(c) Place of compliance.

(1) For a Trial, Hearing, or Deposition. A subpoena may command a person to attend a trial, hearing, or deposition only as follows:

(A) within 100 miles of where the person resides, is employed, or regularly transacts business in person; or

(B) within the state where the person resides, is employed, or regularly transacts business in person, if the person

(i) is a party or a party's officer; or

(ii) is commanded to attend a trial and would not incur substantial expense.

(2) For Other Discovery. A subpoena may command:

(A) production of documents, or electronically stored information, or things at a place within 100 miles of where the person resides, is employed, or regularly transacts business in person; and

(B) inspection of premises, at the premises to be inspected.

(d) Protecting a Person Subject to a Subpoena; Enforcement.

(1) Avoiding Undue Burden or Expense; Sanctions. A party or attorney responsible for issuing and serving a subpoena must take reasonable steps to avoid imposing undue burden or expense on a person subject to the subpoena. The court for the district where compliance is required must enforce this duty and impose an appropriate sanction — which may include lost earnings and reasonable attorney's fees — on a party or attorney who fails to comply.

(2) Command to Produce Materials or Permit Inspection.

(A) Appearance Not Required. A person commanded to produce documents, electronically stored information, or tangible things, or to permit the inspection of premises, need not appear in person at the place of production or inspection unless also commanded to appear for a deposition, hearing, or trial.

(B) Objections. A person commanded to produce documents or tangible things or to permit inspection may serve on the party or attorney designated in the subpoena a written objection to inspecting, copying, testing or sampling any or all of the materials or to inspecting the premises — or to producing electronically stored information in the form or forms requested. The objection must be served before the earlier of the time specified for compliance or 14 days after the subpoena is served. If an objection is made, the following rules apply:

(i) At any time, on notice to the commanded person, the serving party may move the court for the district where compliance is required for an order compelling production or inspection.

(ii) These acts may be required only as directed in the order, and the order must protect a person who is neither a party nor a party's officer from significant expense resulting from compliance.

(3) Quashing or Modifying a Subpoena.

(A) When Required. On timely motion, the court for the district where compliance is required must quash or modify a subpoena that:

(i) fails to allow a reasonable time to comply;

(ii) requires a person to comply beyond the geographical limits specified in Rule 45(c);

(iii) requires disclosure of privileged or other protected matter, if no exception or waiver applies; or

(iv) subjects a person to undue burden.

(B) When Permitted. To protect a person subject to or affected by a subpoena, the court for the district where compliance is required may, on motion, quash or modify the subpoena if it requires:

(i) disclosing a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information; or

(ii) disclosing an unretained expert's opinion or information that does not describe specific occurrences in dispute and results from the expert's study that was not requested by a party.

(C) Specifying Conditions as an Alternative. In the circumstances described in Rule 45(d)(3)(B), the court may, instead of quashing or modifying a subpoena, order appearance or production under specified conditions if the serving party:

(i) shows a substantial need for the testimony or material that cannot be otherwise met without undue hardship; and

(ii) ensures that the subpoenaed person will be reasonably compensated.

(e) Duties in Responding to a Subpoena.

(1) Producing Documents or Electronically Stored Information. These procedures apply to producing documents or electronically stored information:

(A) Documents. A person responding to a subpoena to produce documents must produce them as they are kept in the ordinary course of business or must organize and label them to correspond to the categories in the demand.

(B) Form for Producing Electronically Stored Information Not Specified. If a subpoena does not specify a form for producing electronically stored information, the person responding must produce it in a form or forms in which it is ordinarily maintained or in a reasonably usable form or forms.

(C) Electronically Stored Information Produced in Only One Form. The person responding need not produce the same electronically stored information in more than one form.

(D) Inaccessible Electronically Stored Information. The person responding need not provide discovery of electronically stored information from sources that the person identifies as not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. On motion to compel discovery or for a protective order, the person responding must show that the information is not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. If that showing is made, the court may nonetheless order discovery from such sources if the requesting party shows good cause, considering the limitations of Rule 26(b)(2)(C). The court may specify conditions for the discovery.

(2) Claiming Privilege or Protection.

(A) Information Withheld. A person withholding subpoenaed information under a claim that it is privileged or subject to protection as trial-preparation material must:

(i) expressly make the claim; and

(ii) describe the nature of the withheld documents, communications, or tangible things in a manner that, without revealing information itself privileged or protected, will enable the parties to assess the claim.

(B) Information Produced. If information produced in response to a subpoena is subject to a claim of privilege or of protection as trial-preparation material, the person making the claim may notify any party that received the information of the claim and the basis for it. After being notified, a party must promptly return, sequester, or destroy the specified information and any copies it has; must not use or disclose the information until the claim is resolved; must take reasonable steps to retrieve the information if the party disclosed it before being notified; and may promptly present the information under seal to the court for the district where compliance is required for a determination of the claim. The person who produced the information must preserve the information until the claim is resolved.

(g) Contempt. The court for the district where compliance is required – and also, after a motion is transferred, the issuing court – may hold in contempt a person who, having been served, fails without adequate excuse to obey the subpoena or an order related to it.

For access to subpoena materials, see Fed. R. Civ. P. 45(a) Committee Note (2013)

EXHIBIT A

I. INSTRUCTIONS

1. The requested documents are to be produced for inspection and copying, at the offices of Jackson Walker, LLP, 2323 Ross Avenue, Suite 600, Dallas, Texas 75201, unless otherwise agreed between the parties.

2. If you object to any of the following Discovery Requests, you must state the legal and factual basis for each objection. If you object to only a portion of a Discovery Request, you must identify the specific portion of the Discovery Request to which you object and must respond fully to the remainder of the Discovery Request.

3. If a requested document is a document created from any of the programs in the Microsoft Office Suite (including, but not limited to, Microsoft Word, Excel, PowerPoint, Access, Project or Outlook) that exists in its native format (e.g., .doc, .xls, .ppt, .msg, .pst) or can be readily converted into a format reasonably accessible via a program in the Microsoft Office Suite (e.g., a document created from another commercially available electronic mail, word processing, spreadsheet or database program), then produce such document in its native electronic format. Documents produced in this manner should include metadata.

4. If your answer to any Discovery Request is not within your personal knowledge, you must identify each person you know who has, or may have, personal knowledge of the matter that is addressed in the Discovery Request, and the contact information and job title of such person.

5. Each Discovery Request shall operate and be responded to independently and, unless otherwise indicated, no Discovery Request limits the scope of any other Discovery Request.

6. Documents provided in response hereto shall be produced as they are kept in the ordinary course of business or shall be organized and labeled to correspond with the categories in these Requests for Production of Documents.

7. If you produce Documents in addition to, or in lieu of, providing full and complete narrative responses where permitted by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure:

    a. In producing Documents and things, indicate the paragraph and subparagraph to which a produced document or thing is responsive.

    b. In producing Documents and things, furnish all Documents or things known or available to you, regardless of whether such Documents or things are possessed directly by you or your representatives.

    c. If any requested Documents or things cannot be produced in full, produce such Documents to the extent possible, specifying which Documents or things were only partially produced.

8. These Discovery Requests are deemed to be continuing. If after answering, you become aware of any further information responsive to this document, you are required to produce such additional Documents and things and/or provide such additional information.

9. If any Documents or things requested or identified were at one time in existence but are no longer in existence, then so state, specifying for each document or thing:

    a. The type of document or thing;

    b. The types of information contained thereon;

    c. The date upon which it ceased to exist;

    d. The circumstances under which it ceased to exist;

    e. The identity of all persons having knowledge of the circumstances under which it ceased to exist; and

    f. The identity of all persons now having or who, at one time, had knowledge of the contents thereof.

10. Selection of Documents from the files and other sources in the numbering, if any, of such Documents shall be performed in such a manner as to ensure that the source of each document may be determined, if necessary.

11. Documents attached to each other should not be separated.

12. In lieu of producing originals or copies thereof, you may, at your option, submit legible photographic or other reproductions of such Documents, provided that the originals or copies from which such reproductions were made are retained by you until the disposition of this litigation.

13. If you, after investigation, determine that you have no documents that are responsive to a Request, Your statement that you have no such documents constitutes a representation that you have conducted a search for the documents and represents that you have no documents that are responsive.

14. Unless otherwise stated, the time frame covered by these Discovery Requests is from January 1, 2021 to the present (the "Relevant Time Period"). If you seek to withhold any Document, thing, or information on the basis that it is purportedly privileged or entitled to some other limitation of discovery, you are instructed to use the following procedure:

    a. You shall supply a numerical list of the Documents and things for which a privilege or other limitation of discovery is claimed, indicating:

i. the name of each author, writer, sender, or initiator of such document or thing, if any;
ii. the name of each recipient, addressee, or party to whom such document or thing was intended, if any;

iii. the date of such document or thing, if any, or an estimate thereof and so indicated as an estimate if no date appears on said document;

We sent the attached communication to Diamond McCarthy asking when they will provide Sidley with the results of their privilege review. If we do not receive a subsequent production, we will be moving to compel Sidley's compliance with the subpoena. In the meantime, we take the below to mean Sidley is not asserting any claims of privilege other than those to be asserted by Diamond McCarthy.

Heidi,

We were asked by Diamond McCarthy to withhold certain documents on the basis of privilege for their further review.
We are currently waiting to hear back from Diamond McCarthy when they have completed that review. In the event that any such documents have been identified as not privileged or otherwise subject to production, we will produce those. Otherwise, our production is complete.

Defendants, Intercity Investment Properties, Inc. ("ICI") and Kong Capital LLC ("Kong" and, with ICI, the "Defendants"), respectfully state as follows for their Supplemental Brief Regarding Lifespace Privilege Waiver and the GrayRobinson Communications.[1]

I. PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

Defendants' Motion to Compel Production by Plaintiff and Brief in Support [Adv. Proc. Dkt. 362] (the "Motion to Compel") sought to compel the Plaintiff to produce non-privileged documents. The Court instructed the parties to further meet and confer regarding the issues raised in this Brief and continued the Motion to November 29, 2023. [Adv. Proc. Dkt. 423]. Defendants and Plaintiff met and conferred by telephone on November 21, 2023, and Defendants, Plaintiff, and Lifespace met and conferred by telephone on November 27, 2023. On November 29, 2023, the Court requested supplemental briefing on two issues: (1) whether Lifespace's post-petition disclosure of documents to Edgemere served to waive privilege and/or protection over communications between Lifespace and its counsel, and (2) whether pre-petition communications between Lifespace, Edgemere, and their respective counsel with GrayRobinson—counsel to Edgemere's Board of Directors—is privileged or protected. This Brief addresses that request.

As discussed at the November 9, 2023 hearing, among other hearings, Lifespace made a post-petition disclosure of all or substantially all of its relevant documents, privileged and otherwise, to Northwest Senior Housing Corporation ("Edgemere"). This disclosure constituted a waiver of attorney-client privilege and work-product protection that may have otherwise attached to such documents. Accordingly, communications between or among any Lifespace employee or officer, on the one hand, and, on the other hand, any or all of: Dorsey & Whitney LLP, Perkins Coie LLP, Cooley LLP, Locke Lord LLP, Norton Rose Fulbright, Gilmore & Bell, P.C., Ropes & Gray LLP, and/or Stewart Wiegland & Owens PC (the "Lifespace Communications"), are not privileged.

[1] During the meet and confer process, there was some dispute whether these matters fell within the ambit of the Motion to Compel appearing at adversary docket #362. To the extent they did not—and Defendants believe they did—Defendants hereby move for the production of the Lifespace Communications and the GrayRobinson Communications as those terms are defined herein.

