(d) Optional Basis Adjustments. To the extent an adjustment to the adjusted tax basis of any Company asset pursuant to Code Sections 734(b) or 743(b) is required, pursuant to Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-1(b)(2)(iv)(m), to be taken in to account in determining Capital Accounts, the amount of such adjustment to the Capital Accounts shall be treated as an item of gain (if the adjustment increases the basis of the asset) or loss (if the adjustment decreases such basis) and such gain or loss shall be specially allocated to the Members in a manner consistent with the manner in which their Capital Accounts are required to be adjusted pursuant to such Section of the Treasury Regulations.

(f) Partner Nonrecourse Deductions. Partner Nonrecourse Deductions shall be allocated pursuant to Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-2(b)(4) and (i)(1) to the Member who bears the economic risk of loss with respect to such deductions.

8.03 Curative Allocations . The Regulatory Allocations are intended to comply with certain requirements of the Treasury Regulations. It is the intent of the Members that, to the extent possible, all Regulatory Allocations shall be offset either with other Regulatory Allocations or with special allocations of other items of Company income, gain, loss, or deduction pursuant to this Section 8.03. Therefore, notwithstanding any other provisions of this Article VIII, the Board of Managers shall make such offsetting special allocations of Company income, gain, loss, or deduction in whatever manner it determines appropriate so that, after such offsetting allocations are made, each Member's Capital Account balance is, to the extent possible, equal to the Capital Account balance such Member would have had if the Regulatory Allocations were not part of the Agreement and all Company items were allocated pursuant to Section 8.01(a) and Section 8.01(b) hereof.

8.04 Tax Allocations: Code Section 704(c) .

(a) In accordance with Code Section 704(c) and the Treasury Regulations thereunder, income, gain, loss, and deduction with respect to any property contributed to the capital of the Company shall, solely for federal income tax purposes, be allocated among the Members so as to take account of any variation between the adjusted basis of such property to the Company for federal income tax purposes and its initial Book Value.

(b) If the Book Value of any Company asset is adjusted pursuant to Section 1.04(e)(ii) hereof, subsequent allocations of income, gain, loss, and deduction with respect to such asset shall take account of any variation between the adjusted basis of such asset for federal income tax purposes and its Book Value in the same manner as under Code Section 704(c) and the Treasury Regulations thereunder.

(c) Any elections or other decisions relating to such allocation shall be made by the Board of Managers. Allocations pursuant to this Section 8.04 are solely for purposes of federal, state, and local taxes and shall not affect or in any way be taken into account in computing any Member's Capital Account, or share of Profits, Losses, and other items or distribution pursuant to any provision of this Agreement.

8.05 Other Allocation Rules .

(a) For purposes of determining the Profits, Losses, or any other item allocable to any period, Profits, Losses, and any such other item shall be determined on a daily, monthly, or other basis, as determined by the Board of Managers using any permissible method under Code Section 706 and the Treasury Regulations thereunder.

(b) For federal income tax purposes, every item of income, gain, loss, and deduction shall be allocated among the Members in accordance with the allocations under Sections 8.01, 8.02, 8.03, and 8.04.

(c) The Members are aware of the income tax consequences of the allocations made by this Article VIII and hereby agree to be bound by the provisions of this Article VIII in reporting their shares of Company income and loss for income tax purposes.

(d) It is intended that the allocations in Sections 8.01, 8.02, 8.03, and 8.04 hereof effect an allocation for federal income tax purposes consistent with Section 704 of the Code and comply with any limitations or restrictions therein.

8.06 Distributions of Distributable Cash . Except as otherwise may be provided in this Agreement, the Board of Managers shall cause the Company to make distributions of Distributable Cash at such intervals and in such amounts as the Board of Managers in its sole discretion shall determine by majority vote. Distributions of Distributable Cash shall be made to all of the Members in accordance with their respective Percentage Interests.

8.07 Working Cash Reserve . The Board of Managers may from time to time establish a working cash reserve for capital expenditures, unforeseen contingencies, projected operating deficits, and other corporate purposes and may increase or decrease the amount in such reserve in its business judgment.

ARTICLE IX

CERTIFICATES

9.01 Certificated and Uncertificated Interests. The membership interests of the Company may be either certificated interests or uncertificated interests. As used herein, the term "certificated interests" means Interests represented by instruments in bearer or registered form, and the term "uncertificated interests" means Interests not represented by such instruments and the transfers of which are registered upon books maintained for that purpose by or on behalf of the Company.

9.02 Certificates for Certificated Interests . The certificates for certificated interests shall be in such form as shall be approved by the Board of Managers in conformity with law. The certificates shall be consecutively numbered, shall be entered as they are issued in the books of the Company or in the records of the Company's designated transfer agent, if any, and shall state the Member's name, the class of Interests, the Percentage Interest that such Interest represents, and such other matters as may be required by law. The certificates shall be signed by the President or any Vice President and also by the Secretary, an Assistant Secretary, or any other officer, and may be sealed with the seal of the Company or a facsimile thereof. If any certificate is countersigned by a transfer agent or registered by a registrar, either of which is other than the Company itself or an employee of the Company, the signatures of the foregoing officers may be a facsimile.

9.03 Lost, Stolen, or Destroyed Certificates . The Company shall issue a new certificate in place of any certificate for Interests previously issued if the registered owner of the certificate satisfies the following requirements:

(a) the registered owner makes proof in affidavit form that a previously issued certificate for Interests has been lost, destroyed, or stolen;

(b) the registered owner requests the issuance of a new certificate before the Company has notice that the certificate has been acquired by a purchaser for value in good faith and without notice of an adverse claim;

(c) the registered owner gives a bond in such form, and with such surety or sureties, with fixed or open penalty, as the Board of Managers may direct, in its discretion, to indemnify the Company (and its transfer agent and registrar, if any) against any claim that may be made on account of the alleged loss, destruction, or theft of the certificate; and

(d) the registered owner satisfies any other reasonable requirements imposed by the Board of Managers.

When a certificate has been lost, destroyed, or stolen and the Member of record fails to notify the Company within a reasonable time after he has notice of it, if the Company registers a transfer of the Interests represented by the certificate before receiving such notification, the Member of record is precluded from making any claim against the Company for the transfer or for a new certificate.

9.04 Transfer of Interests . Interests of the Company shall be transferable only on the books of the Company by the Members thereof in person or by their duly authorized attorneys or legal representatives, but only as authorized in this COMPANY AGREEMENT. With respect to certificated interests, upon surrender to the Company or the transfer agent of the Company of a certificate representing Interests duly endorsed or accompanied by proper evidence of succession, assignment, or authority to transfer, the Company or its agent shall issue a new certificate to the person entitled thereto, cancel the old certificate, and record the transaction upon its books. With respect to uncertificated interests, upon delivery to the Company of proper evidence of succession, assignment, or authority to transfer, the Company or its agent shall record the transaction upon its books.

9.05 Registered Members . The Company shall be entitled to treat the Member of record as the Member in fact of any Interests and, accordingly, shall not be bound to recognize any equitable or other claim to or interest in such Interests on the part of any other Person, whether or not it shall have actual or other notice thereof, except as otherwise provided by law.

9.06 Legends . If the Company is authorized to issue Interests of more than one class, each certificate representing Interests issued by the Company (a) shall conspicuously set forth on the face or back of the certificate a full statement of all of the designations, preferences, limitations, and relative rights of the Interests of each class authorized to be issued; or (b) shall conspicuously state on the face or back of the certificate that (i) such a statement is set forth in the Certificate on file in the office of the Secretary of State or in this Agreement; and (ii) the Company will furnish a copy of such statements to the record holder of the certificate without charge on written request to the Company at its principal place of business or registered office.

If the Company issues any Interests that are not registered under the Securities Act of 1933, the transfer of any such interests shall be restricted in accordance with an appropriate legend.

In the event any restriction on the transfer, or registration of the transfer, of Interests shall be imposed or agreed to by the Company, each certificate representing Interests so restricted (a) shall conspicuously set forth a full or summary statement of the restriction on the face of the certificate; (b) shall set forth such statement on the back of the certificate and conspicuously refer to the same on the face of the certificate; or (c) shall conspicuously state on the face or back of the certificate that such a restriction exists pursuant to a specified document and (i) that the Company will furnish to the record holder of the certificate without charge upon written request to the Company at its principal place of business or registered office a copy of the specified document; or (ii) if such document is one required or permitted by law to be and has been filed, that such specified document is on file in the office of the Secretary of State and contains a full statement of such restriction.

ARTICLE X

ACCOUNTING AND RECORDS

10.01 Records and Accounting . The books and records of the Company shall be kept, and the financial position and the results of its operations recorded, in accordance with the accounting methods elected to be followed by the Company for federal income tax purposes. The books and records of the Company shall reflect all Company transactions and shall be appropriate and adequate for the Company's business.

10.02 Access to Accounting Records . All books and records of the Company shall be maintained at any office of the Company or at the Company's principal place of business, and each Member owning a Percentage Interest of at least ten percent (10%), and his duly authorized representative, shall have access to them at such office of the Company and the right to inspect and copy them at reasonable times.

10.03 Annual and Tax Information . The Company shall deliver to each Member within 90 days after the end of each Fiscal Year all information necessary for the preparation of such Member's federal income tax return. The Company shall prepare, within 120 days after the end of each Fiscal Year, a financial report of the Company for such Fiscal Year, containing a statement of the year then ended, a statement of sources and applications of funds, and a statement of reconciliation of the Capital Accounts of the Members.

10.04 Accounting Decisions . All decisions as to accounting matters, except as otherwise specifically set forth herein, shall be made by the Board of Managers. The Members may rely upon the advice of their accountants as to whether such decisions are in accordance with accounting methods followed for federal income tax purposes.

10.05 Federal Income Tax Elections . The Company may make all elections for federal income tax purposes, including, but not limited to, the following:

(a) to the extent permitted by applicable law and regulations, the election to use an accelerated depreciation method on any depreciable unit of the assets of the Company; and

(b) in case of a transfer of all or part of the Interest of any Member, the election pursuant to Section 734, 743, and 754 of the Code, as amended (or corresponding provisions of future law) to adjust the basis of the assets of the Company.

ARTICLE XI

CHANGES IN MEMBERS

The provisions of this Article XI are subject to, and may be superceded by, one or more separate agreements entered into by and among one or more Members. The provisions of this Article XI shall continue to control with respect to matters not covered by, or Members not parties to, such agreement(s).

11.01 Intentionally Blank .

11.02 Transfer and Assignment of Members' Interest . Except as approved by the Manager, plus a Member or Members owning a Percentage Interest greater than fifty percent (50%), no Member shall be entitled to Transfer any part of its Interest in the Company. The Company and, if applicable, the remaining Members shall be entitled to match the terms of the proposed Transfer, with consideration being only set forth in traditional monetary terms. If the Company and the remaining Members fail to match the proposed Transfer with regard to the purchase of the entire Interest, or portion thereof, the Member proposing to make the Transfer may move forward with the proposed Transfer. Transfers in violation of this Section 11.02 shall be effective only to the extent set forth in Section 11.05(b) hereof.

11.03 Further Restrictions on Transfer . No Member shall Transfer any part of his Interest in the Company: (i) without registration under applicable federal and state securities laws, or unless he delivers an opinion of counsel satisfactory to the Company that registration under such laws is not required; or (ii) if the Interest to be sold or exchanged, when added to the total of all other Interests to be sold or exchanged in the preceding 12 consecutive months prior thereto, would result in the termination of the Company under Code Section 708.

11.04 Substitute Members . A transferee shall have the right to become a substitute Member if (a) the requirements of Section 11.02 and 11.03 hereof are met; (b) such person executes an instrument satisfactory to the remaining Members accepting and adopting the terms and provisions of this Agreement; and (c) such person pays any reasonable expenses in connection with his or her admission as a Member.

11.05 Effect of Transfer .

(a) Any permitted Transfer of all or any portion of a Member's Interest in the Company will take effect on the first day of the month following receipt by the Members of written notice of Transfer. Any transferee of an Interest in the Company shall take subject to the restrictions on Transfer imposed by this Agreement.

(b) Upon any Transfer of a Member's Interest in the Company in violation of this Agreement, and if such Member's Interest is not purchased pursuant to Section 11.01, the transferee shall have no right to participate in the management of the business and affairs of the Company or to become a Member, but such transferee shall be entitled to receive only the allocable share of Profits, Losses, Distributive Cash, and other items to which the transferor of such Interest in the Company would otherwise be entitled.

11.06 No Dissolution or Withdrawal: Advanced Consent . Upon the occurrence of a Dissolution Event with regard to a respective Member, all remaining Members shall be deemed to automatically consent to the continuation of the business of the Company. By executing this Agreement, however, all Members hereby consent that they shall not voluntarily cause a Dissolution Event or demand the return of Member's capital. If any Member shall breach the agreement represented by this Section 11.06, the agreement of such breaching Member shall not be specifically performable, but shall be actionable for damages, and shall be deemed an offer of the Interest of such breaching Member for sale pursuant hereto. The parties agree that a reasonable approximation of the damage that the Company shall experience due to breach hereof is 20% of the value of the breaching Member's Interest, or as otherwise set forth herein (whichever is greater), which shall be deducted from any payments to such Member upon dissolution or purchase of such Member's Interest hereunder. The value of the breaching Member's Interest shall be determined pursuant to Section 11.01, to which value the said discount may then be applied in determining payments due to the breaching Member pursuant to the deemed offer of sale occurring under this Section 11.06.

ARTICLE XII

TERMINATION

12.01 Termination of the Company .

(a) The Company shall be dissolved, its assets shall be disposed of, and its affairs wound up on the first to occur of the following events:

(i) a determination by the Managers, plus the Unanimous Consent of the Members that the Company should be dissolved;

(ii) a sale of all or substantially all of the assets of the Company;

(iii) the expiration of the Company’s term as stated in its Certificate; or

(iv) at such earlier time as provided by applicable law.

(b) In settling accounts of the Company after dissolution, the liabilities of the Company shall be entitled to payment and the assets of the Company remaining thereafter shall be distributed to the Members in the following order, all as required by the DELAWARE LAWS:

(i) those to creditors, in the order of priority as provided by law, except those to Members of the Company on account of their Capital Contributions;

(ii) to the Members, pro rata, in accordance with the positive balances, if any, in their Capital Accounts; and

(iii) to the Members in proportion to their relative Percentage Interests.

INDEMNIFICATION

13.01 Indemnification of Members, Managers, and Other Persons .

(a) To the greatest extent not inconsistent with the laws and public policies of Delaware, the Company shall indemnify any Member, Manager, or officer of the Company made a party to any proceeding because such individual is or was a Member, Manager, or officer of the Company (an "Indemnitee"), as a matter of right, against all liability incurred by such individual in connection with any proceeding; provided that it shall be determined in the specific case in accordance with subsection (d) of this Section 13.01 that indemnification of such individual is permissible in the circumstances because the individual has met the standard of conduct for indemnification set forth in subsection (c) of this Section 13.01. The Company shall advance, pay for, or reimburse the reasonable expenses incurred by an Indemnitee in connection with any such proceeding in advance of final disposition thereof if (i) the Indemnitee furnishes the Company a written affirmation of the Indemnitee's good faith belief that he or she has met the standard of conduct for indemnification described in subsection (c) of this Section 13.01; (ii) the Indemnitee furnishes the Company a written undertaking, executed personally or on such Indemnitee's behalf, to repay the advance if it is ultimately determined that such individual did not meet such standard of conduct; and (iii) a determination is made in accordance with subsection (d) that based upon facts then known to those making the determination, indemnification would not be precluded under this Section 13.01. The undertaking described in subsection (a)(ii) above must be a general obligation of the Indemnitee, subject to such reasonable limitations as the Company may permit, but need not be secured and may be accepted without reference to financial ability to make repayment. The Company shall indemnify an Indemnitee who is wholly successful, on the merits or otherwise, in the defense of any such proceeding, as a matter of right, against reasonable expenses incurred by the individual in connection with the proceeding without the requirement of a determination as set forth in subsection (c) of this Section 13.01. Upon demand by an Indemnitee for indemnification or advancement of expenses, as the case may be, the Company shall expeditiously determine whether the Indemnitee is entitled thereto in accordance with this Section 13.01. The indemnification and advancement of expenses provided for under this Section 13.01 shall be applicable to any proceeding arising from acts or omissions occurring before or after the adoption of this Section 13.01.

(b) The Company shall have the power, but not the obligation, to indemnify any individual who is or was an employee or agent of the Company to the same extent as if such individual was a Member, Manager, or officer of the Company.

(c) Indemnification is permissible under this Section 13.01 only if (i) the Indemnitee conducted himself in good faith; (ii) he or she reasonably believed that his conduct was in, or at least not opposed to, the Company's best interest; (iii) in the case of any criminal proceeding, he or she had no reasonable cause to believe his conduct was unlawful; and (iv) such Indemnitee is not adjudged in any such proceeding to be liable for gross negligence or willful misconduct in the performance of duty. The termination of a proceeding by judgment, order, settlement, conviction, or upon a plea of nolo contendere or its equivalent is not, of itself, determinative that the Indemnitee did not meet the standard of conduct described in this subsection (c).

(d) A determination as to whether indemnification or advancement of expenses is permissible shall be made by any one of the following procedures:

(i) by the Board of Managers or by a majority vote consisting of Members not at the time parties to the proceeding; or

(ii) by special legal counsel selected by the Members in the manner prescribed in subsection (d)(i) above.

(e) An Indemnitee of the Company who is a party to a proceeding may apply for indemnification from the Company to the court, if any, conducting the proceeding or to another court of competent jurisdiction. On receipt of an application, the court, after giving notice the court considers necessary, may order indemnification if it determines:

(i) in a proceeding in which the Indemnitee is wholly successful, on the merits or otherwise, the Indemnitee is entitled to indemnification under this Section 13.01, in which case the court shall order the Company to pay the Indemnitee his or her reasonable expenses incurred to obtain such court ordered indemnification; or

(ii) the Indemnitee is fairly and reasonably entitled to indemnification in view of all the relevant circumstances, whether or not the Indemnitee met the standard of conduct set forth in subsection (c) of this Section 13.01.

(f) Indemnification shall also be provided for an Indemnitee's conduct with respect to an employee benefit plan if the individual reasonably believed his or her conduct to be in the interests of the participants in and beneficiaries of plan.

(g) Nothing contained in this Section 13.01 shall limit or preclude the exercise or be deemed exclusive of any right under the law, by contract or otherwise, relating to indemnification of or advancement of expenses to any individual who is or was a Member, Manager, or officer of the Company or is or was serving at the Company's request as a director, officer, partner, manager, trustee, employee, or agent of another foreign or domestic company, partnership, association, limited liability company, corporation, joint venture, trust, employee benefit plan, or other enterprise, whether for profit or not. Nothing contained in this Section 13.01 shall limit the ability of the Company to otherwise indemnify or advance expenses to any individual. It is the intent of this Section 13.01 to provide indemnification to Indemnitees to the fullest extent now or hereafter permitted by the law consistent with the terms and conditions of this Section 13.01. Indemnification shall be provided in accordance with this Section 13.01 irrespective of the nature of the legal or equitable theory upon which a claim is made, including, without limitation, negligence, breach of duty, mismanagement, waste, breach of contract, breach of warranty, strict liability, violation of federal or state securities law, violation of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended, or violation of any other state or federal law.

(h) For purposes of this Section 13.01:

(i) The term "expenses" includes all direct and indirect costs (including, without limitation, counsel fees, retainers, court costs, transcripts, fees of experts, witness fees, travel expenses, duplicating costs, printing and binding costs, telephone charges, postage, delivery service fees, and all other disbursements or out-of-pocket expenses) actually incurred in connection with the investigation, defense, settlement, or appeal of a proceeding or establishing or enforcing a right to indemnification under this Section 13.01, applicable law, or otherwise.

(ii) The term "liability" means the obligation to pay a judgment, settlement, penalty, fine, excise tax (including an excise tax assessed with respect to an employee benefit plan), or reasonable expenses incurred with respect to a proceeding.

(iii) The term "party" includes an individual who was, is, or is threatened to be made a named defendant or respondent in a proceeding.

(iv) The term "proceeding" means any threatened, pending, or completed action, suit or proceeding, whether civil, criminal, administrative, or investigative and whether formal or informal.

(v) The Company may purchase and maintain insurance for its benefit, the benefit of any individual who is entitled to indemnification under this Section 13.01, or both, against any liability asserted against or incurred by such individual in any capacity or arising out of such individual's service with the Company, whether or not the Company would have the power to indemnify such individual against such liability.

The Company's business shall be conducted under the name "RAND PE FUND MANAGEMENT, LLC" until such time as the Members shall hereafter designate otherwise and file amendments to the Certificate in accordance with applicable law. This Agreement amends and replaces, in its entirety, all prior governing agreements for the Company, including any and all amendments thereto.

This Agreement is subject to, and governed by, the Delaware laws governing limited liability companies (the "DELAWARE LAWS") and the Certificate. In the event of a direct conflict between the provisions of this Agreement and the mandatory provisions of the DELAWARE LAWS or the provisions of the Certificate, such provisions of the DELAWARE LAWS or the Certificate, as the case may be, will be controlling.

1.02 Registered Office and Agent The registered office and registered agent of the Company initially shall be as set forth in the Certificate and may be changed from time to time by the appropriate filing by the Company in the office of the Secretary of State of Delaware.

The singular shall include the plural and the masculine gender shall include the feminine and neuter, and vice versa, as the context requires. When used in this Agreement, the following terms shall have the meanings set forth below:

(a) "DELAWARE LAWS" shall mean the Delaware laws governing limited liability companies, as the same may be amended from time to time.

(b) "Affiliate" shall mean, as to any Person, any Person controlled by, controlling, or under common control with such Person, and, in the case of a Person who is an individual, a member of the family of such individual consisting of a spouse, sibling, in-law, lineal descendant, or ancestor (including by adoption). For purposes of this definition, "control" (including the terms "controlling", "controlled by" and "under common control with") of a Person means the possession, directly or indirectly, alone or in concert with others, of the power to direct or cause the direction of the management and policies of such Person, whether through the ownership of securities, by contract or otherwise, and no Person shall be deemed in control of another solely by virtue of being a director, officer or holder of voting securities of any entity. Except as otherwise may be provided in Exhibit A or Exhibit B, and except as provided in Section 7.05 below, a Person may be admitted as a Member to the Company only upon the affirmative vote of the Managers, plus one or more Members whose Percentage Interests total more than fifty percent (50%); provided, however, that no Person will be recognized as a Member of the Company until he/she shall have executed this Agreement, or a counterpart hereto, and agrees to be bound by all of the terms and conditions hereof.

2.02 Annual Meetings An annual meeting of the Members of the Company shall be held during each calendar year on such date and at such time as shall be designated from time to time by the Board of Managers and stated in the notice of the meeting, and if a legal holiday, then on the next business day following, at the time specified in the notice of the meeting. At such meeting, the Members shall elect Managers and transact such other business as may properly be brought before the meeting.

2.03 Special Meetings A special meeting of the Members may be called at any time by the President, the Board of Managers, or one or more Members whose Percentage Interests total at least 10%. Only such business shall be transacted at a special meeting as may be stated or indicated in the notice of such meeting.

2.04 Place of Meetings The annual meeting of Members may be held at any place within or without the State of Delaware as may be designated by the Board of Managers. Special meetings of Members may be held at any place within or without the State of Delaware as may be designated by the person or persons calling such special meeting as provided in Section 2.03. If no place for a meeting is designated, it shall be held at the registered office of the Company.

2.05 Notice. Written or printed notice stating the place, day, and hour of each meeting of Members and, in case of a special meeting, the purpose or purposes for which the meeting is called, shall be delivered not less than 10 days or more than 50 days before the date of the meeting, either personally or by mail, by or at the direction of the President, the Secretary, or the person calling the meeting, to each Member of record entitled to vote at such meeting.

2.06 Voting List At least 10 days before each meeting of Members, the Secretary shall prepare a complete list of Members entitled to vote at such meeting, arranged in alphabetical order, including the address of each Member and the number of voting Interests held by each Member. For a period of 10 days prior to such meeting, such list shall be kept on file at the registered office of the Company and shall be subject to inspection by any Member during usual business hours. Such list shall be produced at such meeting, and at all times during such meeting shall be subject to inspection by any Member. The membership interest transfer books shall be prima facie evidence as to who are the Members entitled to examine such list or membership interest transfer books.

2.07 Voting of Interests. Interests held by the Company in treasury, Interests owned by a Person the majority of the voting interests of which are owned or controlled by the Company, and Interests held by the Company in a fiduciary capacity shall not be Interests entitled to vote or to be counted in determining the total number of outstanding Interests of the Company. Interests held by an administrator, executor, guardian, or conservator may be voted by him or her, either in person or by proxy, without transfer of such Interests into his or her name so long as such Interests form a part of the estate and are in the possession of the estate being served by him or her. Interests standing in the name of a trustee may be voted by him or her, either in person or by proxy, only after the Interests have been transferred into his or her name as trustee. Interests standing in the name of a receiver may be voted by such receiver, and Interests held by or under the control of a receiver may be voted by such receiver without transfer of such Interests into his or her name if authority to do so is contained in the court order by which such receiver was appointed. Interests standing in the name of another domestic or foreign corporation of any type or kind may be voted by such officer, agent, or proxy as the bylaws of such corporation may provide or, in the absence of such provision, as the board of directors of such corporation may by resolution determine. A Member whose Interests are pledged shall be entitled to vote such Interests until they have been transferred into the name of the pledgee, and thereafter the pledgee shall be entitled to vote such Interests.

2.08 Quorum. The presence in person or by proxy of one or more Members whose Percentage Interests total more than fifty percent (50%) shall constitute a quorum at any meeting of Members, except as otherwise provided by law, the Certificate, or this Agreement. 2.09 Vote; Withdrawal of Quorum. If a quorum is present in person or represented by proxy at any meeting, except as otherwise may be provided in Exhibit A or Exhibit B, the vote of one or more Members whose Percentage Interests total more than fifty percent (50%) of all Members, whether or not they are present in person or represented by proxy, shall decide any question brought before such meeting, unless the question is one on which, by express provision of law, the Certificate, or this Agreement a different vote is required, in which event such express provision shall govern and control the decision of such question. The Members present at a duly convened meeting may continue to transact business until adjournment, notwithstanding any withdrawal of Members that may leave less than a quorum remaining.

2.10 Method of Voting; Proxies. Except as otherwise may be provided in Exhibit A or Exhibit B, each Member shall be entitled to that number of votes on each matter submitted to the Members for their vote equal to such Member's Percentage Interest multiplied by 100. At any meeting of Members, every Member having the right to vote may vote either in person or by a proxy executed in writing by the Member or by his duly authorized attorney-in-fact. Each such proxy shall be filed with the Secretary of the Company before or at the time of the meeting. No proxy shall be valid after 11 months from the date of its execution, unless otherwise provided in the proxy. If no date is stated on a proxy, such proxy shall be presumed to have been executed on the date of the meeting at which it is to be voted. Each proxy shall be revocable unless expressly provided therein to be irrevocable or unless otherwise made irrevocable by law.

2.11 Closing of Transfer Books; Record Date . For the purpose of determining Members entitled to notice of, or to vote at, any meeting of Members or any reconvening thereof, or entitled to receive payment of any distribution, or in order to make a determination of Members for any other proper purpose, the Board of Managers may provide that the membership interest transfer books of the Company shall be closed for a stated period but not to exceed in any event 50 days. If the membership interest transfer books are closed for the purpose of determining Members entitled to notice of, or to vote at, a meeting of Members, such books shall be closed for at least 10 days immediately preceding such meeting. In lieu of closing the membership interest transfer books, the Board of Managers may fix in advance a date as the record date for any such determination of Members, such date in any case to be not more than 50 days and not less than 10 days prior to the date on which the particular action requiring such determination of Members is to be taken. If the membership interest transfer books are not closed and if no record date is fixed for the determination of Members entitled to notice of, or to vote at, a meeting of Members or entitled to receive payment of a distribution, the date on which the notice of the meeting is to be mailed or the date on which the resolution of the Board of Managers declaring such distribution is adopted, as the case may be, shall be the record date for such determination of Members.

2.12 Presiding Officials at Meetings The President shall preside at, and the Secretary shall prepare minutes of, each meeting of Members, and in the absence of either such officer, his other duties shall be performed by some person appointed at the meeting.

3.04 Change in Number; Vacancies. No decrease in the number of Managers constituting the entire Board of Managers shall have the effect of shortening the term of any incumbent Manager. In the case of any increase in the number of Managers, or in the case of the death, retirement, resignation, or removal of a Manager, the vacancies to be filled by such increase or death, retirement, resignation, or removal may be filled by (a) the Board of Managers for a term of office continuing only until the next election of one or more Managers by the Members; or (b) the Members at any annual or special meeting of the Members. A Manager elected to fill a vacancy shall be elected to serve for the unexpired term of his predecessor in office.

3.08 Special Meetings . A special meeting of the Board of Managers shall be held whenever called by any Manager at such time and place, including by telephonic or other electronic method of communication, as such Manager shall designate in the notice of such special meeting. The Manager calling any special meeting shall cause notice of such special meeting to be given to each Manager at least 24 hours before such special meeting. Neither the business to be transacted at, nor the purpose of, any special meeting of the Board of Managers need be specified in the notice or waiver of notice of any special meeting.

3.09 Quorum; Vote . At all meetings of the Board of Managers, a majority of the Managers fixed in the manner provided in this Agreement shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. If a quorum is not present at a meeting, a majority of the Managers present may adjourn the meeting from time to time, without notice other than an announcement at the meeting, until a quorum is present. The vote of a majority of the Managers present at a meeting at which a quorum is in attendance shall be the act of the Board of Managers, unless the vote of a different number is required by law, the Certificate, or this Agreement.

3.10 Procedure; Minutes . At meetings of the Board of Managers, business shall be transacted in such order as the Board of Managers may determine from time to time. Such right to dissent shall not apply to a Manager who voted in favor of such action.

3.12 Compensation . Except as otherwise may be restricted in this Agreement, Managers, in their capacity as Managers, may receive, by resolution of the Board of Managers, a stated salary or a fixed sum and expenses of attendance, if any, for attending meetings of the Board of Managers. No Manager shall be precluded from serving the Company in any other capacity or receiving compensation therefor.

However, a committee member may be removed by the Board of Managers only if, in the judgment of the Board of Managers, the best interests of the Company will be served thereby, but such removal shall be without prejudice to the contract rights, if any, of the person so removed.

4.05 Regular Meetings . Regular meetings of any committee may be held without notice at such times and places, including by telephonic or other electronic methods of communication, as may be designated from time to time by resolution of the committee and communicated to all committee members.

GENERAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO MEETINGS

5.01 Notice Whenever by law, the Certificate, or this Agreement notice is required to be given to any Member, Manager, or committee member and no provision is made as to how such notice shall be given, it shall be construed to mean that notice may be given either (a) in person; (b) in writing, by mail; (c) by telegram, telex, cable, telecopy or facsimile transmission, or similar means; or (d) by any other method permitted by law. Any notice required or permitted to be given hereunder (other than personal notice) shall be addressed to such Member, Manager, or committee member at his address as it appears on the books on the Company or, in the case of a Member, on the membership interest transfer records of the Company or at such other place as such Member, Manager, or committee member is known to be at the time notice is mailed or transmitted. Any notice required or permitted to be given by mail shall be deemed to be delivered and given at the time when such notice is deposited in the United States mail, postage prepaid. Any notice required or permitted to be given by telegram, telex, cable, telecopy or facsimile transmission, or similar means shall be deemed to be delivered and given at the time transmitted.

5.02 Waiver of Notice . Whenever by law, the Certificate, or this Agreement any notice is required to be given to any Member, Manager, or committee member of the Company, a waiver thereof in writing signed by the person or persons entitled to such notice, whether before or after the time notice should have been given, shall be equivalent to the giving of such notice. Attendance of a Manager or Member at a meeting shall constitute a waiver of notice of such meeting, except where a Manager or Member attends a meeting for the express purpose of objecting to the transaction of any business on the ground that the meeting is not lawfully called or convened.

5.03 Telephone and Similar Meetings Members, Managers, or committee members may participate in and hold a meeting by means of a conference telephone or similar communications equipment by means of which all persons participating in the meeting can hear each other. Participation in such a meeting shall constitute presence in person at such meeting, except where a person participates in the meeting for the express purpose of objecting to the transaction of any business on the ground that the meeting is not lawfully called or convened.

5.04 Action Without Meeting . Any action that may be taken, or is required by law, the Certificate, or this Agreement to be taken at a meeting of the Members, the Board of Managers, or a committee thereof may be taken without a meeting if a consent in writing, setting forth the action so taken, shall be signed by the Members owning the required Percentage Interests of all Members (as set forth herein for the respective action or decision), a majority of the Managers or committee members, as the case may be, entitled to vote with respect to the subject matter thereof, and such consent shall have the same force and effect as a vote of such Members, Managers, or committee members, as the case may be, and may be stated as such in any document filed with the Secretary of State of Delaware or in any certificate or other document delivered to any person. The consent may be in one or more counterparts so long as each Member, Manager, or committee member signs one of the counterparts. The signed consent shall be placed in the minute books of the Company.

The Board of Managers shall elect a president, vice president, treasurer, and secretary at its first meeting at which a quorum shall be present after the annual meeting of Members or whenever a vacancy exists. The Board of Managers then, or from time to time, may also elect or appoint one or more other officers or agents as it shall deem advisable. Except as otherwise may be provided by separate agreement, each officer and agent shall hold office for the term for which he is elected or appointed and until his successor has been elected or appointed and qualified. Unless otherwise provided in the resolution of the Board of Managers electing or appointing an officer or agent, his term of office shall extend to and expire at the meeting of the Board of Managers following the next annual meeting of Members or, if earlier, at his death, resignation, or removal. Any two or more offices may be held by the same person. No officer or agent need be a Member, a Manager, a resident of the State of Delaware, or a citizen of the United States.

6.02 Removal . Any officer or agent elected or appointed by the Board of Managers may be removed by a majority of the Board of Managers only if, in the judgment of a majority of the Board of Managers, the best interests of the Company will be served thereby, but such removal shall be without prejudice to the contract rights, if any, of the person so removed. Election or appointment of an officer or agent shall not of itself create contract rights.

6.03 Vacancies . Any vacancy occurring in any office of the Company may be filled by the Board of Managers.

6.04 Authority . Officers shall have such authority and perform such duties in the management of the Company as are provided in this Agreement or as may be determined by resolution of the Board of Managers not inconsistent with this Agreement.

7.01 Capital Contributions . The Capital Contributions of the Members, as set forth in the books and records of the Company, shall be paid or transferred to the Company in cash and/or property on the terms and in the manner specified by the Board of Managers. No Member shall be entitled to make any additional Capital Contributions except as provided in Section 7.02 and 7.03 below.

7.02 Additional Capital Contributions . If the Board of Managers determine that additional capital is required for the purposes of the Company, as set forth herein, the Board of Managers may notify the Members of the need for such additional capital and shall state the specific purposes for which the call for such additional capital is being made. Thereupon, all Members shall have the right (but not the obligation) to make additional Capital Contributions in cash and/or property to the Company aggregating the amount of additional capital needed by the Company in the proportion of their respective Percentage Interests in the Company at the time notice is given. The Board of Managers shall use the additional capital so contributed solely for the purposes stated in the notice to the Members.

7.03 Failure to Make Additional Capital Contributions . If any Member chooses not to contribute its share of the additional capital needed by the Company within 14 days after notice is given to the Members of the need for such additional capital (a "Non-Contributing Member"), then the other Members shall be entitled (but not obligated) to contribute the share of such Non-Contributing Member (such Members being referred to as "Contributing Members") of the additional capital needed pro rata according to such Contributing Members' Percentage Interests at such time or such other share as otherwise agreed upon by the Contributing Members.

7.04 Effect of Failure to Make Additional Capital Contributions . In the event of a Non-Contributing Member, the Percentage Interests of all of the Members shall be recomputed on the following basis: Each Member's Percentage Interest immediately following the computation shall equal the percentage expression of a fraction, the numerator of which is the total Capital Contributions of such Member plus the additional Capital Contribution, if any, made by such Member pursuant to Sections 7.02 and 7.03 above, and the denominator of which is the total Capital Contributions of all of the Members plus the additional Capital Contributions made by all of the Members pursuant to Sections 7.02 and 7.03 above.

7.05 Recapitalization by Admission of Additional Members . If additional capital is required for the purposes of the Company as set forth herein and the Board of Managers is unable to finance such capital needs by borrowing the required amounts or through notice to the existing Members of the necessity for additional Capital Contributions as provided in Section 7.02 and 7.03 above, the Board of Managers shall have the right to admit additional Members to the Company, upon receiving the other approvals required herein. Following the admission of one or more new Members, the Percentage Interest of each Member, including the newly admitted Member(s), shall be computed as follows: Each Member's Percentage Interest immediately following the computation shall equal the percentage expression of a fraction, the numerator of which is the total Capital Contributions of such Member and the denominator of which is the total Capital Contributions of all of the Members, including the newly admitted Members.

7.06 Maintenance of Capital Accounts . The Company shall maintain for each Member a separate Capital Account in accordance with this Section 7.06, which shall control the allocation of Profits and Losses and the division of assets upon liquidation of the Company as provided in Section 12.01. Each Capital Account shall be maintained in accordance with the following provisions:

(a) a Member's Capital Account shall initially be zero and shall be increased by the cash amount or Book Value of any property contributed by such Member to the Company pursuant to this Agreement, such Member's allocable share of Profits and any items in the nature of income or gains that are specially allocated to such Member pursuant to Section 8.02 and Section 8.03 hereof, and the amount of any Company liabilities assumed by such Member or which are secured by any property distributed to such Member;

(b) such Capital Account shall be decreased by the cash amount or Book Value of any property distributed to such Member pursuant to this Agreement, such Member's allocable share of Losses and any items in the nature of deductions or losses that are specially allocated to such Member pursuant to Section 8.02 and Section 8.03 hereof, and the amount of any liabilities of the Member assumed by the Company or which are secured by any property contributed by such Member to the Company; and

(c) if all or a portion of an Interest in the Company is Transferred in accordance with the terms of this Agreement, the transferee shall succeed to the Capital Account of the transferor to the extent it relates to the transferred Interest, provided, however, that if the Transfer causes a termination of the Company under Code Section 708(b)(1)(B), the assets of the Company shall be deemed to have been distributed to the Members (including the transferee of the Interest) in liquidation of the Company and recontributed by such Members and transferees in reconstitution of the Company. Such deemed liquidation and reconstitution shall not cause the Company to be dissolved and/or reconstituted for purposes other than maintenance of the Capital Accounts and federal income tax.

The foregoing provisions and the other provisions of this Agreement relating to the maintenance of Capital Accounts are intended to comply with Section 1.704-1(b) of the Treasury Regulations and shall be interpreted and applied in a manner consistent with such Treasury Regulations. If the Board of Managers determines that it is prudent to modify the manner in which the Capital Accounts, or any increases or decreases to the Capital Accounts, are computed in order to comply with such Treasury Regulations, the Board of Managers may authorize such modifications, provided that it is not likely to have a material effect on the amounts distributable to any Member pursuant to Sections 8.06 and 12.01 hereof.

7.07 Negative Capital Accounts . If any Member has a deficit balance in its Capital Account, such Member shall have no obligation to restore such negative balance or to make any Capital Contribution to the Company by reason thereof, and such negative balance shall not be considered an asset of the Company or of any Member.

7.08 Interest . No interest shall be paid by the Company on Capital Contributions or on balances in Capital Accounts.

7.09 No Withdrawal . No Member shall be entitled to withdraw any part of his Capital Contribution or his Capital Account or to receive any distribution from the Company, except as provided in Sections 11.02 and 12.01 of this Agreement.

7.10 Loans From Members . Loans by a Member to the Company shall not be considered Capital Contributions.

(i) first, to each Member with a negative balance in its Capital Account, pro rata in accordance with such negative Capital Account balances, until such negative Capital Account balances have been eliminated;

(ii) next, to all of the Members in accordance with their respective Percentage Interests.

(b) Allocation of Losses. Except as provided in any Exhibit hereto, after giving effect to the allocations set forth in Section 8.02 and Section 8.03, Losses for any Fiscal Year shall be allocated to the Members in the following manner:

(i) to all of the Members in accordance with their respective Percentage Interests.

8.02 Special Allocations of Profits and Losses .

(a) Minimum Gain Chargeback–Company Nonrecourse Liabilities. If there is a net decrease in Company minimum gain during any Fiscal Year, certain items of income and gain shall be allocated (on a gross basis) to the Members in the amounts and manner described in Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-2(f) and (j)(2)(i) and (ii), subject to the exemptions set forth in Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-2(f)(2), (3), (4) and (5). This Section 8.02(a) is intended to comply with the minimum gain chargeback requirement set forth in Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-2(f) relating to Company nonrecourse liabilities, as defined in Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-2(b)(3) and shall be so interpreted.

(b) Minimum Gain Chargeback–Member Nonrecourse Debt. If there is a net decrease in Member minimum gain during any Fiscal Year, certain items of income and gain shall be allocated (on a gross basis) as quickly as possible to those Members who had a share of the Member minimum gain determined pursuant to Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-2(i)(5) in the amounts and manner described in Treasury Regulations Sections 1.704-2(i)(4), (j)(2)(ii), and (j)(2)(iii). This Section 8.02(b) is intended to comply with the minimum gain chargeback requirement set forth in Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-2(i)(4) relating to Member nonrecourse debt, as defined in Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-2(b)(4) and shall be so interpreted.

(c) Qualified Income Offset. If, after applying Section 8.02(a) and Section 8.02(b), any Member has an adjusted Capital Account deficit, items of Company income and gain shall be specially allocated (on a gross basis) to each such Member in an amount and manner sufficient to eliminate the adjusted Capital Account deficit of such Member as quickly as possible. This Section 8.02(c) is intended to comply with the "qualified income offset" requirement set for the in Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-1(b)(2)(ii)(d) and shall be so interpreted.

(f) Partner Nonrecourse Deductions. Partner Nonrecourse Deductions shall be allocated pursuant to Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-2(b)(4) and (i)(1) to the Member who bears the economic risk of loss with respect to such deductions.

8.03 Curative Allocations . The Regulatory Allocations are intended to comply with certain requirements of the Treasury Regulations. It is the intent of the Members that, to the extent possible, all Regulatory Allocations shall be offset either with other Regulatory Allocations or with special allocations of other items of Company income, gain, loss, or deduction pursuant to this Section 8.03. Therefore, notwithstanding any other provisions of this Article VIII, the Board of Managers shall make such offsetting special allocations of Company income, gain, loss, or deduction in whatever manner it determines appropriate so that, after such offsetting allocations are made, each Member's Capital Account balance is, to the extent possible, equal to the Capital Account balance such Member would have had if the Regulatory Allocations were not part of the Agreement and all Company items were allocated pursuant to Section 8.01(a) and Section 8.01(b) hereof.

8.04 Tax Allocations: Code Section 704(c) .

(a) In accordance with Code Section 704(c) and the Treasury Regulations thereunder, income, gain, loss, and deduction with respect to any property contributed to the capital of the Company shall, solely for federal income tax purposes, be allocated among the Members so as to take account of any variation between the adjusted basis of such property to the Company for federal income tax purposes and its initial Book Value.

(b) If the Book Value of any Company asset is adjusted pursuant to Section 1.04(e)(ii) hereof, subsequent allocations of income, gain, loss, and deduction with respect to such asset shall take account of any variation between the adjusted basis of such asset for federal income tax purposes and its Book Value in the same manner as under Code Section 704(c) and the Treasury Regulations thereunder.

(c) Any elections or other decisions relating to such allocation shall be made by the Board of Managers. Allocations pursuant to this Section 8.04 are solely for purposes of federal, state, and local taxes and shall not affect or in any way be taken into account in computing any Member's Capital Account, or share of Profits, Losses, and other items or distribution pursuant to any provision of this Agreement.

8.05 Other Allocation Rules .

(a) For purposes of determining the Profits, Losses, or any other item allocable to any period, Profits, Losses, and any such other item shall be determined on a daily, monthly, or other basis, as determined by the Board of Managers using any permissible method under Code Section 706 and the Treasury Regulations thereunder.

(b) For federal income tax purposes, every item of income, gain, loss, and deduction shall be allocated among the Members in accordance with the allocations under Sections 8.01, 8.02, 8.03, and 8.04.

(c) The Members are aware of the income tax consequences of the allocations made by this Article VIII and hereby agree to be bound by the provisions of this Article VIII in reporting their shares of Company income and loss for income tax purposes.

(d) It is intended that the allocations in Sections 8.01, 8.02, 8.03, and 8.04 hereof effect an allocation for federal income tax purposes consistent with Section 704 of the Code and comply with any limitations or restrictions therein.

8.06 Distributions of Distributable Cash . Except as otherwise may be provided in this Agreement, the Board of Managers shall cause the Company to make distributions of Distributable Cash at such intervals and in such amounts as the Board of Managers in its sole discretion shall determine by majority vote. Distributions of Distributable Cash shall be made to all of the Members in accordance with their respective Percentage Interests.

8.07 Working Cash Reserve . The Board of Managers may from time to time establish a working cash reserve for capital expenditures, unforeseen contingencies, projected operating deficits, and other corporate purposes and may increase or decrease the amount in such reserve in its business judgment.

CERTIFICATES

9.01 Certificated and Uncertificated Interests. The membership interests of the Company may be either certificated interests or uncertificated interests. As used herein, the term "certificated interests" means Interests represented by instruments in bearer or registered form, and the term "uncertificated interests" means Interests not represented by such instruments and the transfers of which are registered upon books maintained for that purpose by or on behalf of the Company.

9.02 Certificates for Certificated Interests . The certificates for certificated interests shall be in such form as shall be approved by the Board of Managers in conformity with law. The certificates shall be consecutively numbered, shall be entered as they are issued in the books of the Company or in the records of the Company's designated transfer agent, if any, and shall state the Member's name, the class of Interests, the Percentage Interest that such Interest represents, and such other matters as may be required by law. The certificates shall be signed by the President or any Vice President and also by the Secretary, an Assistant Secretary, or any other officer, and may be sealed with the seal of the Company or a facsimile thereof. If any certificate is countersigned by a transfer agent or registered by a registrar, either of which is other than the Company itself or an employee of the Company, the signatures of the foregoing officers may be a facsimile.

9.03 Lost, Stolen, or Destroyed Certificates . The Company shall issue a new certificate in place of any certificate for Interests previously issued if the registered owner of the certificate satisfies the following requirements:

(a) the registered owner makes proof in affidavit form that a previously issued certificate for Interests has been lost, destroyed, or stolen;

(b) the registered owner requests the issuance of a new certificate before the Company has notice that the certificate has been acquired by a purchaser for value in good faith and without notice of an adverse claim;

(c) the registered owner gives a bond in such form, and with such surety or sureties, with fixed or open penalty, as the Board of Managers may direct, in its discretion, to indemnify the Company (and its transfer agent and registrar, if any) against any claim that may be made on account of the alleged loss, destruction, or theft of the certificate; and

(d) the registered owner satisfies any other reasonable requirements imposed by the Board of Managers.

When a certificate has been lost, destroyed, or stolen and the Member of record fails to notify the Company within a reasonable time after he has notice of it, if the Company registers a transfer of the Interests represented by the certificate before receiving such notification, the Member of record is precluded from making any claim against the Company for the transfer or for a new certificate.

9.04 Transfer of Interests . Interests of the Company shall be transferable only on the books of the Company by the Members thereof in person or by their duly authorized attorneys or legal representatives, but only as authorized in this COMPANY AGREEMENT. With respect to certificated interests, upon surrender to the Company or the transfer agent of the Company of a certificate representing Interests duly endorsed or accompanied by proper evidence of succession, assignment, or authority to transfer, the Company or its agent shall issue a new certificate to the person entitled thereto, cancel the old certificate, and record the transaction upon its books. With respect to uncertificated interests, upon delivery to the Company of proper evidence of succession, assignment, or authority to transfer, the Company or its agent shall record the transaction upon its books.

9.05 Registered Members . The Company shall be entitled to treat the Member of record as the Member in fact of any Interests and, accordingly, shall not be bound to recognize any equitable or other claim to or interest in such Interests on the part of any other Person, whether or not it shall have actual or other notice thereof, except as otherwise provided by law.

9.06 Legends . If the Company is authorized to issue Interests of more than one class, each certificate representing Interests issued by the Company (a) shall conspicuously set forth on the face or back of the certificate a full statement of all of the designations, preferences, limitations, and relative rights of the Interests of each class authorized to be issued; or (b) shall conspicuously state on the face or back of the certificate that (i) such a statement is set forth in the Certificate on file in the office of the Secretary of State or in this Agreement; and (ii) the Company will furnish a copy of such statements to the record holder of the certificate without charge on written request to the Company at its principal place of business or registered office.

If the Company issues any Interests that are not registered under the Securities Act of 1933, the transfer of any such interests shall be restricted in accordance with an appropriate legend.

In the event any restriction on the transfer, or registration of the transfer, of Interests shall be imposed or agreed to by the Company, each certificate representing Interests so restricted (a) shall conspicuously set forth a full or summary statement of the restriction on the face of the certificate; (b) shall set forth such statement on the back of the certificate and conspicuously refer to the same on the face of the certificate; or (c) shall conspicuously state on the face or back of the certificate that such a restriction exists pursuant to a specified document and (i) that the Company will furnish to the record holder of the certificate without charge upon written request to the Company at its principal place of business or registered office a copy of the specified document; or (ii) if such document is one required or permitted by law to be and has been filed, that such specified document is on file in the office of the Secretary of State and contains a full statement of such restriction.

ARTICLE X

10.01 Records and Accounting . The books and records of the Company shall be kept, and the financial position and the results of its operations recorded, in accordance with the accounting methods elected to be followed by the Company for federal income tax purposes. 10.04 Accounting Decisions . All decisions as to accounting matters, except as otherwise specifically set forth herein, shall be made by the Board of Managers. The Members may rely upon the advice of their accountants as to whether such decisions are in accordance with accounting methods followed for federal income tax purposes.

10.05 Federal Income Tax Elections . The Company may make all elections for federal income tax purposes, including, but not limited to, the following:

(a) to the extent permitted by applicable law and regulations, the election to use an accelerated depreciation method on any depreciable unit of the assets of the Company; and

(b) in case of a transfer of all or part of the Interest of any Member, the election pursuant to Section 734, 743, and 754 of the Code, as amended (or corresponding provisions of future law) to adjust the basis of the assets of the Company.

CHANGES IN MEMBERS

The provisions of this Article XI are subject to, and may be superceded by, one or more separate agreements entered into by and among one or more Members. The provisions of this Article XI shall continue to control with respect to matters not covered by, or Members not parties to, such agreement(s).

11.01 Intentionally Blank .

11.02 Transfer and Assignment of Members' Interest . Except as approved by the Manager, plus a Member or Members owning a Percentage Interest greater than fifty percent (50%), no Member shall be entitled to Transfer any part of its Interest in the Company. The Company and, if applicable, the remaining Members shall be entitled to match the terms of the proposed Transfer, with consideration being only set forth in traditional monetary terms. If the Company and the remaining Members fail to match the proposed Transfer with regard to the purchase of the entire Interest, or portion thereof, the Member proposing to make the Transfer may move forward with the proposed Transfer. Transfers in violation of this Section 11.02 shall be effective only to the extent set forth in Section 11.05(b) hereof.

11.03 Further Restrictions on Transfer . No Member shall Transfer any part of his Interest in the Company: (i) without registration under applicable federal and state securities laws, or unless he delivers an opinion of counsel satisfactory to the Company that registration under such laws is not required; or (ii) if the Interest to be sold or exchanged, when added to the total of all other Interests to be sold or exchanged in the preceding 12 consecutive months prior thereto, would result in the termination of the Company under Code Section 708.

11.04 Substitute Members . A transferee shall have the right to become a substitute Member if (a) the requirements of Section 11.02 and 11.03 hereof are met; (b) such person executes an instrument satisfactory to the remaining Members accepting and adopting the terms and provisions of this Agreement; and (c) such person pays any reasonable expenses in connection with his or her admission as a Member.

11.05 Effect of Transfer .

(a) Any permitted Transfer of all or any portion of a Member's Interest in the Company will take effect on the first day of the month following receipt by the Members of written notice of Transfer. Any transferee of an Interest in the Company shall take subject to the restrictions on Transfer imposed by this Agreement.

(b) Upon any Transfer of a Member's Interest in the Company in violation of this Agreement, and if such Member's Interest is not purchased pursuant to Section 11.01, the transferee shall have no right to participate in the management of the business and affairs of the Company or to become a Member, but such transferee shall be entitled to receive only the allocable share of Profits, Losses, Distributive Cash, and other items to which the transferor of such Interest in the Company would otherwise be entitled.

