.

8 So, I think there are a number of individuals that I've 9 dealt with in the past who would have the ability, the 10 gravitas, for lack of a better term, to be able to help push
11 the parties in the right direction. And I think it's a matter
12 of finding somebody, as you said, with both the capabilities,
13 which we'll find, but also the capacity in terms of the time
14 to do it. And then, in the video age, maybe some facility in 15 being able to make that happen both rapidly and effectively on 16 screen.

17 THE COURT: Okay.

18 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, this is Jeff Pomerantz.
19 And I'd just make a couple of comments.

20 THE COURT: Okay.

21 MR. POMERANTZ: You know, as Mr. Seery said, we were
22 predisposed towards a sitting judge. And while we did share
23 the same concerns about the timing of Judge Jones and Isgur,
24 we understand you've probably been in communication with them,
25 and if that's not going to work, we appreciate it. We want

1 this mediation to be effective and we want someone to spend
2 the time with it. And if you didn't feel that they, you know,
3 could commit to that, we totally appreciate that.

4 We thought long and hard about the people that you
5 identified at the last hearing, former Judge Peck and Sylvia
6 Mayer. We've done our diligence. The Debtor would be willing
7 to mediate before Sylvia Mayer. We think that, based upon our 8 diligence, the people we've spoken to, that she, if she 9 otherwise had the time and the abil... the time to devote to
10 it, that being a former big-firm lawyer in permanent practice
11 now as a mediator, that the Debtor would find her acceptable.

12 THE COURT: All right. Does anyone else wish to
13 comment? Because I have a very positive view of Sylvia Mayer,
14 and certainly her video capabilities, I think, are far and 15 away better than a few other people I've chatted with.

16 MS. PATEL: Your Honor?

17 MR. CLEMENTS: Your Honor? Oh, I'm sorry.

18 MS. PATEL: Go ahead.

19 MR. CLEMENTE: Your Honor, --

20 THE COURT: Not that I would ever, you know, put that
21 ahead of, you know, overall abilities, but it just is an added
22 plus, a huge plus right now during COVID.

23 Go ahead.

24 MR. CLEMENTE: Your Honor, Matt Clemente on behalf of 25 the Committee. Just a couple observations, building a little

1 bit on what Mr. Seery said.

2 We had consensus among the Committee around Judge Isgur
3 and Judge Jones. I think the view, the consensus view -- and,
4 again, I use the word consensus and not unanimity because I
5 want Your Honor to understand that -- is that having a sitting
6 judge, ideally, given the personalities as you've expressed
7 and I think as Mr. Seery has expressed, provides the best
8 possibility for a successful mediation. It may not be that
9 overlord that spends three weeks, but, you know, it is a
10 strong personality that -- not that any of the names that have
11 been raised aren't tremendously to be respected, but that
12 would be respected by all of the parties simply by the fact
13 that they're a sitting judge.

14 With that said, Your Honor, and, again, the speed. Again,
15 I don't have unanimity from the Committee, but there is 16 consensus to see if Sitting Judge Green from the Southern 17 District of New York would have the time and the capability to 18 spend. And I know Your Honor has concerns about the time. I
19 think Judge Isgur and Judge Jones occupy a special place in
20 terms of how busy they are, but at least among the Committee
21 members, there's been discussion that that may be a suitable
22 approach in terms of identifying a mediator and accomplishing
23 the objectives of having a very strong mediation, mediator, on
24 a timely basis, that has the best possibility of success.

25 That being said, Your Honor, based on what Mr. Pomerantz

1 said, if Mr. Green is not acceptable or if Your Honor doesn't
2 wish for us to go in that direction, I do have consensus among
3 the Committee members to move forward with Ms. Mayer as
4 mediator.

5 So, a little -- maybe a little convoluted in my comments
6 there, Your Honor, but the main thrust is I think there is
7 consensus among the Committee to consider a sitting judge, and
8 Judge Green would be someone who would be satisfactory. And
9 if he's not acceptable, or I should say acceptable but not
10 able to do it, Ms. Mayer would be acceptable to the Committee.

11 THE COURT: All right. Well, let me put this out
12 there. I talked on a no-names basis with Ms. Mayer last
13 Friday. And it was actually more in the nature of making
14 inquiries about how an organization she's connected with, the 15 AAA -- you've heard of the American Arbitration Association;
16 they, of course, do mediation -- what their experience and
17 capabilities were with many, many parties and video mediation.
18 And as you might guess, they have a lot of experience already
19 -- you know, a number well in excess of a hundred; I can't 20 remember -- of doing video mediations with many parties and
21 having the different constituencies in this caucus room and
22 that caucus room. And, very importantly, having lots of IT
23 staff to give instructions, to give help, to, you know, tackle
24 technology problems.

25 But in that discussion, I learned that there is a panel

1 that AAA has put together of 12 mediators that have bankruptcy
2 expertise. And, of course, Sylvia Mayer is one of those
3 people. But Retired Bankruptcy Judge Gropper -- is it Groper
4 or Gropper from the Southern District of New York? I always
5 forget which way he pronounces his name. Anyway, he is on
6 that. He is on that panel of 12.

7 Mr. Seery, you're grinning like you want to say something
8 about this.

9 MR. SEERY: No. Only on the Gropper/Groper, because
10 there's a professional that I know that is similarly named,
11 and I believe -- and I believe Judge Groper -- I may have it
12 wrong, but I think it's -- it's Judge Groper and Dan Gropper.
13 But that's the best I --

14 MR. NEIER: It's Dan Groper and Judge Gropper. I
15 actually had a mediation with the two of them when they argued
16 about the pronunciation of their name.

17 THE COURT: Okay. Well, Gropper. So we -- it's
18 Gropper. Okay.

19 A VOICE: Yes.

20 THE COURT: My point was, without -- I've not talked
21 to him at all. And by the way, I haven't personally reached
22 out to Jim Peck, but we'll stop that discussion about him.
23 But after getting off the call with Sylvia Mayer and a couple
24 of other people at the AAA Friday, I put together in my brain,
25 maybe we could have a Sylvia Mayer/Allan Gropper tag team, two

1 mediators. Okay? I don't know how that would affect the
2 cost, but that might be the way to go in such a complex case.
3 You know, maybe they could divvy up among themselves. One
4 would be the primary mediator on Acis, one would be the
5 primary mediator on UBS, but they would both work together.

6 If you all want to think on that, digest that a little,
7 and we, you know, decide definitely next week on the 21st, we
8 could do that. Or we could just all say, yeah, that's a good
9 game plan, and I can get on the phone after this. Or it
10 actually may be tomorrow, because I have a terrible hearing
11 that I've got to prepare for at 9:30 in the morning tomorrow.
12 It may be tomorrow.

13 But do people want to let that soak in a little bit, or
14 shall -- I mean, --

15 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, this is Jeff Pomerantz.

16 THE COURT: -- frankly, I can order it either way. I
17 can order it. But I just really want to be conciliatory to 18 the parties who are owed the money and have to pay the money,
19 if you want to think on it some.

20 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, it's Jeff Pomerantz.
21 Having my newly-minted CEO on the phone, Mr. Seery, I would 22 ask him, and if he says that it would be okay, then it would
23 be okay with me.

24 MR. SEERY: Be fine with me.

25 THE COURT: Okay.

1 MR. SEERY: Yeah, I think the key is moving forward.
2 I know it's much harder with a Committee, and I respect, you
3 know, Matt Clemente's job there of having to get consensus.
4 But from our perspective, if we were to push it off, you know,
5 on the 21st, Your Honor, we -- we would request you to order
6 something, because I don't want this to delay.

7 THE COURT: Okay.

8 MR. CLUBOK: Your Honor, if I may, speaking for UBS,
9 it's Andrew Clubok. You'll be happy to know I think that
10 we're in agreement with Mr. Seery, and I guess, derivatively,
11 Mr. Pomerantz. We think the most important thing is to move
12 it along quickly, and we trust -- you know, we're familiar
13 with Judge -- or, with Mayer, and whether it's Groper or
14 Gropper, I lost track, but I'm sure he is also going to be 15 equally capable. We do kind of think that two is probably 16 necessary, given, you know, the sort of multi-layer
17 (inaudible).

18 But, really, our position has simply been we'll happily
19 mediate with any, you know, effective mediator as quickly as 20 possible, because we do think the sooner we do that, the 21 sooner we might have a chance to get to yes. So, I'm -- we're
22 prepared to just say yes to the idea.

23 THE COURT: All right. Does anyone else want to 24 comment?

25 MS. PATEL: Your Honor? And can you hear me? I'm

1 sorry. It's --

2 THE COURT: Yes.

3 MS. PATEL: Again, I'm still having WebEx problems.

4 THE COURT: Yes.

5 MS. PATEL: Your Honor, again, for the record, Rakhee
6 Patel.

7 Acis is fine with the proposal, Your Honor. We've been
8 amenable to virtually every proposal, and have been trying to 9 hopefully be helpful with respect to getting this moved to
10 mediation as quickly as possible. We equally think that we 11 should get to mediation as quickly as we can.

12 And, you know, the only -- the only -- and I appreciate
13 Your Honor's contemplativeness on this. As you know, at least
14 in connection with the Acis case, you know, we've been through 15 two unsuccessful mediations so far. So we're really hoping
16 that the third time will go much better than the prior two.

17 So, anyway, this is my very long way of saying we're fine
18 with the proposal and are happy to kind of sign off on it. We
19 don't need until July 21st to respond on that.

20 THE COURT: Okay. Anyone else?

21 (No response.)

22 THE COURT: All right. Well, very good. I'm going
23 to move ahead on this and will confirm to you, hopefully
24 before the 21st, through my courtroom deputy. And, again,
25 given the late hour, I think it's going to be tomorrow before

1 I pick up the phone and reach out to Sylvia Mayer and former
2 Judge Gropper.

3 But, again, I did, in speaking generically with Sylvia
4 Mayer, asking her, Have you ever done like a two-mediator
5 mega-mediation, and she said, Oh, sure. You know, that's --
6 she acted like it was quite common. It's not something that I
7 have seen very often, but I think we'll be in business with
8 this game plan.

9 Because, you know, I know everyone on this call knows
10 this, but maybe not everyone's client knows this: If we don't 11 -- if we don't have a successful mediation of both of these 12 claims, or at least one of these claims, it's going to be 13 years and years and years. I mean, I know it's already been
14 years for UBS, but it will -- it will be many, many more
15 years. And that's not what we're supposed to do in 16 bankruptcy. We're supposed to stop burdensome litigation and
17 solve problems. And I can't imagine your clients want to go
18 on with three or four more years of litigation. But that's 19 exactly what it will be, it's exactly what it will be, many
20 more years of litigation, if we don't have mediated
21 settlements.

22 So, all right.

23 MS. PATEL: Your Honor, if I may very quickly. I
24 just wanted to make sure the Court was aware of something. In
25 the context of mediation and as it relates to Acis's claim,

1 yesterday counsel for Mr. Dondero filed a joinder in the
2 Debtors' objection to Acis's claim. So, again, just thinking
3 about this in the context of mediation, I think, with that
4 joinder, they will be a necessary party. So, going back to
5 Mr. Seery's point, this is not just --

6 THE COURT: Oh, absolutely. Mr. Dondero is --

7 MS. PATEL: -- a two-party --

8 THE COURT: -- going to be a required party in
9 mediation. Absolutely. So, --

10 MS. PATEL: Thank you, Your Honor.

11 THE COURT: All right. Well, if there's nothing
12 further, we'll see you on the 21st. And, again, my courtroom
13 deputy may be reaching out before then if we've got things
14 nailed down on mediation.

Proceedings recorded by electronic sound recording;
transcript produced by transcription service.

1 DALLAS, TEXAS - JANUARY 9, 2020 - 9:56 A.M.

2 THE COURT: All right. Let's roll to Highland now.
3 Let's get appearances from lawyers in the courtroom, please.

4 MR. POMERANTZ: Good morning, Your Honor. Jeff
5 Pomerantz; Pachulski Stang Ziehl & Jones. Happy New Year,
6 Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: Happy New Year.

8 MR. POMERANTZ: Here on behalf of the Debtor.

9 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

10 MS. HAYWARD: Good morning, Your Honor. Melissa
11 Hayward and Zachery Annable on behalf of the Debtor.

12 THE COURT: Good morning.

13 MS. LAMBERT: Lisa Lambert, and I think Ms. Kippes
14 will be joining me, representing William Neary, the United
15 States Trustee.

16 THE COURT: Thank you.

17 MS. CHIARELLO: Good morning, Your Honor. Annmarie
18 Chiarello and Rakhee Patel here on behalf of Acis Capital
19 Management, LP and Acis Capital Management GP, LLC.

20 THE COURT: Thank you.

21 MR. CLEMENTE: Good morning, Your Honor. Matthew
22 Clemente from Sidley Austin on behalf of the Official
23 Committee of Unsecured Creditors. With me today are my
24 partners Dennis Twomey and Penny Reid.

25 THE COURT: Okay. Good morning. All right. Is that

1 all of the courtroom appearances?

2 All right. We have several people on the phone. I think
3 most of them are just listening in. If you're on the phone,
4 though, and you wish to appear, you may do so at this time.

5 MR. BENTLEY: Good morning, Your Honor. This is
6 James Bentley of Schulte Roth & Zabel. Also on the line is my 7 co-counsel, Joseph Bain of Jones Walker. We represent the
8 Issuers.

9 THE COURT: Okay. Good morning.

10 MS. MASCHERIN: Good morning, Your Honor. This is --

11 MR. MAXCY: Good morning. Patrick --

12 MS. MASCHERIN: Good morning, Your Honor. This is
13 Terri Mascherin of Jenner & Block. Also on the line with me
14 is my partner, Mark Hankin. We represent the Redeemer
15 Committee of the Highland Crusader Fund, which is one of the 16 members of the Unsecured Creditors' Committee.

17 THE COURT: Okay. Good morning.

18 MR. MAXCY: Good morning, Your Honor. This is 19 Patrick Maxcy from Dentons US, LLP on behalf of Jefferies,
20 LLC.

21 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you. All right. Well, I
22 guess that is it for the phone appearances.

23 Mr. Pomerantz, we're -- we have just one matter on the 24 calendar, the motion to compromise with the Committee. I saw
25 two limited objections, and then a U.S. Trustee's broader

1 objection. I'll start with, Do you have any of these
2 objections worked out?

3 MR. POMERANTZ: Yes, we do.

4 THE COURT: Okay.

5 MR. POMERANTZ: We believe we have the Jefferies
6 objection worked out, as well as the objection of the Issuers.
7 And I'll, during the course of my presentation, alert Your
8 Honor to how that's worked out.

9 THE COURT: Okay.

10 MR. POMERANTZ: And then we'll have a revised order
11 that basically addresses each of their concerns, or at least 12 Jefferies' concerns, but the statements on the record for the 13 Issuers' concerns.

14 THE COURT: Okay. Very good.

15 MR. POMERANTZ: Good morning again, Your Honor. Jeff
16 Pomerantz; Pachulski, Stang, Ziehl & Jones. I'm joined in the 17 courtroom by Ira Kharasch, Greg Demo, and John Morris from my 18 office. I would also like to introduce the Court to the
19 proposed new members of the board of directors of Strand
20 Advisors, which is the Debtor's general partner. They're all
21 sitting in the first row behind counsel's well. And that's
22 Mr. James Seery, --

23 THE COURT: Good morning.

24 MR. POMERANTZ: -- Mr. John Dubel, --

25 THE COURT: Good morning.

1 MR. POMERANTZ: -- and the Honorable Russell Nelms.

2 THE COURT: Yes. I've met him before.

3 MR. POMERANTZ: As have we. We thought you would
4 remember him.

5 The resumes of Mr. Seery and Mr. Dubel were attached to
6 the motion filed on December 27th, and those two resumes and
7 the resume of the Honorable Judge Nelms were attached to the
8 reply that was filed last evening. And while Mr. Seery and
9 Mr. Dubel may be new names to Your Honor, we know that you are 10 familiar with Judge Nelms, who sat with you in this district.

11 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

12 MR. POMERANTZ: Also in the courtroom, Your Honor, is 13 Brad Sharp, the Debtor's chief restructuring officer from DSI,
14 --

15 THE COURT: Good morning.

16 MR. POMERANTZ: -- and his colleague, Fred Caruso,
17 who spends most of his working hours at the Debtor's Dallas
18 headquarters.

19 THE COURT: Good morning.

20 MR. POMERANTZ: We have the declaration of Mr. Sharp
21 that we would move into evidence at this point in time.

22 THE COURT: All right. I've got a stack of paper.
23 If you have an extra copy for me to use, --

24 MS. HAYWARD: Your Honor, may I approach with the --

25 THE COURT: You may.

1 MS. HAYWARD: Your Honor, it was filed, the
2 declaration was filed. I'm not sure that we have a copy of --

3 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, we will also at the
4 appropriate time during my presentation, I'll bring up to Your
5 -- ask to bring up to Your Honor revisions to the term sheet
6 that was attached to the motion.

7 THE COURT: Okay.

8 MR. POMERANTZ: Copies have been given to Ms. Lambert
9 as well as the Committee.

10 THE COURT: Okay. Very good. All right. Well, what 11 was handed to me was the preliminary term sheet as well as the 12 CVs for the proposed new board members. I don't see the 13 declaration --

14 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, if I may approach, I have
15 a copy.

16 THE COURT: You may. All right. Very good.

17 MR. POMERANTZ: So we would move that declaration
18 into evidence.

19 THE COURT: All right. The Court will admit this.
20 It was filed on the docket at 327, but I will additionally
21 admit it as Exhibit 1 today.

22 (Debtor's Exhibit 1 is received into evidence.)

23 THE COURT: At some point in time, I want to give
24 parties the opportunity to cross-examine Mr. Sharp. Do you
25 want to do that now, or shall we hear an opening statement?

1 MR. POMERANTZ: However Your Honor prefers. I mean,
2 maybe it's helpful to hear argument first, and then, before
3 the Trustee --

4 THE COURT: I think I'd like to hear opening
5 statements and then we'll --

6 MR. POMERANTZ: Thank you.

7 THE COURT: -- make the opportunity available. Okay.

8 OPENING STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF THE DEBTOR

9 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, by way of background, we
10 appeared before Your Honor on December 6th and December 19th.
11 And during each of those hearings, we described for the Court
12 negotiations that were underway between the Committee and the 13 Debtor which, if successful, would have -- would eliminate the 14 need for contested and uncertain and costly litigation
15 regarding the appointment of a Chapter 11 trustee and really
16 put this case in a position where the Debtor and the Committee
17 would be able to work together constructively towards
18 negotiation of a plan.

19 As a result of our hearing on December 19th, Your Honor
20 entered a scheduling order that set deadlines for either the 21 filing of a motion to approve a settlement, or alternatively,
22 the filing of one or more motions for the appointment of a
23 trustee.

24 As set forth and required by the scheduling order, we
25 filed our motion on December 27th, and in that motion we

1 sought approval of a term sheet and ancillary documents
2 between the Debtor and the Committee, which I'll describe
3 shortly.

4 While a couple of items had not yet been agreed to at the
5 time the motion was filed, I'm pleased to report that over the 6 last couple of days we've been able to reach closure with the
7 Committee with respect to those items, and there would also be
8 some modifications to the term sheet, which I'll go through in
9 a few moments.

10 The motion, Your Honor, seeks approval of the term sheet,
11 which accomplishes a variety of things that, again, will allow
12 the Debtor and the Committee to put the acrimony that has 13 existed in this case for the first three months behind us and
14 allow us to focus on productive matters. In the last 24
15 hours, as I mentioned, there have been a few changes to the 16 term sheet that I will describe. And I would like to hand up
17 Your Honor a redline and a clean copy of the revised term
18 sheet and exhibits. May I approach?

19 THE COURT: All right. You may. Do you have an
20 extra for the law clerk? Okay. Thank you.

21 (Pause.)

22 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, the term sheet does a
23 number of things. Would you like me to give Your Honor some 24 time to look through the redlines?

25 THE COURT: No. You may proceed.

1 MR. POMERANTZ: Okay. The term sheet does a number
2 of things. The first thing the term sheet does is appointment
3 of an independent board at Strand Advisors. Strand Advisors
4 is the GP of the Debtor. The Debtor is an LP. The Debtor
5 previously had filed a motion to approve the retention of Brad
6 Sharp as the chief restructuring officer, and that initial 7 agreement and motion contain details regarding the scope of
8 Mr. Sharp's authority and the scope of what the Debtor could
9 do without Mr. Sharp's prior consent.

10 The Committee raised concerns that the structure was not
11 sufficient to ensure that decisions were being made for the 12 Debtor only in their best interests and without any
13 inappropriate influence from Mr. Dondero.

14 To address the Committee's concerns, a focal point of the 15 settlement was the Debtor's agreement to appoint an
16 independent board of directors at Strand who would be
17 responsible for managing the operations of the Debtor.

18 Over the last few weeks, a principal aspect of the 19 negotiations between the Committee and the Debtor have been 20 discussing who should the independent directors be.
21 Conceptually, the Debtor and the Committee both agreed that 22 the board should include, first, a person with significant
23 industry experience in which the Debtor operates -- hedge
24 funds, money management; second, a person with deep
25 restructuring experience from the financial advisor side; and

1 third, a person with some sort of judicial or governmental
2 experience.

3 The Debtor originally provided the Committee with three
4 proposed candidates. The Committee considered the Debtor's
5 request, but instead presented the Debtor with four different
6 candidates and asked the Debtor to choose from those four.
7 The Debtors interviewed each of those people and ultimately
8 agreed on Messrs. Dubel and Seery, who were each on the 9 original list.

10 As of the deadline to file the motion on December 27th,
11 the Committee and the Debtor had still not agreed on the 12 identity of the third board member, but the parties were 13 hopeful that an agreement could ultimately be reached and we 14 decided to go ahead and file the motion. As I'm sure Your
15 Honor saw in the motion, it was contingent upon everyone
16 agreeing on the third board member.

17 Ultimately, the Debtor and the Committee both agreed that
18 Mr. Dubel and Mr. Seery could identify the third board member
19 out of a pool of four people: Two of the people originally
20 requested by the Committee and two people identified by the 21 Debtor. This week and over the weekend, Mr. Seery and Mr.
22 Dubel interviewed each of the four candidates, and ultimately
23 decided on the appointment of Judge Nelms as the third
24 independent board member.

25 The board, as it will be constituted going forward, in the

1 Debtor's opinion, consists of three exceptional individuals
2 who are independent of the Debtor, have a sterling reputation
3 in the community, and bring to the Debtor a variety of the
4 skills that we believe, and believe the Committee agrees,
5 gives the Debtor the best opportunity to achieve a consensual
6 restructuring and otherwise manage the affairs of the Debtor
7 in the best interests of the stakeholders.

8 It is contemplated that the Debtor will continue to retain
9 the services of DSI as the chief restructuring officer, and 10 ultimately the board will determine if it's important to 11 retain a CEO going forward.

12 The second thing that the term sheet does, Your Honor, was 13 the removal of Mr. Dondero as an officer and director of 14 Strand and eliminate all of his control over decision-making
15 of the Debtor. The Debtor recognized early on in this case
16 that Mr. Dondero's continuing role with the Debtor in a
17 position of authority made the Committee extremely uneasy.
18 Accordingly, the term sheet provides for him removing himself
19 as an officer and director of Strand and that he would no
20 longer be in a position of control at the Debtor.

21 However, since the filing of the motion, over the last
22 several days, concerns have been raised about whether removing
23 Mr. Dondero from the business entirely would have unintended
24 consequences. I believe I may have mentioned at prior
25 hearings that, because of his involvement as a portfolio

1 manager under various contracts with third parties, that there
2 could be adverse economic consequences to the Debtor if he
3 didn't stay in some role.

4 As a result of discussions over the last 24 hours, the
5 Committee has agreed and the Debtor agreed to modify the term
6 sheet to allow the new board to decide whether to retain Mr.
7 Dondero in his capacity as a portfolio manager, provided,
8 however, that he will not receive any compensation and he will
9 agree to resign if requested by the board.

10 In any event, he will have no decision-making control at 11 all and he will report to the independent board.

12 The corporate governance documents that create the new
13 independent board of Strand also provide that Mr. Dondero, as 14 the owner of the equity in Strand, may not replace the board
15 without the Committee consent or court order.

16 The third major aspect of the term sheet, Your Honor, was 17 the agreement on operating protocols, and it really relates to 18 the ground rules for the Debtor's operations going forward and
19 when notice to the Committee is required of certain 20 transactions that would otherwise be in the ordinary course of 21 business.

22 Importantly, Your Honor, we are not trying to modify the
23 Bankruptcy Code in any way. Any transactions out of the 24 ordinary course of business would still be subject to Your
25 Honor's approval.

1 However, in this case, as we indicated in the initial
2 motion we filed when the case was in Delaware, whether or not
3 something is ordinary is not straightforward in a case such as
4 the Debtor's, given the nature of the Debtor's operations. So
5 we thought it was important to establish ground rules up
6 front, and establishing those ground rules was one of the 7 things we did initially in the case. We had opposition from 8 the Committee, and we've worked through the opposition and
9 ultimately arrived at the operating protocols that are
10 attached to the term sheet.

11 They have been slightly modified in nonmaterial ways in
12 the documents I handed up to Your Honor.

13 They were subject to substantial negotiations between the 14 Debtor and the Committee, and we also expect them to be the 15 subject of future discussions with the Committee and the 16 independent board after the independent board takes -- takes
17 place. Takes over.

18 Two parties in interest, Your Honor, Jefferies and a group
19 of Issuers, the CLOs, have filed comments to the term sheet,
20 which I'll describe in a few moments.

21 THE COURT: Okay.

22 MR. POMERANTZ: The next aspect, Your Honor, of the
23 term sheet was the provision of standing to the Creditors'
24 Committee to pursue certain insider claims.

25 During the negotiations, the Committee requested immediate

1 standing to investigate and potentially prosecute claims
2 against insiders to the extent those insiders were not
3 employed by the Debtor. Granting standing at this stage of
4 the case was a difficult give by the Debtor. However, the
5 Committee impressed upon the Debtor the importance of them
6 being able to control the filing of any actions against the
7 insiders, and the Debtor decided to accede to the Committee's
8 request.

9 It still remains the Debtor's hope that, with the creation
10 of the independent board, that the Debtor, the Committee, and 11 any insiders who might be subject to any such claims will be 12 able to come together and negotiate a consensual resolution of 13 this case. While all parties, I'm sure, can and know how to 14 litigate, hopefully they will agree that a negotiated outcome
15 is better than a litigated outcome.

16 The next aspect of the term sheet, Your Honor, was the 17 document preservation protocols, and it provides for certain
18 procedures to be put in place to address the Committee's 19 concerns about document preservation. They are contained in 20 an exhibit to the term sheet. Again, slight nonmaterial
21 modifications were made in what I handed up to Your Honor.
22 And essentially they provide also for the Committee's access
23 to privileged documents to aid in their investigation and 24 prosecution of claims to which they are granted standing, and
25 also sets forth a procedure to be followed to address concerns

1 if the information is subject to shared privileges by several
2 entities.

3 As I mentioned, Your Honor, three parties have filed
4 responses to the motion. The first is Jefferies. Jefferies
5 is a secured creditor of the Debtor with respect to its margin
6 account held at Jefferies, and also has a similar account held
7 by a non-debtor affiliate. They have asked for clarification
8 that, one, nothing in the protocols or the motion affects its
9 rights under the underlying agreements or the safe harbor
10 provisions of the Bankruptcy Code entitling them to enforce
11 their remedies; and two, that the Debtors will not trade in 12 the prime account without Jefferies' consent, and if that 13 consent is sought and not obtained, only subject to court
14 order.

15 The Debtor has agreed to include language in the order to 16 address Jefferies' concern, and at the conclusion of my
17 presentation I'll submit to Your Honor an order and a redline
18 containing that language.

19 THE COURT: Okay.

20 MR. POMERANTZ: The second objection -- or not
21 objection, Your Honor -- the second statement was filed by a
22 group of Issuers of CLO obligations.

23 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

24 MR. POMERANTZ: And they were concerned that certain
25 aspects of the operating protocols which require notice to the

1 Committee prior to the Debtor being able to take certain
2 actions could conflict with the provisions of the underlying
3 agreements which might require the Debtor to take action on a
4 more expedited basis.

5 Neither the Issuers or the Debtor are aware of any
6 potential transactions that will arise prior to the next
7 hearing before Your Honor on January 21st. We understand --
8 we were not party to these discussions between the Committee
9 and the Issuers yesterday, but we understand the way it's been
10 resolved is that the Issuers will withdraw their objection as 11 it relates to going forward today, subject to being able to 12 come back to the Court on the 21st and revisit the issue if 13 additional changes are not made acceptable to them to resolve
14 their issues and concerns.

15 THE COURT: Okay.

16 MR. POMERANTZ: But I think all parties acknowledge
17 that over the next 12 days this is a theoretical issue rather
18 than a practical issue.

19 THE COURT: Okay.

20 MR. POMERANTZ: This brings us, Your Honor, to the
21 United States Trustee's opposition, which is really the only
22 true objection to the motion that has been filed. No creditor
23 has filed an objection, no investor has filed an objection,
24 and no governmental agency -- which the U.S. Trustee in its 25 objection purports to be pursuing their interests -- has filed

1 an objection, either.

2 As Your Honor probably recalls, at the December 19th
3 hearing the Trustee indicated its intent to oppose any
4 agreement between the Debtor and the Committee that would
5 involve corporate governance and to file its own motion for
6 the appointment of the trustee. That motion is currently
7 scheduled for hearing on January 21st. We had asked the U.S.
8 Trustee to reserve judgment on the Committee's and Debtor's
9 agreement until after we had come to an agreement and after we
10 had presented it to the Trustee, in hopes that it would
11 address their concerns. However, as the Court told us -- as
12 the U.S. Trustee told us and Your Honor at the December 19th
13 hearing, there was nothing short of appointment of a trustee
14 that would satisfy the Trustee.

15 The comments really didn't make sense to us, and I believe
16 it perplexed Your Honor, but here we are.

17 At its core, Your Honor, the U.S. Trustee's objection is
18 really a request that the Court substitute its business
19 judgment for that of the Debtor and the Committee, the
20 Committee who represents the substantial majority of all
21 claims in this case, when both of them have decided that
22 agreeing to certain changes in corporate governance, among
23 other things, is preferable to the uncertain, costly, and
24 time-consuming litigation over a trustee, and also the 25 uncertainty, even if a trustee was appointed, on how the case

1 would be administered.

2 To the contrary, under the corporate governance proposal,
3 we have three highly-qualified individuals who are poised to
4 take over management of the Debtor, and each bring with them
5 various skills that one trustee would not have.

6 The Trustee has filed its motion for appointment of a
7 trustee, and I'm sure on the 21st will argue that the Code
8 requires it. However, that's not the issue before Your Honor
9 today. It's not whether a trustee is appropriate. It's 10 whether the motion and the term sheet is a sound exercise of 11 the Debtor's business judgment under Section 363, and,
12 importantly, a reasonable compromise of the pending disputes
13 between the Debtor and the Committee.

14 The Trustee's objection raises three general points, none
15 of which have any merit. First, the Trustee argues that there
16 is a lack of disclosure of significant matters. The first
17 aspect that the Trustee raises to, or points to, is the 18 absence of identification of the third board member and the
19 absence of disclosure of the compensation that the board
20 members will receive, which will be backstopped by the Debtor.

21 As I described before, Your Honor, the identity of the 22 third member of the board was a fluid process which was only
23 resolved earlier this week, and the Debtor did not believe
24 that it was appropriate to reach agreement on director
25 compensation until all board members could provide input.

1 Last night, we filed a reply to the Trustee's objection in
2 which we disclosed the identity of the third board member, and
3 we'll also disclose the proposed compensation to be provided
4 to them, which essentially is as follows. Each member of the 5 board will receive $60,000 a month for the first three months
6 of the case, $50,000 a month for the next three months of the 7 case, and the presumption thereafter would be $30,000 a month.
8 However, people recognize that this case will look a lot
9 differently six months from now, and while the presumption is 10 $30,000, the Debtor, the independent board members, and the
11 Committee will sit down, see how the case looks, and decide
12 whether any modifications are appropriate.

13 The amount of compensation, which at first blush may seem
14 significant, really reflects the significant amount of work
15 that the Debtor, the Committee, and the independent directors
16 anticipate will be required from them not only to get up to 17 speed about the case, but to effectively manage this complex
18 Debtor's business operations. The directors have heard from 19 the Debtor and the Committee of all the issues, of all the 20 concerns, and this is not an enviable task that they are 21 undertaking. The compensation they are being provided thus
22 far we believe is appropriate under the circumstances and
23 commensurate with the work that they are going to be expected
24 to complete.

25 If they are successful and they are able to achieve a

1 consensual restructuring here, the million and a half or so
2 that will be spent on them will be best million and a half
3 dollars I think spent in this case.

4 Your Honor, we also have updated corporate governance
5 documents which --

6 (Pause.)

7 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, may I approach with the
8 updated corporate governance documents?

9 THE COURT: You may. Okay.

10 MR. POMERANTZ: As I will discuss in a moment, Your
11 Honor, there is really no need for the Court to approve the 12 corporate governance documents, as they have been executed by 13 Strand, which is not a debtor before this Court. However,
14 there are a couple of matters in those documents that I want
15 to bring to the Court's attention that do impact on the
16 Debtor.

17 THE COURT: Okay.

18 MR. POMERANTZ: First, as is typical for board
19 members, Strand has agreed to indemnify the independent
20 directors to the full extent permitted by law. The 21 independent directors have requested that the Debtors backstop
22 Strand's agreement, and the Debtor and the Committee agree,
23 and the documents so provide.

24 Strand has also committed to obtain directors and officers
25 coverage for the independent directors. It has been located,

1 it's in the process of being finalized and bound, and the
2 Debtor will pay the cost of that coverage.

3 The independent directors have also asked for language in
4 the order approving the settlement that requires a party
5 seeking to assert a claim against the independent directors
6 relating to their role as an independent director to
7 demonstrate to this Court that a claim is colorable before
8 filing the claim and providing the Court with jurisdiction
9 over any such claim. This is language that's similar in other
10 similar types of cases.

11 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

12 MR. POMERANTZ: That will be reflected in the order.

13 Next, the Trustee objects to the failure of the Debtor to 14 identify who the potential chief executive officer of the 15 Debtor will be. And essentially, she's arguing that you have
16 to identify that CEO now; it has to be subject to court
17 approval. However, there's no requirement that any company
18 retain a CEO. It's not a corporate law requirement. And the 19 fact that the board reserves the right to retain a CEO in the 20 future is consistent with corporate law and is not a basis to 21 deny the motion. And in any event, normally, the retention of 22 a CEO is not a subject that is brought to the Court's
23 attention for Court approval.

24 So the lack of any clarity over the identity of the CEO is
25 a reflection of the fact that this independent board does not

1 know if a CEO is required. They will come in, they are going
2 to interview all the employees, they're going to sit down with
3 the CRO, they're going to sit down with counsel, they're going
4 to sit down with the Committee, and ultimately they will
5 decide if a CEO is to be retained. And if a CEO is to be
6 retained, they will go through the process of identifying who
7 that CEO is. But again, it's not a reason to deny the motion.

8 The Trustee has also argued that because the Committee is
9 not granted standing to pursue claims against current
10 employees, as opposed to former employees, that there might be
11 some statute of limitations concerns with respect to claims
12 against those employees. The argument doesn't really make
13 sense to us. In the standard case, the Debtor retains causes
14 of action. And the Committee can investigate causes of 15 action. And at some point during the case, a Committee could 16 come in and could demand that the Debtor prosecute them, and
17 if the Debtor unreasonably refuses, could seek standing before
18 the Court.

19 In this case, the Debtors agreed up front that the 20 Committee has the standing to prosecute certain claims against
21 insiders that are not employees of the Debtor, which obviates
22 the need for standing. So we've gone one step more. But the 23 Trustee is arguing that that leaves a void for the claims that
24 are not subject to the agreement on standing.

25 However, the term sheet provides that the board is going

1 to make determinations on what employees should remain, what
2 employees should not remain. To the extent the board
3 terminates any employees and there are claims against them,
4 then basically the Committee will have the ability to bring
5 those claims.

6 To the extent that those people aren't terminated, we have
7 no doubt that the Committee, in the course of its
8 investigation, will determine whether claims should be brought 9 against those people, and at some point in time may ask the 10 Debtor to prosecute those claims or ultimately seek standing.

11 In any event, these things are not being swept under the 12 rug. There's no real legitimate concern that there's any
13 statute of limitations issue that will prevent those claims
14 from being prosecuted.

15 I am very much aware and have no doubt that the Committee
16 is going to be laser-focused on claims, and any concern that 17 statute of limitations is going to lapse I think is not well-
18 taken.

19 The Trustee next argues that the Court does not have the
20 jurisdiction to implement the corporate governance matters,
21 and for that reason the motion should be denied. They -- she 22 argues that because Strand is not a debtor, that the Court has
23 no authority to appoint --

24 MS. LAMBERT: Your Honor, I object. The United
25 States Trustee is a he. I am not the United States Trustee,

1 and the attacks ad hominem are inappropriate.

2 THE COURT: All right. Well, clarification, the U.S.
3 Trustee is the guy in Washington. But anyway, you may
4 proceed.

5 MR. POMERANTZ: I apologize to Ms. Lambert.

6 MS. LAMBERT: Actually, he's downstairs right now.
7 Bill Neary.

8 MR. POMERANTZ: I apologize to --

9 THE COURT: Oh, well, I thought you meant the big guy
10 in Washington. But anyway, you may proceed.

11 MR. POMERANTZ: I apologize to Ms. Lambert and no
12 offense was meant.

13 THE COURT: Okay.

14 MR. POMERANTZ: So, the U.S. Trustee argues that
15 because Strand is not a debtor that the Court has no authority
16 to appointment the independent directors and limit Mr.
17 Dondero's right to remove the independent directors. The
18 Debtor is not really seeking authority to appoint -- to have 19 court authority for the appointment of the directors at
20 Strand. Again, as I mentioned before, that authority exists
21 outside of bankruptcy. Strand is not a debtor. Strand could 22 appoint anyone it wants to carry out its responsibility as the 23 general partner of the Debtor, and it's exercising its
24 corporate authority to do so by installing a board at Strand.

25 Nor is the Debtor seeking court authority for Strand to

1 enter into the corporate governance documents. Other than the
2 couple of items I mentioned before, Your Honor, Strand can
3 enter into these documents without authority from this Court.
4 The only court authority that was required: Debtor to
5 backstop the indemnification obligations, Debtor to pay
6 compensation to the board members, and Debtor to pay for the 7 D&O policy.

8 With respect to the Court's right to limit Mr. Dondero's
9 ability to terminate the independent directors, the term sheet
10 contemplates the Court approving a stipulation which limits
11 Mr. Dondero's ability to terminate the independent directors,
12 and if he does in fact seek to terminate the appointment of 13 the independent directors, he would be in violation of court
14 order. But even more importantly, Your Honor, if he decided
15 to terminate the independent directors without the Committee's
16 consent and without the Debtor's consent, I wouldn't imagine
17 it would take anyone very long to come back before Your Honor
18 and ask Your Honor to very quickly appoint a trustee.

19 Accordingly, Your Honor, I think the argument of lack of 20 jurisdiction over Strand is a red herring and should be 21 denied.

22 Lastly, Your Honor, the Trustee makes a curious argument
23 that a trustee is needed to protect all investors and
24 governmental authorities. The Trustee argues that this case
25 demands transparency which can only be accomplished by a

1 Chapter 11 trustee.

2 One thing I think the Debtor and the Committee and the
3 U.S. Trustee will agree on, this case does demand
4 transparency. And we believe we've installed a corporate
5 governance structure, an operating protocol structure, a
6 document preservation structure, that does just that, provides
7 transparency that this Debtor has not been subject to and
8 which is quite different from the case that was before Your
9 Honor before.

10 So we believe that what the Debtor and the Committee have
11 done is not only in the interests of the Debtor, the 12 creditors, but investors and all governmental entities.

13 And no investor or governmental entity has had any 14 concerns or any problems with what is being done. They 15 haven't filed any objection. The U.S. Trustee apparently is 16 proceeding by proxy asserting those interests.

17 Second, nothing in the term sheet or any of the documents
18 limits the rights of investors or of governmental entities to 19 seek a trustee, to seek documents, or to do anything they 20 would -- that they would be entitled to do under the 21 Bankruptcy Code.

22 In any event, Your Honor, the fact that the Trustee
23 believes that a trustee is more appropriate, again, is an
24 argument that they can make at the January 21st hearing. It's 25 not a basis for denial of this motion.

1 THE COURT: Okay.

2 MR. CLEMENTE: I think as late as 1:00 o'clock in the
3 morning I wasn't sure that I would be in front of you with
4 this settlement fully in place in a manner that was
5 satisfactory to my Committee. As I mentioned to you in my
6 prior appearances in front of you, every provision was
7 important to the Committee, and they all work together. As
8 Your Honor can imagine, there was a lot of negotiation that 9 took place, including late in the day and early morning, to
10 come to that conclusion.

11 Some comments on our perspective as a committee, Your
12 Honor. As an initial matter, we were absolutely not okay with 13 the governance structure that was in place when the petition
14 was filed. As we detailed in our objections to the CRO motion
15 and the protocol motion back when the case was in Delaware,
16 the Committee has very real and identifiable concerns about
17 the Debtor's ability to dispatch its fiduciary duty. And the 18 Committee very seriously contemplated moving for a Chapter 11
19 trustee daily. That conversation is something that the
20 Committee continues to -- continued to engage in, Your Honor.
21 So it's something that they considered very, very carefully.

22 That was the lens through which the Committee was
23 approaching negotiations over the settlement agreement and the 24 independent director structure. That's how they viewed it.
25 That's the backdrop against which they came to it.

1 The Committee had two primary goals that it had sought to
2 achieve with the settlement agreement. The first was to
3 ensure that Mr. Dondero does not remain in a position of 4 management authority or control in any fashion with the
5 Debtor. Goal number two was to ensure that the value of the
6 Debtor's estate is preserved and maximized. Those two goals
7 needed to work together.

8 The Committee believes that the carefully-crafted
9 settlement agreement achieves these objectives in a manner
10 that is more beneficial to the estate than a potential Chapter
11 trustee and a related fight over its appointment at this
12 time.

13 The lynchpin of the settlement, Your Honor, is the
14 appointment of the three independent directors. And as Mr.
15 Pomerantz outlined for you, that was the subject of intense
16 discussion, negotiation, debate among the Committee and with 17 the Debtor. But we believe that Mr. Seery, Mr. Dubel, and
18 Judge Nelms are fully independent, highly qualified, and bring
19 relevant and complementary skillsets to this board. Mr.
20 Pomerantz referred to that, but we believe that the three
21 directors all bring unique talents and attributes that will 22 allow them to function effectively as a board and provide the 23 appropriate oversight and direction that we believe is 24 necessary here.

25 However, regardless of how independent or highly skilled

1 they may be, they would be of no use if they weren't bestowed
2 with the appropriate power. So that was another point that
3 was very important to the Committee, and we believe that the
4 settlement does this. The settlement makes clear that the
5 independent directors are granted exclusive control over the
6 Debtor, including over all employees. That's absolutely
7 critical to the Committee.

8 The settlement also provides that the CRO and the Debtor's
9 professionals shall report and serve at the direction of the 10 independent directors. That is also very important.

11 And let me be clear, Your Honor, because I think you may 12 have raised this at a prior hearing: This is not a board that 13 we expect to work at 50,000 feet, as demonstrated by the 14 compensation structure that Mr. Pomerantz outlined for you.
15 This will be a board that's hands-on, members of which will be
16 on the ground, at the Debtor, with a strong presence and a
17 clear message of who is in charge. That is critical for this
18 Committee.

19 Additionally, as Mr. Pomerantz mentioned, the new board,
20 in consultation with the Committee, is empowered to determine
21 whether a CEO should be retained. It's possible that one of 22 the independent directors could be that CEO, Your Honor. But 23 we wanted to make clear that that was an important part of the 24 structure, should the board determine that that was the way it
25 wanted to go.

1 So, in sum, Your Honor, we believe that the independent
2 board has the clear authority and the skillset that's
3 necessary to take control and will be actively and
4 aggressively doing so.

5 But let me be clear, rest assured, Your Honor, this is not
6 going to be a board that answers to the Committee in that
7 sense. I think that we will all be moving together
8 directionally, but it's very possible that I will be in front
9 of Your Honor arguing against a decision that this independent
10 board made. So I want to assure Your Honor that although the 11 Committee was very active and in fact picked Mr. Seery and Mr.
12 Dubel, and then Mr. Pomerantz detailed how the third director
13 was picked, we understand who their duty -- what their duty is 14 and we also understand that they're not a rubberstamp for the 15 Committee, Your Honor. And so I wanted to make that point to 16 you to assure Your Honor that that's not the structure that's 17 being set up here, nor are they the type of individuals that
18 would allow that to happen.

19 Additionally, Your Honor, the settlement grants the
20 Committee standing to pursue estate causes of action against 21 the related parties. That was very important to us, Your 22 Honor.

23 And in addition to that, the settlement provides the
24 Committee access to privileged documents and sets forth a
25 discovery protocol that will assist the Committee in its

1 investigation.

2 The Committee strongly believes that Mr. Dondero's
3 repeated past behavior, that there are many questionable
4 transactions that will need to be thoroughly investigated and
5 pursued. And so having those causes of action with the
6 economic party in interest related to those causes of action,
7 the Committee and its constituencies, we thought was very
8 important and very critical.

9 Granting standing, Your Honor, as I mentioned, avoids any
10 issues regarding who will be controlling those claims.

11 I'll touch on this in a moment, but Mr. Pomerantz talked
12 about Mr. Dondero remaining in name as an employee. Let me
13 assure Your Honor that that is not a backdoor around the
14 Committee's ability to investigate and immediately pursue
15 claims against him should that be the course that we choose to 16 take. So he's not part of that carve-out for current
17 employees. That's not at all happening. That would never be
18 something that my Committee would be comfortable with. So I
19 wanted to make clear to Your Honor that that's not something
20 that's happening with sort of this late edition of Mr.
21 Dondero's continuing on in name as an employee.

22 Your Honor, the settlement also lays out a very detailed
23 set of operating protocols which we do believe are appropriate
24 and provides the Committee with transparency, which I've been 25 expressing to Your Honor we've needed since this case has

1 started.

2 Finally, as we point out in our reply and as would always
3 be the case, should new facts develop or the situation demand
4 it, the Committee reserves the right to seek a Chapter 11
5 trustee, as does any other party in interest, to the extent it
6 may be appropriate at that time.

7 In short, Your Honor, the Committee very carefully and
8 diligently weighed the independent director option versus the
9 Chapter 11 trustee option. The Committee had very clear goals
10 in mind, as I expressed to you, and determined that those 11 goals could be achieved in a value-maximizing manner through
12 the independent director structure.

13 The negotiations were very intense, and it was only after 14 the Committee determined that each piece of the settlement was 15 to its satisfaction did it ultimately conclude that the 16 settlement maximizes value for all stakeholders while at the 17 same time protecting those stakeholders from exposure to 18 continuing insider dealing, breaches of duty, and
19 mismanagement.

20 Therefore, the Committee believes approving the settlement
21 is in the best interest of the estate, and therefore it
22 believes it should be approved.

23 I do want to offer a word about Mr. Dondero continuing as 24 an employee. As Your Honor was aware, the term sheet as
25 originally filed provided that Mr. Dondero would, among other

1 things, resign as an employee of the Debtor. Mid to late
2 afternoon yesterday, Mr. Ellington called me and said that the
3 Debtor was now of the view that Mr. Dondero should remain on 4 as an employee in that capacity for the benefit of the estate.
5 The Committee was, very appropriately, very skeptical of this,
6 as well as the sort of last-minute offer, last-minute, you
7 know, addition, however you want to view it -- some might
8 argue retrade -- that Mr. Dondero was to leave the Debtor,
9 period. That was our view. That was the way that the term
10 sheet was initially structured. And under no circumstances
11 was the Committee going to allow Mr. Dondero to have any
12 control over this Debtor.

13 Your Honor, the Committee doesn't know what, if any, the 14 consequences are of removing Mr. Dondero as an employee. And 15 we're not conceding at all that there are any value lost by 16 removing Mr. Dondero as an employee. Instead, what we're 17 doing is we're staying true to our structure with the 18 independent directors and we're empowering them to decide.
19 And so it's consistent with, you know, our goals of having the 20 independent director structure in place. And under the 21 settlement as now constructed, even with this late addition or
22 adjustment, Mr. Dondero would remain as an employee in name
23 only, subject in all respects to the direction, oversight, and 24 removal by the independent board. And importantly, should 25 they decide to do that, Mr. Dondero shall resign. And he

1 shall receive no compensation.

2 So he will not be in control of this Debtor. The
3 independent directors are. And he's not going to be empowered
4 to make decisions on behalf of the Debtor. Instead, we're
5 empowering our independent directors to make those decisions
6 and determinations on behalf of the Debtor.

7 I wanted -- I thought it was important that I provide that
8 perspective to Your Honor, as this is something that came in
9 at a very, very late hour.

10 Overall, Your Honor, for the reasons I have stated and the
11 reasons in our reply, the Committee, as a fiduciary of all
12 creditors in this case, believes that the settlement is in the 13 best interests of the creditors and should be approved. And 14 at this time, it's the better alternative than the cost,
15 delay, and uncertainty resulting from a Chapter 11 trustee
16 fight and the potential appointment of a Chapter 11 trustee.

17 It is time to put the governance issues behind us, Your
18 Honor, and to move forward to determine how to maximize value
19 for the creditors and how to get them paid.

20 Your Honor, just regarding the specific resolutions of 21 objections that Mr. Pomerantz put on the record, I agree with 22 how Mr. Pomerantz characterized those, and the Committee is 23 supportive of those resolutions as well.

24 Those are all my remarks, Your Honor, but I am happy to 25 answer any questions or address any concerns Your Honor may

1 have.

2 THE COURT: Okay. Two follow-up questions. First, I
3 know I asked you this at a previous hearing and you told me,
4 but your Committee, as I recall, is very well constituted.
5 Just remind me of the members.

6 MR. CLEMENTE: Yes.

7 THE COURT: You have a representative from the
8 Redeemer Committee, --

9 MR. CLEMENTE: Yes, Your Honor.

10 THE COURT: -- which is a $140 million or so
11 arbitration award?

12 MR. CLEMENTE: Yes, Your Honor.

13 THE COURT: Okay. And who else is on the Committee?
14 Is an Acis representative?

15 MR. CLEMENTE: Acis is on the Committee, Your Honor.

16 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

17 MR. CLEMENTE: Meta-e Discovery, who is a trade
18 vendor of the Debtor, is on the Committee. And UBS
19 Securities, who is also --

20 THE COURT: Okay.

21 MR. CLEMENTE: -- a litigation claimant, is on the
22 Committee.

23 It was the U.S. Trustee in Delaware's parting gift to me
24 to name a four-member committee, Your Honor.

25 (Laughter.)

1 THE COURT: Okay. Makes it awkward at times. And
2 then back to the Dondero subject.

3 MR. CLEMENTE: Yes, Your Honor.

4 THE COURT: I mean, again, both Mr. Pomerantz and you
5 clarified that the proposal now is the new board will decide
6 if he stays on, Mr. Pomerantz said as a portfolio manager.

7 MR. CLEMENTE: That is correct, Your Honor.

8 THE COURT: Am I -- I mean, I'm hearing that
9 correctly?

10 MR. CLEMENTE: That is correct, Your Honor.

11 THE COURT: So, right now, whatever officer positions
12 he has, he's technically not resigning? Or --

13 MR. CLEMENTE: He is resigning as an officer of the 14 company, Your Honor.

15 THE COURT: Okay. He's resigning? So the board will
16 just decide, is he going to be a portfolio manager or some --
17 whatever the employee title is?

18 MR. CLEMENTE: Or they could decide that he's not
19 necessary.

20 THE COURT: Or not necessary? In any event, no
21 compensation?

22 MR. CLEMENTE: That is correct, Your Honor.

23 THE COURT: Okay.

24 MR. CLEMENTE: And as you can see, the term sheet
25 provides that Mr. Dondero shall not cause any related entity

1 to terminate any agreements with the Debtor as well. That was
2 language that was added last night as well.

3 THE COURT: All right. So they're going to make the
4 decision, does he help preserve value by staying in some
5 capacity or not?

6 MR. CLEMENTE: That is correct, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: Okay.

8 MR. CLEMENTE: That, cutting through it, that is the
9 way that ultimately the Committee views it.

10 THE COURT: Okay.

11 MR. CLEMENTE: And if there's an opportunity -- and 12 I'm not conceding that there is. I'm not conceding that he
13 preserves any value.

14 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

15 MR. CLEMENTE: But we wanted to give the option to 16 our independent directors to make that determination. Because
17 if there's an opportunity to preserve value, that's what we're
18 trying to achieve.

19 THE COURT: Okay. And I don't even know if you've
20 thought through this. Would there be some sort of notice
21 filed on record in the case if --

22 MR. CLEMENTE: If --

23 THE COURT: -- if the decision is made to --

24 MR. CLEMENTE: To -- to --

25 THE COURT: -- hire him or keep him as a portfolio

1 manager?

2 MR. CLEMENTE: So, I think the default under the term
3 sheet, as revised, is he stays in that capacity in terms of
4 name. The independent directors will -- they're subject to 5 his control and direction, and they could decide to remove
6 him.

7 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

8 MR. CLEMENTE: Perhaps if Your Honor --

9 THE COURT: Okay.

10 MR. CLEMENTE: We could provide notice if they make
11 the determination to remove him, but I think the default is 12 that, you know, he's in that -- he's remaining as that
13 employee name currently. So that's the current default.

14 THE COURT: Okay. All right. Thank you.

15 MR. CLEMENTE: Thank you very much, Your Honor.

16 THE COURT: Well, Ms. Patel, you're getting up so
17 I'll hear -- I don't know who all has been in the loop over
18 this overnight development.

19 OPENING STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF ACIS CAPITAL MANAGEMENT

20 MS. PATEL: Your Honor, Acis has been in the loop as 21 a member of the Committee. And I will be very brief with 22 respect to Acis's individual comments. And I just want to be
23 clear: Obviously, I'm here as counsel for Acis, and so this 24 is Acis's individual position. Mr. Clemente aptly and very 25 ably handled the Committee's overall position with respect to

1 this.

2 But Your Honor, I just want to, on behalf of Acis, make
3 sure that, because of these developments, that's really -- I
4 really had hoped to have zero role today, but I want to make
5 sure that we're -- Acis is on record with respect to our
6 position. And obviously, given Your Honor's knowledge and
7 oversight of the long history of Acis's bankruptcy case and
8 seeing some of the events that transpired there, I'm sure that 9 this will all, against that backdrop, make an awful lot of 10 sense.

11 But, you know, it's this continued role for Mr. Dondero
12 that is of concern. You know, this issue even being raised
13 within like the last 48 hours by Mr. Ellington, the timing of 14 it just creates an issue. I mean, did this -- how could this
15 possibly have come out of left field when this is such a huge
16 part of what the Debtor does in its ordinary course of 17 business, is serve as a portfolio manager, and these are
18 contracts that have been negotiated, generally speaking,
19 internally by Highland. So the fact that if Mr. Dondero were 20 to exit the structure and there would be some potential
21 ramifications to that, I've got to wonder how much of a
22 surprise could that really have been to Highland folks.

23 But I just wanted to highlight, in connection with the 24 term sheet -- this is the preliminary term sheet that was
25 handed up Your Honor, and I believe Your Honor has a redline

1 version of it as well --

2 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

3 MS. PATEL: -- on Page 2, with respect to the role of
4 Mr. James Dondero, there's various provisions in there. And I
5 guess I would be remiss, Your Honor, if I didn't say, at least
6 out of the gate, Acis obviously supports the implementation of
7 this independent board of directors. We believe all the 8 candidates are very capable and are -- we put our reliance
9 upon them.

10 Obviously, we don't concede any issues. We'll see what
11 we're going to do. But certainly, for the time being, we do
12 support the entry of this agreement of the settlement -- or,
13 I'm sorry, approval of the settlement agreement by the Court
14 that lets the independent board be put into place.

15 But what I'll focus the Court on, on Page 2 under the role
16 of Mr. James Dondero, it goes through various provisions as to 17 what he'll resign to -- positions he'll resign from and that
18 he will remain as an employee of the Debtor, including
19 maintaining his title as portfolio manager for all funds and
20 investment vehicles for which he currently holds that title.
21 And then it goes on to provide as to who he'll report to and
22 how he will be governed, which includes by the independent
23 board, he will receive no compensation, and that he will be 24 subject to at all times the supervision, direction, and
25 authority of the independent directors.

1 Again, we have faith that the independent directors will
2 oversee this and will govern his role accordingly. However,
3 given Acis's history with how transactions have transpired at
4 Highland, we remain highly cautious with respect to what
5 happens next.

6 And to that end, Your Honor, the very last sentence there
7 on Page 2, "Mr. Dondero shall not cause any related entity to
8 terminate any agreements with the Debtor," is a key provision
9 of this that keeps Acis, as a Committee member, on board with 10 this agreement. I wanted to highlight that and note that, in 11 the last less than 48 hours, in the last 12 hours, or maybe a
12 little bit more than that, call it 18 to be safe, that's where
13 -- that's a provision that's been -- that's where we've ended
14 up. It's all of these issues have been going at lightning
15 speed, but I did want to just, for the record and so everybody
16 is clear, that is an important piece of this agreement to --
17 for Acis.

18 And as Your Honor knows, this Debtor, Highland, is wont to
19 try to terminate agreements and to try -- in an attempt to try
20 and transfer valuable contracts away and valuable revenue
21 stream away from an entity to an alternate entity. And that's
22 really the heart of our concern, Your Honor.

23 So, with that, I just wanted to be clear and be on record
24 as to Acis's position. Thank you.

25 THE COURT: Thank you. All right.

1 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, if I briefly may respond
2 to the issues with Mr. Dondero while they are fresh in Your
3 Honor's mind?

4 THE COURT: Okay. Okay.

5 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, look, we appreciate the
6 timing of this coming to the attention of the Committee as
7 being less than optimal. As Your Honor can appreciate, this
8 case that's been filed three months ago, a lot of people are
9 looking very carefully at what's happening to the Debtor.
10 Investors are looking. There was a transfer of venue. There
11 have been a lot of reports about potential trustee motions.
12 And we believe a lot of parties are waiting to see the outcome
13 of this hearing and the trustee hearing to determine whether 14 they will determine to continue to do business with the
15 Debtor.

16 It's not only an issue of contractual rights. It's also 17 an issue of whether investors feel comfortable on who is
18 managing, who is managing their investments.

19 This issue of Mr. Dondero's continuing role has been
20 something that at the Debtor we've continued to grapple with 21 over the last several weeks. It's always been our thought
22 that we should do nothing that would unduly harm the company
23 from an economic standpoint. I think the Committee shares
24 that. That if it's determined by an independent board -- and
25 don't take current Debtor professionals, don't take current

1 Debtor employees' word for it -- but if they determine that
2 there's an economic benefit by keeping him on to preserve
3 material revenue stream, they should be able to make that
4 determination. I think that's really at the core here. And I
5 think the Committee got ultimately comfortable with it because
6 it will be an independent board, the majority of the members
7 identified and chosen by them and accepted by the Debtor.

8 So, again, we apologize to the parties and the Court for 9 bringing this on late. It wasn't my intent to come here and
10 present modified versions of the term sheet that hadn't been
11 filed. But that's where we are, and that's why it has come
12 up, and that's why it's an extremely important issue, because 13 preserving whatever revenue we can for the Debtor is 14 important.

15 Now, at the end of the day, the board may either decide
16 that he doesn't preserve the revenue, or the negatives from
17 keeping him involved with the company outweigh any benefits.
18 And that's a decision they will have to make, and it'll be
19 their province to make. So I just wanted to give Your Honor
20 that perspective.

21 THE COURT: Okay.

22 MR. DAUGHERTY: Your Honor, may I approach?

23 THE COURT: Mr. Daugherty? You may.

24 OPENING STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF PATRICK DAUGHERTY

25 MR. DAUGHERTY: I apologize. I was not planning to

1 address the Court at all today. I would have had my attorney
2 here for it. But I just ask a little bit of indulgence to
3 represent myself pro se for this issue.

4 This is the first I've heard that Mr. Dondero would stay
5 with the company. I think it's an awful idea. There's a
6 litany of reasons for that.

7 By the way, I'm completely in support of this -- of this
8 board that's been chosen. I have every confidence that
9 they'll be able to make good decisions eventually. But
10 they're stepping into this thing new. Obviously, I've been
11 through this in your court with Acis and other matters, and I
12 have deep, deep concerns about Mr. Dondero continuing in that 13 role, simply because of the influence it has on the rest of 14 the organization and the message that it sends, both
15 internally and externally, of where the company goes from 16 here.

17 So I just wanted to let you know my thoughts. I wasn't
18 planning to make them. I haven't filed anything. But that's 19 where I stand.

20 THE COURT: All right. Thank you, Mr. Daugherty.

21 All right. Before we hear from the U.S. Trustee, who I
22 know is going to have a lot to say, let me just circle back
23 briefly to Jefferies counsel and the CLO Issuers' counsel.
24 You heard the representations of Mr. Pomerantz earlier about,
25 well, first, in the case of Jefferies, that the Debtor has

1 agreed to language to address your concerns. Do you want to
2 weigh in on that and confirm that you're content that you're
3 going to have language to work out your concerns?

4 OPENING STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF JEFFERIES, LLC

5 MR. MAXCY: Thank you, Your Honor. Patrick Maxcy for
6 Jefferies.

7 No, I don't have anything additional to add to what Mr.
8 Pomerantz said. The language that we have worked out will
9 speak for itself and will be included in the order.

10 THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

11 And counsel for the CLO and CDO Issuers, do you confirm
12 that you would be in agreement to basically withdraw your
13 objections for now, but perhaps come back and make argument on
14 the 21st if you have not worked out language with the
15 Committee that you think works?

16 OPENING STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF THE ISSUER GROUP

17 MR. BENTLEY: James Bentley from Schulte Roth for the 18 Issuers, Your Honor.

19 I believe the deal that Mr. Pomerantz and Mr. Clemente
20 and I have discussed was adjourning our objection to the 21st,
21 --

22 THE COURT: Okay.

23 MR. BENTLEY: -- rather than withdrawing it.

24 THE COURT: Okay.

25 MR. BENTLEY: We're -- we believe we will be able to

1 come up with language acceptable to the Issuers, but we would
2 like to reserve the right to come back to the Court on our
3 limited objection if we cannot, given that our issue is really
4 -- really only relates to the 25 Issuers we represent.

5 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much.

6 All right. Ms. Lambert?

7 OPENING STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF THE UNITED STATES TRUSTEE

8 MS. LAMBERT: May it please the Court. As the Debtor
9 acknowledges, the motion that they are settling, the issues
10 that they are settling, are the issues that the U.S. Trustee
11 has raised in his motion to appoint a Chapter 11 trustee. As 12 a matter of statutory construction, Section 1104 does not
13 contemplate settlement of these issues. 1112, in contrast,
14 has a provision that if the Court finds and determines that
15 there is cause to convert a case, there are unusual
16 circumstances and the Court can find a reasonable
17 justification for the wrongdoing or the error that occurred
18 that led to cause -- for example, administrative defects in 19 1112, not filing monthly operating reports -- and that can be 20 cured. The Court has to make a finding that those -- these 21 defects can be cured within a reasonable period of time.
22 Section 1104 contains no analog to his.

23 If the Court finds cause to direct the appointment of a
24 Chapter 11 trustee, then the Court is supposed to appoint a
25 Chapter 11 trustee. And Trailer Ferry and AWECO both stand

1 for the proposition that, on today's day, we're supposed to
2 have evidence about what the management issues are that led to
3 this agreement. There's been no evidence. There's been no
4 allegations in the motion for settlement. And so the U.S.
5 Trustee is prepared to put that evidence on.

6 And Your Honor, one aspect of this is that the arbitration
7 agreement has been sealed. And there are people on the phone.
8 I don't know who's on the phone. The U.S. Trustee has opposed
9 the sealing of the arbitration -- not arbitration agreement,
10 the arbitration judgment -- has opposed the sealing of that.
11 And then they referenced a confidentiality order as the basis
12 to seal it. The U.S. Trustee also opposed that 13 confidentiality motion, which was filed subsequently to the 14 motion to seal.

15 There is no confidentiality order. An interim order was
16 entered sealing the arbitration award, but -- and the U.S.
17 Trustee has honored that by redacting all of the pleadings
18 that we filed relating to that, but it's important today for 19 the U.S. Trustee to be able to discuss it in argument, and it
20 is here -- and we have it prepared to be admitted into an 21 exhibit.

22 So, to proceed with my argument, Your Honor, I need some
23 clarification about what I can say.

24 THE COURT: You want clarification from me on what
25 you can say?

1 MS. LAMBERT: Well, I mean, either that or we need to
2 clear the room.

3 THE COURT: I've read the arbitration award.

4 MS. LAMBERT: Right.

5 THE COURT: It's in my brain.

6 MS. LAMBERT: Right. Okay.

7 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

8 MS. LAMBERT: And so one of the arguments here today
9 is that the U.S. Trustee is representing the SEC and
10 representing other Government agencies and things. No.
11 Obviously, that is not the U.S. Trustee --

12 THE COURT: I didn't hear that.

13 MS. LAMBERT: Okay. The -- one of the positions has 14 been, in the papers, is, well, that we don't have standing to 15 raise their issues. And that's true.

16 THE COURT: Okay.

17 MS. LAMBERT: But the problem is that the U.S.
18 Trustee has been constrained from discussing those issues with
19 the SEC. The arbitration award is very relevant to the SEC's
20 oversight. I anticipate the evidence today will be that the 21 SEC, after the financial crisis of 2008, imposed restrictions
22 on this Debtor on breach of fiduciary duty issues. I
23 anticipate that the arbitration findings would be very
24 relevant to whether those issues are ongoing or not.

25 THE COURT: Okay. Let me weigh in. I view the legal

1 standard that this Court has to weigh today as being: Is the
2 Debtor proposing something that is reflective of sound
3 business judgment, reasonable business judgment? And to the
4 extent this is a compromise of controversies with the
5 Committee, is this fair and equitable and in the best interest
6 of the estate?

7 And as Mr. Pomerantz has said, you know, a lot of this
8 maybe doesn't even need Court approval. But to the extent
9 there are aspects of this that are appropriate to seek Court
10 approval on, you know, this is my task. I have to look at 11 what's presented, and is this reflective of sound business
12 judgment? Is this fair and equitable? Is it in the best
13 interest?

14 So, assuming there are tons of bad facts here reflected in 15 the arbitration award, reflected in other evidence, bad facts
16 that might justify a trustee, a Chapter 11 trustee, is this
17 nevertheless, what's proposed today, a reasonable compromise
18 of, you know, the trustee arguments the Committee could make 19 or, you know, is this a reasonable framework for going
20 forward? Okay?

21 So I guess what I'm saying is I'm confused about, you
22 know, do I need to look at the arbitration award? Do we need
23 to have evidence of all of that? I can assume that there are 24 terrible facts out there that might justify a trustee, but I'm
25 looking at what's proposed. Is this a fair and equitable way

1 to resolve the disputes? Is it sound business judgment?
2 Frankly, is it a pragmatic solution here to preserve value?
3 So that's the legal standard I have in my mind here.

4 MS. LAMBERT: Yes, Your Honor.

5 THE COURT: Okay.

6 MS. LAMBERT: The standard is whether it is fair and
7 equitable to resolve the issues in the Chapter 11 trustee
8 motion, and it is the U.S. Trustee's position that they are
9 not resolved by this. And how are they not resolved? Number
10 one, they're not resolved because the problems that led to the 11 breach of fiduciary duty issues and findings are more
12 pervasive, both based on this Court' finding in the Acis case
13 and in the arbitration court's finding in Mr. Dondero. Other
14 officers are implicated.

15 THE COURT: But how --

16 MS. LAMBERT: Other employees are implicated.

17 THE COURT: Okay. I feel like maybe we're talking at 18 each other, not getting each other. I've got a proposed
19 solution here to totally change the playing field, if you
20 will. Bring in incredibly qualified people to --

21 MS. LAMBERT: Those people --

22 THE COURT: -- to change out the, you know, the
23 person that you say breached fiduciary duties, the, you know,
24 mismanagement, whatever bad labels we have here, but bring in
25 a clean slate.

1 MS. LAMBERT: No, Your Honor, because employees
2 remain at the Debtor who are problematic. The board that is
3 appointed owes a fiduciary duty to whom? Strand. Dondero.
4 He's still the board -- he is the sole stockholder. Yes. In
5 addition, --

6 THE COURT: And they won't be taking directions from
7 him.

8 MS. LAMBERT: In addition, --

9 THE COURT: The term sheet is they won't be taking
10 directions from him.

11 MS. LAMBERT: Your Honor, there is no evidence before
12 the Court today that Mr. Dondero has entered a stipulation.
13 This is part of the problem. This continues --

14 THE COURT: Well, if he doesn't, in five minutes the
15 Committee is going to be filing their trustee motion, right?

16 MS. LAMBERT: Well, then we haven't saved any time or 17 any money. This is the whole issue. They have to put on 18 evidence that this is a resolution of issues. We're going to 19 have the motion to appoint a Chapter 11 trustee either way.

20 THE COURT: All right. Well, we did have the 21 evidence of Mr. Sharp. Would you like to cross-examine him at 22 this point?

23 MS. LAMBERT: Your Honor, I would like to put the 24 U.S. Trustee's exhibits into evidence and then cross-examine
25 him.

1 THE COURT: All right. Your exhibits?

2 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, we would object to any
3 exhibits. The Trustee has not filed an exhibit list.

4 MS. LAMBERT: Your Honor, this matter was set on an
5 expedited basis and the Court does not require exhibit and
6 witnesses lists when a matter is filed on an expedited basis.
7 It's impossible, when a response is filed at 5:00 o'clock the 8 evening before and supplements are made in the morning of the 9 hearing, for the U.S. Trustee to put on a witness and exhibit
10 list.

11 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, we were here on the 19th.
12 We set out a briefing schedule. And maybe it was a couple
13 days short of normal notice. Ms. Lambert agreed to issue
14 discovery by a certain date, and she at no point said that
15 because there was 13 days' notice as opposed to longer period
16 that she couldn't comply and provide a witness list.

17 We provided with a witness list. We provided an exhibit
18 list. The Trustee's effort and attempt to now submit exhibits
19 and rely on maybe there were some changes this morning, that 20 just doesn't cut it, and that's not fair and that's not due
21 process.

22 THE COURT: Okay. I sustain the objection. The
23 exhibits won't be admitted since there was no exhibit list.

24 MS. LAMBERT: Your Honor, I do not have an exhibit
25 list from them. And they --

1 THE COURT: Well, they haven't offered any.

2 MS. LAMBERT: They put on new exhibits this morning.
3 The exhibits that the U.S. Trustee has are all things that
4 they are familiar with.

5 THE COURT: Let me back up. They didn't introduce
6 any exhibits. They --

7 MS. LAMBERT: But they introduced the declaration,
8 they introduced the supplements to the agreement that were
9 drafted this morning, they've introduced the new corporate
10 resolutions, all of which they handed me this morning.

11 THE COURT: All right. Well, the declaration of Mr.
12 Sharp, it's two pages long. It is, I don't think, any kind of 13 surprise information.

14 MS. LAMBERT: Your Honor, --

15 THE COURT: I'll allow you to cross-examine him.

16 MS. LAMBERT: -- the U.S. Trustee's exhibits are no
17 surprise, either. The Acis opinion is no surprise to anybody
18 in this courtroom.

19 THE COURT: Okay. Well, what are your exhibits?

20 MS. LAMBERT: The --

21 THE COURT: I probably should have asked.

22 MS. LAMBERT: The exhibits are the Acis opinion, the
23 arbitration awards or the determinations, both the partial and 24 the final, and the SEC's original judgment. There are four
25 exhibits.

1 THE COURT: All right. Well, Mr. Pomerantz, what
2 would you like to say? One of them I have obviously seen,
3 since I wrote it.

4 MR. POMERANTZ: Yes, you've written it. You wrote
5 it.

6 (Laughter.)

7 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, I think this is a tempest
8 in a teapot. The Committee's brief that it filed in
9 opposition to the CRO retention, the ordinary course
10 protocols, and the cash management motion had a litany of
11 description of the Redeemer litigation, of the SEC litigation.
12 There are plenty of bad facts out here. Okay? We have an 13 interim order to seal. There was no hearing set today for our 14 final hearing.

15 The Trustee has objected to that order, and I suspect that 16 will be heard on the 21st. We don't think it's appropriate to 17 introduce the Redeemer award. However, we have read the 18 redacted provisions or portion of the U.S. Trustee's brief,
19 and we have no problem if the U.S. Trustee limits its argument
20 to the redacted portion in presenting that to the Court.

21 In other words, we don't believe that the few sentences
22 that were redacted need to be redacted.

23 However, to the extent they intend to submit the 24 arbitration award, we don't think it's appropriate, we don't
25 think it's necessary, we think Your Honor hit it right, that

1 the issues today are not whether there's mismanagement at the
2 Debtor. Okay?

3 The U.S. Trustee's position is, notwithstanding this new
4 structure, it doesn't work. She has a trustee motion on. She
5 can argue on the 21st that it doesn't work. Nobody is
6 prejudicing her right to do so.

7 We think it's prejudicial, it's unfair, it's procedurally
8 improper to submit the Redeemer arbitration award and to allow 9 the Trustee to do anything other than describe exactly what
10 she has in her pleading.

11 THE COURT: Okay. I sustain the objection to those
12 exhibits. Again, I've read them. They're in my brain. I
13 wrote one of them. But I will allow you to cross-examine Mr.
14 Sharp. So, Mr. Sharp, would you please come to the witness
15 stand? Please raise your right hand.

16 BRADLEY SHARP, DEBTOR'S WITNESS, SWORN

17 THE COURT: All right. Please be seated.

18 MS. LAMBERT: To clarify, Your Honor, has the Court
19 considered the Acis opinion and the arbitration opinions based 20 on judicial notice?

21 THE COURT: And we're doing a lot of hair-splitting
22 here. I'm just letting you know I -- the facts are in my
23 brain. You can't extract them from my brain. Okay?

24 MS. LAMBERT: Okay.

25 THE COURT: I know there have been a lot of bad

Sharp - Cross

59

1 things, arguably bad things. But to me, the real issue here
2 today is whether this framework that has been heavily
3 negotiated with the Committee reflects reasonable business
4 judgment on the part of the Debtor, is a fair and equitable
5 resolution of the Committee's, you know, arguments in favor of 6 a trustee, and whether this makes, you know, sense going
7 forward to allow this Debtor to go forward without a trustee.
8 Okay?

9 So I really think that the evidence you want is not
10 terribly relevant. We technically aren't here on a trustee
11 motion today. We're here on whether a new board and the 12 terms, the protocols suggested, reflect reasonable business
13 judgment and reflect a fair compromise of arguments the 14 Committee has raised. All right? So I don't know how much
15 more clear I can make that. I guess the technical answer is 16 I'm not taking judicial notice of those things for purposes of 17 today.

18 All right. You may proceed.

19 CROSS-EXAMINATION

20 BY MS. LAMBERT:

21 Q Mr. Strand, can you state your name for --

22 A Sorry. Bradley Sharp, S-H-A-R-P.

23 Q Sharp. Mr. -- oh, sorry.

24 A No relation to Strand.

25 Q All right. Strand is the general partner of the Debtor,

004671

1 right?

2 A That is correct.

3 Q And there has been no change in the board of the Debtor
4 except Mr. Dondero's resignation; is that right?

5 A Well, it's a little different, because the -- Strand is
6 the general partner of the Debtor.

7 Q Yes.

8 A So the new board will be acting and in control of the
9 Debtor.

10 Q Yes. And there is -- Strand is a non-debtor, correct?

11 A That is correct.

12 Q And the stock of the non-debtor, Strand, is owned by
13 Dondero?

14 A Mr. Dondero owns Strand Advisors.

15 Q In its entirety?

16 A That is correct.

17 Q So the board will owe a fiduciary duty to Mr. -- to Mr.
18 Dondero?

19 A The board will have a fiduciary duty to the Debtor and to 20 Strand Advisors.

21 Q All right.

22 A Their duty is to the entity.

23 Q The -- Strand, as the general partner, as an entity, owes
24 a fiduciary duty to the Debtor, right?

25 MR. MORRIS: Objection to the extent it calls for a

1 legal conclusion.

2 THE COURT: Sustained.

3 BY MS. LAMBERT:

4 Q Do you know?

5 A As a lay person. I'm not an attorney.

6 Q Okay. So you don't know what the fiduciary roles of the 7 board will be; is that right?

8 A Well, the fiduciary board will be acting -- you know,
9 looking at it from my perspective as the chief restructuring
10 officer, the new board will be acting as the Debtor-in-
11 Possession. And, you know, they will be directing the Debtor-
12 in-Possession. You know, the Debtor-in-Possession has duties
13 to all parties in interest, and they will be directing the 14 Debtor. They will be directing me as CRO.

15 Q And, in addition, there may be a CEO, right?

16 A That is contemplated, correct.

17 Q It is contemplated? It --

18 A It is -- it is an option that the board has if they think
19 a CEO is necessary.

20 Q But you don't know whether a CEO is going to be appointed
21 or not?

22 A That's up to the board.

23 Q And you don't know what the compensation for that
24 individual might be, right?

25 A Again, that's up to the board.

1 Q Mr. Dondero is going to be an employee of the Debtor,
2 right?

3 A That's correct.

4 Q And Mr. Dondero started the Debtor, correct?

5 A I believe so.

6 Q And he also started Strand, right?

7 A I believe that's correct.

8 Q And he is also in control of a number of entities that the 9 Debtor does business with; is that right?

10 A That is correct.

11 Q Mr. Ellington is going to remain on with the Debtor?

12 A That -- Mr. Ellington is an employee. All employees are
13 now subject to the board.

14 Q Okay. And Mr. Ellington's role with the Debtor is what?

15 A He is general counsel with the Debtor.

16 Q And there are other in-house attorneys with the Debtor,
17 right?

18 A That's correct.

19 Q And who else is there currently?

20 A I don't have the list in front of me, you know, the 21 employee list. As of now, because obviously this is still --
22 hasn't been effected, so the board has not made any decisions
23 with respect to any employees going forward.

24 Q And the CFO remains the same?

25 A Yeah, that is, again, as of now. I don't know what the

1 board is going to do, if anything.

2 Q Do you have any anticipation of what you would recommend
3 to the board regarding the CFO?

4 A You know, I have many recommendations I have not made to
5 the board yet. I just met them this morning.

6 Q Are you aware that historically this Court has found that
7 the lawyers provided bad advice to the Debtor?

8 MR. MORRIS: Objection to the form of the question.

9 THE COURT: Sustained.

10 BY MS. LAMBERT:

11 Q Do you have any knowledge about whether there have been 12 findings that the law firm gave erroneous advice to the 13 Debtor? Or, I mean, the in-house counsel gave erroneous
14 advice.

15 MR. MORRIS: Objection to the form of the question.

16 THE COURT: Sustained.

17 MS. LAMBERT: Your Honor, I'm asking for the 18 foundation.

19 THE COURT: Rephrase.

20 BY MS. LAMBERT:

21 Q Do you -- are you aware of any concerns about the in-house
22 counsel?

23 A Yes.

24 Q What is your knowledge?

25 A I have read the rulings from this Court.

1 Q And what is your understanding of those rulings?

2 A I don't recall specifically. I read that early on when I
3 was first employed. But there have been concerns with respect
4 to, you know, management of the Debtor.

5 Q As the CRO, have you made any recommendations to change
6 employees to date?

7 A As of now, I don't have a -- the board. You know, the
8 board has just been employed. We have not made
9 recommendations up to this point. We are still -- obviously,
10 have been evaluating our position and what needs to happen. I
11 think it's important for the Debtor at this time, a little 12 stability would be a good thing for -- until we develop the 13 direction going forward.

14 Q Are you familiar with the compensation terms for the 15 directors?

16 A Yes.

17 Q And the directors are employees of Strand but paid by the 18 Debtor; is that right?

19 A Oh, I'm not sure they're employees of Strand, but they are
20 paid by the Debtor, their compensation. That's correct.

21 Q And yet the compensation is technically through Strand,
22 right?

23 A They -- they are. They have to act through the general
24 partner of the Debtor because of the corporate structure.

25 Q One of the portions of the agreement is that the Committee

1 acquires litigation claims. Are you familiar with that?

2 A I am.

3 Q Have you parsed out which litigation claims those might be
4 at this point?

5 A I think the agreement says they have litigation claims
6 against insiders and related parties. So I don't know what
7 those individual claims are. I don't know what exists.

8 Q Are you aware that the Committee obtains the attorney-
9 client privilege and work product privilege?

10 A Yeah. Subject to the terms of those agreements, correct.

11 Q Have you gone through the documents and determined which 12 ones would fall on -- which attorney files would fall on which 13 side?

14 A Not as of yet.

15 Q Have you been taking direction from Mr. Dondero?

16 A We've had -- I've had limited interaction with Mr. Dondero
17 since my retention. You know, we have been complying with the 18 protocols that we had been negotiating with the Committee and
19 providing information to the Committee. We have been, as a
20 result of those protocols, instructing management of the 21 company on compliance with those protocols. So they have 22 brought to us transactions that they would like to do. We 23 have reviewed those transactions and compared it to the 24 proposed protocols and have been enforcing those. So if
25 management has asked to do a transaction that does not meet

1 within those protocols, we have been declining the
2 transaction. And that -- you know, the company has agreed
3 with that decision and accepted that decision.

4 Q When you say management, who are you -- to whom are you
5 referring?

6 A You know, the whole management team at the company. In-
7 house counsel. The CFO. You know, I've had limited
8 interaction with Mr. Dondero. One interaction was he did
9 question one of my decisions that I made. We discussed it and 10 he accepted my conclusion.

11 Q You're at the Debtor every day?

12 A My team is.

13 Q You are not?

14 A I have had some travel restrictions due to a medical
15 issue, but I have three of my team there every day.

16 Q Is Mr. Dondero there every day?

17 A I don't know. I don't think so. In the few days I'm
18 there, I've not seen him.

19 Q Is Mr. Ellington there every day?

20 A No.

21 Q Who on the management team is there every day?

22 A You know, our primary interaction is with Isaac Leventon,
23 Frank Waterhouse, the CFO. You know, primary interaction, you
24 know, with David Klos, who is the controller, in dealing with 25 the financial issues.

1 Obviously, we spend a lot -- my team spends a lot of time
2 with the head of compliance.

3 Q Were you surprised by this addition that Mr. Dondero would
4 remain as an employee?

5 A I can't say I was surprised. It is an issue that we
6 struggle with, given the nature of this company's business.
7 You know, I see the change in the language and, you know, as
8 CRO, I am comfortable with it.

9 Q So, as CRO, if Mr. Dondero is necessary now, you recognize
10 that he was necessary three weeks ago?

11 A I'm not saying that he's necessary. I'm saying that it is 12 important for the board to be able to make that decision.

13 Q And it wasn't important when the settlement was filed?

14 A It was the -- it was a struggle at the time. I was
15 concerned at the time it was filed the unintended consequences
16 of Mr. Dondero resigning completely and disappearing, because
17 there are a significant number of funds that the Debtor deals
18 with related parties that are controlled by Mr. Dondero, and I
19 was worried about the financial impact with it. I knew this
20 issue was important to the Committee. And if that's something 21 that the Debtor agreed to and the Committee agreed to, so be
22 it.

23 You know, I think the last-minute compromise is acceptable
24 and appropriate. I think the language as negotiated is going
25 to be very helpful to the Debtor. And I think, then, it's up

Sharp - Cross

68

1 to the board to make the decision, with full knowledge on
2 what's the best avenue forward.

3 Q And the language as negotiated was added because, in the 4 past, there have been problems with Mr. Dondero changing or
5 terminating agreements with related entities, right?

6 A There was that -- I've seen that -- issues raised in the
7 Acis case.

8 MS. LAMBERT: No further questions.

9 THE COURT: All right. Any redirect?

10 MR. POMERANTZ: Not from the Debtor.

11 THE COURT: Anyone have examination? No? All right.
12 Thank you, Mr. Sharp. You're excused.

13 THE WITNESS: Thank you.

14 (The witness steps down.)

15 THE COURT: All right. Are we going to have any
16 other, I guess, witnesses, evidence?

17 CLOSING ARGUMENT ON BEHALF OF THE DEBTOR

18 MR. POMERANTZ: No, Your Honor. I just had a couple
19 points. One, Ms. Lambert mentioned that she hadn't seen a
20 copy of the stipulation referred to, which was prohibiting Mr.
21 Dondero from terminating the board. There's a good reason for 22 her not having seen it. I hadn't provided it to her. It just
23 came this morning, right before the hearing. I have one
24 signed copy. I have other copies that I could represent, even 25 though they're unsigned, are the same, so I would like to

004680

1 provide Your Honor. I'll keep the signed copy but provide you
2 with an unsigned copy, but it's the same, and also give one to
3 the U.S. Trustee.

4 THE COURT: But you've got a signature of Mr. Dondero
5 on that?

6 MR. POMERANTZ: Yes, I do.

7 THE COURT: Okay.

8 MR. POMERANTZ: May I approach?

9 THE COURT: You may. Thank you.

10 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, maybe for the record it
11 would be appropriate for me to show Your Honor the signature,
12 so you could say that you've seen it?

13 THE COURT: Yes. Yes.

14 MR. POMERANTZ: May I approach again?

15 THE COURT: You may. (Pause.) Okay. Thank you.

16 The record will reflect I've seen Mr. Dondero's signature.

17 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, one of the threads that
18 Ms. Lambert said to Your Honor is that there were employees
19 still remaining at the Debtor and that those employees may 20 have been involved in some wrongdoing.

21 I submit, Your Honor, if Your Honor appointed a Chapter 11
22 trustee today, what would a Chapter 11 trustee do? A Chapter
23 11 trustee wouldn't terminate every employee at the Debtor. A
24 Chapter 11 trustee, if he or she was doing what they should 25 do, would go down to the company, would interview members of

1 the company, senior management, and decide who should stay on
2 and who should not stay on.

3 That, I submit, Your Honor, is exactly what this board
4 will do. So the concept of there being something different
5 done, if you have a board here or not, I don't think makes
6 sense.

7 And lastly, Your Honor, Ms. Lambert expressed the issue as
8 whether it's fair and equitable to resolve the U.S. Trustee
9 issues in this way. I don't think that's the standard. The
10 only fair and equitable I understand is in plan confirmation.
11 I think Your Honor said it straight, which is: Is this a
12 valid exercise of the Debtor's business judgment and is it an
13 appropriate compromise of controversy? That is the standard.
14 And, again, we have always acknowledged that, notwithstanding
15 how Your Honor rules today, the Trustee reserves the right to 16 come back to court and argue a trustee is appropriate on the 17 21st.

18 We believe, Your Honor, that many of the cases, in this
19 circuit and elsewhere, look to the continuing management of 20 the company and whether management issues have been addressed
21 as a significant factor in determining whether a trustee is 22 appointed. And it'll come as no surprise, of course, if Your 23 Honor grants our motion today, this will be a lynchpin of our
24 opposition to the trustee motion.

25 But, again, those issues are for another day, and we

1 believe that we have satisfied our standard, and we request
2 that Your Honor approve the motion.

3 THE COURT: All right. Other closing arguments?

4 CLOSING ARGUMENT ON BEHALF OF THE UNITED STATES TRUSTEE

5 MS. LAMBERT: Yes, Your Honor. As the Debtor
6 acknowledges, the Court has no jurisdiction over Strand. This
7 is a complicated structure. A trustee avoids all of the 8 complications involved in the Court exercising jurisdiction
9 over an entity that it doesn't have jurisdiction over.

10 To enter a stock stipulation related to a non-debtor is 11 highly irregular, and Mr. Dondero is the person behind that.
12 It has happened in cases where people have been in these kinds
13 of structures, like that FSLIC used to put in these kinds of 14 structures -- there's published opinion, the Goubert
15 (phonetic) case -- where the person continued to exercise
16 control even though they had a stock trust.

17 The Court needs a person beholden to the Court. The 18 evidence is that, historically, this Debtor has entered into 19 things that breached its fiduciary duty and resulted in self-
20 dealing and liability for the Debtor. The evidence is that 21 these go beyond Mr. Dondero and the Court does not have 22 jurisdiction over his stock. The Court does not have
23 jurisdiction over Strand. The board members of Strand are not
24 employees of the Court, they're employees of Strand, a non-
25 debtor. These members have a fiduciary duty to Strand.

1 Yes, Strand is the general partner of this Debtor and has
2 a fiduciary duty, but all these fiduciary duties intermix in
3 ways that result in conflicts for this case. These conflicts
4 are unnecessary. The Court could just appoint a trustee who
5 only owes a fiduciary duty to the members and creditors of
6 this case, as well as the next (inaudible).

7 There is no evidence that this is cheaper. There is no
8 evidence that this is a total resolution, because issues are
9 left open, such as whether or not a CEO is going to be
10 appointed, how much that person is going to cost.

11 Finally, Your Honor, the sealing has constrained the 12 ability of some of the parties to understand what's going on 13 in this case. And that is material to the argument about who 14 is here, because we don't know who -- that all the people who
15 would have participated in this discussion had an opportunity
16 to participate in it.

17 Yes, the creditors have a fiduciary duty, and I believe
18 that they represented to the best of their ability, but they 19 are not charged with the issues that others are charged with,
20 such as the SEC.

21 There is no evidence that the officers are disinterested.
22 Rather, the new officers are going to be conflicted by the 23 nature of their position. There's no evidence that it's 24 cheaper. And a trustee, if appointed, could be appointed on
25 an hourly basis. This is a Chapter 11 trustee.

1 They argue that the trustee would not have the knowledge,
2 and yet they've been able to find three candidates to serve
3 for the board who are qualified. So there's no evidence that 4 it would not be better to have a trustee for that reason as
5 well.

6 The evidence is that, historically, the Redeemer Committee
7 was set up to prevent these kinds of transactions and have
8 oversight. Historically, the evidence is it did not work.
9 For this reason, the statute provides a solution, and the 10 Court should impose it. The Court should deny this motion as 11 not being in the interest of the estate, as not being a sound
12 exercise of discretion, because it's really the discretion of 13 Strand, not the Debtor, and it will remain the discretion of 14 Strand, not the Debtor.

15 Thank you.

16 THE COURT: All right. Anyone else have comments?

17 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, just a couple of minor
18 points.

19 THE COURT: Okay.

20 CLOSING ARGUMENT ON BEHALF OF THE DEBTOR

21 MR. POMERANTZ: Ms. Lambert started by saying the
22 Court doesn't have jurisdiction over Strand. I know I just 23 handed her the stipulation, but the last paragraph of the 24 stipulation specifically says that the parties stipulate and
25 agree that the Court shall have exclusive jurisdiction over

1 all matters arising from or related to the interpretation and
2 implementation of this stipulation and the adjudication of any
3 parties breaching the stipulation.

4 So the Court does have jurisdiction now that the
5 stipulation has been signed, assuming that the Court enters
6 it, so I think that addresses that issue.

7 Your Honor, the evidence of the disinterestedness of the
8 members of the board, we've provided their curriculum vitae.
9 We've made representations that they have no connections with 10 the Debtor or any of the parties in interest. We don't think
11 that, just because they become appointed and become a director
12 of Strand, that that renders them disinterested [sic], and we
13 think that the Trustee's arguments that being at a different
14 level creates different duties is just not -- is not accurate.
15 I don't think that the Committee would have had any appetite
16 for this type of structure had they believed that each of 17 these board members wouldn't feel that their fiduciary duty
18 was to the Debtor's estate. And they all are seasoned
19 restructuring people from different aspects, all understand
20 their fiduciary duties well, and all are prepared to carry 21 them out.

22 Lastly, the Trustee points to the historic issues, and
23 specifically mentioned the Redeemer Committee and that
24 structure didn't work. Well, I think it speaks volumes, Your 25 Honor, that not only the Redeemer Committee, are they on the

1 Committee and the Committee has supported this motion, but the
2 Redeemer Committee hasn't come to Your Honor and said that,
3 notwithstanding that structure that may or may not have been
4 effective, this structure is ineffective.

5 And at the end, Your Honor, the Trustee is trying to
6 replace the business judgment of the Debtor. The Debtor is
7 entitled to deference of the judgment, again, focusing on the
8 correct standard. And, again, the Trustee will have her day
9 in -- his day in court in connection with the ultimate trustee
10 motion on the 21st.

11 Thank you, Your Honor.

12 THE COURT: Anyone else?

13 All right. Well, the Court is going to note a few things
14 as part of its ruling, obviously. The new proposed
15 independent board members for Strand, Strand obviously being
16 the general partner of the Debtor, Highland -- Mr. James
17 Seery, Mr. John Dubel, and retired Judge Russ Nelms -- are
18 highly-qualified individuals with respect to the industry.
19 Some of them with respect to restructuring. Certainly, in the 20 case of retired Judge Nelms, with regard to fiduciary duties
21 and the Bankruptcy Code requirements.

22 These three individuals were chosen by the Creditors'
23 Committee, whose constituency is broad, whose constituency is 24 owed well over $100 million. And they were chosen by the 25 Committee after literally months of negotiation. Obviously,

1 this bankruptcy was filed in October, and it appears to this
2 Court, from the representations of counsel, that from the very
3 beginning of the case -- the Committee was, I guess, appointed
4 a week or two after the case was filed in October -- there's 5 been haggling over corporate governance of this Debtor.

6 So we have highly-qualified individuals. We have
7 individuals who were chosen by the well-constituted Creditors'
8 Committee. And what has been proposed to the Court is that it
9 is these independent directors that would have sole and
10 exclusive management and control of the Debtor.

11 An interesting jurisdictional argument has been made, and
12 it's one of those arguments that, frankly, you know, sounds
13 good when you first hear it, but when you really drill down
14 about the governance structure here, I mean, obviously, this
15 Debtor is a limited partnership and it acts through a general
16 partner. It's the general partner that controls the Debtor
17 entity. And while Strand Advisors, Inc., the general partner,
18 may not technically be in bankruptcy, it's the structure of 19 these entities such that it controls the Debtor. So the 20 jurisdictional argument, when you drill down, feels a little
21 off.

22 Moreover, we have language in the stipulation where Strand
23 is stipulating and consenting, if you will, to this Court's
24 exercise of jurisdiction over it.

25 There are many things about the compromise here that have

1 very compelling appeal. Among them, certainly, the Committee
2 that's negotiated this term sheet retains the right at any
3 time to move for a Chapter 11 trustee if it believes there are
4 grounds. The Committee is granted standing to pursue estate
5 claims, certain estate claims right off the bat, without
6 having to come back and ask the Court, without having to rely
7 on the Debtor to pursue that. There are document production
8 provisions, document preservation provisions, a shared
9 privilege negotiated, that are very powerful tools for the 10 Committee, and certainly operating protocols that have been
11 negotiated regarding the Debtor's operations that are very
12 powerful tools for the Committee.

13 I said many times during the Acis case -- those who were
14 here will remember -- that the company, Acis, was not a great
15 fit for Chapter 11. Lots of companies aren't great fits for 16 Chapter 11, I suppose, but the kind of business it was was
17 kind of tough to maneuver in Chapter 11. Human beings and
18 their expertise create value. And while we had a Chapter 11
19 trustee, a stranger come in and take control over Acis, you
20 know, there's great uncertainty whether that stranger is going
21 to be able to preserve value and have the smooth transition
22 into Chapter 11 that's really going to be the best fit.

23 Here, as I've said earlier, the legal standard I view as 24 controlling here is 363 and whether what has been proposed
25 reflects reasonable business judgment. Is there a sound

1 business justification for proposing the independent slate of
2 directors at the GP level for the Debtor, the protocols, the
3 negotiation with the Committee, the document sharing, the
4 standing given to them? Does all of this reflect reasonable
5 business judgment? And I find, quite clearly, it does. I
6 find it to be a pragmatic solution to the Committee's concerns
7 about existing management and control.

8 And I think I used the words "fair and equitable," not
9 just Ms. Lambert, because it is also presented to the Court as
10 a 9019 compromise of disputes with the Committee, and we 11 traditionally use a fair and equitable and best interest of 12 the estate analysis in this context. So, to the extent that
13 applies, I do find this a fair and equitable way of resolving
14 the disputes with the Committee, and I find this to be in the 15 best interest of the estate. So I do approve this.

16 And by approving this motion, I'm approving the term sheet
17 as it's been presented, the various terms therein, the 18 exhibits thereto. I'm specifically approving the new 19 independent directors, the document management and
20 preservation process, the standing to the Committee over
21 certain of the estate claims, the reporting requirements, the
22 operating protocols, the whole bundle of provisions.

23 Now, there is one specific thing I want to say about the 24 role of Mr. Dondero. When Ms. Patel got up and talked about
25 the newest language that has been added to the term sheet, she

1 highlighted in particular the very last sentence on Page 2 of
2 the term sheet, the sentence reading, "Mr. Dondero shall not
3 cause any related entity to terminate any agreements with the
4 Debtor." Her statement that that was important, it really
5 resonated with me, because, you know, as I said earlier, I
6 can't extract what I learned during the Acis case, it's in my
7 brain, and we did have many moments during the Acis case where
8 the Chapter 11 trustee came in and credibly testified that,
9 whether it was Mr. Dondero personally or others at Highland,
10 they were surreptitiously liquidating funds, they were
11 changing agreements, assigning agreements to others. They 12 were doing things behind the scenes that were impacting the 13 value of the Debtor in a bad way.

14 So not only do I think that language is very important,
15 but I am going to require that language to be put in the 16 order. Okay? So we're not just going to have an order
17 approving the term sheet that has that language. I want
18 language specifically in the order. You know, you can figure
19 out where the appropriate place to stick it in the order is,
20 but I want specific language in here regarding Mr. Dondero's
21 role. I also -- the language in there that his role as an
22 employee of the Debtor will be subject at all times to the
23 supervision, direction, and authority of the Debtors, I want
24 that language in there as well. Let's go ahead and put the 25 language in there that at any time, in any event, the

1 independent directors can determine he's no longer going to be
2 retained. I want that in the order.

3 And I'm sure most of you can read my mind why, but I want
4 it crystal clear that if he violates these terms, he's
5 violated a federal court order, and contempt will be one of
6 the tools available to the Court. He needs to understand
7 that. Mr. Ellington needs to understand that. You know, if
8 there are any games behind the scene, not only do I expect the 9 Committee is going to come in and highlight that to the Court
10 and file a motion for a trustee or whatever, but we're going
11 to have a contempt of court issue.

12 So, anybody want to respond to that?

13 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, Jeff Pomerantz; Pachulski
14 Stang Ziehl & Jones.

15 We hear Your Honor. What I thought I'd do now is I have a
16 clean redline of the order, of course not including the 17 provision you just requested, --

18 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

19 MR. POMERANTZ: -- which we will go back and upload
20 and hope to get an order signed by Your Honor today, if you're 21 around. But to go over the other changes, the changes to
22 Jefferies, the other language changes I discussed before. I
23 gave a copy to Ms. Lambert and to the Committee. May I
24 approach with a --

25 THE COURT: You may.

1 MR. POMERANTZ: Thank you.

2 THE COURT: Okay. All right. (Pause.) All right.

3 The form of order looks fine to me. Obviously, you'll add the
4 Dondero-related language, and we may have further wording
5 tweaks negotiated with the CLO Issuers. But, again, I approve
6 all of this. I didn't say on the record the compensation, but
7 certainly I am approving that as reasonable. I expect these
8 three directors are going to be working very, very hard. And 9 so, as you said, not 50,000-foot level monitoring, actually
10 rolling up sleeves on-site, so I think the compensation is 11 reasonable.

12 MR. POMERANTZ: Thank you, Your Honor. We will
13 submit an order shortly that includes Your Honor's language
14 requested.

15 THE COURT: Okay.

16 MR. POMERANTZ: Are you around this afternoon?

17 THE COURT: I am around, --

18 MR. POMERANTZ: Okay.

19 THE COURT: -- so just pick up the phone or send an
20 email to Traci, my courtroom deputy, --

21 MR. POMERANTZ: Yes.

22 THE COURT: -- so she can tell me, "It's in your 23 queue to sign."

24 MR. POMERANTZ: She has been extremely helpful and
25 responsive.

1 THE COURT: Good. I'm glad to hear that.

2 MR. POMERANTZ: Yes.

3 THE COURT: Now, as far as future scheduling, I did
4 have her sitting by, listening, in case we needed to discuss
5 anything. Obviously, we're going to have a kind of a
6 carryover placeholder on the 21st as part of the trustee
7 motion hearing for any remaining issues with the CLO Issuer.
8 And, you know, that's just a placeholder if necessary to hear
9 language controversies.

10 My courtroom deputy was concerned, because you have a lot
11 of pending motions that have just sort of sat there pending
12 because this was the big issue, right? She wants to make sure
13 she sets anything you need a setting on. And I don't know if 14 you want to discuss that today or go back as a group and --

15 MR. POMERANTZ: We're happy to -- I think, you know,
16 I think that's appropriate to do. We had the motion to
17 appoint the CRO.

18 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

19 MR. POMERANTZ: That was pending. That gets resolved
20 by this motion. We will submit an order --

21 THE COURT: Okay.

22 MR. POMERANTZ: -- with the new agreement that was
23 attached to the term sheet.

24 We had the cash management order which Judge Sontchi had 25 issued an interim order. We will have a final order with

1 respect to that.

2 THE COURT: Okay.

3 MR. POMERANTZ: We will be withdrawing the motion to 4 approve ordinary course protocols which was originally on for 5 hearing.

6 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

7 MR. POMERANTZ: I think on the 21st we have currently
8 set a motion to approve the retention or Mercer, which is the 9 Debtor's compensation consultant, --

10 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

11 MR. POMERANTZ: -- and an analog motion that was 12 originally set for today with respect to insiders, non-
13 insiders, but is on for non-insiders and insiders on the 21st, 14 --

15 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

16 MR. POMERANTZ: -- which is the motion to approve
17 bonuses.

18 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

19 MR. POMERANTZ: Of course, the Debtor's new board is 20 going to be wanting to very carefully review that. And we are 21 going back and today having our first new board meeting with 22 the board to start bringing them up to speed. But we 23 presently intend, subject to, obviously, their direction, to 24 go forward on the 21st.

25 We also have the retention of Lynn Pinker and Foley

1 Gardere, which had been filed and was brought on for hearing
2 previously. It had been delayed, again, for the board to look
3 at the issues. We expect to have that on for the 21st. And I
4 believe, I believe that would be it.

5 MS. LAMBERT: No, Your Honor, the --

6 MR. POMERANTZ: No?

7 MS. LAMBERT: -- U.S. Trustee has objected to the
8 motion to seal, which was the second item on the Wilmington
9 Court's docket that got -- and it got transferred here. The 10 U.S. Trustee has also objected to the motion for protective
11 order. The issues overlap. We request that they be set as 12 quickly as possible.

13 MR. POMERANTZ: We're happy to set both of those for 14 the 21st as well.

15 THE COURT: All right. So I think what I'm going to 16 ask you to do is just get on the phone, one of you, with Traci
17 and just make sure she's clear on everything you need set on 18 the 21st, and then you can do a big notice of hearing, just
19 kind of listing all of these matters.

20 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, with respect to the CRO
21 motion -- order and the cash management order, I was wondering
22 if it would be helpful for my colleague Mr. Demo to go over
23 the amendments to those orders -- we would like those to be
24 entered today -- to see if Your Honor has any questions.

25 THE COURT: All right. That would be good. Mr.

1 Clemente, did you have something first?

2 MR. CLEMENTE: Just very quickly, Your Honor. We had
3 filed our retention applications for the Committee
4 professionals and filed CNOs, and your office had indicated
5 you wanted to get through today, which I totally understand,
6 but I just wanted to make sure that Your Honor didn't lose
7 sight of those. I don't believe there were any objections to
8 those, but I think your intent was probably to deal with them
9 after today, but I just wanted to --

10 THE COURT: All right. Yes, it was to get through 11 today.

12 MR. CLEMENTE: Yes.

13 THE COURT: So, since you've had plenty of time run
14 on those, you can submit orders and I'll get them signed in 15 chambers.

16 MR. CLEMENTE: Thank you very much, Your Honor.
17 Appreciate it.

18 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you. Counsel?

19 MR. DEMO: Good afternoon, Your Honor. Greg Demo,
20 Pachulski Stang, on behalf of the Debtor. I'm happy to keep 21 this as brief as possible, but I think walking through the
22 cash management motion has the most changes.

23 THE COURT: Okay.

24 MR. DEMO: The biggest change there, and we had 25 discussed this with the United States Trustee in Delaware, is

1 that in our initial motion we disclosed that the Debtor had
2 bank accounts at BBVA and then also at NexBank. Those
3 accounts have been moved to East West Bank, --

4 THE COURT: Okay.

5 MR. DEMO: -- which is a party to a depository
6 agreement with the United Stated Trustee.

7 THE COURT: Okay.

8 MR. DEMO: The only exception to that is a
9 certificate of deposit that is at NexBank. It's a relatively
10 small amount of money. It's $135,000. But it also is pledged
11 as collateral on a lease. So that has been -- proven
12 problematic to move. The Trustee for Delaware did say that
13 was okay. I would hope that the Trustee for Texas would agree
14 with that. We did disclose it in the initial debtor
15 interview.

16 But those are the bank accounts. The bank accounts at
17 BBVA and NexBank, with the exception of that CD, were all
18 closed as of yesterday.

19 THE COURT: Okay.

20 MR. DEMO: So now we are going to be using East West
21 Bank for all operating accounts, all cash, going forward.

22 The other two accounts are the account at Jefferies, which
23 is the prime brokerage account.

24 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

25 MR. DEMO: That account, we are keeping open.

1 Obviously, there have been conversations with Jefferies that
2 are going to be reflected in the proposed order on the
3 settlement, but we do propose to keep the Jefferies prime
4 brokerage account open as well.

5 And then we filed a supplement for another prime brokerage
6 account that we have at a prime broker called Maxim Group.
7 That account has $30 million in securities in it, give or
8 take, and then literally like $100 in cash. The Debtor
9 considers that account more an investment than actual
10 operating account, but we would like to keep that account open
11 as well, just so it can continue holding those securities.

12 Jefferies and Maxim, neither of them are on the depository
13 list, so we are requesting a waiver of 345(b) for those two 14 accounts, and then also requesting a waiver of 345(b) with 15 respect to the certificate of deposit at NexBank.

16 THE COURT: Okay.

17 MR. DEMO: That's where we're at at cash management.
18 And I guess, sorry, one more thing. In the original cash
19 management motion, we had a series of intercompany
20 transactions that we disclosed, and we had gotten interim
21 relief from the Delaware court to make those payments up to a
22 hundred -- or, $1.7 million. We are below that account, and
23 on a go-forward basis, all of those intercompany transactions
24 are getting subsumed into the settlement motion and the 25 operating protocols and all of that. But we are asking for

1 final relief on the intercompany transactions that we made
2 under the interim order.

3 THE COURT: Okay. All right. Who wishes to be heard
4 on this? I don't know how much discussion we've had outside
5 the courtroom on this.

6 MS. LAMBERT: We haven't -- normally, a bond would be
7 appropriate for the Jefferies and the other small account.
8 The estate is at risk on the CD, but it's not that much money.
9 It's not worth bonding. It'll be more expensive to bond it.

10 NexBank, as you know, Your Honor, is a bank where Mr.
11 Dondero is the CEO. So that was part of the reason that 12 NexBank was carved out. But the -- so I would like them to 13 bid bonds on the Jefferies and the other account. And if we 14 -- let's carry it on those issues so that we can see how
15 expensive bonding it would be, and if it's cost-prohibitive,
16 maybe we reconsider. But in the past, the bonds haven't been 17 very expensive, relatively.

18 MR. DEMO: We're happy to discuss that with the U.S.
19 Trustee. I mean, just for the record, the Jefferies account,
20 you know, does support a margin loan. It's $80 million in
21 securities. It's $30 million at Maxim. They're SIPC. I
22 mean, it's Jefferies and, you know, another large prime
23 broker. Again, we're happy to discuss it with the Trustee. I
24 don't know that it's necessary, but we will discuss it.

25 THE COURT: Okay. Well, you all can discuss it, and

1 if you have an unopposed order, an agreed order, --

2 MR. DEMO: Uh-huh.

3 THE COURT: -- you can upload it and I'll sign it.

4 Otherwise, if you need hearing time on the 21st, --

5 MR. DEMO: Okay.

6 THE COURT: -- we'll get it all figured out then and

7 --

8 MR. DEMO: Okay. All right.

9 THE COURT: -- resolve it then.

10 MR. DEMO: Thank you, Your Honor. And then I guess
11 the other motion is the CRO retention. This one should 12 hopefully be pretty brief. We are just filing a new proposed
13 order that attaches the engagement letter, as has been
14 modified by all of the settlement discussions. I believe the 15 Committee is on board with that, and it's consistent. It was 16 one of the attachments that you approved this morning in
17 connection with the settlement.

18 THE COURT: All right. Comments on that?

19 A VOICE: None, Your Honor.

20 THE COURT: Committee, you're good?

21 MS. LAMBERT: The U.S. Trustee had also objected to
22 the CRO motion, but it's some of the same issues that the 23 Committee raised. And the CRO, my understanding, is now not
24 an employee of the board but totally overseen by the board,
25 and with that, we can withdraw our objection.

1 THE COURT: All right. Very good. I'll sign your
2 order on the CRO, then.

3 MR. DEMO: Okay. Thank you, Your Honor.

4 THE COURT: All right. Well, if there's nothing
5 else, I'll be on the lookout for your orders. And, again, if
6 you could coordinate with Traci to make sure she's clear on
7 everything you need set on the 21st.

8 MR. POMERANTZ: Thank you very much, Your Honor.

9 THE COURT: All right.

10 MR. CLEMENTE: Thank you, Your Honor.

11 MR. DEMO: Thank you, Your Honor.

12 THE CLERK: All rise.

(“Appellants”) hereby designate the following items to be included in the record and identify the following issues with respect to their appeal of the Order Denying Motion for Modification of Order Authorizing Retention of James P. Seery, Jr., which was entered by the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas on June 30, 2021.

I. STATEMENT OF ISSUES TO BE PRESENTED ON APPEAL

1. Did the bankruptcy court err in refusing to modify its order extending quasi-judicial immunity to a debtor’s chief executive officer?

2. Did the bankruptcy court err in refusing to modify its order asserting exclusive gatekeeping and adjudicatory authority over certain accrued and unaccrued causes of action against the debtor’s chief executive officer?
3. Did the bankruptcy court err in treating its order approving appointment of the debtor’s chief executive officer as final rather than interlocutory and therefore subject to the requirements of Rule 60(b)? Did appellants satisfy Rule 60(b) in any event?

II. DESIGNATION OF ITEMS TO BE INCLUDED IN THE RECORD

CLERK, U.S. BANKRUPTCY COURT
NORTHERN DISTRICT OF TEXAS

ENTERED

THE DATE OF ENTRY IS ON THE COURT'S DOCKET

The following constitutes the ruling of the court and has the force and effect therein described.

Signed June 27, 2021

United States Bankruptcy Judge

IN THE UNITED STATES BANKRUPTCY COURT
FOR THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF TEXAS
DALLAS DIVISION

IN RE: §
§
Highland Capital Management, L.P. § CASE NO. 19-34054-SGJ-11
§
Debtor §

ORDER REQUIRING POST-HEARING SUBMISSIONS

The court held a hearing in the above-referenced bankruptcy case on June 25, 2021 on CLO Holdco and The Charitable DAF Funds' Motion for Modification of Order Authorizing Retention of James P. Seery Due to Lack of Subject Matter Jurisdiction [DE # 2248] (the "Motion"). At the hearing, the court raised questions about jury trial rights argued to exist by CLO Holdco and The Charitable DAF (the "Movants") with regard to causes of action they seek to maintain against the Debtor and Mr. Seery in Case No. 3:21-cv-00842-B before the United States District Court for the Northern District of Texas. After closing of the evidence, the Debtor offered a document, entitled Second Amended and Restated Investment Advisory Agreement, that the Debtor represented applied to the parties and negated the Movants' jury trial rights. The Movants objected to the admission of the document. The court sustained the Movants' objection to admission (given the lateness of the offer of evidence) and determined that the document would not be relevant to its ruling on the Motion before the court anyway.

However, the court had concerns regarding the Movants' statements regarding the applicability of jury trial rights with regard to causes of action they are pursuing against the Debtor and Mr. Seery. Accordingly, the court, based on those concerns about representations and omissions on the issue, ORDERS as follows:

(1) The Debtor shall immediately file with the court the Second Amended and Restated Investment Advisory Agreement that governed the relationship among Movants and the Debtor;

(2) within 10 days of the Debtor filing the agreement, the Movants shall address, through filing a pleading with this court, their position regarding the application of the Second Amended and Restated Investment Advisory Agreement to the alleged jury trial rights of the Movants in Case No. 3:21-cv-00842-B before the United States District Court for the Northern District of Texas; and

(3) the Debtor, within 7 days of the Movants filing its pleading, shall file a reply to the Movants pleading; and

(4) the court reserves the right to hold a status conference to further address these issues.

Subject to Section 7, the Investment Advisor shall act as investment advisor to the Fund, the General Partner with respect to the Fund and its subsidiaries and shall provide investment advice with respect to the investment and reinvestment of the cash, Financial Instruments and other properties comprising the assets and liabilities of the Fund and its subsidiaries.

2. Custody. The Financial Instruments shall be held in the custody of Jefferies & Company, Inc. or one or more banks selected by the General Partner (each such bank, a “Custodian”). The General Partner will notify the Investment Advisor promptly of the proposed selection of any other Custodians. The Custodian shall at all times be responsible for the physical custody of the Financial Instruments; for the collection of interest, dividends, and other income attributable to the Financial Instruments; and for the exercise of rights and tenders on the Financial Instruments after consultation with and as then directed by the General Partner. At no time shall the Investment Advisor have possession of or maintain custody over any of the Financial Instruments. The Investment Advisor shall not be responsible for any loss incurred by reason of any act or omission of the Custodian.

3. Authority of the Investment Advisor. Subject to Section 7 of this Agreement, the Investment Advisor shall advise the General Partner on behalf of the Fund and/or its subsidiaries with respect to:

(a) investing, directly or indirectly, on margin or otherwise, in all types of securities and other financial instruments of United States and non-U.S. entities, including, without limitation, capital stock; all manner of equity securities (whether registered or unregistered, traded or privately offered, American Depository Receipts, common or preferred); physical commodities; shares of beneficial interest; partnership interests, limited liability company interests and similar financial instruments; secured and unsecured debt (both corporate and sovereign, bank debt, vendor claims and/or other contractual claims); bonds, notes and debentures (whether subordinated, convertible or otherwise); currencies; interest rate, currency, equity and other derivative products, including, without limitation, (i) future contracts (and options thereon) relating to stock indices, currencies, United States Government securities, securities of non-U.S. governments, other financial instruments and all other commodities, (ii) swaps and contracts for difference, options, swaptions, rights, warrants, when-issued securities, caps, collars, floors, forward rate agreements, and repurchase and reverse repurchase agreements and other cash equivalents, (iii) spot and forward currency transactions and (iv) agreements relating to or securing such transactions; leases, including, without limitation, equipment lease certificates; equipment trust certificates; mortgage-backed securities and other similar instruments (including, without limitation, fixed-rate, pass-throughs, adjustable rate mortgages, collateralized mortgage obligations, stripped mortgage-backed securities and REMICs); loans; credit paper; accounts and notes receivable and payable held by trade or other creditors; trade acceptances and claims; contract and other claims; executory contracts; participations; mutual funds, exchange traded funds and similar financial instruments; money market funds and instruments; obligations of the United States, any state thereof, non-U.S. governments and instrumentalities of any of them; commercial paper; certificates of deposit; bankers' acceptances; trust receipts; letters of credit; choses in action; puts; calls; other obligations and instruments or evidences of indebtedness of whatever kind or nature; and real estate and any kind of interests in real estate; in each case, of any person, corporation, government or other entity whatsoever, whether or not publicly traded or readily marketable (each of such items, "Financial Instruments"), and the sale of Financial Instruments short and covering such sales.

(b) engaging in such other lawful Financial Instruments transactions;

(c) research and analysis;

(d) purchasing Financial Instruments and holding them for investment;

(e) entering into contracts for or in connection with investments in Financial Instruments;

(f) investing in other pooled investment vehicles, which investments shall be subject in each case to the terms and conditions of the respective governing document for each such vehicle;

(g) possessing, transferring, mortgaging, pledging or otherwise dealing in, and exercising all rights, powers, privileges and other incidents of ownership or possession with respect to Financial Instruments and other property and funds held or owned by the Fund and/or its subsidiaries;

(h) lending, either with or without security, any Financial Instruments, funds or other properties of the Funds, including by entering into reverse repurchase agreements, and, from time to time, undertaking leverage on behalf of the Fund;

(i) opening, maintaining and closing accounts, including margin and custodial accounts, with brokers and dealers, including brokers and dealers located outside the United States;

(j) opening, maintaining and closing accounts, including custodial accounts, with banks, including banks located outside the United States, and drawing checks or other orders for the payment of monies;

(k) combining purchase or sale orders on behalf of the Fund with orders for other accounts to which the Investment Advisor or any of its affiliates provides investment services (“Other Accounts”) and allocating the Financial Instruments or other assets so purchased or sold, on an average-price basis or in any other manner deemed fair and equitable to the Investment Advisor in its sole discretion, among such accounts;

(l) entering into arrangements with brokers to open “average price” accounts wherein orders placed during a trading day are placed on behalf of the Fund and Other Accounts and are allocated among such accounts using an average price;

(m) organizing one or more corporations and other entities formed to hold record title, as nominee for the Fund and/or its subsidiaries (whether alone or together with the Other Accounts), to Financial Instruments or funds of the Fund and/or its subsidiaries;

(n) causing the Fund and/or its subsidiaries to engage in (i) agency, agency cross, related party principal transactions with affiliates of the Investment Manager and (ii) cross transactions with Other Accounts, in each case, to the extent permitted by applicable laws;

(o) engaging personnel, whether part-time or full-time, and attorneys, independent accountants or such other persons (including, without limitation, finders, consultants and investment bankers); and

(p) voting of Financial Instruments, participation in arrangements with creditors, the institution and settlement or compromise of suits and administrative proceedings and other like or similar matters.

4. Policies of the Fund. The activities engaged in by the Investment Advisor on behalf of the Fund and/or its subsidiaries shall be subject to the policies and control of the General Partner.

The Investment Advisor shall submit such periodic reports to the General Partner regarding the Investment Advisor's activities hereunder as the General Partner may reasonably request and a representative of the Investment Advisor shall be available to meet with the General Partner and/or any other representative of the Fund or its subsidiaries as reasonably requested by the General Partner.