Also at issue is whether Lifespace and Edgemere's communications with GrayRobinson—counsel to Edgemere's Board of Directors—are attorney-client privileged or work-product protected. Those communications (the "GrayRobinson Communications") are neither privileged nor protected.

II. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

A. Lifespace Disclosed Privileged Information to Attorneys Representing Edgemere.

Lifespace and Edgemere worked together to supply a combined document production and a corresponding joint privilege log. As part of that process, Lifespace provided documents to Edgemere's attorneys, as Lifespace has explained in hearings[2] and in filings[3]. Edgemere's attorneys then reviewed the documents for privilege and protection and prepared the privilege log. In short, Lifespace provided all of its documents—even those in which Lifespace sought legal guidance from Lifespace attorneys—to Edgemere. By doing so, Lifespace waived the attorney-client privilege and any work-product protection that may otherwise have attached.

[2] Transcript of Hearing Held Jan. 25, 2023, p. 37:4-12 (E. Walker for Lifespace) (Because "Lifespace manages all of the information that could be potentially responsive to these overlapping discovery requests, Edgemere coordinated with Lifespace to perform a reasonable search to collect all information in Lifespace's possession, custody, and control that could be potentially responsive to Defendants' discovery requests. That information was reviewed for responsiveness and for privilege, and produced to Defendants, together with a comprehensive privilege log.").

[3] Lifespace Communities, Inc.'s Response to Defendants' Motion to Compel Production of Documents [Adv. Proc. Dkt. 260] pp. 5-6 ("Lifespace coordinated with Edgemere . . . to conduct a reasonable search to collect documents and other information responsive to these duplicative requests, Edgemere, as the party to this adversary proceeding, produced responsive, non-privileged documents to Defendants in the manner required by the rules . . . and prepared a comprehensive privilege log for that production."). Id. at 14 ("Just as the Edgemere production of documents is coextensive with the Lifespace production of documents, so too the privilege log provided by Edgemere is sufficient to set forth the documents withheld by Lifespace on the basis of privilege.").

B. Lifespace and Edgemere Were Adverse at the Time of Disclosure

Lifespace and Edgemere were adverse to each other at the time the relevant documents were disclosed. By the time these chapter 11 cases began, Lifespace was no longer taking management fees it was owed by Edgemere and held a resultant $5.5 million claim; Lifespace and Edgemere had separate counsel; and Lifespace and Edgemere were engaged in "arm's length" negotiations regarding a restructuring. See Claim No. 145, filed by Lifespace Communities, Inc.; Declaration of Nick Harshfield in Support of Chapter 11 Petition and First Day Pleadings [Dkt. 7] p. 7 (discussing arm's length negotiations between Edgemere and Lifespace); Declaration of Nick Harshfield [Adv. Proc. Dkt. 275] p. 5-7 (identifying the various law firms who represented Lifespace and Edgemere and Lifespace in-house counsel).

The Court has also recognized that Lifespace and Edgemere are different entities with divergent interests. See, e.g., November 7, 2023 Hr'g Tr. 45:11-17 ("[A]s I have ruled a number of times, formally and informally, these are two different entities and, without seeing all the documents I don't know, but there did come a time in this courtroom, post-petition, in which interests diverged, in which Lifespace was making deals, entering into settlements, in its own right separate from Edgemere, okay.").

Thus, Lifespace and Edgemere were adverse at the time of the disclosures. And, as explained below, the disclosures therefore served to waive any privilege or protection that may otherwise have attached to the Lifespace Communications.

III. LEGAL ARGUMENT

A. Lifespace Has Not Met its Burden to Prove that Communications Between Lifespace Personnel and Edgemere Attorneys Are Privileged.

1. Attorney-Client Privilege

The Federal Rules of Evidence apply to this adversary proceeding. See Fed. R. Evid. P. 101 (The Federal Rules of Evidence apply to proceedings in United States courts.); Fed. R. Evid. 1101(a) (the Federal Rules of Evidence "apply to proceedings before . . . United States bankruptcy and magistrate judges."); Fed. R. Evid. 1101(b) (the Federal Rules of Evidence "apply in . . . civil cases and proceedings, including bankruptcy . . . cases."); Fed. R. Bankr. P. 9017 ("The Federal Rules of Evidence and Rules 43, 44, and 44.1 F. R. Civ. P. apply in cases under the Code.").

Under Federal Rule of Evidence 501, "[i]n a civil case, state law governs privilege regarding a claim or defense for which state law supplies the rule of decision." The claims advanced in this proceeding are governed by the substantive law of Texas; consequently, Federal Rule of Evidence 501 dictates application of Texas law concerning attorney-client privilege.[4]

a. Texas Law on Attorney-Client Privilege

"If a party asserts attorney-client privilege under Texas law, they must prove that there was: '(a) a confidential communication; (b) made for the purpose of facilitating the rendition of professional legal services; (c) between or among the client, lawyer and their representatives; and (d) the privilege has not been waived.'" In re Lopez, No. 21-10098, 2022 WL 2080187, at *8 (Bankr. E.D. Tex. June 9, 2022); Hall Phoenix/Inwood v. Hallwood Group Inc. (In re Hallwood Energy, L.P.), No. 09-31253-11, 2010 WL 3211688, at *4 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. Aug. 11, 2010); see also Tex. R. Evid. 503(b). The party asserting the privilege has the burden to prove it applies.

[4] Lifespace previously has acknowledged that Texas law concerning attorney-client privilege applies in this proceeding. See ECF #370, pp. 4-6.

Peeples v. Honorable Fourth Supreme Judicial Dist., 701 S.W.2d 635, 637 (Tex. 1985) ("Any party who seeks to deny the production of evidence must claim a specific privilege against such production. The burden is on the party asserting a privilege from discovery to produce evidence concerning the applicability of a particular privilege"). "If the matter for which a privilege is sought has been disclosed to a third party, thus raising the question of waiver of the privilege, the party asserting the privilege has the burden of proving that no waiver has occurred." Jordan v. Court of Appeals for Fourth Supreme Judicial Dist., 701 S.W.2d 644, 649 (Tex. 1985).

Thus, Lifespace must prove—with evidence—that its blanket disclosure to Edgemere was (a) a confidential communication, (b) made for the purpose of facilitating the rendition of professional legal services, (c) between or among the client, the lawyer and/or their representatives, and (d) the privilege has not been waived. In re Lopez, No. 21-10098, 2022 WL 2080187, at *8 (Bankr. E.D. Tex. June 9, 2022).

b. Waiver of Attorney-Client Privilege

Under Texas law, the holder of a privilege waives the privilege if he or she "voluntarily discloses or consents to disclosure of any significant part of the privileged matter unless such disclosure itself is privileged." Tex. R. Evid. 511(a)(1); see also, e.g., Paxton v. City of Dallas, 509 S.W.3d 247, 263 (Tex. 2017); Univ. of Texas Sys. v. Franklin Ctr. For Gov't & Pub. Integrity, 675 S.W.3d 273 (Tex. 2023), reh'g denied (Oct. 20, 2023). While there is a narrow exception to this general rule in Texas Rule of Evidence 503(b)(1)(C) for communications by the client, the client's representative, the client's lawyer, or the lawyer's representative "to a lawyer representing another party in a pending action or that lawyer's representative," application of that exception still requires that the communication be "made to facilitate the rendition of professional legal services to the client" and that the communication "concern a matter of common interest in the pending action."

Here, there are two reasons why Lifespace's disclosure to Edgemere falls outside the bounds of the safe harbor in Texas Rule of Evidence 503(b)(1)(C). The first is that the disclosure was not, and could not have been, "made to facilitate the rendition of professional legal services to" Lifespace. Instead, it was merely for Lifespace's convenience in responding to a subpoena. Indeed, it could not have been for Lifespace to receive legal advice or rendition of professional legal services because Lifespace made the disclosure to Estate professionals (Edgemere's bankruptcy counsel at Polsinelli) who were foreclosed under 11 U.S.C. § 327(a)'s disinterestedness requirement from rendering legal services to a creditor like Lifespace.

Lifespace itself clearly explained that the disclosure was merely a matter of convenience, and not one intended to secure the rendition of legal services:

> So, because Lifespace manages all of the information that could be potentially responsive to these overlapping discovery requests, Edgemere coordinated with Lifespace to perform a reasonable search to collect all information in Lifespace's possession, custody, and control that could be potentially responsive to Defendants' discovery requests. That information was reviewed for responsiveness and for privilege, and produced to Defendants, together with a comprehensive privilege log.[5]

And, indeed, Lifespace and Plaintiff each doubled down on that characterization. As perhaps most clearly explained by Lifespace: "all documents were in the possession, custody, and control of both Lifespace and Edgemere" and if the companies "were to do two separate productions, they would have been identical."[6] Plaintiff agreed, responding affirmatively when the Court inquired whether "if called upon for Edgemere to do its own document gathering, it would have had access to the same documents that were pulled for it by its parent sponsor Lifespace[.]"[7]

5 Transcript of Hearing dated January 25, 2023, at 37:4–12.

6 Transcript of Hearing Held Nov. 7, 2023 ("11/7 Tran."), pp. 9:15-18, 17:9-11 (E. Walker for Lifespace).

7 11/7 Tran., p. 43:2-13 (G. Taylor for Plaintiff).

Plaintiff further clarified that the overlap in the documents extended beyond those produced and also to those withheld: "If we had done a separate privilege log, my guess is, it would have been exactly the same as Lifespace."[8] Following those representations, the Court similarly acknowledged, correctly, that "I will say I find it hard to understand how a privilege log could be prepared by Polsinelli without having seen the document[.]"[9]

As a result of this wholesale provision of arguably-privileged correspondence from one entity (Lifespace) to a separate entity (Edgemere), Lifespace waived privilege over the Lifespace Communications.

Similarly, the Court in its June 23, 2023 Order recognized that:

> The mere relatedness of the Plaintiff and Lifespace does not create the privilege. This is particularly true in cases like the present where the entities are and were then represented by separate counsel. Thus, if the Plaintiff cannot show that the entities share a common attorney or a common legal interest so as to come within the joint-client rule, the Plaintiff must demonstrate that the disclosure was made between the entities for the purpose of eliciting assistance from the attorney in rendering legal advice or services.[10]

The italicized language in the above correctly underscores why Lifespace's disclosure to Plaintiff falls squarely within the general rule: Lifespace did not disclose communications to Lifespace to elicit legal advice or to facilitate the rendition of professional legal services to Lifespace. Rather, it did so simply as a manner of convenience.

That alone is enough to resolve the issue: Lifespace's disclosure of the Lifespace Communications was not to elicit legal advice or to facilitate the rendition of professional legal services to Lifespace—it could not have been, because Edgemere's bankruptcy counsel was foreclosed from rendering legal advice or legal services to a creditor like Lifespace. But, even if that was not enough to resolve the issue, Lifespace also cannot show the "related companies exception" to privilege waiver applies here.[11] The foundation of the "related companies exception" is that a parent and its subsidiary share a unity of interest. See, e.g., In re Napster, Inc. Copyright Litig., 2005 WL 6569723 4–5 (N.D. Cal. Apr. 12, 2005); In re Teleglobe Commns. Corp., 493 F.3d 345, 370–71 (3d Cir. 2007) (intercorporate disclosures waive privilege when there is no longer a "community-of-interest" between the entities); In re Grand Jury Subpoena #06-1, 274 Fed. Appx. 306, 311 (4th Cir. 2008) ("co-client" privilege enjoyed by affiliated entities "circumscribed by the limited congruence of the clients' interests") (internal quotation omitted); see also, e.g., Restatement (Third) of the Law Governing Lawyers § 73, cmt. d (a "subsidiary corporation's agents who are responsible for affairs of the parent are also considered agents of the parent for purpose of the privilege) (emphasis added). And as the Gulf Islands Court explained: "Having chosen to operate as separate entities—and to obtain whatever advantages inure from so operating—[Lifespace and Edgemere] must be held to their burden of proving the applicability of any privilege in the same manner as two unrelated entities." Gulf Islands Leasing, Inc. v. Bombardier Cap., Inc., 215 F.R.D. 466, 474 (S.D.N.Y. 2003).