11.06 No Dissolution or Withdrawal: Advanced Consent . Upon the occurrence of a Dissolution Event with regard to a respective Member, all remaining Members shall be deemed to automatically consent to the continuation of the business of the Company. By executing this Agreement, however, all Members hereby consent that they shall not voluntarily cause a Dissolution Event or demand the return of Member's capital. If any Member shall breach the agreement represented by this Section 11.06, the agreement of such breaching Member shall not be specifically performable, but shall be actionable for damages, and shall be deemed an offer of the Interest of such breaching Member for sale pursuant hereto. The parties agree that a reasonable approximation of the damage that the Company shall experience due to breach hereof is 20% of the value of the breaching Member's Interest, or as otherwise set forth herein (whichever is greater), which shall be deducted from any payments to such Member upon dissolution or purchase of such Member's Interest hereunder. The value of the breaching Member's Interest shall be determined pursuant to Section 11.01, to which value the said discount may then be applied in determining payments due to the breaching Member pursuant to the deemed offer of sale occurring under this Section 11.06.

ARTICLE XIII

INDEMNIFICATION

13.01 Indemnification of Members, Managers, and Other Persons .

(a) To the greatest extent not inconsistent with the laws and public policies of Delaware, the Company shall indemnify any Member, Manager, or officer of the Company made a party to any proceeding because such individual is or was a Member, Manager, or officer of the Company (an "Indemnitee"), as a matter of right, against all liability incurred by such individual in connection with any proceeding; provided that it shall be determined in the specific case in accordance with subsection (d) of this Section 13.01 that indemnification of such individual is permissible in the circumstances because the individual has met the standard of conduct for indemnification set forth in subsection (c) of this Section 13.01. The Company shall advance, pay for, or reimburse the reasonable expenses incurred by an Indemnitee in connection with any such proceeding in advance of final disposition thereof if (i) the Indemnitee furnishes the Company a written affirmation of the Indemnitee's good faith belief that he or she has met the standard of conduct for indemnification described in subsection (c) of this Section 13.01; (ii) the Indemnitee furnishes the Company a written undertaking, executed personally or on such Indemnitee's behalf, to repay the advance if it is ultimately determined that such individual did not meet such standard of conduct; and (iii) a determination is made in accordance with subsection (d) that based upon facts then known to those making the determination, indemnification would not be precluded under this Section 13.01. The undertaking described in subsection (a)(ii) above must be a general obligation of the Indemnitee, subject to such reasonable limitations as the Company may permit, but need not be secured and may be accepted without reference to financial ability to make repayment. The Company shall indemnify an Indemnitee who is wholly successful, on the merits or otherwise, in the defense of any such proceeding, as a matter of right, against reasonable expenses incurred by the individual in connection with the proceeding without the requirement of a determination as set forth in subsection (c) of this Section 13.01. Upon demand by an Indemnitee for indemnification or advancement of expenses, as the case may be, the Company shall expeditiously determine whether the Indemnitee is entitled thereto in accordance with this Section 13.01. The indemnification and advancement of expenses provided for under this Section 13.01 shall be applicable to any proceeding arising from acts or omissions occurring before or after the adoption of this Section 13.01.

(b) The Company shall have the power, but not the obligation, to indemnify any individual who is or was an employee or agent of the Company to the same extent as if such individual was a Member, Manager, or officer of the Company.

(c) Indemnification is permissible under this Section 13.01 only if (i) the Indemnitee conducted himself in good faith; (ii) he or she reasonably believed that his conduct was in, or at least not opposed to, the Company's best interest; (iii) in the case of any criminal proceeding, he or she had no reasonable cause to believe his conduct was unlawful; and (iv) such Indemnitee is not adjudged in any such proceeding to be liable for gross negligence or willful misconduct in the performance of duty. The termination of a proceeding by judgment, order, settlement, conviction, or upon a plea of nolo contendere or its equivalent is not, of itself, determinative that the Indemnitee did not meet the standard of conduct described in this subsection (c).

(d) A determination as to whether indemnification or advancement of expenses is permissible shall be made by any one of the following procedures:

(i) by the Board of Managers or by a majority vote consisting of Members not at the time parties to the proceeding; or

(ii) by special legal counsel selected by the Members in the manner prescribed in subsection (d)(i) above.

(e) An Indemnitee of the Company who is a party to a proceeding may apply for indemnification from the Company to the court, if any, conducting the proceeding or to another court of competent jurisdiction. Item 11 Disclosure Information

In this Item, we ask for information about your disciplinary history and the disciplinary history of all your advisory affiliates. We use this information to determine whether to grant your application for registration, to decide whether to revoke your registration or to place limitations on your activities as an investment adviser, and to identify potential problem areas to focus on during our on-site examinations. One event may result in "yes" answers to more than one of the questions below. In accordance with General Instruction 5 to Form ADV, "you" and "your" include the filing adviser and all relying advisers under an umbrella registration.

Your advisory affiliates are: (1) all of your current employees (other than employees performing only clerical, administrative, support or similar functions); (2) all of your officers, partners, or directors (or any person performing similar functions); and (3) all persons directly or indirectly controlling you or controlled by you.

If you are a "separately identifiable department or division" (SID) of a bank, see the Glossary of Terms to determine who your advisory affiliates are.

If you are registered or registering with the SEC or if you are an exempt reporting adviser, you may limit your disclosure of any event listed in Item 11 to ten years following the date of the event. If you are registered or registering with a state, you must respond to the questions as posed; you may, therefore, limit your disclosure to ten years following the date of an event only in responding to Items 11.A.(1), 11.A.(2), 11.B.(1), 11.B.(2), 11.D.(4), and 11.H.(1)(a). Item 12 Small Businesses

The SEC is required by the Regulatory Flexibility Act to consider the effect of its regulations on small entities. In order to do this, we need to determine whether you meet the definition of "small business" or "small organization" under rule 0-7.

Answer this Item 12 only if you are registered or registering with the SEC and you indicated in response to Item 5.F.(2)(c) that you have regulatory assets under management of less than $25 million. You are not required to answer this Item 12 if you are filing for initial registration as a state adviser, amending a current state registration, or switching from SEC to state registration.

For purposes of this Item 12 only:

- Total Assets refers to the total assets of a firm, rather than the assets managed on behalf of clients. In determining your or another person's total assets, you may use the total assets shown on a current balance sheet (but use total assets reported on a consolidated balance sheet with subsidiaries included, if that amount is larger).
- Control means the power to direct or cause the direction of the management or policies of a person, whether through ownership of securities, by contract, or otherwise. Any person that directly or indirectly has the right to vote 25 percent or more of the voting securities, or is entitled to 25 percent or more of the profits, of another person is presumed to control the other person.

	Yes	No
A. Did you have total assets of $5 million or more on the last day of your most recent fiscal year?	○	○

If "yes," you do not need to answer Items 12.B. and 12.C.

B. Do you:

(2) control another person (other than a natural person) that had total assets of $5 million or more on the last day of its most recent fiscal year? ○ ○

C. Are you:

(2) controlled by or under common control with another person (other than a natural person) that had total assets of $5 million or more on the last day of its most recent fiscal year? ○ ○

PART IV—NEW ISSUES CERTIFICATION TO BE COMPLETED BY ALL SUBSCRIBERS

The Subscriber must complete this Certification in order for the Partnership to be able to determine the extent to which the Subscriber may participate in "new issue" securities in accordance with Rule 5130 (the "New Issues Rule") of the Securities Offering and Trading Standards and Practices of FINRA. If the Subscriber is a corporation, partnership, limited liability company, trust or any other entity or a nominee for another person, the person completing this Certification with respect to the Subscriber must be a person authorized to represent the beneficial owner(s) of the Subscriber, or a bank, foreign bank, broker-dealer, investment adviser or other conduit acting on behalf of the beneficial owner(s) of the Subscriber.

INSTRUCTIONS: Each Subscriber must complete this Certification by checking the box next to all applicable categories under Section A below to determine whether the Subscriber is a restricted person under the New Issues Rule (a "Restricted Person") or indicating that none of the Restricted Person categories apply to it and the Subscriber is eligible to participate in new issues. A Subscriber that is an entity and that is also a Restricted Person under Section A may still be able to participate fully in new issue investments if it indicates in Section B that it is also an exempted entity (an "Exempted Entity"). Accordingly, each such Subscriber should check the box next to any applicable categories under Section B to determine whether or not the Subscriber is an Exempted Entity.

If the Subscriber is a corporation, partnership, limited liability company, trust or any other entity (including a hedge fund, fund-of-funds, investment partnership or any other collective investment vehicle, or a broker-dealer organized as an investment fund) (any of the foregoing, an "Entity Investor"), such Entity Investor must complete the certification of beneficial ownership in Section C. Based on such information and the size of the investment by such Entity Investor in the Partnership, such Entity Investor may be deemed to be a Restricted Person with respect to the entirety of its investment in the Partnership or any portion thereof (such determination of Restricted Person status by the Partnership shall be final and conclusive).

☒ The Subscriber does not wish to participate in new issues and will be deemed a Restricted Person. If this box is checked, no further responses to Section A, B or C are necessary.

A. Determination of Restricted Person Status. Please check all appropriate boxes.

The Subscriber is:

☐ (i) a broker-dealer;

☐ (ii) an officer, director, general partner, associated person[11] or employee of a broker-dealer (other than a limited business broker-dealer)[12];

☐ (iii) an agent of a broker-dealer (other than a limited business broker-dealer) that is engaged in the investment banking or securities business;

☐ (iv) an immediate family member[13] of a person described in (ii) or (iii) above. Under certain circumstances, a Subscriber who checks this box may be able to participate in new issue investments. The Partnership may request additional information in order to determine the eligibility of a Subscriber under this Restricted Person category;

[11] A person "associated with" a broker-dealer includes any natural person engaged in the investment banking or securities business who is directly or indirectly controlling or controlled by a broker-dealer, or any partner, director, officer or sole proprietor of a broker-dealer.

[12] A "limited business broker-dealer" is any broker-dealer whose authorization to engage in the securities business is limited solely to the purchase and sale of investment company/variable contracts securities and direct participation program securities.

[13] The term "immediate family" includes the Subscriber's: (i) parents, (ii) mother-in-law or father-in-law, (iii) husband or wife, (iv) brother or sister, (v) brother-in-law or sister-in-law, (vi) son-in-law or daughter-in-law, (vii) children, and (viii) any other person who is supported, directly or indirectly, to a material extent by an officer, director, general partner, employee, agent of a broker-dealer or person associated with a broker-dealer.

☐ (v) a finder or any person acting in a fiduciary capacity to a managing underwriter, including, but not limited to, attorneys, accountants and financial consultants. Notwithstanding the foregoing, a Subscriber who is a finder or fiduciary but who is not acting in such capacity with respect to the security being offered, may be able to participate in new issue investments, and, accordingly, the Partnership may request additional information from a Subscriber who checks this box in order to determine the Subscriber's eligibility under this Restricted Person category;

☐ (vi) a person who has authority to buy or sell securities for a bank, savings and loan institution, insurance company, investment company, investment advisor or collective investment account[14] (including a private investment vehicle such as a hedge fund);

☐ (vii) an immediate family member of a person described in (v) or (vi) above who materially supports[15], or receives material support from, the Subscriber;

☐ (viii) a person listed or required to be listed in Schedule A, B or C of a Form BD (other than with respect to a limited business broker-dealer), except persons whose listing on Schedule A, B or C is related to a person identified by an ownership code of less than 10% on Schedule A;

☐ (ix) a person that (A) directly or indirectly owns 10% or more of a public reporting company listed, or required to be listed, in Schedule A of a Form BD, or (B) directly or indirectly owns 25% or more of a public reporting company listed, or required to be listed in Schedule B of a Form BD, in each case (A) or (B), other than a reporting company that is listed on a national securities exchange, or other than with respect to a limited business broker/dealer;

☐ (x) an immediate family member of a person described in (viii) or (ix) above. Under certain circumstances, a Subscriber who checks this box may be able to participate in new issue investments. The Partnership may request additional information in order to determine the eligibility of a Subscriber under this Restricted Person category; or ☐ (xi) any entity (including a corporation, partnership, limited liability company, trust or other entity) in which any person or persons listed in (i)-(x) above has a beneficial interest[16].

☐ None of the above categories apply and the Subscriber is eligible to participate in new issue securities.

[14] A "collective investment account" is any hedge fund, investment corporation, or any other collective investment vehicle that is engaged primarily in the purchase and/or sale of securities. Investment clubs (groups of individuals who pool their money to invest in stock or other securities and who are collectively responsible for making investment decisions) and family investment vehicles (legal entities that are beneficially owned solely by immediate family members (as defined above)) are not considered collective investment accounts.

[15] The term "material support" means directly or indirectly providing more than 25% of a person's income in the prior calendar year. Members of the immediate family living in the same household are deemed to materially support each other.

[16] The term "beneficial interest" means any economic interest such as the right to share in gains or losses. The initial receipt of a management or performance-based fee for operating a collective investment account, or other fee for acting in a fiduciary capacity, is not considered a beneficial interest in the account; however, if such payments are accumulated and subsequently invested into the account (as a deferred fee arrangement or otherwise), they would constitute a beneficial interest in that account.

B. Determination of Exempted Entity Status. A Subscriber that is an entity and that is also a Restricted Person under Section A may still be able to participate fully in new issue investments, whether directly or through an account in which such Subscriber has a beneficial interest, if it indicates below that it is also an Exempted Entity. Please check all appropriate boxes.

The Subscriber is:

☐ (i) a publicly-traded entity (other than a broker-dealer or an affiliate of a broker-dealer, where such broker-dealer is authorized to engage in the public offering of new issues either as a selling group member or underwriter) that is listed on a national securities exchange, or is a foreign issuer whose securities meet the quantitative designation criteria for listing on a national securities exchange;

☐ (ii) an investment company registered under the Investment Company Act;

☐ (iii) an investment company organized under the laws of a foreign jurisdiction and:

(a) the investment company is listed on a foreign exchange or authorized for sale to the public by a foreign regulatory authority; and

(b) no person owning more than 5% of the shares of the investment company is a Restricted Person;

☐ (iv) (A) an employee benefit plan under ERISA that is qualified under Section 401(a) of the Code and that is not sponsored solely by a broker-dealer, (B) a state or municipal government benefits plan that is subject to state and/or municipal regulation or (C) a church plan under Section 414(e) of the Code;

☐ (v) a tax-exempt charitable organization under Section 501(c)(3) of the Code;

☐ (vi) a common trust fund or similar fund as described in Section 3(a)(12)(A)(iii) of the Exchange Act, and the fund

(a) has investments from 1,000 or more accounts, and

(b) does not limit beneficial interests in the fund principally to trust accounts of Restricted Persons;

☐ (vii) an insurance company general, separate or investment account, and

(a) the account is funded by premiums from 1,000 or more policyholders, or, if a general account, the insurance company has 1,000 or more policyholders, and

(b) the insurance company does not limit the policyholders whose premiums are used to fund the account principally to Restricted Persons, or, if a general account, the insurance company does not limit its policyholders principally to Restricted Persons; or

☐ (viii) an entity (including a private investment vehicle, such as a hedge fund or fund of hedge funds) (a) in which the beneficial interests of Restricted Persons do not exceed in the aggregate 10% of such entity, or (b) that limits participation in New Issue profits by Restricted Persons to not more than 10% of the profits from New Issues.

C. Determination of Beneficial Ownership.

If the box for (viii) in Section B above is checked, please specify the current percentage of the net profits from New Issues allocable to beneficial owners of such entity who are Restricted Persons:

PART V—SPINNING PROHIBITION CERTIFICATION TO BE COMPLETED BY ALL SUBSCRIBERS

The Subscriber must complete this Certification in order for the Partnership to be able to determine the extent to which the Subscriber may participate in "new issue" securities in accordance with FINRA Rule 5131(b) (the "Spinning Prohibition Rule"), which prohibits a FINRA member who provides investment banking services from allocating new issues to accounts in which officers and directors of certain current, former or prospective investment banking clients have an interest. To enable the Partnership to purchase new issues, the Partnership must determine whether the Subscriber is an executive officer or director or person materially supported by an executive officer or director of a public company or a "covered non-public company" under the Spinning Prohibition Rule. Please note that the Spinning Prohibition Rule (FINRA Rule 5131(b)) is in addition to, not a replacement of, the New Issues Rule (FINRA Rule 5130) covered in Part IV of this Questionnaire.

If the Subscriber is a corporation, partnership, limited liability company, trust or any other entity or a nominee for another person, the person completing this Certification with respect to the Subscriber must be a person authorized to represent the beneficial owner(s) of the Subscriber, or a bank, foreign bank, broker-dealer, investment adviser or other conduit acting on behalf of the beneficial owner(s) of the Subscriber.

INSTRUCTIONS: Each Subscriber must complete this Certification by checking the box next to all applicable categories under Section A below to determine whether the Subscriber is a restricted investor under the Spinning Prohibition Rule (a "Restricted Investor"), or indicating that none of the Restricted Investor categories apply to it and that the Subscriber is eligible to participate in new issues. A Subscriber that is an entity which is deemed a Restricted Investor under Section A may still be able to participate in new issues if it indicates in Section B below that it is an unrestricted investor under the Spinning Prohibition Rule (an "Unrestricted Investor").

☒ The Subscriber does not wish to participate in new issues and will be deemed a Restricted Investor. If this box is checked, no further responses to Section A or B are necessary.

A. Determination of Restricted Investor Status. Please check all appropriate boxes.

The Subscriber is:

☐ (i) an executive officer or director of a public company[17] or a covered non-public company[18].

AMENDED AND RESTATED LIMITED LIABILITY COMPANY AGREEMENT
BEACON MOUNTAIN LLC

This Amended and Restated Limited Liability Company Agreement (this "Agreement"), dated as of the 24th day of September, 2015, has been entered into by Rand PE Fund I, L.P. – Series 1 (the "Member"). The Member's LLC Interest (as hereinafter defined) is as set forth on Schedule A hereto.

WHEREAS, the initial Limited Liability Company Agreement, also dated as of the 24th day of September, 2015 ("Initial Agreement"), contained a scrivener's error with respect to the name of the single member of the Company (as defined below).

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual covenants contained in this Agreement, and for other good and valuable consideration, the receipt and sufficiency of which are hereby acknowledged, the Initial Agreement is hereby amended and restated in its entirety to read as follows:

1. Name, Business, Address and Registered Agent.

(a) The Member hereby acknowledges that a limited liability company under the name of "Beacon Mountain LLC" (the "Company") was formed under the Delaware Limited Liability Company Act (the "Act") for the purpose of engaging in any business of any kind necessary to, in connection with, related to or incidental to such purposes as the Member shall from time to time deem desirable.

(b) The principal office of the Company shall be at such place as the Member may from time to time designate.

(c) The initial registered office of the Company for purposes of the Act shall be at 1675 South State Street, Suite B, in the City of Dover, County of Kent, Delaware 19901. The initial registered agent of the Company for purposes of the Act shall be Capitol Services, Inc., whose business office is identical to the Company's registered office.

2. Member. The sole responsibility for managing the business and affairs of the Company, except as otherwise provided herein or in the Act, shall be vested in the Member. Except as expressly provided herein, voting power shall be vested solely in the Member, and all matters requiring a vote pursuant to this Agreement or the Act shall be determined by the vote of the Member and the Member may act by written consent.

3. Officers.

(a) Election of Officers; Term. Officers, including assistant and subordinate officers, may from time to time be appointed by the Member. All officers shall hold office until their successors are appointed by the Member. Any two or more offices may be combined in the same person as the Member may determine. No officer may act in more than one capacity where the action of two or more officers is required.

(b) Removal of Officers; Vacancies. Any officer of the Company may be removed summarily with or without cause, at any time, by the Member. Vacancies may be filled by the Member.

(c) Duties. The officers of the Company shall have only such powers and duties as are from time to time conferred by the Member in writing or as are set forth in writing and executed by either of the President or the Secretary. The Member shall determine the compensation of all officers of the Company.

4. Term. The term of the Company shall be perpetual, except that the Company shall be dissolved upon the first to occur of any of the following events:

(a) The election of the Member to dissolve and terminate the Company;

(b) At any time there are no remaining members, except as may be avoided pursuant to §18-801(a)(4) of the Act;

(c) The entry of a decree of judicial dissolution under §18-802 of the Act; or

(d) Automatic cancellation of the Company's certificate of formation pursuant to §18-1108 of the Act.

5. Capital. The Member may contribute such capital, in cash or other property, as it so chooses in its sole discretion. No capital contributions shall be required unless the Member consents thereto in writing, in its sole and absolute discretion.

6. Bank Accounts. The President and the Secretary and any other officer, including any assistant or subordinate officer, as may be authorized to do so in writing by either of the President or the Secretary, are authorized to open commercial banking accounts for and in the name of the Company throughout the United States, at any time and from time to time, and to deposit to the credit of the Company in such banking accounts any monies, checks, drafts, orders or other commercial paper payable to the Company, and from time to time to withdraw all or any part of the funds on deposit in the name of the Company by check drawn in the name of the Company and signed by such officer.

7. Voting of Shares. Unless otherwise provided by written resolution of the Member, either of the President or the Secretary may from time to time appoint an attorney or attorneys or agent or agents of the Company, in the name and on behalf of the Company, to cast the vote which the Company may be entitled to cast as a stockholder or otherwise in any corporation, partnership, limited liability company, joint venture or any other entity, any of whose securities may be held by the Company, at meetings of the holders of the shares or other securities of such entity or to consent in writing to any action by any such entity. Such officer shall instruct the person or persons so appointed as to the manner of casting such votes or giving such consent and may execute or cause to be executed on behalf of the Company such written proxies, consents, waivers or other instruments as may be necessary or proper in the premises. In lieu of such appointment, either of the President or the Secretary may himself attend any meetings of the holders of the shares or other securities of any such entity and there vote or exercise any or all power of the Company as the holder of such shares or other securities of such entity or consent in writing to any action by any such entity.

8. Distributions. Any cash or other property of the Company not required for the operation of the Company shall be distributable to the Member at such times and in such amounts as determined by the Member.

9. Certificates; "Opt-In" to Article 8; Transferability of Interests.

(a) The Company may issue one or more certificates evidencing the limited liability company interests in the Company ("LLC Interest") in the form attached hereto as Exhibit A. Certificates shall be executed on behalf of the Company by one of its executive officers. The Member hereby agrees that the LLC Interest held by such Member shall be treated as a "security" for purposes of and shall be governed by Article 8 of the Delaware Uniform Commercial Code--Investment Securities, as amended from time to time.

(b) The Member may transfer, sell, assign, mortgage, grant a lien on, give or otherwise dispose of, whether voluntarily or by operation of law, at judicial sale or otherwise, all or any part of its LLC Interest in the Company; provided, however, that there shall not at any time be more than one member until this Agreement is amended to provide generally (in addition to Section 12 hereof) for having more than one member. If, in connection with any such transfer, less than 100% of the LLC Interest of the transferor member is transferred, then this Agreement shall be amended to include appropriate provisions, including those relating to partnership accounting and tax issues, necessary to address the fact that the Company has more than one member.

10. Liquidation. Any net proceeds from the sale, exchange or other disposition (including a disposition pursuant to foreclosure or deed in lieu of foreclosure) of the assets of the Company following the dissolution of the Company shall be distributed to the Member.

11. Other Activities. The Member may engage in or possess any interest in another venture or business of any nature or description, independently or with others.

12. Tax Classification. The Member intends that the Company be disregarded for U.S. federal income tax purposes as long as there is only one member, and that if there is ever more than one member or more than one owner of the Company as determined for U.S. federal income tax purposes, that the Company be classified as a partnership for U.S. federal income tax purposes and this Agreement shall be interpreted accordingly.

13. Limited Liability. The Member shall not have any personal obligation for any debts, obligations or liabilities of the Company, whether arising in contract, tort or otherwise, solely by reason of being a Member, except as provided under the Act.

14. Exculpation; Indemnification.

(a) Except as otherwise provided by any written employment, consulting or similar agreement, if applicable, or unless otherwise expressly required by law, no officer or member of the Company (including any former executive officer or member) (each such person referred to herein as a "Covered Person") shall have any liability to the Company or to any member for any loss suffered by the Company or any member which arises out of any act or omission or alleged act or omission of the Covered Person in the Covered Person's capacity as a Covered Person to the extent the Covered Person acted in good faith and to the extent such course of conduct did not constitute willful misconduct or gross negligence of the Covered Person. Each Covered Person shall be indemnified by the Company against any losses, judgments, liabilities, claims, damages, costs, expenses (including reasonable legal fees and other expenses actually incurred in investigating or defending against any such losses, judgments, liabilities or claims and expenses actually incurred enforcing this Agreement) and amounts paid in settlement of any claim (approved in advance and in good faith by the Member) sustained by any of them by reason of any act or omission or alleged act or omission in connection with the activities of the Company (including any subsidiaries thereof) unless there is a final judicial determination by a court of competent jurisdiction to which all rights of appeal have been exhausted or expired that the same were the result of bad faith, willful misconduct or gross negligence of the Covered Person. The Covered Person may rely in good faith upon the advice of legal counsel.

(b) To the extent available on commercially reasonable terms, the Company may purchase, at the Company's expense, insurance (including without limitation, liability insurance policies and errors and omissions policies) to cover any liabilities covered by this Section 14 in such amount and with such deductibles as the Company may determine; provided, however, that the failure to obtain such insurance shall not affect the right to indemnification of any Covered Person. Any such insurance may extend beyond the termination of the Company for a commercially reasonable period. The Company shall be subrogated to the Covered Person's rights under such indemnification or insurance. If any Covered Person recovers any amounts in respect of any such liabilities from insurance coverage or any third party source, then such Covered Person shall, to the extent that such recovery is duplicative, reimburse the Company for any amounts previously paid to it by the Company in respect of such liabilities. The Company shall not incur the cost of that portion of any insurance, other than public liability insurance, which insures any party against any liability the indemnification of which is herein prohibited.

(c) The Company may, as determined in good faith by the Member, pay the legal fees and other expenses reasonably incurred by any Covered Person hereunder in connection with any proceeding in advance of the final disposition of such proceeding, so long as the Company receives a written undertaking, in form and content approved by the Company's counsel, by such Covered Person to repay the full amount advanced if there is a final judicial determination by a court of competent jurisdiction, as to which all rights of appeal have been exhausted or expired, that such Covered Person did not satisfy the standards which entitle it to indemnification pursuant to the terms of this Section 14.

(d) The right of indemnification hereby provided shall not be exclusive of, and shall not affect, any other rights to which any Covered Person may be entitled. Nothing contained in this Section 14 shall limit any lawful rights to indemnification existing independently of this Section 14.

(e) The indemnification rights provided by this Section 14 shall not be construed to increase the liability of the Member.

(f) The indemnification rights provided by this Section 14 shall inure to the benefit of the heirs, executors, administrators, successors and assigns of each Covered Person.

(g) The provisions of this Section 14 shall continue to afford protection to each Covered Person regardless of whether such Covered Person remains in the position or capacity pursuant to which such Covered Person became entitled to indemnification under this Section 14 and regardless of any subsequent amendment to this Agreement; provided, however, that no such amendment shall reduce or restrict the extent to which the indemnification provisions of this Section 14 apply to actions taken or omissions made or alleged actions taken or omissions made prior to the date of such amendment.

(h) If deemed appropriate or necessary by the Member, the Company may establish reserves, escrow accounts or similar accounts to fund its obligations under this Section 14.

(i) The provisions of this Section 14 shall survive the termination or dissolution of the Company.

15. No Third Party Beneficiary. No creditor or other third party having dealings with the Company shall have the right to enforce the right or obligation of the Member to make capital contributions or loans or to pursue any other right or remedy hereunder or at law or in equity, it being understood and agreed that the provisions of this Agreement shall be solely for the benefit of, and may be enforced solely by, the Member, the Covered Persons (to the extent granted herein) and the Company and their respective successors and permitted assigns.

If, in connection with any such transfer, less than 100% of the LLC Interest of the transferor member is transferred, then this Agreement shall be amended to include appropriate provisions, including those relating to partnership accounting and tax issues, necessary to address the fact that the Company has more than one member.

10. Liquidation. Any net proceeds from the sale, exchange or other disposition (including a disposition pursuant to foreclosure or deed in lieu of foreclosure) of the assets of the Company following the dissolution of the Company shall be distributed to the Member.

11. Other Activities. The Member may engage in or possess any interest in another venture or business of any nature or description, independently or with others.

12. Tax Classification. The Member intends that the Company be disregarded for U.S. federal income tax purposes as long as there is only one member, and that if there is ever more than one member or more than one owner of the Company as determined for U.S. federal income tax purposes, that the Company be classified as a partnership for U.S. federal income tax purposes and this Agreement shall be interpreted accordingly.

13. Limited Liability. The Member shall not have any personal obligation for any debts, obligations or liabilities of the Company, whether arising in contract, tort or otherwise, solely by reason of being a Member, except as provided under the Act.

14. Exculpation; Indemnification.

(a) Except as otherwise provided by any written employment, consulting or similar agreement, if applicable, or unless otherwise expressly required by law, no officer or member of the Company (including any former executive officer or member) (each such person referred to herein as a "Covered Person") shall have any liability to the Company or to any member for any loss suffered by the Company or any member which arises out of any act or omission or alleged act or omission of the Covered Person in the Covered Person's capacity as a Covered Person to the extent the Covered Person acted in good faith and to the extent such course of conduct did not constitute willful misconduct or gross negligence of the Covered Person. Each Covered Person shall be indemnified by the Company against any losses, judgments, liabilities, claims, damages, costs, expenses (including reasonable legal fees and other expenses actually incurred in investigating or defending against any such losses, judgments, liabilities or claims and expenses actually incurred enforcing this Agreement) and amounts paid in settlement of any claim (approved in advance and in good faith by the Member) sustained by any of them by reason of any act or omission or alleged act or omission in connection with the activities of the Company (including any subsidiaries thereof) unless there is a final judicial determination by a court of competent jurisdiction to which all rights of appeal have been exhausted or expired that the same were the result of bad faith, willful misconduct or gross negligence of the Covered Person. The Covered Person may rely in good faith upon the advice of legal counsel.

(b) To the extent available on commercially reasonable terms, the Company may purchase, at the Company's expense, insurance (including without limitation, liability insurance policies and errors and omissions policies) to cover any liabilities covered by this Section 14 in such amount and with such deductibles as the Company may determine; provided, however, that the failure to obtain such insurance shall not affect the right to indemnification of any Covered Person. Any such insurance may extend beyond the termination of the Company for a commercially reasonable period. The Company shall be subrogated to the Covered Person's rights under such indemnification or insurance. If any Covered Person recovers any amounts in respect of any such liabilities from insurance coverage or any third party source, then such Covered Person shall, to the extent that such recovery is duplicative, reimburse the Company for any amounts previously paid to it by the Company in respect of such liabilities. The Company shall not incur the cost of that portion of any insurance, other than public liability insurance, which insures any party against any liability the indemnification of which is herein prohibited.

(c) The Company may, as determined in good faith by the Member, pay the legal fees and other expenses reasonably incurred by any Covered Person hereunder in connection with any proceeding in advance of the final disposition of such proceeding, so long as the Company receives a written undertaking, in form and content approved by the Company's counsel, by such Covered Person to repay the full amount advanced if there is a final judicial determination by a court of competent jurisdiction, as to which all rights of appeal have been exhausted or expired, that such Covered Person did not satisfy the standards which entitle it to indemnification pursuant to the terms of this Section 14.

(d) The right of indemnification hereby provided shall not be exclusive of, and shall not affect, any other rights to which any Covered Person may be entitled. Nothing contained in this Section 14 shall limit any lawful rights to indemnification existing independently of this Section 14.

(e) The indemnification rights provided by this Section 14 shall not be construed to increase the liability of the Member.

(f) The indemnification rights provided by this Section 14 shall inure to the benefit of the heirs, executors, administrators, successors and assigns of each Covered Person.

(g) The provisions of this Section 14 shall continue to afford protection to each Covered Person regardless of whether such Covered Person remains in the position or capacity pursuant to which such Covered Person became entitled to indemnification under this Section 14 and regardless of any subsequent amendment to this Agreement; provided, however, that no such amendment shall reduce or restrict the extent to which the indemnification provisions of this Section 14 apply to actions taken or omissions made or alleged actions taken or omissions made prior to the date of such amendment.

(h) If deemed appropriate or necessary by the Member, the Company may establish reserves, escrow accounts or similar accounts to fund its obligations under this Section 14.

(i) The provisions of this Section 14 shall survive the termination or dissolution of the Company.

15. No Third Party Beneficiary. No creditor or other third party having dealings with the Company shall have the right to enforce the right or obligation of the Member to make capital contributions or loans or to pursue any other right or remedy hereunder or at law or in equity, it being understood and agreed that the provisions of this Agreement shall be solely for the benefit of, and may be enforced solely by, the Member, the Covered Persons (to the extent granted herein) and the Company and their respective successors and permitted assigns.

A second person may be appointed by the Board of Directors having the same duties and powers as provided for under this Section 4.8, and in the case of such an appointment, each person serving pursuant to this Section 4.8 shall be referred to as a Co-Chair. When Co-Chairs are serving either Co-Chair may act alone without the concurrence of the other Co-Chair.

Section 4.9 The Chief Financial Officer. The Chief Financial Officer, if any, shall:

All Insiders shall, as a condition of qualifying and continuing to qualify as a Director, officer, and/or employee of the corporation, abide by such conflict of interest policies as the Board of Directors may adopt from time to time.

Section 6.6 Waivers of Notice. Whenever any notice is required to be given under the provisions of the Law or of the Certificate of Incorporation or of these Bylaws, a waiver thereof in writing signed by the person or persons entitled to said notice, whether before or after the time stated therein, shall be deemed equivalent to notice. Attendance of a person at a meeting shall constitute a waiver of notice of such meeting, except when the person attends a meeting for the express purpose of objecting, at the beginning of the meeting, to the transaction of any business because the meeting is not lawfully called or convened. Neither the business to be transacted at, nor the purpose of, any regular or special meeting of the members. Directors or members of a committee of directors need be specified in any written waiver of notice.

Section 6.7 Ownership Interests in Other Entities. Any ownership interests (e.g., shares of stock in any other corporation which may from time to time be held by this Corporation) may be represented and voted at any meeting of owners of such entity by the President, or by any other person or persons thereunto authorized by the Board of Directors, or by any proxy designated by written instrument of appointment executed in the name of this Corporation by its President.

Section 6.8 Indemnification.

(a) Each person who was or is a party or is threatened to be made a party to or is involved in any action, suit or proceeding, whether civil, criminal, administrative or investigative (hereinafter a "proceeding"), by reason of the fact that the person is or was a Director or officer of the Corporation or is or was a Director or officer of the Corporation who is or was serving at the request of the Corporation as a director, officer, employee or agent of another corporation or of a partnership, joint venture, trust or other enterprise, including service with respect to employee benefit plans, shall be indemnified and held harmless by the Corporation to the fullest extent authorized by the laws of Delaware as the same now or may hereafter exist (but, in the case of any change, only to the extent that such change authorizes the Corporation to provide broader indemnification rights than said law permitted the Corporation to provide prior to such change) against all, costs, charges, expenses, liabilities and losses (including attorneys' fees, judgments, fines, ERISA excise taxes or penalties and amounts paid or to be paid in settlement) reasonably incurred or suffered by such person in connection therewith and such indemnification shall continue as to a person who has ceased to be a Director or officer and shall inure to the benefit of the person's heirs, executors and administrators. The right to indemnification conferred in this Section shall be a contract right and shall include the right to be paid by the Corporation the expenses incurred in defending any such proceeding in advance of its final disposition upon receipt by the Corporation of an undertaking. by or on behalf of such director or officer, to repay all amounts so advanced if it shall ultimately be determined that the director or officer is not entitled to be indemnified under this Section or otherwise. The Corporation may, by action of its Board of Directors, provide indemnification to employees and agents of the Corporation with the same scope and effect as the foregoing indemnification of Directors and officers.

(b) If a claim under subsection (a) of this Section is not paid in full by the Corporation within thirty days after a written claim has been received by the Corporation, the claimant may at any time thereafter bring suit against the Corporation to recover the unpaid amount of the claim and, if successful in whole or in part, the claimant shall also be entitled to be paid the expense of prosecuting such claim. It shall be a defense to any action (other than an action brought to enforce a claim for expenses incurred in defending any proceeding in advance of its final disposition where the required undertaking has been tendered to the Corporation) that the claimant has failed to meet a standard of conduct which makes it permissible under Delaware law for the Corporation to indemnify the claimant for the amount claimed, but the burden of proving such defense shall be on the Corporation. Neither the failure of the Corporation (including its Board of Directors, independent legal counsel, or its members) to have made a determination prior to the commencement of such action that indemnification of the claimant is permissible in the circumstances because the claimant has met such standard of conduct, nor an actual determination by the Corporation (including its Board of Directors, independent legal counsel, or its members) that the claimant has not met such standard of conduct, nor the termination of any proceeding by judgment, order, settlement, conviction or upon a plea of nolo contendere or its equivalent, shall be a defense to the action or create a presumption that the claimant has failed to meet the required standard of conduct,

(c) The right to indemnification and the payment of expenses incurred in defending a proceeding in advance of its final disposition conferred in this Section shall not be exclusive of any other right which any person may have or hereafter acquire under any statute, provision of the Certificate of incorporation, these Bylaws, agreement, vote of members or disinterested Directors or otherwise.

(d) The Corporation may maintain insurance, at its expense, to protect itself and any Director, member, officer, employee or agent of the Corporation or another corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust or other enterprise against any expense, liability or loss, whether or not the Corporation would have the power to indemnify such person against such expense, liability or loss under Delaware law.

(e) To the extent that any Director, officer, employee or agent of the Corporation is by reason of such position, or a position with another entity at the request of the Corporation, a witness in any proceeding, such person shall be indemnified against all costs and expenses actually and reasonably incurred by such person or on such person's behalf in connection therewith.

(f) Any amendment, repeal or modification of any provision of this Section by the members or the Directors of the Corporation shall not adversely affect any right or protection of a Director or officer of the Corporation existing at the time of such amendment, repeal or modification.

(g) The provisions of this Section 6.7, and the limitations on liability and indemnification provided in such Section, shall survive the winding up and termination of the Corporation to the extent permitted by applicable law.

Section 6.9 Amendment of Bylaws. Only the members, by the affirmative unanimous vote of the members entitled to vote, may adopt, amend, or repeal these Bylaws, and alterations or amendments of these Bylaws made by the members shall not be altered or amended by the Board of Directors to the extent such alteration or amendment expressly states that it can only be altered or amended by the members.

Section 2.3 Transfer of Membership. Institutional Membership in the Corporation is not transferable or assignable. Each successor Individual Member shall succeed to the rights of the initial Individual Member. Subject to the approval of the Institutional Member, each successor Individual Member may in the same manner transfer his Individual Member interest to an individual, or designate an individual, or series of individuals, to whom such Individual Member interest is to be transferred upon the occurrence of a future contingency, such as the death or failure to act of a current or future Individual Member. In the event of a conflict between such transfer documents, the one bearing the latest date shall control. In the event of the death of an Individual Member, such member's personal representative of his estate, or trustee of a trust to which the Individual Member transferred his interest, may, if necessary, act as the Individual Member hereunder until such time as the Individual Member interest is transferred from the estate or trust.

The Secretary shall provide notice of each such meeting to each member consistent with the requirements of Section 2.8 below.

Section 2.8 Notice of Meetings of Members. When notice is required to be given for a meeting of the members, such notice shall specify the date, time, and location of the meeting and shall be given to each member at least ten (10) days prior to the meeting (at least three (3) days in the case of a special meeting). Section 3.13 Action by Written Consent. Any action required to be, or which may be, voted on, consented to or approved by the Board of Directors may be taken without a meeting if a consent or consents in writing, setting forth the action so taken, are signed by all of the then-serving Directors. Section 6.8 Indemnification.

(a) Each person who was or is a party or is threatened to be made a party to or is involved in any action, suit or proceeding, whether civil, criminal, administrative or investigative (hereinafter a "proceeding"), by reason of the fact that the person is or was a Director or officer of the Corporation or is or was a Director or officer of the Corporation who is or was serving at the request of the Corporation as a director, officer, employee or agent of another corporation or of a partnership, joint venture, trust or other enterprise, including service with respect to employee benefit plans, shall be indemnified and held harmless by the Corporation to the fullest extent authorized by the laws of Delaware as the same now or may hereafter exist (but, in the case of any change, only to the extent that such change authorizes the Corporation to provide broader indemnification rights than said law permitted the Corporation to provide prior to such change) against all, costs, charges, expenses, liabilities and losses (including attorneys' fees, judgments, fines, ERISA excise taxes or penalties and amounts paid or to be paid in settlement) reasonably incurred or suffered by such person in connection therewith and such indemnification shall continue as to a person who has ceased to be a Director or officer and shall inure to the benefit of the person's heirs, executors and administrators. The right to indemnification conferred in this Section shall be a contract right and shall include the right to be paid by the Corporation the expenses incurred in defending any such proceeding in advance of its final disposition upon receipt by the Corporation of an undertaking. by or on behalf of such director or officer, to repay all amounts so advanced if it shall ultimately be determined that the director or officer is not entitled to be indemnified under this Section or otherwise. The Corporation may, by action of its Board of Directors, provide indemnification to employees and agents of the Corporation with the same scope and effect as the foregoing indemnification of Directors and officers.

(b) If a claim under subsection (a) of this Section is not paid in full by the Corporation within thirty days after a written claim has been received by the Corporation, the claimant may at any time thereafter bring suit against the Corporation to recover the unpaid amount of the claim and, if successful in whole or in part, the claimant shall also be entitled to be paid the expense of prosecuting such claim. It shall be a defense to any action (other than an action brought to enforce a claim for expenses incurred in defending any proceeding in advance of its final disposition where the required undertaking has been tendered to the Corporation) that the claimant has failed to meet a standard of conduct which makes it permissible under Delaware law for the Corporation to indemnify the claimant for the amount claimed, but the burden of proving such defense shall be on the Corporation. Neither the failure of the Corporation (including its Board of Directors, independent legal counsel, or its members) to have made a determination prior to the commencement of such action that indemnification of the claimant is permissible in the circumstances because the claimant has met such standard of conduct, nor an actual determination by the Corporation (including its Board of Directors, independent legal counsel, or its members) that the claimant has not met such standard of conduct, nor the termination of any proceeding by judgment, order, settlement, conviction or upon a plea of nolo contendere or its equivalent, shall be a defense to the action or create a presumption that the claimant has failed to meet the required standard of conduct,

(c) The right to indemnification and the payment of expenses incurred in defending a proceeding in advance of its final disposition conferred in this Section shall not be exclusive of any other right which any person may have or hereafter acquire under any statute, provision of the Certificate of incorporation, these Bylaws, agreement, vote of members or disinterested Directors or otherwise.

(d) The Corporation may maintain insurance, at its expense, to protect itself and any Director, member, officer, employee or agent of the Corporation or another corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust or other enterprise against any expense, liability or loss, whether or not the Corporation would have the power to indemnify such person against such expense, liability or loss under Delaware law.

(e) To the extent that any Director, officer, employee or agent of the Corporation is by reason of such position, or a position with another entity at the request of the Corporation, a witness in any proceeding, such person shall be indemnified against all costs and expenses actually and reasonably incurred by such person or on such person's behalf in connection therewith.

(f) Any amendment, repeal or modification of any provision of this Section by the members or the Directors of the Corporation shall not adversely affect any right or protection of a Director or officer of the Corporation existing at the time of such amendment, repeal or modification.

(g) The provisions of this Section 6.7, and the limitations on liability and indemnification provided in such Section, shall survive the winding up and termination of the Corporation to the extent permitted by applicable law.

Section 6.9 Amendment of Bylaws. Only the members, by the affirmative unanimous vote of the members entitled to vote, may adopt, amend, or repeal these Bylaws, and alterations or amendments of these Bylaws made by the members shall not be altered or amended by the Board of Directors to the extent such alteration or amendment expressly states that it can only be altered or amended by the members.

Article I General Provisions

Section 1.1 Consideration

This Policy is issued in consideration of the payment of the Initial Premium.

Section 1.2 Entire Policy

This Policy, any endorsements or riders, and the Annuity Application Form constitute the entire contract between the Proposed Policyholder and the Insurer. The Proposed Policyholder, on behalf of the Proposed Policyholder, the Proposed Annuitant, and the Beneficiaries represents, acknowledges, and agrees that the Insurer has relied, and is entitled to rely, upon the accuracy of the information and statements made in the Annuity Application Form in deciding to issue this Policy.

Section 1.3 Survival of Representations, Warrants, Covenants

The representations, warrants, covenants, and other statements made in the Annuity Application Form are incorporated herein by reference and shall survive the execution of this Policy.

Section 1.4 Amendment or Modification

The Insurer cannot modify the Policy without the Proposed Policyholder's consent, provided that, the Insurer may take any action it deems necessary in order to preserve the U.S. tax treatment of the Policy without the Proposed Policyholder's consent, so long as the Insurer provides 90 days prior notice of any such proposed action to the Proposed Policyholder and discusses with the Proposed Policyholder the legal basis for such change.

Section 1.5 Misstatement of Age

If the Age of any Proposed Annuitant or Proposed Joint Annuitant is misstated on the Annuity Application Form, the Insurer will adjust the Annuity Payments to reflect the correct Age. Any amount that the Insurer has overpaid as a result of any such misstatement shall be deducted from future Annuity Payments made under the Policy. The Insurer will require due proof of the Age or survival of any person on whose continued life any payment or benefit under the Policy is dependent. It is the Proposed Policyholder's obligation to provide proof that is satisfactory to the Insurer.

Section 1.6 Non-Participating Policy

This Policy is non-participating, which means that the Proposed Policyholder will not share in the Insurer's profits or surplus earnings and that the Insurer will not pay dividends on this Policy.

Section 1.7 Ownership of Assets

Assets held in the Separate Account are the sole property of the Insurer. The Proposed Policyholder will have no direct proprietary interest in the assets held in any separate account, including, without limitation, the Separate Account with respect to this Policy.

Section 1.8 Rule of Construction

For purposes of this Policy, the period denoted by the phrase "prior to a Liquidity Date" shall include the Liquidity Date.

Section 1.9 Governing Law

The Policy will be governed by the laws of Bermuda without regard to its conflict of laws principles, including without limitation, the Private Act and the Life Insurance Act, 1978 as may be amended from time to time.

Section 1.10 Effective Date of Coverage

Coverage of the Proposed Annuitants under this Policy will begin on the Policy Effective Date.

Article II Premium Provisions

Section 2.1 Premiums

The minimum Initial Premium payable under the Policy is $2 million. Such minimum may be met by aggregating Policies having initial Premiums of $1 million each and purchased by the same Proposed Policyholder. The Insurer has not placed a limitation on the maximum amount of Premiums that may be contributed by a Proposed Policyholder. Subject to Section 2.2, additional Premium Payments may be made at any time and from time to time as the Proposed Policyholder's financial situation permits, provided that the minimum additional Premium Payment may not be less than the minimum Unscheduled Premium.

The Initial Premium is due on the Issue Date. Premiums must be paid or mailed from outside the U.S. to the Insurer at its Home Office. Upon request, a receipt will be provided at the Insurer's Home Office (or other non-U.S. jurisdiction designated by the Insurer from time to time).

No Initial Premium or additional Premium payments may be made from the U.S. by any Proposed Policyholder (nor will the same be accepted by the Insurer) if said Proposed Policyholder is in the U.S. at the time the decision to make said Premium payment occurs. Further, the Proposed Policyholder may not direct that a Premium payment be made while the Proposed Policyholder is in the U.S. even if the Premium payment is made from outside the U.S.

Premium payments are generally to be made in U.S. Dollars. The Insurer may, in its sole and absolute discretion, accept certain in-kind asset contributions as Premium payments. The Insurer may reject in-kind asset contributions in its sole and absolute discretion.

Section 2.2 Insurer's Right to Refuse Premiums

The Insurer reserves the right to refuse Premiums and to return Premiums with interest if such Premiums would adversely affect the U.S. tax consequences the Policy is intended to provide or the tax consequences under the laws of any other applicable jurisdiction.

The Insurer reserves the right not to accept any Premium payments from a Proposed Policyholder who ceases to be a Qualified Purchaser or an Accredited Investor. The Insurer may require any Proposed Policyholder to provide confirmation of the Proposed Policyholder's status as a Qualified Purchaser or an Accredited Investor before accepting any additional Premium payments. However, subject to any other limitation set forth in this Section 2.2, Premium payments during a Policy Year that do not exceed the sum of expected Fees and Charges under the Policy for the Policy Year will be accepted.

Section 2.3 Nonpayment of Premium

If no Premiums are paid after the Initial Premium, the Policy will continue In Force as long as the Policy Account Value is sufficient to pay any applicable Fees and Charges and, following the payment of such Fees and Charges, the Policy Account Value is $500,000 or more.

Article III Termination Provisions

Section 3.1 Insurer's Cancellation Rights

The Insurer may, in its sole and absolute discretion, cancel the Policy and distribute the Policy Account Value to the Proposed Policyholder if:

1. The Policy Account Value is less than $250,000 at the end of any calendar quarter prior to the Annuity Starting Date but following the Insurer's acceptance of the Initial Premium payment, notwithstanding any potential negative tax consequences to the Proposed Policyholder or any other person or entity; or

2. The continuing existence of the Policy would require the Insurer, the Policy or the Separate Account backing the Policy to register, or make information filings, with the SEC under the Securities Act, the U.S. Investment Company Act, the U.S. Investment Adviser Act, each as amended from time to time, or the securities laws of any jurisdiction in which the Insurer, the Policy or the Separate Account is not currently registered or required to make information filings; or

3. The Proposed Policyholder or the Proposed Annuitant (or any Proposed Joint Annuitant) changes his or her country of residence for tax, securities regulation, or other purposes; or

4. Subject to the provisions of section 12.6 of the Policy, any declaration in the Annuity Application Form is not exact, truthful, and complete in all material respects; or

5. If the Proposed Policyholder fails to comply with the terms of any of the covenants or declarations made in the Annuity Application Form.

Prior to the Policy termination, the Insurer will provide 90 day notice of such termination to the Proposed Policyholder, which notice shall include the reason for such termination. The Insurer will pay to the Proposed Policyholder the amount, if any, of the Policy Account Value determined as of the Next Available Liquidity Date. Surrender charges will not apply.

Section 3.2 Reinstatement

If the Policy terminates as the result of the expiration of a Grace Period, it may not be reinstated unless reinstatement is required by Bermuda law.

Article IV Premium Investment; Policy Account Values

Section 4.1 The Separate Account

The Insurer will establish a Separate Account pursuant to the terms of the Private Act to hold assets that fund obligations arising under each Policy issued by it together with any supplementary contracts hereunder and certain other funds. Income, gains, or losses of each Separate Account are credited to or charged against the assets held in such Separate Account, without regard to other income, gains, or losses of any other Separate Account or business of the Insurer. Under the terms of this Policy and the laws of Bermuda, assets allocated or credited to each Separate Account are the property of the Insurer and the Proposed Policyholder has no direct proprietary interest in such assets.

Section 4.2 Premiums

Net Premiums received by the Insurer with respect to the Policy will be credited to the related Separate Account. To the extent that Premiums are insufficient to pay all Fees and Charges due to the Insurer under the Policy, the Insurer will deduct Fees and Charges from the Separate Account.

Amounts payable to the Proposed Policyholder or any Beneficiary under the Policy will be made by the Insurer from the related Separate Account to the Proposed Policyholder or Beneficiary in accordance with the terms of this Policy. The Insurer will establish Subaccounts within the Separate Account for each Investment Option selected by the Proposed Policyholder. Each Subaccount will correspond to an Investment Option. The Insurer may from time to time change the Investment Options and investment managers available to Proposed Policyholders, provided that the Insurer shall only remove an investment manager available to the Proposed Policyholder for cause (as described in the Insurer's investment management or similar agreement with such investment manager).

Section 4.3 Allocations to Investment Options

On the Annuity Application Form, the Proposed Policyholder will designate the initial allocation of Net Premiums among the available Investment Options and on each Liquidity Date a Proposed Policyholder's Net Premiums will be allocated among the Investment Options according to the allocation percentages selected. Allocation percentages must be zero or a whole number not less than ten nor greater than 100. The sum of the allocation percentages must equal 100. The Insurer will document the initial allocation on the Policy Data Page. The Insurer has reserved the right to require allocation of an amount equal to the expected aggregate quarterly Fees and Charges related to the Policy to the Liquid Asset Subaccount before application of the allocation percentages designated by the Proposed Policyholder. In addition, the Insurer may transfer amounts from other Investment Options and Subaccounts to the Liquid Asset Subaccount equal to the expected quarterly Fees and Charges.