In furtherance of the foregoing, the General Partner hereby appoints the Investment Advisor as the Fund's attorney-in-fact, with full power of authority to act in the Fund's name and on its behalf with respect to the Fund, as follows:

(a) to purchase or otherwise trade in Financial Instruments that have been approved by the General Partner;

(b) to execute and combine purchase or sale orders on behalf of the Fund with orders for Other Accounts and allocate the Financial Instruments or other assets so purchased or sold, on an average-price basis or in any other manner deemed fair and equitable to the Investment Advisor in its sole discretion, among such accounts; provided, however, that such purchase or sale orders shall be market rates;

(c) to direct the Custodian to deliver funds or the Financial Instruments, but only in the course of effecting trading and investment transactions for the Fund and subject to such restrictions as may be contained in the custody agreement between the Custodian and the Fund;

(d) to enter into contracts, provide certifications or take any other actions necessary to effect any of the foregoing transactions; and

(e) to select brokers on the basis of best execution and in consideration of relevant factors, including, but not limited to, price quotes; the size of the transaction; the nature of the market for the security; the timing of the transaction; the difficulty of execution; the broker-dealer's expertise in the relevant market or sector; the extent to which the broker-dealer makes market in the security or has an access to such market; the broker-dealer's skill in positioning the relevant market; the broker-dealer's facilities, reliability, promptness and financial stability; the broker-dealer's reputation for diligence and integrity (including in correcting errors); confidentiality considerations; the quality and usefulness of research services and investment ideas presented by the broker-dealer; and other factors deemed appropriate by the Investment Advisor.

5. Valuation of Financial Instruments. Financial Instruments will be valued in accordance with the then current valuation policy of the Investment Advisor, a copy of which will be provided to the General Partner upon request.

6. Status of the Investment Advisor. The Investment Advisor shall, for all purposes, be an independent contractor and not an employee of the General Partner or the Fund or its subsidiaries, nor shall anything herein be construed as making the Fund or its subsidiaries or the General Partner, a partner, member or co-venturer with the Investment Advisor or any of its affiliates or clients. The Investment Advisor shall have no authority to act for, represent, bind or obligate the Fund or its subsidiaries or the General Partner except as specifically provided herein.

7. Investments. ALL ULTIMATE INVESTMENT DECISIONS WITH RESPECT TO THE FUND AND ITS SUBSIDIARIES SHALL AT ALL TIMES REST SOLELY WITH THE GENERAL PARTNER AND/OR THE OFFICERS/DIRECTORS OF THE APPLICABLE SUBSIDIARY, IT BEING EXPRESSLY UNDERSTOOD THAT THE GENERAL PARTNER AND/OR THE OFFICERS/DIRECTORS OF THE APPLICABLE SUBSIDIARY SHALL BE FREE TO ACCEPT AND OR REJECT ANY OF THE ADVICE RENDERED BY THE INVESTMENT MANAGER HEREUNDER FOR ANY REASON OR FOR NO REASON.

8. Reimbursement by the General Partner. The Investment Advisor may retain, in connection with its responsibilities hereunder, the services of others to assist in the investment advice to be given to the General Partner with respect to the Fund and/or its subsidiaries (any such appointee, a “Sub-Advisor”), including, but not limited to, any affiliate of the Investment Advisor, but payment for any such services shall be assumed by the Investment Advisor, and, therefore, neither the General Partner nor the Fund or any of its subsidiaries shall have any liability therefor; provided, however, that the Investment Advisor, in its sole discretion, may retain the services of independent third party professionals, including, without limitation, attorneys, accountants and consultants, to advise and assist it in connection with the performance of its activities on behalf of the General Partner with respect to the Fund and/or its subsidiaries hereunder, and the Fund shall bear full responsibility therefor and the expense of any fees and disbursements arising therefrom.

9. Expenses.

(a) The Fund shall pay or reimburse the Investment Advisor and its affiliates for all expenses related to the services hereunder, including, but not limited to, investment-related expenses, brokerage commissions and other transaction costs, expenses related to clearing and settlement charges, professional fees relating to legal, auditing or valuation services, any governmental, regulatory, licensing, filing or registration fees incurred in compliance with the rules of any self-regulatory organization or any federal, state or local laws, research-related expenses (including, without limitation, news and quotation equipment and services, investment and trading-related software, including, without limitation, trade order management software (i.e., software used to route trade orders)), accounting (including accounting software), tax preparation expenses, costs and expenses associated with reporting and providing information to the Fund, any taxes imposed upon the Fund (including, but not limited to, collateralized debt obligations managed by the Investment Advisor or its affiliates), fees relating to valuing the Financial Instruments, and extraordinary expenses. In no event shall any of the foregoing costs or expenses include any salaries, occupational expense or general overhead of the Investment Advisor. For the avoidance of doubt, (i) the cost of all third party expenses incurred in connection with this Agreement shall not exceed standard market rates (which may include standard soft dollar arrangements) and (ii) to the extent any of the foregoing expenses were incurred on behalf of, or benefit of a number of Investment Advisor’s advised accounts, such expenses shall be allocated pro rata among such accounts.

(b) To the extent that expenses to be borne by the Fund are paid by the Investment Advisor or by any Sub-Advisor, the Fund shall reimburse the Investment Advisor (or Sub-Advisors, as applicable) for such expenses so long as such expenses are at market rates.

10. Fees.

(a) The Fund shall pay the Investment Advisor a quarterly fee (the “Management Fee”) equal to 2.0% per annum (0.5% per quarter) of the Net Assets (as defined below) of the Fund, payable in advance at and calculated as of the first business day of each calendar quarter. For purposes of calculating the Management Fee, the Net Assets of the Fund will be determined before giving effect to any of the following amounts payable by the Fund generally or in respect of any Investment which are effective as of the date on which such determination is made: (i) any fee payable to the Investment Advisor as of the date on which such determination is made; (ii) any capital withdrawals or distributions payable by the Fund which are effective as of the date on which such determination is made; and (iii) withholding or other taxes, expenses of processing withdrawals and other items payable, any increases or decreases in any reserves, holdback or other amounts specially allocated ending as of the date on which such determination is made. The Management Fee shall be prorated for partial periods and any applicable excess fees should be returned to the Fund by the Investment Advisor. Capital contributions made to the Fund after the commencement of a calendar quarter shall be subject to a prorated Management Fee based on the number of days remaining during such quarter.

(b) Subject to clauses (c) and (d) below, at the end of each Calculation Period (as defined below), an amount equal to 20% of the net capital appreciation of the Fund’s Investments (as defined below) after deducting the Management Fee shall be paid to the Investment Advisor (the “Performance Fee”); provided, however, that the net capital appreciation upon which the calculation of the Performance is based shall be reduced to the extent of any unrecovered balance remaining in the Loss Recovery Account (as defined below) maintained on the books and records of the Fund. The amount of the unrecovered balance remaining in the Loss Recovery Account at the time of calculating the Performance Fee shall be the amount existing immediately prior to its reduction pursuant to the second clause of the second sentence of clause (c) below.

(c) There shall be established on the books of the Fund a memorandum account (the “Loss Recovery Account”), the opening balance of which shall be zero. At the end of each Calculation Period, the balance in the Loss Recovery Account shall be adjusted as follows: first, if there has been, in the aggregate, net capital depreciation of the Fund’s Investments (as adjusted pursuant to the last sentence of this paragraph) since the end of the immediately preceding Calculation Period (or with respect to the initial Calculation Period, since the Effective Date), an amount equal to such net capital depreciation shall be credited to the Loss Recovery Account, and, second, if there has been, in the aggregate, net capital appreciation of the Fund’s investments (as adjusted pursuant to the last sentence of this paragraph) since the end of the immediately preceding Calculation Period, an amount equal to such net capital appreciation, before taking into account any Performance Fee to be paid to the Investment Advisor, shall be debited to and reduce any unrecovered balance in the Loss Recovery Account, but not below zero. Solely for purposes of this paragraph, in determining the Loss Recovery Account, net capital appreciation and net capital depreciation for any applicable Calculation Period shall be calculated by taking into account the amount of the Management Fee paid for such period.

(d) In the event that all or a portion of the Fund's capital is distributed or withdrawn while there exists an unrecovered balance in the Loss Recovery Account, the unrecovered balance in the Loss Recovery Account shall be reduced as of the beginning of the next Calculation Period by an amount equal to the product obtained by multiplying the balance in such Loss Recovery Account by a fraction, the numerator of which is the amount distributed or withdrawn with respect to the immediately preceding distribution or withdrawal date, and the denominator of which is the total fair value of the Fund's Investment immediately prior to such distribution or withdrawal.

(e) For purposes of this Section 10, the net capital appreciation and net capital depreciation of the Fund's Investments for any given period will be calculation in accordance with the then current valuation policy of the Investment Advisor, a copy of which will be provided upon the General Partner's request. As soon as reasonably practicable following the end of a Calculation Period, the Investment Advisor shall deliver, or cause to be delivered, to the General Partner a statement showing the calculation of the Performance Fee, if any, with respect to such Calculation Period. The Performance Fee, if any, shall be payable within three (3) business days of the General Partner's receipt of such statement.

(f) Payments due to the Investment Advisor shall be made by wire transfer to:

Bank Name: Compass Bank
ABA#: 113010547
FBO: Highland Capital Management, L.P. (Master Operating Account)
Acct#: 0025876342

(g) For purposes of this Section 10, the following terms have the definitions set forth below:

"Calculation Period" means the period commencing on the Effective Date (in the case of the initial Calculation Period) and thereafter each period commencing as of the day following the last day of the preceding Calculation Period, and ending as of the close of business on the first to occur of the following: (i) the last day of a calendar year; (ii) the distribution or withdrawal of capital of the Fund (but only with respect to such distributed or withdrawn amount); (iii) the permitted transfer of all or any portion of a partner's interest in the Fund; and (iv) the final capital distribution of the Fund following its dissolution;

"Investments" means all investments, securities, cash, receivables, financial instruments, contracts and other assets, whether tangible or intangible, owned by the Fund;

“Net Assets” means, with respect to the Fund as of any date, the excess of the total fair value of all Investments over the total liabilities, debts and obligations of the Fund, in each case, calculated on an accrual basis in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States and the then current valuation policy of the Service Provider, a copy of which will be provided to the General Partner upon request; and

“Services Agreement” means that certain Second Amended and Restated Service Agreement, dated effective as of the Effective Date, by and among the Parties, as amended, restated, modified and supplemented from time to time.

11. Exculpation; Indemnification.

(a) Whether or not herein expressly so provided, every provision of this Agreement relating to the conduct or affecting the liability of or affording protection to the Investment Advisor, its members or any of their respective affiliates and their respective partners, members, officers, directors, employees, shareholders and agents (including parties acting as agents for the execution of transactions) (each, a “Covered Person” and collectively, “Covered Persons”) shall be subject to the provisions of this Section.

(b) To the fullest extent permitted by law, no Covered Person shall be liable to the General Partner or the Fund or any of its subsidiaries or anyone for any reason whatsoever (including but not limited to (i) any act or omission by any Covered Person in connection with the conduct of the business of the General Partner or the Fund, that is determined by such Covered Person in good faith to be in or not opposed to the best interests of the General Partner or the Fund, (ii) any act or omission by any Covered Person based on the suggestions of any professional advisor of the General Partner or the Fund or any of its subsidiaries whom such Covered Person believes is authorized to make such suggestions on behalf of the General Partner or the Fund or any of its subsidiaries, (iii) any act or omission by the General Partner or the Fund or any of its subsidiaries, or (iv) any mistake, negligence, misconduct or bad faith of any broker or other agent of the General Partner or the Fund or any of its subsidiaries selected by Covered Person with reasonable care), unless any act or omission by such Covered Person constitutes willful misconduct or gross negligence by such Covered Person (as determined by a non-appealable judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction).

(c) Covered Persons may consult with legal counsel or accountants selected by such Covered Person and any act or omission by such Covered Person on behalf of the General Partner or the Fund or any of its subsidiaries or in furtherance of the business of the General Partner or the Fund or any of its subsidiaries in good faith in reliance on and in accordance with the advice of such counsel or accountants shall be full justification for the act or omission, and such Covered Person shall be fully protected in so acting or omitting to act if the counsel or accountants were selected with reasonable care.

Party”), from and against any and all claims, liabilities, damages, losses, costs and expenses, including amounts paid in satisfaction of judgments, in compromises and settlements, as fines and penalties and legal or other costs and expenses of investigating or defending against any claim or alleged claim, of any nature whatsoever, known or unknown, liquidated or unliquidated, that are incurred by any Indemnified Party and arise out of or in connection with the business of the General Partner or the Fund or any of its subsidiaries, any investment made under or in connection with this Agreement, or the performance by the Indemnified Party of Covered Person’s responsibilities hereunder and against all taxes, charges, duties or levies incurred by such Covered Person or any Indemnified Party in connection with the General Partner or the Fund or any of its subsidiaries, provided that an Indemnified Party shall not be entitled to indemnification hereunder to the extent the Indemnified Party’s conduct constitutes willful misconduct or gross negligence (as determined by a non-appealable judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction). The termination of any proceeding by settlement, judgment, order or upon a plea of nolo contendere or its equivalent shall not, of itself, create a presumption that the Indemnified Party’s conduct constituted willful misconduct or gross negligence.

(e) Expenses incurred by an Indemnified Party in defense or settlement of any claim that shall be subject to a right of indemnification hereunder, shall be advanced by the General Partner prior to the final disposition thereof upon receipt of an undertaking by or on behalf of the Indemnified Party to repay the amount advanced to the extent that it shall be determined ultimately that the Indemnified Party is not entitled to be indemnified hereunder.

(f) The right of any Indemnified Party to the indemnification provided herein shall be cumulative of, and in addition to, any and all rights to which the Indemnified Party may otherwise be entitled by contract or as a matter of law or equity and shall be extended to the Indemnified Party’s successors, assigns and legal representatives.

(g) The provisions of this Section are expressly intended to confer benefits upon Covered Persons and such provisions shall remain operative and in full force and effect regardless of the expiration or any termination of this Agreement.

(h) In no event shall any Covered Person be liable for special, exemplary, punitive, indirect, or consequential loss, or damage of any kind whatsoever, including without limitation lost profits.

(i) No Covered Person shall be liable hereunder for any settlement of any action or claim effected without its written consent thereto.

(j) Pursuant to the exculpation and indemnification provisions described above, the Investment Advisor and each Indemnified Party will generally not be liable to the General Partner or the Fund for any act or omission (or alleged act or omission), absent bad faith, willful misconduct, fraud or gross negligence, and the General Partner and the Fund will generally be required to indemnify such persons against any Losses they may incur by reason of any act or omission (or alleged act or omission) related to the General Partner, the Fund or its subsidiaries, absent bad faith, willful misconduct, fraud or gross negligence. As a result of these provisions, the General Partner, the Fund and its subsidiaries, as applicable (not the Investment Advisor or any other Indemnified Party) will be responsible for any Losses resulting from trading errors and similar human errors, absent bad faith, willful misconduct, fraud or gross negligence or the ability to waive or limit such Losses under applicable law. Trading errors might include, for example, keystroke errors that occur when entering trades into an electronic trading system or typographical or drafting errors related to derivatives contracts or similar agreements. Given the volume of transactions executed by the Investment Advisor and its affiliates on behalf of the Fund and/or its subsidiaries, the General Partner acknowledges that trading errors (and similar errors) will occur and that the General Partner will be responsible for any resulting Losses, even if such Losses result from the negligence (but not gross negligence) of the Investment Advisor or its affiliates.

12. Activities of the Investment Advisor and Others. The Investment Advisor, and its affiliates may engage, simultaneously with their investment management activities on behalf of the Fund, in other businesses, and may render services similar to those described in this Agreement to other individuals, companies, trusts or persons, and shall not by reason of such engaging in other businesses or rendering of services for others be deemed to be acting in conflict with the interests of the Fund. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Investment Advisor and its affiliates shall devote as much time to provide advisory service to the General Partner with respect to the management of the Fund's assets as the Investment Advisor deems necessary and appropriate. In addition, the Investment Advisor or any of its affiliates, in their individual capacities, may engage in securities transactions which may be different than, and contrary to, the investment advice provided by the Investment Advisor to the General Partner with respect to the Fund. The Investment Advisor may give advice and recommend securities to, or buy securities for, accounts and other clients, which advice or securities may differ from advice given to, or securities recommended or bought for, the Fund, even though their investment objectives may be the same or similar. The Investment Advisor may recommend transactions in securities and other assets in which the Investment Advisor has an interest, including securities or other assets issued by affiliates of the Investment Manager. Each of the General Partner and the Fund acknowledges that it has received, reviewed and had an opportunity with respect to (a) a copy of Part 2 of the Investment Advisor's Form ADV, and (b) the supplemental disclosures attached hereto as Exhibit A, each of which further describes conflicts of interest relating to the Investment Advisor, its affiliates and their respective advised accounts.

13. Term. This Agreement shall remain in effect through an initial term concluding December 31, 2017 and shall be automatically extended for additional one-year terms thereafter, except that it may be terminated by the Investment Advisor, on the one hand, or by the General Partner and the Fund, on the other hand, upon at least 90 days' prior written notice to the General Partner or the Investment Advisor, as the case may be, prior to General Partner's fiscal year-end.

14. Miscellaneous.

(b) Entire Agreement. This Agreement contains all of the terms agreed upon or made by the parties relating to the subject matter of this Agreement, and supersedes all prior and contemporaneous agreements, negotiations, correspondence, undertakings and communications of the parties, oral or written, respecting such subject matter.

(c) Amendments and Waivers. No provision of this Agreement may be amended, modified, waived or discharged except as agreed to in writing by the parties. No amendment to this Agreement may be made without first obtaining the required approval from the Fund. The failure of a party to insist upon strict adherence to any term of this Agreement on any occasion shall not be considered a waiver thereof or deprive that party of the right thereafter to insist upon strict adherence to that term or any other term of this Agreement.

(d) Binding Effect; Assignment. This Agreement shall be binding upon and inure to the benefit of the General Partner, the Fund, the Investment Advisor, each Indemnified Party and their respective successors and permitted assigns. Any person that is not a signatory to this Agreement but is nevertheless conferred any rights or benefits hereunder (e.g., officers, partners and personnel of the Investment Advisor and others who are entitled to indemnification hereunder) shall be entitled to such rights and benefits as if such person were a signatory hereto, and the rights and benefits of such person hereunder may not be impaired without such person's express written consent. No party to this Agreement may assign (as such term is defined under the U.S. Investment Advisers Act of 1940, as amended) all or any portion of its rights, obligations or liabilities under this Agreement without the prior written consent of the other parties to this Agreement; provided; however, that the Investment Advisor may assign all or any portion of its rights, obligations and liabilities hereunder to any of its affiliates at its discretion.

(e) Governing Law. Notwithstanding the place where this Agreement may be executed by any of the parties thereto, the parties expressly agree that all terms and provisions hereof shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the State of Texas applicable to agreements made and to be performed in that State.

(f) Jurisdiction; Venue; Waiver of Jury Trial. The Parties hereby agree that any action, claim, litigation, or proceeding of any kind whatsoever against any other Party in any way arising from or relating to this Agreement and all contemplated transactions, including claims sounding in contract, equity, tort, fraud and statute (“Dispute”) shall be submitted exclusively to the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Texas or, if such court does not have subject matter jurisdiction, the courts of the State of Texas sitting in Dallas County, and any appellate court thereof (“Enforcement Court”). Each Party irrevocably and unconditionally submits to the exclusive personal and subject matter jurisdiction of the Enforcement Court for any Dispute and agrees to bring any Dispute only in the Enforcement Court. Each Party further agrees it shall not commence any Dispute in any forum, including administrative, arbitration, or litigation, other than the Enforcement Court. Each Party agrees that a final judgment in any such action, litigation, or proceeding is conclusive and may be enforced in other jurisdictions by suit on the judgment or in any other manner provided by law.

EACH PARTY IRREVOCABLY AND UNCONDITIONALLY WAIVES, TO THE FULLEST EXTENT PERMITTED BY APPLICABLE LAW, ANY RIGHT IT MAY HAVE TO A TRIAL BY JURY IN ANY LEGAL ACTION, PROCEEDING, CAUSE OF ACTION OR COUNTERCLAIM ARISING OUT OF OR RELATING TO THIS AGREEMENT, INCLUDING ANY EXHIBITS, SCHEDULES, AND APPENDICES ATTACHED TO THIS AGREEMENT, OR THE TRANSACTIONS CONTEMPLATED HEREBY. EACH PARTY CERTIFIES AND ACKNOWLEDGES THAT (A) NO REPRESENTATIVE OF THE OTHER PARTY HAS REPRESENTED, EXPRESSLY OR OTHERWISE, THAT THE OTHER PARTY WOULD NOT SEEK TO ENFORCE THE FOREGOING WAIVER IN THE EVENT OF A LEGAL ACTION, (B) IT HAS CONSIDERED THE IMPLICATIONS OF THIS WAIVER, (C) IT MAKES THIS WAIVER KNOWINGLY AND VOLUNTARILY, AND (D) IT HAS BEEN INDUCED TO ENTER INTO THIS AGREEMENT BY, AMONG OTHER THINGS, THE MUTUAL WAIVERS AND CERTIFICATIONS IN THIS SECTION.

Nothing in this Section 14(f) shall be construed to limit either party’s right to obtain equitable or injunctive relief in a court of competent jurisdiction in appropriate circumstances.

(g) Headings. The headings contained in this Agreement are intended solely for convenience and shall not affect the rights of the parties to this Agreement.

(h) Counterparts. This Agreement may be signed in any number of counterparts with the same effect as if the signatures to each counterpart were upon a single instrument, and all such counterparts together shall be deemed an original of this Agreement.

(i) Survival. The provisions of Sections 8, 9, 10, 11 and 14 hereof shall survive the termination of this Agreement.

(j) Pronouns. All pronouns shall be deemed to refer to the masculine, feminine, neuter, singular or plural as the identity of the person or persons’ firm or company may require in the context thereof.

(k) Arm's-Length Agreement. The General Partner and the Fund have approved this Agreement and reviewed the activities described in Section 12 and in the Investment Advisor's Form ADV and the risks related thereto.

EXHIBIT A

Supplemental Disclosures

Potential Conflicts of Interest

The scope of the activities of Highland Capital Management, L.P. (the “Investment Adviser”), its affiliates, and the funds and clients managed or advised by the Investment Adviser or any of its affiliates may give rise to conflicts of interest or other restrictions and/or limitations imposed on Charitable DAF Fund, L.P. and its subsidiaries (collectively, the “Fund”) in the future that cannot be foreseen or mitigated at this time. The following briefly summarizes some of these conflicts, but is not intended to be an exhaustive list of all such conflicts. Additional conflicts are described in the Investment Adviser’s Form ADV. You are urged to review the Investment Adviser’s Form ADV in its entirety prior to investing in the Fund.¹

Highland Group & Highland Accounts. None of the Investment Adviser, its affiliates and their respective officers, directors, shareholders, members, partners, personnel and employees (collectively, the “Highland Group”) is precluded from engaging in or owning an interest in other business ventures or investment activities of any kind, whether or not such ventures are competitive with the Fund. The Investment Adviser is permitted to manage other client accounts, and does manage other client accounts, some of which may have objectives similar or identical to those of the Fund, including other collective investment vehicles that may be managed by the Highland Group and in which the Investment Adviser or any of its affiliates may have an equity interest.

The Fund will be subject to a number of actual and potential conflicts of interest involving the Highland Group including, among other things, the fact that: (i) the Highland Group conducts substantial investment activities for accounts, funds, collateralized debt obligations and collateralized loan obligations that invest in leveraged loans (collectively, “CDOs”) and other vehicles managed by members of the Highland Group (collectively, “Highland Accounts”) in which the Fund has no interest; (ii) the Highland Group advises Highland Accounts, which utilize the same, similar or different methodologies as the Fund and may have financial incentives (including, without limitation, as it relates to the composition of investors in such funds and accounts or to the Highland Group’s compensation arrangements) to favor certain Highland Accounts over the Fund; (iii) the Highland Group may use the strategy described herein in certain Highland Accounts; (iv) the Investment Adviser may give advice and recommend securities to, or buy or sell securities for, the Fund, which advice or securities may differ from advice given to, or securities recommended or bought or sold for, Highland Accounts; (v) the Investment Adviser has the discretion, to the extent permitted under applicable law, to use its affiliates as service providers to the Fund and its portfolio investments; (vi) certain investors affiliated with the Highland Group may choose to personally invest only in certain funds advised by the Highland Group and the amounts invested by them in such funds is expected to vary significantly; (vii) the Highland Group and Highland Accounts may actively engage in transactions in the same securities sought by the

Fund and, therefore, may compete with the Fund for investment opportunities or may hold positions opposite to positions maintained by the Fund; (viii) the Fund may invest in CDOs and Highland Accounts managed by members of the Highland Group; and (ix) the Investment Adviser will devote to the Fund only as much time as the Investment Adviser deems necessary and appropriate to manage the Fund's business.

The Investment Adviser undertakes to resolve conflicts in a fair and equitable basis, which in some instances may mean a resolution that would not maximize the benefit to the Fund's investors.

Allocation of Trading Opportunities. It is the policy of the Investment Adviser to allocate investment opportunities fairly and equitably over time. This means that such opportunities will be allocated among those accounts for which participation in the respective opportunity is considered appropriate, taking into account, among other considerations: (i) fiduciary duties owed to the accounts; (ii) the primary mandate of the accounts; (iii) the capital available to the accounts; (iv) any restrictions on the accounts and the investment opportunity; (v) the sourcing of the investment, size of the investment and amount of follow-on available related to the investment; (vi) whether the risk-return profile of the proposed investment is consistent with the account's objectives and program, whether such objectives are considered in light of the specific investment under consideration or in the context of the portfolio's overall holdings; (vii) the potential for the proposed investment to create an imbalance in the account's portfolio (taking into account expected inflows and outflows of capital); (viii) liquidity requirements of the account; (ix) potentially adverse tax consequences; (x) regulatory and other restrictions that would or could limit an account's ability to participate in a proposed investment; and (xi) the need to re-size risk in the account's portfolio.

The Investment Adviser has the authority to allocate trades to multiple Highland Accounts on an average price basis or on another basis it deems fair and equitable. Similarly, if an order for any accounts cannot be fully allocated under prevailing market conditions, the Investment Adviser may allocate the trades among different accounts on a basis it considers fair and equitable over time. One or more of the foregoing considerations may (and are often expected to) result in allocations among the Fund and one or more Highland Accounts on other than a pari passu basis. The Investment Adviser will allocate investment opportunities across its accounts for which the opportunities are appropriate, consistent with (i) its internal conflict of interest and allocation policies and (ii) the requirements of the U.S. Investment Advisers Act of 1940, as amended. The Investment Adviser will seek to allocate investment opportunities among such entities in a manner that is fair and equitable over time and consistent with its allocation policy. However, there is no assurance that such investment opportunities will be allocated to the Fund fairly or equitably in the short-term or over time and there can be no assurance that the Fund will be able to participate in all investment opportunities that are suitable for it.

The Investment Adviser and/or its affiliates may open "average price" accounts with brokers. In an "average price" account, purchase and sale orders placed during a trading day for the Fund, the Highland Accounts or affiliates of the Investment Adviser are combined, and securities bought and sold pursuant to such orders are allocated among such accounts on an average price basis.

Highland Group Trading. As part of their regular business, the members of the Highland Group hold, purchase, sell, trade or take other related actions both for their respective accounts and for the accounts of their respective clients, on a principal or agency basis, with respect to loans, securities and other investments and financial instruments of all types. The members of the Highland Group also provide investment advisory services, among other services, and engage in private equity, real estate and capital markets oriented investment activities. The members of the Highland Group will not be restricted in their performance of any such services or in the types of debt or equity investments which they may make. The members of the Highland Group may have economic interests in or other relationships with obligors or issuers in whose obligations or securities or credit exposures the Fund may invest. In particular, such persons may make and/or hold an investment in an obligor's or issuer's securities that may be pari passu, senior or junior in ranking to an investment in such obligor's or issuer's securities made and/or held by the Fund or in which partners, security holders, members, officers, directors, agents, personnel or employees of such persons serve on boards of directors or otherwise have ongoing relationships. Each of such ownership and other relationships may result in securities laws restrictions on transactions in such securities by the Fund and otherwise create conflicts of interest for the Fund. In such instances, the members of the Highland Group may in their discretion make investment recommendations and decisions that may be the same as or different from those made with respect to the Fund's investments. In connection with any such activities described above, the members of the Highland Group may hold, purchase, sell, trade or take other related actions in securities or investments of a type that may be suitable to investments for the Fund. The members of the Highland Group will not be required to offer such securities or investments to the Fund or provide notice of such activities to the Fund. In addition, in managing the Fund's portfolio, the Investment Adviser may take into account its relationship or the relationships of its affiliates with obligors and their respective affiliates, which may create conflicts of interest. Furthermore, in connection with actions taken in the ordinary course of business of the Investment Adviser in accordance with its fiduciary duties to its other clients, the Investment Adviser may take, or be required to take, actions which adversely affect the interests of the Fund.

The Highland Group has invested and may continue to invest in investments that would also be appropriate for the Fund. Such investments may be different from those made by the Fund. The Highland Group does not have any duty, in making or maintaining such investments, to act in a way that is favorable to the Fund or to offer any such opportunity to the Fund, subject to the Investment Adviser's internal allocation policy. The investment policies, fee arrangements and other circumstances applicable to such other accounts and investments may vary from those applicable to the Fund and its investments. The Highland Group may also provide advisory or other services for a customary fee with respect to investments made or held by the Fund, and neither the Fund nor its investors shall have any right to such fees. The Highland Group may also have ongoing relationships with, render services to or engage in transactions with other clients who make investments of a similar nature to those of the Fund, and with companies whose securities or properties are acquired by the Fund.

As further described below, in connection with the foregoing activities the Highland Group may from time to time come into possession of material nonpublic information that limits the ability of the Investment Adviser to effect a transaction for the Fund, and the Fund's investments may be constrained as a consequence of the Investment Adviser's inability to use such information for advisory purposes or otherwise to effect transactions that otherwise may have been initiated on behalf of its clients, including the Fund.

Although the professional staff of the Investment Adviser will devote as much time to the Fund as the Investment Adviser deems appropriate to perform its duties in accordance with the Fund's advisory agreement and in accordance with reasonable commercial standards, the staff may have conflicts in allocating its time and services among the Fund and the Investment Adviser's other accounts.

Various Activities of the Investment Adviser and its Affiliates. The directors, officers, personnel, employees and agents of the Investment Adviser and its affiliates may, subject to applicable law, serve as directors (whether supervisory or managing), officers, personnel, employees, partners, agents, nominees or signatories or provide banking, agency, insurance and/or other services, and receive arm's length fees in connection with such services, for the Fund or its investments or other entities that operate in the same or a related line of business as the, for other clients managed by the Investment Adviser or its affiliates, or for any obligor or issuer in respect of the CDOs, and the Fund shall have no right to any such fees. In serving in these multiple capacities, they may have obligations to such other clients or investors in those entities, the fulfillment of which may not be in the best interests of the Fund. The Fund may compete with other Highland Accounts for capital and investment opportunities.

There is no limitation or restriction on the Investment Adviser or any of its affiliates with regard to acting as investment adviser or collateral manager (or in a similar role) to other parties or persons. This and other future activities of the Investment Adviser and/or its affiliates may give rise to additional conflicts of interest. Such conflicts may relate to obligations that the Investment Adviser's investment committee, the Investment Adviser or its affiliates have to other clients.

The Investment Adviser and its affiliates may participate in creditors or other committees with respect to the bankruptcy, restructuring or workout of an investment of the Fund or another account. In such circumstances, the Investment Adviser or its affiliates may take positions on behalf of themselves or another account that are adverse to the interests of the Fund.

The Investment Adviser and/or its affiliates may act as an underwriter, arranger or placement agent, or otherwise participate in the origination, structuring, negotiation, syndication or offering of CDOs, Highland Accounts and other investments purchased by the Fund. Such transactions shall be subject to fees that are intended to be no greater than arm's-length fees, and the Fund shall have no right to any such fees. There is no expectation for preferential access to transactions involving CDOs and Highland Accounts that are underwritten, originated, arranged or placed by the Investment Adviser and/or its affiliates and the Fund shall not have any right to any such fees.

Investments in Highland Accounts Managed by the Investment Manager or its Affiliates. The Fund may invest a significant portion of its capital in Highland Accounts. The Investment Adviser or its affiliates will receive senior and subordinated management fees and, in some cases, a performance-based allocation or fee with respect to its role as general partner and/or manager of the Highland Accounts. If the Fund invests in Highland Accounts in secondary transactions, the Fund will indirectly pay the fees (senior and subordinated) of such Highland Accounts and any carried interest. If the Fund provides all of the equity for a Highland Account, there may be no third party with whom the amount of such fees, expenses and carried interest can be negotiated on an arm's-length basis. The Investment Adviser or its affiliates will have conflicting division of loyalties and responsibilities regarding the Fund and a Highland Account, and certain other conflicts of interest would be inherent in the situation. There can be no assurance that the interests of the Fund would not be subordinated to those of a Highland Account or to other interests of the Investment Adviser.

Multiple Levels of Fees. The Investment Adviser and the Highland Accounts are expected to impose management fees, other administrative fees, carried interest and other performance allocations on realized and unrealized appreciation in the value of the assets managed and other income. This may result in greater expense than if investors in the Fund were able to invest directly in the Highland Accounts or their respective underlying investments. Investors in the Fund should take into account that the return on their investment will be reduced to the extent of both levels of fees. The general partner or manager of a Highland Account may receive the economic benefit of certain fees from its portfolio companies for services and in connection with unconsummated transactions (e.g., break-up, placement, monitoring, directors', organizational and set-up fees and financial advisory fees).

Cross Transactions and Principal Transactions. The Investment Adviser may effect client cross-transactions where the Investment Adviser causes a transaction to be effected between the Fund and another client advised by it or any of its affiliates. The Investment Adviser may engage in a client cross-transaction involving the Fund any time that the Investment Adviser believes such transaction to be fair to the Fund and such other client.

The Investment Adviser may effect principal transactions where the Fund acquires securities from or sells securities to the Investment Adviser and/or its affiliates, in each case in accordance with applicable law, which will include the Investment Adviser obtaining independent consent on behalf of the Fund prior to engaging in any such principal transaction between the Fund and the Investment Adviser or its affiliates.

The Investment Adviser may advise the Fund to acquire or dispose of securities in cross trades between the Fund and other clients of the Investment Adviser or its affiliates in accordance with applicable legal and regulatory requirements. In addition, the Fund may invest in securities of obligors or issuers in which the Investment Adviser and/or its affiliates have a debt, equity or participation interest, and the holding and sale of such investments by the Fund may enhance the profitability of the Investment Adviser's own investments in such companies. Moreover, the Fund may invest in assets originated by the Investment Adviser or its affiliates. In each such case, the Investment Adviser and such affiliates may have a potentially conflicting division of loyalties and responsibilities regarding the Fund and the other parties to such trade. Under certain circumstances, the Investment Adviser and its affiliates may determine that it is appropriate to avoid such conflicts by selling a security at a fair value that has been calculated pursuant to the Investment Adviser's valuation procedures to another client managed or advised by the Investment Adviser or such affiliates. In addition, the Investment Adviser may enter into agency cross-transactions where it or any of its affiliates acts as broker for the Fund and for the other party to the transaction, to the extent permitted under applicable law. The Investment Adviser may obtain independent consent in writing on behalf of the Fund, which consent may be provided by the managing member of the General Partner or any other independent party on behalf of the Fund, if any such transaction requires the consent of the Fund under Section 206(3) of the U.S. Investment Advisers Act of 1940, as amended.

Material Non-Public Information. There are generally no ethical screens or information barriers among the Investment Adviser and certain of its affiliates of the type that many firms implement to separate persons who make investment decisions from others who might possess material, non-public information that could influence such decisions. If the Investment Adviser, any of its personnel or its affiliates were to receive material non-public information about a particular obligor or issuer, or have an interest in causing the Fund to acquire a particular security, the Investment Adviser may be prevented from advising the Fund to purchase or sell such asset due to internal restrictions imposed on the Investment Adviser. Notwithstanding the maintenance of certain internal controls relating to the management of material nonpublic information, it is possible that such controls could fail and result in the Investment Adviser, or one of its investment professionals, buying or selling an asset while, at least constructively, in possession of material non-public information. Inadvertent trading on material nonpublic information could have adverse effects on the Investment Adviser's reputation, result in the imposition of regulatory or financial sanctions, and as a consequence, negatively impact the Investment Adviser's ability to perform its portfolio management services to the Fund. In addition, while the Investment Adviser and certain of its affiliates currently operate without information barriers on an integrated basis, such entities could be required by certain regulations, or decide that it is advisable, to establish information barriers. In such event, the Investment Adviser's ability to operate as an integrated platform could also be impaired, which would limit the Investment Adviser's access to personnel of its affiliates and potentially impair its ability to manage the Fund's investments.

Conflicts Relating to Equity and Debt Ownership by the Fund and Affiliates. In certain circumstances, the Fund and other client accounts may invest in securities or other instruments of the same issuer (or affiliated group of issuers) having a different seniority in the issuer's capital structure. If the issuer becomes insolvent, restructures or suffers financial distress, there may be a conflict between the interests in the Fund and those other accounts insofar as the issuer may be unable (or in the case of a restructuring prior to bankruptcy may be expected to be unable) to satisfy the claims of all classes of its creditors and security holders and the Fund and such other accounts may have competing claims for the remaining assets of such issuers. Under these circumstances it may not be feasible for the Investment Adviser to reconcile the conflicting interests in the Fund and such other accounts in a way that protects the Fund's interests. Additionally, the Investment Adviser or its nominees may in the future hold board or creditors' committee memberships which may require them to vote or take other actions in such capacities that might be conflicting with respect to certain funds managed by the Investment Adviser in that such votes or actions may favor the interests of one account over another account. Furthermore, the Investment Adviser's fiduciary responsibilities in these capacities might conflict with the best interests of the investors.

or offset the Management Fee. Conflicts of interest may also arise due to the allocation of such fees to or among co-investors.

Soft Dollars. The Investment Adviser's authority to use "soft dollar" credits generated by the Fund's securities transactions to pay for expenses that might otherwise have been borne by the Investment Adviser may give the Investment Adviser an incentive to select brokers or dealers for transactions, or to negotiate commission rates or other execution terms, in a manner that takes into account the soft dollar benefits received by the Investment Adviser rather than giving exclusive consideration to the interests of the Fund.

PLAINTIFFS’ COURT-ORDERED POST-HEARING BRIEF REGARDING MOTION FOR MODIFICATION OF ORDER

The Charitable DAF Fund, L.P. and CLO Holdco, Ltd. (“Movants”) respectfully submit this Supplemental Brief as required by this Court’s Order Requiring Post-Hearing Submissions, dated June 28, 2021 [Doc. 2494], and would show the Court as follows:

A. THE SECOND AMENDED AND RESTATED ADVISORY AGREEMENT IS ONLY BETWEEN THE DAF AND HIGHLAND

After investigating, Movants agree that the Second Amended and Restated Investment Advisory Agreement (“Second Amended Agreement”), between The Charitable DAF Fund, L.P. (“Charitable DAF” or “DAF”) and the Debtor [Doc.# 2495] is an authentic document. It was executed by James Dondero and Grant Scott on June 21, 2017. And it was the last operative agreement between the Charitable DAF and the Debtor regarding the subject matter that it covers. Movant CLO Holdco, Ltd. (“CLO Holdco” or “Holdco”) did not execute any version of the Advisory Agreement and was not a party to it.

B. MOVANTS’ COUNSEL WAS UNAWARE OF THE SECOND AMENDED AGREEMENT DUE TO INADVERTENCE

In their district court complaint, Movants reference and rely on the Amended and Restated Investment Advisory Agreement from 2014 (“First Amended Agreement”). See Cause No. 3:21-cv-00842-B, Doc.# 1, ¶ 58 (“[Highland] and the DAF entered into an Amended and Restated Investment Advisory Agreement, executed between them on July 1, 2014[.]. It renews annually and continued until the end of January 2021.”). The Complaint was filed on April 12, 2021.

More than two months later, at the time of the June 25, 2021 hearing in this matter, no filing in this Court or the district court had alerted counsel that they were relying on a superseded version of the contract. See Declaration of J. Bridges (“Bridges Decl.”). ¶¶ 1-4. Movants’ counsel did not have the Second Amended Agreement in their file and were unaware that it existed until the hearing. See Bridges Decl. ¶¶ 13-18. This was a good faith mistake and was inadvertent. Id. at ¶ 17. This was also due to the fact that when counsel was retained by the DAF and Holdco, both the Charitable DAF and CLO Holdco had just transitioned control persons, and the back office—including the documents—were maintained by Highland under a shared services agreement. Id.

No issue related to the Second Amended Agreement was briefed by the parties or raised in advance of the June 25 hearing. At that hearing, the Court, sua sponte, asked whether any of the contracts between any of the parties contained jury waivers, and neither side’s counsel knew the answer immediately. See Bridges Decl., Exhibit 2, June 25, 2021 Hearing Tr. at 18.

During the June 25th hearing, the Court remarked about whether the existence of a jury waiver in the Second Amended Agreement meant the Motion for Modification was baseless and thus had wasted time. Movants respectfully submit that any time wasted as a result of the mistake was non-existent or de minimis, especially in light of Movants' proposal that their Motion be decided on the papers. See Exhibit 1, June 8, 2021 Hearing Tr. at 288. It was Debtor's counsel who objected and insisted on a full hearing in the first place, id., even when undersigned counsel became sick.

C. THE SECOND AMENDED AGREEMENT CHANGES NOTHING OF SUBSTANCE IN MOVANTS' ARGUMENT ON THE MOTION FOR MODIFICATION

This Court and the Debtor have identified the jury waiver in section 14(f) of the Second Amended Agreement as potentially undermining Movants' arguments at the June 25th hearing. Movants respectfully submit that this is not the case for a number of reasons.

First, during the June 25, 2021 hearing, Movants' counsel emphasized that Movants' jury rights were merely illustrative of the legal problems raised by the Court's exculpation language in its two Orders appointing Jim Seery. See Bridges Decl., Exhibit 2, June 25, 2021 Hearing Tr. at 12-13. The jury rights accompanying other claims, including claims that have not yet accrued, were also at issue in the Movants' Motion for Modification, precisely because the broader application to investors in Highland's managed funds—investors like CLO Holdco who did not have advisory agreements with Highland—was at issue.

Second, Highland has correctly noted that Movant CLO Holdco is neither a party to the Advisory Agreement, nor a "covered person" or "indemnified party" who is bound by it. In its Memorandum in Support of its Motion to Dismiss the Original Complaint under Rule 12(b)(6), Highland took the position that it owed no Advisers Act fiduciary duties, or any other duties either, directly to CLO Holdco. See Cause No. 3:21-cv-00842-B, Doc. 27, p. 22, ¶ 46 (“There is also no fiduciary duty owed to Plaintiff [CLO Holdco] as an investor in HCLOF. [CLO Holdco] does not have any investment advisory relationship with Defendant Debtor (or HCFA). Plaintiff CLOH is merely an investor in HCLOF and not an advisory client of Defendant Highland or HHCFA.”). Compare id. with Second Amended Agreement §§ 14. Thus, there is no basis to believe that Holdco has waived its jury right. We are surprised that the Debtor allowed the Court to believe otherwise given that they had, at the time, just asserted the foregoing argument. Nor can such a waiver be implied. The Fifth Circuit has recognized the “fundamental” role of juries, explaining that jury waivers are narrowly construed and that a court is to indulge “every reasonable presumption” against a finding of a waiver of one’s jury right. See Jennings v. McCormick, 154 F.3d 542, 545 (5th Cir. 1998) (quoting Aetna Ins. Co. v. Kennedy, 301 U.S. 389, 393, 81 L. Ed. 1177, 57 S. Ct. 809 (1937)). No authority Movants can find holds that a non-party’s jury rights can be waived by implication, much less by a contract that they did not sign or expressly agree to be bound by. Again, CLO Holdco’s claims arise independently by operation of law, as a result, in part, of its role as an investor in HCLOF.¹ On the other hand, HCLOF’s subscription and company agreements have no jury waiver. See Exhibits 3 and 4, HCLOF Subscription and Transfer Agreement and Members Agreement Relating to the Company (“Company Agreement”), respectively. Therefore, Holdco’s claims are still subject to a jury right.

Third, several key arguments raised in the Motion for Modification and during the hearing keyed into the Court’s exculpation of damages claims, such as negligence and breach of fiduciary duty. This Court’s gatekeeper provisions in the Seery Orders exculpate him from liability for negligence and fiduciary duties, as well as other duties under federal law “as a condition of employment.” Movants respectfully do not agree that the Court’s equitable jurisdiction enables it to relieve Mr. Seery of liability for damages, even if the Court’s equitable jurisdiction gives it some power to institute a gatekeeper provision (i.e., one that does not expressly exculpate and otherwise does not impinge on the District Court’s jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 157). Nothing Movants could find supports the proposition that a bankruptcy court’s equitable powers include the power to release future claims that have not accrued, which is itself a separate consideration from whether there is a jury right. and the purpose of the Motion was to challenge that. Bridges Decl. at ¶ 11. The Motion for Modification also questioned the Court’s jurisdiction to claim sole provenance to decide cases like the one between Holdco and the Debtor, given the mandatory withdrawal of the reference required under 28 U.S.C. § 157(d). Accordingly, the waiver of a jury right by the DAF against the Debtor would not have implicated the other core issues raised in the Motion for Modification.

Fourth, as to the Charitable DAF, to enforce the jury waiver in the agreement, the Debtor will have to prove that signatory Grant Scott’s agreement to a transaction with signatory James Dondero was knowing, voluntary, and intelligent. See RDO Fin. Servs. Co. v. Powell, 191 F. Supp. 2d 811, 813-14 (N.D. Tex. 2002) (“Although the right of trial by jury in civil actions is protected by the Seventh Amendment to the Constitution, that right, like other constitutional rights, may be waived by prior written agreement of the parties. However, that waiver must be made knowingly and voluntarily, and courts will indulge every reasonable presumption against a waiver of that right. The federal standard for determining the validity of a contractual waiver of the right to a jury trial is thus whether the waiver was made in a knowing, voluntary, and intelligent manner.”); Servicios Comerciales Lamosa, S.A. v. De La Rosa, 328 F.Supp. 3d 598, 619 (N.D. Tex. 2018)

(denying motion to strike jury demand due to lack of negotiation and unequal bargaining power in the agreement including the jury waiver, rendering it not knowing, voluntary, and intelligent); see also Jennings, 154 F.3d 545 (calling the jury-trial right too important “to find a knowing and voluntary relinquishment of the right in a doubtful situation,” deeming the right fundamental and requiring courts to “indulge every reasonable presumption against waiver,” noting the importance of the right in our nation’s history and jurisprudence as necessitating “that any seeming curtailment of the right to a jury trial should be scrutinized with the utmost care”). Debtor cannot meet its burden of proof in light of its firm, contrary position and factual representations to this Court regarding Scott’s lack of independence in his dealings with Dondero, and it is thus estopped from attempting to make the required showing in contradiction of those representations. The agreement carves out from its general exculpation clause any claims that the parties do not have the “ability to waive” any rights provided in connection with the Advisers Act. See Second Amended Agreement § 11(j). This is an explicit reference to the unwaivable fiduciary duties that arise by operation of law under the Advisers Act, for example which the agreement plainly cannot extinguish, and thus, undoes the jury waiver.

Fifth, the Second Amended Agreement requires Movants to file their action in the district court and prohibits filing it anywhere else. See Second Amended Agreement § 14(f) (“The Parties hereby agree that any action, claim, litigation, or proceeding of any kind whatsoever against any other Party in any way arising from or relating to this Agreement and all contemplated transactions, including claims sounding in contract, equity, tort, fraud and statute (“Dispute”) shall be submitted exclusively to the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Texas.”) (parens in original, bolding added). In combination with these contractual provisions, the gatekeeper order that is the subject of Movants’ Motion for Modification effectively precludes the Charitable DAF from bringing its action in any other jurisdiction. Therefore, not only does the Second Amended Agreement's jury waiver not undermine the core arguments raised in the Motion for Modification, its other provisions reinforce them.

In summary, Movants respectfully contend that the fact that the Charitable DAF may have waived a jury right to some of its claims against Highland, it changes nothing of the core bases for bringing the Motion for Modification.

D. THIS COURT LACKS JURISDICTION OVER ANY PROCEEDING REGARDING MOVANTS' SEVENTH AMENDMENT JURY RIGHTS UNDER 28 U.S.C. § 157(d)

To the extent that this Court intends to make any decision regarding Movants' right to a jury trial—which it has not been asked to do and need not do for the already denied Motion brought by Movants here—Movants respectfully move to withdraw the reference under 28 U.S.C. § 157(d) and (e). Deciding whether Movants have a right to a jury will require consideration of the Advisers Act, the RICO statute, and the Seventh Amendment, all of which are federal laws regulating and affecting interstate commerce or constitutional provisions.

And this Court cannot reach those issues here, in a proceeding under the Bankruptcy Code, without considering this Court's previous rulings, the laws that authorize them, and the provisions of 28 U.S.C. § 959(a). Accord Levine v. Blake (In re Blake), 400 B.R. 200, 206 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. 2008) (withdrawing the reference where Seventh Amendment jury trial at issue—stating that “no further ‘cause’ ... must be shown” because “[a] bankruptcy court may not conduct a jury trial without the consent of all parties.”).

1 THE COURT: I can potentially do something, you know,
2 10:00 o'clock Friday morning. Other than that, then you've
3 got to wait a while, because I have a seven-day trial, live
4 human beings in the courtroom starting next Monday. And so my
5 point is mainly to tell you, as much as I would like to rule
6 very, very fast, it's going to be, it looks like, a couple of 7 weeks or so before I can give you a ruling on this.

8 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor?

9 THE COURT: Yes?

10 MR. BRIDGES: May I? It's our motion. I would 11 propose, if counsel would agree, that we just submit it on the 12 papers.

13 THE COURT: Everybody good with that? I'm certainly
14 good with that.

15 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, I'd like there to be
16 argument. I have a lengthy argument. I think I'd like to 17 address a number of the things that -- Mr. Bridges made his 18 argument today. Okay?

19 THE COURT: Okay.

20 MR. POMERANTZ: His deck, it was entitled, Motion to 21 Modify.

22 THE COURT: Okay.

23 MR. POMERANTZ: So that's very nice of him, but I
24 would like to make my argument.

25 THE COURT: Okay. Let's try to nail this down right

1 now. Friday at 10:00 o'clock, can we do the oral argument
2 WebEx?

3 MR. POMERANTZ: On that one, yes, Your Honor.

4 THE COURT: On that one? Everybody good? Okay. So
5 we'll come back Friday, 10:00 o'clock, WebEx, for that motion.

6 You know, I'm going to say a couple of things where --
7 I've leaned toward thinking this is a pretty simple motion
8 before me, the motion for contempt, but when people offer into 9 evidence documents, I read your documents. Okay? That's my
10 duty. And so I have however many exhibits I admitted today
11 that I am going to look at and see how they sway me one way or 12 another on this issue. But I will tell you that my gut is 13 there has been contempt of court. Okay? I don't see anything
14 ambiguous at all about Paragraph 5 of my July 16th, 2020
15 order. Somebody may think I overreached, but if that was the 16 case, someone should have argued at the time I was
17 overreaching. Someone should have appealed the order. And I
18 think it's a Shoaf/Espinosa problem at this point for anyone
19 to argue about the enforceability of that order.

20 I think there's nothing ambiguous in the wording. Pursue
21 is not ambiguous. There's nothing confusing about the
22 requirement that any entity who wanted to sue or pursue a
23 claim, you know, commence claim, pursue a claim against Mr.
24 Seery, had to come to the Bankruptcy Court. Standard-fare
25 gatekeeping order.

1 THE COURT: I guess I'll see you Thursday on the
2 WebEx. Thank you.

3 THE CLERK: All rise.

1 that his advisor role obligated him to do as a manager of that
2 property?

3 The District Court suit really is only being used to
4 illustrate the issues that we're raising here. It's
5 important, it's timely to address those issues now because of
6 the District Court action, but that's an illustration of the 7 problems with the order. It is not exclusively that that
8 action is what we're attempting to address. Rather, the order
9 exculpating Mr. Seery from ordinary negligence liability and
10 similar liability is problematic, is contrary to the law. On 11 top of that, the Court is asserting jurisdiction over gross
12 negligence and intentional misconduct claims. To the extent
13 that 157(d) applies, it is problematic and contrary to law as
14 well.

15 THE COURT: Okay. We're occasionally getting some
16 breakup of your sound. So please -- I don't know what you can
17 do to adjust, but it was just now, and intermittently we get a
18 little bit of garbly. So if you could just say your last
19 sentence one more time, and we'll see if it improves.

20 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, I'm not sure I can say this
21 last sentence again.

22 THE COURT: Okay.

23 MR. BRIDGES: I was -- I was mentioning that the 24 District Court case is an illustration of our argument. Our
25 argument is not merely that the District Court case should be

1 exempted or excepted from the order. Our argument is that the
2 order is legally infirm and that the District Court case and
3 the claims there illustrate some of those infirmities, but
4 that the infirmities go beyond just what's at issue in the
5 District Court case.

6 In sum, there are four problems with the order that render
7 parts of it legally infirm. It deprives the right of a jury
8 trial -- in fact, of any trial -- in contravention of 959(a)
9 for some causes of action.

10 It asserts jurisdiction -- two, it asserts jurisdiction
11 over claims that are subject to the mandatory withdrawal of 12 the reference provision (garbled) 157(d).

13 And three, it lacks the specificity required to discharge
14 future claims under Applewood.

15 Finally, Your Honor, number four, the order relies on the 16 Barton doctrine, which doesn't apply and which 959(a) creates
17 an exception to.

18 Movants respectfully submit the order should be modified
19 for those reasons.

20 MR. SBAITI: Tell him Mark Patrick is here, for the 21 record.

22 THE COURT: All right. I have a couple of follow-up
23 questions for you. I want to drill down on the issue of your 24 client not having appealed the July 2020 order. Or the 25 HarbourVest settlement order, for that matter. Tell me as

1 Well, what my brain is thinking about here is, of the
2 umpteen agreements I've seen -- more than umpteen -- of the
3 many, many agreements I've seen over time in this case, so
4 often there's a waiver of jury trial rights, as I recall, as
5 well as an arbitration clause. I just was curious, hmm, you
6 know, you talked a lot about your clients' jury trial rights:
7 do we know that these agreements have not waived those?

8 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, I think I can answer that
9 by the end of our hearing. I don't have an answer off the top
10 of my head. What I can tell you is a jury right has been
11 demanded in the federal court complaint, which is in evidence,
12 and that opposing counsel has brought no evidence indicating 13 that they have the defense of our having waived the right to a
14 jury trial here.

15 THE COURT: Okay. Well, I just --

16 MR. BRIDGES: Or arbitra...

17 THE COURT: -- would think that you would know that.
18 Does anyone know that on the Debtor's side off the top of your
19 head?

20 MR. POMERANTZ: I do not, Your Honor.

21 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

22 MR. POMERANTZ: And to Mr. Bridges' last point, we
23 have filed a motion to dismiss. We have not answered the 24 complaint. So any time to object to their jury trial right
25 would be in the context of the answer. So the implication

1 right to a trial, a jury trial.

2 THE COURT: Well, you mentioned it again, jury trial
3 rights. Do you have any argument --

4 MR. BRIDGES: Yes, Your Honor.

5 THE COURT: -- of why that hasn't flown out the
6 window?

7 MR. BRIDGES: Yes, Your Honor. I am told that
8 Section 14(f) that counsel for the Debtor referred to is not a
9 waiver of jury rights at all. It is an arbitration agreement.
10 Your Honor is probably familiar how arbitration agreements
11 work, is that they need not be elected. They need not be
12 invoked by the parties. When they are, they create a
13 situation where arbitration may be required. But a waiver of 14 a jury right outside of arbitration is not part of this 15 arbitration clause, or of any. The issue is not briefed or in 16 evidence before the Court. We're relying on representations
17 of counsel as to what that provision contains. That Mr. Seery
18 wasn't even a party to that agreement, the advisory agreement,
19 with the Charitable DAF. The arbitration agreement is subject
20 to defenses that are not at issue here before the Court. That 21 Movants' rights, their contractual rights to invoke the
22 arbitration clause, also appear to be terminated by the 23 orders' assertion of sole jurisdiction in this matter.

24 Your Honor, yes, our jury rights survive Section 14(f) in 25 the advisory agreement with the DAF for all of those potential

1 reasons.

2 On top of that, it doesn't go to all of our causes of
3 action. It goes to the contract cause of action. And to the
4 extent they can argue that the other claims are subject to
5 arbitration, that also is a defense and -- defensible and
6 complex issue requiring the application of the Federal
7 Arbitration Act, requiring consideration of the Federal
8 Arbitration Act, which this Court doesn't have jurisdiction to 9 do under 157(d).

10 THE COURT: What? Repeat that.

11 MR. BRIDGES: Yes. This Court does not have
12 jurisdiction to determine whether or not arbitration --
13 arbitration is enforceable due to the mandatory withdrawal of 14 the reference provisions of 157(d).

15 THE COURT: That's just not consistent with Fifth
16 Circuit authority. National Gypsum. What are some of these
17 other arbitration cases? I've written an article on it. I
18 can't remember them. That's just not right. Bankruptcy
19 courts look at arbitration clauses all the time. Motions to 20 compel arbitration.

21 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, under 157(d), in the 22 circumstances of this case, if the Court is going to take into
23 consideration an arbitration clause under the Federal
24 Arbitration Act, when that clause is not in evidence and is
25 not before the Court, then Movants respectfully move to

1 hereby. Each party certifies and acknowledges that no
2 representative of the owner of the other party has represented
3 expressly or otherwise that the other party won't seek to
4 enforce the foregoing waiver in the event of a legal action.
5 It has considered the implications of this waiver, it makes
6 this waiver knowingly and voluntarily, and it has been induced
7 to enter into this agreement by, among other things, the
8 mutual waivers and certifications in this section.

9 Your Honor, I will forgive Mr. Bridges. I assume he just
10 did not read that. But to represent to the Court that that 11 language does not contain a jury trial waiver is -- is just 12 wrong.

13 THE COURT: All right. I'm going to stop right
14 there. And you were reading from the Second Amended and
15 Restated Shared Services Agreement between Highland --

16 MR. POMERANTZ: Not shared services. I'm reading
17 from the Second Amended and Restated Investment Advisory
18 Agreement --

19 THE COURT: Investment --

20 MR. POMERANTZ: -- between the Charitable DAF, the
21 Charitable DAF GP, and Highland Capital Management. The
22 agreement whereby the Debtor was the investment advisor to the
23 Charitable DAF Fund and the Charitable DAF GP.

24 THE COURT: All right. Well, Mr. Bridges, I'm going
25 to bounce quickly back to you. This is your chance to defend

1 your honor.

2 MR. BRIDGES: Yeah, we're -- we're looking at a
3 different agreement, where -- where literally the words that
4 were read to you are not in the agreement in front of us and
5 it is news to me. So, Your Honor, this is a problem --

6 THE COURT: What is the agreement you're looking at?

7 MR. BRIDGES: It is the Amended -- I assume that
8 means First Amended -- Restated Advisory Agreement.

9 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, we are happy to file this
10 agreement with the Court so the Court has the benefit of it in
11 connection with Your Honor's ruling.

12 THE COURT: Okay. I would like you to do that. Uh-
13 huh.

14 MR. BRIDGES: I'd like -- I'd like to request -- I'll 15 withdraw that.

16 THE COURT: Okay. Go on, Mr. Pomerantz.

17 MR. POMERANTZ: Mr. Bridges, if you could put us on 18 mute. If you could put us on mute, Mr. Bridges, so I don't
19 hear your feedback. Thank you.

20 Mr. Bridges also complains about the language "to the 21 extent permissible by law." As Your Honor knows and as has 22 been my practice over 30 years, that language is probably in 23 every plan where there's a retention of jurisdiction: to the 24 extent permissible by law. And Mr. Bridges says that this
25 will create ambiguity in the order that couldn't be enforced.

1 THE COURT: All right. Here's what we're going to
2 do. We've been going a very long time. I'm going to take a
3 break to look through these exhibits, see if there's anything
4 in there that I haven't looked at before and that might affect
5 the decision here. So we will come back at 3:00 o'clock
6 Central Time -- it's 2:22 right now -- and I will give you my
7 bench ruling on this. All right.

8 So, Mike, they can all stay on the line, right?

9 Okay. You can stay on, and we'll be back at 3:00 o'clock.

10 THE CLERK: All rise.

11 (A recess ensued from 2:22 p.m. to 3:04 p.m.)

12 THE CLERK: All rise.

13 THE COURT: All right. Please be seated. All right.
14 Everyone presented and accounted for. We're going back on the 15 record.

16 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, before you start, this is
17 Jeff Pomerantz. We had sent to your clerk, and hopefully it
18 got to you, a copy of the Second Amended and Restated
19 Investment Advisory Agreement. We also copied Mr. Sbaiti with 20 it as well. And we would also like to move that into 21 evidence, just so that it's part of the Court's record.

22 THE COURT: All right.

23 MR. BRIDGES: We would object to that, Your Honor.
24 We haven't had an opportunity to even verify its authenticity
25 yet.

1 annoyance or anything like that. I guess what I'm trying to
2 do is I don't want anyone to mistake the delay in ruling on
3 the contempt motion to mean I'm just not that -- you know, I'm
4 not prioritizing it, other things are more serious to me or
5 important to me, or I'm going to take two months to get to it.
6 It's literally been I've been in trial almost all day long
7 every day since you were here. But trust me, I'm about as
8 upset as upset can be about what I heard on June 8th, and I'm
9 going to get to that ruling, and I know what I'm going to do.
10 And, well, like I said, it's just a matter of figuring out
11 dollars and whom, okay? There's going to be contempt. I just 12 haven't put it on paper because I've been in court all day and
13 I haven't come up with a dollar figure. Okay?

14 So I hope -- I don't know if that matters very much, but 15 it should.

16 All right. We stand adjourned.

17 (Proceedings concluded at 3:35 p.m.)

3. I/We agree not to duplicate or to furnish particulars of the Offering Memorandum, or to divulge any of its contents, to any person other than our investment, legal or tax advisers (who may use the information contained in the Offering Memorandum solely for purposes relating to our investment in the Fund).
4. I/We hereby confirm that I/we shall be deemed to make, on a continuing basis, each of the statements contained herein unless I/we notify you to the contrary in relation to any Ordinary Shares I/we may hold or obtain at any time.
5. F. Anti-Money Laundering Declarations

12. I/We acknowledge that measures aimed at the prevention of money laundering may require verification of our identity, address and source of the assets. I/We acknowledge that Ordinary Shares will not be issued until such time as the Administrator has received and is satisfied with all the information and documentation requested to verify our identity, address and source of the Assets. I/We acknowledge that the Administrator shall be held harmless and indemnified against any loss arising as a result of a failure to process our application for Ordinary Shares if such information and documentation as has been requested by the Administrator has not been provided by us or has been provided in incomplete form.

I/We acknowledge that the Fund or the Administrator on its behalf also reserves the right to refuse to make any distribution to an Ordinary Shareholder if any of the Directors of the Fund or the Administrator suspects or is advised that the payment of any distribution monies to such Ordinary Shareholder might result in a breach or violation of any applicable anti-money laundering or other laws or regulations by any person in any relevant jurisdiction, or such refusal is considered necessary or appropriate to ensure the compliance by the Fund, its Directors or the Administrator with any such laws or regulations in any relevant jurisdiction.

I/We understand and agree that the Fund prohibits the investment of funds by any persons or entities that are acting, directly or indirectly, (i) in contravention of any applicable laws and regulations, including anti-money laundering regulations or conventions, (ii) on behalf of terrorists or terrorist organisations, including those persons or entities that are included on the List of Specially Designated Nationals and Blocked Persons maintained by the US Treasury Department's Office of Foreign Assets Control (“OFAC”), as such list may be amended from time to time, (iii) for a senior foreign political figure, any member of a senior foreign political figure's immediate family or any close associate of a senior foreign political figure, unless the Fund, after being specifically notified by us in writing that I/we are such a person, conducts further due diligence, and determines that such investment shall be permitted, or (iv) for a foreign shell bank (such persons or entities in (i) - (iv) are collectively referred to as “Prohibited Persons”).

I/We represent, warrant and covenant that: (i) I/we are not, nor is any person or entity controlling, controlled by or under common control with us, a Prohibited Person, and (ii) to the extent I/we have any beneficial owners, (a) I/we have carried out thorough due diligence to establish the identities of such beneficial owners, (b) based on such due diligence, I/we reasonably believe that no such beneficial owners are Prohibited Persons, and (c) I/we hold the evidence of such identities and status and will maintain all such evidence for the earlier of at least five years from the date of our complete exit from or termination of the Fund.

If any of the foregoing representations, warranties or covenants ceases to be true or if the Fund no longer reasonably believes that it has satisfactory evidence as to their truth, notwithstanding any other agreement to the contrary, the Fund may be obligated to freeze our investment, either by prohibiting additional investments, suspending any dividends and/or segregating the assets constituting the investment in accordance with applicable regulations, or our investment may immediately be redeemed by the Fund, and the Fund may also be required to report such action and to disclose our identity to OFAC or other authority. In the event that the Fund is required to take any of the foregoing actions, I/we understand and agree that I/we shall have no claim against the Fund, the Portfolio Manager, the Administrator, and their respective affiliates, directors, shareholders, officers, employees and agents for any form of damages as a result of any of the aforementioned actions.

I/We understand and agree that any dividends paid to us will be paid to the same account from which our investment in the Fund was originally remitted, unless the Fund, in its sole discretion, agrees otherwise.

I/We agree to indemnify and hold harmless the Fund, the Portfolio Manager, the Administrator, and their respective affiliates, directors, shareholders, officers, employees and agents from and against any and all losses, liabilities, damages, penalties, costs, fees and expenses (including legal fees and disbursements) which may result, directly or indirectly, from any inaccuracy in or breach of any representation, warranty, covenant or agreement contained herein or in any other document delivered by the undersigned to the Fund.

Neither the execution and delivery of this Subscription and Transfer Agreement nor the performance or consummation of the transactions contemplated hereby by the Fund will result in the creation of any lien upon any of the Shares.

4. ADVISORY BOARD.

- 4.1 Composition of Advisory Board. The Company shall establish an advisory board (the "Advisory Board") composed of two individuals, one of whom shall be a representative of CLO Holdco and one of whom shall be a representative of Dover IX (or, in each case, or any permitted successor to the interest in the Company of such Member). No voting member of the Advisory Board shall be a controlled Affiliate of the Portfolio Manager (including, for the avoidance of doubt, following a permitted transfer of CLO Holdco's interest to an Affiliate of the Portfolio Manager, if applicable), it being understood that for the purposes of this sentence none of CLO Holdco, its wholly-owned subsidiaries nor any of their respective directors or trustees shall be deemed to be a controlled Affiliate of the Portfolio Manager due to their pre-existing non-discretionary advisory relationship with the Portfolio Manager. None of the members of the Advisory Board shall receive any compensation (other than reimbursement for reasonable and documented out-of-pocket expenses) in connection with their position on the Advisory Board. The Company shall bear any fees, costs and expenses related to the Advisory Board.
- 4.2 Meetings of Advisory Board; Written Consents. The Advisory Board shall meet with the Portfolio Manager at such times as requested by the Portfolio Manager from time to time. The quorum for a meeting of the Advisory Board shall be all of its members entitled to vote. All actions taken by the Advisory Board shall be (i) by a unanimous vote of all of the members of the Advisory Board in attendance in a meeting at which a quorum is present and entitled to vote and not abstaining from voting or (ii) by a written consent in lieu of a meeting signed by all of the members of the Advisory Board entitled to consent and not abstaining from consenting. Meetings of the Advisory Board may be held in person, by telephone or by other electronic device.
- 4.3 Functions of Advisory Board. The Advisory Board shall provide (or determine not to provide) any consents or approvals expressly contemplated by this Agreement and the Offering Memorandum to be provided by the Advisory Board and, at the request of the Portfolio Manager in its sole discretion, provide general advice (which, for the avoidance of doubt, shall be non-binding) to the Portfolio Manager or the Company with regard to Company activities and operations and other matters. For the avoidance of doubt, no consent or approval of the Advisory Board shall be required for any action or determination expressly permitted or contemplated hereunder or in the Offering Memorandum and not conditioned on such a consent or approval. The Portfolio Manager shall not act contrary to the advice of the Advisory Board with respect to any action or determination expressly conditioned herein or in the Offering Memorandum on the consent or approval of the Advisory Board. Without limiting the foregoing, the Advisory Board shall be authorized to give any approval or consent required or deemed necessary or advisable under the Advisers Act on behalf of the Company and the Members, including under Section 206(3) of the Advisers Act. The Portfolio Manager may from time to time in its discretion request the Advisory Board to review and ratify certain Company matters. The consent of the Advisory Board shall be required to approve the following actions: (i) any extension of the Investment Period; (ii) any extension of the Term (other than an automatic extension following an extension of the Investment Period that has been approved by the Advisory Board); (iii) any allotment of additional equity securities by the Company; and (iv) any investment in a Related Obligation or any other transaction between the Company or any entity in which the Company holds a direct or indirect interest, on the one hand, and Highland or any of its Affiliates, on the other hand and (v) other matters as set forth in the Offering

Memorandum. Notwithstanding the foregoing or anything to the contrary set forth herein, no transaction that is specifically authorized in the governing documents of the Company shall require approval of the Advisory Board, including, without limitation, sales or securitizations of all or a portion of the Company's loan portfolio into new Qualifying CLOs (i.e. the transfer of warehoused assets into new Qualifying CLOs), investments in CLO Notes issued by CLOs managed by Highland Affiliates, and the NexBank Credit Facility and any Permitted NexBank Credit Facility Amendments, in each case as described in the Offering Memorandum. Any such approval, consent or ratification given by the Advisory Board shall be binding on the Company and the Members. Neither the Advisory Board nor any member thereof shall have the power to bind or act for or on behalf of the Company in any manner, and no shareholder who appoints a member of the Advisory Board shall be deemed to be an Affiliate of the Company or Highland solely by reason of such appointment.

- 4.4 Term of Members of Advisory Board. A member of the Advisory Board shall be deemed removed from the Advisory Board (i) if such member is no longer an officer, director, manager, trustee, employee, consultant or other representative of CLO Holdco or Dover IX, as applicable, or their respective Affiliates and shall be replaced as soon as practicable with a representative of CLO Holdco or Dover IX, or their respective Affiliates, as applicable, or (ii) if the Member represented by such member either becomes a Defaulting Member or such member ceases to be eligible to represent such Member pursuant to Clause 4.1.
- 4.5 No Duties to Other Members. No Advisory Board member who is the representative of any Member shall, to the extent permitted by law, owe a fiduciary duty to the Company or any other Member (other than the duty to act in good faith), and may, to the fullest extent permitted by law, in all instances act in such member's own interest and in the interest of the Member that appointed such member.

5. DEFAULTING MEMBERS

- 5.1 In the event any Member defaults in its obligation to pay the full amount of the purchase price of Shares called for settlement under the Subscription and Transfer Agreement on the applicable Settlement Date (such unpaid amount, an "Outstanding Settlement Amount"), the Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company, shall provide written or telephonic notice of such default to such Member. If such default is not cured within 5 business days after written (or if applicable telephonic or email) notice thereof given by the Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company, has been received by such Member, such Outstanding Settlement Amount shall automatically accrue interest on a retroactive basis from the date such Outstanding Settlement Amount was due at 12% (the "Default Interest Rate") (which interest, once paid, shall not be applied to the purchase of the unsettled Shares of such Member, but which will upon receipt be distributed pro rata to those Members who have funded any such Outstanding Settlement Amounts pursuant to this Clause 5). No such Shares which have failed to be settled will be issued to any Member until settlement of the full amount of the purchase price has been made. In addition, if such default is not cured within 10 business days after written or telephonic notice thereof given by the Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company, has been received by such Member (a "Defaulting Member"), the following provisions shall apply:
- 5.2 Whenever the vote or consent of the Defaulting Member would otherwise be required or permitted hereunder or under the Articles, the Defaulting Member shall not be entitled to participate in such vote or consent in respect of his existing shareholding and with respect to any representative of such Defaulting Member on the Advisory Board, and such vote or consent shall be calculated as if such Defaulting Member were not a Member and, as applicable, any representative of such Defaulting Member on the Advisory Board were not a member of the Advisory Board.
- 5.3 The Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company, may pursue and enforce all rights and remedies available, including the commencement of legal proceedings against the Defaulting Member to collect the Outstanding Settlement Amounts, together with interest thereon for the account of the Company from the date due at the Default Interest Rate, plus the costs and expenses of collection (including attorneys' fees and expenses).

- 5.4 The Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company, may (at the sole cost of the Defaulting Member) borrow funds from any person (other than the Defaulting Member or its Affiliates) to cover such shortfall and/or advance all or a portion of the Defaulting Member's Outstanding Settlement Amount to the Company on behalf of the Defaulting Member, and such advance shall be repaid by the Defaulting Member to the Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company, with interest for the account of the Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company, on the amount outstanding from time to time commencing on the date of the advance at the Default Interest Rate. To the extent the Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company, advances funds to the Company on behalf of a Defaulting Member, all distributions from the Company that would otherwise be made to the Defaulting Member shall be paid to the Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company, (with any such amounts being applied first against accrued but unpaid interest and then against principal), until all amounts payable by the Defaulting Member to the Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company, under this Clause 5.4 (including interest) have been paid in full.
- 5.5 The Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company, may elect, upon notice to the Defaulting Member, to redeem the Defaulting Member's shares in an amount equal to 50% of the outstanding amount existing as of the date of the default at a price of $0.0001 per Share. Thereupon, the commitment of the Defaulting Member under the Subscription and Transfer Agreement shall be zero, the Defaulting Member shall not be obligated to make any further settlements, the voting capital of such Defaulting Member and of each other Member shall be re-determined as of the date of such default to reflect the new commitment of the Defaulting Member, and the Portfolio Manager shall revise the books and records of the Company to reflect the reduction of the commitment of the Defaulting Member. The Members agree (x) that the damages suffered by the Company as the result of a failure by a Member to settle a commitment to purchase Shares that is required by this Agreement cannot be estimated with reasonable accuracy and (y) that the foregoing provisions of this Clause 5.5 shall act as liquidated damages for the default by the Defaulting Member (which each Member hereby agrees are reasonable).
- 5.6 The Board may offer to the non-Defaulting Members (pro rata in accordance with their respective Commitments) the option of purchasing the Defaulting Member's unsettled Shares on the terms set forth in the applicable Settlement Notice (as defined in the Subscription and Transfer Agreement).
- 5.7 At the election of the Board, distributions of dividends otherwise payable to the Defaulting Member under the Articles shall not be paid to the Defaulting Member, but instead shall be applied against the amount of the Outstanding Settlement Amount (plus interest at the Default Interest Rate and related costs); provided that any amounts so applied shall be deemed to have been distributed to the Defaulting Member under the Articles.
- 5.8 The Portfolio Manager may send an amended or new Settlement Notice to the Members other than the Defaulting Member in an amount equal to the Defaulting Member's Outstanding Settlement Amount and otherwise in accordance with the Subscription and Transfer Agreement.
- 5.9 Each Defaulting Member further appoints the Portfolio Manager as agent and attorney-in-fact for the Defaulting Member and hereby grants to the Portfolio Manager an irrevocable power of attorney to take all actions necessary on its behalf to sell, assign, or transfer the commitment to purchase unsettled Shares of such Defaulting Member pursuant to Clause 5.6 or as necessary on its behalf to effect the other remedies or rights set forth in this Clause 5; provided that the Portfolio Manager shall not bind any Defaulting Member to an indemnification or other similar obligation which guarantees the financial performance of the Company or which exceeds the ability of the Defaulting Member to provide indemnification under applicable law.

6. TRANSFERS OR DISPOSALS OF SHARES

- 6.1 No Member shall sell, pledge, charge, mortgage, assign, assign by way of security, transfer, convey, exchange or otherwise dispose of its Shares or its commitment to settle purchases of Shares under the Subscription and Transfer Agreement (each a "Transfer"), other than to an Affiliate of an initial Member party hereto, without the prior written consent of the Portfolio

Manager, which consent shall be in the sole discretion of the Portfolio Manager; provided that no such Transfer shall be made unless in the opinion of counsel reasonably satisfactory to the Portfolio Manager (who may be counsel for the Company, and which requirement for an opinion may be waived, in whole or in part, in the sole discretion of the Portfolio Manager) that:

- 6.1.1 such Transfer would not require registration under the Securities Act or any state securities or "Blue Sky" laws or other laws applicable to the Shares to be assigned or transferred and is conducted in conformance with the restrictions set forth in the Offering Memorandum;
 - 6.1.2 such Transfer would not be reasonably likely to cause the Company to be subject to tax in any jurisdiction other than of its incorporation on a net income basis, not be reasonably likely to cause the Company to become subject to registration as an investment company under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended;
 - 6.1.3 such Transfer would not cause the Company to be considered to be an entity whose underlying assets are considered to include "plan assets" by reason of investment by an "employee benefit plan" or "plan" in such entity pursuant to the U.S. Plan Assets Regulations; and
 - 6.1.4 such sale, assignment, disposition or transfer would not cause all or any portion of the assets of the Company to constitute "plan assets" under ERISA or the Code.
- 6.2 Prior to making any Transfer of Shares (other than Transfers to Affiliates of an initial Member or, in the case of CLO Holdco or a Highland Principal, to Highland, its Affiliates or another Highland Principal) a Member must first offer to the other Members a right to purchase the Shares, on a pro rata basis with respect to their current Shares, at the same price (which must be cash) as such Shares are proposed to be purchased by the prospective third party purchaser pursuant to an irrevocable offer letter. The other Members will have 30 days following receipt of the letter to determine whether to purchase their entire pro rata portion of the Shares proposed to be Transferred. If the other Members do not accept the offer, the Member may (subject to complying with the other Transfer restrictions in this Agreement) Transfer the applicable Shares that such Members have not elected to purchase to a third party at a price equal to or greater than the price described in the offer letter, provided that if the Member has not (a) entered into a definitive agreement to effect such sale within 90 days after the expiration of the period that the other Members have to accept the offer in the offer letter or (b) consummated the sale within 120 day after the entry into the definitive agreement to consummate the sale, it must comply with these right of first refusal procedures again. Any Member (other than the Member proposing to Transfer its Shares) may assign its right to purchase its pro rata portion of the Shares to any other Member (subject to complying with the other Transfer restrictions in this Agreement), any initial Member (other than the Member proposing to Transfer its Shares) may assign its right to purchase its pro rata portion of the Shares to an Affiliate (subject to complying with the other Transfer restrictions in this Agreement), and CLO Holdco and the Highland Principals (unless such Member is the Member proposing the Transfer its Shares) may assign its right to purchase its pro rata portion of the Shares to Highland, an Affiliate of Highland or other Highland Principals (subject to complying with the other Transfer restrictions in this Agreement).
- 6.3 No Highland Principal may transfer his or its interests in the Company other than (i) to a trust or other tax or estate planning vehicle or (ii) to the Portfolio Manager, its Affiliates or another Highland Principal upon the termination of such Highland Principal's (or the beneficial owner of such Highland Principal, if applicable) employment by Highland Capital Management, L.P.
- 6.4 Any transferor of any Share shall remain bound by the terms of this Agreement applicable to it prior to such transfer and that nothing in this Agreement shall constitute a waiver of any rights a Party to this Agreement may have by reason of a breach of this Agreement by a transferor prior to transfer. The transferor and/or the transferee shall bear all costs of any Transfer.
- 6.5 The Parties agree not to Transfer their Shares to any person unless such transferee agrees to be bound by the terms of this Agreement.
- 6.6 All Adherence Agreements executed pursuant to this Clause shall be executed by the transferee or allottee and each Party.

7. CONFIDENTIALITY

- 7.1 Each Party agrees to keep any information received by it pursuant to this Agreement or relating to the Business as confidential and not (save with the relevant Party's consent or as may be required by Law or the rules of any regulatory authority or any stock exchange) disclose to any person such information.
- 7.2 Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Parties agree that the HarbourVest Entities may disclose to their limited partners and prospective limited partners (including any agents of such limited partners or prospective limited partners), clients and applicable governmental agencies (a) the name and address of the Company, (b) the capital commitment and the remaining capital commitment, (c) the net asset value of such HarbourVest Entity's interest in the Company, (d) the amount of distributions that have been made to such HarbourVest Entity by the Company and the amount of contributions that have been made by such HarbourVest Entity to the Company, (e) such ratios and performance information calculated by such HarbourVest Entity using the information in clauses (a) through (d) above, including the ratio of net asset value plus distributions to contributions (i.e., the "multiple") and such HarbourVest Entity's internal rate of return with respect to its investment in the Company, and (f) tax information with respect to the Company.

8. DIVIDENDS

- 8.1 The Company agrees that it shall not, and the Portfolio Manager agrees it shall not cause the Company to, make any dividends except pursuant to the section titled "Summary—Dividend Policy" of the Offering Memorandum.

9. TERM OF THE COMPANY

- 9.1 Each Party agrees to cause the winding up and dissolution of the Company after the ten year anniversary of the date hereof (the "Term"); provided that the Portfolio Manager, in its reasonable discretion, may postpone dissolution of the Company for up to 180 days in order to facilitate orderly liquidation of the investments; provided, further, that the Term shall be automatically extended for any amount of time for which the Investment Period may be extended.
- 9.2 Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Term may be extended with the consent of the Portfolio Manager and the Advisory Board for up to two successive periods of one year each.

10. ERISA MATTERS

- 10.1 The Portfolio Manager, the Company and each Member shall use their reasonable best efforts to conduct the affairs and operations of the Company so as to limit investment in the Company by "benefit plan investors" (within the meaning of the DOL Regulations as modified by section 3(42) of ERISA) to less than the U.S. Plan Threshold. In the event the U.S. Plan Threshold is met or exceeded, the Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company, may require any Non-Qualified Holder that is a U.S. Plan Investor to sell or transfer their Shares to a person qualified to own the same that is not a U.S. Plan Investor within 30 days and within such 30 days and to provide the Company with satisfactory evidence of such sale or transfer such that such sale or transfer, together with other sale or transfers pursuant to this Clause, would result in the investment in the Company by "benefit plan investors" (within the meaning of the DOL Regulations as modified by section 3(42) of ERISA) to be less than the U.S. Plan Threshold. Where the conditions above are not satisfied within 30 days after the serving of the notice to transfer, such Non-Qualified Holder will be deemed, upon the expiration of such 30 days, to have forfeited their Shares.

11. TAX MATTERS

- 11.1 PFIC. For each fiscal year of the Company, the Company will no later than 120 days after the end of such fiscal year, commencing with the first fiscal year for which the Company is determined to be a PFIC (a "passive foreign investment company"), furnish to each of the 11.2 CFC. The Company shall furnish to each of the HarbourVest Entities within 120 days after the end of each fiscal year of the Company, a United States Internal Revenue Service Form 5471 for such fiscal year, completed for all information concerning the Company required to be filed by such HarbourVest Entity or any of its partners (i.e., all portions applicable to the relevant category of filer other than page 1 items A-D and page 2 Schedule B), to the extent such Form 5471 is required to be filed by such HarbourVest Entity or any of its partners; provided that if the Company is unable to furnish such final information within such 120 days, then the Company shall use its reasonable best efforts to furnish estimates of such information on or before the 120th day after the end of each fiscal year.

11.3 Other Tax Information. The Company shall furnish to each of the HarbourVest Entities (a) within 120 days after the end of each fiscal year of the Company such other information reasonably requested by the HarbourVest Entities that any HarbourVest Entity may require in order for it or any of its partners to comply with its U.S. federal income tax reporting obligations with respect to its interest in the Company; provided that if the Company is unable to furnish such final information within such 120 days, then the Company shall use its reasonable best efforts to furnish estimates of such information on or before the 120th day after the end of such fiscal year and (b) promptly upon request such other information reasonably requested by such HarbourVest Entity in order to withhold tax or to file tax returns and reports or to furnish tax information to any of its partners with respect to the Company.

11.4 Withholding and Other Taxes. The Company will use reasonable best efforts to acquire investments that will not result in withholding or other taxes being imposed directly or indirectly on the Company by any jurisdiction with respect to income or distributions from such investments.

12. AMENDMENTS TO CERTAIN AGREEMENTS

12.1 The Portfolio Manager and the Company shall not amend or terminate, or agree to amend or terminate, the Memorandum or Articles of Incorporation of the Company or that certain Portfolio Management Agreement between the Portfolio Manager and the Company dated as of the date hereof (the "Management Agreement") without the consent of the Parties.

12.2 The Portfolio Manager agrees that it shall not assign its rights, duties and obligations under the Management Agreement without the consent of the Members totalling in the aggregate more than seventy-five percent (75%) of the Company. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Portfolio Manager may, without the consent of the Members, assign any of its rights or obligations under the Management Agreement to an Affiliate; provided that such Affiliate (A) has demonstrated ability, whether as an entity or by its personnel, to professionally and competently perform duties similar to those imposed upon the Portfolio Manager pursuant to the Management Agreement, (B) has the legal right and capacity to act as Portfolio Manager thereunder and (C) shall not cause the Company or the pool of collateral to become required to register under the provisions of the Investment Company Act and such action does not cause the company to be subject to tax in any jurisdiction outside of its jurisdiction of incorporation.

12.3 The Company agrees that it shall not hire any portfolio manager without the consent of the Parties and such new portfolio manager shall be required to join and abide by this Agreement.

13. FINANCIAL REPORTS

13.1 The books and records of account of the Company shall be audited as of the end of each fiscal year of the Company by a nationally recognized independent public accounting firm selected by the Portfolio Manager that is registered with, and subject to regular inspection as of the commencement of the professional engagement period, and as of each calendar year-end, by, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board in accordance with its rules. During the Term, the Portfolio Manager or the Company shall prepare and mail, deliver by fax, email or other electronic means or otherwise make available a financial report (audited in the case of a report sent as of the end of a fiscal year and unaudited in the case of a report sent as of the end of a quarter) to each Member on or before the 120th day after the end of each fiscal year and the 45th day after the end of each of the first three quarters of each fiscal year, setting forth for such fiscal year or quarter (a) the assets and liabilities of the Company as of the end of such fiscal year or quarter; (b) the net profit or net loss of the Company for such fiscal year or quarter; and (c) such Member's closing capital account balance as of the end of such fiscal year or quarter; provided that if the Portfolio Manager or the Company is unable to furnish final information with respect to any of the above, then the Portfolio Manager or the Company shall use its reasonable best efforts to furnish estimates of such information on or before the 120th day after the end of each fiscal year and the 45th day after the end of the first three quarters of each fiscal year. On or before the 60th day after the end of each fiscal year, the Portfolio Manager or the Company shall provide to each Member an unaudited draft of the financial report for such fiscal year.

- 13.2 After the end of each fiscal year or quarter, the Portfolio Manager or the Company shall cause to be delivered to the Advisory Board a reasonably detailed summary of the expenses incurred by the Company during such period.

14. TERMINATION AND LIQUIDATION

- 14.1 Save as provided for in Clause 13.2, this Agreement shall terminate:

- 14.1.1 when one Party holds all the Shares;
- 14.1.2 when a resolution is passed by the Company's Members or creditors, or an order made by a court or other competent body or person instituting a process that shall lead to the Company being wound up and its assets being distributed among the Company's creditors, Members or other contributors; or
- 14.1.3 with the written consent of all the Parties.

- 14.2 The following provisions of this Agreement remain in full force after termination: Clause 1 (Interpretation), Clause 7 (Confidentiality), this Clause, Clause 14 (Whole Agreement), Clause 16 (Assignments), Clause 17 (Variation and Waiver), Clause 18 (Service of Notice), Clause 19 (General) and Clause 21 (Governing Law and Jurisdiction).

- 14.4 Where the Company is to be wound up and its assets distributed, the Parties shall agree a suitable basis for dealing with the interests and assets of the Company and shall endeavour to ensure that:

- 14.4.1 all existing contracts of the Company are performed to the extent that there are sufficient resources;
- 14.4.2 the Company shall not enter into any new contractual obligations;

- 16.2 If any provision in the memorandum of incorporation of the Company or the Articles conflicts with any provision of this Agreement, the provisions of this Agreement shall prevail as between the Parties. Each of the Parties shall, to the extent that it is able to do so, exercise its voting rights and other powers in relation to the Company to procure the modification of the memorandum of association of the Company or the Articles (as the case may be) in order to eliminate the conflict, but this Agreement shall not itself constitute a modification of the memorandum of association of the Company or the Articles.

17. ASSIGNMENTS

Save as expressly permitted by this Agreement, no person may assign, or grant any security interest over, any of its rights under this Agreement or any document referred to in it without the prior written consent of the Parties.

18. VARIATION AND WAIVER

- 18.1 A variation of this Agreement shall be in writing and signed by or on behalf of the Parties.
- 18.2 A waiver of any right under this Agreement is only effective if it is in writing and it applies only to the person to which the waiver is addressed and the circumstances for which it is given.
- 18.3 A person that waives a right in relation to one person, or takes or fails to take any action against that person, does not affect its rights against any other person.

Counsel for the Debtor and Debtor-in-Possession

IN THE UNITED STATES BANKRUPTCY COURT
FOR THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF TEXAS
DALLAS DIVISION

In re:)	Chapter 11
HIGHLAND CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, L.P., ¹)	Case No. 19-34054-sgj11
Debtor.)	Re: Docket Nos. 2534

DEBTOR'S REPLY TO PLAINTIFFS' POST-HEARING BRIEF REGARDING MOTION FOR MODIFICATION OF ORDER

¹ The Debtor's last four digits of its taxpayer identification number are (6725). The headquarters and service address for the above-captioned Debtor is 300 Crescent Court, Suite 700, Dallas, TX 75201.

The above-captioned debtor and debtor-in-possession (the “Debtor”) hereby submits this reply (the “Reply”) in response to Plaintiffs’ Court-Ordered Post-Hearing Brief Regarding Motion for Modification of Order [Docket No. 2534] (the “Plaintiffs’ Brief”). In support of the Reply, the Debtor respectfully states as follows:

PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

1. On April 27, 2021, Plaintiffs filed their Notice of Motion for Modification of Order Authorizing Retention of James P. Seery, Jr., Due to Lack of Subject Matter Jurisdiction [Docket No. 2248] (the “Motion”). After a full day hearing, this Court denied the Motion on June 30, 2021 [Docket No. 2506] (the “Reconsideration Order”).

2. On June 28, 2021, the Court issued an Order Requiring Post-Hearing Submissions [Docket No. 2494] (the “Order”) pursuant to which Plaintiffs were directed to address “their position regarding to the application of the Second Amended and Restated Investment Advisory Agreement to the alleged jury trial rights of the Movants in Case No. 3:21-cv-00842B before the United States District Court for the Northern District of Texas.” Order ¶ 2.

3. Rather than follow the Order and address the narrow issue presented, Plaintiffs seek to deflect blame for their own error, minimize the importance of the jury waiver provisions in the applicable agreement, and re-argue the Motion even though the Court has already entered the Reconsideration Order.²

4. The Debtor replies briefly to address certain mischaracterizations and to otherwise correct the record.

REPLY

A. The Second Amended and Restated Advisory Agreement Is Binding Yet Plaintiffs’

² Not surprisingly, Plaintiffs have appealed the Reconsideration Order [Docket No. 2513]. This brings the total number of appeals from this Court’s rulings filed by Mr. Dondero and his related entities to seven.

Counsel Relied on an Outdated Agreement in the Complaint They Filed

5. The Debtor appreciates the Plaintiffs’ concession that the Second Amended and Restated Investment Advisory Agreement, effective from January 1, 2017, between the Debtor on the one hand and The Charitable DAF Fund, L.P. (“Charitable DAF”) and Charitable DAF GP, LLC on the other hand (the “Second Amended Agreement”), is a valid and authentic agreement “regarding the subject matter that it covers.” Plaintiffs’ Brief at 1-2.

6. Among the subject matter covered in the Second Amended Agreement is a clear and unambiguous waiver of any right to a trial by a jury:

EACH PARTY IRREVOCABLY AND UNCONDITIONALLY WAIVES, TO THE FULLEST EXTENT PERMITTED BY APPLICABLE LAW, ANY RIGHT IT MAY HAVE TO A TRIAL BY JURY IN ANY LEGAL ACTION, PROCEEDING, CAUSE OF ACTION OR COUNTERCLAIM ARISING OUT OF OR RELATING TO THIS AGREEMENT, INCLUDING ANY EXHIBITS, SCHEDULES, AND APPENDICIES ATTACHED TO THIS AGREEMENT, OR THE TRANSACTIONS CONTEMPLATED HEREBY. EACH PARTY CERTIFIES AND ACKNOWLEDGES THAT (A) NO REPRESENTATIVE OF THE OTHER PARTY HAS REPRESENTED, EXPRESSLY OR OTEHRWISE, THAT THE OTHER PARTY WOULD NOT SEEK TO ENFORCE THE FOREGOING WAIVER IN THE EVENT OF A LEGAL ACTION, (B) IT AS CONSIDERED THE IMPLICATIONS OF THIS WAIVER, (C) IT MAKES THIS WAIVER KNOWINGLY AND VOLUNTARILY, AND (D) IT HAS BEEN INDUCED TO ENTER INTO THIS AGREEMENT BY, AMONG OTHER THINGS, THE MUTUAL WAIVERS AND CERTIFICATIONS IN THIS SECTION.

Docket No. 2495, Ex. A ¶14(f) (emphasis in original).

7. Confronted with this clear and convincing waiver, Plaintiffs were forced to admit that their hastily-filed district court complaint erroneously relied on an earlier version of the parties’ agreement – one that allegedly did not contain a jury trial waiver. According to Plaintiffs, however, because no one “had alerted counsel that they were relying on a superseded version of the contract,” and counsel “did not have the Second Amended Agreement in their file,” they chalked it up to a “good faith mistake” and asserted it was “inadvertent.” Plaintiffs’ Brief at 2.

8. Respectfully, lawyers have an obligation to conduct basic due diligence before filing pleadings rather than relying on their adversaries to confirm that they got it right. Indeed, Plaintiffs’ reliance on the wrong agreement here is but the latest in a series of errors which they attempt to dismiss or minimize.³

9. In fact, Plaintiffs’ counsel’s attempt to blame Debtor’s counsel for their failure is misplaced for a several reasons. First, Plaintiffs’ counsel raised the issue of a jury trial for the first time at the June 25 hearing, so Debtor’s counsel had no reason to focus on it until then. Second, as of June 25, the Debtor had not responded to the Plaintiffs’ underlying district court complaint and had no obligation to correct Plaintiffs’ counsel’s mistake. Third, while Plaintiffs’ counsel proposed that the Motion be decided “on the papers,” that was only after they spent more than an hour presenting their argument in support of their Motion during opening arguments on the Contempt Motion – even though the Court directed that those arguments be held after the Contempt Motion was fully litigated.⁴

10. Plaintiffs’ counsel reliance on the wrong document appears to have had a strategic purpose since they emphasized it. They should have simply accepted responsibility rather than minimizing the issue and deflecting blame to others. Their mistake matters.

B. Significance of the Jury Trial Waiver; Plaintiffs’ Citation to the Wrong Agreement

11. Plaintiffs make five arguments in support of their contention that the Second

³ As the Court will recall, Plaintiffs’ counsel (a) failed to note on the Civil Cover Sheet filed at the commencement of the district court action that a related case (the above-referenced bankruptcy case) was pending; (b) failed to mention 11 U.S.C. §1334 as a jurisdictional predicate for the district court action, and (c) were forced to “non-suit” yet another action they commenced against the Debtor, that one on behalf of the Dugaboy Investment Trust (“Dugaboy”) because they claimed to be unaware that Dugaboy had filed a proof of claim against the Debtor for the same claims. The Dugaboy Investment Trust v. Highland Capital Management L.P., Case No. 3:21-cv-01479-S (N.D. Tex.) [Docket No. 5]. For the record, Plaintiffs’ Civil Cover Sheet is still inaccurate as it fails to reference the pending appeal – in the United States District Court for the Northern District of Texas – of the Debtor’s settlement with HarbourVest, which settlement is the foundation for Plaintiffs’ claims.

⁴ That is precisely why the Debtor “objected” to Plaintiffs’ attempt to have the Motion for Modification heard “on the papers.” Plaintiffs’ Brief at 3.

Amended Agreement “changes nothing in substance in Movants’ argument on the Motion for Modification.” Plaintiffs’ Brief at 3-7. Plaintiffs’ arguments are unavailing.

12. First, Plaintiffs assert that “Movants’ jury rights were merely illustrative of the legal problems raised by the Court’s exculpation language.” Id. at 3. But this back-tracking is merely an acknowledgment of the weakness of the argument in light of, among other things, the express jury waiver in the Second Amended Agreement.

13. Second, Plaintiffs claim that CLO Holdco is not a party to the Second Amended Agreement and there is no implied waiver. They also contend that “CLO Holdco’s claims arise independently by operation of law, as a result, in part, of its role as an investor in HCLOF,” an entity whose Subscription and Company Agreement contain no jury waiver. Plaintiffs’ Brief at 4. But Plaintiffs err again.

14. Assuming for the sake of argument only that there is no “implied waiver,” HCLOF is managed by HCF Advisors, Ltd (“HCFA”), a subsidiary of the Debtor, pursuant to a Portfolio Management Agreement, effective from November 15, 2017, and that agreement contains an express jury trial waiver. Exhibit A §14(e)(iii). Since HCFA’s and the Debtor’s fiduciary duties run to HCLOF and not CLO Holdco,⁵ there is no jury trial right for any claims that could conceivably be asserted by CLO Holdco against HCFA and the Debtor. Plaintiffs’ failure to alert the Court to yet another relevant agreement is either intentionally misleading or is another careless mistake. Either way it is unacceptable.

15. Third, Plaintiffs improperly attempt to re-litigate the Motion, repeating their arguments that the Court lacked jurisdiction to grant Mr. Seery exculpation and to adopt the gatekeeper provision. Plaintiffs' Brief at 4-5. Not only is this not responsive to the question presented, it simply is wrong because – as has been discussed and debated in connection with the Motion – bankruptcy courts routinely grant such protections.

16. Fourth, Plaintiffs – apparently without irony – attempt to suggest that Grant Scott, then the authorized representative of the Charitable DAF, lacked independence when he agreed to the jury trial waiver. This suggestion contradicts every argument made by the Charitable DAF in this bankruptcy case and is nonsensical in the context of a jury trial waiver written in bold, capitalized letters that applies equally to both parties.

17. Plaintiffs also argue that (a) section 11(j) of the Second Amended Agreement describes the exculpation clause and contains an “explicit reference to the unwaivable fiduciary duties that arise by operation of law under the Advisers Act” and that (b) somehow the jury trial waiver cannot apply to such claims. Plaintiffs' Brief at 6. But section 11(j) contains no such “explicit reference,” and even if it did, it only means that those claims are retained, not that they are an exception to the express and unqualified jury trial waiver.⁶ Indeed, a waiver of jury rights necessarily applies to retained claims; otherwise, the jury waiver would have no meaning. Thus, even if Plaintiffs retained claims under the Advisers Act (which they could not, since they were owed not fiduciary duty and no private right of action exists under the Advisers Act), the jury trial waiver still applies.

18. Finally, Plaintiffs argue that they were contractually obligated to bring their suit in the district court as it was identified as the exclusive forum for commencing an action under the Second Amended Agreement. Plaintiffs' Brief at 6. But, as Plaintiffs themselves have noted, the bankruptcy court's jurisdiction is derivative of the district court's such that filing an action in the bankruptcy court related to the bankruptcy would not have been a violation of the contract. Regardless, this has nothing to do with the jury trial waiver.

⁶ The applicable portion of section 11(j) states that as a result of the exculpation granted to the Debtor and each Indemnified Party, the Charitable DAF “will be responsible for any Losses resulting from trading errors or similar human errors absent bad faith, willful misconduct, fraud or gross negligence or the ability to waive or limit such Losses under applicable law.” Contrary to Plaintiffs' argument, there is no mention (explicit or otherwise) of “fiduciary duties” or the Advisers Act.

19. Separately, Plaintiffs "move to withdraw the reference" to the "extent this Court intends to make any decision regarding Movants' right to a jury trial." Plaintiffs' Brief at 7. This is improper for at least two reasons. First, the Court made clear that it was not relying on the jury trial waiver to decide the Motion; rather, it was only seeking an explanation for how Plaintiffs could have advanced arguments that were demonstratively false. In response, Plaintiffs' counsel admitted to their error (and should have left it at that). Second, the "motion" is plainly improper – if Plaintiffs want to withdraw the reference, they must file an actual motion on proper notice. Having failed to do so, the Court should ignore the request.⁷

⁷ On May 19, 2021, the Debtor filed Defendant Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Motion for an Order to Enforce the Order of Reference, Cause No. 3:21-cv-00842-B, Docket No. 22 (N.D. Tex. May 19, 2021) (the "Motion to Enforce") requesting that the District Court refer the Complaint to this Court (where it likely would have automatically been referred had Plaintiffs correctly completed their Civil Cover Sheet). The Motion to Enforce is sub judice. If and when the District Court grants the Motion, the Plaintiffs will have the opportunity to request a withdrawal of the reference. The Debtor reserves all rights to oppose any such motion at the appropriate time.

Proceedings recorded by electronic sound recording;
transcript produced by transcription service.

1 provision that's at issue here. We submit that change is an
2 admission or at least a strong indication that the unmodified
3 order, at least as applied in some instances, contains
4 legally-impermissible provisions. The entire argument today
5 from our side is about what's not legally permissible in that
6 order.

7 And that starts with our concerns regarding the 8 application of 28 U.S.C. § 959(a). As Your Honor knows well, 9 959(a) is a provision of law that the Fifth Circuit and 10 Collier on Bankruptcy call an exception to the Barton
11 doctrine. I know from the last time we were here that the 12 Court is already aware of what 959(a) says. It's the second 13 sentence, I understand, which the Court pointed to in our 14 previous hearing that creates general equity powers or 15 authorizes the Court to use its general equity powers to 16 exercise some jurisdiction, some control over actions that 17 fall within the first sentence of 959(a). But that second
18 sentence also prohibits explicitly the Court's using general 19 equity powers to deprive a litigant of his right to trial by 20 jury.

21 Here, we're not under Barton, the statutory exception to 22 Barton applies, because Mr. Seery is a manager of hundreds of 23 millions of third-party investor property. Instead, we're 24 here under the Court's general equity powers, as authorized by 25 959(a). And those equity powers cannot deprive the right to

1 trial by jury.

2 But the order does deprive trials by jury, first by 3 asserting sole jurisdiction here, where jury trials are 4 unavailable, and secondly, by abolishing any trial rights for 5 claims that do not involve gross negligence or intentional
6 misconduct.

7 Movants' third cause of action in the District Court case
8 is for ordinary negligence. It comes with a Seventh Amendment
9 jury right. But it's barred by the order because the order
10 only allows colorable claims involving gross negligence or 11 intentional conduct, not ordinary negligence.

12 Movants' second cause of action in the District Court case
13 is for breach of contract. That comes with a Seventh
14 Amendment jury right, but it's barred by the order because the 15 order only allows colorable claims of gross negligence or 16 intentional misconduct, not negligent or faultless breaches of 17 contractual obligations.

18 Movants' first cause of action in the District Court case,
19 breach of Advisers Act fiduciary duties, comes with a jury
20 right. It's also barred by the order because the order only 21 allows colorable claims involving gross negligence or 22 intentional misconduct.

23 You see there what I mean. Congress couldn't have been 24 clearer. Courts cannot deprive litigants of their day in 25 court before a jury of their peers by invoking general equity

1 powers. Those powers don't trump the constitutional right to 2 a jury trial.

3 Yet this Court's order purports to do precisely that, not
4 only for the Movants, but also for future potential litigants
5 who may have claims that have not even accrued yet. If those 6 claims are for ordinary negligence or breach of contract or 7 breach of fiduciary duties and don't rise to the level of 8 gross negligence or intentional misconduct, this order says
9 that those claims are barred, and it would deprive them of 10 their day in court.

11 The Court's general equity powers are simply not broad 12 enough to uphold such an order.

13 This issue is even more problematic when the causes of 14 action at issue fall within the mandatory withdrawal of the 15 reference provisions of 28 U.S.C. § 157(d). As this Court
16 knows, it lacks jurisdiction over proceedings that require
17 consideration of non-bankruptcy federal law regulating
18 interstate commerce. Some such claims -- Movants' Advisers
19 Act claim, for instance -- do not involve culpability rising
20 to the level of gross negligence or intentional misconduct,
21 but the order purports to bar them nonetheless, despite this 22 Court's lacking jurisdiction over the subject matter of those 23 claims.

24 Even if there is gross negligence or intentional
25 misconduct, the order states that this Court will have sole

1 jurisdiction over such claims. And that can't be right if 2 withdrawal of the reference is mandatory.

3 Opposing counsel will tell you that 157(d) is inapplicable
4 here because they think our claims in the District Court won't
5 require substantial consideration of the Advisers Act or any 6 other federal laws regulating interstate commerce. But their 7 cases don't come anywhere close to making that showing, as the 8 briefing demonstrates.

9 And in any case, that argument is beside the point. This 10 order is contrary to 157(d) because it asserts jurisdiction
11 over claims that 157(d) does not apply -- I'm sorry, does 12 apply to. And that's true regardless of whether Movants'
13 claims are among those.

14 The idea that there's no substantial consideration of 15 federal law, however, in the District Court case is undermined
16 by Mr. Seery's testimony in support of his appointment in 17 which he confirmed that the Advisers Act applies to him and 18 that he has fiduciary duties under that Act to the investors
19 of the funds he manages.

20 Your Honor, importantly, the Advisers Act isn't the 21 typical federal statute with loads of case law under it. It's 22 actually an underdeveloped, less-relied-upon statute, and most 23 -- most of the law under that Act is promulgated by regulation
24 and supervised by the SEC. As a registered investment
25 advisor, Mr. Seery is bound by that Act, which he admits, he

1 agrees to. But to flesh out what his duties are requires a
2 close exam of more than three dozen regulations under 17
3 C.F.R. Part 275.

4 The obligations include robust duties of transparency and 5 disclosure, as well as duties against self-dealing and the 6 necessity of obtaining informed consent, none of which are 7 waivable, these duties.

8 The proceedings here in this Court reflect an effort to 9 have those unwaivable duties waived. The allegations in the 10 District Court are essentially insider trading allegations
11 that the Debtor and Mr. Seery knew or should have known
12 information that they had a duty under the Advisers Act to 13 disclose to their advisees. Both under the Act and 14 contractually, they had those duties. And, instead, they did
15 not disclose and consummated a transaction that benefited
16 themselves nonetheless.

17 In considering those claims, the presiding court will have 18 to consider and apply the Advisers Act and the many 19 regulations promulgated under it, in addition to other federal 20 laws regulating interstate commerce. For that reason,
21 withdrawal of the reference on the District Court action is 22 mandatory. That's the two major -- that's two major problems
23 out of four with the order that we're here on today.

24 First, it deprives litigants of their right to trial, to a
25 jury trial, when Section 959(a) says that can't be done. And,

1 two, the order asserts jurisdiction -- sole jurisdiction, even 2 -- over proceedings in which withdrawal of the reference is 3 mandatory under 157(d).

4 The fourth major problem is what the Court called
5 specificity at the previous hearing. The Fifth Circuit's
6 Applewood Chair case holds that the rule from Shoaf does not 7 apply without a "specific discharge or release," and that that
8 release has to be enumerated and approved by the Bankruptcy
9 Court. Thus, the order here can't exculpate Mr. Seery of 10 liability for ordinary negligence and the like in a blanket
11 fashion. The claims being released must be identified.

12 That's what happened in Shoaf. Shoaf's guaranty
13 obligation was explicitly released. That's also what happened
14 in Espinosa. Espinosa's plan listed his student loan as his 15 only specific indebtedness. But it's not what happened here.
16 And it couldn't happen here, because the ordinary negligence
17 and similar claims being discharged by the order had not yet
18 accrued and thus were not even in existence at the time the 19 order issued.

20 Instead, what we have here is a nonconsensual, nondebtor
21 injunction or release that's precisely what the Fifth Circuit
22 refused to enforce in the Pacific Lumber case.

23 So, lack of specificity is the third major problem with 24 the order. And that brings us to the fourth problem, which is 25 the Barton doctrine. Barton is the only possible basis for

1 this Court to assert exclusive or sole jurisdiction over
2 anything. Outside of Barton, it's plain black letter law that
3 the District Court's jurisdiction is equal to and includes
4 anything that this Court's derivative jurisdiction would also 5 reach.

6 But the exception to the Barton doctrine in 959(a) plainly
7 applies here, leaving no basis for exclusivity with regards to 8 jurisdiction and the District Court. That's because Mr. Seery
9 is carrying on the business of a debtor and managing the 10 property of others, rather than merely administering the 11 bankruptcy estate. The exclusive jurisdiction function of the 12 Barton doctrine has no applicability because 959(a) creates
13 that exception here.

14 Under its general equity powers, yes, 959(a) still 15 authorizes this Court to exercise some control over actions
16 against Mr. Seery, but short of depriving litigants of their 17 day in court. And nothing in 959(a), that exception to 18 Barton, says that the Court can nonetheless exercise
19 exclusivity in that jurisdiction. Those general equity powers
20 do not create exclusive or sole jurisdiction. They do not 21 deprive the District Court of its Congressionally-granted
22 original jurisdiction.

23 Moreover, Mr. Seery is not an appointed trustee entitled 24 to the protections of the Barton doctrine in any case. His 25 appointment was a corporate decision that the Court was asked

1 not to interfere with. The Court was asked to defer under the
2 business judgment rule to the Debtor's appointment of Mr.
3 Seery. And the Court did so.

4 As we asserted last time, no authority that we can find
5 combines these two unrelated doctrines, the Barton doctrine
6 and the business judgment rule. And they don't go together.
7 None of the testimony or the briefing or argument, in the July
8 order, in the January order that preceded it, none of that 9 indicated that Mr. Seery would be a trustee or the functional
10 equivalent of a trustee. The word "trustee" does not appear
11 in any of those briefs or transcripts.

12 Opposing -- and because of that, the District Court suit
13 is not about -- well, not because of that. The District Court
14 suit simply is not about any trustee-like role that Mr. Seery
15 may have played anyway. Opposing counsel will try to convince 16 you otherwise, will tell you that the District Court case is a
17 collateral attack on the settlement, but it's not. Wearing 18 his estate administrator hat, Mr. Seery can settle claims in 19 this court. Wearing his advisor hat, he has to fulfill his 20 Advisers Act duties and properly advise his clients.

21 He doesn't have to wear both hats, and it seems highly 22 unusual that he would choose to fill both of those roles
23 simultaneously. But he has chosen both roles. And the 24 District Court case is a hundred percent about his role as an
25 advisor. Did he comply with the Act? Did he do the things

1 that his advisor role obligated him to do as a manager of that
2 property?

3 The District Court suit really is only being used to
4 illustrate the issues that we're raising here. It's
5 important, it's timely to address those issues now because of
6 the District Court action, but that's an illustration of the 7 problems with the order. It is not exclusively that that
8 action is what we're attempting to address. Rather, the order
9 exculpating Mr. Seery from ordinary negligence liability and
10 similar liability is problematic, is contrary to the law. On
11 top of that, the Court is asserting jurisdiction over gross
12 negligence and intentional misconduct claims. To the extent
13 that 157(d) applies, it is problematic and contrary to law as
14 well.

15 THE COURT: Okay. We're occasionally getting some
16 breakup of your sound. So please -- I don't know what you can
17 do to adjust, but it was just now, and intermittently we get a
18 little bit of garbly. So if you could just say your last
19 sentence one more time, and we'll see if it improves.

20 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, I'm not sure I can say this
21 last sentence again.

22 THE COURT: Okay.

23 MR. BRIDGES: I was -- I was mentioning that the 24 District Court case is an illustration of our argument. Our
25 argument is not merely that the District Court case should be

1 exempted or excepted from the order. Our argument is that the
2 order is legally infirm and that the District Court case and
3 the claims there illustrate some of those infirmities, but
4 that the infirmities go beyond just what's at issue in the
5 District Court case.

6 In sum, there are four problems with the order that render
7 parts of it legally infirm. It deprives the right of a jury
8 trial -- in fact, of any trial -- in contravention of 959(a)
9 for some causes of action.

10 It asserts jurisdiction -- two, it asserts jurisdiction
11 over claims that are subject to the mandatory withdrawal of 12 the reference provision (garbled) 157(d).

13 And three, it lacks the specificity required to discharge
14 future claims under Applewood.

15 Finally, Your Honor, number four, the order relies on the 16 Barton doctrine, which doesn't apply and which 959(a) creates
17 an exception to.

18 Movants respectfully submit the order should be modified
19 for those reasons.

20 MR. SBAITI: Tell him Mark Patrick is here, for the 21 record.

22 THE COURT: All right. I have a couple of follow-up
23 questions for you. I want to drill down on the issue of your 24 client not having appealed the July 2020 order. Or the
25 HarbourVest settlement order, for that matter. Tell me as

1 directly as possible why you don't view that as a big problem.
2 Because it's high on my list of possible problems here.

3 MR. BRIDGES: I understand, Your Honor. The 4 Applewood Chair case is our -- our defense to that argument,
5 that without providing specifics as to the claims being 6 discharged in the July order, that Shoaf cannot apply to 7 create a res judicata effect from the failure to appeal that
8 order.

9 THE COURT: But is that really what we're talking
10 about, a discharge of certain claims? We're talking about a 11 protocol that the Court established which wasn't appealed.

12 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, your order does many 13 things. We're talking about a few of them in one paragraph of 14 the order. And in that order -- in that paragraph, yes, it
15 creates a protocol for determining the colorability of some 16 claims, claims that rise to the level of gross negligence or 17 intentional misconduct. It does not create a protocol for 18 claims that fall below that threshold, claims for ordinary 19 negligence, as an example.

20 THE COURT: Okay.

21 MR. BRIDGES: For breach of contract that's not 22 intentional, is not grossly negligent, it's just a breach of 23 contract. It can even be faultless. There's still liability.
24 There's still a jury right under the Seventh Amendment for 25 faultless breach of contract.

1 The protocols in the order do not address such claims
2 other than to bar them. To discharge them. And thus, yes,
3 it's a release, it's a discharge of those claims. It can be 4 viewed as a permanent injunction against bringing such claims.
5 It's what's -- it's what's not allowed by the Applewood Chair
6 case and by Pacific Lumber.

7 THE COURT: All right. So you're arguing that was --
8 the wording of the order was not specific enough to apprise
9 affected parties of what they were releasing, they're 10 releasing claims based on ordinary negligence against Mr.
11 Seery? That's not specific enough?

12 MR. BRIDGES: Correct. Future unproved claims, the 13 factual basis for which has not happened yet. Those cannot be 14 and were not disclosed with any specificity in this order.

15 If we compare it to Shoaf and to Espinosa, in Shoaf what 16 we had was a guaranty, Shoaf's guaranty on a transaction that 17 was listed in the actual release, describing what the 18 transaction was that was being -- that the guaranty was being 19 released for.

20 In Espinosa, what we had was a student loan --

21 THE COURT: Right.

22 MR. BRIDGES: -- that was listed in the plan
23 specifically, as the only specific indebtedness.

24 Here, we don't have any of that specificity. What we have 25 is a notice to the entire world, Your Honor, that for an

1 unlimited period of time any claim for ordinary negligence,
2 for ordinary breach of contract or fiduciary duty against Mr.
3 Seery is barred if it relates to his CEO role. And his CEO
4 role means as a manager of property, exactly precisely what 5 959(a) is talking about.

6 Those jury rights (garbled) claims cannot be released,
7 discharged, expunged, done away with, in an order that isn't 8 explicit.

9 On top of that, even in an explicit order, 959(a) tells 10 the Court it cannot deprive a litigant of its jury trial
11 right.

12 THE COURT: Well, as anyone knows who's been around a
13 while in this case, my brain sometimes goes down an unexpected
14 trail, and maybe this one is one of those situations. Are 15 there contracts that your clients would rely on in potential
16 litigation?

17 MR. BRIDGES: Yes, Your Honor.

18 THE COURT: What are those contracts?

19 MR. BRIDGES: It is a management contract. I don't 20 think I can give you the specifics at this moment, but I
21 probably can before we're done here today. A management
22 contract in which the Debtor provides advisory and management
23 services to the DAF --

24 THE COURT: Well, you know, the shared services
25 agreements that we heard so much about in this case? A shared

1 service agreement? I can't remember, you know, which entities
2 have them and which do not at times. So, --

3 MR. BRIDGES: The shared services agreement is one of 4 those contracts, Your Honor.

5 THE COURT: Okay.

6 MR. BRIDGES: It's not the only one.

7 THE COURT: And what are the others?

8 MR. BRIDGES: There's -- the other is the investment
9 advisory agreement.

10 THE COURT: Those two?

11 MR. BRIDGES: (no response)

12 THE COURT: Those are the only two?

13 MR. BRIDGES: There may be one other, Your Honor.
14 I'm not sure.

15 THE COURT: Are they in evidence?

16 MR. BRIDGES: I can find out shortly.

17 THE COURT: Are they in evidence? We haven't talked 18 about evidence yet, but are they going to be in evidence,
19 potentially?

20 MR. BRIDGES: They are referenced in the District
21 Court case, the complaint, which is in evidence.

22 THE COURT: I'm asking, are --

23 MR. BRIDGES: But those contracts I don't believe are 24 listed as exhibits here in this motion, no.

25 THE COURT: They are not? Okay.

1 Well, what my brain is thinking about here is, of the
2 umpteen agreements I've seen -- more than umpteen -- of the
3 many, many agreements I've seen over time in this case, so
4 often there's a waiver of jury trial rights, as I recall, as
5 well as an arbitration clause. I just was curious, hmm, you
6 know, you talked a lot about your clients' jury trial rights:
7 do we know that these agreements have not waived those?

8 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, I think I can answer that
9 by the end of our hearing. I don't have an answer off the top
10 of my head. What I can tell you is a jury right has been
11 demanded in the federal court complaint, which is in evidence,
12 and that opposing counsel has brought no evidence indicating 13 that they have the defense of our having waived the right to a
14 jury trial here.

15 THE COURT: Okay. Well, I just --

16 MR. BRIDGES: Or arbitra...

17 THE COURT: -- would think that you would know that.
18 Does anyone know that on the Debtor's side off the top of your
19 head?

20 MR. POMERANTZ: I do not, Your Honor.

21 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

22 MR. POMERANTZ: And to Mr. Bridges' last point, we
23 have filed a motion to dismiss. We have not answered the 24 complaint. So any time to object to their jury trial right
25 would be in the context of the answer. So the implication

1 that we have not raised the issue and therefore it doesn't
2 exist is just not a correct implication and connection he's 3 trying to draw.

4 THE COURT: Okay. All right.

5 Well, let me also ask you about this. I'm obsessing a
6 little over the Barton doctrine and your insistence that it
7 does not provide authority or an analogy here.

8 Well, for one thing, is there anything in the Fifth
9 Circuit case Sherman v. Ondova that you think either helps you
10 or hurts you on that point? I'm intimately familiar with it,
11 although I haven't read it in a while, because it was my 12 opinion that the Fifth Circuit affirmed. And I spent a lot of 13 time thinking about that. It was a trustee, a traditional -- 14 well, no, a Chapter 11 trustee and his counsel. But anything
15 from that case that you think is worthy of pointing out here?