Here again, that community of interest no longer existed at the time of Lifespace's disclosure to Edgemere: it was a $5 million creditor engaged in arm's length negotiations with Edgemere. There is no proper basis for the application of the "related companies exception" under these circumstances. And, for substantially the same reasons, Lifespace and Edgemere did not share a common interest that could otherwise have changed the analysis (assuming, counterfactually, that the purpose of the disclosure was to facilitate the rendition of legal services by Edgemere's counsel to Lifespace).

[11] Defendants do not concede that the "related companies exception" exists under Texas law.

2. Work-product Protection

Nor may the Lifespace Communications properly be withheld as attorney work-product. Work-product protection "works to protect the mental process of an attorney from inquiry by an opposing party" when documents are prepared in anticipation of litigation. Smith v. Diamond Offshore Drilling, Inc., et al., 168 F.R.D. 582, 583 (S.D. Tex.1996) (citing Hickman v. Taylor, 329 U.S. 495, 67 S.Ct. 385, 91 L.Ed. 451 (1947)); Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(3); In re Kaiser Alum. & Chem. Co., 214 F.3d 586, 593 (5th Cir. 2000), cert. denied 532 U.S. 919, 121 S.Ct. 1354, 149 L.Ed.2d 285 (2001). Work-product protection attaches when a document is created "for use in or in anticipation of litigation." Hodges, Grant & Kaufmann v. U.S. Govt., Dept. of the Treasury, I.R.S., 768 F.2d 719, 721 (5th Cir. 1985).

Work-product protection should be rejected when the proponent of the privilege provides only an affidavit with conclusory statements and insufficient facts to prove the privilege applies. Colardo-Keen v. Rockdale Cnty., Georgia, No. 1:14-CV-489-MHC, 2017 WL 4422349, at *2 (N.D. Ga. May 16, 2017); see also Biegas v. Quickway Carriers, Inc., 573 F.3d 365, 381 (6th Cir. 2009); Hunte v. Schneider Nat'l Carriers, Inc., No. 13-CV-2069-WSD, 2014 WL 3955723, at *4 (N.D. Ga. Aug. 13, 2014) ("The affidavit submitted by Jean Levash does not contain a factual basis for asserting the work-product privilege, and it is facially self-serving to support avoiding the production of required discovery."); Freiermuth v. PPG Indus., Inc., 218 F.R.D. 694, 699 (N.D. Ala. 2003) ("An affidavit containing mere conclusory statements that a document was prepared for the purpose of obtaining legal advice will not suffice in meeting defendant's burden.").

There are at least three reasons why the Lifespace Communications may not be withheld as work product. First, Lifespace is not a party and may not advance work product protection under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(b)(3)(A). Second, the Lifespace Communications have not been shown to have been created for use in litigation, nor is it likely that all were created even in anticipation of litigation. Third, when Lifespace disclosed the Lifespace Communications to Edgemere post-petition, such disclosure was disclosure to an adversary or potential adversary that served to waive the protection.

a. Non-parties cannot rely on Rule 26(b)(3)(A).

Work-product protection is codified at Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26, and by its terms does not extend to non-parties. Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(3)(A) ("Ordinarily, a party may not discover documents and tangible things that are prepared in anticipation of litigation or for trial by or for another party or its representative (including the other party's attorney, consultant, surety, indemnitor, insurer, or agent)."); see also Wright & Miller, 8 Fed. Prac. & Proc. Civ. § 2028 (3d ed.). Thus, Lifespace cannot claim work-product protection under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26; it must instead show that it warrants protection under the common law precepts announced in Hickman v. Taylor, 329 U.S. 495, 67 S.Ct. 385, 91 L.Ed. 451 (1947) and its progeny. To date, Lifespace has not done so.

b. Absence of a concrete litigation link.

"Only those documents truly created for use in litigation should be shielded, and documents primarily created for some other purpose (business transactions, management direction, record-keeping, archiving) should not be shielded lest more and more crucial evidence is lost to the truth-seeking process." In re Blue Cross Blue Shield Antitrust Litig. (MDL No.: 2406), No. 2:13-CV-20000-RDP, 2015 WL 10891632, at *6 (N.D. Ala. Nov. 4, 2015). Here, Lifespace has not shown and cannot show that the Lifespace Communications were "truly created for use in litigation" such that work-product protection ever attached in the first place. For work-product protection to apply, the emails "must be part of the process of seeking, developing, or conveying legal advice or strategy" or "involve the investigation of [a] claim . . . or the development of legal strategy." In re Lumber Liquidator S Chinese–Manufactured Flooring Products Marketing, No. 1:15-md-02627, 2015 WL 9474286, at *1 (E.D. Va. 2015); Coffey v. Tyler Staffing Servs., Inc., No. 7:19-CV-00015, 2020 WL 1307233, at *3 (W.D. Va. Mar. 19, 2020). Defendants do not know what the Lifespace Communications contain, but Lifespace has not yet shown that the Lifespace Communications involve discussions of legal strategy or they conveyance of legal advice.

Nor, for that matter, has Lifespace yet shown that the Lifespace Communications—or at least all the Lifespace Communications—were created in anticipation of litigation. Indeed, many of the Lifespace Communications pre-date any discussions between Edgemere and Defendants and thus pre-date any reasonable expectation of litigation between Edgemere and Defendants. It is true that they may instead pertain to Edgemere's bankruptcy case, but again many far precede the Petition Date and if it is the case that Edgemere was engaged in concrete pre-bankruptcy planning before any discussions between Edgemere and Defendants occurred, it puts the lie to Plaintiff's allegations that Defendants caused or accelerated Edgemere's bankruptcy.

c. Waiver.

Work-product protection is waived when an attorney (a) voluntarily discloses protected information to the court or does not object when it is offered, or (b) discloses protected information to an adversary or substantially increases the opportunity for an adversary to obtain the information. Shields v. Sturm, Ruger & Co., 864 F.2d 379, 382 (5th Cir. 1989) ("[T]he work-product privilege is waived when the attorney requests the witness to disclose the information or when the attorney discloses the information to the court voluntarily or makes no objection when it is offered."); 34 A.L.R. Fed. 3d Art. 5 (Originally published in 2018) ("Since using the protection to keep documents from one adversary but disclosing the documents to another adversary when it is advantageous does not serve the function for which the protection was established, a disclosure of the work-product to one adversary also operates as a waiver of the protection as to other adversaries."); Ecuadorian Plaintiffs v. Chevron Corp., 619 F.3d 373, 378 (5th Cir. 2010) ("Although work-product immunity is not automatically waived by disclosure of protected material to third parties, disclosure does waive protection if it 'has substantially increased the opportunities for potential adversaries to obtain the information.'").

Here, Lifespace waived the work-product protection by voluntarily disclosing the Lifespace Communications to Edgemere, which was its adversary or potential adversary because Lifespace was a creditor of Edgemere at the time of the disclosure. Creditors are always potential adversaries in a bankruptcy case, and Lifespace was no exception. Under Ecuadorian Plaintiffs, that is all that is required for waiver.

The Lifespace Communications should therefore be produced.

B. The GrayRobinson Communications are not privileged or protected.

The current iteration of Plaintiff and Lifespace's joint privilege log identifies a host of communications with GrayRobinson, each of which is dated in the immediate pre-petition period spanning March to April 2022. GrayRobinson represented Edgemere's Board of Directors.

As explained above, the burden of showing the application of privilege falls on the party advancing the privilege. It does not appear that any of the GrayRobinson Communications was intended to facilitate the provision of professional legal services to the Edgemere Board—GrayRobinson's client. Nor for that matter were they directed to "a lawyer representing another party in a pending action" or such attorney's representative, if for no other reason than because there was no pending action involving GrayRobinson's client, the Edgemere Board, when the

GrayRobinson Communications occurred. Tex. R. Evid. 503(b)(1)(C); see also, e.g., In re XL Specialty Ins. Co., 373 S.W.3d 46, 54 (Tex. 2012) ("no matter how common XL's and Cintas's interests might have been, our rule requires that the communication be made to a lawyer or her representative representing another party in a pending action") (emphases in original). For these reasons alone, the GrayRobinson Communications were not privileged and should be produced.[12]

Even if Texas privilege law was not crystal clear on this point—and it is—the interests of the Edgemere Board were separate and distinct from those of Edgemere itself and of Lifespace. Edgemere's counsel did not "advise or counsel the Boards' members in their deliberative process regarding the discharge of their fiduciary duties to the Debtors" and it was that "distinct role" that the Debtors considered warranted the engagement of GrayRobinson as an estate professional.[13] What is more, Edgemere recognized pre-petition that the directors' distinct interests warranted engagement of separate counsel, and so Edgemere engaged GrayRobinson pre-petition to represent the directors and to advance those distinct interests.[14] As Edgemere further explained, GrayRobinson's retention was "especially critical" in Edgemere's bankruptcy case because its engagement included "providing advice and counsel to the Restructuring Committee of [Edgemere], a committee whose purpose is to address matters involving the Debtors restructuring and conflicts, and is comprised only of independent directors who are not otherwise employed by [12] To be clear, the rule mandates a pending action, not an impending one, as explained in footnotes 7 and 8 of XL and their accompanying text, in which the Court distinguished between federal concepts of the common interest exception (extending also to "potential" litigants) and the law in Texas and other states mandating "pending litigation in order for the doctrine to apply." See also, e.g., In re Dalco, 186 S.W.3d 660, 666–76 (Tex. App.—Beaumont 2006, no pet.) (disclosure of "confidential or proprietary information . . . did not occur during any 'pending action' and therefore could not concern 'a matter of common interest therein'").

the Debtors."[15] And, to the extent there might otherwise be any doubt, GrayRobinson's engagement letter specifies that the firm was to serve "as counsel to the Edgemere Board and not to [Edgemere]."[16] And of course, this was wholly appropriate: while there is ample authority that the duties of a director of a wholly-owned subsidiary flow run to the subsidiary and its parent company in the ordinary context, when (as here) the subsidiary becomes insolvent the duties then run also to the subsidiary's creditors.[17]

All the same, the GrayRobinson Communications were not between GrayRobinson and the Edgemere Board. Instead, they were communications with Lifespace's outside counsel, Edgemere's outside counsel, and Edgemere's restructuring consultants. And, of course, they also included individuals who, in addition to serving on the Edgemere Board, also played leadership roles at Lifespace which, at the time, was among Edgemere's largest creditors. No privilege could have attached to the communications in the first place because there was no pending action as required under Texas law. But, even if that was not the rule, no privilege attached here because there were up to three entities (and their counsel) involved in the communications, each with separate and divergent interests in the immediate pre-petition period.