The specific Investment Options can generally be divided into two categories: IDFs and Managed Subaccounts. The Insurer is not obligated to offer both IDFs and Managed Subaccounts as Investment Options at any time. Accordingly, at any given time only one of these types of Investment Options may be available.

The Insurer and its affiliates make no recommendations, and provide no investment advice, as to the selection of, and allocations to, Investment Options. The Insurer has not evaluated any of the investment manager's investment performance and makes no recommendation regarding the selection of any investment manager or any IDF. The Insurer does not act as a custodian of cash or investments held in the Separate Account.

Section 4.4 Compliance with Investor Control Rules

The Proposed Policyholder agrees that, except for the selection of the allocation of Separate Account assets among Investment Options as contemplated in Section 4.3, and changes to such allocations as contemplated in Section 4.5, it will not select, identify or recommend, nor will it contact any investment manager for the purpose of influencing, any particular investment or group of investments to be made directly or indirectly with the assets of any Subaccount, including, without limitation, an investment manager with respect to an IDF in which funds held in a particular Subaccount are invested.

A Proposed Policyholder may not have direct contact or communicate with the investment manager of either an IDF or a Managed Subaccount and may not directly participate in the management of the Separate Account or any IDF or Managed Subaccount.

Section 4.5 Changes in Allocations to Investment Options

The Proposed Policyholder may, at quarterly intervals, reallocate funds among then available Investment Options but may do so no more than twice per calendar year. If a change in allocation percentages requires a transfer of funds between Investment Options, there may be a delay after the Separate Account receives the proceeds from one Investment Option until the next date on which it is possible to reinvest the funds in a different Investment Option. During this delay period (which may be up to one calendar quarter), funds will be invested in the Liquid Asset Subaccount. The Proposed Policyholder acknowledges that this delay may result in the funds having a lower return for this period.

In the event of such a delay, the funds from the liquidated investments will be invested in the Liquid Asset Subaccount until the next Liquidity Date at which time the funds will be re-allocated (together with any related earnings) to the applicable Subaccount originally designated by the Proposed Policyholder for the transfer.

Unless and until the Proposed Policyholder notifies the Insurer in writing of a new Net Premium allocation, the Net Premium allocations as specified in “Initial Allocation of Payment to Investment Options” on the Policy Data Page will continue to apply to any additional Premium payments.

Section 4.6 Responsibility for Selecting Investment Options

The Insurer does not and will not make any recommendation as to the Proposed Policyholder’s selection or retention of investment managers, allocation of assets among Subaccounts, Investment Options, or investments in particular securities or categories of securities, nor will it evaluate the investment performance of any investment manager. Inclusion of an Investment Option shall not be deemed to be a recommendation of that investment or as an indication that such an investment is suitable for the Proposed Policyholder.

Each Proposed Policyholder acknowledges, represents, warrants, and covenants that it is solely responsible for determining for themselves whether a particular Investment Option is suitable in light of their individual situations. The Insurer and its affiliates make no recommendations, and provide no advice, as to the selection of Investment Options and provide no warranty, representation, or indemnity with respect to the performance of any Investment Option. Each Proposed Policyholder should consult his or her personal financial advisor concerning Premium allocations.

Section 4.7 Appointment of Investment Manager and Custodian Bank

The Insurer shall have the right, exercisable in its sole and absolute discretion, to appoint, change, or remove the investment manager and custodian bank with respect to each Investment Option or Separate Account, provided that an investment manager shall only be removed for cause (as described in the Insurer's investment management or similar agreement with such investment manager). A Proposed Policyholder may recommend to the Insurer one or more investment managers or custodian banks who meet the Insurer's general requirements after the initial policy date, but the Insurer may accept or reject such recommendation in its sole and absolute discretion.

Section 4.8 Timing of Allocations

The Insurer will allocate the Proposed Policyholder's Net Premiums among one or more Investment Options in the percentages specified on the Policy Data Page, as amended from time to time at the written request of the Proposed Policyholder, within two business days following the date the Insurer receives the Net Premiums. Net Premiums received and which are to be allocated to an Investment Option will be initially invested in the Liquid Asset Subaccount and subsequently allocated (together with any related earnings) within two business days to the applicable Investment Option (subject to deferral due to liquidity constraints imposed by the applicable investment manager or IDF and subject to such provisions as to valuation and unit calculation as may be specified by the applicable investment manager).

Section 4.9 Investment of Separate Account Assets

The Insurer will require each investment manager with respect to a portfolio of an IDF or Managed Account held in the Separate Account and the investment manager of each investment fund or other investment fund in which the assets of the Separate Account are invested, to comply with the following:

1. Investment of assets held in each Subaccount will be sufficiently diversified to comply with the requirements of U.S. Treasury Regulation section 1.817-5(b). Assets of any investment fund relying upon a "look-through" basis for purposes of meeting such diversification requirements will themselves be sufficiently diversified so as to allow the Subaccount to comply with such requirements.

2. The investment manager and its employees who are responsible for investment decisions will not accept investment recommendations or make any investment decisions regarding the direct or indirect investment of Separate Account assets based, in whole or in part, on information regarding any investment or group of investments received from any Proposed Policyholder or any representative or adviser of a Proposed Policyholder.

3. No Proposed Policyholder (or any representative or adviser of a Proposed Policyholder) will have the right or be permitted to select or identify any particular investment or group of investments to be made directly or indirectly with the assets of any Subaccount.

4. The investment manager will not commit to invest assets of any Subaccount (or of any underlying investment fund or Managed Account in which a Subaccount has invested directly or indirectly) in mutual funds or other collective investment funds or publicly available investment products (including, without limitation, market-linked deposits and flexible deposits) managed, advised and/or distributed by the investment manager or its affiliates and will only do so if (a) in the investment manager's sole judgment at the time the investment is made, such fund or product is appropriate within the investment objectives and policies of the Subaccount fund or Managed Account and (b) no more than 55% of the assets on an initial purchase basis (excluding market value increases) of the Subaccount fund or Managed Account are invested in such funds or products at any time. Subject to the foregoing, for the avoidance of doubt, assets may be invested in an IDF.

5. In accordance with Section 4.4, except for general descriptions of the investment policies of the Investment Options, there will not be any direct or indirect prearrangement, plan or agreement between any Proposed Policyholder (or any Proposed Policyholder's advisers or representatives) and the investment manager (or any of its employees) regarding the investments to be made directly or indirectly by any Subaccount.

Section 4.10 Request for Extension of Investment Rights With Respect to Adequate Diversification

A Proposed Policyholder may make a request for an extension of the Proposed Policyholder's investment rights described in Section 4.4 and partial or complete release of the investment manager's obligations in Section 4.9 to adequately diversify the assets held in the Separate Account by delivering a written request to the Insurer's Home Office expressing a specific desire for the same. The Insurer may grant or deny such requests in its sole and absolute discretion, for any reason or for no reason whatsoever. Any such request must be approved by the Insurer in writing (and, in the case of an IDF, may also require the consent of the IDF). Absent written approval of the request, the request shall be deemed to have been denied.

The Insurer expresses no opinion and makes no representations or warranties regarding the tax consequences under the laws of the U.S. or any other jurisdiction of the Insurer's decision to grant such requests. By making such a request, a Proposed Policyholder waives any claim against the Insurer, its shareholders, directors, officers, employees, agents or affiliates on behalf of the Proposed Policyholder, any Beneficiaries or any other person for any loss from the Insurer's decision to grant or deny the Proposed Policyholder's request and agrees to hold harmless hereunder the Insurer and its shareholders, directors, officers, employees, agents or affiliates for any such loss.

Section 4.11 Changes in Investment Options

The Insurer at any time may add additional Investment Options, remove or restrict existing Investment Options, or add or eliminate an investment manager subject to any required regulatory approval, provided that the Insurer shall only remove an investment manager available to the Proposed Policyholder for cause (as described in the Insurer's investment management or similar agreement with such investment manager). If an Investment Option is removed or restricted or an investment manager is terminated, the Insurer may eliminate the Investment Option as an option for future Premium payments or transfers and may also transfer funds from the Subaccount in which assets invested in the terminated Investment Option were held, to the Liquid Asset Subaccount. An affected Proposed Policyholder may submit instructions to adjust the allocation of Net Premiums among the remaining Investment Options, without charge, for a period of 60 days following receipt of the Insurer's notice of any such termination. The Insurer will implement those instructions on the Next Available Liquidity Date after receipt.

Section 4.12 Policy Account Value

The Policy Account Value is equal to the net fair market value of all assets in the Separate Account backing the Policy, less any accrued but unpaid fees or expenses. The Insurer will determine the Policy Account Value on each Liquidity Date. The Separate Account value will increase or decrease, depending upon the investment experience of the related Subaccounts.

Assets allocated or credited to a Separate Account may be commingled with assets allocated or credited to another Separate Account for purposes of investment. In such circumstances, the Insurer may determine the Policy Account Value of each such Separate Account by the use of accumulation units, which are calculated separately with respect to each commingled investment. The accumulation unit value for each commingled investment will vary to reflect the investment experience of the assets invested therein.

The value of an accumulation unit will be determined on each Liquidity Date. When a commingled investment is made, the Insurer will credit the Separate Account with a number of accumulation units determined by dividing the amount of the investment by the value of the accumulation unit. When assets allocated or credited to a Separate Account are withdrawn from an investment, the accumulation units are reduced.

Article V Transfers Among Investment Options

Section 5.1 General

The Proposed Policyholder may request one transfer among Investment Options per calendar quarter, but no more than twice per calendar year.

Section 5.2 Conditions on Transfer

To effect any transfer, the Proposed Policyholder must submit a transfer request to the Insurer. All transfers are subject to the following conditions:

1. Any applicable Fees and Charges will be deducted from the Subaccount or from the amount which is transferred.

2. Transfers will be effected within 60 days following receipt by the Insurer of a transfer request. Actual settlement of a disposition or redemption from the relevant Subaccount, and reinvestment of the proceeds may be delayed as described below.

3. Any transfer request must clearly specify: (a) the amount which is to be transferred; and (b) the Subaccounts which are to be affected.

4. Payments to effect a transfer are subject to the disbursement rules and restrictions of the Subaccount(s).

5. The minimum amount that may be transferred in a single transfer will be the lesser of $250,000 or the entire interest in a Subaccount.

6. No transfer may be made from the Liquid Asset Subaccount if the amount remaining therein would not equal or exceed the Minimum Liquid Asset Allocation.

7. In the case of an IDF, any additional conditions set forth in the governing documents in the IDF must be satisfied.

Section 5.3 Liability

Neither the Insurer nor any of the Insurer's affiliates will be liable for any losses incurred as a result of transfers made in accordance with a Proposed Policyholder's transfer request including lower returns which may result.

Section 5.4 Limits on Right of Transfer

The Insurer may in its sole and absolute discretion defer the right of transfer for any period when it reasonably determines that additional time is necessary to obtain sufficient cash to make the transfer payments. Additional limitations on transfer may be imposed under the terms of any IDF in which assets held in a Separate Account are invested. For the avoidance of doubt, a transfer described in this Section 5.4 is a situation where a change from one Investment Option to another Investment Option occurs.

Article VI Annuity Provisions

Section 6.1 Annuity Payments

The Insurer will make periodic payments to the Beneficiaries beginning on the Annuity Starting Date and continuing thereafter on each Policy Anniversary to an account located outside the U.S. The amount of each Annuity Payment will equal the product of the applicable Annuity Percentage and the Policy Account Value (determined as of the end of the calendar quarter immediately preceding each Annuity Payment) and will vary depending upon the investment experience of the Investment Options in which the Separate Account assets are invested and the age of the Proposed Annuitant.

Section 6.2 Annuity Percentage

The Annuity Percentages are listed in the Appendix I to this Policy. The applicable Annuity Percentage will, depend upon the benefit option selected by the Policyholder. In the case of a Single Life Annuity, the Annuity Percentage is the percentage corresponding to the age of the Proposed Annuitant. In the case of a Joint Life Annuity, the applicable Annuity Percentage is the percentage corresponding to the age of the younger Proposed Joint Annuitant or the survivor of the Proposed Joint Annuitants. The Annuity Percentage is adjusted for each Annuity Payment.

Section 6.3 No Guaranteed Payments

The Policy Account Value, and thus, the Annuity Payments may increase or decrease depending upon the investment experience of the Investment Options selected by the Proposed Policyholder. The sole source for the payment of the Annuity Payments are the assets held in the Separate Account backing the Policy. The Policy does not provide for guaranteed annuity or death benefits. All payments, including upon the death of the Proposed Policyholder or Proposed Annuitant (or Proposed Joint Annuitants) are strictly limited to the assets held in the Separate Account backing the Policy and no Annuity Payments or any other payments under the Policy are payable from any other source.

Section 6.4 Annuity Starting Date

The Annuity Starting Date must be on the first day of a calendar quarter and may not be later than the first day of the calendar quarter of the Proposed Annuitant's (or elder Proposed Joint Annuitant's or surviving Proposed Joint Annuitant's) eighty-fifth (85th) birthday. If the Proposed Policyholder has not chosen an Annuity Starting Date, then the first day of the calendar quarter of the Proposed Annuitant's (or elder Proposed Joint Annuitant's or surviving Proposed Joint Annuitant's) eighty- fifth (85th) birthday shall be the Annuity Starting Date.

Section 6.5 Change of Annuity Starting Date

The Proposed Policyholder may change the Annuity Starting Date prior to the then current Annuity Starting Date by delivering a written notice to the Insurer. The new Annuity Starting Date may not be before the Next Available Liquidity Date for any Investment Option under the Policy as of the date the Insurer receives the notice from the Proposed Policyholder, and may not be later than the first day of the calendar month following the Proposed Annuitant's 85th birthday. Distributions must commence after the Annuity Starting Date in accordance with requirements under the Code.

Section 6.6 Annuity Income Options

Two (2) basic benefit options are offered under the Policy: (i) a Single Life Annuity, and (ii) a Joint Life Annuity. The benefit option may be changed by the Proposed Policyholder; however, no such change may be made at any time on or after the Annuity Starting Date. A Policyholder may change the selection of any benefit option by giving the Insurer at least thirty (30) calendar days' written notice prior to the Annuity Starting Date from outside the U.S.

In the case of a Single Life Annuity, the applicable Annuity Percentage is the percentage corresponding to the age of the Proposed Annuitant. In the case of a Joint Life Annuity, the applicable Annuity Percentage is the percentage corresponding to the age of the younger Proposed Joint Annuitant or the survivor of the Proposed Joint Annuitants.

Under both basic benefit options, the amount of each annual Annuity Payment made on or after the Annuity Starting Date will vary in accordance with the age of the Proposed Annuitant (or Proposed Joint Annuitant(s)) and the investment performance of the assets held in the Separate Account and shall be computed by the Insurer's actuary each year (and recomputed on the annual anniversary date each year thereafter) by multiplying the applicable Annuity Percentage in the Annuity Percentage Table attached as Appendix I to this Policy by the then current Policy Account Value as of the Annuity Starting Date and predetermined on the annual anniversary date each year thereafter. If the Policy Account Value is zero, then all payments will cease. All Annuity Payments shall be made to an account outside the U.S. The Insurer may consider the adoption of additional benefit options at the request of a Proposed Policyholder.

Section 6.7 Maturity Payment

Upon the death of the Proposed Annuitant (or survivor of the Proposed Joint Annuitants), the Insurer will pay to the Beneficiaries, or their successors as Beneficiaries, as the case may be, the balance of the Policy Account Value.

Article VII Loan Provisions

Section 7.1 Policy Loans

The Proposed Policyholder shall have no guaranteed rights or privileges with respect to loans under a Policy. The Insurer may, in its sole and absolute discretion consider whether to facilitate a Proposed Policyholder's request to pledge a Policy as collateral security for a loan to be made by the Insurer or institutional or other third party lenders. A pledge of a Policy as collateral security for a loan may be effected only with the prior written consent of the Insurer, which may be granted or denied in the Insurer's sole and absolute discretion.

Article VIII Surrender Provisions

Section 8.1 General

At any time after the Issue Date and prior to the Annuity Starting Date, the Proposed Policyholder may request one or more withdrawals under the Policy from the Separate Account in the form of a Partial Surrender. Withdrawals are possible up to 100% of the Policy Account Value. Should the Policy Account Value be equal to or less than $250,000, the Policy will lapse. The rights of a Proposed Policyholder to make a Surrender under the Policy shall be subject to the consent of all Beneficiaries who have been irrevocably designated by the Proposed Policyholder under the Policy. Subject to this Article VIII, the Proposed Policyholder may Surrender the Policy, in whole or in part, by filing a written request with the Insurer at the Insurer's Home Office at any time during the lifetime of the Proposed Annuitant. The Policy Account Value which is the subject of the Surrender will be determined as of the Next Available Liquidity Date occurring after the Insurer receives the request to Surrender.

Although the amount of the Surrender proceeds will be determined as of the Next Available Liquidity Date after receipt of the Surrender request, the Insurer will use reasonable efforts to pay Surrender proceeds as soon as practicable whether on a Liquidity Date or another date (subject to such liquidity constraints and provisions as to valuation and unit calculation as may be specified by the investment manager of the applicable Investment Option).

Section 8.2 Full Surrender

If the Proposed Policyholder requests a Full Surrender of the Policy Account Value of the Policy, the Policy will terminate on the date the Proposed Policyholder submits its Surrender request in accordance with Section 12.3.

Section 8.3 Partial Surrender

The Proposed Policyholder may request a Partial Surrender of the Policy for up to and including 90% of the Policy Account Value of the Policy. No more than one Partial Surrender may be requested by the Proposed Policyholder during each quarter of a Policy Year. As provided in Section 3.1, any Partial Surrender that causes the Policy Account Value to be reduced to an amount that is less than $250,000 may be deemed by the Insurer to be a request for Full Surrender and if so deemed will cause the Policy to be terminated, notwithstanding any potential negative tax consequences to the Proposed Policyholder or any other person or entity. If the Policy Account Value is reduced to an amount that is less than $250,000, then the Insurer shall have the right, exercisable in its sole and absolute discretion, to treat a Partial Surrender request as a Full Surrender request.

Each Partial Surrender will reduce the Policy Account Value and the amount of any Annuity Payment to be paid after the Annuity Starting Date. An amendment to the Policy will be sent to the Proposed Policyholder outside the U.S. for countersignature upon any request for a Partial Surrender under the Policy. Said amendment shall become a part of the Policy.

Article IX Policy Fees and Charges

Section 9.1 Policy Administration Fee

The Insurer will deduct the Policy Administration Fee from the Separate Account as set forth in the Policy Data Page for general administrative expenses.

Section 9.2 DAC Charges

The amount deducted by the Insurer as set forth on the Policy Data Page to pay for the costs imposed by virtue of the treatment of certain deferred acquisition costs for U.S. federal income tax purposes under section 848 of the Code. The amount of the DAC Charge as set forth on the Policy Data Page shall be adjusted to reflect any change in the applicable U.S. federal income tax rate. The Insurer shall provide the Proposed Policyholder notice of any change in the DAC Charge.

Section 9.3 Management & Expense Fee

The Insurer will deduct the Management & Expense Fee from the Separate Account. The Management & Expense Fee is an on-going insurance administration fee described on the Policy Data Page.

Section 9.4 Policy Set-Up Deposit

The Policy Set-Up Deposit is due to the Insurer as set forth on the Policy Data Page upon submission of the completed Annuity Application Form by the Proposed Policyholder. The Policy Set-Up Deposit will be paid into the General Account of the Insurer. Upon issuing the Policy, an amount equal to the Policy Set-Up Deposit will be used to offset the Acceptance Fee. If for any reason, a Policy is not issued, the Insurer will retain the Policy Set-Up Deposit to cover medical, underwriting, administration and any other costs incurred by the Insurer in the processing of the application.

Section 9.5 Acceptance Fee

The Insurer will deduct the Acceptance Fee set forth in the Policy Data Page on each date the Insurer receives a Premium payment.

Section 9.6 Surrender Charge

Surrender charges will not apply to this Policy.

Section 9.7 Taxes

The Insurer will deduct only those Taxes (as defined below) paid by the Insurer or its affiliates to any governmental entity that relate to the Policy or the related Separate Account. These taxes (the "Taxes") exclusively include withholding taxes, excise taxes, sales taxes, stamp taxes, value added taxes, state taxes imposed on the Insurer or its affiliates, and taxes imposed on Subpart F income of a Separate Account attributable to its investment in a controlled foreign corporation, as well as the deferred tax amount and any interest charge or other taxes imposed on the investments of a Separate Account in a passive foreign investment company, or under the corresponding tax laws of other jurisdictions.

The Insurer may, in its sole and absolute discretion, pay Taxes when due and deduct such amounts from the Separate Account at a later date. The Insurer will, in its absolute discretion, determine when Taxes have resulted from the investment experience of any Subaccount or receipt by the Insurer of Premiums.

Section 9.8 Agreed Upon Procedures Fee

The Insurer will deduct the Agreed Upon Procedures Fee from the Separate Account if the Proposed Policyholder instructs the Insurer to engage a third party audit firm to review charges and provide an Agreed Upon Procedures (AUP) report.

Section 9.9 Deductions for Fees and Charges

The Fees and Charges are paid to the Insurer under the Policy initially by making deductions from Premiums and then by making deductions from the Separate Account. To the extent that the Insurer deducts Fees and Charges from the Separate Account, amounts will be deducted first from the Liquid Asset Subaccount and then from the Subaccounts pursuant to the terms of the Policy.

Section 9.10 Custodian Bank and Investment Manager Fees

Each custodian bank and investment manager will separately deduct any applicable fees charged by it from any Separate Account or Investment Option for which it is acting as custodian or investment manager, as the case may be. The fees of the custodian bank and investment manager are calculated on an individual basis and may vary depending upon the investment manager and Investment Option(s) selected by the Proposed Policyholder. The list of investment managers and custodians retained by the Insurer is available from the Insurer upon request.

Article X Death Benefit Provisions

Section 10.1 Death Benefit

If all Beneficiaries and any alternative Beneficiaries predecease the Proposed Policyholder and Proposed Annuitant (or the survivor of the Proposed Joint Annuitants, in the case where a Joint Life Annuity benefit option is selected), then the benefits payable under the Policy to the Beneficiaries or alternative Beneficiaries shall be paid to the Proposed Policyholder until the first to die of the Proposed Policyholder or Proposed Annuitant (or the survivor of the Proposed Joint Annuitants, in the case where a Joint Life Annuity benefit option is selected).

If none of the Beneficiaries or alternative Beneficiaries survives the Proposed Annuitant(s), then the Policy Account Value shall be paid to the Proposed Policyholder upon the Proposed Annuitant's death (or survivor of the Proposed Joint Annuitants' death, in the case where a Joint Life Annuity benefit option is selected).

If the Proposed Policyholder is not living at the time any benefit under the Policy is payable to the Proposed Policyholder, then such benefit shall be paid to the Proposed Policyholder's estate, if then open, or if not then to his heirs per stirpes, in accordance with the laws of succession in the jurisdiction of the Proposed Policyholder's last known domicile on the date of the Proposed Policyholder's death.

If the Proposed Policyholder is not an individual, then the Proposed Annuitant (or the younger of the Proposed Joint Annuitants or the survivor of the Proposed Joint Annuitants) shall be recognized as the "primary Proposed Annuitant" and treated as the Proposed Policyholder of the Policy. Any change in the designation of such Proposed Annuitant (or Proposed Joint Annuitant) following the Issue Date (in the case where the Proposed Policyholder is not an individual) shall be treated as the death of the Proposed Policyholder.

If the Proposed Policyholder dies prior to the "annuity starting date" (defined under Code Section 72(c)(4) as the first day of the first period for which an amount is received as an annuity under the contract; such definition possibly differing from the Annuity Starting Date designated under the Policy), then the Proposed Policyholder's entire interest in the Policy shall be distributed to the Beneficiaries within five (5) years from the date of the Proposed Policyholder's death, unless the Beneficiaries elect to receive such interest in distributions made over their life or lives (or over a period not extending beyond their respective life expectancies), and such distributions begin within one (1) year from the date of the Proposed Policyholder's death. Any such election must be made in writing and received by the Insurer at the Insurer's Home Office within 180 calendar days from the date of the Proposed Policyholder's death.

If the Proposed Policyholder dies on or after the "annuity starting date" (as defined under Code Section 72(c)(4)) and before the entire interest in the Policy has been distributed, the remaining portion of the Policy Account Value shall be distributed to the Beneficiaries at least as rapidly as under the method of distributions being used as of the date of the Proposed Policyholder's death.

Notwithstanding any provision of the Policy, all Death Benefits must be distributed in compliance with the provision of section 72(s) of the Code. Death Benefits payable hereunder will be includible in the gross income of the Beneficiary.

Section 10.2 Due Proof of Death

Due proof of death is one of the following received at the Insurer's Home Office in a form satisfactory to the Insurer in its absolute discretion:

1. A certified copy of a death certificate;
2. A certified copy of a decree of a court of competent jurisdiction as to the finding of death; or
3. Any other proof of death satisfactory to the Insurer.

Article XI Owner, Beneficiary, Assignment

Section 11.1 Proposed Policyholder

The Proposed Policyholder is the person so named on the Policy Data Page or his or her assignee in accordance with a valid assignment as provided in Section 11.2.

Under Bermuda law, the Proposed Policyholder or his personal representative, trustee in bankruptcy or legal assignee will be the owner of the rights to payments under the Policy. While the Proposed Policyholder is alive, all rights in the Policy belong to the Proposed Policyholder and may be exercised without the consent of any Beneficiary, provided that, once an irrevocable designation of Beneficiary is filed, changes or elections under the Policy that impair the rights of an irrevocable Beneficiary will not be allowed without the consent of the irrevocable Beneficiary. All of the Proposed Policyholder's rights in the Policy belong to the estate of the Proposed Policyholder if the Proposed Policyholder dies before the Proposed Annuitant. Joint ownership is permitted.

Section 11.2 Change of Proposed Policyholder

The Proposed Policyholder may change the ownership of the Policy by submitting a request to the Insurer's Home Office and obtaining written approval of the Insurer. Any approved change will take effect on the date specified in the approval.

Section 11.3 Proposed Annuitant

The Proposed Policyholder has the right to designate one Proposed Annuitant or two Proposed Joint Annuitants. The Proposed Annuitants or Proposed Joint Annuitants will be as stated in the Annuity Application Form, unless otherwise endorsed at issue or subsequently changed.

Section 11.4 Change of Proposed Annuitant

Each Proposed Policyholder will have the right to designate and in some cases change the Proposed Annuitant or Proposed Joint Annuitant.

Section 11.5 Beneficiary

The Proposed Policyholder shall initially designate one or more Beneficiaries on the Policy Data Page. All designations of Beneficiaries are revocable unless specified as irrevocable by the Proposed Policyholder. Once an irrevocable designation of Beneficiary is filed, any changes or elections under the Policy that impair the rights of an irrevocable Beneficiary will not be allowed without the consent of the irrevocable Beneficiary under the Policy.

Section 11.6 Change of Beneficiary

Except in the case of an irrevocable Beneficiary, the Proposed Policyholder may change the Beneficiaries by filing a written request from outside the U.S. with the Insurer at its Home Office at any time prior to the Annuity Starting Date. In the case of an irrevocable Beneficiary, the consent of the irrevocable Beneficiary to the change is also required. The change will take effect as of the date the notice is received by the Insurer subject to any payment made or action taken by the Insurer before the Insurer receives the document at its Home Office. A new Beneficiary designation will automatically revoke all prior designations (except an irrevocable Beneficiary designation where the consent of the irrevocable Beneficiary has not been obtained). The Insurer will not be liable for any payment made or action taken before the effective date of the change of Beneficiary.

Section 11.7 Assignment

The Proposed Policyholder may transfer, assign, or pledge the Policy or any of their rights under the Policy, including a Section 1035 exchange of the Policy with another carrier, without the prior written consent of the Insurer, provided that the Policy may not be assigned unless (i) it is registered under the U.S. federal securities and/or state securities laws or the securities laws of any other jurisdiction unless such registration is not required or an exemption from registration is available and (ii) the assignee is a Qualified Purchaser and Accredited Investor. The Insurer may require satisfactory evidence as to the non-applicability of any such registration requirement or the availability of an exemption from any applicable registration requirement and the Insurer may in its discretion for this purpose request, at the transferor's expense, a favourable legal opinion from transferor's counsel that the provisions of this Section 11.7 have been met.

The Insurer represents and warrants that, subject to the foregoing, it will fully cooperate with any assignment, transfer or exchange, including a "1035" exchange of the Policy with another carrier and will cooperate to exchange underlying IDFs or sub-accounts with such carrier. Failure by the Insurer to cooperate with the Proposed Policyholder in a proposed 1035 exchange or other transfer, assignment, or pledge of the Policy or any of the Proposed Policyholder's rights under the Policy, such failure to cooperate as determined by a final judgement in a Bermuda court or other court of relevant jurisdiction, among any other injunctive or other relief resulting therefrom, will result in liquidated damages to the Proposed Policyholder equal to the sum of the (a) then Policy Account Value and (b) any fees or charges, including Management and Expense Fees, accruing during the period that the non-cooperation (as determined by the a Bermuda court or other court of relevant jurisdiction) exists and is continuing, and the Insurer shall be strictly liable for payment of such amount to the Proposed Policyholder. For the avoidance of doubt, the Proposed Policyholder shall be entitled to its Policy Account Value separate from the liquidated damages amount provided for herein. The Proposed Policyholder (x) acknowledges that the Insurer's ordinary and customary process for 1035 exchanges includes obtaining satisfactory assurance from the transferor of compliance with relevant tax and disclosure laws with respect to the Policy and indemnification from the new carrier regarding any tax obligations relating to the Policy and (y) agrees that following the Insurer's 1035 exchange process will not be considered to be a failure to cooperate by the Insurer.

Article XII Other General Provisions

Section 12.1 Periodic Reports

The Insurer will make available to the Proposed Policyholder, for every calendar quarter or portion thereof during which the Policy is In Force, a report that shows activity in the Proposed Policyholder's Separate Account. The Proposed Policyholder expressly authorizes the Insurer to rely upon the information or valuations provided by the selected investment manager and custodian without further inquiry or verification of any kind, nature, or description. Each quarterly statement will set forth the Policy Account Value less applicable expenses and charges at the beginning and end of the reporting period and aggregate adjustments to the same throughout. These quarterly statements shall be made available to the Proposed Policyholder at the Insurer's Home Office. The Insurer will forward annual Separate Account statements to an address of the Proposed Policyholder outside of the U.S. if a request to do so is made by the Proposed Policyholder in writing and delivered to the Insurer's Home Office.

Section 12.2 Currency and Place of Payment

All transactions between the Proposed Policyholder and the Insurer will be made in U.S. dollars unless otherwise confirmed by the Insurer in writing. All Payments will be made outside the U.S.

Section 12.3 Notices, Requests and Elections

To be effective, all notices, requests, and elections the Proposed Policyholder makes under the Policy must be in writing, signed by the Proposed Policyholder or sent electronically or via facsimile by the Proposed Policyholder and received by the Insurer. Unless otherwise provided, all notices, requests and elections will be effective when received by the Insurer. Notices, requests and elections may be made by the Proposed Policyholder under the Policy in writing, signed by the Policyholder, sent by facsimile or electronic communication and received by the Insurer at its Home Office or administrative office, provided that the Insurer will not be liable for following instructions communicated by facsimile or electronically and, provided further that acceptance of facsimile or electronic communication by the Insurer will not impose any requirement on the Insurer to employ any procedures to confirm that instructions received by facsimile communication are genuine. Any notice or report required to be given by the Insurer to the Proposed Policyholder or any other person will be deemed given when sent to such person or such person's authorized representative.

Section 12.4 Policy Settlement

Prior to any payment of a Death Benefit, due certified proof of death must be submitted to the Insurer.

Section 12.5 Deferment

The Insurer will execute allowable requests for a transfer, Full Surrender or Partial Surrender by the Proposed Policyholder within 60 days of a request. Such requests may require conversion of certain Investment Option assets to cash or in-kind distributions, where possible. This may take longer than 60 days for a variety of reasons, including underlying restrictions on redemptions of assets held pursuant to an Investment Option. In such cases, the Insurer will take reasonable steps to comply with such requests at the earliest time possible. The foregoing will be subject to time restrictions within the Insurance Dedicated Fund purchased by a Subaccount.

Section 12.6 Incontestability

Except as expressly provided in the Policy, the Insurer will not contest the validity of the Policy for misstatement, misrepresentation or non-disclosure after the Policy has been In Force for two years from the Issue Date during the lifetime of the Proposed Annuitant. The Policy will be voidable in the event of fraud at any time. If the validity of the Policy is so contested, then (1) the Insurer's obligation to pay Annuity Payments under the Policy will terminate as of the date the Insurer discovers such misstatement, misrepresentation or non-disclosure, and (2) the Policy Account Value will be determined as of the Next Available Liquidity Date occurring after the Insurer discovers such misstatement, misrepresentation or non-disclosure and returned to the Proposed Policyholder or the Beneficiaries within 90 days. The Insurer will notify the Proposed Policyholder that the Policy is so terminated and such notice will include the date of termination. The return of the Policy Account Value will be in full and final satisfaction of all the Insurer's obligations under the Policy. Following the return of the Policy Account Value, the Policy will be void.

Section 12.7 Policyholder Information

The Insurer may disclose Policyholder information to third parties such as banks or independent asset managers. Specifically with respect to banking relationships in Switzerland and in accordance with FINMA Newsletter 18 (2010) “handling of Life insurance with separately managed accounts/portfolios” dated December 20, 2010, the Insurer may disclose Policyholder or source of funding information to banking partners including Policyholder name, date of birth, nationality and address. In any event, the Insurer may be required to confirm in accordance with FINMA Newsletter 18 (2010) that the insurance product related to account openings is set up as a life insurance product according to the legal provisions, including provisions concerning biometric risks, of the Insurer’s domicile.

Each U.S. person who has a financial interest in or signature or other authority over any foreign financial accounts, including bank, securities, or other types of financial accounts, in a foreign country, if the aggregate value of these financial accounts exceeds $10,000 at any time during the calendar year, must report that relationship each calendar year by filing Form TD F 90-22.1 (Report of Foreign Bank and Financial Accounts), commonly referred to as an “FBAR”, with the Department of the Treasury on or before June 30 of the succeeding year. In addition, and irrespective of the independent FBAR filing obligations that a Proposed Policyholder (or its owner) who is a U.S. person may have, U.S. person directors, officers, or employees of the Insurer who have signature authority over the Separate Account, Subaccounts, or other accounts with respect to the Policy would need to file an FBAR with respect to such accounts and so will the Insurer itself as a U.S. Person with a financial interest in such accounts. On the basis of such filings, the IRS could request information with respect to such filings and the Proposed Policyholder acknowledges that the Insurer may provide such FBAR-related information to the IRS if requested to do so.

Section 12.8 Tax Matters

The Proposed Policyholder acknowledges that he or she is responsible for complying with all tax reporting, filing and payment obligations with respect to this Policy in any jurisdiction in which the Proposed Policyholder is subject to tax. The Proposed Policyholder must consult its own tax advisor with respect to such obligations. The Insurer has not provided, and shall have no responsibility for providing, advice to the Proposed Policyholder with respect to such issues.

CROWN GLOBAL INSURANCE

Section 12.9 Limitation on Liability of Insurer

THE LIABILITY OF THE INSURER FOR BENEFITS UNDER THE POLICY OR FOR ANY LOSS OR OTHER DAMAGES WITH RESPECT TO THE POLICY IS LIMITED TO THE POLICY ACCOUNT VALUE.

Section 1.1 Consideration

Section 1.2 Entire Policy

This Policy, any endorsements or riders, and the Annuity Application Form constitute the entire contract between the Proposed Policyholder and the Insurer. The Proposed Policyholder, on behalf of the Proposed Policyholder, the Proposed Annuitant, and the Beneficiaries represents, acknowledges, and agrees that the Insurer has relied, and is entitled to rely, upon the accuracy of the information and statements made in the Annuity Application Form in deciding to issue this Policy.

Section 1.3 Survival of Representations, Warrants, Covenants

The representations, warrants, covenants, and other statements made in the Annuity Application Form are incorporated herein by reference and shall survive the execution of this Policy.

Section 1.4 Amendment or Modification

The Insurer cannot modify the Policy without the Proposed Policyholder's consent, provided that, the Insurer may take any action it deems necessary in order to preserve the U.S. tax treatment of the Policy without the Proposed Policyholder's consent, so long as the Insurer provides 90 days prior notice of any such proposed action to the Proposed Policyholder and discusses with the Proposed Policyholder the legal basis for such change.

Section 1.5 Misstatement of Age

If the Age of any Proposed Annuitant or Proposed Joint Annuitant is misstated on the Annuity Application Form, the Insurer will adjust the Annuity Payments to reflect the correct Age. Any amount that the Insurer has overpaid as a result of any such misstatement shall be deducted from future Annuity Payments made under the Policy. The Insurer will require due proof of the Age or survival of any person on whose continued life any payment or benefit under the Policy is dependent. It is the Proposed Policyholder's obligation to provide proof that is satisfactory to the Insurer.

Section 1.6 Non-Participating Policy

This Policy is non-participating, which means that the Proposed Policyholder will not share in the Insurer's profits or surplus earnings and that the Insurer will not pay dividends on this Policy.

Section 1.10 Effective Date of Coverage

Coverage of the Proposed Annuitants under this Policy will begin on the Policy Effective Date.

Article II Premium Provisions

Section 2.1 Premiums

The minimum Initial Premium payable under the Policy is $2 million. Such minimum may be met by aggregating Policies having initial Premiums of $1 million each and purchased by the same Proposed Policyholder. The Insurer has not placed a limitation on the maximum amount of Premiums that may be contributed by a Proposed Policyholder. Subject to Section 2.2, additional Premium Payments may be made at any time and from time to time as the Proposed Policyholder's financial situation permits, provided that the minimum additional Premium Payment may not be less than the minimum Unscheduled Premium.

The Initial Premium is due on the Issue Date. Premiums must be paid or mailed from outside the U.S. to the Insurer at its Home Office. Upon request, a receipt will be provided at the Insurer's Home Office (or other non-U.S. jurisdiction designated by the Insurer from time to time).

No Initial Premium or additional Premium payments may be made from the U.S. by any Proposed Policyholder (nor will the same be accepted by the Insurer) if said Proposed Policyholder is in the U.S. at the time the decision to make said Premium payment occurs. Further, the Proposed Policyholder may not direct that a Premium payment be made while the Proposed Policyholder is in the U.S. even if the Premium payment is made from outside the U.S.

Premium payments are generally to be made in U.S. Dollars. The Insurer may, in its sole and absolute discretion, accept certain in-kind asset contributions as Premium payments. The Insurer may reject in-kind asset contributions in its sole and absolute discretion.

Section 2.2 Insurer's Right to Refuse Premiums

The Insurer reserves the right to refuse Premiums and to return Premiums with interest if such Premiums would adversely affect the U.S. tax consequences the Policy is intended to provide or the tax consequences under the laws of any other applicable jurisdiction.

The Insurer reserves the right not to accept any Premium payments from a Proposed Policyholder who ceases to be a Qualified Purchaser or an Accredited Investor. The Insurer may require any Proposed Policyholder to provide confirmation of the Proposed Policyholder's status as a Qualified Purchaser or an Accredited Investor before accepting any additional Premium payments. However, subject to any other limitation set forth in this Section 2.2, Premium payments during a Policy Year that do not exceed the sum of expected Fees and Charges under the Policy for the Policy Year will be accepted.

Section 2.3 Nonpayment of Premium

If no Premiums are paid after the Initial Premium, the Policy will continue In Force as long as the Policy Account Value is sufficient to pay any applicable Fees and Charges and, following the payment of such Fees and Charges, the Policy Account Value is $500,000 or more.

CROWN GLOBAL INSURANCE

Article III Termination Provisions

Section 3.1 Insurer's Cancellation Rights

The Insurer may, in its sole and absolute discretion, cancel the Policy and distribute the Policy Account Value to the Proposed Policyholder if:

1. The Policy Account Value is less than $250,000 at the end of any calendar quarter prior to the Annuity Starting Date but following the Insurer's acceptance of the Initial Premium payment, notwithstanding any potential negative tax consequences to the Proposed Policyholder or any other person or entity; or

2. The continuing existence of the Policy would require the Insurer, the Policy or the Separate Account backing the Policy to register, or make information filings, with the SEC under the Securities Act, the U.S. Investment Company Act, the U.S. Investment Adviser Act, each as amended from time to time, or the securities laws of any jurisdiction in which the Insurer, the Policy or the Separate Account is not currently registered or required to make information filings; or

3. The Proposed Policyholder or the Proposed Annuitant (or any Proposed Joint Annuitant) changes his or her country of residence for tax, securities regulation, or other purposes; or

4. Subject to the provisions of section 12.6 of the Policy, any declaration in the Annuity Application Form is not exact, truthful, and complete in all material respects; or

5. If the Proposed Policyholder fails to comply with the terms of any of the covenants or declarations made in the Annuity Application Form.

Prior to the Policy termination, the Insurer will provide 90 day notice of such termination to the Proposed Policyholder, which notice shall include the reason for such termination. The Insurer will pay to the Proposed Policyholder the amount, if any, of the Policy Account Value determined as of the Next Available Liquidity Date. Surrender charges will not apply.

Section 3.2 Reinstatement

If the Policy terminates as the result of the expiration of a Grace Period, it may not be reinstated unless reinstatement is required by Bermuda law.

Article IV Premium Investment; Policy Account Values

Section 4.1 The Separate Account

The Insurer will establish a Separate Account pursuant to the terms of the Private Act to hold assets that fund obligations arising under each Policy issued by it together with any supplementary contracts hereunder and certain other funds. Income, gains, or losses of each Separate Account are credited to or charged against the assets held in such Separate Account, without regard to other income, gains, or losses of any other Separate Account or business of the Insurer. Under the terms of this Policy and the laws of Bermuda, assets allocated or credited to each Separate Account are the property of the Insurer and the Proposed Policyholder has no direct proprietary interest in such assets.

Section 4.2 Premiums

Net Premiums received by the Insurer with respect to the Policy will be credited to the related Separate Account. To the extent that Premiums are insufficient to pay all Fees and Charges due to the Insurer under the Policy, the Insurer will deduct Fees and Charges from the Separate Account.

Amounts payable to the Proposed Policyholder or any Beneficiary under the Policy will be made by the Insurer from the related Separate Account to the Proposed Policyholder or Beneficiary in accordance with the terms of this Policy. The Insurer will establish Subaccounts within the Separate Account for each Investment Option selected by the Proposed Policyholder. Each Subaccount will correspond to an Investment Option. The Insurer may from time to time change the Investment Options and investment managers available to Proposed Policyholders, provided that the Insurer shall only remove an investment manager available to the Proposed Policyholder for cause (as described in the Insurer's investment management or similar agreement with such investment manager).

Section 4.3 Allocations to Investment Options

On the Annuity Application Form, the Proposed Policyholder will designate the initial allocation of Net Premiums among the available Investment Options and on each Liquidity Date a Proposed Policyholder's Net Premiums will be allocated among the Investment Options according to the allocation percentages selected. Allocation percentages must be zero or a whole number not less than ten nor greater than 100. The sum of the allocation percentages must equal 100. The Insurer will document the initial allocation on the Policy Data Page. The Insurer has reserved the right to require allocation of an amount equal to the expected aggregate quarterly Fees and Charges related to the Policy to the Liquid Asset Subaccount before application of the allocation percentages designated by the Proposed Policyholder. In addition, the Insurer may transfer amounts from other Investment Options and Subaccounts to the Liquid Asset Subaccount equal to the expected quarterly Fees and Charges.

The specific Investment Options can generally be divided into two categories: IDFs and Managed Subaccounts. The Insurer is not obligated to offer both IDFs and Managed Subaccounts as Investment Options at any time. Accordingly, at any given time only one of these types of Investment Options may be available.

The Insurer and its affiliates make no recommendations, and provide no investment advice, as to the selection of, and allocations to, Investment Options. The Insurer has not evaluated any of the investment manager's investment performance and makes no recommendation regarding the selection of any investment manager or any IDF. The Insurer does not act as a custodian of cash or investments held in the Separate Account.

Section 4.4 Compliance with Investor Control Rules

The Proposed Policyholder agrees that, except for the selection of the allocation of Separate Account assets among Investment Options as contemplated in Section 4.3, and changes to such allocations as contemplated in Section 4.5, it will not select, identify or recommend, nor will it contact any investment manager for the purpose of influencing, any particular investment or group of investments to be made directly or indirectly with the assets of any Subaccount, including, without limitation, an investment manager with respect to an IDF in which funds held in a particular Subaccount are invested.

A Proposed Policyholder may not have direct contact or communicate with the investment manager of either an IDF or a Managed Subaccount and may not directly participate in the management of the Separate Account or any IDF or Managed Subaccount.

Section 4.5 Changes in Allocations to Investment Options

The Proposed Policyholder may, at quarterly intervals, reallocate funds among then available Investment Options but may do so no more than twice per calendar year. If a change in allocation percentages requires a transfer of funds between Investment Options, there may be a delay after the Separate Account receives the proceeds from one Investment Option until the next date on which it is possible to reinvest the funds in a different Investment Option. During this delay period (which may be up to one calendar quarter), funds will be invested in the Liquid Asset Subaccount. The Proposed Policyholder acknowledges that this delay may result in the funds having a lower return for this period.

In the event of such a delay, the funds from the liquidated investments will be invested in the Liquid Asset Subaccount until the next Liquidity Date at which time the funds will be re-allocated (together with any related earnings) to the applicable Subaccount originally designated by the Proposed Policyholder for the transfer.

Unless and until the Proposed Policyholder notifies the Insurer in writing of a new Net Premium allocation, the Net Premium allocations as specified in “Initial Allocation of Payment to Investment Options” on the Policy Data Page will continue to apply to any additional Premium payments.

Section 4.6 Responsibility for Selecting Investment Options

The Insurer does not and will not make any recommendation as to the Proposed Policyholder’s selection or retention of investment managers, allocation of assets among Subaccounts, Investment Options, or investments in particular securities or categories of securities, nor will it evaluate the investment performance of any investment manager. Inclusion of an Investment Option shall not be deemed to be a recommendation of that investment or as an indication that such an investment is suitable for the Proposed Policyholder.

Each Proposed Policyholder acknowledges, represents, warrants, and covenants that it is solely responsible for determining for themselves whether a particular Investment Option is suitable in light of their individual situations. The Insurer and its affiliates make no recommendations, and provide no advice, as to the selection of Investment Options and provide no warranty, representation, or indemnity with respect to the performance of any Investment Option. Each Proposed Policyholder should consult his or her personal financial advisor concerning Premium allocations.

Section 4.7 Appointment of Investment Manager and Custodian Bank

The Insurer shall have the right, exercisable in its sole and absolute discretion, to appoint, change, or remove the investment manager and custodian bank with respect to each Investment Option or Separate Account, provided that an investment manager shall only be removed for cause (as described in the Insurer's investment management or similar agreement with such investment manager). A Proposed Policyholder may recommend to the Insurer one or more investment managers or custodian banks who meet the Insurer's general requirements after the initial policy date, but the Insurer may accept or reject such recommendation in its sole and absolute discretion.

Section 4.8 Timing of Allocations

The Insurer will allocate the Proposed Policyholder's Net Premiums among one or more Investment Options in the percentages specified on the Policy Data Page, as amended from time to time at the written request of the Proposed Policyholder, within two business days following the date the Insurer receives the Net Premiums. Net Premiums received and which are to be allocated to an Investment Option will be initially invested in the Liquid Asset Subaccount and subsequently allocated (together with any related earnings) within two business days to the applicable Investment Option (subject to deferral due to liquidity constraints imposed by the applicable investment manager or IDF and subject to such provisions as to valuation and unit calculation as may be specified by the applicable investment manager).

Section 4.9 Investment of Separate Account Assets

The Insurer will require each investment manager with respect to a portfolio of an IDF or Managed Account held in the Separate Account and the investment manager of each investment fund or other investment fund in which the assets of the Separate Account are invested, to comply with the following:

1. Investment of assets held in each Subaccount will be sufficiently diversified to comply with the requirements of U.S. Treasury Regulation section 1.817-5(b). Assets of any investment fund relying upon a "look-through" basis for purposes of meeting such diversification requirements will themselves be sufficiently diversified so as to allow the Subaccount to comply with such requirements.

2. The investment manager and its employees who are responsible for investment decisions will not accept investment recommendations or make any investment decisions regarding the direct or indirect investment of Separate Account assets based, in whole or in part, on information regarding any investment or group of investments received from any Proposed Policyholder or any representative or adviser of a Proposed Policyholder.

3. No Proposed Policyholder (or any representative or adviser of a Proposed Policyholder) will have the right or be permitted to select or identify any particular investment or group of investments to be made directly or indirectly with the assets of any Subaccount.

4. The investment manager will not commit to invest assets of any Subaccount (or of any underlying investment fund or Managed Account in which a Subaccount has invested directly or indirectly) in mutual funds or other collective investment funds or publicly available investment products (including, without limitation, market-linked deposits and flexible deposits) managed, advised and/or distributed by the investment manager or its affiliates and will only do so if (a) in the investment manager's sole judgment at the time the investment is made, such fund or product is appropriate within the investment objectives and policies of the Subaccount fund or Managed Account and (b) no more than 55% of the assets on an initial purchase basis (excluding market value increases) of the Subaccount fund or Managed Account are invested in such funds or products at any time. Subject to the foregoing, for the avoidance of doubt, assets may be invested in an IDF.

5. In accordance with Section 4.4, except for general descriptions of the investment policies of the Investment Options, there will not be any direct or indirect prearrangement, plan or agreement between any Proposed Policyholder (or any Proposed Policyholder's advisers or representatives) and the investment manager (or any of its employees) regarding the investments to be made directly or indirectly by any Subaccount.

Section 4.10 Request for Extension of Investment Rights With Respect to Adequate Diversification

A Proposed Policyholder may make a request for an extension of the Proposed Policyholder's investment rights described in Section 4.4 and partial or complete release of the investment manager's obligations in Section 4.9 to adequately diversify the assets held in the Separate Account by delivering a written request to the Insurer's Home Office expressing a specific desire for the same. The Insurer may grant or deny such requests in its sole and absolute discretion, for any reason or for no reason whatsoever. Any such request must be approved by the Insurer in writing (and, in the case of an IDF, may also require the consent of the IDF). Absent written approval of the request, the request shall be deemed to have been denied.

The Insurer expresses no opinion and makes no representations or warranties regarding the tax consequences under the laws of the U.S. or any other jurisdiction of the Insurer's decision to grant such requests. By making such a request, a Proposed Policyholder waives any claim against the Insurer, its shareholders, directors, officers, employees, agents or affiliates on behalf of the Proposed Policyholder, any Beneficiaries or any other person for any loss from the Insurer's decision to grant or deny the Proposed Policyholder's request and agrees to hold harmless hereunder the Insurer and its shareholders, directors, officers, employees, agents or affiliates for any such loss.

Section 4.11 Changes in Investment Options

The Insurer at any time may add additional Investment Options, remove or restrict existing Investment Options, or add or eliminate an investment manager subject to any required regulatory approval, provided that the Insurer shall only remove an investment manager available to the Proposed Policyholder for cause (as described in the Insurer's investment management or similar agreement with such investment manager). If an Investment Option is removed or restricted or an investment manager is terminated, the Insurer may eliminate the Investment Option as an option for future Premium payments or transfers and may also transfer funds from the Subaccount in which assets invested in the terminated Investment Option were held, to the Liquid Asset Subaccount. An affected Proposed Policyholder may submit instructions to adjust the allocation of Net Premiums among the remaining Investment Options, without charge, for a period of 60 days following receipt of the Insurer's notice of any such termination. The Insurer will implement those instructions on the Next Available Liquidity Date after receipt.

Section 4.12 Policy Account Value

The Policy Account Value is equal to the net fair market value of all assets in the Separate Account backing the Policy, less any accrued but unpaid fees or expenses. The Insurer will determine the Policy Account Value on each Liquidity Date. The Separate Account value will increase or decrease, depending upon the investment experience of the related Subaccounts.

Assets allocated or credited to a Separate Account may be commingled with assets allocated or credited to another Separate Account for purposes of investment. In such circumstances, the Insurer may determine the Policy Account Value of each such Separate Account by the use of accumulation units, which are calculated separately with respect to each commingled investment. The accumulation unit value for each commingled investment will vary to reflect the investment experience of the assets invested therein.

The value of an accumulation unit will be determined on each Liquidity Date. When a commingled investment is made, the Insurer will credit the Separate Account with a number of accumulation units determined by dividing the amount of the investment by the value of the accumulation unit. When assets allocated or credited to a Separate Account are withdrawn from an investment, the accumulation units are reduced.