16 MR. BRIDGES: No, Your Honor. I'm not -- nothing
17 comes to mind. That case is not fresh on my mind.

18 What I would tell you is that Barton doctrine and the 19 business judgment rule are incompatible, and the appointment
20 of a trustee never involves application of the business
21 judgment rule or deference to the Debtor or another party in 22 terms of making that appointment.

23 The Barton doctrine, as it applies to trustees, is viewed 24 as an extension, to some extent, of judicial immunity to the 25 trustee, who is chosen by, selected by the Court and assigned

1 by the Court to carry out certain functions. That --

2 THE COURT: Well, let me --

3 MR. BRIDGES: -- quasi-immunity --

4 THE COURT: -- stop you there. You say it's an
5 extension of immunity. But isn't it, by nature, really a
6 gatekeeping provision? It's a gatekeeping provision, right?
7 Before you even get to immunity, maybe, in a lawsuit, it's a
8 gatekeeping function that the Supreme Court has blessed, you
9 know, obviously in the context of a receiver, but appellate 10 courts have blessed it in the bankruptcy context. The 11 Bankruptcy Court can be the gatekeeper on whether the trustee
12 or someone I think in a similar position can get sued or not.

13 And then we had that Fifth Circuit case after Ondova. It
14 begins with a V, Villegas or something like that. Didn't 15 that, I don't know, further ratify, if you will, the whole
16 Barton doctrine by saying, oh, just because they're noncore
17 claims, state law or non-bankruptcy law claims, doesn't mean,
18 after Stern, the Bankruptcy Court still cannot serve the 19 gatekeeper function.

20 Tell me what you disagree. That's my kind of combined
21 reading of all of that.

22 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, I have to parse it out.
23 There's a lot to unpack there. If I can make sure to get in 24 the follow-ups, I can start with saying it's okay for the 25 Court in many instances to act as a gatekeeper.

1 THE COURT: Okay.

2 MR. BRIDGES: Both under Barton -- under Barton, or
3 when the Barton exception in 959(a) applies, under the Court's
4 general equitable powers, that gatekeeping functions are not
5 across-the-board prohibited, --

6 THE COURT: Okay.

7 MR. BRIDGES: -- and we aren't trying to argue that 8 they're prohibited across the board.

9 THE COURT: Okay.

10 MR. BRIDGES: Now, to try to dig into that a little 11 deeper, the order does two things: gatekeeping as to some 12 claims, and, frankly, discharging or barring other claims.
13 Those are two separate functions.

14 The first one, the gatekeeping, may be, in some 15 circumstances, which we'll come to, many circumstances, may be 16 allowable, may be even mandatory under Barton, not even 17 requiring an order from this Court, for the gatekeeping of 18 Barton to apply. But nonetheless, allowable in many instances
19 under the Court's general equity powers under 959(a). That 20 part is right about gatekeeping.

21 It does not create jurisdiction in this Court where 157(d)
22 deprives this Court of jurisdiction. Just because it's 23 related to bankruptcy isn't enough to say that the Court
24 therefore has jurisdiction if, one, if mandatory withdrawal of 25 the reference is required.

1 Furthermore, Your Honor, that gatekeeping function, under
2 the equity powers authorized by 959(a), will not allow a court
3 to discharge or -- or deprive, is the word I'm looking for --
4 deprive a litigant of their right to a trial -- a specific
5 kind of trial, a jury trial -- but a trial. And by crafting
6 an order that says certain kinds of claims that do (garbled)
7 jury rights are barred, rather than just providing a
8 gatekeeper provision, flat-out bars them, that doesn't -- that 9 doesn't comply with 959.

10 THE COURT: Okay.

11 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, if I could add one last 12 thing.

13 THE COURT: Go ahead.

14 MR. BRIDGES: The Supreme Court's Stern case points
15 out that -- that it's -- well, actually, it's the Villegas
16 case from the Fifth Circuit --

17 THE COURT: The one I mentioned.

18 MR. BRIDGES: -- points out that Stern -- Stern --
19 yes, you did. Stern did not create an exception to the Barton
20 doctrine. And that gives -- that endorses a Barton court's 21 ability to perform gatekeeping, even over claims that Stern
22 says there would not be jurisdiction over.

23 Contrast that with 959(a), which Collier on Bankruptcy and 24 the Fifth Circuit have held is an exception to the Barton
25 doctrine. Because of that exception, Barton no longer

1 applies, and what you're using in invoking a gatekeeper order
2 is the Court's inherent equitable powers, its general powers
3 in equity. And those equity powers are cabined. They're 4 broad, but they're cabined by 959(a)'s prohibition of doing
5 away with a litigant's right to a trial, a jury trial.

6 Now, I also -- counsel is telling me I should note for the 7 record that Mr. Mark Patrick is here as a representative of 8 our clients. But Your Honor, I'll -- I will quit now unless 9 you have further questions for me.

10 THE COURT: All right. I do not at this time. Mr.
11 Morris or Mr. Pomerantz, who's going to make the argument?

12 MR. POMERANTZ: It's me, Your Honor.

13 OPENING STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF THE DEBTOR

14 MR. POMERANTZ: And I'll start with the jury trial
15 right. In the last few minutes, we have been able to 16 determine that the Second Amended and Restated Investment
17 Advisory Agreement between the DAF and the Debtor has a broad 18 jury trial waiver under 14(f). And in addition, as I will 19 include in my discussion, there is no private right of action
20 under the Investment Advisers Act.

21 I think those two points are fatal to Movants' argument,
22 and probably I can get away with not even responding to the 23 others. But since I prepared a lengthy presentation to 24 address the issues that were raised today, and also the half 25 hour that Mr. Bridges spent with Your Honor on June 8th in

1 which was his first opening statement on the motion for
2 reconsideration, I'll now proceed.

3 THE COURT: All right.

4 MR. POMERANTZ: The arguments that the Movants made
5 in the original motion essentially boil down to one legal 6 proposition, that the Court did not have jurisdiction to enter
7 the July 16th order because those orders impermissibly
8 stripped the District Court from jurisdiction, in violation of 9 (inaudible) Supreme Court precedent and 28 U.S.C. Section
10 157(d).

11 As with all things Dondero, the arguments continue to 12 morph, and you heard argument at the contempt hearing on June
13 8th and further argument today that now the prospective
14 exculpation for negligence in the order is also unenforceable
15 and should be modified.

16 Movants continue to try to distance themselves from the 17 January 9th order and argue that it is not relevant because 18 they seek to pursue claims against Mr. Seery as CEO and not as 19 an independent director. Movants ignore, however, that the 20 January 9th order not only protects Mr. Seery in his role as 21 the independent director, but also as an agent of the board.
22 I will walk the Court through my arguments on that issue in a
23 few moments.

24 Of course, the Movants had no explanation, Your Honor, for 25 the question of why it took them until May of 2021, 10 months

1 after the entry of the July 16th order that appointed Mr.
2 Seery as CEO and CRO, and 16 months after the Court appointed
3 the independent board, with Mr. Dondero's blessing and 4 consent, as a substitute for what would have surely been the 5 imminent appointment of a Chapter 11 trustee.

6 Movants try to distance themselves from the prior orders
7 by essentially arguing that the DAF is a newcomer to the 8 Chapter 11 and is not under Mr. Dondero's control but is 9 rather managed separately and independently by Mr. Patrick,
10 who recently replaced Mr. Scott.

11 The Movants admit, as they must, that the DAF is the 12 parent and the sole shareholder of CLO Holdco and conducts its 13 business through CLO Holdco, and both entities conduct their 14 business through one individual. It was Grant Scott then;
15 it's Mark Patrick now. So even if Mr. Dondero does not 16 control the DAF and CLO Holdco, which issue was the subject of 17 lengthy testimony in connection with the DAF hearing, both the 18 DAF and the CLO Holdco are bound by the Debtor's res judicata
19 argument, which I will discuss shortly.

20 In any event, I really doubt the Court is convinced that 21 the DAF operates truly independently of Mr. Dondero any more
22 than the Court has been convinced that the Advisors, the 23 Funds, Dugaboy and Get Good, all operate independently from 24 Mr. Dondero. The only explanation for the delay is that Mr.
25 Dondero has been and continues to be unhappy with the Court's

1 rulings and has now hired a new set of lawyers in a desperate
2 attempt to evade this Court's jurisdiction. Having failed in 3 their attempt to recuse Your Honor from the case, this is 4 essentially their last hope.

5 And these new lawyers, Your Honor, have not only filed
6 this DAF lawsuit in the District Court which is the subject of 7 the contempt motion and today's motion, but they also filed
8 another lawsuit in the District Court on behalf of an entity
9 called PCMG, another Dondero entity, challenging yet another
10 of Mr. Seery's postpetition decisions.

11 And there's no doubt that this is only the beginning. Mr.
12 Dondero recently told Your Honor at a hearing that there were 13 many more sets of lawyers waiting in the wings. And as the 14 Court remarked at the hearing on the Trusts' motion to compel
15 compliance with Rule 2015.3, the Trusts were trying through 16 that motion to obtain information about the Debtor's control
17 entities so that they could file more lawsuits against the 18 Debtor, a concern that Mr. Draper unconvincingly denied.

19 I would like to focus the Court preliminarily on exactly
20 what the January 9th and July 16th orders do, because Movants
21 try to confuse things by casting the entire order with a broad 22 brush of their jurisdictional overreach arguments, and they 23 misinterpret Supreme Court and Fifth Circuit precedent.

24 I would like to put up on the screen the language of 25 Paragraph 10 of the January 9th order and Paragraph 35

1 (garbled) of the July 16th.

2 Your Honor is very familiar with these orders, I'm sure,
3 having dealt with them in connection with confirmation and in 4 prior proceedings. But to recap, the orders essentially do
5 three things.

6 First, they require the parties to first come to the 7 Bankruptcy Court before commencing or pursuing a claim against 8 certain parties.

9 Second, they provided the Court with the sole jurisdiction
10 to make a finding of whether the party has asserted a 11 colorable claim of negligence -- of willful misconduct or 12 gross negligence.

13 And lastly, the orders provided the Court with exclusive
14 jurisdiction over any claims that the Court determined were 15 colorable.

16 The protected parties under the January 9th order are the 17 independent directors, their agents and advisors, which, as I
18 mentioned earlier, includes Mr. Seery -- who, at least as of 19 March 2020, was acting as the agent on the board's behalf as 20 the CEO -- for any actions taken under their direction.

21 The protected parties under the July 16th order are Mr.
22 Seery, as the CEO and CRO, and his agents and advisors.

23 Movants spend a lot of time in their moving papers and 24 reply arguing that the Court may not assert exclusive
25 jurisdiction over any claims that pass through the gate. They

1 also spend a lot of time arguing that the Bankruptcy Court
2 does not even have jurisdiction at all to assert -- to 3 adjudicate claims against Mr. Seery because such claims are 4 subject to mandatory withdrawal under Section 157(d).

5 The Debtor doesn't agree, and has briefed why mandatory
6 withdrawal of the reference is inapplicable. The Debtor has 7 also filed in the District Court a motion to enforce the 8 reference in effect in this district which refers cases in 9 this district arising under, arising in, or related to Chapter
10 11 to the Bankruptcy Court.

11 The motion to enforce the reference, Your Honor, which 12 extensively briefs this issue, is contained in Exhibit 3 of 13 the Debtor's exhibits.

14 We were somewhat surprised that the complaint filed in the 15 District Court wasn't automatically referred to this Court
16 under the standing order in effect in this district, given the 17 related bankruptcy case, the Court's prior approval of the 18 HarbourVest settlement, and the appeal in the District Court
19 of the HarbourVest settlement.

20 When we dug a little further, we found out that Movants
21 filed a civil case cover sheet accompanying the complaint in 22 the District Court. They neglected in that initial filing to 23 point out that there was any related case to the lawsuit they 24 filed.

25 Mr. Bridges fell on his sword at the contempt hearing on

1 June 8th and took complete responsibility for the oversight.
2 I commend him for not trying to argue that the bankruptcy
3 case, the HarbourVest settlement, and the District Court
4 appeal are not related cases that would require disclosure, an 5 argument that surely would have been unsupportable.

6 But as I said at the contempt hearing, I find it curious
7 that such an important issue was overlooked, an issue which 8 would have likely changed the entire trajectory of the 9 proceedings and landed the DAF lawsuit in this Court rather 10 than the District Court.

11 And this Tuesday, Your Honor, Movants filed a revised 12 civil cover sheet with the District Court. Although they 13 referenced the bankruptcy case as a related case, they didn't
14 bother to mention the appeal already pending in the District
15 Court regarding the HarbourVest settlement -- surely, a 16 related case.

17 Your Honor also asked Mr. Bridges at the June 8th hearing
18 whether it was an oversight or intentional that he didn't 19 mention 28 U.S.C. Section 1334 as a basis for jurisdiction in 20 his complaint. Mr. Bridges had no answer for Your Honor then,
21 and has given no answer now. His only comment at the hearing
22 last time was that it must have been Ms. Sbaiti that wrote it
23 because he had no recollection of it.

24 So, Your Honor, it's no surprise that Movants conveniently
25 found themselves in the District Court, which was their

1 ultimate strategy from the get go.

2 In any event, Your Honor, we have briefed the withdrawal
3 of the reference issue. A response by the Movants is due --
4 CLO Holdco and DAF is due on June 29th. And we hope the 5 District Court will decide soon thereafter whether to enforce
6 the reference.

7 While I'm happy to argue why Movants' mandatory withdrawal
8 of the reference argument is [not] persuasive, I don't think
9 it's necessary, but I do, again, want to highlight that there
10 is no private right of action under the Investment Advisers
11 Act.

12 Your Honor, it's not really relevant to today's hearing,
13 since we have argued in opposition to the motion before Your 14 Honor that resolving the issue of the Bankruptcy Court's 15 jurisdiction to adjudicate claims contained in the complaint
16 as they relate to Mr. Seery is premature at this point. The 17 January 9th and July 16th orders first require the Court to 18 determine whether a claim is colorable. It's not until this 19 Court determines if a claim is colorable that the decision on 20 where the lawsuit should be tried is relevant.

21 Having said that, Your Honor, we read the Movants' reply
22 brief very carefully and noticed in Footnote 6 that the 23 Movants state that modifying the exclusive grant of 24 jurisdiction to adjudicate any claims that pass through the 25 gate to include the language "to the extent permissible by

1 law," in the same way the Debtor modified the plan, would
2 resolve the motion. So let's look at the provision as it
3 exists in the plans.

4 Ms. Canty, if you can put up the next demonstrative,
5 please.

6 This provision provides that the Bankruptcy Court will
7 have sole and exclusive jurisdiction to determine whether a
8 claim or cause of action is colorable, and, only to the extent
9 legally permissible and provided in Article XI, shall have 10 jurisdiction to determine -- to adjudicate the underlying 11 colorable claim or cause of action.

12 The Movants request in their reply brief in Footnote 6
13 that the July 16th order be given the plan treatment. That 14 treatment: sole authority to determine colorability and 15 jurisdiction, and, to the extent legally permissible, to 16 adjudicate underlying claim, only if jurisdiction existed.

17 After reviewing the reply brief and prior to the June 8th
18 hearing, we decided that we would agree to modify both the 19 January 9th and the July 16th orders to provide that the 20 Bankruptcy Court would only have jurisdiction to adjudicate
21 claims that pass through the colorability gate to the extent
22 permissible by law.

23 Prior to the June 8th hearing, Mr. Morris and I had a
24 conversation with Mr. Bridges. We conferred about a potential
25 resolution and a proposed modification. Mr. Bridges indicated

1 they were interested in exploring a resolution and wanted to 2 --

3 MR. BRIDGES: Objection, Your Honor.

4 THE COURT: There's an objection?

5 MR. BRIDGES: Objection, Your Honor. There's a Rule
6 408 settlement discussion. He's welcome to talk about the 7 results, but he shouldn't be talking about what was -- what 8 was proposed by opposing counsel in a settlement conversation.

9 THE COURT: Okay. I overrule.

10 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, this was not --

11 THE COURT: I don't think this is a 408 issue.
12 Continue.

13 MR. BRIDGES: Thank you.

14 MR. POMERANTZ: The stipulation and order which we 15 provided to counsel is attached to my declaration, which is 16 found at Document 2418, and it was filed in connection with a
17 Notice of Revised Proposed Orders that we filed at Docket
18 2417. And I would like to put up on the screen the relevant
19 paragraphs of the order that we provided to the Movants.

20 So, you see, we agreed to modify each of the orders at the 21 end to do what the plan says. The Court would only have 22 jurisdiction for claims passing through the gate if the Court
23 had jurisdiction and it was legally permissible.

24 Movants' counsel, however, responded with a mark-up that 25 went beyond -- went beyond what Movants proposed in Footnote 6

1 and sought to fundamentally change the January 9th and July
2 16th orders in ways that were not acceptable to the Debtor and
3 not even contemplated by the original motion.

4 Ms. Canty, can you put up on the screen the relevant
5 paragraphs of the response we received?

6 Specifically, Your Honor, you see at the first part they 7 wanted to provide that the only -- the order only applied to 8 claims involving injury to the Debtor, presumably as opposed
9 to alleged injuries to affiliated funds or third parties.
10 They also provided that the Court's ability to make the 11 initial colorability determination was also qualified by "to 12 the extent permissible by law" in the way that the Court --
13 that the Debtor agreed to modify the ultimate adjudication
14 jurisdiction provision.

15 Your Honor, Movants haven't even talked about this back
16 and forth. They haven't talked about their about-face. And 17 I'll leave it for Your Honor to read their Footnote 6 that 18 said it would resolve their motion, the back and forth, our 19 proposal, and now Mr. Bridges' modified, morphed arguments
20 that now point out other issues.

21 In any event, Your Honor, we made the change, and we think 22 it should resolve the motion, or at least it resolves part of 23 the motion. There can't be any argument that the Court is 24 trying to exert exclusive jurisdiction on claims that pass
25 through the gate.

1 What apparently remains from the arguments raised by the 2 Movants is the argument that the Court does not even have 3 jurisdiction to act as a gatekeeper in the first place because 4 it doesn't have jurisdiction of the underlying lawsuit. And 5 on June 8th and today, they've added a new argument, that the 6 orders impermissibly exculpate Mr. Seery and others, violate
7 their jury trial rights, and are contrary to the Fifth Circuit
8 precedent.

9 Movants claims that the orders are a jurisdictional
10 overreach, a violation of constitutional proportions, a
11 violation of due process, and inconsistent with several U.S.
12 Supreme Court cases. But, of course, they cite no cases whose 13 facts are even remotely similar to this one. Instead, they 14 are content to rely on general statements regarding bankruptcy
15 jurisdiction, how it is derived from district court
16 jurisdiction and is constitutionally limited, legal 17 propositions which are not terribly controversial or even 18 applicable to these facts.

19 There are several arguments -- I mean, there are several 20 reasons, Your Honor, why Movants' arguments fail. Initially,
21 Movants have not cited any authority, any statute, or any rule 22 which would allow this Court to revisit the January 9th and 23 July 16th orders. As I will discuss in a moment, Your Honor, 24 Republic v. Shoaf, a case the Court is very familiar in and 25 relied on in connection with plan confirmation, bars a

1 collateral attack on these orders under the doctrine of res
2 judicata.

3 Similarly, as the Court remarked on June 8th, the Supreme 4 Court's Espinosa decision, which rejected an attack based upon
5 Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 60(b)(4) to a prior order that
6 may have been unlawful, prohibits the Court from now
7 reconsidering the January 9th and July 16th orders.

8 But even if Your Honor rules that res judicata does not 9 apply, there are two independent reasons why the orders were 10 not an unlawful extension of the Court's jurisdiction. The 11 first is because the Court had jurisdiction to enter both of 12 those orders as the ability to determine the colorability of 13 claims is within the jurisdiction of the Court. The second is 14 because the orders are justified by the Barton doctrine.

15 Lastly, Your Honor, Movants' argument that the Court may 16 not act as a gatekeeper to determine the colorability of a 17 claim for which it may not have jurisdiction is incorrect, and 18 as Your Honor has mentioned and as Mr. Bridges unconvincingly
19 tried to distinguish, the Fifth Circuit Villegas v. Schmidt
20 case is a case on point and resolves that issue.

21 Turning to res judicata, Your Honor, it prevents the Court
22 from revisiting these governance orders. CLO Holdco had 23 formal notice of the Seery CEO motion and the opportunity to 24 respond. It failed to do so. It is clearly bound.

25 As reflected on Debtor's Exhibit 4, CLO Holdco is a

1 wholly-owned subsidiary of the DAF. The DAF is its sole
2 shareholder. There is no dispute about that. Importantly, at 3 the time of both the January and July orders, Grant Scott was 4 the only human being authorized to act on behalf of CLO Holdco
5 and the DAF. The DAF did not respond to the Seery CEO motion,
6 either.

7 And why is that important, Your Honor? It's because 8 Movants argue in their reply that the DAF cannot be bound by 9 res judicata because they did not receive notice of the July
10 16th order. However, Your Honor, that is not the law. Res
11 judicata binds parties to the dispute and their privies, and 12 the DAF is bound to the prior orders even though it did not 13 receive notice.

14 There are several cases, Your Honor, that stand for this 15 unremarkable proposition. First I would point Your Honor to 16 the Fifth Circuit's opinion of Astron Industrial Associates v.
17 Chrysler, found at 405 F.2d 958, a Fifth Circuit case from 18 1968. In that case, Your Honor, the Fifth Circuit held that 19 the appellant was barred by the doctrine of res judicata from 20 bringing a claim because its parent, which was its sole
21 shareholder, would have been bound by res judicata.

22 Astron is consistent with the 1978 Fifth Circuit case of 23 Pollard v. Cockrell, 578 F.2d 1002 (1978). And the Northern 24 District of Texas in 2000 case of Bank One v. Capital
25 Associates, 2000 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 11652, found that a parent

1 and a sole shareholder of an entity couldn't assert res
2 judicata as a defense when those claims could have been 3 brought against its wholly-owned subsidiary.

4 And lastly, Your Honor, the 2011 Southern District of 5 Texas case, West v. WRH Energy Partners, 2011 LEXIS 5183, held
6 that res judicata applied with respect to a partnership's
7 general partner because the general partner was in privity
8 with the partnership.

9 These cases are spot on and make sense. DAF is CLO
10 Holdco's parent. Grant Scott was the only live person to 11 represent these entities in any capacity at the relevant 12 times. Accordingly, just as CLO Holdco is bound, DAF is 13 bound.

14 Allowing DAF to assert a claim when its wholly-owned and 15 controlled subsidiary is barred would allow entities to 16 transfer claims amongst their related entities in order to 17 relitigate them and they would never be finality. And, of 18 course, Jim Dondero, as we know, consented to the January 9th
19 order, which provided Mr. Seery protection in a variety of 20 capacities.

21 And as Your Honor has pointed out, and as Mr. Bridges
22 didn't have an answer for, neither CLO Holdco nor the DAF or 23 any other party appealed any of the governance orders. And 24 nobody challenged the validity of these orders at the 25 confirmation hearing, where the terms of these orders were

1 front and center.

2 And importantly, Your Honor, the orders are clear and
3 unambiguous. They require a Bankruptcy Court [sic] to seek 4 Bankruptcy Court approval before they commence or pursue an 5 action against the independent board, the CEO, CRO, or their
6 agents. And they clearly and unambiguously set the standard
7 of care for actions prospectively: gross negligence or 8 willful misconduct.

9 The Bankruptcy Court had jurisdiction to enter the 10 governance orders, which, as expressly indicated in the 11 orders, were core proceedings dealing with the administration
12 of the estate. No one challenged this finding of core
13 jurisdiction. And as I will discuss later, the failure to 14 challenge core jurisdiction is waived under applicable Supreme 15 Court and Fifth Circuit precedent.

16 Your Honor, the Court [sic] does not argue that Movants
17 have waived their right to seek adjudication of a lawsuit that 18 passes through the colorability gate by an Article III Court.
19 The issue is not before the Court, but the changes to the 20 order that the Debtor agreed to make clearly -- clearly will 21 provide Mr. Bridges' clients the ability to make that 22 determination.

23 The Debtor is, however, arguing that the Movants have 24 waived their right to contest the core jurisdiction of the 25 Bankruptcy Court to make the determination that the claims are

1 colorable in the first place, and to challenge the exculpation
2 provisions provided to the beneficiaries of those orders.

3 Accordingly, Your Honor, the elements of res judicata are 4 satisfied. Both proceedings involve the same parties. The 5 prior judgment was entered by a court of competent
6 jurisdiction. The prior order was a final judgment on its 7 merits. And they involved the same causes of action.

8 Importantly, the members of the independent board,
9 including Jim Seery, relied on the protections contained in 10 the January 9th and July 16th orders and would not have 11 accepted these appointments if the protections weren't
12 included. And how do we know this? Because each of them,
13 both Mr. Seery and Mr. Dubel, both testified at the 14 confirmation hearing on this very topic.

15 And I would like to put up on the screen an excerpt from 16 Mr. Seery's testimony at confirmation, which is testimony
17 included in the February 2nd, 2021 transcript, which is 18 Exhibit 2 of the Debtor's exhibits.

19 THE COURT: Okay.

20 MR. POMERANTZ: And I would like to just read this,
21 Your Honor.

22 "Q Okay. You mentioned that there were certain
23 provisions of the January 9th order that were important
24 to you and the other independent directors. Do I have 25 that right?"

1 MR. POMERANTZ: A little bit later on, Mr. Seery
2 testifies:

3 "A And then ultimately there'll be another provision
4 in the agreement here, I don't see it off the top of my 5 head, but a gatekeeper provision. And that provision"
6 --

7 "Q Hold on one second, Mr. Seery."

8 MR. POMERANTZ: Please scroll.

9 "Q So, Paragraph 4 and 5, were those -- were those -- 10 were those provisions put in there at the insistence of 11 the prospective independent directors?

12 "A Yes.

13 "Q Okay. Can we go to Paragraph 10, please? There 14 you go."

15 Mr. Morris: Is this the other provision that you were 16 referring to?

17 "A This is -- it's become to be known as the 18 gatekeeper provision, but it's a provision that I
19 actually got from other cases -- again, another very 20 litigious case -- that I thought it was appropriate to 21 bring it into this case. And the concept here is that 22 when you are dealing with parties that seem to be 23 willing to engage in decade-long litigation and 24 multiple forums, not only domestically but even 25 throughout the world, it seemed important and prudent

1 to me and a requirement that I set out that somebody
2 would have to come to this Court, the Court with 3 jurisdiction over these matters, and determine whether
4 there was a colorable claim. And that colorable claim
5 would have to show gross negligence and willful
6 misconduct -- i.e., something that would not otherwise
7 be indemnifiable" --

8 MR. POMERANTZ: Hold on one second.

9 "A So, basically, it set an exculpation standard for 10 negligence. It exculpates the directors from 11 negligence, and if somebody wants to bring a cause
12 against the directors, they have to come to this Court
13 first to get a finding that there's a colorable claim
14 for gross negligence or willful misconduct."

15 "Q Would you have accepted the engagement as an 16 independent director without the Paragraphs 4, 5, and 17 10 that we just looked at?

18 "A No, these were very specific requests. The 19 language here has been smithed, to be sure, but I
20 provided the original language for Paragraph 10 and 21 insisted on the guaranty provisions above to ensure 22 that the indemnity would have some support.

23 "Q And ultimately did the Committee and the Debtor
24 agree to provide all the protections afforded by 25 Paragraphs 4, 5, and 10?

1 "A Yes."

2 MR. POMERANTZ: So, Your Honor, these -- this
3 testimony also applied to as well as the CEO.

4 The testimony was echoed by Mr. Dubel, another member of 5 the board. And I'm not going to put his testimony on the 6 screen, but it can be found at Pages 272 to 281 of Exhibit 2,
7 which is the February 2nd transcript.

8 Movants argue, however, that res judicata doesn't apply
9 because the Court didn't have jurisdiction to enter these 10 orders. And they argue that the order stripped the District
11 Court of this jurisdiction. As I previously described, the 12 Debtor is prepared to modify the governance orders to provide 13 that the Court shall retain jurisdiction to -- on claims that 14 pass through the gate only to the extent legally permissible.
15 The modification does not appear to be good enough for the 16 Movants. They continue to argue that the Bankruptcy Court
17 can't even act as the exclusive gatekeeper to determine 18 whether such actions are colorable as a prerequisite for 19 commencing or pursuing an action.

20 The problem Movants run into is the Fifth Circuit's
21 opinion of Republic v. Shoaf and various Supreme Court
22 decisions, including Espinosa.

23 In Shoaf, the Fifth Circuit held that a party cannot 24 subsequently challenge a confirmed plan that clearly and 25 unambiguously released a third party, even if the Bankruptcy

1 Court lacked jurisdiction to approve the release in the first
2 place. Movants' proper recourse was to appeal the governance
3 orders, not to seek to collaterally attack them.

4 In Shoaf, the Fifth Circuit held that the confirmed plan
5 was res judicata with respect to a suit by the creditor
6 against the guarantor. And in so ruling, the Fifth Circuit
7 says that the prong of res judicata standard that requires an 8 order, prior order to be made by a court of competent 9 jurisdiction is satisfied regardless of whether the issue was 10 actually litigated. This is because whenever a court enters 11 an order, it does so by implicitly making a finding of its 12 jurisdiction, a determination that can't be attacked. And in 13 fact, in the January 9th and the July 16th orders, it wasn't 14 implicit, the Court's jurisdiction; it was set out that the 15 Court had core jurisdiction.

16 Movants try to brush Shoaf aside, arguing that is the only 17 case the Debtor cites to support res judicata argument and is 18 a narrow opinion that has been questioned and distinguished.
19 That's just not correct, Your Honor. Movants ignore that we 20 have cited two United States Supreme Court cases, Stoll v.
21 Gottlieb and Chicot County Drainage District, upon which the 22 Fifth Circuit based its Shoaf decision. In each case, the 23 U.S. Supreme Court gave res judicata effect to a Bankruptcy
24 Court order that made a ruling party -- that a ruling party
25 later claimed was beyond the Court's jurisdiction to do so.

1 In Stoll, it was a release of guaranty without jurisdiction,
2 like Shoaf. In Chicot, it was an extinguishment of a bond
3 claim without jurisdiction.

4 Similarly, Your Honor, the U.S. Supreme Court held in 5 Espinosa that a party was not entitled to reconsideration of a
6 Bankruptcy Court order under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure
7 60(b)(4) discharging a student loan without making the 8 required statutory finding of undue hardship in an adversary
9 proceeding. And the Supreme Court reasoned in that opinion as 10 follows: A judgment is not void, for example, simply because 11 it may have been erroneous. Similarly, a motion under 12 60(b)(4) is not a substitute for a timely appeal. Instead, 13 60(b)(4) applies only in the rare instance where a judgment is 14 premised either on a certain type of jurisdictional error or a 15 violation of due process that deprives a party of notice or 16 the opportunity to be heard.

17 Federal courts considering Rule 60(b)(4) motions that 18 assert a judgment is void because of a jurisdictional defect
19 generally have reserved it only for the exceptional case in 20 which the court that rendered the judgment lacked even an 21 arguable basis for jurisdiction. This case is not the 22 exceptional -- exceptional circumstance that was referred to 23 by Espinosa.

24 In addition, we argue in our brief, and I'll get to in a
25 few moments, that both of the orders are justified under the

1 Barton doctrine.

2 Actually, before I go to that, Your Honor, I think Movants
3 are really trying to distinguish Espinosa by arguing that the 4 Court's order exculpating Mr. Seery for negligence liability
5 did not provide people, mom-and-pop investors, with the due
6 process informing them that they would not be able to assert
7 duty claims based upon mere negligence. I think that's the 8 core of Mr. Bridges' argument, that, hey, you entered an 9 order, you gave this exculpation, it was inappropriate, and it
10 couldn't be done.

11 There are several problems with Movants' argument. First,
12 Movants mischaracterize both the facts and the law in 13 connection with the Debtor's relationship with its investors.
14 The Debtor is the registered investment advisor for HCLOF as 15 well as approximately 15 to 18 CLOs. The only investor in 16 HCLOF other than the Debtor is CLO Holdco. The investors in 17 the CLOs are the retail funds advised by the Dondero advisors
18 and the other -- and other institutional investors.
19 Accordingly, the thousands of investors, the mom-and-pop
20 investors whose due process rights have allegedly been 21 trampled by the January 9th and July 16th orders, are not
22 investors in any funds managed by the Debtor.

23 And, of course, I have mentioned, as I've mentioned
24 before, no non -- non-Dondero investor, be it a mom-and-pop
25 investor, another institutional investor, anyone unrelated to

1 Mr. Dondero, has ever appeared in this Court to challenge the 2 Debtor's activities.

3 But more fundamentally, Your Honor, the Debtor does not 4 owe fiduciary duties to investors in any of the funds that the 5 Debtor advises. The fiduciary duty that the Debtor owes is to 6 the funds themselves, not the investors in the funds.

7 And while Movants point to Mr. Seery's prior testimony to 8 support the argument that the Debtor owes a duty to investors,
9 Mr. Seery was not testifying as a lawyer and his testimony
10 just cannot change the law.

11 As to each of the funds that the Debtor manages, HCLOF and 12 the CLOs, they were each provided with actual notice of the 13 January 16th -- the July 16th order and didn't object. And as 14 Your Honor will recall, the Trustees for the CLOs, the party
15 that could potentially have claims for breach of fiduciary
16 duty, they participated in the January 9th hearing. They came 17 to the Court and were concerned about the protocols that the 18 Debtor was agreeing to with the Committee. We revised them.
19 The Trustees didn't object. They didn't object then; they 20 didn't object now. And, in fact, they consented to the 21 assumption of the contracts between the Debtor and the CLOs.

22 So the argument that the orders, by having this 23 exculpation for future conduct, violated due process rights of 24 anyone and is the type -- essentially, the type of order that 25 Espinosa would have contemplated could be attacked, is --

1 relies on faulty legal and factual premises. No duty to
2 investors. No private right of action. And both -- and all
3 the funds received due process.

4 In addition, Your Honor, as we argue in our brief and I'll 5 get to in a few moments, both of the orders are justified
6 under the Barton doctrine, as Mr. Seery is entitled to 7 protection based upon how courts around the country have 8 interpreted the Barton doctrine. As such, Mr. Seery is 9 performing his role both as an agent of the independent board
10 under the January 9th order, as a CEO under the July 16th
11 order, as a quasi-judicial officer. And as Your Honor
12 examined in the Ondova opinion which you mentioned, trustees
13 are entitled to qualified immunity for damage to third parties 14 resulting from simple negligence, provided that the trustee is 15 operating within the scope of his duties and is not acting in 16 an ultra vires manner.

17 So, exculpating the independent directors, their agents,
18 and the CEO in the January 9th and July 16th orders was a 19 recognition by this Court that they would be entitled to 20 qualified immunity, much in the same way trustees are.

21 No doubt that Movants contend that this was error and that 22 the Court overreached. However, the remedy for that overreach
23 was an appeal, not a reconsideration 16 months later. The 24 Court's orders based upon the determination that in this 25 highly contentious case that these court officers needed to be

1 protected from negligence suits is not the exceptional case
2 where the Court lacked any arguable basis for jurisdiction.
3 Accordingly, this Court must follow Espinosa, Shoaf, Stoll,
4 and Chicot and reject the attack on the prior court orders.

5 The only case Movants cite to challenge the Supreme
6 Court's decision -- to challenge the Supreme Court precedent I
7 mentioned and the Fifth Circuit's Shoaf decision is the 8 Applewood case. Applewood is totally consistent with Shoaf.
9 Applewood also involved a plan that purported to release a 10 guaranty claim that the guarantor argued was res judicata in 11 subsequent litigation regarding the guaranty. The Fifth
12 Circuit held in that case that the plan was not res judicata.
13 It made that ruling because the plan did not contain clear and 14 unambiguous language releasing the guaranty. In that way, the 15 Fifth Circuit distinguished Shoaf.

16 Applewood and Shoaf are consistent. A Bankruptcy Court
17 order will be given res judicata effect, even if the Court
18 didn't have jurisdiction to enter it, if the order was clear
19 and unambiguous. In Shoaf, the release was. In Applewood, it 20 wasn't.

21 Movants argued on June 8th and argue now that the 22 Applewood case really argues -- really deals with prospective
23 exculpation of claims. I went back and read Mr. Bridges'
24 comments carefully of June 8th. He said Applewood,
25 exculpation. Well, that's just not correct. Applewood is all

1 about requiring specificity of a (garbled) to give it res
2 judicata effect. Claims that existed at that time, were they
3 described clearly and unambiguously? Yes? Shoaf applies.
4 No? Applewood does -- applies.

5 So how should the Court apply these principles here? The 6 Court approved a procedure for certain claims in the 7 governance orders. The procedure: come to Bankruptcy Court
8 before pursuing a claim against the independent directors and 9 Seery or their agents so that the Court can make a
10 colorability determination. Clear and unambiguous. The 11 governance orders each provide that the Bankruptcy Court had 12 jurisdiction to enter the orders, and the orders were not 13 appealed.

14 Movants attempt to confuse the Court and argue Applewood
15 is on point because the January 9th and July 16th orders do
16 not clearly identify specific claims that Movants now have 17 that are being released. And because they're not specific,
18 then basically it's an ambiguous release and Applewood
19 applies.

20 The problem with the Movants' argument is that neither the 21 January 9th or July 16th orders released claims that existed
22 at that time. If they did, and if there wasn't an adequate
23 description, I might agree with Mr. Bridges that Applewood
24 applied. But there were no claims. It was prospective. It
25 was a standard of care. The Court clearly and unambiguously

1 said what the standard of care would be going forward.

2 Clearly, under Shoaf and Supreme Court precedent, they are
3 entitled to res judicata because it's a clear and unambiguous
4 provision. Applewood just simply doesn't apply.

5 Mr. Phillips at the last hearing made an impassioned plea
6 to the Court for a narrow interpretation of the exculpation
7 provisions in the January 9th and July 16th orders, and he 8 argued that the Court could not possibly have intended for the 9 exculpation for negligence to apply on a go forward basis. He 10 thus argued to the Court that the Court should construe the 11 exculpation narrowly and only apply it to potential claims of 12 harm caused to the Debtor, as opposed to harm caused to third
13 parties, which he said included thousands of innocent
14 investors.

15 Of course, Mr. Phillips made those arguments unburdened by 16 the actual facts and the prior proceedings which led to the 17 entry of these orders, because, as he was the first to admit,
18 he only became involved in the case a month ago.

19 As the Court recalls, and as reinforced by Mr. Seery's and 20 Mr. Dubel's testimony I just mentioned, the exculpation
21 provisions were included precisely to prevent Mr. Dondero, 22 through any one of the entities he's owned and controlled, the 23 Movants being two of those, from asserting baseless claims 24 against the beneficiaries of those orders, exactly the 25 situation Mr. Seery now finds himself in.

1 And, again, it bears emphasizing: throughout this case,
2 not one of the purported public investors Mr. Phillips
3 lamented would be prevented from holding Mr. Seery responsible
4 for his conduct has ever appeared in this case to object about
5 anything. And none of the directors of the funds, the funds
6 where the Debtor acts as an investment adviser, have ever
7 stepped foot in this court, either.

8 Even if the Court declines to apply res judicata, Your 9 Honor, to prevent challenges to the governance orders, the 10 Court has the jurisdiction, had the jurisdiction to include
11 the gatekeeping provisions in those orders. The Bankruptcy 12 Court derives its jurisdiction from 28 U.S.C. Section 157, and 13 bankruptcy jurisdiction is divided into two parts: core
14 matters, which are those arising in or arising under Title 11,
15 and noncore matters, those matters which are related to a
16 Chapter 11 case.

17 Bankruptcy Courts may enter final orders in core
18 proceedings, and with the consent of parties, noncore
19 proceedings. If a party does not consent to a final judgment
20 in the noncore matters or waives its right to consent, then 21 the Bankruptcy Court -- or does not waive its right to 22 consent, then the Bankruptcy Court issues a report and 23 recommendation to the District Court.

24 The seminal Fifth Circuit case on bankruptcy court
25 jurisdiction is the 1987 case of Wood v. Wood, 825 F.2d 90.

1 There, the Fifth Circuit held that the Bankruptcy Court has 2 related to jurisdiction over matters if the outcome of that
3 proceeding could conceivably have any effect on the estate
4 being administered in the bankruptcy.

5 More recently, the Fifth Circuit, in the 2005 case, in 6 Stonebridge Tech's, elaborated on when a matter has a
7 conceivable effect on the estate such as to confer Bankruptcy
8 Court jurisdiction. There, the Fifth Circuit held that an 9 action is related to bankruptcy if the outcome could alter the 10 debtor's rights, liabilities, options, or freedom of action,
11 either positively or negatively, and which in any way impacts
12 upon the handling and the administration of the bankruptcy
13 estate. It is against this backdrop, Your Honor, that the 14 Court should evaluate its jurisdiction to have entered the 15 orders.

16 So, again, what did the orders do? They established
17 governance over the Chapter 11 debtor with new independent
18 directors being approved. They established the procedures and 19 protocols of how transactions were going to be presented to 20 and approved by the Committee. They vested in the Committee
21 certain related-party claims, and they provided for the 22 procedures parties would have to follow to assert any claims
23 against the independent directors and the CRO and the agents
24 and advisors.

25 Your Honor, it's hard to imagine that there is a more core

1 order than the entry of these orders. At the time the orders
2 were entered, the Court was well aware of the potential for 3 acrimony from Mr. Dondero and his related entities, and 4 included the gatekeeper provisions to prevent the Debtor's
5 estate from being embroiled in frivolous litigation against 6 the board and the CEO.

7 Such protections were clearly within the Court's
8 jurisdiction, both to protect the administration of the estate
9 but also under applicable Fifth Circuit law dealing with 10 vexatious litigants, as set forth in the Baum and Carroll
11 cases that the Court cited in its confirmation order.

12 Not that it was hard to predict, but the last several 13 months have reinforced how important the gatekeeping
14 provisions in the order are and how important similar 15 provisions in the plan are.

16 The Court heard extensive testimony at the confirmation
17 hearing regarding the havoc continued litigation by Mr.
18 Dondero and his related entities would cause, which 19 predictions have unfortunately been borne out by the 20 unprecedented blizzard of litigation involving Mr. Dondero and 21 his related entities that has consumed the Court over the last 22 several months and caused the estate to incur millions of 23 dollars in fees that could have been used to pay its 24 creditors.

25 And these attacks are continuing. As I mentioned before,

1 in addition to the DAF lawsuit, Sbaiti & Co. filed an action
2 against the Debtor on behalf of PCMG, another related entity,
3 alleging postpetition mismanagement of the Select Fund.

4 And to complete the hat trick, they are the lawyers
5 seeking to sue Acis in the Southern District of New York for 6 allegedly post-confirmation matters.

7 The Court knew then and certainly knows now that the 8 potential for sizable indemnification claims could consume the 9 estate. The Court used that as the potential basis for 10 determining that the orders were within its jurisdiction, just 11 as it used that potential to justify the exculpation
12 provisions in the plan as being consistent with Pacific
13 Lumber.

14 Movants also ignore the cases -- and we cited in our 15 opposition -- where courts in this district, including Judge
16 Lynn in Pilgrim's Pride in 2010 and Judge Houser in the CHC
17 Group in 2016, approved gatekeeper provisions that provided
18 the Bankruptcy Court with exclusive jurisdiction to adjudicate
19 claims against postpetition fiduciaries.

20 Movants also ignore cases outside this district, including 21 General Motors and Madoff, which we cited in our brief as 22 examples of cases where Bankruptcy Courts have been used as 23 gatekeepers to determine if claims are colorable or being 24 asserted against the correct entity.

25 And there's another reason, Your Honor, why Movants may

1 now not contest the Court's jurisdiction to have entered those
2 orders. Each of those orders, as I said before, include a
3 finding that the Court had core jurisdiction to enter the 4 orders. No party contested that finding or refused to consent
5 to the core jurisdiction.

6 Under well-established Supreme Court precedent, parties
7 can waive their right to challenge the Bankruptcy Court's
8 jurisdiction, core jurisdiction, by failing to object. In 9 Wellness v. Sharif in 2015, the Supreme Court expressly held 10 that Article III was not violated if parties knowingly and 11 voluntarily consented to adjudication of Stern v. Marshall-
12 type alter ego claims, and that the consent need not be 13 express, so long as it was knowing and voluntary.

14 And Wellness confirmed the pre-Stern opinion of the Fifth
15 Circuit in the 1995 McFarland case, which held that a person
16 who fails to object to the Bankruptcy Court's assumption of 17 core jurisdiction is deemed to have consented to the entry of 18 a final order by the Bankruptcy Court.

19 Your Honor, I'd now like to turn to the Barton doctrine.
20 The Court also has jurisdiction to have entered the orders
21 based upon the Barton doctrine. The Barton doctrine dates
22 back to an old United States Supreme Court case and provides 23 as a general rule that, before a suit may be brought against a
24 trustee, consent from the appointing court must be obtained.

25 Movants essentially make two arguments why the Barton

1 doctrine doesn't apply.

2 First, Movants, without citing any authority, argue that
3 it does not apply to Mr. Seery because he is not a trustee or 4 receiver and was not appointed by the Court. Although the 5 doctrine was originally applied to receivers, it has been 6 extended over time to cover various court-appointed
7 fiduciaries and their agents in bankruptcy cases, including
8 debtors in possession, officers and directors of the debtor,
9 and the general partner of the debtor. And although Mr.
10 Bridges says he couldn't find one case that applied the Barton
11 doctrine to a court-retained professional, I will now talk
12 about several such cases.

13 In Helmer v. Pogue, a 2012 case cited in our brief, the 14 District Court for the Northern District of Alabama
15 extensively analyzed the Barton doctrine jurisprudence from 16 the Eleventh Circuit and beyond and concluded that it applied
17 to debtors in possession. The Helmer Court relied in part on 18 a prior 2000 decision of the Eleventh Circuit in Carter v.
19 Rodgers, which held that the doctrine applies to both court-
20 appointed and court-approved officers of the debtor, which is 21 consistent with the law in other circuits.

22 And subsequently, the Eleventh Circuit again considered --
23 and in that case, the distinction of a court-appointed as a 24 court-retained professional was -- was not persuasive to the 25 Court, and the Court held that a court-retained professional

1 can still have Barton protection, notwithstanding that he
2 wasn't appointed, the argument that Mr. Bridges tries to make.

3 And subsequently, --

4 THE COURT: I wonder, was that -- was that Judge
5 Clifton Jessup, by chance? Or maybe Bennett?

6 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, this was -- this was the 7 Eleventh Circuit Carter v. Rodgers, so I think Judge Jessup
8 was --

9 THE COURT: Oh, I thought you were still talking
10 about the Alabama case. No?

11 MR. POMERANTZ: Yeah, the Alabama -- well, the 12 Alabama case referred to the Eleventh Circuit case, Carter v.
13 Rodgers, --

14 THE COURT: Okay.

15 MR. POMERANTZ: -- and the appointment and -- or 16 retention issue was discussed in the Carter v. Rodgers case.

17 THE COURT: Okay.

18 MR. POMERANTZ: And subsequently, the Eleventh
19 Circuit again considered the contours of the Barton doctrine
20 in CDC Corp., a 2015 case, 2015 U.S. App. LEXIS 9718. In that 21 case, which Your Honor referenced in your Ondova opinion,
22 which I will discuss in a few moments, the Eleventh Circuit
23 held that a debtor's general counsel who had been approved by 24 the Court, who was appointed by a chief restructuring officer
25 who was also approved by the Court, was covered by the Barton

1 doctrine for acts taken in furtherance of the administration
2 of the estate and the liquidation of the assets.

3 And the Eleventh Circuit last year, in Tufts v. Hay, 977
4 F.3d 204, reaffirmed that court-approved counsel who function
5 as the equivalent of court-appointed officers are entitled to 6 protection under Barton. While the Court in that case
7 ultimately ruled that counsel could be sued without first
8 going to the Bankruptcy Court, it did so because it determined
9 that the suit between two sets of lawyers would not have any 10 effect on the administration of the estate.

11 So, Your Honor, not only is there authority, there is 12 overwhelming authority that Mr. Seery is entitled to the 13 protections.

14 In Gordon v. Nick, a District -- a case from 1998 from the 15 Fourth Circuit, the Court that the Barton doctrine applied to 16 a lawsuit against a general partner who was responsible for 17 administering the bankruptcy estate.

18 And as I mentioned, Your Honor, and as Your Honor
19 mentioned, Your Honor had reason to look at the Barton
20 doctrine in length and in depth in the 2017 Ondova opinion.
21 And in the course of the opinion, Your Honor discussed one of 22 the policy rationales for the doctrine, which you took from 23 the Seventh Circuit's Linton opinion, and you said as follows:
24 "Finally, another policy concern underlying the doctrine is a
25 concern for the overall integrity of the bankruptcy process

1 and the threat of trustees being distracted from or 2 intimidated from doing their jobs. For example, losers in the 3 bankruptcy process might turn to other courts to try to become 4 winners there by alleging the trustee did a negligent job."

5 Here, the independent board was approved by the Court as 6 an alternative to the appointment of a Chapter 11 trustee.
7 And it and its agent, including Mr. Seery as the CEO, even 8 before the July 16th order, were provided protections in the 9 form of the gatekeeper order and exculpation.

10 I'm sure the Court has a good recollection of the January
11 9th hearing -- we've talked about it a lot in the proceedings
12 before Your Honor -- where the Debtor and the Committee
13 presented the governance resolution to Your Honor. And as 14 Your Honor will recall, the appointment of the board was a 15 hotly-contested issue among the Debtor and the Committee and 16 was heavily negotiated. And the appointment of the 17 independent board was even contested by the United States
18 Trustee at a hearing on January 20th, 2020.

19 I refer the Court to the transcripts of the hearings on 20 January 9th and January 20th of 2020, which clearly 21 demonstrate that appointing this board and giving it the 22 rights and protections and its agents the rights and 23 protections was not your typical corporate governance issue,
24 but it was essentially the Court's alternative to appointing a
25 trustee. And recognizing that the members of the independent

1 board were essentially officers of the Court, the Court
2 approved the gatekeeper provision, requiring parties first to
3 come and seek the Court's permission before suing them, in 4 order to prevent them from being harassed by frivolous
5 litigation.

6 And the independent board was given the responsibility in 7 the January 9th order to retain a CEO it deemed appropriate,
8 and it did so by retaining Mr. Seery.

9 Recognizing the Barton doctrine as it applies to Mr. Seery
10 is consistent with a legion of cases throughout the United 11 States, and Movants' argument that Mr. Seery is not court-
12 appointed is just wrong.

13 Second, Your Honor, Movants cite without any authority,
14 argue that even if the Barton doctrine applied there is an 15 exception which would allow it to pursue a claim against Mr.
16 Seery without leave of the Court.

17 The Debtor agrees the 28 U.S.C. § 959 is an exception to 18 the Barton doctrine. Section 959(a) provides that trustees, 19 receivers, or managers of any property, including debtors in 20 possession, may be sued without leave of the court appointing 21 them with respect to any of their acts or transactions in 22 carrying on business connected with such property.

23 As the Court also pointed out at the June 8th hearing, and 24 Mr. Bridges alluded to in his argument, the last sentence of 25 959(a) provides that such actions -- clearly referring to

1 actions that may be pursued without leave of the appointing
2 court -- shall be subject to the general equity power of such 3 court, so far as the same may be necessary to the ends of 4 justice.

5 And Mr. Bridges made a plea, saying you can't take away my 6 jury trial right there. You just cannot do that. Well, I
7 have two answers to that, Your Honor. One, they relinquished
8 their jury trial right. We've established that. Okay?

9 The second is allowing Your Honor to act as a gatekeeper
10 has nothing to do with their jury trial right. Allowing Your 11 Honor to act as a gatekeeper allows you to determine whether 12 the action could go forward, and it'll either go forward in 13 Your Honor's court or some other court.

14 And the argument that the exculpation was essentially a
15 violation of 959 is just -- is just -- it just is twisting
16 what happened. You have an exculpation provision. We already 17 went through the authority the Court had to give an 18 exculpation. With respect to these litigants who are before
19 Your Honor -- we're not talking about anyone else who's coming
20 in to try to get relief from the order; we're talking about 21 these litigants -- we've already established that they were 22 here, they're bound by res judicata. So their 959 argument
23 goes away.

24 And as the Court -- and separate and apart from that, the 25 issue at issue in the District Court litigation is -- is not

1 even subject to 959.

2 Mr. Bridges says, well, of course it is because it deals
3 with the administration of the estate. I'd like to refer to 4 what the Court said -- this Court said in its Ondova opinion:
5 The exception generally applies to situations in which the 6 trustee is operating a business and some stranger to the 7 bankruptcy process might be harmed, such as a negligence claim
8 in a slip-and-fall case, and is inapplicable to suits based 9 upon actions taken to further the administering or liquidating
10 the bankruptcy estate.

11 And your Ondova opinion is consistent with the Third and 12 Eleventh Circuit opinions Your Honor cited in your opinion, as 13 well as numerous other --

14 (Interruption.)

15 MR. POMERANTZ: -- from the -- from around the 16 country, including cases from the First, Second, Sixth,
17 Seventh, and Ninth Circuits. And I'm not going to give all
18 the cites to those cases, but it's not a -- it's not a
19 remarkable proposition that Your Honor relied on in Ondova.

20 In addition, several of these cases, including the 21 Eleventh Circuit's Carter opinion, have been cited with 22 approval by the Fifth Circuit in National Business Association
23 v. Lightfoot, a 2008 unpublished opinion for this very point.
24 The Barton exception of 959 does not apply to actions taken in 25 the administration of the case and the liquidation of assets

1 in the estate.

2 Suffice it to say that it's clear that the Section 959
3 exception to Barton has no applicability in this case.
4 Movants, hardly strangers to the bankruptcy case, want to sue
5 Mr. Seery for acts taken relating to a settlement of very 6 complex and significant claims against the estate. They want
7 to sue a court-appointed fiduciary for doing his job,
8 resolving claims against the estate and his management of the 9 bankruptcy estate. And they want to do this outside of the 10 Bankruptcy Court.

11 Settlement of the HarbourVest claim, which is where this 12 claim arises under -- whether it's a collateral attack now or 13 not, and we say it is, is for another issue -- but it clearly
14 arises in the context of settlement of the HarbourVest claim,
15 is the quintessential act to further the administration and 16 liquidation of the bankruptcy estate, and certainly doesn't 17 fall within the 959 exception.

18 Movants seem to be arguing that 959(a) makes a distinction
19 between claims against Mr. Seery that damaged the Debtor and 20 claims against Mr. Seery that damaged third parties. However,
21 the Movants make up that distinction, and it's not in the 22 statute, it's not in the case law. The focus is not on who 23 the conduct damages, but it's rather on whether the conduct
24 was taken in connection with the administration or the 25 liquidation of the estate.

1 And even if the Debtor is wrong, Your Honor, which it's 2 not, the savings clause allows the Court to determine whether
3 leave to be -- sue will be granted. Given that these claims
4 are asserted by Dondero-related entities, if not controlled
5 entities, no serious argument exists that the equities do not
6 permit this Court to determine if leave to sue is appropriate.

7 Accordingly, Movants' argument that the orders create this 8 tension with 959 is simply an over-dramatization. And in any 9 event, Your Honor, there's a basis independent of Barton that 10 supports the jurisdiction to enter the orders, as I mentioned.

11 But even if the orders only relied on Barton, there is an 12 easy fix to Movants' concerns: let them come to court and 13 argue that the type of suit they are bringing allegedly falls
14 within the exception of 959.

15 Your Honor, Movants argue that the Bankruptcy Court may 16 not act as a gatekeeper if it would not have jurisdiction to 17 deal with the underlying action. They essentially argue that 18 an Article I judge may not pass on the colorability of a
19 claim, that it should be decided by an Article III judge.
20 This is the same argument, Your Honor, that Your Honor
21 rejected in connection with plan confirmation and which I
22 touched on earlier.

23 And the reason why Your Honor rejected it is because 24 there's no law to support it. In fact, there is Fifth Circuit
25 law that holds to the contrary. And we talked about a little

1 bit the Fifth Circuit case decided is Villegas v. Schmidt in 2 2015. And Villegas is a simple case. Schmidt was appointed
3 trustee over a debtor and liquidated its estate and the 4 Bankruptcy Court approved his final fees. Four years later,
5 Villegas and the prior debtor sued Schmidt in District Court,
6 the district in which the Bankruptcy Court was pending,
7 arguing that he was negligent in the performance of his 8 duties. The District Court dismissed the case because 9 Villegas failed to obtain Bankruptcy Court approval to bring 10 the suit under the Barton doctrine.

11 On appeal, Villegas argued Barton didn't apply for two 12 reasons. First, that Stern v. Marshall created an exception
13 to the Barton doctrine for claims that the Bankruptcy Court
14 would not have the jurisdiction to adjudicate. And second,
15 that Barton did not apply if the suit is brought in the 16 District Court, which exercises supervisory authority over the 17 Bankruptcy Court that appointed the trustee. Pretty much the 18 argument that was made by Movants at the contempt hearing.

19 The Fifth Circuit rejected both arguments. It held that 20 the existence of a Stern claim does not impact the Bankruptcy
21 Court's authority because Stern did not overrule Barton and 22 the Supreme Court had cautioned circuit courts against 23 interpreting later cases as impliedly overruling prior cases.

24 More importantly, the Fifth Circuit pointed to a post-
25 Stern 2014 case, Executive Benefits v. Arkison, 573 U.S. 25

1 (2014), which held that Stern does not decide how a Bankruptcy
2 Court or District Courts should proceed when a Stern creditor
3 is identified, as support for the argument that Barton is 4 still good law, even dealing with a Stern claim.

5 Second, the Fifth Circuit, joining every circuit to have 6 addressed the issue, ruled that the District Court and the 7 Bankruptcy Court are distinct from one another and the 8 Bankruptcy Court has the exclusive authority to determine the 9 colorability of Barton claims and that the supervisory
10 District Court does not.

11 Movants didn't address Villegas in their reply. Briefly
12 tried to distinguish it, unconvincingly, today. The bottom
13 line is Villegas is directly applicable. Your Honor cited it
14 in the Ondova opinion for precisely the proposition that 15 Barton applies whether or not the Court has authority to 16 adjudicate the claim.

17 Accordingly, Your Honor, it was within the Court's 18 jurisdiction to require a party to seek approval of Your Honor
19 on the colorability of a claim before an action may be 20 commenced or pursued against the protected parties, even if 21 Your Honor wouldn't have authority to adjudicate the claim at 22 the end of the day.

23 In fact, some courts have even addressed the proper 24 procedure for doing so, requiring the putative plaintiff to 25 not only seek leave of Bankruptcy Court but also to provide a

1 draft complaint and a basis for the Court to determine if the 2 claim is colorable.

3 Movants have done neither, and they should not be
4 permitted to modify the final orders of the Court as a
5 workaround.

6 Your Honor, that concludes my presentation. I'm happy to 7 answer any questions Your Honor may have.

8 THE COURT: All right. Not at this time. All right.
9 I'm going to figure out, do we need a break or not, depending 10 on what Mr. Bridges tells me. I assume we're just doing this 11 on argument today. I think that's what I heard. No witnesses
12 or exhibits.

13 MR. BRIDGES: That is correct, Your Honor.

14 THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Bridges, how long do you 15 expect your rebuttal to take so I can figure out does the 16 Court need a break?

17 MR. BRIDGES: Fifteen minutes plus whatever it takes 18 to submit agreed-to exhibits.

19 THE COURT: Okay. Let's take a five-minute bathroom
20 break. We'll come back. It's -- what time is it? It's 1:11
21 Central time. We'll come back in five minutes.

22 THE CLERK: All rise.

23 (A recess ensued from 1:11 p.m. until 1:17 p.m.)

24 THE CLERK: All rise.

25 THE COURT: All right. Please be seated. We're

1 going back on the record in the Highland matters.

2 Mr. Bridges, time for your rebuttal. I want to ask you a
3 question right off the bat. Mr. Pomerantz pointed out
4 something that was on my list that I forgot to ask you when
5 you made your initial presentation. What is the authority
6 you're relying on? You did not cite a statute or a rule per
7 se, but I guess we can probably all agree that Bankruptcy Rule
8 9024 and Federal Rule 60 is the authority that would govern
9 your motion, correct?

10 MR. BRIDGES: I don't agree, Your Honor. I don't 11 believe this is a final order that we're contesting here. And 12 I think that's demonstrated by the Court's final confirmation
13 -- plan -- plan confirmation order that seeks to modify this 14 order or will modify this order upon being -- being effective.
15 So I don't think so.

16 In the alternative, if we are challenging a final order,
17 then I think you're right as to the rules that would be 18 controlling.

19 THE COURT: All right. Well, let me back up. Why
20 exactly do you say this would be an interlocutory order as 21 opposed to a final order?

22 MR. BRIDGES: Because of its nature, Your Honor.
23 While the appointment in the order or the approval of the 24 appointment in the order might, as a separate component of the 25 order, have -- have finality, the provisions -- the provisions

1 in it relating to gatekeeping and exculpation are, we think,
2 by their very nature, quite obviously interlocutory and not
3 permanent. They don't seem to indicate an intention by any of 4 the parties that, 30 years from now, if Mr. Seery is still CEO
5 at Highland, long after the bankruptcy case has ended, that 6 nonetheless parties would be prohibited from bringing claims,
7 strangers to this action would be prohibited from bringing 8 claims related to his CEO role.

9 I think the nature of it demonstrates that, the 10 modifications to it, and even the inclusion of it in the final 11 plan confirmation, as well as -- can't read that.

12 THE COURT: Can you give me some authority? Because 13 as we know, there's a lot of authority out there in the 14 bankruptcy universe on what discrete orders are interlocutory
15 in nature that a bankruptcy judge might routinely enter and 16 which ones are final. You know, it would just probably, if I
17 flipped open Collier's, I could -- you know, it would be mind-
18 numbing.

19 So what authority can you rely on? I mean, is there any 20 authority that says an employment order is not a final order?
21 That would be shocking to me if you have cases to that effect,
22 but, I mean, of course, sometimes we do interim on short 23 notice and then final. But this would be shocking to me if 24 there is case authority to support the argument this is not a
25 final order. But I learn something new every day, so maybe I

1 would be shocked and there is.

2 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, I'd point you to In re
3 Smyth, 207 F.3d 758, and In re Royal Manor, 525 B.K. 338
4 [sic], for the proposition that retaining a bankruptcy
5 professional is an interlocutory order.

6 THE COURT: Okay. Stop for a moment. The Smyth
7 case. Which court is that?

8 MR. BRIDGES: Fifth Circuit.

9 THE COURT: Okay. So tell me the facts. I'm 10 surprised I don't know about this case. But, again, I don't 11 know every case. So, it held that an employment order is an 12 interlocutory order?

13 MR. BRIDGES: Appointing counsel. A professional in 14 the bankruptcy context, Your Honor.

15 THE COURT: Counsel for a debtor-in-possession? An 16 order approving counsel was an interlocutory order?

17 MR. BRIDGES: Yes, or the Trustee's counsel.

18 THE COURT: Or the Trustee's counsel? Okay. What 19 were the circumstances? Was this on an expedited basis and 20 there wasn't a follow-up final order, or what?

21 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, I don't have -- I don't 22 have that at the tip of my memory. I'm sorry.

23 THE COURT: Okay. And the other one, 525 B.R. 338, 24 what court was that?

25 MR. BRIDGES: It's a Bankruptcy Court within the

1 Sixth Circuit. I'm not certain which district.

2 THE COURT: All right. Well, maybe one of you two 3 over there can look them up and give me the context, because 4 that is surprising authority. Or other lawyers on the WebEx
5 maybe can do some quickie research.

6 Okay. We'll come back to that. But assuming that this 7 was a final order, which I have just been presuming it was,
8 Rule 60 is the authority you're going under? 9024 and Rule
9 60, correct?

10 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, we have not invoked those 11 rules. Alternatively, I think you're right that they would 12 control if we are wrong about the interlocutory nature of the 13 order.

14 THE COURT: Well, you have to be going under certain
15 -- some kind of authority when you file a motion. So I'm --

16 MR. BRIDGES: As an alternative --

17 THE COURT: I'm approaching this exactly, I assure
18 you, as the District Court or a Court of Appeals would. You 19 know, you start out, what is the legal authority that is being 20 invoked here?

21 MR. BRIDGES: Well, --

22 THE COURT: So I just assume Rule 60. I can't, you
23 know, come up with anything else that would be the authority.

24 MR. BRIDGES: Yes, Your Honor. You also have 25 inherent power to modify orders that are in violation of the

1 law. And we pointed you to --

2 THE COURT: Now, is that right? Is that really
3 right? Why do we have Rule 60 if I can just willy-nilly, oh,
4 I feel like I got that wrong two years ago? I can't do that,
5 can I? Rule 60 is the template for when a court can do that.
6 Parties are entitled to rely on orders of courts. And that's 7 why we have Rule 60, right? So, --

8 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, I think -- I think that 9 we're miscommunicating. I'm trying not to rely on Rule 60 in 10 the first instance because in the first instance we view this 11 as not a final order. So, in the first instance, --

12 THE COURT: I got that. And I've got my law clerks
13 looking up your cases to see if they convince me. But I'm 14 asking you to go to layer two. Assuming I don't agree with 15 you these are final orders, what is your authority for the 16 relief you're seeking?

17 MR. BRIDGES: Yes, Your Honor. Rule 60 would apply
18 in the alternative.

19 THE COURT: All right.

20 MR. BRIDGES: That's correct.

21 THE COURT: So, which provision? Which provision of 22 Rule 60? (b) what?

23 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, I'm not prepared to concede
24 any of them. I don't have the rule in front of me.

25 THE COURT: You're not prepared to concede what?

1 MR. BRIDGES: Any of the provisions of Rule 60. Just
2 (b)(1), (b)(2), especially, but I'm -- I'm -- Rule 60 is our
3 basis, as is the particulars (b)(1), (2), (6) --

4 (Garbled audio.)

5 THE COURT: Okay. You're breaking up. Can you
6 restate?

7 MR. BRIDGES: (b)(1), (2), and (6), as -- as well as 8 any other provision, Your Honor, of Rule 60.

9 THE COURT: Okay. Well, so (1), mistake,
10 inadvertence, surprise, excusable neglect. Which one of 11 those?

12 MR. BRIDGES: All of the above, Your Honor.

13 THE COURT: Surprise? Who's surprised?

14 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, I think every potential
15 litigant who discovers that your order purports to bar
16 prospective unaccrued claims at the time the order issued
17 would be surprised.

18 Frankly, I think Mr. Seery would be surprised, given his 19 testimony that he owes fiduciary duty -- duties that he must 20 abide by and that he appears to have, as I continue to 21 represent to clients, to advisees, and to the SEC, that those 22 duties are owing.

23 THE COURT: Okay. I'm giving you one more chance
24 here to make clear on the record what provision of Rule 60(b)
25 are you relying on, okay? I need to know. It's not in your

1 pleading.

2 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, --

3 THE COURT: So tell me specifically. I can only --

4 MR. BRIDGES: -- (b)(1) --

5 THE COURT: -- come up with a result here if I know
6 exactly what's being presented.

7 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, (b)(1), (b)(2), and (b)(6)

8 --

9 THE COURT: Which, okay, there are multiple parts to 10 (1). You're saying somebody's surprised by the ruling. I
11 don't know who. Really, all that matters is your client, the 12 Movants. You're saying, even though they participated, --

13 MR. BRIDGES: Yes, Your Honor.

14 THE COURT: -- got notice, they're somehow surprised?
15 Why are they surprised?

16 MR. BRIDGES: Yes, Your Honor.

17 THE COURT: Do you have evidence of their surprise?

18 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, our brief shows the 19 intentions of all involved were not the interpretation of that 20 order being advanced at this -- at this point in time. And 21 so, yes, I believe that is evidence. The transcripts of the 22 hearings I believe evidence that as well, that the 23 understanding of everyone involved was not that future --
24 unspecified future claims that had not accrued yet would be 25 released under (b)(1). Yes, Your Honor.

1 THE COURT: Okay.

2 MR. BRIDGES: Under (b)(2), --

3 THE COURT: I don't have any evidence of that. All I
4 have is the clear wording of the order. Okay. Let me just --
5 just let me go through this.

6 Assuming Rule 60 (1) through (6) are what you're arguing
7 here, what about Rule 60(c): a motion under Rule 60(b) must 8 be made within a reasonable time? We're now 11 months --

9 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, --

10 THE COURT: We're now 11 months past the July 2020
11 order. What is your authority for this being a reasonable
12 time?

13 MR. BRIDGES: Yes, Your Honor. If I may back up one
14 step before answering your question. Under (b)(2), we're 15 relying on newly-discovered evidence that was discovered in 16 late March and caused both the filing of this motion and the 17 filing of the District Court action.

18 Under (b)(4), we believe that the order is --

19 THE COURT: Let me stop. Let me stop. What is my 20 evidence that you're putting in the record that's newly 21 discovered?

22 MR. BRIDGES: The evidence is detailed in the 23 complaint that is in the record. You know, --

24 THE COURT: That's not evidence.

25 MR. BRIDGES: -- honestly, Your Honor, --

1 THE COURT: That is not evidence. Okay? A lawyer-
2 drafted complaint in another court is not evidence. Okay?

3 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, I think, to be technical,
4 that there is not a record yet, that we have evidence yet to 5 be admitted on our exhibit list. I believe in this 6 circumstance -- I understand that, in general, allegations in 7 a pleading are not evidence. In this instance, when we're
8 talking about whether or not new facts led to the filing of a 9 lawsuit, I do believe that the allegations in the lawsuit are 10 evidence of those new facts.

11 THE COURT: All right. Go on.

12 MR. BRIDGES: Under (b)(4), we believe the order is,
13 in part, void. It is void because of the jurisdictional and 14 other defects noted in our argument.

15 And also, under (b)(6) (garbled) ground for relief that 16 we're appealing to the equitable powers of this Court to 17 correct errors and manifest injustice towards not just the 18 litigants here but to correct the order of the Court to make 19 it comply with -- with the law, with the statutes promulgated
20 by Congress and to respect the jurisdiction of the District
21 Court.

22 THE COURT: All right. Do you agree with Mr.
23 Pomerantz that the case law standard for Rule 60(b)(4) is 24 exceptional circumstances? It's only applied so that a
25 judgment is voided in exceptional circumstances. Do you

1 disagree with that case authority?

2 MR. BRIDGES: I would -- I would agree, in part, that
3 unusual circumstances is not the ordinary case. I'm not
4 entirely sure what you mean by exceptional, but I think we're 5 on the same page.

6 THE COURT: Okay. It's not what I mean. That's just 7 the case law standard. And I'm asking, do you agree with Mr.
8 Pomerantz that that is the standard set forth in case law when 9 applying 60(b)(4)? There have to be some sort of exceptional
10 circumstances where there's just basically no chance the Court
11 had authority to do what it did.

12 MR. BRIDGES: Out of the ordinary would be the phrase
13 I would use, Your Honor.

14 THE COURT: Okay. So I guess then I'll go from 15 there. Is it your argument that gatekeeping provisions in the 16 bankruptcy world are out of the ordinary?

17 MR. BRIDGES: The exculpation of Mr. Seery for 18 liability falling short of gross negligence or intentional
19 wrongdoing in connection with his continuing to conduct the 20 business of the Debtor as an investment advisor subject to the 21 Advisers Act, yes, I would say that is out of the ordinary,
22 that it is extraordinary, that it is --

23 THE COURT: Okay. What is your authority or evidence
24 on that? Because this Court approves exculpation provisions
25 regularly in connection with employment orders, and pretty

1 much every judge I know does. In fact, I'm wondering why this
2 isn't just a term of compensation. You know, he's going to do
3 x, y, z in the case. His compensation is going to be a, b, c,
4 d, e. And by the way, we're going to set a standard of 5 liability for his performance as CEO or investment banker,
6 financial advisor, whatever, so that no one can sue him
7 regarding his performance of his job duties unless it rises to 8 the level of gross negligence, willful misconduct.

9 It's a term of employment that, from my vantage point,
10 seems to be employed all the time. So it would be anything
11 but exceptional circumstances. Do you have authority or
12 evidence --

13 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, frankly, --

14 THE COURT: -- to the contrary?

15 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, frankly, I'm astonished at 16 your view of that situation, that it would merely be a term of 17 his employment, that vitiates the entire fiduciary duty
18 standard created by the Advisers Act that tells him, with 19 hundreds of millions of dollars of assets under management for 20 people he's advising as a registered investment advisor,
21 people he's advising who believe that he has a fiduciary duty
22 to them and that it's enforceable, that the SEC, who monitors,
23 believes he has an enforceable fiduciary duty to those people,
24 and that he's testified that he has fiduciary duties to those 25 people, and that Your Honor is saying no, just as a regular

1 term of employment we have undone the Advisers Act's
2 imposition of an unwaivable fiduciary duty.

3 Your Honor, the order is void to the extent that it
4 attempts to do so.

5 This is not an ordinary employment agreement, Your Honor.
6 This is an attempt to exculpate someone from the key thing
7 that our entire investment system depends upon, regulation by 8 the SEC and the requirement in investment advisors to act as 9 fiduciaries when they manage the money of another.

10 It would be the equivalent of telling lawyers who are 11 appointed in a bankruptcy proceeding that they don't have any 12 duties to their client, or at least not fiduciary duties.
13 That the lawyers merely owe a duty not to be grossly negligent
14 to their clients. That's not an ordinary term of employment,
15 Your Honor.

16 THE COURT: All right. So I guess we're back to my 17 question, was this brought within a reasonable time under Rule 18 60(c)?

19 MR. BRIDGES: It was brought very quickly after the 20 new evidence was discovered at the end of March, Your Honor, 21 yes.

22 THE COURT: Okay. Well, I guess I'll just ask you
23 one more question before you continue on with your rebuttal
24 argument. I mean, again, I want your best argument of why
25 Villegas doesn't absolutely permit the gatekeeping provisions

1 that you're challenging. And many cases were cited by Mr.
2 Pomerantz in his brief where courts have extended the Barton
3 doctrine to persons other than trustees. And so what is your 4 best rebuttal to that?

5 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, we've already given it.
6 I'm afraid --

7 THE COURT: Okay. If you don't want to say more, --

8 MR. BRIDGES: -- what I have is not --

9 THE COURT: -- I'm not going to make you say more.

10 MR. BRIDGES: I --

11 THE COURT: I'm just telling you what's on my brain.

12 MR. BRIDGES: I do. I want to -- I am apologizing in 13 advance for repeating, but yes, Villegas, Villegas, however 14 that case is pronounced, says that Stern is not an exception
15 to the Barton doctrine.

16 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

17 MR. BRIDGES: 959(a) is an exception to the Barton
18 doctrine. You are not operating under the Barton doctrine
19 here. Even counsel's brief, the Debtor's brief, doesn't say
20 Barton applies. It says it's consistent with Barton.

21 Your Honor, in our previous hearing, you directed me to 22 the second sentence of 959(a) because you believe it's what
23 empowers you to do the gatekeeping. It limits the gatekeeping
24 that you can do by protecting jury rights, the right to trial,
25 says you cannot discharge, undo, deprive a litigant of their

1 right to a trial, a jury trial.

2 THE COURT: Well, you mentioned it again, jury trial
3 rights. Do you have any argument --

4 MR. BRIDGES: Yes, Your Honor.

5 THE COURT: -- of why that hasn't flown out the
6 window?

7 MR. BRIDGES: Yes, Your Honor. I am told that
8 Section 14(f) that counsel for the Debtor referred to is not a
9 waiver of jury rights at all. It is an arbitration agreement.
10 Your Honor is probably familiar how arbitration agreements
11 work, is that they need not be elected. They need not be
12 invoked by the parties. When they are, they create a
13 situation where arbitration may be required. But a waiver of 14 a jury right outside of arbitration is not part of this
15 arbitration clause, or of any. The issue is not briefed or in
16 evidence before the Court. We're relying on representations
17 of counsel as to what that provision contains. That Mr. Seery
18 wasn't even a party to that agreement, the advisory agreement,
19 with the Charitable DAF. The arbitration agreement is subject
20 to defenses that are not at issue here before the Court. That
21 Movants' rights, their contractual rights to invoke the
22 arbitration clause, also appear to be terminated by the
23 orders' assertion of sole jurisdiction in this matter.

24 Your Honor, yes, our jury rights survive Section 14(f) in 25 the advisory agreement with the DAF for all of those potential

1 reasons.

2 On top of that, it doesn't go to all of our causes of
3 action. It goes to the contract cause of action. And to the
4 extent they can argue that the other claims are subject to
5 arbitration, that also is a defense and -- defensible and
6 complex issue requiring the application of the Federal
7 Arbitration Act, requiring consideration of the Federal
8 Arbitration Act, which this Court doesn't have jurisdiction to 9 do under 157(d).

10 THE COURT: What? Repeat that.

11 MR. BRIDGES: Yes. This Court does not have
12 jurisdiction to determine whether or not arbitration --
13 arbitration is enforceable due to the mandatory withdrawal of 14 the reference provisions of 157(d).

15 THE COURT: That's just not consistent with Fifth
16 Circuit authority. National Gypsum. What are some of these
17 other arbitration cases? I've written an article on it. I
18 can't remember them. That's just not right. Bankruptcy
19 courts look at arbitration clauses all the time. Motions to 20 compel arbitration.

21 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, under 157(d), in the 22 circumstances of this case, if the Court is going to take into
23 consideration an arbitration clause under the Federal
24 Arbitration Act, when that clause is not in evidence and is
25 not before the Court, then Movants respectfully move to

1 withdraw the reference of your consideration of that issue and
2 of any proceeding and ask that you would issue only a report
3 and recommendation rather than an order on that issue.

4 THE COURT: Okay. I regret that we even got off on
5 this trail. I'm sorry. So just proceed with your rebuttal
6 argument as you had envisioned it, Mr. Bridges.

7 MR. BRIDGES: Thank you, Your Honor.

8 Debtor's counsel says there's no private right of action
9 under the Advisers Act. That is both inaccurate and 10 misleading. The Advisory Act creates, imposes fiduciary
11 duties that state law provides the cause of action for. It is 12 a state law breach of fiduciary duty claim regarding -- 13 regarding fiduciary duties imposed as a matter of law by the 14 Investment Advisers Act that is Count One in the District
15 Court action.

16 Furthermore, that Act does create a private right of 17 action for rescission. That would be rescission of the 18 advisory agreement with the Charitable DAF, not rescission of 19 the HarbourVest settlement.

20 Second, Your Honor, the notion that this Court has related 21 to jurisdiction is irrelevant and beside the point. I would 22 like to note for the record that the District Court civil 23 cover sheet that omitted to state that this was a related 24 action has been corrected, has been amended, and that that has 25 taken place.

1 Counsel for the Debtor also appears to agree with us that
2 the order ought to be modified for having asserted exclusive
3 jurisdiction over colorable claims to the extent it's not 4 legally permissible to do. And in trying to invoke the 5 discussions between us as to how the orders might be fixed,
6 what counsel does is tries to cabin the legally-permissible
7 caveat to just the second half of the paragraph at issue. It
8 is both -- both portions, the gatekeeping and the subsequent 9 hearing of the claims, that should be limited to the extent it
10 would be impermissible legally for this Court to make those 11 decisions.

12 On top of that, Your Honor, merely stating "to the extent 13 legally permissible" would result in a considerable amount of 14 ambiguity in the order that would lead it, I fear, to be 15 unenforceable as a matter of law.

16 Next, Your Honor, when Debtor's counsel talks about the 17 authority in this case, it feels like we're ships passing in 18 the night. He says that we're wrong in asserting that no case
19 we can find involves both the Barton doctrine and the 20 application of the business judgment rule where the Court is 21 asked to defer, and he mentions cases that apply the Barton
22 doctrine to an approval rather than an appointment. The Court
23 is asked to --

24 (Garbled audio.)

25 THE COURT: I lost you for a moment. Could you

1 repeat the last 30 seconds?

2 MR. BRIDGES: Thank you, Your Honor. Yes. He points
3 -- opposing counsel points us to case law where the Barton
4 doctrine has been applied despite the Bankruptcy Court having 5 merely approved rather than appointed the trustee or the, I'm 6 sorry, the professional. But in doing so, he doesn't
7 reference any case that has done so in the context of business
8 judgment rule deference. It's like we're ships passing in the 9 night.

10 What we're saying isn't that a mere approval can never 11 rise to the level of the Barton doctrine. What we're saying
12 is that, in combination with the business judgment rule
13 deference, the two cannot go together. There's no authority
14 for saying that they do.

15 We -- I further feel like we're ships passing in the night
16 when he talks about Shoaf. Counsel says that in Shoaf there 17 was a confirmed final plan and it specifically identified the 18 released guaranty. And yeah, that distinguishes it from this 19 case, just as it distinguished -- just as the Applewood Chair
20 case distinguished it when there's not that specific 21 identification. And here, we don't even have a final plan
22 confirmation at the time these orders are being issued.
23 Without that express -- express notion of what the claims are 24 being discharged, Shoaf doesn't apply.

25 There, there was a guaranty to a party on a specific

1 indebtedness that was listed, identified with specificity, and 2 disappeared as a result of the judgment, as a result of the 3 judgment in the underlying case. Here, we're talking about 4 any potential claim that might arise in the future. As of the 5 July order's issuance, it didn't apply on its -- either it
6 didn't apply to future claims that had not yet accrued or else
7 in violation of Applewood Chair, it was releasing claims
8 without identifying them.

9 Who does Seery owe a fiduciary duty to? Is it, as 10 Debtor's counsel says, only to the funds and not to the 11 investors, or does he also owe those duties to the investors
12 as well? Your Honor, that is going to be a hotly-contested
13 issue in this litigation, and it involves -- it requires
14 consideration of the Advisers Act and the multitude of 15 accompanying regulations. To just state that his fiduciary 16 duties are limited in a way that couldn't affect anyone that 17 is -- whose claims are precluded by the July order is both 18 wrong on the law and is invoking something that will be a
19 hotly-contested issue that falls under 157(d), where, again,
20 this Court doesn't have the jurisdiction to decide that, other
21 than in a report and recommendation.

22 The order is legally infirm because it's issued without 23 jurisdiction for doing that as well.

24 Finally, Your Honor, I think (garbled) wrong direction
25 with a statement that suggests that Mr. Seery is an agent of

1 the independent directors under the January order. He is, in 2 fact, not an independent agent -- not an agent of any of the 3 independent directors, but, at most, of the company that is 4 controlled by the board, not -- not of individual directors
5 who could confer on him -- who could confer on him any 6 immunity that they have obtained from the January order just 7 by having appointed him.

8 The proposed order from the other side failed to address
9 either the ambiguity in the order or its attempt to exculpate
10 Mr. Seery from the liability, including liability for which 11 there is a jury trial right, and it is not a fix to the 12 problem for that reason.

13 In order to make the order enforceable and to fix its 14 infirmities, the Court would have to do significantly more.
15 It would have to both apply the caveat from the final 16 confirmation plan order, rope that caveat to the first part of 17 the relevant paragraph, as well as the second part, and it
18 would have to provide directive clarity to be enforceable
19 rather than too vague.

20 Your Honor, I think that's all I have.

21 THE COURT: Okay. Just FYI, my law clerk pulled the 22 Smyth case from 21 years ago from the Fifth Circuit. And 23 while it more prominently deals with the issue of whether 24 trustees -- in this case, it was a Chapter 11 trustee -- could 25 be subjected to personal liability for damages to the

1 bankruptcy estate --

2 (Echoing.)

3 THE COURT: Someone, put your phone on mute. I don't 4 know who that is.

5 It dealt with, you know, the standard of liability, that 6 the trustee could not be sued for matters not to the level of 7 gross negligence.

8 But it does say, in the very last paragraph, to my shock
9 and amazement, that -- it's just one sentence in a 10-page
10 opinion -- orders appointing counsel -- and it was talking
11 about the trustee's lawyer he hired to handle appeals to the 12 Fifth Circuit -- orders appointing counsel under the 13 Bankruptcy Code are interlocutory and are not generally
14 considered final and appealable. And it cites one case from 15 1993, the Middle District of Florida. Live and learn. There
16 is one sentence in that opinion that says that. But I don't 17 know that it's hugely impactful here, but I did not know about 18 that opinion and I'm rather surprised.

19 All right. You were going to walk me through evidence,
20 you said?

21 MR. BRIDGES: Well, do I -- Your Honor, do you want
22 to do that first before I submit --

23 THE COURT: Yes, please.

24 MR. BRIDGES: -- my rebuttal argument?

25 THE COURT: Please.

1 MR. BRIDGES: Okay.

2 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

3 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, we would submit and offer
4 Exhibits 1 through 44, with the exception of those that have 5 been withdrawn, that are 2, 13 --

6 THE COURT: Okay. Slow down. Slow down. I need to 7 get to the docket entry number we're talking about. Are we 8 talking -- are your -- the Debtor's exhibits are at 2412. But 9 Nate, I misplaced my notes. Where are Charitable DAF and 10 Holdco's?

11 THE CLERK: I have 2411.

12 THE COURT: 2411? Is that it?

13 MR. BRIDGES: 2420, Your Honor.

14 THE COURT: 2420? Okay. Give me a minute. (Pause.)
15 2420?

16 MR. BRIDGES: Yes, Your Honor.

17 THE COURT: Okay, I'm there. And it's which 18 exhibits?

19 MR. BRIDGES: It's Exhibits 1 through 44, Your 20 Honor, with four exceptions. We have agreed to withdraw
21 Exhibit 2, 13, 14, and 29.

22 THE COURT: All right.

23 MR. BRIDGES: Also, Your Honor, we'd like to submit
24 Debtor's Exhibit 1, which is under Exhibit 49 on our list,
25 would be anything offered by the other side. But we'd like

1 to make sure that Debtor's Exhibit 1 gets in the record as
2 well.

3 THE COURT: Let me back up. When I pull up the 4 docket entry you just told me, I have Exhibits 44, 45, and 46
5 only. Am I misreading this?

6 MR. BRIDGES: I have a chart showing Exhibits 1
7 through 49 titled Docket 2420 filed 6/7/21.

8 THE COURT: Okay. The docket entry number you told 9 me, 2420, it only has three exhibits: 44, 45, and 46. So,
10 first off, I understand -- are you offering 45 and 46 or not?

11 MR. BRIDGES: No, Your Honor.

12 THE COURT: Okay. So you said you were offering 1
13 through 44 minus certain ones. 44 is here.

14 MR. BRIDGES: Yes.

15 THE COURT: But I've got to go back to a different
16 docket number.

17 THE CLERK: It's actually 2411.

18 THE COURT: It's at 2411. That has all the others?

19 THE CLERK: Yes.

20 THE COURT: Okay.

21 So, Mr. Pomerantz, do you have any objection to Exhibits
22 1 through 44, which he's excepted out 2, 13, 14, and 29, and 23 then he's added Debtor's Exhibit 1? Any objection?

24 MR. POMERANTZ: I don't believe so. I just would 25 confirm with John Morris, who has been focused on the

1 exhibits, just to confirm.

2 THE COURT: Mr. Morris?

3 MR. MORRIS: No objection, Your Honor. It's fine.

4 THE COURT: Okay. They're admitted.

5 (Movants' Exhibits 1, 3 through 12, 15 through 28, and 30
6 through 44 are received into evidence. Debtor's Exhibit 1 is 7 received into evidence.)

8 THE COURT: So, any --

9 MR. BRIDGES: Thank you, Your Honor.

10 THE COURT: Anything you wanted to call to my 11 attention about these?

12 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, the things that we 13 mentioned in the argument, for sure, but especially that the 14 word "trustee" is not used in the January hearing's
15 transcript, nor is it under discussion in that transcript
16 that it would be a trustee-like role being played by the 17 Strand directors, as well as the transcript of the July 18 hearing on the order at issue here, Your Honor, where you are 19 asked to defer both in that transcript and in the motion, the 20 motion that was at issue in that hearing, you are asked to 21 defer to the business judgment of the company.

22 And finally, Your Honor, I'd ask you to look at the 23 allegations in the District Court complaint.

24 THE COURT: All right.

25 Mr. Pomerantz or Morris, let's see what exhibits you're

1 wanting the Court to consider. Your exhibits, it looks like,
2 are at Docket Entry 2412.

3 MR. MORRIS: As subsequently amended at 2423.

4 THE COURT: Oh. All right. So which ones are you
5 offering?

6 MR. MORRIS: We're offering all of the exhibits on 7 2423, which is 1 through 17.

8 (Echoing.)

9 THE COURT: Whoops. We got some distortion there.
10 Say again?

11 MR. MORRIS: Yeah. All of the exhibits that are on 12 2423, which are Exhibits 1 through 17. But I want to make 13 sure that, as I did earlier, that that has the exhibits that 14 we're relying on. Does that --

15 (Pause.)

16 THE COURT: Okay. Let me make sure I know what's 17 going on here. You're double-checking your exhibits, Mr.
18 Morris?

19 MR. MORRIS: Yes, Your Honor.

20 THE COURT: Okay.

21 (Pause.)

22 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, we start with Docket No.
23 2419, --

24 THE COURT: Okay.

25 MR. MORRIS: -- which was the amended exhibit list.

1 And that actually had Exhibits 1 through 17. And then that 2 was amended at Docket 2423. So, the exhibits on both of 3 those lists.

4 THE COURT: Well, they're one and the same, it looks
5 like, right?

6 MR. MORRIS: Yes.

7 THE COURT: Okay. So you're offering those?

8 MR. MORRIS: I think -- yeah.

9 THE COURT: Any objection?

10 MR. BRIDGES: No objection.

11 THE COURT: All right. They're admitted.

12 (Debtor's Exhibits 1 through 17 are received into 13 evidence.)

14 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, if I may take a few
15 moments to respond to Mr. Bridges' reply?

16 THE COURT: All right. Is he still within his hour
17 and a half?

18 THE CLERK: At an hour and one minute.

19 THE COURT: Okay. All right. You have a little 20 time left, so go ahead.

21 MR. POMERANTZ: Thank you, Your Honor.

22 So look, I -- it sort of was really not fair to us. Mr.
23 Bridges was really making things up on the fly. He was 24 changing the theories of his case and responding to Your 25 Honor. But I'm going to do my best to respond to the

1 arguments made, many of which I sort of anticipated.

2 I'll first start with the issue that Your Honor raised,
3 which was whether this is under Rule 60 or not. Mr. Bridges
4 identified a couple of cases, said that the order was 5 interlocutory, said that somehow the orders have anything to 6 do with a plan confirmation order. They do not. Your Honor
7 didn't hear that argument at the plan confirmation. The 8 January 9th and July 16th orders are old and cold. There's 9 an exculpation provision in the plan. There's a gatekeeper
10 in the plan. The provisions do not overlap entirely. The 11 gatekeeper applies prospectively. The exculpation provision
12 includes additional parties.

13 So the arguments that basically the plan had anything to 14 do -- and the fact that the plan is not a final order -- has 15 anything to do with the January 9th and July 16th orders is 16 just wrong. It's just wrong.

17 More fundamentally, Your Honor, as Your Honor pointed 18 out, the Smyth case is a professional employment order. And 19 ironically, if you abide by the Smyth case, that order is 20 never appealable because it's interlocutory.

21 But more fundamentally, Your Honor, that's dealing with 22 327 professionals. And again, there's not much analysis in 23 the Smyth case, but we're not dealing with a 327
24 professional. We're dealing with orders that were approved
25 under 363.

1 So the premise of the argument that Rule 60(b) -- 60
2 doesn't apply and they have other arguments just doesn't make 3 any sense.

4 Okay. So now that gets us to Rule 60. And Your Honor,
5 Your Honor hit the nail on the head. They haven't presented
6 any evidence. Allegations in a complaint aren't evidence.
7 They can't stand up there and say surprise evidence. They 8 had the opportunity -- and this hearing's been continued a 9 few weeks -- they had the opportunity to bring it up, and 10 it's -- they had the opportunity to claim that there was 11 surprise, but they just didn't. Okay?

12 So to go on to the Rule 60 arguments. Surprise.
13 Surprise and reasonable delay are really -- go hand in hand
14 with Mr. Bridges' argument. He says, well, we didn't find 15 out that -- months after the order was entered that he 16 violated a duty to us, so we are surprised by that, and it's 17 a reasonable time. Well, Your Honor, the order provided for 18 an exculpation. CLO Holdco and DAF knew that it applied to 19 an exculpation. They were bound. They knew based upon that 20 order that they would not be able to bring claims for normal
21 negligence. There is no surprise.

22 If you take Mr. Bridges' argument to its conclusion, he 23 could wait until the end of the statute of limitations after 24 an order and have come in four years from now and say, Your 25 Honor, we just found out facts so we should go back four

1 years before. That, Your Honor, that's not how the surprise
2 works. That's not how the reasonable time works.

3 Mr. Bridges did not contest that they're bound by res
4 judicata. He did not contest that the exculpation itself was 5 clear and unambiguous. Of course he argued Your Honor
6 couldn't enter an order saying there was exculpation, again,
7 with no authority. And he seemed surprised, as I suspect he 8 should, since he's not a bankruptcy lawyer, that retention
9 orders, whether it's investment bankers, financial advisors,
10 include exculpations all the time. So there's no grounds
11 under surprise.

12 There's no grounds -- the motions are late under 60(c).

13 And they're not void. I went through a painstaking
14 analysis, Your Honor, and I described in detail what the 15 Espinosa case held, and the exceptional circumstances which 16 Mr. Bridges tried to get away from as much as he could.
17 Maybe he can try to get away from language in a district
18 Court opinion, in a Bankruptcy Court opinion, in a Circuit
19 Court opinion. You can't get away from language in a Supreme 20 Court opinion. The Supreme Court opinion said exceptional 21 circumstances, where there was arguably no basis for 22 jurisdiction for what the Court did. They have not even come
23 close to convincing Your Honor that there was absolutely no
24 basis.

25 Now, they disagree. We granted, we think it's a good-

1 faith disagreement, but they haven't come close to
2 establishing the Espinosa standard, so their motion under 60
3 does not -- it fails.

4 And I don't think -- look, these are good lawyers. Mr.
5 Bridges and Mr. Sbaiti are good lawyers. They didn't just 6 inadvertently not mention Rule 60. They never mentioned it
7 because they knew they had no claim under Rule 60.

8 Your Honor, Mr. Bridges has made comments about the 9 fiduciary duty of Mr. Seery, about what the Investor's Act
10 provides. He's just wrong on the law. Now, Your Honor
11 doesn't have to decide that. Whichever court adjudicates the 12 DAF lawsuit will have to decide it. But there is no private 13 cause of action for damages. There are no fiduciary duties to 14 the investors.

15 And what Mr. Bridges doesn't even mention, in that the 16 investment agreement that's so prominent in his complaint,
17 they waived claims other than willful misconduct and gross
18 negligence against Highland. They waived those claims. So 19 for Mr. Bridges to come in here and argue that there's some 20 surprise, when he hasn't even bothered to look at the document
21 that's underlying the contractual relationship between the DAF
22 and the Debtor, is -- you know, I'll just say it's 23 inadvertence.

24 Your Honor, Mr. Bridges tried to argue that Mr. Seery is 25 not a beneficiary of the January 9th order. He's not an

1 agent. Well, again, Your Honor, Mr. Bridges wasn't there.
2 Your Honor and we were. On January 9th, an independent board
3 was picked, and at the time Mr. Dondero ceased to become the 4 CEO. So you have three gentlemen coming in -- Mr. Seery, Mr.
5 Dubel, and Mr. Nelms -- coming in to run Highland, in a very
6 chaotic time. They had to act through their agents. There
7 was no expectation that this board was going to actually run
8 the day-to-day operations of the Debtor. Of course not. They 9 needed someone to run. And they picked Mr. Seery. And the 10 argument that well, he's an agent of the company, he's not an 11 agent of the board, that just doesn't make sense. The 12 independent board had to act. The directors had to act. And 13 the directors, how do they deal with that? They acted through 14 Mr. Seery. So he is most certainly governed by the January 15 9th order.

16 Your Honor, I want to talk about the jury trial right.
17 Mr. Bridges said that Paragraph 14 is an arbitration clause
18 and not a jury trial waiver. Now, again, I will forgive Mr.
19 Bridges because I assume he didn't read the provision, okay,
20 and he -- somebody told him that, and that person just got it
21 wrong. But what I would like to do is read for Your Honor
22 Paragraph 14(f). It doesn't have to do with arbitration.
23 It's a waiver of jury trial. 14(f), Jurisdiction Venue,
24 Waiver of Jury Trial. The parties hereby agree that any 25 action, claim, litigation, or proceeding of any kind

1 whatsoever against any other party in any way arising from or
2 relating to this agreement and all contemplated transactions,
3 including claims sounding in contract, equity, tort, fraud,
4 statute defined as a dispute shall be submitted exclusively to 5 the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Texas, or 6 if such court does not have subject matter jurisdiction, the 7 courts of the State of Texas, City of Dallas County, and any 8 appellate court thereof, defined as the enforcement court.

9 Each party ethically and unconditionally submits to the 10 exclusive personal and subject matter jurisdiction of the 11 enforcement court for any dispute and agrees to bring any 12 dispute only in the enforcement court. Each party further
13 agrees it shall not commence any dispute in any forum,
14 including administrative, arbitration, or litigation, other
15 than the enforcement court. Each party agrees that a final 16 judgment in any such action, litigation, or proceeding is 17 conclusive and may be enforced through other jurisdictions by 18 suit on the judgment or in any manner provided by law.

19 And then the kick, Your Honor, all caps, as jury trial
20 waiver always are: Each party irrevocably and unconditionally
21 waives to the fullest extent permitted by law any right it may 22 have to a trial by jury in any legal action, proceeding, cause
23 of action, or counterclaim arising out of or relating to this
24 agreement, including any exhibits, schedules, and appendices
25 attached to this agreement or the transactions contemplated

1 hereby. Each party certifies and acknowledges that no
2 representative of the owner of the other party has represented
3 expressly or otherwise that the other party won't seek to
4 enforce the foregoing waiver in the event of a legal action.
5 It has considered the implications of this waiver, it makes
6 this waiver knowingly and voluntarily, and it has been induced
7 to enter into this agreement by, among other things, the
8 mutual waivers and certifications in this section.

9 Your Honor, I will forgive Mr. Bridges. I assume he just
10 did not read that. But to represent to the Court that that 11 language does not contain a jury trial waiver is -- is just 12 wrong.

13 THE COURT: All right. I'm going to stop right
14 there. And you were reading from the Second Amended and
15 Restated Shared Services Agreement between Highland --

16 MR. POMERANTZ: Not shared services. I'm reading
17 from the Second Amended and Restated Investment Advisory
18 Agreement --

19 THE COURT: Investment --

20 MR. POMERANTZ: -- between the Charitable DAF, the
21 Charitable DAF GP, and Highland Capital Management. The
22 agreement whereby the Debtor was the investment advisor to the
23 Charitable DAF Fund and the Charitable DAF GP.

24 THE COURT: All right. Well, Mr. Bridges, I'm going
25 to bounce quickly back to you. This is your chance to defend

1 your honor.

2 MR. BRIDGES: Yeah, we're -- we're looking at a
3 different agreement, where -- where literally the words that
4 were read to you are not in the agreement in front of us and
5 it is news to me. So, Your Honor, this is a problem --

6 THE COURT: What is the agreement you're looking at?

7 MR. BRIDGES: It is the Amended -- I assume that
8 means First Amended -- Restated Advisory Agreement.

9 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, we are happy to file this
10 agreement with the Court so the Court has the benefit of it in
11 connection with Your Honor's ruling.

12 THE COURT: Okay. I would like you to do that. Uh-
13 huh.

14 MR. BRIDGES: I'd like -- I'd like to request -- I'll 15 withdraw that.

16 THE COURT: Okay. Go on, Mr. Pomerantz.

17 MR. POMERANTZ: Mr. Bridges, if you could put us on 18 mute. If you could put us on mute, Mr. Bridges, so I don't
19 hear your feedback. Thank you.

20 Mr. Bridges also complains about the language "to the 21 extent permissible by law." As Your Honor knows and as has 22 been my practice over 30 years, that language is probably in
23 every plan where there's a retention of jurisdiction: to the 24 extent permissible by law. And Mr. Bridges says that this
25 will create ambiguity in the order that couldn't be enforced.

1 There's no basis for that. Our including the language "to the 2 extent permissible by law" in the orders, as we are prepared
3 to do, is consistent with the plan confirmation order where we 4 addressed that issue. And we addressed that issue because we 5 didn't want to put Your Honor in a position where thereby Your 6 Honor may have an action before Your Honor that passes the 7 colorability gate that Your Honor may not be able to assert
8 jurisdiction. And since jurisdiction can't be waived in that 9 regard, we will agree to amend that.

10 There's nothing ambiguous about that, and there's no
11 reason, though, that clause has to modify the Court's ability
12 to act as a gatekeeper, because, as we've argued ad nauseam,
13 gatekeeper provisions where the Court has that ability is not 14 only part of general bankruptcy jurisprudence but also part of 15 the Bankruptcy Code.

16 Counsel says that Barton doesn't apply because the 17 business judgment of Your Honor was used in retaining Mr.
18 Seery as opposed to in some other capacity. There's no basis
19 for that, Your Honor. A court-appointed -- a court-approved
20 CEO, CRO, professional, they are all entitled to protection
21 under the Barton act. And the argument -- and again, this is 22 separate and apart from whether he's entitled to protection
23 under the January 9th order. But the argument that because it
24 was the business judgment -- again, business judgment in doing
25 something that Your Honor expressly contemplated under the

1 January 9th corporate governance order -- there's just no law
2 to support that. And I guess he's trying to get around the 3 plethora of cases that deal with the situation where Barton
4 has been extended.

5 Your Honor, Mr. Bridges, again, in arguing that we're 6 ships passing in the night on Shoaf and Applewood and 7 Espinosa, no, we're not ships passing in the night. We have a
8 difference in agreement on what these cases stand for. These 9 cases stand for the proposition that a clear and unambiguous
10 provision, plain and simple, if it's clear and unambiguous, it
11 will be given res judicata effect. The release in Shoaf, 12 clear and unambiguous. The release in Applewood, not. The 13 issue here is the exculpation language. That was clear and 14 unambiguous. It applied prospectively. The argument makes no
15 sense that we didn't identify -- we didn't identify claims
16 that might arise in the future, so therefore an exculpation
17 clause doesn't apply? That doesn't make any sense.

18 Your Honor clearly exculpated parties. Mr. Dondero knew 19 it. CLO Holdco knew it. The DAF knew it. So the issue Your 20 Honor has to decide is whether that exculpation was a clear 21 and unambiguous provision such that it should be entitled to 22 res judicata effect. And we submit that the answer is 23 unequivocally yes.

24 That's all I have, Your Honor.

25 THE COURT: All right. Well, --

1 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor? I apologize.

2 THE COURT: Okay.

3 MR. MORRIS: This is John Morris.

4 THE COURT: Yes?

5 MR. MORRIS: I just want to, with respect to the 6 exhibits, I know there was no objection, but I had cited to 7 Docket Nos. 2419 and 2423. The original exhibit list is at 8 Docket No. 2412. So it's the three of those lists together.
9 2412, as amended by 2419, as amended by 2423. Thank you very 10 much.

11 THE COURT: All right. Thank you. All right.

12 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, I still have no objection
13 to that, but may I have the last word on my motion?

14 THE COURT: Is there time left?

15 THE CLERK: Yes.

16 THE COURT: Okay. Go ahead.

17 MR. BRIDGES: I just need a minute, Your Honor. They 18 agreed to change the order. They proposed it to us. They 19 proposed it in a proposed order to you. They can't also say
20 that it cannot be changed.

21 Secondly, Your Honor, in Milic v. McCarthy, 469 F.Supp.3d
22 580, the Eastern District of Virginia points out that the 23 Fourth Circuit treats appointment of estate professionals as 24 interlocutory orders as well.

25 That's all. Thank you, Your Honor.

1 THE COURT: All right. Here's what we're going to
2 do. We've been going a very long time. I'm going to take a
3 break to look through these exhibits, see if there's anything
4 in there that I haven't looked at before and that might affect
5 the decision here. So we will come back at 3:00 o'clock
6 Central Time -- it's 2:22 right now -- and I will give you my
7 bench ruling on this. All right.

8 So, Mike, they can all stay on the line, right?

9 Okay. You can stay on, and we'll be back at 3:00 o'clock.

10 THE CLERK: All rise.

11 (A recess ensued from 2:22 p.m. to 3:04 p.m.)

12 THE CLERK: All rise.

13 THE COURT: All right. Please be seated. All right.
14 Everyone presented and accounted for. We're going back on the 15 record.

16 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, before you start, this is
17 Jeff Pomerantz. We had sent to your clerk, and hopefully it
18 got to you, a copy of the Second Amended and Restated
19 Investment Advisory Agreement. We also copied Mr. Sbaiti with 20 it as well. And we would also like to move that into 21 evidence, just so that it's part of the Court's record.

22 THE COURT: All right.

23 MR. BRIDGES: We would object to that, Your Honor.
24 We haven't had an opportunity to even verify its authenticity
25 yet.

1 THE COURT: All right. Well, I'll tell you what.
2 I'm going to address this in my ruling. So it's not going to 3 be part of the record for this decision, and yet -- well, I'll 4 get to it.

5 All right. So we're back on the record in Case Number 19-
6 34054, Highland Capital. The Court has deliberated, after 7 hearing a lot of argument and allowing in a lot of documentary
8 evidence, and the Court concludes that the motion of CLO
9 Holdco, Ltd. and The Charitable DAF to modify the retention
10 order of James Seery, which was entered almost a year ago, on 11 July 16th, 2020, should be denied.

12 This is the Court's oral bench ruling, but the Court
13 reserves discretion to supplement or amend in a more fulsome
14 written order what I'm going to announce right now, pursuant 15 to Rule 7052.

16 First, what is the Movants' authority to request the 17 modification of a bankruptcy court order that has been in 18 place for so many months, which was issued after reasonable
19 notice to the Movants, and after a hearing, which was not 20 objected to by the Movants, or appealed, when the Movants were 21 represented by sophisticated counsel, I might add, and which 22 order was relied upon by parties in this case, most notably 23 Mr. Seery and the Debtor, and in fact was entered after 24 significant negotiations involving a sophisticated court-
25 appointed Unsecured Creditors' Committee with sophisticated

1 professionals and sophisticated members, and after negotiation
2 with an independent board of directors, court-appointed, one
3 of whose members is a retired bankruptcy judge? What is the 4 Movants' authority?

5 Movants fumbled a little on that question, in that the 6 exact authority wasn't set forth in the motion. But Movants'
7 primary argument is that Movants think the Seery retention
8 order was an interlocutory order and that the Court simply has 9 the inherent authority to modify it as an interlocutory order.

10 The Court disagrees with this analysis. I do not think
11 the Fifth Circuit's Smyth case dictates that the Seery
12 retention order is still interlocutory. The Seery retention
13 order was an order entered pursuant to Section 363 of the 14 Bankruptcy Code, not a Section 327 professionals to a debtor-
15 in-possession, professionals to a trustee employment order
16 such as the one involved in the Smyth case.

17 But even if the Seery retention order is interlocutory --
18 the Court feels strongly that it's not, but even if it is -- 19 the Court believes it would be an abuse of this Court's 20 inherent discretion or authority to modify that order almost a
21 year after the fact and under the circumstances of this case.

22 Now, assuming Rule 60(b) applies to the Movants' request,
23 the Court determines that the Movants have not made their 24 motion anywhere close to within a reasonable time, as Rule
25 60(c) requires, nor do I think the Movants have demonstrated

1 any exceptional circumstances to declare the order or any of 2 its provisions void. The Movants have put on no evidence that
3 constitutes surprise or constitutes newly-disputed evidence.
4 So why are there no exceptional circumstances here such that
5 the Court might find, you know, a void order or void
6 provisions of an order?

7 First, this Court concludes that there's no credible
8 argument that the Court overreached its jurisdiction with the 9 gatekeeping provisions in the order. Gatekeeping provisions
10 are not only very common in the bankruptcy world -- in 11 retention orders and in plan confirmation orders, for example
12 -- but they are wholly consistent with the Barton case, the 13 U.S. Supreme Court's Barton's case, and its progeny that has 14 become known collectively as the Barton doctrine. Gatekeeping
15 provisions are wholly consistent with 28 U.S.C. Section
16 959(a)'s complete language.

17 The Fifth Circuit has blessed gatekeeping provisions in 18 all sorts of contexts. It has blessed them in the situation
19 of when Stern claims are involved in the Villegas case. It
20 even blessed Bankruptcy Courts' gatekeeping functions a long
21 time ago, in 1988, in a case that I don't think anyone
22 mentioned in the briefing, but as I've said, my brain
23 sometimes goes down trails, and I'm thinking of the Louisiana
24 World Exposition case in 1988, when the Fifth Circuit blessed
25 there a procedure where an unsecured creditors' committee can

1 bring causes of action against persons, such as officers and
2 directors or other third parties, if they first come to the 3 Bankruptcy Court and show a colorable claim. They have to 4 come to the Bankruptcy Court, show they have a colorable claim
5 and they're the ones that should be able to pursue them. Not 6 exactly on point, but it's just one of many cases that one
7 could cite that certainly approve gatekeeper functions of 8 various sorts of Bankruptcy Courts.

9 It doesn't matter which court might ultimately adjudicate
10 the claims; the Bankruptcy Court can be the gatekeeper.

11 And the Court agrees with the many cases cited from 12 outside this circuit, such as the case in Alabama, in the 13 Eleventh Circuit, and there was another circuit-level case, at 14 least one other, that have held that the Barton doctrine
15 should be extended to other types of case fiduciaries, such as 16 debtor-in-possession management, among others.

17 Finally, as I pointed out in my confirmation ruling in 18 this case, gatekeeping provisions are commonplace for all
19 types of courts, not just Bankruptcy Courts, when vexatious
20 litigants are involved. I have commented before that we seem 21 to have vexatious litigation behavior with regard to Mr.
22 Dondero and his many controlled entities.

23 Now, as far as the Movants' argument that there was not
24 just improper gatekeeping provisions but actually an improper
25 discharge in the Seery retention order of negligence claims or

1 other claims that don't rise to the level of gross negligence
2 or willful misconduct, again, I reiterate there's nothing
3 exceptional in the bankruptcy world about exculpation
4 provisions like this. They absolutely are a term of 5 employment very often. Just like compensation, they're 6 frequently requested, negotiated, and approved. They are 7 normal in the corporate governance world, generally. They are 8 normal in corporate contracts between sophisticated parties.
9 And most importantly of all, even if this Court overreached
10 with the exculpation provisions in the Seery retention order,
11 even if it did, res judicata bars the attack of these 12 provisions at this late stage, under cases such as Shoaf,
13 Republic Supply v. Shoaf from the Fifth Circuit, the Espinosa
14 case from the U.S. Supreme Court, and even Applewood, since 15 the Court finds the language in this order was clear,
16 specific, and unambiguous with regard to the gatekeeping
17 provisions and the exculpation provisions.

18 Last, and this is the part where I said I'm going to get
19 to this agreement that has been submitted, the Second Amended
20 and Restated Investment Advisor Agreement or whatever the 21 title is. I am more than a little disturbed that so much of 22 the theme of the Movants' pleadings and arguments, and I think
23 even representations to the District Court, have been they 24 have these sacred jury trial rights, these inviolate jury
25 trial rights, and an Article I Court like this Court should

1 have no business through a gatekeeping provision impinging on
2 the possible pursuit of an action where there's a jury trial
3 right.

4 I was surprised initially when I thought about this. I
5 thought, wow, I've seen so many agreements over the months. I
6 can't say every one of them waived the jury trial right, but I
7 just remembered seeing that a lot, and seeing arbitration
8 provisions, and so that's why I asked. It just was lingering
9 in my brain. So I'm going to look at what is submitted. I'm 10 not relying on that as part of my ruling. As you just heard,
11 I had a multi-part ruling, and whether there's a jury trial
12 right or not is irrelevant to how I'm choosing to rule on this 13 motion. But I do want to see the agreement, and then I want
14 Movants within 10 days to respond with a post-hearing trial
15 brief either saying you agree that this is the controlling 16 document or you don't agree and explain the oversight, okay?
17 Because it feels like a gross omission here to have such a
18 strong theme in your argument -- we have a jury trial right,
19 we have a jury trial right, by God, the gatekeeping
20 provisions, among other things, impinge on our sacred pursuit
21 of our jury trial right -- and then maybe it was very 22 conspicuous in the controlling agreement that you'd waived
23 that, the Movants had waived that.

24 So, anyway, I'm requiring some post-hearing briefing, if 25 you will, on whether omissions, misrepresentations were made

1 to the Court.

2 Anyway, so I reserve the right to supplement or amend this
3 ruling with a more fulsome written order. I am asking Mr.
4 Pomerantz to upload a form of order that is consistent with 5 this ruling, and --

6 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, we will do so. I do have 7 one thing to bring to the Court's attention, unrelated to the 8 motion, before Your Honor leaves the bench.

9 THE COURT: All right. So just a couple of follow-up
10 things. Have you -- I'm not clear I heard what you said about 11 this agreement. Did you email it to my courtroom deputy or 12 did you file it on the docket?

13 MR. POMERANTZ: We emailed it to your courtroom
14 deputy. We're happy to file it on the docket. And we also 15 provided a copy to Mr. Sbaiti.

16 I would note for the Court that it's signed both by The 17 Charitable DAFs by Grant Scott, just for what it's worth.

18 THE COURT: Okay. All right. Well, I'm trying to 19 think what I want -- I do want you to file it on the docket,
20 and I'm trying to think of what you label it. Just call it
21 Post-Hearing Submission or something and link it to the motion
22 that we adjudicated here today. And then, again, you've got 23 10 days, Mr. Bridges, to say whatever you want to say about 24 that agreement.

25 I guess the last thing I wanted to say is we sure devoted

1 a lot of time to this motion today. We have -- this is a
2 recurring pattern, I guess you can say. We have a lot of 3 things that we devote a lot of time to in this case that I get
4 surprised, but it is what it is. You file a motion. I'm 5 going to give it all the attention Movants and Respondents
6 think it warrants. I'm going to develop a full record,
7 because, you know, there's a recurring pattern of appeals
8 right now, 11 or 12 appeals, I think, not to mention motions
9 to withdraw the reference. If we're going to have higher
10 courts involved in the administration of this case, I'm going 11 to make a very thorough record so nobody is confused about 12 what we did, what I considered, what my reasoning was.

13 So I kind of think it's unfortunate for us to have to 14 spend case resources and so much time and fees on things like 15 this, but I'm going to make sure a Court of Appeals is not 16 ever confused about what happened and what we did. So that's 17 just the way it's going to be. And I feel like we have no
18 choice, given, again, the pattern of appeals.

19 All right. So, with that, Mr. Pomerantz, you had one
20 other case matter, you said?

21 MR. POMERANTZ: Yes. But before I get to that, Your 22 Honor, I assume that, in response to the Movants' submission
23 on the agreement, that we would have right at four or seven
24 days to respond if we deem it's appropriate?

25 THE COURT: I think that's reasonable. That's

1 reasonable.

2 MR. POMERANTZ: Okay. Thank you, Your Honor.

3 THE COURT: So let me think of how I want to do this.
4 I'll just do a short scheduling order of sorts that just, it
5 says in one or two paragraphs, at the hearing on this motion,
6 the Court raised questions about the jury trial rights and the 7 Debtor has now submitted the controlling agreements, I'm 8 giving the Movants 10 days to respond to whether this is 9 indeed a controlling agreement, and why, if it is, the Movants
10 have heretofore taken the position they have jury trial
11 rights. And then I will give you seven days thereafter to 12 reply, and then the Court will set a further status conference
13 if it determines it's necessary. Okay?

14 So, Nate, we'll do a short little order to that effect.
15 Okay?

16 MR. POMERANTZ: Thank you, Your Honor.

17 I -- again, before I raise the other issue, I want to pick
18 up on a comment Your Honor just made towards the end. I know
19 the Court has been frustrated with the time and effort we've 20 been spending. The Debtor and the creditors have been 21 extremely frustrated, because in addition to the time and 22 effort everyone's spending, we're spending millions of 23 dollars, millions of dollars on litigation that --

24 THE COURT: It's one of the reasons you needed an 25 exit loan, right?

1 MR. POMERANTZ: Right. No, exactly. That's
2 frivolous, that we think is made in bad faith.

3 And Your Honor, and everyone else who's hearing this on 4 behalf of Mr. Dondero, should understand we're looking into 5 what appropriate authority Your Honor would have to shift some 6 of the costs. Your Honor did that in the contempt motion.
7 Your Honor can surely do that in connection with the notes
8 litigation. But all this other stuff that is requiring us to 9 spend hundreds and hundreds of hours and spend millions of 10 dollars, we are clearly looking into whether it would be 11 appropriate and what authority there is. I just wanted to let 12 Your Honor know that.

13 And in connection with that, the last point, Your Honor, I
14 can't actually even believe I'm saying this, but there was 15 another lawsuit filed -- we just found out in the break -- on 16 Wednesday night by the Sbaiti firm on behalf of Dugaboy in the 17 District Court.

18 Now, to make matters worse, Your Honor, the litigation
19 relates to alleged improper management by the Debtor of Multi-20 Strat. If Your Honor will recall, at many times I've told
21 this Court what Dugaboy's claims they filed in this case.
22 Dugaboy has a claim that is filed in this case for 23 mismanagement postpetition of Multi-Strat. Now the Sbaiti
24 firm, in addition to representing CLO Holdco, in addition to 25 representing the DAF, and whatever the Plaintiffs' lawyers are

1 in that other District Court, PCMG, and in connection with the 2 Acis matter, they've decided they haven't had enough. They've
3 now filed another motion that -- you know, why they filed it
4 in District Court and there's a proof of claim on the same
5 issues, I don't know. But I thought Your Honor should know.
6 I'm not asking Your Honor to do anything about it. But we 7 will act aggressively, strongly, and promptly.

8 Thank you, Your Honor.

9 THE COURT: All right. Well, you've reminded me of 10 what came out earlier today about the entity -- I left my 11 notepad in my chambers -- PMC or PMG or something.

12 Mr. Bridges, we're not going to have a hearing right now
13 on me doing anything, but what are you thinking? What are you 14 doing?

15 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, I'm not trying to duck your 16 question. I literally have no involvement with any other 17 claim, and we would have to ask Mr. Sbaiti to answer your
18 questions.

19 THE COURT: All right. Is he there?

20 MR. BRIDGES: He is.

21 THE COURT: I'll listen.

22 MR. BRIDGES: I'll switch seats and give him this 23 chair.

24 MR. SBAITI: Sorry, Your Honor. We had two computers
25 going and weren't able to use the sound on one, so we ended up

1 turning that off.

2 Your Honor, I'm not sure what the question is about when
3 you say what are we thinking. We have a client that's asked
4 us to file something, and when we're advised by bankruptcy
5 counsel that it's not prohibited for us to do so, and don't 6 know why we're precluded from doing so, and when the time
7 comes I'm sure we'll be able to explain to Your Honor --
8 someone will be able to explain to Your Honor why what we're 9 doing, despite Mr. Pomerantz's exacerbation, or excuse me,
10 exasperation, why that wasn't improper. It's our belief that 11 it wasn't improper or a violation of the Court's rule.