17 See, e.g., In re Central Illinois Energy Cooperative, 561 B.R. 699, 708-09 (Bankr. C.D. Ill. 2016) ("The Court sees no reason why the full panoply of common law duties and rules that apply to for-profit and other nonprofit corporations should not, as a general matter, apply equally to agricultural cooperative associations, including the special circumstances duties that occur upon insolvency" because requiring "officers and directors to consider the impact on creditors of a particular transaction or course of action when the entity is insolvent, is a normative rule tied to their position of authority unrelated to the organizational nature of the entity on whose behalf they act"); In re Lemington Home for Aged, 659 F.3d 282, 290 (3d Cir. 2011) (duties owed by nonprofit directors "are owed not only to the corporation and its shareholders, but also to the creditors of an insolvent entity"); see also, e.g., Nancy A. Peterman & Sherri Morisette, Directors' Duties in the Zone of Insolvency: the Quandry of the Nonprofit Corp., 23-Mar. Am. Bankr. Inst. J. 12, 12 (2004) ("As a result, upon entering the zone of insolvency, a board of directors has a fiduciary duty to consider all constituencies of the nonprofit corporation, including the creditors and the beneficiaries of the charitable mission of the corporation").

Nor does any claim of work-product protection fare any better. As explained above, only a party may assert protection under Rule 26, but (a) neither Lifespace nor the Edgemere Board is a party to this proceeding and (b) Edgemere has not explained and cannot explain why it is entitled to withhold work-product generated by the separate counsel to Edgemere's Board. What is more, as emphasized above, all of these communications were freely available between and among Lifespace and Edgemere in addition to Edgemere's Board, even though Lifespace was a major creditor and future adversary at the time of the GrayRobinson Communications. Thus, under Ecuadorian Plaintiffs any protection was waived because the GrayRobinson Communications were disclosed to "potential adversaries."

IV. CONCLUSION

Neither the Lifespace Communications nor the GrayRobinson Communications are privileged or protected. Same are therefore due to be produced.

Nonparty Lifespace Communities, Inc. ("Lifespace"), by and through its counsel, files this brief in opposition to the Defendants' Motion to Compel Production by Plaintiff and Brief in Support (the "Motion") at Adv. Pro. ECF No. 362[2] filed by Defendants Intercity Investment Properties, Inc. and Kong Capital LLC (collectively, "Defendants") and Defendants' Supplemental Brief Regarding the Lifespace Privilege Waiver and GrayRobinson Communications (the "Brief") at Adv. Pro. ECF No. 434. In support thereof, Lifespace respectfully states the following:

I. INTRODUCTION

Defendants' Brief is the latest in a series of aggressive litigation tactics intended to pressure and harass Lifespace, a nonparty to this Adversary Proceeding. This time, Defendants seek the extraordinary relief of obtaining access to substantially all of Lifespace's privileged communications with counsel. Defendants do not challenge the underlying privilege of any particular document withheld by Lifespace. Instead, Defendants make a sweeping argument that Lifespace's "disclosure" of privileged information to Plaintiff's counsel in coordinating responses to discovery in this Adversary Proceeding somehow constituted a wholesale waiver of Lifespace's privilege and work product protections. Defendants are wrong.

As Defendants concede, Texas Rule of Evidence 503(b)(1)(C) protects privileged communications disclosed to counsel for another party in a pending action to facilitate the rendition of professional legal services concerning a matter of common interest between the parties in that pending action. Here, Lifespace's disclosure of privileged communications to Plaintiff's counsel fits squarely within Rule 503(b)(1)(C) because it was made to facilitate the rendition of legal services in coordinating a response to duplicative discovery requests propounded by [2] All references to "ECF No." refer to the official case docket for these chapter 11 cases; all references to "Adv. Pro. ECF No." refer to the official case docket for this Adversary Proceeding.

Defendants in the Adversary Proceeding in which Plaintiff and Lifespace share a common interest—namely, to hold Defendants accountable for the significant damages they caused the Debtor and its estate. As explained below, Defendants' suggestion that Plaintiff's counsel was somehow prohibited from collaborating with Lifespace's counsel on discovery responses because Plaintiff's counsel could not have jointly represented Lifespace under 11 U.S.C. § 327 is meritless. Likewise, Defendants' argument that Lifespace could not have shared a common interest with Plaintiff in this Adversary Proceeding because Lifespace was a creditor of Plaintiff in the underlying chapter 11 case—a different legal proceeding—is wrong and should be rejected.

Defendants also fail to demonstrate that Lifespace waived its work product protection. The documents withheld by Lifespace under the work product doctrine fit squarely within the common law work product doctrine first articulated by the United States Supreme Court in its seminal case, Hickman v. Taylor, 329 U.S. 495 (1947), and more recently endorsed by the Fifth Circuit in Adams v. Memorial Hermann, 973 F.3d 343 (5th Cir. 2020), which protects from disclosure, among other things, a lawyer's research, analysis of legal theories, mental impressions, memoranda, communications and notes prepared in anticipation of litigation. Defendants fail to meet their burden to demonstrate that Lifespace somehow waived its work product protection when coordinating with Plaintiff's counsel in response to Defendants' duplicative discovery requests because they cannot show that Plaintiff was an adversary or potential adversary of Lifespace in this Adversary Proceeding.

Finally, the GrayRobinson communications are privileged and protected from disclosure because they fall squarely within the related companies' exception to waiver, which protects privileged communications shared within the corporate organization relating to issues in which the parties share a common interest. Here, Lifespace, Edgemere and Edgemere's board of directors all shared a common interest in pursuing claims against Defendants for their unlawful conduct in breaching the NDA and attempting to destroy the Edgemere community for their own financial gain.

II. BACKGROUND

Prior to its chapter 11 bankruptcy filing, Lifespace was the sole member and exclusive manager of Edgemere, responsible for managing all of Edgemere's operations and maintaining virtually all information relating to Edgemere's finances and operations pursuant to the terms of a Management Services Agreement dated August 15, 2019 between Lifespace and Edgemere (the "MSA"). See Ex. 2, App'x at 9-10. In connection with the management services Lifespace provided to Edgemere under the MSA, Lifespace maintained all information relating to Edgemere's operations and finances, including maintaining the exclusive email and document management and storage system used by Edgemere. Id. at 10. All Edgemere employees utilized a "lifespacecommunities.com" email address with which to conduct business. Id. Those emails, and all other electronic information relating to Edgemere, were stored on cloud-based information technology infrastructure operated by Lifespace (the "Lifespace Server"). Id.

On April 14, 2022 (the "Petition Date"), Edgemere filed its voluntary chapter 11 petition in this Court. See Pet., ECF No. 1. That same day, Edgemere commenced this Adversary Proceeding by a filing a complaint against its landlord, Intercity Investment Properties, Inc., and the landlord's agent, Kong Capital LLC, a private equity firm, asserting claims for breach of its non-disclosure agreement and tortious interference with existing and prospective customer and business relationships, which contributed to Edgemere's financial distress and chapter 11 bankruptcy filing. See Compl., Adv. Pro. ECF No. 1.[3]

[3] The initial adversary complaint was recently amended by Plaintiff. See First Amended Compl., Adv. Pro. ECF No. 422.

On June 28, 2022, Defendants propounded document requests on Edgemere in connection with this Adversary Proceeding. Two days later, Defendants served a Rule 45 subpoena (the "Subpoena") on Lifespace, which contained document requests nearly identical to the discovery served on Edgemere. Because of the substantial overlap of Defendants' duplicative discovery requests, the fact that all of the information responsive to these requests were likely to reside on the Lifespace Server and the common legal interest shared by Lifespace and Edgemere in the Adversary Proceeding, Lifespace coordinated its response to the Subpoena with Edgemere. Ex. 1, App'x. at 3, 4. Specifically, Lifespace coordinated with Edgemere's counsel to identify and collect potentially responsive information from the Lifespace Server, review that information for responsiveness and privilege, make a production of responsive, non-privileged information to Defendants and prepare a detailed privilege and redaction log for information withheld from production on the basis of privilege and/or work product. Id.

On August 1, 2022, Lifespace served its responses and objections to the Subpoena, and between August 4, 2022 and October 26, 2022, Edgemere produced responsive, non-privileged information to Defendants on behalf of both Edgemere and Lifespace (the "Joint Production") together with a comprehensive joint privilege log (as amended, the "Privilege Log") identifying various communications and other information withheld on the basis of attorney-client privilege, work product protection or other privileges and protections.

Over the past 16 months, Defendants have asserted no less than five challenges regarding the propriety of the Joint Production and Privilege Log. Defendants' latest gambit is their boldest yet—an attempt to deprive Lifespace of any of the bedrock legal protections provided by the attorney-client privilege or work product doctrine to create an unfair litigation advantage. As explained below, their misguided attempt must fail.

III. ARGUMENT

A. Lifespace's Privileged Communications Are Protected From Disclosure By Texas Rule Of Evidence 503(b)(1)(C).

It is axiomatic that the "attorney-client privilege is the oldest of the privileges for confidential communications known to the common law. Its purpose is to encourage full and frank communications between attorneys and their clients, and thereby promote broader public interests in the observance of law and administration of justice." Upjohn Co. v. United States, 449 U.S. 383, 389 (1981) (internal citation removed). As the Texas Supreme Court has recognized, "[t]he attorney-client privilege exists—and has been a cornerstone of our legal system for nearly 500 years—because the interests protected and secured by the promise of confidentiality are not merely significant; they are quintessentially imperative." Paxton v. City of Dall., 509 S.W.3d 247, 259-60 (Tex. 2017).

Here, Lifespace appropriately asserted its attorney-client privilege by withholding from production certain communications listed on the Privilege Log (the "Lifespace Privileged Communications"). See Ex. 1, App'x at 4-5. The Lifespace Privileged Communications are privileged under Texas law because they consist of confidential communications made for the purpose of facilitating the rendition of legal professional legal services made between and among Lifespace, its counsel and its representatives. See Tex. R. Evid. 511(a)(1). In their Brief, Defendants do not challenge the underlying privilege of any of the Lifespace Privileged Communications.[4] Instead, Defendants argue that Lifespace triggered a wholesale waiver of the privilege for all of the Lifespace Privileged Communications when they were disclosed to Plaintiff's counsel for the purpose of coordinating a response to the Subpoena.

[4] Defendants previously challenged Plaintiff's assertion of the attorney-client privilege for communications between Lifespace and Edgemere. The Court rejected that challenge, holding that the related companies' exception to waiver applied to communications between Lifespace and Edgemere and ordered an in camera review of a subset of Lifespace and Edgemere communications to determine whether those communications were made for a legal purpose or commercial purpose. See Order at 9-10, Adv. Proc. ECF No. 314 (the "June 23 Order"). Upon completing that review, the Court concluded that the vast majority of those communication were privileged and therefore protected from disclosure by the related companies' exception to waiver of privilege. See Nov. 7, 2023 Hr'g Tr. at 86:14-17.

However, as Defendants concede in their Brief (at 5), Texas Rule of Evidence 503(b)(1)(C) protects "confidential communications made to facilitate the rendition of professional legal services to the client . . . by the client, the client's representative, the client's lawyer, or the lawyer's representative to a lawyer representing another party in a pending action . . . if the communications concern a matter of common interest in the pending action." Tex. R. Evid. 503(b)(1)(C). Defendants contend that Lifespace should not get the benefit of this statutory protection because (1) the disclosure to Plaintiff for purposes of responding to the Subpoena was somehow not "made to facilitate the rendition of professional legal services," and (2) Lifespace did not share a common interest in the pending Adversary Proceeding because Lifespace was a creditor in the underlying chapter 11 proceeding. Br. at 6-9. Defendants are wrong on both points.

1. Lifespace's disclosure of the Lifespace Privileged Communications was made to facilitate the rendition of professional legal services.