Article V Transfers Among Investment Options

Section 5.1 General

The Proposed Policyholder may request one transfer among Investment Options per calendar quarter, but no more than twice per calendar year.

Section 5.2 Conditions on Transfer

To effect any transfer, the Proposed Policyholder must submit a transfer request to the Insurer. All transfers are subject to the following conditions:

1. Any applicable Fees and Charges will be deducted from the Subaccount or from the amount which is transferred.

2. Transfers will be effected within 60 days following receipt by the Insurer of a transfer request. Actual settlement of a disposition or redemption from the relevant Subaccount, and reinvestment of the proceeds may be delayed as described below.

3. Any transfer request must clearly specify: (a) the amount which is to be transferred; and (b) the Subaccounts which are to be affected.

4. Payments to effect a transfer are subject to the disbursement rules and restrictions of the Subaccount(s).

5. The minimum amount that may be transferred in a single transfer will be the lesser of $250,000 or the entire interest in a Subaccount.

6. No transfer may be made from the Liquid Asset Subaccount if the amount remaining therein would not equal or exceed the Minimum Liquid Asset Allocation.

7. In the case of an IDF, any additional conditions set forth in the governing documents in the IDF must be satisfied.

Section 5.3 Liability

Neither the Insurer nor any of the Insurer's affiliates will be liable for any losses incurred as a result of transfers made in accordance with a Proposed Policyholder's transfer request including lower returns which may result.

Section 5.4 Limits on Right of Transfer

The Insurer may in its sole and absolute discretion defer the right of transfer for any period when it reasonably determines that additional time is necessary to obtain sufficient cash to make the transfer payments. Additional limitations on transfer may be imposed under the terms of any IDF in which assets held in a Separate Account are invested. For the avoidance of doubt, a transfer described in this Section 5.4 is a situation where a change from one Investment Option to another Investment Option occurs.

Article VI Annuity Provisions

Section 6.1 Annuity Payments

The Insurer will make periodic payments to the Beneficiaries beginning on the Annuity Starting Date and continuing thereafter on each Policy Anniversary to an account located outside the U.S. The amount of each Annuity Payment will equal the product of the applicable Annuity Percentage and the Policy Account Value (determined as of the end of the calendar quarter immediately preceding each Annuity Payment) and will vary depending upon the investment experience of the Investment Options in which the Separate Account assets are invested and the age of the Proposed Annuitant.

Section 6.2 Annuity Percentage

The Annuity Percentages are listed in the Appendix I to this Policy. The applicable Annuity Percentage will, depend upon the benefit option selected by the Policyholder. In the case of a Single Life Annuity, the Annuity Percentage is the percentage corresponding to the age of the Proposed Annuitant. In the case of a Joint Life Annuity, the applicable Annuity Percentage is the percentage corresponding to the age of the younger Proposed Joint Annuitant or the survivor of the Proposed Joint Annuitants. The Annuity Percentage is adjusted for each Annuity Payment.

Section 6.3 No Guaranteed Payments

The Policy Account Value, and thus, the Annuity Payments may increase or decrease depending upon the investment experience of the Investment Options selected by the Proposed Policyholder. The sole source for the payment of the Annuity Payments are the assets held in the Separate Account backing the Policy. The Policy does not provide for guaranteed annuity or death benefits. All payments, including upon the death of the Proposed Policyholder or Proposed Annuitant (or Proposed Joint Annuitants) are strictly limited to the assets held in the Separate Account backing the Policy and no Annuity Payments or any other payments under the Policy are payable from any other source.

Section 6.4 Annuity Starting Date

The Annuity Starting Date must be on the first day of a calendar quarter and may not be later than the first day of the calendar quarter of the Proposed Annuitant's (or elder Proposed Joint Annuitant's or surviving Proposed Joint Annuitant's) eighty-fifth (85th) birthday. If the Proposed Policyholder has not chosen an Annuity Starting Date, then the first day of the calendar quarter of the Proposed Annuitant's (or elder Proposed Joint Annuitant's or surviving Proposed Joint Annuitant's) eighty-fifth (85th) birthday shall be the Annuity Starting Date.

Section 6.5 Change of Annuity Starting Date

The Proposed Policyholder may change the Annuity Starting Date prior to the then current Annuity Starting Date by delivering a written notice to the Insurer. The new Annuity Starting Date may not be before the Next Available Liquidity Date for any Investment Option under the Policy as of the date the Insurer receives the notice from the Proposed Policyholder, and may not be later than the first day of the calendar month following the Proposed Annuitant's 85th birthday. Distributions must commence after the Annuity Starting Date in accordance with requirements under the Code.

Section 6.6 Annuity Income Options

Two (2) basic benefit options are offered under the Policy: (i) a Single Life Annuity, and (ii) a Joint Life Annuity. The benefit option may be changed by the Proposed Policyholder; however, no such change may be made at any time on or after the Annuity Starting Date. A Policyholder may change the selection of any benefit option by giving the Insurer at least thirty (30) calendar days' written notice prior to the Annuity Starting Date from outside the U.S.

In the case of a Single Life Annuity, the applicable Annuity Percentage is the percentage corresponding to the age of the Proposed Annuitant. In the case of a Joint Life Annuity, the applicable Annuity Percentage is the percentage corresponding to the age of the younger Proposed Joint Annuitant or the survivor of the Proposed Joint Annuitants.

Under both basic benefit options, the amount of each annual Annuity Payment made on or after the Annuity Starting Date will vary in accordance with the age of the Proposed Annuitant (or Proposed Joint Annuitant(s)) and the investment performance of the assets held in the Separate Account and shall be computed by the Insurer's actuary each year (and recomputed on the annual anniversary date each year thereafter) by multiplying the applicable Annuity Percentage in the Annuity Percentage Table attached as Appendix I to this Policy by the then current Policy Account Value as of the Annuity Starting Date and predetermined on the annual anniversary date each year thereafter. If the Policy Account Value is zero, then all payments will cease. All Annuity Payments shall be made to an account outside the U.S. The Insurer may consider the adoption of additional benefit options at the request of a Proposed Policyholder.

Section 6.7 Maturity Payment

Upon the death of the Proposed Annuitant (or survivor of the Proposed Joint Annuitants), the Insurer will pay to the Beneficiaries, or their successors as Beneficiaries, as the case may be, the balance of the Policy Account Value.

Article VII Loan Provisions

Section 7.1 Policy Loans

The Proposed Policyholder shall have no guaranteed rights or privileges with respect to loans under a Policy. The Insurer may, in its sole and absolute discretion consider whether to facilitate a Proposed Policyholder's request to pledge a Policy as collateral security for a loan to be made by the Insurer or institutional or other third party lenders. A pledge of a Policy as collateral security for a loan may be effected only with the prior written consent of the Insurer, which may be granted or denied in the Insurer's sole and absolute discretion.

Article VIII Surrender Provisions

Section 8.1 General

At any time after the Issue Date and prior to the Annuity Starting Date, the Proposed Policyholder may request one or more withdrawals under the Policy from the Separate Account in the form of a Partial Surrender. Withdrawals are possible up to 100% of the Policy Account Value. Should the Policy Account Value be equal to or less than $250,000, the Policy will lapse. The rights of a Proposed Policyholder to make a Surrender under the Policy shall be subject to the consent of all Beneficiaries who have been irrevocably designated by the Proposed Policyholder under the Policy. Subject to this Article VIII, the Proposed Policyholder may Surrender the Policy, in whole or in part, by filing a written request with the Insurer at the Insurer's Home Office at any time during the lifetime of the Proposed Annuitant. The Policy Account Value which is the subject of the Surrender will be determined as of the Next Available Liquidity Date occurring after the Insurer receives the request to Surrender.

Although the amount of the Surrender proceeds will be determined as of the Next Available Liquidity Date after receipt of the Surrender request, the Insurer will use reasonable efforts to pay Surrender proceeds as soon as practicable whether on a Liquidity Date or another date (subject to such liquidity constraints and provisions as to valuation and unit calculation as may be specified by the investment manager of the applicable Investment Option).

Section 8.2 Full Surrender

If the Proposed Policyholder requests a Full Surrender of the Policy Account Value of the Policy, the Policy will terminate on the date the Proposed Policyholder submits its Surrender request in accordance with Section 12.3.

Section 8.3 Partial Surrender

The Proposed Policyholder may request a Partial Surrender of the Policy for up to and including 90% of the Policy Account Value of the Policy. No more than one Partial Surrender may be requested by the Proposed Policyholder during each quarter of a Policy Year. As provided in Section 3.1, any Partial Surrender that causes the Policy Account Value to be reduced to an amount that is less than $250,000 may be deemed by the Insurer to be a request for Full Surrender and if so deemed will cause the Policy to be terminated, notwithstanding any potential negative tax consequences to the Proposed Policyholder or any other person or entity. If the Policy Account Value is reduced to an amount that is less than $250,000, then the Insurer shall have the right, exercisable in its sole and absolute discretion, to treat a Partial Surrender request as a Full Surrender request.

Each Partial Surrender will reduce the Policy Account Value and the amount of any Annuity Payment to be paid after the Annuity Starting Date. An amendment to the Policy will be sent to the Proposed Policyholder outside the U.S. for countersignature upon any request for a Partial Surrender under the Policy. Said amendment shall become a part of the Policy.

Article IX Policy Fees and Charges

Section 9.1 Policy Administration Fee

The Insurer will deduct the Policy Administration Fee from the Separate Account as set forth in the Policy Data Page for general administrative expenses.

Section 9.2 DAC Charges

The amount deducted by the Insurer as set forth on the Policy Data Page to pay for the costs imposed by virtue of the treatment of certain deferred acquisition costs for U.S. federal income tax purposes under section 848 of the Code. The amount of the DAC Charge as set forth on the Policy Data Page shall be adjusted to reflect any change in the applicable U.S. federal income tax rate. The Insurer shall provide the Proposed Policyholder notice of any change in the DAC Charge.

Section 9.3 Management & Expense Fee

The Insurer will deduct the Management & Expense Fee from the Separate Account. The Management & Expense Fee is an on-going insurance administration fee described on the Policy Data Page.

Section 9.4 Policy Set-Up Deposit

The Policy Set-Up Deposit is due to the Insurer as set forth on the Policy Data Page upon submission of the completed Annuity Application Form by the Proposed Policyholder. The Policy Set-Up Deposit will be paid into the General Account of the Insurer. Upon issuing the Policy, an amount equal to the Policy Set-Up Deposit will be used to offset the Acceptance Fee. If for any reason, a Policy is not issued, the Insurer will retain the Policy Set-Up Deposit to cover medical, underwriting, administration and any other costs incurred by the Insurer in the processing of the application.

Section 9.5 Acceptance Fee

The Insurer will deduct the Acceptance Fee set forth in the Policy Data Page on each date the Insurer receives a Premium payment.

Section 9.6 Surrender Charge

Surrender charges will not apply to this Policy.

Section 9.7 Taxes

The Insurer will deduct only those Taxes (as defined below) paid by the Insurer or its affiliates to any governmental entity that relate to the Policy or the related Separate Account. These taxes (the "Taxes") exclusively include withholding taxes, excise taxes, sales taxes, stamp taxes, value added taxes, state taxes imposed on the Insurer or its affiliates, and taxes imposed on Subpart F income of a Separate Account attributable to its investment in a controlled foreign corporation, as well as the deferred tax amount and any interest charge or other taxes imposed on the investments of a Separate Account in a passive foreign investment company, or under the corresponding tax laws of other jurisdictions.

The Insurer may, in its sole and absolute discretion, pay Taxes when due and deduct such amounts from the Separate Account at a later date. The Insurer will, in its absolute discretion, determine when Taxes have resulted from the investment experience of any Subaccount or receipt by the Insurer of Premiums.

Section 9.8 Agreed Upon Procedures Fee

The Insurer will deduct the Agreed Upon Procedures Fee from the Separate Account if the Proposed Policyholder instructs the Insurer to engage a third party audit firm to review charges and provide an Agreed Upon Procedures (AUP) report.

Section 9.9 Deductions for Fees and Charges

The Fees and Charges are paid to the Insurer under the Policy initially by making deductions from Premiums and then by making deductions from the Separate Account. To the extent that the Insurer deducts Fees and Charges from the Separate Account, amounts will be deducted first from the Liquid Asset Subaccount and then from the Subaccounts pursuant to the terms of the Policy.

Section 9.10 Custodian Bank and Investment Manager Fees

Each custodian bank and investment manager will separately deduct any applicable fees charged by it from any Separate Account or Investment Option for which it is acting as custodian or investment manager, as the case may be. The fees of the custodian bank and investment manager are calculated on an individual basis and may vary depending upon the investment manager and Investment Option(s) selected by the Proposed Policyholder. The list of investment managers and custodians retained by the Insurer is available from the Insurer upon request.

Article X Death Benefit Provisions

Section 10.1 Death Benefit

If all Beneficiaries and any alternative Beneficiaries predecease the Proposed Policyholder and Proposed Annuitant (or the survivor of the Proposed Joint Annuitants, in the case where a Joint Life Annuity benefit option is selected), then the benefits payable under the Policy to the Beneficiaries or alternative Beneficiaries shall be paid to the Proposed Policyholder until the first to die of the Proposed Policyholder or Proposed Annuitant (or the survivor of the Proposed Joint Annuitants, in the case where a Joint Life Annuity benefit option is selected).

If none of the Beneficiaries or alternative Beneficiaries survives the Proposed Annuitant(s), then the Policy Account Value shall be paid to the Proposed Policyholder upon the Proposed Annuitant's death (or survivor of the Proposed Joint Annuitants' death, in the case where a Joint Life Annuity benefit option is selected).

If the Proposed Policyholder is not living at the time any benefit under the Policy is payable to the Proposed Policyholder, then such benefit shall be paid to the Proposed Policyholder's estate, if then open, or if not then to his heirs per stirpes, in accordance with the laws of succession in the jurisdiction of the Proposed Policyholder's last known domicile on the date of the Proposed Policyholder's death.

If the Proposed Policyholder is not an individual, then the Proposed Annuitant (or the younger of the Proposed Joint Annuitants or the survivor of the Proposed Joint Annuitants) shall be recognized as the "primary Proposed Annuitant" and treated as the Proposed Policyholder of the Policy. Any change in the designation of such Proposed Annuitant (or Proposed Joint Annuitant) following the Issue Date (in the case where the Proposed Policyholder is not an individual) shall be treated as the death of the Proposed Policyholder.

If the Proposed Policyholder dies prior to the "annuity starting date" (defined under Code Section 72(c)(4) as the first day of the first period for which an amount is received as an annuity under the contract; such definition possibly differing from the Annuity Starting Date designated under the Policy), then the Proposed Policyholder's entire interest in the Policy shall be distributed to the Beneficiaries within five (5) years from the date of the Proposed Policyholder's death, unless the Beneficiaries elect to receive such interest in distributions made over their life or lives (or over a period not extending beyond their respective life expectancies), and such distributions begin within one (1) year from the date of the Proposed Policyholder's death. Any such election must be made in writing and received by the Insurer at the Insurer's Home Office within 180 calendar days from the date of the Proposed Policyholder's death.

If the Proposed Policyholder dies on or after the "annuity starting date" (as defined under Code Section 72(c)(4)) and before the entire interest in the Policy has been distributed, the remaining portion of the Policy Account Value shall be distributed to the Beneficiaries at least as rapidly as under the method of distributions being used as of the date of the Proposed Policyholder's death.

Notwithstanding any provision of the Policy, all Death Benefits must be distributed in compliance with the provision of section 72(s) of the Code. Death Benefits payable hereunder will be includible in the gross income of the Beneficiary.

Section 10.2 Due Proof of Death

Due proof of death is one of the following received at the Insurer's Home Office in a form satisfactory to the Insurer in its absolute discretion:

1. A certified copy of a death certificate;
2. A certified copy of a decree of a court of competent jurisdiction as to the finding of death; or
3. Any other proof of death satisfactory to the Insurer.

Article XI Owner, Beneficiary, Assignment

Section 11.1 Proposed Policyholder

The Proposed Policyholder is the person so named on the Policy Data Page or his or her assignee in accordance with a valid assignment as provided in Section 11.2.

Under Bermuda law, the Proposed Policyholder or his personal representative, trustee in bankruptcy or legal assignee will be the owner of the rights to payments under the Policy. While the Proposed Policyholder is alive, all rights in the Policy belong to the Proposed Policyholder and may be exercised without the consent of any Beneficiary, provided that, once an irrevocable designation of Beneficiary is filed, changes or elections under the Policy that impair the rights of an irrevocable Beneficiary will not be allowed without the consent of the irrevocable Beneficiary. All of the Proposed Policyholder's rights in the Policy belong to the estate of the Proposed Policyholder if the Proposed Policyholder dies before the Proposed Annuitant. Joint ownership is permitted.

Section 11.2 Change of Proposed Policyholder

The Proposed Policyholder may change the ownership of the Policy by submitting a request to the Insurer's Home Office and obtaining written approval of the Insurer. Any approved change will take effect on the date specified in the approval.

Section 11.3 Proposed Annuitant

The Proposed Policyholder has the right to designate one Proposed Annuitant or two Proposed Joint Annuitants. The Proposed Annuitants or Proposed Joint Annuitants will be as stated in the Annuity Application Form, unless otherwise endorsed at issue or subsequently changed.

Section 11.4 Change of Proposed Annuitant

Each Proposed Policyholder will have the right to designate and in some cases change the Proposed Annuitant or Proposed Joint Annuitant.

Section 11.5 Beneficiary

The Proposed Policyholder shall initially designate one or more Beneficiaries on the Policy Data Page. All designations of Beneficiaries are revocable unless specified as irrevocable by the Proposed Policyholder. Once an irrevocable designation of Beneficiary is filed, any changes or elections under the Policy that impair the rights of an irrevocable Beneficiary will not be allowed without the consent of the irrevocable Beneficiary under the Policy.

Section 11.6 Change of Beneficiary

Except in the case of an irrevocable Beneficiary, the Proposed Policyholder may change the Beneficiaries by filing a written request from outside the U.S. with the Insurer at its Home Office at any time prior to the Annuity Starting Date. In the case of an irrevocable Beneficiary, the consent of the irrevocable Beneficiary to the change is also required. The change will take effect as of the date the notice is received by the Insurer subject to any payment made or action taken by the Insurer before the Insurer receives the document at its Home Office. A new Beneficiary designation will automatically revoke all prior designations (except an irrevocable Beneficiary designation where the consent of the irrevocable Beneficiary has not been obtained). The Insurer will not be liable for any payment made or action taken before the effective date of the change of Beneficiary.

Section 11.7 Assignment

The Proposed Policyholder may transfer, assign, or pledge the Policy or any of their rights under the Policy, including a Section 1035 exchange of the Policy with another carrier, without the prior written consent of the Insurer, provided that the Policy may not be assigned unless (i) it is registered under the U.S. federal securities and/or state securities laws or the securities laws of any other jurisdiction unless such registration is not required or an exemption from registration is available and (ii) the assignee is a Qualified Purchaser and Accredited Investor. The Insurer may require satisfactory evidence as to the non-applicability of any such registration requirement or the availability of an exemption from any applicable registration requirement and the Insurer may in its discretion for this purpose request, at the transferor’s expense, a favourable legal opinion from transferor’s counsel that the provisions of this Section 11.7 have been met.

The Insurer represents and warrants that, subject to the foregoing, it will fully cooperate with any assignment, transfer or exchange, including a "1035" exchange of the Policy with another carrier and will cooperate to exchange underlying IDFs or sub-accounts with such carrier. Failure by the Insurer to cooperate with the Proposed Policyholder in a proposed 1035 exchange or other transfer, assignment, or pledge of the Policy or any of the Proposed Policyholder's rights under the Policy, such failure to cooperate as determined by a final judgement in a Bermuda court or other court of relevant jurisdiction, among any other injunctive or other relief resulting therefrom, will result in liquidated damages to the Proposed Policyholder equal to the sum of the (a) then Policy Account Value and (b) any fees or charges, including Management and Expense Fees, accruing during the period that the non-cooperation (as determined by the a Bermuda court or other court of relevant jurisdiction) exists and is continuing, and the Insurer shall be strictly liable for payment of such amount to the Proposed Policyholder. For the avoidance of doubt, the Proposed Policyholder shall be entitled to its Policy Account Value separate from the liquidated damages amount provided for herein. The Proposed Policyholder (x) acknowledges that the Insurer's ordinary and customary process for 1035 exchanges includes obtaining satisfactory assurance from the transferor of compliance with relevant tax and disclosure laws with respect to the Policy and indemnification from the new carrier regarding any tax obligations relating to the Policy and (y) agrees that following the Insurer's 1035 exchange process will not be considered to be a failure to cooperate by the Insurer.

Article XII Other General Provisions

Section 12.1 Periodic Reports

The Insurer will make available to the Proposed Policyholder, for every calendar quarter or portion thereof during which the Policy is In Force, a report that shows activity in the Proposed Policyholder's Separate Account. The Proposed Policyholder expressly authorizes the Insurer to rely upon the information or valuations provided by the selected investment manager and custodian without further inquiry or verification of any kind, nature, or description. Each quarterly statement will set forth the Policy Account Value less applicable expenses and charges at the beginning and end of the reporting period and aggregate adjustments to the same throughout. These quarterly statements shall be made available to the Proposed Policyholder at the Insurer's Home Office. The Insurer will forward annual Separate Account statements to an address of the Proposed Policyholder outside of the U.S. if a request to do so is made by the Proposed Policyholder in writing and delivered to the Insurer's Home Office.

Section 12.2 Currency and Place of Payment

All transactions between the Proposed Policyholder and the Insurer will be made in U.S. dollars unless otherwise confirmed by the Insurer in writing. All Payments will be made outside the U.S.

Section 12.3 Notices, Requests and Elections

To be effective, all notices, requests, and elections the Proposed Policyholder makes under the Policy must be in writing, signed by the Proposed Policyholder or sent electronically or via facsimile by the Proposed Policyholder and received by the Insurer. Unless otherwise provided, all notices, requests and elections will be effective when received by the Insurer. Notices, requests and elections may be made by the Proposed Policyholder under the Policy in writing, signed by the Policyholder, sent by facsimile or electronic communication and received by the Insurer at its Home Office or administrative office, provided that the Insurer will not be liable for following instructions communicated by facsimile or electronically and, provided further that acceptance of facsimile or electronic communication by the Insurer will not impose any requirement on the Insurer to employ any procedures to confirm that instructions received by facsimile communication are genuine. Any notice or report required to be given by the Insurer to the Proposed Policyholder or any other person will be deemed given when sent to such person or such person's authorized representative.

Section 12.4 Policy Settlement

Prior to any payment of a Death Benefit, due certified proof of death must be submitted to the Insurer.

Section 12.5 Deferment

The Insurer will execute allowable requests for a transfer, Full Surrender or Partial Surrender by the Proposed Policyholder within 60 days of a request. Such requests may require conversion of certain Investment Option assets to cash or in-kind distributions, where possible. This may take longer than 60 days for a variety of reasons, including underlying restrictions on redemptions of assets held pursuant to an Investment Option. In such cases, the Insurer will take reasonable steps to comply with such requests at the earliest time possible. The foregoing will be subject to time restrictions within the Insurance Dedicated Fund purchased by a Subaccount.

Section 12.6 Incontestability

Except as expressly provided in the Policy, the Insurer will not contest the validity of the Policy for misstatement, misrepresentation or non-disclosure after the Policy has been In Force for two years from the Issue Date during the lifetime of the Proposed Annuitant. The Policy will be voidable in the event of fraud at any time. If the validity of the Policy is so contested, then (1) the Insurer's obligation to pay Annuity Payments under the Policy will terminate as of the date the Insurer discovers such misstatement, misrepresentation or non-disclosure, and (2) the Policy Account Value will be determined as of the Next Available Liquidity Date occurring after the Insurer discovers such misstatement, misrepresentation or non-disclosure and returned to the Proposed Policyholder or the Beneficiaries within 90 days. The Insurer will notify the Proposed Policyholder that the Policy is so terminated and such notice will include the date of termination. The return of the Policy Account Value will be in full and final satisfaction of all the Insurer's obligations under the Policy. Following the return of the Policy Account Value, the Policy will be void.

Section 12.7 Policyholder Information

The Insurer may disclose Policyholder information to third parties such as banks or independent asset managers. Specifically with respect to banking relationships in Switzerland and in accordance with FINMA Newsletter 18 (2010) “handling of Life insurance with separately managed accounts/portfolios” dated December 20, 2010, the Insurer may disclose Policyholder or source of funding information to banking partners including Policyholder name, date of birth, nationality and address. In any event, the Insurer may be required to confirm in accordance with FINMA Newsletter 18 (2010) that the insurance product related to account openings is set up as a life insurance product according to the legal provisions, including provisions concerning biometric risks, of the Insurer’s domicile.

Each U.S. person who has a financial interest in or signature or other authority over any foreign financial accounts, including bank, securities, or other types of financial accounts, in a foreign country, if the aggregate value of these financial accounts exceeds $10,000 at any time during the calendar year, must report that relationship each calendar year by filing Form TD F 90-22.1 (Report of Foreign Bank and Financial Accounts), commonly referred to as an “FBAR”, with the Department of the Treasury on or before June 30 of the succeeding year. In addition, and irrespective of the independent FBAR filing obligations that a Proposed Policyholder (or its owner) who is a U.S. person may have, U.S. person directors, officers, or employees of the Insurer who have signature authority over the Separate Account, Subaccounts, or other accounts with respect to the Policy would need to file an FBAR with respect to such accounts and so will the Insurer itself as a U.S. Person with a financial interest in such accounts. On the basis of such filings, the IRS could request information with respect to such filings and the Proposed Policyholder acknowledges that the Insurer may provide such FBAR-related information to the IRS if requested to do so.

Section 12.8 Tax Matters

The Proposed Policyholder acknowledges that he or she is responsible for complying with all tax reporting, filing and payment obligations with respect to this Policy in any jurisdiction in which the Proposed Policyholder is subject to tax. The Proposed Policyholder must consult its own tax advisor with respect to such obligations. The Insurer has not provided, and shall have no responsibility for providing, advice to the Proposed Policyholder with respect to such issues.

Section 12.9 Limitation on Liability of Insurer

THE LIABILITY OF THE INSURER FOR BENEFITS UNDER THE POLICY OR FOR ANY LOSS OR OTHER DAMAGES WITH RESPECT TO THE POLICY IS LIMITED TO THE POLICY ACCOUNT VALUE.

2.1 Offering and Sale of Interests.

(a) Subject to Section 8.2 and subject to and on the terms of the Fund PPM, the Fund may offer Interests for purchase in any amount by the Company on behalf of the Separate Accounts, subject to the minimum initial investment amount set forth on Schedule A-2 hereto. The Fund may accept additional capital contributions in any amount, subject to the minimum additional investment amount set forth on Schedule A-2 hereto. Capital contributions will be accepted as of the first Business Day of each calendar month or quarter (as specified on Schedule A-2 hereto) (each, a "Subscription Date"). The Company shall notify the Adviser of its intent to purchase Interests by providing notice no later than the date and time set forth on Schedule A-2 hereto. The Company shall complete and send to the Fund the Subscription Form set forth in Appendix A. The Company shall not be required to enter into any agreement other than this Agreement and the Fund Agreements in order to purchase Interests.

(b) The Fund may suspend or discontinue its offering of Interests solely in conformity with the Fund PPM upon at least the number of days' prior written notice to the Company set forth on Schedule A-2 hereto.

(c) The issuance and transfer of Interests shall be by book entry only, and certificates therefor shall not be issued to the Company or the Separate Accounts.

2.2 Payment for Interests. The Company shall transmit by wire transfer federal funds in the amount of the purchased Interests to be received by the Fund no later than the date and time set forth on Schedule A-2 hereto. Federal funds received after that time and date shall be held in a subscription account of the Fund's custodian until the next Subscription Date or returned to the Company upon its request.

2.3 Withdrawal of Interests.

(a) General Withdrawal Terms. Any withdrawal request shall specify the number and value of the Interest(s) to be withdrawn, shall not be less than the amount set forth on Schedule A-2 hereto and shall be subject to any other requirements set forth on Schedule A-2 hereto. Any partial withdrawal of Interest(s) that leaves the value of the Interest(s) held by a Separate Account at less than the amount set forth on Schedule A-2 hereto as of the date of withdrawal shall be deemed a complete withdrawal. (See Appendix B for Withdrawal Form.) The terms of this Section 2.3(a) shall apply unless otherwise provided in Sections 2.3(b) through 2.3(f) or on Schedule A-2 hereto.

(b) Standard Withdrawals. Subject to Section 2.3(f), the Company will be permitted to redeem for cash any Interest, in whole or in part, held by a Separate Account upon not less than the number of days' prior written notice to the Adviser set forth on Schedule A-2 hereto (each such notice, a "Standard Withdrawal Request") as of the last day of any calendar month or quarter as set forth on Schedule A-2 hereto (each, a "Standard Withdrawal Date") following the lock-up period set forth on Schedule A-2 hereto. The Adviser may waive the notice period in its discretion. The withdrawal proceeds in connection with a Standard Withdrawal Request shall be paid in accordance with the timeline set forth on Schedule A-2.

(c) Death Benefit Withdrawals. Subject to Section 2.3(f), with respect to withdrawals required for the payment of a death benefit, the Company may redeem for cash any Interest, in whole or in part, held by a Separate Account upon not less than the number of days' prior written notice to the Adviser set forth on Schedule A-2 hereto (each such notice, a "Death Benefit Withdrawal Request") as of the last day of any calendar month (each, a "Death Benefit Withdrawal Date"). The Adviser may waive the notice period in its discretion. The withdrawal proceeds in connection with a Death Benefit Withdrawal Request shall be paid in accordance with the timeline set forth on Schedule A-2.

(d) Special Withdrawals. Subject to Section 2.3(f), with respect to withdrawals required for the payment of any insurance charges and/or expenses of the Company Contracts or as otherwise agreed upon by the Adviser, the Company may redeem for cash any Interest, in whole or in part, held by a Separate Account upon not less than the number of days' prior written notice to the Adviser set forth on Schedule A-2 hereto (each such notice, a "Special Withdrawal Request") as of the last day of any calendar month (each, a "Special Withdrawal Date"). The Adviser may waive the notice period in its discretion. The withdrawal proceeds in connection with a Special Withdrawal Request shall be paid in accordance with the timeline set forth on Schedule A-2.

(e) Withdrawal Events. Subject to Section 2.3(f), the Company may redeem for cash Interests if any of the following events ("Withdrawal Events") occur: (i) the Fund fails to comply with the Tax Requirements, and such noncompliance cannot be cured in a reasonable period of time pursuant to the regulations and proceedings of the U.S. Department of the Treasury (the "Treasury") and the U.S. Internal Revenue Service; or (ii) there is a violation of the requirements set forth on Schedule D hereto. The Adviser shall notify the Company as soon as any Withdrawal Event occurs. Upon the occurrence of a Withdrawal Event, the Company may redeem its Interests as of the last day of any calendar month (each, an "Event Withdrawal Date") upon not less than 30 days' prior written notice to the Adviser (each such notice an "Event Withdrawal Request"). Upon an Event Withdrawal Request, the Fund shall pay 100% of the withdrawal proceeds within 30 days following the Event Withdrawal Date. Event Withdrawal Requests shall not be subject to any lock-up withdrawal requests.

(f) Limitations on Withdrawal Rights Granted Hereunder. Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this Section 2.3, and any other terms of this Agreement, if the Adviser determines that compliance with any of the withdrawal and payment rights granted pursuant to this Section 2.3 or any other provisions of this Agreement shall (i) cause it or the Fund to fail to adhere to the Tax Requirements, or (ii) require it to liquidate any asset which is then illiquid and/or part of a Side Pocket Account (as defined in the Operating Agreement), then it may defer such compliance until such failure or requirement shall no longer exist; provided that for so long as (x) such condition continues and (y) the Company shall not be receiving payment of any insurance charges and/or expenses of the Company Contracts as a result of such delayed compliance, the Adviser agrees that it shall defer its fees pursuant to Operating Agreement, and such amounts otherwise payable to the Adviser shall instead be paid by the Fund to the Company for such insurance charges and/or expenses.

2.4 Payment of Withdrawal Proceeds.

(a) Payment of Withdrawal Proceeds Generally. Subject always to any liquidity limitations set out in the Fund PPM, the Fund shall transfer to the Company, or to any person designated by the Company in writing, any withdrawal proceeds via wire transfer in the form of federal funds.

(b) Payment of Withdrawal Proceeds In-Kind. The Fund may, but only if permitted by applicable law and in conformity with the Operating Agreement and the Fund PPM, transfer in-kind interests in an underlying investment of the Fund to (i) the Company and/or the Separate Accounts in full or partial satisfaction of any withdrawal request, or (ii) a Policy Owner in full or partial satisfaction of a full or partial surrender of a Company Contract, or to a beneficiary under a Company Contract in full or partial satisfaction of a death benefit payment under such Company Contract; provided, however, that such transfer to a Policy Owner is conducted as a transaction exempt from registration under the 1933 Act. For the avoidance of doubt, notwithstanding the foregoing, the provisions of this Section 2.4(b) shall be subject to the limitations on liquidity and withdrawals, and terms therein on payments with withdrawal proceeds (including, in particular, the payment of withdrawal proceeds in-kind) set forth in in the Fund Agreements.

2.5 Company Contracts. The Fund and the Adviser acknowledge and agree that, subject to each Company Contract, CGLI shall have the exclusive right, in its sole discretion, to suspend the offer or sale of any of the Company Contracts or to reject any application for the purchase of any Company Contract.

ARTICLE III. NET ASSET VALUE

3.1 NAV Generally. The Fund shall determine its net asset value (the "NAV") on each Valuation Date in the manner prescribed in the Operating Agreement and the Fund PPM. The Adviser shall make the NAV available to the Company in an electronic data file in a format specified by the Company, and shall do so as soon as reasonably practicable after each Valuation Date, and in any event no later than the date and time set forth on Schedule A-2 hereto.

3.2 Adjustments. The NAV information provided pursuant to Section 3.1 hereof may be based on estimated values and/or values determined by the Adviser acting in good faith and using reasonable judgment ("Reasonable Valuations"), and prospective adjustments shall be made, if necessary, to correct the NAV within a reasonable period of time after the Fund or the Adviser is in receipt of the Fund's audited financials. No retroactive adjustments shall be made.

ARTICLE IV. REPRESENTATIONS, WARRANTIES AND COVENANTS

4.1 Representations, Warranties and Covenants of the Company. The Company represents and warrants to, and for the benefit of, and covenants and agrees with the Fund and the Adviser that:

(a) CGLI is an Eligible Insurance Company that is duly organized, validly existing and in good standing under the laws of Bermuda.

(b) The Separate Account(s) are legally and validly established segregated asset accounts (or subaccounts thereof) under the laws of Bermuda (including, without limitation the Bermuda Insurance Act 1978, as amended ("Bermuda Insurance Act") and related rules and regulations and any Bermuda private act to which CGLI or the Separate Accounts are subject), applicable state insurance and tax laws and regulations, and were established by CGIL to set aside and invest premiums attributable to Company Contracts.

(c) CGLI has the power and is duly qualified and has all necessary licences, consents, permits and authorities necessary (including those referred to in paragraph 4.1(a) above) to offer and sell the Company Contracts and for the Company to purchase the Interests, all of which are valid and subsisting.

(d) The Company shall be an "accredited investor" within the meaning of Rule 501(a) of Regulation D under the 1933 Act (an "Accredited Investor"), a "qualified client" within the meaning of Rule 205-3 promulgated under the U.S. Investment Advisers Act of 1940, as amended, and a "qualified purchaser" within the meaning of Section 2(a)(51) of the U.S. Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (a "Qualified Purchaser"; such statute, the "1940 Act").

(e) The Company Contracts shall be offered and sold, and the Contract PPM and the Fund PPM shall be disseminated to prospective or existing Policy Owners, in compliance in all material respects with all applicable Bermuda, U.S. and other foreign securities, commodities, tax and insurance laws and regulations.

(f) CGLI shall sell Company Contracts only to persons that CGLI or its agents reasonably believe to be Accredited Investors and Qualified Purchasers.

(g) The Company Contracts shall be treated as Variable Contracts under the Code, provided that the Fund and the Adviser comply with all of the terms of the Operating Agreement and this Agreement, and CGLI shall promptly notify the Fund and the Adviser in writing upon forming a reasonable belief that the Company Contracts will or may no longer qualify for such treatment.

(h) The Separate Accounts shall not be subject to the U.S. Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended ("ERISA").

(i) The Contract PPM does not contain any untrue statement of material fact, other than with respect to information provided in writing by the Fund or the Adviser for inclusion in the Contract PPM. For the avoidance of doubt, the Company is not representing whether the Contract PPM meets the full standards of disclosure contemplated under the 1933 Act, and the U.S. Securities and Exchange Act, as amended, for issuers registered under such Acts, or for issuers that are not so registered.

(j) The Company shall not disseminate any information, or make any representation or statement, to any person concerning the offer or sale of Interests or the Company Contracts other than the information, representations and statements contained in the Contract PPM, the Fund PPM, Fund Reports, or any Sales Literature approved by the Adviser for such purposes. This Section 4.1(j) shall not in any way restrict the right of the Company to disseminate materials (such as illustrations) describing the Company, its operations and its products, as well as those materials describing the insurance industry and insurance products generally.

(k) The Company shall establish and implement policies and procedures reasonably designed to discharge its obligations under applicable federal laws and regulations regarding money laundering, including, but not limited the Company's Know Your Client (KYC) and due diligence requirements under the Bermuda Proceeds of Crime (Anti-Money Laundering and Anti-Terrorist Financing) Regulations 2008, as amended the regulations of the Treasury and the Executive Orders related to the Treasury's Office of Foreign Assets Control ("OFAC"; and, together, the "AML Procedures"). The Fund and the Adviser acknowledge that in connection with, and as a complement to its own AML Procedures, where permitted by applicable law, the Company shall be entitled to rely on AML Procedures implemented by third parties with respect to Policy Owners; provided that such acknowledgement shall not limit any rights of the Fund or the advisor relating to AML under the Fund Agreements.

The Company's AML Procedures shall include those reasonably designed to ensure the accuracy of the following representations of the Company:

(i) the identity of each purchaser of a Company Contract has been established by evidence that the Company reasonably believes is genuine;

(ii) the Company reasonably believes that no premium funds tendered for the purchase of a Company Contract are derived directly or indirectly from activities that may contravene relevant U.S. federal or state, or international, laws or regulations related to money laundering; and

(iii) unless the Fund, in its sole discretion, lawfully waives such a requirement, CGIL shall not issue a Variable Contract to any person or entity that the Company reasonably believes, at the time of the possible purchase of the Company Contract, to be:

1. a country, territory, organization, person or entity named in OFAC's List of Specially Designated Nationals and Blocked Persons, as such list may be amended from time to time;

2. a person or entity that resides or has a place of business in a country or territory named on an OFAC list, or that is designated as a

"Non-Cooperative Jurisdiction" by the Financial Action Task Force on Money Laundering, or whose premium funds tendered for the acquisition of a Company Contract are transferred from or through any such country or territory;

3. a "foreign shell bank" as such term is defined in 31 U.S.C. § 5318(j) and Treasury regulations thereunder;

4. a person or entity that resides in, or is organized under, the laws of a jurisdiction designated by the Secretary of the Treasury as a "jurisdiction of primary money laundering concern" pursuant to 31 U.S.C. § 5318A; or

5. a "senior foreign political figure," or a "family member" or "close associate" of a senior foreign political figure as such terms are defined in the Guidance on Enhanced Scrutiny for Transactions that May Involve the Proceeds of Foreign Official Corruption issued by the Treasury, unless CGIL has diligently scrutinized the proposed purchase of the Company Contract by or for the benefit of such person and has determined to permit such purchase.

(l) The Company shall promptly notify the Fund and the Adviser of any change in the information set forth in this Section 4.1.

(m) The Company is not aware of any conflict between this Agreement and any law or regulation to which it may be subject (including under any Bermuda private act).

4.2 Of the Fund. The Fund represents and warrants to, and for the benefit of, and covenants and agrees with the Company that:

(a) The Fund has been established under the laws of the jurisdiction of its formation and is in good standing thereunder, and qualifies for the exclusion from the definition of "investment company" provided by Section 3(c)(7) of the 1940 Act.

(b) The Interests shall be offered and sold in compliance in all material respects with all applicable federal and state laws and regulations.

(c) None of the Fund; any predecessor of the Fund; any affiliated issuer of the Fund; any director, executive officer, other officer who is participating in the offering of interests in the Fund, general partner or managing member of the Fund; any beneficial owner of 20% or more of the Fund's outstanding voting equity securities (calculated on the basis of voting power); any promoter connected with the Fund in any capacity; the Adviser; any person that has been or will be paid (directly or indirectly) remuneration for solicitation of purchasers in connection with the sale of interests in the Fund (a "Solicitor"); any general partner or managing member of the Adviser or a Solicitor; or any director, executive officer or other officer who is participating in the offering of interests in the Fund of the Adviser or a Solicitor or general partner or managing member of the Adviser or a Solicitor is subject to any event listed in Rule 506(d)(1).

(d) The Fund shall offer and sell Interests only to Eligible Insurance Funds and Eligible Insurance Companies that have certified that they (i) are Accredited Investors and Qualified Purchasers and (ii) will purchase and hold Interests, directly or indirectly, solely for the benefit of policy owners that they reasonably believe are Accredited Investors and Qualified Purchasers; provided, however, that the Fund may offer and sell Interests to employee benefit plans and other funds subject to ERISA and/or Section 4975 of the Code that meet the requirements of clause (i). Further, the Fund shall, with the exception of any Compliant Seed Investment, issue Interests only to Eligible Insurance Funds and Eligible Insurance Companies with which it has entered into an agreement containing provisions substantially similar to those provisions of this Agreement listed on Schedule A-2 hereto.

(e) The Fund shall invest, hold and dispose of its assets in compliance with the Tax Requirements. The Fund or the Adviser shall promptly notify the Company upon forming a reasonable belief that the Fund has ceased, or may cease, to comply with the Tax Requirements, and shall cure any non-conformance within the period for cure afforded by Regulations 1.817-5. The Fund and the Adviser acknowledge that the Fund's compliance with the Tax Requirements is material to their performance under this Agreement.

(f) The Fund shall be operated so as to maintain its treatment for U.S. federal income tax purposes as a partnership, or if there is only one Interest Owner, a disregarded entity, under the Code, and the Fund or the Adviser shall promptly notify the Company upon forming a reasonable belief that the Fund has ceased, or may cease, to qualify for such tax treatment.

(g) The Fund, the Adviser and their respective officers, directors, employees, principals, affiliates and other representatives shall comply with the requirements set forth on Schedule D hereto so as to prevent any Policy Owner from having "incidents of control" under the Investor Control Doctrine (as defined on Schedule D hereto).

(h) The Fund's assets shall be invested in compliance with the investment restrictions set forth on Schedule B hereto, as the same may be modified from time to time pursuant to Section 5.1.

(i) The Adviser is and will exercise commercially reasonable best efforts to remain registered with the SEC as an investment adviser; provided that the Adviser shall be deemed to be so registered if it qualifies as a "relying" Adviser. If the Adviser applies to withdraw its registration, the Adviser shall notify the Company at least thirty (30) days prior to the intended effective date of its withdrawal.

(j) The Adviser is exempt from registration as a commodity pool operator ("CPO") pursuant to CFTC Rule 4.13(a)(3) and shall notify the Company as soon as reasonably practicable upon forming a reasonable belief that such exempt status will change.

(k) The Adviser shall have the sole discretionary authority over the Fund's investments and shall manage the Fund in accordance with the Operating Agreement and the Fund PPM; provided that, for the avoidance of doubt, the Fund may invest in Portfolio Funds (as defined in the Fund PPM) and the like, in the manner contemplated in the Fund PPM.

(l) The Fund PPM does not contain any untrue statement of material fact, other than with respect to information provided in writing by the Company for inclusion in the Fund PPM. For the avoidance of doubt, the Fund is not representing whether the Fund PPM meets the full standards of disclosure contemplated under the 1933 Act, and the U.S. Securities and Exchange Act, as amended, for issuers registered under such Acts, or for issuers that are not so registered.

(m) No material change shall be made to the Operating Agreement or the Fund PPM (e.g., a change to the Fund's investment objective or strategies) without at least thirty (30) days' prior notice to the Company. Any updates thereto shall be promptly delivered to the Company.

(n) Subject to Section 4.1(k), the Fund shall be responsible for anti-money laundering compliance related to its activities, and shall maintain and implement policies and procedures reasonably designed to discharge its obligations under applicable federal laws and regulations regarding money laundering, including, but not limited to, the USA PATRIOT Act of 2001, the regulations of the Treasury and the Executive Orders related to OFAC; provided that for the avoidance of doubt the Fund may delegate such compliance in a manner that is substantially consistent with standard practices of private investment funds in the U.S.

(o) The Company shall be provided the most recent audited financial statements of the Fund as soon as reasonably practicable after they become available.

(p) Neither the Fund nor the Adviser shall disseminate any information, or make any representation or statement, to any person concerning the Company or the Company Contracts other than the information, representations and statements contained in the Contract PPM, the Fund PPM, any Sales Literature approved by the Company pursuant to Section 5.3, or available in the public domain.

(q) Unless the Company otherwise consents, the Fund and the Adviser shall use its commercially reasonable best efforts to ensure that all communications related specifically to the Company Contracts, shall only be between the Company and a Policy Owner or Policy Representative.

(r) The Fund shall maintain and implement commercially reasonable procedures to safeguard the confidentiality and integrity of their records with respect to the Fund and the Company.

(s) The Fund shall promptly notify the Company upon any change to a service provider to the Company.

(t) The Fund is not aware of any conflict between this Agreement and any law or other obligation to which it or the Advisor may not be subject.

(u) The Fund shall promptly notify the Company of any change in the information set forth in this Section 4.2.

(v) The Fund shall not invest in a "passive foreign investment company" (a "PFIC") as defined in Section 1297(a) of the Code unless, prior to making such investment, the Fund has certified to the Company that (i) such PFIC will comply with the requirements of Section 1295(a)(2) of the Code and the Treasury regulations thereunder (e.g., that the PFIC provide its "qualifying electing fund" ("QEF") shareholders with a PFIC Annual Information Statement) or (ii) the Fund will provide information reasonably equivalent to the information contained in a PFIC Annual Information Statement. If the Fund or the Company determines that a PFIC is not in compliance with its QEF reporting requirements, the Fund shall take any steps necessary to cause the PFIC to comply therewith.

4.3 Of the Adviser. The Adviser represents, warrants and covenants to the Company that the Adviser shall use reasonable efforts to provide the Company with any information concerning the Adviser that the Company requires in making any filings with any government authority having regulatory authority over the Company.

4.4 Mutual Representations, Warranties and Covenants. Each of the Company and the Fund hereto represents and warrants to, and for the benefit of, and covenants and agrees with the other Parties that:

(a) it shall use reasonable efforts to cooperate with each other Party and any governmental authority in respect of any such authority's investigation or inquiry concerning this Agreement or any of the transactions contemplated hereby;

(b) the Adviser and the Company are not in an affiliate or agency relationship;

(c) upon reasonable notice, the execution and delivery of this Agreement and the consummation of the transactions contemplated herein (i) have been duly authorized by all necessary corporate or other formal action by such Party and, when executed and delivered, this Agreement shall be a valid and binding obligation upon such Party enforceable in accordance with its terms; and (ii) the transactions contemplated thereto do not and will not violate, conflict with or constitute a default under any requirement of any law or any regulation of Bermuda, the U.S. or otherwise (including, without limitation, any Bermuda private act);

(d) except as otherwise set forth herein, the provisions of this Agreement shall be deemed to control in the case of any conflict between the provisions of this Agreement and the provisions of the Fund PPM, Operating Agreement, or any other agreement entered into between the Company and the Fund or the Adviser;

(e) the Operating Agreement and the Fund PPM, as currently in effect, shall have been delivered to the Company prior to the signing of this Agreement; and

(f) the representations, warranties and covenants contained in this Agreement and the Fund Agreements (collectively, the "Party Documents") are the only representations, warranties and covenants that have been made by any Party to any other Party, and in entering into this Agreement, each Party has relied solely on the information contained in the Party Documents or that it obtained by its own independent investigation.

4.5 Duration. The representations, warranties and covenants contained in this Article IV shall be deemed continuing at all times until the termination of this Agreement.

ARTICLE V. INVESTMENT RESTRICTIONS; INFORMATION AND REPORTS; OTHER OBLIGATIONS

5.1 Revision of Investment Restrictions. The investment restrictions of the Company are as set forth on Schedule B hereto. The Company shall be permitted to request a change in such investment restrictions only if such change is necessitated by a change in the laws, regulations or interpretations thereof to which the Company is subject. The Company shall make a request for a change in its investment restrictions in writing to the Fund and the Adviser. If the Adviser determines in its absolute discretion that causing the Fund to comply with the revised investment restrictions proposed by the Company is in the best interests of the Interest Owners, the Parties shall amend Schedule B hereto accordingly. If the Adviser determines otherwise, it shall notify the Company within thirty (30) days of such determination.

5.2 Provision of Reports and Information. The Company shall provide to the Adviser, upon request, a specimen copy of the Contract PPM and each Company Contract. The Fund shall on a timely basis provide to the Company the following without charge:

(a) a current copy of the Fund PPM (and any amendment or supplement thereto) in any form the Company may reasonably request;

(b) electronic copies of those reports and other communications that the Fund provides to its Interest Owners, including its periodic performance reports (collectively, the "Fund Reports");

(c) any reports and information that the Company requires as a U.S. taxpayer; and

(d) any other documents that the Company may reasonably request of the Fund, including, but not limited to, its governing instruments, tax reports, marketing materials, and any government filings and updates and amendments thereto, including, but not limited to, the Adviser's Form ADV; provided that neither the Fund nor the Adviser need supply any agreements or documents of the Fund or the Adviser that are confidential.

5.3 Review of Sales Literature. Neither the Fund, the Adviser nor any person acting on their behalf shall use any Sales Literature in which the Company is named without the consent of the Company which shall not be unreasonably withheld or delayed.

5.4 Distribution of Certain Information by the Company. The Company shall be permitted, without further review or consent of the Fund or the Adviser, to deliver to Policy Owners, prospective Policy Owners, and their agents and representatives, the Fund PPM (and any amendments or supplements thereto), Fund Reports and any Sales Literature approved for such purposes by the Adviser.

5.5 Provision of Information Prior to Signing of Agreement. Prior to signing this Agreement, the Adviser has provided the Company with its most recent Form ADV, and any amendments thereto, as filed with the SEC.

Prior to signing this Agreement, the Fund or the Adviser has provided the Company with (a) the name and address of the Fund's independent auditor(s) and (b) upon the Company's request, a consent and authorization for the Company to contact the auditor(s) for information reasonably required about the auditor(s) and its/their relationship with the Fund and the Adviser. At any time the Fund retains a different independent auditor, the Fund or the Adviser shall provide the Company with the same consent and authorization upon request. For avoidance of doubt, the Company shall not be entitled to obtain access to the Fund's books and records pursuant to this Section 5.5.

Prior to signing this Agreement, CGIL has provided the Fund with its Class C certificate of registration issued to it by the Bermuda Monetary Authority and any directions and/or approvals relating to it issued by the Bermuda Monetary Authority pursuant to the Bermuda Insurance Act.

5.6 Certification of Investment Diversification. As soon as reasonably practicable after the end of each calendar quarter, but in no event later than the number of days after the end of such calendar quarter set forth on Schedule A-2 hereto, the Adviser shall deliver to the Company a written certification in the form of Schedule C hereto.

ARTICLE VI. EXPENSES

6.1 Expenses Borne by the Company. The Company shall bear all of the costs incurred in connection with the (i) filing and qualification of the Company Contracts under any applicable state insurance or securities laws; (ii) preparation of the Contract PPM and any other necessary disclosure documents or regulatory filings with respect to the Company Contracts or the Separate Accounts; (iii) preparation and dissemination to Policy Owners of Fund Reports and of all statements, notices or other documents required by applicable federal and state laws and regulations; (iv) dissemination of the Fund PPM to Policy Owners and prospective Policy Owners; and (v) performance of its obligations under this Agreement.

6.2 Expenses Borne by the Fund. The Fund shall bear all of the costs incurred in connection with the offering and sale of Interests to Interest Owners and the performance of its obligations under this Agreement, in addition to the other expenses it bears pursuant to the Operating Agreement and the Fund PPM.