12 THE COURT: Just give me a quick shorthand Readers'
13 Digest of why you don't think it's improper.

14 MR. SBAITI: Sure. My understanding is, Your Honor, 15 there's not a rule that says we can't file it against the 16 Debtor for postpetition actions. So that, that's as -- that's 17 as much as I understand. And I'm going to -- I'm not trying 18 to duck it, either. And if I'm wrong about that and someone 19 wants to correct me on our side offline and if we have to 20 explain to the Court why that's so or what rule has been 21 violated, I'm sure we'll be able to put together something for 22 that. But that's what I've been advised.

23 THE COURT: Have you done thorough --

24 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, I think what --

25 MR. SBAITI: (garbled), Your Honor.

1 THE COURT: Have you done thorough research yourself?
2 Your Rule 11 signature is on the line, not some bankruptcy
3 counsel you talked to. Have you done the research yourself?

4 MR. SBAITI: Well, Your Honor, I've relied on the 5 research and advice of people who are experts, and I believe
6 my Rule 11 obligations also allow me to do that, so yes.

7 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, I think we're entitled to 8 know if it's Mr. Draper's firm who has been representing 9 Dugaboy. He's the bankruptcy counsel. I don't think it's an 10 attorney-client privilege issue. If Mr. Sbaiti is going to be 11 here and sort of say, hey, bankruptcy counsel said it was 12 okay, I think we would like to know and I'm sure Your Honor
13 would like to know who is that bankruptcy counsel.

14 THE COURT: Yes. Fair enough. Mr. Sbaiti?

15 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, in consultation with Mr.
16 Draper and with consultation with other counsel that we've 17 spoken to, that has been our understanding.

18 THE COURT: Who's the other counsel?

19 MR. SBAITI: Well, we've talked to Mr. Rukavina about 20 some of these things for the PCMG and the Acis case. We've 21 talked to the people who, when they tell us you can't do this 22 because they're bankruptcy counsel for our client, then we 23 don't do something. So, and I'm not trying to throw anybody
24 under the bus, but my understanding of what goes on in 25 Bankruptcy Court is incredibly limited, so, you know, and if

1 it's a mistake then I'll own it, if I have a mistaken
2 understanding, but I also wasn't anticipating having to make a
3 presentation about this right here right now, so --

4 THE COURT: Well, you're filing lawsuits that involve
5 this bankruptcy case during the hearing, so --

6 MR. SBAITI: Oh, we didn't file it during the 7 hearing, Your Honor. It was filed last night, I believe.

8 THE COURT: Okay. Well, I assume that you're going 9 to go back and hit the books, hit the computer, and be 10 prepared to defend your actions, because your bankruptcy
11 experts, they may think they know a lot, but the judge is not 12 very happy about what she's hearing.

13 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, if I may ask when Your 14 Honor intends to issue the contempt ruling in connection with 15 the June 8th hearing? I strongly believe -- and, obviously,
16 this has nothing to do with the contempt hearing; this
17 happened after -- but I strongly believe that sending a 18 message that Your Honor is inclined to hold counsel in 19 contempt, which obviously is one of the violators we said
20 should be held in contempt, it may be important to do that 21 sooner rather than later so that people know that Your Honor
22 is serious.

23 THE COURT: All right. Well, I understand and 24 respect that request. And let me tell you all, I had a seven-
25 day -- okay. You all were here on that motion June 8th. I

1 had a seven-day, all-day, every-day, 9:00 to 5:00, 45-minute
2 lunch break, in-person hearing with a dozen or so live
3 witnesses that I just finished Tuesday at 5:00 o'clock. So
4 you all were here on the 8th, and then -- what day was that --
5 what was -- Tuesday, I finished. Tuesday was the 22nd. So I
6 started on the 14th, okay? So you all were here on the 8th
7 and I had a live jury trial -- I mean, not jury trial, a live
8 bench trial -- live human beings in the courtroom, beginning
9 June 14th. So you're here the 8th. June 14th through 22nd, I
10 did my trial. And here we are on the 25th. And guess what, I
11 have another live human-being bench trial next week, Monday
12 through Friday.

13 So we've been working in other things like this in between 14 those two. So I'm telling you that not to whine, I'm just 15 telling you that, that's the only reason I didn't get out a 16 quick ruling on this, okay?

17 MR. POMERANTZ: And Your Honor, I was not at all
18 making that comment to imply anything about the Court.

19 THE COURT: Well, --

20 MR. POMERANTZ: The time and effort that you have 21 given to this case is extraordinary, --

22 THE COURT: Okay.

23 MR. POMERANTZ: -- so please don't misunderstand my 24 comment.

25 THE COURT: Okay. And I didn't mean to express

1 annoyance or anything like that. I guess what I'm trying to
2 do is I don't want anyone to mistake the delay in ruling on
3 the contempt motion to mean I'm just not that -- you know, I'm
4 not prioritizing it, other things are more serious to me or
5 important to me, or I'm going to take two months to get to it.
6 It's literally been I've been in trial almost all day long
7 every day since you were here. But trust me, I'm about as
8 upset as upset can be about what I heard on June 8th, and I'm
9 going to get to that ruling, and I know what I'm going to do.
10 And, well, like I said, it's just a matter of figuring out
11 dollars and whom, okay? There's going to be contempt. I just 12 haven't put it on paper because I've been in court all day and
13 I haven't come up with a dollar figure. Okay?

14 So I hope -- I don't know if that matters very much, but 15 it should.

16 All right. We stand adjourned.

17 (Proceedings concluded at 3:35 p.m.)

1 DALLAS, TEXAS - JULY 14, 2020 - 1:34 P.M.

2 THE COURT: ... to get lawyer appearances. First,
3 for the Debtor, do we have some Pachulski lawyers on the 4 phone? Please make your appearance.

5 MR. POMERANTZ: Good morning, Your Honor. It's 6 Jeffrey Pomerantz; Pachulski Stang Ziehl & Jones. Also with 7 me are John Morris, and then listening in are Greg Demo and 8 Ira Kharasch.

9 THE COURT: All right. Thank you all. And do we 10 have any Hayward lawyers on the phone?

11 MR. ANNABLE: Yes, Your Honor.

12 THE COURT: I presume that was Mr. Annable.

13 MR. ANNABLE: Yes, Your Honor. Sorry. My mic's not 14 picking up. It's Zachery Annable and Melissa Hayward --

15 THE COURT: All right.

16 MR. ANNABLE: -- as local counsel for the Debtor.

17 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you. For the Unsecured
18 Creditors' Committee, who do we have from Sidley Austin?

19 MR. CLEMENTE: Good afternoon, Your Honor. Matthew 20 Clemente from Sidley Austin, and Paige Montgomery is also on 21 the phone.

22 THE COURT: All right. Thank you. All right. I'll 23 go to some of our usual appearances. Do we have lawyers for 24 the Redeemer Committee this afternoon? (No response.) All
25 right.

1 MS. MASCHERIN: Yes. Excuse me, Your Honor.

2 THE COURT: Yes?

3 MS. MASCHERIN: This is Terri Mascherin. I wasn't
4 sure whether I had the microphone on mute or not.

5 THE COURT: Okay.

6 MS. MASCHERIN: I apologize. Terri Mascherin, Jenner
7 & Block. My colleague, Marc Hankin, is on the phone. And I
8 believe that Mark Platt is also on the line.

9 THE COURT: All right. Thank you. What about UBS?
10 Anyone wanting to appear for UBS?

11 MR. CLUBOK: Yes. Good afternoon, Your Honor. This 12 is Andrew Clubok from Latham & Watkins, LLP. And my partner,
13 Kimberly Posin, is on as well.

14 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you. What about for Acis?
15 Any lawyers appearing for Acis?

16 MS. PATEL: Yes. Good afternoon, Your Honor. Rakhee
17 Patel of the Winstead firm and Brian Shaw of the Rogge Dunn
18 Group appearing on behalf of Acis.

19 THE COURT: All right. Do we have Mr. Lynn or Mr.
20 Bonds for James Dondero? (No response.) Maybe not. All
21 right. Is there anyone else who wishes to appear for today's
22 hearings?

23 MR. NEIER: Good afternoon, Your Honor. David Neier
24 of Winston & Strawn making a reappearance, but this time for 25 several employees of Highland: Mr. Leventon, Mr. Sevilla, Mr.

1 Ellington, several others.

2 THE COURT: Oh, okay. Thank you. Any other
3 appearances today?

4 (No response.)

5 THE COURT: All right. I'll assume everyone else is
6 just going to observe.

7 Well, we have two employment applications. Mr. Pomerantz,
8 how did you want to proceed on those?

9 MR. POMERANTZ: So, Your Honor, we have the two
10 motions to present, Your Honor. I'm happy to say that neither
11 of them are opposed.

12 Before I present the motions to Your Honor, I wanted to
13 ask if Your Honor would like to address the mediation issues
14 at the conclusion of the hearing or prior to the presentation
15 of the motions.

16 THE COURT: At the conclusion. Thank you.

17 MR. POMERANTZ: Thank you, Your Honor.

18 Your Honor, the first motion on the docket today is a
19 Motion to Appoint James Seery as the Debtors' chief executive
20 officer and chief restructuring officer, effective as of March
21 15th, which is about the time that Mr. Seery began performing
22 the services as the chief executive officer.

23 While there's a good argument that the retention of a
24 chief executive officer is in the ordinary course of business
25 and does not require court approval, the Debtor, out of an

1 abundance of caution, filed the motion, and the motion seeks
2 approval of the agreement which is attached to the motion.

3 The second motion, Your Honor, is a Motion to Approve the
4 Retention of DSI as the Debtors' Financial Advisor. And as
5 the Court is aware, Mr. Sharp, a managing director of DSI, was
6 approved as the Debtors' Chief Restructuring Officer pursuant
7 to this Court's January 10th order.

8 Although Mr. Seery is proposed to replace Mr. Sharp as the
9 Debtors' Chief Restructuring Officer, Mr. Seery still requires
10 the financial assistance and advisory support that DSI has 11 been providing to him, the Board, and the Debtor for several 12 months.

13 While each of these motions, as I mentioned, Your Honor,
14 are unopposed, we plan to put on the testimony of James Seery,
15 John Dubel, and Brad Sharp to provide the Court with the
16 evidentiary basis to support the relief that is requested.
17 And with the testimony, Your Honor, we intend to accomplish
18 several things.

19 First, Your Honor, in light of our exchange at the hearing
20 on July 8th, we thought it'd be appropriate for Mr. Seery to 21 provide a more fulsome response to Your Honor regarding the
22 nature and extent of the Debtors' operations and assets and
23 the variety of significant activities that the Board in 24 general and Mr. Seery as the chief executive officer has been
25 performing over the last several months.

1 We think this is very important, Your Honor, given that
2 the Debtor has substantial and multiple complex business
3 operations that it oversees that are in -- that are in
4 subsidiaries outside of Chapter 11 or are in entities managed
5 by the Debtor and also not in Chapter 11. And the Court, we
6 appreciate, especially in light of Your Honor's comments, does
7 not have the benefit of seeing what is really going on. So
8 we're hoping, by Mr. Seery's testimony, it will provide Your
9 Honor with a much clear picture, and, quite frankly, a better
10 job doing it than I was able to do last week.

11 Mr. Seery's testimony will support the need for the 12 retention of the chief executive officer and why his 13 particular background and qualifications made him the
14 appropriate choice for the role.

15 Second, Mr. Dubel, as the chairman of the compensation
16 committee of the Board, will testify regarding the process
17 undertaken by the compensation committee that led to the 18 conclusion to ask Mr. Seery to become the chief executive
19 officer and the agreement -- under the terms and conditions
20 set forth in the agreement.

21 Lastly, Mr. Sharp will testify regarding the activities he
22 and DSI have been performing since the commencement of the
23 case, the assistance they have been providing to Mr. Seery
24 over the last few months, and how the nature and extent of the 25 services they are providing will essentially remain the same

1 if Your Honor approves the motion to employ Mr. Seery.

2 Before I turn the virtual podium over to my partner, John
3 Morris, to present the testimony, Your Honor, I thought I
4 would provide the Court with a brief summary of the events
5 leading to the Debtors' filing of the motion.

6 THE COURT: Okay.

7 MR. POMERANTZ: As Your Honor will recall, the Court
8 entered an order on January 9th approving a settlement between
9 the Debtor and the Committee, and a significant part of that
10 settlement involved modifications to the Debtors' corporate
11 governance that resulted in the installation of the 12 Independent Board.

13 The term sheet that was attached in the settlement motion
14 specifically contemplated that the Independent Board, in
15 consultation with the Committee, would determine whether it
16 was appropriate to retain a chief executive officer, and
17 further went on to say that the chief executive officer could
18 be a member of the Board.

19 And the retention of a chief executive officer was on
20 everyone's minds from the beginning, because since Mr.
21 Dondero's authority as the CEO of the Debtor was being
22 terminated in connection with the settlement, the Debtor and
23 the Committee contemplated that, in order to manage a dynamic
24 and widespread asset management platform like Highland's, that
25 the retention of a chief executive officer may very well be

1 necessary.

2 I will leave it to Mr. Seery and Mr. Dubel to explain to
3 the Court what transpired during the early stages of the case
4 and the decision-making process that led to Mr. Seery starting
5 to act as the Debtors' chief executive officer. And I would
6 also leave it to Mr. Dubel to discuss the sequence of events
7 which led from the appointment of him as the chief executive
8 officer through the filing of the motion that brings us here
9 today, which events will include the establishment of a
10 compensation committee; the commissioning of a report from the
11 Debtors' compensation expert, Mercer; the procurement of the 12 Debtors' [sic] and officers insurance coverage to cover Mr.
13 Seery and Mr. Dubel; the negotiations over the (inaudible) of 14 Mr. Seery; and lastly, the negotiations with the Committee
15 which has resulted in the motion being fully consensual.

16 I'll also leave it to Mr. Seery to explain his personal --
17 professional background and why he was qualified to fill that 18 role.

19 The agreement, Your Honor, between Mr. Seery and the 20 Debtor includes the following material provisions.

21 First, there would be base compensation at the rate of
22 $150,000 a month, retroactive to March 15th. And while Mr.
23 Seery will remain on the Board as part of his role as the 24 chief executive officer, the $150,000 per month would cover
25 his services not only as a CEO but also a member of the Board.

1 In other words, the Board fees that were agreed to back in
2 January of $60,000 a month, $50,000 a month, and $30,000 a
3 month would be replaced by the $150,000 a month commencing on
4 March 15th.

5 While the compensation committee and Mr. Seery reached
6 agreement on the structure of potential bonus compensation,
7 the Committee has not agreed to that proposed structure. As a
8 result, the compensation committee and Mr. Seery decided that
9 approval sought in this motion would only be the monthly
10 compensation and the other non-economic terms, but would not
11 include the bonus compensation. Any bonus compensation sought
12 to be paid to Mr. Seery would be pursuant to a separate motion
13 filed, if at all, a lot later in the case.

14 The Committee was also uncomfortable with the open-ended
15 nature of the agreement and wanted some control in being able
16 to seek to terminate it. To accommodate the Committee, Mr.
17 Seery and the Debtor agreed to the following: After 90 days
18 from the date the Court enters an order approving this
19 agreement, if the Court is inclined to do so, the Committee
20 may provide the Debtor with notice that it does not want the 21 agreement to continue. The Debtor would then have two weeks
22 to file a motion on normal notice seeking to extend the date
23 of the agreement, and Mr. Seery would be entitled to his base
24 compensation until the Court ruled on the motion.

25 Also, the Committee asked us that be made clear in the

1 order, which we've done, that Mr. Seery's retention would
2 terminate on the effective date on the plan, subject, of
3 course, of his right to seek bonus compensation pursuant to a
4 separate motion. The agreement also contains standard
5 reimbursement and indemnification provisions.

6 Your Honor, those conclude my initial remarks. I'm happy
7 to take questions. And then, at the appropriate time, I
8 return it over to Mr. Morris, who will put on the testimony of 9 Mr. Seery, Mr. Dubel, and Mr. Sharp.

10 THE COURT: All right. I'd like to pretty quickly
11 get to the evidence. So, I'll ask: Does anyone have a
12 burning desire to make an opening statement? If so, please
13 let's keep it brief.

14 (No response.)

15 THE COURT: All right. I assume everyone is content
16 to wait until the end and speak up in any way they want to 17 speak up.

18 Mr. Morris, are you ready to call your witness?

19 MR. MORRIS: I am, Your Honor. Can you hear me right
20 now?

21 THE COURT: I can. Thank you.

22 MR. MORRIS: Okay. Your Honor, this is John Morris
23 from Pachulski Stang Ziehl & Jones for the Debtor. As the 24 Debtors' first witness, we call James Seery.

25 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Seery, I need to swear

Seery - Direct

13

1 you in by video. So could you take your phone off mute and
2 please raise your right hand. Can you say Testing 1, 2, so I
3 know you're there?

4 MR. SEERY: Testing 1, 2.

5 THE COURT: All right.

6 JAMES P. SEERY, DEBTOR'S WITNESS, SWORN

7 THE COURT: All right. Thank you. Mr. Morris?

8 MR. MORRIS: Thank you, Your Honor. Before I begin
9 my questioning of Mr. Seery, the Debtor had filed its witness
10 list and its exhibit list. We provided copies of the exhibits
11 to the Court and to the Committee, and I would like to just 12 move into evidence Debtors' Exhibits 1 through 7 at this time.

13 THE COURT: All right. So I have in front of me
14 Docket Entry No. 822 with Exhibits 1 through 7. Any
15 objection? (No response.) All right. 1 through 7 are 16 admitted.

17 (Debtors' Exhibits 1 through 7 are received into
18 evidence.)

19 MR. MORRIS: Thank you, Your Honor. And just as an
20 overview, so you have a sense of where we're going with Mr.
21 Seery's testimony, I am going to begin with some very brief
22 background questionings and then have Mr. Seery answer some
23 questions concerning the overview of the company and the 24 corporate structure of the company. You may have heard some 25 of this before, but I think in the context of a motion such as

005023

14

1 the appointment of a CEO, I think it would be helpful to hear
2 it all.

3 When I finish with that, we're going to move into the area
4 of the Board and the work that the Board has done and Mr.
5 Seery's work as a member of the Board.

6 And then we'll transition into really the meat of the 7 discussion here, and that is what has he done in his capacity
8 as CEO. And to be clear, he's not the CEO, he doesn't call
9 himself the CEO, but he's functioned as the CEO, and I think
10 that's the point that we want to present to the Court. And we
11 want to present to the Court the fact that he functioned as a
12 CEO really from day one of the process. And we're not going
13 to get into, you know, every single thing he's done, because 14 we'd be here for an awfully long time, but we do intend to 15 highlight a couple of the transactions that he worked on and 16 give you a sense of his role in trying to develop a plan and
17 resolving claims.

18 And I think, with that, you'll have a better understanding
19 of Mr. Seery, his role, and why we believe it's a proper
20 exercise of the Debtors' business judgment to appoint him as 21 CEO.

22 THE COURT: All right. Sounds good.

23 MR. MORRIS: All right.

24 DIRECT EXAMINATION

25 BY MR. MORRIS:

005024

Seery - Direct

15

1 Q Mr. Seery, can you hear me?

2 A I can. Can you hear me?

3 Q Yes, I can.

4 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, just one other point. I
5 have a legal assistant on the phone here. She's participating
6 in the WebEx. Her name is La Asia Canty. La Asia is going to
7 handle the exhibits when and if we need to put them up on the
8 screen. So we've tried to practice that, and hopefully it
9 will go smoothly, but I may turn to Ms. Canty from time to 10 time with some help with the exhibits.

11 THE COURT: All right. Fine.

12 BY MR. MORRIS:

13 Q Okay. Mr. -- what is your current relationship to the
14 Debtor?

15 A I'm an Independent Director of Strand, which is the
16 general partner of the Debtor.

17 Q All right. And when did you become the Independent
18 Director of Strand?

19 A On January 9th, along with John Dubel and Russ Nelms.

20 Q The Court has previously heard about your background, but 21 from a high level, can you just hit the highlights for the
22 Court as to your experience, et cetera?

23 A To go swiftly -- and if Your Honor wants me to go further,
24 I certainly can -- I was a restructuring and finance lawyer
25 for 10 years, handling virtually every type of restructuring

005025

1 matter as well as financing in distressed matters during that
2 time.

3 In 1999, I went to the business side and I began to manage
4 distressed assets at Lehman Brothers as well as a leverage
5 finance business. That grew into my running the risky finance
6 business as well as the loan business at Lehman globally,
7 which included high-grade loans, high-yield loans, trading and
8 sales of those products, a big part of distressed, all of
9 restructuring, all of asset management, and all of the hedging
10 of the portfolio that we had.

11 From there, I left Lehman with a small group and sold it
12 to Barclay's. I moved on and ran a hedge fund with two former
13 partners of mine who are the founding partners called River
14 Birch Capital. It was a long-short credit fund; mostly 15 credit, though we did structured finance as well, and we also 16 handled some equities.

17 Q Okay. Let's spend a few minutes, as a preview, talking
18 about the Debtor and its business. And let's start with the 19 basics. Is there a way you can summarize the business of the
20 Debtor?

21 A I think, from a high level, the best way to think about
22 the Debtor is that it's a registered investment advisor. As a
23 registered investment advisor, which is really any advisor of 24 third-party money over $25 million, it has to register with
25 the SEC, and it manages funds in many different ways.

1 The Debtor manages approximately $200 million current
2 values -- it was more than that at the start of the case -- of
3 its own assets. It doesn't have to be a registered investment
4 advisor for those assets, but it does manage its own assets,
5 which include directly-owned securities; loans from mostly
6 related entities, but not all; and investments in certain
7 funds which it also manages.

8 In addition, the Debtor manages about roughly $2 billion
9 in -- $2 billion in total managed assets, around $2 billion in 10 CLO assets, and then other entities, which are hedge funds or 11 PE style.

12 In addition, the Debtor provides shared services for
13 approximately $6 billion of assets. Those are assets that are 14 owned by related entities but not owned by Debtor-owned or 15 managed entities. And those are a combination of back office
16 services, which include timely reporting, asset management,
17 legal and compliance support, trading and research support,
18 but not the actual management of the assets.

19 The Debtors run -- and I think the way to think about it
20 is on a functional basis; at least, that's the way I think
21 about it -- and there's really six areas. There's corporate
22 management; finance, accounting and tax; trading and research;
23 private equity and fund investing; compliance and legal; and 24 then structured equity, which really includes all of the CLO
25 businesses.

Seery - Direct

18

1 The goals of the Debtor generally are what you'd expect
2 out of an asset manager. A little bit different than most
3 because the Debtor does own assets, which is a little
4 different than when money asset managers typically hold assets
5 away from the asset manager. But number one, discharge
6 Highland's, which I'll call Highland (inaudible), LP, duties
7 to investors in the funds. Those are fiduciary duties under
8 the Investment Advisors Act. Each day, you've got to make
9 sure that you do that first and foremost.

10 Number two, create positive MPD in each of the funds that
11 we manage, either through sales, purchases, or hedging.

12 Next, make sure that we report timely finances of our own
13 assets, including in the funds, but also, to the third-party
14 investors. Maximize the value of HCMLP's owned assets. And
15 then operate as efficiently as possible for the lowest cost.

16 That's essentially how the Debtor -- how we think about
17 the Debtor from a functional perspective. It's got about 70
18 employees laid out in those areas that I mentioned, and each
19 of those employees every day usually think about those goals
20 and try to discharge their duties by focusing on those goals.

21 Q Thank you, Mr. Seery. And can you describe for the Court
22 how those 70 or so employees are organized? Is there an
23 internal corporate structure that you're working with?

24 A Yeah. The way -- the way -- I apologize. The way we 25 think about it is, as I said, corporate management, which is

005028

Seery - Direct

19

1 really HR and overseeing the function that it's filling every
2 day, that's been really -- because Mr. Dondero was removed
3 from management. It used to all roll up to him. That's been
4 effectively rolling up to me since February.

5 Finance, accounting, and tax. Each of these businesses
6 every day require certain amounts of liquidity. Each of them
7 have requirements that they have to pay out to investors.
8 Each of them have expenses. And all of them have different
9 kinds of tax either obligations or reporting. Those are
10 managed by Frank Waterhouse as the CFO. (inaudible), sorry.

11 Trading and research. With respect to the assets, they're
12 not -- they're not static assets. Many of them do get traded
13 on a regular basis. A gentleman, Joe Sowin, heads up the
14 trading of the liquid assets. John Povish (phonetic) heads up
15 the research and the trading of the more illiquid assets, but 16 not PE. In addition, we have PE assets that require some
17 management every day, including Board seats. That's a
18 gentleman by the name of Cameron Baynard, and also he will
19 fund investments in that area. J.P. Sevilla is responsible
20 for working with Cameron on those investments and leading that 21 team.

22 Importantly, because of the nature of what the Debtor
23 does, the fiduciary obligations, as well as the 24 responsibilities to each investor and the legal overlay, we 25 have a robust compliance and legal department. That's headed

005029

Seery - Direct

20

1 by Thomas Surgent and Scott Ellington. Scott: more focused
2 on transactional issues with respect to legal. He is actually
3 general counsel. Everything that has do with compliance, the
4 interrelatedness of the funds, trading between funds or
5 positions that are shared across funds, which are many, runs
6 through Thomas Surgent and his team.

7 And finally, structured equity. Sitting on top of the 8 structured finance business that we have, understanding those
9 assets, particularly of two billion-ish assets in CLOs, that's
10 headed by Hunter Covitz.

11 Q Can you describe for the Court your interaction with each
12 of the department heads that you just identified?

13 A Well, depending on the nature of the issue each day, I
14 have at least -- I'd say generally at least weekly contact
15 with most, often daily contact with most. So, for example,
16 when there are trading issues, particularly as the market was
17 extremely volatile with respect to unliquid securities, Joe
18 Sowin and I were on the phone several times a day.

19 Relating to the COVID issues, Brian Collins, who heads the
20 HR group, and I were on the phone several times a day.

21 Relating to structured equity, depending on what's
22 happening with a particular fund or what's happening in loan
23 prices, I speak to Hunter Covitz. And it goes down the line.

24 So it really depends on each of the areas and what's going
25 on in the business, but I try to touch base with each of those

005030

21

1 department heads on a regular basis.

2 Frank Waterhouse, of course, is at least weekly. We have
3 a standing call every week to make sure that we're focused on
4 liquidity, which is always a concern in a Chapter 11, and
5 Frank and his team are on that call and prepare weekly
6 materials for us.

7 Q Okay.

8 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, before I move to the next
9 area of questions, the work of the Board, I just wanted to see
10 if the Court had any questions on the corporate organizational 11 structure, the internal structure of the business, or any of 12 the matters that Mr. Seery touched on?

13 THE COURT: I do not. And I do have in front of me a
14 demonstrative aid that Mr. Annable sent over ahead of time, so
15 I appreciate that as well.

16 MR. MORRIS: Okay. Your Honor, I think Mr. Seery
17 covered much of what's on that document, but if you'd like him
18 to go through that, we're happy to do it.

19 THE COURT: No, that's fine.

20 MR. MORRIS: Okay.

21 BY MR. MORRIS:

22 Q Then let's shift gears a little bit and start talking
23 about the work of the Independent Board itself. The 24 Independent Board was appointed in mid-January; is that right?

25 A Yeah. It was the first -- January 9th, the first week of 005031

1 January, and we started working that afternoon.

2 Q Okay. Can you describe for the Court what the -- the
3 Board's initial focus? What were you focused on?

4 A Well, if you think about the areas that I just mentioned
5 previously, the Board initially, for lack of a better term,
6 gang-tackled everything. So we tried to make sure that we had
7 a broad base of understanding among the three of us with
8 respect to the business.

9 I, because of my background, had a lot more familiarity
10 with asset management, these type of asset security
11 businesses. But we wanted to make sure that each of us was at 12 least facile with the main areas that we had to understand.
13 First was operations. How does the company run each day?
14 Particularly, how was it going to run without Mr. Dondero?
15 And I went through some of those functional areas and how we 16 thought about those and who head each of those.

17 Next in the -- I don't mean to say it's second, because
18 it's always first, but liquidity. What did the Debtors'
19 liquidity look like? How are we going to manage that 20 liquidity, not just for the near-term, but also for the 21 medium-term, and then even into the slightly longer-term? We
22 had to think about what assets are there, what money those
23 assets might need that we would have to invest in them, and
24 whether there was liquidity in those assets that we can create
25 liquidity in order to fund the Debtors' business.

1 Personnel, we needed a good opportunity to understand who
2 did what, not just in the senior managers that I mentioned,
3 but deeper into the staff, because we're going to rely on
4 those folks. Particularly worked through with DSI.

5 As I mentioned, the Debtor, unlike a lot of other asset
6 managers, owns a lot of assets. It's a disparate group of
7 assets, but getting a feel and understanding for what those
8 assets were, what the critical issues surrounding those assets
9 are, who managed them day-to-day: We wanted to make sure that
10 each of the directors had a good (inaudible) and understanding
11 of those issues that might arise with respect to those assets,
12 and a good sense of how quickly those issues could, you know,
13 further arise.

14 We also had to get a very good understanding of each of 15 the funds that we manage. As I said, the Investment Advisors
16 Act puts a fiduciary duty on Highland Capital to discharge its
17 duty to the investors. So while we have duties to the estate,
18 we also have duties, as I mentioned in my last testimony, to
19 each of the investors in the funds.

20 Now, some of them are related parties, and those are a
21 little bit easier. Some of them are owned by Highland. But
22 there are third-party investors in these funds who have no
23 relation whatsoever to Highland, and we owe them a fiduciary
24 duty both to manage their assets prudently but also to seek to 25 maximize value. And we wanted to make sure we had a good

Seery - Direct

24

1 understanding of that.

2 Finally, with respect to the shared service arrangements,
3 we needed to get an understanding of that $6 billion in assets
4 and how our business, HCMLP, worked with those -- those shared
5 service counterparties and exactly who did what for whom.

6 It's very complicated because it had been run much more on a
7 functional basis than on a line basis from each contract. So
8 it's not as if your employees are allocated to NexBank. It's 9 the whole panoply of businesses that we enter into, and
10 providing those services to NexBank, not through a central
11 point but through whatever requests come in from the counter-
12 parties. So we needed a good understanding of what those 13 contracts looked and what those obligations were.

14 A VOICE: John, you're on mute.

15 MR. MORRIS: Thank you.

16 BY MR. MORRIS:

17 Q All of that work was going on in the first weeks of the 18 appointment of the Board?

19 A Yeah, it would not be fair to say we could do that in a
20 couple weeks. So it took far longer than that. But that
21 didn't mean that issues didn't start to arise immediately in
22 February. And so, while we were learning, we were also
23 starting to get a feel for different things that could happen
24 in the company.

25 As in many companies, immediately, one of the first things

005034

1 you have to deal with is, particularly at the beginning of the
2 year, what does compensation look like; who are the -- what do
3 promotions look like; are you going to be able to hold this
4 team together to service these assets? And yeah, we had that,
5 with an additional wrinkle that Highland's payment structure
6 defers a significant amount of compensation to its employees,
7 and it vests over time, and it has the very typical provision
8 that if you are not there when it vests -- when it is going to
9 be paid, actually, not when it vests. Even if you're vested,
10 if you're not there when it gets paid, you're not entitled to
11 it. And so understanding who was owed what; how the vesting
12 worked; what the compensation structure looked like compared
13 to third parties, was one of the first things we had to do.
14 And Highland has an extremely robust review process. Brian
15 Collins manages it. It's first-rate. It goes through both
16 360 in terms of what other employees think of each other as 17 well as bottoms up, in terms of performance. And then it has
18 a top-down component, which ultimately ran through Mr.
19 Dondero. Since he was effectively removed from that role, the
20 Board had to jump in and get a full understanding with Brian
21 about what the process looked like; how it was going to work;
22 how it compared to other firms; and whether we could go
23 forward with it. And that was one of the motions that was
24 brought early to the Court.

25 A Let's talk a minute about the transactional work that the

Seery - Direct

26

1 Board was called to focus on initially. Are you familiar with
2 the transactional protocols that the Debtor agreed to with the 3 Committee?

4 Q I am.

5 A Can you describe for the Court the impact those protocols
6 had on the Board's work?

7 Q Well, they make it extremely difficult. And I understand
8 the purposes behind the protocols. Was not involved in
9 negotiating them. However, because of the limitations they
10 put on the Debtor, they make it very difficult to manage
11 certain of the assets. So, if an asset needs money to invest
12 in it, depending on the size, it may need Committee approval.
13 If the -- if there are expenses that need to be paid from --
14 in related entities, and the related entity does not have the 15 capital to make the expense payment, the Debtor needs to put 16 the money in. Can the Debtor put that money in without the
17 Committee's approval, and if the Committee doesn't approve,
18 would we have to go to Court?

19 So, the functioning on a day-to-day basis for how to deal
20 with those assets became very difficult. And that came up
21 really early, as the market started to get a lot more
22 volatility by mid-February. We saw with respect to the 23 internal accounts trades that we would have liked to put on,
24 for example, short position, where we just weren't able to put 25 the trades on.

005036

1 Now, we could go to the Committee, and we did, but
2 understanding why we wanted to put it on; explaining it;
3 presenting that opportunity to the Committee; and then having
4 them go to the full Committee with it: It's very cumbersome.
5 And the trading markets don't wait for a week to determine
6 whether that offering that you want to -- that you want to
7 access is available.

8 So, early on, we got a sense of how difficult it would be
9 to manage the business with the protocols.

10 One of the areas I think that was significant and that we
11 talked about significantly with the Committee was an entity
12 called Multi-Strat. Multi-Strat is a fund that is owned by 13 the Debtor. It's, in essence, a PUNY-style (phonetic) fund.
14 It's an older fund. And it's about 60 percent owned by the 15 Debtor and roughly 30 percent owned by Dondero-related
16 entities.

17 However, there are 90 million, roughly 89 million,
18 approximately, third-party redeemers who had redeemed in that
19 fund but have yet to be paid, so they're treated like equity
20 claims but they're a fixed dollar amount because they are set
21 at the date that they redeemed based on the NAV at that time,
22 the net asset claim.

23 So, we were -- we were stuck with looking at that fund and
24 trying to determine how do we best manage the fund to get up-
25 side for the Debtor as well as the related entities that owned

1 the equity, making sure that we treated the redeemed entities
2 as fiduciaries, so which we acted as their fiduciaries, but
3 then also assuring that we managed the assets that that fund
4 owns in a prudent way.

5 One of the large assets in that fund were 13 life
6 policies. And these are, in essence, life insurance policies
7 that the Debtor bought from third parties. And there's a
8 market that trades life policies, and they owned these
9 policies on (inaudible). The value at the time was marked
10 around $32 million when -- when we took control.

11 The problem with the policies and some of the other
12 expenses at Multi-Strat is that they didn't -- Multi-Strat
13 didn't have the funds to continue to pay premiums. So, if the 14 premiums weren't paid, that $32 million was at risk of going
15 to zero. Why? Because if the premiums aren't paid, the 16 policies lapse. And once they lapse, the insurance company
17 will pay you zero for them. They don't them buy them back
18 anywhere. That's the market. But we looked at those assets
19 and began to consider how we would fund, from a liquidity
20 perspective, monies going into Multi-Strat.

21 The amounts required would require CC's approval under the
22 protocols, and the Debtor prepetition had advanced monies to
23 Multi-Strat to make premium payments and other expenses at
24 Multi-Strat. We went to the Committee and were able to get
25 approval to put a couple million dollars in early on to keep

1 the policies alive while we analyzed the best opportunity for
2 maximizing value with respect to those policies.

3 But thereafter, we needed additional money to try to
4 consider how to continue to maximize value, and the Committee
5 balked. So we went to Dondero-related entities, and they
6 actually put equity into the Multi-Strats. So we -- the
7 Debtor had made a postpetition, in essence -- it wasn't a
8 postpetition advance because it was going outside of the 9 Debtor, but postpetition, the Debtor made a loan to Multi-
10 Strat to service the policies, and then Dondero-related
11 entities made an equity investment into Multi-Strat to 12 continue to service the policies.

13 Well, we understood as a Board but that wasn't going to
14 work and that the protocols were going to continue to hinder
15 us, so we entered into a sale process with respect to those 16 policies.

17 Q And the work that you're describing with respect to Multi-
18 Strat, is that -- just to transition to your work as
19 functionary CEO, would it fall into that bucket as opposed to 20 the Board work that we were talking about earlier?

21 A Yeah, absolutely. I think the -- the initial assessment,
22 as I said, we made as a group. And we looked at what the 23 opportunity set was, and determined that, because of the 24 costs, we weren't going to be able to continue to fund money
25 into Multi-Strat to make those payments.

1 So the Board asked me to take on trying to work out a
2 process to sell those policies. So, working with Fred Caruso
3 of DSI, we hired a broker, after interviewing a couple
4 different brokers. We considered the views of the internal
5 Highland team with respect to value and how to maximize that
6 value. We entered into a sale process for those policies, and
7 we ended up with a number of bidders and broke it down to two
8 bidders for the 13 policies, breaking up the policies to
9 maximize the value. They're only on eight lives, so it's not
10 fair to call it a portfolio. And so there's significant
11 amounts of premiums that have to be paid on a monthly basis
12 and going forward, and realizations on those policies are very
13 uncertain because it's hard to take them over an actuarial
14 methodology because there's only eight lives.

15 We tried to consider other ways to finance those policies,
16 but seven turned out to be, in our view, far and away the best
17 net present value for the investors in the fund.

18 The challenge that we had, as I mentioned, is the 19 complexity of Multi-Strat was also layered with a loan from 20 NexBank that was secured by four of the policies. That $32
21 million loan was also secured by the MGM stock owned by Multi-
22 Strat.

23 And then, as we got towards closing, we learned that one
24 of the buyers wanted a more detailed title rep, and as we
25 peeled through, we found a long-dormant UBS fraudulent

1 conveyance suit that had been brought against Multi-Strat.
2 There was no lien on the policies, but it made it impossible
3 for us to give the clean rep that the buyer wanted.

4 And at this point, I was running that with Fred Caruso, at
5 the request of the Board, and it became almost a full-time job
6 except for the five other things that we have to do during
7 April. And we negotiated a variety of different -- well,
8 considered a variety of different opportunities to try to 9 complete the sale.

10 First, I negotiated directly with UBS to see if they would
11 agree to a release, and then when the funds, other than 12 certain escrows which had to be paid out to NexBank as well as
13 repayment of the Debtors' fund, (inaudible), that didn't -- it
14 was very unfruitful in terms of those negotiations.

15 I then moved towards a potential bankruptcy of Multi-
16 Strat, where we would file Multi-Strat, have to do a 363 sale,
17 have a DIP loan to service the NexBank monthly payments. That
18 seemed very expensive.

19 We also thought about doing it as not selling them, so
20 perhaps we would a 360 -- a filing without a sale and try to 21 maximize the value by holding onto the policies but have to 22 get financing.

23 Ultimately, we came up with a structure which was we
24 escrowed funds for UBS, $10 million of funds, but they're not
25 actually for UBS. We preserved all of our rights to defend

1 the claims and we had paid down NexBank. We allocated funds
2 to make sure that we can pay NexBank for the next year before
3 their loan comes due. We allocated for all the expenses in
4 Multi-Strat. And then when we went back to the sellers, lo
5 and behold, one of the two sellers balked. Didn't -- or
6 buyers, I'm sorry. Balked. Didn't want to complete the sale.
7 And fortunately, our broker (inaudible) and Fred Caruso had
8 had another buyer in the wings, kept them warm, and were able
9 to complete the sale for $37 million.

10 So that goes to: How does this business function, what's 11 the complexity of it, and what have I and the rest of the 12 Board been doing? That was virtually a month's worth of work.

13 Q And when did the Board ask you, if you recall, to 14 undertake this project? When did it begin and when did it
15 end?

16 A Well, the initial project, around -- around Multi-Strat,
17 we started analyzing it as a group in January, the first week
18 we were there. I started probably taking control of it
19 sometime in mid-February, with Fred Caruso. So, DSI was
20 already on it. We were looking to work with the Debtors' team
21 as well as hire a broker. We, as a group, as a Board, made
22 the decision to sell the policies. Ultimately, we sold them
23 for about $37 million, which was -- which was more, a few
24 million dollars more than the mark on the policies when we
25 took them.

1 Q Can you give the Judge a sense of your role, as distinct
2 from the Board's role, how you went about completing or
3 attempting to complete all of the tasks that you've described
4 and the interaction with the Board and what the Board's role
5 was in assessing all of that?

6 A With respect to the Multi-Strat policies?

7 Q Uh-huh.

8 A I think, you know, initially, it was a understand, for the 9 three of us, understand the policies; understand the premium
10 obligations; understand what the benefits, the potential up-
11 sides to those policies were; and understand what the risks
12 were if we were to fail to make a premium payment; what did
13 the lapse period look like. And we did that collectively.
14 From there, all of the individual work around -- we came up
15 with a strategy to sell the policies, and then the tactical
16 work with Fred Caruso about how to execute sale of the
17 policies and completing that sale through the issues NexBank,
18 through the issues with UBS, resolving those issues, that
19 became really my job.

20 Q Now, I do want to take a step back, because we kind of
21 transitioned from the Board to the work that you were doing,
22 and I wanted to ask: You're seeking -- the Debtor is seeking
23 to have you appointed as the CEO, right?

24 A Yes.

25 Q Can you just describe for Judge Jernigan your

Seery - Direct

34

1 understanding of the duties and responsibilities of the CEO
2 position that we're seeking your appointment for?

3 A Sure. From a high level, it's -- I apologize. From a
4 high level, it's what I said earlier, which is the Board sets
5 the strategy, the CEO implements the strategy. And so I work
6 with the Highland team and the managers that I described
7 earlier, whose function that is, to try to execute on that
8 strategy. So that's, that's the basic overlay of what we do.
9 But that includes everything from, as I mentioned, personnel
10 issues to COVID-19 protocol to determining whether we're going
11 to sell certain assets and then how we're going to sell them,
12 determining how we'll resolve issues like Multi-Strat.

13 Another good example was the trading accounts that the 14 Debtor had. So, on the second or third week of January, or 15 perhaps the third or fourth week, we determined as we were
16 going through the asset review that the Debtor had two primary
17 liquid or semi-liquid securities accounts, and those were in
18 the Select account, which was a separate fund that had
19 previously third-party investors but was effectively a hundred
20 percent, 99 and change percent, owned by Highland at this
21 point. And an internal account, which was basically just
22 HCMLP-owned and denominated securities. These were generally
23 at Jefferies. Both of them employed significant margin.

24 THE WITNESS: If this is too pedantic, Your Honor,
25 please tell me if I'm going too deep.

005044

1 But margin is, in essence, a way for a security purchaser
2 to borrow money to facilitate the purchase and holding of the
3 securities. In essence, the lender, which in this case was
4 Jefferies, a large, well-known, reputable financier and New
5 York investment bank, was the Debtors' account holder. The
6 Debtor would select securities. Jefferies would establish a
7 haircut. The haircut is really the -- how the lender
8 determines how much they want to lend against the assets. So
9 if there's a -- if there's a haircut of a hundred percent in
10 use there, there would be no margin against that asset. A
11 haircut of 50 percent means the debtor will give you -- or,
12 the lender will give you 50 percent of the funds you need to 13 own and hold that asset and you put up 50 percent of the 14 funds.

15 And in a margin loan, the way that the lender protects
16 itself is, each day, it assesses the value of the asset; it
17 looks at the volatility of the asset; and then it asks for
18 more margin if the asset value went down in the trading
19 markets; and then you have a day or two or three, depending on
20 the structure, to post the new margin.

21 If you don't post the new margin, and this the way every
22 margin loan works, the lender has the ability to seize the
23 asset, sell it, and pay off its loan. It will then give you
24 the proceeds above the loan, if any.

25 The debtor -- the lender does that by looking at both the

Seery - Direct

36

1 daily prices, to make sure that it can manage its exposure,
2 but also it considers the volatility. And what it does when
3 it's looking at the volatility, and volatility is really a
4 measure, the way -- the way that securities analysts look at
5 it, is a forward year of the movement, potential movement of a
6 security. And that's how you set your haircut. Because if
7 the -- if the asset is very, very stable -- for example, your
8 home -- if your home was a margin loan and your mortgage, say,
9 is a margin loan, there wouldn't be much calling of margin
10 every day, because if the lender loaned 80 percent of the 11 value of your home, there may be house sales that go higher or
12 lower, but they don't necessary move that much really quickly,
13 particularly if these loans set what's called a threshold
14 amount that allow a little bit of movement each way.

15 The margin loans, though, are on securities that can move
16 tremendously. And what happened in February and then in early
17 March, volatility spiked up, prices moved significantly,
18 prices moved against the Highland positions. So Jefferies did
19 two things. One is it called margin, because it was -- its
20 equity cushion, in essence, was getting trimmed, and it wanted
21 more protection. Number two, it increased the haircuts, which
22 it was entitled to do because it looked forward and said, The
23 volatility in this market is worse than we thought. It will
24 be a higher volatility and there's more risk to us that the 25 asset could be worth less than the loan.

005046

Seery - Direct

37

1 I started working with Joe Sowin, who's a head trader, a
2 very accomplished trader at Highland. He actually reports
3 into the -- not on the Debtors' payroll but another payroll
4 that we don't manage. But he spends a ton of time working on
5 Highland assets and trading those assets. And Joe and I
6 started working together to try to manage the Jefferies
7 exposure.

8 At one point, Jefferies actually seized the Select
9 account. Again, Select wasn't in bankruptcy, but Jefferies
10 had safe harbor provisions or protections anyway and they
11 could have done it. We felt they were about to seize the 12 internal account, and so we sent them a note that said that
13 perhaps their safe harbors weren't as good as they thought.
14 But, more importantly, here's our sale program. Jim Seery's
15 going to take over the account, working with Joe, and we're
16 going to manage it down.

17 In the Select account, Jefferies took it over -- and this
18 is not really a blame to Jefferies; it's part of the market --
19 they sold out of that account pretty quickly. They did work
20 with us, but they were the selling position and covering their
21 loan, and we lost virtually all of the value in that account.

22 In the internal account, we effectively kept Jefferies
23 from seizing it, gave them a sale program, and then day-to-day
24 managed the sale of the more significant assets, as well as 25 the hedges, which mean we traded pretty aggressively

005047

Seery - Direct

38

1 throughout the day. This was a full-day job, trading that
2 account, with Joe as the trader and then me acting as the PM,
3 effectively.

4 We took that account, which if Jefferies had taken it over
5 and done -- it had virtually the same securities, it had just
6 a small number of securities, as well as some hedges which had
7 significant basis risk related to the securities -- we took
8 that account over. If we'd gotten the same program as
9 Jefferies, we would have lost $11 million. We made about $23
10 million. So that swing, that swing was pretty significant.
11 I'm sorry, we made about $11-1/2 million, about a $23 million
12 swing than if Jefferies had taken it over.

13 So that was another example of what I've been doing that
14 the Board designated me to do to help run this business.
15 Working with Joe, as well as research, as well as discussing
16 these positions on a regular basis with Jefferies, weekly
17 calls and daily e-mails, we were able to preserve that value
18 in that account.

19 Q And so, just for context, this is happening in late
20 February or early March, as COVID is hitting and the markets
21 are volatile; is that fair?

22 A That's when we started taking it over. The real -- the
23 real -- the lay in the markets was about March 22nd or 23rd.

24 Q Uh-huh.

25 A And that's when it became a daily grind on those positions

005048

1 for a solid month to make sure that we got it in a decent
2 place.

3 And remind you that we were trading those accounts within
4 the strictures of the protocols. So we didn't have the
5 ability to -- the securities were -- rather less liquid. We
6 didn't have the ability to just dump them, because we would
7 have destroyed the market and taken significant losses.

8 In addition, because of the protocols, we didn't have the
9 ability to go out and buy hedges, even though we had a
10 negative bias as to where the market was, particularly in 11 those less-traded securities.

12 And it's -- it was public that Highland (inaudible) and
13 Highland (inaudible) was in bankruptcy, so you can be certain
14 that the traders were leaning on those -- those securities
15 from short decisions. So it was a very difficult, time-
16 consuming effort, and a great job by Joe.

17 Q When you talk about a time-consuming effort, how would
18 you -- how would you characterize the amount of time you spent
19 on this project in the month of March? Was it a full-time
20 job?

21 A Yeah. Yeah. I mean, full-time is relative, right, but it
22 was -- it was a lot of time. So we would start out, you know,
23 like everybody else who is in those markets and do it the same
24 way, it's pretty tried and true: By 6:30 in the morning,
25 you're starting to look at what the EOP, what Asia did, where

Seery - Direct

40

1 European markets were opened up, what the futures were looking
2 like, looking at your own securities, checking all of the
3 mail, talking to your research folks. To the extent that you
4 know that there's other investors in those investments, we
5 reached out to those -- I have a number of contacts in the
6 market who are in these kinds of assets -- to see what they're
7 thinking and how they're looking at value. And then set up a
8 trading strategy with Joe, and then execute on it every day.
9 And that trading strategy, again, was not static. So during
10 the day, a dynamic trading strategy has to be adjusted
11 depending on what the market is doing, and Joe was excellent
12 at it.

13 Q I think you mentioned the protocols earlier. Can you just
14 talk a little bit more about how you and the Debtor
15 communicated with the Committee through this process of
16 addressing the Jefferies mortgage -- mortgage defaults?

17 A Well, every day, we sent a report to -- to the Debtor -- I
18 mean, to the Committee, I apologize -- with our positions in
19 each of the accounts and tell them exactly what we're doing,
20 what the plan is, what we're set up to do, where we think it's 21 going, and what assistance we might need through the 22 protocols.

23 I think it became really difficult for the Debtors'
24 professionals -- the Committee's professionals to deal with 25 these issues, because it's just not what they were used to

005050

Seery - Direct

41

1 doing every day. So we would report to them. The Committee
2 met weekly. We can -- provided direct information to
3 Committee members when they -- you know, there's members on
4 the Committee who are very versed in these types of assets.
5 We would talk to them directly, I would talk to them directly,
6 and tell them exactly what we're doing and why and get their
7 input, because there was no magic special sauce as to exactly
8 what to do.

9 Q And would you characterize the process as transparent and
10 open between you and the Committee and its members?

11 A Oh, oh, absolutely. You know, we were -- they were
12 constructive. I wouldn't say that the Committee wasn't
13 constructive. I think the difficulty the Committee had, which
14 is what, you know, any third party would have, is that: Why
15 are we going to put more money into these accounts when the 16 value is going down, and what's -- what's your -- what are
17 your price targets? How do you think about those assets;
18 who's the analyst who's working on it; how do they compare to
19 other assets? So it wasn't an easy process for the Committee
20 to get their arms around, either.

21 Q Okay.

22 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, we have other transactions
23 that we could talk about if you think that would be useful, or
24 we could continue to push this forward.

25 THE COURT: You can continue to push it forward.

1 Thank you.

2 MR. MORRIS: Okay.

3 BY MR. MORRIS:

4 Q Then let's transition for a moment just about your
5 recollection as to kind of when and how, you know, the
6 discussions with the Board and the Committee evolved with
7 respect to your taking over as CEO. Did there come a point in 8 time that you can recall when the Board asked you to consider
9 that?

10 A Yeah. The Board asked me to consider it I would say
11 probably late January or early February. And the initial
12 discussions, even before, you know, before we were selected.
13 So, as John Dubel and I had been selected by the Debtor and
14 the Committee, we talked about the need for one central point
15 of management for this company. That it's 70 employees and
16 diverse assets, diverse business practices. How are we going
17 to mold that as a Committee? It really needed somebody to
18 execute the strategic plan that the Board put in place.

19 And so John had asked me about that even before we were
20 selected. Committee counsel asked me about it. So there was
21 -- there was some, at least away from me, there was some view
22 that perhaps I was going to be the person that was most
23 likely, if it was needed.

24 My view in early February was that, you know, we were
25 effectively, as the phrase goes, drinking from a fire hose,

005052

43

1 and I wanted to get a better sense of who the folks were at
2 Highland; what their responsibilities are; how they performed;
3 what I thought of them as performers; how -- I had -- or,
4 having some idea what the claims are and how that process
5 would work; and could we make this a success?

6 So, early on, in January and in February, as we started
7 having these discussions, I was in the Highland offices at 8 least three, usually four days a week. And I was there from 9 7:30 in the morning until 6:00 or 7:00 at night every day.
10 And that gave me just a different feel for exactly how the 11 organization was running and the issues that were coming up
12 every day.

13 That evolved into March where, after I took over the
14 securities accounts in early March and then took over the
15 Multi-Strat issues, that John and Russ Nelms pushed me to 16 really consider stepping up fully to the CEO role. So, by
17 early April, I think it's the first week of April, we actually
18 -- we put it forth and go to the Committee. So we started
19 negotiating what potential terms were, how it would work.

20 You know, one of the concerns that I had, you know, we had
21 no idea, and I suppose we still don't, how the COVID-19 issues
22 will play out and how that would both -- because at the time
23 they were really affecting New York, where I'm based and I
24 live, and less so in Dallas. But by mid-March, it was pretty
25 clear that the whole country was being affected. And now,

005053

1 obviously, it's hitting all over.

2 And hopefully that will settle, but what we did learn, and
3 I think a lot of businesses learned, is that particularly
4 these types of service businesses that function electronically
5 in lot of respects, even when they are in an office, because
6 you're in front of your screen, that we are very lucky to have
7 these types of roles where we can really perform the job, if
8 not equally well, pretty darn close to how you perform it when
9 you're at the office. And so that issue subsided a little bit
10 in terms of how I would interrelate -- not the issue going
11 away, obviously -- but how I could interrelate and work with 12 the team to drive the business, even if I was doing it from 13 New York.

14 Q And have you continued to play a leadership role from the
15 time you spoke with your fellow Board members in early March
16 until the present?

17 A I have. And I think one of the things that the Committee,
18 you know, recognized was that John and Russ, experienced
19 professionals, were willing to step back and let me take the 20 day-to-day working with the Committee or presenting to the 21 Committee. So we do have weekly Board meetings and we do have
22 almost daily Board calls, and then, without an official
23 meeting, we meet on the phone virtually every Saturday or
24 Sunday, sometimes both, with the three of us, to go through
25 what's happened every -- each week, how the plan has evolved

1 and where we're pushing it.

2 But in terms of the presentations to the Committee, I took
3 the lead on those in both designing and working with the Board
4 then and then implementing them and laying them out for the
5 Committee, as well as the individual negotiations.

6 So, early on, we determined that we had to try to figure
7 out a way to push this case forward, notwithstanding that we
8 weren't getting -- we didn't see a lot of movement from any of 9 the parties, frankly, on trying to figure out a way to
10 coalesce around a direction. So we designed a program that we
11 laid out for the Committee in which we considered three main
12 areas to consider for a plan. And I took the lead on doing
13 that.

14 Q So, let's talk a little bit about the claims resolution
15 process and the formulation of a plan. Have you played any
16 role in the claims resolution process?

17 A Well, we haven't actually resolved any claims completely
18 yet, but we're very close on one, and I've taken the lead on 19 doing that.

20 On the other two, I've been involved heavily with the --
21 both counsel and with DSI in analyzing the claims. As well as 22 with the rest of the Board, frankly. The -- you know, we've
23 got a significant amount of expertise between John Dubel and
24 Russ Nelms with respect to how to think about these issues in 25 the context both of a bankruptcy, obviously, with Russ, and in

Seery - Direct

46

1 the context of both a restructuring and in the business with
2 respect to John.

3 So we've gang-tackled those, again, effectively, all
4 analyzing the various issues with respect to these claims.
5 But in terms of having the direct negotiations, particularly
6 on two of them, I've taken -- I've taken more of the lead
7 about where we could go. And if you -- particularly with my
8 background in restructuring, and having wrestled with
9 substantive consolidation, alter ego, piercing the veil since
10 1988 or '89, you know, some of the issues that have arisen in
11 this case are very, very familiar to me. I've spent a
12 significant part of my career dealing with those. So I've 13 taken the lead on those types of issues.

14 I think that where I was going was in terms of structuring
15 potential outcomes for plans. And we are -- you know, we've
16 been slowed down, as I think Jeff Pomerantz mentioned last
17 week, to a fair degree by COVID, in that the business impacts,
18 we can go into, and Jeff touched on some of those, but the 19 social impacts with respect to negotiating are hard to -- are 20 hard to understate. The -- you can run a business like this
21 through your screen. It's very difficult to simply negotiate
22 by phone or by video. The face-to-face, at least in my
23 experience, makes a big difference in moving parties, and we
24 haven't had as much of that.

25 What we've tried to do recently, starting in May, is we've

005056

Seery - Direct

47

1 put together a program for the Committee, and we'll walk them
2 through what I think are the -- what we determine as a Board
3 and then we laid out the specifics -- I didn't; DSI -- of what
4 the options are in this case.

5 And I think number one was the status quo. Do we maintain
6 this case status quo, continue to run the business, and then
7 try to negotiate, resolve, mediate, or litigate, first through
8 dispositive motions, then through something more significant
9 if we can't do it through dispositive motions, these claims?

10 The Debtor right now on an operating basis does burn cash.
11 I can go into the specifics, but the Committee knows them, and
12 I'd prefer to do those in camera if we -- if the Judge would
13 like that. We do burn cash on an operating basis, but not
14 that much. The Debtor has about $30 million (inaudible) and
15 the business does run, and generally each year the operating
16 burn, if you will, which is, in compensation, is filled by
17 selling some assets that have appreciated in value. And the 18 Debtor runs real -- with those accretions, run roughly
19 breakeven.

20 The problem in this case is that we are burning a
21 significant amount of bankruptcy professional fees. And it's 22 the lament of creditors and business operators and the 23 bankruptcy bar. I think, certainly, the judges that I see for 24 a long time. And the percentage -- the cost of the cases
25 keeps going up and the percentage of the assets keeps going,

005057

1 but particularly if the asset values are going down.

2 So the status quo didn't make a lot of sense unless we
3 were going to get very swift movement from the parties, and I
4 mean all sides, to try to resolve the case.

5 The other type of outcome we thought about in terms of a
6 plan was a downsiding model. Downsizing model, excuse me. In
7 that model, we would try to significantly cut headcount, try
8 to significantly cut expenses. Run the business as leanly as
9 possible. And then try to go through those steps with respect
10 to resolving the claims.

11 Again, the problem, the problem with that is resolution of 12 those claims was uncertain and could take a long time, unless
13 we had significant movement from either side. But, moreover,
14 in terms of operating the business, we determined that with
15 respect to both the managed accounts and shared service
16 agreements, we really couldn't effectively do the job that the
17 Debtor does with a smaller staff. Truth is, even at 70
18 people, the HCMLP staff is pretty lean. It's a really good
19 team and they are very efficient and they've really proved it
20 through working offsite, you know, through the pandemic.

21 But we really thought that if we -- and analyzed it. If
22 we were to try to cut that team and provide the services, we
23 would fall down. So we would breach the duties or potentially
24 incur liabilities under those various contracts.

25 The third area that we took a look at, which was what we

1 called the subservicing model. In this model, we would try to
2 separate the business of the Debtor, which has a small
3 operating loss, but it's still material money, from the asset
4 management. That way, you could hold onto the assets for the
5 benefit of the creditors or the Debtor, depending on where the
6 claims comes out, still provide the services to those third
7 parties under the subservicing agreements or the management
8 agreements. You wouldn't make money on that, but you'd get
9 rid of the operating burn.

10 And that model had a number of issues, but we've sort of 11 evolved that model to what I think has been referred to in 12 court as the debtor-creditor monetization vehicle. So a
13 little bit of a cumbersome name, but the idea would be to try
14 to separate the assets, which potentially are the ways to pay
15 the creditors, depending on where claims come out, and then --
16 and the operations, and make sure you can continue the 17 operations without a heavy burn.

18 That model also permits us to cut, we believe, bankruptcy
19 operating expenses significantly. So, right now, because of 20 the nature of the case, we have two professionals doing every
21 job: Committee professionals and Debtor professionals. We
22 would be able to reduce that cost by putting those into one
23 entity that'll be a trust-like structure to service the 24 business, resolve the claims, monetize the assets.

25 And, finally, something I started working on -- I'd say on

Seery - Direct

50

1 my own, but that wouldn't be true -- with the DSI team,
2 particularly the two -- we have two excellent analysts on the
3 case. A very detailed model of what I think has been referred
4 to maybe even in court as a potential grand bargain plan. And
5 that plan looks at monetizing the assets over what period we
6 believe that we could get that done. (inaudible) we're
7 looking at the values that we could achieve as well as setting
8 out what we think are reasonable numbers for the claim
9 distributions and then how they would be made.

10 Now, on the asset side of the ledger, we have a pretty
11 good understanding. We obviously know where the assets are 12 bought, and we have a pretty good sense of what the current
13 market looks like for those assets. We're not a forced
14 seller, but we have -- we have been involved in processes
15 around a number of the assets and have a good sense of where
16 values are and how long it would take to achieve those values.

17 You don't have to sell an asset as well to get money from 18 it. There might be ways to finance those assets. Although,
19 to be sure, in this environment, financing particularly these
20 types of assets has become very, very difficult.

21 The other side of the equation of the claims, and we're
22 using our best estimate of where we think those claims come
23 out in terms of payment, the creditors often have a different
24 view as to what they would like those claims to come out with.
25 So we're trying to figure out, through negotiation and

005060

Seery - Direct

51

1 discussion, how we get those two sides closer together. And
2 that, that would be the grand bargain plan.

3 And I think where we're really focused now is that status
4 quo doesn't make sense. We've gone that way too long.
5 Downsizing doesn't work because of the complexity of these
6 operations and the contractual obligations that the Debtor
7 has. And it's really a grand bargain plan or a Debtor
8 monetization, a debtor-creditor monetization vehicle, which
9 would be structured like a trust and still be able to service
10 the business while resolving the claims.

11 Q Taking into account the uncertainty because there are
12 still some options being considered, in your leadership role,
13 have you -- do you have a sense of timing? Is there a
14 timeline by which certain milestones are at least
15 aspirational, if not achievable?

16 A Well, I don't think I'm telling anyone what they don't
17 know, that deadlines get people to act and make decisions.
18 Sometimes they're good decisions, sometimes they're not, but
19 we're going to push forward on both of these plan
20 opportunities now. So we intend to file a debtor-creditor
21 monetization vehicle plan, and we'll keep pushing the parties
22 towards settlements.

23 You know, as we say on the Multi-Strat negotiations, until 24 it was clear that we were either going to default, because we 25 didn't have the money to pay those premiums, or we're going to 005061

1 file Multi-Strat as a bankruptcy, it was hard to get folks to
2 really come to the table and think about how to settle that
3 issue.

4 These issues in regard to the total case are much more
5 complicated. We're going to file a plan. We believe that
6 will set a bit of a crucible to folks to think about how to
7 move forward with their claims. We are, as Jeff Pomerantz
8 mentioned last time, agreed in principle, but we have some
9 issues to work through with Redeemer that we hope to be able
10 to resolve by this week. And so that's my internal goal, but
11 I expect to be able to do it.

12 The reason that's complex is not that it's simply a -- the 13 arbitration award is not simply a money award; it actually
14 requires certain offsets, it requires certain assets be sold
15 and paid for. And we're trying to carve our way around some 16 of those, because they (inaudible) agreement, because they're
17 -- they're more difficult than simply exchanging cash for
18 assets, because we don't have the ability to do that right
19 now. We don't have the cash, and we're in bankruptcy.

20 So I do believe that we can get these done. And then if 21 mediation is something that would work, great. We're going to
22 try to do it without mediation as well. Going to try to do it
23 before we get to mediation and resolve claims. And if we're
24 unable to do that, hopefully mediation will push it forward or
25 we have to have a fallback, which will be dispositive motions

1 with respect to certain of the claims.

2 But we expect to have and I think we have a number of
3 claims objections that have (inaudible). We've resolved
4 those. We're really down to three claims. And one of them is
5 almost done.

6 Q All right. At the last hearing, --

7 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, that really does finish the
8 substance of the testimony with respect to this motion, but at 9 the last hearing Your Honor raised some questions about PPP
10 loans.

11 THE COURT: Yes.

12 MR. MORRIS: Would you like me to just take a moment
13 with Mr. Seery to address that?

14 THE COURT: Yes, please.

15 MR. MORRIS: Okay.

16 BY MR. MORRIS:

17 Q Mr. Seery, you're aware that the Judge raised some 18 questions about whether and to what extent the Debtor may have 19 been involved in any of the PPP loans?

20 A Yes.

21 Q And have you done any work to try to figure out the
22 answers to the questions the Judge posed?

23 A Well, work in response to the question, but also work
24 previously. So, just a -- quickly, as I think we all know,
25 the PPP program was put forth to try to give companies cash

1 that they had to use for employee payments, to continue to
2 keep payroll supported and to continue to have folks hold
3 their jobs.

4 We have -- and I think the Business Insider article, which
5 I'm not familiar, I know the publication is not something I
6 seen much, but I'm not familiar with the specifics of that
7 article, and -- but any PPP, away from the assets that HCMLP
8 actually owns or controls. And we've got -- we've got three
9 -- and I think there's some substance to the article. But
10 we've got three businesses. And these are -- this is public,
11 but I'll go into the -- sort of the obvious reasons without
12 going into the specifics of the business around the ones that
13 I know of well.

14 Carey Limousine is a business that transports folks in 15 high-quality cars from airports or from events or between
16 businesses. It was hit severely by the COVID-19 pandemic.,
17 particularly with respect to the air transportation, which was
18 really one of its biggest areas. The business,
19 notwithstanding Uber and the other type of shared ride
20 services, had actually done quite well, and Highland was an 21 owner of a significant portion of that business related to
22 some loans that it held in various funds.

23 That business's management, with its own outside counsel,
24 sought a PPP loan. Then our director came to us and discussed
25 with the Board the propriety of that loan. We engaged outside

1 counsel, not bankruptcy counsel but counsel that had
2 particularized expertise in PPP, and spent a ton of time
3 really understanding both the law as well as the specific
4 regs. Carey did get a PPP loan. It is potentially
5 forgivable, depending on how it's used.

6 The second entity that was similar but didn't come to the
7 Board, we have a business called SSP, which is an excellent
8 highway business that provides equip -- materials for a lot of
9 different road construction, but primarily highway road
10 construction. Very well run business. That entity got a PPP
11 loan as well, primarily worried about whether the construction
12 on the highways would shut down.

13 So it's been -- I don't believe that's really happened in
14 Texas, which is where most of their business is, but they
15 qualified for that loan. They did not come to the Board. A
16 very specific carve-out, because one of the interest holders
17 that we share that position with is a Small Business
18 Administration fund and, so it was very clear that it was 19 entitled to that loan.

20 Then there's a third entity called Roma that got a very
21 small PPP loan. We don't control the entity and we were not
22 involved in its acquisition of that loan. Again, it would
23 have to be used as required.

24 One of the things I want to make sure that is in the
25 record and for Your Honor with respect to Carey, we spent a

1 lot of time as a Board focused on, one, whether it was legal
2 to get that loan, first. We're doing everything right, by the
3 book. We're not going to play in the gray. There is no gray.
4 There's black and white in these areas.

5 Number two, was it ethical, was it appropriate that we
6 went and got this loan or that Carey went and got this loan?
7 Management, with the outside counsel, was sure that we could
8 do it, but we didn't want to take their word for it, so we
9 went out and got our own counsel, third-party counsel for the 10 Board to make sure that this was appropriate.

11 Three, the requirements around these loans are significant
12 and the penalties for violating them are severe. So if you
13 get a loan by mistake, are you really required to pay it back?
14 And if you're mistaken, that will be expensive, but it won't
15 be a real penalty. But if you get a loan that's really
16 inappropriate, that you shouldn't have gotten, that was a
17 material misstatement of any of the facts around it, the 18 penalties are significant. And not only in terms of the 19 opprobrium that you'd suffer in the press, because that's
20 coming, but in terms of how you use the funds.

21 So they can only be used in very specific ways, and we
22 were exceptionally careful around this program.

23 The basis of the program is to keep people employed. And
24 with a business like Carey Limousine in particular, where
25 there's a significant amount of debt, where the business is

1 shut down by COVID, where we didn't have the funds to put into
2 Carey, nor even if we wanted to, we might not have been able
3 to do it without the Committee's approval because of the
4 protocol, a PPP loan was not only legal but it was
5 appropriate. And it's being used in that fashion, meaning to
6 keep employees employed.

7 Q Thank you very much, Mr. Seery.

8 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, I have no further questions
9 of Mr. Seery. Does the Court have any questions?

10 THE COURT: I actually have a follow-up question
11 regarding the PPP, just to kind of put a bow on this.

12 EXAMINATION BY THE COURT

13 THE COURT: I'm looking at the demonstrative aide. I
14 don't know if you, Mr. Seery, have it there handy.

15 THE WITNESS: I do, Your Honor.

16 THE COURT: Okay. So I'm turning to Page 6, the
17 chart, the subchart, Investments and Subsidiaries. The third
18 column, Privately-Held Equity, Various Companies. I mean,
19 that would be the type of investment entity we're talking
20 about here that got the PPP loan: Carey Limousine, SSP, Roma?
21 Nothing that was -- well, I'm going to say Highland affiliate.
22 Affiliate, that's a dicey term, but that's the type of entity
23 in the organizational structure we're talking about, correct?

24 THE WITNESS: Those are the ones -- I want to be very
25 careful, because I know what I know and I know I won't

1 represent anything that I don't know.

2 So, with respect to the entities that HCMLP, the Debtor,
3 controls, that's absolutely the case. I don't know, and I can
4 try to find out, but they are not HCMLP-controlled entities.
5 Whether other entities in the related-party complex received
6 loans -- so, obviously, HCMLP did not receive a loan. And the
7 only entities that we were involved with is the ones I
8 mentioned to you.

9 And I should mention, there are other entities in the 10 privately-held equity that got other government money, in the 11 medical space, that they didn't even ask for. HHS pushed
12 forward payments to folks in the business, medical healthcare-
13 providing businesses, to assure that they had liquidity to
14 provide. And so -- and this has been described to me exactly
15 this way, that they woke up in the morning and found money in 16 their account. And with one of the companies, they actually
17 returned a bunch of the money because it was from a dormant
18 provider number and they didn't believe it was appropriate to 19 keep that money. So that was one of the entities that we
20 control with other investors.

21 But with respect to our HCMLP entities, these are the only
22 ones I know. With respect to other related entities that
23 might be in the family of businesses, for lack of a better
24 term, that were alluded to in the Business Insider article, I
25 don't know that answer. So, I -- if I -- I can try to find

1 out. I just don't know the answer, Your Honor.

2 THE COURT: All right. Thank you. Well, this has
3 been extremely helpful.

4 I should ask does anyone have any questions of Mr. Seery?
5 The Committee counsel, perhaps? Anyone else?

6 MR. CLUBOK: Your Honor, this is Andrew Clubok. In
7 light of the testimony, I do have some questions on behalf of
8 UBS.

9 THE COURT: All right. Briefly. Go ahead.

10 MR. CLUBOK: Okay.

11 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor? Your Honor, I'm sorry to 12 interrupt, but there's no objection lodged here. If Your
13 Honor wants to permit it, that's obviously the Court's
14 prerogative. But as just a point of order, having not lodged
15 an objection, I don't know what right anybody has to cross-
16 examine the witness.

17 THE COURT: All right. Well, that's why I said
18 briefly. I think that Mr. Morris makes a good point, Mr.
19 Clubok. You could have filed a written objection, response,
20 comment, or something. So, you're a party in interest. I'll 21 give you a little bit of leeway here. But please keep it
22 brief.

23 MR. CLUBOK: Yeah. Thank you, Your Honor. It's just
24 some of the things that Mr. Seery said which we didn't expect
25 to hear that has raised a few questions that I just very

60

1 briefly will try to address.

2 CROSS-EXAMINATION

3 BY MR. CLUBOK:

4 Q Mr. Seery, good afternoon. I'm Andrew Clubok, Latham &
5 Watkins, on behalf of UBS.

6 Mr. Seery, you talked about the fiduciary duties you've
7 understood yourself to have with respect to certain parties,
8 and my question to you is: Have you understood, since the
9 beginning of your service as an Independent Director of
10 Strand, that you had fiduciary duties to the unsecured
11 creditors of the Debtor?

12 A It's a -- it's a -- the answer is I understand the 13 fiduciary duties very well. I think we have fiduciary duties
14 to the estate. So Highland -- what I tried to explain is that
15 Highland, as an asset manager, has very specific fiduciary
16 duties that are set forth in (inaudible) in the cases and the 17 rules that have interpreted it. We, as directors of Strand,
18 have a duty to the estate.

19 I don't think it's -- I don't think it's fair, and I'd
20 have to subject myself to some education from counsel, I don't 21 think it's fair to say we had a specific fiduciary duty to a
22 particular creditor.

23 So, for example, if I had a fiduciary duty to UBS, it
24 would be very difficult for me to object to UBS's claim. It
25 would be -- I don't know how I could do that as a fiduciary.

005070

1 When the claim is crystalized in the estate, I believe that we
2 have fiduciary duties to each and every interest holder in the 3 estate.

4 Q My question is a little simpler, and I just -- well, I'm
5 actually not asking legally whether you do or not. I'm asking
6 what your understanding has been since your role. Have you
7 conducted yourself in a way in which you have treated your
8 obligations as though you have a fiduciary obligation to the 9 unsecured creditors?

10 MR. MORRIS: Objection to the form of the question.

11 THE COURT: Sustained.

12 MR. CLUBOK: Okay.

13 BY MR. CLUBOK:

14 Q You said that you believe that you have, with respect to
15 Multi-Strat, which is an entity that you manage, you said that 16 you understood yourself to have fiduciary duties to the 17 redeemers of Multi-Strat. Do you recall that?

18 A Yes.

19 Q Yeah. And Multi-Strat is outside of the estate, but HCM,
20 the Debtor manages Multi-Strat. And you said because of, you
21 know, your role, you personally feel as if you have a
22 fiduciary duty to the redeemers in Multi-Strat, correct?

23 A I --

24 MR. MORRIS: Objection to the form of the question.

25 Mischaracterizes the testimony.

62

1 THE COURT: Sustained.

2 MR. CLUBOK: Your Honor, I believe that the
3 transcript -- I believe Mr. Seery said in direct that he
4 considered himself to have fiduciary duties with respect to
5 the redeemers of Multi-Strat. The transcript will show it. I
6 don't know what the objection is. Maybe I misstated when I
7 asked my question, but I'm just starting --

8 THE COURT: Okay.

9 MR. CLUBOK: I'm just trying to understand --

10 THE COURT: All right. I'll let you rephrase the
11 question, but this -- I've probably -- I may have made a
12 mistake in letting you ask questions, because this is about
13 the propriety of him being CEO and the reasonableness of
14 compensation. This isn't a discovery opportunity. So I'm a
15 little confused the relevance of what you're asking. Could
16 you address that for me?

17 MR. CLUBOK: Sure. Your Honor, Mr. Seery on direct
18 described what he understood his fiduciary duties to be. I
19 think we -- it made me wonder, he didn't mention the unsecured
20 creditors or what he believes his fiduciary relationship is,
21 if any, with the creditors, unsecured creditors. I would -- I
22 think it's a fair question to ask what his understanding is,
23 because now he's going to take on a new role as CEO, and I
24 think it's appropriate for everyone to understand, so we know
25 when we're dealing with Mr. Seery --

005072

1 THE COURT: Okay.

2 MR. CLUBOK: -- what his --

3 THE COURT: I think -- I think he --

4 MR. CLUBOK: -- he understands -- what he understands
5 his fiduciary duties to be.

6 THE COURT: I think he answered the question, and
7 frankly, I think he answered it correctly. His fiduciary
8 duties go to the estate, right? And the creditors are the
9 beneficiaries of his actions in that regard, right? So I
10 think he correctly answered the question already. All right?
11 Next question.

12 MR. CLUBOK: Okay. He says that there's three
13 aspects of the business he's been managing: $300 million,
14 roughly, of Highland's own assets; the fact that they manage
15 $3 billion in other assets, I think in managed assets; and
16 then they have shared services for $6 billion in assets owned
17 by related entities, mostly.

18 BY MR. CLUBOK:

19 Q For those three separate businesses, I just want to 20 briefly understand: With respect to the first one, for 21 example, there's $300 million, you said, roughly, of
22 (inaudible) assets. Roughly what were the value of the assets
23 when you started your role in January of 2020?

24 A It's hard to compare apples to apples on this because
25 there are certain assets that we've taken out that didn't

1 change in value. So I would say they were carried on the
2 balance sheet at different levels. I think a good rough
3 number would be in the $500 to $600 million area.

4 Q Okay.

5 A And the biggest -- the biggest movants in asset values
6 have been on securities, both ones that we continue to own and
7 the accounts that Jefferies -- that were levered, and those
8 were shown as unlevered marks on the balance sheet and the
9 losses that were incurred there. And then with respect to
10 certain of the PE assets and then a major movement on a
11 related-party loan, where the Board, through analysis that we
12 did with DSI and others, believes that loan is likely to be 13 worthless. Likewise, the claim of that entity we believe is 14 likely to be worthless.

15 Q And then to the extent the assets, you say, have a rough
16 value of $300 million, you alluded to significant professional
17 fees, bankruptcy costs, administrative fees, the Debtor is
18 burning cash. My question is, If it's $300 million today
19 roughly of total value of assets, what's your current best
20 estimate of the total amount that will be available to be
21 distributed to the creditors net of those -- that burning of
22 cash and the admin fees and the other issue that you
23 mentioned? What is your current expectation of the total
24 amount that will be able to be distributed to the creditors?

25 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, just -- I just object to

1 this line of inquiry. It's like free discovery, as Your Honor
2 suggested earlier. I don't know what it has to do with Mr.
3 Seery's work, his qualifications, the compensation
4 arrangements. And I think it's inappropriate.

5 THE COURT: Okay. I'll overrule and allow this one
6 remaining question, but that's going to be it, unless your
7 next questions pertain to the employment or compensation
8 structure.

9 THE WITNESS: Yeah, I don't have a crystal ball as to
10 what the assets are going to be worth. I think that they are
11 fairly marked right now, and we have significant discovery
12 that we've had with respect to a number of the assets and
13 marked at views as to their value. So I think that we're at a
14 pretty good base value, assuming that we don't rush into
15 forced sales of assets.

16 So, as I know the Court is aware and I hope you're aware,
17 when you look at asset values, and you look at them on a
18 liquidation basis, the numbers are normally much lower than
19 when you look at them as selling them on a more controlled
20 basis. If you have liquid securities, that's not the case.
21 So if I have $500 million of Apple at $363 today, it's 22 probably a good chance that it'll be worth something different
23 in a month, something different in two months. But if I need
24 to move my position, I can do that.

25 These assets are much more difficult to move. And the act

1 of selling them often changes the value, which is why we
2 engage professional bankers to help move, first, those assets.

3 So I just don't have a good crystal ball. I think the
4 valuations that we have now are pretty good. I think they've
5 been scrubbed well. But that doesn't mean that certain of
6 these assets will maintain the exact value they have. So, I
7 gave a good example of Carey Limousine, which is a very small
8 asset but it's an easy one to understand because everybody can
9 relate to a car service company that does, you know, a little
10 bit more high-end and is focused on the airport travel and how
11 that's been impacted.

12 That asset value has gone down precipitously, even though
13 it was small, because of that. So I don't -- I don't really
14 have a great crystal ball as to what's going to happen. If
15 we're very successful in the fourth quarter and the economy
16 stabilizes and the COVID vaccines are out in record time and
17 move forward, then I think we've got potential for upside.
18 But right now, in the current environment, I think we're
19 marked fairly.

20 BY MR. CLUBOK:

21 Q Yeah. But my question really wasn't about the value of
22 the assets. I realize those could go up or down. And you
23 think they're fairly marked. My question was, What's the 24 total amount of setoff from those assets to the extent the
25 bankruptcy fees you alluded to, the burning of cash on the

1 other businesses, you know, how much, you know, net -- what's
2 the amount that will come off of those assets or that should
3 be -- that we should assume will be deducted from those assets
4 because of the professional fees that have been incurred or
5 you predict will be incurred through the end of the year and
6 the burn of cash that you mentioned, et cetera?

7 I'm trying to understand how you supervised -- because
8 you've managed those expenses as well as the assets, right?
9 And so I just think it's important for us to understand, at 10 the end of six months, and then how things are set for the
11 rest of the year, what's the total amount of, you know, call
12 it liabilities or costs associated with running the business,
13 running the business and at a cash burn rate, bankruptcy fees,
14 et cetera, that we --

15 THE COURT: Okay. I'm going to cut it off. I'm
16 going to cut it off. That, in my view, is going a little too
17 far afield. That's a discussion outside the courtroom. So,
18 thank you, and we're going to see: Does the Committee have
19 anything they want to ask?

20 MR. CLEMENTE: Your Honor, Matt Clemente on behalf of 21 the Committee.

22 I certainly do not have any questions to ask. I do have a
23 couple of statements that I want to make, but I don't know if 24 now is the appropriate time or if there's going to be further
25 testimony.

1 THE COURT: Okay. I think there might be another
2 witness or two, but we'll let you make your comments at the
3 appropriate time.

4 EXAMINATION BY THE COURT

5 THE COURT: Mr. Seery, I meant to ask, I forgot to
6 ask: You've mentioned a couple of times the Debtor, Highland,
7 has 70-ish employees. Has the number gone down since the case
8 was filed, is Highland losing employees, or is it staying
9 stable?

10 THE WITNESS: We lost -- we lost seven employees.
11 There were some that were severed for performance reasons.
12 That happens every year. There were some that just moved on 13 because they decided to move on. And that some -- and then we
14 had some that, because of the bankruptcy, we lost. We added,
15 I think, one or two employees that we're pretty excited about
16 in the fund valuation area, which is a pretty critical area
17 for the shared services. Unfortunately, they haven't been 18 able to go to the office, but fortunately, they've been able 19 to work.

20 So we're down, Your Honor, probably eight total, and so
21 we're more of the low to mid-60 area right now.

22 THE COURT: Okay. And --

23 MR. SEERY: And we were a little bit north of 70 when
24 we took the case.

25 THE COURT: Okay. And the COVID situation, I mean,

1 if you walked into the office, would there be people around in
2 masks, or are people still working at home?

3 MR. SEERY: People -- so, in -- yeah. So, in March,
4 very early on, as things started to shut down, Brian Collins,
5 who's the director of human resources and an accomplished
6 professional, came to the Board and basically said, you know,
7 yeah, Texas is better, but it's not immune. We need to come
8 up with a program.

9 And with Russ Nelms and John Dubel and I, we developed a
10 program, with Brian -- with Brian driving it, to figure out
11 exactly how to approach going into the office; how we would
12 maintain the office; and then, if something were to happen,
13 what we would do.

14 We had an employee who, with her family, got COVID in --
15 we believe in New York, came back. And as soon as we found
16 out that person wasn't feeling good in the office, it was the
17 first day they were back, a protocol with thermometers and --
18 at that time, thermometers were thought to be valuable -- we
19 immediately sent that employee home. We then brought in a
20 cleaning crew to clean up the office with EPA and FDA-approved
21 materials, and then had several days off and brought folks
22 back the following week.

23 We found that to be, frankly, unwieldy as COVID started to
24 continue to creep a bit through March and into April. At that
25 point, we did have other employees, not who came into the

1 office, but who had contracted COVID, so we shut down HCMLP.
2 When we cleaned the office, we shut it down completely.
3 Nobody could go in.

4 When -- since then, we have set the office up where we had
5 initial (inaudible) when things were pretty good, so we
6 divided the move into -- into basically 20 percent could be in
7 the office at any one time. And then, since that time, as
8 things have gotten worse, we found that we were, one, working
9 extremely well offsite; and two, that it was just a better
10 environment for the employees. So we've been working
11 continually offsite.

12 If folks need to go in, because either they need more
13 advanced systems that they can't go to plug-and-play at home,
14 or because there's just materials that they want to get,
15 they're able to do in. We have tons of disinfectant
16 everywhere. We have masks available. We put in dividers,
17 Plexiglas dividers between the work stations to assure that if 18 someone was at a station for a long time, it didn't -- it was
19 less likely that you could have transmission.

20 I will tell Your Honor that HCMLP is not reporting to the
21 office. Some of the affiliated businesses, and I don't know
22 the percentage, have been. So those businesses, which we
23 don't control, are going in.

24 From my perspective, as long as the numbers are where they
25 are in Texas, from both a business perspective in terms of

1 making sure that the employee base doesn't contract COVID in
2 material amounts -- first, any amount -- but in material
3 amounts that would impact our ability to run the business.
4 And then with respect to the civic part of it, which is we
5 don't want to be a part of forcing the spread or causing the
6 spread of this disease, we know we can work from home. We're
7 going to continue to do that until we believe it's very safe
8 to go back.

9 Notwithstanding that we have the ability and have been
10 doing it with extensive cleaning, extensive disinfectant, and
11 with dividers, until we are very comfortable that we can go
12 back and protect our employees and that it's the right civic
13 thing to do, we're not going to go back, particularly since it
14 doesn't impact our ability to perform.

15 THE COURT: Okay. I really want to, you know, get to
16 the rest of our hearing soon, but I heard something that made
17 me have a question. You said there are other entities we
18 don't control whose employees are going in. Could you tell me
19 exactly what you meant by that?

20 THE WITNESS: There's -- away from HCMLP, there's
21 approximately another 75 to 80 -- it may be slightly more --
22 employees at the other entities that are NexPoint, NexBank,
23 NexPoint Advisors. They are under different protocols that
24 neither I nor Russ nor John control. The office --

25 THE COURT: Let me just stop you.

1 THE WITNESS: Please.

2 THE COURT: So it's just Nex -- well, NexPoint-
3 related companies?

4 THE WITNESS: Uh-huh.

5 THE COURT: NexPoint and --

6 THE WITNESS: Yes.

7 THE COURT: -- affiliates of NexPoint?

8 THE WITNESS: Correct, Your Honor. The office, the
9 HCMLP offices are huge. And when we were there pre-COVID,
10 with the full complement of folks, it felt like they were 11 relatively empty. I shouldn't say -- they felt like there was 12 plenty of space.

13 What we found, with both sets, our employees and then the 14 NexPoint-related employees, when 140 or 150 people were in
15 that office, which pre-COVID felt comfortable, post-COVID
16 didn't feel so comfortable. So our employees, we started, as 17 I mentioned, with the shift-working. And then we decided to 18 go completely mobile unless somebody feels they have to be in 19 the office, and we want to make sure that they follow the 20 protocols when they do.

21 With respect to the non-HCMLP related entities, those 22 entities, some percent of those employees are still going into
23 the office.

24 Now, when they're there, to be frank, what I said was a
25 pretty comfortable place with 140 people is a pretty empty

1 place if there's only 50. But our employees, we felt it was
2 important, since we were able to execute from home, we didn't
3 need, on most parts, the extra systems to be able to execute
4 in the office, that we could largely perform from home to make
5 sure that we weren't taking any risks with the business but
6 also taking -- one, taking risks for the employees; two,
7 taking any risks for the business; and three, as I mentioned,
8 the civil perspective.

9 THE COURT: Okay. We're going to have to take a
10 five-minute break here in just a second, but let me kind of 11 elaborate on why I was drilling down on that question about
12 NexPoint. I mean, isn't it Highland employees who service
13 NexPoint? Or am I wrong about that?

14 THE WITNESS: Highland employees service a lot of
15 NexPoint. But NexPoint, NexBank, the various funds, NXRT,
16 there's a number of businesses: They have their own employees
17 as well.

18 THE COURT: Okay.

19 THE WITNESS: So the whole complex is about 150
20 employees.

21 THE COURT: Okay.

22 THE WITNESS: Highland Management is about 70.

23 THE COURT: Okay. All right. Well, are we finished
24 with Mr. Seery's testimony, Mr. Morris?

25 MR. MORRIS: Yes, Your Honor. Our next witness after

1 the break will be John Dubel.

2 THE COURT: Okay. Very good.

3 MR. MORRIS: And we --

4 THE COURT: Mr. Seery, again, this has been extremely
5 helpful for me, and I hope for others. I hope you'll stick
6 around, because when we circle back to the mediation
7 discussion at the end of today, I really would like you to be
8 involved in that discussion. I may want your input on one or
9 two things. So can you stick around?

10 THE WITNESS: Absolutely, Your Honor. Other than 11 getting some water and maybe turning the air conditioning back
12 on in this room, I'll stay.

13 THE COURT: You must not be in Texas if you don't
14 have your air conditioning on. I assume you're in New York.
15 All right. Five-minute break. We'll be back.

16 THE WITNESS: It's hot, but not Texas hot.

17 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

18 THE WITNESS: Thank you, Your Honor.

19 THE CLERK: All rise.

20 (A recess ensued from 3:16 p.m. until 3:22 p.m.)

21 THE CLERK: All rise.

22 THE COURT: All right. Please be seated. We're back
23 on the record in Highland.

24 Mr. Morris, you were going to call Mr. Dubel next?

25 MR. MORRIS: Yes, the Debtor calls John Dubel.

Dubel - Direct

75

1 THE COURT: Dubel?

2 MR. DUBEL: Your Honor, may I have just one minute to
3 -- my air conditioner.

4 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Dubel, I said your name
5 wrong. Could you say Testing 1, 2?

6 MR. DUBEL: I can do that, Your Honor. Testing 1, 2.

7 THE COURT: Okay. Very good. Please raise your
8 right hand.

9 JOHN DUBEL, DEBTORS' WITNESS, SWORN

10 THE COURT: All right. Thank you. Mr. Morris, you
11 may proceed.

12 MR. MORRIS: Thank you, Your Honor. As Mr. Pomerantz
13 previewed, Mr. Dubel's testimony is going to largely cover the 14 corporate governance-type issues concerning the evolution of 15 the motion, the discussions or the, you know, beginning of the 16 discussions, and how the proposal itself evolved.

17 If I may, Your Honor, just to perhaps move this along, I
18 might lead the witness a little bit. If it's a problem,
19 you'll let me know, okay?

20 THE COURT: Okay. I will let you know if it's a
21 problem.

22 MR. MORRIS: Okay.

23 DIRECT EXAMINATION

24 BY MR. MORRIS:

25 Q Good afternoon, Mr. Dubel. You're a member of the Board

005085

1 of Strand today; is that right?

2 A I am.

3 Q And you've held that position since mid-January; is that
4 right?

5 A Since January 9th, yes.

6 Q Okay. And you understand that we're here today on the
7 Debtors' motion to appoint Mr. Seery as the Debtors' CEO, CRO,
8 and the Foreign Representative?

9 A I do understand that, yes, sir.

10 Q Does the Board unanimously support the motion?

11 A I think the Board does, and specifically the compensation
12 committee, because of obviously the conflict that Mr. Seery
13 might have, you know, but the Board fully supports it, and the 14 compensation committee is comprised of Mr. -- Judge -- Judge
15 Nelms and myself.

16 Q Okay. And do you believe that -- withdrawn. Does the
17 Board believe that it's in the Debtors' best interests to 18 retain Mr. Seery on the terms proposed?

19 A We do.

20 Q And why does the Board believe that?

21 A Well, as the Court has heard from the testimony of Mr.
22 Seery today, he has a tremendous amount of skills and
23 experience in the area of asset management. He's effectively
24 been serving as the CEO since -- well, in a lot of ways, since
25 January 9th, when we asked him to step up and take on some

1 additional responsibilities, but very clearly since the middle
2 of February, and specifically, the middle of March.

3 And as the Court noted, he is -- knows these assets very
4 well. He knows the operations. He's done an exemplary job of
5 handling all of the issues. He has spent a tremendous amount
6 of time working with the Committee members, trying to develop
7 good lines of communications.

8 And, you know, Russ -- having, you know, served in a C
9 Suite position for 25 years of my 30-plus years of
10 restructuring experience, and 15 years as a CEO, we need a
11 good leader, an operational leader to run the organization.
12 So we can support him because you need to have someone in 13 there who can make decisions; work quickly; obviously,
14 communicate well with the Board, which he has been doing for 15 quite some time. So, all the -- all of the reasons why we are 16 very pleased to have him take on this role.

17 Q Okay. Let's talk a little bit about what led to this 18 particular motion. Do you recall when the idea of appointing
19 a CEO first arose?

20 A I would say it was back in December, before the
21 Independent Board was put together, when we first started
22 intervening with the creditors and with the Debtor. It was
23 raised to me in my interview, would I be, you know, willing to 24 step in as a CEO if asked to? And I'm assuming it was also
25 asked of Mr. Seery. I didn't ask him that. And it was all

1 obviously coming, you know, out of the protocols that were
2 being developed where Mr. Dondero would step down as the CEO
3 and the Independent Board would basically be responsible for
4 the operations of the company. But we had the opportunity to
5 go out and seek either one of the three Independent Board
6 Members as the CEO or go outside to the marketplace and try
7 and find an independent or a third-party CEO.

8 Q And to the best of your recollection, was that flexibility
9 built into the term sheet that was part of the corporate
10 governance settlement?

11 A It was.

12 Q All right.

13 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, this is where we're going to
14 test our technological capabilities. I'm going to ask Ms.
15 Canty to put up and to share Exhibit 1, and let's see if we're
16 able to do that.

17 THE COURT: Okay. But if anything goes wrong, I
18 actually do have the docket up on my screen. I can pull them
19 up. But, oh, even better. Even better. Okay.

20 MR. MORRIS: All right. It looks like it worked.
21 Ms. Canty, if you could turn to Page 2, please. I think
22 that's Page 1.

23 (Pause.)

24 MR. MORRIS: I think it's stuck.

25 THE COURT: Hmm.

1 THE WITNESS: If need be, I have a teenager who could
2 probably figure this out, because I sure can't.

3 MR. MORRIS: I'm impressed that La Asia got to this
4 point already. Okay. Good. Just the one on the right. Is
5 there a way to focus in on the top paragraph on the right?

6 THE WITNESS: I'll put my glasses on and I'll be able
7 to read it.

8 MR. MORRIS: Okay. Right there. Perfect.

9 BY MR. MORRIS:

10 Q Is -- are you familiar with the provisions generally in 11 the term sheet relating to the opening of CEO?

12 A I am.

13 Q And is this the provision that you were referring to 14 earlier?

15 A It is.

16 Q And does this provision, to the best of your
17 understanding, provide the Board with the flexibility, in
18 consultation with the UCC, to exercise its business judgment
19 and appoint a CEO if it determined that to be in the Debtors'
20 best interest?

21 A It does. It's consistent with the discussions had -- that
22 were had prior to our appointment, and it obviously was
23 incorporated in the term sheet that was approved by the Court
24 on January 9th.

25 Q And this also reflects the understanding that you

Dubel - Direct

80

1 described earlier, where one of the Independent Directors
2 could, in fact, be selected as the CEO; is that right?

3 A That is correct.

4 MR. MORRIS: All right. Let's just take that down,
5 please, Ms. Canty.

6 BY MR. MORRIS:

7 Q Mr. Dubel, has Mr. Seery, in fact, taken on day-to-day
8 operational responsibilities for the Debtor?

9 A Yeah. Yes, he has. And I think early on the Board
10 realized that, between the three Board members, we would try
11 and divvy up the responsibilities, as Mr. Seery referred to 12 earlier, and it was definitely like drinking from a fire hose
13 in the early stages of the case, where the new Board was put
14 in place. And we tried to divvy up our responsibilities,
15 taking into consideration each of the Board Members'
16 expertise.

17 But it was pretty clear that the main business operations
18 required somebody with the skill set that Mr. Seery had, and
19 it would be much more efficient, as we progressed forward, to 20 coalesce around one individual as a CEO.

21 MR. MORRIS: Ms. Canty, can you pull up Exhibit 2?

22 BY MR. MORRIS:

23 Q And while we're doing that, Mr. Dubel, do you recall early
24 on that the Board asked Mr. Seery to become involved in the 25 trading of the prime accounts?

005090

1 A I do, yes.

2 Q Okay.

3 MR. MORRIS: La Asia, I don't know if you can scroll
4 down just to --

5 Your Honor, these are minutes from the Board's very first
6 meeting. And if we go to the next page, right here, you'll
7 see there's a discussion in the second paragraph.

8 BY MR. MORRIS:

9 Q Mr. Dubel, does that reflect the Board's deliberation and
10 decision, really, on the first day, to give Mr. Seery, you
11 know, the responsibility for dealing and overseeing the prime 12 accounts?

13 A It does. And what I was saying is, prior to the 14 appointment, in doing all of our diligence prior to joining
15 the Board, we realized there were all these issues that needed
16 to be dealt with. And so we came in on the very first day,
17 ready to recognize that there were certain things that needed
18 sort of expertise. And they were presented to us by DSI and
19 the management of HCMLP as areas that needed some additional
20 handling and oversight. And so we asked Mr. Seery to step
21 into that role on the very first day, which he -- which he
22 agreed to and the Board approved it.

23 Q Okay. Let's get to the meat and potatoes here. Did there
24 come a time when the Board and Mr. Seery actually began
25 discussing the possibility of his serving as the CEO?

1 A Yes, there did.

2 Q And can you share with the Court your recollection of how
3 that began?

4 A So, there were informal discussions, I would say, through
5 the month of February, as we started to realize that there
6 were -- the decision-making was going to be cumbersome,
7 having, you know, three parties involved. As I said earlier,
8 having spent 15 years or so my career as a chief executive
9 officer, I understand where you really want to have one person
10 be responsible for these issues.

11 And so we were conversing with Mr. Seery to see if he 12 would take on that role. And, obviously, we had felt very
13 comfortable, Mr. Nelms and I felt very comfortable with the 14 communications that he was having with us on things that we
15 had asked him to do. There was a very free and open
16 discussion with the Board members. So we continued, you know,
17 to look at opportunities where it might make sense.

18 And then, you know, towards the beginning of March, it was
19 pretty obvious that we were going to want to coalesce around
20 the motion. We thought about whether or not that would be 21 some third party. But having, again, experience of having to
22 go out in the marketplace to find CEOs when I'd been either,
23 you know, a director or involved in companies, we realized
24 that can be very time-consuming, would take us months to find
25 somebody.

1 And so we continued to discuss it with Mr. Seery. And
2 around the middle of March or so, right around the time that
3 we had a Creditors' Committee meeting in New York, we asked
4 Mr. Seery if he would take that role on, and he agreed to, to
5 take that role.

6 Q And that's -- and is that why the Debtor is seeking
7 authority to retain Mr. Seery nunc pro tunc back to March
8 15th?

9 A We are. I mean, effectively, he really started the role
10 in the February time frame. But we officially asked him about 11 this in -- right after that meeting on March -- I think it was
12 March 11th or so.

13 Q So, is it fair to say that's when the Board had a meeting
14 of the minds with respect to not necessarily the terms but at 15 least the engagement of Mr. Seery as CEO?

16 A Yes, that is fair to say.

17 Q Okay.

18 A And that's when he really did step up and take on all of 19 those responsibilities, you know, with the acknowledgement and 20 understanding that we would work out the appropriate terms for 21 his engagement.

22 Q Okay. And a couple of weeks later, do you recall that Mr.
23 Seery made a written proposal to you and Mr. Nelms?

24 A He did make a written proposal after, you know, having 25 discussions with us orally about various issues and roles and

84

1 responsibilities. I think it was around April 4th or so that
2 he presented us with a written proposal.

3 MR. MORRIS: All right. Ms. Canty, can you call up
4 Exhibit 3, please? (Pause.) Okay. If you'll scroll down.

5 BY MR. MORRIS:

6 Q Mr. Dubel, is this the April, the early April e-mail that
7 you were referring to in which Mr. Seery made a proposal for
8 the terms of his engagement as CEO?

9 A Yes. This document refreshes my recollection. It wasn't
10 April 4th. It was April (audio gap). But yes, that's the 11 document I was referring to.

12 Q Okay. What happened next, after -- after the -- after 13 this was presented to you and Mr. Nelms? What did you guys
14 do?

15 A So, what we wanted to do is understand what was our
16 responsibility as a board. So we reached out to counsel to
17 figure out how the process should work. We set up a
18 compensation committee. It's called a comp committee; it's
19 more I would call it a nomination committee or a governance
20 committee also, because it was all about retaining Mr. Seery
21 in that role.

22 We got advice from counsel on what the process should be.
23 We reached out to our compensation consultant at Mercer, who
24 had been providing us assistance in other areas of the 25 company's compensation program, to talk to them about what the

005094

1 various market comps, you know, compensation programs were and
2 what would be an appropriate market comp for Mr. Seery's
3 compensation, and, you know, moved forward that way.

4 MR. MORRIS: Ms. Canty, can you pull up Exhibit 4,
5 please?

6 BY MR. MORRIS:

7 Q Do you know what this document is, Mr. Dubel?

8 A Yes. This looks like the minutes from the meeting of our
9 first compensation committee on April 8th, compensation
10 committee of Strand Advisors.

11 Q And this was a meeting between you and Mr. Nelms, with 12 counsel; is that right?

13 A That is correct.

14 Q And this was precipitated by Mr. Seery's written proposal
15 that was made a few days before that; is that fair?

16 A Well, I would say it was precipitated by the advice we had
17 gotten through counsel that we should set up a compensation
18 committee and consider what would be the appropriate way of 19 retaining Mr. Seery, you know, as a chief executive officer.
20 His proposal came in a couple of days earlier than that, and
21 so this was our first official time to get together as a
22 committee and review it and discuss the issue.

23 Q And was this a contemporaneous record of the steps that
24 the compensation committee took to do its due diligence with 25 respect to the proposal?

1 A It is.

2 Q Okay. Did the compensation committee --

3 MR. MORRIS: You can take that down, Ms. Canty.

4 BY MR. MORRIS:

5 Q Did the compensation committee communicate with the
6 Creditors' Committee with respect to these matters?

7 A We did.

8 Q Can you --

9 A As a part of the protocols, one of the things I -- and I'd 10 go back and re-read the protocol language, but one of the 11 things it said was work with the UCC to determine who would be 12 an appropriate CEO. And so we realized we would do that, and
13 we started to reach out to the various members of the 14 Creditors' Committee to discuss that.

15 Q Okay. And do you recall whether the compensation
16 committee or the Debtor generally shared Mr. Seery's proposal
17 with the Committee?

18 A We did. I don't recall the exact date, but we did share
19 it with the UCC through the UCC counsel.

20 Q Do you recall if the report that was commissioned by the 21 Debtor with respect to Mercer, the Mercer Report, was that
22 shared with the Committee?

23 A It was.

24 Q Can you describe for Judge Jernigan your recollection as
25 to, you know, the Committee's reaction and, you know, position

1 with respect to the proposed retention of Mr. Seery as CEO?

2 A We shared the report from Mercer with the Committee in --
3 I think it was early May. And we spent time with them in the 4 April time frame talking about the fact that we were going to
5 be seeking Mr. Seery's appointment as CEO and telling them
6 that we were going to be commissioning a report to make sure
7 we had what we thought was market compensation.

8 The Committee was generally very supportive. They had
9 been obviously experiencing Mr. Seery taking on that role of
10 effectively the CEO for a period of time, so they understood
11 where, you know, where he was coming from and what -- how he
12 was going to operate the business.

13 They understood, to my knowledge and in my discussions,
14 they understood the benefits of having a single person as the
15 CEO rather than trying to manage the business by committee.
16 We discussed with them why it made sense.

17 And so, you know, they were supportive of it. Obviously,
18 we had to negotiate the terms of the compensation.

19 Q And did that take some time, to negotiate the compensation
20 terms?

21 A It did. Initially, it was being done through myself and
22 Mr. Nelms, working directly with the Committee. But, again,
23 having been in that position of having to negotiate with the,
24 you know, the committee on terms of my own personal
25 compensation -- not this committee, but in other cases -- we

1 recognized that it was probably more efficient for Mr. Seery
2 to speak directly with the Committee, Committee members. And
3 so we asked him to pick up that, you know, responsibility
4 also. And he did. He kept us informed every step of the way.
5 And I, as the de facto chairman of the compensation committee,
6 also spoke directly with the various members of the Committee
7 during this time frame, where there was (echoing)
8 communication about compensation.

9 Q Mr. Pomerantz mentioned it in his opening remarks, but do
10 you recall kind of what the bigger issues were with respect to
11 the proposed compensation terms with the Committee?

12 A Sure. The Committee -- well, there was always negotiation
13 going on, obviously. The Committee, at the end of it, they
14 had no problems with the monthly compensation, recognizing
15 that whatever his board compensation would be would
16 effectively be wrapped into the monthly compensation.

17 What the issues really came down to for them revolved
18 around the restructuring fee that was being proposed, success
19 fee, you know, what have you. And there was a lot of 20 different views, as you can imagine, between the four members
21 of the Committee as to how that should be set up.

22 Mr. Nelms and I were very cognizant that we did not want
23 to have Mr. Seery (echoing) -- I'm sorry. I'm getting a lot
24 of background noise here.

25 THE COURT: Yes. I'm not sure who needs to mute

1 their phone, but someone needs to mute their phone. Okay.

2 THE WITNESS: Thank you.

3 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

4 (Echoing subsides.)

5 THE WITNESS: So we were very concerned that
6 structures not be put in place that could cause the potential,
7 the appearance of a conflict between the role that Mr. Seery
8 was playing and his compensation.

9 It's always a, you know, a challenging issue here, to make
10 sure that, you know, a CEO of any company is looking out for 11 the best interests of the estate and not looking out
12 specifically for any particular creditor, equity, or group of 13 creditors, just because that's the way the compensation was
14 designed. And so that was a challenge.

15 At the end of the day, we wanted to have what we felt was
16 fair compensation for the success fee and restructuring fee
17 for Mr. Seery, because we wanted him incented to get the job
18 done, as he has alluded to in his prior testimony as to what 19 he's trying to do here. And so there did come a point where 20 we could not get to a meeting of the minds and so we chose to
21 move forward on the compensation with just the monthly agreed
22 to. Mr. Seery was good enough to agree to that for just the 23 monthly, and that we would put forward the restructuring fee
24 at a later date.

25 BY MR. MORRIS:

1 Q Okay. Thank you. In addition to the CEO title, the
2 Debtor is asking for the Court to appoint Mr. Seery as the CRO
3 and the Foreign Representative; is that right?

4 A That is correct.

5 Q And why is the Debtor seeking that relief?

6 A Well, initially, the CRO was brought in, I believe it was
7 the middle of October, when the case was filed and before the
8 Independent Board was put in place. And there were reasons
9 why, you know, the Committee had asked for the CRO to have 10 certain responsibilities. Those carried through in the 11 protocols.

12 And obviously, you know, we had no issues with those, but
13 what we also felt, Mr. Nelms and I, and in consultation with 14 Mr. Seery, was that it would be more appropriate to have one
15 person be responsible for all of the issues within the 16 company. And since there was an Independent Board, and since
17 one of those Independent Board Members was becoming the CEO,
18 the need for another individual to be the CRO might send 19 conflicting signals inside the organization. And so we
20 decided that it would be appropriate to put those
21 responsibilities into Mr. Seery's lap. And we spoke with Mr.
22 Sharp from DSI, and he agreed. And so that's the reason why
23 we moved it forward that way.

24 Q Okay. I understood you to say that the meeting of the 25 minds, at least conceptually, was somewhere around March 12th

1 in New York, or March 11th. I think the Judge may have asked
2 the question or at least implied that she wanted to know kind
3 of why it took so long to get the motion on file. I think
4 you've discussed some of the issues, but just kind of in a
5 bullet-point way, can you give the Judge an explanation as to,
6 you know, why it took several months to get this motion in
7 front of the Court if a meeting of the minds occurred back in
8 March?

9 A Sure. I believe the motion was filed on the -- I think it
10 was the 22nd or so of June.

11 Q Okay.

12 A And so we -- we asked Mr. Seery. He accepted the 13 responsibility in the middle of March. Right at that point in
14 time was when the whole pandemic issue was, you know, really
15 coming hot and heavy at the company. As Mr. Seery testified
16 earlier, he had -- he was spending a tremendous amount of time
17 just focusing on the operations of the business, focusing on 18 the assets, dealing with the prime accounts, the select
19 accounts, working with Jeff Reeves, working with the other
20 individual investments that we had, to make sure that those
21 were under control.

22 I would say I applaud him for putting the business first
23 in front of him, and then I think probably at 1:00 o'clock in 24 the morning he was able to finally sit down and put together
25 his own compensation request.

1 We did need time to go through with the Mercer folks and
2 get, you know, the market information, and that took a lot of,
3 you know, a lot of time.

4 And then, more importantly, we wanted to make sure we
5 could get something in front of the Court that was agreed to
6 by the Committee. So we did share the information with the
7 Committee. We spent a lot of time in negotiations with the
8 Committee, trying to get to a resolution. As I said earlier,
9 we asked Mr. Seery to step in and there be, you know, one-on-
10 one discussions to maybe shortcut some of that.

11 And finally, at the point in time where we realized we
12 could not get a full, you know, fully-agreed compensation
13 program, we asked him to just break it down into the monthly,
14 and then come back for a restructuring bonus at the end of the 15 case.

16 And so all of that, while trying to manage the business in
17 the COVID era, is what took such a long period of time.

18 Q Did it also take some time to obtain appropriate D&O
19 insurance for Mr. Seery as the CEO?

20 A It did. We had to, as the Board of Strand, we had to set
21 up a D&O program for the Board members when we first got
22 involved back in January. That took a tremendous amount of 23 time. It was very difficult to obtain in the marketplace, for 24 any number of reasons, but mainly because the insurance market
25 understood what Highland was all about and the various

1 players, and they were very reticent to insure Highland.

2 So, because we were Strand, because there were other
3 protections that were afforded to the Independent Directors,
4 we were able to obtain it.

5 When we asked the various carriers to add Mr. Seery on as
6 the CEO for HCMLP, it was very challenging to put folks on.
7 We were eventually able to get our first layer to sign on, the
8 first-layer insurer. The second layer would not do it, and we 9 had to go find a third carrier who would do it. And we
10 actually got that done at some time in the latter part of 11 June, right after we had filed the motion.

12 Q Okay.

13 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, I've got just a few more
14 questions, but they're going to be devoted to the DSI motion.
15 I don't know if you wanted to ask -- if you had any questions
16 on the motion with respect to Mr. Seery or I should just 17 continue on.

18 THE COURT: I do not have questions. You can
19 continue.

20 MR. MORRIS: Okay.

21 BY MR. MORRIS:

22 Q Okay. So, let's just finish up, Mr. Dubel. There is a
23 second motion in front of the Court, and this one is for the 24 appointment of DSI as financial advisor. Are you familiar
25 with that motion?

1 A I am.

2 Q Does the Board unanimously support that motion?

3 A We do.

4 Q Has the Board concluded, in an exercise of its independent
5 business judgment, that the engagement of DSI as financial
6 advisor is in the Debtors' best interests?

7 A We have. Yes.

8 Q Can you explain to the Court why the Board reached that
9 conclusion?

10 A Well, we do need the services of a financial advisor.
11 It's very important in this case to have an independent, you
12 know, restructuring, you know, financial advisor to assist us.
13 As Mr. Seery testified earlier, they have been very
14 instrumental in helping him prepare the financial analysis
15 that has been part of what he's been using to start
16 negotiating and working forward on the -- putting together a
17 plan of reorganization.

18 They've also spent a tremendous amount of time acting as a
19 bridge to FTI, the Committee's financial advisors, which is 20 very common in these types of cases. And so that's been
21 extremely helpful. And that role needs to continue.

22 They also are handling all of -- all the administrative
23 bankruptcy issues, the SOFAs, the MORs. They're doing a lot
24 of work for us, not necessarily specifically on the large
25 claims, but on helping us analyze and review all of the other

1 myriad of -- I think it's two hundred something claims that
2 have been filed in the case.

3 So they've been here since -- I guess they came in pre-
4 filing. They have a lot of history and knowledge, and we want
5 to continue to utilize that knowledge as we continue to move
6 forward. So that's why. And the Board is very comfortable
7 with the job they've been doing, and so we felt it was
8 appropriate to continue to use them as the financial advisor,
9 just in a slightly different role.

10 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, I have no more questions of 11 Mr. Dubel.

12 THE COURT: All right. Well, I'm going to just jump
13 in and ask my own questions, and then I will -- I'll, you
14 know, offer him up for cross if people will promise to 15 restrict it to employment terms.

16 EXAMINATION BY THE COURT

17 THE COURT: So, what -- my question is about Mr.
18 Sharp. As I recall, the compensation is not going to change
19 at all, even though the role is changing. He won't be CRO
20 anymore, Mr. Sharp. He won't be the Foreign Representative
21 anymore. But obviously, he and his firm will remain very
22 engaged as financial advisor.

23 What I'm getting at is there was a $100,000 per month flat
24 fee for Mr. Sharp, and then other professionals at DSI will
25 bill by the hour. Tell me why the Board thinks that's still

1 the appropriate compensation package with the modified role of
2 Mr. Sharp. I'm getting at, $100,000 a month, is that still
3 the right thing, or hourly compensation, did you discuss that,
4 and why is --

5 THE WITNESS: We did, Your Honor. And I'll be
6 (inaudible) with you. I don't know who negotiated that
7 originally for -- with, you know, with DSI, but I find it to
8 be a very fair-to-the-Debtor compensation package of $100,000
9 for Mr. Sharp, but it also includes Mr. Caruso, who Mr. Seery
10 has referenced earlier. I think it was a very good
11 negotiation that was had by the Debtor.

12 So when we looked at it, we said, if we switch to a
13 straight hourly, based upon the amount of time and effort
14 that's being put in by the two of those individuals, it might 15 cost us a little bit more. So we chose to continue it at that 16 level.

17 And I know Mr. Seery will continue to lean on those two 18 folks and get his money's worth. I'm confident of that.

19 THE COURT: Okay. You just reminded me of something
20 that I did not remember, I guess. Mr. -- we're getting two 21 for the price of one, is basically the -- Mr. Caruso does not
22 bill by the hour?

23 THE WITNESS: They -- they work together. It's their
24 compensation. I would imagine they keep hours internally,
25 just to keep track of it, but what they bill us for the two

1 individuals, Mr. Caruso and Mr. Sharp, is a flat fee of
2 $100,000 for the two of them.

3 THE COURT: Okay. All right. And do you remember,
4 by comparison, the financial advisor to the Committee -- is it
5 FDI? Whoever it is.

6 THE WITNESS: It -- it --

7 THE COURT: How are they getting compensated? Is it
8 strictly on an hourly basis, or is there also a combo flat fee
9 and hourly?

10 THE WITNESS: (echoing) on an hourly basis, and I
11 have one of their most recent charts. It was the May fee
12 application that they just filed, and they -- they bill in a
13 range from $1,245 an hour for, you know, senior managing
14 directors, to $875 an hour for managing directors, down to,
15 you know, $690 an hour for directors. Yeah. A very fair and
16 appropriate marketplace compensation, but I think what we are 17 incurring under the structure that we have for DSI is below
18 that.

19 THE COURT: If those two guys were billing normal
20 market hourly fees, you think it would be busting $100,000 a
21 month, perhaps?

22 THE WITNESS: I think it -- I think it would be well
23 in excess of $100,000, --

24 THE COURT: Okay.

25 THE WITNESS: -- based upon the hours that we have

1 seen to date from them, Your Honor.

2 THE COURT: Okay. Now, does anyone else have
3 questions for Mr. Dubel related to these employment
4 arrangements proposed?

5 (No response.)

6 THE COURT: I guess not. I actually have one more
7 question. I think it will be for my benefit, but maybe for
8 benefit of parties in interest, I hope. You made a comment
9 about getting insurance for Mr. Seery, and you said it was a
10 bit of a challenge because insurers in the marketplace kind of 11 knew what Highland was about. I think those were your words.

12 THE WITNESS: Yes, Your Honor.

13 THE COURT: Here is my question. As far as knowing
14 what Highland is about, other persons, not me, have used the 15 words that people were Mr. Dondero's puppet master, or he was 16 the puppet master, had his hands all over this, here and
17 there. And we obviously endeavored to change that with the 18 new Board in place. What would you say if people out there
19 think Dondero still might be a puppet master? What -- I mean,
20 is there any concern there that you could address?

21 THE WITNESS: Sure. And let me, let me take it in
22 two parts, because I think it's important for you to
23 understand from a third-party insurer's point of view. The
24 D&O marketplace has seen a lot of litigation surrounding the
25 Highland Capital name. And because of that, that obviously

1 causes them concern. Their business is to write insurance and
2 never pay a dime. I ran an insurance company for six years,
3 and you never want to pay a dime out, you just want to collect
4 premiums.

5 THE COURT: Yes. And I probably prefaced this in a
6 confusing way. I'm really not going back to the insurance. I
7 just said that comment, when you were talking about insurance,
8 made me want to ask, for my benefit and for other parties'
9 benefit: How much control, if any, does Dondero have? In 10 theory, he was not supposed to have any control over the 11 Debtor anymore, but can you say something to make us all feel
12 comfortable that, if he ever was a puppet master, he's not a
13 puppet master anymore?

14 THE WITNESS: Well, I won't use that terminology.
15 What I will say is, since January 9th --

16 THE COURT: Yes. It was someone else's term, not
17 mine. I'm just repeating it.

18 THE WITNESS: That's okay. Since January 9th, when
19 the Independent Board was put in place, the Independent Board
20 has had the responsibility, is responsible for the operations
21 of this business. Mr. Dondero, as Mr. Seery alluded to 22 earlier in talking about the number of people in the 23 organization, has other businesses that he's involved with 24 that operate out of the offices through shared services. But
25 it's very clear to all the employees that the Independent

1 Board is responsible for HCMLP and that since, really, you
2 know, the early March time frame, that Mr. Seery is the CEO.

3 So there is no concern on my part that Mr. Dondero is
4 having undue influence. He is still our portfolio manager,
5 but Mr. Seery is working with him as appropriate, and I have
6 no concern that Mr. Seery is not getting the job done and
7 getting any undue influence from Mr. Dondero.

8 THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

9 Mr. Morris, do you have any redirect?

10 MR. MORRIS: I do not, Your Honor. I appreciate the
11 question, and I think Mr. Dubel answered it appropriately.

12 THE COURT: All right. Thank you, Mr. Dubel. I do
13 appreciate your testimony today. It was helpful.

14 All right. Mr. Morris, --

15 THE WITNESS: Thank you, ma'am.

16 THE COURT: -- what else do you have? You have Mr.
17 Sharp on your witness list. Did you want to --

18 MR. SHARP: I'm here, Your Honor.

19 THE COURT: -- put him on?

20 MR. MORRIS: I'm intending to do that. If Your Honor
21 thinks it's not necessary, I don't need to ask more questions.
22 It's a relatively brief examination that will just focus on
23 the slight change in his role.

24 THE COURT: All right. Well, if you feel the need to 25 make a record, you may. I just have one question I want to

1 ask him, to shore up the record.

2 MR. MORRIS: So perhaps, Your Honor, could we swear
3 him in, you ask your question, and then I'll see if there's
4 (echoing)?

5 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Sharp, I see you there.
6 Please raise your right hand.

7 (Echoing.)

8 BRADLEY SHARP, DEBTORS' WITNESS, SWORN

9 THE COURT: Thank you. We were getting some
10 distortion there. So, again, if you're not Mr. Sharp, please
11 put your phone on mute.

12 EXAMINATION BY THE COURT

13 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Sharp, I just wanted to 14 hear from you how many hours a month do you think that you and
15 Mr. Caruso are working on the Highland matter?