The disclosure of the Lifespace Privileged Communications was not done "simply as a matter of convenience," as Defendants repeatedly contend. See Br. at 6-7. Rather, the disclosure was made to facilitate the rendition of professional legal services—i.e., to coordinate Lifespace's response to the Subpoena, which included Plaintiff's counsel assisting Lifespace and its counsel in identifying information on the Lifespace Server that could be potentially responsive to the Subpoena, evaluating that information for responsiveness and privilege, producing responsive, non-privileged information in response to the Subpoena, and preparing a comprehensive privilege and redaction log. It is difficult to understand Defendants' position that these activities are somehow not professional legal services protected under Rule 503(b)(1)(C).

Defendants' argument that Plaintiff's counsel could not possibly have assisted Lifespace in performing these professional legal services because of the disinterestedness requirement under 11 U.S.C. § 327(a) is similarly unavailing. As an initial matter, Defendants do not explain how the disinterestedness requirement for representing a debtor under section 327(a) prohibits Plaintiff's counsel from either having a common interest with Lifespace or coordinating with Lifespace and its counsel in responding to Defendants' duplicative discovery requests. Indeed, coordination among debtors and creditors is commonplace in chapter 11 cases, and communications among debtors and creditors on issues in which they have a common interest are routinely protected as privileged. See e.g. In re Cherokee Simeon Venture I, LLC, 2012 WL 12940975, at *3 (Bankr. D. Del. May 31, 2012); In re Tribune Co., 2011 WL 386827, at *6 (Bankr. D. Del. Feb. 3, 2011); In re Leslie Controls, Inc., 437 B.R. 493, 502 (Bankr. D. Del. 2010); In re Quigley Co., Inc., 2009 WL 9034027, at *4 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. Apr. 24, 2009).

Furthermore, Rule 503(b)(1)(C) does not require the party to which the privileged communications were disclosed to provide legal services to the disclosing party. Rather, it only requires that the disclosure be made "to facilitate the rendition of professional legal services to the client," even where the services are provided by the client's own counsel. Here, it is sufficient that the Lifespace Privileged Communications were disclosed to Plaintiff's counsel to facilitate the rendition of professional legal services to Lifespace by its own counsel in responding to the Subpoena.

2. Lifespace shared a common interest with Plaintiff in this Adversary Proceeding.

Defendants are wrong to suggest that Lifespace's role as a creditor in the underlying chapter 11 case precludes it from sharing a common legal interest with Plaintiff in this Adversary Proceeding. Rule 503(b)(1)(C) only requires that Lifespace and Plaintiff share a common interest "in the pending action," and not for all purposes in all other proceedings. See, e.g., Schmidt v. Rodriguez (In re Rodriguez), 2012 WL 3257889, at *6 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. Aug. 7, 2012) ("the fact that the Trustee and the Petitioning Creditors are on opposite sides of the adversary proceeding does not prevent the Trustee from invoking the privilege where the two sides share a common interest."). Here, Lifespace and Plaintiff shared, and continue to share, a common interest in the Adversary Proceeding—namely, to hold Defendants' accountable for their unlawful actions in breaching the NDA and attempting to destroy the Edgemere community for their own financial gain. See Ex. 1, App'x. at 3. Indeed, Lifespace is the largest beneficiary of the post-confirmation trust for which the Plaintiff serves as the trustee. See id. The fact that Lifespace may have engaged in arm's length negotiations with Plaintiff or was a creditor in a different proceeding does not undermine the common interest it shares with Plaintiff in this Adversary Proceeding.

B. Lifespace's Work Product Is Protected From Disclosure.

In addition to the Lifespace Privileged Communications, Lifespace also withheld from production certain documents reflecting its counsel's research, analysis of legal theories, mental impressions and notes prepared in anticipation of litigation (the "Lifespace Work Product").[5] See Ex. 1, App'x at 4. As with the attorney-client privilege, the United States Supreme Court long ago emphasized the importance of protecting an attorney's work product from disclosure in litigation:

> Were such materials open to opposing counsel on mere demand, much of what is now put down in writing would remain unwritten. An attorney's thoughts, heretofore inviolate, would not be his own. Inefficiency, unfairness and sharp practices would inevitably develop in the giving of legal advice and in the preparation of cases for trial. The effect on the legal impression would be demoralizing. And the interests of the clients and the cause of justice would be poorly served.

Hickman v. Taylor, 329 U.S. 495, 510 (1947).

[5] All of the Lifespace Work Product is also protected from disclosure by the attorney-client privilege. Accordingly, Defendants would have to defeat both Lifespace's privileges to compel disclosure of the Lifespace Work Product.

Here, Defendants are attempting to deprive Lifespace of its work product protection and force a blanket disclosure of all Lifespace Work Product to obtain an unfair advantage in this Adversary Proceeding. Defendants' advance three arguments in support of their aim: (1) Lifespace cannot obtain the benefits of the work product protection under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(b)(3)(A) because it is not a party to the Adversary Proceeding; (2) Lifespace has not shown that the Lifespace Work Product was prepared in anticipation of litigation; and (3) Lifespace waived its work product protection by disclosing the Lifespace Work Product to Plaintiff, which is or could become an adversary by virtue of the fact Lifespace was a creditor in Plaintiff's underlying chapter 11 case. All three arguments fail.

1. The Lifespace Work Product is protected from disclosure under Hickman and its progeny.

Defendants first contend that Lifespace cannot get the benefit of the work product protection under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(b)(3)(A) because it is not a party to this Adversary Proceeding. But that is an overly narrow reading of the work product protection. Indeed, Defendants reluctantly concede, as they must, that the work product doctrine can apply to Lifespace as a nonparty under Hickman and its progeny. See Br. at 10.

In Hickman, the United States Supreme Court held that the "[w]ork product of the lawyer" reflected in "interviews, statements, memoranda, correspondence, briefs, mental impressions, personal beliefs, and countless other tangible and intangible ways" must be protected from disclosure. 329 U.S. at 510-11 ("it is essential that a lawyer work with a certain degree of privacy, free from unnecessary intrusion by opposing parties and their counsel."). In Adams v. Mem. Hermann, the Fifth Circuit recognized that the work product doctrine first articulated in Hickman was only "partially codified as Rule 26(b)(3) in the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure." 973 F.3d 343, 349 (5th Cir. 2020). Indeed, despite the text of Rule 26(b)(3), several courts have recognized that a nonparty is entitled to withhold work product in responding to a subpoena. See, e.g., Carnes v. Crete Carrier Corp., 244 F.R.D. 694, 699 (N.D. Ga. 2007) ("Although the text of Rule 26(b)(3) appears to limit work product to parties, Rule 26(c), Rule 45, and Hickman suggest that the scope of protection should extend to a non-party"); Stanziale v. Career Path Training Corp. (In re Student Finance Corp.), 2006 WL 3484387 (E.D. Pa. Nov. 29, 2006) (same).

To withhold documents from disclosure under the work product doctrine in the Fifth Circuit, "a party must show that 'the primary motivating purpose behind the creation of the document was to aid in possible future litigation." United States v. Nelson, 732 F.3d 504, 518 (5th Cir. 2013). Here, the Lifespace Work Product was appropriately withheld from production because it includes documents that reflect the mental impressions, notes, legal research and legal analysis of Lifespace's counsel that were prepared in anticipation of, and to aid in, possible future litigation.[6] Ex. 1, App'x. at 4. Accordingly, these fall squarely within the work product doctrine as articulated by the Fifth Circuit.

2. The Lifespace Work Product was prepared in anticipation of litigation.

Next, Defendants emphasize that only documents created in anticipation of litigation may be protected from disclosure under the work product doctrine and that Lifespace has not yet shown that all the Lifespace Work Product was prepared in anticipation of litigation. See Br. at 11. But as set forth above, and in the Declaration of Nick Harshfield appended hereto as Exhibit 1, the Lifespace Work Product was prepared in anticipation of, and to aid in, possible future litigation with Defendants. See Ex. 1, App'x. at 4.

[6] Additionally, all of the Lifespace Work Product are also protected from disclosure by the attorney-client privilege. Accordingly, even if the Court were to find that the work product doctrine does not apply to any of the Lifespace Work Product, they are nonetheless still protected from disclosure by the attorney-client privilege.

Defendants insinuate, without any explanation or evidentiary support, that some the Lifespace Work Product could not have been prepared in anticipation of litigation because "many of the Lifespace Communications pre-date any discussions between Edgemere and Defendants." Br. at 11. But Defendants fail to explain why Plaintiff or Lifespace could only have anticipated possible litigation with Defendants after certain, unspecified discussions between Edgemere and Defendants. In any event, the Fifth Circuit has rejected Defendants' suggestion that litigation must be imminent for documents to be entitled to the protection of the work product doctrine. See, United States v. Davis, 636 F.2d 1028, 1040 (5th Cir. 1981) ("It is admittedly difficult to reduce to a neat general formula the relationship between preparation of a document and possible litigation necessary to trigger the protection of the work product doctrine. We conclude that litigation need not necessarily be imminent as some courts have suggested as long as the primary motivating purpose behind the creation of the document was to aid in possible future litigation.") (internal citations omitted).[7] The evidence demonstrates that the Lifespace Work Product was prepared in anticipation of, or to aid in, litigation and thus is entitled to protection under the work product doctrine.

3. Lifespace did not waive its work product protections by disclosing the Lifespace Work Product to Plaintiff's counsel.

Unlike waiver of the attorney-client privilege, where disclosure to any third party can result in a waiver of the privilege, work product protection is only waived when there is a disclosure to an adversary or potential adversary. As the party asserting the waiver, Defendants have the burden of proving the Lifespace Work Product was waived. See, e.g., Davidson v. Alltrade Tools, LLC, 2019 WL 13194143, at *2 (N.D. Tex. May 10, 2019) ("Importantly, the burden of proving waiver of work-product protection falls on the party asserting waiver."). Defendants fail to meet that burden here.

Defendants only argument is that Lifespace was a creditor of Plaintiff in the underlying chapter 11 case and therefore an adversary or potential adversary of Plaintiff. See Br. at 12 ("Creditors are always potential adversaries in a bankruptcy case, and Lifespace was no exception."). That argument misses the mark again because it incorrectly conflates the underlying chapter 11 case with the separate Adversary Proceeding against Defendants. Just because Lifespace may have been a creditor of Plaintiff in the underlying chapter 11 case does not make it an adversary or potential adversary of Plaintiff in this Adversary Proceeding. Indeed, as explained above and in the Harshfield Declaration, Lifespace and Plaintiff are completely aligned in this Adversary Proceeding and have a shared interest in holding Defendants accountable for their unlawful conduct. See Ex. 1, App'x at 3. Defendants have offered no evidence that Lifespace is an adversary or potential adversary of Plaintiff in this Adversary Proceeding. Consequently, Defendants fail to meet their burden of proving a waiver of the protections of the work product doctrine.

C. The GrayRobinson Communications Are Privileged

Defendants also seek the wholesale disclosure of all communications with GrayRobinson (the "GrayRobinson Communications"), outside counsel to Edgemere's board of directors (the "Edgemere Board"). In support of that extraordinary relief, Defendants allege simply that "[i]t does not appear that any of the GrayRobinson Communications was intended to facilitate the provision of professional legal services to the Edgemere Board—GrayRobinson's client." Br. at 12. That is not correct. The GrayRobinson communications were made to facilitate the rendition of professional legal services from GrayRobinson to its client, the Edgemere Board, concerning a matter of common interest in this Adversary Proceeding. Ex. 1, App'x. at 3-4. These communications are protected from disclosure by both the related companies' exception to waiver and Texas Rule of Evidence 503(b)(1)(C).