ARTICLE VII. INDEMNIFICATION

7.1 Indemnification of Fund Parties. The Company shall indemnify and hold harmless the Fund and the Adviser (collectively, the "Fund Parties" and each, a "Fund Party"), against any and all claims, losses, damages or expenses, including without limitation any judgment, settlement, reasonable attorney's and accountant's fees and other costs or expenses incurred in connection with the defense of any actual or threatened action or proceeding (collectively, "Claims" and each, a "Claim"); provided, however, that a Fund Party shall be entitled to indemnification in respect of a Claim only if:

(a) the Claim does not arise out of its or another Fund Party's willful misfeasance, bad faith, gross negligence or breach of, or material failure to fulfill any of its representations, warranties or covenants contained herein, and

(b) the Claim arises out of, or is based upon, one of the following:

(i) the Company's fraud, willful default or gross negligence in performing its obligations under this Agreement; or

(ii) the Company's breach of, or material failure to fulfill, any representation, warranty, or covenant contained herein, or any material misrepresentation in connection therewith.

7.2 Indemnification of Company Parties. The Fund shall indemnify and hold harmless the Company and the Separate Accounts (collectively, the "Company Parties" and each, a "Company Party"), against any and all Claims; provided, however, that a Company Party shall be entitled to indemnification in respect of a Claim only if:

(a) the Claim does not arise out of its or another Company Party's willful misfeasance, bad faith, gross negligence or breach of, or material failure to fulfill to satisfy any of its representations, warranties or covenants contained herein, and

(b) the Claim arises out of, or is based upon, one of the following:

(i) the fraud, willful default or gross negligence of a Fund Party in performing its obligations under this Agreement; or

(ii) the breach of, or material failure to fulfill, by any Fund Party any representation, warranty, or covenant contained herein, or any material misrepresentation in connection therewith.

7.3 Other Indemnification Provisions. No indemnification, hold harmless, limitation of liability or similar provision in the Fund's Certificate of Formation, the Operating Agreement or any agreement to which the Fund or the Adviser is a party shall preclude or serve as a defense to the indemnification by the Fund of a Company Party pursuant to Section 7.2.

7.4 Notice of Claim of Indemnification. A Fund Party or Company Party seeking indemnification under this Article VII (an "Indemnified Party") shall give the Party obliged to provide indemnification under this Article VII (an "Indemnifying Party") written notice within a reasonable time after the Indemnified Party receives notice of a Claim; provided, however, that a failure to provide, or delay in providing, such notice shall not relieve the Indemnifying Party of any obligation it may have under this Article VII to indemnify the Indemnified Party, unless such failure or delay is the sole or primary cause of the Indemnifying Party's inability to effectively defend against the Claim and materially disadvantages the Indemnifying Party.

7.5 Assumption of or Participation in Defense Against Claims. In any situation where an Indemnified Person is directly involved in defending against a Claim, an Indemnifying Party shall be entitled to, at its own expense, (i) participate in the defense of the Claim or (ii) assume the defense against the Claim with counsel reasonably satisfactory to the Indemnified Party. If the Indemnifying Party elects to assume the defense of a Claim, the Indemnifying Party shall, after notice to the Indemnified Party of such election, have no obligation to bear any subsequent fees and expenses independently incurred by the Indemnified Party in connection with the defense of the Claim (excluding reasonable costs of investigation), except that the Indemnifying Party shall be liable for reasonable fees and expenses associated with additional counsel retained by the Indemnified Party where the Indemnifying Party and the Indemnified Person are both parties to the Claim and their representation by the same counsel would be inappropriate due to an actual or potential conflict of interests. Any assumption or participation in the defense of a Claim pursuant to this Section 7.5 shall not be construed as, or be deemed to create a presumption or inference of, an admission of liability or responsibility by the Indemnifying Party, and shall not estop or otherwise limit the Indemnifying Party from contesting liability in respect of the Claim.

7.6 Settlements. An Indemnifying Party shall not be obliged to indemnify an Indemnified Party for the settlement of any Claim that is effected without the former's prior written consent. An Indemnifying Party may settle any Claim on behalf of an Indemnified Party without the Indemnified Party's consent; provided, however, that the settlement involves solely the payment of damages, such damages are fully paid and results in a total release of the Indemnified Party from the Claim. To the extent that its consent to a settlement is required, an Indemnified Party shall not unreasonably withhold its consent to any settlement not involving injunctive relief.

7.7 Successors. A successor to any Party shall be entitled to all of the benefits, and shall be subject to the burdens, of this Article VII.

7.8 Survival. This Article VII shall survive the termination of this Agreement including, without limitation, a termination by reason of the breach or alleged breach of any representation, warranty or covenant of this Agreement.

ARTICLE VIII. TERMINATION

8.1 Termination Generally. Except as otherwise set forth in this Article VIII, no term of this Agreement shall terminate until the Separate Accounts no longer hold any Interests.

8.2 Effectiveness of Termination of Offering Obligation. A termination of the Offering Obligation pursuant to Section 8.2(a) shall take effect immediately. A termination pursuant to Section 8.2(b), (c), (d), (e) or (f) shall be effective immediately after the Fund provides notice to the Company of such termination.

8.3 Mandatory Withdrawal. The Fund shall have the right to require the Company, upon at least the number of days' prior written notice to the Company set forth on Schedule A-2 hereto, to redeem any Interest(s) attributable to any Company Contract that ceases to qualify as a Variable Contract or that the Fund reasonably believes will fail to so qualify. The timing of such mandatory withdrawal shall be specified in the Fund's notice to the Company and shall be determined with reference to Section 817(h) of the Code.

8.4 Termination by Company. Notwithstanding anything in this Agreement to the contrary, either the Fund or the Company may terminate this Agreement immediately and without penalty to such party:

(a) from the date hereof until November 30, 2017, upon at least 30 days' prior written notice to the Fund and the Adviser, or

(b) if the Fund or the Adviser has materially breached a representation, warranty or covenant under this Agreement and has failed to cure such breach after being given a reasonable opportunity to cure; provided, however, that the Company need not provide the Fund or the Adviser a reasonable opportunity to cure if the material breach may, in the Company's reasonable judgment, materially and adversely affect the Company or any of its Separate Accounts or Company Contracts, or any regulatory authority, including, but not limited to, the SEC and any state regulatory authority, has instituted a formal proceeding against the Fund or the Adviser, and the anticipated outcome of such proceeding would, in the Company's reasonable judgment, materially impair the Fund's or the Adviser's ability to perform its obligations under this Agreement or under the Operating Agreement.

ARTICLE IX. NOTICES, REQUESTS OR CONSENTS

9.1 Any notice, consent, request or other communication required or permitted by this Agreement (a "Communication") to the Fund or the Adviser shall be sent to its address set forth on Schedule A-2 hereto or such other address as the Fund or the Adviser shall designate in writing to the other Parties. Any Communication to the Company required or permitted by this Agreement shall be sent to the address set forth below. Every Communication shall be in writing; shall be sent by registered or certified U.S. mail with return receipt requested, by overnight delivery with a nationally recognized courier, or by electronically transmitted facsimile or other electronic transmission, including electronic mail, with confirmed electronic receipt; and shall be effective upon the earlier of actual receipt and the 10th Business Day after sending.

9.2 Each Party may rely conclusively upon, and shall not incur any liability for any action taken in reliance upon, any Communication that it reasonably believes, in good faith, to be genuine and properly authorized by another Party.

ARTICLE X. PRIVACY OBLIGATIONS

10.1 The Company is, and each of the Fund and the Adviser may be, a financial institution subject to Privacy Law. To the extent that a Party is subject to Privacy Law, it shall not use or disclose any Customer Information received from another Party unless such use or disclosure is:

(a) required by law, regulation or rule, or permitted by Privacy Law;

(b) necessary to carry out the purposes for which the Party was given the Customer Information; or

(c) authorized by the express written consent of the Policy Owner or prospective Policy Owner to which the Customer Information relates, where such consent specifies the purposes for which such Customer Information may be used or disclosed.

10.2 Each Party shall establish and maintain safeguards against any unauthorized access to, or destruction, loss or alteration of, any Customer Information in its possession or control, which safeguards must be at least as rigorous as those the Party uses to secure its own information of a similar nature.

10.3 Notwithstanding anything in this Agreement to the contrary, including Section 11.7, each Party is expressly authorized hereby to disclose to any person, without limitation of any kind, the tax treatment and tax structure of the transactions contemplated herein and all materials related thereto that are or were provided to such Party.

10.4 Each Party agrees to keep confidential any Confidential Information that such Party may acquire as a result of this Agreement or any transaction in connection therewith and to ensure that no such Confidential Information is disclosed to or utilized by any of such Party's affiliates or any of its or their respective officers, directors, employees, agents or other representatives (each, a "Relevant Person") except for the purpose of permitting a Party to perform its obligations and/or enforce such Party's rights under this Agreement, the Fund Agreements or any transaction in connection therewith or pursuant to this Section 10 and Section 11.4 hereof.

ARTICLE XI. MISCELLANEOUS

11.1 Governing Law. It is the intention of the Parties that the internal laws of Bermuda, as the same may be amended from time to time, shall govern the validity of this Agreement, the construction of its terms and the interpretation of the rights and duties of the Parties.

11.2 Entire Agreement. This Agreement, together with any amendments hereto and any other agreements referred to herein (including, without limitation, the Fund Agreements), shall constitute the entire agreement among the Parties with respect to the subject matter hereof, and shall supersede any prior agreement or understanding, oral or written, among the Parties with respect to the subject matter hereof.

11.3 Waiver. A Party's failure to insist, or delay in insisting, upon another Party's performance of any term of this Agreement shall not be construed as a waiver of the performance of such term.

11.4 Access to Books and Records. Each Party shall, upon request, provide each other Party and any governmental authority with reasonable access to its books and records to the extent that such request relates to a governmental authority's investigation or inquiry concerning this Agreement or any of the transactions contemplated herein. To the extent permitted by applicable law, the access provided pursuant to this Section 11.4 shall not extend to any attorney work product or information protected by the attorney-client privilege.

11.5 Assignment. No Party shall assign any right or obligation under this Agreement to a third party without the prior written consent of all of the Parties, which consent shall not be unreasonably withheld. Notwithstanding the previous sentence, the Company may assign, without the consent of the Fund or the Adviser, any right or obligation under this Agreement to another insurance company that controls, is controlled by or under common control with the Company; provided, however, that the Company provides the Fund and the Adviser with notice as soon as reasonably practicable after such assignment.

11.6 Third-Party Beneficiary. This Agreement is not intended to and shall not convey any rights to persons not party to this Agreement.

11.7 Confidentiality. No Party shall disclose the terms of this Agreement to any persons not party to this Agreement, except that a Party may disclose the terms of this Agreement to comply with a legal or regulatory requirement or request, or to its representatives where such disclosure is necessary to the Party's performance of its obligations under this Agreement; provided that the Company agrees and acknowledges the disclosures concerning the subject matter hereof set forth in the Fund PPM, and disclosures of a similar nature.

11.8 Amendment. No amendment or modification to this Agreement shall be binding upon any Party unless reduced to a writing signed by all of the Parties.

11.9 Rights and Remedies. The rights, remedies and obligations contained in this Agreement are in addition to any and all rights, remedies and obligations, at law or in equity, to which the Parties are entitled under state and federal laws.

11.10 Severability. In the event that any provision of this Agreement shall be declared invalid or unenforceable, such invalidity or unenforceability shall not affect the validity or enforceability of the other provisions of this Agreement, it being hereby agreed that such provisions are severable and that this Agreement shall be construed in all respects as if such invalid or unenforceable provision were omitted.

11.11 Headings. The headings in this Agreement are inserted for convenience of reference only and shall not be considered part of this Agreement or affect this Agreement's interpretation.

11.12 Counterparts. This Agreement may be executed in two or more counterparts, each of which shall be deemed an original and which together shall constitute one and the same instrument.

SCHEDULE D

INVESTOR CONTROL REQUIREMENTS

The Adviser and each of its officers, employees, agents, affiliates or sub-advisers that is in any capacity responsible for, or involved in the determination of, the Fund's investments or investment objective, strategies or policies (each, an "Adviser Party"), shall not take any action that would cause any Policy Owner or Policy Representative (together with such Policy Owner, a "Policy Party") to be deemed to have such incidents of control as would cause the Fund's income and gains to be currently taxable to the Policy Owner pursuant to the "Investor Control Doctrine" as set forth in Revenue Rulings 77-85, 80-274, 81-225, 82-54, 2003-91, 2003-92, or 2007-7, or described in other materials published by the U.S. Department of the Treasury or the U.S. Internal Revenue Service. In seeking to ensure that no Policy Party is deemed to have incidents of control, each Adviser Party shall at all times act in compliance with the requirements of this Schedule D, as set forth below:

1. All decisions involving the investment of the Fund's assets shall be made by the relevant Adviser Party in its sole and absolute discretion, without any direct or indirect input from any Policy Party.

2. No Adviser Party shall enter into, directly or indirectly, any agreement, plan or other arrangement, whether written or otherwise, with a Policy Party regarding (i) the Fund's investments or investment objective, strategies or policies; (ii) the availability of the Fund as an investment option under the Policy Owner's policy; or (iii) the assets to be held by the Fund.

3. To the extent that the Adviser provides information (i) to a prospective Policy Owner or representative thereof as part of a direct or indirect sale of a Variable Contract, or (ii) to the Company for the Company to communicate with a Policy Party, any Adviser Party may describe: (a) the past performance of the Fund or related performance information with respect to the Fund; (b) its general view of market and industry trends (e.g., its belief that interest rates will rise in the short-term or that technology stocks are over-valued); (c) the background, education and past employment of its staff, including the performance of other funds under its management; and (d) other due diligence information that the Adviser generally provides to prospective investors with respect to the Adviser's other funds and accounts so long as such information does not relate to the quality or rate of return of any investment or group of investments of the Fund.

4. Without limiting the foregoing, no Adviser Party shall knowingly discuss, communicate or solicit in any manner, whether directly or indirectly, the views of any Policy Party on the current or future investments, objectives, strategies or policies of the Fund, either in general or specific terms.

5. No Adviser Party shall at any time be affiliated with a Policy Party; provided, however, that an Adviser Party may maintain such an affiliation if it establishes, pursuant to a legally binding written agreement, procedures to prevent any communication prohibited by this Schedule D.

6. The Company understands that the Adviser provides investment management services to a variety of clients outside the context of Variable Contracts. The Company further understands that the Adviser may provide such services to clients that are Policy Parties. The Adviser recognizes that these relationships could present an opportunity for a Policy Party to communicate with any Adviser Party concerning the Fund in a manner prohibited by this Schedule D. The Adviser shall take appropriate steps to comply with this Schedule D in the context of any such relationships.

We have assumed the genuineness of all signatures, the legal capacity of natural persons, the authenticity of all documents submitted to us as originals and the conformity with original documents of all documents submitted to us as copies, the fact that each party to an agreement has the power and capacity to execute, deliver and perform all obligations under such documents, the due authorization of all requisite action with respect to such documents (including the execution and delivery thereof) by each party thereto, and the validity and binding effect of such documents upon each party. II. STATEMENT OF FACTS

A. The Dallas Foundation ("TDF") is a Texas non-profit corporation exempt from federal income taxation under Section 501(c)(3) of the U.S. Internal Revenue Code, as amended ("Code"), and a public charity described in Sections 509(a)(1) and 170(b)(1)(A)(vi) of the Code.

B. The principal objective of TDF is to solicit, receive and accept property to be administered, used and applied for charitable purposes, primarily, but not exclusively in or for the benefit of Dallas County, Texas. TDF is not controlled by James Dondero, Mark Okada or Highland Capital Management, L.P.

C. Empower Dallas Foundation, Inc. ("Supporting Organization #1") is a Delaware non-profit non-stock charitable corporation which has been established to operate exclusively for the benefit of, to perform the functions of, or carry out the purposes of TDF.

D. The Okada Family Foundation, Inc. ("Supporting Organization #2") is a Delaware non-profit non-stock charitable corporation which has been established to operate exclusively for the benefit of, to perform the functions of, or carry out the purposes of TDF.

E. Supporting Organization #1 and Supporting Organization #2 each expect to obtain a determination letter from the U.S. Internal Revenue Service ("IRS") that each such Supporting Organization, respectively, is a tax-exempt organization described in Section 501(c)(3) of the Code and a "Type I" supporting organization described in Section 509(a)(3) of the Code. For the avoidance of doubt, such tax-exempt status is expected to be effective retroactively to the date of each Supporting Organization's formation, respectively.

F. As a result of qualifying as Type I supporting organizations under Section 509(a)(3) of the Code, Supporting Organization #1 and Supporting Organization #2 will each be exempted from private foundation status under Section 509(a) of the Code.

G. Mary M. Jalonick is the President and Chief Executive Officer of TDF, and is the Incorporator of both Supporting Organization #1 and Supporting Organization #2.[1]

H. Supporting Organization #1 has been formed at the request of James Dondero. On December 8, 2015, Mr. Dondero contributed $16,034,978.50 to Supporting Organization #1. On December 22, 2015, Mr. Dondero contributed $6,415,000 to Supporting Organization #1. At the present time, Mr. Dondero is the only contributor to Supporting Organization #1. Although Mr. Dondero made a recommendation to the Board as to how the Board should invest such contributions (as described below), the Board of Supporting Organization #1 is not contractually obligated to follow the investment recommendations of Mr. Dondero at the time such contributions are made or at any later date.

I. Supporting Organization #2 has been formed at the request of Mark Okada. On December 8, 2015, Mr. Okada contributed $5,345,021.50 to Supporting Organization #2. On December 22, 2015 Mr. Okada contributed $2,138,333.33 to Supporting Organization #2. Although Mr. Okada made a recommendation to the Board as to how such contributions should be invested (as described below), the Board of Supporting Organization #2 is not contractually obligated to follow the investment recommendations of Mr. Okada at the time such contributions are made or at any later date.

J. Under the relevant governing documents, TDF has total control over both Supporting Organization #1 and Supporting Organization #2, as the institutional member ("Institutional Member") of each Supporting Organization. The Institutional Member appoints the majority of each Supporting Organization's Board of Directors. The Board of Directors of each Supporting Organization appoints the officers of the Supporting Organization. The officers of each Supporting Organization can be removed with or without cause by the Board of Directors of such Supporting Organization.

K. Supporting Organization #1 currently has a three-person Board of Directors. Mary M. Jalonick and Gary W. Garcia are the institutional directors ("Institutional Directors") of the Board of Supporting Organization #1. Gary W. Garcia currently serves as Senior Director of Development of TDF. The third member of the Board is W. Grant Scott II. Mr. Scott is an attorney engaged in private practice at Myers Bigel Sibley Sajovec, P.A. in Raleigh, North Carolina and knows Mr. Dondero from college.

L. Supporting Organization #2 also currently has a three-person Board of Directors. Mary M. Jalonick and Gary W. Garcia are the Institutional Directors. Mark Okada is the third member of the Board.

M. Mr. Dondero has recommended to the Board of Supporting Organization #1 that it invest its assets in a private placement deferred variable annuity policy (referred to herein as a "Variable Contract" or "Deferred Variable Annuity Policy") to be issued by Crown Global Life Insurance Ltd., a Bermuda-based insurance company ("Crown Global") that is a life insurance company within the meaning of the Code. Mr. Okada has made the same investment recommendation to the Board of Supporting Organization #2. However, the Boards of each Supporting Organization are not bound by those recommendations, and retain the authority to reallocate premiums or assets to different IDFs or managed accounts available under the Crown Global Variable Contracts.

N. Crown Global maintains a segregated asset account ("Separate Account") pursuant to Bermuda law to hold assets that fund obligations arising under each Variable Contract issued by it. Under the terms of the Contracts and Bermuda law, assets allocated or credited to each Separate Account are the property of the insurance company and the policyholder has no direct proprietary interest in such assets. Rather, the Supporting Organizations have only a contractual claim against Crown Global to collect cash from Crown Global in the form of annuity payments or other withdrawals available under the Variable Contract. The performance of the investments held in the applicable Separate Account provide the measure for the economic return to the investor in the Variable Contract. The Crown Global Variable Contracts purchased by the Supporting Organizations provided that the investor was permitted to choose among certain "insurance dedicated funds" ("IDF" as further defined below) and managed accounts selected by Crown Global as available investments that could be held in the Separate Account identified in the Contract. One such IDF that was designated by Crown Global as an available investment option that the investors in the Variable Contract were permitted to select is Atlas IDF, LP ("Atlas IDF"), a newly formed Delaware "series" limited partnership managed by Rand Advisors, LLC ("Rand Advisors"). The Variable Contract also lists two other IDFs as investment options which the policyholder is able to select, JP Morgan Access Growth Strategies Insurance Fund, and JP Morgan Hedge Growth Strategies Insurance Fund. None of the IDFs or other managed funds available under the Variable Contracts will be funds that are offered to the general public under the IRS rulings discussed herein.

O. The Variable Contract does not immediately payout distributions in accordance with a distribution schedule. The policyholders, Supporting Organization #1 and Supporting Organization #2 have the ability to make partial(s) or a full surrender of the Variable Contract at quarterly intervals, subject to applicable surrender charges. Further, as policyholders, Supporting Organization #1 and Supporting Organization #2 can decide at quarterly intervals (but no more than twice per calendar year) to reallocate funds from one investment option provided under the Variable Contract to another investment option offered by Crown Global under the Variable Contract.

P. Crown Global, in its sole and exclusive discretion, can determine the investment offering within its offered insurance products and is under no legal requirement to make any particular offering of an investment strategy currently or in the future or to maintain an investment strategy offering. Crown Global, in its sole and absolute discretion, can terminate or remove an investment offering at any time in the future. All decisions as to the choice of IDFs or managed accounts that are made available for selection by the investor in the Variable Contract are made by Crown Global in its sole and absolute discretion. Mr. Dondero recommended to the Board of Supporting Organization #1 that it select Atlas IDF as the measuring investment under its Variable Contract. Mr. Okada made the same investment recommendations to the Board of Supporting Organization #2 as those made by Mr. Dondero to Supporting Organization #1.

Q. On December 9, 2015, the Directors of Supporting Organization #1 and Supporting Organization #2 each unanimously approved resolutions authorizing the acquisition by the Supporting Organization of the Deferred Variable Annuity Policy from Crown Global, and authorized the officers of the Supporting Organization to take any and all further actions to carry out such acquisition.

R. On December 10, 2015, Supporting Organization #1 wired an initial premium to Crown Global of $15,903,108.54 with respect to the Variable Contract. On December 22, 2015, Supporting Organization #1 wired additional premium of $6,352,270 to Crown Global with respect to the Variable Contract.

S. Effective December 11th, 2015, Crown Global issued Deferred Variable Annuity Policy #30218 to Supporting Organization #1. Supporting Organization #1 is named the policyholder and irrevocably the sole beneficiary of the Variable Contract.

T. On December 10, 2015, Supporting Organization #2 wired an initial premium to Crown Global of $5,301,065.12 with respect to the Variable Contract. On December 22, 2015, Supporting Organization #2 wired additional premium of $2,117,423.00 to Crown Global with respect to the Variable Contract.

U. Effective December 11th, 2015, Crown Global issued Deferred Variable Annuity Policy #30219 to Supporting Organization #2. Supporting Organization #2 is named the policyholder and irrevocably the sole beneficiary of the Variable Contract.

V. Crown Global is a subsidiary of Crown Global Insurance Group and is not affiliated with or controlled by Mr. Dondero or Mr. Okada, or Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Highland"), which is the business conducted by Messrs. Dondero and Okada. Highland is an investment manager business, with significant assets under management, located in Dallas, Texas. Crown Global has made an election under the Code to be treated as a domestic life insurance company.

W. In addition to acting as the investment manager of Atlas IDF, Rand Advisors will also act as the investment manager of Rand PE Fund I, L.P., a Delaware "series" limited partnership private investment fund ("PE Portfolio Fund"), to which Atlas IDF will initially allocate 55% of its investment portfolio and which: (x) is expected to initially invest in the Highland Transaction (as defined below), and (y) will potentially make investments in other private equity transactions. The Supporting Organizations have not been offered the opportunity to invest directly in the PE Portfolio Fund, and Crown Global has not designated the PE Fund as an available investment option for inclusion in a Separate Account with respect to the Variable Contracts purchased by the Supporting Organizations.

X. Atlas IDF has been organized by Rand Advisors as an "insurance-dedicated fund" (i.e., an investment fund that only admits institutional investors that are insurance companies and certain other eligible investors described in Treasury Regulation section 1.817(h)-5(f)(3)). The confidential private placement memorandum of Atlas IDF provides that Series 1 of Atlas IDF will invest: (x) approximately 45% of its portfolio in traded assets (including, without limitation, distressed debt instruments), to be selected and managed by Rand Advisors, and (y) approximately (but not more than) 55% of its portfolio in private equity investments, to be selected and managed by Rand Advisors. The percentage of Atlas IDF's assets invested in specific private equity investments is not fixed, and is subject to change by Rand Advisors. However, Atlas IDF is required to satisfy the portfolio diversification requirements set forth in Section 1.817-5(b)(1) of the Treasury Regulations.

Y. At the outset, Crown Global will be the only insurance company owning a limited partnership interest in Atlas IDF. However, the governing documents of Atlas IDF permit other insurance companies to invest directly in Atlas IDF on behalf of their separate accounts established in connection with variable annuities and insurance contracts. Thus, Interests in Atlas IDF are not being offered for sale to the "general public" (within the meaning of IRS Rulings and Regulations discussed below), and thus such other investors could invest in Atlas IDF only indirectly by purchasing a Variable Contract from Crown Global (if Crown Global were to make the Atlas IDF available as an eligible investment). The PE Portfolio Fund in which Atlas IDF will invest is not an IDF. PE Portfolio Fund will have other direct investors that are not affiliates of Crown Global. Rand Advisors anticipates that it will market PE Portfolio Fund, or subsequent series thereof, to other investors in the future.

Z. Rand Advisors is owned and controlled by John Honis. In addition, Mr. Honis owns and controls the general partner entities of Atlas IDF and PE Portfolio Fund. Mr. Honis has over 25 years of investment management and business experience, and is not controlled by Highland, nor by Mr. Dondero, nor Mr. Okada.

AA. Mr. Honis was previously a Partner and Head of Private Equity at Highland. Although Mr. Honis has retired from that position, he still currently serves on: (x) the Board of Trustees for each of Highland's affiliated registered investment companies, and receives compensation in connection with each of the foregoing, and (y) the Board of Directors for American HomePatient, Inc. and Turtle Bay Resort, LLC, which are portfolio companies for investment funds operated by Highland, and receives compensation in connection with each of the foregoing. Mr. Honis does not currently own any limited partnership interests in Highland and does not have any direct share in the profits or revenues of such company. However, as part of his retirement, Mr. Honis is in the process of receiving payments in the total amount of $3 million from certain affiliates of Highland.

BB. The governing documents of Atlas IDF require such fund to comply with the portfolio diversification requirements in Section 817(h) of the Code. Similarly, the Variable Contracts each require the Separate Accounts established in connection with such Contracts to satisfy such portfolio diversification requirements. Each of the Variable Contracts specifically provides that the policyholder is not permitted to have direct contact with the investment manager of any IDF or managed subaccount held in the Separate Account and may not participate in the management of the Separate Account or any IDF or managed subaccount.

CC. It was anticipated solely among Rand Advisors, Strand Advisors (the General Partner of Highland Capital Management), James Dondero, and Mark Okada that the first series of PE Portfolio Fund would acquire all or substantially all of the non-voting limited partnership interests in Highland from Highland, including newly-issued limited partnership interests, or from trusts or other affiliates of Mr. Dondero or Mr. Okada (collectively, the "Highland Transaction"). Although with respect to any trusts, the Trustees would have to evaluate and approve any transaction independently and during the time of the relevant acquisition. During this time, the PE Portfolio Fund and Highland did not negotiate documentation for the legal terms of the Highland Transaction. Further, there was no assurances that such transaction would be consummated as it was understood that it would have to be negotiated, the respective parties had not made any offer (and would not until after the PE Portfolio Fund had assets), and that all parties would be separately represented by legal counsel. It was nonetheless the intention of such parties that the transaction should come about.

DD. At the time that the Supporting Organizations acquired their ownership interests in their Variable Contracts and had selected the Rand IDF as to investment to be held in the Separate Account, PE Portfolio Fund had not entered into a binding contract to acquire the previously described limited partnership interests in Highland, and the Institutional Members of the Boards of the Supporting Organizations did not have any knowledge of the terms of the investment subsequently made by the Rand PE Fund in Highland.

EE. On December 21, 2015, as part of the Highland Transaction, Hunter Mountain Investment Trust (a special purpose vehicle of PE Portfolio Fund) acquired through a contribution of cash and note, newly issued limited partnership interests in Highland Capital Management, L.P.

FF. On December 24, 2015, as part of the Highland Transaction, Hunter Mountain Investment Trust acquired through purchase from trusts affiliated with Mr. Dondero and Mr. Okada, and Mr. Okada individually, newly reclassified limited partnership interests in Highland Capital Management, L.P.

GG. Hunter Mountain Investment Trust's acquisition of substantially all the interests in Highland Capital Management, L.P. was at a substantial discount to book value. The substantial discount offered reflects the overall donative intent of Mr. Dondero and Mr. Okada to engage in the transaction.

HH. The Variable Contract/Separate Account structure may provide a federal income tax advantage to the Supporting Organizations if the income realized by such Supporting Organizations as a result of ownership of their Variable Contracts would not be treated as taxable unrelated business taxable income ("UBTI") under the Code. In contrast, if either Supporting Organization were to acquire a direct ownership interest in an investment partnership such as Atlas IDF, such Supporting Organization would almost certainly realize taxable UBTI if Atlas IDF owned, directly, or through other partnerships, equity interests in business partnerships (such as Highland) or debt-financed assets.

II. The Variable Contract/Separate Account structure may also provide state and local tax advantages to the Supporting Organizations since the structure enables the Supporting Organizations to avoid being treated as engaged in business in the states and localities in which the underlying portfolio companies that are partnerships are engaged in business.

JJ. Crown Global has represented that (1) it qualifies as a life insurance company under the Code; (2) it has made an effective election to be treated as a domestic corporation for U.S. federal income tax purposes; and (3) the terms of the Variable Contracts to be purchased by the Supporting Organizations would meet the requirements of Section 72 of the Code to be treated as annuity contracts under such Code Section if such Contracts were held by a "natural person" (within the meaning of Code Section 72(u)).

KK. Mr. Dondero and Mr. Okada (the "Donors") are entering into the transactions described herein based on a donative intent to provide funds to be used by TDF, a public charity.

LL. Prior to making any investments in the Variable Contracts to be issued by Crown Global, the Dallas Foundation had their independent financial consultant evaluate John Honis, as an investment manager acting through Rand Advisors, and the proposed investment strategy offered by him through an insurance dedicated fund that combined a private equity and liquid investment strategy for the Supporting Organizations.

MM. The Dallas Foundation's independent financial consultant recommended to The Dallas Foundation that such investment strategies used by John Honis would be a prudent investment by each of the Supporting Organizations through a deferred variable contract policy issued by an insurance company.

NN. Prior to making any investments in the Variable Contracts to be issued by Crown Global, the Board of each Supporting Organization received (1) the confidential private placement memorandum prepared by Crown Global with respect to the Variable Contracts, and (2) the confidential private placement memorandum detailing the terms of the Atlas IDF.

OO. The decision made by each Board to invest in its Variable Contract and to designate the Atlas IDF as the designated investment to be made by the Separate Account of Crown Global were made on the basis of the anticipated investment returns on the underlying investments that will be made and managed by Rand Advisors.

III. ASSUMPTIONS MADE

You have authorized us to make the following assumptions for the purpose of rendering our opinion stated herein:

A. Mr. Honis will manage the investments of Rand IDF and the PE Portfolio Fund in order to provide attractive returns to the current and future investors in such funds. Mr. Honis' performance will affect his ability to attract additional investors to such funds (including separate series funds) as well as any other funds subsequently managed by Rand Advisors.

B. Atlas IDF will, at all times, comply with the applicable diversification requirements under Section 817(h) of the Code. In order to achieve such compliance, Atlas IDF will restrict the ownership of equity interests in Atlas IDF to those investors described in Treasury Regulation 1.817-5(f).

C. The Boards of the Supporting Organizations will control any decisions made to be made as the owner of the Variable Contract, including any decisions to withdraw funds from the Variable Contract, to move funds from Atlas IDF to other investments that Crown Global may offer under the Variable Contract, or to invest additional funds of the Supporting Organization in Atlas IDF through the Variable Contract.

D. Highland is a successful investment management firm and it would be able to raise additional capital from other sources if it chose to do so.

E. The intentions of the parties are that, for federal income tax purposes,: (1) Crown Global will at all times be treated as the owner of the limited partnership interests in Atlas IDF that provide an economic return for the Variable Contracts owned by the Supporting Organizations; (2) each Supporting Organization will be treated as the owner of its Variable Contract; (3) Mr. Dondero and Mr. Okada will each be treated as having made charitable contributions in cash to their Supporting Organizations in the amounts described in the facts above; (4) any sales of partnership interests in Highland by Mr. Dondero or Mr. Okada, any trust established by M. Dondero or Mr. Okada or any related party to such Donors, to the PE Portfolio Fund will be treated as sales occurring between the applicable seller and the PE Portfolio Fund.

F. Neither Supporting Organization will incur "acquisition indebtedness" within the meaning of Section 514 of the Code with respect to its Variable Contract at any time.

IV. REQUESTED OPINIONS

You have asked us to render an opinion on the following issues:

1. Whether the Internal Revenue Service could successfully contend that, under the facts and assumptions described above, the owners of the Variable Contracts, i.e., the two Supporting Organizations, are to be treated as owners for federal income tax purposes of the underlying investments held in the Crown Global Separate Accounts established in connection with such Variable Contracts.

2. Whether the income realized by the Supporting Organizations from their investment in the Variable Contracts will be exempt from the tax imposed under Section 511 of the Code on the "unrelated business taxable income" of tax-exempt entities described in Section 511(a).

V. LEGAL ANALYSIS

Tax Benefits for Tax-Exempt Organizations Investing in Variable Annuity Contracts

U.S. tax-exempt entities described in Section 501 of the Code, such as the Supporting Organizations, are subject to federal income tax on their unrelated business taxable income (UBTI). UBTI is defined in Section 512 as income from a "trade or business" that is regularly carried on by the tax-exempt organization, or a partnership in which it a partner, and which is not substantially related to the exempt organization's exempt purpose or function. UBTI also includes income from "debt-financed property" as defined in Section 514. Debt-financed property is property held to produce income with respect to which "acquisition indebtedness" exists at any time in the taxable year (or, if the property is sold or disposed during the year, with respect to which there was any acquisition indebtedness at any time during the 12-month period ending on the date of such disposition).

Section 512(b)(1) specifically exempts "annuities" from UBTI, along with other notable categories of investment income, including interest, dividends, capital gains and rent from real property. However, the specific statutory exemptions from UBTI do not apply to the extent such income items are unrelated debt-financed income under Code Section 514. Where debt-financed property is involved, UBTI includes the income from the property multiplied by its "debt-basis percentage" (a percentage equal to "average acquisition indebtedness" divided by "average adjusted basis").

The term "annuities" is not defined in Section 512 or the Treasury regulations ("Regulations") thereunder. There is also no comprehensive definition of annuity or "annuity contract' in Section 72 (governing tax treatment of distributions from life insurance and annuity contracts) or elsewhere in the Code. The Regulations under Section 72 provide that an annuity contract that is subject to the rules of Section 72 includes a contract that is recognizable as an annuity under the "customary" practices of life insurance companies. See Treas. Reg. Section 1.72-2(a)(1). Under Section 72, if the entire value of an annuity contract is applied to a stream of periodic payments, each of these payments will be partly included in income and (because of nondeductible premium payments) partly excludible as a return of capital, pursuant to an "exclusion ratio". Under Section 72(e)(2)(A), any non-annuity amount received under an annuity contract (including withdrawals and partial surrenders) on or after the "annuity starting date" are treated as "gross income". Any non-annuity amounts received before the annuity starting date may be treated as gross income or a return of the policyholder's investment in the contract under rules set forth in Section 72(e)(3).

Tax Status of Separate Accounts. Life insurance companies have segregated asset accounts that are created and regulated under the laws of various states or foreign jurisdictions. These accounts are typically formed for the purpose of segregating assets attributable to variable life insurance contracts, variable annuities and group contracts from the general assets of the life insurance company. In Revenue Ruling 78-204, the IRS ruled that a segregated asset account established by a life insurance company is not an organization that can be taxed separately from the insurance company. The Ruling states that if a segregated asset account holds assets pursuant to contracts described in former Code section 801(g)(1) (which includes variable annuity contracts or contracts with reserves based on a segregated asset account), it is taxed as part of the insurance company.

Code Section 817: Statutory Diversification Requirements. To discourage consumer use of various insurance type products as investment vehicles, Congress in 1984 granted the Treasury authority to prescribe diversification standards for the investment of variable contract assets held in segregated asset accounts. The legislative history states the Congress's goal in so doing was "to deny annuity or life insurance treatment for investments that are publicly available to investors and investments which are made, in effect, at the direction of the investor." H.R. Conf. Rep. No. 98-561, at p. 1055 (1984).

Under the Treasury Regulations, a separate account will be considered adequately diversified if no more than 55% of the total value of the account is represented by any one investment; no more than 70% of the total value of the account is represented by any two investments; no more than 80% of the total value is represented by any three investments; and no more than 90% of the total value is represented by any four investments. Treas. Regs. Sec. 1.817-5(b)(1).

For purposes of testing diversification, Section 817(h)(4) and Section 1.817-5(f) of the Regulations provide a look through for assets held in certain investment entities, including partnerships, trusts and investment companies, provided that the beneficial interest in the investment entity are held by one or more segregated asset accounts of one or more insurance companies, and public access to such investment entity is available exclusively (except as otherwise permitted by Regs. Sec. 1.817-5(f)(3)) through the purchase of a variable contract. As previously discussed, the Separate Accounts established in connection with the Variable Contracts are expected to satisfy the diversification requirements of Code Section 817. In order to satisfy the diversification requirements, Atlas IDF will satisfy the requirements of the Section 817 regulations to qualify for "look through" treatment.

A. INVESTOR CONTROL ISSUES.

In the 1970's the IRS grew concerned that taxpayers were avoiding federal income tax by "wrapping" their investments in "investment annuity contracts" which created the possibility of major tax shelter abuse. Such transactions were structured as follows: Each investment annuity contract paid an annuity based on the investment return and market value of the contract's segregated asset account. A third party custodian, typically a bank, held and invested the segregated account's assets according to the annuity owner's directions. In response to such transactions, the IRS issued four revenue rulings between 1977 and 1982 describing the circumstances in which owners of variable annuity contracts or variable life insurance contracts would be treated and taxed as owners of the underlying assets because of their control of the investments. The revenue rulings applied to variable annuity contracts and variable life insurance contracts the federal income tax principle that a person other than the person holding legal title to the property is treated as the owner for tax purposes if that other person possesses the "benefit and burdens" or "incidents of ownership" of such property. See generally Commissioner v. Sunnen, 33 U.S. (1948); Helvering v. Clifford, 309 U.S. 331 (1940); Corliss v. Bowers, 281 U.S. 376 (1930).

Revenue Ruling 77-85. This Ruling concludes that the annuity owner is, for federal income tax purposes, the owner of the separate account assets under the following conditions:

1. the annuity owner controls the investment of the separate account assets;

2. the annuity has the power to vote any securities in the account; and

3. the annuity owner can withdraw any or all of the assets at any time.

Revenue Ruling 80-274. The second Ruling similarly concludes that the investor in the annuity contract was treated as the owner of a bank certificate of deposit (CD) underlying a variable annuity contract when the contract owner transferred the CD to the life insurance company in exchange for the variable annuity contract and the insurance company is expected to hold the CD for the investor's benefit.

Revenue Ruling 81-225. This Ruling applies the investor control principle to five different situations, and thus is considered the most important ruling on the principle. In four of the fact patterns considered, the annuity owner- not the insurance company- is considered the owner of the mutual fund investments underlying the annuity contract because the mutual fund investments were available for direct purchase by the general public. In the fifth fact pattern, the insurance company, rather than the annuity owner, is considered the owner of the mutual fund investments because such shares were not available for direct purchase by the general public; they were only available through the purchase of a variable contract. The Ruling states that in factual situations one through four, the insurance company is "little more than a conduit between the policyholders and their mutual fund shares."

Revenue Ruling 82-54. In this fourth "investor control" Ruling, the annuity owners direct the insurance company to invest in shares of any or all of three mutual funds that are not available to the public. One mutual fund invests primarily in common stocks, another in bonds, and the third in money market instruments. The investors chose the original allocation of the investments among the three funds and have the unlimited right reallocate before the annuity contract's maturity date. The IRS held that the annuity owners' ability to choose the contract's investments did not constitute sufficient control to cause them to be treated as owners of the mutual fund shares. In its analysis, the IRS reiterated its position in Revenue Ruling 81-225 that public availability of investments will cause annuity owners to be treated as owners of the underlying mutual fund shares.

Christoffersen v. United States. In 1984, the United States Court of Appeals for the Eighth Circuit upheld the IRS's investor control theory of Revenue Ruling 81-225 in Christoffersen v. United States. The taxpayers in Christoffersen had purchased a variable annuity contract that reflected the investment return and market value of the insurance company's separate account assets. The taxpayers had the power to direct the investment of premiums in any one or all of six publicly available mutual funds, to reallocate their investment among such funds at any time, to make withdrawals, to surrender the contract, and to apply the contract's accumulated value to provide annuity payments.

Post-Christoffersen Legislation. After the Eighth Circuit Court's decision in the Christoffersen case, the Congress enacted Code section 817, which aims to discourage use of variable annuities and life insurance primarily as investment vehicles. Before the issuance of further revenue rulings in 2003 (discussed below), some commentators had suggested that the enactment of the diversification requirements under Code section 817(h) (and other measures) effectively rendered Christoffersen (and Revenue Ruling 81-225) obsolete. This view was supported by language in the General Explanation of the Revenue Provisions of the Deficit Reduction Act of 1984 ("DEFRA Blue Book") indicating that the Congress introduced the diversification requirements in Section 817(h) to address any and all concerns with respect to investor control of assets underlying insurance company variable contracts. The Joint Committee on Taxation wrote the following:

> In authorizing Treasury to prescribe diversification standards, the Congress intended that the standards be designed to deny annuity or life insurance treatment for investments that are publicly available to investors and investments which are made, in effect, at the direction of the investor.

When the Treasury issued its proposed regulations under Code section 817(h), it sidestepped the investor control issue. In its preamble to such regulations, the Treasury expressly noted that the regulations "do not provide guidance concerning the circumstances in which investor control of the investments of a segregated asset account may cause the investor, rather than the insurance company, to be treated as the owner of the asset in the account." The preamble further stated that guidance on investor control issues would be provided in separate regulations or rulings.

Revenue Rulings 2003-91 and 2003-92. The subsequent major guidance issued by the IRS on the investor control issues with respect to variable contracts was in the form of two revenue rulings issued in 2003. Revenue Ruling 2003-91 involved a life insurance company that offered variable life insurance and variable annuity contracts. The assets that funded the contracts were held in a separate account that was divided into various sub-accounts. Each sub-account offered a different strategy. Under the facts of this ruling, an individual purchased a life insurance contract and at the time of purchase, the holder specified the allocation of premiums paid among the sub-accounts. The investments could be reallocated, at the direction of the holder, among the twelve sub-accounts, each representing a different investment strategy, at any time. Investment in the sub-accounts was available solely through the purchase of the insurance contract.

All decisions concerning the choice of the investment adviser, and any changes with respect to the sub-accounts offered, were made by the insurance company in its sole and absolute discretion. No arrangement, plan, contract, or agreement exists between the contract holder and the insurance company or between the contract holder and the investment advisor regarding the specific investments or investment objective of the sub-accounts. The contract holder could not communicate directly or indirectly with the insurance company concerning the selection or substitution of the investment advisor or other managers of the account or sub-accounts. The contract holder had no legal, equitable, direct, or indirect interest in any of the assets held by a sub-account; rather the contract holder had only a contractual claim against the insurance company to collect cash from the insurance company in the form of death benefits, or cash surrender values under the contract. Revenue Ruling 2003-91 concluded that the holder of a variable contract under such facts was not the owner of the assets that funded the variable contract for federal income tax purposes because the holder did not have direct or indirect control over the separate account.

Revenue Ruling 2003-92 clarified and amplified Revenue Ruling 81-22, by stating that a variable contract holder was the owner of interests in an unregistered partnership (e.g., a hedge fund or private equity fund) where the interests in such partnership were not available exclusively through the purchase of a life insurance policy or annuity contract. In effect this Ruling confirmed the position taken by the IRS in private letter rulings that the term "general public" included individuals purchasing partnership interests in private placement transactions. More recently, the IRS has confirmed that the fact that a similar fund is available to the public will not cause the fund held by the insurance company's separate account to be treated as being publicly available. See, e.g., Private Letter Ruling 20147007 (April 25, 2014).

Webber v. Commissioner. On June 30, 2015, the Tax Court issued a 92-page opinion in the case of Webber v. Commissioner affirming the enforceability of the IRS' investor control doctrine. Mr. Webber was a venture capital investor and private equity fund manager who established a grantor trust to purchase private placement variable life insurance policies insuring the lives of two elderly relatives. The policies were purchased from a Cayman life insurance company and the taxpayer and his family members were listed as the beneficiaries. The premiums paid for each policy, after deduction of a mortality risk premium and other applicable charges, were placed in a separate account underlying the policy. The Tax Court summarized the investor control doctrine[2] as follows:

> The "investor control" doctrine posits that, if a policyholder has sufficient "incidents of ownership" over the assets in a separate account underlying a variable life insurance or annuity policy, the policyholder rather than the insurance company will be considered the owner of those assets for Federal income tax purposes. The critical "incident of ownership" that emerges from these rulings is the power to decide what specific > investments will be held in the account. . . . Other "incidents of ownership" emerging from these rulings include the powers to vote securities in the separate account; to exercise other rights or options relative to these investments; to extract money from the account by withdrawal or otherwise; and to derive, in other ways, what the Supreme Court has termed "effective benefit" from the underlying assets.

The assets in these separate accounts purchased investments in startup companies which, as the Tax Court noted, the taxpayer was intimately familiar with, and also in which he invested personally and through the funds he managed. After examining the facts, including thousands of emails sent by Webber to parties acting as his agent with "recommendations" that were routinely followed by the "investment managers" of the accounts, the Tax Court determined that the taxpayer effectively dictated both the companies in which the separate accounts would invest and all actions taken with respect to these investments.

The IRS cited the "investor control" doctrine and other principles, and concluded that the taxpayer had retained sufficient control and incidents of ownership over the assets in the separate accounts to be treated as their owner for federal income tax purposes. The IRS thus treated the taxpayer as having received the dividends, interest, capital gains, and other income realized by the separate accounts. The IRS also assessed accuracy related penalties on the taxpayer under Code section 6662.

The Tax Court held that the IRS' pronouncements enunciating the investor control doctrine are entitled to deference and weight and that Webber "retained control and incidents of ownership over the assets" and was therefore "taxable on the income earned on those assets during the taxable years at issue." In holding that the taxpayer was the owner of investments held under the variable annuity contract , as contract owner, the taxpayer had (a) unfettered ability to select investments for the separate accounts under the contract, and neither the issuer nor the investment manager of the separate account exercised any independent investment discretion, (b) dictated all actions the separate account took with respect to ongoing investments,[3] (c) had numerous ways to extract cash from the contract without a surrender of the contract[4] and without loans against the contract, and he frequently exercised such power (e.g., by selling assets to the separate accounts, by borrowing money from the separate accounts, and by having the separate account make investments that generated liquidity for the taxpayer), and (d) derived other economic benefits, including causing the separate accounts to make investments that were used for personal pleasure by the taxpayer (including a winery, a Big Sur resort, and a Canadian hunting lodge), that discharged the contract owner's personal commitments, and that bolstered investments held by the taxpayer outside the contract.

Consequently, the Tax Court upheld the IRS' deficiency determinations for the most part but concluded that the taxpayer as not liable for the penalty assessments (even though the taxpayer was widely believed by tax advisors to have flagrantly disregarded the most minimal of standards to avoid investor control). The facts described herein concerning the investments made by the Supporting Organizations

Application of the Investor Control Precedents to the Variable Contracts.

Both Supporting Organizations certificates of incorporation state in the "Second" clause:

"The corporation is organized and shall be operated exclusively for charitable, educational and scientific purposes within the meaning of Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code"). Within the scope of the foregoing purposes, the corporation is organized and operated exclusively to support and benefit The Dallas Foundation, a Texas nonprofit corporation that is exempt from federal income taxation under section 501(a) of the Code as an organization described in section 501(c)(3) of the Code, and a public charity described in section 509(a)(1) of the Code. In furtherance of these purposes, the corporation shall be controlled by The Dallas Foundation within the meaning of Section 509(a)(3)(B)(i) of the Code. . . . [T]he corporation shall carry on only those activities permitted to be carried on by an organization that is exempt from taxation under section 501(c)(3) of the Code and an organization that is described in section 509(a)(3) of the Code."

The "Second" paragraph quoted from each certificate of incorporation is clear that the respective Supporting Organization is formed to operate exclusively "to support and benefit" The Dallas Foundation. Further the "Eighth" paragraph of the certificate of incorporation for each Supporting Organization indicates that upon its dissolution, all of its assets are to be distributed to The Dallas Foundation.

Each Supporting Organization will be classified as a "Tier 1" supporting organization for federal income tax purposes. A "Tier 1" Supporting Organization, from time to time, will provide its supported organization, The Dallas Foundation, distributions of cash. The IRS web page describes the relationship as:

"Type I. A Type I supporting organization must be operated, supervised or controlled by its supported organization(s), typically by giving the supported organization(s) the power to regularly appoint or elect a majority of the directors or trustees of the supporting organization. The relationship between the supported organization(s) and the supporting organization is sometimes described as similar to a parent-subsidiary relationship. (emphasis added.)"[5]

Section 2.13 "Control of Investments" within the bylaws of each Supporting Organization provide that The Dallas Foundation, as Institutional Member, "shall have the sole and exclusive power and authority to direct the management and investment of the assets" of each Supporting Organization. This power affirmatively rests exclusively in the hands of The Dallas Foundation's Institutional Members and no other officer or director of the respective Supporting Organization. This mandate is reflected in the bylaws' Section 2.13 as:

"Such power and authority shall be exercised by the Institutional Member in its sole discretion and shall be separate and independent of any power and authority of the Board of Directors and officers of the

[5]See, https://www.irs.gov/Charities-&-Non-Profits/Charitable-Organizations/Supporting-Organizations-Requirements-and-Types Corporation which have no power or authority with respect to the matters delegated hereby to the Institutional Member with respect to investments" (emphasis added).

Therefore, the Supporting Organizations' Individual Directors and officers, including Grant Scott or Mark Okada, have no power or authority with respect to matters assigned to The Dallas Foundation with respect the decision to purchase the Variable Contracts.

This power within Section 2.13(d) vested with the Institutional Member includes control of decisions with respect to:

"the power to acquire life insurance policies, annuities, and/or other insurance or similar products (including the exercise or non-exercise or any rights, or the prosecution or defense of any disputes with the issuer or other parties regarding legal, regulatory, contractual, or other matters, arising under or relating to such products) ..."

Section 2.13(e) of the bylaws extends the power to the Institutional Members to include:

"the power to direct, and delegate to, the officers of the Corporation the taking of such acts and the execution of such documents as may be necessary to effectuate the decisions of the Institutional Member with respect to investments."

The Dallas Foundation holds the Institutional Member seats on the board of the Supporting Organizations per Section 2.1 of the respective bylaws. The Dallas Foundation has appointed as Directors Gary W. Garcia and Mary M. Jalonick per the respective "Statement of Incorporator."

Thus, the corporate provisions for each Supporting Organization's certificate of incorporation and bylaws is absolutely clear that The Dallas Foundation controls all of the respective Supporting Organization's activities, including investments, purchases of the Variable Contracts, grants, and operating costs and expenses, and is entitled solely and exclusively to the economic benefit of such Supporting Organization's investments, including from the Variable Contracts.

Supporting Organization #1 received a donation of cash of $16,034,978.50 on December 8, 2015 from Mr. Dondero. Supporting Organization #2 received a donation of cash of $5,345,021.50 from Mr. Okada on December 8, 2015. After the cash donation was made, the Board of Directors of each Supporting Organization authorized the purchase of a Variable Contract offered by Crown Global through a Resolution of Unanimous Consent on December 9, 2015. Effective December 11, 2015, Crown Global issued Variable Contracts #30218 and #30219 to Supporting Organization #1 and Supporting Organization #2, respectively. The Variable Contracts offered investment opportunities in three Insurance Dedicated Funds, including Atlas IDF. The Dallas Foundation, acting as the Institutional Board member of each Supporting Organization, directed the premiums to be allocated 100% to Atlas IDF.