16 THE WITNESS: I don't have the hours in front of me,
17 Your Honor, but I think Mr. Dubel unfortunately alluded to
18 poor negotiating on DSI's part. That'd be my responsibility,
19 because I'm the one that did that.

20 From October through May, if you look at the time for Mr.
21 Caruso and myself, DSI has provided about a $730,000 discount.
22 So if we were actually being paid on our hourly rate, our fees
23 would be $730,000 more than the $100,000 a month. We
24 typically run -- my rate is $720 an hour. I think Mr.
25 Caruso's is about the same. The time for the two of us each

Sharp - Direct

102

1 month runs about $200,000, which we then write down to
2 $100,000.

3 THE COURT: All right.

4 THE WITNESS: (echoing) a month.

5 THE COURT: Okay. That answers my question. Mr.
6 Morris, is there anything you wanted to put on the record?

7 DIRECT EXAMINATION

8 BY MR. MORRIS:

9 Q Mr. Sharp, are you the person who was (echoing) with the 10 (echoing) CRO (echoing) Seery (echoing)?

11 A Yes, I am. I think it's much more efficient, frankly.
12 We've worked very well with Mr. Seery since the beginning,
13 since January 9th. That's going to continue. I think it
14 takes away some confusion, both internally and externally, in
15 that, you know, Mr. Seery is the CEO, the CRO, and everyone
16 knows that we are providing the analytical and support for him
17 with whatever he needs.

18 Q And I want to focus just for a second on DSI's (echoing).
19 Is DSI's responsibilities in the case changing at all?

20 A No. No. We have been working for the Board and
21 responding directly to Mr. Seery. You know, as Mr. Seery
22 testified, he works directly with myself and directly with my
23 team, and that's not going to change.

24 MR. MORRIS: I have no further questions, Your Honor.

25 THE COURT: All right. Anyone have any questions

005112

Sharp - Direct

103

1 regarding the employment terms?

2 (No response.)

3 THE COURT: All right. Well, I thank you, Mr. Sharp.
4 We appreciate it.

5 All right. Mr. --

6 MR. MORRIS: The Debtor rests, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: Okay. Well, I presume no one else had a
8 witness to call. Again, we didn't have any responsive
9 pleadings on this.

10 So, with that, I am going to turn to the Committee counsel
11 at this point. Mr. Clemente, I know you said early on that 12 you wanted to make some comments, so this is your opportunity.

13 MR. CLEMENTE: Well, thank you, Your Honor. Matt
14 Clemente from Sidley on behalf of the Committee.

15 And just very briefly, Your Honor, as you know, we did not 16 file an objection. It sounds from what we heard today that
17 Mr. Seery and the Board are working hard, which is, frankly,
18 what I think you expect and what we expect of them.

19 We don't have an objection to the retention of Mr. Seery
20 as CEO at $150,000 a month, which is inclusive of director
21 fees. And as Mr. Pomerantz said, the Committee does not agree
22 -- in fact, that was the source of quite a bit of the
23 negotiation of the last couple of months -- with the bonus
24 proposal. But, again, we understand that that will be
25 addressed by a separate motion.

005113

1 Your Honor, we appreciate Mr. Seery's testimony to advise
2 you and to create the record for purposes of today's
3 uncontested matter. And obviously, the Committee -- there's
4 no live objection. And while the Committee may have different
5 views of what Mr. Seery said -- for example, the working of
6 the protocols, the sophistication of the advisors to the
7 Committee -- again, for purposes of the matter before the
8 Court today, we're not going to take any issue with any of
9 those statements, Your Honor, but reserve the right to do so
10 again in future if it becomes necessary.

11 So, with that, Your Honor, I have no further comments, but
12 I did want to make those couple comments for the record, to 13 make sure Your Honor understood where the Committee is coming
14 from.

15 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you. Does anyone else wish
16 to make comments about the applications before the Court?

17 (No response.)

18 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Morris, I'll turn it back
19 to you.

20 I found in my notes one question that I had. Looking at
21 your Exhibit 3 is what made me decide I have this question.
22 The Exhibit 3 was the e-mail exchange of Sunday, April 5th
23 amongst the Board members. Let me ask you this. There was 24 something in there regarding Mr. Seery, this would be a full-
25 time position, but he would be permitted to serve on outside

1 boards of directors. Is that a term that survived, or no?

2 And if it did, I want to ask how many outside board

3 memberships does he have? Again, I expect, like I think

4 everyone, that it's going to be very full-time, so I don't

5 want to hear that he's on 12 other boards. How did that --

6 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, this is Jeff Pomerantz.

7 Since I was the one who actually was involved in negotiations

8 more than Mr. Morris, --

9 THE COURT: Okay.

10 MR. POMERANTZ: -- maybe I can answer. I believe it

11 was something that survived. I am not aware of any other

12 boards that Mr. Seery is on. And if he has actually been able

13 to do anything meaningful while performing what is I think

14 probably 200 hours a month and being available 24/7, I take my

15 hat off to him. But I would ask him to confirm if he has any

16 other material role, but I have not seen anything.

17 THE COURT: All right. What about that, Mr. Seery?

18 MR. SEERY: I -- currently, I'm not on any other

19 outside boards except two charities.

20 THE COURT: Okay.

21 MR. SEERY: One is a foundation called the

22 (inaudible) Foundation, which is a charity for (inaudible)

23 individuals, disabled folks, and -- most of whom are abused.

24 And I'm also involved with a charity, I'm not on the board but

25 on a funding committee for Team Rubicon, which is a reference

1 -- reference service, assistance in disasters. So they don't
2 take time like this, and so I'm not going to be involved in
3 any --

4 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you. That's what I would
5 hope to hear. I didn't want to hear that you were on, you
6 know, 12 other for-profit boards.

7 So, all right. So, Mr. Morris, Mr. Pomerantz, do you have
8 anything to say before we wrap up this topic?

9 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, I'm happy to give Your
10 Honor a closing statement if you think it's necessary. I
11 think you know what I would say, to summarize. But I think
12 we've been at this a while, so (inaudible).

13 So unless Your Honor has any questions for me, I would
14 just say that the evidentiary record, I believe, supports the
15 entry of an order approving both the Motion to Employ Mr.
16 Seery as the Chief Executive Officer, CRO, and Foreign
17 Representative, and the Motion to Appoint DSI as the Financial 18 Advisor.

19 THE COURT: All right. Well, I am going to grant
20 both of these motions. Again, as for Mr. Seery, it's as
21 modified per the agreements with the Committee, that
22 modification being that, as for any bonuses, we're just
23 deferring to another day whether Mr. Seery is going to get any
24 bonuses related to a plan, what kind of plan it might be, a
25 case resolution plan or a monetization vehicle plan.

1 You know, I really hope, frankly, Mr. Seery is before me
2 seeking a bonus in the very near future and we're all happy
3 about the prospect of paying him a bonus because a plan has
4 been achieved, hopefully a case resolution plan. I will just
5 tell you right now, I will have a big smile on my face and
6 will warmly consider that if we get a great result here.

7 But it's deferred to another day. So I do find it's --
8 the evidence amply shows a sound business justification and
9 reasonable business judgment on the part of the Debtor in
10 proposing that Mr. Seery be CEO and CRO, essentially, and a
11 foreign representative, where necessary, at the base pay of 12 $150,000 per month, again, with bonuses to be considered at
13 appropriate times down the road if we feel that that is a good
14 thing for Mr. Seery to be paid.

15 And I likewise find that, under 327, 328, 363, the amended
16 application with regard to DSI Specialists and Mr. Sharp and
17 Mr. Caruso should be granted, it appearing to be reasonable
18 business judgment and in the best interests of the estate and
19 appropriate in all ways under those Code sections.

20 All right. So we are going to look for orders on those
21 two matters.

22 Now, unless you have other housekeeping matters you want
23 to talk about, I want to circle back to the mediation topic.
24 Mr. Pomerantz, Mr. Morris, anything you wanted to raise?

25 MR. POMERANTZ: There is actually one other

1 housekeeping matter that Ms. Patel and I have been speaking
2 about and we said we would raise before Your Honor.

3 As Your Honor heard at the last hearing, we had filed an
4 objection to the Acis claim. We initially set the objection
5 for August 6th. Ms. Patel reached out to us, I understand, I
6 remember at the last hearing indicated that August 6th was
7 difficult for her. And especially since we were having the
8 mediation, we had talked to her about a rescheduling. So we
9 are intending put the matter on the September 10th calendar.
10 We have also granted Acis an extension to file a response to 11 July 31st.

12 What I think we would like the Court's input on, and not
13 now, but we would suggest having it done at the next hearing,
14 which is July 21st, as I'm sure Your Honor has not yet read
15 our objection, but it's a quite lengthy objection, I think 55,
16 60 pages. There's a lot of issues there. There are some
17 factual issues, some -- there are some legal issues. There
18 are some combination of factual and legal issues.

19 We think it would be helpful to the process to set up a
20 status conference with Your Honor -- again, to be held perhaps
21 on July 21st, because discovery motions are pending -- where
22 we could walk through with Your Honor what exactly everyone
23 would intend to accomplish on September 10th. We don't
24 believe it should just be a status conference. We searched
25 other dates. On the other hand, I think both parties will

1 have different views on what exactly will be at issue. But I
2 think it would be helpful, from both sides, to hear Your
3 Honor's expectations and to get some ground rules so we can
4 make a hearing, if necessary, on September 10th as productive
5 as possible.

6 THE COURT: All right. So, in writing down dates,
7 did you tell me what -- a deadline you have given Acis, or
8 what is the deadline that would apply under the Rules versus
9 what you have agreed to? Is there something different you've 10 agreed to?

11 MR. POMERANTZ: Sure. I believe, for a hearing on 12 August 6th, based upon when we filed it, I believe their 13 objection would have been due July 23rd or thereabouts. They 14 have asked us for July 31st, and I don't want to be as
15 presumptuous, Your Honor, to say that I have given them the 16 extension. I know that's up to you, Your Honor, to do so.
17 The Debtor does not have any opposition to an extension in
18 that respect, especially given the fact that we're not going
19 to have a hearing until September, although it's obviously
20 going to be important to be able to move forward with 21 negotiations to understand what their specific position is,
22 and, of course, for a mediator to look at both as well.

23 So, again, it's July 31st, September 10th, and then
24 setting up something with Your Honor, whether it be July 21st
25 or some other date, to walk through Your Honor what that

1 hearing will look like so it could be most efficient.

2 THE COURT: All right. Well, I am agreeable to that
3 set of dates and deadlines. Ms. Patel, did you want to say
4 anything about it?

5 MS. PATEL: No, Your Honor. Mr. Pomerantz hit the
6 salient terms. Yes, July 31st is the agreed response date.
7 And that allows, frankly, parties to -- an opportunity --
8 allows Acis the opportunity to meaningfully brief the issues,
9 as Mr. Pomerantz indicated.

10 It's a 60-page objection. It's very weighty. There's a
11 lot of issues that require due consideration. So we have 12 agreed on that extended date. It's in sufficient time to 13 allow the parties time to read a response and analyze it ahead
14 of a mediation in August.

15 And as Mr. Pomerantz indicated, yes, the parties would 16 like -- effectively, I think he -- he might have referred to 17 it as a status conference. Apologies, my WebEx is cutting in 18 and out a little bit this afternoon. But I think it's 19 probably a status conference/scheduling conference so we can
20 talk about what the trial of the claim objection is going to 21 look like and how it should be structured. And I think, as
22 Mr. Pomerantz alluded to, parties may have very different
23 contexts with respect to that, but we want to just run it by
24 Your Honor, and ultimately it is going to be up to Your Honor
25 with respect to how the trial goes forward.

1 THE COURT: All right. Well, I hope that you all are
2 going to have lots of specific thoughts to share on what the
3 hearing on September 10th would look like, because, holy cow,
4 a $70 million proof of claim that -- I haven't looked at your
5 proof of claim, but it is presumably based on the 34 counts in
6 the adversary proceeding filed in the Acis case, and maybe
7 then some.

8 So, you know, I don't know how in the world, if we had to
9 have a contested hearing on September 10th, we could get that
10 all done in one day.

11 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, Jeff Pomerantz again.
12 Without getting ahead of ourselves, at least the Debtors' view
13 is there are some threshold legal issues --

14 THE COURT: Okay.

15 MR. POMERANTZ: -- that are raised in the objection.
16 And then there are, of course, a series of issues that are
17 factual-intensive.

18 So what we intend to present is how we think we can
19 efficiently deal with it. Again, it's not our expectation to 20 have a lengthy trial on the entire claim objection. But,
21 again, Ms. Patel and I agreed that what we weren't going to do
22 is turn this into a status conference.

23 THE COURT: Okay.

24 MR. POMERANTZ: To the effect that neither party was
25 ready. I would just leave it at that --

1 THE COURT: Okay.

2 MR. POMERANTZ: -- and say we'd be prepared to talk
3 with you on the 21st.

4 THE COURT: Okay. Well, we -- we'll use that setting
5 partly as a status conference to talk about the September 10th
6 hearing. And, again, I hope you both will have some specific
7 ideas to give me.

8 So, July 21st, we have -- remind me what we have. We are
9 so busy, I haven't looked one week ahead to --

10 MR. POMERANTZ: I believe, and Mr. Morris could
11 correct me if I get ahead of ourselves. I know there's been
12 discussions between us and the Committee on two very -- two,
13 in some sense, the opposite sides of the coin -- discovery
14 motions that are pending before Your Honor. I thought July
15 21st may have been pre-obtained. Again, I could be ahead of 16 my partner there.

17 THE COURT: Okay. That sounds like something that
18 I've set on an expedited basis in the past few days. Mr.
19 Morris, Mr. Clemente -- Mr. Clemente filed a motion, or
20 someone from their shop filed a motion --

21 MR. CLEMENTE: Your Honor? Your Honor?

22 THE COURT: -- during the middle of our last hearing,
23 as I recall. And I was kind of surprised to get out of court
24 and learn about it. But you're saying you haven't gotten
25 information you've been asking for for months, and we also

1 have a motion for a protective order.

2 So, just give me a short -- I'm trying to figure out how
3 much time we're going to be in court next week on the 21st.
4 It's a discovery dispute.

5 MR. POMERANTZ: And I'll --

6 THE COURT: So, Mr. Pomerantz? Go ahead.

7 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, if my colleague, Paige
8 Montgomery, is on, she's in a better position to address that.
9 I don't know if Ms. Montgomery is on.

10 MS. MONTGOMERY: I'm here. I don't -- my WebEx has
11 been cutting in and out, but I think (inaudible) hear me.

12 THE COURT: We can hear you, but we can't --

13 MR. POMERANTZ: Yes, we can.

14 THE COURT: Oh, there you are. We can now see you as
15 well. So, --

16 MS. MONTGOMERY: Yes, Your Honor. I think the amount
17 of time that might be required for the discovery motions is
18 going to be dependent on the number of third-party objections
19 that may or may not be filed tomorrow. We've been in 20 communication with a number of different parties over the last
21 couple of days, trying to resolve those.

22 But I think, if it were just the two motions and the two
23 parties that filed those, John, I don't know if you disagree,
24 but I'd say that's probably an hour. I just don't know how
25 many other people -- I don't know how many other people will

1 want to participate, Your Honor.

2 THE COURT: Okay. Well, it's going to be whatever
3 it's going to be, but we're going to have -- the main event on
4 the 21st is going to be this document discovery contest, and I
5 guess there's a related motion for protective order. But I
6 don't know how much it's going to be about resisting producing
7 documents versus we'll produce documents if we have a
8 protective order.

9 Mr. Morris, can you, in, you know, a few seconds, answer
10 that?

11 MR. MORRIS: Sure. As the Debtor, we're trying to --
12 we've got certain interests to protect. We thought we were in 13 a different place in the middle of June, and, you know, this
14 proposal that the Committee made for the first time on July --
15 on June 26th is really what, from my perspective, prompted us
16 to be here.

17 But we've made a proposal to the Committee. We haven't
18 received a response to that. We're trying to address these
19 issues. But it's not, you know, it's not contentious. I
20 think our interests are legitimate. I think the motion that
21 we made is either for a protective order or for an order
22 directing us to produce the documents. Because as the motion
23 itself sets forth, Your Honor, the Debtor has certain
24 contractual and other obligations to some third parties. We 25 have given notice to those third parties of our -- of our

1 intent to make this motion, because we are kind of between a
2 rock and a hard place. We can't produce the documents
3 without, you know, potentially violating obligations to third
4 parties.

5 And so we'd just ask the Court to be the referee here, to
6 make the decision as to how it gets resolved. And we've given
7 notice to these third parties so that they fairly have an
8 opportunity to be heard, too. And I've been in communication
9 with some of them as well, and I've encouraged them to speak
10 with the Debtor, because ultimately, you know, if the Debtor
11 and the third parties can come to an agreement on the 12 production of the documents, you know, that will resolve, you
13 know, a substantial piece of the issue.

14 MR. POMERANTZ: You mentioned the -- you meant the
15 Committee, John, not the Debtor.

16 MR. MORRIS: I apologize. Yes. Thank you.

17 MR. POMERANTZ: Thank you, John.

18 THE COURT: Okay. Well, I hope you have this largely 19 worked out. Obviously, I hope that. You know, I just
20 remember doing a very quick pass through the Committee's
21 motion, but I do remember them saying they've been trying to
22 get these documents for a very long time, and I think I recall
23 there's pressure building now because I gave you a 90-day
24 deadline to either file a lawsuit regarding the CLO Holdco
25 issues that we had a hearing on a few weeks ago, a couple of

1 weeks ago, or I'm probably going to release the money in the
2 registry of the Court. And so that's part of why you're
3 trying to get these documents as soon as possible, right, Ms.
4 Montgomery?

5 MS. MONTGOMERY: Yes, Your Honor.

6 THE COURT: Okay. All right. You all try to work
7 this out. Okay?

8 MR. CLEMENTE: Thank you.

9 THE COURT: Well, I was partly pressing the issue of
10 what's July 21st going to look like because I think we may 11 carry over the discussion about mediation. We're going to 12 start it right now, but I think we may have to carry it over
13 to the 21st, and I hope finally kind of get a game plan
14 together on that day.

15 So, I wanted Mr. Seery to be available. Mr. Seery is --
16 if you're still there somewhere. You're very important, in my
17 view, to mediation potentially being successful here -- and
18 the whole Board is, for that matter -- because -- well, let me
19 digress a minute.

20 Mediation is going to be very tough here. We all know
21 that mediation tends to be more likely to succeed if we've got
22 face-to-face, in-person participation. And as I said last
23 week, I just don't know how I can order people to be in face-
24 to-face mediation right now. I just -- we've got people
25 spread out, and I think it would be very, very bad to order

1 face-to-face mediation right now.

2 But on the topic of mediation, you know, I've heard some
3 things that, you know, we all know, but I've heard some things
4 from Mr. Seery that are important to stress today. This isn't
5 the type of case that needs to be in bankruptcy for months and
6 months and months and months. Okay? We have the issue of the 7 professional fees accruing, of course, like every case. But
8 we have a company where -- it's a strange fit for bankruptcy,
9 right, this kind of company. And it's so dependent on people
10 to provide value. And people can bolt. You know, people can
11 get weary of the bankruptcy and want to be somewhere else
12 where that taint is not there in the marketplace.

13 The issue of the UCC protocols was brought up by Mr.
14 Seery, and I know that is something that is going to be
15 cumbersome, you know, for this company to be in bankruptcy
16 long-term.

17 So, I want to go to Mr. Seery, and it may be unusual for 18 me to reach out to you and ask this, but I want to hear from
19 you: Do you think mediation is a waste-of-time pipe dream,
20 for lack of a better term? I really want mediation to happen,
21 because I don't know how we quickly get a confirmed plan if we
22 have, well, the voting issue, for one, right? We have to, at 23 a minimum, figure out what is UBS's voting claim. What's its
24 claim for voting purposes? What is Acis's claim for voting
25 purposes? A looming, huge issue in my mind. So I feel like

1 we've got to have mediation. We've got to get a strong shot
2 at getting these two claims liquidated, at least for voting
3 purposes, if not overall.

4 So, is this a pipe dream, Mr. Seery, in your view, that
5 mediation might get to resolution on these two claims? What
6 do you think about it?

7 MR. SEERY: The quick answer, Your Honor, is I don't
8 think it's a pipe dream. I think there's a legitimate shot to 9 move parties together.

10 Let me just say one thing that -- reflecting on what Mr.
11 Clemente said. I want to make clear for the record that, to
12 the extent I misspoke, and it would have been misspeaking, I
13 have no negative implication regarding the sophistication,
14 professionalism, or focus of Sidley --

15 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

16 MR. SEERY: -- or FTI or any of the professionals. I
17 know these folks. They're really good. They're very
18 sophisticated. I have the highest professional and personal
19 respect for them. So, to the extent that I misspoke, I
20 apologize.

21 THE COURT: I don't think you did, and that's not how
22 I heard it --

23 MR. SEERY: Okay.

24 THE COURT: -- and that's certainly not how I meant
25 it. It's just a fact of bankruptcy that it's expensive.

1 Okay? So, --

2 MR. SEERY: Yeah.

3 THE COURT: Right.

4 MR. SEERY: I just wanted that to be clear.

5 I think, particularly with respect, Your Honor, to the
6 Acis and UBS claims, our professionals have done a lot of work
7 on them. Obviously, the professionals for Acis and UBS have
8 done a lot of work on them. There may be things that we know,
9 the perspectives that we have, and perspectives that the other
10 side has, that may not be as well-founded as each side thinks.
11 It could be very valuable to have a third-party objective
12 observer, cajoler, somebody who's strong, to help move the 13 parties off of certain positions.

14 We would like to think, as a Board, Independent Board, and
15 I'd like to think as an Independent Director and now as a CEO,
16 I didn't really have a -- the proverbial dog in that fight for
17 either of those claims. I wasn't -- I'm not a Highland
18 employee. I don't have any animus towards any of the sides.
19 I don't have any history with any of the sides.

20 But I'm realistic that I take a perspective around certain
21 claims and how they're brought, the factual and legal basis
22 for them. And I get a lot of that information from Highland
23 employees, and we use that information to then perform the 24 analysis with our professionals.

25 Likewise, these parties have been involved in, on the

1 other side, very entrenched disputes with Highland and
2 Highland employees. And they've dug in on their positions.

3 Having a third party hear each side and start to move
4 could give us the chance to break it open. I think there's --
5 and there's two really important aspects. One is the claim
6 amount, and then, obviously, the distributions on the claims:
7 How to make those, how much are they, when are they made? We
8 can work on both of those, and I think we need some help
9 moving us both on the claim amounts and on how to make the 10 distributions.

11 We've made progress with Redeemer because even though they
12 had -- they had an arbitration award, so we knew what the 13 outside would be. Now, Redeemer and their attorneys are very 14 good and very creative. They could stretch the outside in 15 those discussions. I won't get into what they are. But we 16 were able to more easily fashion around the particulars of
17 that claim because there was that judgment from the
18 arbitrators that, while it hasn't been entered, gave us much
19 more guidelines as to where we could look. The other claims
20 are much more amorphous, at least at this stage, and having a
21 third party help us develop perhaps closer goal lines would be
22 useful, in my opinion.

23 But, again, I think it's very important that we do it
24 quickly. I think we -- you know, somebody who is focused,
25 strong. I'm sure they'll be highly intelligent and versed in

1 the field, but somebody who's got the opportunity and time to
2 do it. And then, if it's unsuccessful, then, as Mr. Pomerantz
3 and Ms. Patel alluded to, then perhaps we may need some
4 judicial help to move those goal lines a little bit.

5 But I do think that mediation -- and I apologize for the
6 length of my answer -- could be a very helpful way to do it,
7 provided we get there quickly.

8 THE COURT: All right. I guess my other question I
9 wanted your view on is structure. You know, when someone --
10 Mr. Pomerantz, I think -- told me that he or others had
11 reached out to our judges in Houston, Judge Jones and Judge
12 Isgur, my initial reaction -- and, frankly, my continued
13 thought on that -- is they just don't have meaningful time,
14 because I don't think one day of cajoling is going to be
15 enough to get -- you know, you're a billion dollars apart on 16 UBS, right? The Debtor, I guess, thinks zero is the amount of
17 their claim, and UBS thinks it's a billion, and it's been
18 litigated for 11 years. And then I personally know, you know,
19 how Acis feels about its positions.

20 So, anyway, what I'm getting at is structure. I in some
21 ways think what we need here is sort of a master statesman-
22 type person who would spend meaningful time, not just a day or 23 two, but days or even weeks trying to reach a grand
24 compromise.

25 On the other hand, in my experience -- I've never done

1 that in a case as judge. But as a lawyer, I felt like that
2 kind of person can hijack a case, and we don't need that here.
3 We have wonderful professionals, a wonderful Board, a
4 wonderful CEO. We don't need that kind of help, I worry.

5 So, I guess where I'm evolving, you know, we've got the
6 two-sitting-judge option that would be free mediators that
7 could give you a day or two. Maybe. And then we have kind of 8 the master statesman who might be in there for weeks, trying
9 to help you reach a grand compromise.

10 Another option, I think, is one or two mediators who just
11 zero in, you know, on the UBS claim versus -- and the Acis
12 claim. And I have a couple of private mediators in mind that
13 have very good video capabilities to have a sophisticated
14 video mediation.

15 So, all of this rambling to say, Do you think we need to
16 just zero in on Acis and UBS and maybe have one or two people
17 to do formal video mediation with those two parties, or do we 18 need sort of more of a grand pooh-bah, grand compromise-type
19 person?

20 MR. SEERY: My view, Your Honor, is that we should
21 focus on the claims, but they're not just going to be two-
22 party, because we do have other active constituents. I think
23 Redeemer, with their party in interest status, is going to 24 want to be part of it.

25 I think if we can focus on those, we have the

1 professionals to help drive the grander bargain that I've
2 alluded to in some of those discussions we've been having. So
3 they haven't progressed as far as I would like, but they have
4 progressed. We do need the bottom line number for where
5 claims are going to come out. But also that will help frame a
6 little bit as to what parties expect in terms of distributions
7 on their claims.

8 And I think the reason that we had some impetus behind a
9 sitting judge -- frankly, I didn't know that sitting judges
10 couldn't be paid. I think that's -- there should be a
11 standard rate, because we shouldn't take people's time for
12 free in these cases, and I know judges work extremely hard and
13 if they're going to put in extra time, then they should maybe
14 be compensated, but that's a whole different issue.

15 I don't think we should get too hung up on the cost. We
16 are -- the costs of this case are extremely high, and we are,
17 with best intents, sometimes getting ourselves wrapped up in
18 things that should be, I think, more swiftly and economically
19 dealt with and dispatched.

20 So, if we can get a good mediator, and I think the reason
21 folks think about a judge is -- a sitting judge, it's not just
22 the vast experience that folks -- judges like yourself have,
23 Your Honor, and in particular with these issues, but also the 24 requirement that all the participants, notwithstanding the
25 professionals and -- that you see here, the requirement that

1 all the participants know that they're dealing with a sitting
2 judge, there's a certain decorum that's required. But that, I
3 think we get anyway. But there's also a -- there's less
4 willingness to go to the furthest reaches of your argument
5 when you have someone who's on the bench who sees those types
6 of positions taken frequently and can dispatch with them more
7 readily.

8 So, I think there are a number of individuals that I've 9 dealt with in the past who would have the ability, the
10 gravitas, for lack of a better term, to be able to help push
11 the parties in the right direction. And I think it's a matter
12 of finding somebody, as you said, with both the capabilities,
13 which we'll find, but also the capacity in terms of the time
14 to do it. And then, in the video age, maybe some facility in 15 being able to make that happen both rapidly and effectively on 16 screen.

17 THE COURT: Okay.

18 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, this is Jeff Pomerantz.
19 And I'd just make a couple of comments.

20 THE COURT: Okay.

21 MR. POMERANTZ: You know, as Mr. Seery said, we were
22 predisposed towards a sitting judge. And while we did share
23 the same concerns about the timing of Judge Jones and Isgur,
24 we understand you've probably been in communication with them,
25 and if that's not going to work, we appreciate it. We want

1 this mediation to be effective and we want someone to spend
2 the time with it. And if you didn't feel that they, you know,
3 could commit to that, we totally appreciate that.

4 We thought long and hard about the people that you
5 identified at the last hearing, former Judge Peck and Sylvia
6 Mayer. We've done our diligence. The Debtor would be willing
7 to mediate before Sylvia Mayer. We think that, based upon our
8 diligence, the people we've spoken to, that she, if she
9 otherwise had the time and the abil... the time to devote to
10 it, that being a former big-firm lawyer in permanent practice
11 now as a mediator, that the Debtor would find her acceptable.

12 THE COURT: All right. Does anyone else wish to
13 comment? Because I have a very positive view of Sylvia Mayer,
14 and certainly her video capabilities, I think, are far and
15 away better than a few other people I've chatted with.

16 MS. PATEL: Your Honor?

17 MR. CLEMENTS: Your Honor? Oh, I'm sorry.

18 MS. PATEL: Go ahead.

19 MR. CLEMENTE: Your Honor, --

20 THE COURT: Not that I would ever, you know, put that
21 ahead of, you know, overall abilities, but it just is an added
22 plus, a huge plus right now during COVID.

23 Go ahead.

24 MR. CLEMENTE: Your Honor, Matt Clemente on behalf of 25 the Committee. Just a couple observations, building a little

1 bit on what Mr. Seery said.

2 We had consensus among the Committee around Judge Isgur
3 and Judge Jones. I think the view, the consensus view -- and,
4 again, I use the word consensus and not unanimity because I
5 want Your Honor to understand that -- is that having a sitting
6 judge, ideally, given the personalities as you've expressed
7 and I think as Mr. Seery has expressed, provides the best
8 possibility for a successful mediation. It may not be that
9 overlord that spends three weeks, but, you know, it is a
10 strong personality that -- not that any of the names that have
11 been raised aren't tremendously to be respected, but that
12 would be respected by all of the parties simply by the fact
13 that they're a sitting judge.

14 With that said, Your Honor, and, again, the speed. Again,
15 I don't have unanimity from the Committee, but there is
16 consensus to see if Sitting Judge Green from the Southern
17 District of New York would have the time and the capability to 18 spend. And I know Your Honor has concerns about the time. I
19 think Judge Isgur and Judge Jones occupy a special place in
20 terms of how busy they are, but at least among the Committee
21 members, there's been discussion that that may be a suitable
22 approach in terms of identifying a mediator and accomplishing
23 the objectives of having a very strong mediation, mediator, on
24 a timely basis, that has the best possibility of success.

25 That being said, Your Honor, based on what Mr. Pomerantz

1 said, if Mr. Green is not acceptable or if Your Honor doesn't
2 wish for us to go in that direction, I do have consensus among
3 the Committee members to move forward with Ms. Mayer as
4 mediator.

5 So, a little -- maybe a little convoluted in my comments
6 there, Your Honor, but the main thrust is I think there is
7 consensus among the Committee to consider a sitting judge, and
8 Judge Green would be someone who would be satisfactory. And
9 if he's not acceptable, or I should say acceptable but not
10 able to do it, Ms. Mayer would be acceptable to the Committee.

11 THE COURT: All right. Well, let me put this out
12 there. I talked on a no-names basis with Ms. Mayer last
13 Friday. And it was actually more in the nature of making
14 inquiries about how an organization she's connected with, the
15 AAA -- you've heard of the American Arbitration Association;
16 they, of course, do mediation -- what their experience and
17 capabilities were with many, many parties and video mediation.
18 And as you might guess, they have a lot of experience already
19 -- you know, a number well in excess of a hundred; I can't 20 remember -- of doing video mediations with many parties and
21 having the different constituencies in this caucus room and
22 that caucus room. And, very importantly, having lots of IT
23 staff to give instructions, to give help, to, you know, tackle
24 technology problems.

25 But in that discussion, I learned that there is a panel

1 that AAA has put together of 12 mediators that have bankruptcy
2 expertise. And, of course, Sylvia Mayer is one of those
3 people. But Retired Bankruptcy Judge Gropper -- is it Groper
4 or Gropper from the Southern District of New York? I always
5 forget which way he pronounces his name. Anyway, he is on
6 that. He is on that panel of 12.

7 Mr. Seery, you're grinning like you want to say something
8 about this.

9 MR. SEERY: No. Only on the Gropper/Groper, because
10 there's a professional that I know that is similarly named,
11 and I believe -- and I believe Judge Groper -- I may have it
12 wrong, but I think it's -- it's Judge Groper and Dan Gropper.
13 But that's the best I --

14 MR. NEIER: It's Dan Groper and Judge Gropper. I
15 actually had a mediation with the two of them when they argued
16 about the pronunciation of their name.

17 THE COURT: Okay. Well, Gropper. So we -- it's
18 Gropper. Okay.

19 A VOICE: Yes.

20 THE COURT: My point was, without -- I've not talked
21 to him at all. And by the way, I haven't personally reached
22 out to Jim Peck, but we'll stop that discussion about him.
23 But after getting off the call with Sylvia Mayer and a couple
24 of other people at the AAA Friday, I put together in my brain,
25 maybe we could have a Sylvia Mayer/Allan Gropper tag team, two

1 mediators. Okay? I don't know how that would affect the
2 cost, but that might be the way to go in such a complex case.
3 You know, maybe they could divvy up among themselves. One
4 would be the primary mediator on Acis, one would be the
5 primary mediator on UBS, but they would both work together.

6 If you all want to think on that, digest that a little,
7 and we, you know, decide definitely next week on the 21st, we
8 could do that. Or we could just all say, yeah, that's a good
9 game plan, and I can get on the phone after this. Or it
10 actually may be tomorrow, because I have a terrible hearing
11 that I've got to prepare for at 9:30 in the morning tomorrow.
12 It may be tomorrow.

13 But do people want to let that soak in a little bit, or
14 shall -- I mean, --

15 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, this is Jeff Pomerantz.

16 THE COURT: -- frankly, I can order it either way. I
17 can order it. But I just really want to be conciliatory to 18 the parties who are owed the money and have to pay the money,
19 if you want to think on it some.

20 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, it's Jeff Pomerantz.
21 Having my newly-minted CEO on the phone, Mr. Seery, I would 22 ask him, and if he says that it would be okay, then it would
23 be okay with me.

24 MR. SEERY: Be fine with me.

25 THE COURT: Okay.

1 MR. SEERY: Yeah, I think the key is moving forward.
2 I know it's much harder with a Committee, and I respect, you
3 know, Matt Clemente's job there of having to get consensus.
4 But from our perspective, if we were to push it off, you know,
5 on the 21st, Your Honor, we -- we would request you to order
6 something, because I don't want this to delay.

7 THE COURT: Okay.

8 MR. CLUBOK: Your Honor, if I may, speaking for UBS,
9 it's Andrew Clubok. You'll be happy to know I think that
10 we're in agreement with Mr. Seery, and I guess, derivatively,
11 Mr. Pomerantz. We think the most important thing is to move
12 it along quickly, and we trust -- you know, we're familiar
13 with Judge -- or, with Mayer, and whether it's Groper or
14 Gropper, I lost track, but I'm sure he is also going to be
15 equally capable. We do kind of think that two is probably
16 necessary, given, you know, the sort of multi-layer
17 (inaudible).

18 But, really, our position has simply been we'll happily
19 mediate with any, you know, effective mediator as quickly as 20 possible, because we do think the sooner we do that, the 21 sooner we might have a chance to get to yes. So, I'm -- we're
22 prepared to just say yes to the idea.

23 THE COURT: All right. Does anyone else want to 24 comment?

25 MS. PATEL: Your Honor? And can you hear me? I'm

1 sorry. It's --

2 THE COURT: Yes.

3 MS. PATEL: Again, I'm still having WebEx problems.

4 THE COURT: Yes.

5 MS. PATEL: Your Honor, again, for the record, Rakhee
6 Patel.

7 Acis is fine with the proposal, Your Honor. We've been
8 amenable to virtually every proposal, and have been trying to
9 hopefully be helpful with respect to getting this moved to
10 mediation as quickly as possible. We equally think that we
11 should get to mediation as quickly as we can.

12 And, you know, the only -- the only -- and I appreciate
13 Your Honor's contemplativeness on this. As you know, at least
14 in connection with the Acis case, you know, we've been through
15 two unsuccessful mediations so far. So we're really hoping
16 that the third time will go much better than the prior two.

17 So, anyway, this is my very long way of saying we're fine
18 with the proposal and are happy to kind of sign off on it. We
19 don't need until July 21st to respond on that.

20 THE COURT: Okay. Anyone else?

21 (No response.)

22 THE COURT: All right. Well, very good. I'm going
23 to move ahead on this and will confirm to you, hopefully
24 before the 21st, through my courtroom deputy. And, again,
25 given the late hour, I think it's going to be tomorrow before

1 I pick up the phone and reach out to Sylvia Mayer and former
2 Judge Gropper.

3 But, again, I did, in speaking generically with Sylvia
4 Mayer, asking her, Have you ever done like a two-mediator
5 mega-mediation, and she said, Oh, sure. You know, that's --
6 she acted like it was quite common. It's not something that I
7 have seen very often, but I think we'll be in business with
8 this game plan.

9 Because, you know, I know everyone on this call knows
10 this, but maybe not everyone's client knows this: If we don't 11 -- if we don't have a successful mediation of both of these
12 claims, or at least one of these claims, it's going to be 13 years and years and years. I mean, I know it's already been
14 years for UBS, but it will -- it will be many, many more
15 years. And that's not what we're supposed to do in 16 bankruptcy. We're supposed to stop burdensome litigation and
17 solve problems. And I can't imagine your clients want to go
18 on with three or four more years of litigation. But that's 19 exactly what it will be, it's exactly what it will be, many
20 more years of litigation, if we don't have mediated
21 settlements.

22 So, all right.

23 MS. PATEL: Your Honor, if I may very quickly. I
24 just wanted to make sure the Court was aware of something. In
25 the context of mediation and as it relates to Acis's claim,

1 yesterday counsel for Mr. Dondero filed a joinder in the
2 Debtors' objection to Acis's claim. So, again, just thinking
3 about this in the context of mediation, I think, with that
4 joinder, they will be a necessary party. So, going back to
5 Mr. Seery's point, this is not just --

6 THE COURT: Oh, absolutely. Mr. Dondero is --

7 MS. PATEL: -- a two-party --

8 THE COURT: -- going to be a required party in
9 mediation. Absolutely. So, --

10 MS. PATEL: Thank you, Your Honor.

11 THE COURT: All right. Well, if there's nothing
12 further, we'll see you on the 21st. And, again, my courtroom
13 deputy may be reaching out before then if we've got things
14 nailed down on mediation.

REMINDERS:

1. Attendees should join the Webex hearing via cell phone, tablet, laptop, desktop, or landline telephone at least 10 minutes prior to the hearing time.
2. Attorneys who anticipate giving extensive legal argument and examining witnesses are strongly encouraged to use the video function (with actual witnesses required).
3. Participants who wish to speak during the hearing should choose the "use computer for audio" or "call me" options. If you choose the "call in" option, please enter the Attendee ID when prompted to do so. This will allow the court to see the names of caller participants. This will greatly speed up the appearance phase at the beginning of the hearing because the judge can simply call roll at the start of the hearing instead of having lawyers possibly talk over each other.

1 DALLAS, TEXAS - JANUARY 9, 2020 - 9:56 A.M.

2 THE COURT: All right. Let's roll to Highland now.
3 Let's get appearances from lawyers in the courtroom, please.

4 MR. POMERANTZ: Good morning, Your Honor. Jeff
5 Pomerantz; Pachulski Stang Ziehl & Jones. Happy New Year,
6 Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: Happy New Year.

8 MR. POMERANTZ: Here on behalf of the Debtor.

9 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

10 MS. HAYWARD: Good morning, Your Honor. Melissa
11 Hayward and Zachery Annable on behalf of the Debtor.

12 THE COURT: Good morning.

13 MS. LAMBERT: Lisa Lambert, and I think Ms. Kippes
14 will be joining me, representing William Neary, the United
15 States Trustee.

16 THE COURT: Thank you.

17 MS. CHIARELLO: Good morning, Your Honor. Annmarie
18 Chiarello and Rakhee Patel here on behalf of Acis Capital
19 Management, LP and Acis Capital Management GP, LLC.

20 THE COURT: Thank you.

21 MR. CLEMENTE: Good morning, Your Honor. Matthew
22 Clemente from Sidley Austin on behalf of the Official
23 Committee of Unsecured Creditors. With me today are my
24 partners Dennis Twomey and Penny Reid.

25 THE COURT: Okay. Good morning. All right. Is that

1 all of the courtroom appearances?

2 All right. We have several people on the phone. I think
3 most of them are just listening in. If you're on the phone,
4 though, and you wish to appear, you may do so at this time.

5 MR. BENTLEY: Good morning, Your Honor. This is
6 James Bentley of Schulte Roth & Zabel. Also on the line is my 7 co-counsel, Joseph Bain of Jones Walker. We represent the
8 Issuers.

9 THE COURT: Okay. Good morning.

10 MS. MASCHERIN: Good morning, Your Honor. This is --

11 MR. MAXCY: Good morning. Patrick --

12 MS. MASCHERIN: Good morning, Your Honor. This is
13 Terri Mascherin of Jenner & Block. Also on the line with me
14 is my partner, Mark Hankin. We represent the Redeemer
15 Committee of the Highland Crusader Fund, which is one of the 16 members of the Unsecured Creditors' Committee.

17 THE COURT: Okay. Good morning.

18 MR. MAXCY: Good morning, Your Honor. This is 19 Patrick Maxcy from Dentons US, LLP on behalf of Jefferies,
20 LLC.

21 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you. All right. Well, I
22 guess that is it for the phone appearances.

23 Mr. Pomerantz, we're -- we have just one matter on the 24 calendar, the motion to compromise with the Committee. I saw
25 two limited objections, and then a U.S. Trustee's broader

1 objection. I'll start with, Do you have any of these
2 objections worked out?

3 MR. POMERANTZ: Yes, we do.

4 THE COURT: Okay.

5 MR. POMERANTZ: We believe we have the Jefferies
6 objection worked out, as well as the objection of the Issuers.
7 And I'll, during the course of my presentation, alert Your
8 Honor to how that's worked out.

9 THE COURT: Okay.

10 MR. POMERANTZ: And then we'll have a revised order
11 that basically addresses each of their concerns, or at least
12 Jefferies' concerns, but the statements on the record for the 13 Issuers' concerns.

14 THE COURT: Okay. Very good.

15 MR. POMERANTZ: Good morning again, Your Honor. Jeff
16 Pomerantz; Pachulski, Stang, Ziehl & Jones. I'm joined in the
17 courtroom by Ira Kharasch, Greg Demo, and John Morris from my 18 office. I would also like to introduce the Court to the
19 proposed new members of the board of directors of Strand
20 Advisors, which is the Debtor's general partner. They're all
21 sitting in the first row behind counsel's well. And that's
22 Mr. James Seery, --

23 THE COURT: Good morning.

24 MR. POMERANTZ: -- Mr. John Dubel, --

25 THE COURT: Good morning.

1 MR. POMERANTZ: -- and the Honorable Russell Nelms.

2 THE COURT: Yes. I've met him before.

3 MR. POMERANTZ: As have we. We thought you would
4 remember him.

5 The resumes of Mr. Seery and Mr. Dubel were attached to
6 the motion filed on December 27th, and those two resumes and
7 the resume of the Honorable Judge Nelms were attached to the 8 reply that was filed last evening. And while Mr. Seery and
9 Mr. Dubel may be new names to Your Honor, we know that you are 10 familiar with Judge Nelms, who sat with you in this district.

11 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

12 MR. POMERANTZ: Also in the courtroom, Your Honor, is 13 Brad Sharp, the Debtor's chief restructuring officer from DSI,
14 --

15 THE COURT: Good morning.

16 MR. POMERANTZ: -- and his colleague, Fred Caruso,
17 who spends most of his working hours at the Debtor's Dallas
18 headquarters.

19 THE COURT: Good morning.

20 MR. POMERANTZ: We have the declaration of Mr. Sharp
21 that we would move into evidence at this point in time.

22 THE COURT: All right. I've got a stack of paper.
23 If you have an extra copy for me to use, --

24 MS. HAYWARD: Your Honor, may I approach with the --

25 THE COURT: You may.

1 MS. HAYWARD: Your Honor, it was filed, the
2 declaration was filed. I'm not sure that we have a copy of --

3 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, we will also at the
4 appropriate time during my presentation, I'll bring up to Your
5 -- ask to bring up to Your Honor revisions to the term sheet
6 that was attached to the motion.

7 THE COURT: Okay.

8 MR. POMERANTZ: Copies have been given to Ms. Lambert
9 as well as the Committee.

10 THE COURT: Okay. Very good. All right. Well, what
11 was handed to me was the preliminary term sheet as well as the 12 CVs for the proposed new board members. I don't see the 13 declaration --

14 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, if I may approach, I have
15 a copy.

16 THE COURT: You may. All right. Very good.

17 MR. POMERANTZ: So we would move that declaration
18 into evidence.

19 THE COURT: All right. The Court will admit this.
20 It was filed on the docket at 327, but I will additionally
21 admit it as Exhibit 1 today.

22 (Debtor's Exhibit 1 is received into evidence.)

23 THE COURT: At some point in time, I want to give
24 parties the opportunity to cross-examine Mr. Sharp. Do you
25 want to do that now, or shall we hear an opening statement?

1 MR. POMERANTZ: However Your Honor prefers. I mean,
2 maybe it's helpful to hear argument first, and then, before
3 the Trustee --

4 THE COURT: I think I'd like to hear opening
5 statements and then we'll --

6 MR. POMERANTZ: Thank you.

7 THE COURT: -- make the opportunity available. Okay.

8 OPENING STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF THE DEBTOR

9 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, by way of background, we
10 appeared before Your Honor on December 6th and December 19th.
11 And during each of those hearings, we described for the Court
12 negotiations that were underway between the Committee and the 13 Debtor which, if successful, would have -- would eliminate the 14 need for contested and uncertain and costly litigation
15 regarding the appointment of a Chapter 11 trustee and really
16 put this case in a position where the Debtor and the Committee
17 would be able to work together constructively towards
18 negotiation of a plan.

19 As a result of our hearing on December 19th, Your Honor
20 entered a scheduling order that set deadlines for either the 21 filing of a motion to approve a settlement, or alternatively,
22 the filing of one or more motions for the appointment of a
23 trustee.

24 As set forth and required by the scheduling order, we
25 filed our motion on December 27th, and in that motion we

1 sought approval of a term sheet and ancillary documents
2 between the Debtor and the Committee, which I'll describe
3 shortly.

4 While a couple of items had not yet been agreed to at the
5 time the motion was filed, I'm pleased to report that over the
6 last couple of days we've been able to reach closure with the
7 Committee with respect to those items, and there would also be
8 some modifications to the term sheet, which I'll go through in
9 a few moments.

10 The motion, Your Honor, seeks approval of the term sheet,
11 which accomplishes a variety of things that, again, will allow
12 the Debtor and the Committee to put the acrimony that has 13 existed in this case for the first three months behind us and
14 allow us to focus on productive matters. In the last 24
15 hours, as I mentioned, there have been a few changes to the
16 term sheet that I will describe. And I would like to hand up
17 Your Honor a redline and a clean copy of the revised term
18 sheet and exhibits. May I approach?

19 THE COURT: All right. You may. Do you have an
20 extra for the law clerk? Okay. Thank you.

21 (Pause.)

22 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, the term sheet does a
23 number of things. Would you like me to give Your Honor some
24 time to look through the redlines?

25 THE COURT: No. You may proceed.

1 MR. POMERANTZ: Okay. The term sheet does a number
2 of things. The first thing the term sheet does is appointment
3 of an independent board at Strand Advisors. Strand Advisors
4 is the GP of the Debtor. The Debtor is an LP. The Debtor
5 previously had filed a motion to approve the retention of Brad
6 Sharp as the chief restructuring officer, and that initial
7 agreement and motion contain details regarding the scope of
8 Mr. Sharp's authority and the scope of what the Debtor could
9 do without Mr. Sharp's prior consent.

10 The Committee raised concerns that the structure was not
11 sufficient to ensure that decisions were being made for the 12 Debtor only in their best interests and without any
13 inappropriate influence from Mr. Dondero.

14 To address the Committee's concerns, a focal point of the 15 settlement was the Debtor's agreement to appoint an
16 independent board of directors at Strand who would be
17 responsible for managing the operations of the Debtor.

18 Over the last few weeks, a principal aspect of the
19 negotiations between the Committee and the Debtor have been 20 discussing who should the independent directors be.
21 Conceptually, the Debtor and the Committee both agreed that
22 the board should include, first, a person with significant
23 industry experience in which the Debtor operates -- hedge
24 funds, money management; second, a person with deep
25 restructuring experience from the financial advisor side; and

1 third, a person with some sort of judicial or governmental
2 experience.

3 The Debtor originally provided the Committee with three
4 proposed candidates. The Committee considered the Debtor's
5 request, but instead presented the Debtor with four different
6 candidates and asked the Debtor to choose from those four.
7 The Debtors interviewed each of those people and ultimately
8 agreed on Messrs. Dubel and Seery, who were each on the 9 original list.

10 As of the deadline to file the motion on December 27th,
11 the Committee and the Debtor had still not agreed on the 12 identity of the third board member, but the parties were
13 hopeful that an agreement could ultimately be reached and we
14 decided to go ahead and file the motion. As I'm sure Your
15 Honor saw in the motion, it was contingent upon everyone
16 agreeing on the third board member.

17 Ultimately, the Debtor and the Committee both agreed that
18 Mr. Dubel and Mr. Seery could identify the third board member
19 out of a pool of four people: Two of the people originally
20 requested by the Committee and two people identified by the 21 Debtor. This week and over the weekend, Mr. Seery and Mr.
22 Dubel interviewed each of the four candidates, and ultimately
23 decided on the appointment of Judge Nelms as the third
24 independent board member.

25 The board, as it will be constituted going forward, in the

1 Debtor's opinion, consists of three exceptional individuals
2 who are independent of the Debtor, have a sterling reputation
3 in the community, and bring to the Debtor a variety of the
4 skills that we believe, and believe the Committee agrees,
5 gives the Debtor the best opportunity to achieve a consensual
6 restructuring and otherwise manage the affairs of the Debtor
7 in the best interests of the stakeholders.

8 It is contemplated that the Debtor will continue to retain
9 the services of DSI as the chief restructuring officer, and
10 ultimately the board will determine if it's important to 11 retain a CEO going forward.

12 The second thing that the term sheet does, Your Honor, was 13 the removal of Mr. Dondero as an officer and director of
14 Strand and eliminate all of his control over decision-making
15 of the Debtor. The Debtor recognized early on in this case
16 that Mr. Dondero's continuing role with the Debtor in a
17 position of authority made the Committee extremely uneasy.
18 Accordingly, the term sheet provides for him removing himself
19 as an officer and director of Strand and that he would no
20 longer be in a position of control at the Debtor.

21 However, since the filing of the motion, over the last
22 several days, concerns have been raised about whether removing
23 Mr. Dondero from the business entirely would have unintended
24 consequences. I believe I may have mentioned at prior
25 hearings that, because of his involvement as a portfolio

1 manager under various contracts with third parties, that there
2 could be adverse economic consequences to the Debtor if he
3 didn't stay in some role.

4 As a result of discussions over the last 24 hours, the
5 Committee has agreed and the Debtor agreed to modify the term
6 sheet to allow the new board to decide whether to retain Mr.
7 Dondero in his capacity as a portfolio manager, provided,
8 however, that he will not receive any compensation and he will
9 agree to resign if requested by the board.

10 In any event, he will have no decision-making control at
11 all and he will report to the independent board.

12 The corporate governance documents that create the new
13 independent board of Strand also provide that Mr. Dondero, as
14 the owner of the equity in Strand, may not replace the board
15 without the Committee consent or court order.

16 The third major aspect of the term sheet, Your Honor, was
17 the agreement on operating protocols, and it really relates to 18 the ground rules for the Debtor's operations going forward and
19 when notice to the Committee is required of certain
20 transactions that would otherwise be in the ordinary course of 21 business.

22 Importantly, Your Honor, we are not trying to modify the
23 Bankruptcy Code in any way. Any transactions out of the 24 ordinary course of business would still be subject to Your
25 Honor's approval.

1 However, in this case, as we indicated in the initial
2 motion we filed when the case was in Delaware, whether or not
3 something is ordinary is not straightforward in a case such as
4 the Debtor's, given the nature of the Debtor's operations. So
5 we thought it was important to establish ground rules up
6 front, and establishing those ground rules was one of the 7 things we did initially in the case. We had opposition from
8 the Committee, and we've worked through the opposition and
9 ultimately arrived at the operating protocols that are
10 attached to the term sheet.

11 They have been slightly modified in nonmaterial ways in
12 the documents I handed up to Your Honor.

13 They were subject to substantial negotiations between the 14 Debtor and the Committee, and we also expect them to be the
15 subject of future discussions with the Committee and the 16 independent board after the independent board takes -- takes
17 place. Takes over.

18 Two parties in interest, Your Honor, Jefferies and a group
19 of Issuers, the CLOs, have filed comments to the term sheet,
20 which I'll describe in a few moments.

21 THE COURT: Okay.

22 MR. POMERANTZ: The next aspect, Your Honor, of the
23 term sheet was the provision of standing to the Creditors'
24 Committee to pursue certain insider claims.

25 During the negotiations, the Committee requested immediate

1 standing to investigate and potentially prosecute claims
2 against insiders to the extent those insiders were not
3 employed by the Debtor. Granting standing at this stage of
4 the case was a difficult give by the Debtor. However, the
5 Committee impressed upon the Debtor the importance of them
6 being able to control the filing of any actions against the
7 insiders, and the Debtor decided to accede to the Committee's
8 request.

9 It still remains the Debtor's hope that, with the creation
10 of the independent board, that the Debtor, the Committee, and
11 any insiders who might be subject to any such claims will be 12 able to come together and negotiate a consensual resolution of 13 this case. While all parties, I'm sure, can and know how to 14 litigate, hopefully they will agree that a negotiated outcome
15 is better than a litigated outcome.

16 The next aspect of the term sheet, Your Honor, was the
17 document preservation protocols, and it provides for certain
18 procedures to be put in place to address the Committee's 19 concerns about document preservation. They are contained in
20 an exhibit to the term sheet. Again, slight nonmaterial
21 modifications were made in what I handed up to Your Honor.
22 And essentially they provide also for the Committee's access
23 to privileged documents to aid in their investigation and
24 prosecution of claims to which they are granted standing, and
25 also sets forth a procedure to be followed to address concerns

1 if the information is subject to shared privileges by several
2 entities.

3 As I mentioned, Your Honor, three parties have filed
4 responses to the motion. The first is Jefferies. Jefferies
5 is a secured creditor of the Debtor with respect to its margin
6 account held at Jefferies, and also has a similar account held
7 by a non-debtor affiliate. They have asked for clarification
8 that, one, nothing in the protocols or the motion affects its
9 rights under the underlying agreements or the safe harbor
10 provisions of the Bankruptcy Code entitling them to enforce
11 their remedies; and two, that the Debtors will not trade in 12 the prime account without Jefferies' consent, and if that 13 consent is sought and not obtained, only subject to court
14 order.

15 The Debtor has agreed to include language in the order to
16 address Jefferies' concern, and at the conclusion of my
17 presentation I'll submit to Your Honor an order and a redline
18 containing that language.

19 THE COURT: Okay.

20 MR. POMERANTZ: The second objection -- or not
21 objection, Your Honor -- the second statement was filed by a
22 group of Issuers of CLO obligations.

23 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

24 MR. POMERANTZ: And they were concerned that certain
25 aspects of the operating protocols which require notice to the

1 Committee prior to the Debtor being able to take certain
2 actions could conflict with the provisions of the underlying
3 agreements which might require the Debtor to take action on a
4 more expedited basis.

5 Neither the Issuers or the Debtor are aware of any
6 potential transactions that will arise prior to the next
7 hearing before Your Honor on January 21st. We understand --
8 we were not party to these discussions between the Committee
9 and the Issuers yesterday, but we understand the way it's been
10 resolved is that the Issuers will withdraw their objection as 11 it relates to going forward today, subject to being able to 12 come back to the Court on the 21st and revisit the issue if
13 additional changes are not made acceptable to them to resolve
14 their issues and concerns.

15 THE COURT: Okay.

16 MR. POMERANTZ: But I think all parties acknowledge
17 that over the next 12 days this is a theoretical issue rather
18 than a practical issue.

19 THE COURT: Okay.

20 MR. POMERANTZ: This brings us, Your Honor, to the
21 United States Trustee's opposition, which is really the only
22 true objection to the motion that has been filed. No creditor
23 has filed an objection, no investor has filed an objection,
24 and no governmental agency -- which the U.S. Trustee in its
25 objection purports to be pursuing their interests -- has filed

1 an objection, either.

2 As Your Honor probably recalls, at the December 19th
3 hearing the Trustee indicated its intent to oppose any
4 agreement between the Debtor and the Committee that would
5 involve corporate governance and to file its own motion for
6 the appointment of the trustee. That motion is currently
7 scheduled for hearing on January 21st. We had asked the U.S.
8 Trustee to reserve judgment on the Committee's and Debtor's
9 agreement until after we had come to an agreement and after we
10 had presented it to the Trustee, in hopes that it would
11 address their concerns. However, as the Court told us -- as
12 the U.S. Trustee told us and Your Honor at the December 19th
13 hearing, there was nothing short of appointment of a trustee
14 that would satisfy the Trustee.

15 The comments really didn't make sense to us, and I believe
16 it perplexed Your Honor, but here we are.

17 At its core, Your Honor, the U.S. Trustee's objection is
18 really a request that the Court substitute its business
19 judgment for that of the Debtor and the Committee, the
20 Committee who represents the substantial majority of all
21 claims in this case, when both of them have decided that
22 agreeing to certain changes in corporate governance, among
23 other things, is preferable to the uncertain, costly, and
24 time-consuming litigation over a trustee, and also the 25 uncertainty, even if a trustee was appointed, on how the case

1 would be administered.

2 To the contrary, under the corporate governance proposal,
3 we have three highly-qualified individuals who are poised to
4 take over management of the Debtor, and each bring with them
5 various skills that one trustee would not have.

6 The Trustee has filed its motion for appointment of a
7 trustee, and I'm sure on the 21st will argue that the Code
8 requires it. However, that's not the issue before Your Honor
9 today. It's not whether a trustee is appropriate. It's 10 whether the motion and the term sheet is a sound exercise of
11 the Debtor's business judgment under Section 363, and,
12 importantly, a reasonable compromise of the pending disputes
13 between the Debtor and the Committee.

14 The Trustee's objection raises three general points, none
15 of which have any merit. First, the Trustee argues that there
16 is a lack of disclosure of significant matters. The first
17 aspect that the Trustee raises to, or points to, is the 18 absence of identification of the third board member and the
19 absence of disclosure of the compensation that the board
20 members will receive, which will be backstopped by the Debtor.

21 As I described before, Your Honor, the identity of the
22 third member of the board was a fluid process which was only
23 resolved earlier this week, and the Debtor did not believe
24 that it was appropriate to reach agreement on director
25 compensation until all board members could provide input.

1 Last night, we filed a reply to the Trustee's objection in
2 which we disclosed the identity of the third board member, and
3 we'll also disclose the proposed compensation to be provided
4 to them, which essentially is as follows. Each member of the
5 board will receive $60,000 a month for the first three months
6 of the case, $50,000 a month for the next three months of the 7 case, and the presumption thereafter would be $30,000 a month.
8 However, people recognize that this case will look a lot
9 differently six months from now, and while the presumption is
10 $30,000, the Debtor, the independent board members, and the
11 Committee will sit down, see how the case looks, and decide
12 whether any modifications are appropriate.

13 The amount of compensation, which at first blush may seem
14 significant, really reflects the significant amount of work
15 that the Debtor, the Committee, and the independent directors
16 anticipate will be required from them not only to get up to
17 speed about the case, but to effectively manage this complex
18 Debtor's business operations. The directors have heard from
19 the Debtor and the Committee of all the issues, of all the 20 concerns, and this is not an enviable task that they are 21 undertaking. The compensation they are being provided thus
22 far we believe is appropriate under the circumstances and
23 commensurate with the work that they are going to be expected
24 to complete.

25 If they are successful and they are able to achieve a

1 consensual restructuring here, the million and a half or so
2 that will be spent on them will be best million and a half
3 dollars I think spent in this case.

4 Your Honor, we also have updated corporate governance
5 documents which --

6 (Pause.)

7 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, may I approach with the
8 updated corporate governance documents?

9 THE COURT: You may. Okay.

10 MR. POMERANTZ: As I will discuss in a moment, Your
11 Honor, there is really no need for the Court to approve the 12 corporate governance documents, as they have been executed by 13 Strand, which is not a debtor before this Court. However,
14 there are a couple of matters in those documents that I want
15 to bring to the Court's attention that do impact on the
16 Debtor.

17 THE COURT: Okay.

18 MR. POMERANTZ: First, as is typical for board
19 members, Strand has agreed to indemnify the independent
20 directors to the full extent permitted by law. The
21 independent directors have requested that the Debtors backstop
22 Strand's agreement, and the Debtor and the Committee agree,
23 and the documents so provide.

24 Strand has also committed to obtain directors and officers
25 coverage for the independent directors. It has been located,

1 it's in the process of being finalized and bound, and the
2 Debtor will pay the cost of that coverage.

3 The independent directors have also asked for language in
4 the order approving the settlement that requires a party
5 seeking to assert a claim against the independent directors
6 relating to their role as an independent director to
7 demonstrate to this Court that a claim is colorable before
8 filing the claim and providing the Court with jurisdiction
9 over any such claim. This is language that's similar in other
10 similar types of cases.

11 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

12 MR. POMERANTZ: That will be reflected in the order.

13 Next, the Trustee objects to the failure of the Debtor to
14 identify who the potential chief executive officer of the 15 Debtor will be. And essentially, she's arguing that you have
16 to identify that CEO now; it has to be subject to court
17 approval. However, there's no requirement that any company
18 retain a CEO. It's not a corporate law requirement. And the
19 fact that the board reserves the right to retain a CEO in the 20 future is consistent with corporate law and is not a basis to 21 deny the motion. And in any event, normally, the retention of
22 a CEO is not a subject that is brought to the Court's
23 attention for Court approval.

24 So the lack of any clarity over the identity of the CEO is
25 a reflection of the fact that this independent board does not

1 know if a CEO is required. They will come in, they are going
2 to interview all the employees, they're going to sit down with
3 the CRO, they're going to sit down with counsel, they're going
4 to sit down with the Committee, and ultimately they will
5 decide if a CEO is to be retained. And if a CEO is to be
6 retained, they will go through the process of identifying who
7 that CEO is. But again, it's not a reason to deny the motion.

8 The Trustee has also argued that because the Committee is
9 not granted standing to pursue claims against current
10 employees, as opposed to former employees, that there might be
11 some statute of limitations concerns with respect to claims
12 against those employees. The argument doesn't really make
13 sense to us. In the standard case, the Debtor retains causes
14 of action. And the Committee can investigate causes of 15 action. And at some point during the case, a Committee could 16 come in and could demand that the Debtor prosecute them, and
17 if the Debtor unreasonably refuses, could seek standing before
18 the Court.

19 In this case, the Debtors agreed up front that the 20 Committee has the standing to prosecute certain claims against
21 insiders that are not employees of the Debtor, which obviates
22 the need for standing. So we've gone one step more. But the 23 Trustee is arguing that that leaves a void for the claims that
24 are not subject to the agreement on standing.

25 However, the term sheet provides that the board is going

1 to make determinations on what employees should remain, what
2 employees should not remain. To the extent the board
3 terminates any employees and there are claims against them,
4 then basically the Committee will have the ability to bring
5 those claims.

6 To the extent that those people aren't terminated, we have
7 no doubt that the Committee, in the course of its
8 investigation, will determine whether claims should be brought
9 against those people, and at some point in time may ask the 10 Debtor to prosecute those claims or ultimately seek standing.

11 In any event, these things are not being swept under the 12 rug. There's no real legitimate concern that there's any
13 statute of limitations issue that will prevent those claims
14 from being prosecuted.

15 I am very much aware and have no doubt that the Committee
16 is going to be laser-focused on claims, and any concern that 17 statute of limitations is going to lapse I think is not well-
18 taken.

19 The Trustee next argues that the Court does not have the
20 jurisdiction to implement the corporate governance matters,
21 and for that reason the motion should be denied. They -- she
22 argues that because Strand is not a debtor, that the Court has
23 no authority to appoint --

24 MS. LAMBERT: Your Honor, I object. The United
25 States Trustee is a he. I am not the United States Trustee,

1 and the attacks ad hominem are inappropriate.

2 THE COURT: All right. Well, clarification, the U.S.
3 Trustee is the guy in Washington. But anyway, you may
4 proceed.

5 MR. POMERANTZ: I apologize to Ms. Lambert.

6 MS. LAMBERT: Actually, he's downstairs right now.
7 Bill Neary.

8 MR. POMERANTZ: I apologize to --

9 THE COURT: Oh, well, I thought you meant the big guy
10 in Washington. But anyway, you may proceed.

11 MR. POMERANTZ: I apologize to Ms. Lambert and no
12 offense was meant.

13 THE COURT: Okay.

14 MR. POMERANTZ: So, the U.S. Trustee argues that
15 because Strand is not a debtor that the Court has no authority
16 to appointment the independent directors and limit Mr.
17 Dondero's right to remove the independent directors. The
18 Debtor is not really seeking authority to appoint -- to have 19 court authority for the appointment of the directors at
20 Strand. Again, as I mentioned before, that authority exists
21 outside of bankruptcy. Strand is not a debtor. Strand could
22 appoint anyone it wants to carry out its responsibility as the
23 general partner of the Debtor, and it's exercising its
24 corporate authority to do so by installing a board at Strand.

25 Nor is the Debtor seeking court authority for Strand to

1 enter into the corporate governance documents. Other than the
2 couple of items I mentioned before, Your Honor, Strand can
3 enter into these documents without authority from this Court.
4 The only court authority that was required: Debtor to
5 backstop the indemnification obligations, Debtor to pay
6 compensation to the board members, and Debtor to pay for the 7 D&O policy.

8 With respect to the Court's right to limit Mr. Dondero's
9 ability to terminate the independent directors, the term sheet
10 contemplates the Court approving a stipulation which limits
11 Mr. Dondero's ability to terminate the independent directors,
12 and if he does in fact seek to terminate the appointment of 13 the independent directors, he would be in violation of court
14 order. But even more importantly, Your Honor, if he decided
15 to terminate the independent directors without the Committee's
16 consent and without the Debtor's consent, I wouldn't imagine
17 it would take anyone very long to come back before Your Honor
18 and ask Your Honor to very quickly appoint a trustee.

19 Accordingly, Your Honor, I think the argument of lack of 20 jurisdiction over Strand is a red herring and should be 21 denied.

22 Lastly, Your Honor, the Trustee makes a curious argument
23 that a trustee is needed to protect all investors and
24 governmental authorities. The Trustee argues that this case
25 demands transparency which can only be accomplished by a

1 Chapter 11 trustee.

2 One thing I think the Debtor and the Committee and the
3 U.S. Trustee will agree on, this case does demand
4 transparency. And we believe we've installed a corporate
5 governance structure, an operating protocol structure, a
6 document preservation structure, that does just that, provides
7 transparency that this Debtor has not been subject to and
8 which is quite different from the case that was before Your
9 Honor before.

10 So we believe that what the Debtor and the Committee have
11 done is not only in the interests of the Debtor, the 12 creditors, but investors and all governmental entities.

13 And no investor or governmental entity has had any 14 concerns or any problems with what is being done. They 15 haven't filed any objection. The U.S. Trustee apparently is 16 proceeding by proxy asserting those interests.

17 Second, nothing in the term sheet or any of the documents
18 limits the rights of investors or of governmental entities to 19 seek a trustee, to seek documents, or to do anything they 20 would -- that they would be entitled to do under the 21 Bankruptcy Code.

22 In any event, Your Honor, the fact that the Trustee
23 believes that a trustee is more appropriate, again, is an
24 argument that they can make at the January 21st hearing. It's 25 not a basis for denial of this motion.

1 In conclusion, Your Honor, the only economic stakeholders
2 in this case believe that proceeding with the transactions
3 contemplated by the term sheet is in the best interest of the 4 estate, will maximize their ability to achieve a consensual
5 restructuring, and move this case through the system as 6 quickly and efficiently as possible. The term sheet is a
7 valid exercise of the Debtor's business judgment under 363 and 8 an appropriate compromise of controversy, and the Trustee's
9 objections are really nothing more than a rehash of its 10 request for an appointment of a trustee.

11 For all these reasons, Your Honor, we request that the 12 Court overrule the U.S. Trustee's objection and approve the 13 motion.

14 THE COURT: All right. Well, before I hear from our 15 objectors, is there any friendly commentary? Mr. Clemente, I 16 figured you might want to address this.

17 MR. CLEMENTE: I do, Your Honor. And good morning.

18 THE COURT: Good morning.

19 OPENING STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF THE OFFICIAL COMMITTEE OF
20 UNSECURED CREDITORS

21 MR. CLEMENTE: For the record, Matthew Clemente from 22 Sidley Austin on behalf of the Official committee of Unsecured
23 Creditors. I do have some comments that I would like to make,
24 Your Honor, some, so please bear with me. I will try and be 25 brief.

1 THE COURT: Okay.

2 MR. CLEMENTE: I think as late as 1:00 o'clock in the
3 morning I wasn't sure that I would be in front of you with
4 this settlement fully in place in a manner that was
5 satisfactory to my Committee. As I mentioned to you in my
6 prior appearances in front of you, every provision was
7 important to the Committee, and they all work together. As
8 Your Honor can imagine, there was a lot of negotiation that
9 took place, including late in the day and early morning, to
10 come to that conclusion.

11 Some comments on our perspective as a committee, Your
12 Honor. As an initial matter, we were absolutely not okay with 13 the governance structure that was in place when the petition
14 was filed. As we detailed in our objections to the CRO motion
15 and the protocol motion back when the case was in Delaware,
16 the Committee has very real and identifiable concerns about
17 the Debtor's ability to dispatch its fiduciary duty. And the
18 Committee very seriously contemplated moving for a Chapter 11
19 trustee daily. That conversation is something that the
20 Committee continues to -- continued to engage in, Your Honor.
21 So it's something that they considered very, very carefully.

22 That was the lens through which the Committee was
23 approaching negotiations over the settlement agreement and the 24 independent director structure. That's how they viewed it.
25 That's the backdrop against which they came to it.

1 The Committee had two primary goals that it had sought to
2 achieve with the settlement agreement. The first was to
3 ensure that Mr. Dondero does not remain in a position of 4 management authority or control in any fashion with the
5 Debtor. Goal number two was to ensure that the value of the
6 Debtor's estate is preserved and maximized. Those two goals
7 needed to work together.

8 The Committee believes that the carefully-crafted
9 settlement agreement achieves these objectives in a manner
10 that is more beneficial to the estate than a potential Chapter
11 trustee and a related fight over its appointment at this
12 time.

13 The lynchpin of the settlement, Your Honor, is the
14 appointment of the three independent directors. And as Mr.
15 Pomerantz outlined for you, that was the subject of intense
16 discussion, negotiation, debate among the Committee and with 17 the Debtor. But we believe that Mr. Seery, Mr. Dubel, and
18 Judge Nelms are fully independent, highly qualified, and bring
19 relevant and complementary skillsets to this board. Mr.
20 Pomerantz referred to that, but we believe that the three
21 directors all bring unique talents and attributes that will
22 allow them to function effectively as a board and provide the 23 appropriate oversight and direction that we believe is
24 necessary here.

25 However, regardless of how independent or highly skilled

1 they may be, they would be of no use if they weren't bestowed
2 with the appropriate power. So that was another point that
3 was very important to the Committee, and we believe that the
4 settlement does this. The settlement makes clear that the
5 independent directors are granted exclusive control over the
6 Debtor, including over all employees. That's absolutely
7 critical to the Committee.

8 The settlement also provides that the CRO and the Debtor's
9 professionals shall report and serve at the direction of the 10 independent directors. That is also very important.

11 And let me be clear, Your Honor, because I think you may
12 have raised this at a prior hearing: This is not a board that 13 we expect to work at 50,000 feet, as demonstrated by the
14 compensation structure that Mr. Pomerantz outlined for you.
15 This will be a board that's hands-on, members of which will be
16 on the ground, at the Debtor, with a strong presence and a
17 clear message of who is in charge. That is critical for this
18 Committee.

19 Additionally, as Mr. Pomerantz mentioned, the new board,
20 in consultation with the Committee, is empowered to determine
21 whether a CEO should be retained. It's possible that one of 22 the independent directors could be that CEO, Your Honor. But 23 we wanted to make clear that that was an important part of the 24 structure, should the board determine that that was the way it
25 wanted to go.

1 So, in sum, Your Honor, we believe that the independent
2 board has the clear authority and the skillset that's
3 necessary to take control and will be actively and
4 aggressively doing so.

5 But let me be clear, rest assured, Your Honor, this is not
6 going to be a board that answers to the Committee in that
7 sense. I think that we will all be moving together
8 directionally, but it's very possible that I will be in front
9 of Your Honor arguing against a decision that this independent
10 board made. So I want to assure Your Honor that although the 11 Committee was very active and in fact picked Mr. Seery and Mr.
12 Dubel, and then Mr. Pomerantz detailed how the third director
13 was picked, we understand who their duty -- what their duty is
14 and we also understand that they're not a rubberstamp for the 15 Committee, Your Honor. And so I wanted to make that point to
16 you to assure Your Honor that that's not the structure that's 17 being set up here, nor are they the type of individuals that
18 would allow that to happen.

19 Additionally, Your Honor, the settlement grants the
20 Committee standing to pursue estate causes of action against 21 the related parties. That was very important to us, Your
22 Honor.

23 And in addition to that, the settlement provides the
24 Committee access to privileged documents and sets forth a
25 discovery protocol that will assist the Committee in its

1 investigation.

2 The Committee strongly believes that Mr. Dondero's
3 repeated past behavior, that there are many questionable
4 transactions that will need to be thoroughly investigated and
5 pursued. And so having those causes of action with the
6 economic party in interest related to those causes of action,
7 the Committee and its constituencies, we thought was very
8 important and very critical.

9 Granting standing, Your Honor, as I mentioned, avoids any
10 issues regarding who will be controlling those claims.

11 I'll touch on this in a moment, but Mr. Pomerantz talked
12 about Mr. Dondero remaining in name as an employee. Let me
13 assure Your Honor that that is not a backdoor around the
14 Committee's ability to investigate and immediately pursue
15 claims against him should that be the course that we choose to
16 take. So he's not part of that carve-out for current
17 employees. That's not at all happening. That would never be
18 something that my Committee would be comfortable with. So I
19 wanted to make clear to Your Honor that that's not something
20 that's happening with sort of this late edition of Mr.
21 Dondero's continuing on in name as an employee.

22 Your Honor, the settlement also lays out a very detailed
23 set of operating protocols which we do believe are appropriate
24 and provides the Committee with transparency, which I've been 25 expressing to Your Honor we've needed since this case has

1 started.

2 Finally, as we point out in our reply and as would always
3 be the case, should new facts develop or the situation demand
4 it, the Committee reserves the right to seek a Chapter 11
5 trustee, as does any other party in interest, to the extent it
6 may be appropriate at that time.

7 In short, Your Honor, the Committee very carefully and
8 diligently weighed the independent director option versus the
9 Chapter 11 trustee option. The Committee had very clear goals
10 in mind, as I expressed to you, and determined that those 11 goals could be achieved in a value-maximizing manner through
12 the independent director structure.

13 The negotiations were very intense, and it was only after
14 the Committee determined that each piece of the settlement was 15 to its satisfaction did it ultimately conclude that the 16 settlement maximizes value for all stakeholders while at the
17 same time protecting those stakeholders from exposure to 18 continuing insider dealing, breaches of duty, and
19 mismanagement.

20 Therefore, the Committee believes approving the settlement
21 is in the best interest of the estate, and therefore it
22 believes it should be approved.

23 I do want to offer a word about Mr. Dondero continuing as 24 an employee. As Your Honor was aware, the term sheet as
25 originally filed provided that Mr. Dondero would, among other

1 things, resign as an employee of the Debtor. Mid to late
2 afternoon yesterday, Mr. Ellington called me and said that the
3 Debtor was now of the view that Mr. Dondero should remain on
4 as an employee in that capacity for the benefit of the estate.
5 The Committee was, very appropriately, very skeptical of this,
6 as well as the sort of last-minute offer, last-minute, you
7 know, addition, however you want to view it -- some might
8 argue retrade -- that Mr. Dondero was to leave the Debtor,
9 period. That was our view. That was the way that the term
10 sheet was initially structured. And under no circumstances
11 was the Committee going to allow Mr. Dondero to have any
12 control over this Debtor.

13 Your Honor, the Committee doesn't know what, if any, the 14 consequences are of removing Mr. Dondero as an employee. And 15 we're not conceding at all that there are any value lost by 16 removing Mr. Dondero as an employee. Instead, what we're 17 doing is we're staying true to our structure with the 18 independent directors and we're empowering them to decide.
19 And so it's consistent with, you know, our goals of having the 20 independent director structure in place. And under the 21 settlement as now constructed, even with this late addition or
22 adjustment, Mr. Dondero would remain as an employee in name
23 only, subject in all respects to the direction, oversight, and
24 removal by the independent board. And importantly, should
25 they decide to do that, Mr. Dondero shall resign. And he

1 shall receive no compensation.

2 So he will not be in control of this Debtor. The
3 independent directors are. And he's not going to be empowered
4 to make decisions on behalf of the Debtor. Instead, we're
5 empowering our independent directors to make those decisions
6 and determinations on behalf of the Debtor.

7 I wanted -- I thought it was important that I provide that
8 perspective to Your Honor, as this is something that came in
9 at a very, very late hour.

10 Overall, Your Honor, for the reasons I have stated and the
11 reasons in our reply, the Committee, as a fiduciary of all
12 creditors in this case, believes that the settlement is in the 13 best interests of the creditors and should be approved. And
14 at this time, it's the better alternative than the cost,
15 delay, and uncertainty resulting from a Chapter 11 trustee
16 fight and the potential appointment of a Chapter 11 trustee.

17 It is time to put the governance issues behind us, Your
18 Honor, and to move forward to determine how to maximize value
19 for the creditors and how to get them paid.

20 Your Honor, just regarding the specific resolutions of
21 objections that Mr. Pomerantz put on the record, I agree with 22 how Mr. Pomerantz characterized those, and the Committee is
23 supportive of those resolutions as well.

24 Those are all my remarks, Your Honor, but I am happy to 25 answer any questions or address any concerns Your Honor may

1 have.

2 THE COURT: Okay. Two follow-up questions. First, I
3 know I asked you this at a previous hearing and you told me,
4 but your Committee, as I recall, is very well constituted.
5 Just remind me of the members.

6 MR. CLEMENTE: Yes.

7 THE COURT: You have a representative from the
8 Redeemer Committee, --

9 MR. CLEMENTE: Yes, Your Honor.

10 THE COURT: -- which is a $140 million or so
11 arbitration award?

12 MR. CLEMENTE: Yes, Your Honor.

13 THE COURT: Okay. And who else is on the Committee?
14 Is an Acis representative?

15 MR. CLEMENTE: Acis is on the Committee, Your Honor.

16 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

17 MR. CLEMENTE: Meta-e Discovery, who is a trade
18 vendor of the Debtor, is on the Committee. And UBS
19 Securities, who is also --

20 THE COURT: Okay.

21 MR. CLEMENTE: -- a litigation claimant, is on the
22 Committee.

23 It was the U.S. Trustee in Delaware's parting gift to me
24 to name a four-member committee, Your Honor.

25 (Laughter.)

1 THE COURT: Okay. Makes it awkward at times. And
2 then back to the Dondero subject.

3 MR. CLEMENTE: Yes, Your Honor.

4 THE COURT: I mean, again, both Mr. Pomerantz and you
5 clarified that the proposal now is the new board will decide
6 if he stays on, Mr. Pomerantz said as a portfolio manager.

7 MR. CLEMENTE: That is correct, Your Honor.

8 THE COURT: Am I -- I mean, I'm hearing that
9 correctly?

10 MR. CLEMENTE: That is correct, Your Honor.

11 THE COURT: So, right now, whatever officer positions
12 he has, he's technically not resigning? Or --

13 MR. CLEMENTE: He is resigning as an officer of the 14 company, Your Honor.

15 THE COURT: Okay. He's resigning? So the board will
16 just decide, is he going to be a portfolio manager or some --
17 whatever the employee title is?

18 MR. CLEMENTE: Or they could decide that he's not
19 necessary.

20 THE COURT: Or not necessary? In any event, no
21 compensation?

22 MR. CLEMENTE: That is correct, Your Honor.

23 THE COURT: Okay.

24 MR. CLEMENTE: And as you can see, the term sheet
25 provides that Mr. Dondero shall not cause any related entity

1 to terminate any agreements with the Debtor as well. That was
2 language that was added last night as well.

3 THE COURT: All right. So they're going to make the
4 decision, does he help preserve value by staying in some
5 capacity or not?

6 MR. CLEMENTE: That is correct, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: Okay.

8 MR. CLEMENTE: That, cutting through it, that is the
9 way that ultimately the Committee views it.

10 THE COURT: Okay.

11 MR. CLEMENTE: And if there's an opportunity -- and 12 I'm not conceding that there is. I'm not conceding that he
13 preserves any value.

14 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

15 MR. CLEMENTE: But we wanted to give the option to 16 our independent directors to make that determination. Because
17 if there's an opportunity to preserve value, that's what we're
18 trying to achieve.

19 THE COURT: Okay. And I don't even know if you've
20 thought through this. Would there be some sort of notice
21 filed on record in the case if --

22 MR. CLEMENTE: If --

23 THE COURT: -- if the decision is made to --

24 MR. CLEMENTE: To -- to --

25 THE COURT: -- hire him or keep him as a portfolio

1 manager?

2 MR. CLEMENTE: So, I think the default under the term
3 sheet, as revised, is he stays in that capacity in terms of
4 name. The independent directors will -- they're subject to 5 his control and direction, and they could decide to remove
6 him.

7 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

8 MR. CLEMENTE: Perhaps if Your Honor --

9 THE COURT: Okay.

10 MR. CLEMENTE: We could provide notice if they make
11 the determination to remove him, but I think the default is 12 that, you know, he's in that -- he's remaining as that
13 employee name currently. So that's the current default.

14 THE COURT: Okay. All right. Thank you.

15 MR. CLEMENTE: Thank you very much, Your Honor.

16 THE COURT: Well, Ms. Patel, you're getting up so
17 I'll hear -- I don't know who all has been in the loop over
18 this overnight development.

19 OPENING STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF ACIS CAPITAL MANAGEMENT

20 MS. PATEL: Your Honor, Acis has been in the loop as
21 a member of the Committee. And I will be very brief with
22 respect to Acis's individual comments. And I just want to be
23 clear: Obviously, I'm here as counsel for Acis, and so this
24 is Acis's individual position. Mr. Clemente aptly and very 25 ably handled the Committee's overall position with respect to

1 this.

2 But Your Honor, I just want to, on behalf of Acis, make
3 sure that, because of these developments, that's really -- I
4 really had hoped to have zero role today, but I want to make
5 sure that we're -- Acis is on record with respect to our
6 position. And obviously, given Your Honor's knowledge and
7 oversight of the long history of Acis's bankruptcy case and
8 seeing some of the events that transpired there, I'm sure that 9 this will all, against that backdrop, make an awful lot of 10 sense.

11 But, you know, it's this continued role for Mr. Dondero
12 that is of concern. You know, this issue even being raised
13 within like the last 48 hours by Mr. Ellington, the timing of 14 it just creates an issue. I mean, did this -- how could this
15 possibly have come out of left field when this is such a huge
16 part of what the Debtor does in its ordinary course of 17 business, is serve as a portfolio manager, and these are
18 contracts that have been negotiated, generally speaking,
19 internally by Highland. So the fact that if Mr. Dondero were
20 to exit the structure and there would be some potential
21 ramifications to that, I've got to wonder how much of a
22 surprise could that really have been to Highland folks.

23 But I just wanted to highlight, in connection with the 24 term sheet -- this is the preliminary term sheet that was
25 handed up Your Honor, and I believe Your Honor has a redline

1 version of it as well --

2 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

3 MS. PATEL: -- on Page 2, with respect to the role of
4 Mr. James Dondero, there's various provisions in there. And I
5 guess I would be remiss, Your Honor, if I didn't say, at least
6 out of the gate, Acis obviously supports the implementation of
7 this independent board of directors. We believe all the 8 candidates are very capable and are -- we put our reliance
9 upon them.

10 Obviously, we don't concede any issues. We'll see what
11 we're going to do. But certainly, for the time being, we do
12 support the entry of this agreement of the settlement -- or,
13 I'm sorry, approval of the settlement agreement by the Court
14 that lets the independent board be put into place.

15 But what I'll focus the Court on, on Page 2 under the role
16 of Mr. James Dondero, it goes through various provisions as to 17 what he'll resign to -- positions he'll resign from and that
18 he will remain as an employee of the Debtor, including
19 maintaining his title as portfolio manager for all funds and
20 investment vehicles for which he currently holds that title.
21 And then it goes on to provide as to who he'll report to and
22 how he will be governed, which includes by the independent
23 board, he will receive no compensation, and that he will be
24 subject to at all times the supervision, direction, and
25 authority of the independent directors.

1 Again, we have faith that the independent directors will
2 oversee this and will govern his role accordingly. However,
3 given Acis's history with how transactions have transpired at
4 Highland, we remain highly cautious with respect to what
5 happens next.

6 And to that end, Your Honor, the very last sentence there
7 on Page 2, "Mr. Dondero shall not cause any related entity to
8 terminate any agreements with the Debtor," is a key provision
9 of this that keeps Acis, as a Committee member, on board with 10 this agreement. I wanted to highlight that and note that, in
11 the last less than 48 hours, in the last 12 hours, or maybe a
12 little bit more than that, call it 18 to be safe, that's where
13 -- that's a provision that's been -- that's where we've ended
14 up. It's all of these issues have been going at lightning
15 speed, but I did want to just, for the record and so everybody
16 is clear, that is an important piece of this agreement to --
17 for Acis.

18 And as Your Honor knows, this Debtor, Highland, is wont to
19 try to terminate agreements and to try -- in an attempt to try
20 and transfer valuable contracts away and valuable revenue
21 stream away from an entity to an alternate entity. And that's
22 really the heart of our concern, Your Honor.

23 So, with that, I just wanted to be clear and be on record
24 as to Acis's position. Thank you.

25 THE COURT: Thank you. All right.

1 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, if I briefly may respond
2 to the issues with Mr. Dondero while they are fresh in Your
3 Honor's mind?

4 THE COURT: Okay. Okay.

5 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, look, we appreciate the
6 timing of this coming to the attention of the Committee as
7 being less than optimal. As Your Honor can appreciate, this
8 case that's been filed three months ago, a lot of people are
9 looking very carefully at what's happening to the Debtor.
10 Investors are looking. There was a transfer of venue. There
11 have been a lot of reports about potential trustee motions.
12 And we believe a lot of parties are waiting to see the outcome
13 of this hearing and the trustee hearing to determine whether 14 they will determine to continue to do business with the
15 Debtor.

16 It's not only an issue of contractual rights. It's also
17 an issue of whether investors feel comfortable on who is
18 managing, who is managing their investments.

19 This issue of Mr. Dondero's continuing role has been
20 something that at the Debtor we've continued to grapple with
21 over the last several weeks. It's always been our thought
22 that we should do nothing that would unduly harm the company
23 from an economic standpoint. I think the Committee shares
24 that. That if it's determined by an independent board -- and
25 don't take current Debtor professionals, don't take current

1 Debtor employees' word for it -- but if they determine that
2 there's an economic benefit by keeping him on to preserve
3 material revenue stream, they should be able to make that
4 determination. I think that's really at the core here. And I
5 think the Committee got ultimately comfortable with it because
6 it will be an independent board, the majority of the members
7 identified and chosen by them and accepted by the Debtor.

8 So, again, we apologize to the parties and the Court for
9 bringing this on late. It wasn't my intent to come here and
10 present modified versions of the term sheet that hadn't been
11 filed. But that's where we are, and that's why it has come
12 up, and that's why it's an extremely important issue, because 13 preserving whatever revenue we can for the Debtor is 14 important.

15 Now, at the end of the day, the board may either decide
16 that he doesn't preserve the revenue, or the negatives from
17 keeping him involved with the company outweigh any benefits.
18 And that's a decision they will have to make, and it'll be
19 their province to make. So I just wanted to give Your Honor
20 that perspective.

21 THE COURT: Okay.

22 MR. DAUGHERTY: Your Honor, may I approach?

23 THE COURT: Mr. Daugherty? You may.

24 OPENING STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF PATRICK DAUGHERTY

25 MR. DAUGHERTY: I apologize. I was not planning to

1 address the Court at all today. I would have had my attorney
2 here for it. But I just ask a little bit of indulgence to
3 represent myself pro se for this issue.

4 This is the first I've heard that Mr. Dondero would stay
5 with the company. I think it's an awful idea. There's a
6 litany of reasons for that.

7 By the way, I'm completely in support of this -- of this
8 board that's been chosen. I have every confidence that
9 they'll be able to make good decisions eventually. But
10 they're stepping into this thing new. Obviously, I've been
11 through this in your court with Acis and other matters, and I
12 have deep, deep concerns about Mr. Dondero continuing in that 13 role, simply because of the influence it has on the rest of 14 the organization and the message that it sends, both
15 internally and externally, of where the company goes from 16 here.

17 So I just wanted to let you know my thoughts. I wasn't
18 planning to make them. I haven't filed anything. But that's 19 where I stand.

20 THE COURT: All right. Thank you, Mr. Daugherty.

21 All right. Before we hear from the U.S. Trustee, who I
22 know is going to have a lot to say, let me just circle back
23 briefly to Jefferies counsel and the CLO Issuers' counsel.
24 You heard the representations of Mr. Pomerantz earlier about,
25 well, first, in the case of Jefferies, that the Debtor has

1 agreed to language to address your concerns. Do you want to
2 weigh in on that and confirm that you're content that you're
3 going to have language to work out your concerns?

4 OPENING STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF JEFFERIES, LLC

5 MR. MAXCY: Thank you, Your Honor. Patrick Maxcy for
6 Jefferies.

7 No, I don't have anything additional to add to what Mr.
8 Pomerantz said. The language that we have worked out will
9 speak for itself and will be included in the order.

10 THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

11 And counsel for the CLO and CDO Issuers, do you confirm
12 that you would be in agreement to basically withdraw your
13 objections for now, but perhaps come back and make argument on
14 the 21st if you have not worked out language with the
15 Committee that you think works?

16 OPENING STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF THE ISSUER GROUP

17 MR. BENTLEY: James Bentley from Schulte Roth for the 18 Issuers, Your Honor.

19 I believe the deal that Mr. Pomerantz and Mr. Clemente
20 and I have discussed was adjourning our objection to the 21st,
21 --

22 THE COURT: Okay.

23 MR. BENTLEY: -- rather than withdrawing it.

24 THE COURT: Okay.

25 MR. BENTLEY: We're -- we believe we will be able to

1 come up with language acceptable to the Issuers, but we would
2 like to reserve the right to come back to the Court on our
3 limited objection if we cannot, given that our issue is really
4 -- really only relates to the 25 Issuers we represent.

5 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much.

6 All right. Ms. Lambert?

7 OPENING STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF THE UNITED STATES TRUSTEE

8 MS. LAMBERT: May it please the Court. As the Debtor
9 acknowledges, the motion that they are settling, the issues
10 that they are settling, are the issues that the U.S. Trustee
11 has raised in his motion to appoint a Chapter 11 trustee. As 12 a matter of statutory construction, Section 1104 does not
13 contemplate settlement of these issues. 1112, in contrast,
14 has a provision that if the Court finds and determines that
15 there is cause to convert a case, there are unusual
16 circumstances and the Court can find a reasonable
17 justification for the wrongdoing or the error that occurred
18 that led to cause -- for example, administrative defects in 19 1112, not filing monthly operating reports -- and that can be 20 cured. The Court has to make a finding that those -- these
21 defects can be cured within a reasonable period of time.
22 Section 1104 contains no analog to his.

23 If the Court finds cause to direct the appointment of a
24 Chapter 11 trustee, then the Court is supposed to appoint a
25 Chapter 11 trustee. And Trailer Ferry and AWECO both stand

1 for the proposition that, on today's day, we're supposed to
2 have evidence about what the management issues are that led to
3 this agreement. There's been no evidence. There's been no
4 allegations in the motion for settlement. And so the U.S.
5 Trustee is prepared to put that evidence on.

6 And Your Honor, one aspect of this is that the arbitration
7 agreement has been sealed. And there are people on the phone.
8 I don't know who's on the phone. The U.S. Trustee has opposed
9 the sealing of the arbitration -- not arbitration agreement,
10 the arbitration judgment -- has opposed the sealing of that.
11 And then they referenced a confidentiality order as the basis
12 to seal it. The U.S. Trustee also opposed that 13 confidentiality motion, which was filed subsequently to the 14 motion to seal.

15 There is no confidentiality order. An interim order was
16 entered sealing the arbitration award, but -- and the U.S.
17 Trustee has honored that by redacting all of the pleadings
18 that we filed relating to that, but it's important today for
19 the U.S. Trustee to be able to discuss it in argument, and it
20 is here -- and we have it prepared to be admitted into an 21 exhibit.

22 So, to proceed with my argument, Your Honor, I need some
23 clarification about what I can say.

24 THE COURT: You want clarification from me on what
25 you can say?

1 MS. LAMBERT: Well, I mean, either that or we need to
2 clear the room.

3 THE COURT: I've read the arbitration award.

4 MS. LAMBERT: Right.

5 THE COURT: It's in my brain.

6 MS. LAMBERT: Right. Okay.

7 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

8 MS. LAMBERT: And so one of the arguments here today
9 is that the U.S. Trustee is representing the SEC and
10 representing other Government agencies and things. No.
11 Obviously, that is not the U.S. Trustee --

12 THE COURT: I didn't hear that.

13 MS. LAMBERT: Okay. The -- one of the positions has 14 been, in the papers, is, well, that we don't have standing to 15 raise their issues. And that's true.

16 THE COURT: Okay.

17 MS. LAMBERT: But the problem is that the U.S.
18 Trustee has been constrained from discussing those issues with
19 the SEC. The arbitration award is very relevant to the SEC's
20 oversight. I anticipate the evidence today will be that the 21 SEC, after the financial crisis of 2008, imposed restrictions
22 on this Debtor on breach of fiduciary duty issues. I
23 anticipate that the arbitration findings would be very
24 relevant to whether those issues are ongoing or not.

25 THE COURT: Okay. Let me weigh in. I view the legal

1 standard that this Court has to weigh today as being: Is the
2 Debtor proposing something that is reflective of sound
3 business judgment, reasonable business judgment? And to the
4 extent this is a compromise of controversies with the
5 Committee, is this fair and equitable and in the best interest
6 of the estate?

7 And as Mr. Pomerantz has said, you know, a lot of this
8 maybe doesn't even need Court approval. But to the extent
9 there are aspects of this that are appropriate to seek Court
10 approval on, you know, this is my task. I have to look at 11 what's presented, and is this reflective of sound business
12 judgment? Is this fair and equitable? Is it in the best
13 interest?

14 So, assuming there are tons of bad facts here reflected in
15 the arbitration award, reflected in other evidence, bad facts
16 that might justify a trustee, a Chapter 11 trustee, is this
17 nevertheless, what's proposed today, a reasonable compromise
18 of, you know, the trustee arguments the Committee could make 19 or, you know, is this a reasonable framework for going
20 forward? Okay?

21 So I guess what I'm saying is I'm confused about, you
22 know, do I need to look at the arbitration award? Do we need
23 to have evidence of all of that? I can assume that there are
24 terrible facts out there that might justify a trustee, but I'm
25 looking at what's proposed. Is this a fair and equitable way

1 to resolve the disputes? Is it sound business judgment?
2 Frankly, is it a pragmatic solution here to preserve value?
3 So that's the legal standard I have in my mind here.

4 MS. LAMBERT: Yes, Your Honor.

5 THE COURT: Okay.

6 MS. LAMBERT: The standard is whether it is fair and
7 equitable to resolve the issues in the Chapter 11 trustee
8 motion, and it is the U.S. Trustee's position that they are
9 not resolved by this. And how are they not resolved? Number
10 one, they're not resolved because the problems that led to the
11 breach of fiduciary duty issues and findings are more
12 pervasive, both based on this Court' finding in the Acis case
13 and in the arbitration court's finding in Mr. Dondero. Other
14 officers are implicated.

15 THE COURT: But how --

16 MS. LAMBERT: Other employees are implicated.

17 THE COURT: Okay. I feel like maybe we're talking at 18 each other, not getting each other. I've got a proposed
19 solution here to totally change the playing field, if you
20 will. Bring in incredibly qualified people to --

21 MS. LAMBERT: Those people --

22 THE COURT: -- to change out the, you know, the
23 person that you say breached fiduciary duties, the, you know,
24 mismanagement, whatever bad labels we have here, but bring in
25 a clean slate.

1 MS. LAMBERT: No, Your Honor, because employees
2 remain at the Debtor who are problematic. The board that is
3 appointed owes a fiduciary duty to whom? Strand. Dondero.
4 He's still the board -- he is the sole stockholder. Yes. In
5 addition, --

6 THE COURT: And they won't be taking directions from
7 him.

8 MS. LAMBERT: In addition, --

9 THE COURT: The term sheet is they won't be taking
10 directions from him.

11 MS. LAMBERT: Your Honor, there is no evidence before
12 the Court today that Mr. Dondero has entered a stipulation.
13 This is part of the problem. This continues --

14 THE COURT: Well, if he doesn't, in five minutes the
15 Committee is going to be filing their trustee motion, right?

16 MS. LAMBERT: Well, then we haven't saved any time or 17 any money. This is the whole issue. They have to put on 18 evidence that this is a resolution of issues. We're going to 19 have the motion to appoint a Chapter 11 trustee either way.

20 THE COURT: All right. Well, we did have the 21 evidence of Mr. Sharp. Would you like to cross-examine him at 22 this point?

23 MS. LAMBERT: Your Honor, I would like to put the 24 U.S. Trustee's exhibits into evidence and then cross-examine
25 him.

1 THE COURT: All right. Your exhibits?

2 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, we would object to any
3 exhibits. The Trustee has not filed an exhibit list.

4 MS. LAMBERT: Your Honor, this matter was set on an
5 expedited basis and the Court does not require exhibit and
6 witnesses lists when a matter is filed on an expedited basis.
7 It's impossible, when a response is filed at 5:00 o'clock the
8 evening before and supplements are made in the morning of the 9 hearing, for the U.S. Trustee to put on a witness and exhibit
10 list.

11 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, we were here on the 19th.
12 We set out a briefing schedule. And maybe it was a couple
13 days short of normal notice. Ms. Lambert agreed to issue
14 discovery by a certain date, and she at no point said that
15 because there was 13 days' notice as opposed to longer period
16 that she couldn't comply and provide a witness list.

17 We provided with a witness list. We provided an exhibit
18 list. The Trustee's effort and attempt to now submit exhibits
19 and rely on maybe there were some changes this morning, that 20 just doesn't cut it, and that's not fair and that's not due
21 process.

22 THE COURT: Okay. I sustain the objection. The
23 exhibits won't be admitted since there was no exhibit list.

24 MS. LAMBERT: Your Honor, I do not have an exhibit
25 list from them. And they --

1 THE COURT: Well, they haven't offered any.

2 MS. LAMBERT: They put on new exhibits this morning.
3 The exhibits that the U.S. Trustee has are all things that
4 they are familiar with.

5 THE COURT: Let me back up. They didn't introduce
6 any exhibits. They --

7 MS. LAMBERT: But they introduced the declaration,
8 they introduced the supplements to the agreement that were
9 drafted this morning, they've introduced the new corporate
10 resolutions, all of which they handed me this morning.

11 THE COURT: All right. Well, the declaration of Mr.
12 Sharp, it's two pages long. It is, I don't think, any kind of 13 surprise information.

14 MS. LAMBERT: Your Honor, --

15 THE COURT: I'll allow you to cross-examine him.

16 MS. LAMBERT: -- the U.S. Trustee's exhibits are no
17 surprise, either. The Acis opinion is no surprise to anybody
18 in this courtroom.

19 THE COURT: Okay. Well, what are your exhibits?

20 MS. LAMBERT: The --

21 THE COURT: I probably should have asked.

22 MS. LAMBERT: The exhibits are the Acis opinion, the
23 arbitration awards or the determinations, both the partial and 24 the final, and the SEC's original judgment. There are four
25 exhibits.

1 THE COURT: All right. Well, Mr. Pomerantz, what
2 would you like to say? One of them I have obviously seen,
3 since I wrote it.

4 MR. POMERANTZ: Yes, you've written it. You wrote
5 it.

6 (Laughter.)

7 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, I think this is a tempest
8 in a teapot. The Committee's brief that it filed in
9 opposition to the CRO retention, the ordinary course
10 protocols, and the cash management motion had a litany of
11 description of the Redeemer litigation, of the SEC litigation.
12 There are plenty of bad facts out here. Okay? We have an 13 interim order to seal. There was no hearing set today for our 14 final hearing.

15 The Trustee has objected to that order, and I suspect that 16 will be heard on the 21st. We don't think it's appropriate to 17 introduce the Redeemer award. However, we have read the 18 redacted provisions or portion of the U.S. Trustee's brief,
19 and we have no problem if the U.S. Trustee limits its argument
20 to the redacted portion in presenting that to the Court.

21 In other words, we don't believe that the few sentences
22 that were redacted need to be redacted.

23 However, to the extent they intend to submit the 24 arbitration award, we don't think it's appropriate, we don't
25 think it's necessary, we think Your Honor hit it right, that

1 the issues today are not whether there's mismanagement at the
2 Debtor. Okay?

3 The U.S. Trustee's position is, notwithstanding this new
4 structure, it doesn't work. She has a trustee motion on. She
5 can argue on the 21st that it doesn't work. Nobody is
6 prejudicing her right to do so.

7 We think it's prejudicial, it's unfair, it's procedurally
8 improper to submit the Redeemer arbitration award and to allow
9 the Trustee to do anything other than describe exactly what
10 she has in her pleading.

11 THE COURT: Okay. I sustain the objection to those
12 exhibits. Again, I've read them. They're in my brain. I
13 wrote one of them. But I will allow you to cross-examine Mr.
14 Sharp. So, Mr. Sharp, would you please come to the witness
15 stand? Please raise your right hand.

16 BRADLEY SHARP, DEBTOR'S WITNESS, SWORN

17 THE COURT: All right. Please be seated.

18 MS. LAMBERT: To clarify, Your Honor, has the Court
19 considered the Acis opinion and the arbitration opinions based 20 on judicial notice?

21 THE COURT: And we're doing a lot of hair-splitting
22 here. I'm just letting you know I -- the facts are in my
23 brain. You can't extract them from my brain. Okay?

24 MS. LAMBERT: Okay.

25 THE COURT: I know there have been a lot of bad

Sharp - Cross

59

1 things, arguably bad things. But to me, the real issue here
2 today is whether this framework that has been heavily
3 negotiated with the Committee reflects reasonable business
4 judgment on the part of the Debtor, is a fair and equitable
5 resolution of the Committee's, you know, arguments in favor of
6 a trustee, and whether this makes, you know, sense going
7 forward to allow this Debtor to go forward without a trustee.
8 Okay?

9 So I really think that the evidence you want is not
10 terribly relevant. We technically aren't here on a trustee
11 motion today. We're here on whether a new board and the
12 terms, the protocols suggested, reflect reasonable business
13 judgment and reflect a fair compromise of arguments the 14 Committee has raised. All right? So I don't know how much
15 more clear I can make that. I guess the technical answer is 16 I'm not taking judicial notice of those things for purposes of 17 today.

18 All right. You may proceed.

19 CROSS-EXAMINATION

20 BY MS. LAMBERT:

21 Q Mr. Strand, can you state your name for --

22 A Sorry. Bradley Sharp, S-H-A-R-P.

23 Q Sharp. Mr. -- oh, sorry.

24 A No relation to Strand.

25 Q All right. Strand is the general partner of the Debtor,

005214

1 right?

2 A That is correct.

3 Q And there has been no change in the board of the Debtor
4 except Mr. Dondero's resignation; is that right?

5 A Well, it's a little different, because the -- Strand is
6 the general partner of the Debtor.

7 Q Yes.

8 A So the new board will be acting and in control of the
9 Debtor.

10 Q Yes. And there is -- Strand is a non-debtor, correct?

11 A That is correct.

12 Q And the stock of the non-debtor, Strand, is owned by
13 Dondero?

14 A Mr. Dondero owns Strand Advisors.

15 Q In its entirety?

16 A That is correct.

17 Q So the board will owe a fiduciary duty to Mr. -- to Mr.
18 Dondero?

19 A The board will have a fiduciary duty to the Debtor and to 20 Strand Advisors.

21 Q All right.

22 A Their duty is to the entity.

23 Q The -- Strand, as the general partner, as an entity, owes
24 a fiduciary duty to the Debtor, right?

25 MR. MORRIS: Objection to the extent it calls for a

1 legal conclusion.

2 THE COURT: Sustained.

3 BY MS. LAMBERT:

4 Q Do you know?

5 A As a lay person. I'm not an attorney.

6 Q Okay. So you don't know what the fiduciary roles of the 7 board will be; is that right?

8 A Well, the fiduciary board will be acting -- you know,
9 looking at it from my perspective as the chief restructuring
10 officer, the new board will be acting as the Debtor-in-
11 Possession. And, you know, they will be directing the Debtor-
12 in-Possession. You know, the Debtor-in-Possession has duties
13 to all parties in interest, and they will be directing the 14 Debtor. They will be directing me as CRO.

15 Q And, in addition, there may be a CEO, right?

16 A That is contemplated, correct.

17 Q It is contemplated? It --

18 A It is -- it is an option that the board has if they think
19 a CEO is necessary.

20 Q But you don't know whether a CEO is going to be appointed
21 or not?

22 A That's up to the board.

23 Q And you don't know what the compensation for that
24 individual might be, right?

25 A Again, that's up to the board.

1 Q Mr. Dondero is going to be an employee of the Debtor,
2 right?

3 A That's correct.

4 Q And Mr. Dondero started the Debtor, correct?

5 A I believe so.

6 Q And he also started Strand, right?

7 A I believe that's correct.

8 Q And he is also in control of a number of entities that the
9 Debtor does business with; is that right?

10 A That is correct.

11 Q Mr. Ellington is going to remain on with the Debtor?

12 A That -- Mr. Ellington is an employee. All employees are
13 now subject to the board.

14 Q Okay. And Mr. Ellington's role with the Debtor is what?

15 A He is general counsel with the Debtor.

16 Q And there are other in-house attorneys with the Debtor,
17 right?

18 A That's correct.

19 Q And who else is there currently?

20 A I don't have the list in front of me, you know, the 21 employee list. As of now, because obviously this is still --
22 hasn't been effected, so the board has not made any decisions
23 with respect to any employees going forward.

24 Q And the CFO remains the same?

25 A Yeah, that is, again, as of now. I don't know what the

1 board is going to do, if anything.

2 Q Do you have any anticipation of what you would recommend
3 to the board regarding the CFO?

4 A You know, I have many recommendations I have not made to
5 the board yet. I just met them this morning.

6 Q Are you aware that historically this Court has found that
7 the lawyers provided bad advice to the Debtor?

8 MR. MORRIS: Objection to the form of the question.

9 THE COURT: Sustained.

10 BY MS. LAMBERT:

11 Q Do you have any knowledge about whether there have been 12 findings that the law firm gave erroneous advice to the 13 Debtor? Or, I mean, the in-house counsel gave erroneous
14 advice.

15 MR. MORRIS: Objection to the form of the question.

16 THE COURT: Sustained.

17 MS. LAMBERT: Your Honor, I'm asking for the 18 foundation.

19 THE COURT: Rephrase.

20 BY MS. LAMBERT:

21 Q Do you -- are you aware of any concerns about the in-house
22 counsel?

23 A Yes.

24 Q What is your knowledge?

25 A I have read the rulings from this Court.

1 Q And what is your understanding of those rulings?

2 A I don't recall specifically. I read that early on when I
3 was first employed. But there have been concerns with respect
4 to, you know, management of the Debtor.

5 Q As the CRO, have you made any recommendations to change
6 employees to date?

7 A As of now, I don't have a -- the board. You know, the
8 board has just been employed. We have not made
9 recommendations up to this point. We are still -- obviously,
10 have been evaluating our position and what needs to happen. I
11 think it's important for the Debtor at this time, a little 12 stability would be a good thing for -- until we develop the 13 direction going forward.

14 Q Are you familiar with the compensation terms for the 15 directors?

16 A Yes.

17 Q And the directors are employees of Strand but paid by the 18 Debtor; is that right?

19 A Oh, I'm not sure they're employees of Strand, but they are
20 paid by the Debtor, their compensation. That's correct.

21 Q And yet the compensation is technically through Strand,
22 right?

23 A They -- they are. They have to act through the general
24 partner of the Debtor because of the corporate structure.

25 Q One of the portions of the agreement is that the Committee

1 acquires litigation claims. Are you familiar with that?

2 A I am.

3 Q Have you parsed out which litigation claims those might be
4 at this point?

5 A I think the agreement says they have litigation claims
6 against insiders and related parties. So I don't know what
7 those individual claims are. I don't know what exists.

8 Q Are you aware that the Committee obtains the attorney-
9 client privilege and work product privilege?

10 A Yeah. Subject to the terms of those agreements, correct.

11 Q Have you gone through the documents and determined which 12 ones would fall on -- which attorney files would fall on which 13 side?

14 A Not as of yet.

15 Q Have you been taking direction from Mr. Dondero?

16 A We've had -- I've had limited interaction with Mr. Dondero
17 since my retention. You know, we have been complying with the 18 protocols that we had been negotiating with the Committee and
19 providing information to the Committee. We have been, as a
20 result of those protocols, instructing management of the 21 company on compliance with those protocols. So they have
22 brought to us transactions that they would like to do. We
23 have reviewed those transactions and compared it to the 24 proposed protocols and have been enforcing those. So if
25 management has asked to do a transaction that does not meet

1 within those protocols, we have been declining the
2 transaction. And that -- you know, the company has agreed
3 with that decision and accepted that decision.

4 Q When you say management, who are you -- to whom are you
5 referring?

6 A You know, the whole management team at the company. In-
7 house counsel. The CFO. You know, I've had limited
8 interaction with Mr. Dondero. One interaction was he did
9 question one of my decisions that I made. We discussed it and
10 he accepted my conclusion.

11 Q You're at the Debtor every day?

12 A My team is.

13 Q You are not?

14 A I have had some travel restrictions due to a medical
15 issue, but I have three of my team there every day.

16 Q Is Mr. Dondero there every day?

17 A I don't know. I don't think so. In the few days I'm
18 there, I've not seen him.

19 Q Is Mr. Ellington there every day?

20 A No.

21 Q Who on the management team is there every day?

22 A You know, our primary interaction is with Isaac Leventon,
23 Frank Waterhouse, the CFO. You know, primary interaction, you
24 know, with David Klos, who is the controller, in dealing with 25 the financial issues.

1 Obviously, we spend a lot -- my team spends a lot of time
2 with the head of compliance.

3 Q Were you surprised by this addition that Mr. Dondero would
4 remain as an employee?

5 A I can't say I was surprised. It is an issue that we
6 struggle with, given the nature of this company's business.
7 You know, I see the change in the language and, you know, as
8 CRO, I am comfortable with it.

9 Q So, as CRO, if Mr. Dondero is necessary now, you recognize
10 that he was necessary three weeks ago?

11 A I'm not saying that he's necessary. I'm saying that it is
12 important for the board to be able to make that decision.

13 Q And it wasn't important when the settlement was filed?

14 A It was the -- it was a struggle at the time. I was
15 concerned at the time it was filed the unintended consequences
16 of Mr. Dondero resigning completely and disappearing, because
17 there are a significant number of funds that the Debtor deals
18 with related parties that are controlled by Mr. Dondero, and I
19 was worried about the financial impact with it. I knew this
20 issue was important to the Committee. And if that's something
21 that the Debtor agreed to and the Committee agreed to, so be
22 it.

23 You know, I think the last-minute compromise is acceptable
24 and appropriate. I think the language as negotiated is going
25 to be very helpful to the Debtor. And I think, then, it's up

1 to the board to make the decision, with full knowledge on
2 what's the best avenue forward.

3 Q And the language as negotiated was added because, in the
4 past, there have been problems with Mr. Dondero changing or
5 terminating agreements with related entities, right?

6 A There was that -- I've seen that -- issues raised in the
7 Acis case.

8 MS. LAMBERT: No further questions.

9 THE COURT: All right. Any redirect?

10 MR. POMERANTZ: Not from the Debtor.

11 THE COURT: Anyone have examination? No? All right.

12 Thank you, Mr. Sharp. You're excused.

13 THE WITNESS: Thank you.

14 (The witness steps down.)

15 THE COURT: All right. Are we going to have any
16 other, I guess, witnesses, evidence?

17 CLOSING ARGUMENT ON BEHALF OF THE DEBTOR

18 MR. POMERANTZ: No, Your Honor. I just had a couple
19 points. One, Ms. Lambert mentioned that she hadn't seen a
20 copy of the stipulation referred to, which was prohibiting Mr.
21 Dondero from terminating the board. There's a good reason for 22 her not having seen it. I hadn't provided it to her. It just
23 came this morning, right before the hearing. I have one
24 signed copy. I have other copies that I could represent, even 25 though they're unsigned, are the same, so I would like to

1 provide Your Honor. I'll keep the signed copy but provide you
2 with an unsigned copy, but it's the same, and also give one to
3 the U.S. Trustee.

4 THE COURT: But you've got a signature of Mr. Dondero
5 on that?

6 MR. POMERANTZ: Yes, I do.

7 THE COURT: Okay.

8 MR. POMERANTZ: May I approach?

9 THE COURT: You may. Thank you.

10 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, maybe for the record it
11 would be appropriate for me to show Your Honor the signature,
12 so you could say that you've seen it?

13 THE COURT: Yes. Yes.

14 MR. POMERANTZ: May I approach again?

15 THE COURT: You may. (Pause.) Okay. Thank you.

16 The record will reflect I've seen Mr. Dondero's signature.

17 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, one of the threads that
18 Ms. Lambert said to Your Honor is that there were employees
19 still remaining at the Debtor and that those employees may 20 have been involved in some wrongdoing.

21 I submit, Your Honor, if Your Honor appointed a Chapter 11
22 trustee today, what would a Chapter 11 trustee do? A Chapter
23 11 trustee wouldn't terminate every employee at the Debtor. A
24 Chapter 11 trustee, if he or she was doing what they should 25 do, would go down to the company, would interview members of

1 the company, senior management, and decide who should stay on
2 and who should not stay on.

3 That, I submit, Your Honor, is exactly what this board
4 will do. So the concept of there being something different
5 done, if you have a board here or not, I don't think makes
6 sense.

7 And lastly, Your Honor, Ms. Lambert expressed the issue as
8 whether it's fair and equitable to resolve the U.S. Trustee
9 issues in this way. I don't think that's the standard. The
10 only fair and equitable I understand is in plan confirmation.
11 I think Your Honor said it straight, which is: Is this a
12 valid exercise of the Debtor's business judgment and is it an
13 appropriate compromise of controversy? That is the standard.
14 And, again, we have always acknowledged that, notwithstanding
15 how Your Honor rules today, the Trustee reserves the right to 16 come back to court and argue a trustee is appropriate on the 17 21st.

18 We believe, Your Honor, that many of the cases, in this
19 circuit and elsewhere, look to the continuing management of
20 the company and whether management issues have been addressed
21 as a significant factor in determining whether a trustee is
22 appointed. And it'll come as no surprise, of course, if Your
23 Honor grants our motion today, this will be a lynchpin of our
24 opposition to the trustee motion.

25 But, again, those issues are for another day, and we

1 believe that we have satisfied our standard, and we request
2 that Your Honor approve the motion.

3 THE COURT: All right. Other closing arguments?

4 CLOSING ARGUMENT ON BEHALF OF THE UNITED STATES TRUSTEE

5 MS. LAMBERT: Yes, Your Honor. As the Debtor
6 acknowledges, the Court has no jurisdiction over Strand. This
7 is a complicated structure. A trustee avoids all of the
8 complications involved in the Court exercising jurisdiction
9 over an entity that it doesn't have jurisdiction over.

10 To enter a stock stipulation related to a non-debtor is
11 highly irregular, and Mr. Dondero is the person behind that.
12 It has happened in cases where people have been in these kinds
13 of structures, like that FSLIC used to put in these kinds of 14 structures -- there's published opinion, the Gaubert case --
15 where the person continued to exercise control even though
16 they had a stock trust.

17 The Court needs a person beholden to the Court. The 18 evidence is that, historically, this Debtor has entered into
19 things that breached its fiduciary duty and resulted in self-
20 dealing and liability for the Debtor. The evidence is that
21 these go beyond Mr. Dondero and the Court does not have
22 jurisdiction over his stock. The Court does not have
23 jurisdiction over Strand. The board members of Strand are not
24 employees of the Court, they're employees of Strand, a non-
25 debtor. These members have a fiduciary duty to Strand.

1 Yes, Strand is the general partner of this Debtor and has
2 a fiduciary duty, but all these fiduciary duties intermix in
3 ways that result in conflicts for this case. These conflicts
4 are unnecessary. The Court could just appoint a trustee who
5 only owes a fiduciary duty to the members and creditors of
6 this case, as well as the next (inaudible).

7 There is no evidence that this is cheaper. There is no
8 evidence that this is a total resolution, because issues are
9 left open, such as whether or not a CEO is going to be
10 appointed, how much that person is going to cost.

11 Finally, Your Honor, the sealing has constrained the
12 ability of some of the parties to understand what's going on 13 in this case. And that is material to the argument about who 14 is here, because we don't know who -- that all the people who
15 would have participated in this discussion had an opportunity
16 to participate in it.

17 Yes, the creditors have a fiduciary duty, and I believe
18 that they represented to the best of their ability, but they
19 are not charged with the issues that others are charged with,
20 such as the SEC.

21 There is no evidence that the officers are disinterested.
22 Rather, the new officers are going to be conflicted by the
23 nature of their position. There's no evidence that it's 24 cheaper. And a trustee, if appointed, could be appointed on
25 an hourly basis. This is a Chapter 11 trustee.

1 They argue that the trustee would not have the knowledge,
2 and yet they've been able to find three candidates to serve
3 for the board who are qualified. So there's no evidence that
4 it would not be better to have a trustee for that reason as
5 well.

6 The evidence is that, historically, the Redeemer Committee
7 was set up to prevent these kinds of transactions and have
8 oversight. Historically, the evidence is it did not work.
9 For this reason, the statute provides a solution, and the
10 Court should impose it. The Court should deny this motion as
11 not being in the interest of the estate, as not being a sound
12 exercise of discretion, because it's really the discretion of 13 Strand, not the Debtor, and it will remain the discretion of 14 Strand, not the Debtor.

15 Thank you.

16 THE COURT: All right. Anyone else have comments?

17 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, just a couple of minor
18 points.