First, this Court has previously ruled that the related companies' exception to waiver applies to Lifespace and Plaintiff. See June 23 Order at 6-7. That exception includes the Edgemere Board because, like parent and subsidiary, which "are considered the same person for purposes of the privilege,"[8] the board of directors is also considered part of the corporate family for purposes of the privilege. See, e.g., In re Grand Jury 90-1, 758 F. Supp. 1411, 1413 (D. Colo. 1991) (holding that the attorney-client privilege of a company extends to the board of directors, finding that "relaying this information to the Board was merely making advice available to another part of this inanimate entity."). This conclusion is consistent with the Northern District of Texas's interpretation of the United States Supreme Court's seminal case concerning the application of the attorney-client privilege in the corporate setting, Upjohn Co. v. United States, 449 U.S. 383 (1981), which rejected a mechanistic approach to the application of the attorney-client privilege in the corporate setting in favor of a case-by-case evaluation to determine whether application of the privilege would further the underlying purpose of the privilege. See American Airlines, 2012 WL 12884822, at *5. In American Airlines, the Court agreed that the related companies' exception applied to a protect disclosure of privileged information shared between a parent and its majority-owned subsidiaries and rejected a claim of waiver for communications "shared with Blackstone employees, directors, in-house counsel, and/or outside counsel." Id. at *5 (emphasis added). Similarly, this Court has held that the related companies' exception to waiver applies to Lifespace and its wholly owned affiliate, Edgemere. See June 23 Order at 6-7 ("The Court finds that the 'related companies exception' would apply to communications between Lifespace, the [8] June 23 Order at 7 (quoting Am. Airlines, Inc. v. Travelport Ltd., 2012 WL 12884822, at *5 (N.D. Tex. Jul. 16, 2012)).

Plaintiff and counsel to the extent the underlying communications were made in furtherance of legal services or are covered by some other applicable privilege."). As in American Airlines, that exception covers the directors of the Edgemere Board, who are ultimately responsible for making decisions for the Edgemere.

Defendants nevertheless attempt to separate the Edgemere Board from Edgemere and Lifespace, contending that "the interests of the Edgemere Board were separate and distinct from those of Edgemere itself and of Lifespace" and point to the GrayRobinson retention application filed in the underlying chapter 11 proceeding. Br. at 13 (citing to the purpose of GrayRobinson's retention in the chapter 11 proceeding to provide advice and counsel to the restructuring committee of the Edgemere Board to address matters involving the Debtor's restructuring and potential conflicts in the chapter 11 proceeding). Again, Defendants incorrectly conflate the underlying chapter 11 case from this Adversary Proceeding. Defendants have not offered any evidence that the Edgemere Board's interests conflicted with or diverged from the interests of Plaintiff and Lifespace in this Adversary Proceeding. Indeed, none exists. The Edgemere Board shared a common interest with the Plaintiff and Lifespace in pursuing claims against Defendants in this Adversary Proceeding. See Ex. 1, App'x. at 3.

Second, the GrayRobinson communications are also protected from disclosure under Texas Rule of Evidence 503(b)(1)(C) because they were made to facilitate the rendition of professional legal services from GrayRobinson to its client, the Edgemere Board, concerning a matter of common interest in this Adversary Proceeding. Defendants argue that these communications are not protected because there is no pending action "involving GrayRobinson's client, the Edgemere Board, when the GrayRobinson Communications occurred." Br. at 12-13. But Rule 503(b)(1)(C) does not require a pending action "involving" the client, it only requires a pending action. Here, the pending action is the Adversary Proceeding by Plaintiff against Defendants.

Finally, Defendants argue that the GrayRobinson Communications categorically are not protected by the work product doctrine. See Br. at 15. In support of that argument, Defendants simply reiterate their previous arguments with respect to work product: (a) neither Lifespace nor the Edgemere Board is a party to this Adversary Proceeding, and (b) the Edgemere Board waived its work product protections by sharing disclosing the work product to Plaintiff and Lifespace. See Br. at 15. Those arguments fail for the same reasons discussed above: (a) under Hickman and its progeny, the work product protection extends beyond just parties and includes the mental impressions, memoranda and correspondence of counsel for the Edgemere Board made in anticipation of possible litigation, and (b) Defendants have failed to meet their burden that the work product protection was waived by the Edgemere Board.

IV. CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, the Court should deny all remaining aspects of the Motion that relate to the Lifespace Privileged Communications, Lifespace Work Product and GrayRobinson Communications, and order such further and other relief as is just and appropriate.

In re: NORTHWEST SENIOR HOUSING CORPORATION, et al.[1] Debtors.	Chapter 11 Case No. 22-30659 (MVL)
Leif M. Clark, Trustee of the Edgemere Litigation Trust Plaintiff, v Intercity Investment Properties, Inc., and Kong Capital LLC, Defendants.	Adv. Pro. No. 22-03040 (MVL)

DEFENDANTS' REPLY TO THE RESPONSE OF LIFESPACE COMMUNITIES, INC.'S TO DEFENDANTS' MOTION TO COMPEL PRODUCTION OF THE LIFESPACE COMMUNICATIONS AND GRAYROBINSON COMMUNICATIONS

[1] The Debtors in these chapter 11 cases, along with the last four digits of each Debtor's federal tax identification number, are Northwest Senior Housing Corporation (1278) and Senior Quality Lifestyles Corporation (2669). The Debtors' mailing address is 8523 Thackery Street, Dallas, Texas 75225.

Defendants moved for, among other things, production of the Lifespace Communications and the GrayRobinson Communications.[1] The Lifespace Communications and GrayRobinson Communications were withheld first by Edgemere and now by Plaintiff based on misguided assertions of attorney-client privilege and work product protection. Lifespace alone responded, and its response shows that the documents were, and are, improperly withheld.

I. Disclosure of the Lifespace Communications waived the attorney-client privilege.

Lifespace does not dispute that it furnished all the Lifespace Communications to Edgemere's counsel post-petition. Lifespace's chief argument is that Tex. R. Evid. 503(b)(1)(C) excepts the disclosure from the general privilege waiver rule because Lifespace and Edgemere were aligned in this adversary proceeding. More particularly, Lifespace advances that "the underlying chapter 11 case" was "a different legal proceeding" from this adversary proceeding and that the "fact Lifespace may have engaged in arms' length negotiations with Plaintiff or was a creditor in a different proceeding does not undermine the common interest it shares with Plaintiff in this Adversary Proceeding." (Emphasis in original).

Lifespace's argument is self-defeating—it confirms that the disclosure waived privilege because the waiver exception embodied in Texas Rule of Evidence 503(b)(1)(C) applies only if the disclosing party and the receiving party[2] each are parties to the same "pending action." Lifespace insists that its disclosure was made as part of this adversary proceeding, that this adversary proceeding is distinct from the bankruptcy case, and that Lifespace is not (and never has been) a party to this adversary proceeding. Consequently, the disclosure was not made "to a lawyer representing another party in a pending action or that lawyer's representative," such that Texas Rule of Evidence 503(b)(1)(C) could apply.

[1] Capitalized terms not defined herein have the definitions ascribed to them in Defendants' Supplemental Brief Regarding the Lifespace Privilege Waiver and GrayRobinson Communications, ECF 434. The term Lifespace Communications means those communications between Lifespace and its outside counsel; the term "GrayRobinson Communications" means those communications between GrayRobinson and Edgemere, Lifespace, and/or Edgemere or Lifespace's respective professionals.

[2] More particularly, the Rule requires that disclosure be made to the lawyer for another party in a pending action or that lawyer's representative—not to the party itself.

Case authorities support this plain language interpretation of Rule 503(b)(1)(C). In In re XL Specialty Ins. Co., 373 S.W.3d 46 (Tex. 2012), an injured employee brought a "bad faith" action against his employer's worker's compensation insurer. The trial court ordered that communications between the insurer's attorney and the employer made during the underlying administrative proceeding were discoverable, and the insurer and employer petitioned for a writ of mandamus holding that such communications were covered by the attorney-client privilege, relying chiefly on Texas Rule of Evidence 503(b)(1)(C). The Texas Supreme Court agreed with the trial court and held that the communications were not covered by the attorney-client privilege.

The In re XL Court characterized Rule 503(b)(1)(C) as an "allied litigant doctrine" narrower in scope than the corresponding federal "common interest" doctrine, in that "Texas requires that the communications be made in the context of a pending action." 373 S.W.3d at 51-52. In "jurisdictions like Texas, which have a pending action requirement," the Court held, "no commonality of interest exists absent actual litigation." Id. at 52. "Accordingly," Texas's "privilege is not a 'common interest' privilege that extends beyond litigation" nor "is it a 'joint defense' privilege, as it applies not just to defendants but to any parties to a pending action." Id. (emphasis added).

The Court continued to hold that the communications at issue were not covered by Rule 503(b)(1)(C) because the insurer was not a party to a pending action: "no matter how common XL's [the insurer's] and Cintas' [the employer's] interests might have been, our rule requires that the communication be made to a lawyer or her representative representing another party in a pending action." Id. at 54 (emphasis in original).

Shortly after In re XL, another Texas court applied In re XL's holding to conclude that documents exchanged between defendants in a pending action, on the one hand, and a bank the plaintiff-borrower sought to have added as a defendant to that action, on the other hand, were not protected under Rule 503(b)(1)(C) although (as argued by the relators) the defendants and the bank had a "common interest" in the outcome of the pending litigation, the plaintiff's "bankruptcy proceeding," and a second lawsuit by the plaintiff. In re Park Cities Bank, 409 S.W.3d 859, 875 (Tex. App.—Tyler 2013, no pet.). The court rejected the assertion of privilege because the parties claiming privilege "did not apply the 'pending action' requirement of Rule 503." Id. Although the lawyer and lawyer representatives to the communications each represented parties to pending litigation, they were not parties to the same litigation, so the privilege claim failed. Id.

Perhaps the clearest statement of the limitations of Rule 503(b)(1)(C) comes from Benson v. Rosenthal, 2016 WL 3001129 *4 (E.D. La. May 25, 2016) in which the court held that "Texas case law indicates that [Rule 503(b)(1)(C)] protects only persons who are co-litigants, either plaintiffs or defendants, in the same pending action, not in separate cases." (Citing XL, supra). In short, the Texas Supreme Court, a Texas intermediate court of appeals, and a federal court applying Texas law each have concluded that for Rule 503(b)(1)(C) to apply, the disclosure at issue must be between those representing parties to the same litigation.

Here, Lifespace emphasizes that this adversary proceeding is "a different legal proceeding" from the underlying bankruptcy. At the same time, though, Lifespace concedes that it is not and never has been a party to this adversary proceeding. Consequently, Lifespace's own analysis compels that its disclosure of the Lifespace Communications to Edgemere waived privilege.

While that is dispositive of the privilege issue, there is yet another, second, basis for the same result. To be privileged, the disclosure of the communication must also have been made to "facilitate the rendition of professional legal services to the client," Lifespace. (Emphasis added). Disclosing the Lifespace Communications to Edgemere's counsel did not and could not facilitate the rendition of professional legal services to Lifespace. Lifespace had its own counsel and all the tools necessary to review the document set for privileged communications. Instead, it turned over the entire universe of documents—including the Lifespace Communications—to Edgemere for privilege review. But as explained in Defendants' opening briefing, Edgemere's counsel was engaged by the Estate and could not render legal services to Lifespace, a major Estate creditor.