Each Variable Contract, in the respective "Policy Data Page" to the Deferred Variable Annuity Policy, indicates under "Beneficiary" the sole beneficiary as the respective purchasing Supporting Organization #1 and Supporting Organization #2, and such designation is "irrevocable".

Therefore, it is without question that the investment decision to purchase the Variable Contract and allocate the premium to Atlas IDF was made by The Dallas Foundation. Through this decision by The Dallas Foundation, the investment performance of Atlas IDF will accrete to each respective Supporting Organization, and therefore, ultimately, to The Dallas Foundation. Ultimately, The Dallas Foundation will solely and exclusively derive any and all of the economic benefits from the Variable Contracts issued by Crown Global. Concomitantly, neither the Donors nor the Donors' agents, affiliates, related parties etc. derive any of the economic benefits from the Variable Contract's performance through the investment decisions made by Rand Advisors within Atlas IDF.

Each Variable Contract policy provides in Sections 4.5 and 5.1 the allowance that the Supporting Organization can reallocate funds, at quarterly intervals (but no more than twice per calendar year), among the available investment options provided in the Contract. Therefore, The Dallas Foundation, should it no longer want exposure to Atlas IDF, has the right to reallocate funds to another investment offering.

Crown Global, through Sections 4.7 and 4.11 of each Variable Contract policy, has the sole and absolute discretion to terminate Atlas IDF as an investment offering available to each Supporting Organization. Each Supporting Organization has the right to fully or partially surrender the Variable Contract back to Crown Global, in accordance with Sections 8.2 and 8.3 of the policies. No more than one partial surrender may be requested by the policyholder during each quarter of a policy year.

As discussed above, Atlas IDF will qualify for look through treatment for purposes of satisfying the diversification requirements of Section 817 of the Code. In order to qualify for such look through treatment, it is essential to conclude that the equity interests in the Rand IDF have not been offered to the "general public". Since the offering documents for the Rand IDF provide for such restricted access to the fund, we have assumed that the Rand IDF has satisfied, and will continue to satisfy this requirement.

The PPM for Atlas IDF provides that approximately 45 percent of its assets will be invested in a portfolio of high yield debt instruments and other securities selected by, and managed by the investment manager of the IDF, Rand Advisors. Under the governing documents of the Variable Contracts and the Atlas IDF, the Supporting Organizations are not provided with any opportunities to participate in any purchase or sale or other investment decisions made with respect to the IDF's debt portfolio, and we have been instructed to assume that the Supporting Organizations and their agents will not attempt to do so.

The PPM for Atlas IDF further provides that approximately (but no more than) 55 percent of the IDF's portfolio will be invested in private equity investments through an investment made by the IDF in the Rand PE Fund 1. Although it was anticipated that the Rand PE Fund would seek to make an investment in limited partnership interests in Highland, the terms of such investment were negotiated by Rand Advisors, as investment manager of the PE Fund, the Supporting Organizations were not provided with any opportunity to participate in such negotiations, and in fact purchased their Variable Contracts before any such investment in Highland was made by the PE Fund. There was no guarantee that the Highland investment would in fact be made and there was no provision for unwinding the investment by Crown Global in Atlas IDF or the investments made by each Supporting Organization in its Variable Contract if such were the case.

Further, the governing documents of the Rand PE Fund provide that all investment decisions with respect to such Fund are to be made by Rand Advisors, and we have been instructed to assume that the Supporting Organizations and their agents will not attempt to participate in such decisions. The owners of the Variable Contracts will not have the ability to exercise any voting rights with respect to securities held by the Atlas IDF or Rand PE Fund, and such owners of the Variable Contracts will not have the ability to require any distributions by the insurance company pursuant to withdrawal rights in such contracts to be made in kind rather than in cash. Due to the nature of the illiquid private equity investments in the Separate Accounts, the Variable Contracts contain certain limitations on the ability of the owners of such contracts to withdraw funds.

On December 21, 2015, Rand Advisor's special purpose vehicle, Hunter Mountain Investment Trust, controlled by the Rand PE Fund, executed a Contribution Agreement with Highland Capital Management. L.P., in exchange for newly-issued limited partnership interests in Highland Capital Management, L.P. (the "Contribution Transaction"). On December 24, 2015, Rand Advisor's special purpose vehicle, Hunter Mountain Investment Trust, controlled by the Rand PE Fund, executed a Purchase and Sale Agreement to acquire interests in Highland Capital Management, L.P. from The Dugaboy Investment Trust, The Mark and Pamela Okada Family Trust-Exempt Trust #1, The Mark and Pamela Okada Family Trust-Exempt Trust #2, and Mark K. Okada (the "Purchase Transaction" and together with the Contribution Transaction, the "Highland Transaction").

The Highland Transaction was negotiated between Rand Advisors and the respective Highland counterparties and their legal representatives. Prior to consummation of the Highland Transaction, neither The Dallas Foundation nor the Supporting Organizations directed, compelled, or caused Rand Advisors to make the investment in the Highland Transaction.

The investor control doctrine was created to prevent the policyholder or beneficiary of an insurance product that qualifies under Section 72 of the Code from directly or indirectly making investment decisions with respect to the investment assets within the insurance product. The concern was that policyholders and beneficiaries should not be able to direct the investments and receive the economic benefit of those directions within an insurance product. That is the fundamental principle laid out in in the recent Tax Court case of Webber v. Commissioner.

Therefore, applying that Webber principle of the investor control doctrine to the Highland Transaction, it is not a legally significant fact that the Donors to each of the Supporting Organization are also participants in the Highland Transaction because the beneficiary of the economics from the investment performance of the Variable Contracts are not the Donors but rather are the Supporting Organizations and ultimately The Dallas Foundation.

As further support for our view, Rand Advisors made the independent investment decision to participate and negotiate the Highland Transaction. Moreover, it is clear that Rand Advisors was not taking directions nor compelled by The Dallas Foundation or the Supporting Organizations to enter into the Highland Transaction. Accordingly, there is no way the Highland Transaction can in any way be characterized as "control" by The Dallas Foundation or the Supporting Organizations over the investment activities of Atlas IDF and its respective investment accounts.

The facts and circumstances of the purchase of the Variable Contracts by the Supporting Organizations support the conclusion that Crown Global is the owner of Atlas IDF and its investments, and that the Supporting Organizations will not be treated as the owner of the investments. The facts present none of the factors that the Tax Court found determinative in Webber. In particular:

- Neither The Dallas Foundation nor the Supporting Organizations have any ability to select investments in Atlas IDF held by the Variable Contracts;
- Neither The Dallas Foundation nor the Supporting Organizations have any ability to vote securities owned by Atlas IDF or the ability to exercise other options with respect to such investments;
- Other than the right to partially or fully surrender the Variable Contracts, the Supporting Organizations cannot withdraw funds indirectly out of the Variable Contracts. In particular, neither The Dallas Foundation nor the Supporting Organizations can cause Atlas IDF to purchase assets from The Dallas Foundation or the Supporting Organizations. Nor can The Dallas Foundation or the Supporting Organizations borrow funds from Atlas IDF or otherwise engage in any transaction with Atlas IDF.

In addition, the facts and circumstances closely track the facts and circumstances of Revenue Ruling 2003-91's safe harbor provisions. In addition to the facts recited above:

- There is no arrangement, plan, contract, or agreement between The Dallas Foundation or the Supporting Organizations and Crown Global or Rand Advisers as to the investments to be held in Atlas IDF.
- The Dallas Foundation and the Supporting Organizations have no right to, and will not, communicate with any investment officer of Crown Global or its affiliates or with any Investment Manager regarding the selection, quality, or rate of return of any specific investment or group of investments held in Atlas IDF.
- The Dallas Foundation and the Supporting Organizations have no legal, equitable, direct, or indirect interest in any of the assets held by Atlas IDF. Rather the Supporting Organizations only have a contractual claim against Crown Global to collect cash from the Variable Contracts.
- All decisions concerning the choice of Insurance Dedicated Fund offerings, or any of Crown Global's investment officers involved in the investment activities of any Insurance Dedicated Fund, are made by Crown Global in its sole and absolute discretion.[6]

[6] See also, P.L.R. 9752061 (Dec. 24,1997) ("Policyholder influence over the way the investments are managed will be limited to selecting an investment manager from a pool of investment managers whose credentials have been evaluated and approved by Taxpayer. These investment managers may be recommended to Taxpayer by one or more Policyholders. Taxpayer will be under no obligation to approve any such recommendations. Moreover, once Policyholder makes an initial selection, the investment manager can only be changed by Taxpayer and not by Policyholder"; Taxpayer (the issuing insurance company) was held to be the owner of the assets held under the contract).

- Neither The Dallas Foundation nor the Supporting Organizations have any right to, and will not, communicate with Crown Global concerning the selection or substitution of any investment manager or insurance dedicated fund involved in the investment activities of Atlas IDF.

In sum, based upon these facts, we believe that the Supporting Organizations will not be treated as the owners of the investments and other assets held in the Separate Accounts, since the Supporting Organizations will not have the types of control which the IRS has viewed as essential in order to apply the investor control doctrine to make another person other that the holder of the assets (i.e., the insurance company) the owner for tax purposes.

B. UNRELATED BUSINESS TAXABLE INCOME ISSUES FOR INVESTORS IN DEFERRED VARIABLE ANNUITY CONTRACTS.

As discussed above, we have reached the conclusion that under the facts and assumptions set forth herein, for federal income tax purposes, the insurance company should be treated as the owner of the assets in the Separate Account (i.e., the equity interests in the Rand IDF), and each of the Supporting Organizations should be treated as owners of their respective Variable Contract. We have also been instructed to assume that neither Supporting Organization has, or will ever, incur "acquisition indebtedness" with respect to its Variable Contract.

Possible Application of Section 72(u) of the Code. In 1986, Congress was concerned that employers were utilizing deferred annuity contracts to fund nonqualified deferred compensation arrangements on a tax-favored basis, and that this was acting as a disincentive to employers to fund benefits through qualified retirement plans. Section 72(u) was added to the Code to curtail such activity. The legislative history to section 72(u) states:

> The committee believes that the present-law rules relating to deferred annuity contracts present an opportunity for employers to fund, on a tax-favored basis, significant amounts of deferred compensation for employees. This favorable tax treatment may create a disincentive for employers to provide benefits to employees under qualified pension plans, which are subject to significantly greater restrictions.[7]

Section 72(u) states, in relevant part, that "any annuity contract" owned by "a person who is not a natural person" (e.g., a corporation) shall not be treated as an annuity contract for purposes of the income tax provisions of the Code (Sections 1-1563, known as Subtitle A), other than Subchapter L (i.e., Sections 801-848 relating to insurance companies). The effect of this rule was to eliminate the deferral of income tax for the corporate investor in the contract on the "inside buildup" income of the annuity contract. If a non-natural person does hold an annuity contract and no exception applies, then Section 72(u)(1)(B) provides that the "income of the contract" for any taxable year is "ordinary income" that the owner is treated as receiving or accruing during that taxable year.

Exemptions under Section 72(u). We would also note that the drafters of Section 72(u) also inserted some specific exemptions in Section 72(u)(3). For example, Section 72(u)(3)(B) provides that Section 72(u) does not apply to any annuity contract held under a qualified plan described in Section 401(a) of the Code or an "individual retirement plan" (i.e., individual retirement accounts and individual retirement annuities described in Section 7701(a)(37)). Section 72(u) also contains an exemption for "immediate annuities" held by any non-natural person. The inclusion of these exemptions indicates that Section 72(u) is designed to eliminate the tax deferral benefit that taxable corporations could derive from investments in deferred annuity contracts. We are not aware of any policy reason why a deferred annuity contract held by a qualified plan or an IRA should be exempted from Section 72(u) but one held by a tax-exempt corporation should be covered, and we have found nothing in the brief legislative history of this Code provision that addresses this issue. Consequently, the failure of the drafters to include an exemption from Section 72(u) for other tax-exempt entities that are not qualified plans or IRAs appears to be an oversight or drafting error.

Definition of "Income on the Contract". Section 72(u) provides its own special definition of "income on the contract" in Section 72(u)(2). Such income is defined as the excess of (1) the sum of the "net surrender value' of the contract at the close of the taxable year plus all distributions under the contract received during the taxable year or any prior taxable year, over (2) the sum of premiums paid on the contract (net of dividends) plus all amounts includible in income for prior taxable years under Section 72(u). It is significant that the income to be recognized by the owner of the annuity contract is the net change in value of the contract rather than the actual net income realized by the separate account of the insurance company that has issued the annuity contract backed by the separate account. In effect, Section 72(u) does not provide for income taxation of the holder of the contract as if the contract owner owned the underlying assets in the insurance company's separate account.

The Supporting Organizations are corporations, and thus non-natural persons within the meaning of Section 72(u). Section 512(b), which contains a specific exclusion from UBTI for "annuities" is in Subtitle A of the Code. Thus, the Section 72(u) could be interpreted to provide that the UBTI exclusion for "annuities" would not apply to a tax-exempt corporation that owned a variable annuity contract. We have found no evidence in the legislative history that would indicate that Section 72(u) was intended to change the character of the income recognized by tax-exempt corporations that owned variable annuity contracts. Even if the specific exclusion from UBTI for "annuities" were held inapplicable to the income derived by the Supporting Organizations from the Variable Contracts, there are alternative provisions of the tax law that could be cited to support an exclusion of the income from such Contracts from UBTI.

Treasury Regulations Defining Investment Income Excluded from UBTI. Section 512(b) of the Code states that certain income items, including "annuities", interest, dividends, royalties, real property rents and gains realized on sale, exchange or disposition of property (other than inventory or property held primarily for sale to customers in the ordinary course of a trade or business) are specifically excluded from UBTI. Congress subsequently amended Section 512(b)(1) to add "payments with respect to securities loans" and "amounts received or accrued as consideration for entering into agreements to make loans" to the list of items excluded from UBTI. In the 1990's there were many new types of financial instruments, including equity swaps and total return swaps, that were made available and tax counsel sought advice from the Treasury for further clarification of the UBTI rules for investments made by tax-exempt entities in such financial instruments. In 1992, the Treasury amended Section 1.512(b)-1 of the Regulations to provide that the specific exclusion from UBTI in Section 512(b)(1) also applies to "income from notional principal contracts" (as defined in the Regulations) and "other substantially similar income from ordinary and routine investments to the extent determined by the Commissioner...."

Thus, it can be argued that the income required to be recognized by a Supporting Organization under Section 72(u) as a result of its investment in the Variable Contract could still qualify for exclusion under this Treasury Regulation as "substantially similar income from ordinary and routine investments". We have found no revenue ruling or case which has addressed this issue. We would note, however, that Section 72(u) by its terms is only applicable to "annuity contracts". Thus, if the Supporting Organizations had instead purchased variable life insurance policies, Section 72(u), by its terms, would not be applicable. If Congress intended to eliminate the UBTI exemptions applicable to tax-exempt corporations that invested in variable contracts, it is unclear why the Section 72(u) provision by its terms is only applicable to "annuities" and not variable life insurance policies.

Unrelated Trade or Business.

The tax on UBTI was passed into law to rectify situations where an exempt organization could engage in any trade or business, secure in the knowledge that the profits generated from such trade or businesses would not be subject to tax, assuming the funds from such trade or business were received by the exempt organization. As stated in the House Committee Report:

> The problem at which the tax on unrelated business income is directed here is primarily that of unfair competition. The tax-free status of these section 101 organizations enables them to use their profits tax-free to expand operations, while their competitors can expand only with the profits remaining after taxes. Also, a number of examples have arisen where these organizations have, in effect, used their tax exemption to buy an ordinary business.[8]

Under Section 511 of the Code, gross income of a tax-exempt organization will be treated as UBTI if:

1. It is income from a "trade or business";
2. The trade or business" is "regularly carried on" by the organization or a partnership in which it is a member; and
3. The conduct of the "trade or business" is not substantially related to the purposes of the organization.

In order for the IRS to assert that some or all of the income from Variable Contracts constitutes UBTI, the IRS will need to establish that some or all of the income from the Variable Contracts is "trade or business" income. Thus, unless the Variable Contracts were deemed to be partnership interests, or the activity of acquiring such Variable Contracts were deemed to be a business activity, the income items recognized by the Supporting Organizations would not be treated as UBTI.

In general, a trade or business for UBTI purposes is based on Section 162 principles, and is viewed as an activity that produces income from the sale of a product or performance of services. In a 1969 Revenue Ruling, the IRS held that a tax-exempt entity's investment in insurance and annuity contracts was not a business activity. See Revenue Ruling 69-74. The IRS will not be able to establish an unrelated trade or business with respect to either Supporting Organization. The Variable Contracts are contractual entitlements only, and any economics paid or accrued are paid or accrued with respect to such contract.

As discussed in detail in this letter, we do not believe that the Supporting Organizations could be treated as the tax owners of the underlying partnership investments of the Separate Accounts under the IRS's "investor control" doctrine discussed in detail above. The facts and assumptions described above do not support treating the Supporting Organizations as partners in the Atlas IDF, the Rand PE Fund or the underlying Highland limited partnership.

Code Section 514(g) Amendment. Section 72(u) was added to the Code in 1986. Two years earlier, Congress had amended Code Section 514 (by adding a new subsection (g)) to specifically grant regulatory authority to the Treasury to issue regulations "necessary or appropriate" to prevent the avoidance of the debt-financed income rules through the use of "segregated asset accounts". The legislative history of the 1984 legislation specifically states that such regulations, if issued, shall only apply prospectively. We have found no reference to the 1984 amendment to Section 514 in the legislative history of Section 72(u). As of the date of this letter, the Treasury has not issued any proposed regulations to implement Section 514(g). Further, there have been no regulations issued or proposed under Section 72(u).

Private Letter Rulings under Section 72(u). There are two IRS private letter rulings, published in 2002 and 1997, that appear to have addressed the tax treatment of tax-exempt corporations that have made investments in variable annuities backed by separate accounts that held UBTI generating assets. PLR 20020647 (dated Nov. 13, 2001); PLR 9708022 (dated Nov. 26, 1996). These PLRs focus on the application of Section 72(u) and the use of group annuity contracts (GACs) purchased by a foundation or endowment (i.e., a non-natural person). The underlying investment of the GAC was a real estate partnership (presumably funded with debt financing). The PLRs state that while the GAC was subject to Section 72(u) in the hands of the tax-exempt organizations, the annuity continued to be treated as a valid variable contract under Section 817(d) of the Code. As a result of Section 72(u) being applicable, the life insurer would issue a Form 1099 to the endowment or foundation for any current income required to be recognized by reason of Section 72(u).

The tax issue is the character of the income to such tax-exempt entities. The two letter rulings, state, in essence, that in the view that the contract's status as an annuity contract under Subchapter L of the Code (relating to insurance company taxation), "the tax treatment of the contract holder under Section 72(u)(1)(A) does not preclude the contract from satisfying the requirements of Section 817(d)(2)(A) for purposes of determining the taxpayer's income." As such, the rulings conclude that the contracts do provide for the "payment of annuities." This would support the conclusion that the "income on the contract" received by the Supporting Organizations constitutes "annuity" income and therefore does not constitute UBTI. It is our understanding the counsel for insurance companies generally are of the view that such PLRs support the position that the character of the contract holder's income is "annuity" income or other investment income exempt from UBTI despite the fact that the GAC is subject to Section 72(u).

In addition, another private letter ruling, published in 1990, supports the contention that the income reportable by each Supporting Organization does not constitute UBTI. In PLR 9009047, a trust was requesting a ruling that it qualified as a charitable remainder unitrust. The trustee of the trust intended to invest all the trust's assets in a deferred annuity contract. The ruling acknowledges that the annuity contract to be acquired by the trust will be subject to Code section 72(u) because the trust is not a natural person and the trust is not holding the annuity as an agent for a natural person. The ruling concludes that the trust will qualify as a charitable remainder unitrust and therefore the trust "will be exempt from taxes imposed by subtitle A of the Code unless it has any unrelated business taxable income as defined in section 512 of the Code and the regulations applicable thereto." Immediately thereafter, the ruling states that the trust will include in its ordinary income for any tax year the "income on the [annuity] contract" in accordance with Code section 72(u). This again supports the conclusion that amounts reportable by a tax-exempt organization with respect to an annuity contract will not constitute UBTI.[9]

Private letter rulings of this type are issued to a particular taxpayer in response to a request from the taxpayer for an interpretation of the tax law to a particular set of facts. PLRs may not be cited as precedent and generally may not be relied upon by as taxpayer other than the taxpayer which applied for and received the PLR. However, PLRs are typically viewed by tax counsel as indicative of the interpretations of the tax law that IRS personnel would likely apply to other taxpayers with the same issue.

Mark to Market Taxation of an Annuity Contract under Section 72(u) Supports Exclusion from UBTI. Even if the "income on the contract" that will be reported to each Supporting Organization is not considered an amount from an annuity because of Code section 72(u), alternative arguments exist that support the contention that the "income on the contract" does not constitute UBTI.

As discussed above, the "income on the contract" that will be reportable to each Supporting Organization will represent the increase in value of the assets underlying the Variable Contracts. The manner in which the contract owner's annual income inclusion is calculated under Section 72(u) resembles a mark-to-market approach to determining the investor's gain from ownership of the contract during the applicable taxable year. Essentially, the "income on the contract" represents the amount that would be realized if all the assets underlying the Separate Accounts were sold for their fair market value at the close of each taxable year. As noted above, Section 512(b)(5) contains a broad exemption from UBTI for gains realized on sales, exchanges or "other dispositions" of property (other than inventory or dealer assets). Furthermore, gain realized by tax-exempt investors under the mark-to-market rules of Code Section 1256 are entitled to the UBTI exclusion provided by Section 512(b)(5).

The UBTI exclusion does not apply to gains or losses from the sale, exchange, or other disposition of property that is (i) stock in trade or other property of a kind which would properly be included in the inventory of the organization if on hand at the close of the taxable year, or (ii) property held primarily for sale to customers in the ordinary course of the trade or business. The investments underlying the Variable Contracts should not constitute inventory or property held primarily for sale to customers in the ordinary course of a trade or business. Accordingly, even if the "income on the contract" does not constitute annuity income, it is analogous to gains from the sale, exchange or other disposition of property that is not inventory or held for sale to customers, which is excluded from UBTI.

Notional Principal Contract or Other Ordinary or Routine Investment Income. Additionally, each Supporting Organization is an owner of an investment contract issued by Crown Global. Even if such contract is excluded from being treated as an annuity contract under the literal reading of Section 72(u), such contract more closely resembles a "notional principal contract" or "other ordinary or routine investment" referred to in the exclusions from UBTI of Section 1.512(b)-1(a) of the Regulations.

Failure to Qualify for the Section 512(b)(1) Exclusion Does Not Result in UBTI. Section 512(b) provides a special exclusion for certain types of investment income, but the failure to qualify for the specific exclusions in such Section does not automatically result in UBTI classification for the income items. Section 72(u) provides that the income to be recognized by the non-natural owner of the annuity account is treated as "ordinary income". Ordinary income is not of necessity characterized as UBTI; interest income, royalties and real property rents, for example, are also items of ordinary income that qualify for exemption from UBTI.

There is No Federal Income Tax Authority to Support an IRS Position that the Income from the Variable Contracts is UBTI.

Unable to find an unrelated trade or business upon which to base a conclusion that the Supporting Organizations receive UBTI (as discussed above), the IRS would need to develop a legal theory that the character of trade or business income that flows to Crown Global maintains its character as the income (i.e., UBTI) received by the Supporting Organizations. The IRS would encounter at least three problems with any such legal theory.

First, corporate entities similar to Crown Global are regularly used to "block" a tax-exempt organization from receiving UBTI. Under this planning technique, the corporate blocker reports any income that would have been UBTI if received directly by the tax-exempt on its own corporate tax return. Any amounts distributed by such corporation to its shareholder are generally dividend income, which is excluded from UBTI.[10] In this instance, any trade or business income will be reported by Crown Global on its own federal income tax return. Therefore, any amounts received by the Supporting Organizations should be classified as a dividend or other distribution that would not constitute UBTI.

Second, the Variable Contracts are similar to a derivative contract, as both are contractual obligations between two unrelated parties who both rely on other party's credit quality and risk, which may be significantly different than the risk profile of the reference assets underlying the contract. Further, one party to the contract typically "hedges" its obligations, similar to Crown Global hedging its obligations by purchasing interests in Atlas IDF, L.P.[11] Derivative financial instruments are regularly used to convert or block certain types of income to the desired derivative income by changing the legal relationship and risks from holding the investments directly versus obtaining a counterparty's promise to return similar economics.

Similar examples are found in the context of FIRPTA assets[12] and a foreign investor investing in U.S. assets indirectly through derivative contracts. With respect to FIRPTA, foreign investors can avoid the application of FIRPTA withholding by acquiring a synthetic long position in U.S. real estate through a derivative product. The IRS has concluded that this type of position is not a U.S. real property interest that would be subject to FIRPTA withholding.[13] Another example is a foreign investor gaining exposure to U.S. investment assets by entering into a derivative contract with a foreign counterparty bank. The foreign bank will acquire the investment assets. From the foreign investor's standpoint, the derivative contract converts U.S. source income on the U.S. investment assets into foreign source income, thereby avoiding exposure to U.S. income tax or withholding tax.[14]

The above examples demonstrate that federal tax laws respect the difference between holding a certain investment asset directly and another where one has economic exposure to the investment asset indirectly through a contractual promise by a counterparty. These examples are closely analogous, if not nearly identical, to the issuance of a variable annuity contract by a life insurance company that provides the investor a return measured by a Separate Account owned by the insurance company. The only difference is that the contractual relationship is also regulated under an insurance regime.

Third, an IRS legal theory that some portion of the Variable Contract's income is UBTI would expose a significant flaw. Such a legal theory would require that the same amount of income be taxed twice, without reduction for the amount paid by the first party. Specifically, the income from the Variable Contract is reported on Crown Global's U.S. federal income tax return. To then require the Supporting Organizations to also report such income as UBTI would be axiomatic to tax law principles of not taxing different taxpayers on the same income received. Even double tax regimes, such as the corporate income and dividend tax, do not tax the same amount of income to two different taxpayers twice. Rather, first the corporate earnings are taxed at a corporate rate; then the corporation only has the after-tax dollars to distribute to shareholders in the form of a dividend.

[11] Generally, it does not make a difference from a tax perspective if one of the parties to the derivative is fully hedged or is not, or actually owns the referenced assets. The income from the derivative contract is not treated for tax purposes as income on the underlying referenced investment assets. See Rubinger, Jeffrey, IRS Rules Total Return Swap Tied to Real Estate Index Is Not Subject to FIRPTA, Journal of Taxation (Sept. 2008).

A Possible Legal Theory Available to Support a UBTI Position by the IRS Would Be to Disregard the Variable Contracts Issued by Crown Global as Shams

The discussion above indicates that the IRS would not have a strong legal basis to support the position that the Variable Contract income is UBTI. Therefore, the only plausible legal theory the IRS could assert to cause the underlying UBTI earned within a Variable Contract flow directly to a Supporting Organization would be to make a sham transaction (i.e., economic substance) argument. Under such an argument, the IRS would treat each Supporting Organization as direct investors in Atlas IDF and ignore, for tax purposes, Crown Global and its contractual relationship with each Supporting Organization. As discussed below, the IRS will encounter substantial factual hurdles to overcome before it could successfully apply such a legal theory to the Variable Contracts in order to treat any underlying UBTI received by Crown Global as taxable to the Supporting Organizations.

The focus of the sham transaction doctrine is to determine whether a transaction has economic effects other than the creation of tax benefits.[15] Courts have stated that a multi-party transaction with economic substance which is compelled or encouraged by business or regulatory realities, containing tax-independent considerations, and not structured solely by tax-avoidance features should be respected.[16] Furthermore, "the existence of a tax benefit resulting from a transaction does not automatically make it a sham as long as the transaction is imbued with tax-independent considerations."[17] If an investment is one for which Congress has specifically bestowed a tax incentive, the investment, if imbued with economic substance, will not be considered a sham merely because the taxpayer could not expect profits apart from tax benefits.[18]

The transactions between each Supporting Organization and Crown Global, as represented, appear to have ample economic substance and are far from empty transactions entered into solely to generate tax benefits. In fact, the following facts support the assertion that the transactions between the Supporting Organizations and Crown Global have economic substance and are not "shams":

- Crown Global is a Bermuda-based insurance company subject to the insurance laws of Bermuda;
- Crown Global was not formed solely for the purpose of entering into the transactions; rather it has been existence for many years prior to issuing the Variable Contracts;
- Crown Global has customers beyond the Supporting Organizations;
- Crown Global continues to market a variety of insurance-based products;
- Crown Global has employees who are undertaking the respective roles befitting an insurance company, according to its website;
- The Variable Contracts were negotiated between Crown Global and each Supporting Organization with specified pricing and contractual terms being agreed upon;

- Crown Global received a premium for each Variable Contract which was deposited in accounts owned and controlled by Crown Global;
- Crown Global's fee charged within the Variable Contracts is based upon the value of the respective Variable Contracts and not upon any anticipated tax benefits;
- Crown Global's fee appears commensurate with fees charged by other insurers;
- Presumably, Crown Global will continue to operate as an insurance company after any termination of the Variable Contracts;
- Each Supporting Organization's creation and existence is not transitory;
- Crown Global negotiated and entered into a Participation Agreement with the investment manager for Atlas IDF; and
- Crown Global received the Atlas IDF Private Placement Memorandum and completed the applicable subscription documents when Crown Global received a premium that was allocated to Atlas IDF.

Based upon such facts, a court would likely determine that Crown Global (a) is a real third-party insurance company, independently owned, and not affiliated with the Supporting Organizations (or their respective principals and agents) in any form, (b) has many customers, (c) operates in a regulatory environment and that it offers a variety of insurance products, and (d) it was not formed for the specific purpose of entering into the transactions. The Variable Contracts were intended to comply with the insurance regulatory laws governing Crown Global. Any conflicts between Crown Global and each Supporting Organization would have to be resolved under the terms of the respective Variable Contracts. Each Supporting Organization has no legal rights normally associated with a subscriber to the Atlas IDF. Nor have the Supporting Organizations completed subscription documents with Atlas IDF. Rather, Crown Global invested the premium received from each Supporting Organization in Atlas IDF, and has all the rights and entitlements normally associated with an investor in entities similar to Atlas IDF.

The foregoing demonstrates that a court would likely reject the application of the sham transaction or economic substance doctrine to the Variable Contracts issued by Crown Global to each Supporting Organization, and therefore reject any assertion that any UBTI realized with respect to the assets held in the Separate Account referenced in the Variable Contract should flow to the Supporting Organization. Rather, the IRS would have to address analogous legal positions directly adverse to such an assertion.

Overall Conclusion with Respect to UBTI.

After reviewing the respective legal authorities, arguments, and positions that the IRS could attempt to assert, we believe there are at least three supportive arguments, when considered together and presented to a court, to support our opinion. These supportive arguments are as follow: (1) the Variable Contracts income would not generate UBTI to the Supporting Organizations because such income is annuity income; 2) if the "income on the contract" was not considered annuity income, but rather (a) income reported on a "mark to market" method (which represents the changes in value of the Variable Contracts on year over year basis), (b) income from a notional principal contract, or (c) income from ordinary and routine investments, such "income on the contract" would still not be UBTI; and 3) IRS would have little, if any, legal support for its position supporting UBTI inclusion by the Supporting Organizations but rather have adverse legal authorities in other financial contexts.

Therefore, we feel that if challenged by the IRS, each of Supporting Organization #1 and Supporting Organization #2 would have a more likely than not (a greater than 50% chance of success) in a court of law, to uphold the position that any income from the Variable Contracts reported by each Supporting Organization would not be UBTI income.

Although we have reached this level of opinion, it is not to suggest that the likelihood of success is not much greater than may be indicated by our opinion level, but rather, reflects only upon the lack of direct legal precedents which we can refer for giving our opinion. If the IRS were to litigate this position, we would anticipate that the taxpayer would likely win, and that legal authority would exist, such that if at that time we would have been able to reach a higher opinion level. We reiterate that our opinion is a very strong "more likely than not" level of opinion.

VI. OPINION RENDERED

Based upon the accuracy of the statement of facts contained herein and the assumptions set forth above, and the legal analysis set forth above it is our opinion that:

1. If the Internal Revenue Service were to assert, in reliance on the "investor control doctrine", as currently interpreted, that Supporting Organization #1 and Supporting Organization #2 should be treated as the owners, for federal income tax purposes, of the investments held in the Separate Accounts of Crown Global associated with the Variable Contracts owned by Supporting Organization #1 and Supporting Organization #2, a court should conclude that such investor control doctrine should not apply to Supporting Organization #1 and Supporting Organization #2 (a confidence level that there is a greater than 50% likelihood that the position will be upheld by a court if challenged by the Internal Revenue Service), but rather, for federal income tax purposes, a court should conclude Crown Global is the owner of the investments held in such Separate Accounts, including without limitation, to those investments held in Atlas IDF (a confidence level that there is a greater than 50% likelihood that the position will be upheld by a court if challenged by the Internal Revenue Service).

2. It is more likely than not (i.e., a greater than 50% likelihood) that the position that the income realized by the Supporting Organization #1 and Supporting Organization #2 from their ownership of the Variable Contracts will not be classified as unrelated business table income within the meaning of Section 511 of the Code, will be upheld by a court if challenged by the Internal Revenue Service.

$18.5mm Dugaboy Note Attempted Sale -- Process Update

Potential Buyer Firm	Person Contacted	Title	Date Contacted	Information/Materials Provided	Initial Responses	Follow-Up	Notes
Riva Ridge Capital Management	Stephn Golden	Founding Partner- PM	2/27/2024	Over telephone discussed information in HCMLP prepared materials and the opportunity	Asked questions regarding the counter-party; rejected receipt of the materials; no interest at all; "life's too short"	None	Acutally laughed; stated that while the note was performing, that was for now; in his view the note was an invitation to litigate
Cyrus Capital Partners	Svetoslav Nikov	Partner/Analyst	2/27/2024	Over telephone, discussed information in HCMLP materials and the opportunity	Very quick no; no interest in the materials; believes owning the note is asymetric risk to the downside -- if it pays back, a modest return for the risk; if it defaults, your investors will want to know why you would voluntarily become a creditor to Dondero. Compared the opportunity to the chance to lend money to Phil Falcone. Once again said "lifes too short to be a creditor of Dondero"	None
Carronade Capital Management	Dan Gropper	Managing Partner/CIO	2/23/2024	Initial email mentioning note; lunch meeting with Gropper and head of research Andy Taylor on 2/29/24; reviewed materials at lunch meeting	Gropper and Taylor quickly expressed no interest in the note; upside vs. downside skewed (far too much downside); even if the upside was better balanced, the liklihood of litigation over such a small note made the investment unattactive (even if you got costs of collection); asset transfers out of maker also a concern	None. Did not want to keep the materials	Small note with likely costly litigation that would be never ending makes the opportunity completely unattactive
UBS	Nader Attalla	Structured Credit Trading; responsible for day-to-day managemnet of UBS actions against Dondero	2/23/2024	Initial email mentioning note; follow up call and emailing of "teaser"	Two calls in March and early April; He has been too busy to focus on it; troubled by the fact that it does not cross-default with other Dugaboy obligations	Has Teaser; follow-up discussion required	UBS is suing Dondero and Dugaboy on other obligations/torts; could be useful to them at the right price

NexPoint	Matt McGraner and DC Sauter	CIO / General Counsel	5/16/2024	Email with description of note. Indicated nonbinding offer price of $12mm, subject to approval of oversight board.	DC Sauter responded via email on 5/22/24 that they were not currently interested in the terms outlined. If the terms change, they would be interested in taking another look.	Dave Klos sent email on 5/23/24 thanking DC Sauter for response. "As you are not interested in the note, we will move forward with another transaction."
Bardin Hill Investment Partners	Pratik Desai	Partner/Portfolio Manager	6/7/2024	Initial email with "teaser" and requesting follow-up call	30 min call on June 10, 2024; reviewed teaser with Desai; questions regarding backgorund of note; why it had not been accelerated; payment history; terms; Dugaboy assets and liabilities; payback period at various discounts; ulitimately would require a material discount to 50% soft offer; Desai asks about lending against the note and other Claimant Trust assets with material hair-cuts. Bardin Hill would not be interested in being a direct counterpart to Dondero especially if that was their only recourse.	Desai and Claimant Trust to consider ways to lend against the note and other assets in the event the Claimant Trust desires $10 million to $20 million of liquidity	Thoughtful approach; no interest in Dondero as a counterparty but would like to provided liquidity to the Trust and use a variety of assets to secure the BH advances.

SUMMARY OF DONDERO-AFFILIATED NOTES DUE TO HCMLP

- Highland is in the process of collecting on notes owed by Dondero-affiliated entities, which are in default [1]
- Dondero-affiliates raised a number of defenses, including the existence of an alleged oral agreement with Nancy Dondero as Trustee of Dugaboy and holder of a majority of HCMLP units that the notes would be forgiven contingent on Dondero's monetization of certain assets [2]
- On 1/17/23, the Bankruptcy Court filed a supplemental report and recommendation finding the Dondero-affiliates liable for the notes under Highland's motion for summary judgement
- On 7/6/23, the United States District Court, Northern District of Texas, Dallas Division adopted and approved the Bankruptcy Court's Report and Recommendation on HCMLP's motion for summary judgement on the notes and subsequently entered amended final judgements against the Dondero entities
- Defendants have paid the judgement amounts into the court registry, pending appeal to the United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit

Business Overview

- NexPoint Residential Trust, Inc ("NXRT") is an externally advised, publicly traded real estate investment trust (REIT)focused on the acquisition, asset management, and disposition of multifamily assets, located primarily in the Sun Belt region of the United States.
- The company pursues investments in class B multifamily real estate properties, typically with a value-add component, where it can invest significant amounts of capital to provde "life-style" amenities to "workforce" housing.
- NXRT was formed via a spin-off from the predecessor to NXDT, which at the time was a closed end fund (NHF)
- NXRT is NexPoint's flagship investment product

Considerations

- Dugaboy owns 7.6% of outstanding NXRT shares
- NXRT benefited from 2015-21 from era of low interest rates
- Growth story has been challenged recently as company forced to sell assets to reduce leverage
- Currently 36% of debt matures by 2026 and carries a weighted average floating rate of 6.3%
- $21.6mm of run-rate annual fees are being waived by NexPoint Advisors, whose LP interest is 100% owned by Dugaboy, therefore if NXRT fundamentals can improve it represents significant upside to Dugaboy through both share appreciation and revenue

SUMMARY OF BACKGROUND AND RECOMMENDATION

- As has been discussed at several prior meetings, Dugaboy is the Maker and HCMLP is a Payee under a promissory note with a long-dated maturity and annual P&I payments
- The note has a current principal balance of approximately $18.2 million and has accrued interest of approximately $0.3 million as of June 30, 2024 and has no restrictions with respect to assignment.
  - The next payment is due December 31, 2024, with $0.8 million of principal and $0.6 million of interest due
  - Subsequent payments are due on December 31 of each year - $0.8 million of principal, plus accrued interest
  - See next slide for amortization schedule
- During 1H 2024, Highland has engaged with numerous parties in an attempt to determine the market for the note and ultimately to assign the note if a willing buyer was prepared to offer reasonable value in exchange
- These efforts (as described in greater detail herein) ultimately proved unsuccessful as neither Dondero parties nor third parties ultimately made any (let alone an attractive) bid for the note
- While the asset lacks a liquid market and carries with it all the stigma and risks associated with its Maker, the note is nevertheless currently performing and has some value
  - However, the time horizon to monetization is long and mismatched with the timing of other remaining assets of HCMLP and the Claimant Trust
- Separately, regarding reserves for indemnification obligations, the Indemnity Trust remains well short of it's 9-figure target

SUMMARY OF OUTREACH EFFORTS

Potential buyer	Person contacted	Title	Initial date contacted	Information/materials provided	Responses
Riva Ridge Capital Management	Stephen Golden	Founding Partner/PM	2/27/24	Over telephone, discussed information in HCMLP-prepared materials and the opportunity	Asked questions regarding the counter-party; rejected receipt of the materials; no interest at all; "life's too short"; actually laughed; stated that while the note was performing, that was for now; in his view the note was an invitation to litigate
Cyrus Capital Partners	Svetoslav Nikov	Partner/Analyst	2/27/24	Over telephone, discussed information in HCMLP materials and the opportunity	Very quick no; no interest in the materials; believes owning the note is asymmetric risk to the downside – if it pays back, a modest return for the risk; if it defaults, your investors will want to know why you would voluntarily become a creditor to Dondero. Compared the opportunity to the chance to lend money to Phil Falcone. Once again said "life's too short to be a creditor of Dondero"
Carronade Capital Management	Dan Gropper	Managing Partner/CIO	2/23/24	Initial email mentioning note; lunch meeting with Gropper and head of research Andy Taylor on 2/29/24; reviewed materials at lunch meeting	Gropper and Taylor quickly expressed no interest in the note; upside vs. downside skewed (far too much downside); even if the upside was better balanced, the likelihood of litigation over such a small note made the investment unattractive (even if you got costs of collection); asset transfers out of Maker also a concern; Gropper and Taylor did not want to keep the materials
UBS	Nader Attalla	Structured Credit Trading; responsible for day-to-day management of UBS actions against Dondero	2/23/24	Initial email mentioning note; follow-up call and emailing of "teaser"	Two calls in March and early April; he has been too busy to focus on it; troubled by the fact that it does not cross-default with other Dugaboy obligations; while UBS is suing Dondero and Dugaboy on other obligations torts, making this note potentially useful at the right price, UBS ultimately did not have a bid
Bardin Hill Investment Partners	Pratik Desai	Partner/PM	6/7/24	Initial email with "teaser" and requesting follow-up call	30 minute call on June 10, 2024; reviewed teaser with Desai; questions regarding background of note; why it had not been accelerated; payment history; terms; Dugaboy's assets and liabilities; payback period at various discounts; ultimately would require a material discount to 50% soft offer; asked about lending against the note and/or other Claimant Trust assets with material haircuts. Bardin Hill would not be interested in being a direct counterpart to Dondero especially if that was their only recourse; Bardin Hill would consider ways to lend against the note or other assets if the Claimant Trust was in need of $10-$20 million of liquidity
NexPoint/affiliates	Matt McGraner & DC Sauter	CIO General Counsel	5/16/24	Email with description of note; Indicated nonbinding offer price of $12M, subject to approval of Oversight Board	DC Sauter responded via email of 5/22/24 that they were not currently interested in the terms outlined. If the terms change, they would be interested in taking another look. They did not have a bid of their own.

DC,
Thanks for the response. As you are not interested in the note, we will move forward with another transaction. With respect to other settlements, we would be happy to engage whenever you are ready. Thanks and have a nice long weekend.

Dave, thanks for following up, and sorry for not responding. We're not currently interested in the terms you outline below, but I think it's a positive thing if we can continue to resolve some of these outlying issues on mutually agreeable terms. If the terms of your proposed transaction change, we'd certainly be interested in taking another look.

Matt/DC,
I have not heard anything back from you on the Dugaboy note and other assets mentioned in my email last week. Please let me know if there is any interest in the assets for NexPoint or any of its affiliates. If not, we will go forward with other transactions. I understand you are likely busy but would appreciate if you would confirm that you are passing by tomorrow morning. Thanks.

Matt/DC,

I wanted to reach out to you on a few points to see if there was any interest amongst the NexPoint affiliated entities. While much of this doesn't fit neatly into your team's world like SE Multi and NHT, the fact that we were able to get those assets traded gives me some hope that traction may be possible in other places. Hoping you may have some feedback on the following:

Dugaboy Note
I'd be happy to provide more details on the note itself, or you could verify these points with Dugaboy's accountant, but the basics are as follows and it's quite a simple asset:

- Principal outstanding to Highland - $18,174,936.62
- Interest rate – 3.26% fixed
- WAL (yrs) – 10.5
- Payments – P+I Due December 31 each year (next payment due 12/31/24)
  - Minimum principal amort to Highland - $790,214.64 each year
  - Next interest payment to Highland is $594,126.23
  - Combined payment of $1,384,340.87 due 12/31/24
- Final payment date– December 31, 2046

This note wasn't part of the "notes litigation" and has not been accelerated because Dugaboy has stayed current on its payments.

Before we complete a transfer of the Dugaboy note, we wanted to at least check NexPoint's/Dondero's interest in buying it back. The following is a summary of the price and terms by which Highland would consider offering to sell the note. These terms are indicative and nonbinding and nothing in this email constitutes a firm commitment. Any firm offer to sell must be in a writing signed by Highland's CEO after approval of the Claimant Trust Oversight Board.

Purchaser – NexPoint Advisors, LP or its affiliates Proposed purchase price (the "Purchase Price") - $12,000,000.00 in cash
a. Purchase Price as % of principal outstanding – Approximately 66%
b. Discount to current principal outstanding - $6,174,936.62
c. Implied purchaser IRR – Approximately 9%

Trades flat – Purchase Price represents the total amount of consideration to be paid
Closing – on or before May 31, 2024
"As-is, where-is" with no reps or warranties, except ownership and authority to sell

Our willingness to consider any discount is simply to facilitate an immediate sale of the note and does not impact our view of value.

Please revert to us by close of business on Wednesday, May 22, 2024 with any feedback you may have. If you desire to move forward, we will promptly seek Oversight Board approval and prepare documentation with a firm offer. If we don't hear from you, we'll be taking that to mean there is no interest.

Ginn
It's a small stub position, but Highland/Highland-managed funds have ownership interests in Ginn (A & B loans and LLC units). We believe NexPoint also has ownership through its affiliated entities, and understand Matt DiOrio is currently serving as a Director of G-LA Resorts Holdings, LLC. We'd be willing to sell these interests to NexPoint or one of its affiliates for nominal consideration to facilitate the further wind down of entities, which will cost more to maintain than the prospective value that may eventually come out of Ginn, which we understand could take up to several more years. We thought this might be appealing to you since it wouldn't create incremental monitoring burden to your team. If interested, just let me know and I'd be happy to help coordinate documentation.

Global resolution

Since the unsuccessful mediation last October, it's been quiet on this front, but the framework that Highland would consider is essentially unchanged. The level of indemnification reserves needed for indemnified parties and the cash on hand that needs to be maintained for future expenses could be reduced with agreement to broad, unequivocal releases and a permanent cessation of litigation. Dondero's counsel has Highland's position with respect to the scope of these items, which have not changed since the mediation and remain the gating issue to begin a substantive conversation. I raise this point only to highlight that the door is open if he'd like to engage at all – whether now or in the future. I don't want to be wasting peoples' time, but it shouldn't go unsaid either.

Thank you,
Dave

Report of Independent Auditors

To the General Partner of Highland Capital Management, L.P.

We have audited the accompanying consolidated financial statements of Highland Capital Management, L.P. and its subsidiaries (collectively, the "Partnership"), which comprise the consolidated balance sheet as of December 31, 2018, and the related consolidated statements of income, of changes in partners' capital and of cash flows for the year then ended.

Management's Responsibility for the Consolidated Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the consolidated financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of consolidated financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditors' Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the consolidated financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the consolidated financial statements. The procedures selected depend on our judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, we consider internal control relevant to the Partnership's preparation and fair presentation of the consolidated financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Partnership's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the consolidated financial statements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion

In our opinion, the consolidated financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Highland Capital Management, L.P. and its subsidiaries as of December 31. 2018, and the results of their operations, changes in their partners' capital and their cash flows for the year then ended, in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Other Matter

Our audit was conducted for the purpose of forming an opinion on the consolidated financial statements taken as a whole. The Supplemental Consolidating Balance Sheet, the Supplemental Consolidating Statement of Income, the Supplemental Unconsolidated Balance Sheet and the Supplemental Unconsolidated Statement of Income are presented for purposes of additional analysis and are not a required part of the consolidated financial statements. 1. Description of Business

Highland Capital Management, L.P. (the "Partnership") was formed on July 7, 1997 as a limited partnership in the state of Delaware. The Partnership is a registered investment adviser under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 that manages collateralized loan obligations ("CLOs"), hedge funds, private equity funds, and other leveraged loan transactions that are collateralized predominately by senior secured bank debt and high-yield bonds. The Partnership and its subsidiaries make direct investments in debt, equity, and other securities in the normal course of business. The Partnership's general partner is Strand Advisors, Inc. (the "General Partner"). The Partnership is owned by an unaffiliated (other than through its direct ownership) trust as well as affiliated trusts and personal holdings of the senior management of the Partnership.

As of December 31, 2018, the Partnership provided investment advisory services for eighteen CLOs, five separate accounts, one master limited partnership, and nine hedge funds or private equity structures, with total fee-earning assets under management of approximately $3.1 billion. The Partnership also provides investment services on behalf of affiliate advisors.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

The following is a summary of the significant accounting policies followed by the Partnership in preparation of its consolidated financial statements.

Basis of Accounting

The Partnership's consolidated financial statements have been prepared in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles in the United States of America ("U.S. GAAP") as set forth in the Financial Accounting Standards Board's Accounting Standards Codification and are stated in the United States Dollar.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of the consolidated financial statements in conformity with U.S. GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts and disclosures in the consolidated financial statements. Actual results could differ from those estimates and those differences could be material.

Principles of Consolidation

The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of the Partnership and the Partnership's consolidated subsidiaries ("Consolidated Entities"), which are comprised of (i) those entities in which it has controlling investment and has control over significant operating, financial and investing decisions, (ii) those entities in which it, as the general partner, has control over significant operating, financial and investing decisions, and (iii) variable interest entities ("VIEs") in which it is the primary beneficiary as described below.

The Partnership determines whether an entity has equity investors who lack the characteristics of a controlling financial interest or does not have sufficient equity at risk to finance its expected activities without additional subordinated financial support from other parties. If an entity has either of these characteristics, it is considered a VIE and must be consolidated by its primary beneficiary, which is the party that, along with its affiliates and de facto agents, absorbs a majority of the VIEs' expected losses or receives a majority of the expected residual returns as a result of holding variable interests.

The Partnership assesses consolidation requirements pursuant to ASU 2015-02: Consolidation, which was adopted using the modified retrospective method and resulted in an effective date of adoption of January 1, 2016.

The Partnership and its affiliate's involvement with unconsolidated VIEs is generally limited to that of an advisory services provider, and their investment, if any, represents an insignificant interest in the relevant investment entities' assets under management. The Partnership's affiliate's exposure to risk in these entities is generally limited to any capital contribution it has made or is required to make and any earned but uncollected asset based and performance fees. The Partnership has not issued any investment performance guarantees to these VIEs or their investors, except that the Partnership has agreed to subject the full value of its equity interest in Highland Prometheus Fund to dollar-for-dollar reduction to the extent the third party investor in such fund does not achieve an annual target return.

	Unconsolidated VIE Net Assets	Carrying Value and Maximum Risk of Loss
Sponsored investment funds	$ 206,329	$ 12,178

Consolidation of Variable Interest Entities
The Partnership consolidates the following VIEs (along with majority owned funds: Highland Diversified Credit Fund, L.P., and Highland Select Equity Fund, L.P., collectively the "Consolidated Investment Funds"), as the Partnership (or its wholly owned subsidiaries) controls the general partner of the respective entities and is responsible for the daily operations of the following entities:

The Partnership has retained the specialized accounting of these funds required under U.S. GAAP.

Noncontrolling interest, December 31, 2018	$ 316,867

Investment Transactions
Investment transactions are recorded on a trade date basis. Investments in securities are valued at market or fair value at the date of the consolidated financial statements with the resulting net unrealized appreciation or depreciation reflected in the Consolidated Statement of Income. Realized gains and losses on the transactions are determined based on either the first-in, first-out or specific identification method.

See Note 5 for the Partnership's fair value process and hierarchy disclosures.

Management and Incentive Fee Revenue
The Partnership recognizes revenue as earned in connection with services provided under collateral and investment management agreements. Under these agreements, the Partnership earns management fees calculated as a percentage of assets under management or net asset value. The Partnership also has an opportunity to earn additional incentive fees and incentive allocations related to certain management agreements depending ultimately on the financial performance of the underlying assets the Partnership manages. During the year ended December 31, 2018, the Partnership and its Consolidated Entities recognized management fees and incentive fees of approximately $36.6 million and $0.1 million, respectively.

Shared Services Revenue
The Partnership recognizes revenue as earned in connection with services provided to related parties under various shared services agreements. Under these agreements, the Partnership earns fees for services including, but not limited to, back office support functions, marketing, and investment advisory services. During the year ended December 31, 2018, the Partnership and its Consolidated Entities recognized shared services revenue of approximately $9.2 million, which has been presented in Shared services fees in the Consolidated Statement of Income. See further discussion in Note 8.