19 THE COURT: Okay.

20 CLOSING ARGUMENT ON BEHALF OF THE DEBTOR

21 MR. POMERANTZ: Ms. Lambert started by saying the
22 Court doesn't have jurisdiction over Strand. I know I just
23 handed her the stipulation, but the last paragraph of the 24 stipulation specifically says that the parties stipulate and
25 agree that the Court shall have exclusive jurisdiction over

1 all matters arising from or related to the interpretation and
2 implementation of this stipulation and the adjudication of any
3 parties breaching the stipulation.

4 So the Court does have jurisdiction now that the
5 stipulation has been signed, assuming that the Court enters
6 it, so I think that addresses that issue.

7 Your Honor, the evidence of the disinterestedness of the
8 members of the board, we've provided their curriculum vitae.
9 We've made representations that they have no connections with
10 the Debtor or any of the parties in interest. We don't think
11 that, just because they become appointed and become a director
12 of Strand, that that renders them disinterested [sic], and we
13 think that the Trustee's arguments that being at a different
14 level creates different duties is just not -- is not accurate.
15 I don't think that the Committee would have had any appetite
16 for this type of structure had they believed that each of
17 these board members wouldn't feel that their fiduciary duty
18 was to the Debtor's estate. And they all are seasoned
19 restructuring people from different aspects, all understand
20 their fiduciary duties well, and all are prepared to carry 21 them out.

22 Lastly, the Trustee points to the historic issues, and
23 specifically mentioned the Redeemer Committee and that
24 structure didn't work. Well, I think it speaks volumes, Your
25 Honor, that not only the Redeemer Committee, are they on the

1 Committee and the Committee has supported this motion, but the
2 Redeemer Committee hasn't come to Your Honor and said that,
3 notwithstanding that structure that may or may not have been
4 effective, this structure is ineffective.

5 And at the end, Your Honor, the Trustee is trying to
6 replace the business judgment of the Debtor. The Debtor is
7 entitled to deference of the judgment, again, focusing on the
8 correct standard. And, again, the Trustee will have her day
9 in -- his day in court in connection with the ultimate trustee
10 motion on the 21st.

11 Thank you, Your Honor.

12 THE COURT: Anyone else?

13 All right. Well, the Court is going to note a few things
14 as part of its ruling, obviously. The new proposed
15 independent board members for Strand, Strand obviously being
16 the general partner of the Debtor, Highland -- Mr. James
17 Seery, Mr. John Dubel, and retired Judge Russ Nelms -- are
18 highly-qualified individuals with respect to the industry.
19 Some of them with respect to restructuring. Certainly, in the 20 case of retired Judge Nelms, with regard to fiduciary duties
21 and the Bankruptcy Code requirements.

22 These three individuals were chosen by the Creditors'
23 Committee, whose constituency is broad, whose constituency is
24 owed well over $100 million. And they were chosen by the 25 Committee after literally months of negotiation. Obviously,

1 this bankruptcy was filed in October, and it appears to this
2 Court, from the representations of counsel, that from the very
3 beginning of the case -- the Committee was, I guess, appointed
4 a week or two after the case was filed in October -- there's 5 been haggling over corporate governance of this Debtor.

6 So we have highly-qualified individuals. We have
7 individuals who were chosen by the well-constituted Creditors'
8 Committee. And what has been proposed to the Court is that it
9 is these independent directors that would have sole and
10 exclusive management and control of the Debtor.

11 An interesting jurisdictional argument has been made, and
12 it's one of those arguments that, frankly, you know, sounds
13 good when you first hear it, but when you really drill down
14 about the governance structure here, I mean, obviously, this
15 Debtor is a limited partnership and it acts through a general
16 partner. It's the general partner that controls the Debtor
17 entity. And while Strand Advisors, Inc., the general partner,
18 may not technically be in bankruptcy, it's the structure of 19 these entities such that it controls the Debtor. So the 20 jurisdictional argument, when you drill down, feels a little
21 off.

22 Moreover, we have language in the stipulation where Strand
23 is stipulating and consenting, if you will, to this Court's
24 exercise of jurisdiction over it.

25 There are many things about the compromise here that have

1 very compelling appeal. Among them, certainly, the Committee
2 that's negotiated this term sheet retains the right at any
3 time to move for a Chapter 11 trustee if it believes there are
4 grounds. The Committee is granted standing to pursue estate
5 claims, certain estate claims right off the bat, without
6 having to come back and ask the Court, without having to rely
7 on the Debtor to pursue that. There are document production
8 provisions, document preservation provisions, a shared
9 privilege negotiated, that are very powerful tools for the
10 Committee, and certainly operating protocols that have been
11 negotiated regarding the Debtor's operations that are very
12 powerful tools for the Committee.

13 I said many times during the Acis case -- those who were
14 here will remember -- that the company, Acis, was not a great
15 fit for Chapter 11. Lots of companies aren't great fits for 16 Chapter 11, I suppose, but the kind of business it was was
17 kind of tough to maneuver in Chapter 11. Human beings and
18 their expertise create value. And while we had a Chapter 11
19 trustee, a stranger come in and take control over Acis, you
20 know, there's great uncertainty whether that stranger is going
21 to be able to preserve value and have the smooth transition
22 into Chapter 11 that's really going to be the best fit.

23 Here, as I've said earlier, the legal standard I view as
24 controlling here is 363 and whether what has been proposed
25 reflects reasonable business judgment. Is there a sound

1 business justification for proposing the independent slate of
2 directors at the GP level for the Debtor, the protocols, the
3 negotiation with the Committee, the document sharing, the
4 standing given to them? Does all of this reflect reasonable
5 business judgment? And I find, quite clearly, it does. I
6 find it to be a pragmatic solution to the Committee's concerns
7 about existing management and control.

8 And I think I used the words "fair and equitable," not
9 just Ms. Lambert, because it is also presented to the Court as
10 a 9019 compromise of disputes with the Committee, and we
11 traditionally use a fair and equitable and best interest of 12 the estate analysis in this context. So, to the extent that
13 applies, I do find this a fair and equitable way of resolving
14 the disputes with the Committee, and I find this to be in the 15 best interest of the estate. So I do approve this.

16 And by approving this motion, I'm approving the term sheet
17 as it's been presented, the various terms therein, the 18 exhibits thereto. I'm specifically approving the new
19 independent directors, the document management and
20 preservation process, the standing to the Committee over
21 certain of the estate claims, the reporting requirements, the
22 operating protocols, the whole bundle of provisions.

23 Now, there is one specific thing I want to say about the 24 role of Mr. Dondero. When Ms. Patel got up and talked about
25 the newest language that has been added to the term sheet, she

1 highlighted in particular the very last sentence on Page 2 of
2 the term sheet, the sentence reading, "Mr. Dondero shall not
3 cause any related entity to terminate any agreements with the
4 Debtor." Her statement that that was important, it really
5 resonated with me, because, you know, as I said earlier, I
6 can't extract what I learned during the Acis case, it's in my
7 brain, and we did have many moments during the Acis case where
8 the Chapter 11 trustee came in and credibly testified that,
9 whether it was Mr. Dondero personally or others at Highland,
10 they were surreptitiously liquidating funds, they were
11 changing agreements, assigning agreements to others. They
12 were doing things behind the scenes that were impacting the 13 value of the Debtor in a bad way.

14 So not only do I think that language is very important,
15 but I am going to require that language to be put in the 16 order. Okay? So we're not just going to have an order
17 approving the term sheet that has that language. I want
18 language specifically in the order. You know, you can figure
19 out where the appropriate place to stick it in the order is,
20 but I want specific language in here regarding Mr. Dondero's
21 role. I also -- the language in there that his role as an
22 employee of the Debtor will be subject at all times to the
23 supervision, direction, and authority of the Debtors, I want
24 that language in there as well. Let's go ahead and put the 25 language in there that at any time, in any event, the

1 independent directors can determine he's no longer going to be
2 retained. I want that in the order.

3 And I'm sure most of you can read my mind why, but I want
4 it crystal clear that if he violates these terms, he's
5 violated a federal court order, and contempt will be one of
6 the tools available to the Court. He needs to understand
7 that. Mr. Ellington needs to understand that. You know, if
8 there are any games behind the scene, not only do I expect the
9 Committee is going to come in and highlight that to the Court
10 and file a motion for a trustee or whatever, but we're going
11 to have a contempt of court issue.

12 So, anybody want to respond to that?

13 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, Jeff Pomerantz; Pachulski
14 Stang Ziehl & Jones.

15 We hear Your Honor. What I thought I'd do now is I have a
16 clean redline of the order, of course not including the 17 provision you just requested, --

18 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

19 MR. POMERANTZ: -- which we will go back and upload
20 and hope to get an order signed by Your Honor today, if you're 21 around. But to go over the other changes, the changes to
22 Jefferies, the other language changes I discussed before. I
23 gave a copy to Ms. Lambert and to the Committee. May I
24 approach with a --

25 THE COURT: You may.

1 MR. POMERANTZ: Thank you.

2 THE COURT: Okay. All right. (Pause.) All right.

3 The form of order looks fine to me. Obviously, you'll add the
4 Dondero-related language, and we may have further wording
5 tweaks negotiated with the CLO Issuers. But, again, I approve
6 all of this. I didn't say on the record the compensation, but
7 certainly I am approving that as reasonable. I expect these
8 three directors are going to be working very, very hard. And 9 so, as you said, not 50,000-foot level monitoring, actually
10 rolling up sleeves on-site, so I think the compensation is 11 reasonable.

12 MR. POMERANTZ: Thank you, Your Honor. We will
13 submit an order shortly that includes Your Honor's language
14 requested.

15 THE COURT: Okay.

16 MR. POMERANTZ: Are you around this afternoon?

17 THE COURT: I am around, --

18 MR. POMERANTZ: Okay.

19 THE COURT: -- so just pick up the phone or send an
20 email to Traci, my courtroom deputy, --

21 MR. POMERANTZ: Yes.

22 THE COURT: -- so she can tell me, "It's in your 23 queue to sign."

24 MR. POMERANTZ: She has been extremely helpful and
25 responsive.

1 THE COURT: Good. I'm glad to hear that.

2 MR. POMERANTZ: Yes.

3 THE COURT: Now, as far as future scheduling, I did
4 have her sitting by, listening, in case we needed to discuss
5 anything. Obviously, we're going to have a kind of a
6 carryover placeholder on the 21st as part of the trustee
7 motion hearing for any remaining issues with the CLO Issuer.
8 And, you know, that's just a placeholder if necessary to hear
9 language controversies.

10 My courtroom deputy was concerned, because you have a lot
11 of pending motions that have just sort of sat there pending
12 because this was the big issue, right? She wants to make sure
13 she sets anything you need a setting on. And I don't know if 14 you want to discuss that today or go back as a group and --

15 MR. POMERANTZ: We're happy to -- I think, you know,
16 I think that's appropriate to do. We had the motion to
17 appoint the CRO.

18 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

19 MR. POMERANTZ: That was pending. That gets resolved
20 by this motion. We will submit an order --

21 THE COURT: Okay.

22 MR. POMERANTZ: -- with the new agreement that was
23 attached to the term sheet.

24 We had the cash management order which Judge Sontchi had
25 issued an interim order. We will have a final order with

1 respect to that.

2 THE COURT: Okay.

3 MR. POMERANTZ: We will be withdrawing the motion to 4 approve ordinary course protocols which was originally on for 5 hearing.

6 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

7 MR. POMERANTZ: I think on the 21st we have currently
8 set a motion to approve the retention or Mercer, which is the 9 Debtor's compensation consultant, --

10 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

11 MR. POMERANTZ: -- and an analog motion that was
12 originally set for today with respect to insiders, non-
13 insiders, but is on for non-insiders and insiders on the 21st,
14 --

15 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

16 MR. POMERANTZ: -- which is the motion to approve
17 bonuses.

18 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

19 MR. POMERANTZ: Of course, the Debtor's new board is 20 going to be wanting to very carefully review that. And we are 21 going back and today having our first new board meeting with 22 the board to start bringing them up to speed. But we
23 presently intend, subject to, obviously, their direction, to
24 go forward on the 21st.

25 We also have the retention of Lynn Pinker and Foley

1 Gardere, which had been filed and was brought on for hearing
2 previously. It had been delayed, again, for the board to look
3 at the issues. We expect to have that on for the 21st. And I
4 believe, I believe that would be it.

5 MS. LAMBERT: No, Your Honor, the --

6 MR. POMERANTZ: No?

7 MS. LAMBERT: -- U.S. Trustee has objected to the
8 motion to seal, which was the second item on the Wilmington
9 Court's docket that got -- and it got transferred here. The
10 U.S. Trustee has also objected to the motion for protective
11 order. The issues overlap. We request that they be set as 12 quickly as possible.

13 MR. POMERANTZ: We're happy to set both of those for 14 the 21st as well.

15 THE COURT: All right. So I think what I'm going to 16 ask you to do is just get on the phone, one of you, with Traci
17 and just make sure she's clear on everything you need set on 18 the 21st, and then you can do a big notice of hearing, just
19 kind of listing all of these matters.

20 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, with respect to the CRO
21 motion -- order and the cash management order, I was wondering
22 if it would be helpful for my colleague Mr. Demo to go over
23 the amendments to those orders -- we would like those to be
24 entered today -- to see if Your Honor has any questions.

25 THE COURT: All right. That would be good. Mr.

1 Clemente, did you have something first?

2 MR. CLEMENTE: Just very quickly, Your Honor. We had
3 filed our retention applications for the Committee
4 professionals and filed CNOs, and your office had indicated
5 you wanted to get through today, which I totally understand,
6 but I just wanted to make sure that Your Honor didn't lose
7 sight of those. I don't believe there were any objections to
8 those, but I think your intent was probably to deal with them
9 after today, but I just wanted to --

10 THE COURT: All right. Yes, it was to get through 11 today.

12 MR. CLEMENTE: Yes.

13 THE COURT: So, since you've had plenty of time run
14 on those, you can submit orders and I'll get them signed in 15 chambers.

16 MR. CLEMENTE: Thank you very much, Your Honor.
17 Appreciate it.

18 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you. Counsel?

19 MR. DEMO: Good afternoon, Your Honor. Greg Demo,
20 Pachulski Stang, on behalf of the Debtor. I'm happy to keep
21 this as brief as possible, but I think walking through the
22 cash management motion has the most changes.

23 THE COURT: Okay.

24 MR. DEMO: The biggest change there, and we had 25 discussed this with the United Stated Trustee in Delaware, is

1 that in our initial motion we disclosed that the Debtor had
2 bank accounts at BBVA and then also at NexBank. Those
3 accounts have been moved to East West Bank, --

4 THE COURT: Okay.

5 MR. DEMO: -- which is a party to a depository
6 agreement with the United Stated Trustee.

7 THE COURT: Okay.

8 MR. DEMO: The only exception to that is a
9 certificate of deposit that is at NexBank. It's a relatively
10 small amount of money. It's $135,000. But it also is pledged
11 as collateral on a lease. So that has been -- proven
12 problematic to move. The Trustee for Delaware did say that
13 was okay. I would hope that the Trustee for Texas would agree
14 with that. We did disclose it in the initial debtor
15 interview.

16 But those are the bank accounts. The bank accounts at
17 BBVA and NexBank, with the exception of that CD, were all
18 closed as of yesterday.

19 THE COURT: Okay.

20 MR. DEMO: So now we are going to be using East West
21 Bank for all operating accounts, all cash, going forward.

22 The other two accounts are the account at Jefferies, which
23 is the prime brokerage account.

24 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

25 MR. DEMO: That account, we are keeping open.

1 Obviously, there have been conversations with Jefferies that
2 are going to be reflected in the proposed order on the
3 settlement, but we do propose to keep the Jefferies prime
4 brokerage account open as well.

5 And then we filed a supplement for another prime brokerage
6 account that we have at a prime broker called Maxim Group.
7 That account has $30 million in securities in it, give or
8 take, and then literally like $100 in cash. The Debtor
9 considers that account more an investment than actual
10 operating account, but we would like to keep that account open
11 as well, just so it can continue holding those securities.

12 Jefferies and Maxim, neither of them are on the depository
13 list, so we are requesting a waiver of 345(b) for those two
14 accounts, and then also requesting a waiver of 345(b) with 15 respect to the certificate of deposit at NexBank.

16 THE COURT: Okay.

17 MR. DEMO: That's where we're at at cash management.
18 And I guess, sorry, one more thing. In the original cash
19 management motion, we had a series of intercompany
20 transactions that we disclosed, and we had gotten interim
21 relief from the Delaware court to make those payments up to a
22 hundred -- or, $1.7 million. We are below that account, and
23 on a go-forward basis, all of those intercompany transactions
24 are getting subsumed into the settlement motion and the
25 operating protocols and all of that. But we are asking for

1 final relief on the intercompany transactions that we made
2 under the interim order.

3 THE COURT: Okay. All right. Who wishes to be heard
4 on this? I don't know how much discussion we've had outside
5 the courtroom on this.

6 MS. LAMBERT: We haven't -- normally, a bond would be
7 appropriate for the Jefferies and the other small account.
8 The estate is at risk on the CD, but it's not that much money.
9 It's not worth bonding. It'll be more expensive to bond it.

10 NexBank, as you know, Your Honor, is a bank where Mr.
11 Dondero is the CEO. So that was part of the reason that 12 NexBank was carved out. But the -- so I would like them to 13 bid bonds on the Jefferies and the other account. And if we 14 -- let's carry it on those issues so that we can see how
15 expensive bonding it would be, and if it's cost-prohibitive,
16 maybe we reconsider. But in the past, the bonds haven't been 17 very expensive, relatively.

18 MR. DEMO: We're happy to discuss that with the U.S.
19 Trustee. I mean, just for the record, the Jefferies account,
20 you know, does support a margin loan. It's $80 million in
21 securities. It's $30 million at Maxim. They're SIPC. I
22 mean, it's Jefferies and, you know, another large prime
23 broker. Again, we're happy to discuss it with the Trustee. I
24 don't know that it's necessary, but we will discuss it.

25 THE COURT: Okay. Well, you all can discuss it, and

1 if you have an unopposed order, an agreed order, --

2 MR. DEMO: Uh-huh.

3 THE COURT: -- you can upload it and I'll sign it.

4 Otherwise, if you need hearing time on the 21st, --

5 MR. DEMO: Okay.

6 THE COURT: -- we'll get it all figured out then and

7 --

8 MR. DEMO: Okay. All right.

9 THE COURT: -- resolve it then.

10 MR. DEMO: Thank you, Your Honor. And then I guess
11 the other motion is the CRO retention. This one should
12 hopefully be pretty brief. We are just filing a new proposed
13 order that attaches the engagement letter, as has been
14 modified by all of the settlement discussions. I believe the 15 Committee is on board with that, and it's consistent. It was 16 one of the attachments that you approved this morning in
17 connection with the settlement.

18 THE COURT: All right. Comments on that?

19 A VOICE: None, Your Honor.

20 THE COURT: Committee, you're good?

21 MS. LAMBERT: The U.S. Trustee had also objected to
22 the CRO motion, but it's some of the same issues that the 23 Committee raised. And the CRO, my understanding, is now not
24 an employee of the board but totally overseen by the board,
25 and with that, we can withdraw our objection.

1 THE COURT: All right. Very good. I'll sign your
2 order on the CRO, then.

3 MR. DEMO: Okay. Thank you, Your Honor.

4 THE COURT: All right. Well, if there's nothing
5 else, I'll be on the lookout for your orders. And, again, if
6 you could coordinate with Traci to make sure she's clear on
7 everything you need set on the 21st.

8 MR. POMERANTZ: Thank you very much, Your Honor.

9 THE COURT: All right.

10 MR. CLEMENTE: Thank you, Your Honor.

11 MR. DEMO: Thank you, Your Honor.

12 THE CLERK: All rise.

1 DALLAS, TEXAS - JUNE 8, 2021 - 9:30 A.M.

2 THE COURT: All right. We have settings in Highland
3 this morning. We have three settings. We have the show cause
4 hearing with regard to a lawsuit filed in the District Court.
5 We have a couple of more, I would say, ministerial matters,
6 although I think we do have objections. I know we have 7 objections. We have a motion to extend the removal period in 8 this case as well as a motion to modify the order authorizing
9 Mr. Seery's retention.

10 So let's go ahead and start out by getting appearances
11 from the lawyers who are participating today. I'll get those 12 now.

13 MR. MORRIS: Good morning, Your Honor.

14 THE COURT: Good morning.

15 MR. MORRIS: John Morris from Pachulski, Stang, Ziehl
16 & Jones for the Debtor. I'm joined with me this morning by my 17 colleagues, Jeffrey Pomerantz, Greg Demo, and Zachery Annable.

18 THE COURT: Okay.

19 MR. MORRIS: We do have a proposal on how to proceed 20 today, a substantial portion of which is in agreement with the 21 Respondents.

22 THE COURT: Okay.

23 MR. MORRIS: So, at the appropriate time, I'd be 24 happy to present that to the Court.

25 THE COURT: All right. Well, let's get all the

1 appearances and then I'll hear from you on that.

2 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, my name is -- would you like
3 me to approach, Your Honor?

4 THE COURT: Yes, please.

5 MR. SBAITI: It's my first time appearing in 6 Bankruptcy Court, Your Honor. My name is Mazin Sbaiti. I'm 7 here on behalf of the charitable DAF Fund, CLO Holdco, and the 8 Respondents to the show cause hearing. We are also 9 representing them as the Movants on the motion to modify the 10 Court's order appointing Mr. Seery.

11 THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

12 MR. BRIDGES: Jonathan Bridges, Your Honor, with Mr.
13 Sbaiti, also representing the Charitable DAF and CLO Holdco,
14 as well as our firm that is named in the show cause order.

15 THE COURT: Okay.

16 MR. BRIDGES: Thank you, Your Honor.

17 THE COURT: Thank you.

18 MR. PHILLIPS: Good morning, Your Honor. Louis M.
19 Phillips from Kelly Hart Hallman here on behalf of Mark
20 Patrick in the show cause matter. I'm joined with my 21 colleague Michael Anderson from the Kelly Hart firm here in 22 Fort Worth. And that's the matter that we're involved in, the 23 show cause auction.

24 THE COURT: All right. Thank you, Mr. Phillips.

25 MR. TAYLOR: Good morning, Your Honor. Clay Taylor

1 of Bonds Ellis Eppich Schafer Jones here on behalf of Jim
2 Dondero. I have Mr. Will Howell here with me from my firm.

3 THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

4 MR. CLEMENTE: Good morning, Your Honor. Matthew
5 Clemente from Sidley Austin on behalf of the Committee. I'm 6 here with my partner, Paige Montgomery.

7 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

8 MR. CLEMENTE: Good morning.

9 THE COURT: All right. Just to remind people, we do
10 have participants on the WebEx, but in setting the hearing I
11 made clear that participants today needed to be here live in 12 the courtroom. So the WebEx participants are going to be only 13 observers.

14 We have a camera on the screen here that is poised to 15 capture both the lawyer podium as well as the witness box, and 16 then another camera on the bench.

17 So, please be mindful. We want the lawyers to speak from 18 the podium so that they are captured and heard by the WebEx.
19 And so hopefully we don't have any cords you will trip over.
20 We've worked hard to make it easy to maneuver around the 21 courtroom.

22 All right. So, Mr. Morris, you had a proposal on how we 23 would approach this today?

24 MR. MORRIS: I do, Your Honor. And it's rather 25 brief, but I think it makes a lot of sense.

1 There are three motions on the calendar for today, --

2 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

3 MR. MORRIS: -- only one of which required the 4 personal appearance of certain parties.

5 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

6 MR. MORRIS: And for that reason, and because,
7 frankly, it was the first of the three motions filed, we 8 believe that that ought to go first.

9 THE COURT: Okay.

10 MR. MORRIS: And then it can be followed by the 11 motion for reconsideration of the July order, assuming time
12 permits, and then the motion to extend the removal deadline.

13 And with respect to the contempt motion, Your Honor, the 14 parties have agreed that each side shall have a maximum of 15 three hours to make opening statements, closing arguments,
16 direct and cross-examination of witnesses.

17 You know, I did point out to them that from time to time
18 Your Honor has used the Court's discretion to adjust the time 19 --

20 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

21 MR. MORRIS: -- if the Court is making inquiries, and 22 I guess we'll deal with that matter as it comes. But as a
23 general matter, that is what we've agreed to. And I would 24 propose that, unless anybody has any objections, that we just 25 proceed on that basis.

1 THE COURT: Okay.

2 MR. MORRIS: And I could -- I could go right forward.

3 THE COURT: So, three hours in the aggregate?

4 MR. MORRIS: Uh-huh.

5 THE COURT: It doesn't matter how people spend it --
6 with argument, examination, cross -- three hours in the 7 aggregate?

8 MR. MORRIS: Correct.

9 THE COURT: Okay. So, Nate, you'll be the timer on
10 that.

11 MR. MORRIS: Yeah. We thought it was very important 12 to get this done today, with people coming in from out of 13 town.

14 THE COURT: Okay. Sounds fine.

15 MR. MORRIS: So does the Court want to inquire if 16 anybody has any questions or comments?

17 THE COURT: I do. Well, I see Mr. Bridges getting 18 up. You confirm that that's agreeable?

19 MR. BRIDGES: Thank you, Your Honor. Yes, that's 20 agreeable. We have one slight difference in our proposal. We 21 would suggest to Your Honor that the motion for modification,
22 if Your Honor decides our way, would moot the entire motion
23 for contempt. And we'd suggest, if that possibility is 24 realistic, that we would go first with that motion, perhaps 25 obviate having to have the evidence presented and the lengthy

1 hearing.

2 The motion for modification, Your Honor, asks the Court to
3 reconsider -- to modify that order because of jurisdictional
4 and other shortcomings in it that make the order
5 unenforceable. And because that's the order that is the 6 subject of the contempt motion, we'd ask Your Honor to 7 consider putting that motion first.

8 THE COURT: Okay. Or second? Ahead of the contempt
9 matter?

10 MR. BRIDGES: Ahead of the contempt matter, --

11 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

12 MR. BRIDGES: -- because it has a possibility --

13 THE COURT: We have the removal matter, which I think
14 is the shortest. All right.

15 MR. BRIDGES: No objection to that, Your Honor.
16 That's correct.

17 THE COURT: Okay. So, Mr. Morris, that's fine by
18 you?

19 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, that doesn't make a lot of 20 sense to us. We don't believe there's any basis for the Court
21 to reconsider, modify, or amend in any way the July order.
22 But even if we were wrong about that, that would not 23 retroactively validate conduct which was otherwise wrongful at 24 the time it was committed.

25 The contempt motion needs to go first. The other motion

1 will have no impact on whether or not there is a finding of 2 contempt of court.

3 THE COURT: All right. And update me on this. There
4 was something filed yesterday, a notice of a proposed form of 5 order that the Debtor had proposed, that I think was not 6 agreed to, where there would be a change about any action that 7 goes forward, the cause of action would be in the sole
8 jurisdiction of the Court, and you all agreed to change that 9 part of the order, correct?

10 MR. MORRIS: So, just as a division of labor for Your 11 Honor, I'm doing the contempt motion.

12 THE COURT: Okay. That's Mr. Pomerantz's?

13 MR. MORRIS: Mr. Pomerantz is going to take care of 14 that.

15 MR. POMERANTZ: Yes, Your Honor. Good morning. Good
16 to see you again.

17 THE COURT: Good to see you.

18 MR. POMERANTZ: Yes, Your Honor, that's correct. If 19 Your Honor recalls, there's really three aspects of the 20 January 9th and the July 16th order. First, requiring people
21 to come to Bankruptcy Court before commencing or pursuing an 22 action. Second, for the Bankruptcy Court to have the sole and 23 exclusive authority to determine whether the claim is a
24 colorable claim of willful negligence or gross misconduct.
25 And then third, if Your Honor passed the claim through the

1 gate, whether you would have jurisdiction.

2 In Your Honor's January 9th and July 16th orders, you said
3 you would have exclusive jurisdiction. In the motion for 4 reconsideration, and particularly the reply, Movants said, if
5 you just change that and say that if passes through the gate
6 that you'd have jurisdiction only to the extent you would
7 otherwise have it, that would resolve the motion, in the same
8 way that the plan of reorganization was amended.

9 We proposed that. They rejected it. We put it before
10 Your Honor. So we believe that it moots out a good portion -- 11 actually, we think it should moot out the entire motion. They 12 obviously disagree. But we definitely agree it moots out the 13 most significant portion of their motion, which is that Your 14 Honor would take jurisdiction to adjudicate a matter on an 15 exclusive basis when you might not otherwise have jurisdiction
16 on an exclusive basis.

17 THE COURT: Okay. Well, --

18 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, may I respond to that?

19 THE COURT: You may. And --

20 MR. BRIDGES: Thank you, Your Honor.

21 THE COURT: -- why -- could you clarify why you think 22 it would moot out the entire show cause matter? I wouldn't be 23 retroactively changing my order. Is that what you're 24 proposing?

25 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, with all respect, we

1 believe the order is defective and unenforceable and has to be
2 modified in order to fix it. And because of the defects,
3 we're -- we're actually arguing, Your Honor, that it is 4 unenforceable in a contempt proceeding. That is exactly what 5 our argument is.

6 THE COURT: Okay. I think I'm getting way farther
7 down this road than maybe I want to right now. But I guess
8 here's the elephant in the room, I feel like: Republic Supply
9 versus Shoaf.

10 MR. BRIDGES: Uh-huh.

11 THE COURT: The U.S. Supreme Court Espinosa case, for 12 that matter. If I accept your argument that maybe there was a
13 flaw in those orders, that maybe they went too far, don't you
14 have a problem with those two cases?

15 MR. BRIDGES: Your --

16 THE COURT: The orders weren't appealed.

17 MR. BRIDGES: I understand completely, Your Honor.

18 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

19 MR. BRIDGES: And I think the answer is no because of 20 the Applewood case from the Fifth Circuit. The Applewood case
21 cited in our reply brief explains that in order for an order,
22 a final order of the Bankruptcy Court to have exculpatory
23 effect, in order for it to release claims, for example, that 24 the claims at issue must be enumerated in the order. It's not 25 enough to have a blanket statement like the order, the July

1 order has, like the January order has, saying that Mr. Seery's
2 claims -- claims cannot be brought against him for ordinary
3 negligence at all. The -- Your Honor, we're delving into my 4 argument.

5 THE COURT: Okay.

6 MR. BRIDGES: And I was hoping to do this on a
7 preliminary basis.

8 THE COURT: Right.

9 MR. BRIDGES: I don't mean to bog you down with that.
10 But Your Honor, no, mandatory authority from the Fifth Circuit
11 after Shoaf limits Shoaf's application and says that it does 12 not extinguish the claims that are not specifically enumerated
13 in the order. And the reason for that is because it doesn't 14 give the kind of notice to the parties that they would need to 15 make an appearance and object to those orders at the time. It
16 actually helps to stem the amount of litigation at the time
17 rather than to encourage it.

18 THE COURT: All right. Well, you'll get your 19 opportunity to make your full argument on this. But I'm not 20 convinced, preliminarily, at least, to affect my decision on 21 the sequence, okay? So even if it potentially wastes time
22 under your view of the law, I am going to do the removal
23 matter first -- the extension of time request, I should say --
24 and then the show cause and then the motion to modify. And I
25 realize, those last two matters, everything is kind of

1 interrelated. All right?

2 MR. BRIDGES: Yes, Your Honor.

3 THE COURT: All right. So, with that decided, is 4 there a desire on the part of the lawyers to make opening
5 statements, or shall we just go to the motions? And, of 6 course, people can use their three hours for oral argument,
7 however much they want to use for oral argument.

8 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, the -- to be clear, the six-
9 hour time limit only applies to the contempt proceeding.

10 THE COURT: Oh, yes. Yes. Uh-huh.

11 MR. MORRIS: And I do want to make an opening
12 statement.

13 THE COURT: Okay.

14 MR. MORRIS: So, as the Movant, I'd like to go first.

15 THE COURT: You want to make opening statements?

16 MR. BRIDGES: Yes. Yes, Your Honor.

17 THE COURT: Okay. Okay.

18 MR. BRIDGES: I believe we've got a PowerPoint
19 prepared that I think can lay out our side of it.

20 THE COURT: Okay.

21 MR. BRIDGES: I don't think we're participating in 22 the motion to extend the removal time.

23 THE COURT: Okay.

24 MR. BRIDGES: That's going first.

25 THE COURT: All right.

1 MR. BRIDGES: So we'll wait until that is --

2 THE COURT: Well, so we don't get confused on the
3 timing, let's just do the motion to extend right now. And I
4 think we only had one objection. As Mr. Sbaiti just pointed 5 out, they're not objecting on that one. We have a Dondero
6 objection. So let's, without starting the timer, hear that 7 one. Okay?

8 MR. DEMO: Good morning, Your Honor. Greg Demo;
9 Pachulski, Stang, Ziehl & Jones.

10 THE COURT: Good morning.

11 MR. DEMO: I'll be arguing the removal motion and 12 then turn it over.

13 It's fairly basic and straightforward, Your Honor. We're 14 asking for a further extension of the statutory deadline to 15 remove cases until December 14th, 2021. The deadline is 16 procedural only. As Your Honor is well aware, there's a lot
17 of moving parts in this case. You know, we don't know to this 18 date, really, the full universe of what could actually be out
19 there. So we're just asking for a short extension of the 20 removal period to cover through December.

21 I know that there was an objection from Mr. Dondero. I 22 know that he argues that 9006 does not allow us to extend that 23 deadline past the effective date of the plan, and he cites one 24 case for that purpose, which is Health Support. I think it's 25 out of Florida. That case dealt with the extension of the

1 two-year extension of the statute of limitations and was very
2 clear that you can't use 9 --

3 THE COURT: You mean the 546 deadline?

4 MR. BRIDGES: Yes. Yes.

5 THE COURT: Okay.

6 MR. BRIDGES: That you can't use 9006 to extend non-
7 bankruptcy deadlines. That's not what we're doing here, Your 8 Honor. We're using 9006 to extend the bankruptcy deadline to 9 remove the cases.

10 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

11 MR. DEMO: And we'd just ask Your Honor for the 12 extension through December.

13 THE COURT: Okay. I'll hear Mr. Dondero's counsel.

14 MR. HOWELL: Good morning, Judge. Will Howell for 15 Mr. Dondero.

16 So, the argument here is not that the Court can't do this.
17 I was just pointing that there is an outside limit to what 18 we're doing. And so if you look at the cases that the Debtor
19 cites in support of this motion, the one that is most apt was 20 when Judge Nelms did a fourth extension of time. But those 21 were all 90-day extensions. Here, we're in a situation where 22 the Debtor is asking for a fourth 180-day extension of time,
23 and this is really where the, you know, objection came -- or,
24 the response in opposition came from. They specifically asked
25 that it be without prejudice to further extensions.

1 And so, at some point, you know, does 9006 have an outside
2 limit? You know, do we need to see some sort of a light at 3 the end of the tunnel here?

4 So we would ask that the motion, at a minimum, be denied
5 in part with respect to this open-ended request for extension
6 beyond two years for a 90-day period. The other cases that 7 they cite, they have one extension here, one extension there,
8 120 days here, but not 180 days after 180 days after 180 days,
9 and then asking specifically for without prejudice to further
10 extensions beyond two years. So that's -- that's where this 11 comes from.

12 THE COURT: All right. Do you think it matters that 13 this is a very complex case?

14 MR. BRIDGES: I --

15 THE COURT: There's litigation here, there, and 16 everywhere.

17 MR. HOWELL: I also think, you know, Mirant was 18 complex. I think Pilgrim's Pride was complex. I think, you
19 know, it is not out of bounds for the Court to grant a fourth
20 extension.

21 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

22 MR. BRIDGES: But to -- you know, at some point --
23 you know, maybe the Court could grant a 90-day extension and 24 make them come back a little more frequently to kind of corral
25 this thing, rather than just saying "This grant of 180 days,

1 the fourth time, is going to be without prejudice to further
2 extensions." It just gets kind of large.

3 THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Demo, your motion. You get
4 the last word.

5 MR. DEMO: Your Honor, I mean, it is without 6 prejudice for further extensions, but that doesn't mean that
7 Your Honor is granting the further extensions now. It means
8 we'll have to come back. We'll have to make our case for why
9 an extension is necessary. And, you know, if Your Honor
10 doesn't want to give us another extension past December 2021,
11 Your Honor doesn't have to. This is not an order saying that 12 it's a limitless grant.

13 You know, I'd also ask, you know, quite honestly, why Mr.
14 Dondero has such an issue with this. He hasn't said that any 15 of these cases involve him. He hasn't given any reasons why
16 this affects him. He hasn't given any reason why this damages
17 him at all. So I do, I guess, wonder as an initial matter
18 kind of why we're here, you know, why we're responding to Mr.
19 Dondero's request, when that request really has no impact on
20 him.

21 And then, Your Honor, to the extent that you are inclined
22 to limit this, I would say, you know, we would ask for a
23 reasonable extension of time. We do think an extension of 24 time, because of the complexity of this case, through December
25 is warranted. But if Your Honor for some reason does agree

1 that a shorter extension is necessary under 9006 -- I don't
2 think it is -- we'd just ask that Your Honor grant us leave to 3 come back for further extensions of time.

4 THE COURT: Okay. All right. I will -- I'll grant a
5 90-day extension, without prejudice for further extensions.

6 MR. DEMO: Thank you, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: Maybe in 90 days we'll be farther down
8 the road and we won't need any more extensions, but you'll 9 have the ability to argue for more if you think it's really
10 necessary. All right. So that will bring us to around
11 September 14th, I guess.

12 All right. Well, let's go ahead and hear opening
13 statements with regard to the show cause matter. And again,
14 if you want to roll in arguments about the -- well, no, you
15 said the six hours only applies to show cause, so we'll not 16 hear opening statements with regard to the Seery retention
17 modification, just show cause.

18 MR. MORRIS: All right. Before I begin, Your Honor,
19 I have a small deck to guide --

20 THE COURT: Okay.

21 MR. MORRIS: -- to guide my opening statement.

22 THE COURT: All right.

23 MR. MORRIS: Can I approach the bench?

24 THE COURT: You may. And is your legal assistant
25 going to share her content --

1 MR. MORRIS: Yes.

2 THE COURT: -- so people on the WebEx will see?

3 Okay.

4 MR. MORRIS: That's the intention, Your Honor.

5 THE COURT: Okay.

6 MR. MORRIS: All right. Are you ready for me to 7 proceed?

8 THE COURT: I am. And obviously, everyone has a
9 copy?

10 MR. MORRIS: Yes.

11 THE COURT: Your opponents have a copy of this?

12 MR. MORRIS: Yep.

13 THE COURT: Okay. Although we hope to see it on the 14 screen.

15 OPENING STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF THE DEBTOR

16 MR. MORRIS: Good morning, Your Honor. John Morris;
17 Pachulski, Stang, Ziehl & Jones; for the Debtor.

18 We're here today on the Debtor's motion to hold certain
19 entities and individuals in contempt of court for violating a 20 very clear and specific court order. I hope to be relatively 21 brief in my opening here, Your Honor, and I'd like to begin
22 where I think we must, and that is, how do we -- how do we 23 prove this and what do we have to prove?

24 The elements of a claim for contempt of court are really
25 rather straightforward. The Movant must establish by clear

1 and convincing evidence three things.

2 THE COURT: Let me stop you and stop the clock.

3 We're not seeing the shared content.

4 MR. MORRIS: Uh-huh.

5 THE COURT: Did you want her to go ahead and share
6 her content?

7 MR. MORRIS: I did.

8 THE COURT: Okay.

9 MR. MORRIS: I was hoping that she'd do that.

10 THE COURT: All right. It says it's receiving 11 content.

12 MR. MORRIS: There we go. It's on my screen, anyway.

13 THE COURT: Oh, here it is. I don't know why it's 14 not on my Polycom. Can you all see it out there?

15 (Chorus of affirmative replies.)

16 THE COURT: Okay. Very good.

17 MR. MORRIS: Okay.

18 THE COURT: You may proceed.

19 MR. MORRIS: Thank you, Your Honor.

20 So, there's three elements to the cause of action for 21 contempt, for civil contempt. We have to prove by clear and 22 convincing evidence that a court order was in effect; that the 23 order required certain conduct by the Respondents; and that
24 the Respondent failed to comply with the Court's order.

25 We've cited in the footnote the applicable case law from

1 the Fifth Circuit, and I don't believe that there's any
2 dispute that is indeed the legal standard.

3 The intent of the Respondents as to liability is 4 completely irrelevant. It doesn't matter if they thought they 5 were doing the right thing. It doesn't matter if they 6 believed in their heart of hearts that the court order was 7 invalid. These are the three elements, and we will be able to 8 establish these elements not by clear and convincing evidence,
9 but if we ever had to, beyond reasonable doubt.

10 If we can go to the next slide, please.

11 We begin with the Court's order, the Court's July 9 order.
12 And that order states very clearly what conduct was required.
13 And the conduct that was required was that no entity could 14 commence or pursue -- those are really the magic words --
15 commence or pursue a claim against Mr. Seery without the 16 Bankruptcy Court doing certain things. And we've referred to 17 this as the gatekeeper. And the only question I believe the 18 Court has to ask today is whether the Respondents commenced or 19 pursued a claim against Mr. Seery without seeking Bankruptcy
20 Court approval, as set forth in this order.

21 I'll dispute that there's anything ambiguous about this.
22 I'll dispute that it could not be clearer what conduct was 23 prohibited. It could not be clearer. The only question is 24 whether the conduct constitutes the pursuit of a claim.

25 Let's see what they did. If we could go to the next

1 slide. There will be no dispute about what they did. And 2 what they did is, a week after filing a lawsuit against the
3 Debtor and two others arising out of the HarbourVest
4 settlement, a settlement that this Court approved, after 5 notice and a hearing and participation by the Respondents,
6 after they had the opportunity to take discovery, after they 7 had the opportunity to examine Mr. Seery about the value of 8 HarbourVest's interest in HCLOF, after all of that, they 9 brought a lawsuit after Mr. Patrick took control of the DAF
10 and CLO Holdco. And that lawsuit related to nothing but the 11 HarbourVest suit, and it named in Paragraph 2, right up above,
12 Mr. Seery as a potential party. And a week later, Your Honor,
13 they filed what we call the Seery Motion, and it was a motion
14 for leave to amend their complaint to add Mr. Seery as a
15 defendant.

16 We believe that that clearly violates the Court's July 7
17 order. And indeed, again, these are facts. They're not -- 18 they're not in dispute. Just look at the first sentence of 19 their motion. The purpose of the motion was to name James 20 Seery as a defendant. That was the purpose of the motion.
21 And the way that they made the motion, Your Honor -- and these 22 are undisputed facts -- the way they made the motion, Your 23 Honor, shows contemptuous intent. We don't have to prove 24 intent, but I think it might be relevant when you get to 25 remedies. Okay?

1 And so how do I -- why do I say that? Because they made
2 this motion, Your Honor, and they didn't have to. Everybody
3 knows that under Rule 15 they could have amended the complaint
4 if they wanted to. If they wanted to, they didn't need the 5 Court's permission. What they wanted to do was try to get the 6 District Court to do what they knew they couldn't. And that's 7 contemptuous.

8 And they did it, Your Honor, without notice to the Debtor.
9 Even after the Debtor had accepted service of the complaint,
10 even after we told them, if you go down this path, we're going 11 to file a motion for contempt, they did it anyway. They 12 didn't serve the Debtor. They didn't give the Debtor a 13 courtesy copy. They didn't notify the Debtor. The only thing
14 that happened was the next day, when the District Court
15 dismissed it without prejudice, they sent us a copy of that 16 notice. And within three days, we were here.

17 A court order was in effect. Mr. Patrick is going to 18 admit to that. There's not going to be any dispute about 19 that. The order required that the Respondents come to this 20 Court before they pursue a claim against Mr. Seery, and they 21 failed to comply with that order. The facts, again -- if we 22 can go to the next slide. We can look at some of the detail,
23 because the timeline is mindboggling.

24 Mr. Patrick became the Plaintiffs' authorized
25 representative on March 24th. And folks, when I took their

1 depositions, weren't specific about dates, and that's why some
2 of the entries here refer to sometime after, but there's no
3 question that the order of events is as presented here and as 4 the evidence will show today.

5 The evidence will show that sometime after Patrick became
6 the Plaintiffs' authorized representative, Mr. Dondero
7 informed Mr. Patrick that Highland had usurped an investment
8 opportunity from the Plaintiffs. Mr. Patrick is going to 9 testify to that. Mr. Patrick is also going to testify that,
10 without prompting, without making a request, D.C. Sauter, the 11 general counsel of NexPoint Advisors, recommended the Sbaiti
12 firm to Mr. Patrick. Mr. Patrick considered nobody else.

13 Mr. Patrick retained the Sbaiti firm in April. In other 14 words, within 12 days of the filing of the complaint. They're 15 retained and they conduct an investigation. You're going to 16 hear the assertion of the attorney-client and the common
17 interest privilege every time I ask Mr. Dondero what he and 18 Mr. Sbaiti talked about and whether they talked about naming
19 Jim Seery as a defendant. But with Patrick's authorization,
20 the Sbaiti firm filed the complaint on April 12th, just days
21 after they were retained.

22 It's like a -- it's an enormous complaint. I don't know
23 how they did that so quickly. But in any event, the important
24 point is that they all worked together. None of this happened
25 until Mr. Patrick became the authorized representative.

1 Mr. Patrick is going to tell you, Your Honor, he's going
2 to tell you that he had no knowledge of any wrongdoing by Mr.
3 Seery prior to the time he assumed the rein of the DAF and the 4 CLO Holdco. He had no knowledge, Your Honor, of any claims
5 that the DAF and CLO Holdco had against the Debtor until he 6 became the Plaintiffs' authorized representative and Mr.
7 Dondero spoke to him.

8 If we can flip to the next page. Mr. Dondero has 9 effective control of the DAF. He has effective control of CLO
10 Holdco. You're going to be bombarded with corporate documents
11 today, because they're going to show you -- and they want you
12 to respect the corporate form, they really want you to follow
13 the rules and respect the corporate form, because only Mr.
14 Scott was responsible for the DAF and CLO Holdco until he 15 handed the reins on March 24th to Mr. Patrick. Mr. Dondero
16 has nothing to do with this. He's going to tell you. He's 17 going to tell you he had nothing to do with the selection of 18 Mr. Patrick as Mr. Scott's replacement.

19 The facts are going to show otherwise, Your Honor. The 20 DAF is a $200 million charitable organization that is funded
21 almost exclusively with assets derived from Highland or Mr.
22 Dondero or the Get Good Trust or the Dugaboy Trust. The 23 evidence is going to show that at all times these entities had 24 shared services agreements and investment advisory agreements
25 with HCMLP. The evidence will show that HCMLP at all times

1 was controlled by Mr. Dondero.

2 And it made sense. The guy put in an awful lot of money
3 for charitable usage. Is he really just going to say, I don't 4 really care who runs it? The evidence is going to show that 5 between October 2020 and January 2021, Grant Scott actually
6 exercised independence. Grant Scott was Mr. Dondero's
7 childhood friend. They went to UVA together. They were 8 roommates. Mr. Scott was the best man at Mr. Dondero's 9 wedding. But we were now in bankruptcy court. We're now in 10 the fishbowl. And I will -- this may be a little argument,
11 but there's no disputing the facts that Mr. Scott acted
12 independently, and he paid the price for it. Mr. Scott did it
13 three times.

14 He did it when he amended CLO Holdco's proof of claim to 15 take it down to zero. He did it again after he withdrew the 16 objection to the HarbourVest settlement motion. And he did it
17 again when he settled the lawsuit that the Debtors had brought 18 against CLO Holdco. And that -- and on each of those three 19 occasions, the evidence will show that Mr. Scott did not 20 communicate with Mr. Dondero in advance, that Mr. Dondero
21 found out about these acts of independence after the fact, and 22 that each time he found out about it he had a little 23 conversation with Mr. Scott.

24 Mr. Dondero is going to tell you about it, and he's going
25 to tell you that he told Mr. Scott each act was inappropriate.

1 You may have heard that word before. Each act was not in the 2 best interests of the DAF.

3 The last of those conversations happened either on or just 4 after January 26th. And by January 31st, Mr. Scott gave 5 notice of his resignation. And you're going to see that 6 notice of resignation. And he asks for releases.

7 Mr. Patrick becomes, almost two months later, the 8 successor to Mr. Scott. Mr. Dondero is going to say he has no
9 idea how that happened. He was just told after the fact that 10 Mr. Patrick and Mr. Scott had an agreement. He's going to 11 tell you they had an agreement and he just heard about it
12 afterwards. He didn't really -- for two months, I guess, he 13 sat there after Mr. Scott told him that he wanted out and did 14 nothing to try to find out who's going to take control of my 15 charitable foundation with $200 million. He wasn't 16 interested.

17 But here's the thing, Your Honor. If we go to the next
18 slide. Let's see what Mr. Scott said at his deposition last 19 week. Question, "Do you know who selected Mark?" Answer, "I 20 do not." Question, "Do you know how Mark was selected?" Mark 21 is a reference to Mark Patrick. "I do not." "Did you ever
22 ask Mark how he was selected?" "I did not." "Did you ever
23 ask Mark who selected him?" "I did not." "Did you ever ask
24 anybody at any time how Mr. Patrick was selected to succeed
25 you?" "No, I did not." "Did you ever ask anybody at any time

1 as to who made the decision to select Mr. Patrick to succeed
2 you?" "No, I did not."

3 So I don't know what happened between Mr. Patrick and Mr.
4 Dondero when Mr. Patrick supposedly told Mr. Dondero that
5 there was an agreement with Mr. Scott, but that is news to Mr.
6 Scott. He had no idea.

7 Your Honor, we are going to prove by clear and convincing
8 evidence that each of the Respondents violated a very clear
9 and specific court order. And unless the Court has any other
10 questions, I'll stop for now.

11 THE COURT: No questions.

12 MR. MORRIS: Thank you, Your Honor.

13 THE COURT: All right. Who is making the argument
14 for the Respondents?

15 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, I am. I'm just trying to 16 put the PowerPoint up on the WebEx.

17 THE COURT: Okay.

18 MR. SBAITI: Sorry about that.

19 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, I'll try not to make this a 20 practice, but can I inquire as to how much time I used?

21 THE COURT: Oh. Nate?

22 THE CLERK: About thirteen minutes.

23 THE COURT: Thirteen minutes?

24 MR. MORRIS: Thank you very much.

25 THE COURT: Okay. All right.

1 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, our PowerPoint is a little
2 bit longer than that one. May I approach with a copy?

3 THE COURT: You may. Uh-huh.

4 (Pause.)

5 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, it does feel good to be back
6 in the courtroom.

7 THE COURT: Okay.

8 MR. SBAITI: It's been a long time.

9 THE COURT: Yes. For us, too.

10 MR. SBAITI: Jut wish it wasn't under a circumstance
11 where someone is trying to sanction me.

12 But we're going to be dividing up this oral argument a 13 little bit. Also, to just kind of break up a little bit of 14 the monotony, because I think we have a lot to cover at the 15 opening stage of this. And I'll try to be as expeditious as I 16 can be.

17 OPENING STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF THE SHOW CAUSE RESPONDENTS

18 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, the thing we -- the thing we 19 open with is the due process issue that we raised in our 20 brief. And where this really arises from is the Court's show 21 cause order calls us violators before we've had a chance to 22 respond to the allegations and before we've obviously been 23 able to approach this hearing. And the word violators means
24 something to us, Your Honor, because I've been a lawyer for a
25 long time, my partner has been a lawyer for a long time, our

1 clients have never been sanctioned, we've never been
2 sanctioned, and for us to be labeled violators first by 3 counsel and then in a court order makes us wonder whether or 4 not this process is already prejudged or predetermined.

5 THE COURT: I actually want to address that. Turn
6 off the clock.

7 Just so you know, I looked this up a while back, because
8 we gave a bankruptcy judges panel at some CLE. The average
9 bankruptcy judge in our district, back when I looked, signs
10 over 200 orders a week.

11 MR. SBAITI: Sure.

12 THE COURT: Many of those -- in fact, most of them --
13 are submitted by lawyers. So, you know, a big chunk of my 14 week is signing orders. And I obviously give more scrutiny to 15 those that are substantive in nature. Okay? If someone 16 submits to me a 50-page debtor-in-possession financing order,
17 I will look at that much more carefully than what I consider a
18 mere procedural order setting a hearing.

19 So I regret that that word was used, but I can assure you
20 I fairly quickly set that -- signed that, I should say --
21 regarding it as a merely procedural order setting a hearing.
22 Okay? So it's as simple as that. There was no hmm, I like 23 that word, violator. I had a stack, if you will, an 24 electronic stack of probably 200 orders in front of me the day
25 I signed that. Okay?

1 So, if that makes anyone feel any better, I don't know,
2 but that's the reality.

3 Okay. You can start the clock again.

4 MR. SBAITI: And I appreciate Your Honor saying that.
5 It does make us feel better, both about where the -- the 6 genesis of the order and the impact and its reflection on what
7 Your Honor thinks in terms of going into this.

8 The other thing that obviously raised concerns, and I
9 assume this comes from the same place, was four days ahead of 10 that order counsel told us the Court was going to order
11 everyone to be in person, and they had advance notice of that,
12 and we weren't sure how they had advance notice of that. I
13 guess they assumed --

14 THE COURT: I can assure you right here on the record
15 I never had ex parte communications with any lawyer in this 16 case, on this matter or any other matter. Okay? Again, those 17 are pretty strong words to venture out there with, which your 18 pleading did venture out there with those words.

19 My courtroom deputy, Traci, I think answers her phone 24
20 hours a day. So I'm quite sure she had communications with 21 the lawyers about this, just like she probably had 22 communications with you and your firm and every other firm in 23 this case. Okay?

24 MR. SBAITI: Like I said, Your Honor, we appreciated
25 what Your Honor -- appreciate what Your Honor said, but that

1 issue obviously stuck out -- stuck out to us, in combination.
2 So I'll move on from that issue.

3 This has to do with the lawsuit that was filed, and the 4 lawsuit, the genesis of the lawsuit, I think it's important to 5 say, because the argument has been raised in the briefing and 6 we wanted to address it upfront, why the lawsuit comes about.
7 And it comes about because of the Advisers Act and the 8 responsibilities that the Debtor has to the assets of the 9 funds that it manages. And the Advisers Act imposes a duty
10 not only on Highland but obviously on its control people and 11 its supervised people. And the lawsuit has to do with HCLOF, 12 which is what HarbourVest owned a piece of. And Highland, as 13 the advisor to HCLOF and the advisor to the DAF, owed
14 fiduciary duties to CLO Holdco, which is the DAF's holding 15 entity of its assets in HCLOF, but Highland Capital was also 16 an advisor, a registered investment advisor to the DAF
17 directly at the time. And so those federally-imposed
18 fiduciary duties lie at the crux of that lawsuit.

19 Moving on, Mr. Seery testified at the hearing that was in 20 this Court to be -- to get him appointed, and this was Exhibit
21 2 that was presented by the Debtor, and on Page 16 at the 22 bottom he says -- of the transcript, he says, I think, from a
23 high level, the best way to think about the Debtor is that
24 it's a registered investment advisor. As a registered
25 investment advisor, which is really any advisor of third-party

1 money over $25 million, it has to register with the SEC, and
2 it manages funds in many different ways.

3 In the middle of the next page he says, In addition, the 4 Debtor manages about $2 billion, $2 billion in total managed
5 assets, around $2 billion in CLO assets, and then other
6 securities, which are hedge funds -- other entities, rather,
7 which are hedge funds or PE style. Private equity style.

8 On Page 23 towards the bottom he says, As I said, the 9 Investment Advisers Act puts a fiduciary duty on Highland 10 Capital to discharge its duty to the investors. So while we 11 have duties to the estate, we also have duties, as I mentioned
12 in my last testimony, to each of the investors in the funds.
13 CLO Holdco would be an investor in one of those funds, HCLOF.

14 He goes on to say, Some of them are related parties, and 15 those are a little bit easier. Some of them are owned by 16 Highland. HCLOF was not owned by Highland. But there are 17 third-party investors in these funds who have no relation
18 whatsoever to Highland, and we owe them a fiduciary duty both
19 to manage their assets prudently but also to seek to maximize
20 value.

21 Now, the lawsuit alleges that Seery testified that the 22 HarbourVest portion of Highland CLO Funding was worth $22-1/2
23 million. Now, Mr. Morris wants the Court to hinge on the fact
24 that, well, no one asked him whether he was lying. But that's 25 not really the standard, and it certainly isn't the standard

1 when someone's an investment advisor and owes fiduciary
2 duties, which include fiduciary duties to be transparent with 3 your investors.

4 It also includes fiduciary duties not to self-deal.

5 The lawsuit also alleges that, in reality, those assets
6 were worth double that -- double that amount at the time. We
7 found out just, you know, in late March/early April that a
8 third -- from a third party who had access to the underlying 9 valuations at the time that those values were actually double
10 and that there was a misrepresentation, giving rise to the 11 lawsuit. That change in circumstance is the key issue behind
12 the lawsuit.

13 We allege that Mr. Seery and the Debtor, as RIAs, had a 14 duty to not self-deal and be fully transparent with that 15 information, and we think both of those things were violated
16 under the Advisers Act.

17 We don't allege that the HarbourVest settlement should be 18 undone or unwound. We can't unscramble that egg. We do seek 19 damages, as I believe is our right, arising out of the 20 wrongdoing and the process of pushing forth the settlement.

21 I think one of the allegations in the actual motion for 22 the show cause order was that this was going to undo all of 23 the hard work that Court had done and basically unwind and try
24 to re-piece Humpty Dumpty back together again. But that's 25 simply not the case. Nowhere in our allegations or in the

1 relief that we request are we trying to undo the HarbourVest
2 settlement as such.

3 Now, whether the lawsuit should be dismissed under the 4 affirmative defenses that they bring up -- res judicata,
5 waiver, release -- all of those are questionable under the 6 Advisers Act, given the change of circumstance, and therefore 7 are also questions on the merits. They don't go to the 8 colorability of the underlying claims in and of themselves,
9 which I think is important.

10 So we asked for leave to amend from the Court. And what 11 they want us to do, Your Honor, is they want to sanction us
12 for asking. They're saying asking for leave to amend is the 13 same thing as pursuing a claim. And I'll get to the specifics
14 on that in a little bit. But that's the frame. Can we be 15 sanctioned for asking a court, any court, even if it's the 16 wrong court, for permission to bring the lawsuit? They don't 17 cite a single case that says that that, in and of itself, is 18 sanctionable conduct, us asking.

19 So I'd like to introduce some of the Respondents.

20 Your Honor, may I have one of these waters?

21 THE COURT: Certainly.

22 MR. SBAITI: Thank you.

23 THE COURT: That's why they're there, by the way.

24 MR. SBAITI: I didn't know if they belonged to 25 somebody else.

1 THE COURT: We've scattered water bottles around for 2 people.

3 MR. SBAITI: I appreciate it. Thank you, Your Honor.

4 THE COURT: So if you see these little ones, that's 5 for anyone.

6 MR. SBAITI: So, this is an org chart, and you'll see
7 it as -- the exhibits that the Debtor's going to bring up.
8 And when we talk about the DAF, Your Honor -- I don't know if 9 that's visible to you. We're on Slide 19, if you're looking
10 at it on paper. There's a little number at the lower right-
11 hand corner. The charitable DAF GP, LLP and then the 12 Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd. together are the principles of the 13 Charitable DAF Fund, LP. And so when we refer to the DAF or 14 the Charitable DAF, that's really the entity structure that 15 we're referring to. And then the GP and Holdco Ltd. have a 16 managing member. It used to be Grant Scott at the time this 17 was done. Today, it's Mr. Mark Patrick, who's in the room,
18 sitting next to Mr. Bridges.

19 The DAF is a charitable fund. It's funded over $32
20 million, as the evidence will show, including Dallas-Fort
21 Worth organizations, The Family Place, Dallas Children's 22 Advocacy, Center for Brain Health, the Crystal Ray Initiative, 23 Friends of the Dallas Police, Snowball Express, various 24 community and education initiatives, Dallas Arts, museums, the 25 Perot Museum, Dallas Zoo. That evidence is undisputed, Your

1 Honor. The DAF is a real fund. It is a real charitable fund.
2 It does real good in the community.

3 Now, Respondents -- Holdco, which you will see at the 4 bottom of that chart, is essentially the investment arm.
5 There are assets that the DAF owns in various pots, and Holdco
6 is the actual business engine that generates the money from 7 those assets that then -- that then gets passed up to the 8 charitable -- the four charitable foundations at the top.

9 I'll go back to Slide 21. And if you look at the top,
10 Your Honor, the Dallas Foundation, Greater Kansas City
11 Community, Santa Barbara Foundation, The Community Foundation
12 of North Texas: Those are the charities that then themselves
13 bestow the funds onto the actual recipients. So the money
14 flows up as dividends or distributions, and then gets 15 contributed.

16 CLO Holdco invests those assets, and it's an important
17 part of the business model, so that you're not sending out
18 principal. It's the money that CLO makes, the profits, if you 19 will, that it is able to generate that gets donated and makes 20 its way into the community.

21 So there's an important feature to the structure in that 22 it has to be able to generate money. It's not just money that 23 sits there and waits to be distributed. There's active 24 investing going on.

25 Mr. Mark Patrick owns the control shares of the entities

1 comprising the DAF and CLO Holdco, as I showed you, and the
2 beneficiary charitable foundations hold what we call
3 beneficial interests, where they just get money. They don't 4 have a vote.

5 Mr. Patrick cares about the public service the DAF engages
6 in. He's been an advisor to the DAF, CLO Holdco, and its 7 predecessor, Mr. Scott, since its inception. He receives no
8 compensation for the job he's doing today. And you'll hear 9 how he became -- how he inured to the control position of the 10 DAF and CLO Holdco from him, but it doesn't involve Mr.
11 Dondero, and the absence of someone saying that it did, I
12 think, is going to be striking by the end of the presentation
13 of evidence.

14 Their only argument against you, Your Honor, is going to 15 be you just can't believe them. But not believing witnesses
16 is not a substitute for the lack of affirmative evidence.

17 Mr. Patrick has said all along he authorized the filing of 18 the motion for leave to add Mr. Seery to the lawsuit in 19 District Court. He doesn't believe the motion to amend 20 violated this Court's orders, for the reasons stated in our 21 responsive filings to the motions for contempt and show cause
22 order. That's why he authorized it.

23 My firm, Sbaiti & Company, we're a small Dallas litigation
24 boutique retained by the DAF and CLO Holdco to file the 25 lawsuit. We did an investigation. I'm tickled to death that

1 Mr. Morris loved our complaint so much and gave us the 2 compliment that we got it done in a short amount of time, but
3 we did get it done in a short amount of time, because, in the 4 end, it's a rather simple issue, as I was able to lay it out
5 in about three or four bullet points in a previous slide.

6 The written aspect of that doesn't take that long, as Your 7 Honor knows, but the idea that there's a suspicion that we
8 didn't write it or someone else wrote it and ghost-wrote it
9 and gave it to us, which I think is the insinuation he was 10 making, is completely unfounded. There's no evidence of that.

11 We carefully read Your Honor's orders. We developed a 12 good-faith basis, as required by Rule 11, that the lawsuit and 13 the motion to add Mr. Seery were not filed in bad faith or for 14 an improper purpose. We don't think they're frivolous. We 15 don't think they're in violation of Your Honor's orders, given
16 the current state of the law.

17 Mr. Dondero is one of the settlors of the CRT, of the 18 Charitable Remainder Trust that ultimately provided assets to 19 CLO Holdco and the DAF. He does care about the DAF's mission.
20 I think Mr. Morris hit the nail on the head. Of course Mr.
21 Dondero cares about what happens to it. He's one of the 22 settlors, and it was his funds that initially were put into 23 it, so he's allowed to care. And I don't think him caring is 24 insidious, and him caring doesn't mean he has control and 25 doesn't mean he's the driving force behind some insidious

1 conspiracy that they're trying to insinuate exists.

2 He is an advisor to the DAF and CLO Holdco. It is a lot
3 of money and it needs advice, and he's an advisor to Mr.
4 Patrick. We don't run away from any of those facts, Your
5 Honor.

6 We also don't run away from the fact that he was the 7 source of some of the information that came in to that 8 complaint and that he relayed some of that information. The 9 content, we do claim work product privilege and attorney-
10 client privilege, because he's an agent of our client, and as 11 lawyers doing an investigation, the content of our 12 communications is protected under the attorney-client and work
13 product privileges, as well as the joint interest privilege.
14 But the fact that we admit that those communications happened,
15 we're not running away from that fact.

16 So, what does he have to do with this? It's interesting
17 that that opening argument you just heard spent about three 18 minutes on contempt and the other fourteen or fifteen minutes
19 or so on Mr. Dondero. And only on Mr. Dondero. There's a 20 negative halo effect, I believe, that they're trying to get 21 this Court to abide by. They want to inflame Your Honor and 22 hopefully capture -- cultivate and then capitalize on whatever
23 antipathy you might have for Mr. Dondero, and then sweep us
24 all in under that umbrella and sanction everybody just because 25 he had some involvement.

1 But whatever involvement he has, which we admit he had
2 some involvement in helping us marshal the facts, that's not a
3 basis for us to be sanctioned if there isn't an actual 4 sanctionable conduct that -- as we say there isn't.

5 We think there's an ulterior motive. That's why Mr.
6 Morris just announced to Your Honor, Mr. Dondero controls it
7 all. The ulterior motive, I believe, is, down the line, when 8 they want to argue some kind of alter ego theory, they want to 9 lay that foundation here. I don't think this is the 10 appropriate time for that foundation, and I don't think any of 11 the information and the evidence they're trying to marshal in 12 front of you is really going to be relevant to the very 13 specific question that's before Your Honor: Does our motion
14 asking the District Court to add Mr. Seery violate your order, 15 or violate it in a way that can be -- that we can be 16 sanctioned for? We don't believe it violates it.

17 So, the three core standards that have to be met. First 18 of all, civil contempt requires a valid, enforceable order.
19 It's not debatable and it's not -- I don't think that's a 20 shocking statement. Then they have to have clear and 21 convincing evidence of a violation of a specific unambiguous
22 term therein. Mr. Morris wants his version of the word pursue
23 to be unambiguous, and I think the word pursue is unambiguous.
24 But the way he wants you to construe it makes it completely
25 ambiguous, and we'll -- I'll get to that in a moment.

1 Now, for sanctioning counsel, the Fifth Circuit has held
2 you have to find bad faith. We're adjudged under a slightly
3 separate standard under the Fifth Circuit law. So the 4 contempt motion, though, to the extent it seeks to impose
5 double and treble attorney's fees, those are in punitive
6 fines. They are not compensatory. So criminal contempt
7 standards are raised, and so they have to show a violation in 8 bad faith. In other words, our arguments that we're making 9 have to be bad faith, not simply that we're wrong, and they
10 have to show beyond a reasonable doubt, usually in front of a 11 jury. The U.S. Supreme Court explained the difference and the 12 different procedural protections that have to be involved if 13 they're really going to seek double and treble compensatory
14 damages.

15 Now, he's right. Saying we intended -- saying that we 16 didn't mean to violate it isn't necessarily a defense. But 17 what you're actually going to hear from him is the opposite
18 argument, that even though we didn't violate it, we wanted to.
19 That's what he says. That's why he quoted you the opening
20 section of our motion asking for permission to sue Mr. Seery,
21 because that's a statement of purpose. And he says you should 22 sanction them right there. That's literally what he said.
23 It's right there, their purpose. If intent is irrelevant to 24 them, it's irrelevant as to us. The fact that we wanted to 25 sue Seery is fully admitted. We don't deny the fact that we

1 believe Mr. Seery should be a defendant in this lawsuit. But 2 the fact that we didn't sue him is why we didn't violate the 3 order. And they can't say that the fact that we eventually
4 wanted to sue him means we did violate the order. That door
5 swings both ways, Your Honor.

6 We don't think any element is met. The order, while writ
7 large, prohibits suing Mr. Seery without permission, and we
8 did not sue James Seery, pure and simple. The July 12 --
9 14th, 2020 order purports to reserve exclusively to this Court
10 that which, according to the statutes and the case law, we 11 believe the Court can't exclusively reserve to itself. And 12 Your Honor, the order prohibits commencing and pursuing a
13 claim against Jim Seery without coming here first to decide
14 the colorability of such a claim.

15 They, I believe, admit that we didn't commence a claim
16 against Jim Seery. I think they've admitted that now. So now
17 we're talking about what does pursue mean? We didn't pursue a
18 claim against Jim Seery. Is asking for leave to bring suit
19 the same thing as pursuing a claim? That's the question
20 that's really before Your Honor. Lawyers never talk of 21 pursuing a claim that hasn't been filed. We don't say, I'm 22 pursuing a claim and I'm going to file it next week or next 23 year. Usually, that type of language is in an order, because 24 when the order happens, there may already be claims against 25 Mr. Seery. And so the pursuit of claim is supposed to attack

1 those cases, to come here and show colorability, presumably,
2 before they continue on with those lawsuits. It doesn't mean
3 asking for permission.

4 If it did mean asking for permission, then complying with 5 Your Honor's order would be a violation. If the motion for 6 leave is a violation because it is pursuing a claim, if I had 7 filed that motion in this Court, it would still be pursuing a
8 claim without Your Honor's permission. I'd have to get 9 permission just to ask for permission. It puts us in this 10 endless loop of, well, if asking for permission is pursuing a 11 claim, and pursuing a claim is without permission violates the 12 Court's order, we'd always be in violation of the Court's
13 order just for asking, just for following Your Honor's edict.

14 THE COURT: I'm just, I'm going to interject. You 15 were supposed to, under the order, file a motion in this 16 Court.

17 MR. SBAITI: I understand that, Your Honor, and I
18 think that we can get to the specifics on why we disagree with 19 how the motion went, Your Honor. We hadn't sued Mr. Seery.
20 So as long as we dealt with the order, which is what our 21 position is, then we don't believe we violated the order.

22 THE COURT: You think the order was ambiguous,
23 requiring a motion to be filed in the Bankruptcy Court?

24 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, what we believe is that the 25 order was ambiguous in terms of whether us asking for

1 permission in the District Court was in and of itself a
2 violation of the order. We don't think it was. Actually, we
3 don't think the order's ambiguous to that extent. The second
4 we file a suit against Mr. Seery and we don't have some 5 resolution of the issue, then I think the question of 6 sanctionability comes in. But we never filed suit, Your 7 Honor.

8 The Court doesn't say I can't seek permission in the 9 District Court or that we can't go to the District Court with 10 -- which has general jurisdiction over this case, and has 11 jurisdiction, we believe, over the actual case and controversy
12 that's being raised. But the idea of pursuit being a 13 violation of the order, of the letter of that order, is 14 nonsensical under that, it leads to an absurd result, and it's 15 plainly vague and ambiguous, Your Honor.

16 Asking Judge Boyle or asking a District Court for 17 permission is not a violation of this Court's order, not the 18 way it was written and not -- and I don't even believe it was 19 a violation necessarily of the Court's -- of the language that 20 the Court has. We -- it doesn't unambiguously prevent us from 21 asking the District Court for leave.

22 The Court's order yesterday, Your Honor, applied this very 23 rule. The TRO -- you said the TRO did not specifically state, 24 Turn your cell phone over. And you denied motion for 25 sanctions on that. That's basically the argument we're making

1 here, Your Honor. We think that was the correct ruling, and 2 we think the same type of ruling applies here.

3 Your order yesterday also determined that the Court
4 ultimately believes that hiring lawyers to file motions should
5 not be viewed as having crossed the line into contemptuous
6 behavior. That's essentially the argument they want you to 7 buy, that there's somehow a vindictiveness behind this and an 8 insidious plan to violate court orders, Your Honor. We don't 9 have any evidence of that.

10 THE COURT: Okay. Take the words vindictiveness and 11 insidious out of the equation. That's making things personal, 12 and I don't like that. The key is the literal wording of the 13 order, is it not?

14 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, the key, I believe, is the 15 --

16 THE COURT: No entity may commence or pursue a cause
17 of action of any kind against Mr. Seery relating in any way to 18 his role as the chief executive officer and chief
19 restructuring officer of the Debtor without the Bankruptcy
20 Court first determining, after notice, that such claim or 21 cause of action represents a colorable claim of willful
22 misconduct or gross negligence against Mr. Seery and 23 specifically authorizing such entity to bring such a claim.
24 So I'm trying to understand why you argue that filing a motion
25 asking the District Court for permission is not inconsistent

1 with this order.

2 MR. SBAITI: Because it's not commencing a claim,
3 Your Honor. It's not commencing a claim against him.

4 THE COURT: Okay. So is your argument that if Judge
5 Boyle authorizes amendment of the pleading to add Mr. Seery
6 and then you do it, at that point they may have grounds for a
7 motion for contempt, but not yet, because she has not actually
8 granted your motion?

9 MR. SBAITI: Correct, Your Honor. I mean, in a
10 nutshell. In fact, that's one of -- I think that's probably 11 our next argument. We think, in a sense, this argument is 12 incredibly premature. There is three ways that this -- well,
13 I'd like to address this, so I've got -- I've got a diagram
14 that I think will actually help elucidate what our thought 15 process was.

16 There's three things she could have done. She could have 17 referred -- referred it to Your Honor, which is what we 18 expected was likely to happen.

19 THE COURT: But you didn't file a motion for referral
20 of the motion before her.

21 MR. SBAITI: Well, no, I don't mean in respect of 22 enforcing the reference. The referral we thought was most 23 likely going to happen because it's an associated case, and we 24 actually put those orders in front of her, so we expected that 25 those orders would end up -- that the question would

1 ultimately end up in front of Your Honor on that basis.

2 She could have denied our motion outright, in which case
3 we haven't filed a claim, we haven't violated it, or she could 4 have granted our motion and done one of two things. She could 5 have granted it to the extent that she thought leave would be 6 proper but then referred it down, or she could have decided -- 7 taken the decision as the court with general jurisdiction and 8 simply decided it all on her own. She had all of those 9 options, Your Honor, and none of them results in a claim being
10 commenced or pursued without the leave of this Court, if leave
11 is absolutely necessary, Your Honor. And that's the point
12 that we were trying to make.

13 Your Honor, the -- there's -- you know, there's no
14 evidence that, absent an order from a court with jurisdiction,
15 that we were going to file a claim against Mr. Seery, that we 16 were going to commence or pursue a claim against Mr. Seery.
17 We were cognizant of Your Honor's order. We considered that.
18 And the reason we filed them the way we did is because,
19 according to the statutes and the case law, this is the type 20 of case that would be subject to a mandatory withdrawal of the 21 reference.

22 And so there's this paradox that arises, Your Honor. And 23 the paradox that arises is that we show up and immediately go,
24 well, we need to be back in the District Court. So we filed
25 our motion there, and I don't think that was contemptuous, it

1 wasn't intended to be contemptuous of the Court, but we showed
2 the orders to the Court, made the same arguments that we have 3 been making here, that we believe that there's problems with 4 the order, we believe the order oversteps its jurisdiction and 5 maybe is unenforceable, and it's up to that District Court, as 6 it has been in almost all of these other gatekeeper order
7 cases that get filed. None of them result in sanctions, Your 8 Honor. What they result in is a District Court deciding,
9 well, either they refer it or they decide I don't need to 10 refer it. But I don't think that that is the same thing as 11 commencing or pursuing a claim in the end, Your Honor, because 12 all we did was ask for permission, and permission could have 13 been denied or granted or granted in part.

14 Your Honor, they haven't cited an injury. You've heard
15 the testimony, Your Honor, that they -- the first time they 16 knew we had filed a motion -- which I don't understand why
17 that's the first time they knew we had filed a motion; we told
18 them we were going to file the motion -- was when I forwarded
19 an email saying that it's been denied without prejudice, Your 20 Honor. Well, that means they didn't have to do any work to 21 respond to the motion. They didn't have to do any work to do
22 any of the other things.

23 And one hundred percent of the damages that they're going
24 to say they incurred is the litigation of this contempt
25 hearing or this sanction motion, as opposed to some other

1 simpler remedy, like going in to Judge Boyle and saying, Your
2 Honor, all that needs to go, which is what they eventually
3 did. But they would have had to incur those costs anyway
4 because they're now moving to enforce the reference. They
5 filed a 12(b)(6). That briefing would have existed regardless
6 of whether or not we had filed our motion, regardless of 7 whether the sanctions hearing had commenced.

8 Your Honor, I'm going to let my partner, Mr. Bridges,
9 address this part of it, if I could. I think that gets into 10 more of the questions that you asked, and I think he can 11 answer them a lot better than I can.

12 THE COURT: Okay.

13 MR. SBAITI: Thank you.

14 THE COURT: That's fine.

15 MR. BRIDGES: Thank you, Your Honor. And I do want
16 to address pointedly the questions that you're asking. First,
17 though, I was hoping to back up to some preliminary remarks
18 that you made and say that I find the 200 orders a week just 19 mindboggling. It amazes me, and puts the entire hearing in a 20 different perspective for me. I'm grateful that you shared
21 that with us.

22 Your expression of regret about naming us violators was 23 very meaningful to me. It causes me -- well, the strong words
24 in our brief were mine. I wrote them. And your expression of 25 regret causes me to regret some of those words. I'm hopeful

1 that you can understand, at least in part, our reaction out of 2 concern.

3 And Your Honor, it's awkward for me to talk about problems
4 with your order, and that's the task that's come to me, to 5 list and talk through four of them and why we think they put 6 us in a really awkward position in deciding what to do in this 7 case, in the filing of it, in where we filed it, and in how we 8 sought leave to go forward against Mr. Seery. That was 9 awkward and difficult for us, and I'm hopeful that I can 10 explain that and that you'll understand, if I'm blunt about 11 problems with the order, that I mean it very respectfully.
12 Two hundred orders a week is still very difficult for me to 13 get my mind around.

14 The four issues in the order start with the gatekeeping.
15 Then, secondly, in the preliminary remarks, I made mention of 16 the Applewood case and the notice that the order releases some 17 claims. Its effect of --

18 THE COURT: And by the way, I mean, you might 19 elaborate on the facts and holding of Applewood, because I
20 came into this thinking Republic Supply v. Shoaf, and for that 21 matter, as I said, Espinosa, were much more germane. And so,
22 you know, you'll have to elaborate on Applewood. I remember 23 that case, but it's just not one people cite as frequently as 24 those two.

25 MR. BRIDGES: Yes, Your Honor. And our reply brief

1 devotes a page to the case, and I'm hopeful that I can
2 remember it well enough to give you what you're looking for 3 about it, but I would point you to our reply brief on that 4 topic as well.

5 The Shoaf case that Applewood quotes from and 6 distinguishes and expressly limits, the Shoaf case actually
7 has been cautioned and limited and distinguished numerous
8 times, if you Shepardize it, and the Applewood case is the 9 leading case, and it also is from the Fifth Circuit, that 10 describes and cabins the effects of Shoaf. And in Applewood, 11 what happened is a bankruptcy confirmation order became final
12 with releases in it, and the court held that exculpatory
13 orders in a final order from the Bankruptcy Court do not have 14 res judicata effect and do not release claims unless those 15 claims are enumerated in the exculpatory order. And --

16 THE COURT: Okay. So it was about specificity more
17 than anything else, right?

18 MR. BRIDGES: Yes, Your Honor. It was a --

19 THE COURT: Okay.

20 MR. BRIDGES: -- a blanket release, a blanket --

21 THE COURT: Okay.

22 MR. BRIDGES: -- exculpatory order that didn't 23 specify what claims were released by what parties, and 24 therefore the parties didn't have the requisite notice.

25 In my mind, Your Honor, it's comparable to the Texas

1 Supreme Court's holdings on what's required in a settlement
2 release in terms of a disclaimer of reliance, --

3 THE COURT: Okay. But, again, --

4 MR. BRIDGES: -- that if you aren't --

5 THE COURT: -- it's about specificity --

6 MR. BRIDGES: Yes, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: -- more than anything else? And then
8 we've got the U.S. Supreme Court Espinosa case subsequent.

9 MR. BRIDGES: Okay. Your Honor, I'm not sure what 10 Espinosa you're referring to. Can you tell me why that 11 applies?

12 THE COURT: Well, it was a confirmation order. It
13 was in a Chapter 13 context. And there were provisions that 14 operated to discharge student loan debt, --

15 MR. BRIDGES: Uh-huh.

16 THE COURT: -- which, of course, cannot be discharged
17 without a 523 action, a separate adversary proceeding.
18 Nevertheless, the confirmation order operated to do what 523
19 suggests you cannot do, discharge student loan debt through a
20 plan confirmation order.

21 The U.S. Supreme Court says, well, that's unfortunate that 22 the confirmation order did something which it doesn't look
23 like you can do, but no one ever objected or appealed. That's 24 my recollection of Espinosa. So it seems to be the same
25 holding as Republic Supply v. Shoaf. And what I -- why I

1 asked you to elaborate on Applewood is because it does seem to 2 deal with the specificity of the order versus the 3 enforceability, no?

4 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, if it's not obvious
5 already, I'm not prepared to argue Espinosa. And your 6 explanation of it is very helpful to me. I think you're right
7 that the specificity issue from Applewood is what we're
8 relying on. And it sounds like --

9 THE COURT: Okay. So, that being the case, how was 10 this order not specific? Okay?

11 MR. BRIDGES: That's easy, Your Honor, because it
12 doesn't say which parties are releasing which claims. And 13 what we're talking specifically about there -- as we go
14 through the order, I can show you the language -- but what 15 we're talking about specifically are the ordinary negligence
16 and breach of fiduciary duty claims that your order doesn't
17 provide for at all. Rather, it says colorability of gross
18 negligence or willful wrongdoing, if I remember the words
19 precisely, that's what must be shown to pursue a case -- a
20 cause of action against Mr. Seery, thereby -- thereby
21 indicating that claims for mere negligence, not gross
22 negligence, or breach of fiduciary duty, which is an even 23 lesser standard, that those claims are prohibited entirely.

24 And by having that kind of general all-encompassing 25 release or exculpation for potential liability involving

1 negligence, and most importantly, fiduciary duty breach under
2 the Advisers Act, that that kind of exculpation under
3 Applewood is not enforceable and has no res judicata effect
4 because it wasn't -- those claims weren't enumerated in the 5 order.

6 That for it to have the intended exculpatory effect, if 7 that was what was intended, that the fiduciary duty claims and 8 the parties who those claims may belong to would have to have 9 been enumerated.

10 And indeed, that kind of specificity, what was required in 11 Applewood, isn't even possible for a claim that hasn't yet
12 occurred for future conduct. It's not possible to enumerate
13 the details, any details, of a future claim, because the 14 underlying act -- if the underlying basis, facts for that 15 claim, haven't yet happened. It's something to happen in the 16 future.

17 And here, that's what we're dealing with. We're dealing
18 with conduct that took place well after the January and July 19 2020 orders that had that exculpatory effect. Is -- is that 20 clear?

21 THE COURT: Understood.

22 MR. BRIDGES: Thank you, Your Honor. So, the four 23 areas of the order, the four functions that the order does
24 that are problematic to us that led us to do what we have done
25 are the gatekeeping function; the release; the fact that by

1 stating sole jurisdiction, that it had a jurisdiction-
2 stripping effect; and then, finally, jurisdiction asserting,
3 where, respectfully, Your Honor, we think to some extent the 4 order goes beyond what this Court's jurisdiction is. And so
5 that not only claiming exclusive jurisdiction, but claiming
6 jurisdiction over all actions against Mr. Seery, as described
7 in the order, is going too far.

8 And those are the four issues I want to talk about one at 9 a time, and here -- I went two screens instead of one. There
10 we go. And here's the order. I have numbered the highlights
11 here out of sequence because this is the sequence that I wish 12 to talk about them and that I think their significance to our 13 decision applies.

14 Before we get into the words of this July 16, 2020 order,
15 I want to mention the January order as well. Although the 16 motion for contempt recites both orders, we don't actually
17 think the January order applies to us, because our lawsuit
18 against Mr. Seery is not about his role as a director at 19 Strand in any way. We didn't make an issue of that, other 20 than in a footnote in our brief, because we don't think that 21 distinction matters much since the orders essentially say the 22 same things.

23 I'm not sure that it matters whether we have potentially 24 violated one order or two. If Your Honor finds we've violated
25 one, I think we're on the hook regardless. If Your Honor

1 finds that we didn't violate the July order, I don't think you
2 will find that we violated the January order, either. So my
3 focus is on the July order.

4 The gatekeeping function comes from the preliminary
5 language about commencing or pursuing a claim or cause of 6 action against Mr. Seery. And it says what you want us to do
7 first before bringing such a claim.

8 The second issue of the release comes a little bit later.
9 It's the colorable claim of willful misconduct or gross
10 negligence language. In other words, because only claims of 11 willful misconduct or gross negligence can pass the bar, can 12 pass muster under this order, that lesser claims -- ordinary
13 negligence and breach of fiduciary duty -- that those claims
14 are released by this order. That's the second argument.

15 Third is your reference to sole jurisdiction and the 16 effect that that has of attempting to say that other courts,
17 courts of original jurisdiction, do not have jurisdiction
18 because it solely resides here. That's the third thing I want
19 to address.

20 And then the fourth is the notion that we have to come to 21 this Court first for any action that fits the description of 22 an action against Mr. Seery, when some actions are, through 23 acts of Congress, removed from what this Court has the power
24 to address. Under 157(d) of Title 28, Your Honor, there are 25 some kinds of actions which withdrawal of the reference is

1 mandatory, and therefore this court lacks jurisdiction to 2 address those.

3 And so those are the four issues I want to tackle,
4 starting with the first, the gatekeeping. Your Honor, Section
5 28 -- Section 959 of Title 28 appears to be precisely on 6 point. It calls -- it is called by some courts an exception
7 to the Barton Doctrine, which we believe is the only basis,
8 the Barton Doctrine, for this Court to claim that it has 9 jurisdiction or sole jurisdiction and can require us to come
10 here first. We think the Barton Doctrine is the only basis
11 for that. We haven't seen anything in the briefing from 12 opposing counsel indicating there was another basis for it.
13 We think we're talking about the Barton Doctrine here as the 14 basis for that.

15 959 is exception to the Barton Doctrine, and we think it
16 explicitly authorizes what we have done.

17 Secondly, Your Honor, the order, the gatekeeping functions
18 of the order are too broad because of its incorporation of the 19 jurisdictional problems and the release problem that we'll 20 talk about later. But for problem number one, the key issue
21 that we're talking about is 959 as an exception to the Barton
22 Doctrine. And I went the wrong way.

23 THE COURT: So, we could go down a lot of rabbit
24 trails today, and I'm going to try not to do that, but are you
25 saying the very common practice of having gatekeeping

1 provisions in Chapter 11 cases is just defective law under 28
2 U.S.C. § 959(a)?

3 MR. BRIDGES: Can I say yes and no?

4 THE COURT: Okay.

5 MR. BRIDGES: Yes, to some extent, for some claims.
6 No as to other claims to another extent. We are not saying
7 gatekeeping orders are altogether wrong, --

8 THE COURT: Okay.

9 MR. BRIDGES: -- no.

10 THE COURT: Okay.

11 MR. BRIDGES: There are problems with gatekeeping
12 orders that do more than what the law, Section 959 in 13 particular, allows them to do.

14 THE COURT: Okay. Be more explicit. I'm not -- I
15 think you're saying, no, except when certain situations exist,
16 but I don't know what the certain situations are.

17 MR. BRIDGES: And Your Honor, you're exactly right.
18 It's complicated, and it takes a long explanation. Let me
19 start --

20 THE COURT: Okay. I really want to know, --

21 MR. BRIDGES: Yeah, me, too.

22 THE COURT: -- since I do these all the time, and 23 most of my colleagues do.

24 MR. BRIDGES: Thank you, Your Honor. And 959 is on 25 the screen. Managers of any property --

1 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

2 MR. BRIDGES: -- is what we're talking about,
3 including debtors in possession. Now, it starts off by saying
4 trustees, receivers. I mean, this is exactly what the Barton
5 Doctrine is about, right? We're talking about trustees and 6 receivers, but not just them. We're also talking about 7 managers of any property, including debtors in possession, --

8 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

9 MR. BRIDGES: -- may be sued without leave of the 10 court appointing that. That's contrary to the Barton Doctrine
11 so far.

12 With respect to what I've numbered five here -- these 13 numbers are mine -- the quote is directly verbatim out of the 14 U.S. Code, but the numbering one through five is mine. With 15 respect to what acts or transactions in carrying on business
16 connected with such property.

17 And so, Your Honor, what we're talking about isn't Barton
18 Doctrine is inapplicable, or you can't have a gatekeeping
19 order for any claims, but it's about managers of property.
20 And one of the hornbook examples of this is the grocery store
21 that files for bankruptcy and then, when --

22 THE COURT: Slip-and-fall.

23 MR. BRIDGES: You've got it, Your Honor.

24 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

25 MR. BRIDGES: And because they're managing property,

1 --

2 THE COURT: So your cause of action, if it went
3 forward, is the equivalent of a slip-and-fall --

4 MR. BRIDGES: Yes, Your Honor.

5 THE COURT: -- in a grocery store?

6 MR. BRIDGES: Yes, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: Okay. Let me skip ahead. What about the 8 last sentence of 959(a)?

9 MR. BRIDGES: 959(b)? Or 959(a)?

10 THE COURT: No, of 959(a).

11 MR. BRIDGES: What we're looking at here?

12 THE COURT: That's the sentence that I have always 13 thought was one justification for a gatekeeper provision. And 14 I know, you know, a lot of others feel the same.

15 MR. BRIDGES: Are we talking about what I have listed
16 in number five here?

17 THE COURT: No. I'm talking about the last sentence
18 of 959(a). Such actions, okay, shall be subject to the 19 general equity power of such court, you know, meaning the 20 Bankruptcy Court, so far as the same may be necessary to the 21 ends of justice, but this shall not deprive a litigant of his 22 right to a trial by jury.

23 Isn't that one of the provisions that lawyers sometimes 24 rely on in arguing a gatekeeper provision is appropriate?

25 MR. BRIDGES: Certain --

1 THE COURT: You, Bankruptcy Judge, have the power,
2 the general equity power, so far as the same may be necessary
3 to the ends of justice?

4 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, you bet. Absolutely, there
5 is equitable power to do more. There's no doubt that there
6 are reliance -- there is reliance on that in many instances.
7 So I'm not sure -- I'm not sure I'm responding to your point.

8 THE COURT: Well, again, I think this is the third or 9 fourth argument down the line that really you start with in 10 the analytical framework here, but I guess I'm just saying I
11 always thought a gatekeeping provision was consistent,
12 entirely consistent with 28 U.S.C. § 959(a), the last 13 sentence.

14 MR. BRIDGES: When you're dealing --

15 THE COURT: You disagree with that?

16 MR. BRIDGES: I do, Your Honor.

17 THE COURT: Okay.

18 MR. BRIDGES: And it's not that the Court lacks
19 equitable powers to do more. It's that those equitable powers
20 are affected by when management of other parties, third
21 parties' property is at issue.

22 What we're talking about is similar to yesterday's 23 contempt order. When you set the basis of describing what it
24 is that Highland's business is, that they're a registered
25 investment advisor in the business of buying, selling, and

1 managing assets -- assets, of course, are property, and that
2 property is not just Highland's, but it's third-party
3 property, as if a railroad loses luggage belonging to its 4 customers. Rather than the railroad with a trustee appointed
5 having mismanaged railroad property, we're talking about
6 third-party property here, third-party property that belongs
7 to the CLOs, about a billion dollars of assets in these CLO
8 SPEs that Highland manages.

9 And again, the slide that Mr. Sbaiti showed you showing
10 Highland, yes, they manage their own assets, the assets of the 11 Debtor, but also of the third parties, including the 12 Charitable DAF and CLO Holdco, and that the Advisers Act
13 imposes fiduciary duties on them that are unwaivable when 14 they're doing that.

15 In Anderson, the Fifth Circuit called 959 an exception to 16 the rule requiring court's permission for leave to sue. In 17 Hoffman v. City of San Diego much more recently, relying on 18 this statute again, the court rejected a Barton challenge and 19 called it a statutory exception. And in Barton itself, from a
20 century ago, the U.S. Supreme Court even acknowledged there
21 that where a receiver misappropriated the property of another 22 -- not the debtor's property, the property of another -- that 23 the receiver could still be sued personally, without leave of 24 court.

25 Absent Barton, absent applicability of the Barton

1 Doctrine, Your Honor, the gatekeeper order is problematic.

2 Barton applies where a court has appointed a trustee, and
3 I don't think, Your Honor, under the circumstances in this 4 case, that it is fair to say Mr. Seery was appointed, as 5 opposed to approved by this Court. And it involves a
6 trustee's actions under the powers conferred on him. The 7 Barton Doctrine is not about a broader exculpation of the 8 trustee.

9 Here, what the Debtor asked for in its motion for 10 approval, approval of hiring Mr. Seery, what it asked for 11 specifically in the motion was that the Court not interfere
12 with corporate decisions absent a showing of bad faith, self-
13 interest, or gross negligence, and asking the Court to uphold
14 the board's decision to appoint Mr. Seery as the CEO as long
15 as they are attributable to any rationale business purpose.

16 At the hearing, Your Honor, at the hearing, we've quoted
17 your comments saying that the evidence amply shows a sound
18 business justification and reasonable business judgment on the 19 part of the Debtor in proposing that Mr. Seery be CEO and CRO.
20 Your Honor, respectfully, those words don't sound like the 21 judge using its discretion to choose -- appoint a trustee.
22 They sound like the Court exercising deference to the business
23 judgment of a business. And appropriately so. We don't have 24 trouble with application of the business judgment rule. Our 25 problem is with application of it and the Barton Doctrine.

1 Those two do not go together. A trustee has protection
2 because it's acting under color of the court that appointed
3 it. A court that merely deferred to someone else's
4 appointment, that's not what the Barton Doctrine is about.
5 The Barton Doctrine is about the court's function that the 6 trustee takes on, not deference to the business judgment of 7 the debtor in possession or the other fiduciary appointed by 8 the court.

9 Problem one was the gatekeeping. Problem two is about the 10 release and the Applewood case. Your Honor, again, ordinary 11 negligence and ordinary fiduciary duty breaches do not rise to 12 the level of gross negligence and willful misconduct. And 13 because of that, the language of this order appears to be 14 barring them entirely. No entity may bring a lawsuit against 15 Mr. Seery in certain circumstances without the Bankruptcy
16 Court doing what? Determining that the cause of action
17 represents a colorable claim of willful misconduct or gross
18 negligence against Mr. Seery.

19 A breach of fiduciary duty under the Advisers Act can be 20 unintentional, it can fall short of gross negligence by miles,
21 and to exculpate Mr. Seery from those kinds of claims entirely
22 is to make him no longer a fiduciary. A fiduciary duty that 23 is unenforceable makes someone not a fiduciary. That's 24 plainly not what Mr. Seery thinks his role is. It's 25 inconsistent with the Advisers Act. And Your Honor, the

1 notion that he would not owe his clients fiduciary duties as 2 he manages their assets would require disclosures under the
3 SEC regulations. It creates all kinds of problems to state
4 that a fiduciary under the Advisers Act does not have
5 enforceable fiduciary duties. The order appears to be 6 releasing all of those. But for Applewood's specificity
7 requirement, it would be doing that.

8 As an asset manager under the Advisers Act, Mr. Seery is 9 managing assets belonging to CLO Holdco and The Charitable 10 DAF. That's precisely what the District Court action is 11 about, those fiduciary duties. And Mr. Seery, in describing 12 these recently in testimony here -- forgive me for reading
13 through this, Your Honor, but it is pretty short -- Mr. Seery
14 testifies, I think, from a high level, the best way to think
15 about the Debtor is that it's a registered investment advisor.
16 As a registered investment advisor, which is really any 17 advisor of third-party money over $25 million, it has to 18 register with the SEC and it manages funds in many different
19 ways. The Debtor manages approximately $200 million current 20 values -- it was more than that of the start of the case -- of 21 its own assets.

22 I'm pausing there, Your Honor. $200 million of its own
23 assets, but we're about to talk about third-party assets.

24 It doesn't have to be a registered investment advisor for 25 those assets, but it does manage its own assets, which include

1 directly-owned securities, loans, from mostly related entities
2 but not all, and investments in certain funds, which it also 3 manages.

4 And then here it comes: In addition, the manager -- the 5 Debtor manages about roughly $2 billion, $2 billion in total
6 managed assets, around $2 billion in CLO assets, and then
7 other entities, which are hedge funds or PE style.

8 We also had to get a very good understanding of each of 9 the funds that we manage. And as I said, the Investment
10 Advisers Act puts a fiduciary duty on Highland Capital to 11 discharge its duty to the investors. So while we have duties
12 to the estate, we also have duties, as I mentioned in my last 13 testimony, to each of the investors in the funds.

14 Now, some of them are related parties, and those are a
15 little bit easier. Some of them are owned by Highland. But
16 there are third-party investors in these funds who have no
17 relation whatsoever to Highland, and we owe them a fiduciary
18 duty both to manage their assets prudently but also to seek to 19 manage -- maximize value.

20 Those duties do not require -- requires the opposite of 21 what I mean. They don't merely require avoiding gross
22 negligence or willful wrongdoing. When you're managing assets
23 of others, the fiduciary duties that you owe are far stricter
24 than that. The highest duty known to law is a fiduciary duty.

25 The order is inconsistent with that testimony,

1 acknowledging the fiduciary duties owed to The Charitable DAF
2 and to CLO Holdco. It appears to release the Debtor -- maybe
3 not the Debtor. My slide may be wrong about that. It appears
4 to release Seery from having to uphold these duties.

5 In addition to problems with the gatekeeping under the 6 Barton Doctrine, in addition to the release problem and 7 Applewood and the unwaivable fiduciary duties under the 8 Advisers Act, there's also a problem with telling other courts
9 that they lack jurisdiction. Your Honor knows bankruptcy
10 court law -- bankruptcy -- and the Bankruptcy Code far better
11 than I do, I'm certain. But a first principle, I believe, of 12 bankruptcy law is that this Court's jurisdiction is derivative
13 of the District Court's. And the only doctrine I've heard of 14 that can allow this Court to exercise exclusive jurisdiction
15 of the District Court that it sits in is the Barton Doctrine, 16 which, again, is very problematic to apply in this case, for 17 the reasons we've discussed already.

18 By claiming to have -- by stating in the order that this
19 Court has sole jurisdiction, it appears to either be inclusive
20 of the District Court, which I understand Your Honor doesn't 21 think her order can be read that way, but if it's not read
22 that way, then it results in telling the District Court that 23 it doesn't have the original jurisdiction that Congress has 24 given it. And that's problematic in the order as well.

25 THE COURT: Let me ask you. If you think the word

1 "power" had been used, or "authority," versus "jurisdiction,"
2 that would have cured it?

3 MR. BRIDGES: I think there would still have been
4 other problems. Would it have cured this? I don't think so,
5 Your Honor, because, again, I think the only basis for that 6 power is the Barton Doctrine.

7 THE COURT: Okay.

8 MR. BRIDGES: To listen to opposing counsel, you'd 9 think that our jurisdictional argument was entirely about the 10 jurisdiction stripping. It's not. Frankly, Your Honor,
11 that's maybe even a lesser point. A key problem here to is 12 the assertion of jurisdiction, not over any of the claims, but 13 over all of the claims, because of 157(d), Your Honor, because 14 some claims, some causes of action, have been put outside the 15 reach of bankruptcy, the Bankruptcy Court, and those actions
16 may in some instances fit within your description of the cases
17 that are precluded here.

18 That's a problem jurisdictionally with this Court's
19 ability to say it retains jurisdiction or that it has, that it
20 asserts jurisdiction. Over what? Any kind of claim or cause
21 of action against Mr. Seery relating in any way to his role as 22 the chief executive officer and chief restructuring officer of 23 the Debtor.

24 Some claims that fit into that bucket also fit into the 25 description in 157(d) of cases that require both consideration

1 of bankruptcy law and federal laws affecting interstate
2 commerce or regulating it. Right? Some cases must fall into 3 -- under 157(d), despite having something to do with Mr.
4 Seery's role as a chief executive officer. And Your Honor,
5 the Advisers Act fiduciary duty claims asserted by Respondents
6 in the District Court are such claims. They cannot be decided 7 without considering the Advisers Act.

8 There are also RICO claims that, of course, require
9 consideration of the RICO statute. But the Advisers Act
10 claims absolutely require consideration of both bankruptcy law
11 and this Court's order exonerating -- exculpating Mr. Seery
12 from some liability, in addition to the unwaivable fiduciary
13 duties imposed by the Advisers Act.

14 The assertion of jurisdiction here blanketed, in a blanket
15 manner, over all claims against Mr. Seery in any way related
16 to his CEO role is a 157(d) problem that the order has no --
17 has no solution for and we see no way around. 157(d) requires
18 withdrawal of the reference, makes it mandatory, when a case
19 requires considerations of federal law implicating interstate 20 commerce.

21 Your Honor, we think we had to do it the way we did,
22 filing in the District Court instead of filing here, in order
23 to preserve our jurisdictional arguments. To come to this
24 Court with a motion and then what? Immediately file a motion
25 to withdraw the reference on our own motion here? To come

1 here and ask for a decision on colorability, when first
2 colorability would exclude the claims that we're trying to 3 bring, at least some of them, the mere negligence, mere
4 fiduciary duty breaches, because they don't rise to the level
5 necessarily of gross negligence or willful wrongdoing.

6 Your Honor, coming here and asking this Court to rule on 7 that may well have waived our jurisdictional objections.
8 Coming here to this Court and doing that and immediately
9 filing a motion --

10 THE COURT: I don't get it.

11 MR. BRIDGES: The ordinary --

12 THE COURT: Subject matter jurisdiction, if it's a 13 problem, it's not waivable.

14 MR. BRIDGES: The ordinary issue -- the ordinary
15 waiver rule, Your Honor, is that when you come and ask for a 16 court to rule on something, that you waive your right to -- to 17 later -- you're estopped judicially from taking the contrary
18 position.

19 THE COURT: Okay. Well, again, I don't get it. If 20 you filed your motion and I ruled in a way you didn't like,
21 you would appeal to the District Court.

22 MR. BRIDGES: Yes, Your Honor. An appeal to the 23 District Court, we would be entitled to do. I understand, no
24 matter what happens here, we can appeal to the District Court.
25 That's different from whether or not, by coming here first,

1 have we waived or have we created an estoppel situation, in
2 terms of arguing jurisdiction.

3 THE COURT: Okay.

4 MR. BRIDGES: Because of the problems with the order,
5 we thought we were in a situation where coming here would 6 waive rights that we could avoid waiving by asking in the 7 District Court.

8 In other words, there was a jurisdictional paradox: How 9 does a party ask a court to do something it believes the court
10 lacks the power to do? That's the spot we found ourselves in.
11 What were we supposed to do?

12 Your Honor, it is definitely a complex case. And coming
13 into this matter with over 2,000 filings on the docket before
14 I had ever heard of Highland was a very daunting thing, coming
15 into this case. And whether or not there's something that we 16 missed is certainly possible, but these orders that are the 17 subject of the contempt motion, these orders are not things
18 that we overlooked. These are things that we studied 19 carefully, that we did not ignore or have disdain for, but 20 that affected and changed our actions.

21 And in the Slide #3 from Mr. Morris's -- from Mr. Morris's
22 presentation, in his third slide, he quotes from the first
23 page of our motion for leave, the motion that he says exhibits
24 our contemptuous behavior.

25 The second paragraph is kind of tiny print there, Your

1 Honor, and it's not highlighted, but I'd like to read it.
2 Seery is not named in the original complaint, but this is only
3 out of an abundance of caution due to the Bankruptcy Court in 4 HCM's pending Chapter 11 proceeding having issued an order
5 prohibiting the filing of any causes of action against Seery
6 in any way related to his role at HCM, subject to certain
7 prerequisites. In that order, the Bankruptcy Court also 8 asserts sole jurisdiction over all such causes of action.

9 Your Honor, our intent was not to violate the order. Our 10 intent was to be cautious about how we proceeded, to fully 11 disclose what we were doing, and to do it in a District Court
12 that absolutely could refer the matter here to this Court for 13 a decision, but to do it in a way that didn't waive our 14 jurisdictional arguments, that didn't waive our arguments
15 regarding the release of the very claims we were trying to 16 bring, by first having to prove that they were colorful claims 17 of willful misconduct or gross negligence, when we were trying 18 to assert claims that weren't willful negligence or gross --
19 gross negligence or willful misconduct. That was what I was 20 trying to say.

21 Your Honor, this was not disregard of your order. If 22 we're wrong on the law, we're wrong on the law, but it's not 23 that we disregarded your order or lacked respect for it. We 24 disclosed it.

25 Mr. Morris has argued in the briefs that we attempted to

1 do this on an ex parte basis. Your Honor, we did not attempt
2 to do this on an ex parte basis. And if there are errors,
3 they probably are mine. I know one error is mine. On the 4 civil cover sheet in the filing in the District Court, I noted
5 and passed on that we should check the box for related case
6 and list this case on there. I did not follow up to make sure
7 that it happened, and administratively, it didn't happen. We 8 did not check the box on the civil cover sheet. Mr. Morris is 9 correct that we failed to do that. He's incorrect that that 10 was sneaky or intentional. It was my error, having noticed it
11 but not followed up.

12 Your Honor, similarly, the argument that we didn't serve
13 them with the motion I think is disingenuous. What happened,
14 Your Honor, is that counsel for the Debtor had agreed to 15 accept service of the complaint itself against the Debtor
16 before the motion for leave, and after accepting service, I
17 was under the impression that they'd be monitoring the docket,
18 especially when I emailed them, informed them that we were 19 filing the motion for leave to amend, because I was required
20 to submit a certificate of conference on that motion. I
21 informed them in a polite email. The polite email is not 22 quoted in their brief. It is included in the record, and it's 23 quoted in full in our brief.

24 The email exchange indicates to them, Thank you for 25 pointing out the Court's orders. We've carefully studied them

1 and we don't think what we're doing is a violation of those
2 orders.

3 That we didn't serve them is because we thought they 4 already knew that the motion was coming and would be 5 monitoring the docket, and we didn't know which lawyers they 6 were going to have make an appearance in that case, so we
7 wouldn't have known who to serve. But if not serving them --
8 first, the Rules do not require that service. But if not 9 serving them out of politeness --

10 THE COURT: Mr. Morris is standing up. Did --

11 MR. MORRIS: I move to strike all of this, Your 12 Honor. If Counsel wants to take the stand and raise his hand, 13 he should testify under oath. I'm just going to leave it at 14 that. He's not on their witness list.

15 THE COURT: All right. I overrule. You can
16 continue.

17 MR. BRIDGES: Thank you, Your Honor.

18 If failure to serve them was an error, it was mine. I
19 know of no rule that requires it.

20 THE COURT: Can I ask you, you were talking about the 21 cover sheet mistake in not checking the box. What about your 22 jurisdictional statement in the actual complaint not
23 mentioning 28 U.S.C. § 1334 as a possible basis for subject
24 matter jurisdiction? Do you think that was a mistake as well,
25 or was that purposeful, not necessary?

1 MR. BRIDGES: Candidly, Your Honor, standing here
2 right now, I have no recollection whatsoever of it.

3 THE COURT: You mention 28 U.S.C. § 1331, and then
4 1367 supplemental jurisdiction, but you don't mention 1334.

5 MR. BRIDGES: I suspect it's true, but Mr. Sbaiti
6 would have written that.

7 THE COURT: Okay.

8 MR. BRIDGES: I have no recollection of --

9 THE COURT: Okay.

10 MR. BRIDGES: -- making any decision at all --

11 THE COURT: All right.

12 MR. BRIDGES: -- with regards to that.

13 THE COURT: Okay.

14 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, you've been very patient
15 with a very long opening argument, and I'm very grateful for 16 that. Please know that we take this Court's order seriously.
17 We voluntarily appeared here before the Court ordered us to do
18 so by filing our motion asking for a modification of the order
19 we're accused now of having been in violation of.

20 And the last thing I'd like to say, Your Honor, Mr.
21 Morris's brief claims that the first he knew of the motion,
22 the motion seeking leave to add Mr. Seery to the District
23 Court claim, the first he knew of that was when Mr. Sbaiti
24 forwarded him the District Court's order dismissing that 25 motion, denying that motion without prejudice.

1 Your Honor, in a civil contempt proceeding, where the
2 issue is compensating, not punishing, if the aggrieved party
3 didn't even know about the action until it had been denied by 4 the District Court, we submit that there can be no harm from 5 that having taken place.

6 That's all I have for opening. Thank you, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

8 Before we give you a time check, do we have other opening
9 statements?

10 MR. ANDERSON: Yes. Yes, Your Honor. Michael
11 Anderson on behalf of Mr. Patrick. If we need to take a 12 break, that's fine, too.

13 THE COURT: Well, how long do you plan to use?

14 MR. ANDERSON: No more than ten minutes, for sure.

15 THE COURT: Let's go ahead and do that, and then
16 we'll take a break.

17 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, after, I would ask the 18 opportunity to respond to Mr. Bridges' argument. Probably 19 another ten minutes.

20 THE COURT: All right. Let's go ahead and take a 21 ten-minute break. And Mr. Taylor, you're going to have 22 something, because you --

23 MR. TAYLOR: Five.

24 THE COURT: Okay. We'll take a ten-minute break.

25 And Nate, can you give them a time?

1 THE CLERK: I'm showing it was about 59-1/2 minutes.

2 THE COURT: Fifty-nine and a half? And is that
3 subtracting some for my questioning?

4 THE CLERK: I stopped whenever you talked, maybe a
5 little over --

6 THE COURT: Okay. So he stopped it whenever I asked
7 questions and you answered, so 59 minutes has been used by the 8 Respondents.

9 All right. We'll take a ten-minute break. We'll come
10 back at 11:35.

11 THE CLERK: All rise.

12 (A recess ensued from 11:25 a.m. to 11:37 a.m.)

13 THE COURT: All right. We're going back on the 14 record in the Highland matter. We have further opening
15 statements. Counsel, you may proceed.

16 OPENING STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF MARK PATRICK, RESPONDENT

17 MR. ANDERSON: Thank you. May it please the Court,
18 Counsel. Michael Anderson on behalf of Respondent, Mark
19 Patrick.

20 Your Honor, after listening to this and looking at the 21 filings in this case, this issue of whether there's contempt
22 -- and I would argue there's not -- is ripe for decision. We 23 have no real undisputed facts for purposes of the contempt
24 issue. We have your Court's July order, the subject of Mr.
25 Bridge's arguments. We have the Plaintiffs in the underlying

1 lawsuit at issue. They commenced the lawsuit in April of this
2 year. There's absolutely nothing improper about that filing.
3 It's not subject to the contempt. A week later, there is a
4 motion for leave to add Mr. Seery. That's the issue. There's 5 no dispute over that. There's no dispute that Mr. Patrick
6 authorized the filing of the motion for leave.

7 And so then the question becomes we look at the Court's
8 July order, did a motion for leave, did that violate the terms
9 of the order? The motion for leave is not commencing a 10 lawsuit. It's also not pursuing a claim, because whether or 11 not the Court grants the motion, denies the motion, or 12 whatever the Court does, nothing happened, because the day
13 after the motion for leave was filed it was dismissed sua
14 sponte without prejudice because not all parties had been 15 served in the case.

16 It was permission asked one day. The matter was mooted
17 the following day by the District Court. And so that is 18 completely undisputed.

19 And so the question is, is asking permission, is that 20 commence? I think everybody says there's no way that's 21 commencing a lawsuit because you have asked permission. The 22 question, then, is it pursuing a claim? And the argument,
23 well, no, that's not pursuing a claim; it's asking permission.

24 And I think it's also important to note that when the 25 motion for leave was filed, there were no secrets there. I

1 mean, I'm coming in this after the fact, representing Mr.
2 Patrick. You look at a motion for leave, and right there on
3 Page 1 it talks about Your Honor's order. Page 2, it quotes
4 the order and it gives the reasons, there's arguments being
5 made as to why that order doesn't bar adding Mr. Seery as a
6 defendant in the lawsuit, many of the arguments that Mr.
7 Bridges made.

8 So that's where we are. And so when I hear, hey, we've 9 got six hours, three hours and three hours, and we're going to 10 split this up, you know, maybe too simplistic from Fort Worth,
11 but I'm like, wait a second, this is all undisputed. It's 12 totally undisputed. The -- whether or not the prior order is 13 enforceable or not enforceable, those are all legal arguments.
14 You know, no witnesses are necessary for that. And as I
15 understood, right before we broke, counsel stood up and he's 16 going to do what generally doesn't happen in opening
17 statements, which is respond to opening statements, which 18 shows that that's a legal issue.

19 And so it really does come down to undisputed facts.
20 There's no testimony. No -- nothing is necessary. And a lot 21 of what this comes down to is the old statement, you know, is 22 it better to ask forgiveness or permission? And usually that 23 statement comes up when somebody has already done something:
24 Hey, I'm going to go do it anyway and I'll ask for forgiveness
25 later. Well, what the Plaintiffs in the underlying case did

1 was ask permission. Motion for leave. That is not
2 contemptuous. And there's literally no damages. As was 3 pointed out, by the time counsel found out, it had already 4 been dismissed.

5 The last thing I want to point out, Your Honor, is that 6 the argument from opposing counsel was, well, under Rule 15 of 7 the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, since parties hadn't
8 answered yet, the Plaintiffs in the underlying case could have 9 just simply added Mr. Seery as a defendant and moved on that 10 way, but then that would be another ball of wax and then we 11 would be addressing issues as far as whether or not there is a
12 violation of the Court's order, notwithstanding Mr. Bridge's
13 arguments. But then we would have those issues. But that's 14 not what happened. Everybody knows that's not what happened.
15 It was a motion for leave that was resolved the following day.

16 And so, Your Honor, for those reasons, and those 17 undisputed reasons, we would request that the Court at the end
18 of this hearing deny the request for sanctions and a contempt
19 finding against our client, Mr. Patrick.

20 Mr. Phillips is going to address one brief issue
21 bankruptcy-wise I believe that was raised earlier.

22 THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Phillips?

23 MR. PHILLIPS: Your Honor, thank you very much.

24 Louis M. Phillips on behalf of Mark Patrick.

25 The only thing that I would point out, Your Honor, and I'm

1 going to do -- try to simplistically, because that's about the
2 level at which I operate, boil down the questions about the
3 order.

4 This order was an employment order. The problem that Mr.
5 Bridges has elucidated to Your Honor is that the precise 6 effect, one of the precise effects of that order is to bar the 7 claims of third parties that arise into the future on the 8 basis of the employment of Mr. Seery, because the order
9 required that all claims asserting gross negligence or willful
10 misconduct need to be brought before you to determine that 11 they're colorable.

12 One question I have is, does it apply to the lawsuit that 13 was filed? Doesn't apply unless the effect of the order was 14 to release those claims and preclude any party from bringing 15 those claims at all. And while you can say correctly that 16 this Court issues gatekeeper orders all of the time, one thing
17 I cannot imagine that you would say is that in employment
18 orders you release claims of third parties existing and as may 19 arise in the future that could be brought against the party
20 employed to be a CRO of a debtor, who, by his own testimony, 21 says we do all kinds of stuff in the billions of dollars for 22 third parties that we owe fiduciary duties to.

23 There's no way, Your Honor, that you were considering your 24 July order to bar third-party claims arising from breach of 25 fiduciary duties by Mr. Seery to third parties who held third-

1 party claims that did not involve some assertion that, in his
2 capacity as CRO, he was in some way acting within the scope of 3 his authority as CRO for the Debtor and yet committed
4 negligence against the Debtor.

5 Now, if the order was asserting that you know what a lot
6 of people in this courtroom know, that the standard of 7 liability for a CRO doing work for a debtor, just like the 8 standard of liability for the president of a corporation or an 9 officer of the corporation, is as long as you're within the 10 course and scope of your employment, your actions for the 11 corporation have -- can -- the corporation takes care of you
12 because there's no personal claim unless you're outside the 13 scope, and you're outside the scope if you commit gross
14 negligence or willful misconduct.

15 That, if you're restating the standard of care and 16 standard of liability for a CRO, we have no problem with that,
17 because Mr. Patrick did not authorize a cause of action
18 arising against Mr. Seery against the Debtors for damage to 19 the Debtors. He authorized the filing of a complaint in the 20 District Court with jurisdiction for a third-party claim for 21 breach of a fiduciary duty to a third party that Mr. Seery
22 admits he owes, and then sought leave because they didn't 23 understand the order that Your Honor issued. It couldn't have 24 been to release the breach of fiduciary duty claims that 25 wouldn't rise to gross negligence or willful misconduct, it

1 couldn't be that, but it might be. But if it did, under an
2 employment order? That's very different from Espinosa, that's 3 very different from Shoaf, when you're at the end of a case in 4 a confirmation of a plan and you're talking about matters
5 arising in the past.

6 This order, if it has the effect it could be read to have,
7 precludes any third party from asserting a breach of fiduciary
8 duty against Seery for actions that violate the duty to that 9 third party, when Seery's biggest job, it looks to us like, is 10 running third-party money. That could not have been what Your 11 Honor was thinking.

12 And so all I'm pointing out is I'm trying to distill down.
13 The lawsuit doesn't involve gross negligence or willful
14 misconduct allegations. It involves breach of fiduciary duty,
15 breach of the Advisers Act, et cetera, et cetera. Mr. Patrick
16 authorized that lawsuit.

17 Now, what we're here for today is to determine whether the 18 complaint, which was not against the Debtor -- which was not 19 against Seery, the motion for leave, which did not -- all they 20 did was ask for permission, not forgiveness. And we can't 21 understand how the Debtor should be saying, all they had to do
22 was amend. Well, if they amended, would we be in hotter water
23 than we are today for asking for permission to sue? I think
24 we would have been, that should have been the prescribed
25 course, when we are more concerned and we are more risk-averse

1 by asking for leave rather than just amending by right.
2 Absolutely, that makes no sense. We can't be held to be more
3 contemptuous because we asked for permission, when we could 4 have just sued him, because they're saying asking for 5 permission was wrong. Certainly, suing him would have been 6 wrong. That would have been easier.

7 THE COURT: But Mr. Phillips, the issue is you all
8 didn't come to the Bankruptcy Court and ask permission.

9 MR. PHILLIPS: Look at your order, Your Honor.

10 THE COURT: It's right in front of me.

11 MR. PHILLIPS: Right. That order either doesn't 12 apply to the claims that were brought or it released the 13 claims that were brought. That's our point. It couldn't have 14 released them. Does it apply to them? Thank you.

15 THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Taylor?

16 MR. TAYLOR: Good morning.

17 THE COURT: Good morning.

18 OPENING STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF JAMES DONDERO

19 MR. TAYLOR: Your Honor, Clay Taylor on behalf of Jim
20 Dondero. I'll be very brief because I know we've already 21 spent a lot of time on opening argument. But I do think it is 22 appropriate to, one, first look at who brought the lawsuit,
23 CLO Holdco & DAF. That was authorized -- it's undisputed it
24 was authorized by Mr. Patrick. There is no dispute about 25 that. There's no dispute who the Plaintiffs are. But yet my

1 client is up here as an alleged violator.

2 I think it's very clear, as all the parties have said,
3 there's no dispute as to there's an order, there was a
4 complaint, and there was a motion for leave.