Lifespace attempts feebly to argue that Rule 503(b)(1)(C) "does not require the party to which the privileged communications were disclosed to provide legal services to the disclosing party" but rather that the Rule requires only that "the disclosure be made 'to facilitate the rendition of professional legal services to the client,' even where the services are provided by the client's own counsel." The flaw in this argument is that it is entirely unsupported by any Texas authority or by any showing that the disclosure in fact facilitated the rendition of professional legal services to Lifespace by Lifespace's counsel. Quite to the contrary, there was no proper reason for the Lifespace Communications ever to have been disclosed to Edgemere; Lifespace could simply not have done that, and instead reviewed and provided a privilege log for the Lifespace Communications on its own.[3]

[3] According to Nick Harshfield's declaration submitted with Lifespace's response, Lifespace reasoned that disclosure of the Lifespace Communications to Edgemere's counsel was warranted because the discovery issued to Lifespace was "substantially similar" to that issued to Edgemere and that all responsive documents "were likely to reside" on Lifespace's server. Put otherwise, rather than undertake its own search for responsive documents and to review same for privilege, Lifespace elected instead to dump all responsive documents on Edgemere's bankruptcy counsel and shift the cost of privilege review from Lifespace to Estate professionals.

In summation, Lifespace's own arguments demonstrate that Rule 503(b)(1)(C) does not apply here. Lifespace further omits to advance any other reason why its post-petition disclosure of the Lifespace Communications to Edgemere did not waive privilege. Consequently, the claim of privilege should be overruled and the Lifespace Communications should be produced.

II. The Lifespace Communications are not protected work product.

Defendants have little quibble with Lifespace's characterization of the work product doctrine. The problem with Lifespace's position is its failure to support legal argument with facts.

Lifespace claims the Lifespace Communications were prepared in anticipation of litigation. Purportedly in support of that notion, Lifespace submits a declaration from Nick Harshfield. Harshfield's declaration nowhere states that he reviewed or knows the substance of the Lifespace Communications withheld as work product. Harshfield's declaration similarly nowhere states the Lifespace Communications withheld as work product were created in anticipation of litigation. Instead, he advances that Lifespace's counsel and Edgemere's counsel coordinated to identify and withhold "Lifespace Work Product"—a fact over which he claims no personal knowledge and to which he is incompetent to testify—but never avers that the documents ultimately withheld as work product are, in fact, among the documents he defines as "Lifespace Work Product."

Harshfield's failure to offer more specificity with respect to the "Lifespace Work Product" is fatal to Lifespace's claim for work product protection. First, as explained in Defendants' opening briefing, affidavits providing only conclusory statements are insufficient to support a claim of work product protection.[4] Second, some of the documents over which Lifespace claims

Quickway Carriers, Inc.*, 573 F.3d 365, 381 (6th Cir. 2009); Hunte v. Schneider Nat'l Carriers, Inc., No. 13-CV-2069-WSD, 2014 WL 3955723, at 4 (N.D. Ga. PPG Indus., Inc., protection pre-date this litigation by well over a year and, particularly considering the allegation that Defendants caused Edgemere's bankruptcy through their acts and omissions in late 2021 and early 2022, it is unclear how such communications could have related to this litigation. As characterized by Lifespace at page 10 of its brief, the "Lifespace Work Product" purportedly was created in anticipation of "future litigation with Defendants," but nowhere does Harshfield or Lifespace explain how Lifespace's counsel was preparing for litigation with Defendants before any of Defendants' alleged acts or omissions even had taken place. Either the allegations of the Complaint are false or the assertions in Harshfield's declaration are false; as the entity seeking to withhold documents, it is Lifespace's burden to show which set of conflicting assertions is false.[5]

What is more, even if the Lifespace Communications were once protected work product, their disclosure to Edgemere destroyed any such protection. As explained in Defendants' prior briefing, disclosure of work product even to a potential adversary destroys the protection. And Lifespace and Edgemere certainly were at least potential adversaries for the reasons explained before (and for the additional reasons that will be shown through the evidence at the upcoming January 12, 2024 evidentiary hearing). Among those reasons: Lifespace was a major creditor and, during the one-year pre-petition period, had drained millions of dollars of liquidity from Edgemere in preferential or fraudulent transfers, as explained by Nick Harshfield during Edgemere's meeting of creditors under section 341(a).

Lifespace urges that the disclosure is irrelevant because it was made as part of the adversary proceeding, not as part of the underlying bankruptcy case. That distinction makes no difference in this context and Lifespace cites no authority for the proposition. Edgemere and Lifespace were potential adversaries, and whether Edgemere may have advanced claims against Lifespace in this adversary proceeding, in another one, or through the claims administration process is wholly irrelevant. What matters under established Fifth Circuit precedent is that Lifespace disclosed the Lifespace Communications to Edgemere, a potential adversary. See Ecuadorian Plaintiffs v. Chevron Corp., 619 F.3d 373, 378 (5th Cir. 2010) ("Although work-product immunity is not automatically waived by disclosure of protected material to third parties, disclosure does waive protection if it 'has substantially increased the opportunities for potential adversaries to obtain the information.'") (Emphasis added).

218 F.R.D. 694, 699 (N.D. Ala. 2003) ("An affidavit containing mere conclusory statements that a document was prepared for the purpose of obtaining legal advice will not suffice in meeting defendant's burden.").

III. The GrayRobinson Communications are not privileged.

For many of the same reasons that the production of the Lifespace Communications are not properly withheld on privilege grounds, neither are the GrayRobinson Communications. Before explaining why, though, Defendants first note that Lifespace utterly fails to identify its standing to advance privilege or work-product protection over the GrayRobinson Communications when Lifespace was not GrayRobinson's client. In fact, Lifespace lacks standing to do so, and Lifespace's arguments about the GrayRobinson Communications may and should be rejected for that reason.

Even if Lifespace was a proper party to claim privilege over the GrayRobinson Communications, the GrayRobinson Communications are not and were never privileged.[6] Each pre-dates the commencement of this proceeding and, consequently, was not made by or to another party in a pending action, as required for Texas Rule of Evidence 503(b)(1)(C) to apply—all as further addressed above with respect to Lifespace. Lifespace recognizes and acknowledges this requirement in its briefing, but inexplicably opines that the requirement is met because this adversary proceeding began after the GrayRobinson Communications occurred, effectively rewriting the Rule by substituting the word "impending" for the word "pending," and flatly contrary to In re XL, Park Cities, and Benson, supra. Lifespace identifies no authority holding that later-commenced litigation serves to cloak pre-litigation communications in privilege and none exists.

[6] To be clear, some of the GrayRobinson Communications are solely between GrayRobinson attorneys and some or all of Jesse Jantzen, Nick Harshfield, and Eddie Fenoglio. Given the multiple roles those individuals played and Lifespace and Edgemere's refusal to distinguish between which of those individuals' communications were on behalf of which entity, Lifespace has failed to demonstrate that those individuals were communicating in their capacities as Edgemere Board members here.

That issue—the absence of pending litigation—is dispositive. But, even if it was not, Lifespace's other arguments are equally infirm. Lifespace first argues that the Court already has concluded that the "related companies" exception to waiver applies to all communications between Lifespace and Plaintiff. That is both false and irrelevant. False because the Court's referenced order includes no such holding, and irrelevant because the GrayRobinson Communications are not with Plaintiff.[7] What is more, Lifespace cites no Texas authority even for the existence of a "related companies" exception to waiver under Texas law, much less facts supporting that it applies here.

Lifespace relatedly argues that Edgemere and its board are one and the same for purposes of privilege. The opinions Lifespace cites in support of this proposition are distinguishable, though. Here, unlike in Lifespace's cited cases, GrayRobinson's engagement letter specifies that its client was only the Edgemere Board, and not Edgemere itself. As explained in Defendants' earlier brief, "GrayRobinson's engagement letter specifies that the firm was to serve 'as counsel to the Edgemere Board and not to [Edgemere].'" Applying Lifespace's rule—that a company and its board are always the same for privilege purposes, even if the board engages separate counsel—would foreclose board counsel from providing confidential advice to its board client without that advice being equally available to company officers.[8]

Lifespace's argument also fails because even if it was right—that is, even if the Edgemere board and Edgemere are the same for privilege purposes—the GrayRobinson Communications still would be due to be produced because the "weight of authority . . . holds that a dissolved or defunct corporation retains no privilege." S.E.C. v. Carrillo Huettel LLP, No. 13 CIV. 1735 GBD, 2015 WL 1610282, at *2 (S.D.N.Y. Apr. 8, 2015). Here, Edgemere dissolved upon the plan effective date.[9] So too, therefore, did the privilege.

Lifespace finally argues, equally weakly, that the interests of Edgemere and its Board were at all times aligned. Aside from being immaterial given the absence of a pending action, this argument also is unsupported. The Board sought to engage its own counsel specifically to manage its own distinct duties. What is more, the Board's duties no longer ran to Edgemere, but to the creditor body at large. Lifespace offers no facts to the contrary, or at least no meaningful ones. The only support offered is Nick Harshfield's conclusory and untested statement in his new declaration that "the interests of the board of directors of Edgemere have been consistently aligned with the interests of Lifespace, Edgemere, and the Plaintiff in this Adversary Proceeding." Such conclusory assertions are not enough to carry Lifespace's burden, as the (improper) entity asserting privilege, to prove application of the privilege.

[8] Such a rule would be wholly unworkable. Customary board functions include the selection and removal of key officers—like presidents and CEOs—and fixing their compensation. Under Lifespace's proposed rule, a board could not discuss those matters with its counsel without the very same officers about whom the advice pertains also having access to those communications.

[9] See Fourth Amended Plan, Bankr. Dkt. 1241, § 4.6 ("The Plan shall constitute a decree of dissolution with respect to each of the Debtors"); Notice of Effective Date, Bankr. Dkt. 1620 ("Therefore, June 13, 2023, is the Effective Date of the Plan").

The GrayRobinson Communications are not privileged. They are due to be produced.

IV. The GrayRobinson Communications are not protected work product.

As with the Lifespace Communications, Lifespace fails here to show that the GrayRobinson Communications are protected work product:

First, as identified above with respect to privilege, Lifespace has no standing to assert work product protection on behalf of GrayRobinson's client. Second, as identified above with respect to the Lifespace Communications, Lifespace omits to advance facts supporting the application of the protection. Third, as explained in Defendants' prior briefing and never refuted by Lifespace, the GrayRobinson Communications were freely available between and among Lifespace and Edgemere in addition to Edgemere's Board, even though Lifespace was a major creditor and future adversary at the time of the GrayRobinson Communications. In short, each of the GrayRobinson Communications was disclosed to at least a potential adversary, if not an actual one.

Any protection that may once have attached to the GrayRobinson Communications has been waived, Lifespace is not a proper party to assert the protection anyway, and the GrayRobinson Communications are due to be produced.

For the foregoing reasons, for those reasons set forth in Defendants' earlier briefing, and based on the additional facts that will be adduced during the January 12, 2024 evidentiary hearing, all claims of privilege or protection over the Lifespace Communications and the GrayRobinson Communications should be overruled, and those documents ordered to be produced immediately.

DALLAS, TEXAS - MAY 11, 2022 - 1:42 P.M.

THE COURT: All right. So we are here on the next matter, which is Case No. 22-30659. I have -- let me get my hands on the electronic roll. All right. I've got that. So I'm going to go ahead and take appearances in the courtroom.

MR. JOHNSON: Thank you, Your Honor. Jeremy Johnson from Polsinelli on behalf of the Debtors. With me is Trinitee Green, also from Polsinelli.

THE COURT: And I believe that Ms. Dolphin --

MR. JOHNSON: Oh, I apologize, Your Honor. I believe Brenna Dolphin is on the line.

THE COURT: Yes.

MR. JOHNSON: Yeah. She's on the virtual. Thank you.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much.