Income and Expense Recognition
Interest on currently paying debt instruments is accrued as earned and dividend income and dividends on securities sold, not yet purchased are recorded on the ex-dividend date, net of withholding taxes. In certain instances where the asset has defaulted or some amount of the interest payment is deemed uncollectable, interest is recognized when received. Discounts and premiums associated with purchases of investments are accreted and amortized to interest income, except for deep-discounted debt where ultimate collection of interest and principal may be in doubt. Such accretion/amortization is calculated on an effective-yield basis over the life of the investment. Amendment fees are recognized when agreed to by the underlying company and all settlement contingencies are met. Operating expenses, including interest on securities sold short, not yet purchased, are recorded on the accrual basis as incurred.

Income Taxes
The Partnership is not subject to federal income taxes, and therefore, no provision has been made for such taxes in the accompanying consolidated financial statements. Income taxes are the responsibility of the partners. Certain consolidated subsidiaries are subject to federal income taxes.

Certain entities that are included in these consolidated financial statements are subject to federal and/or state income taxes. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are recognized for the future tax consequences attributable to differences between the financial statement carrying amounts of existing assets and liabilities and their respective tax bases. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured using enacted tax rates expected to apply to taxable income in the years in which those temporary differences are expected to be recovered or settled. The effect on deferred tax assets and liabilities of a change in tax rates is recognized in the period that includes the enactment date. See further discussion in Note 13.

Cash and Cash Equivalents
Cash and cash equivalents consist of cash held at U.S. and foreign banks, deposits with original maturities of less than 90 days, and money market funds. Cash equivalents are carried at cost, which approximates market value. At December 31, 2018, the Partnership and Consolidated Entities held cash balances at certain financial institutions in excess of the federally insured limit of $0.3 million. The Partnership and Consolidated Entities regularly monitor the credit quality of these institutions.

Notes Receivable
Notes receivable consists of secured promissory notes with maturities greater than one year. When available, the Partnership uses observable market data, including pricing on recent closed transactions to value notes. When appropriate, these notes may be valued using collateral values. Adjustments to the value may be performed in circumstances where attributes specific to the collateral exist suggesting impairment.

Other Intangible Assets
Goodwill and other intangible assets are recorded on the Consolidated Balance Sheet at current carrying values. The Partnership and its Consolidated Entities perform an impairment test on an annual basis. Any impairment in the value of other intangible assets is accounted for in the year when it occurs.

Fixed Assets and Leasehold Improvements
Fixed assets and leasehold improvements are carried at cost, less accumulated depreciation. Depreciation is provided using the straight-line method over the shorter of the estimated useful life of the assets or the lease term.

The Partnership and its Consolidated Entities are depreciating fixed assets as follows:

	Period
Leasehold improvements	Lease term
Buildings	29 - 40 years
Furniture and fixtures	7 years
Computer and equipment	3 - 5 years
Computer software	3 years

Securities Sold, Not Yet Purchased
Certain of the Partnership's Consolidated Investment Funds engage in "short sales" as part of their investment strategies. Short selling is the practice of selling securities that are borrowed from a third party. The Consolidated Investment Funds are required to return securities equivalent to those borrowed for the short sale at the lender's demand.

Pending the return of such securities, the Consolidated Investment Funds deposit with the lender as collateral the proceeds of the short sale plus additional cash. The amount of the required deposit, which earns interest, is adjusted periodically to reflect any change in the market price of the securities that the Consolidated Investment Funds are required to return to the lender. A gain (which cannot exceed the price at which the Consolidated Investment Funds sold the security short) or a loss (which theoretically could be unlimited in size) will be settled upon termination of a short sale.

Due to/from Brokers
Due to and from broker balances recorded on the Consolidated Balance Sheet include liquid assets maintained with brokers and counterparties for margin account balances and the amounts due for or due from the settlement of purchase and sales transactions. Certain due to and from broker balances have been reported on a net-by-counterparty basis where, in accordance with contractual rights and the Partnership's opinion, there is a right of offset in the event of bankruptcy or default by a counterparty.

Options Contracts
The Partnership and the Consolidated Entities may purchase and write call and put options to gain market exposure or to hedge investments. A call option gives the purchaser of the option the right (but not the obligation) to buy, and obligates the seller to sell (when the option is exercised), the underlying position at the exercise price at any time or at a specified time during the option period. A put option gives the holder the right to sell and obligates the writer to buy the underlying position at the exercise price at any time or at a specified time during the option period. When the Partnership or the Consolidated Entities purchase (write) an option, an amount equal to the premium paid (received) by the entity is reflected as an asset (liability). The amount of the asset (liability) is subsequently marked-to-market to reflect the current market value of the option purchased (written). When a security is purchased (or sold) through an exercise of an option, the related premium paid (or received) is added to (or deducted from) the basis of the security acquired or deducted from (or added to) the proceeds of the security sold. When an option expires (or the Partnership or the Consolidated Entities enter into a closing transaction), the entity realizes a gain or loss on the option to the extent of the premiums received or paid (or gain or loss to the extent the cost of the closing transaction exceeds the premium received or paid). Exercise of a written option could result in the Partnership or the Consolidated Entities purchasing a security at a price different from the current market value.

The Partnership and the Consolidated Entities are exposed to counterparty risk from the potential that a seller of an option contract does not sell or purchase the underlying asset as agreed under the terms of the option contract. The maximum risk of loss from counterparty risk to the Partnership and the Consolidated Entities is the greater of the fair value of its open option contracts or the premiums paid to purchase the open option contracts. The Partnership and the Consolidated Entities consider the credit risk of the intermediary counterparties to its option transactions in evaluating potential credit risk.

Margin Transactions
To obtain more investable cash, certain of the Consolidated Entities may use various forms of leverage including purchasing securities on margin. A margin transaction consists of purchasing an investment with money loaned by a broker and agreeing to repay the broker at a later date. Interest expense on the outstanding margin balance is based on market rates at the time of the borrowing.

Withdrawals Payable
Withdrawals are recognized as liabilities, net of incentive allocations, when the amount requested in the withdrawal notice becomes fixed and determinable. This generally may occur either at the time of receipt of the notice, or on the last day of a fiscal period, depending on the nature of the request. As a result, withdrawals paid after the end of the year, but based upon year-end capital balances are reflected as withdrawals payable at December 31, 2018. Withdrawal notices received for which the dollar amount is not fixed remains in capital until the amount is determined. At December 31, 2018, the Consolidated Investment Funds had withdrawals payable of $57.0 million.

Foreign Currency Transactions
The Partnership's subsidiaries HCM Singapore and HCM Korea use Singapore dollars and Korean won, respectively, as their functional currency. All foreign currency asset and liability balances are presented in U.S. dollars in the consolidated financial statements, translated using the exchange rate as of December 31, 2018. Revenues and expenses are recorded in U.S. dollars using an average exchange rate for the relative period. Foreign currency transaction gains and losses resulting from transactions outside of the functional currency of an entity are included in Other income on the Consolidated Statement of Income.

The Consolidated Entities do not isolate that portion of the results of operations resulting from changes in foreign exchange rates or investment or fluctuations from changes in market prices of securities held. Such fluctuations are included within the Net realized and unrealized gains or loss from investments on the Consolidated Statement of Income.

Life Settlement Contracts
One of the Consolidated Investment Funds, through a subsidiary, holds life settlement contracts and accounts for them using the fair value method. These contracts are recorded as a component of “Investments at fair value” on the Consolidated Balance Sheet. Realized and unrealized gains (losses) on the contracts are recorded in the Consolidated Income Statement. Cash flows relating to the purchase and sale of the contracts are recorded as a component of Purchase of investments and Proceeds from dispositions of investments on the Consolidated Statement of Cash Flows. At December 31, 2018, the Consolidated Investment Fund was invested in 13 policies, which had a total face value of approximately $145.3 million and a fair value of $35.7 million.

Financing
The Partnership and its Consolidated Entities may finance the acquisition of its investments in securities and loans through financing arrangements which are classified in Notes payable and Investment liabilities on the Consolidated Balance Sheet. The Partnership and its Consolidated Entities recognize interest expense on all borrowings on the accrual basis in the Consolidated Statement of Income.

Financial Instruments
The Partnership and its Consolidated Entities determine fair value of financial instruments as required by U.S. GAAP. The carrying amounts for cash and cash equivalents, receivables, accounts payable, withdrawals payable, debt and notes payable, due to brokers, investment liabilities and accrued liabilities approximate their fair values. For fair value of investment, see Note 5.

Accounts Payable, Accrued and Other Liabilities
Expenses are recorded on an accrual basis, as incurred. Current liabilities are included in Accounts payable. Long-term liabilities are included in Accrued and other liabilities.

Partners' Capital
The Partnership agreement requires that income or loss of the Partnership be allocated to the partners in accordance with their respective partnership interests.

5. Fair Value of Financial Instruments

Fair Value Measurement

U.S. GAAP defines fair value as the price an entity would receive to sell an asset or pay to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants as of the measurement date. The standard requires fair value measurement techniques to reflect the assumptions market participants would use in pricing an asset or liability and, where possible, to maximize the use of observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs. It also establishes the following hierarchy that prioritizes the valuation inputs into three broad levels:

- Level 1 – Valuation based on unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets and liabilities that the Partnership and the Consolidated Entities have the ability to access as of the measurement date. Valuations utilizing Level 1 inputs do not require any degree of judgment.

- Level 2 – Valuations based on (a) quoted prices for similar instruments in active markets; (b) quoted prices for identical or similar instruments in markets that are not active that are reflective of recent market transactions; or (c) models in which all significant inputs are observable, either directly or indirectly.

- Level 3 – Valuations based on indicative quotes that do not reflect recent market transactions and models or other valuation techniques in which the inputs are unobservable and significant to the fair value measurement, which includes situations where there is little, if any, market activity for the asset or liability.

The availability of observable inputs varies among financial instruments and is affected by numerous factors, including the type of instruments, the period of time in which the instrument has been established in the marketplace, market liquidity for an asset class and other characteristics particular to a transaction. When the inputs used in a valuation model are unobservable, management is required to exercise a greater degree of judgment to determine fair value than it would for observable inputs. For certain instruments, the inputs used to measure fair value may fall into different levels of the hierarchy discussed above. In those cases, the instruments are categorized for disclosure purposes based on the lowest level of inputs that are significant to their fair value measurements.

The Partnership and Consolidated Entities use prices and inputs that are current as of the measurement dates. The Partnership also considers the counterparty's non-performance risk when measuring the fair value of its investments.

During periods of market dislocation, the ability to observe prices and inputs for certain instruments may change. These circumstances may result in the instruments being reclassified to different levels within the hierarchy over time. They also create an inherent risk in the estimation of fair value that could cause actual amounts to differ from management's estimates. Whenever possible, the Partnership and its Consolidated Entities use actual market prices or relevant observable inputs to establish the fair value of its assets and liabilities. In cases where observable inputs are not available, the Partnership and Consolidated Entities develop methodologies that provide appropriate fair value estimates. These methodologies are reviewed on a continuous basis to account for changing market conditions.

The Partnership has established policies, as described above, processes and procedures to ensure that valuation methodologies for investments and financial instruments that are categorized within all levels of the fair value hierarchy are fair and consistent. A Pricing Committee has been established to provide oversight of the valuation policies, processes and procedures, and is comprised of various personnel from the Partnership. The Pricing Committee meets monthly to review the proposed valuations for investments and financial instruments. The Pricing Committee is responsible for establishing the valuation policies and evaluating the overall fairness and consistent application of those policies.

As of December 31, 2018, the Partnership and its Consolidated Entities' investments consisted primarily of common equity securities, closed-end mutual funds, floating rate syndicated bank loans, real estate investment trusts, life settlement contracts, limited partnership interests, rights and warrants, LLC interests, asset-backed securities, and preferred equity. In addition, certain of the Consolidated Entities engage in short sale transactions. The majority of these financial instruments are not listed on national securities exchanges and management is required to use significant judgment to estimate their values.

Public Equity Investments
Publicly traded equities, including closed-end mutual funds and publicly traded REITs are valued at the closing price at the date of the financial statements. The fair value of equity investments that are not traded on national exchanges or through real-time quotation services are derived from methodologies that provide appropriate fair value estimates. Equity investments with quotes that are based on actual trades with a sufficient level of activity on or near the valuation date are classified as Level 2 assets.

Private Equity Investments
The Partnership and Consolidated Entities hold private equity investments which often resulted from the restructuring of other instruments which are classified as common equity securities. These assets are valued using market data obtained from a third-party pricing service and/or quotes from other parties dealing in the specific assets when available. In the event both a reliable market quote and third-party pricing service data are not available for such assets, the Partnership and Consolidated Entities will fair value the assets using various methodologies, as appropriate for individual investments, including comparable transaction multiples, comparable trading multiples, and/or discounted cash flow analysis. When utilizing comparable trading multiples, the Investment Manager determines comparable public companies (peers) based on industry, size, developmental stage, strategy, etc., and then calculates a trading multiple for each comparable company identified by using either a price to book ratio based on publically available information about the underlying comparable company or by dividing the enterprise value of the comparable company by its earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization (EBITDA) or similar metrics. In certain instances, the inputs used in the calculation of the trading multiples may vary based on the industry or development stage of the company. A multiple determined by the Investment Manager to be within a reasonable range as calculated amongst its peers is then applied to the underlying company's price to book ratio or EBITDA (which may be normalized to adjust for certain nonrecurring events), to calculate the fair value of the underlying company. The fair value may be further adjusted for entity specific facts and circumstances. Private equity investments with quotes that are based on actual trades with a sufficient level of activity on or near the valuation date are classified as Level 2 assets. Private equity investments that are priced using quotes derived from implied values, bid/ask prices for trades that were never consummated, or a limited amount of actual trades are classified as Level 3 assets because the inputs used by the brokers and pricing services to derive the values are not readily observable.

The Consolidated Entities also invest in warrant securities of publicly–traded companies. The fair value of these investments is based on an option pricing model. The option model bases warrant value on a number of factors including underlying equity price as of the valuation date, strike price, exercise date, time to expiration and volatility. Warrant investments that have observable volatility are classified as Level 2 assets. Warrant investments where volatility inputs are not observable are valued using an estimated volatility input, and are classified as Level 3 assets.

Debt Securities
The Partnership and Consolidated Entities invest in various types of debt, including floating rate syndicated bank loans, which are almost exclusively valued using market data obtained from one or more third-party pricing services or brokers. In instances where a third-party pricing service does not provide pricing for a specific asset, the Partnership and Consolidated Entities first seek to obtain reliable market quotes from other parties dealing in the specific asset. Loans and bonds with quotes that are based on actual trades with a sufficient level of activity on or near the valuation date are classified as Level 2 assets. Loans and bonds that are priced using quotes derived from implied values, bid/ask prices for trades that were never consummated, or a limited amount of actual trades are classified as Level 3 assets because the inputs used by the brokers and pricing services to derive the values are not readily observable.

Absent both a reliable market quote and third-party pricing service date, the Partnership and Consolidated Entities may use various models to establish an estimated exit price. These investments are classified as Level 3 assets. Models used for debt securities are primarily based on identifying comparable assets for which market data is available and pricing the target asset consistent with the yields of the comparable assets. As circumstances require, other industry accepted techniques may be used in modeling debt assets.

Life Settlement Contracts
Life Settlement contracts are valued using mortality tables and interest rate assumptions that are deemed by management to be appropriate for the demographic characteristics of the parties insured under the policies. Management generally utilizes an independent third party firm to perform these calculations and provide the relevant inputs. Management evaluates the results based on visible market activity and market research. Since these inputs are not readily observable, these contracts are classified as Level 3 assets.

At December 31, 2018, the Consolidated Entities' investments in life settlement contracts consisted of the following:

(U.S. dollars in thousands, except number of policies)

Remaining Life Expectancy (in years)	Number of Policies	Face Value	Fair Value
1-2	-	$ -	$ -
2-3	3	33,785	16,940
3-4	-	-	-
4-5	-	-	-
Thereafter	10	111,500	18,804
Total	13	$ 145,285	$ 35,744

Asset-Backed Securities
The Consolidated Entities invest in a variety of asset-backed securities. Asset-backed securities are generally valued based on complex cash flow models that analyze the cash flows generated by the investment's underlying assets after adjusting for expected default rates, prepayment rates, collateral quality, market liquidity among other factors. These models are then adjusted based on spreads available in the market place from various research firms, dealers, and trading activity. The Consolidated Entities generally utilize an independent third parties to provide the relevant inputs. The Consolidated Entities evaluate the results based on visible market activity and market research. When appropriate, the Consolidated Entities may apply other techniques based on a specific asset's characteristics. Asset-backed securities with quotes that are based on actual trades with a sufficient level of activity on or near the valuation date are classified as Level 2 assets. Asset-backed securities that are priced using quotes derived from implied values, bid/ask prices for trades that were never consummated, or a limited amount of actual trades are classified as Level 3 assets because the inputs used by the brokers and pricing services to derive the values are not readily observable.

Limited Partnership and LLC Interests
The Partnership and its Consolidated Entities hold limited partnership and LLC interests in various entities. These assets are valued as the net asset value of the limited partnership interests because the entities utilize fair value accounting for their own financial statements. These interests are classified as Level 3 assets.

The Partnership categorizes investments recorded at fair value in accordance with the hierarchy established under U.S. GAAP. The following table provides a summary of the financial instruments recorded at fair value on a recurring basis by level within the hierarchy as of December 31, 2018:

In addition to the unobservable inputs utilized for various valuation methodologies, the Partnership often uses a combination of two or more valuation methodologies to determine fair value for a single holding. In such instances, the Partnership assesses the methodologies and ascribes weightings to each methodology. The selection of weightings is an inherently subjective process, dependent on professional judgement. These selections may have a material impact to the concluded fair value for such holdings.

The significant unobservable inputs used in the fair value measurement of the Partnership's assets could fluctuate significantly, resulting in a significantly higher or lower fair value measurement.

6. Financial Instruments with Concentration of Credit and Other Risks

Financial Instruments

The Partnership and its Consolidated Entities' investments include, among other things, equity securities, debt securities (both investment and non-investment grade) and bank loans. The Consolidated Entities may also invest in derivative instruments, including total return and credit default swaps. Investments in these derivative instruments throughout the year subject the Consolidated Entities to off-balance sheet market risk, where changes in the market or fair value of the financial instruments underlying the derivative instruments may be in excess of the amounts recognized in the Consolidated Balance Sheet.

Market Risk

Market risk represents the potential loss that may be incurred by the Partnership and its Consolidated Entities due to a change in the market value of its investments or the value of the investments underlying swap agreements. The Partnership and its Consolidated Entities' exposure to market risk is affected by a number of macroeconomic factors, such as interest rates, availability of credit, inflation rates, economic uncertainty and changes in laws and regulations. These factors may affect the level and volatility of securities prices and the liquidity of the Partnership and its Consolidated Entities investments. Volatility or illiquidity could impair the Partnership and its Consolidated Entities performance or result in losses. The Partnership and its Consolidated Entities may maintain substantial trading positions that can be adversely affected by the level of volatility in the financial markets. The performance of life settlement contracts may be adversely impacted by the under estimation of mortality and other rates.

Credit Risk

Credit risk is the potential loss the Partnership and its Consolidated Entities may incur as a result of the failure of a counterparty or an issuer to make payments according to the terms of a contract. Because the Consolidated Entities enter into over-the-counter derivatives such as swaps, it is exposed to the credit risk of their counterparties. To limit the credit risk associated with such transactions, the Consolidated Entities execute transactions with financial institutions that the Investment Manager believes to be financially viable.

Liquidity Risk

The Consolidated Entities' limited partner interests have not been registered under the Securities Act of 1933 or any other applicable securities law. There is no public market for the interests, and neither the Consolidated Entities nor their manager expects such a market to develop.

Business Risk

The Partnership provides advisory services to the Consolidated Entities. Consolidated Entities could be materially affected by the liquidity, credit and other events of the Partnership.

High Yield Bonds and Loans
The Partnership and its Consolidated Entities' investment portfolios consist of floating rate syndicated bank loans and fixed income securities that are not listed on a national securities exchange. These investments trade in a limited market and it may not be possible to immediately liquidate them if needed. In addition, certain of the Partnership and its Consolidated Entities' investments have resale or transfer restrictions that further reduce their liquidity. Because of the inherent uncertainty of these investments, the Investment Manager's best estimates may differ significantly from values that would have been used had a broader market for the investments existed.

When the Partnership and its Consolidated Entities purchase a senior secured syndicated bank loan, it enters into a contractual relationship directly with the corporate borrower, and as such, is exposed to certain degrees of risk, including interest rate risk, market risk and the potential non-payment of principal and interest, including default or bankruptcy of the corporate borrower or early payment by the corporate borrower. Typically, senior secured syndicated bank loans are secured by the assets of the corporate borrower and the Partnership and its Consolidated Entities have a policy of regularly reviewing the adequacy of each corporate borrower's collateral.

The Partnership and its Consolidated Entities may invest in high-yield bonds that have been assigned lower rating categories or are not rated by the various credit rating agencies. Bonds in the lower rating categories are generally considered to be speculative with respect to the issuer's ability to repay principal and pay interest. They are also subject to greater risks than bonds with higher ratings in the case of deterioration of general economic conditions. Due to these risks, the yields and prices of lower-rated bonds are generally volatile, and the market for them is limited, which may affect the ability to liquidate them if needed.

Debt Obligations
The Partnership and its Consolidated Entities' investment portfolio consists of collateralized loan obligations that are not listed on a national securities exchange. These investments trade in a limited market and it may not be possible to immediately liquidate them if needed. Because of the inherent uncertainty of these investments, the Partnership's best estimates may differ significantly from values that would have been used had broader market for the investments existed.

Distressed Investments
A portion of the high yield corporate bonds and senior secured syndicated bank loans in which the Partnership and its Consolidated Entities invest have been issued by distressed companies in an unstable financial condition that have experienced poor operating performance and may be involved in bankruptcy or other reorganization and liquidation proceedings. These investments have substantial inherent risks. Many of these distressed companies are likely to have significantly leveraged capital structures, which make them highly sensitive to declines in revenue and to increases in expenses and interest rates. The leveraged capital structure also exposes the companies to adverse economic factors, including macroeconomic conditions, which may affect their ability to repay borrowed amounts on schedule.

Corporate Bonds, Preferred Securities, and Loans
The Consolidated Entities may invest in corporate bonds, floating rate syndicated bank loans, and preferred securities which are rated in the lower rating categories by the various credit rating agencies (or in comparable non-rated securities). Securities in the lower rating categories are subject to greater risk of loss of principal and interest than higher-rated securities and are generally considered to be predominantly speculative with respect to the issuer's capacity to pay interest and repay principal. They are also subject to greater risks than securities with higher ratings in the case of deterioration of general economic conditions. Because of these greater risks associated with the lower-rated securities, the yields and prices of such securities may be more volatile than those for higher-rated securities. The market for lower-rated securities is thinner and less active than that for higher-rated securities, which could adversely affect the prices at which these securities may be sold by the Consolidated Entities.

Limited Diversification
The Investment Manager attempts to diversify the Consolidated Entities' investments. However, the Consolidated Entities' portfolios could become significantly concentrated in any one issuer, industry, sector strategy, country or geographic region, and such concentration of credit risk may increase the losses suffered by the Consolidated Entities. In addition, it is possible that the Investment Manager may select investments that are concentrated in certain classes of financial instruments. This limited diversity could expose the Consolidated Entities to losses that are disproportionate to market movements as a whole.

At December 31, 2018, the Consolidated Entities' investments were predominantly concentrated in the United States and Cayman Islands.

Exit Difficulties
The Partnership and its Consolidated Entities cannot assure investors that it will be able to exit its investments by sale or other disposition at attractive prices, if at all. The mergers and acquisitions and public securities markets are highly cyclical, which means that the Consolidated Entities' investments, even its best performing investments, may be illiquid for extended periods of time despite the Consolidated Entities' efforts to identify attractive exit opportunities. Additionally, a significant portion of the Consolidated Entities' assets at any time will likely consist of debt obligations and other securities that are thinly-traded, for which no market exists and/or are restricted as to their transferability under applicable law and/or documents governing particular transactions of the Consolidated Entities. In some cases, the Consolidated Entities may be unable to realize an investment prior to the date on which the Consolidated Entities are scheduled to terminate and/or have to sell or otherwise dispose of one or more investments on disadvantageous terms as a result of the Consolidated Entities' termination, or distribute such investments in kind.

Custody Risk
The clearing operations for the Partnership and its Consolidated Entities are provided by major financial institutions. In addition, all of the Partnership and its Consolidated Entities' cash and investments are held with banks or brokerage firms, which have worldwide custody facilities and are members of all major securities exchanges. The Partnership or its Consolidated Entities may lose all or a portion of the assets held by these banks or brokerage firms if they become insolvent or fail to perform pursuant to the terms of their obligations. While both the U.S. Bankruptcy Code and the Securities Investor Protection Act of 1970 seek to protect customer property in the event of a broker-dealer's failure, insolvency or liquidation, the Partnership and its Consolidated Entities might be unable to recover the full value of their assets or incur losses due to their assets being unavailable for a period of time.

Leverage Risk
The Consolidated Entities may borrow funds from brokers, banks and other lenders to finance its trading operations. The use of leverage can, in certain circumstances, magnify the losses to which the Consolidated Entities' investment portfolio may be subject. The use of margin and short-term borrowings creates several risks for the Consolidated Entities. If the value of the Consolidated Entities' securities fall below the margin level required by a counterparty, additional margin deposits would be required. If the Consolidated Entities are unable to satisfy a margin call, the counterparty could liquidate the Consolidated Entities' positions in some or all of the financial instruments that are in the account at the prime broker and cause the Consolidated Entities to incur significant losses. In addition, to the extent the Consolidated Entities have posted excess collateral for margin transactions, there is a risk that the counterparty will fail to fulfill its obligation to return the full value of that collateral.

The failure to satisfy a margin call, or the occurrence of other material defaults under margin or other financing agreements, may trigger cross-defaults under the Consolidated Entities' agreements with other brokers, lenders, clearing firms or other counterparties, multiplying the adverse impact to the Consolidated Entities. In addition, because the use of leverage allows the Consolidated Entities to control positions worth significantly more than its investment in those positions, the amount that the Consolidated Entities may lose in the event of adverse price movements is high in relation to the amount of their investment.

In the event of a sudden drop in the value of the Consolidated Entities' assets, the Consolidated Entities may not be able to liquidate assets quickly enough to satisfy their margin or collateral requirements. As a result, the Consolidated Entities may become subject to claims of financial intermediaries, and such claims could exceed the value of its assets. The banks and dealers that provide financing to the Consolidated Entities have the ability to apply discretionary margin, haircut, and financing and collateral valuation policies. Changes by banks and dealers in any of the foregoing may result in large margin calls, loss of financing and forced liquidations of positions and disadvantageous prices.

Foreign Currency Risk
The Partnership and its Consolidated Entities may invest in securities or maintain cash denominated in currencies other than the U.S. dollar. The Partnership and its Consolidated Entities are exposed to risk that the exchange rate of the U.S. dollar relative to other currencies may change in a manner that has an adverse effect on the reported value of the Partnership and its Consolidated Entities' assets and liabilities denominated in currencies other than the U.S. dollar.

Concentration of Investments
At December 31, 2018, the Consolidated Entities' investments and derivative contracts were predominantly concentrated in the United States and Cayman Islands and across several industries.

Litigation Risk
The Partnership and its Consolidated Entities are periodically subject to legal actions arising from the ordinary course of business. The ultimate outcome of these cases is inherently uncertain and could result in additional losses to the Partnership and/or its Consolidated Entities. Refer to Note 14 for a discussion of open litigation.

7. Intangible Assets

On May 12, 2017, HCM Latin America, as manager, purchased all rights and obligations for management of a certain hedge fund. As of December 31, 2018, the current carrying value of these rights and obligations is $3.0 million, which consists of the original purchase price of $2.0 million and a deferred purchase price of $1.0 million and is reflected in the Consolidated Balance Sheet.

The Partnership and its Consolidated Entities perform an impairment test as required by U.S. GAAP on a yearly basis. The Partnership has determined that an impairment charge was necessary for the value obtained on December 19, 2017, for subadvisory and shared servicing rights from an affiliate. As of December 31, 2018, the asset was determined to be fully impaired and an impairment expense of $2.8 million is reflected in the Consolidated Statement of Income.

8. Related Party Transactions

Investments Under Common Control
Certain members of the Partnership's management serve as members on the Boards of Directors for some of the companies with which it invests. Because these individuals participate in the management of these companies, investments held by the Partnership and its subsidiaries in these companies may, from time to time, not be freely tradable. As of December 31, 2018, the Partnership and its Consolidated Entities held the following investments in these companies:

Expenses Reimbursable by Funds Managed

In the normal course of business, the Partnership typically pays invoices it receives from vendors for various services provided to the investment funds the Partnership manages. A summary of these eligible reimbursable expenses are then submitted to the trustee/administrator for each respective fund, typically on a quarterly basis, and the Partnership receives payment as reimbursement for paying the invoices on behalf of the respective funds. As of December 31, 2018, approximately $6.4 million in reimbursable expenses were due from various affiliated funds and entities for these eligible expenses, and is included in Other Assets in the accompanying Consolidated Balance Sheet.

Accounts Held with Related Party

During the year the Partnership and its Consolidated Entities maintained bank accounts at NexBank, SSB ("NexBank"), a related party by way of common control. As of December 31, 2018, balances in these accounts were approximately $0.5 million, a portion of which exceeds Federal deposit insurance limits.

Investment in Affiliated Loans

During the year, certain subsidiaries of the Partnership were invested in several bank loans in which NexBank was the agent bank. Interest earned on the loans during the year was approximately $10.4 million and is included in interest and investment income in the Consolidated Statement of Income. At December 31, 2018, these subsidiaries were invested in NexBank agented loans with commitments and market values totaling approximately $83.3 million and $56.5 million, respectively.

Notes and Other Amounts Due from Affiliates

During the year ended December 31, 2018, Highland Capital Management Fund Advisors, L.P. ("HCMFA") did not issue any new promissory notes to the Partnership. The outstanding promissory notes accrue interest at a rate ranging from of 1.97 - 2.62%, the mid-term applicable federal rate as promulgated by the Internal Revenue Service. As of December 31, 2018 total interest and principal due on outstanding promissory notes was approximately $5.3 million and is payable on demand. The Partnership will not demand payment on amounts owed that exceed HCMFA's excess cash availability prior to May 31, 2021. The fair value of the Partnership's outstanding notes receivable approximates the carrying value of the notes receivable.

During the year ended December 31, 2018, NexPoint Advisors, L.P. ("NPA") did not issue any new promissory notes to the Partnership. The outstanding promissory note accrues interest at a rate of 6.0%. As of December 31, 2018 total interest and principal due on the outstanding promissory note was approximately $28.6 million and is payable in annual installments throughout the term of the loan. The fair value of the Partnership's outstanding notes receivable approximates the carrying value of the notes receivable.

During the year ended December 31, 2018, HCRE Partners, LLC ("HCRE") issued a promissory note to the Partnership in the amount of $0.8 million. The note accrues interest at a rate of 8.0%. 14. Legal Proceedings

The Partnership and certain affiliated investment vehicles are defendants in a complaint filed on February 24, 2009 New York state court by UBS Securities LLC and UBS AG, London Branch relating to a CLO warehouse facility with respect to which UBS is attempting to extend liability beyond the two entities that bore sole risk of loss under the governing documents. On February 19, 2010, the court dismissed all claims against the Partnership. UBS since has filed additional claims against the Partnership and certain additional investment vehicles. On July 21, 2011, the First Appellate Division again dismissed two of UBS's four claims against the Partnership, severely limiting the remaining two claims. Additional claims were dismissed in a further appellate ruling issued on October 31, 2017. Certain claims were tried in July 2018 against two Highland-affiliated defendants, but the trial court has neither ruled on those claims nor indicated when it will set UBS's remaining claims for trial. The second trial, if it occurs, will try all claims against the Partnership and certain affiliated investment vehicles.

From time to time the Partnership is party to disputes with disgruntled former employees. One such matter involves a former employee that improperly recorded internal conversations in violation of the Partnership's internal policies and procedures and potentially certain criminal and regulatory provisions. The former employee obtained a $7.9 million judgment against Highland affiliate Acis Capital Management, L.P. ("Acis"). The employee currently is attempting to collect this judgment through various proceedings in Texas state and federal court, including claims against Highland for receipt of assets from Acis.

In another matter, a Court ruled that a former employee breached his fiduciary duty to the Partnership, owed damages to the Partnership, and ordered the former employee to cease using or disclosing the Partnership's confidential information. Additionally, an award was entered in favor of the employee against a separate incentive compensation entity for an interest that was already escrowed in his name prior to trial and in which he was already vested. The dispute over the amount of his vested interest is on-going. Additionally, the Partnership from time to time must take action to enforce the permanent injunction against the former employee's continuing improper disclosures of the Partnership's confidential information.

The Partnership is engaged in litigation and arbitration with a group of investors relating to the post-financial crisis wind down and distribution of the remaining assets in the Crusader hedge fund vehicle.

The Partnership currently is and has been previously subject to various legal proceedings, many of which have been due to the nature of operating in the distressed loan business in the U.S. The legal process is often the route of last resort to recover amounts due from delinquent borrowers. We currently do not anticipate these proceedings will have a material negative impact to the Partnership.

FINANCIAL MATTERS

3.1. Capital Contributions.

(a) Initial Capital Contributions. The initial Capital Contribution of each Partner shall be set forth in the books and records of the Partnership.

(b) Additional Capital Contributions.

(i) The General Partner, in its reasonable discretion and for a bona fide business purpose, may request in writing that the Founding Partner Group make additional Capital Contributions in proportion to their Percentage Interests (each, an "Additional Capital Contribution").

(ii) Any failure by a Partner to make an Additional Capital Contribution requested under Section 3.1(b)(i) on or before the date on which that Additional Capital Contribution was due shall result in the Partner being in default.

(c) Consequences to Defaulting Partners. In the event a Partner is in default under Section 3.1(b) (a "Defaulting Partner"), the Defaulting Partner, in its sole and unfettered discretion, may elect to take either one of the option set forth below.

(i) Default Loans. If the Defaulting Partner so elects, the General Partner shall make a loan to the Defaulting Partner in an amount equal to that Defaulting Partner's additional capital contribution (a "Default Loan"). A Default Loan shall be deemed advanced on the date actually advanced. Default Loans shall earn interest on the outstanding principal amount thereof at a rate equal to the Applicable Federal Mid-Term Rate (determined by the Internal Revenue Service for the month in which the loan is deemed made) from the date actually advanced until the same is repaid in full. The term of any Default Loan shall be six (6) months, unless otherwise extended by the General Partner in its sole and unfettered discretion. If the General Partner makes a Default Loan, the Defaulting Partner shall not receive any distributions pursuant to Section 3.9(a) or Section 5.3 or any proceeds from the Transfer of all or any part of its Partnership Interest while the Default Loan remains unpaid. Instead, the Defaulting Partner's share of distributions or such other proceeds shall (until all Default Loans and interest thereon shall have been repaid in full) first be paid to the General Partner. Such payments shall be applied first to the payment of interest on such Default Loans and then to the repayment of the principal amounts thereof, but shall be considered, for all other purposes of this Agreement, to have been distributed to the Defaulting Partner. The Defaulting Partner shall be liable for the reasonable fees and expenses incurred by the General Partner (including, without limitation, reasonable attorneys' fees and disbursements) in connection with any enforcement or foreclosure upon any Default Loan and such costs shall, to the extent enforceable under applicable law, be added to the principal amount of the applicable Default Loan. In addition, at any time during the term of such Default Loan, the Defaulting Partner shall have the right to repay, in full, the Default Loan (including interest and any other charges). If the General Partner makes a Default Loan, the Defaulting Partner shall be deemed to have pledged to the General Partner and granted to the General Partner a continuing first priority security interest in, all of the Defaulting Partner's Partnership Interest to secure the payment of the principal of, and interest on, such Default Loan in accordance with the provisions hereof, and for such purpose this Agreement shall constitute a security agreement. The Defaulting Partner shall promptly execute, acknowledge and deliver such financing statements, continuation statements or other documents and take such other actions as the General Partner shall request in writing in order to perfect or continue the perfection of such security interest; and, if the Defaulting Partner shall fail to do so within seven (7) days after the Defaulting Partner's receipt of a notice making demand therefor, the General Partner is hereby appointed the attorney-in-fact of, and is hereby authorized on behalf of, the Defaulting Partner, to execute, acknowledge and deliver all such documents and take all such other actions as may be required to perfect such security interest. Such appointment and authorization are coupled with an interest and shall be irrevocable. The General Partner shall, prior to exercising any right or remedy (whether at law, in equity or pursuant to the terms hereof) available to it in connection with such security interest, provide to the Defaulting Partner a notice, in reasonable detail, of the right or remedy to be exercised and the intended timing of such exercise which shall not be less than five (5) days following the date of such notice.

(ii) Reduction of Percentage Interest. If the Defaulting Partner does not elect to obtain a Default Loan pursuant to Section 3.1(c)(i), the General Partner shall reduce the Defaulting Partner's Percentage Interest in accordance with the following formula:

> The Defaulting Partner's new Percentage Interest shall equal the product of (1) the Defaulting Partner's current Percentage Interest, multiplied by (2) the quotient of (a) the current Capital Account of the Defaulting Partner (with such Capital Account determined after taking into account a revaluation of the Capital Accounts immediately prior to such determination), divided by (b) the sum of (i) the current Capital Account of the Defaulting Partner (with such Capital Account determined after taking into account a revaluation of the Capital Accounts immediately prior to such determination), plus (ii) the amount of the additional capital contribution that such Defaulting Partner failed to make when due.

To the extent any downward adjustment is made to the Percentage Interest of a Partner pursuant to this Section 3.1(c)(ii), any resulting benefit shall accrue to the Partners (other than the Defaulting Partner) in proportion to their respective Percentage Interests.

3.2. Allocations of Profits and Losses.

(ii) Next, to the Partners until cumulative Profits allocated under this Section 3.2(a)(ii) for all prior periods equal the cumulative Losses allocated to the Partners under Section 3.2(b)(ii) for all prior periods in the inverse order in which such Losses were allocated; and

(ii) Next, to the Partners in proportion to their respective positive Capital Account balances until the aggregate Capital Account balances of the Partners (excluding any negative Capital Account balances) equal zero; provided, however, losses shall first be allocated to reduce amounts that were last allocated to the Capital Accounts of the Partners; and

(iii) Then, to all Partners in proportion to their respective Percentage Interests.

(c) Limitation on Loss Allocations. If any allocation of Losses would cause a Limited Partner to have an Adjusted Capital Account Deficit, those Losses instead shall be allocated to the General Partner.

3.3. Allocations on Transfers. Taxable items of the Partnership attributable to a Partnership Interest that has been Transferred (including the simultaneous decrease in the Partnership Interest of existing Partners resulting from the admission of a new Partner) shall be allocated in accordance with Section 4.3(d).

3.4. Special Allocations. If the requisite stated conditions or facts are present, the following special allocations shall be made in the following order:

(a) Partnership Minimum Gain Chargeback. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Article 3, if there is a net decrease in Partnership Minimum Gain during any taxable year or other period for which allocations are made, prior to any other allocation under this Agreement, each Partner shall be specially allocated items of Partnership income and gain for that period (and, if necessary, subsequent periods) in proportion to, and to the extent of, an amount equal to that Partner's share of the net decrease in Partnership Minimum Gain during that year determined in accordance with Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-2(g)(2). The items to be allocated shall be determined in accordance with Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-2(g). The items to be so allocated shall be determined in accordance with Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-2(g). This Section 3.4(b) is intended to comply with the partner nonrecourse debt minimum gain chargeback requirements of the Treasury Regulations, shall be interpreted consistently with the Treasury Regulations and shall be subject to all exceptions provided therein.

(c) Qualified Income Offset. If a Partner unexpectedly receives any adjustments, allocations or distributions described in Treasury Regulations Sections 1.704-1(b)(2)(ii)(d)(4), (d)(5) or (d)(6), then items of Partnership income and gain shall be specially allocated to each such Partner in an amount and manner sufficient to eliminate, to the extent required by the Treasury Regulations, the Adjusted Capital Account Deficit of the Partner as quickly as possible; provided, however, an allocation pursuant to this Section 3.4(c) shall be made if and only to the extent that the Partner would have an Adjusted Capital Account Deficit after all other allocations provided for in this Article 3 have been tentatively made without considering this Section 3.4(c).

(d) Gross Income Allocation. If a Partner has a deficit Capital Account at the end of any Fiscal Year of the Partnership that exceeds the sum of (i) the amount the Partner is obligated to restore, and (ii) the amount the Partner is deemed to be obligated to restore pursuant to the penultimate sentences of Treasury Regulations Sections 1.704-2(g)(1) and 1.704-2(i)(5), then each such Partner shall be specially allocated items of income and gain of the Partnership in the amount of the excess as quickly as possible; provided, however, an allocation pursuant to this Section 3.4(d) shall be made if and only to the extent that the Partner would have a deficit Capital Account in excess of that sum after all other allocations provided for in this Article 3 have been tentatively made without considering Section 3.4(c) or 3.4(d).

(e) Nonrecourse Deductions. Nonrecourse Deductions for any taxable year or other period for which allocations are made shall he allocated among the Partners in accordance with their Percentage interests.

(g) Section 754 Adjustments. To the extent an adjustment to the adjusted tax basis of any asset of the Partnership under Code Section 734(b) or Code Section 743(b) is required, pursuant to Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-1(b)(2)(iv)(m), to be taken into account in determining Capital Accounts, the amount of the adjustment to the Capital Accounts shall be treated as an item of gain (if the adjustment increases the basis of the asset) or loss (if the adjustment decreases the basis of the asset) and that gain or loss shall be specially allocated to the Partners in a manner consistent with the manner in which their Capital Accounts are required to be adjusted pursuant to that Section of the Treasury Regulations.

(h) Section 481 Adjustments. Any allocable items of income, gain, expense, deduction or credit required to be made by Section 481 of the Code as the result of the sale, transfer, exchange or issuance of a Partnership Interest will be specially allocated to the Partner receiving said Partnership Interest whether such items are positive or negative in amount.

3.5. Curative Allocations. The "Basic Regulatory Allocations" consist of (i) the allocations pursuant to Section 3.2(c), and (ii) the allocations pursuant to Sections 3.4. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Agreement, the Basic Regulatory Allocations shall be taken into account in allocating items of income, gain, loss and deduction among the Partners so that, to the extent possible, the net amount of the allocations of other items and the Basic Regulatory Allocations to each Partner shall be equal to the net amount that would have been allocated to each such Partner if the Basic Regulatory Allocations had not occurred. For purposes of applying the foregoing sentence, allocations pursuant to this Section 3.5 shall be made with respect to allocations pursuant to Section 3.4 (g) and (h) only to the extent that it is reasonably determined that those allocations will otherwise be inconsistent with the economic agreement among the Partners. To the extent that a special allocation under Section 3.4 is determined not to comply with applicable Treasury Regulations, then the Partners intend that the items shall be allocated in accordance with the Partners' varying Percentage Interests throughout each tax year during which such items are recognized for tax purposes.

3.6. Code Section 704(c) Allocations. In accordance with Code Section 704(c) and the Treasury Regulations thereunder, income, gain, loss and deduction with respect to property contributed to the capital of the Partnership shall, solely for tax purposes, be allocated among the Partners so as to take account of any variation at the time of the contribution between the tax basis of the property to the Partnership and the fair market value of that property. Except as otherwise provided herein, any elections or other decisions relating to those allocations shall be made by the General Partner in any manner that reasonably reflects the purpose and intent of this Agreement. Allocations of income, gain, loss and deduction pursuant to this Section 3.6 are solely for purposes of federal, state and local taxes and shall not affect, or in any way be taken into account in computing, the Capital Account of any Partner or the share of Profits, Losses, other tax items or distributions of any Partner pursuant to any provision of this Agreement.

3.7. Capital Accounts.

(a) Maintenance of Capital Accounts. The Partnership shall establish and maintain a separate capital account ("Capital Account") for each Partner in accordance with the rules of Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-1(b)(2)(iv), subject to and in accordance with the provisions set forth in this Section 3.7.

(i) The Capital Account balance of each Partner shall be credited (increased) by (A) the amount of cash contributed by that Partner to the capital of the Partnership, (B) the fair market value of property contributed by that Partner to the capital of the Partnership (net of liabilities secured by that contributed property that the Partnership assumes or takes subject to under Code Section 752), and (C) that Partner's allocable share of Profits and any items in the nature of income or gain which are specially allocated pursuant to Sections 3.4 and 3.5; and

(ii) The Capital Account balance of each Partner shall be debited (decreased) by (A) the amount of cash distributed to that Partner by the Partnership, (B) the fair market value of property distributed to that Partner by the Partnership (net of liabilities secured by that distributed property that such Partner assumes or takes subject to under Code Section 752), (C) that Partner's allocable share of expenditures of the Partnership described in Code Section 705(a)(2)(B), and (D) that Partner's allocable share of Losses and any items in the nature of expenses or losses which are specially allocated pursuant to Sections 3.2, 3.4 and 3.5.

The provisions of this Section 3.7 and the other provisions of this Agreement relating to the maintenance of Capital Accounts have been included in this Agreement to comply with Code Section 704(b) and the Treasury Regulations promulgated thereunder and will be interpreted and applied in a manner consistent with those provisions. The General Partner may modify the manner in which the Capital Accounts are maintained under this Section 3.7 in order to comply with those provisions, as well as upon the occurrence of events that might otherwise cause this Agreement not to comply with those provisions.

(b) Negative Capital Accounts. If any Partner has a deficit balance in its Capital Account, that Partner shall have no obligation to restore that negative balance or to make any Capital Contribution by reason thereof, and that negative balance shall not be considered an asset of the Partnership or of any Partner.

(c) Interest. No interest shall be paid by the Partnership on Capital Contributions or on balances in Capital Accounts.

(d) No Withdrawal. No Partner shall be entitled to withdraw any part of his/her/its Capital Contribution or his/her/its Capital Account or to receive any distribution from the Partnership, except as provided in Section 3.9 and Article 5.

(e) Loans From Partners. Loans by a Partner to the Partnership shall not be considered Capital Contributions.

(f) Revaluations. The Capital Accounts of the Partners shall not be "booked-up" or "booked-down" to their fair market values under Treasury Regulations Section 1.704(c)-1(b)(2)(iv)(f) or otherwise.

3.8. Distributive Share for Tax Purpose. All items of income, deduction, gain, loss or credit that are recognized for federal income tax purposes will be allocated among the Partners in accordance with the allocations of Profits and Losses hereunder as determined by the General Partner in its sole and unfettered discretion. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the General Partner may (i) as to each New Issue, specially allocate to the Partners who were allocated New Issue Profit from that New Issue any short-term capital gains realized during the Fiscal Year upon the disposition of such New Issue during that Fiscal Year, and (ii) specially allocate items of gain (or loss) to Partners who withdraw capital during any Fiscal Year in a manner designed to ensure that each withdrawing Partner is allocated gain (or loss) in an amount equal to the difference between that Partner's Capital Account balance (or portion thereof being withdrawn) at the time of the withdrawal and the tax basis for his/her/ its Partnership Interest at that time (or proportionate amount thereof); provided, however, that the General Partner may, without the consent of any other Partner, (a) alter the allocation of any item of taxable income, gain, loss, deduction or credit in any specific instance where the General Partner, in its sole and unfettered discretion, determines such alteration to be necessary or appropriate to avoid a materially inequitable result (e.g., where the allocation would create an inappropriate tax liability); and/or (b) adopt whatever other method of allocating tax items as the General Partner determines is necessary or appropriate in order to be consistent with the spirit and intent of the Treasury Regulations under Code Sections 704(b) and 704(c).

3.9. Distributions.

(a) General. The General Partner may make such pro rata or non-pro rata distributions as it may determine in its sole and unfettered discretion, without being limited to current or accumulated income or gains, but no such distribution shall be made out of funds required to make current payments on Partnership indebtedness; provided, however, that the General Partner may not make non-pro rata distributions under this Section 3.9(a) during an NAV Ratio Trigger Period without the consent of the Class B Limited Partner (in the case of a Class B NAV Ratio Trigger Period) and/or the Class C Limited Partner (in the case of a Class C NAV Ratio Trigger Period); provided, further this provision should not be interpreted to limit in any way the General Partner's ability to make non-pro rata tax distributions under Section 3.9(c) and Section 3.9(f). The Partnership has entered into one or more credit facilities with financial institutions that may limit the amount and timing of distributions to the Partners. Thus, the Partners acknowledge that distributions from the Partnership may be limited. Any distributions made to the Class B Limited Partner or the Class C Limited Partner pursuant to Section 3.9(b) shall reduce distributions otherwise allocable to such Partners under this Section 3.9(a) until such aggregate reductions are equal to the aggregate distributions made to the Class B Partners and the Class C Partners under Section 3.9(b).

(b) Priority Distributions. Prior to the distribution of any amounts to Partners pursuant to Section 3.9(a), and notwithstanding any other provision in this Agreement to the contrary, the Partnership shall make the following distributions ("Priority Distributions") pro-rata among the Class B Limited Partner and the Class C Limited Partner in accordance with their relative Percentage Interests:

(i) No later than March 31st of each calendar year, commencing March 31, 2017, an amount equal to $1,600,000.00;

(ii) No later than March 31st of each year, commencing March 31, 2017, an amount equal to three percent (3%) of the Partnership's investment gain for the prior year, as reflected in the Partnership's books and records within ledger account number 90100 plus three percent (3%) of the gross realized investment gains for the prior year of Highland Select Equity Fund, as reflected in its books and records;

(iii) No later than March 31st of each year, commencing March 31, 2017, an amount equal to ten percent (10%) of the Partnership's Operating Cash Flow for the prior year; and

(iv) No later than December 24th of each year, commencing December 24, 2016, an amount equal to the aggregate annual principal and interest payments on the Purchase Notes for the then current year.

(c) Tax Distributions. The General Partner may, in its sole discretion, declare and make cash distributions pursuant hereto to the Partners to allow the federal and state income tax attributable to the Partnership's taxable income that is passed through the Partnership to the Partners to be paid by such Partners (a "Tax Distribution"). The General Partner may, in its discretion, make Tax Distributions to the Founding Partner Group without also making Tax Distributions to other Partners; provided, however, that if the General Partner makes Tax Distributions to the Founding Partner Group, Tax Distributions must also be made the Class B Limited Partner to the extent the Class B Limited Partner provides the Partnership with documentation showing it is subject to an entity-level federal income tax obligation. Notwithstanding anything else in this Agreement, the General Partner may declare and pay Tax Distributions even if such Tax Distributions cause the Partnership to be unable to make Priority Distributions under Section 3.9(b).

(d) Payments Not Deemed Distributions. Any amounts paid pursuant to Sections 4.1(e) or 4.1(h) shall not be deemed to be distributions for purposes of this Agreement.

(e) Withheld Amounts. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Section 3.9 to the contrary, each Partner hereby authorizes the Partnership to withhold and to pay over, or otherwise pay, any withholding or other taxes payable by the Partnership with respect to that Partner as a result of that Partner's participation in the Partnership. If and to the extent that the Partnership shall be required to withhold or pay any such taxes, that Partner shall be deemed for all purposes of this Agreement to have received a payment from the Partnership as of the time that withholding or tax is paid, which payment shall be deemed to be a distribution with respect to that Partner's Partnership Interest to the extent that the Partner (or any successor to that Partner's Partnership Interest) is then entitled to receive a distribution. To the extent that the aggregate of such payments to a Partner for any period exceeds the distributions to which that Partner is entitled for that period, the amount of such excess shall be considered a loan from the Partnership to that Partner. Such loan shall bear interest (which interest shall be treated as an item of income to the Partnership) at the "Applicable Federal Rate" (as defined in the Code), as determined hereunder from time to time, until discharged by that Partner by repayment, which may be made in the sole and unfettered discretion of the General Partner out of distributions to which that Partner would otherwise be subsequently entitled. Any withholdings authorized by this Section 3.9(d) shall be made at the maximum applicable statutory rate under the applicable tax law unless the General Partner shall have received an opinion of counsel or other evidence satisfactory to the General Partner to the effect that a lower rate is applicable, or that no withholding is applicable.

(f) Special Tax Distributions. The Partnership shall, upon request of such Founding Partner, make distributions to the Founding Partners (or loans, at the election of the General Partner) in an amount necessary for each of them to pay their respective federal income tax obligations incurred through the effective date of the Third Amended and Restated Agreement of Limited Partnership of Highland Capital Management, L.P., the predecessor to this Agreement.

(g) Tolling of Priority Distributions. In the event of a "Honis Trigger Event," as defined in the Second Amended Buy-Sell and Redemption Agreement, the Partnership shall not make any distributions, including priority distributions under Section 3.9(b), to the Class B Limited Partner or the Class C Limited Partner until such time as a replacement trust administrator, manager and general partner, as applicable, acceptable to the Partnership in its sole discretion, as indicated by an affirmative vote of consent by a Majority Interest, shall be appointed to the Class B Limited Partner/Class C Limited Partner and any of its direct or indirect owners that have governing documents directly affected by a Honis Trigger Event.