5 It seems to me that the rest of the evidentiary hearing
6 that you may be about to go through is going to be about pin
7 the blame on Mr. Dondero. It is undisputed that he is not a
8 control person for the DAF or CLO Holdco. The only type of 9 evidence you will hear is going to be insinuation that he
10 somehow controls Mr. Patrick and used to control Mr. Scott.
11 There will be no direct evidence that he authorized this or 12 that he's the control person and the proper corporate 13 authorized representative that signed off on the --

14 It seems to me, Your Honor, first of all, that's a
15 discrete issue that should be able to be decided separately
16 from this, and the first gating issue is, was there indeed a
17 violation of this Court's order? It would seem to me that 18 there is no disputes about those facts and that we should 19 bifurcate that, and if you then find that there is a violation
20 and find that there is any even need to move into who the 21 alleged violators are, that then we could have that 22 evidentiary portion. But there is no reason to do that now
23 before there's even been found to be a violation.

24 THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

25 All right. Well, someone made the point rebuttals in

1 opening statements are not very common, --

2 MR. POMERANTZ: Your -- Your --

3 THE COURT: -- but you can use your three hours
4 however you want.

5 OPENING STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF THE DEBTOR

6 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, I didn't intend to stand
7 up.

8 THE COURT: Okay.

9 MR. POMERANTZ: I also didn't intend to have the 10 motion to modify the sealing order presented to Your Honor,
11 which it was in the course of that opening argument. And 12 despite your comments at the beginning of the hearing, the 13 Movants have taken Your Honor down a series of rabbit holes
14 that have really no relevance to the contempt motion. And 15 notwithstanding, as I said, your ruling that basically the 16 contempt would go first and the modification would go second,
17 there they were, persistent in making all the arguments why
18 this Court should modify the order.

19 They're just really trying to obfuscate the simple issue
20 that Mr. Morris presented and raised at the beginning of the 21 hearing: Did they violate the order by pursuing a claim? We 22 think the answer is undoubtedly yes.

23 I'm not going to try to address each of the issues they 24 raised in connection with the modification motion in detail.
25 I have a lengthy presentation. I'll do it at the appropriate

1 time. But there are a few issues I want to address. I want
2 to address one of the last points Mr. Bridges raised first.
3 If they thought that the order was a problem, they could have 4 filed their motion to modify that order before Your Honor.
5 They could have had that heard first. There was no statute of 6 limitations issue in connection with the HarbourVest matter.
7 They could have come to Your Honor to do that. But no, they 8 didn't. They went to the District Court first, and it was 9 only after we filed our contempt motion that they came back
10 and said, well, Your Honor, you should modify the order.
11 Their argument that if they did that there would have been 12 waiver and estoppel is just an after-the-fact justification
13 for what they did and what they tried to do, which was 14 unsuccessful. They tried to have the District Court make the 15 decision.

16 And why? Your Honor, they've filed motions to recuse
17 before Your Honor. They -- they -- it's no secret the disdain
18 they have for Your Honor's rulings as it relates to them.
19 They wanted to be out of this courtroom and in another
20 courtroom.

21 And their belated argument, Mr. Bridges falling on the 22 sword, that they failed to check the box, inadvertent, it's on 23 me, it's very curious. Because if they had done so and had 24 referred to the correct 1334 jurisdictional predicate, as Your 25 Honor had mentioned, the complaint would have been referred to

1 this Court and the entire trajectory of the proceedings would
2 have been different. They would have had the opportunity to 3 take their shot to go to District Court and argue that your 4 order didn't apply.

5 Your Honor, they say the January 9th order is not
6 relevant. It is entirely relevant. It covered the 7 independent directors and their agents. Yes, Mr. Seery is an 8 independent director, but he was also an agent of the 9 independent directors and carried out the duties. You heard
10 argument at the July 16th hearing that Mr. Seery had been 11 acting as the chief executive officer for several months. And 12 why is it important? Mr. Bridges said, well, if we violated
13 one order, we violated the other. It's important because,
14 Your Honor, number one, Mr. Dondero supported that order. We 15 would never have had an independent board in this case if Mr.
16 Dondero, the decision-making -- of the Debtor at that time,
17 supported that order and supported the exculpations that are 18 now claimed to have been invalid.

19 And also Your Honor heard testimony at the confirmation
20 hearing that the independent directors would never have taken
21 this job, would never have taken this job because of the 22 potential for litigation, litigation that we've now had to 23 endure for several months. So to come back 16 months later
24 and say, well, you know, you couldn't really exculpate them,
25 it's really an employment order: It was an employment order.

1 They know it. We know it. Your Honor knows it. It was a
2 resolution of corporate governance issues that changed the 3 whole trajectory of the case, and luckily it -- luckily, Your 4 Honor approved it.

5 The question just is whether they violated the order,
6 period. And I'll have a lot to say about res judicata, but I
7 won't go in too much in detail, but I will just briefly
8 address their arguments. They're correct and the Court is 9 correct that there's a difference between Applewood and Shoaf.
10 And Your Honor got the exact difference. In one case, a 11 release was not specific, Applewood. In one case it was.
12 Shoaf hasn't been discredited by Applewood. It was different 13 facts. In fact, Shoaf relied on two Supreme Court cases, the 14 Stoll case and the Chicot case, both for the propositions that 15 a court that enters an order, a clear order, even if it didn't 16 have jurisdiction, that cannot be attacked in res judicata.
17 So here what we have is clear, unambiguous, you come to this 18 Court before commencing or pursuing a claim. That's the 19 clarity. The focus on the releases, that's not what we're 20 here for today, that's not what we're here for on a contempt
21 motion, on whether the release covered them or it didn't cover
22 them. We're here on the clear issue of did they violate the 23 language, and we submit that they did.

24 And similarly, Espinosa applies. Your Honor, just to 25 quote some language, "Appellees could have moved to remand the

1 action to state court after it improperly -- after its 2 improper removal to the federal court or challenge the 3 district court's exercise in jurisdiction on direct appeal.
4 Because they did neither, they are now barred by principles of 5 res judicata."

6 Res judicata actually does apply, and I will speak about 7 it in much more detail in the modification motion.

8 With respect to Barton, Your Honor, we disagree with their 9 argument that Mr. Seery is not a court-appointed agent. We've 10 briefed it extensively in our motion to modify. Barton
11 applies to debtors in possession. Barton applies to general
12 partners of the debtor. Barton applies to chief restructuring
13 orders -- officers who are approved by the debtor. And it
14 applies to general counsel who are appointed by the chief
15 restructuring order. Officer.

16 So the argument that Barton is somehow inapplicable is 17 just wrong. Your Honor knows that. Your Honor has written
18 extensively on Barton in connection with your Ondova opinion.

19 Some of the argument about 959 is all wrong, as well.
20 Your Honor got it right that 959 applies to slip-and-fall
21 cases or torts, injuries to parties that are strangers to this 22 process. There is a legion of cases that I will cite to Your 23 Honor in connection with argument. 959 does not apply here.
24 There's nothing more core to this case than the transactions
25 surrounding the resolution of the HarbourVest claims.

1 We also disagree, Your Honor, that the complaint is
2 subject to mandatory withdrawal of the reference. We've --
3 one of our exhibits in the motion to modify is our motion to 4 enforce the reference. We think Movants have it completely
5 wrong. This is not the type of case that will be subject to 6 withdrawal -- mandatory withdrawal of the reference, and in 7 any event, for this contempt motion, it's irrelevant.

8 And they argue -- one of the other points Mr. Bridges
9 raises is that, because this Court would not have had 10 jurisdiction under 157 because of the mandatory withdrawal,
11 then Your Honor could not legally act as a gatekeeper. But 12 they haven't addressed Villegas v. Schmidt. We've raised it
13 throughout this case. And again, in these series of 14 pleadings, they don't even address it. And Villegas v.
15 Schmidt was a Barton case. It was a Barton case where the -- 16 where the argument was that Barton does not apply because it's 17 a Stern claim and the Bankruptcy Court would not have 18 jurisdiction. And Villegas said no, it does apply. And Your 19 Honor even cited that in your Ondova case. And why does it
20 apply? Because there's nothing inconsistent with a Bankruptcy
21 Court having exclusive decision to make a Barton
22 determination.

23 In fact, in that case Villegas said, you can't go to the 24 District Court for that decision, it is the Bankruptcy Court's
25 decision.

1 So, again, it's a red herring, Your Honor. Your Honor had
2 the ability to act as an exclusive gatekeeper for these types
3 of actions.

4 With that, Your Honor, I'll leave the rest of my argument
5 for the next motion.

6 THE COURT: All right. Thanks.

7 All right. Nate, let's give everyone their time.

8 THE CLERK: That was just about eight and a half
9 additional from the Debtor, and then altogether the other ones
10 were just shy of fourteen minutes. Thirteen minutes and fifty 11 seconds for the other three combined. Do you want me to --

12 THE COURT: Yes, I meant for Debtor combined versus 13 --

14 THE CLERK: Oh. Oh.

15 THE COURT: Respondents combined.

16 THE CLERK: So that would be twenty one and a half
17 the Debtor. Let me do the math on the other one. Be an hour
18 twelve minutes and fifty seconds for --

19 THE COURT: Okay. All right. Got that? Debtors
20 used a total of twenty one and a half minutes; Responders have 21 used an hour twelve minutes and fifty seconds.

22 All right. Mr. Morris, you may call your first witness.

23 MR. MORRIS: Thank you very much, Your Honor. The 24 Debtor calls Mark Patrick.

25 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Patrick? Please approach

Patrick - Direct

95

1 our witness stand and I'll swear you in. Please raise your
2 right hand.

3 (The witness is sworn.)

4 THE COURT: All right. Please take a seat.

5 MARK PATRICK, DEBTOR'S WITNESS, SWORN

6 DIRECT EXAMINATION

7 BY MR. MORRIS:

8 Q Good afternoon, Mr. Patrick.

9 A Good afternoon.

10 Q Can you hear me okay?

11 A Yes, I can.

12 Q Okay. You have before you several sets of binders.
13 They're rather large. But when I deposed you on Friday, we 14 did that virtually. Now, I may direct you specifically to one
15 of the binders or one of the documents from time to time, so I 16 just wanted you to know that those were in front of you and 17 that I may be doing that.

18 Mr. Patrick, since March 1st, 2001 [sic], you've been 19 employed by Highland Consultants, right?

20 A I believe the name is Highgate Consultants doing business
21 as Skyview Group.

22 Q Okay. And that's an entity that was created by certain
23 former Highland employees, correct?

24 A That is my understanding, correct.

25 Q And your understanding is that Mr. Dondero doesn't have an 005341

Patrick - Direct

96

1 ownership interest in that entity, correct?

2 A That he does not. That is correct.

3 Q And your understanding is that he's not an employee of 4 that -- of Skyview, correct?

5 A That is correct.

6 Q Prior to joining Skyview on March 1st, you had worked at 7 Highland Capital Management, LP for about 13 years, correct?

8 A Correct.

9 Q Joining in, I believe, early 2008?

10 A Correct.

11 Q Okay. I'm going to refer to Highland Capital Management,
12 LP from time to time as HCMLP. Is that okay?

13 A Yes.

14 Q While at HCMLP, you served as a tax counselor, correct?

15 A No, I would like to distinguish that. I did have the 16 title tax counsel. However, essentially all my activities
17 were in a non-lawyer capacity, being the client
18 representative. I would engage other outside law firms to 19 provide legal advice.

20 Q Okay. So you are an attorney, correct?

21 A Yes, I am.

22 Q But essentially everything you did at Highland during your 23 13 years was in a non-lawyer capacity, correct?

24 A Correct.

25 Q In fact, you didn't even work in the legal department; is 005342

1 that right?

2 A That is correct. I worked for the tax department.

3 Q Okay. Let's talk about how you became the authorized
4 representative of the Plaintiffs. You are, in fact,
5 authorized representative today of CLO Holdco, Ltd. and 6 Charitable DAF, LP, correct?

7 A Charitable DAF Fund, LP. Correct.

8 Q And those are the two entities that filed the complaint in 9 the United States District Court against the Debtor and two 10 other entities, correct?

11 A Correct.

12 Q And may I refer to those two entities going forward as the 13 Plaintiffs?

14 A Yes.

15 Q You became the authorized representative of the Plaintiffs
16 on March 24th, 2021, the day you and Mr. Scott executed
17 certain transfer documents, correct?

18 A Correct.

19 Q And you had no authority to act on behalf of either of the 20 Plaintiffs before March 24th, correct?

21 A Correct.

22 Q The DAF controls about $200 million in assets, correct?

23 A The Plaintiffs, you mean? CLO Holdco and Charitable DAF
24 Fund, LP.

25 Q Yes.

Patrick - Direct

98

1 A Around there.

2 Q Okay. Let me try and just ask that again, and thank you
3 for correcting me. To the best of your knowledge, the 4 Plaintiffs control about $200 million in assets, correct?

5 A Net assets, correct.

6 Q Okay. And that asset base is derived largely from HCMLP,
7 Mr. Dondero, or Mr. Dondero's trusts, correct?

8 A Can you restate that question again, Mr. Morris?

9 Q Sure. The asset base that you just referred to is derived
10 largely from HCMLP, Mr. Dondero, or donor trusts?

11 A The way I would characterize it -- you're using the word
12 derived. I would characterize it with respect to certain 13 charitable donations --

14 Q Uh-huh.

15 A -- that were -- that were made at certain time periods,
16 where the donors gave up complete dominion and control over 17 the respective assets and at that time claimed a federal 18 income tax deduction for that.

19 I do -- I do believe that, as far as the donor group, as 20 you specified, Highland Capital Management, I recall, provided
21 a donation to a Charitable Remainder Trust that eventually had 22 expired and that eventually such assets went into the 23 supporting organizations. And then I do believe Mr. Dondero
24 also contributed to the Charitable Remainder Trust No. 2, 25 which seeded substantial amounts of the original assets that

005344

99

1 were eventually composed of the $200 million. And then from
2 time to time I do believe that Mr. Dondero's trusts made
3 charitable donations to their respective supporting
4 organizations.

5 Q Okay. Thank you.

6 A Is that responsive?

7 Q It is. It's very responsive. Thank you very much. So,
8 to the best of your knowledge, the charitable donations that 9 were made that form the bases of the assets came from those 10 three -- primarily from those three sources, correct?

11 A Well, you know, there's two different trusts. There's the 12 Dugaboy Trust and the Get Good Trust.

13 Q Okay.

14 A Then you have Mr. Dondero and Highland Capital Management.
15 So I would say four sources.

16 Q Okay. All right. Thank you. Prior to assuming your role
17 as the authorized representative of the Plaintiff, you had 18 never had meaningful responsibility for making investment
19 decisions, correct?

20 A I'm sorry. You kind of talk a little bit fast. Please 21 slow it down --

22 Q That's okay.

23 A -- and restate it. Thank you.

24 Q And I appreciate that. And any time you don't understand
25 what I'm saying or I speak too fast, please do exactly what

005345

Patrick - Direct

100

1 you're doing. You're doing fine.

2 Prior to assuming your role as the authorized
3 representative of the Plaintiffs, you never had any meaningful
4 responsibility making investment decisions. Is that correct?

5 A To whom?

6 Q For anybody.

7 A Well, during my deposition, I believe I testified that I
8 make investment decisions with respect to my family. Family
9 and friends come to me and they ask me for investment
10 decisions. I was -- in my deposition, I indicated to you that 11 I was a board member of a nonprofit called the 500, Inc. They 12 had received a donation of stock in Yahoo!, and the members
13 there looked to me for financial guidance. As an undergrad at 14 the University of Miami, I was a -- I was a finance major, and 15 so I do have a variety of background with respect to 16 investments.

17 Q Okay. So you told me that from time to time friends and 18 family members come to you for investing advice. Is that
19 right?

20 A That is correct.

21 Q And when you were a young lawyer you were on the board of 22 a nonprofit that received a donation of Yahoo! stock and the 23 board looked to you for guidance. Is that correct?

24 THE COURT: Just a moment. I think there's an 25 objection.

005346

Patrick - Direct

101

1 MR. MORRIS: Uh-huh.

2 THE COURT: Go ahead.

3 MR. ANDERSON: So far -- relevance, Your Honor. This
4 is way out of the bounds of the contempt proceeding. You
5 know, what he did as a young person with Yahoo! stock. We're
6 here to -- he authorized the lawsuit. They filed the lawsuit.
7 That's it. Getting into all this peripheral stuff is 8 completely irrelevant.

9 THE COURT: Your response?

10 MR. MORRIS: My response, Your Honor, is very simple.
11 Mr. Patrick assumed responsibility, and you're going to be 12 told that he exercised full and complete authority over a $200
13 million fund that was created by Mr. Dondero, --

14 THE COURT: Okay.

15 MR. MORRIS: -- that funds -- that is funded
16 virtually by Mr. Dondero, and for which -- Mr. Patrick is a 17 lovely man, and I don't mean to disparage him at all -- but he 18 has no meaningful experience in investing at all.

19 THE COURT: All right. Counsel, I overrule. I think 20 there's potential relevance.

21 And may I remind people that when you're back at counsel
22 table, please make sure you speak your objections into the 23 microphone. Thank you.

24 BY MR. MORRIS:

25 Q When you were a young lawyer, sir, you were on the board

005347

Patrick - Direct

102

1 of a nonprofit that received a donation of Yahoo! stock and
2 the board looked to you for guidance, correct?

3 A Yes, correct.

4 Q And -- but during your 13 years at Highland, you never had 5 formal responsibility for making investment decisions,
6 correct?

7 A That is correct.

8 Q Yeah. In fact, other than investment opportunities that 9 you personally presented where you served as a co-decider, you
10 never had any responsibility or authority to make investment
11 decisions on behalf of HCMLP or any of its affiliated 12 entities, correct?

13 A That is correct.

14 Q And at least during your deposition, you couldn't identify 15 a single opportunity where you actually had the authority and 16 did authorize the execution of a transaction on behalf of 17 HCMLP or any of its affiliates, correct?

18 A Correct.

19 Q And yet today you are now solely responsible for making
20 all investment decisions with respect to a $200 million
21 charitable fund, correct?

22 A Yes, but I get some help. I've engaged an outside third
23 party called ValueScope, and they have been as -- effectively
24 working as a "gatekeeper" for me, and I look to them for 25 investment guidance and advice, and I informally look to Mr.

005348

Patrick - Direct

103

1 Dondero since the time period of when I took control on March
2 24th for any questions I may have with respect to the 3 portfolio. So I don't feel like I'm all by myself in making
4 decisions.

5 Q Okay. I didn't mean to suggest that you were, sir, and I
6 apologize if you took it that way. I was just asking the 7 question, you are the person now solely responsible for making
8 the investment decisions, correct?

9 A Yes.

10 Q Okay. Let's talk about the circumstances that led to the 11 filing of the complaint for a bit. On April 12, 2021, you
12 caused the Plaintiffs to commence an action against HCMLP and 13 two other entities, correct?

14 A Correct.

15 Q Okay. One of the binders -- you've got a couple of 16 binders in front of you. If you look at the bottom, one of 17 them says Volume 1 of 2, Exhibits 1 through 18. And if you 18 could grab that one and turn to Exhibit 12. Do you have that,
19 sir?

20 A It says -- it says the original complaint. Is that the 21 right one?

22 Q That is the right one. And just as I said when we were 23 doing this virtually last Friday, if I ask you a question
24 about a particular document, you should always feel free to 25 review as much of the document as you think you need to 005349

Patrick - Direct

104

1 competently and fully answer the question. Okay?

2 A Okay. Thank you.

3 Q All right. You instructed the Sbaiti firm to file that 4 complaint on behalf of the Plaintiffs, correct?

5 A Correct.

6 Q And to the best of your recollection, the Plaintiffs
7 returned -- retained the Sbaiti firm in April, correct?

8 A Correct.

9 Q So the Sbaiti firm was retained no more than twelve days
10 before the complaint was filed, correct?

11 A Correct.

12 Q You personally retained the Sbaiti firm, correct?

13 A Correct.

14 Q And the idea of filing this complaint originated with the 15 Sbaiti firm, correct?

16 A Correct.

17 Q Before filing -- withdrawn. Before becoming the 18 Plaintiffs' authorized representative, you hadn't had any 19 communications with anyone about potential claims that might 20 be brought against the Debtor arising out of the HarbourVest
21 settlement, correct?

22 A That is correct.

23 Q Now, after you became the Plaintiffs' authorized
24 representative, Mr. Dondero communicated with the Sbaiti firm
25 about the complaint that's marked as Exhibit 12, correct?

005350

Patrick - Direct

105

1 A Yes. After he brought certain information to myself and 2 then that I engaged the Sbaiti firm to launch an
3 investigation, I also wanted Mr. Dondero to work with the 4 Sbaiti firm with respect to their investigation of the 5 underlying facts.

6 Q Okay. Mr. Dondero did not discuss the complaint with you,
7 but he did communicate with the Sbaiti firm about the 8 complaint, correct?

9 A I believe -- yeah. I heard you slip in at the end "the 10 complaint." I know he communicated with the Sbaiti firm. I
11 can't -- I can't say what he said or didn't say with respect
12 to the -- the actual complaint.

13 Q Okay. But Mr. Dondero got involved in the process
14 initially when he brought some information to your attention
15 concerning the HarbourVest transaction, correct?

16 A Correct.

17 Q And he came to you with the HarbourVest information after 18 you assumed your role as the authorized representative of the 19 Plaintiffs on March 24th, correct?

20 A That is correct.

21 Q At the time he came to you, you did not have any specific 22 knowledge about the HarbourVest transaction, correct?

23 A I did not have specific knowledge with respect to the 24 allegations that were laid out and the facts with respect to 25 the original complaint. I think I had just had a general

005351

Patrick - Direct

106

1 awareness that there was a HarbourVest something or other, but
2 the specific aspects of it, I was unaware.

3 Q Okay. And you had no reason to believe that Mr. Seery had 4 done anything wrong with respect to the HarbourVest
5 transaction at the time you became the Plaintiffs' authorized
6 representative, correct?

7 A That is correct.

8 Q But you recall very specifically that some time after 9 March 24th Mr. Dondero told you that an investment opportunity
10 was essentially usurped or taken away, to the Plaintiffs' harm
11 and for the benefit of HCMLP, correct?

12 A That is correct.

13 Q And after Mr. Dondero brought this information to your 14 attention, you hired the Sbaiti firm to launch an 15 investigation into the facts, correct?

16 A Correct.

17 Q You had never worked with the Sbaiti firm before, correct?

18 A That is correct.

19 Q And you had hired many firms as a tax counselor at HCMLP,
20 but not the Sbaiti firm until now. Correct?

21 A That is correct.

22 Q You got to the Sbaiti firm through a recommendation from 23 D.C. Sauter, correct?

24 A Correct.

25 Q Mr. Sauter is the in-house counsel, the in-house general

005352

Patrick - Direct

107

1 counsel at NexPoint Advisors, correct?

2 A Correct.

3 Q You didn't ask Mr. Sauter for a recommendation for a
4 lawyer; he just volunteered that you should use the Sbaiti
5 firm. Correct?

6 A That is correct.

7 Q And you never used -- considered using another firm, did
8 you?

9 A When they were presented to me, they appeared to have all 10 the sufficient skills necessary to undertake this action, and 11 so I don't recall interviewing any other firms.

12 Q Okay. Now, after bringing the matter to your attention, Mr.
13 Dondero communicated directly with the Sbaiti firm in relation 14 to the investigation that was being undertaken. Correct?

15 A That is correct.

16 Q But you weren't privy to the communications between Mr.
17 Dondero and the Sbaiti firm, correct?

18 A I did not participate in those conversations as the --
19 what I, again, considered Mr. Dondero as the investment 20 advisor to the portfolio, and he was very versant in the 21 assets. I wanted him to participate in the investigation that 22 the Sbaiti firm was undertaking prior to the filing of this
23 complaint.

24 Q Let's talk for a minute about the notion of Mr. Dondero
25 being the investment advisor. Until recently, the entity

005353

Patrick - Direct

108

1 known as the DAF had an investment advisory committee with HC
2 -- an investment advisory agreement with HCMLP. Correct?

3 A It's my understanding that the investment advisory 4 agreement existed with the Plaintiffs, CLO Holdco, as well as 5 Charitable DAF Fund, LP, up and to the end of February,
6 throughout the HarbourVest transaction.

7 Q Okay. And since February, the Plaintiffs do not have an 8 investment advisory agreement with anybody, correct?

9 A That is correct.

10 Q Okay. So Mr. Dondero, if he serves as an investment
11 advisor, it's on an informal basis. Is that fair?

12 A After I took control, he serves as an informal investment
13 advisor.

14 Q Okay. So there's no contract that you're aware of between 15 either of the Plaintiffs and Mr. Dondero pursuant to which he 16 is authorized to act as the investment advisor for the 17 Plaintiffs, correct?

18 A That is correct.

19 Q Okay. When you communicated with Grant Scott --
20 withdrawn. You know who Grant Scott is, right?

21 A Yes, I do.

22 Q He's the gentleman who preceded you as the authorized
23 representative of the Plaintiffs, correct?

24 A Yes.

25 Q Okay. You communicated with Mr. Scott from time to time

005354

Patrick - Direct

109

1 during February and March 2021, correct?

2 A February and March are the dates? Yes.

3 Q Yeah. And from February 1st until March 21st -- well,
4 withdrawn. Prior to March 24th, 2021, Mr. Scott was the 5 Plaintiffs' authorized representative, correct?

6 A Correct.

7 Q And you have no recollection of discussing with Mr. Scott
8 at any time prior to March 24th any aspect of the HarbourVest
9 settlement with Mr. Scott. Correct?

10 A Correct.

11 Q And you have no recollection of discussing whether the 12 Plaintiffs had potential claims that might be brought against 13 the Debtor. Correct? Withdrawn. Let me ask a better
14 question.

15 You have no recollection of discussing with Mr. Scott at 16 any time prior to March 24th whether the Plaintiffs had 17 potential claims against the Debtor. Correct?

18 A That is correct.

19 Q You and Mr. Scott never discussed whether either of -- 20 either of the Plaintiffs had potential claims against Mr.
21 Seery. Correct?

22 A Correct.

23 Q Okay. At the time that you became their authorized
24 representative, you had no knowledge that the Plaintiffs would 25 be filing a complaint against the Debtors relating to the 005355

Patrick - Direct

110

1 HarbourVest settlement less than three weeks later, correct?

2 A That is correct.

3 Q Okay. Now, if you look at Page 2 of the complaint, you'll 4 see at the top it refers to Mr. Seery as a potential party.

5 Do you see that?

6 A Yes, I do.

7 Q Okay. You don't know why Mr. Seery was named --
8 withdrawn. You don't know why Mr. Seery was not named as a
9 defendant in the complaint, correct?

10 A No, I -- that's correct. I do not know why he was not
11 named. That's in the purview of the Sbaiti firm.

12 Q Okay. And the Sbaiti firm also made the decision to name
13 Mr. Seery on Page 2 there as a potential party when drafting 14 the complaint, correct?

15 A That's what the document says.

16 Q And you weren't involved in the decision to identify Mr.
17 Seery as a potential party, correct?

18 A That is correct. Again, I rely on the law firm to decide
19 what parties to bring a suit to -- against.

20 Q Okay. Okay. Do you recall the other day we talked about 21 a document called the July order?

22 A Yes.

23 Q Okay. That's in -- that's in Tab 16 in your binder, if 24 you can turn to that. And take a moment to look at it, if 25 you'd like. And my first question is simply whether this is 005356

Patrick - Direct

111

1 the July order, as you understand it.

2 (Pause.)

3 A Yes, it is. I was just looking for the gatekeeper
4 provision. It looks like it's Paragraph 5. So, --

5 Q Okay. Thank you for that. About a week after the 6 complaint was filed, you authorized the Plaintiffs to file a
7 motion in the District Court for leave to amend the 8 Plaintiffs' complaint to add Mr. Seery as a defendant.

9 Correct?

10 A I authorized the filing of a motion in Federal District
11 Court that would ask the Federal District Court whether or not 12 Jim Seery could be named in the original complaint with 13 respect to the gatekeeper provision cited in that motion and 14 with respect to the arguments that were made in that motion.

15 Q Okay. Just to be clear, if you turn to Exhibit 17, the 16 next tab, --

17 A I'm here.

18 Q -- do you see that document is called Plaintiffs' Motion
19 for Leave to File First Amended Complaint?

20 A Yes.

21 Q And that's the document that you authorized the Plaintiffs
22 to file on or about April 19th, correct?

23 A Correct.

24 Q Okay. And can we refer to that document as the motion to 25 amend?

005357

112

1 A Yes.

2 Q Okay. You were aware of the July order at Tab 16 before
3 you authorized the filing of the motion to amend. Correct?

4 A Yes, because it's cited in the motion itself.

5 Q Okay. And at the time that you authorized the filing of 6 the motion to amend, you understood that the July order was 7 still in effect. Correct?

8 A Yes, because it was referenced in the motion, so my 9 assumption would be it would still be in effect.

10 Q Okay. Before the motion to amend was filed, you're -- you
11 are aware that my firm and the Sbaiti firm communicated by 12 email about the propriety of filing the motion to amend?

13 A Before it was filed? Communications between your firm and 14 the Sbaiti firm? I would have to have my recollection
15 refreshed.

16 Q I'll just ask the question a different way. Did you know
17 before you authorized the filing of the motion to amend that 18 my firm and the Sbaiti firm had engaged in an email exchange 19 about the propriety of filing the motion to amend in the 20 District Court?

21 A It's my recollection -- and again, I could be wrong here
22 -- but I thought the email exchange occurred after the fact,
23 not before. But again, I -- I just --

24 Q Okay. In any event, on April 19th, the motion to amend
25 was filed. Correct?

005358

Patrick - Direct

113

1 A Correct.

2 Q That's the document that is Exhibit 17. And you
3 personally authorized the Sbaiti firm to file the motion to 4 amend on behalf of the Plaintiffs, correct?

5 A Correct.

6 Q And you authorized the filing of the motion to amend with 7 knowledge -- withdrawn.

8 Can you read the first sentence of the motion to amend out
9 loud, please?

10 A Yeah. (reading) Plaintiffs submit this motion under Rule
11 15 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure for one purpose:
12 to name as defendant one James P. Seery, Jr., the CEO of 13 defendant Highland Capital Management, LP (HCM) and the chief 14 perpetrator of the wrongdoing that forms the basis of the 15 Plaintiffs' causes of action.

16 Q And does that fairly state the purpose of the motion?

17 MR. SBAITI: Objection, Your Honor. Asks him to make 18 a legal conclusion about the purpose of the legal motion filed
19 in court that he didn't draft.

20 THE COURT: Okay. I overrule. You can answer if you
21 have an answer.

22 THE WITNESS: It's always been my general
23 understanding that the purpose of filing this motion was to go
24 to the Federal District Court and ask that Court of reference
25 to this Court whether or not Mr. Seery could be named with 005359

4 BY MR. MORRIS:

5 Q Okay. You personally didn't learn anything between April
6 9th, when the complaint was filed, and April 19th, when the 7 motion to amend was filed, that caused you to authorize the 8 filing of the motion to amend, correct?

9 A That is correct.

10 Q In fact, you relied on the Sbaiti firm with respect to 11 decisions concerning the timing of the motion to amend.
12 Correct?

13 A Correct.

14 Q And you had no knowledge of whether anyone acting on 15 behalf of the Plaintiffs ever served the Debtor with a copy of 16 the motion to amend. Correct?

17 A Yes. I have no knowledge.

18 Q Okay. And you have no knowledge that the Sbaiti firm ever
19 provided my firm with a copy of the motion to amend. Correct?

20 A I cannot recall one way or another.

21 Q Okay. You never instructed anyone on behalf -- acting on 22 behalf of the Plaintiffs to inform the Debtor that the motion
23 to amend had been filed, correct?

24 A That is correct.

25 Q And that's because you relied on the Sbaiti firm on 005360

2 A That is correct.

3 Q You didn't consider waiting until the Debtor --

4 (Interruption.)

6 filing of the motion --

7 A Yeah, --

8 THE COURT: Yes. Y'all are being a little bit loud.

9 Okay.

10 A VOICE: Sorry.

11 MR. MORRIS: No problem.

12 MR. PHILLIPS: I've heard that before, Your Honor,

14 THE COURT: I bet you have. Thank you.

15 MR. MORRIS: Admonish Mr. Phillips, please.

16 THE COURT: Okay.

17 MR. MORRIS: He's always the wild card.

18 MR. PHILLIPS: I admonish --

19 MR. MORRIS: He's always the wild card.

20 MR. PHILLIPS: I admonish myself.

21 THE COURT: All right. I think he got the message.

22 Continue.

116

1 A Again, I am the client and I rely upon the law firm that's 2 engaged with respect to making legal decisions as to the 3 timing and notice and appearance and what have you. I'm a tax
4 lawyer.

5 Q Okay. You wanted the District Court to grant the relief
6 that the Plaintiffs were seeking. Correct?

7 A I wanted the District Court to consider, under the 8 gatekeeper provisions of this Court, whether or not Mr. Seery
9 could be named in the original complaint. That's -- that,
10 from my perspective, is what was desired.

11 Q All right. You wanted the District Court to grant the 12 relief that the Plaintiffs were seeking, correct?

13 MR. SBAITI: Objection, Your Honor. Asked and 14 answered.

15 THE COURT: Overruled.

16 THE WITNESS: Again, I would characterize this motion
17 as not necessarily asking for specific relief, but asking the 18 Federal District Court whether or not, under the gatekeeper
19 provision, that Mr. Seery could be named on there. What 20 happens after that would be a second step. So I kind of -- I
21 dispute that characterization.

22 BY MR. MORRIS:

23 Q All right. I'm going to cross my fingers and hope that 24 Ms. Canty is on the line, and I would ask her to put up Page

117

1 THE COURT: There it is.

2 MR. MORRIS: There it is. It's like magic. Can we 3 go down to Lines 18 through 20?

4 BY MR. MORRIS:

5 Q Mr. Patrick, during the deposition on Friday, did I ask
6 you this question and did you give me this answer? Question,
7 "Did you want the Court to grant the relief you were seeking?"
8 Answer, "Yes."

9 A I -- and it was qualified with respect to Lines 12 through 10 17. In my view, when I answered yes, I was simply restating
11 what I stated in Line 12. I wanted the District Court to 12 consider this motion as to whether or not Mr. Seery could be 13 named in the original complaint or the amended complaint
14 pursuant to the existing gatekeeper rules and the arguments
15 that were made in that motion. That's -- that's what I
16 wanted. And so then when I was asked, did you want the Court
17 to grant the relief that you were seeking, when I answered
18 yes, it was from that perspective.

19 Q Okay. Thank you very much. If the District Court had 20 granted the relief that you were seeking, you would have 21 authorized the Sbaiti firm to file the amended complaint
22 naming Mr. Seery as a defendant if the Sbaiti firm recommended
23 that you do so. Correct?

24 A If the Sbaiti firm recommended that I do so. That is
25 correct.

1 Q Okay. Let's talk for a little bit about the line of 2 succession for the DAF and CLO Holdco. Can we please go to 3 Exhibit 25, which is in the other binder? It's in the other
4 binder, sir.

5 (Pause.)

6 Q I guess you could look on the screen or you can look in 7 the binder, whatever's easier for you.

8 A Yeah. I prefer the screen. I prefer the screen.

9 Q Okay.

10 A It's much easier.

11 Q All right. We've got it in both spots. But do you have 12 Exhibit 25 in front of you, sir?

13 A Yes, I do.

14 Q All right. Do you know what it is?

15 A This is the organizational chart depicting a variety of 16 charitable entities as well as entities that are commonly 17 referred to the DAF. However, when I look at this chart, I do
18 not look at and see just boxes, what I see is the humanitarian 19 effort that these boxes represent.

20 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, may I interrupt?

21 THE COURT: You may.

22 MR. MORRIS: Okay.

23 BY MR. MORRIS:

24 Q I appreciate that, and when your lawyers get up to ask you
25 questions, I bet they'll want to know just what you were about

005364

119

1 to tell me. But I just want to understand what this chart is.
2 This chart is the DAF, CLO Holdco, structure chart. Correct?

3 A Correct.

4 Q Okay. And you were personally involved in creating this 5 organizational structure, correct?

6 A I -- yes.

7 Q Okay. And from time to time, the Charitable DAF Holdco
8 Limited distributes cash to the foundations that are above it.
9 Correct?

10 A Correct.

11 Q All right. I want to talk a little bit more specifically
12 about how this happens. The source of the cash distributed by 13 Charitable DAF Holdco Limited is CLO Holdco, Ltd., that 14 entity, the Cayman Islands entity near the bottom. Correct?

15 MR. ANDERSON: Your Honor, I have an objection.
16 Completely irrelevant. I'm objecting on relevance grounds.
17 This has nothing to do with the contempt proceeding. We've 18 already gone over that he authorized the filing of the 19 complaint, that he authorized the filing of the motion to 20 amend. It's all in the record. This is completely irrelevant
21 at this point.

22 THE COURT: Okay. Relevance objection. Your 23 response?

24 MR. MORRIS: I believe that it's relevant to the 25 Debtor's motion to hold Mr. Dondero in contempt for pursuing

005365

Patrick - Direct

120

1 claims against Mr. Seery, in violation of the July 7 order. I
2 think an understanding of what the Plaintiffs are, how they're
3 funded, and Mr. Dondero's interest in pursuing claims on 4 behalf of those entities is relevant to the -- to the -- just 5 -- it's just against him. It's not against their clients,
6 frankly. It's just against Mr. Dondero.

7 THE COURT: I overrule.

8 MR. MORRIS: I'll try and -- I'll try and make this 9 quick, though.

10 BY MR. MORRIS:

11 Q CLO Holdco had two primary sources of capital. Is that
12 right?

13 A Two primary sources of capital?

14 Q Let me ask it differently. There was a Charitable 15 Remainder Trust that was going to expire in 2011, correct?

16 A That is correct.

17 Q And that Charitable Remainder Trust had certain CLO equity
18 assets, correct?

19 A Correct.

20 Q And the donor to that Charitable Remainder Trust was 21 Highland Capital Management, LP. Correct?

22 A Not correct. After my deposition, I refreshed my memory.
23 There were two Charitable Remainder Trusts that existed, which 24 I think in my mind caused a little bit of confusion. The 25 Charitable Remainder Trust No. 2, which is the one that 005366

Patrick - Direct

121

1 expired in 2011, was originally funded by Mr. Dondero.

2 Q Okay. So, so the Charitable Remainder Trust that we were
3 talking about on Friday wasn't seeded with capital from 4 Highland Capital Management, it came from Mr. Dondero
5 personally?

6 A That is correct.

7 Q Okay. Thank you. And the other primary source of capital
8 was the Dallas Foundation, the entity that's in the upper 9 left-hand corner of the chart. Is that correct?

10 A No.

11 Q The -- you didn't tell me that the other day?

12 A You said -- you're pointing to the Dallas Foundation.
13 That's a 501(c)(3) organization.

14 Q I apologize. Did you tell me the other day that the 15 Dallas Foundation was the second source of capital for HCLCO
16 Hold Company?

17 A No, I did not. You --
18 (Pause.)

19 Q Maybe I know the source of the confusion. Is the Highland
20 Dallas Foundation something different?

21 A Yes. On this organizational chart, you'll see that it has 22 an indication, it's a supporting organization.

23 Q Ah, okay. So, so let me restate the question, then. The 24 second primary source of capital for CLO Holdco, Ltd. is the 25 Highland Dallas Foundation. Do I have that right?

005367

Patrick - Direct

122

1 A Yes.

2 Q Okay. And the sources of that entity's capital were 3 grantor trusts and possibly Mr. Dondero personally. Correct?

4 A In addition -- per my refreshing my recollection from our
5 deposition, the other Charitable Remainder Trust, I believe
6 Charitable Remainder Trust No. 1, which expired later, also 7 sent a donation, if you will, or assets to -- and I cannot 8 recall specifically whether it was just the Highland Dallas
9 Foundation or the other supporting organizations that you see
10 on this chart.

11 Q But the source of that -- the source of the assets that 12 became the second Charitable Remainder Trust was Highland
13 Capital Management, LP. Is that right?

14 A I think that is accurate from my recollection. And again,
15 I'm talking about Charitable Remainder Trust No. 1.

16 Q Okay. So is it fair to say -- I'm just going to try and 17 summarize, if I can. Is it fair to say that CLO Holdco, Ltd.
18 is the investment arm of the organizational structure on this 19 page?

20 A Yes.

21 Q And is it fair to say that nearly all of the assets that 22 are in there derived from either Mr. Dondero, one of his 23 trusts, or Highland Capital Management, LP?

24 A Yes. It's like the Bill Gates Foundation or the 25 Rockefeller Foundation. These come from the folks that make 005368

Patrick - Direct

123

1 their donations and put their name on it.

2 Q Okay.

3 MR. MORRIS: Now, now, Your Honor, I'm going to go
4 back just for a few minutes to how Mr. Scott got appointed,
5 because I think that lays kind of the groundwork for his 6 replacement. It won't take long.

7 THE COURT: Okay. I have a question either --

8 MR. MORRIS: Sure.

9 THE COURT: -- for you or the witness. I'm sorry, 10 but --

11 MR. MORRIS: Sure. Yeah.

12 THE COURT: -- the organizational chart, it's not 13 meant to show everything that might be connected to this 14 substructure, right? Because doesn't CLO Holdco, Ltd. own
15 49.02 percent of HCLOF, --

16 MR. MORRIS: That --

17 THE COURT: -- which gets us into the whole
18 HarbourVest transaction issue?

19 MR. MORRIS: You're exactly right, Your Honor.

20 THE COURT: Okay.

21 MR. MORRIS: But that's just an investment that HCLO
22 Holdco made.

23 THE COURT: Right.

24 MR. MORRIS: Right? And so I -- let me ask the 25 witness, actually.

005369

Patrick - Direct

124

1 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you. Thank you.

2 MR. MORRIS: Let me ask the witness. Yeah.

3 THE COURT: I just want my brain --

4 MR. MORRIS: Right.

5 THE COURT: -- to be complete on this chart.

6 BY MR. MORRIS:

7 Q Mr. Patrick, there are three entities under CLO Holdco,
8 Ltd. Do you see that?

9 A Yes.

10 Q And does CLO Holdco, Ltd. own one hundred percent of the 11 interests in each of those three entities?

12 A Yes.

13 Q Do you know why those three entities are depicted on this 14 particular chart? Is it because they're wholly-owned 15 subsidiaries?

16 A Correct.

17 Q Okay. And CLO Holdco, Ltd. has interests in other
18 companies. Isn't that right?

19 A It has other investments. That is correct.

20 Q And the reason that they're not depicted on here is 21 because they're not wholly-owned subsidiaries, they're just 22 investments; is that fair?

23 A That is fair.

24 MR. MORRIS: Does that--?

25 THE COURT: Yes.

005370

Patrick - Direct

125

1 MR. MORRIS: Okay.

2 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

3 BY MR. MORRIS:

4 Q So, so let's go back to Mr. Grant for a moment. Mr.
5 Scott, rather. Mr. Dondero was actually the original general
6 partner. If you look at this chart, while it's still up here,
7 you see on the left there's Charitable DAF GP, LLC?

8 A Yes.

9 Q And the Charitable DAF GP, LLC is the general partner of 10 the Charitable DAF Fund, LP. Correct?

11 A Correct.

12 Q And on this chart, Grant Scott was the managing member of 13 Charitable DAF GP, LLC. Right?

14 A Correct.

15 Q Okay. But Mr. Dondero was the original general partner of 16 that entity, correct?

17 A That is correct. But I do want to point out, I just note
18 that the GP interest is indicating a one percent interest and 19 the 99 interest to Charitable DAF Holdco. I believe that's 20 incorrect. It's a hundred percent by Charitable DAF Holdco,
21 Ltd., and the Charitable DAF GP interest is a noneconomic
22 interest. So that should actually reflect a zero percent to 23 the extent it may indicate some sort of profits or otherwise.

24 Q Okay. Thank you for the clarification. Can you turn to 25 Exhibit 26, please, in your binder? And is it your 005371

126

1 understanding that that is the amended and restated LLC
2 agreement for the DAF GP, LLC?

3 A Yes.

4 Q Okay. And this was amended and restated effective as of 5 January 1st, 2012, correct?

6 A Yes.

7 Q And if you go to the last page, you'll see there are 8 signatures for Mr. Scott and Mr. Dondero, correct?

9 A Yes.

10 Q And Mr. Dondero is identified as the forming -- former 11 managing member and Mr. Scott is identified as the new 12 managing member. Correct?

13 A Correct. That's what the document says.

14 Q And it's your understanding that Mr. Dondero had the 15 authority to select his successor. Correct?

16 A Correct.

17 Q In fact, it's based on your understanding of documents and 18 your recollection that Mr. Dondero personally selected Mr.
19 Scott as the person he was going to transfer control to,
20 correct?

21 A Upon advice of Highland Capital Management's tax
22 compliance officer, Mr. Tom Surgent.

23 Q What advice did Mr. Surgent give?

24 A He gave advice that, because Mr. Dondero -- and this is 25 what I came to an understanding after the fact of this 005372

Patrick - Direct

127

1 transaction, because I was not a part of it -- that by Mr.
2 Dondero holding that GP interest, that it would be -- the 3 Plaintiffs, if you will, would be an affiliate entity for 4 regulatory purposes, and so he advised that if he -- if Mr.
5 Dondero transferred his GP interest to Mr. Scott, it would no
6 longer be an affiliate, is my recollection.

7 Q Okay. You didn't appoint Mr. Scott, did you?

8 A No.

9 Q That was Mr. Dondero. Is that right?

10 A Yes.

11 Q Okay. Let's go to 2021. Let's come back to the current 12 time. Sometime in February, Mr. Scott called you to ask about 13 the mechanics of how he could resign. Correct?

14 A That is correct.

15 Q But the decision to have you replace Mr. Scott was not 16 made until March 24th, the day you sent an email to Mr. Scott
17 with the transfer documents. Correct?

18 A That is correct.

19 Q And it's your understanding that he could have transferred 20 the management shares and control of the DAF to anyone in the 21 world. Correct?

22 A Correct.

23 Q That's what the docu... that he had the authority under 24 the documentation, as you understood it, to freely trade or 25 transfer the management shares. Correct?

005373

Patrick - Direct

128

1 A Wait. Now, let's be precise here.

2 Q Okay.

3 A Are you talking about the GP interests or the management
4 shares held by Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd.?

5 Q Let's start with the management shares. Can you explain
6 to the Court what the management shares are?

7 MR. ANDERSON: Your Honor? Hang on one second. Your
8 Honor, I want to object again on relevance. We're going way
9 beyond the scope of the contempt issue, whether or not --

10 MR. MORRIS: This is about control.

11 MR. ANDERSON: -- the motion to amend somehow
12 violated the prior order of this Court. Getting into the 13 management structure, transfer of shares, that's way outside
14 the bounds. I object on relevance.

15 THE COURT: Okay. Relevance objection?

16 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, they have probably 30
17 documents, maybe 20 documents, on their exhibit list that 18 relate to management and control. I'm asking questions about 19 management and control. Okay? This is important, again, to 20 (a) establish his authority, but (b) the circumstances under 21 which he came to be the purported control person.

22 THE COURT: Okay. Overruled. Go ahead.

23 THE WITNESS: It might be helpful to look at the 24 organizational chart, but if not -- but I'll describe it to 25 you again. With respect to the entity called --

005374

Patrick - Direct

129

1 MR. MORRIS: Hold on one second. Can we put up the
2 organizational chart again, Ms. Canty, if you can? There you
3 go.

4 THE WITNESS: Okay. So with respect to the 5 Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd., it is my understanding that Mr.
6 Scott, he organized that entity when he was the independent
7 director of the Charitable Remainder Trust, and he caused the 8 issuance of the management shares to be issued to himself.
9 And then those are, again, noneconomic shares, but they are 10 control shares over that entity.

11 And I think, to answer your question, is -- it -- he alone
12 decides who he can transfer those shares to.

13 BY MR. MORRIS:

14 Q Do I have this right, that whoever holds the noneconomic
15 management shares has the sole authority to appoint the 16 representatives for each of the Charitable DAF entities and 17 CLO Holdco? It's kind of a magic ticket, if you will?

18 A It -- I think there's a -- the answer really is no from a
19 legal standpoint, because Charitable DAF Holdco is a limited
20 partner in Charitable DAF Fund, LP, so it does not have 21 authority -- authority under all -- the respective entities
22 underneath that. It could cause a redemption, if you will, of 23 Charitable DAF Fund. And so, really, the authority -- the 24 trickle-down authority that you're referencing is with respect
25 to his holding of the Charitable DAF GP, LLC interest. It's a 005375

Patrick - Direct

130

1 member-managed Delaware limited liability company. And from
2 that, he -- that authority kind of trickles down to where he
3 can appoint directorships.

4 Q All right. I think I want to just follow up on that a
5 bit. Which entity is the issuer of the manager shares, the 6 management shares?

7 A Yeah, the -- per the organizational chart, it is accurate,
8 it's the Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd. which issued the 9 management shares to Mr. Scott.

10 Q Okay. And that's why you have the arrow from Mr. Scott
11 into that entity?

12 A Correct.

13 Q And do those -- does the holder of the management shares
14 have the authority to control the Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd.?

15 A Yes.

16 Q Okay. And as the control person for the Charitable DAF
17 Holdco, Ltd., they own a hundred -- withdrawn. Charitable DAF
18 Holdco Limited owns a hundred percent of the limited
19 partnership interests of the Charitable DAF Fund, LP.

20 Correct?

21 A Correct.

22 Q And so does the holder of that hundred percent limited
23 partnership interest have the authority to decide who acts on 24 behalf of the Charitable DAF Fund, LP?

25 A I would say no. I mean, you know, just -- I would love to 005376

Patrick - Direct

131

1 read the partnership agreement again. But I, conceptually,
2 what I know with partnerships, I would say the limited partner
3 would not. It would be through the Charitable DAF GP, LLC
4 interest.

5 Q The one on the left, the general partner?

6 A The general partner.

7 Q I see. So when Mr. Scott transferred to you the one
8 hundred percent of the management shares as well as the title
9 of the managing member of the Charitable DAF GP, LLC, did 10 those two events give you the authority to control the 11 entities below it?

12 A Yes.

13 Q Thank you. And so prior to the time that he transferred 14 those interests to you, is it your understanding that Mr.
15 Scott had the unilateral right to transfer those interests to 16 anybody in the world?

17 A Yes.

18 Q Okay. And you have that right today, don't you?

19 A Yes, I do.

20 Q If you wanted, you could transfer it to me, right?

21 A Yes, I could.

22 Q Okay. But of all the people in the world, Mr. Scott
23 decided to transfer the management shares and the managing 24 member title of the DAF GP to you, correct?

25 A Restate that question again?

005377

Patrick - Direct

132

1 Q Of all the people in the world, Mr. Scott decided to
2 transfer it to you, correct?

3 A Yeah. Mr. Scott transferred those interests to me.

4 Q Okay. And you accepted them, right?

5 A Yes.

6 Q You're not getting paid anything for taking on this
7 responsibility, correct?

8 A I am not paid by any of the entities depicted on this 9 chart.

10 Q And Mr. Scott used to get $5,000 a month, didn't he?

11 A I believe that's what he testified to.

12 Q Yeah. But you don't get anything, right?

13 A Correct.

14 Q In fact, you get the exact same salary and compensation
15 from Skyview that you had before you became the authorized
16 representative of the DAF entities and CLO Holdco. Correct?

17 A Correct.

18 MR. MORRIS: Okay. Your Honor, if I may just take a 19 moment, I may be done.

20 THE COURT: Okay.

21 (Pause.)

22 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, I have no further questions.

23 THE COURT: All right. Pass the witness. Any 24 examination of the witness?

005378

1 BY MR. ANDERSON:

2 Q Mr. Patrick, I just had a few follow-up questions. When
3 you authorized the filing of the lawsuit against Highland
4 Capital Management, LP, Highland HCF Advisor Limited, and 5 Highland CLO Funding, Limited, when that lawsuit was filed in 6 April of this year, was Mr. Seery included as a defendant?

7 A No.

8 Q Have the two Plaintiffs in that lawsuit, have they 9 commenced any lawsuit against Mr. Seery?

10 A No.

11 Q Have they pursued any lawsuit against Mr. Seery?

12 A No.

13 Q Have they pursued a claim or cause of action against Mr.
14 Seery?

15 A No.

16 Q At most, did the Plaintiffs file a motion for leave to add
17 Mr. Seery as a defendant?

18 MR. MORRIS: Objection, Your Honor. To the extent
19 that any of these questions are legal conclusions, I object.
20 He's using the word pursue. If he's trying -- if he's then
21 going to argue that, But the witness testified that he didn't
22 pursue and that's somehow a finding of fact, I object.

23 THE COURT: Okay. I understand.

24 MR. MORRIS: Yeah.

25 THE COURT: But I overrule. He can answer.

1 MR. MORRIS: That's fine.

2 THE WITNESS: Can you restate the question again?

3 BY MR. ANDERSON:

4 Q Sure. On behalf of the Plaintiffs -- well, strike that.
5 Did the Plaintiffs pursue a claim or cause of action against 6 Mr. Seery?

7 A No.

8 Q At most, did the Plaintiffs file a motion for leave to 9 file an amended complaint regarding Mr. Seery?

10 A Yes. But, again, I viewed the motion as simply asking the 11 Federal District Court whether Mr. Seery could or could not be 12 named in a complaint, and then the next step might be how the 13 Federal District Court might rule with respect to that.

14 Q And we have -- it's Tab 17 in the binders in front of you.
15 That is Plaintiffs' motion for leave. If you could turn to 16 that, please.

17 A Yes. I've got it open.

18 Q Is the Court's July order, the Bankruptcy Court's July 19 order, is it mentioned on the first page and then throughout 20 the motion for leave to amend?

21 A Yes, it is. I see it quoted verbatim on Page 2 under 22 Background.

23 Q Was the Court's order hidden at all from the District
24 Court?

25 A The document speaks for itself. It's very transparent.

1 Q Was there any effort whatsoever to hide the prior order of 2 the Bankruptcy Court?

3 A No.

4 MR. ANDERSON: Pass the witness.

5 THE COURT: Okay. Other examination?

6 MR. SBAITI: Yes, Your Honor. Just a couple of
7 questions.

8 CROSS-EXAMINATION

9 BY MR. SBAITI:

10 Q Do you mind flipping to Exhibit 25, which I believe is the 11 org chart, the one that you were looking at before?

12 A Okay.

13 Q It'll still be in --

14 A Okay. Yeah.

15 Q -- the defense binder. No reason to swap out right now.

16 A I've got the right binders. Some of them are repeatable
17 exhibits, so --

18 Q Yeah.

19 A -- I have to grab the right binder. Yes.

20 Q As this org chart would sit today, is the only difference
21 that Grant Scott's name would instead be Mark Patrick?

22 A Yes.

23 Q Was there ever a period of time where Jim Dondero's name
24 would sit instead of Grant Scott's name prior?

25 A Yes, originally, when this -- yes.

1 Q So did Mr. Dondero both have the control shares of the GP,
2 LLC and DAF Holdco Limited?

3 A No, I believe not. I believe he only held the Charitable 4 DAF GP interest and that Mr. Scott at all times held the 5 Charitable DAF Holdco, LTD interest, until he decided to 6 transfer it to me.

7 Q Can you just tell us how Mr. Scott came to hold the 8 control shares of the Charitable DAF Holdco, LTD?

9 A When he was the independent trustee of the Charitable 10 Remainder Trust, he caused that -- the creation of that 11 entity, and that's how he became in receipt of those 12 management shares.

13 Q And does the Charitable DAF GP, LLC have any control over 14 Charitable DAF Fund, LP's actions or activities?

15 A Yes, it does.

16 Q What kind of control is that?

17 A I would describe complete control. It's the managing 18 member of that entity and can -- and effectively owns, you
19 know, the hundred percent interest in the respective 20 subsidiaries, and so the control follows down.

21 Q And when did Mr. Scott replace Mr. Dondero as the GP --
22 managing member of the GP?

23 A Well, I think as the -- and Mr. Morris had shown me with 24 respect to that transfer occurring on March 2012.

25 Q So nine years ago?

1 A Yes.

2 Q Does Mr. Dondero today exercise any control over the 3 activities of the DAF Charitable -- the Charitable DAF, GP or 4 the Charitable DAF Holdco, LTD?

5 A No.

6 Q Is he a board member of sorts for either of those 7 entities?

8 A No.

9 Q Is he a board members of CLO Holdco?

10 A No.

11 Q Does he have any decision-making authority at CLO Holdco?

12 A None.

13 Q The decision to authorize the lawsuit and the decision to 14 authorize the motion that you've been asked about, who made
15 that authorization?

16 A I did.

17 Q Did you have to ask for anyone's permission?

18 A No.

19 MR. SBAITI: No more questions, Your Honor.

20 THE COURT: Okay. Any -- I guess Mr. Taylor, no.

21 All right. Any redirect?

22 REDIRECT EXAMINATION

23 BY MR. MORRIS:

24 Q Since becoming the authorized representative of the 25 Plaintiffs, have you ever made a decision on behalf of those

1 entities that Mr. Dondero disagreed with?

2 A I have made decisions that were adverse to Mr. Dondero's
3 financial -- financial decision. I mean, financial interests.
4 Whether he disagreed with them or not, I don't -- he has not
5 communicated them to me. But they have been adverse, at least 6 two very strong instances.

7 Q Have you ever -- have you ever talked to him about making
8 a decision that would be adverse to his interests? Did he 9 tell -- did --

10 A I didn't -- I don't -- I did not discuss with him prior to 11 making the decisions that I made that were adverse to his 12 economic interests.

13 MR. MORRIS: Okay. No further questions, Your Honor.

14 THE COURT: Any further examination? Recross on that 15 redirect?

16 MR. ANDERSON: No further questions.

17 MR. SBAITI: No further questions, Your Honor.

18 MR. ANDERSON: Sorry.

19 THE COURT: Nothing?

20 MR. ANDERSON: I think we're good.

21 THE COURT: Okay. I have one question, Mr. Patrick.
22 My brain sometimes goes in weird directions.

23 EXAMINATION BY THE COURT

24 THE COURT: I'm just curious. What are these Cayman
25 Island entities, charitable organizations formed in the Cayman

1 Islands?

2 THE WITNESS: Yeah. I'll keep it as simple as I can,
3 even though I'm a tax lawyer, so I won't get into the tax
4 rules, but the Cayman structure is modeled after what you
5 typically see in the investment management industry, and so I
6 -- and I won't reference specific entities here with respect
7 to the Highland case, but I think you'll note some 8 similarities, if you think about it. They're -- it's 9 described as an offshore master fund structure where you have 10 a-- and that would be the Charitable DAF Fund that's 11 organized offshore, usually in the Cayman or Bermuda Islands,
12 where the general partner, typically, in the industry, holds
13 the management --

14 THE COURT: Yeah. Let --

15 THE WITNESS: Okay.

16 THE COURT: -- me just stop you. I've seen this 17 enough --

18 THE WITNESS: Yeah, it's

19 THE COURT: -- to know that it happens in the 20 investment world. But in --

21 THE WITNESS: Yeah.

22 THE COURT: You know, usually, I see 501(c)(3), you
23 know, domestically-created entities for charitable purposes,
24 so I'm just curious.

25 THE WITNESS: Yes.

1 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

2 THE WITNESS: The offshore master fund structure
3 typically will have two different types of -- they call it
4 foreign feeder funds. One foreign feeder fund is meant to 5 accommodate foreign investors; the other foreign feeder fund
6 is meant to accommodate U.S. tax-exempt investors.

7 Why, why is it structured that way? In order to avoid
8 something called -- I was trying not to be wonkish -- UBTI.
9 That's, let's see, Un -- Unrelated Trader Business Income. I
10 probably have that slightly wrong. But it's essentially,
11 it's a means to avoid active business income, which includes 12 debt finance income, which is what these CLOs tend to be, that 13 would throw off income that would be taxable normally if the 14 exempts did not go through this foreign blocker, and it
15 converts that UBTI income -- it's called (inaudible) income -- 16 into passive income that flows -- that flows up to the 17 charities.

18 And so it's very typical that you'll have a U.S. tax-
19 exempt investor, when they make an investment in a fund, 20 prefer to go through an offshore feeder fund, which is 21 actually Charitable DAF Holdco, LTD. That's essentially what,
22 from a tax perspective, represents as a UBTI blocker entity.
23 And then you have the offshore investments being held offshore
24 because there's a variety of safe harbors where the receipt of 25 interest, the portfolio interest exception, is not taxable.

1 The creation of capital gains or losses under the -- they call
2 it the trading, 864(b) trading safe harbor, is not taxable.
3 So that's why you'll find these structures operating offshore
4 to rely on those safe harbor provisions as well as -- as well
5 as what I indicated with respect to the two type blocker
6 entities. It's very typical and industry practice to organize
7 these way. And so when this was set --

8 THE COURT: It's very typical in the charitable world
9 to --

10 THE WITNESS: In the investment management --

11 THE COURT: -- form this way?

12 THE WITNESS: In the investment management world,
13 when you have charitable entities that are taking some 14 exposure to assets that are levered, to set this structure up
15 in this way. It was modeled after -- they just call them
16 offshore master fund structures. They're known as Mickey
17 Mouse structures, where you'll have U.S. investors --

18 THE COURT: Yes. I -- yes, I --

19 THE WITNESS: -- enter through a U.S. partnership,
20 and the foreign investors enter through a blocker.

21 THE COURT: It was really just the charitable aspect
22 of this that I was --

23 THE WITNESS: Yeah. Yeah.

24 THE COURT: -- getting at.

25 THE WITNESS: Yeah. No, but I'm just trying to

1 emphasize if --

2 THE COURT: All right. It's --

3 THE WITNESS: Yeah.

4 THE COURT: -- neither here nor there. All right.

5 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, may I ask a slightly

6 clarifying leading question on that, because I think I

7 understand what he was trying to say, just for the record?

8 THE COURT: Well, --

9 MR. MORRIS: I object.

10 THE COURT: -- I tell you what. Anyone who wants to 11 ask one follow-up question on the judge's question can do so.

12 Okay? You can go first.

13 MR. SBAITI: I'll approach, Your Honor.

14 THE COURT: Okay.

15 RECCROSS-EXAMINATION

16 BY MR. SBAITI:

17 Q Would it be a fair summary of what you were saying a 18 minute ago that the reason the bottom end of that structure is 19 offshore is so that it doesn't get taxed before the money
20 reaches the charities on the U.S. side?

21 A Tax -- it converts the nature of the income that is being 22 thrown off by the investments so that it becomes a tax
23 friendly income to the tax-exempt entity. Passive income.
24 That's --

25 Q So, essentially, --

1 THE COURT: Okay. Okay.

2 MR. SBAITI: -- so it doesn't get taxed before it
3 hits the --

4 THE COURT: I said one question.

5 MR. SBAITI: Sorry, Your Honor.

6 THE COURT: Okay. He answered it.

7 MR. PHILLIPS: And I have one question, Your Honor

8 THE COURT: Okay.

9 MR. PHILLIPS: I don't know if I need to ask this 10 question, but I'd rather not ask you if I need to ask it.

11 THE COURT: Go ahead.

12 MR. PHILLIPS: But if I do, you know, I could --

13 THE COURT: Go ahead.

14 MR. PHILLIPS: Well, okay.

15 RECCROSS-EXAMINATION

16 BY MR. PHILLIPS:

17 Q We've talked about the offshore structure. Are the 18 foundations in the top two tiers of the organizational chart
19 offshore entities?

20 A No.

21 Q They're --

22 A They're onshore entities. They're tax-exempt entities.

23 Q Thank you.

24 A The investments are offshore.

25 Q Thank you.

Patrick - Further Redirect

144

1 THE COURT: Mr. Morris? One question.

2 FURTHER REDIRECT EXAMINATION

3 BY MR. MORRIS:

4 Q Do you hold yourself out as an expert on the 5 organizational structures in the Caribbean for charitable
6 organizations?

7 A I hold myself out as a tax professional versant on setting
8 up offshore master fund structures. It's sort of a bread-and-
9 butter thing. But there are plenty of people that can testify
10 that this is very typical.

11 Q Uh-huh. Okay.

12 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

13 All right. You are excused, Mr. Patrick. I suppose 14 you'll want to stay around. I don't know if you'll 15 potentially be recalled today.

16 (The witness steps down.)

17 THE COURT: All right. We should take a lunch break.
18 I'm going to put this out for a democratic vote. Forty-five
19 minutes? Is that good with everyone?

20 MR. SBAITI: Do we have to leave the building to eat,
21 Your Honor, or is there food in the building?

22 THE COURT: I think --

23 MR. SBAITI: I'm sorry to ask that question, but --

24 THE COURT: Yes. You know what, there used to be a
25 very bad cafeteria, but I think it closed. Right, Mike? So,

005390

1 you know, --

2 MR. SBAITI: Sorry I asked that.

3 A VOICE: Hate to miss that one.

4 THE COURT: Is 45 minutes not enough since you have 5 to go off campus? I'll give you an hour. It just means we 6 stay later tonight.

7 A VOICE: Can we just say 2:00 o'clock?

8 MR. SBAITI: That's fine with us, Your Honor.

9 THE COURT: 2:00 o'clock. That's 50 minutes. See 10 you then.

11 MR. SBAITI: Thank you.

12 A VOICE: Your Honor, can we just get a time check?

13 THE COURT: Okay.

14 THE CLERK: Yeah. The Debtors are at an hour and 15 eleven minutes. Respondents at an hour nineteen.

16 THE COURT: And hour and eleven and an hour and 17 nineteen.

18 A VOICE: Wait, that's not right.

19 A VOICE: That can't be right.

20 A VOICE: Two hours? We started at --

21 THE COURT: Okay. So, again, their side, the 22 collective Respondents?

23 THE CLERK: An hour and eleven, responding to your
24 questions, --

25 A VOICE: Yeah, he's not recording --

1 THE CLERK: So an hour and eleven and an hour and
2 nineteen.

3 THE COURT: But they were already over an hour --

4 A VOICE: Yeah. It's been over three hours.

5 THE COURT: -- with opening statements.

6 THE CLERK: An hour and twelve. Yes. They were very 7 short with the questioning. It was only like --

8 THE COURT: Okay. We'll double-check that over the 9 break with the court reporter.

10 A VOICE: All right. Thank you, Your Honor.

11 THE COURT: We'll double-check and let you know.

12 THE COURT: All rise.

13 (A luncheon recess ensued from 1:09 p.m. until 2:03 p.m.)

14 THE COURT: All right. Please be seated. We're
15 going back on the record in Highland after our lunch break.
16 I'm going to confirm time. We've had the Debtor an aggregate
17 of an hour and eleven minutes. The Respondents, an aggregate
18 of an hour and twenty minutes. Okay? So we've gone two hours
19 and thirty-one minutes.

20 If it seems like we've been going longer, it's because we 21 did not do the clock on the opening matters regarding removal,
22 extension of time. And then when I interjected with 23 questions, we stopped the clock. All right? So let's go.

24 You may call your next witness, Mr. Morris.

25 MR. MORRIS: Thank you, Your Honor. The Debtor calls

Dondero - Direct

147

1 James Dondero.

2 THE COURT: All right.

3 A VOICE: He had to step down the hall. We had a
4 little trouble getting through security. Let me --

5 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Dondero, you've been
6 called as the next witness. So if you'll approach our witness
7 stand, please. All right. Please raise your right hand.

8 (The witness is sworn.)

9 THE COURT: All right. Please be seated.

10 JAMES D. DONDERO, DEBTOR'S WITNESS, SWORN

11 DIRECT EXAMINATION

12 BY MR. MORRIS:

13 Q Good afternoon, Mr. Dondero.

14 A Good afternoon.

15 Q Can you hear me?

16 A Yes.

17 Q Okay. So, you were here this morning, correct?

18 A Yes.

19 Q All right. So, we're going to put up -- we'll put it up
20 on the screen, but if you'd prefer to look at a hard copy in 21 the binder that's marked Volume 1 of -- 2 of 2, I'd ask you to 22 turn to Exhibit 25. Or you could just follow on the screen.
23 And this is a one-page document, so maybe that's easier.

24 A Sure.

25 Q Do you have it? All right.

005393

1 A Yes.

2 Q This is the organizational chart for what's known as the 3 DAF, correct?

4 A Yes.

5 Q And Mark Patrick set up this structure, correct?

6 A I believe he coordinated. I believe it was set up by 7 third-party law firms. I believe it was Hutton or a firm like
8 that.

9 Q Mr. Patrick participated in the creation of this structure
10 because you gave him the task of setting up a charitable 11 entity for Highland at that time, correct?

12 A Yes.

13 Q And you approved of this organizational structure,
14 correct?

15 A Yes.

16 Q And Grant Scott was the Trustee of the DAF for a number of 17 years, correct?

18 A I often use that word, trustee, but technically I think
19 it's managing member.

20 Q That's right. I appreciate that. I was using your word
21 from the deposition. But is it fair to say that, to the best
22 of your knowledge, Grant Scott was the sole authorized
23 representative of the entity known as the DAF from 2011 until 24 just recently?

25 A Sole -- I would describe it more he was in a trustee

1 function.

2 Q Uh-huh.

3 A Advice was being provided by Highland on the investment
4 side. He wasn't expected to be a financial or an investment
5 expert. And then accounting, tax, portfolio, tracking, you
6 know, compliance with all the offshore formation documents,
7 that was all done by Highland as part of a shared services
8 agreement.

9 Q Okay. I appreciate that, but listen carefully to my 10 question. All I asked you was whether he was the authorized 11 representative, the sole authorized representative for the 12 ten-year period from 2011 until recently.

13 A Yes.

14 Q Okay.

15 A I believe so.

16 Q Thank you. You served as the managing member of the DAF
17 GP, LLC before Mr. Scott, correct?

18 A Yes.

19 Q Okay. And if you turn to Exhibit 26 in your binder,
20 that's the amended and restated limited liability company
21 agreement for the DAF GP, LLC, correct?

22 A Yes.

23 Q And on the last page, that's your signature line, right?

24 A Yes.

25 Q And you stepped down as the managing member on March 12,

Dondero - Direct

150

1 2012, and were replaced by Mr. Scott, correct?

2 A Yes.

3 Q And as you recall it, Mr. Scott came to be appointed the 4 trustee of the DAF based on your recommendation, right?

5 A Based on my recommendation? Yes, I would say that's fair.

6 Q And you made that recommendation to Mr. Patrick, right?

7 A I -- I don't remember who I made the recommendation to.
8 But I would echo the testimony of Mark Patrick earlier that 9 the purpose of stepping down was to make the DAF unaffiliated
10 or independent versus being in any way affiliated.

11 MR. MORRIS: I move to strike.

12 BY MR. MORRIS:

13 Q And I'd ask you to listen carefully to my question.

14 THE COURT: Sustained.

15 BY MR. MORRIS:

16 Q You made the recommendation to Mr. Patrick, correct?

17 A I would give the same answer again.

18 Q Okay.

19 MR. MORRIS: Can we please put up Mr. Dondero's
20 deposition transcript from last Friday at Page 297?

21 I believe, Your Honor, that the court reporter thought
22 that this was a continuation of a prior deposition, and that's 23 why the pages begin in the, you know, high in the 200s and not 24 at Page 1. Just to avoid any confusion.

25 BY MR. MORRIS:

005396

Dondero - Direct

151

1 Q Mr. Dondero, do you see the transcript in front of you?

2 A Yes.

3 Q Okay. Were you asked this question and did you give this 4 answer? "Who did you make the" -- question, "Who did you make
5 the recommendation to?" Answer, "It would have been Mark
6 Patrick."

7 A I don't recall right now as I sit here, and it seems like 8 I was speculating when I answered, but it -- it probably would 9 have been Mark Patrick. I just don't have a specific 10 recollection.

11 Q You made the recommendation to Mr. Patrick because he was 12 responsible for setting up the overall structure, correct?

13 A I -- I can't testify to why I did something I don't 14 remember. I think that would be --

15 Q Can we --

16 A -- speculative.

17 Q Are you finished, sir?

18 A Yeah.

19 Q Okay.

20 MR. MORRIS: Can we go to Page 299, please?

21 BY MR. MORRIS:

22 Q Lines 6 through 10. Did I ask this question and did you
23 give me this answer? Question, "But why did you select Mr.

24 Patrick as the person to whom to make your recommendation?"

25 Answer, "Because he was responsible for setting up the overall

005397

1 structure."

2 Were you asked that question and did you give that answer
3 last Friday?

4 A Yes.

5 Q Thank you. But it's your testimony that you don't really
6 know what process led to Mr. Scott's appointment, correct?

7 A No, I -- I said I was refreshed by Mark Patrick's
8 testimony earlier.

9 Q Yeah. Were you refreshed that, in fact, you specifically
10 had the authority to and did appoint Grant Scott as the 11 managing member of the DAF GP, LLC?

12 A I -- I don't know.

13 Q Well, you're referring to Mr. Patrick's testimony and I'm 14 asking you a very specific question. Did you agree -- is your 15 memory refreshed now that you're the person who put Grant
16 Scott in the position in the DAF?

17 A I -- I don't know if I owned those secret shares that -- 18 well, they're not secret, but shares that could appoint
19 anybody on the planet. I guess if I was in that box at that 20 time before Grant, then I would have had that ability. I'm 21 not denying at all that I recommended Grant. I'm just saying
22 I don't -- I don't remember if I went specifically to him or 23 if it was Thomas Surgent that was orchestrating it at the 24 time. I don't remember.

25 Q Do you deny that you had the authority to and that you did

Dondero - Direct

153

1 appoint Grant Scott as your successor?

2 MR. TAYLOR: Your Honor, objection to the extent it
3 calls for a legal conclusion. I can't get close to a mic, so
4 --

5 THE COURT: I overrule the objection.

6 THE WITNESS: Can you repeat the question for me?

7 BY MR. MORRIS:

8 Q Do you deny that you had the authority to and that you
9 did, in fact, appoint Grant Scott as your successor?

10 A It'd be better to say I don't -- I don't -- no, I don't 11 remember or I didn't know the details at the time. But,
12 again, I -- I assume I owned those shares. And, again, I do
13 remember recommending Grant and -- but exactly how it
14 happened, I don't remember.

15 Q Did you hear Mark Patrick say just an hour ago that you
16 appointed Grant Scott as your successor?

17 MR. SBAITI: Objection, Your Honor. Misstates
18 testimony. The witness testified he transferred shares.
19 That's different than an appointment power.

20 THE COURT: Response? I can't remember the exact way
21 you worded it, to be honest.

22 MR. MORRIS: Neither can I, but I'll even take it
23 that way.

24 THE COURT: Okay.

25 MR. MORRIS: I think he's wrong, but I'll even take 005399

154

1 it that way.

2 THE COURT: Okay.

3 BY MR. MORRIS:

4 Q Mr. Dondero, did you listen to Mark Patrick say that you
5 are the person who made the decision to transfer the shares to 6 Mr. Scott in 2012?

7 A Yes, I heard him say that.

8 Q Okay. So, do you -- do you dispute that testimony?

9 A I -- I don't have any better knowledge to dispute or 10 confirm.

11 Q You and Mr. Scott have known each other since high school,
12 correct?

13 A Yes.

14 Q You spent a couple of years at UVA together, correct?

15 A Yes.

16 Q You were housemates together, correct?

17 A Yes.

18 Q He was the best man at your wedding, correct?

19 A Yes.

20 Q He's a patent lawyer, correct?

21 A Yes.

22 Q He had no expertise in finance when -- when he was 23 appointed as your successor to the DAF, correct?

24 A Correct.

25 Q To the best of your knowledge, at the time Mr. Scott

005400

Dondero - Direct

155

1 assumed his position, he had never made any decisions
2 concerning collateralized loan obligations, correct?

3 A Correct, but he wasn't hired for that. That wasn't his 4 position.

5 Q Was he the person who was going to make the decisions with 6 respect to the DAF's investments?

7 A My understanding on how it was structured was the DAF was 8 paying a significant investment advisory fee to Highland.
9 Highland was doing portfolio construction and the investment
10 selection of -- or the investment recommendations for the 11 portfolio. There is an independent trustee protocol that I
12 believe was adhered to, but it was never my direct 13 involvement. It was always the portfolio managers or the 14 traders.

15 You have to provide three similar or at least two other 16 alternatives, and then with a rationale for each of them, but 17 a rationale for why you think one in particular is better.
18 And the trustee looks at the three, evaluates them. And the 19 way I understand it always worked, that it works at pretty 20 much every charitable trust or trust that I'm aware of, they 21 generally, if not always, pick alongside the -- or, pick the 22 recommendation of their highly-paid investment advisory firm.

23 Q And are you the highly-paid investment advisory firm?

24 A Highland was at the time, yes.

25 Q And you controlled Highland, right?

005401

Dondero - Direct

156

1 A Yes.

2 Q Okay. But at the end of the day, is it your understanding
3 that Mr. Scott had the exclusive responsibility for making
4 actual decisions on behalf of the charitable trust that you
5 had created?

6 A Yeah, I mean, subject to the protocol I just described.

7 Q Yeah, okay, so let's keep going. Mr. Scott had no
8 experience or expertise running charitable organizations at 9 the time you decided to transfer the shares to him, correct?

10 A Yes, I believe that's correct.

11 Q Okay. You didn't recommend Mr. Scott to serve as the 12 DAF's investment advisor, did you?

13 A No.

14 Q And until early 2021, as you testified, I believe,
15 already, HCMLP served as the DAF's investment advisor,
16 correct?

17 A Yes.

18 Q And until early 2021, all of the DAF's day-to-day
19 operations were conducted by HCMLP pursuant to a shared
20 services agreement, correct?

21 A Yes.

22 Q And from the time the DAF was formed until January 9,
23 2020, you controlled HCMLP, correct?

24 A Yes.

25 Q You can't think of one investment decision that HCMLP

005402

Dondero - Direct

157

1 recommended that Mr. Scott ever rejected in the ten-year
2 period, correct?

3 MR. SBAITI: Objection, Your Honor. Lacks
4 foundation.

5 THE COURT: Response?

6 MR. MORRIS: I'm not quite sure what to say, Your 7 Honor. The witness has already testified that HCMLP was the 8 investment advisor, made recommendations to Mr. Scott, and 9 that Mr. Scott was the one who had to make the investment
10 decisions at the end of the day.

11 MR. SBAITI: He's not here as a witness for HCMLP.
12 He's here in his personal capacity. There's no foundation
13 he'd have personal knowledge of which specific investments
14 were proposed, which ones were rejected or accepted. He said
15 it was done by the portfolio manager.

16 THE COURT: Okay. I overrule. He can answer if he 17 has an answer.

18 BY MR. MORRIS:

19 Q Sir, you can't think of one investment decision that HCMLP
20 ever recommended to Mr. Scott that he rejected, correct?

21 A I can't think of one, but I would caveat with I wouldn't 22 have expected there to be any.

23 Q So you expected him to just do exactly what HCMLP
24 recommended, correct?

25 A No. I would expect him to sort through the various 005403

Dondero - Direct

158

1 investments when he was given three or four to choose from and
2 be able to discern that, just as we had with our expertise,
3 which was much greater than his, discern which one was the 4 best and most suitable investment, the best risk-adjusted
5 investment, that he would come to the same conclusion.

6 Q Okay. You can't think of an investment that Mr. Scott
7 ever made on behalf of the DAF that didn't originate with 8 HCMLP, correct?

9 A Again, no, but I wouldn't expect there to be.

10 Q Okay. And that's because you expected all of the 11 investments to originate with the company that you were 12 controlling, correct?

13 A We were the hired investment advisor with fiduciary 14 responsibility --

15 Q Uh-huh.

16 A -- and with a vested interest in making sure the DAF
17 performance was the best it could be.

18 Q Okay. Let --

19 A He was, as you said, a patent attorney. It would have 20 been unusual for him to second-guess. I'm sure, in any 21 private investment or any investment that was one off or 22 didn't have comps, you know, he probably sought third-party
23 valuations. But you would have to talk to him about that, or 24 the people at Highland that did that.

25 MR. MORRIS: I move to strike. It's a very simple 005404

1 question.

2 THE COURT: Sustained.

3 BY MR. MORRIS:

4 Q Sir, you can't think of one investment that Mr. Scott made
5 on behalf of the DAF that did not originate with HCMLP,
6 correct?

7 A I'm going to give the same answer.

8 Q Okay. Let's go to Page 371 of the transcript, please.
9 Lines 7 through 11.

10 Oh, I apologize. I think I might -- I think I meant 317.
11 I think I got that inverted. Yeah.

12 Did I ask this question and did you give this answer:
13 "Can you think of any investment that Mr. Scott made on behalf
14 of the DAF that didn't original with HCMLP?" Answer, "He 15 wasn't the investment advisor, but no, I don't -- I don't 16 recall."

17 Is that the answer you gave on Friday?

18 A Yes.

19 Q Thank you. Let's --

20 MR. SBAITI: Just for clarification, Your Honor, --

21 THE COURT: Pardon?

22 MR. SBAITI: -- the deposition was last Tuesday, not 23 on Friday.

24 MR. MORRIS: I stand corrected, Your Honor.

25 THE COURT: Okay.

Dondero - Direct

160

1 MR. MORRIS: I apologize.

2 THE COURT: Okay.

3 MR. MORRIS: I apologize if the Court thinks I misled
4 it.

5 BY MR. MORRIS:

6 Q Let's talk about Mr. Scott's decision during the 7 bankruptcy case that preceded his resignation. After HCMLP
8 filed for bankruptcy, CLO Holdco, Ltd. filed a proof of claim,
9 correct?

10 MR. ANDERSON: Your Honor, I haven't objected yet, 11 but we literally haven't covered anything that deals with 12 commencing or pursuing a claim or cause of action. I'm going 13 to object. This is way outside, again, the bounds of the 14 contempt hearing. It's -- otherwise, it's other discovery for 15 something else. It literally has nothing to do with pursue a 16 claim or cause of action.

17 THE COURT: We have another relevance objection.
18 Your response?

19 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, the evidence is going to 20 show that Mr. Dondero told Mr. Scott on three separate 21 occasions that his conduct, which were acts of independence,
22 were inappropriate and were not in the best interests of the 23 DAF. Within days of the third strike, he resigned. Okay?

24 I think it's relevant to Mr. Dondero's control of the DAF.
25 I think that the moment that Mr. -- this is the argument I'm 005406

Dondero - Direct

161

1 going to make. I'll make it right now. You want me to make
2 it now, I'll make it now. The moment that Mr. Scott exercised
3 independence, Mr. Dondero was all over him, and Mr. Scott
4 left. That's what happened. The evidence is going to be 5 crystal clear.

6 And I think that that control of the DAF is exactly what 7 led to this lawsuit. And what led -- and I'm allowed to make 8 my argument. So that's why it's relevant, Your Honor, because 9 I think it shows that Mr. Scott -- Mr. Scott, after exercising
10 independence, was forced out.

11 MR. ANDERSON: That doesn't move the needle one bit
12 as to whether a lawsuit was commenced or a claim or cause of 13 action was pursued, which is the subject of the contempt
14 motion. It doesn't move the needle one bit as to those two 15 issues, as to whether that has any bearing on was it commenced
16 or was it pursued.

17 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, I appreciate the very narrow 18 focus that counsel for a different party is trying to put on 19 this, but it is absolutely relevant to the question of whether 20 Mr. Dondero was involved in the pursuit of these claims. All
21 right? That's what the order says. Pursue.

22 THE COURT: All right. Overruled.

23 BY MR. MORRIS:

24 Q After HCMLP filed for bankruptcy, CLO Holdco filed a proof
25 of claim, correct?

005407

1 A I believe so.

2 Q And in the fall of 2020, Mr. Scott amended the proof of 3 claim to effectively reduce it to zero, correct?

4 A I -- I guess.

5 Q And Mr. Scott made that decision without discussing it
6 with you in advance, correct?

7 A Yes.

8 Q But you did discuss it with him after you learned of that
9 decision, correct?

10 A I don't -- I don't recall. I'm willing to be refreshed,
11 but I don't remember.

12 Q Well, you told him specifically that he had given up bona
13 fide claims against the Debtor, correct?

14 A Let me state or clarify my testimony this way. Um, --

15 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, it's really just a yes or no
16 question. His counsel can ask him if he wants to clarify, but 17 it's really just a yes or no question.

18 BY MR. MORRIS:

19 Q You told Mr. Scott that he gave up bona fide claims
20 against the Debtor, correct?

21 THE COURT: Okay.

22 THE WITNESS: I don't know if I told him then with 23 regard to those claims.

24 BY MR. MORRIS:

25 Q Okay. Can we go to Page 321 of the transcript? At the 1 bottom, Line 21? 22, I apologize.

2 Did I ask this question and did you give this answer?

3 "And what do you" -- Question, "And what do you recall about 4 your discussion with Mr. Scott afterwards?" Answer, "That he
5 had given up bona fide claims against the Debtor and I didn't
6 understand why."

7 Did I ask that question and did you give that answer last
8 Tuesday?

9 A Yes.

10 Q Okay. A short time later, in December, the Debtor filed 11 notice of their intention to enter into a settlement with 12 HarbourVest, correct?

13 A Yes.

14 Q And CLO Holdco, under Mr. Scott's direction, filed an 15 objection to that settlement, correct?

16 A Yes.

17 Q And that settlement, the substance of that settlement was 18 that the Debtor did not have the right to receive
19 HarbourVest's interests in HCLOF at the time, correct?

20 A I don't remember the exact substance of it.

21 Q Okay. But you do remember that you learned that Mr. Scott
22 caused CLO Holdco to withdraw the objection, correct?

23 A Yes, ultimately.

24 Q Okay. And again, Mr. Scott did not give you advance
25 notice that he was going to withdraw the HarbourVest

1 objection, correct?

2 A No, he -- he did it an hour before the hearing. He didn't
3 give anybody notice.

4 Q You learned that Mr. Scott caused CLO Holdco to withdraw
5 its objection to the HarbourVest settlement at the hearing,
6 correct?

7 A Yes.

8 Q And you were surprised by that, weren't you?

9 A I believe everybody was.

10 Q You were sur... you were surprised by that, weren't you,
11 sir?

12 A Yes.

13 Q And you were surprised by that because you believed Mr.
14 Scott's decision was inappropriate, right?

15 A Partly inappropriate, and partly because 8:00 o'clock the 16 night before he confirmed that he was going forward with the 17 objection. And I think the DAF's objection was scheduled to 18 be first, I think.

19 Q After you learned that Mr. Scott instructed his attorneys
20 to withdraw the CLO Holdco objection to the HarbourVest
21 settlement, you again spoke with Mr. Scott, correct?

22 A Yes.

23 Q And that conversation took place the day of the hearing or 24 shortly thereafter, correct?

25 A Yes.

1 Q And during that conversation, you told Mr. Scott that it
2 was inappropriate to withdraw the objection, correct?

3 A Yes.

4 Q And in response, Mr. Scott told you that he followed the 5 advice of his lawyers, correct?

6 A Yes.

7 Q But that didn't -- that explanation didn't make sense to 8 you, right?

9 A Yes.

10 Q In fact, you believed that Mr. Scott failed to act in the 11 best interests of the DAF and CLO Holdco by withdrawing its 12 objection to the HarbourVest settlement, correct?

13 A Yes.

14 Q And while you didn't specifically use the words fiduciary
15 duty, you reminded Mr. Scott in your communications with him
16 that he needed to do what was in the best interests of the 17 DAF, correct?

18 A Yes.

19 Q You're the founder of the DAF, correct?

20 A I put it -- I put it in motion. Yeah. I tasked Mark
21 Patrick and third-party law firms to do it, but if that boils
22 down to founder, I guess yes.

23 Q Uh-huh. And you're the primary donor to the DAF, correct?

24 A Yes.

25 Q You're the investment advisor to the DAF, or at least you

1 were at that time?

2 A Yes.

3 Q And because you served in these roles, you expected Mr.
4 Scott to discuss his decision to withdraw the HarbourVest
5 objection in advance, correct?

6 A Yes, I -- I think it was even broader than that. I mean,
7 he was having health and anxiety issues, and to the extent he 8 felt overwhelmed, I -- you know, yeah, you should do what's in 9 the best interests at all times, but -- but yes, I thought it
10 would be helpful if he conferred with me or Mark Patrick or 11 whoever he was comfortable with.

12 Q Mr. Dondero, you specifically believed that Mr. Scott's 13 failure to tell you that he was going to withdraw the 14 HarbourVest objection in advance was inappropriate, right?

15 A Yes.

16 Q Even though he was the sole authorized representative, you
17 believed that, because you were the founder of the DAF, the 18 primary donor of the DAF, and the investment advisor to the 19 DAF, he should have discussed that before he actually made the 20 decision, correct?

21 A No. What I'm saying is at 8:00 o'clock at night, when he 22 confirms to numerous people he's ready to go first thing with 23 his objection, and then he or counsel or some combination of 24 them change their mind and don't tell anybody before the 25 hearing, that's odd and inappropriate behavior.

1 MR. MORRIS: Can we go to Page 330 of the transcript,
2 please?

3 And Your Honor, before I read the testimony, there is an
4 objection there. So I'd like you to rule --

5 THE COURT: Okay.

6 MR. MORRIS: -- before I do that. It can be found at 7 -- on Page 330 at Line 21.

8 (Pause.)

9 MR. MORRIS: Here we go. Page 30, beginning at Line 10 19. 330, rather.

11 THE COURT: Okay.

12 (Pause.)

13 THE COURT: Okay. I overrule that objection.

14 BY MR. MORRIS:

15 Q Mr. Dondero, were you asked this question and did you give 16 this answer last Tuesday? Question, "Do you believe that he 17 had an obligation to inform you in advance?" Answer, "I don't 18 know if I would use the word obligation, but, again, as the 19 founder or the primary donor and continued donor to the DAF,
20 and as the investment advisor fighting for above-average
21 returns on a daily basis for the fund, significant decisions
22 that affect the finances of the fund would be something I
23 would expect typically a trustee to discuss with the primary 24 donor."

25 Did you give that answer the other day, sir?

005413

1 A Yes.

2 Q If Mr. Patrick decides tomorrow to withdraw the lawsuit
3 that's in District Court, does he have an the obligation to 4 tell you in advance?

5 A Again, I wouldn't use the word obligation. But something
6 that I think ultimately is going to be a $20 or $30 million,
7 if not more, benefit to the DAF, to the detriment of Highland,
8 if you were to give that up, I would expect him to have a
9 rationale and I would expect him to get other people's 10 thoughts and opinions before he did that.

11 Q Okay. But does he have to get your opinion before he 12 acts?

13 A No, he does not.

14 Q Okay. So he -- Mr. Patrick could do that tomorrow, he 15 could settle the case, and if he doesn't come to you to 16 discuss it in advance, you won't be critical of him, right?

17 A He doesn't have the obligation, but there's -- there's a
18 reasonableness in alignment of interests. I -- a growing 19 entrepreneur sets up a trust, a lot of times they'll put their 20 wife in charge of it, and she hires investment advisers and 21 whatever, but they've got the best interests at mind for the 22 charity or the children or whatever.

23 You know, people who go rogue and move in their own self-
24 interest or panic, that stuff can happen all the time. It
25 doesn't make it appropriate, though.

1 Q A couple of weeks after Mr. Scott withdraw the objection
2 to the HarbourVest settlement, he entered into a settlement
3 agreement with the Debtor pursuant to which he settled the 4 dispute between the Debtor and CLO Holdco, correct?

5 A Yes.

6 Q Okay. You didn't get advance notice of that third
7 decision, correct?

8 A No.

9 Q Can we go to Page -- Exhibit 32 in your binder? And this
10 is the settlement agreement between CLO Holdco and the Debtor,
11 correct? Attached as the exhibit. I apologize.

12 A Yes.

13 Q And do you understand that that's Mr. Scott's signature on 14 the last page?

15 A Yep.

16 Q And you learned about this settlement only after it had 17 been reached, correct?

18 A Yep.

19 Q And you believed Mr. Scott's decision not to pursue
20 certain claims against the Debtor or to remove HCMLP as the 21 manager of the CLOs was not in the best interests of the DAF,
22 correct?

23 A Correct.

24 Q And you let Mr. Scott know that, correct?

25 A Yes.

005415

Dondero - Direct

170

1 Q After learning about the settlement agreement on January
2 26th, you had one or two conversations with Mr. Scott on this
3 topic, correct?

4 A Yes.

5 Q And your message to Mr. Scott was that the compromise or 6 settlement wasn't in the DAF's best interest, correct?

7 A It was horrible for the DAF.

8 Q Uh-huh. And you told him that, right?

9 A Yes.

10 Q Okay. From your perspective, any time a trustee doesn't 11 do what you believe is in the trust's best interest, you leave
12 yourself open to getting sued, correct?

13 A Who is "you" in that question?

14 Q You. Mr. Dondero.

15 A Can you repeat the question, then, please?

16 Q Sure. From your perspective, any time you're a trustee
17 and you don't believe that the trustee is doing what's in the 18 best interests of the fund, the trustee leaves himself open to 19 getting sued, correct?

20 A I don't know who the trustee leaves himself open to, but 21 as soon as you go down a path of self-interest or panic, you
22 -- you potentially create a bad situation. But I don't know
23 who holds who liable.

24 Q Did you believe that Mr. Scott was acting out of self-
25 interest or panic when he decided to settle the dispute with 005416

Dondero - Direct

171

1 the Debtor on behalf of CLO Holdco?

2 A Yes.

3 Q Did you tell him that?

4 A He told me that.

5 Q He told you that he was acting out of panic or 6 desperation? With self-int... withdrawn. Withdrawn. Did he 7 tell you that he was acting out of self-interest?

8 A He was having health problems, anxiety problems, and he 9 didn't want to deal with the conflict. He didn't want to 10 testify. He didn't want to come to court. He didn't want to 11 do those things. And I told him I didn't think the settlement
12 was going to get him out of that stuff. I think, you know, it
13 got him out of some issues, but I think you guys are going to 14 go after him for other stuff. But he -- he panicked.

15 MR. MORRIS: I move to strike the latter remark.

16 THE COURT: Sustained.

17 BY MR. MORRIS:

18 Q Shortly after you had the conversation with Mr. Scott, he 19 sent you notice of his intent to resign from his positions at 20 the DAF and CLO Holdco, correct?

21 A Yes.

22 Q Okay. Let's take a look at that, please. Exhibit 29.
23 This is Mr. Scott's notice of resignation, correct?

24 A Yes.

25 Q He sent it only to you, correct?

005417

Dondero - Direct

172

1 A Yes.

2 Q A couple of days before he sent this, he told you he was
3 considering resigning; isn't that right?

4 A Yes.

5 Q Okay. And he told you he was considering resigning
6 because he was suffering from health and anxiety issues
7 regarding the confrontation and the challenges of 8 administering the DAF given the bankruptcy, correct?

9 A Yes.

10 Q He didn't tell you that he made the decision -- withdrawn.
11 Did you tell him in this same conversation -- withdrawn. Is 12 this the same conversation where you conveyed the message that 13 the compromise or settlement wasn't in the best interests of 14 the DAF?

15 A You mean the conversation -- or the resignation? Is that 16 -- can you rephrase the question, please?

17 Q Yeah, I apologize. It's my fault, sir. You testified
18 that after the January 26th hearing you had a conversation
19 with Mr. Scott where you told him that the compromise or 20 settlement was not in the best interests of the DAF, correct?

21 A Yes.

22 Q Okay. Did Mr. Scott share with you his concerns about 23 anxiety and health issues in that same conversation, or was it
24 in a subsequent conversation?

25 A It was at or around that time. I -- I don't remember

005418

1 which conversation.

2 Q Okay.

3 A But it was right at or around that time.

4 Q All right. You never asked Mr. Scott to reconsider, did
5 you?

6 A No.

7 Q You don't recall sending this notice of resignation to 8 anyone, do you?

9 A No.

10 Q You don't remember notifying anyone that you'd received
11 notice of Mr. Scott's intent to resign from the DAF, do you?

12 A It was -- yeah, no, I -- I don't remember. It was a busy
13 time around that time and this was a secondary issue.

14 Q Okay. So the fact that the person who has been running
15 the DAF for a decade gives you and only you notice of his 16 intent to resign was a secondary issue in your mind?

17 A Yes, because when I talked to him at about that time, I
18 said, okay, well, it's going to take a while. I don't even 19 know how the mechanism works. But don't do anything adverse 20 to the DAF, don't do anything else until, you know, you've 21 figured out transition.

22 Q Uh-huh.

23 A And so once he had confirmed he wouldn't do anything
24 outside normal course until he transitioned, I didn't worry
25 about this. I had bigger issues to worry about at the time.

1 Q In the third paragraph of his email to you, he wrote that 2 his resignation will not be effective until he approves of the 3 indemnification provisions and obtains any and all necessary
4 releases. Do you see that?

5 A Yes.

6 Q And that was the condition that on January 31st Mr. Scott
7 placed on the effectiveness of his resignation, correct?

8 A Condition? Yeah, I -- I think he's trying to state the 9 timing will happen after that.

10 Q After he gets the release, right?

11 A Yes.

12 Q And he wanted the release because you'd told him three 13 different times that he wasn't acting in the best of the DAF,
14 correct?

15 MR. TAYLOR: Objection, Your Honor.

16 MR. SBAITI: Objection. Calls for --

17 MR. TAYLOR: Objection. Calls for speculation.

18 THE WITNESS: Yeah, I --

19 THE COURT: Sustained.

20 THE WITNESS: I can't take that jump. Yeah.

21 BY MR. MORRIS:

22 Q In response to this email from your lifelong friend, you
23 responded, if we could scroll up, about whether divest was a
24 synonym -- if we can look at the first one -- whether divest
25 is a synonym for resigned. Do I have that right?

1 A (no immediate response)

2 Q If you will look at your response on Monday morning at 3 9:50.

4 A Yes.

5 Q Okay. And then after Mr. Scott responds, you respond
6 further, if we can scroll up, and you specifically told him,
7 "You need to tell me ASAP that you have no intent to divest
8 assets." Correct?

9 A Yes.

10 Q And you wrote that because you believed some of his 11 behavior was unpredictable, right?

12 A I think I wrote that because the term divest in investment
13 terms means sale or liquidate, but I guess it had a different 14 legal term in the way he was looking at it. I wasn't aware at 15 that time of the shares that could be bequeathed to anybody,
16 and I think the divest refers to that, but I wasn't aware that 17 that's how the structure worked at that time, and I was 18 worried that divest could be the investment term and I -- it 19 wouldn't have been appropriate for him to liquidate the 20 portfolio.

21 Q So, and you wanted to make sure he wasn't liquidating or 22 intending to liquidate any of the CLOs, correct?

23 A Correct.

24 Q Okay. So he's still the authorized, the sole authorized
25 representative, but you wanted to make sure that he didn't do

Dondero - Direct

176

1 anything that you thought was inappropriate. Fair?

2 A It's because I had talked to him before this and he said
3 he wasn't going to do anything outside normal course, and then
4 the word divest scared me, but I didn't realize it was a legal 5 term in this parlance here.

6 Q And so after he explained, you still wanted to make sure
7 that he wasn't divesting any assets, correct?

8 A Yes.

9 Q Okay. Since February 1st, you've exchanged exactly one
10 text messages with Mr. Scott; is that right?

11 A I think there've been several, several text messages. But 12 one on his birthday.

13 Q Yeah. And you haven't spoken to him in months, correct?

14 A In a couple months, yes.

15 Q All right. Let's talk about the replacement of Mr. Scott.
16 With -- with Mr. Scott's notice, someone needed to find a
17 replacement, correct?

18 A Yes.

19 Q And the replacement was going to be responsible for 20 managing a charitable organization with approximately $200
21 million of assets, most of which was seeded directly or 22 indirectly through you, correct?

23 A Yes.

24 Q And the replacement was going to get his and her -- his or 25 her investment advice from you and NexPoint Advisors; do I

005422

1 have that right?

2 A That was the plan.

3 Q Okay. Ultimately, Mr. Patrick replaced Mr. Scott,
4 correct?

5 A Yes.

6 Q But it's your testimony that you had no knowledge that Mr.
7 Patrick was going to replace Mr. Scott until after it happened
8 on March 24, 2021. Correct?

9 A That's correct. I believe it happened suddenly.

10 Q So, for nearly two months after you had received notice of 11 Mr. Scott's intent to resign, you were uninvolved in the 12 process of selecting his replacement, correct?

13 A I was uninvolved. I'd say the process was dormant for an 14 extended period of time until Mark Patrick came on board, and 15 then Mark Patrick ran the process of interviewing multiple 16 potential candidates.

17 Q Mark Patrick didn't have any authority prior to March 18 24th, correct?

19 A Is March 24th the date that he transitioned the shares to 20 himself from Grant Scott?

21 Q Yep.

22 A That's when he then became the trustee of the DAF, yes.

23 Q Do you know -- do you know who was instructing Mr. Patrick
24 on who to interview or how to carry the process out?

25 A He was doing that on his own with, I think,

1 recommendations from third-party tax firms.

2 Q So Mr. Patrick was trying to find a successor to Mr.
3 Scott, even though he had no authority to do that, and you
4 were completely uninvolved in the whole process? Do I have
5 that right?

6 A I was uninvolved, yes. He was trying to facilitate it for 7 the benefit of his friendship with Grant Scott and knowing
8 that it -- it -- with his resignation, it had to transition to 9 somebody. And he enjoys working on the DAF, he enjoys the 10 charitable stuff in the community, and he was the most 11 appropriate person to work on helping Grant transition.

12 MR. MORRIS: All right. I move to strike, Your 13 Honor. It's hearsay.

14 THE COURT: Sustained.

15 BY MR. MORRIS:

16 Q You're aware that Mr. Seery was appointed the Debtor's CEO
17 and CRO last summer, correct?

18 A Yes.

19 Q And you're aware that Mr. Seery's appointment was approved
20 by the Bankruptcy Court, correct?

21 A Yes.

22 Q And you were aware of that at the time it happened,
23 correct?

24 A Yes.

25 Q And even before that, in January of 2020, you consented to 1 a settlement where you gave up control of the Debtor.

2 Correct?

3 A To the independent board for a consensual Chapter 11
4 restructuring that would leave Highland intact.

5 Q And do you understand that the gatekeeper provision in the 6 July order is exactly like the one that you agreed to in 7 January except that it applies to Mr. Seery instead of the 8 independent directors?

9 A I -- I learned a lot about that today, but I don't think
10 it's appropriate to move what applied to the board to the CEO
11 of a registered investment advisor.

12 Q Okay. I'm just asking you, sir. Listen carefully to my 13 question. Were you aware in January 2020 that you agreed to a
14 gatekeeper provision on behalf of the independent board?

15 A Generally, but not specifically.

16 Q Okay.

17 A Not -- not like what we've been going over today.

18 Q Okay. And you knew that Mr. Seery had applied to be 19 appointed CEO subject to the Court's approval, correct?

20 A Wasn't it backdated to March? I -- I think the hearing
21 was in June, but it was backdated for -- for money and other
22 purposes, right? I -- that's my recollection. I don't 23 remember otherwise.

24 Q You do remember that Mr. Seery got -- he got -- his 25 appointment got approved by the Court, right?

1 A Yes. But, as far as the dates are concerned, I thought it
2 was either in March or retroactive to March. Maybe it was 3 June or July.

4 Q And you --

5 A But I don't remember.

6 Q Did you have your lawyers review the motion that was filed
7 on behalf of the Debtor?

8 A I'm -- I assume they do their job. I -- if they didn't, I
9 don't know.

10 Q Okay. That's what you hired them to do; is that fair?

11 A Yes.

12 Q Okay. Can we go to Exhibit 12, please? I think it's in 13 Binder 1. You've seen this document before, correct?

14 A Yes.

15 Q In fact, you saw versions of this complaint before it was 16 filed, correct?

17 A Yes, I saw one or two versions towards the end. I don't 18 know if I saw the final version, but --

19 Q Sir, you participated in discussions with Mr. Sbaiti
20 concerning the substance of this complaint before it was 21 filed, correct?

22 A Some. I would just use the word some.

23 Q Okay. Can you describe for me all of your conversations
24 with Mr. Sbaiti concerning the substance of this complaint?

25 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, I would object on the basis

Dondero - Direct

181

1 of work product privilege and attorney-client communications.
2 He was an agent for my client, the DAF, at the time he was
3 having these discussions with us, and our discussions with him
4 were work product. So to the extent he can reveal the 5 conversations without discussing the actual content, we would
6 raise privilege objection, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: Mr. Morris?

8 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, there is no privilege here.
9 That's exactly why I asked Mr. Patrick the questions earlier
10 today. Mr. Dondero is not party to any agreement with the DAF
11 today. It's an informal agreement, perhaps, but there is no
12 contractual relationship, there is no privity any longer
13 between Mr. Dondero or any entity that owns and controls in 14 the DAF, as far as I know. If they have evidence of it, I'm 15 happy to listen, but that -- that's exactly why I asked those 16 questions of Mr. Patrick earlier today.

17 THE COURT: All right.

18 MR. SBAITI: Your --

19 THE COURT: That was the testimony. There's an 20 informal arrangement, at best.

21 MR. SBAITI: Well, Your Honor, I would suggest that 22 that doesn't necessarily mean that he isn't an agent of the 23 DAF. It doesn't have to be a formal agreement for him to be 24 an agent of the DAF.

25 Everyone's agreed he was an advisor. Everyone's agreed he 005427

Dondero - Direct

182

1 was helping out. That is an agency relationship. It doesn't
2 have to be written down. It doesn't have to be a formal
3 investment advisory relationship. He's still an agent of the 4 DAF. He was requested to do something and agreed to do it
5 under the expectation that all of us had that those would be 6 privileged, Your Honor. That is -- that is sufficient -- that 7 is sufficient, I would argue, to get us where we need to be.
8 The privilege should apply, Your Honor, and they don't have a
9 basis for, I would say, invading the privilege, Your Honor.

10 THE COURT: Well, do you have any authority? Because 11 it just sounds wrong. He's not an employee of your client.
12 He doesn't have any contractual arrangement with your client.

13 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, I would dispute the idea
14 that he has no contractual arrangement with my client. The 15 question was asked, do you have a -- do you have a written
16 agreement, and then the question was, so you don't have a
17 contract, and the answer was no, I don't have a contract,
18 building upon that first -- that first question. But the 19 testimony as he just recounted is that there is an agreement
20 that he would advise Mr. Patrick and he would advise the DAF.

21 THE COURT: Okay.

22 MR. SBAITI: That's -- that's a contract.

23 THE COURT: Okay. My question was, do you have any 24 legal authority? That's what I meant when I said authority.
25 Any legal authority to support the privilege applying in this

1 kind of --

2 MR. SBAITI: In an informal arrangement, Your Honor?
3 I don't have one at my fingertips at the moment, Your Honor,
4 but I don't know that that should be a reason to invade the 5 privilege.

6 And I would just add, Your Honor, I would just add, we've 7 already -- because of the purpose of these questions, you've 8 heard Mr. Morris state several times that the purpose is to 9 show that Mr. -- that Mr. Dondero had some role in advising
10 and participating in the creation of this complaint. That's 11 been conceded by myself. I believe it was conceded by Mr.
12 Dondero.

13 The actual specific facts, the actual specific
14 conversations, Your Honor, shouldn't be relevant at this point
15 and they shouldn't be admissible, given -- given the 16 relevancy, given the perspective of the privilege.

17 THE COURT: Okay.

18 MR. MORRIS: If I might --

19 THE COURT: I overrule your objection. I don't think 20 a privilege has been shown here --

21 MR. SBAITI: And Your Honor, --

22 THE COURT: -- and I think it's relevant.

23 MR. SBAITI: -- I would ask if we could voir dire the 24 witness on the basis of the privilege, if that's --

25 THE COURT: All right. You may do so.

1 VOIR DIRE EXAMINATION

2 BY MR. SBAITI:

3 Q Mr. Dondero, do you have a relationship with the DAF?

4 A Yes.

5 Q How would you describe that relationship?

6 A I view myself and my firm as the investment advisor. I
7 was actually surprised by the testimony today that there
8 wasn't a contract in place, but there should be one. There
9 should be one soon, in my opinion.

10 Q Have you -- did you hear Mr. Patrick testify earlier that 11 he comes to you for advice?

12 A Yes.

13 Q Is that --

14 A As he should. Yeah.

15 Q Is that true?

16 A Yes.

17 Q When you render that advice, do you render that advice
18 with some expectation about him following or listening to that 19 advice?

20 A Okay, I think there's only been one investment or one
21 change in the DAF portfolio since Mark Patrick's been 22 involved, only one, and it was a real estate investment that I
23 wasn't directly involved in. And so the people who put that 24 investment forward worked with Mark without my involvement,
25 and then I think Mark got third-party appraisal firms and

1 third-party valuation firms involved to make sure he was
2 comfortable, which was a good process.

3 Q When you supplied information to Mr. Patrick, do you do so
4 under the belief that there is a contractual, informal or 5 formal, relationship?

6 MR. MORRIS: Objection to the form of the question.

7 THE COURT: Overruled.

8 MR. SBAITI: What specific form?

9 THE COURT: Overruled.

10 MR. SBAITI: Thank you.

11 THE WITNESS: Yes. I believe it -- it's a
12 relationship that can and should be papered as -- soon.
13 That's my -- I mean, unless I get some reason from counsel not 14 to, I think it's something that should be memorialized.

15 BY MR. SBAITI:

16 Q And when you have that -- in that relationship, when you
17 communicate with Mr. Patrick about matters, investment or 18 otherwise, is there an expectation of privacy?

19 A Yes.

20 Q When Mr. Patrick -- did Mr. Patrick request that you
21 interface with my firm and myself, as he testified earlier?

22 A Yes.

23 Q And when he did so, did he ask you to do so in an 24 investigatory manner?

25 MR. MORRIS: Objection to the form of the question.

1 THE COURT: Sustained. Rephrase.

2 BY MR. SBAITI:

3 Q Did he tell you why he wanted you to talk to us?

4 A Yeah. At that point, he had started an investigation into 5 the HarbourVest transaction.

6 Q And -- and when he -- when you were providing information
7 to us, did he tell you whether he wanted you to help the 8 Sbaiti firm conduct the investigation?

9 A The -- overall, the financial numbers and tables in there
10 were prepared by not myself, but I -- I did -- I did help on 11 -- on the -- some of the registered investment advisor issues
12 as I understood them.

13 Q Okay. And the communications that you had with us, was 14 that part of our investigation?

15 MR. MORRIS: Objection to the form of the question.

16 THE COURT: Overruled.

17 THE WITNESS: Yes.

18 BY MR. SBAITI:

19 Q And did you understand that we had been retained by Mr.
20 Patrick on behalf of the DAF and CLO Holdco?

21 A Yes.

22 Q And did you appreciate or have any understanding of 23 whether or not you were helping the law firm perform its legal 24 function on behalf of the DAF and CLO Holdco?

25 A Perform its legal function? I was just helping with

1 regard to the registered investment advisor aspects of the 2 overall, you know, like that.

3 Q Let me ask a more simple question. Did you -- did you
4 appreciate that you were assisting a law firm in its 5 representation of the DAF?

6 A Yes.

7 Q And you were helping the law -- and were you helping the 8 law firm develop the facts for a complaint?

9 A Yes. I would almost say, more importantly, I wanted to 10 make sure that there weren't errors in terms of understanding
11 either how CLOs worked or how the Investment Advisers Act
12 worked. So I was -- it was almost more of a proofing.

13 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, based upon that, I mean,
14 he's helping a law firm perform its function for the client.
15 That's an agency relationship that gets cloaked. You can call
16 him a consulting expert. You can call him, to a certain
17 extent, a fact witness, Your Honor. If we want to take a
18 break, I'm sure we could find authority on that basis for a 19 work product privilege pretty easily.

20 But he's an agent of the DAF. Even if it's an informal
21 agency relationship, that's still agency. He's in some 22 respects, I guess, an agent of the law firm, to the extent
23 he's helping us perform our legal work. And it seems like 24 invading that privilege at this juncture is (a) unnecessary,
25 because we've already conceded that there's been

1 conversations, which I think is the relationship they wanted
2 to establish. And it's not unusual for a law firm to use
3 someone with specialized knowledge to understand some of the 4 intricacies of the actual issues that they're -- that they're 5 getting ready to litigate.

6 THE COURT: Okay. I find no privilege. All right.
7 That's the ruling.

8 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, may I add one thing to the 9 objection for the record?

10 THE COURT: Okay, we have a rule, one lawyer per 11 witness. Okay? So, thank you. A District Court rule, by the 12 way, not mine.

13 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, may we take a short recess,
14 given the Court's ruling?

15 THE COURT: Well, I'd really like to finish this 16 witness. How much longer do you have?

17 MR. MORRIS: About eight more questions.

18 THE COURT: All right. We'll take a break after the 19 direct, okay?

20 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, I would ask that we -- if 21 he's going to ask him more questions about the content of the 22 communications, I ask respectfully for a recess so we can 23 figure out what to do about that. Because, right now, there's 24 a ruling that he's going to have to reveal privileged 25 information, and we don't have a way to go around and figure

1 out how to resolve that issue if we needed to.

2 THE COURT: Okay. I've ruled it's not privilege.

3 Okay?

4 MR. SBAITI: I understand that, Your Honor, but --

5 THE COURT: Your client is CLO Holdco and the DAF.

6 MR. SBAITI: Yes, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: Representative, Mark Patrick. No
8 contract with Mr. Dondero. The fact that he may be very 9 involved I don't think gives rise to a privilege. That's my 10 ruling.

11 MR. SBAITI: I understand, Your Honor. I understand, 12 Your Honor, but I'm asking for a recess so that we can at 13 least undertake to provide Your Honor with some case law on a 14 reconsideration before we go there, because that bell can't be 15 unrung.

16 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, if I may?

17 MR. SBAITI: And it's --

18 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

19 MR. MORRIS: I'm happy to give them ten minutes, Your 20 Honor, as long as they don't talk to the witness.

21 THE COURT: Okay.

22 MR. MORRIS: I want to give them the opportunity. Go
23 right ahead.

24 THE COURT: All right. We'll take a ten-minute
25 break.

1 MR. SBAITI: Thank you.

2 THE COURT: It's 3:05.

3 THE CLERK: All rise.

4 (A recess ensued from 3:03 p.m. until 3:17 p.m.)

5 THE CLERK: All rise.

6 THE COURT: Okay. Please be seated. Going back on 7 the record in Highland. Mr. Sbaiti?

8 MR. SBAITI: Yes, Your Honor. May I approach?

9 THE COURT: You may.

10 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, we have some authority to 11 support the position we'd taken. We'd ask the Court to 12 reconsider your ruling on the privilege.

13 The first bit of authority is Section 70 of the 14 Restatement (Third) of Law Governing Lawyers. Privileged 15 persons within the meaning of Section 68, which governs the 16 privilege, says that those persons include either agents of 17 either the lawyer or the client who facilitate communications
18 between the two in order for the lawyers to perform their 19 function.

20 Another case that we found is 232 F.R.D. 103 from the 21 Southern District of New York, 2005. It's Express Imperial 22 Bank of U.S. v. Asia Pulp Company. And in that case, Your 23 Honor, the consultant was a -- had a close working 24 relationship with the company and performed a similar role to 25 that of the employee and was assisting the law firm in

1 performing their functions, and the court there found that the 2 work product privilege -- actually, the attorney-client
3 privilege -- attached in what they called a Functional
4 Equivalents Doctrine, Your Honor.

5 And here we have pretty much the same set of facts that's 6 pretty much undisputed. The fact that there -- and the fact
7 that there isn't a written agreement doesn't mean there isn't
8 a contractual arrangement for him to have rendered services
9 and advice. And the fact that he's, you know, recruited by us
10 to help us perform our functions puts him in the realm, as I
11 said, of something of a consulting expert.

12 Either way, the work product privilege, Your Honor, should 13 apply, and we'd ask Your Honor not to invade that privilege at 14 this point, Your Honor. And I'll ask you to reconsider your 15 prior ruling.

16 Furthermore, I believe Mr. Morris, you know, in making his 17 argument, is trying to create separation. The fact that he 18 has no relationship, that the privilege can be invaded, seems 19 to defeat the whole premise of his whole line of questioning.

20 So, once again, Your Honor, I just -- it's a tit for a tat
21 there, and it seems to kind of eat itself. Either he is 22 working with us, which we've admitted he is working with us,
23 us being the law firm, and helping us do our jobs, or he's 24 not. And if he's not, then this should be done.

25 THE COURT: Okay.

1 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, briefly?

2 THE COURT: Well, among other things, what do you
3 want me to do? Take a break and read your one sentence from 4 the Restatements and your one case? And could you not have 5 anticipated this beforehand?

6 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, --

7 THE COURT: This is not the way we work in the 8 bankruptcy courts, okay? We're business courts. We have 9 thousands of cases. We expect briefing ahead of time.

10 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, this has been a rather 11 rushed process anyway. And to be honest, --

12 THE COURT: When was the motion filed?

13 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, --

14 THE COURT: More than a month ago.

15 MR. SBAITI: -- his deposition was a week ago.

16 THE COURT: Well, okay. So you could not have 17 anticipated this issue until his deposition one week ago?

18 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, this issue arose at the 19 deposition, obviously, because that's what he's quoting from.
20 However, at least to us, this is such a well-settled area, and 21 to be honest, --

22 THE COURT: Such a well-settled area that you have 23 one sentence from the Restatement and one case from the 24 Southern District of New York?

25 MR. SBAITI: No, Your Honor. I think the work

1 product privilege lexicon -- we had ten minutes to try to find
2 something more on point than the general case law that applies
3 the work product privilege to people that work with lawyers,
4 consultants who work with lawyers, employees who work with 5 lawyers, even low-down employees who normally wouldn't enjoy
6 the privileges that attach to the corporation, when they work
7 with the company for -- when they work with the company
8 lawyers, it typically attaches.

9 THE COURT: You know, obviously, I know a few things
10 about work product privilege, but he doesn't check any of the 11 boxes you just listed out.

12 MR. SBAITI: I disagree, Your Honor.

13 THE COURT: He's not an employee. He's not a low-
14 level employee.

15 MR. SBAITI: He's a consultant.

16 THE COURT: With no agreement.

17 MR. SBAITI: With a verbal agreement. He's an 18 advisor. And he was recruited by us, and at the request of 19 the DAF, of the head of the DAF, Mr. Patrick, to help us do
20 our job for the DAF. I don't --

21 THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Morris, what do you want to 22 say?

23 MR. MORRIS: Just briefly, Your Honor. This issue
24 has been ripe since last Tuesday. They directed him not to 25 answer a whole host of questions about his involvement at the

1 deposition last Tuesday, so they've actually had six days to
2 deal with this. That's number one.

3 Number two, there's absolutely nothing inconsistent with 4 the Debtor's position that Mr. Dondero is participating in the 5 pursuit of claims and at the same time saying that his 6 communications with the Sbaiti firm are not privileged.
7 There's nothing inconsistent about that.

8 So the argument that he just made, that somehow because 9 we're trying to create separation, that that's inconsistent
10 with our overall arching theme that Mr. Dondero is precisely
11 engaged in the pursuit of claims against Mr. Seery, I think 12 that takes care of that argument.

13 Finally, your Honor, with respect to this consultancy
14 arrangement, not only isn't there anything in writing, but 15 either you or Mr. Sbaiti or I, I think, should ask Mr. Dondero
16 the terms of the agreement. Is he getting paid? Is he doing
17 it for free? Who retained him? Was it Mr. -- because the -- 18 there's no such thing. There's no such thing.

19 The fact of the matter is what happened is akin to I have 20 a slip-and-fall case and I go to a personal injury lawyer and 21 I bring my brother with me because I trust my brother with 22 everything. It's not privileged. Any time you bring in 23 somebody who is not the attorney or the client, the privilege
24 is broken. It's really quite simple. Unless there's a common
25 interest. They can't assert that here. There is no common

1 interest. So --

2 THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Sbaiti, I'll give you up to 3 three more minutes to voir dire Mr. Dondero to try to 4 establish some sort of agency relationship or other evidence
5 that you think might be relevant.

6 VOIR DIRE, RESUMED

7 BY MR. SBAITI:

8 Q Mr. Dondero, when you provided information to the law
9 firm, were you doing so under an agency relationship? Do you
10 know what an agency relationship is?

11 A Generally. When you're working on the -- or why don't you
12 tell me?

13 Q Tell me your understanding, so we can use --

14 A That you're working for the benefit or as a proxy for the 15 other entity or the other firm or the other person.

16 Q Right. So you're working for the DAF?

17 A Yes.

18 Q Do you do work for the DAF?

19 A Yes. As I stated, I'm surprised there isn't -- when we 20 reconstituted after leaving Highland, we put in shared
21 services agreements in place and asset management agreements
22 in place and tasked people with doing that for most of the 23 entities. There might be still a few contracts that are being 24 negotiated, but I thought most of them were in place.

25 So I would imagine that there'll be an asset management

1 agreement with the DAF back to NexPoint sometime soon, so it
2 -- it's --

3 Q Let me ask you this question. When you were providing 4 information to us and having conversations with us, were you
5 doing that as an agent of the DAF, the way you described it,
6 --

7 A Yes.

8 Q -- on their behalf?

9 A Yes.

10 Q Were you also doing it to help us do our jobs for the DAF?

11 A Yes.

12 Q Did you respond to requests for information from myself?

13 A Yes.

14 Q Did you help coordinate other -- finding other witnesses
15 or sources of information at my request?

16 A Yes.

17 Q Did you do so based upon any understanding that I was 18 working on behalf of the DAF for that?

19 A Yes. I knew -- I knew you were working for the DAF. No
20 one else, yeah.

21 Q And so -- and so did you provide any expertise or any in-
22 depth understanding to myself in helping me prepare that 23 complaint?

24 A I think so, but I give a lot of credit to your firm for 25 researching things that I -- I knew reasonably well but then

1 you guys researched in even more depth.

2 MR. MORRIS: I'd move to strike the answer as 3 nonresponsive.

4 THE COURT: Sustained.

5 BY MR. SBAITI:

6 Q Let me ask the question again. When you were providing us
7 information and expertise, were you doing so knowing you were 8 working -- helping us work for the DAF?

9 A Yes.

10 Q Now, did you demand any compensation for that?

11 A No.

12 Q Do you require compensation necessarily to help the DAF?

13 A No.

14 Q Do you do other things for the DAF sometimes without 15 compensation?

16 A Right. We do the right thing, whether we get paid for it
17 or not. Yes.

18 Q Had you known that our communications were not necessarily 19 part of an agency relationship with the DAF, as you understood
20 it, that you were just some guy out on the street, would you
21 have had the same conversations with us?

22 A (sighs)

23 Q Let me ask a better question. If I had come to you
24 working for someone that wasn't the DAF, you didn't already 25 have a relationship with, would you have given us the same

1 help?

2 A I wouldn't have been involved if it was somebody else.

3 Q Is the reason you got involved because we were the lawyers
4 for the DAF?

5 A Correct.

6 MR. MORRIS: Objection. It's just leading. This is 7 all leading.

8 THE WITNESS: Correct.

9 THE COURT: Sustained.

10 MR. SBAITI: Can --

11 THE WITNESS: Yeah. Sorry.

12 BY MR. SBAITI:

13 Q Do you get -- do -- did you -- did you do work for the --
14 did you provide the help for the DAF laboring under the 15 understanding that there was an agreement?

16 MR. MORRIS: Objection; leading.

17 THE COURT: Sustained.

18 BY MR. SBAITI:

19 Q Earlier you testified you believed there was an agreement?

20 A I thought that was an agreement, and I thought there will 21 be one shortly if there isn't one, yes.

22 Q Okay.

23 A And so we -- I've been operating in a bona fide way in the 24 best interests of the DAF throughout -- assuming there was an 25 agreement, but even if there wasn't a formal one, I would

1 still be moving in the best interests of the DAF and helping 2 your firm out or --

3 Q And you did that because you believed there was an 4 agreement or soon would be?

5 A Yes.

6 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, I mean, I believe we've 7 established a dual role here, both as an agent of the DAF and 8 as an agent of the law firm, Your Honor.

9 THE COURT: Okay. Just a minute. I'm looking at 10 Texas authority on common interest privilege to see if there's 11 anything that --

12 (Pause.)

13 THE COURT: All right. Again, it would have been 14 very nice to get briefing ahead of time. I think this 15 absolutely could have been anticipated.

16 I do not find the evidence supports any sort of protection
17 of this testimony under work product privilege, common
18 interest privilege. I just haven't been given authority or 19 evidence that supports that conclusion. So the objections are 20 overruled.

21 Mr. Morris, go ahead.

22 DIRECT EXAMINATION, RESUMED

23 BY MR. MORRIS:

24 Q Can you describe for the Court the substance of your 25 communications with Mr. Sbaiti concerning the complaint?

Dondero - Direct

200

1 A As I've stated, directing him toward the Advisers Act and
2 then largely in a proofing function regarding CLO nomenclature
3 and some of the other fund nomenclature that sometimes gets 4 chaotic in legal briefs.

5 Q Did you communicate in writing at any time with anybody at 6 the Sbaiti firm regarding any of the matters that are the 7 subject of the complaint?

8 A I can't remember anything in writing. Almost everything
9 was verbal, on the phone.

10 Q You don't tend to write much, right?

11 A Periodically.

12 Q Did you communicate with Mr. Patrick? Did you communicate
13 with anybody in the world in writing regarding the substance
14 of anything having to do with the complaint?

15 MR. SBAITI: Objection, Your Honor. Argumentative.

16 THE COURT: Overruled.

17 THE WITNESS: I --

18 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, may I just -- one
19 housekeeping. Rather than raise the same objection, may we 20 have a standing objection, just so we're not disruptive, as to 21 the privilege, just for preservation purposes, on the content
22 of these communications? Otherwise, I'll just make the same
23 objections and we can go through it.

24 THE COURT: Well, disruptive as it may be, I think 25 you need to object to every -- 005446

Dondero - Direct

201

1 MR. SBAITI: Okay.

2 THE COURT: -- question you think the privilege
3 applies to.

4 MR. SBAITI: I will do so. Thank you, Your Honor.
5 Uh-huh.

6 BY MR. MORRIS:

7 Q Mr. Dondero, the question was whether you've ever
8 communicated with anybody in the world in writing concerning
9 anything having to do with the complaint?

10 A Not that I remember.

11 Q Okay.

12 MR. MORRIS: I will point out, Your Honor, that last 13 week, when the privilege was asserted, I had requested the 14 production of a privilege log. I was told -- I forget exactly
15 what I was told, but we never received one. I'll just point 16 that out as well.

17 THE COURT: Okay.

18 BY MR. MORRIS:

19 Q You provided comments to the drafts of the complaint
20 before it was filed, correct?

21 A Yes, a few.

22 Q Can you describe for the Court all of the comments that 23 you provided to earlier drafts of the complaint?

24 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, we object on the basis of 25 privilege and work product and joint -- joint interest

005447

1 privilege.

2 THE COURT: Overruled.

3 THE WITNESS: It's along the lines of things I've 4 said in this court several times. The obligations under the 5 Advisers Act cannot be negotiated away and they cannot be 6 waived by the people involved, full stop. I remember giving
7 the -- Mazin the example of the only reason why we're in a
8 bankruptcy is from an arbitration award that, even though we 9 did what was in the best interests of the investors, we got 10 the investors out more than whole over an extended period of 11 time, they got an arbitration award that said when we 12 purchased some of the secondary interests we should have 13 offered them up to the other 800 members in the committee
14 besides the -- the 800 investors in the fund besides the eight
15 people on the committee who had approved it and that the 16 committee couldn't approve a settlement that went against the 17 Advisers Act and the Advisers Act stipulates specifically that 18 you have to offer it up to other investors before you take an 19 opportunity for yourself. And someday, hell or high water, in 20 this court or some other, we will get justice on that. And 21 that was the primary point that I reminded Mazin about.

22 BY MR. MORRIS:

23 Q And that's exactly the conversation you had with Mark
24 Patrick that started this whole thing, correct?

25 A No.

1 Q You told Mark Patrick that you believe the Debtor had 2 usurped a corporate opportunity that should have gone to the 3 DAF, didn't you?

4 A That was not our conversation.

5 Q So when Mr. Patrick testified to that earlier today, he 6 just got it wrong, right?

7 A Well, maybe later on, but it wasn't that in the beginning.
8 The beginning, any conversation I had with Mark Patrick in the 9 beginning was smelling a rat in the way that the Debtor had 10 priced the portfolio for HarbourVest.

11 Q Hmm. So you're the one, again, who started that piece of 12 the discussion as well, correct?

13 A Started the -- I -- I guess I smelled a rat, but I put the 14 person who could do all the numbers in touch with the Sbaiti
15 firm.

16 Q And was the rat Mr. Seery?

17 A Was the rat Mr. Seery? Or the independent board. Or a
18 combination thereof. I believe the independent board knew 19 exactly what Seery was doing with --

20 Q Do you have any idea --

21 A -- HarbourVest.

22 Q Do you have any idea why, why the Sbaiti firm didn't name
23 the whole independent board in the -- in the motion for leave
24 to amend?

25 A I don't know. Maybe they will at some point.

Dondero - Direct

204

1 Q Yeah.

2 A I don't know.

3 Q But did you tell the Sbaiti firm that you thought the 4 whole independent board was acting in bad faith and was a rat?

5 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, I object on the basis of 6 privilege.

7 THE COURT: Overruled.

8 MR. SBAITI: All three.

9 THE WITNESS: I knew Jim Seery was and I knew Jim 10 Seery had weekly meetings with the other independent board
11 members, so the HarbourVest settlement was significant enough
12 that it would have been approved, but I don't have direct
13 knowledge of their involvement.

14 BY MR. MORRIS:

15 Q And so you -- but you believed Jim Seery was certainly a 16 rat, right?

17 A Oh, I -- there was a defrauding of third-party investors
18 to the tune of not insignificant 30, 40, 50 million bucks, and 19 it was obfuscated, it was -- it was highly obfuscated in the 20 9019.

21 Q Did you think Mr. Seery was a rat, sir? Yes or no?

22 A I believe he had monthly financials. He knew that the 23 numbers presented in the 9019 were wrong. And if that makes 24 him a rat, that makes him a rat. Or maybe he's just being 25 aggressive for the benefit of his incentive or for the estate.

005450

1 But I -- I believe those things wholeheartedly.

2 Q Did you tell the Sbaiti firm you thought Jim Seery was a
3 rat?

4 MR. SBAITI: Objection, Your Honor. Privilege.

5 THE COURT: Overruled.

6 THE WITNESS: I -- I don't remember using those 7 words.

8 BY MR. MORRIS:

9 Q Did you tell the Sbaiti Firm that you thought Jim Seery
10 had engaged in wrongful conduct?

11 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, objection. Privilege.

12 THE COURT: Overruled.

13 THE WITNESS: I believe he violated the Advisers Act,
14 and I was clear on that throughout.

15 BY MR. MORRIS:

16 Q Listen carefully to my question. Did you tell the Sbaiti
17 firm that you believed that Jim Seery engaged in wrongful
18 conduct?

19 MR. SBAITI: Objection, Your Honor. Calls for 20 privileged communications.

21 THE COURT: Overruled.

22 THE WITNESS: I think I gave the answer. I'll give 23 the same answer. I believe he violated the Advisers Act.

24 BY MR. MORRIS:

25 Q What other wrongful conduct did you tell the Sbaiti firm

Dondero - Direct

206

1 you thought Mr. Seery had engaged in?

2 MR. SBAITI: Same objection, Your Honor.

3 THE COURT: Overruled.

4 MR. SBAITI: Calls for privileged communications.

5 THE COURT: Overruled.

6 THE WITNESS: I -- I just remember the obfuscating
7 and mispricing portfolio violations of the Advisers Act was 8 all I discussed with the Sbaiti firm regarding Seery's 9 behavior.

10 BY MR. MORRIS:

11 Q Did you talk to them about coming to this Court under the 12 gatekeeper order to see if you could get permission to sue Mr.
13 Seery?

14 A I --

15 MR. SBAITI: Objection, Your Honor. Calls for 16 privileged communication.

17 THE COURT: Overruled.

18 THE WITNESS: I wasn't involved in any of the --

19 BY MR. MORRIS:

20 Q Did you --

21 A -- tactical stuff on who to sell or -- who to sue or when 22 or whatever.

23 Q Did you tell the Sbaiti firm that you thought they should 24 sue Mr. Seery?

25 MR. SBAITI: Objection, Your Honor. Calls for

005452

1 privileged communication.

2 THE COURT: Overruled.

3 MR. SBAITI: I'll also say, Your Honor, the question
4 is getting a little argumentative.

5 THE WITNESS: I didn't get directly --

6 THE COURT: Overruled.

7 THE WITNESS: I didn't get directly involved in who 8 was -- who was specifically liable.

9 BY MR. MORRIS:

10 Q How many times did you speak with the Sbaiti firm
11 concerning the complaint?

12 A Half a dozen times, maybe.

13 Q Did you ever meet with them in person?

14 A I've only met with them in person a couple, three times.
15 And I don't think any of them -- no, it was, excuse me, it was 16 on deposition or other stuff. It wasn't regarding this.

17 Q Did you send them any information that was related to the 18 complaint?

19 A I did not.

20 Q Did you ask anybody to send the Sbaiti firm information
21 that related to the complaint?

22 A I did not. I -- I was aware that Hunter Covitz was 23 providing the historic detailed knowledge to the firm, but it
24 -- it wasn't -- I don't believe it was me who orchestrated
25 that.

Dondero - Direct

208

1 Q Did you talk to anybody at Skyview about the allegations
2 that are contained in the complaint before it was filed?

3 A I don't -- I don't remember.

4 Q Have you ever talked to Isaac Leventon or Scott Ellington
5 about the allegations in the complaint?

6 A No. They weren't involved.

7 Q How about -- how about D.C. Sauter? You ever speak to him
8 about it?

9 A I don't --

10 MR. TAYLOR: Objection, Your Honor.

11 THE WITNESS: I don't remember.

12 MR. TAYLOR: At this point, D.C. Sauter is indeed an 13 employee of Skybridge and is a general counsel for some of the 14 entities which he worked for. And to the extent he's trying 15 to ask for those communications, that would be invasion of the 16 privilege.

17 MR. MORRIS: I'll withdraw it, Your Honor. That's 18 fair.

19 THE COURT: Okay

20 MR. MORRIS: That's fair.

21 THE COURT: Question withdrawn.

22 THE WITNESS: I thought you only had eight more
23 questions.

24 MR. MORRIS: Opened the door.

25 BY MR. MORRIS:

005454

1 Q Can you describe the general fact -- withdrawn. You
2 provided facts and ideas to the Sbaiti firm in connection with 3 your review of the draft complaint, correct?

4 A Ideas and proofreading.

5 Q Anything beyond what you haven't described already?

6 A Nope.

7 Q Okay. Who is your primary contact at the Sbaiti firm, if 8 you had one?

9 A Mazin.

10 Q Okay. Did you suggest to Mr. Sbaiti that Mr. Seery should 11 be named as a defendant in the lawsuit before it was filed?

12 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, calls for privileged 13 communication. We object --

14 THE COURT: Overruled.

15 MR. SBAITI: -- to that answer.

16 MR. SBAITI: Okay.

17 THE WITNESS: Again, no. I wasn't involved with the 18 tactics on who would be defendants and when or if other people
19 would be added.

20 BY MR. MORRIS:

21 Q Did you -- are familiar with the motion to amend that was 22 filed by the Sbaiti firm?

23 A I'm more familiar with it after today --

24 Q Right.

25 A -- than I was before.

Dondero - Direct

210

1 Q And were you aware that that motion was going to be filed
2 prior to the time that it actually was filed?

3 A I -- I don't remember. Probably.

4 Q And who would have been the source of that information?
5 Would that have been Mr. Sbaiti?

6 A Yes.

7 Q Okay. And did you express any support for the decision to 8 file the motion for leave to amend in the District Court?

9 A I -- I wasn't involved. It was very complicated legal 10 preservation conver... -- I wasn't involved. I knew the 11 conversations were going on between different lawyers, but I
12 wasn't involved in the ultimate decision. I didn't encourage,
13 applaud, or even know exactly what court it was going to be 14 filed in.

15 MR. MORRIS: All right. I have no further questions,
16 Your Honor.

17 THE COURT: All right. Pass the witness.

18 MR.

19 ANDERSON: We have no questions, Your Honor.

20 THE COURT: Okay. Any questions from Respondents?

21 MR. SBAITI: No questions.

22 THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Taylor?

23 CROSS-EXAMINATION

24 BY MR. TAYLOR:

25 Q Mr. Dondero, --

005456

1 A Yes, sir.

2 Q -- you are not the authorized representative of CLO
3 Holdco, are you?

4 A No.

5 Q You're not the authorized representative for the DAF, are 6 you?

7 A No.

8 Q Do you know who that person is as we sit here today?

9 A Yes.

10 Q Who is that?

11 A Mark Patrick.

12 Q Thank you.

13 MR. TAYLOR: No further questions.

14 THE COURT: Any redirect on that cross?

15 MR. MORRIS: I do not, Your Honor. I would just like 16 to finish up the Debtor's case in chief by moving my exhibits
17 into evidence.

18 THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Dondero, you're excused.

19 (The witness steps down.)

20 THE COURT: All right. So you have no more
21 witnesses; you're just going to offer exhibits?

22 MR. MORRIS: Yes, Your Honor.

23 THE COURT: Okay.

24 MR. MORRIS: So, at Docket #2410, --

25 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

1 MR. MORRIS: -- the Court will find Exhibits 1
2 through 53.

3 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

4 MR. MORRIS: In advance, Your Honor, I've conferred
5 with the Respondents' counsel. They had previously objected
6 to Exhibits 15 and 16, which I believe were the Grant Scott
7 deposition transcripts. They objected to them on the grounds
8 of lack of completeness because I had taken the time to make 9 deposition designations, but I'm happy to put the entirety of 10 both transcripts into evidence, and I hope that that will 11 remove the objections to Exhibits 15 and 16.

12 THE COURT: All right. Before we confirm, let's just 13 make sure we have the right one.

14 MR. MORRIS: Oh, I apologize.

15 THE COURT: I have 16 as the July order.

16 MR. MORRIS: I apologize. You're absolutely right,
17 Your Honor. What I was referring to was -- oh, goodness. One
18 second. (Pause.) I was referring to Exhibits 23 and 24.
19 Those are Mr. Scott's deposition designations. They had 20 lodged an informal objection with me on grounds of 21 completeness. And in order to resolve that objection, we're 22 happy to put the entirety of both transcripts in.

23 THE COURT: All right. So if our Respondents could 24 confirm with the agreement to put in the entire depositions at 23
25 and 24, you stipulate to 1 through 53?

1 MR. PHILLIPS: We also -- Your Honor, --

2 MR. MORRIS: Yeah, I was going to take them one at a
3 time. Just take those two.

4 MR. PHILLIPS: Yeah, can we just take those two?
5 Confirmed?

6 MR. MORRIS: Okay.

7 THE COURT: Oh, okay.

8 MR. PHILLIPS: Because there are other -- there are 9 other -- we exchanged objections to each other's witness and 10 exhibit lists. And so I think you can handle the rest of them
11 kind of in a bunch, right?

12 MR. MORRIS: Yeah. Yeah, there's two bunches,
13 actually.

14 MR. PHILLIPS: Yeah.

15 THE COURT: Okay. So you have just now stipulated to 16 23 and 24 being admitted --

17 MR. MORRIS: Correct.

18 THE COURT: -- with the full depositions? Okay.

19 MR. PHILLIPS: Yes, ma'am. Thank you.

20 THE COURT: All right.

21 (Debtor's Exhibits 23 and 24 are received into evidence.)

22 MR. MORRIS: And then the next two that they objected
23 to are Exhibits 15 and 16. 15 is the January order and 16 is 24 the July order. They objected on relevance grounds. I think 25 16 -- these are the two orders that the Debtors contend the

1 Respondents have violated, so I don't understand the relevance
2 objection, but that's what it was and that's my response.

3 MR. PHILLIPS: Resolved, Your Honor.

4 THE COURT: Okay. 15 and 16 are admitted.

5 (Debtor's Exhibits 15 and 16 are received into evidence.)

6 MR. MORRIS: Okay. And then the last objection
7 relates to a group of exhibits. They're Exhibits 1 through
8 11. Those exhibits I think either come in together or stay
9 out together. They are exhibits that relate to the 10 HarbourVest proceedings, including deposition notices,
11 including I think the transcript from the hearing, the Court's 12 order, the motion that was filed.

13 The Debtor believes that those documents are relevant
14 because they go right to the issue of the gatekeeper order and 15 had they filed, had the Respondents followed the gatekeeper
16 order, this is -- this is why they didn't do it. You know
17 what I mean? That's the argument, is that the Respondents, 18 one of the reasons the Respondents -- argument -- one of the 19 reasons the Respondents didn't come to this Court is because 20 they knew this Court had that kind of record before it. And I
21 think that's very relevant.

22 THE COURT: All right. Response?

23 MR. PHILLIPS: Your Honor, we think that these 24 exhibits are not relevant. We have a very focused, we think,
25 -- we have the Court's order. Those objections are withdrawn.

1 We have the complaint. We have the motion to amend. And the
2 issue is whether the motion to amend, which was dismissed one
3 day, or the next day after it was filed, constitutes criminal
4 -- constitutes contempt.

5 So we think the prior proceedings go to their underlying 6 argument, which is the lawsuit or the complaint is no good,
7 and that has nothing to do with -- there's been no foundation
8 laid and it's not relevant what happened in connection with 9 the HarbourVest settlement. It is what it is, and there's no
10 dispute that it is what it is, but it's not relevant to 11 establish any type of -- they've even said intent is not even 12 relevant here. So we -- that's -- we think all of that goes
13 out and simplifies the record, because it has nothing to do
14 with whether or not there was a contempt.

15 THE COURT: Response?

16 MR. MORRIS: We withdraw the exhibits, Your Honor.
17 I'm just going to make it simple for the Court.

18 THE COURT: Okay.

19 MR. MORRIS: I'm just going to make it simple for the 20 Court.

21 THE COURT: 1 through 11 are withdrawn.

22 (Debtor's Exhibits 1 through 11 are withdrawn.)

23 MR. MORRIS: So, the balance, there was no objection.
24 So all of the Debtor's exhibits on Docket #2410 -- let me
25 restate that. Exhibits 12 through 53 no longer have an

1 objection. Is that correct?

2 MR. PHILLIPS: Yes.

3 MR. MORRIS: Okay. And then --

4 MR. PHILLIPS: Confirmed.

5 THE COURT: Okay.

6 (Debtor's Exhibits 12 through 53 are received into
7 evidence.)

8 MR. MORRIS: Okay. Thank you. And then we filed an 9 amended list, I believe, yesterday --

10 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

11 MR. MORRIS: -- to add Exhibits 40 -- 54 and 55.

12 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

13 MR. MORRIS: And those exhibits are simply my firm's 14 billing records.

15 THE COURT: Okay.

16 MR. MORRIS: You know, we added Mr. Demo to the 17 witness list in case there was a need to establish a
18 foundation. That's the only thing he would testify to. I
19 don't know if there's an objection to those two exhibits,
20 because we hadn't had an opportunity to confer.

21 THE COURT: Any objection?

22 MR. PHILLIPS: Your Honor, we're not going to require 23 authenticity and foundation for -- we have the right, we 24 think, to say that they're not a ground -- we're not going to 25 challenge that they are the bills, and the bills say what they

1 say. We don't need Mr. -- we don't need a witness to
2 authenticate those exhibits. But we reserve all substantive
3 rights with respect to the effect of those exhibits.

4 THE COURT: All right. 54 and 55 are admitted.

5 (Debtor's Exhibits 54 and 55 are received into evidence.)

6 MR. MORRIS: And with that, Your Honor, the Debtor
7 rests.

8 THE COURT: Okay. All right. Respondents?

9 (Counsel confer.)

10 MR. PHILLIPS: If I could have a second?

11 THE COURT: Okay.

12 A VOICE: Sorry, Your Honor.

13 (Pause.)

14 MR. PHILLIPS: Your Honor, we have filed in our 15 witness and exhibit list, and I have to say I don't have the 16 number, but we'll get the docket entry number, but we have 44
17 exhibits. There's an objection to Exhibit #2, which is -- 18 thank you -- it's Document 2411, Your Honor. Thank you.

19 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

20 MR. PHILLIPS: There is a pending objection to 21 Exhibit #2 which we have not resolved. There's no objection
22 to any other exhibit. But in reviewing our exhibit list, I
23 found that we had some -- some mistakes and duplications.

24 So, with respect to 2411, we would withdraw Exhibit 13,
25 14, and 29, and we would offer Exhibit 1, and then 30 through

1 44, with 13, 14, and 29 deleted.

2 THE COURT: Okay. So 1, 3 through 12, --

3 MR. PHILLIPS: Yes.

4 THE COURT: -- 15 through 28, and then 30 --

5 MR. PHILLIPS: And then 30 through 44.

6 THE COURT: -- through 44? Do you confirm, Mr.

7 Morris?

8 MR. MORRIS: Yes, Your Honor. The only objection we 9 have is to Exhibit #2.

10 THE COURT: And that's -- he's not offering that?

11 MR. MORRIS: Yeah.

12 MR. PHILLIPS: Not at this time, Your Honor.

13 THE COURT: Okay.

14 MR. PHILLIPS: We would have to have testimony about
15 that.

16 THE COURT: Okay. All right. So those are admitted.

17 MR. PHILLIPS: Okay.

18 (Mark Patrick's Exhibits 1, 3 through 12, 15 through 28, 19 and 30 through 44 are received into evidence.)

20 THE COURT: By the way, it looks like Exhibit 44 is 21 at a different docket number, Docket 2420. Correct? You have 22 --

23 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, I believe Exhibit 44 is the 24 hearing transcript from the July approval hearing. At least 25 that's what it's supposed to be.

1 THE COURT: Okay.

2 MR. SBAITI: It was Exhibit 2 on the Debtor's list,
3 and then I think they took it off, so we had to add it.

4 MR. PHILLIPS: Oh, okay. I was looking -- oh, that's 5 right. They -- that's correct, Your Honor.

6 THE COURT: Okay.

7 MR. PHILLIPS: Exhibit 44 was added --

8 THE COURT: Okay.

9 MR. PHILLIPS: -- because the Debtor's withdrew it,
10 and so it was added in the second -- in the supplemental and 11 amended list. The -- the one that I was talking about was the 12 prior list.

13 THE COURT: Okay. So that's at Docket 2420?

14 MR. PHILLIPS: Yes.

15 THE COURT: You're not offering 45 or 46?

16 MR. PHILLIPS: No, I think we'd offer 45 and 46 as 17 well. I'm sorry.

18 THE COURT: Okay. Any objections, Mr. Morris?

19 MR. MORRIS: No, Your Honor.

20 THE COURT: Okay. So 45 and 46 are admitted as well.
21 They're at Docket Entry 2420.

22 (Mark Patrick's Exhibits 45 and 46 are received into 23 evidence.)

24 THE COURT: All right. Your witnesses?

25 MR. PHILLIPS: Your Honor, could we have five minutes

1 to just see what we're -- our plan is, and then we'll be back
2 at 4:00?

3 THE COURT: Okay. We'll be back at 4:00.

4 MR. PHILLIPS: Thank you.

5 THE CLERK: All rise.

6 (A recess ensued from 3:55 p.m. until 4:04 p.m.)

7 THE CLERK: All rise.

8 THE COURT: Please be seated. All right. Back on 9 the record in Highland. Mr. Phillips?

10 MR. PHILLIPS: Your Honor, with the introduction of 11 the Respondents -- CLO Holdco, DAF Fund, LP, and Mark Patrick,
12 those Respondents, and we consider Mark Patrick a Respondent
13 although not formally named as a Respondent because he is the 14 party who authorized the filing of the Seery motion -- we 15 rest.

16 THE COURT: You rest? Okay. Well, Mr. Morris, 17 closing arguments?

18 MR. MORRIS: How much time do I have?

19 THE COURT: You've got a lot more time than you
20 probably thought you were going to. You're under an hour.

21 MR. MORRIS: 42 minutes?

22 THE COURT: How much?

23 THE CLERK: 42 minutes.

24 THE COURT: 42 minutes? Feel free not to use it all.

25 MR. SBAITI: Out of curiosity, how long do we have?

1 THE COURT: You have a lot of time, which I hope you
2 won't use.

3 THE CLERK: Hour and twenty-five minutes or so.

4 MR. SBAITI: I was afraid it was going to be an hour
5 and twenty, so --

6 MR. PHILLIPS: No, not either.

7 MR. MORRIS: I don't suspect I'll use all the time.

8 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

9 MR. MORRIS: May I proceed?

10 THE COURT: You may.

11 CLOSING ARGUMENT ON BEHALF OF THE DEBTOR

12 MR. MORRIS: Good afternoon, Your Honor. John 13 Morris; Pachulski Stang Ziehl & Jones; for the Debtor. I'd 14 like to just make some closing remarks after the evidence has 15 closed.

16 This is a very, very important motion, Your Honor. I take 17 this stuff seriously. It's only the second contempt motion
18 I've ever brought in my life. I've never gone after another
19 law firm. But these facts and circumstances require it, 20 because my client is under attack, and these orders were 21 entered to prevent that.

22 It is serious stuff. There's no question in my mind,
23 there's no question the evidence showed, clear and 24 convincingly, beyond reasonable doubt, that they violated this 25 Court's order.

1 I started off with three very simple prongs. So simple
2 you'd think I'd remember them. Number one, was a court order
3 in effect? There is no dispute. The court order was in 4 effect.

5 Number two, did the order require certain conduct by the 6 Respondent? We believe it did. We heard an hour-long
7 argument styled as an opening statement, but it was really
8 argument and not an opening statement, about all the defects
9 in the order. But the one thing that is crystal clear in the 10 order are the words commence or pursue. You've been told many 11 times by the Respondent that nobody has commenced an action
12 against Mr. Seery. That is true. We all know what the word
13 commence means. We all know what the word pursue means.

14 I heard argument this morning that pursue means after a
15 claim is filed you pursue a case. That's the way lawyers talk
16 about it. But that doesn't make any sense, Your Honor, 17 because once you've commenced the action you've violated the 18 order. It's commence or pursue, it's in the disjunctive, and 19 you can't read out of the order the concept of pursuit by 20 making it an event that happens after the commencement,
21 because that's exactly what they're trying to do. They're 22 trying to read out of the order the word pursuit.

23 And I ask you to use very simple common sense. If filing
24 a motion for leave to amend a complaint to add Mr. Seery as a
25 defendant is not pursuit, what is? What is? There's nothing

1 left. You commence an action or you do something less than 2 commencing an action when you're going after the man. That's 3 what pursuit means. They're going after the man. And they
4 asked the District Court to do what they knew they couldn't.

5 Mr. Phillips is exactly right. I made the point about 6 Rule 15 because they knew they couldn't do it. I'm not 7 suggesting that they should have. I'm suggesting that the 8 reason that they didn't is because they knew they were -- they 9 were in a bad place. Because if they really just wanted to 10 name Mr. Seery as a defendant, they wouldn't have done it.
11 They knew commence was crystal clear.

12 What they're trying to do is claim that somehow there's an 13 ambiguity around the word pursuit. Does that make any sense
14 at all? Filing a motion for leave to amend the complaint.
15 And Mr. Patrick, to his credit, candidly admitted that if the 16 motion was granted, they were suing, yeah, as long -- as long
17 as the Sbaiti firm, you know, recommended it. That's what 18 would have happened.

19 Those orders that you signed, nothing, absolutely
20 meaningless from their point of view. They believed they were 21 wrong. They believed that they were overbroad. They believed 22 they were too narrow. They believed they were vague. They 23 believed they were without authority. They don't get to be 24 the gatekeeper. They want to be the gate -- that's this 25 Court's decision. That's why we went through all of the

1 processes that we did. And they just flagrantly said, I don't
2 agree. I don't agree because it's wrong this way and it's 3 wrong that way and it's wrong the other way, and therefore let 4 me go find a higher authority to validate my thinking. That's 5 not the way this process is supposed to work.

6 The independent directors and Mr. Seery relied on the 7 gatekeeper in accepting their positions. It was a quid pro
8 quo. Mr. Dondero agreed to the exact same provision, the 9 exact same gatekeeper provision in the January order that he
10 now complains about today, that the DAF complains about today.
11 Where were these people?

12 As the Court knows, nobody appealed either order. The 13 Debtor, the independent board, Mr. Seery expected that the 14 plain and unambiguous words would be honored and enforced. I 15 think that's fair. I think that's the way the process is 16 supposed to work.

17 Instead, we have games. We have these linguistic
18 gymnastics. We have statements that are too cute by half.
19 Mr. Dondero won't even admit that he appointed Mr. Scott back 20 in 2012. I couldn't even get him to do that, really, even 21 though the documents say it, even though Mr. Patrick says it.

22 I'll take the Respondents one at a time in a moment, but I
23 just want to deal with some of the more interesting arguments
24 they make. The order was vague because it didn't say you
25 can't seek leave from the District Court to amend your

1 complaint to add Mr. Seery. They said that that's what makes 2 the order vague.

3 Your Honor, if you had thought to put that language in,
4 you know what they would have done? They would have sued Mr.
5 Seery in New York State Supreme Court, where he lives, and 6 said, the order didn't say I couldn't do that. Where does it
7 end?

8 There's a reason why the order was crafted broadly to say
9 no commencement or pursuit without Bankruptcy Court approval.
10 You have to bring a colorable claim.

11 We heard an argument this morning that they couldn't 12 possibly have brought that motion for reconsideration first.
13 You know, the one they filed about eight hours after we filed
14 the contempt motion. They couldn't possibly have brought that 15 motion before the motion for leave to amend because somehow 16 they would have been estopped or they would have been found to 17 have waived some right.

18 How could it be that anybody reasonably believes that 19 complying with a court order results in a waiver of some 20 right? It just -- these are games. These are not good
21 arguments. And they certainly don't carry the day on a 22 contempt motion.

23 We've heard repeatedly, the District Court denied the 24 motion without prejudice, how have you been harmed? They 25 shouldn't be able to rely on the District Court's prudence to

1 protect themselves. The question shouldn't be, have you been
2 harmed since the District Court didn't grant the motion? No.
3 The question should be, were we harmed by the attempt to name
4 Mr. Seery a defendant, in violation of court orders, without 5 notice? Without notice.

6 I'm told they assumed that I'd be checking the dockets. I
7 wasn't checking the docket, Your Honor. I hadn't filed an 8 appearance in the case. And, in fact, if you look at the 9 exhibits, because I could pull it out, but we put in the 10 communications between the lawyers. The last communication
11 was from Mr. Pomerantz, and the last communication from Mr.
12 Pomerantz said, Don't do it or we're going to file a motion
13 for contempt. That's now in the evidence.

14 So, having sent that message, I wasn't going to check the 15 docket to see if they really were going to go ahead and do it.
16 I didn't think they would. And if they did, I certainly 17 thought I'd get notice of it. Nothing.

18 And, again, I don't really need to establish intent at all
19 in order to meet my burden of clear and convincing evidence of 20 a contempt of court, but I think it is relevant when the Court
21 hopefully finds liability and is considering damages, because 22 that's really the most important point I have to make right
23 now, is the Court needs to enforce its own orders, because if 24 the Court doesn't, or doesn't impose a penalty that's 25 meaningful, this is just going to continue. And Your Honor,

1 it's all in the record. Your Honor knows this. Mr. Daugherty
2 has gone through it. Right? Mr. Terry went through it. UBS
3 went through it. You've seen litigation now for a year and a
4 half. It's happening in New York, right, the Sbaiti firm is 5 reopening the Acis case. we've got this other lawsuit that's 6 filed by an entity with like a five-tenths of one percent
7 interest who's complaining about the SSP transaction that Mr.
8 -- that the Debtor engaged in. There's no end here.

9 We need the Court to pump the brakes. We need the Court
10 to exercise its authority. We need the Court to protect the 11 estate fiduciary that it approved.

12 It is true, Mr. Seery is not a trustee. But it is also 13 true that he is a third-party outsider who came into this case
14 with the expectation and the promise in an order that he
15 wouldn't be subjected to frivolous litigation, that this Court
16 would be the arbiter of whether claims could be pursued
17 against him. That was the code of conduct. That was the quid
18 pro quo. That was the deal that Mr. Seery made. It's the 19 deal that the board members made.

20 What gives these people the right to just say, your order
21 is wrong, and because I think your order is wrong I'm going to 22 go to the District Court, and if the District Court agrees,
23 too bad, and if the District Court doesn't agree, we'll be 24 back before Your Honor, and no harm, no foul? No. It can't 25 be. It can't be that that's the way this process works. It

1 just can't.

2 So, Your Honor, let me take the Defendants one at a time,
3 the Respondents one at a time. CLO Holdco and the DAF are 4 corporate entities. They've done what they've done. Mr.
5 Patrick, bless him, I think he's a lovely man. I don't think 6 he quite bargained for what he's getting right now, but 7 nevertheless he is where he is and he's willing to stand up
8 and be counted, and for that, at least, I admire his courage.
9 He's willing to say, I authorized those. But you know what?
10 It's a violation of the law, it's a violation of this Court's 11 order to file that motion, and so he has -- and he was very 12 candid today. He knew of the order. Right? He knew it was 13 in effect. He pointed out that it was in their papers.
14 Right?

15 They're trying to be cute, they're trying to thread this 16 needle, but it has no hole in it. They keep -- they keep 17 doing this. Well, maybe if we do it this way, maybe if we do
18 it -- no. The order was crystal clear.

19 The Sbaiti firm. They're probably fathers and husbands
20 and good people and I wish them no ill will, but this is 21 wrong. This is wrong. To come into a court you've never been 22 in before and in less than twelve days to jump the shark like
23 this in twelve -- in less than twelve days, because Mr.
24 Patrick said they weren't hired until April, and the complaint
25 was filed on the 12th.

1 We're told that they understood this was an overwhelming
2 case with two -- why don't you take your time? What was the
3 rush? Why not wait until the Defendant -- the Debtor appeared
4 in the action before rushing to do this?

5 It's bad conduct, Your Honor, and that's really a very 6 important point that I have to make, is that there's lots of 7 lawyers who are engaging in highly-questionable conduct here
8 that, from my perspective, goes well beyond the bounds of 9 zealous advocacy.

10 It's not aggressive lawyering. I love aggressive
11 lawyering. I really do. Respectful, honest -- and I don't,
12 you know, I don't want to say that they're dishonest people.
13 I don't mean to do that. But I think, I think they made a 14 gross error in judgment, and there's no question that they 15 violated this Court's order.

16 And then that leaves Mr. Dondero. I don't even know what 17 to say about his testimony, Your Honor. He pursued claims 18 against Mr. Seery. He thinks he's a rat. He's the one who 19 started the whole process. He's the one who put the bug in 20 Mark Patrick's ear. All of this is uncontested. Right?
21 Uncontested.

22 I don't have to go back in time. We can talk about what
23 happened to Grant Scott. It's a very sad story. Mr. Scott, I
24 think, did his honest best to do what he believed, on the 25 advice of counsel, was in the best interest of the DAF. And

1 Mr. Dondero, as you hear time and time again when he speaks
2 about Mr. Seery, it was inappropriate. He's the arbiter of 3 what's in the best interest of entities that other people
4 control. And they pay a price. And they pay a price. And so
5 Mr. Dondero felt it was his job, even though he tries to 6 distance himself from the DAF -- I have no responsibility, I
7 don't -- I'm not involved -- until, until somebody wants to 8 sue Seery and the Debtor. Then he'll go all in on that, no
9 matter how specious the claim may be.

10 The Debtor's not going to fold its tent because a motion
11 for leave to amend was denied without prejudice. That's not 12 the point. The point is that people need to respect this 13 Court, people need to respect the Court's orders, and those 14 that aid and abet or otherwise support the violation of court
15 orders ought to be held to account, Your Honor.

16 I have nothing further.

17 THE COURT: All right. Thank you. Respondents?

18 CLOSING ARGUMENT ON BEHALF OF THE RESPONDENTS

19 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, the fact that we're here on 20 a motion for leave, and the motion for leave is what they're 21 saying is pursuing a claim under the Court's order, and then 22 you hear that the mere act of investigating a claim against 23 Mr. Seery is also pursuing a claim, this goes to the infinite
24 regression problem with this word pursue the way they want to 25 construe it, Your Honor. Asking for permission is not

1 pursuing a claim and can't be the definition of pursuing a
2 claim because it's not doing anything other than asking for 3 permission.

4 We didn't file a suit. We didn't commence a suit. I
5 think that's established. We did not pursue a claim. Mr.
6 Morris ignores, I think, the very commonsensical aspect that
7 we put out in the opening, which is that the reason pursue --
8 and sometimes the language in these types of orders is,
9 instead of pursue, it's maintain -- but the reason that word
10 is there is because sometimes the case has already been 11 started when the order is entered. And so to pursue a claim, 12 i.e., one that's already been filed as of the date of the 13 order, that would be lost if the commencement of that claim
14 hadn't happened until after the -- until the -- if the 15 commencement happened before the order was filed. That's the 16 --

17 THE COURT: Okay. So are you saying it's a
18 sequential thing?

19 MR. SBAITI: I'm not sure I understood your question,
20 Your Honor. I'm sorry.

21 THE COURT: Well, I'm trying to understand what it is 22 you're saying about how pursue should be interpreted.

23 MR. SBAITI: Sure.

24 THE COURT: I think you're saying you have to -- you
25 can either have -- well, we've got a prohibition on commencing

1 an action.

2 MR. SBAITI: Yes.

3 THE COURT: And then the separate word pursue, I
4 think you're saying that must refer to you already have an
5 action that's been commenced and you're continuing on with it.
6 Is that what you're saying?

7 MR. SBAITI: Yes, Your Honor.

8 THE COURT: Then why not use the word continue?

9 MR. SBAITI: Well, Your Honor, the choice of --

10 THE COURT: Kind of like 362(a) of the Bankruptcy
11 Code, you know, is worded.

12 MR. SBAITI: Well, Your Honor, the choice of the 13 wording of pursue at that point, Your Honor, I believe ends up 14 being ambiguous, because by filing the motion here that would 15 be pursuing a claim under that definition. So before I got 16 permission to pursue a claim, I've got to pursue a claim.
17 That's the problem that they have with the words that they're 18 trying to get you to adopt, or the meaning of the words
19 they're trying to get you to adopt.

20 If I came to this Court and said, Judge, I need
21 permission, I need leave to file suit against Mr. Seery, and 22 then the question is, well, you're not allowed to seek leave
23 because that's pursuing the claim, it's infinitely regressive.
24 And in fact, his closing argument just proved how it's 25 infinitely regressive.

1 THE COURT: Okay. Let me -- I'm not following this
2 infinitely regressive or whatever the term was.

3 MR. SBAITI: Yes.

4 THE COURT: Just answer this very direct question.
5 Why did you not file a motion for leave in the Bankruptcy
6 Court? That would have clearly, clearly complied with the 7 July order.

8 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, I believe we explained this 9 in the opening. I took a stab at it. Mr. Bridges took a stab
10 at it. We did not believe coming here and asking for leave
11 and asking for -- for Your Honor to do what we don't believe
12 Your Honor can do, would effectuate an estoppel or a waiver,
13 which we didn't think was in the best interest of our client
14 to have. Your Honor, this happens -- I don't believe this is 15 the --

16 THE COURT: Okay. Connect the dots. Make that clear
17 as clear can be for me. You file a motion for leave --

18 MR. SBAITI: Yes.

19 THE COURT: -- to file this District Court action
20 against the Debtor and Seery, and if I say yes, everything is 21 fine and dandy from your perspective. If I say no, tell me
22 again what your estoppel argument is.

23 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, the key question is whether 24 us putting the Court's ability to decide colorability and the 25 Court's gatekeeper functions, for us to invoke those functions

1 concerned us because there's case law that says that that 2 effectuates an estoppel. And so we don't get our chance in 3 front of an Article III judge to make that in the first
4 instance.

5 THE COURT: Okay. Tell me what cases you're talking
6 about and the exact context of those cases.

7 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, I would have to defer to my 8 partner on this one, Your Honor.

9 THE COURT: Okay.

10 MR. SBAITI: So, --

11 THE COURT: Because I'm just letting you know --

12 MR. SBAITI: Yes.

13 THE COURT: -- I am at a complete loss. I'm at a 14 complete loss understanding what you're saying. I am.

15 MR. SBAITI: Well, Your Honor, the --

16 THE COURT: I don't understand. If you have followed
17 the order to the letter and I tell you no, --

18 MR. SBAITI: Then --

19 THE COURT: -- what, you're saying you were worried
20 you'd be estopped from appealing my order to the District
21 Court and saying abuse of discretion or invalid order in the 22 first place? You'd be estopped from taking an appeal?

23 MR. SBAITI: No, Your Honor. We wouldn't be estopped
24 from taking an appeal.

25 THE COURT: Then why didn't you follow the letter of

1 the order?

2 MR. SBAITI: For one thing, Your Honor, asking the 3 District Court made sense to us, given the order and given our 4 understanding of the law. Certainly, we had other options, as 5 Your Honor is pointing out. We could have come here. Our 6 read of the law, our understanding of what we were doing, made
7 it -- put us in, like I said, put us in the sort of 8 jurisdictional and paradoxical position.

9 THE COURT: This is your chance to tell me exactly
10 which law you think applies here. What case? What statute?

11 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, like I said, I don't have 12 those at the moment.

13 THE COURT: Why not? Your whole argument rides on 14 this, apparently.

15 MR. SBAITI: Well, Your Honor, I don't know that our 16 whole argument rides on that.

17 THE COURT: Okay.

18 MR. SBAITI: I mean, our argument rides on we don't 19 think we violated the letter of the order. I think that's 20 really what I'm -- what we're here to say, is that we didn't 21 commence a lawsuit and we didn't pursue a claim by filing for 22 leave in the District Court, just like filing for leave in 23 this Court would not be pursuing a claim. It would be filing
24 for leave.

25 THE COURT: I agree. Filing a motion for leave in

1 this Court would be exactly what the order contemplated.

2 MR. SBAITI: I understand, Your Honor.

3 THE COURT: What you did is not exactly what the 4 order contemplated.

5 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, but we're -- we're moving
6 back and forth between two concepts. One, your question is 7 why didn't we file for leave?

8 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

9 MR. SBAITI: And the answer to that, I've tried to 10 explain. And if we -- if you'd like us to bring up the case
11 law or to give you a better articulation of our concern, I'm 12 happy to defer to my partner.

13 What I'm really here to say, Your Honor, is a very simple
14 point, though. Just because we didn't file for leave here and 15 we filed for leave in the District Court doesn't mean we 16 violated your order, and that's the point I'm trying to make,
17 Your Honor. And I think that's the simplest point I can make.
18 Asking the Article III judge for leave to amend, for leave to 19 amend to add Mr. Seery, doesn't violate, facially, at least as 20 we read it, Your Honor's order. It's not commencing a suit
21 and it's not -- it's not pursuing a claim against him. It's 22 all preliminary to pursuing a claim against him, because a
23 claim hasn't even been filed.

24 The judge could have -- the judge could have -- the 25 District Court could have denied it, the District Court could

1 have referred it down here, the District Court could have
2 decided part of it and then asked Your Honor to rule on some
3 portion of it. There are innumerable ways that could have 4 gone. That fork -- those forks in the road is precisely why
5 we say this is not pursuing the claim. Otherwise, where does 6 it stop?

7 Does pursuing a claim happen just when we file the motion
8 for leave? Why didn't it happen when we started the 9 investigation? If pursuing a claim means having the intent
10 and taking steps towards eventually filing a lawsuit, that's 11 the point that I'm making that it is infinitely regressive,
12 and that's exactly what Mr. Morris argued to you.

13 He said Mr. Dondero, by merely speaking to me, is pursuing 14 a claim and that violates your order. Speaking to me. Even 15 if we had never filed it. Speaking is pursuing a claim.

16 THE COURT: I don't agree with that, for what it's 17 worth.

18 MR. SBAITI: Okay. But that was his argument. I'm 19 just responding to it.

20 THE COURT: Okay.

21 MR. SBAITI: And if that's not pursuing a claim,
22 filing a motion for leave likewise wouldn't be pursuing a 23 claim. I understand it's an official act in a court, but we 24 did it in a Court that is an adjutant to this Court. This 25 Court is an adjutant to that Court. It's the Court with

1 original jurisdiction over the matter. So we didn't go to New
2 York. We didn't go to the state court in New York where I
3 learned Mr. Seery lives. We came to the Northern District of 4 Texas, understanding that this Court and this Court's orders
5 had to be -- had to be addressed. And that's the very first
6 thing we did. We asked the Court to address it.

7 That judge could either decide to send it down here, which 8 is normally what I think -- what we understood would happen.
9 So it's not like we were avoiding it. But we wanted to invoke
10 the jurisdiction which we, as the Plaintiff, we believe we had 11 the right to invoke. We're allowed to choose our forum. So 12 that's the forum we chose for the primary case, which there's 13 not a problem, no one's raised an issue with us filing the 14 underlying lawsuit.

15 Adding Mr. Seery to that lawsuit and filing a motion for 16 leave in the same court where we actually had the lawsuit,
17 knowing that it might get -- that might get decided or 18 referred in some way, doesn't strike me as being anything
19 improper, because he didn't get sued and we don't know what 20 Judge Boyle would have said had the motion gone forward. And 21 for them to speculate and to say that, well, this is exactly
22 the type of thing you have to protect against, I completely
23 disagree.

24 The case law that they cited for you on these -- on most 25 of these orders really do discuss the fact that you have

1 somebody who is actually protecting the underlying property of 2 the Debtor. This claim comes from a complete third party that
3 Mr. Seery himself has admitted under oath he owes a fiduciary
4 duty to. Two third parties. One is an investor of a fund
5 that he manages, and one to a fund that the Debtor, with Mr.
6 Seery as the head of it, was an advisor for up until recently.

7 Those fiduciary duties exist. We felt like there was a
8 valid claim to be brought against Mr. Seery. And the only 9 reason -- and he says this like it's a negative; I view it as 10 a positive -- the reason he wasn't named is because of Your 11 Honor's orders. And so we asked a Court, the Court with 12 general jurisdiction, to address it for us or to tell us what 13 to do. And I don't see how that is a violation of this 14 Court's order, nor is it contemptuous of this Court's order.

15 If every time one of these issues came up it was a 16 contempt of the court that appointed a trustee, we'd see a lot
17 more contempt orders.

18 Interestingly, the cases that were thrown out to you in 19 the opening argument by the other side, for example, Villages
20 [sic] v. Schmidt, was a trustee case, but not one that 21 involved a sanction. And the trustee case specifically in 22 that case held that the Barton Doctrine didn't have an 23 exception for Stern cases, whereas the cases we cited to you,
24 Anderson, for example, in the Fifth Circuit, which is 520 F.2d 25 1027, expressly held that Section 959 is an exception to the

1 Barton Doctrine.

2 And my partner, Mr. Bridges, can walk through the issues
3 that we had on the enforceability of the order, but all -- to 4 me, all of that is sort of a secondary issue because, prima
5 facie, we didn't violate this order. I understand it may 6 irritate the Debtor and may raise questions about why the 7 motion wasn't filed here versus the District Court. But it
8 was a motion for leave. In order to sanction us, Your Honor
9 would have to find that asking for permission is sanctionable
10 conduct in the gatekeeper order. Even if we ask the wrong
11 court. Simply asking the wrong court is sanctionable, not 12 knowing what that court would have done, not knowing what that 13 court's mindset was, not even having the benefit of the 14 argument. And that's, I guess, where this bottom -- the 15 bottom line is for me.

16 The evidence that they put on for you, Your Honor.
17 Everything you heard was evidence in the negative. You know,
18 they talk about the transition from Mr. Dondero to Mr. Scott
19 and Mr. Scott to Mr. Patrick, but if you actually look at the 20 evidence he wants you to see and he wants you to rule on, it's 21 the evidence that wasn't there. It's the evidence that Mr.
22 Dondero had no control. In fact, I believe that was the basis
23 he argued for why there should be no privilege. And all he 24 said is that he was promoting it.

25 But the fact of the matter is, like I said, all of that is

1 secondary to the core issue that we didn't violate the order.
2 We didn't take steps to violate the order. We took steps to
3 try to not violate the order. And they want you to punish us
4 to send a message. Even used words like the Court needs to 5 enforce its own orders. And he did that as a transition away
6 from the idea that there were no damages, Your Honor, and I
7 think that has implications.

8 And then he said you have to enforce a meaningful penalty.
9 Well, Your Honor, I don't think that is the purpose of these 10 sanctions. These sanctions are supposed to be remedial, 11 according to the case law, according to the case law that they
12 cite. So a meaningful --

13 THE COURT: Coercive or remedial.

14 MR. SBAITI: Sorry?

15 THE COURT: Coercive or remedial. Civil contempt.

16 MR. SBAITI: Sure, Your Honor. But usually coercive
17 sanctions require someone to do something or they are 18 sanctioned until they do it.

19 THE COURT: Coerced compliance. Coerced compliance
20 --

21 MR. SBAITI: Yes.

22 THE COURT: -- with an existing order.

23 MR. SBAITI: Yes.

24 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

25 MR. SBAITI: The last thing, he says you have to

1 protect the estate of the fiduciary and his expectation -- I
2 believe he's talking about Mr. Seery -- his expectation that
3 the Court would be the gatekeeper. And Your Honor, that 4 argument rings a little bit hollow here, given that what
5 they're really saying is that we should have come here first
6 and asked for permission. But that insinuates that, by coming
7 here, the case is dead on arrival, which I don't think is the 8 right argument.

9 I think the issue for us has been, who do we have to ask
10 and who can we ask to deal with the Court's gatekeeper order?
11 I believe we chose a court, a proper court, a court with 12 jurisdiction, to hear the issue and decide the issue. Your 13 Court's -- Your Honor's indication of the jurisdiction of this 14 Court we believed invoked the District Court's jurisdiction at 15 the same time.

16 And so the last thing is he said -- the last thing, and 17 getting back to the core issue, is Mr. Morris wants you to 18 believe that we intended to violate the order, and now, as an 19 afterthought, we're using linguistic gymnastics to get around
20 all of that. But it's not linguistic gymnastics. Linguistic 21 gymnastics is saying that pursue means doing anything in 22 pursuit of a claim. That's a little -- I believe that's 23 almost a direct quote. They're chasing the man. Well, that's 24 the infinite regression that I talked about, Your Honor, that 25 it's going to be impossible in any principled way to reconcile

1 Mr. Morris's or the Debtor's definition of pursue with any 2 logical, reasonable limitation that is readable into the 3 order, Your Honor.

4 And I'm going to defer to my partner, Mr. Bridges -- oh,
5 go ahead.

6 THE COURT: I'm going to stop you. I mean, we have 7 the linguistic argument. But how do you respond to this?

8 MR. SBAITI: Sure.

9 THE COURT: What if I tell you, in my gut, this 10 appears to be an end run? An end run. I mean, I'm stating 11 something that should be obvious, right? An end run around
12 this Court. This Court spent hours, probably, reading a 13 motion to compromise issues with HarbourVest, issues between 14 the Debtor and HarbourVest. I had objections. An objection
15 from CLO Holdco that was very document-oriented, as I recall.
16 Right of first refusal. HarbourVest can't transfer its 49.98
17 percent interest in HCLOF, right? Talk about alphabet soup.
18 We definitely have it.

19 MR. SBAITI: Yes.

20 THE COURT: Without giving CLO Holdco the first right
21 to buy those assets. Read pleadings. Law clerk and I stay up
22 late. And then, you know, we get to the hearing and there's 23 the withdrawal -- we heard a little bit about that today --
24 withdrawal of the objection. We kind of confirmed that two or 25 three different ways on the record. And then I remember going

1 to Mr. Draper, who represents the Dugaboy and Get Good Trusts.
2 You know, are you challenging the legal propriety of doing
3 this? And he backed off any objection.

4 So the Court ended up having a hearing where we went 5 through what I would call the standard 9019 prove-up, where we 6 looked at was it in the best interest, was it fair and 7 equitable given all the risks, rewards, dah, dah, dah, dah.
8 You know, HarbourVest had initially, you know, started at a 9 $300 million proof of claim, eye-popping, but this all put to 10 bed a very complicated claim.

11 MR. SBAITI: Yeah.

12 THE COURT: Tell me something that would make me feel 13 better about what is, in my core, in my gut, that this is just 14 a big, giant end run around the Bankruptcy Court approval of 15 the HarbourVest settlement, which is not on appeal, right?
16 There are a gazillion appeals in this case, but I don't think
17 the HarbourVest --

18 A VOICE: It is on -- it is on appeal, Your Honor.

19 THE COURT: Is it? Oh, it is on appeal? Okay. So I
20 may be told --

21 MR. SBAITI: I didn't know.

22 THE COURT: I may be told, gosh, you got it wrong,
23 Judge. You know, that happens sometimes.

24 So, this feels like an end run. You know, the appeal is 25 either going to prevail or not. If it's successful, then, you

1 know, do you really need this lawsuit? You know, I don't --
2 okay. Your chance.

3 MR. SBAITI: Thank you, Your Honor.

4 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

5 MS. SBAITI: Your Honor, this wouldn't be the first
6 case where finality or where there was a settlement -- I'm not
7 familiar as well with bankruptcy, but certainly in litigation
8 -- where the settlement then reveals -- well, after a 9 settlement is done, after everyone thinks it's done, some new 10 facts come to light that change people's views about what 11 happened before the settlement or before the resolution. And 12 that's what happened here, Your Honor. This is what we've 13 pled. And this is what we understand.

14 There were the instances of Mr. Seery's testimony where he 15 testified to the value of the HarbourVest assets. I believe,
16 as I recall, he testified in I believe it's the approval
17 hearing that Your Honor is talking about that the settlement
18 gave HarbourVest a certain amount of claims of I think it's,
19 Series 8 and then Series 9 claims, and that those were 20 discounted to a certain dollar value that he quantified as 21 about $30, $31 million. And the way he ratified and justified
22 the actual settlement value, the actual money or value he was 23 conferring on HarbourVest, given the critique of HarbourVest
24 claims that he was settling, is he explained it this way. He 25 said $22-1/2 million of this whole pot that I'm giving them

1 pays for the HarbourVest -- HarbourVest's interests in HCLOF
2 -- it's alphabet soup again -- and Highland CLO Funding,
3 Limited. And so it's the other $9 million that's really
4 settling their claims. And given the amount of expense it's 5 going to take, so on and so forth, $9 million seems like a
6 reasonable amount to settle them with, especially since we're 7 just giving them claims.

8 So that $22-1/2 million everyone apparently took to the 9 bank as being the value, including CLO Holdco at the time,
10 because they didn't have the underlying valuations. Highland
11 was supposed to give the updated valuations.

12 So, fast-forward a couple of months -- and this is what 13 we've played in our lawsuit, Your Honor; this is why I don't 14 think it's an end run -- we pled in our lawsuit just a couple 15 months later Highland -- I believe some of the people that 16 worked at Highland started leaving, according to some 17 mechanisms that I saw where Highland didn't want to keep all 18 the staff and so the staff was migrated to other places. And 19 one of those gentlemen, I believe Mr. Dondero referred to him
20 as a gentleman named Hunter Covitz, and Hunter Covitz, who's 21 also an investor in HCLOF, he owns a small piece of HCLOF, he 22 had the data, he had some of the information that showed that,
23 actually, in January, when Mr. Seery said that the HarbourVest
24 settlement was worth 22 -- excuse me, the HarbourVest
25 interests in HCLOF were worth $22-1/2 million, that they're

1 actually worth upwards of $45 million.

2 And so that information, Your Honor, we believe gives us a
3 different -- a different take on what happened and what was 4 supposed to happen. This is strictly about the lack of 5 transparency.

6 THE COURT: Okay. Assuming --

7 MR. SBAITI: Yeah.

8 THE COURT: -- I buy into your argument that this is 9 newly-discovered evidence --

10 MR. SBAITI: Yes.

11 THE COURT: -- CLO Holdco would not have had reason
12 to know -- I guess that's what you're saying, right?

13 MR. SBAITI: I'm saying they -- they didn't know.

14 THE COURT: That they didn't know.

15 MR. SBAITI: Uh-huh.

16 THE COURT: And didn't have reason to know. I'm 17 trying to figure out who's damaged here.

18 MR. SBAITI: Well, CLO Holdco, my client, is damaged,
19 Your Honor.

20 THE COURT: How?

21 MR. SBAITI: Because one of the aspects of the -- of 22 Highland, one of the issues under, excuse me, of Highland's
23 advisory, is that it has a fiduciary duty. And that fiduciary 24 duty, at least here, entails two, if not, three prongs. The 25 first prong is they have to be transparent. You can't say --

1 THE COURT: How is -- you know, I know a lot about
2 fiduciary duties, believe it or not. How is CLO Holdco harmed
3 and the DAF harmed?

4 MR. SBAITI: Because, Your Honor, they lost out on an
5 investment opportunity to buy the piece of -- the HarbourVest
6 piece. They would have been able to go out and raise the 7 money. They had the opportunity --

8 THE COURT: Okay.

9 MR. SBAITI: They would have had the opportunity to 10 make a different argument.

11 THE COURT: What you're saying, you're saying, if 12 they had known what they didn't have reason to know, that it
13 was worth, let's say, $45 million, that they would have gone
14 out and raised money and said, oh, we do want to exercise this 15 right of first refusal that we decided we didn't have and gave 16 in on, we're going to press the issue and then outbid the $22
17 million, because we know it's worth more? Is that where 18 you're going? I'm trying to figure out where the heck you're 19 going, to be honest.

20 MR. SBAITI: That's -- Your Honor, I'd push back on a
21 little of the phrasing, only because the way these duties --
22 the way we understand the SEC's duties work when you're an 23 investment advisor is you have a transparency obligation and 24 an obligation --

25 THE COURT: Yes. Yes.

1 MR. SBAITI: -- not to divert these. So, yes, CLO
2 Holdco would have at least had the opportunity and been 3 offered the opportunity, which it could have taken advantage
4 of, to, if the assets were really on the block for $22-1/2
5 million, they should have been able to buy their percentage
6 pro rata share of that $22-1/2 million deal. I mean, in a
7 nutshell, that's -- that's where we believe we've been harmed.
8 And we believe that the obfuscation of those values and, to a 9 certain extent, the misrepresentation of those values in the 10 settlement is not cleansable by the argument, well, you should 11 have asked.

12 Well, you should have asked is fine in normal litigation,
13 but when the person you should have asked actually owes you a
14 positive duty to inform, we believe that the should-have-asked
15 piece doesn't really apply and there's -- and that's, that's 16 the basis of our case.

17 So it's not an end run around the settlement, Your Honor.
18 I think I opened with we're not trying to undo the settlement.
19 We're not saying HarbourVest has to take its interest back.
20 We're not saying the settlement has to go on. We're not even 21 saying any of the things that happened in Bankruptcy Court
22 need to change. But Section 959 is pretty clear that this is 23 management of third-party property --

24 THE COURT: I guess -- okay. Again, rabbit trail,
25 maybe. But CLO Holdco still owns its same 49.02 percent

1 interest that it did before this transaction. So if there's 2 value galore in HCLOF, it still has its 49.02 percent
3 interest. What am I missing?

4 MR. SBAITI: Oh, I think Your Honor's assuming that 5 HCLOF bought the piece back from HarbourVest. It didn't.

6 THE COURT: No, I'm not.

7 MR. SBAITI: Oh.

8 THE COURT: I'm not assuming that.

9 MR. SBAITI: Well, --

10 THE COURT: I know that now the Debtor has, what,
11 fifty point, you know, five percent of HCLOF, whereas it only 12 had, you know, a fraction.

13 MR. SBAITI: Point six-ish. Yeah.

14 THE COURT: Point six-ish, and HarbourVest had 49.98.

15 MR. SBAITI: Right.

16 THE COURT: So, again, please educate me. I'm really
17 trying to figure out how this lawsuit isn't just some crazy
18 end run around a settlement I approved. And moreover, what's 19 the damages?

20 MR. SBAITI: Well, Your Honor, --

21 THE COURT: What's the damages? CLO Holdco still has 22 its 49.02 percent interest in HCLOF.

23 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, again, --

24 THE COURT: What am I missing? I must be missing
25 something.

1 MR. SBAITI: I think so, Your Honor.

2 THE COURT: What?

3 MR. SBAITI: The damages is the lost opportunity, the 4 lost opportunity to own more of HCLOF.

5 THE COURT: Oh, it could have owned the whole darn
6 thing?

7 MR. SBAITI: I could have owned 90 -- whatever 49
8 plus 49.98, 98.98 percent.

9 THE COURT: But --

10 MS. SBAITI: Or some pro rata portion.

11 THE COURT: But Mr. Seery had some information that 12 you think he was holding back from CLO Holdco that CLO Holdco
13 had no reason to know?

14 MR. SBAITI: Yes, Your Honor. The -- the -- what he 15 testified to that the value of those assets, excuse me, the 16 value of the HarbourVest interests in HCLOF or its share of 17 the underlying assets being $22-1/2 million was either, one,
18 intentionally obfuscated, or, two, and I don't think this 19 excuses it at all, he simply used ancient data and simply 20 never updated himself, not for the Court and not for any 21 representations to the investors, who he himself testified
22 under oath in this Court that he has a fiduciary duty to under 23 the Investment Advisers Act.

24 THE COURT: This could get very --

25 MR. SBAITI: So that's injury to my client, Your

1 Honor.

2 THE COURT: This could get really dangerous. Maybe

3 --

4 MR. SBAITI: I'm sorry.

5 THE COURT: This could get really dangerous. Maybe I
6 should cut off where I'm going on this.

7 MR. SBAITI: Okay.

8 THE COURT: Of course, someone dangled it out there
9 in a pleading. You know where I'm going, right?

10 MR. SBAITI: I'm not sure I do, Your Honor.

11 THE COURT: Hmm. I do read the newspaper, but 12 someone put it in a pleading. HCLOF owns MGM stock, right?
13 Is that what this is all about? Is that what this is all
14 about? Or shall we not do this on the record?

15 MR. SBAITI: Well, Your Honor, this has nothing -- I
16 don't -- I don't think this has anything to do with the MGM
17 stock one way or the other.

18 THE COURT: You don't? OH?

19 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, my charge as a counsel for 20 the DAF is pretty straightforward. We looked at the claims.
21 We looked at the newly-discovered information. We talked to 22 the people who had it, Your Honor. That was our 23 investigation. We put together a complaint. We believed that 24 we had a good basis to file suit, despite Your Honor's -- the 25 settlement approval. We expressly, because we understand how

1 finality is so critical in a bankruptcy context, we expressly
2 didn't ask for rescission. We expressly didn't ask for 3 anything that would undo the settlement.

4 Asking for damages because of how the settlement happened,
5 through no fault of the Court's, of course, but asking for 6 damages is not, at least not as I see it, an end run around
7 the Court's settlement, and it's a legitimate claim. And I
8 don't think this is far from the first time that new evidence
9 has come up that's allowed someone to question how something
10 was done that actually -- that actually damaged them.

11 THE COURT: Usually, they come in for a motion to 12 reopen evidence to the court who issued the order approving 13 the settlement.

14 MR. SBAITI: Well, Your Honor, I mean, that's --

15 THE COURT: Newly-discovered evidence.

16 MR. SBAITI: That would be the case in a final 17 judgment, Your Honor. But, you know, our understanding of the 18 way the settlement worked was that that was not necessarily 19 going to be -- not the direction anybody wanted to go, but 20 seeking damages on a straight claim for damages, which we're 21 allowed to seek, which I think is our prerogative to seek, we 22 went that direction.

23 THE COURT: Okay. Okay.

24 MR. SBAITI: But this --

25 THE COURT: My last question.

1 MR. SBAITI: Yes, Your Honor.

2 THE COURT: Again, I have to know. You have filed
3 some sort of pleading to reopen litigation against Acis in New 4 York? I'm only asking this because it's part of what's going
5 on here. What is going on here?

6 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, that's a -- that's a
7 separate lawsuit, and it's not to reopen litigation against 8 Acis. It deals with post-plan confirmation mismanagement by 9 Acis.

10 THE COURT: Oh, okay. Okay.

11 MR. SBAITI: Yeah.

12 THE COURT: All right.

13 MR. SBAITI: But I believe there's a motion in front
14 of Your Honor, just to -- that gave notice that the suit was 15 filed, but I believe Mr. -- well, a bankruptcy lawyer filed
16 it. I don't know.

17 THE COURT: A motion or a notice? I don't know.

18 MR. SBAITI: I don't know, Your Honor. That's above
19 my paygrade.

20 THE COURT: I have not seen it. Okay?

21 MR. SBAITI: Okay.

22 THE COURT: Maybe it's there, but no one has called 23 it to my attention.

24 MR. SBAITI: With the Court's permission, I'm going
25 to yield time to Mr. Bridges.

1 THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Bridges?

2 CLOSING ARGUMENT ON BEHALF OF THE RESPONDENTS

3 MR. BRIDGES: Thank you, Your Honor. I'm grateful
4 that you asked most of those questions to Mr. Sbaiti. I would
5 not have been able to answer them. The one I can answer is 6 the one about judicial estoppel. Apparently, I did a pretty
7 lousy job earlier. I think I'm prepared to do a better job
8 now.

9 The case law I'd like to refer you to is the Texas Supreme
10 Court's 2009 decision in Ferguson v. Building Materials, 295
11 S.W.3d 642. And this was my concern and my issue, perhaps 12 because I used to teach it and so it was at the front of my 13 mind. But contrary to what you would think and what you said
14 earlier, it's not your ruling against us that would create a
15 judicial estoppel problem. It's if you ruled in our favor.
16 And I know that seems weird. Let me explain.

17 The two things that have to take place for there to be 18 judicial estoppel are, first, successfully maintaining a
19 position in one proceeding, and then taking an inconsistent
20 position in another. And Your Honor, what we talked about 21 earlier is the notion that your July order forecloses the key
22 claim that Mr. Sbaiti was just describing, that Mr. Seery
23 should have known. Not that he was grossly negligent or did
24 intentional wrong, but that he breached fiduciary duties
25 because he should have known and should have disclosed.

1 And if your order forecloses that and we come and convince
2 you that we nonetheless have colorable claims, colorable
3 claims of gross negligence or willful wrongdoing, that we 4 ultimately are unable to prove, our lawsuit could fail, even 5 though we had proved -- in the lawsuit we had proved he should 6 have known and that he breached fiduciary duties, but we would 7 be estopped, having succeeded from coming here and asking in 8 compliance with the order and its colorability rule, that we 9 would be estopped from then saying that this Court lacked the 10 authority to have issued that order in the first place, to 11 have released the claim on the mere breach of fiduciary duty
12 or ordinary negligence. That's the inconsistency that I was 13 concerned about.

14 By coming here rather than trying to make our objection
15 and our position known without submitting to the foreclosure
16 of that claim that is, in many ways, the most important, the 17 headliner from our District Court complaint, is the concern,
18 Your Honor. And frankly, if Your Honor's order does foreclose
19 that, then we're in serious trouble. That's the claim that 20 we're trying to preserve.

21 But Your Honor, I don't think it was in anyone's 22 contemplation in July of 2000 that what that order would do is 23 terminate -- 2020; sorry, Your Honor -- in July of 2020, that 24 that order would terminate future claims that might arise
25 based on future conduct that had not yet happened in Mr.

1 Seery's role. Not in his role as a manager of the Debtor's
2 property, but in his role as a registered investment advisor
3 on behalf of his clients and their property. And that is the 4 concern that the judicial estoppel argument is about.

5 THE COURT: I still don't understand. I'm very well
6 aware of judicial estoppel, the old expression, you can't play
7 fast and loose with the court. Take one position in one
8 court, you're successful, and then take another position in 9 another court. That's the concept.

10 MR. BRIDGES: Coming here --

11 THE COURT: How is this judicial estoppel if you had 12 done what I think the order required and asked this Court for 13 leave? What -- and I said fine, you have leave. Where's the 14 judicial estoppel problem?

15 MR. BRIDGES: If you say fine, you have leave, but 16 that leave is only, as the order states, because we have 17 colorable claims of gross negligence, colorable claims of 18 intentional wrongdoing, what happens to our mere negligence
19 and mere breach of fiduciary duty claims? Are they 20 foreclosed? The order on its face --

21 THE COURT: Well, I would interpret the order to be
22 yes, and then you could appeal me, and the Court would either
23 say it's too late to appeal that because you didn't appeal it 24 in July 2020, or fine, I'll hear your appeal. Where's the 25 estoppel?

1 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, our claims that this Court
2 lacks the authority either to have made that order in the 3 first place or the jurisdiction to rule on colorability now
4 because of Section -- the mandatory abstention provision,
5 whose section number I've now lost. That if we come to you
6 and ask you to rule on those things, have we not thereby
7 waived on appeal our claim that you couldn't rule in the first
8 place on those things?

9 That is what our motion for leave in the District Court
10 argues, is that there's -- there are jurisdictional
11 shortcomings with your ability to decide what we're asking
12 that Court to decide. And Your Honor, by coming here first 13 and then appealing, that's what we fear we would have lost.
14 And instead of coming here and appealing, what we -- what we 15 would have done, in the alternative, I guess, would be to come
16 here and ask you not to rule but move to withdraw the 17 reference of our own motion.

18 That two-step, filing here and filing a motion to withdraw
19 the reference on the thing we filed here, we didn't think was 20 required, nor could we find any case law or rule saying that 21 that was appropriate.

22 THE COURT: Okay.

23 MR. BRIDGES: These are not games, Your Honor. We 24 were not trying to play games. We aren't bankruptcy court
25 lawyers. We're not regularly in front of the Bankruptcy

1 Court. So the notion why didn't we come here first isn't
2 exactly at the top of our mind. The question for trial
3 lawyers typically is, where can we file this, what are the 4 permissible venues, not why don't we come to Bankruptcy Court?
5 Especially when your order appears to say that causes of 6 action that don't rise to the level of gross negligence or 7 intentional wrongdoing are already foreclosed.

8 Your Honor, the January order, I think I have to just 9 briefly address again, even though I don't understand why it
10 makes a difference. Apparently, counsel thinks it makes a 11 difference because Mr. Dondero apparently supported it in some 12 way. Our position is, for whatever difference it makes, the 13 January versus the July, we don't believe there's anything in 14 the District Court complaint putting at issue Mr. Seery's role 15 as a director, so we don't understand how that order is 16 implicated.

17 Again, I'm not sure that matters at all. I'm not raising
18 it as a defense. I'm just telling Your Honor this is all 19 about the July order, from our perspective. Certainly, the 20 July order puts his role as a CEO -- certainly, the District
21 Court case puts his role as a CEO at issue, and that's what 22 the July order is about.

23 Your Honor, the Applewood case requires specifics in order
24 to terminate our rights to sue and to bring certain causes of 25 action, and without that kind of specificity, Your Honor, we

1 believe that that order fails to preclude, fails to have
2 preclusive effect as to these later-arising claims. And we
3 would submit not only that it was not contemplated, but that
4 it was not intended to have that effect, and that even Mr.
5 Seery's testimony suggests that that's not how he understood
6 that order to be effective.

7 Counsel argued that the Barton Doctrine does apply here
8 and rattled off the names of cases that don't -- to my 9 knowledge, no case, no case that I can find deals with this
10 type of deferential order where someone is asked -- where a
11 court is asked to defer to the business judgment of an entity
12 in approving an appointment, and nonetheless deciding that the 13 Barton Doctrine applies. That's not what Villegas holds.
14 That's not what Espinosa holds. I don't think Barton is 15 applicable in a situation like that. Certainly, it's outside
16 of the context of what Barton anticipated itself over a
17 century ago when it was decided.

18 Your Honor, if we're wrong, please know we're wrong in 19 earnest. These are not games. These are not sneakiness. No
20 such motivation is at issue here. I was hopeful that that 21 would be plain from the text of the motion for leave itself.
22 If it's not, I'd offer this in addition. The docket at the 23 District Court shows that immediately upon filing the motion
24 for leave, a proposed order was filed with it asking to have 25 the proposed complaint deemed filed, which as soon as I saw I

1 asked us to immediately retract it and to substitute a new
2 proposed order that does not ask for the amended complaint to 3 be deemed filed. That is not what we wanted.

4 And the fear was what if our motion is granted because the 5 District Court says you have the right, you don't even need
6 leave, but as to the Bankruptcy Court, you're on your own,
7 this is at your own risk, I'm not going to rule on any of the 8 jurisdictional questions that you attempt to raise? We did
9 not want our complaint deemed filed for that reason. What we 10 did want was for a court where we did not risk judicial 11 estoppel to decide whether or not our key claim under the 12 Advisers Act had been foreclosed by your July order, and that 13 was the key and motivating factor.

14 On top of that, Your Honor, instead of arguing the meaning
15 of the word pursue, let me just say this. We understood
16 pursue in that context to refer to claims or causes of action,
17 not potential, unfiled, unasserted, contemplated claims or 18 causes of action. That until a claim or cause of action is 19 actually asserted in some way, that it can't be pursued, and 20 that the reference here was to two kinds of action, those that 21 had not yet been commenced -- and your order foreclosed the 22 commencing of them without permission -- and those that had 23 been commenced. And your order couldn't foreclose the 24 commencing of them because they hadn't been commenced yet, but 25 your order did foreclose pursuing them.

1 And that was my reading of what that order said. And it
2 fits with this notion that a claim or cause of action isn't
3 something you're considering or even researching. It didn't
4 dawn on us that researching or talking to a client about a
5 potential claim could violate the order because in some 6 respect that conversation could be in pursuit of the claim.

7 By the same notion, we didn't think asking a court with 8 original jurisdiction according to Congress, asking a court to 9 decide whether or not we were foreclosed from bringing our 10 claims in a motion for leave was violating your order.

11 We don't have much else, Your Honor. In terms of the need
12 to enforce compliance with your orders, if we understand them,
13 we sure as heck are going to follow them. And if we've 14 misconstrued the term pursue, I'm certainly very sorry about
15 that.

16 I appreciate counsel saying he thinks we're probably good
17 people. I did not think what we did was any kind of gross
18 error in judgment. I thought that what we were doing was 19 preserving our clients' rights, going to a court of competent 20 jurisdiction, and asking the question, can we do what we think
21 we ought to be able to do, but is -- frankly, Your Honor,
22 we're a bit confused about because of the order that seems on 23 its face to foreclose the very lawsuit that we think we should 24 be bringing on behalf on this charitable organization that 25 foreclosed it months before the conduct at issue that gave

1 rise to the complaint. And with that conundrum, knowing what 2 to do was not obvious or easy for the lawyers or for the 3 client who was dependent on his lawyers to give him good,
4 sound advice.

5 I'm very grateful for you giving us the time and for your
6 very pointed questions. Thank you, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: Thank you. All right. Who's next?

8 CLOSING ARGUMENT ON BEHALF OF MARK PATRICK

9 MR. ANDERSON: May it please the Court, Michael 10 Anderson on behalf of Mr. Patrick, Mark Patrick.

11 You know, this is a contempt proceeding. It's very 12 serious. And, you know, my stomach aches for the people here.

13 THE COURT: Mine does, too, by the way.

14 MR. ANDERSON: It truly aches.

15 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

16 MR. ANDERSON: And I mean what I said when I did
17 opening, when I said we don't need a hearing, an evidentiary
18 hearing. And I still don't believe we did, because it comes 19 down to what does the word pursue mean, because there's 20 already been an acknowledgement --

21 THE COURT: Do you all want to withdraw all your 22 exhibits? I've got a lot of exhibits that I now need to go
23 through. If I admit them into evidence, I'm going to read
24 them.

25 MR. ANDERSON: No, I understand.

1 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

2 MR. ANDERSON: But it does come down to the word
3 pursue. Counsel has already said commence doesn't do it, and 4 so then it's pursue.

5 And I could ask Your Honor, what did you mean when you
6 said pursue in the July order, but I'm not going to say that.
7 And I asked my client on the stand, you know, did you pursue a
8 claim or cause of action? And then it was very telling. What 9 happened with counsel? He stood up and objected to me even 10 asking if it was pursued. And it dawned on me, if he's going 11 to object, does pursue have some sort of legal -- that was his 12 objection. It was he objected on legal grounds. Does that 13 have some sort of legal meaning?

14 This is contempt. You can't be held in contempt unless it
15 is bright-line clear that you have deviated from a standard of 16 conduct and there's no ambiguity. Well, clearly, there is 17 ambiguity, because over on this side of the room we say filing
18 a motion for leave can't be pursue. We can look at the order
19 and we know it doesn't mean pursue because I just heard Your 20 Honor say you should have filed a motion for leave in this 21 Court before doing anything. All right? So if that -- if 22 that is what without the Bankruptcy Court first determining,
23 if that's what the motion for leave is, well, then if we go up
24 to the first sentence, No entity may commence or pursue a 25 claim or cause of action, then it has this, without the

1 Bankruptcy Court first determining, that means -- if pursue
2 means a motion for leave, if that's what that means, then that
3 order says you can't commence or file a motion for leave
4 before you file a motion for leave. Because that's what it
5 means. If pursue means motion for leave and you've said you
6 should have come here and filed a motion for leave because it
7 says, Debtor, without the Bankruptcy Court first determining 8 that notice that such claim or cause of action represents a 9 colorable claim, and specifically authorizing. The vehicle to 10 do that would be a motion for leave, right? And you can't 11 pursue anything until a motion for leave has been filed.

12 Now, where was the motion for leave? And I understand,
13 Your Honor, you know, no expert at reading the room,
14 obviously, you're frustrated that the motion for leave was 15 filed in the District Court and not in this Court. But it
16 doesn't change the fact, and neither did any of the evidence,
17 change anything, is what does pursue mean?

18 And if someone says, well, it's obviously clear it means
19 x, well, is it really obviously clear it means filing a motion
20 for leave? Because nobody on my side, when you read it, when 21 you say pursue, can read it that way. And if we're going to 22 have contempt sanctions being posed, and there has to be clear
23 and convincing evidence or beyond reasonable doubt, depending 24 upon, you know, I don't think you have to get to that part,
25 but clear --

1 THE COURT: This is not criminal contempt.

2 MR. ANDERSON: Clear and convincing is the civil 3 standard for contempt.

4 THE COURT: Right.

5 MR. ANDERSON: And if pursue is open to that much
6 interpretation, it's not the kind of thing that can be held in 7 contempt on. And I understand the frustration. I hear the 8 frustration. I hear counsel talk about that was not their 9 intent when they filed it. You know, I heard Mr. Patrick get 10 up there. I heard counsel say, hey, Mr. Patrick's doing his 11 job, he's a good guy, seems like a good guy. Well, Mr.
12 Patrick's up there. Look, they filed the underlying lawsuit.
13 Nobody -- there's no motion for that in this Court about the 14 underlying lawsuit. It's only about the motion for leave.
15 That's all we're here about.

16 And so you go to that, and we've heard all these arguments
17 about it, and we've been here almost as long as the motion for 18 leave was actually on file before it was sua sponte dismissed
19 without prejudice.

20 And so I go back to that and I say that, if pursue means 21 filing a motion for leave, then that order would require an 22 order for anyone to violate -- it would be violated upon the 23 filing of a motion for leave, because you can't pursue
24 something until the Bankruptcy Court has already first
25 determined, after notice, that such claim or cause of action

1 represents a colorable claim and specifically authorizing the
2 entity to bring such a claim. Because that -- we already know
3 that's a motion for leave in and of itself. Therefore,
4 pursue, just simply filing a motion for leave will put you in
5 that.

6 But that gets into all these -- we don't need to be having 7 this discussion about, you know, is a motion for leave pursue?
8 Is pursue a motion for leave? I've heard both arguments here.
9 It doesn't justify contempt. And I know -- and so certainly 10 with respect to my side, I, you know -- given that, I would 11 request that the Court deny the request for contempt.

12 And again, I want to say, too, look, we hear you.
13 Absolutely hear you. Understand the frustration. Totally 14 hear you on that.

15 I'm going to turn over the balance of my time to Mr.
16 Phillips, --

17 THE COURT: Okay.

18 MR. ANDERSON: -- unless you have any questions, Your 19 Honor. I appreciate it.

20 THE COURT: Okay. I do not.

21 CLOSING ARGUMENT ON BEHALF OF MARK PATRICK

22 MR. PHILLIPS: Your Honor, Louis M. Phillips, and 23 I'll be brief. I'm going to try to bring it down to -- I was 24 not involved. We are -- we are here because of the 25 indemnification provisions of CLO Holdco representing Mr.

1 Patrick individually. My firm was not involved in the 2 litigation. We were hired to represent CLO Holdco and some of 3 the defendants in the UCC litigation, and our role has 4 expanded to do some other stuff, particularly represent Mr.
5 Patrick because of the indemnification provisions of the 6 Holdco entity documents. He's entitled to indemnification and 7 we're providing a defense for him. That's why we're here.

8 So I come way after the order. We have not been involved
9 in anything. But I think I'm just going to try to distill
10 everything about the order and about the concern and about the 11 litigation, because the Court is asking about is this an end
12 run on the settlement? The Court is also saying, all you had 13 to do was come here first.

14 But let's look. We're here about one thing, the motion
15 for leave. And as Mr. Anderson pointed out, the commence or 16 pursue a claim, according to the order, commence or pursue can 17 only occur after the Court has authorized the litigation.
18 Okay. So that's what the order says. You can't commence or 19 pursue.

20 Counsel for the Debtors says, well, it can't be after 21 commencement because you've already commenced the action. So 22 pursue has to mean something before the commencement of the 23 action. It would mean something before the commencement of 24 the action under this order.

25 But it doesn't mean something before the Court approves

1 the commencement of the action, because commence or pursue
2 under this order does not occur before the Court has acted.
3 That's the language of the order. It only occurs after the 4 Court has authorized it. That's the context in which commence
5 or pursue exists, after this Court has authorized.

6 Okay. So it can't be pursuit before the Court has 7 authorized without commencement because it only is triggered
8 by the Court's authorization of the action, which means,
9 before you commence it, actions in time take time, before you
10 commence the action, you have to pursue the action to commence
11 it. But you can't do that until you've approved it. All
12 right?

13 That's the temporal concern and why we say the motion for 14 leave can't be pursuit of an action under this order. It
15 might be pursuit under another definition or another order.
16 In other words, maybe an order could be issued saying, you
17 can't file a motion for leave in any other court but this one.
18 I don't know whether it'd be a good order, but the order could 19 say that. But when you say all you had to do was file a
20 motion for leave in this Court and everything would be okay,
21 no. The motion for leave is not, under this order, pursuit.
22 Pursuit only occurs under this order after you've done
23 something, after Your Honor has done something.

24 So if a motion for leave is violative at the District
25 Court, the motion for leave would be violative here, because

1 it occurs before Your Honor has taken action.

2 Now, clearly, you want people to ask, but just as clearly,
3 and this was the point of my remarks earlier at the tail-end
4 of opening, just as clearly, I have a question, because
5 frankly, I understand what these guys are saying. These guys
6 haven't really said it. They're a little shame-faced at what 7 these guys are asking. Because what these guys are asking is 8 whether or not an employee Seery, as the CRO -- and we heard,
9 oh, he bargained for it, he wouldn't have done it without 10 getting the order and the protections because -- did he 11 bargain for not having to comply with the Investor Advisory 12 Act? Did he bargain for not having a fiduciary duty to third 13 parties? Because the one thing that Mr. Bridges has been 14 trying to tell you is that, under this order, if it's 15 interpreted one way, you would never authorize a violation of 16 the Investment Advisory Act because it wouldn't necessarily be 17 gross negligence or willful misconduct.

18 In other words, in employing Seery, did the Debtor go out
19 in this disclosure statement and say, we are advisor to $1.2
20 billion of third-party money, and guess what, our CRO has no
21 fiduciary duty to you? We have forestalled any claim under 22 the Investment Advisory Act in our employment order. Did that 23 happen?

24 Because if that happened, I don't know if the Court was 25 really thinking that way, because that -- that can't happen in

1 a confirmation order before, under the Fifth Circuit
2 authority, after disclosure statement, plan, et cetera, et
3 cetera, because that's a third party release of claims that
4 may -- that haven't occurred yet. You would be releasing
5 because you would be saying you have no right. You have no
6 right. This is not temporal. This is saying you have no
7 right, if it's saying that, to bring an Investment Advisory --
8 Investment Advisory Act or a Breach of Fiduciary Duty Act
9 that's not gross negligence or willful misconduct forever upon
10 an employment order.

11 Now, if that's not what it means, then we have another
12 conundrum. The other conundrum -- and I'm new to this, maybe
13 this has been thought out by everybody, but I don't think so.
14 The other conundrum is this order doesn't apply to actions
15 that don't involve willful -- gross negligence or willful
16 misconduct. It only applies to those types of actions. So,
17 frankly, I don't know what the order does.

18 I think the problem -- I probably shouldn't be the 19 purviewer of who ought to know because my standard's probably 20 really low, given my capacity here. But I'm a guy off the 21 street. Seery gets hired to run the Debtor. Seery testifies
22 and he admits, we've got Investment Advisory Act all over the 23 place. We're making lots of fees out of administering all 24 this third-party money. Do they know? Do they know he's 25 immune? Do the third parties know?

1 Now, a standard about managing the Debtor? Absolutely.
2 That's just pure D Chapter 11, pure D corporate, pure D
3 standard liability if you're operating an entity. You're not
4 liable for gross negligence or willful misconduct. You're 5 not. And so any claim for damage to the Debtor or to the 6 estate by actions taken in the CRO capacity, absolutely.
7 Absolutely. You don't want a bunch of yoyos suing, you did
8 something against the Debtor and the Debtor is now worth $147
9 less than it was because you did something, you were negligent
10 and you forgot to put the dog out. No. It's got to be gross
11 negligence or willful misconduct if you are talking about 12 running the Debtor and running the estate.

13 But that's not what we have here. And you can ask all the 14 questions you want about whether the lawsuit's any good, but 15 that's not what's up before the Court. What's up before the 16 Court is whether filing a motion for leave is contempt. And 17 under this order, you're saying, all you had to do is come
18 here. Well, in one reading of it, you'd have never got relief
19 because you can't bring the kind of action. I foreclosed it
20 by employing Seery. He no longer has a fiduciary duty and is 21 no longer bound by the Investment Advisory Act. Case closed.
22 Get out of here. Unless you can formulate something around so
23 that you can establish gross negligence or willful misconduct,
24 I've done away with all those causes of action.

25 I don't think that's what happened. And if that's not

1 what happened, this doesn't apply because it shouldn't apply
2 to third-party actions. It should apply to actions for damage
3 to the estate by creditors of the estate for whom Seery is 4 acting as CRO of the Debtor, who is the -- in possession of 5 the estate. That makes perfect sense. Perfect sense. And 6 nobody would say that you shouldn't have sole authority to 7 determine whether a CRO who's acting for the estate and 8 damages the estate -- because that'd be a claim against the 9 estate. That would be an administrative claim against the 10 estate. That is just hornbook law.

11 That's the way I see this order. And I admit I didn't 12 write it. I admit I didn't submit it. I admit I didn't 13 litigate it. I admit I'm coming in late. But sometimes maybe
14 a fresh pair of elderly, trifocal-assisted eyes doesn't hurt.
15 Because I will tell you, Judge, on one read this Court says
16 don't bother coming here because you don't have the kind of 17 claim that can be brought, even if you're a third party. And 18 the only way that happens is if Seery's released from any 19 obligation under the Investment Advisory Act, and I think 20 everybody would like to know that. And he can't be sued for 21 breach of fiduciary duty to third parties that he admits he 22 owes. I think people would like to know that.

23 And if it doesn't, then this is not -- this order is not
24 about that. But the fact -- I've been at this 40 years, and I
25 usually don't want to talk about myself. There's really not a

1 lot to talk about. But I hear Mr. Morris how he's never done
2 this, he's never done that. I hear this, I'm a good -- you
3 know, whatever. I'm confused. I've been doing this 41 years.
4 Bankruptcy, 39.7. I must be crazy, but that's what I've been 5 doing. And I'm confused because I don't even know if they
6 needed to come here. I don't even know if, had they come
7 here, if they could have even presented an action for gross --
8 for negligence or breach of fiduciary duty, could have -- 9 gross negligence or willful misconduct? I don't know whether 10 this order just applies to Seery's duties as CRO vis-a-vis
11 creditors of the estate and property of the estate and damage
12 to the estate. Because that's not what we're dealing with 13 here.

14 The point is, Judge, this is contempt. And I understand
15 Your Honor knows all about contempt. Your Honor knows about 16 Matter of Hipp. Your Honor knows about civil contempt
17 authorization for bankruptcy courts. Your Honor knows that 18 you can't operate without the right to impose civil contempt
19 sanctions. And Your Honor knows, and I agree with Your Honor, 20 that civil contempt is both remedial and coercive.

21 But how do you coerce around my questions? Maybe I am all
22 wet, but if I am, I don't think I am, and I don't understand
23 that I am, and that's why I'm concerned about going off into 24 this contempt wilderness and millions in fees, when the motion
25 for leave was dismissed and when the lawsuit doesn't ask for

1 or includes most of its claims. I don't even -- I have not
2 studied the lawsuit. I wasn't involved in it. But if it's a
3 breach of fiduciary duty and Advisory Act and it says what
4 you've been told it says, that he should have pulled up
5 different stuff, that the valuation metrics were different,
6 that he shouldn't have used it, I don't know that they're 7 saying fraud. I don't know that they're saying he knew he was 8 doing -- I think they're saying he breached the Investment
9 Advisory Act. And that's not gross negligence or willful
10 misconduct. Then does this order apply or this order -- does 11 this order foreclose that?

12 The fact is, I think we could have decided this on the 13 pleadings and on the order. We didn't. The fact that Mr.
14 Dondero did A, B, C. And I will tell you this. Mr. Patrick
15 has stood up. He's going to get a harpoon, he's going to get 16 a harpoon, subject to his right to appeal. But he has told 17 this Court. We represent him. We're not trying to get him
18 out of having authorized the order. It's very important for 19 this Court to understand. Mr. Patrick is one of these 20 entities. Mr. Dondero can holler and scream all he wants to.
21 Mr. -- and look, did he terminate Grant Scott? If I'm Grant
22 Scott, and this is my best friend and I was in his wedding and 23 I was his roommate and I was his best friend and I'm doing
24 this stuff for $5,000 and I do something and $5,000 a month
25 and I do something and I get hollered at and I've got a full a

1 law practice, I'm an IP lawyer, why don't I just tell him to 2 go jump in a lake, which is the other way you could look at 3 Grant Scott leaving. I want you to jump in a lake. I'm out
4 of here. I don't need this.

5 Thank you.

6 THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

7 MR. DEMO: Your Honor, how much time do they have 8 left, --

9 THE COURT: Um, --

10 MR. DEMO: -- to be honest?

11 THE COURT: Nate, are you -- 26 minutes? All right.

12 MR. TAYLOR: I'll go way under, Your Honor.

13 THE COURT: Okay.

14 CLOSING ARGUMENT ON BEHALF OF JAMES DONDERO

15 MR. TAYLOR: Your Honor, Clay Taylor. I'm here on 16 behalf of Mr. Dondero. He was named as an individual alleged 17 violator within the order.

18 THE COURT: Okay. I'm getting lawyers mixed up. Mr.
19 Anderson, who did you represent?

20 MR. ANDERSON: Mr. Patrick. Mr. Phillips and I
21 represent --

22 THE COURT: You're Mr. Patrick?

23 MR. PHILLIPS: We're Mr. Patrick.

24 THE COURT: You're both --

25 MR. PHILLIPS: Mr. Patrick.

1 THE COURT: Okay. I'm sorry. I'm getting my Fort
2 Worth law firms mixed up. Okay.

3 MR. TAYLOR: That's quite all right. Clay Taylor
4 from Bonds Ellis here on behalf of Mr. Dondero. And we're
5 here because he was named in the alleged violator motion
6 within the order as an alleged violator. We don't think that 7 he is, for the reasons that we're about to explain, but we 8 were ordered to appear --

9 A VOICE: No.

10 MR. TAYLOR: -- and so therefore we are appearing and 11 telling you why we're not an alleged violator.

12 First of all, for all the reasons that Mr. Sbaiti and Mr.
13 Bridges and Mr. Phillips and Mr. Anderson said, the court
14 order was in effect. We agree with that. It required certain 15 conduct to be done. Yes, it did. It said you couldn't 16 commence something. It said you couldn't pursue it. I think 17 we have gone through what the pursuit and commence. Nobody is 18 arguing that anything was commenced. It comes down to 19 pursuit.

20 But let's talk about what the evidence shows about Mr.
21 Dondero. It shows that Mr. Dondero believes that there have 22 been breaches of fiduciary duty. He thinks that there has 23 been negligence committed. He believes that actions should be 24 taken. We don't run away from that. He, frankly, told you
25 that.

1 But here, he didn't take any action to pursue it. The DAF
2 did. CLO Holdco did. It's undisputed that he's not an 3 officer, director, or control person for either of those
4 entities. The act we're here on is a motion for leave to file
5 an amended complaint to include Mr. Seery. That's -- Mr.
6 Dondero didn't take any of those acts. He believes it should 7 have been done, but he's not the authorizing person.

8 He might have -- let's just pretend that he thought he was 9 authorizing something. It doesn't matter that he thought he 10 could authorize something or that he was trying to push for 11 it. The fact remains he can't authorize it. You know, he can 12 say, I declare war on Afghanistan. Well, he can't. Congress
13 can't. He can write a letter to his Congressman. He already 14 wrote a letter to his Congressman. He talked. He talked with 15 the head of the acting CLO -- CLO Holdco and he said, I think
16 there's something wrong here. I think you should be looking 17 into it. You know what, he goes, you might be right. Go talk 18 with Mazin about it. Give him some data. Conduct an 19 investigation. They did. And then they went to the 20 authorizing person and they filed a motion for leave to 21 include Mr. Seery. Mr. Dondero did nothing wrong in that.

22 Now, there is some personal animosity. I think that Your 23 Honor has probably seen there seems to be some personal
24 animosity between Mr. Seery and Mr. Dondero, and that's 25 unfortunate. But just because there's some personal animosity

1 doesn't mean that maybe something wasn't done wrong. Maybe
2 that Mr. Dondero -- he's certainly allowed to at least tell
3 people, well, I think there was something done wrong. And if 4 there is an action to be had, then those appropriate entities
5 can take it. But he didn't do those things.

6 And so even if he says, just like Michael Scott, "I 7 declare bankruptcy," it doesn't matter. You have to take the 8 certain actions.

9 THE COURT: I got it. I don't know if everyone did.

10 MR. TAYLOR: Yes, well, yeah, you have to be a The 11 Office fan.

12 But so that's where we stand. And for all the reasons the 13 prior people have discussed, I don't think that there was any 14 violation of this Court's order. But even if there was, Mr.
15 Dondero in this situation was not the one. We're going to 16 have to deal with the other order that came out yesterday in 17 due course, but for this discrete issue that is before this 18 Court today, Mr. Dondero didn't violate anything.

19 Thank you.

20 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Morris, you get the last 21 word.

22 REBUTTAL CLOSING ARGUMENT ON BEHALF OF THE DEBTOR

23 MR. MORRIS: Thank you, Your Honor. These are going
24 to be discrete points because it's truly rebuttal. I'm going
25 to try to respond to certain points.

1 Mr. Bridges and Mr. Phillips made extensive arguments
2 about why they believe the order is wrong, why it's 3 overreaching. They tried to get into your head to think about
4 what you intended or what you thought. The fact of the matter
5 is, the answer to all of those questions -- first of all, none
6 of it's relevant to this motion because we've got the order --
7 but the answer is very simple. Forget about coming here to 8 seek leave to amend to add Mr. Seery. We can avoid Mr.
9 Sbaiti's concerns about judicial estoppel or something. Why
10 didn't they just file the motion for reconsideration? They 11 filed that after they filed the motion for leave to amend,
12 after we filed the motion for contempt. Only then did they 13 file the motion for reconsideration.

14 Now, we think it's ill-thought-out. We think it's 15 problematic. Probably not today, is my guess, we'll argue to 16 you as to why we think that motion ought to be denied. But if 17 they truly believed that the order was infirm in any way,
18 wouldn't the proper thing to have been to come here and tell
19 you that? Wouldn't the proper thing to be to come to the 20 court that issued the order that you have a problem with and 21 ask the court to review it again? And if Your Honor overruled
22 the motion, to appeal it.

23 Why are we even doing this? Why did they do it? It's not 24 we. Why did they do it? Right? And that solves almost 25 everything they've said. That's point one.

1 Point two, the January order. The January order is very
2 important. It's important not just because it applies to 3 directors, but it's important because Mr. Dondero agreed to 4 it, and it also applies -- I want to get it -- Paragraph 10.
5 It's Exhibit 15. It applies to the independent directors and 6 the independents directors' agents. If a CEO is not an agent
7 of an independent director, I'm not sure what is. The 8 independent directors are the body that appointed the CEO.
9 The CEO, Mr. Seery, is acting on behalf of the board. This is 10 the order that Mr. Dondero agreed to. It's the order -- take 11 out the word independent director; put in Mr. Seery -- it's 12 the order everybody's complaining about. But even the January
13 order certainly applied to Mr. Seery. That's point two.

14 Point three. I've heard a lot of concerns about the 15 slippery slope and what does pursuit mean and does talking to 16 a lawyer mean pursuit and doing an investigation being 17 pursuit. I don't know, Your Honor, and I don't care, because 18 that's not what we're here to talk about. We're here to talk
19 about a specific act -- not a hypothetical, not a slippery
20 slope. We're talking about the filing of a motion for leave
21 to amend a complaint to add Mr. Seery as a defendant. That's 22 all we're talking about. So, you know, the rest of it, it's 23 just noise. And the only question is whether, and I think 24 it's pretty clear, that means pursuit.

25 Another version on the theme of was there any alternative

1 to filing the motion in the District Court, I think there was.
2 The Sbaiti firm did file that suit against Acis in New York.
3 And if Your Honor checks the docket in the Acis bankruptcy, I
4 think you'll find that there's a motion from Mr. Rukavina, for 5 a comfort order, basically, saying that -- asking the court to 6 declare that the filing of the complaint in New York against 7 Acis didn't violate the plan injunction. I think I have that
8 right.

9 But I point that out, Your Honor -- it's not evidence in 10 the record, but the Court can certainly take judicial notice
11 of what's on its docket -- I point that out because there's 12 another example of a lawyer who is very active in this case
13 who actually -- now, he already commenced the suit, so he did
14 -- they did both simultaneously, so I don't want to suggest 15 that that's the perfect thing to have done, but at least he's 16 here asking for -- he's bringing it to your attention, he's 17 telling you it's happened, he's asking for a comfort order,
18 and someday Your Honor may rule on it. I don't know.

19 Number six, what's with the pursuit of Mr. Seery? What is 20 with the pursuit of Mr. Seery? Is there any doubt in 21 anybody's mind that the Debtor is going to have to indemnify
22 Mr. Seery and will bring in another law firm? And while I
23 don't think it will ever happen in a hundred billion years, if 24 there is a judgment against Mr. Seery, isn't that going to be 25 the Debtor's responsibility? Why are they even bothering to

1 do this? I think it's a fair question for the Court to ask.

2 I think Mr. Taylor came up and talked about animosity.

3 How do you explain going after Jim Seery? How do you do it?

4 He's going to be indemnified. It's in -- it's in like three

5 different orders. It's in the confirmation order. It's in 6 the CEO order. It's -- it's probably as a matter of law.

7 It's in the Strand partnership agreement. It's -- he's been

8 indemnified like 12 different times. What is the purpose,

9 other than to make Mr. Seery's life miserable? There is none.

10 You'll never hear a rational explanation for why they're doing

11 this.

12 THE COURT: Just so you know, I've not looked at any

13 of the pleadings in the District Court --

14 MR. MORRIS: And I'm not asking you to.

15 THE COURT: -- other than what has been presented to 16 me today.

17 MR. MORRIS: Yeah. That's fine, Your Honor.

18 THE COURT: But I'm very flipped out about the causes

19 of action against the Debtor, --

20 MR. MORRIS: Yeah.

21 THE COURT: -- who hasn't reached an effective date.

22 MR. MORRIS: Well, --

23 THE COURT: And I'm most interested to know what the 24 defenses, motions --

25 MR. MORRIS: We'll get to that.

1 THE COURT: -- are going to be raised in that regard.

2 MR. MORRIS: We will get to that in due course.

3 I do want to point out, just to be clear, because we keep 4 hearing that they learned about, you know, all of these
5 horrible things after the fact. In the complaint, which I
6 think is Exhibit 12, --

7 THE COURT: I'm there.

8 MR. MORRIS: -- at Paragraph 127, the Plaintiffs
9 allege, "Mr. Seery was informed in late December 2020 at an 10 in-person meeting in Dallas, to which Mr. Seery had to fly, 11 that HCO" -- excuse me "HCLF and HCM had to suspend trading in 12 MGM Studios' securities because Seery had learned from James 13 Dondero, who was on the board, of a potential purchase of the 14 company. The news of the MGM purchase should have caused 15 Seery to revalue."

16 I cannot begin to tell you the problems with that 17 paragraph. We're not going to discuss them today. I made a 18 promise to these folks that we wouldn't get into the merits of 19 the complaint. But Your Honor was onto something before, and 20 those issues, you know, may see the light of day one day. And 21 if they do, folks are going to have to deal with it. But I
22 will point out that at the time the communication was made,
23 the other TRO was in effect. We didn't bring that one to the 24 Court's attention. But the important point there, Your Honor, 25 is December 2020. It is December 2020. That is the

1 allegation that's being made against Mr. Seery. And the fact
2 of the matter is, because I've done the research myself, the 3 Court will find that on December 23rd, the day the HarbourVest
4 settlement motion was filed, it was fully public knowledge
5 that Amazon and Apple, I think, had shut down negotiations
6 with MGM at that time. Right? So the big secret information,
7 it was in the public domain on December 23rd.

8 There will also never be any evidence ever that Mr. Seery
9 got on a plane and flew to Dallas in December 2020, but that's 10 a minor point.

11 I'd like to just conclude, Your Honor, by saying I've 12 heard pleas that they understand. They understand, Your 13 Honor, now they understand. It would be good if they promised
14 the Court that they won't seek to assert claims against Mr.
15 Seery anywhere but in this Court and comply with the order as 16 it's written. That, that, that would be taking a little bit
17 of responsibility.

18 I have nothing further, Your Honor.

19 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

20 All right. Let me give you some clue of when I'm going to 21 be able to rule. I've been glancing at my email in hopes that 22 something set tomorrow would go away, but that's not 23 happening. I've got a hearing that I've been told will take 24 all day tomorrow on a case involving a half-built hotel,
25 luxury hotel in Palm Springs, California. So I have to spend

1 the next I don't know how long getting ready for that hearing
2 tomorrow, and then I have what looks like a full day of 3 hearings Thursday, including you people coming back on 4 something.

5 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, I was going to address
6 that. We have Dugaboy's motion to enforce compliance on the 7 2015(3) reports.

8 THE COURT: That's what it was.

9 MR. POMERANTZ: Since we haven't gotten to the motion
10 to modify the Seery order, my suggestion would be we use that 11 time -- of course, Dugaboy, I'm not sure if they're on the 12 phone. They're not here. I'm not sure that's time sensitive.
13 But if Your Honor wanted to have a hearing on that motion,
14 which was contemplated to take place today, the Debtor would 15 be okay having that motion heard on Thursday, perhaps by 16 WebEx, unless Your Honor wants us to stay here, which we would 17 if you do, and then reschedule the 2015(3) motion.

18 But again, that wasn't my motion. It's Dugaboy's. I'm 19 not sure Mr. Draper is on. But we obviously have some 20 calendar issues.

21 MR. MORRIS: And Your Honor, just to complete it, I
22 think also on Thursday the Court is supposed to hear HCRE and 23 Highland Capital Management Services motions for leave to 24 amend their complaint in the promissory note litigation
25 against each of them. I think that's also on the calendar for

1 Thursday. I don't expect that -- I hope that doesn't take
2 very long, but that's also, I believe, on the calendar.

3 THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Draper, are you out there?

4 MR. PHILLIPS: I didn't see him on the list, Your 5 Honor. I was just looking. But --

6 THE COURT: Okay. All right. Well, --

7 MR. PHILLIPS: What is the question? I can send him
8 a text real quick.

9 THE COURT: Well, just have -- if you all could 10 follow up with Traci Ellison, my courtroom deputy, tomorrow, I
11 am perfectly happy to continue the motion to modify the Seery
12 order to Thursday morning at 9:30 if Draper is willing to 13 continue the 2015 motion.

14 MR. POMERANTZ: I know, if I was him, my first 15 question would be is what times does the Court have available?
16 We could work that through Ms. Ellison.

17 THE COURT: Yes. And I'm just letting you know --
18 talk to her. Okay. Number one, I'll do these by video, okay?
19 WebEx. But I know I don't have any time Wednesday, and 20 Thursday's a busy day.

21 We have court Friday morning at 9:30 in--?

22 THE CLERK: Cici's Pizza.

23 THE COURT: Cici's Pizza? That's not going to take 24 very long, right?

25 THE CLERK: I don't think so.

1 THE COURT: I can potentially do something, you know,
2 10:00 o'clock Friday morning. Other than that, then you've
3 got to wait a while, because I have a seven-day trial, live
4 human beings in the courtroom starting next Monday. And so my
5 point is mainly to tell you, as much as I would like to rule
6 very, very fast, it's going to be, it looks like, a couple of
7 weeks or so before I can give you a ruling on this.

8 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor?

9 THE COURT: Yes?

10 MR. BRIDGES: May I? It's our motion. I would 11 propose, if counsel would agree, that we just submit it on the 12 papers.

13 THE COURT: Everybody good with that? I'm certainly
14 good with that.

15 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, I'd like there to be
16 argument. I have a lengthy argument. I think I'd like to 17 address a number of the things that -- Mr. Bridges made his 18 argument today. Okay?

19 THE COURT: Okay.

20 MR. POMERANTZ: His deck, it was entitled, Motion to 21 Modify.

22 THE COURT: Okay.

23 MR. POMERANTZ: So that's very nice of him, but I
24 would like to make my argument.

25 THE COURT: Okay. Let's try to nail this down right

1 now. Friday at 10:00 o'clock, can we do the oral argument
2 WebEx?

3 MR. POMERANTZ: On that one, yes, Your Honor.

4 THE COURT: On that one? Everybody good? Okay. So
5 we'll come back Friday, 10:00 o'clock, WebEx, for that motion.

6 You know, I'm going to say a couple of things where --
7 I've leaned toward thinking this is a pretty simple motion
8 before me, the motion for contempt, but when people offer into 9 evidence documents, I read your documents. Okay? That's my
10 duty. And so I have however many exhibits I admitted today
11 that I am going to look at and see how they sway me one way or 12 another on this issue. But I will tell you that my gut is 13 there has been contempt of court. Okay? I don't see anything
14 ambiguous at all about Paragraph 5 of my July 16th, 2020
15 order. Somebody may think I overreached, but if that was the 16 case, someone should have argued at the time I was
17 overreaching. Someone should have appealed the order. And I
18 think it's a Shoaf/Espinosa problem at this point for anyone
19 to argue about the enforceability of that order.

20 I think there's nothing ambiguous in the wording. Pursue
21 is not ambiguous. There's nothing confusing about the
22 requirement that any entity who wanted to sue or pursue a
23 claim, you know, commence claim, pursue a claim against Mr.
24 Seery, had to come to the Bankruptcy Court. Standard-fare
25 gatekeeping order.

1 So what I'm going to be looking at is, do these documents
2 I admitted into evidence change my view on that, and then the 3 harder question is who of the alleged contemnors am I going to 4 think it's clear and convincing committed contempt and -- who
5 are the contemnors, and then, of course, what are the damages?
6 Coercive or compensatory damages?

7 So, again, you know how I feel, to the extent that's 8 helpful in your planning purposes. I'm pretty convinced
9 contempt of court has occurred. It's just a matter of who's a 10 contemnor and what are the damages.

11 I'll say a couple of remaining things. I continue to be 12 frustrated, I think was the word people used, about 13 unproductive ways we all spend our time. I am going to spend
14 I don't know how many more hours drafting another ruling on a
15 contempt motion, and attorneys' fees are through the roof.
16 And, you know, I dangled out there a question I couldn't 17 resist about MGM.

18 And I will tell you, I mean, someone mentioned about their 19 stomach aching. Personal story, I could hardly sleep the 20 night it became public about the Amazon purchase, because,
21 silly me, maybe, I'm thinking game-changer. This is such 22 potentially a windfall, an economic windfall. Maybe this 23 could be the impetus to make everyone get in a room and say
24 look, we've got this wonderful windfall of money. I don't 25 know how much is owned directly or indirectly by the Debtor of

1 MGM stock. I don't know how much the Debtor manages. I
2 don't know how much, you know, some other entity. I know it's
3 probably spread out in many different entities. But I know, I
4 know because I listen, that one or more of the Highland-
5 managed CLOs has some of this, and I think I read -- remember
6 that HCLOF, which now Highland owns more than 50 percent of,
7 has some of this stock. Right?

8 MR. DONDERO: Do you want to know what happened?

9 THE COURT: Oh.

10 A VOICE: No.

11 THE COURT: Well, okay. So, you know, I can
12 understand I'm getting into maybe uncomfortable territory in a
13 public proceeding, so I'll stop.

14 But, you know, do we need to set up a status conference?
15 Do you all need to like talk about this? Am I just being 16 naïve? Couldn't this be a game-changer, where maybe it would 17 give new incentive to --

18 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, I would -- he's been 19 pretty quiet through the whole hearing, Mr. Clemente. He has 20 the Committee, that a couple of people you've heard have sold
21 claims. They're now held by other parties.

22 You know, the door is always open. I don't think this is 23 going to be game-changer, unfortunately. We would like 24 nothing more, as Debtor's counsel. We don't enjoy coming to 25 Your Honor for contempt hearings.

1 Mr. Clemente said that it was productive. We would sure
2 participate. But right now, we have creditors who are very 3 angry that millions and millions of dollars have been spent on 4 really a waste of time and a waste of the Court's time and a
5 waste of everyone's time and eating into the creditors' money.
6 So I would ask Mr. Clemente to address that.

7 MR. CLEMENTE: I'm here.

8 THE COURT: Yes, he's way in the back, hoping to be 9 ignored.

10 MR. CLEMENTE: It's too cold, Your Honor, where I was 11 sitting. For the record, Your Honor, --

12 THE COURT: I noticed some entity called Muck
13 Holdings bought HarbourVest, according to the docket.

14 MR. CLEMENTE: That's correct. Muck Holdings bought
15 HarbourVest, and I believe also the Acis claim, and then
16 there's a different entity that bought the Redeemer claim.

17 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

18 MR. CLEMENTE: So, as we mentioned in our -- one of 19 our pleadings, I think it was the retention pleading for 20 Teneo, the Committee consists of two members currently, Meta-e
21 and UBS.

22 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

23 MR. CLEMENTE: Obviously, Your Honor just approved
24 the UBS settlement recently. The U.S. Trustee is aware of the 25 make-up of the Committee, and is currently comfortable with

1 the Committee maintaining a two-person membership at this 2 point.

3 In terms of whether the MGM transaction is a game-changer,
4 we've not yet seen, to Your Honor's point, how all of that 5 rolls up through the various interests that the Debtor may or 6 -- you know, may have --

7 THE COURT: Okay.

8 MR. CLEMENTE: -- that would be implicated by the MGM
9 transaction. If ultimately the MGM transaction has to 10 actually occur, right? I mean, so, you know, just based on 11 what I read in the public documents, we're not sure when that 12 transaction may actually happen. But obviously it's a good
13 thing for the Debtor's estate because it's going to recognize 14 value for the estate.

15 In terms of whether it ultimately changes how Mr. Dondero,
16 you know, wishes to proceed, that's entirely up to him, Your 17 Honor. But we don't see it as something at this point that 18 would suggest that there's an overall back to let's talk about 19 a pot plan because of where the MGM transaction might 20 ultimately come out.

21 So I don't know if that's helpful to Your Honor, but those 22 are -- that's my perspective.

23 THE COURT: Well, and I'm not trying to, you know,
24 push a pot plan on anyone.

25 MR. CLEMENTE: No, I understand.

1 THE COURT: I'm just saying it looked like an
2 economic windfall. I just -- I don't know how much is 3 Highland versus other entities in the so-called byzantine
4 complex, but, gosh, I just hoped that there might be something
5 there to change the dynamic of, you know, lawsuit, lawsuit,
6 lawsuit, lawsuit, motion for contempt, motion for contempt.

7 MR. CLEMENTE: Agreed, Your Honor.

8 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

9 MR. CLEMENTE: And like I said, it was a very 10 positive development obviously for the creditors for the 11 Debtor. But whether it's the game-changer that Your Honor
12 would envision, I'm not sure that I can suggest at this point
13 that it is.

14 I think that, you know, obviously, we don't like to see
15 these lawsuits continue to be filed. That's the whole point
16 of the gatekeeper order, Your Honor.

17 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

18 MR. CLEMENTE: I didn't say anything during the 19 hearing, but obviously the January 9th order, as Your Honor
20 has said many times, was in the context of a trustee being 21 appointed.

23 MR. CLEMENTE: Right? So, and the July 16th order, 24 very similar vein, it's an outshoot of that. In fact, it was 25 contemplated in the January 9th settlement that a CEO could be

1 appointed.

2 So I think, again, it's just -- it's important, the 3 context in which that January 9th order came into play, for 4 this very reason, so we could avoid this type of litigation,
5 Your Honor.

6 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

7 MR. CLEMENTE: And so again, I didn't -- I obviously
8 didn't rise to mention that during the hearing, but Your Honor
9 is already aware of that. I didn't need to remind Your Honor 10 of that.

11 THE COURT: Uh-huh. Okay.

12 MR. CLEMENTE: Anything else for me, Your Honor?

13 THE COURT: No. Thank you.

14 MR. CLEMENTE: Okay, then, Your Honor.

15 THE COURT: Sorry I picked on you. But, all right.
16 Well, again, I hope the message has landed in the way I hope
17 will matter, and that is I'm going to look at your documents
18 but I feel very strongly that, unless there's something in 19 there that, whoa, is somehow eye-opening, I'm going to find 20 contempt of court. It's just a matter of who and what the 21 damages are. There's just not a thing in the world ambiguous
22 about Paragraph 5 of the July 9th, 2020 order. So I'll get to 23 it as soon as we humanly can get to it.

24 Mr. Morris, anything else?

25 MR. MORRIS: Nothing. No, thank you.

1 THE COURT: I guess I'll see you Thursday on the
2 WebEx. Thank you.

3 THE CLERK: All rise.