3.10. Compensation and Reimbursement of General Partner.

(a) Compensation. The General Partner and any Affiliate of the General Partner shall receive no compensation from the Partnership for services rendered pursuant to this Agreement or any other agreements unless approved by a Majority Interest; provided, however, that no compensation above five million dollars per year may be approved, even by a Majority Interest, during a NAV Ratio Trigger Period.

(b) Reimbursement for Expenses. In addition to amounts paid under other Sections of this Agreement, the General Partner and its Affiliates shall be reimbursed for all expenses, disbursements, and advances incurred or made, and all fees, deposits, and other sums paid in connection with the organization and operation of the Partnership, the qualification of the Partnership to do business, and all related matters.

3.11. Books, Records, Accounting, and Reports.

(a) Records and Accounting. The General Partner shall keep or cause to be kept appropriate books and records with respect to the Partnership's business, which shall at all times be kept at the principal office of the Partnership or such other office as the General Partner may designate for such purpose. The books of the Partnership shall be maintained for financial reporting purposes on the accrual basis or on a cash basis, as the General Partner shall determine in its sole and unfettered discretion, in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles and applicable law. Upon reasonable request, the Class B Limited Partner or the Class C Limited Partner may inspect the books and records of the Partnership.

(b) Fiscal Year. The fiscal year of the Partnership shall be the calendar year unless otherwise determined by the General Partner in its sole and unfettered discretion.

(c) Other Information. The General Partner may release information concerning the operations of the Partnership to any financial institution or other Person that has loaned or may loan funds to the Partnership or the General Partner or any of its Affiliates, and may release such information to any other Person for reasons reasonably related to the business and operations of the Partnership or as required by law or regulation of any regulatory body.

(d) Distribution Reporting to Class B Limited Partner and Class C Limited Partner. Upon request, the Partnership shall provide the Class B Limited Partner and/or the Class C Limited Partner information on any non-pro rata distributions made under Section 3.9 to Partners other than the Partner requesting the information.

3.12. Tax Matters.

(a) Tax Returns. The General Partner shall arrange for the preparation and timely filing of all returns of Partnership income, gain, loss, deduction, credit and other items necessary for federal, state and local income tax purposes. The General Partner shall deliver to each Partner as copy of his/her/its IRS Form K-1 as soon as practicable after the end of the Fiscal Year, but in no event later than October 1. The classification, realization, and recognition of income, gain, loss, deduction, credit and other items shall be on the cash or accrual method of accounting for federal income tax purposes, as the General Partner shall determine in its sole and unfettered discretion. The General Partner in its sole and unfettered discretion may pay state and local income taxes attributable to operations of the Partnership and treat such taxes as an expense of the Partnership.

(b) Tax Elections. Except as otherwise provided herein, the General Partner shall, in its sole and unfettered discretion, determine whether to make any available tax election.

(c) Tax Controversies. Subject to the provisions hereof, the General Partner is designated the Tax Matters Partner (as defined in Code Section 6231), and is authorized and required to represent the Partnership, at the Partnership's expense, in connection with all examinations of the Partnership's affairs by tax authorities, including resulting administrative and judicial proceedings, and to expend Partnership funds for professional services and costs associated therewith. Each Partner agrees to cooperate with the General Partner in connection with such proceedings.

(d) Taxation as a Partnership. No election shall be made by the Partnership or any Partner for the Partnership to be excluded from the application of any of the provisions of Subchapter K, Chapter 1 of Subtitle A of the Code or from any similar provisions of any state tax laws.

The General Partner may use the funds of the Partnership as compensating balances for its benefit; provided, however, such funds do not directly or indirectly secure, and are not otherwise at risk on account of, any indebtedness or other obligation of the General Partner or any director, officer, employee, agent, representative, or Affiliate thereof. Nothing in this Section 4.1(d) shall be deemed to prohibit or limit in any manner the right of the Partnership to lend funds to the General Partner or any Affiliate thereof pursuant to Section 4.1(e)(i). All withdrawals from or charges against such accounts shall be made by the General Partner or by its representatives. Funds of the Partnership may be invested as determined by the General Partner in accordance with the terms and provisions of this Agreement.

(e) Loans to or from General Partner; Contracts with Affiliates; Joint Ventures.

(i) The General Partner or any Affiliate of the General Partner may lend to the Partnership funds needed by the Partnership for such periods of time as the General Partner may determine; provided, however, the General Partner or its Affiliate may not charge the Partnership interest at a rate greater than the rate (including points or other financing charges or fees) that would be charged the Partnership (without reference to the General Partner's financial abilities or guaranties) by unrelated lenders on comparable loans. The Partnership shall reimburse the General Partner or its Affiliate, as the case may be, for any costs incurred by the General Partner or that Affiliate in connection with the borrowing of funds obtained by the General Partner or that Affiliate and loaned to the Partnership. The Partnership may loan funds to the General Partner and any member of the Founding Partner Group at the General Partner's sole and exclusive discretion.

(f) Outside Activities' Conflicts of Interest. The General Partner or any Affiliate thereof and any director, officer, employee, agent, or representative of the General Partner or any Affiliate thereof shall be entitled to and may have business interests and engage in business activities in addition to those relating to the Partnership, including, without limitation, business interests and activities in direct competition with the Partnership. (h) Indemnification. The Partnership shall indemnify and hold harmless the General Partner and any director, officer, employee, agent, or representative of the General Partner (collectively, the "GP Party"), against all liabilities, losses, and damages incurred by any of them by reason of any act performed or omitted to be performed in the name of or on behalf of the Partnership, or in connection with the Partnership's business, including, without limitation, attorneys' fees and any amounts expended in the settlement of any claims or liabilities, losses, or damages, to the fullest extent permitted by the Delaware Act; provided, however, the Partnership shall have no obligation to indemnify and hold harmless a GP Party for any action or inaction that constitutes gross negligence or willful or wanton misconduct. The Partnership, in the sole and unfettered discretion of the General Partner, may indemnify and hold harmless any Limited Partner, employee, agent, or representative of the Partnership, any Person who is or was serving at the request of the Partnership acting through the General Partner as a director, officer, partner, trustee, employee, agent, or representative of another corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust, or other enterprise, and any other Person to the extent determined by the General Partner in its sole and unfettered discretion, but in no event shall such indemnification exceed the indemnification permitted by the Delaware Act. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in this Section 4.1(h) or elsewhere in this Agreement, no amendment to the Delaware Act after the date of this Agreement shall reduce or limit in any manner the indemnification provided for or permitted by this Section 4.1(h) unless such reduction or limitation is mandated by such amendment for limited partnerships formed prior to the enactment of such amendment. In no event shall Limited Partners be subject to personal liability by reason of the indemnification provisions of this Agreement.

(i) Liability of General Partner.

(i) Neither the General Partner nor its directors, officers, employees, agents, or representatives shall be liable to the Partnership or any Limited Partner for errors in judgment or for any acts or omissions that do not constitute gross negligence or willful or wanton misconduct.

(ii) The General Partner may exercise any of the powers granted to it by this Agreement and perform any of the duties imposed upon it hereunder either directly or by or through its directors, officers, employees, agents, or representatives, and the General Partner shall not be responsible for any misconduct or negligence on the part of any agent or representative appointed by the General Partner.

(j) Reliance by General Partner.

(i) The General Partner may rely and shall be protected in acting or refraining from acting upon any resolution, certificate, statement, instrument, opinion, report, notice, request, consent, order, bond, debenture, or other paper or document believed by it to be genuine and to have been signed or presented by the proper party or parties.

(ii) The General Partner may consult with legal counsel, accountants, appraisers, management consultants, investment bankers, and other consultants and advisers selected by it, and any opinion of any such Person as to matters which the General Partner believes to be within such Person's professional or expert competence shall be full and complete authorization and protection in respect of any action taken or suffered or omitted by the General Partner hereunder in good faith and in accordance with such opinion.

(k) The General Partner may, from time to time, designate one or more Persons to be officers of the Partnership. No officer need be a Partner. Any officers so designated shall have such authority and perform such duties as the General Partner may, from time to time, delegate to them. The General Partner may assign titles to particular officers, including, without limitation, president, vice president, secretary, assistant secretary, treasurer and assistant treasurer. Each officer shall hold office until such Person's successor shall be duly designated and shall qualify or until such Person's death or until such Person shall resign or shall have been removed in the manner hereinafter provided. Any number of offices may be held by the same Person. The salaries or other compensation, if any, of the officers and agents of the Partnership shall be fixed from time to time by the General Partner. Any officer may be removed as such, either with or without cause, by the General Partner whenever in the General Partner's judgment the best interests of the Partnership will be served thereby. Any vacancy occurring in any office of the Partnership may be filled by the General Partner.

4.2. Rights and Obligations of Limited Partners. In addition to the rights and obligations of Limited Partners set forth elsewhere in this Agreement, Limited Partners shall have the following rights and obligations:

(a) Limitation of Liability. Limited Partners shall have no liability under this Agreement except as provided herein or under the Delaware Act.

(b) Management of Business. No Limited Partner shall take part in the control (within the meaning of the Delaware Act) of the Partnership's business, transact any business in the Partnership's name, or have the power to sign documents for or otherwise bind the Partnership other than as specifically set forth in this Agreement.

(c) Return of Capital. No Limited Partner shall be entitled to the withdrawal or return of its Capital Contribution except to the extent, if any, that distributions made pursuant to this Agreement or upon termination of the Partnership may be considered as such by law and then only to the extent provided for in this Agreement.

(d) Second Amended Buy-Sell and Redemption Agreement. Each Limited Partner shall comply with the terms and conditions of the Second Amended Buy-Sell and Redemption Agreement.

(e) Default on Priority Distributions. If the Partnership fails to timely pay Priority Distributions pursuant to Section 3.9(b), and the Partnership does not subsequently make such Priority Distribution within ninety days of its due date, the Class B Limited Partner or the Class C Limited Partner may require the Partnership to liquidate publicly traded securities held by the Partnership or Highland Select Equity Master Fund, L.P., a Delaware limited partnership controlled by the Partnership; provided, however, that the General Partner may in its sole discretion elect instead to liquidate other non-publicly traded securities owned by the Partnership in order to satisfy the Partnership's obligations under Section 3.9(b) and this Section 4.2(e). In either case, Affiliates of the General Partner shall have the right of first offer to purchase any securities liquidated under this Section 4.2(e).

4.3. Transfer of Partnership Interests.

(a) Transfer. No Partnership Interest shall be Transferred, in whole or in part, except in accordance with the terms and conditions set forth in this Section 4.3 and the Second Amended Buy-Sell and Redemption Agreement. Any Transfer or purported Transfer of any Partnership Interest not made in accordance with this Section 4.3 and the Second Amended Buy-Sell and Redemption Agreement shall be null and void. An alleged transferee shall have no right to require any information or account of the Partnership's transactions or to inspect the Partnership's books. The Partnership shall be entitled to treat the alleged transferor of a Partnership Interest as the absolute owner thereof in all respects, and shall incur no liability to any alleged transferee for distributions to the Partner owning that Partnership Interest of record or for allocations of Profits, Losses, deductions or credits or for transmittal of reports and notices required to be given to holders of Partnership Interests.

(b) Transfers by General Partner. The General Partner may Transfer all, but not less than all, of its Partnership Interest to any Person only with the approval of a Majority Interest; provided, however, that the General Partner may not Transfer its Partnership Interest during any NAV Ratio Trigger Period except to the extent such Transfers are for estate planning purposes or resulting from the death of the individual owner of the General Partner. Any Transfer by the General Partner of its Partnership Interest under this Section 4.3(b) to an Affiliate of the General Partner or any other Person shall not constitute a withdrawal of the General Partner under Section 4.5(a), Section 5.1(b), or any other provision of this Agreement. If any such Transfer is deemed to constitute a withdrawal under such provisions or otherwise and results in the dissolution of the Partnership under this Agreement or the laws of any jurisdiction to which the Partnership of this Agreement is subject, the Partners hereby unanimously consent to the reconstitution and continuation of the Partnership immediately following such dissolution, pursuant to Section 5.2.

(c) Transfers by Limited Partners. The Partnership Interest of a Limited Partner may not be Transferred without the consent of the General Partner (which consent may be withheld in the sole and unfettered discretion of the General Partner), and in accordance with the Second Amended Buy-Sell and Redemption Agreement.

(d) Distributions and Allocations in Respect of Transferred Partnership Interests. If any Partnership Interest is Transferred during any Fiscal Year in compliance with the provisions of Article 4 and the Second Amended Buy-Sell and Redemption Agreement, Profits, Losses, and all other items attributable to the transferred interest for that period shall be divided and allocated between the transferor and the transferee by taking into account their varying interests during the period in accordance with Code Section 706(d), using any conventions permitted by law and selected by the General Partner; provided that no allocations shall be made under this Section 4.3(d) that would affect any special allocations made under Section 3.4. All distributions declared on or before the date of that Transfer shall be made to the transferor. Solely for purposes of making such allocations and distributions, the Partnership shall recognize that Transfer not later than the end of the calendar month during which it is given notice of that Transfer; provided, however, if the Partnership does not receive a notice stating the date that Partnership Interest was Transferred and such other information as the General Partner may reasonably require within thirty (30) days after the end of the Fiscal Year during which the Transfer occurs, then all of such items shall be allocated, and all distributions shall be made, to the person who, according to the books and records of the Partnership, on the last day of the Fiscal Year during which the Transfer occurs, was the owner of the Partnership Interest. Neither the Partnership nor any Partner shall incur any liability for making allocations and distributions in accordance with the provisions of this Section 4.3(d), whether or not any Partner or the Partnership has knowledge of any Transfer of ownership of any Partnership Interest.

(e) Forfeiture of Partnership Interests Pursuant to the Contribution Note. In the event any Class B Limited Partnership Interests are forfeited in favor of the Partnership as a result of any default on the Contribution Note, the Capital Accounts and Percentage Interests associated with such Class B Limited Partnership Interests shall be allocated pro rata among the Class A Partners. The Priority Distributions in Section 3.9(b) made after the date of such forfeiture shall each be reduced by an amount equal to the ratio of the Percentage Interest associated with the Class B Limited Partnership Interest transferred pursuant to this Section 4.3(e) over the aggregate Percentage Interests of all Class B Limited Partnership Interests and Class C Limited Partnership Interests, calculated immediately prior to any forfeiture of such Class B Limited Partnership Interest.

(f) Transfers of Partnership Interests Pursuant to the Purchase Notes. Notwithstanding any other provision in this Agreement, the Partnership shall respect, and the General Partner hereby provides automatic consent for, any transfers (in whole or transfers of partial interests) of the Class C Limited Partnership Interests, or a portion thereof, if such transfer occurs as a result of a default on the Purchase Notes. Upon the transfer of any Class C Limited Partnership Interest to any member of the Founding Partner Group (or their assigns), such Class C Limited Partnership Interest shall automatically convert to a Class A Partnership Interest. The Priority Distributions in Section 3.9(b) shall each be reduced by an amount equal to the ratio of the Percentage Interest associated with the transferred Class C Limited Partnership Interest over the aggregate Percentage Interests of all Class B Limited Partnership Interests and Class C Limited Partnership Interests, calculated immediately prior to any transfer of such Class C Limited Partnership Interest.

4.4. Issuances of Partnership Interests to New and Existing Partners.

(a) Issuance of Partnership Interests to New Limited Partners. The General Partner may admit one or more additional Persons as Limited Partners ("Additional Limited Partners") to the Partnership at such times and upon such terms as it deems appropriate in its sole and unfettered discretion; provided, however, that the General Partner may only admit additional Persons as Limited Partners in relation to the issuance of equity incentives to key employees of the Partnership; provided, further that the General Partner may not issue such equity incentives to the extent they entitle the holders, in the aggregate, to a Percentage Interest in excess of twenty percent without the consent of the Class B Limited Partner and the Class C Limited Partner. All Class A Limited Partners, the Class B Limited Partner and the Class C Limited Partner shall be diluted proportionately by the issuance of such limited partnership interests. No Person may be admitted to the Partnership as a Limited Partner until he/she/it executes an Addendum to this Agreement in the form attached as Exhibit B (which may be modified by the General Partner in its sole and unfettered discretion) and an addendum to the Second Amended Buy-Sell and Redemption Agreement.

(b) Issuance of an Additional Partnership Interest to an Existing Partner. The General Partner may issue an additional Partnership Interest to any existing Partner at such times and upon such terms as it deems appropriate in its sole and unfettered discretion. Upon the issuance of an additional Partnership Interest to an existing Partner, the Percentage Interests of the members of the Founding Partner Group shall be diluted proportionately. Any additional Partnership Interest shall be subject to all the terms and conditions of this Agreement and the Second Amended Buy-Sell and Redemption Agreement.

4.5. Withdrawal of General Partner

(a) Option. In the event of the withdrawal of the General Partner from the Partnership, the departing General Partner (the "Departing Partner") shall, at the option of its successor (if any) exercisable prior to the effective date of the departure of that Departing Partner, promptly receive from its successor in exchange for its Partnership Interest as the General Partner, an amount in cash equal to its Capital Account balance, determined as of the effective date of its departure.

(b) Conversion. If the successor to a Departing Partner does not exercise the option described in Section 4.5(a), the Partnership Interest of the Departing Partner as the General Partner of the Partnership shall be converted into a Partnership Interest as a Limited Partner.

4.6. Admission of Substitute Limited Partners and Successor General Partner.

(a) Admission of Substitute Limited Partners. A transferee (which may be the heir or legatee of a Limited Partner) or assignee of a Limited Partner's Partnership Interest shall be entitled to receive only the distributive share of the Partnership's Profits, Losses, deductions, and credits attributable to that Partnership Interest. To become a substitute Limited Partner (a "Substitute Limited Partner"), that transferee or assignee shall (I) obtain the consent of the General Partner (which consent may be withheld in the sole and unfettered discretion of the General Partner), (ii) comply with all the requirements of this Agreement and the Second Amended Buy-Sell and Redemption Agreement with respect to the Transfer of the Partnership Interest at issue, and (iii) execute an Addendum to this Agreement in the form attached as Exhibit B (which may be modified by the General Partner in its sole and unfettered discretion) and an addendum to the Second Amended Buy-Sell and Redemption Agreement. Upon admission of a Substitute Limited Partner, that Limited Partner shall be subject to all of the restrictions applicable to, shall assume all of the obligations of, and shall attain the status of a Limited Partner under and pursuant to this Agreement with respect to the Partnership Interest held by that Limited Partner.

(b) Admission of Successor General Partner. A successor General Partner selected pursuant to Section 5.2 or the transferee of or successor to all of the Partnership Interest of the General Partner pursuant to Section 4.3(b) shall be admitted to the Partnership as the General Partner, effective as of the date of the withdrawal or removal of the predecessor General Partner or the date of Transfer of that predecessor's Partnership Interest.

(c) Action by General Partner. In connection with the admission of any substitute Limited Partner or successor General Partner or any additional Limited Partner, the General Partner shall have the authority to take all such actions as it deems necessary or advisable in connection therewith, including the amendment of Exhibit A and the execution and filing with appropriate authorities of any necessary documentation.

DISSOLUTION AND WINDING UP

5.1. Dissolution. The Partnership shall be dissolved upon:

(a) The withdrawal, bankruptcy, or dissolution of the General Partner, or any other event that results in its ceasing to be the General Partner (other than by reason of a Transfer pursuant to Section 4.3(b));

(b) An election to dissolve the Partnership by the General Partner that is approved by the affirmative vote of a Majority Interest; provided, however, the General Partner may dissolve the Partnership without the approval of the Limited Partners in order to comply with Section 14 of the Second Amended Buy-Sell and Redemption Agreement; or

(c) Any other event that, under the Delaware Act, would cause its dissolution.

For purposes of this Section 5.1, the bankruptcy of the General Partner shall be deemed to have occurred when the General Partner: (i) makes a general assignment for the benefit of creditors; (ii) files a voluntary bankruptcy petition; (iii) becomes the subject of an order for relief or is declared insolvent in any federal or state bankruptcy or insolvency proceeding: (iv) files a petition or answer seeking a reorganization, arrangement, composition, readjustment, liquidation, dissolution, or similar relief under any law; (v) files an answer or other pleading admitting or failing to contest the material allegations of a petition filed against the General Partner in a proceeding of the type described in clauses (i) through (iv) of this paragraph; (vi) seeks, consents to, or acquiesces in the appointment of a trustee, receiver, or liquidator of the General Partner or of all or any substantial part of the General Partner's properties; or (vii) one hundred twenty (120) days expire after the date of the commencement of a proceeding against the General Partner seeking reorganization, arrangement, composition, readjustment, liquidation, dissolution, or similar relief under any law if the proceeding has not been previously dismissed, or ninety (90) days expire after the date of the appointment, without the General Partner's consent or acquiescence, of a trustee, receiver, or liquidator of the General Partner or of all or any substantial part of the General Partner's properties if the appointment has not previously been vacated or stayed, or ninety (90) days expire after the date of expiration of a stay, if the appointment has not previously been vacated.

5.2. Continuation of the Partnership. Upon the occurrence of an event described in Section 5.1(a), the Partnership shall be deemed to be dissolved and reconstituted if a Majority Interest elect to continue the Partnership within ninety (90) days of that event. If no election to continue the Partnership is made within ninety (90) days of that event, the Partnership shall conduct only activities necessary to wind up its affairs. If an election to continue the Partnership is made upon the occurrence of an event described in Section 5.1(a), then:

(a) Within that ninety (90)-day period a successor General Partner shall be selected by a Majority Interest;

(b) The Partnership shall be deemed to be reconstituted and shall continue until the end of the term for which it is formed unless earlier dissolved in accordance with this Article 5;

(c) The interest of the former General Partner shall be converted to an interest as a Limited Partner; and

(d) All necessary steps shall be taken to amend or restate this Agreement and the Certificate of Limited Partnership, and the successor General Partner may for this purpose amend this Agreement and the Certificate of Limited Partnership, as appropriate, without the consent of any Partner.

5.3. Liquidation. Upon dissolution of the Partnership, unless the Partnership is continued under Section 5.2, the General Partner or, in the event the General Partner has been dissolved, becomes bankrupt (as defined in Section 5.1), or withdraws from the Partnership, a liquidator or liquidating committee selected by a Majority Interest, shall be the Liquidator. The Liquidator (if other than the General Partner) shall be entitled to receive such compensation for its services as may be approved by a Majority Interest. The Liquidator shall agree not to resign at any time without fifteen (15) days' prior written notice and (if other than the General Partner) may be removed at any time, with or without cause, by notice of removal approved by a Majority Interest. Upon dissolution, removal, or resignation of the Liquidator, a successor and substitute Liquidator (who shall have and succeed to all rights, powers, and duties of the original Liquidator) shall within thirty (30) days thereafter be selected by a Majority Interest. The right to appoint a successor or substitute Liquidator in the manner provided herein shall be recurring and continuing for so long as the functions and services of the Liquidator are authorized to continue under the provisions hereof, and every reference herein to the Liquidator shall be deemed to refer also to any such successor or substitute Liquidator appointed in the manner provided herein. Except as expressly provided in this Article 5, the Liquidator appointed in the manner provided herein shall have and may exercise, without further authorization or consent of any of the parties hereto, all of the powers conferred upon the General Partner under the terms of this Agreement (but subject to all of the applicable limitations, contractual and otherwise, upon the exercise of such powers) to the extent necessary or desirable in the good faith judgment of the Liquidator to carry out the duties and functions of the Liquidator hereunder for and during such period of time as shall be reasonably required in the good faith judgment of the Liquidator to complete the winding up and liquidation of the Partnership as provided herein. The Liquidator shall liquidate the assets of the Partnership and apply and distribute the proceeds of such liquidation in the following order of priority, unless otherwise required by mandatory provisions of applicable law:

(a) To the payment of the expenses of the terminating transactions including, without limitation, brokerage commission, legal fees, accounting fees and closing costs;

(b) To the payment of creditors of the Partnership, including Partners, in order of priority provided by law;

(c) To the Partners and assignees to the extent of, and in proportion to, the positive balances in their respective Capital Accounts as provided in Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-1(b)(2)(ii)(b)(2); provided, however, the Liquidator may place in escrow a reserve of cash or other assets of the Partnership for contingent liabilities in an amount determined by the Liquidator to be appropriate for such purposes; and

(d) To the Partners in proportion to their respective Percentage Interests.

5.4. Distribution in Kind. Notwithstanding the provisions of Section 5.3 that require the liquidation of the assets of the Partnership, but subject to the order of priorities set forth therein, if on dissolution of the Partnership the Liquidator determines that an immediate sale of part or all of the Partnership's assets would be impractical or would cause undue loss to the Partners and assignees, the Liquidator may defer for a reasonable time the liquidation of any assets except those necessary to satisfy liabilities of the Partnership (other than those to Partners) and/or may distribute to the Partners and assignees, in lieu of cash, as tenants in common and in accordance with the provisions of Section 5.3, undivided interests in such Partnership assets as the Liquidator deems not suitable for liquidation. Any such distributions in kind shall be subject to such conditions relating to the disposition and management of such properties as the Liquidator deems reasonable and equitable and to any joint operating agreements or other agreements governing the operation of such properties at such time. The Liquidator shall determine the fair market value of any property distributed in kind using such reasonable method of valuation as it may adopt.

5.5. Cancellation of Certificate of Limited Partnership. Upon the completion of the distribution of Partnership property as provided in Sections 5.3 and 5.4, the Partnership shall be terminated, and the Liquidator (or the General Partner and Limited Partners if necessary) shall cause the cancellation of the Certificate of Limited Partnership in the State of Delaware and of all qualifications and registrations of the Partnership as a foreign limited partnership in jurisdictions other than the State of Delaware and shall take such other actions as may be necessary to terminate the Partnership.

5.6. Return of Capital. The General Partner shall not be personally liable for the return of the Capital Contributions of Limited Partners, or any portion thereof, it being expressly understood that any such return shall be made solely from Partnership assets.

5.7. Waiver of Partition. Each Partner hereby waives any rights to partition of the Partnership property.

ARTICLE 6

GENERAL PROVISIONS

6.1. Amendments to Agreement. The General Partner may amend this Agreement without the consent of any Partner if the General Partner reasonably determines that such amendment is necessary and appropriate; provided, however, any action taken by the General Partner shall be subject to its fiduciary duties to the Limited Partners under the Delaware Act; provided further that any amendments that adversely affect the Class B Limited Partner or the Class C Limited Partner may only be made with the consent of such Partner adversely affected.

6.2. Addresses and Notices. Any notice, demand, request, or report required or permitted to be given or made to a Partner under this Agreement shall be in writing and shall be deemed given or made when delivered in person or when sent by United States registered or certified mail to the Partner at his/her/its address as shown on the records of the Partnership, regardless of any claim of any Person who may have an interest in any Partnership Interest by reason of an assignment or otherwise.

6.3. Titles and Captions. All article and section titles and captions in the Agreement are for convenience only, shall not be deemed part of this Agreement, and in no way shall define, limit, extend, or describe the scope or intent of any provisions hereof. Except as specifically provided otherwise, references to "Articles," "Sections" and "Exhibits" are to "Articles," "Sections" and "Exhibits" of this Agreement. All Exhibits hereto are incorporated herein by reference.

6.4. Pronouns and Plurals. Whenever the context may require, any pronoun used in this Agreement shall include the corresponding masculine, feminine, or neuter forms, and the singular form of nouns, pronouns, and verbs shall include the plural and vice versa.

6.5. Further Action. The parties shall execute all documents, provide all information, and take or refrain from taking all actions as may be necessary or appropriate to achieve the purposes of this Agreement.

6.6. Binding Effect. This Agreement shall be binding upon and inure to the benefit of the parties hereto and their heirs, executors, administrators, successors, legal representatives, and permitted assigns.

6.7. Integration. This Agreement constitutes the entire agreement among the parties hereto pertaining to the subject matter hereof and supersedes all prior agreements and understandings pertaining thereto.

6.8. Creditors. None of the provisions of this Agreement shall be for the benefit of or enforceable by any creditors of the Partnership.

6.9. Waiver. No failure by any party to insist upon the strict performance of any covenant, duty, agreement, or condition of this Agreement or to exercise any right or remedy consequent upon a breach thereof shall constitute waiver of any such breach or any other covenant, duty, agreement, or condition.

6.10. Counterparts. This agreement may be executed in counterparts, all of which together shall constitute one agreement binding on all the parties hereto, notwithstanding that all such parties are not signatories to the original or the same counterpart.

6.11. Applicable Law. This Agreement shall be construed in accordance with and governed by the laws of the State of Delaware, without regard to the principles of conflicts of law.

6.12. Invalidity of Provisions. If any provision of this Agreement is declared or found to be illegal, unenforceable, or void, in whole or in part, then the parties shall be relieved of all obligations arising under that provision, but only to the extent that it is illegal, unenforceable, or void, it being the intent and agreement of the parties that this Agreement shall be deemed amended by modifying that provision to the extent necessary to make it legal and enforceable while preserving its intent or, if that is not possible, by substituting therefor another provision that is legal and enforceable and achieves the same objectives.

6.13. General Partner Discretion. Whenever the General Partner may use its sole discretion, the General Partner may consider any items it deems relevant, including its own interest and that of its affiliates.

6.14. Mandatory Arbitration. In the event there is an unresolved legal dispute between the parties and/or any of their respective officers, directors, partners, employees, agents, affiliates or other representatives that involves legal rights or remedies arising from this Agreement, the parties agree to submit their dispute to binding arbitration under the authority of the Federal Arbitration Act; provided, however, that the Partnership or such applicable affiliate thereof may pursue a temporary restraining order and /or preliminary injunctive relief in connection with any confidentiality covenants or agreements binding on the other party, with related expedited discovery for the parties, in a court of law, and thereafter, require arbitration of all issues of final relief. The arbitration will be conducted by the American Arbitration Association, or another mutually agreeable arbitration service. A panel of three arbitrators will preside over the arbitration and will together deliberate, decide and issue the final award. The arbitrators shall be duly licensed to practice law in the state of Texas. The discovery process shall be limited to the following: Each side shall be permitted no more than (i) two party depositions of six hours each, each deposition to be taken pursuant to the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure; (ii) one non-party deposition of six hours; (iii) twenty-five interrogatories; (iv) twenty-five requests for admissions; (v) ten request for production (in response, the producing party shall not be obligated to produce in excess of 5,000 total pages of documents, including electronic documents); and (vi) one request for disclosure pursuant to the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure. Any discovery not specifically provided for in this paragraph, whether to parties or non-parties, shall not be permitted. The arbitrators shall be required to state in a written opinion all facts and conclusions of law relied upon to support any decision rendered. The arbitrators will not have the authority to render a decision that contains an outcome based on error of state or federal law or to fashion a cause of action or remedy not otherwise provided for under applicable state or federal law. Any dispute over whether the arbitrators have failed to comply with the foregoing will be resolved by summary judgment in a court of law. In all other respects, the arbitration process will be conducted in accordance with the American Arbitration Association's dispute resolution rules or other mutually agreeable arbitration services rules. All proceedings shall be conducted in Dallas, Texas or another mutually agreeable site. Each party shall bear its own attorneys fees, costs and expenses, including any costs of experts, witnesses and /or travel, subject to a final arbitration award on who should bear costs and fees. The duty to arbitrate described above shall survive the termination of this Agreement. Except as otherwise provided above, the parties hereby waive trial in a court of law or by jury. All other rights, remedies, statutes of limitation and defenses applicable to claims asserted in a court of law will apply in the arbitration.

FSD NO. OF 2025 ( )

IN THE MATTER OF SECTION 92 OF THE COMPANIES ACT (2025 REVISION)

AFFIDAVIT OF JAMES DAVID DONDERO

I, JAMES DAVID DONDERO, of 300 Crescent Court, Suite 700, Dallas, Texas, United States, 75201, MAKE OATH AND SAY as follows:

1. I am the President of NexPoint Advisors, L.P. (NexPoint), an investment advisor registered with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC). I am a Certified Public Accountant and Chartered Financial Analyst with over forty years of investment advisory experience managing billions of dollars of investments across various assets classes.

2. I make this affidavit in support of the petition (the Petition) filed by the Supporting Organizations (as defined below) seeking the winding up on the just and equitable basis of Charitable DAF HoldCo, Ltd (the LP) and the Charitable DAF Fund, LP (the Fund) pursuant to section 92(e) of the Companies Act (2025 Revision) (the Act) and Order 3, rule 3 of the Companies Winding Up Rules (2025 Consolidation) (the CWR).

3. I make this affidavit from matters within my own personal knowledge and believe the information contained herein to be true and accurate in all respects.

4. Now produced and shown to me and marked "JDD-1" is a bundle of true copy documents to which I refer in this affidavit. References to page numbers in this affidavit are references to that exhibit unless otherwise specified.

BACKGROUND

5. I founded NexPoint in 2012. NexPoint is an alternative investment firm, with a particular focus on investment in the real estate sector. NexPoint has assets under management exceeding US$16 billion in value.

6. I was formerly the President of Highland Capital Management, L.P. (Highland), also an SEC registered investment advisor which I founded in 1993. From that time until 2015, Highland was majority owned by me and/or my affiliates. In December 2015, I divested my majority stake of Highland (2015 Transaction). On 16 October 2019, Highland filed for bankruptcy protection under Chapter 11 of the United States Bankruptcy Code (Highland Bankruptcy) in the Northern District of Texas. The Highland Bankruptcy plan was confirmed in February 2021, and the estate remains open as it makes distributions to creditors.

7. In February 2021, as part of the Highland Bankruptcy, the employment contracts of the majority of Highland's employees were terminated. Many of the former back-office employees of Highland thereafter became employees of a newly formed company called Skyview Group (Skyview) that provides middle and back-office services to various clients, including companies in which I hold an interest such as NexPoint.

THE FUND

8. In addition to my business interests, I am a regular donor to philanthropic and charitable causes. The Fund is one of the vehicles I utilize to donate such funds to charitable organizations.

9. In 2010, the finance, accounting, and tax staff of Highland identified certain assets to be donated to a charitable foundation. In 2011, I requested the Donor Advised Fund (or DAF) to be formed and structured in a way that allowed these donations to be receipted and distributed to certain charitable foundations, as the ultimate beneficial owners of the Fund's economic interest. The structure proposed by the tax and legal advisors to effect this was for the Fund to have one limited partner (i.e. the LP) which would issue 'participation shares' to be held by certain charitable supporting organizations (together, the Supporting Organizations) and in turn each of those entities would provide funding directly to certain charitable foundations in the U.S. (together, the Charities).

10. The Amended and Restated Limited Partnership Agreement of the Fund dated 7 November 2011 (ARLPA), and the Amended and Restated Memorandum and Articles of Association of the LP dated 19 January 2015 (Articles), govern the Fund and its partners.

11. The LP holds 99% ninety-nine percent (99%) of the economic interest in the Fund. The remaining one percent (1%) is (or at least was as at the time of the Fund's formation) held by its general partner, Charitable DAF GP, LLC (the GP), a Delaware company incorporated on 25 October 2011.

12. In addition to the Participation Shares, the LP issued 100 management shares (the Management Shares) with the only voting rights for any and all shareholders in the LP. In essence, the Articles and ARLPA therefore grant complete control of the Fund structure to the holder of the Management Shares in the LP and the entirety of the issued share capital of the GP. Those shares have at all material times been held by a single individual, who as a result has substantial control over the entire Fund structure (the Control Position).

13. The ARLPA provides that the Fund was formed to make investments, directly or indirectly, on behalf of certain entities "for the economic benefit of the Limited Partner and its Indirect Charitable Owners" and contemplates the engagement of investment (and other service) advisors to effect this. In this context, the Control Position is responsible for the governance and management functions of the Fund as required in order for the Fund to carry out its sole purpose of benefiting the Supporting Organizations and the Charities they support.

GRANT SCOTT

14. I initially selected Grant Scott for the Control Position, a person I have known for years who also has great integrity.

15. From 2010 until the 2015 Transaction, the Fund operated as a non-discretionary advised account of Highland, meaning Highland provided back-and-middle-office staff to the Fund and also provided recommendations regarding potential investments to Mr Scott as the Control Person. However, Mr Scott had complete discretion in adopting or rejecting the investment recommendations provided to the Fund by Highland. He also had final discretion over payments made by the Fund to third parties. In his position as the Control Person, Mr Scott was paid $60,000 USD per annum.

16. After the 2015 Transaction, my affiliates and I no longer owned a majority stake in Highland. Subsequently, I was advised that, as a result of the change of ownership, the Fund was permitted to enter into a paying Investment Advisory Agreement with Highland. This form of investment advisory agreement was in place from January 2017 until it was terminated effective March 2021.

MARK PATRICK

17. Mark Patrick was hired as Tax Counsel at Highland in 2008. His job duties included maximizing tax saving to Highland's limited partners, including me and my affiliates. In that role, Mr. Patrick directly represented me as my personal tax counsel. He represented me in tax efficiency planning and tax-deductible charitable giving, among other things. He provided the same services for various trusts and companies affiliated with me. Mr Patrick served that role at Highland from 2008 until his departure in February 2021.

18. In March 2021, Mr Patrick was hired by Skyview as Tax Counsel and continued to perform substantially similar tax counsel duties for me. At Mr Patrick's request, his job title was changed to "Managing Director, Tax" in September 2021, although his role with respect to me and my affiliates remained substantially the same.

19. The legal structure of the Fund (including as regards its partners and ultimate beneficiaries as discussed above) was created in 2011 on the advice of Mr Patrick working with outside counsel. Mr Patrick advised me that, to avoid potential negative findings by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service, as the donor/grantor of assets to the Fund, I could not have any control over the Fund or its entities. I followed his advice as my tax counsel.

20. In March 2021, Mr Scott informed me that he wanted to resign from the Control Position. The Fund had become engaged in certain disputes arising from the Highland Bankruptcy, and he did not believe he was equipped to handle those disputes. Mr Patrick suggested to Mr Scott and me that he was prepared to take on the Control Position and, in that role, to handle the litigation related to the Highland Bankruptcy as it affected the Fund. At the time, Mr Patrick was my attorney and Mr Scott was my trusted friend, and I was happy for Mr Scott to pass the Control Position to Mr Patrick.

21. On 25 March 2021, Mr Scott: (i) resigned as director of the LP, (ii) appointed Mr Patrick as director of the LP, and (iii) transferred to Mr Patrick the Management Shares for nominal consideration. Mr Patrick therefore assumed the Control Position from that date.

22. At some point, I understand that a person named Paul Murphy based in the Cayman Islands also was appointed as director to the LP and a portion of the Fund's subsidiaries, giving those entities two directors. However, I understand that in the event of a dissenting vote by Mr Murphy, Mr Patrick's vote counts as the tiebreaker for corporate voting.

MR PATRICK'S CONTROL OF THE FUND

23. In the initial period following Mr Patrick's assumption of the Control Position, there was no noticeable change in the management of the Fund. NexPoint provided, without charge, investment ideas to the Fund, as Highland previously had done, and Mr Patrick was free (as Mr Scott had been) to decide whether or not the Fund wished to follow NexPoint's recommendations. This approach was similar to the non-discretionary advised account status of the Fund prior to 2017.

24. Subsequently, however, communications between Mr Patrick and Skyview and me began to become less frequent, and over time I came to suspect that Mr Patrick was utilizing the Control Position not for the benefit of the Supporting Organizations, the Charities or the Fund, but rather for his own personal enrichment.

25. On 28 June 2023, Mr Patrick sent an email to Lauren Short, an employee of NexPoint, requesting that the Highland Dallas Foundation (i.e. the Supporting Organization that supports the Dallas Foundation) "direct $10,000" to Creative HEARTS TX, a non-profit entity formed on 13 June 2023. Following due diligence, Ms Short learned that the directors of the entity were Mr Patrick, Darees Patrick and Alyse Patrick (his daughter and wife). Mr Patrick had made the grant request without disclosing his and/or his family's involvement.

26. Ms Short discussed the matter with Mr Patrick, who did not provide many details, but said the non-profit was formed to facilitate paying for trainers or speakers on self-defense training for teenage girls. Ms Short understood that Patrick's expectation was that this would be an annual donation to a "club" at his daughter's school. While Ms Short inquired, there was no detail forthcoming as to whether or not Creative Hearts would be a pass-through donating the monies to other charities or would directly do any work with the trainers or speakers itself. There also was not clarity if Creative Hearts' members intended to take a salary from the grant. The grant payment was authorized on 5 September 2023, but Mr Patrick was informed that further payments were unlikely. I was informed of this process by Ms Short and her supervisor. Contemporaneously with the grant approval, my team also informed the Dallas Foundation of the situation.

27. As another example, in or around September 2023, I was contacted by Kevin Cronin of Fortaris Capital Advisors (Fortaris). Fortaris provides litigation support services including due diligence, internal investigations, fraud detection, asset verification and in-depth background checks. Mr Cronin is a former police sergeant and Special Agent with the Department of Homeland Security.

28. Fortaris was at the time engaged by the Fund in respect of an unrelated matter and Mr Cronin was known to me personally. In September 2023, Mr Cronin and I met, and he informed me that he had been approached by Mr Patrick with a proposition whereby Mr Patrick (on behalf of the Fund) would engage an entity controlled by Mr Cronin (other than Fortaris) at a monthly fee of between $25,000 and $50,000, and that this fee would be split between Fortaris and Mr Patrick as a supplement to Mr Patrick's compensation. Mr Cronin informed me that he had asked Mr Patrick if this arrangement would amount to fraud, and that Mr Patrick's response had been: "you can't steal from yourself."

29. Mr Cronin informed me that he understood from this statement that Mr Patrick believed he owned the Fund and could use the funds controlled by it however he pleased. Mr Cronin further informed me that he was uncomfortable about Mr Patrick's proposal and that he subsequently communicated this to Mr Patrick, Mr Patrick cut off all further communications between them.

30. Mr Cronin's allegations that Mr Patrick was seeking to make a secret, undisclosed personal profit from the Fund were extremely concerning. I have subsequently been informed by my U.S. attorneys that, had Mr Cronin agreed with this proposal, it would have likely constituted U.S. federal wire fraud, and/or violations of the Texas Penal Code's prohibitions on bribery and misapplication of fiduciary property. Shortly after Mr Cronin contacted me, I met with Mr Patrick and confronted him about the allegations, which he admitted to me were true. I informed the Supporting Organizations about the matter and Mr Patrick's admission. However, at the time, both the Supporting Organizations and I were concerned that under the Articles, the Supporting Organizations did not have the power (in their capacity as Participating Shareholders) to limit Mr Patrick's powers or remove him from his position.

31. Given the situations described above, and the lack of communication about the Fund, I became increasingly concerned about Mr Patrick's management of the Fund, including the potential misuse and/or misappropriation of its assets. In June 2024 therefore I requested that my team at NexPoint analyze the financial information of the Fund that I had in my possession, covering the calendar years ending 2018 to 2023 and the first half of 2024. My team produced an annual expense summary of that information (the Expense Summary) which indicated substantial increases in expenditures during Mr Patrick's tenure, particularly during early 2023 and mid-2024, as follows:

    (a) Directors' fees increased from around US$40,000 in 2022 to almost US$600,000 in 2023 – and increased even further to around US$2.25 million in the first half of 2024 alone.

    (b) Expenses overall for the first half of 2024 were around US$18.3 million – roughly the same amount spent over the entire course of 2023 (i.e. US$18.6 million).

32. The Expense Summary reinforced my concern that Mr Patrick is using the Control Position for his own enrichment rather than to benefit the Supporting Organizations and the causes they support. I therefore directed my employees at NexPoint to provide the Expense Summary to the Supporting Organizations, and which they promptly did.

33. In August 2024, I became aware of yet another issue concerning Mr Patrick. NexPoint and its affiliates, through their investment activities, regularly obtain material non-public information (MNPI) related to those investments. As a service provider to NexPoint and its affiliates, Skyview employees also obtain the same MNPI. Trading on the basis of MNPI amounts to 'insider trading' which is prohibited under U.S. securities laws. As a result, NexPoint and its affiliates, and Skyview, all have the same robust regulatory compliance program to prevent, among other things, insider trading (Compliance Policy). NexPoint and its affiliates, and Skyview, require their employees to abide by the Compliance Policy at all times and employees are required to confirm in writing on a quarterly basis that they will not use MNPI while trading. Mr Patrick completed the annual 2023, Q4 2023, Q1 2024, and Q2 2024 certifications, among others.

34. I was informed that my director of charitable giving had been contacted by Ms Diaz, the CEO of the Highland Dallas Foundation, Inc. (Dallas Foundation), one of the Charities. Ms Diaz stated that on 28 August 2024, Mr Patrick contacted the Dallas Foundation's attorney to provide information about an asset held by the Dallas Foundation, which was held directly and separately from the Fund. This information was obtained by Mr Patrick through his employment at Skyview and constituted MNPI, which is prohibited by U.S. securities laws from being disclosed and/or acted upon. On the basis of this MNPI, Mr Patrick advised the Dallas Foundation to exercise a put option it held in a NexPoint affiliated asset. The Dallas Foundation did not act on the information or recommendation provided by Mr Patrick, but in the event it had exercised the put option, both the Dallas Foundation and Mr Patrick would have committed violations of the U.S. securities laws that prohibit insider trading.

35. Upon receipt of the allegations against Mr Patrick, Skyview's compliance department commenced an internal investigation which, due to the serious nature of the allegations, was conducted without Mr Patrick's knowledge, so as to avoid potentially tipping off Mr Patrick about the investigation. By the end of September 2024, the investigation was substantially complete, and the conclusion had been reached that Mr Patrick's actions constituted a serious breach of his compliance and employee obligations. On 1 October 2024, as part of the finalisation of the investigation report, Skyview's chief compliance officer interviewed Ms Diaz about the allegations against Mr Patrick, which I understand confirmed Skyview's conclusions. The final investigation report was issued on 11 October 2024 and concluded that Mr Patrick had attempted a serious breach of U.S. securities laws. A copy of the report and its attachments is at page 1.

36. On 2 October 2024, Mr Patrick abruptly resigned his position from Skyview and thereafter became openly hostile towards the Charities, my affiliated companies, and me. Although neither I nor anyone at Skyview has direct evidence of Mr Patrick having been tipped off about the investigation, the timing of his resignation causes me to conclude that Mr Patrick became aware of the investigation into his behaviour and resigned before the report was published.

37. On the same day that Mr Patrick resigned his position at Skyview, he also terminated Skyview's service agreement with the Fund, and as a result all legal, compliance, back office and other services provided to the Fund. Mr. Patrick and Mr. Murphy have stated that that they intend to take on the role of investment advisors for the Fund. I am not aware of Mr. Murphy's qualifications for this role, nor am I aware of any third-party investment advisor that has been retained by the Fund to fill this role. Based on my knowledge and expertise in investment management, and my sixteen years working with Mr Patrick as my counsel, I believe that Mr Patrick is a well-qualified tax counsel, but does not have the experience, training, or expertise to be an investment professional.

38. After his resignation from Skyview and the termination of Skyview's services agreement with the Fund, I have received repeated reports and evidence of Mr Patrick causing certain DAF entities to liquidate their assets, some at below-market value. For example, on 20 February 2025, Mr Patrick's subordinate Shawn Raver asked for the in-bound wire instructions for one of my affiliates that owned a position in a trust called Hunter Mountain. Hunter Mountain owns most of the distribution rights of the equity position in the Highland Bankruptcy, meaning most of the residual value of the estate should be distributed to Hunter Mountain at the close of the Highland Bankruptcy. According to Hunter Mountain's own filings, this value has been calculated in excess of $100 million gross, with approximately $17 million net value.

39. After additional inquiries from accounting staff, Mr Raver disclosed that the entire Hunter Mountain position had been sold to an unidentified party for $1 million. The Fund has not disclosed the identity of the purchaser. I am familiar with the Highland Bankruptcy estate and there is no valuation, net, gross, or otherwise, that I can imagine that would support a $1 million sales price. Additionally, given my founding and my affiliates' ownership of Highland, Mr Patrick would know that I was one of a few natural buyers of the Hunter Mountain position. While Mr Patrick of course would not be obliged to sell Hunter Mountain to me, the fact that Mr Patrick authorized the sale of Hunter Mountain at a below-market value without even approaching a natural buyer indicates a non-market, non-fiduciary reason for the sale.

40. Atlas IDF, L.P. is a fund controlled by its general partner Atlas IDF GP, LLC, a wholly owned subsidiary of the DAF. The economic beneficiaries of Atlas IDF are the holders of annuity policies issued by Crown Global Insurance Company. The majority annuity policy holder is Empower Dallas Foundation, a charitable foundation for which I serve as President whose purpose is to benefit the Dallas Foundation.

41. On 20 February 2025, Mr Patrick in his capacity as the general partner of Atlas IDF GP, LLC, sent a letter to Crown Global Insurance advising of the intention to dissolve Atlas in accordance with the partnership agreement dated 30 November 2015 on the basis of (i) concerns about the long-term availability and viability of back-office support; (ii) unsuccessful efforts to sell the defaulted Notes issued by HCRE Partners (one of my affiliates) dated 7 May 2014 in the amount of $2,3M and 27 May 2014 in the amount of $5M, held by the Partnership; and (iii) the decision by an affiliate of the GP to purchase the Notes at a price above their appraised value of zero dollars to facilitate an orderly wind-up. At the time, the amounts outstanding on the two Notes, including accumulated interest, was in excess of $13M. The intention was to sell the Notes collectively for $500,000. Mr Patrick launched litigation related to these Notes prior to the 20 February 2025 attempted sale of the Notes to an affiliate.

42. On 27 February 2025, H&K as counsel for the Empower Dallas Foundation (the policyholder), sent an email to Crown Global advising that the foundation was gathering information and requested that Crown Global therefore withdraw its consent to the proposed sale of the Notes to CLO Holdco. On 28 February 2025, Mr Patrick sent a further letter to Crown Global noting the revocation of consent to sell the Notes, and noting that: "in addition to the purchase of the "Notes" for $500,000, we also intend to include a provision in the purchase and sale documents that, if the Notes are repaid in full within 12 months, all amounts received (minus fees and expenses of collection and purchase price) will be remitted to you as the sole limited partner of Atlas IDF, LP." The initial zero valuation and proposed $500,000 sale price was confusing given that HCRE Partners had offered to pay the full amounts due in an amortizing schedule. After the withholding of consent, the revised offer of 28 February 2025 still is confusing given that the amortization schedule is longer than 12 months.

ATTORNEY GENERAL INVESTIGATION

43. I have become aware that, on 14 March 2025, the Texas Attorney General (Texas AG) commenced an investigation into Charitable DAF GP, LLC (the Fund's former general partner) in relation to the organization, conduct and management of Charitable DAF GP, LLC, and its related entities.

44. I understand that the Texas AG has the power to investigate a charity, should it deem necessary, to determine whether a charity is complying with Texas law.

45. I understand that the Charities have requested information about the investigation from the Texas AG, but do not have knowledge of any further details.

DONATIONS TO THE CHARITIES

46. Until Mr Patrick's departure in October 2024, I regularly donated to through the Charities to the Fund as part of my charitable giving program. My affiliates and I, which donated through the Charities to the DAF entities in 2023 and in various years prior, and are the primary funding source for the Fund. As allowed pursuant to US law, I direct the Charities to utilize the Fund's assets to sponsor charitable causes I particularly value, including underprivileged youth education, cancer research, heart health, veterans' services, and local institutions such as zoos and museums. Though I wish to continue to support these charitable causes, I will not give any future donations through the Charities to the Fund while it is under Mr Patrick's management and/or control.

FUNDING OF PROCEEDINGS

47. As stated above, I do not hold a controlling interest in any of the Charities or the Supporting Organizations. However, I sit on the boards of the Supporting Organizations simply for the purpose of overseeing how the Charities are deploying the Fund's assets for charitable purposes, and the impact of those donations in the community. In this context, I became aware that the Supporting Organizations were meeting to vote on the decision to take legal action to take steps to preserve the assets of the Charities they exist to support. Given my connection with the Fund and personal relationship with Mr Patrick, I recused myself from that meeting and was not otherwise involved in the decision taken by the Supporting Organizations to commence these proceedings.

48. The Supporting Organizations approached me about the costs associated with legal action and their reticence to use funds that should and otherwise would be used for charitable purposes, and asked whether I would be prepared to fund the action personally. I agreed to do so. I have not and will not at any time receive a benefit, nor do I have control of the proceedings, because of this funding arrangement. The Supporting Organizations have decision making authority in relation to these proceedings. My concern is solely to ensure that the Fund, and the funds that I have donated over time that are held in the Fund, are used only to benefit the Charities and the causes they support.