MR. ZAVALA: Good afternoon, Your Honor. Tom Zavala of Haynes and Boone on behalf of UMB Bank, the Trustee. And with me in the courtroom today are Daniel Bleck and Eric Blythe of the Mintz Levin firm, and they are both admitted pro hac vice.

THE COURT: Thank you very much.

MR. ZAVALA: Thank you.

MR. BLECK: Good afternoon, Your Honor.

MR. BLYTHE: Good afternoon, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Good afternoon. That was well-timed.

You've been working on that in the hall all day, I know.

Please.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Good afternoon, Your Honor. Elizabeth Vandesteeg of Levenfeld & Pearlstein, Chicago, on behalf of Intercity Investment Properties, Inc., the Debtors' landlord. Also with me in court today are my partners Harold Israel and Eileen Sethna. Also with us are our local and co-counsel at Jackson Walker, Mike Held.

THE COURT: Good afternoon, all of you.

MR. HELD: Good afternoon.

MR. MCCARTIN: Good afternoon, Your Honor. Steve McCartin with the firm of Foley. I also have Mark Moore and Tom Scannell with me. We've recently been retained as counsel for the Official Unsecured Creditors' Committee.

THE COURT: I saw that. Welcome.

MR. WILLIAMS: Good afternoon, Your Honor. Thank you for having us. Benton Williams on behalf of Andrew L. Adams, individually and as the executor of the Estate of Patricia Adams, as well as Pamela Siviglia, S-I-V-I-G-L-I-A.

Thank you.

THE COURT: Good afternoon. Is there anyone else in the courtroom who wishes to make an appearance?

(No response.)

THE COURT: All righty. Before I ask for appearances for those folks on the WebEx, I will go through the electronic roll call. I have on the line Ms. Susan Goodman, the Healthcare Ombudsman.

MS. GOODMAN: Good afternoon, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Good afternoon. Welcome to our Court. I also have, on behalf of the United States Trustee's Office, Ms. Meredyth Kippes.

MS. KIPPES: Good afternoon, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Good afternoon. All righty. On behalf of Brad Blumenthal, the Independent Executor of the Estate of Beverly Blumenthal, I have Mr. Mike Sutherland.

MR. SUTHERLAND: Here, Your Honor. Thank you.

THE COURT: Good afternoon. I think we've already announced for Ms. Brenna Dolphin on behalf of the Debtors with Polsinelli.

And finally I have, on behalf of Dallas County, Ms. Laurie Spindler.

MS. SPINDLER: Good afternoon, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Good afternoon. All righty. So, those are the folks that have signed in on the electronic roll call. Is there anyone else on WebEx who wishes to make an appearance today?

MS. RYAN: Yes. Good afternoon, Your Honor. This is Abigail Rushing Ryan with the Office of the Texas Attorney General, and I'm appearing on behalf of the Texas Department of Insurance. And with me today is another Assistant Attorney General, Roma Desai.

THE COURT: Good afternoon to both of you. Nice to see you again, Ms. Ryan. All right.

MS. RYAN: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Anyone else who wishes to make an appearance?

(No response.)

THE COURT: All righty. Okay. I have had an opportunity to take a look at the amended agenda. Let's see if I can put my hands on it. All right. So how would you like to proceed?

MS. GREEN: Good afternoon, Your Honor. Trinitee Green of Polsinelli. We would like to either go forward with the agenda and just dive into the Debtors' agenda, and then at the end we can address the motion to extend the answer deadline in the adversary, --

THE COURT: Correct.

MS. GREEN: -- unless Your Honor would like to hear that motion first.

THE COURT: No. We can dive right into the agenda. We'll see if everyone else wants to stay on for the adversary matter.

MS. GREEN: Excellent. Thank you.

THE COURT: Thank you.

MS. GREEN: Ms. Dolphin will address the first four items on the agenda.

THE COURT: Okay. Please. Ms. Dolphin?

MS. DOLPHIN: Good afternoon, Your Honor. May it please the Court. Brenna Dolphin on behalf of the Debtors and Debtors-in-Possession. Starting with Item 1 on the uncontested matters list, this is the taxes motion, Your Honor.

The Court entered an interim order granting this relief on April 20th. No objections to the Debtors' request for final relief were made. The Committee has signed off on this proposed form of final order, which we submitted to the Court in advance of today's hearing. And unless Your Honor has any additional comments or edits you'd like to see made, we would respectfully request that the Court enter the order approving the taxes motion on a final basis.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much, Ms. Dolphin. Is there anyone here who wishes to be heard with respect to the taxes motion?

MS. KIPPES: Your Honor, Meredyth Kippes on behalf of the United States Trustee. I have also reviewed this order and have no comments. Thank you.

THE COURT: Thank you very much, Ms. Kippes.

Well, for sake of the record, the Debtors did send ahead of the hearing redline orders or redline versions of each of the proposed forms of order today, so I did have an opportunity to review all of those prior to the hearing.

And with respect to the taxes motion and the final version of the taxes order, I was able to review that ahead of the hearing. It seems like the only let's just say substantive change was that the $1,000 cap has been raised a little bit to a $5,000 cap. And based upon the Committee and the UST's approval and the lack of objection, the Court is prepared to sign the final form of order.

MS. DOLPHIN: Thank you, Your Honor.

On the second item of the afternoon agenda, the utilities motion, similarly, the Court approved this application for relief on an interim basis on April 19th. The Debtors have not received any objection to the request for this relief to be entered on a final basis. The Committee has approved of this form of order. And we submitted the form of order to the Court for its review in advance of this afternoon's hearing. And unless Your Honor has additional comments or questions, we would also respectfully request this order be entered.

THE COURT: Thank you very much. Is there anyone who wishes to be heard with respect to the utilities order?

MS. KIPPES: Your Honor, Meredyth Kippes on behalf of the United States Trustee. I've also reviewed this order and have no additional comments.

THE COURT: Thank you very much, Ms. Kippes.

So, with respect to the utilities order, I did review the utilities order ahead of time. And the only question that I had was, it was not a completely substantive one, but it was with respect to notice. And in Paragraph 4, it said that the Debtors would provide notice, and it says to the Debtors' 30 Largest Unsecured Creditors. My only question was, given that we now have an Unsecured Creditors' Committee, if you wanted to put the Committee in the stead of the creditors there.

Other than that, the Court is prepared to grant the relief requested in the final form of order and sign that.

MS. DOLPHIN: Yes, Your Honor. Thank you. We will make that edit and submit it to the Court.

THE COURT: Thank you very much.

MS. DOLPHIN: Appreciate that feedback.

Item 3 on the agenda, Your Honor, is the insurance motion. On April 19th, the Court approved this request for relief on an interim basis. The Debtors have not received any objection to the insurance motion. The Committee and the United States Trustee's Office have each approved of this form of order. And unless the Court has any remarks or comments for us, we would respectfully request the Court approve the insurance motion on a final basis.

THE COURT: Thank you, Ms. Dolphin. Does anyone wish to be heard with respect to the insurance order?

(No response.)

THE COURT: Okay. Hearing no further comments, the Court did review the final version of the insurance order prior to the hearing, and the Court has no questions or changes, and I'm prepared to sign that.

MS. DOLPHIN: Thank you, Your Honor.

Item 4 is the escrow motion. On April 20th, the Court entered interim relief approving the escrow motion that the Debtors filed. Today we would request the Court approve a second interim order authorizing the continued escrowing of entrance fees.

We submitted this form of order in advance of the hearing. This order is designed to preserve the status quo until the May 26th hearing date. The key revisions to the form of order were made to Paragraph 2, where we took the 21-day period and extended it out 42 days to the next hearing date, May 26th. And then in Paragraph 3, Your Honor, not only has the date for the final hearing been changed, but the objection deadline has been extended up until seven days prior to the May 26th hearing date.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you. Thank you very much.

MS. DOLPHIN: Uh-huh.

THE COURT: Is there anyone who wishes to be heard with respect to escrow?

MS. KIPPES: Your Honor, Meredyth Kippes on behalf of the United States Trustee. The United States Trustee does not object to entry of a second interim.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much. And I also understood from correspondence with Ms. Harden that the lone objector, which I believe is Mr. Sutherland's client, Mr. Blumenthal, has agreed to this form of order, correct?

MS. DOLPHIN: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. DOLPHIN: Mr. Sutherland gave us approval, or signed off, excuse me, on this form of order.

MR. SUTHERLAND: Yes, that's correct, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much. All righty. I have had an opportunity to review the form of order. Again, this is just kind of catching up with where we are. In the notice paragraph at Paragraph 3, maybe before entry if you could slip the Committee counsel into Section F, the Court is prepared to sign off on the escrow motion.

And only just a little point for future agenda, I believe that the, again, the one objection from Mr. Blumenthal was left off of the agenda. So let's just get those on there in the future.

MS. DOLPHIN: Yes, absolutely.

THE COURT: And, again, I appreciate that. I certainly appreciate you running the orders through the course and getting everyone's sign-off before sending those to the Court in a redline fashion. So I appreciate that. Thank you.

So the Court is prepared to grant the escrow motion on a further interim basis.

MS. DOLPHIN: Thank you, Your Honor. And that is all the news that's fit to print from me. I will pass the actual podium back to my beloved colleagues who are in Your Honor's presence.

THE COURT: Thank you very much. It was nice to see you again, Ms. Dolphin.

MS. GREEN: Thank you, Brenna.

Item No. 5 is the cash management motion. On April 19th, the Court entered the interim order approving the motion. It's supported by the first day declaration of Mr. Harshfield at Docket No. 9, which I would move to admit into evidence at this time.

The Debtors are requesting entry of a second interim order in the form that was provided to the Court before the hearing. This form of order, similar to the escrow, maintains the status quo to get us through to a final hearing.

The Committee requested this time so they could get up to speed and comfortable with the intercompany transactions that take place.

No objections, formal or informal, are pending with respect to the cash management motion. The Committee and the United States Trustee have both signed off on the form of cash management order.

So, unless the Court has questions or comments, I would request that the motion -- the second interim order on the cash management motion be entered.

THE COURT: All right. Thank you very much, Ms. Green.

Is there anyone who has an objection to the admission of the declaration of -- it just flew out of my head -- Mr. Harshfield? Am I making that up?

MS. GREEN: You're correct.

THE COURT: Yay. Does anyone have any objection to the admission of the declaration of Mr. Harshfield in support of the cash management motion?

(No response.)

THE COURT: All right. Hearing no objections, the Court -- and I understand that the form of interim order has been signed off by the United States Trustee's Office and the Committee?

MS. GREEN: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All righty. The Court had an opportunity to review the redline prior to the hearing. And similar to I believe it was maybe the escrow motion, in Paragraph 2, Section F, counsel to the Committee has not been fleshed out yet. So if you'll do that before upload, the Court is prepared to grant the form of interim order.

MS. GREEN: Excellent. Thank you. We will do that.

Item No. 6, Your Honor, is the wages motion. The Court entered an interim order approving this motion at Docket No. 20. Today we're requesting final approval of the wages motion. And in support of the motion, the Debtors have filed the declaration -- and offer into evidence not only the declaration of Mr. Harshfield at Docket No. 7 but the declaration of Mr. Harshfield at Docket No. 178.

The Court will recall that the interim order carved out and reserved the request for approval of the sales and incentive program for a final hearing, subject to evidence being offered pursuant to Section 503(c)(3). The Debtors submit that, to the extent 503(c)(3) is applicable, that the requirements have been satisfied.

I will also quickly remind the Court that the Debtors' wages motion requests authority to pay prepetition commissions below the statutory cap --

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MS. GREEN: -- and further requests authority to continue the program, which existed prepetition. And as it stands, only one employee is owed commissions, in less than $5,000.

So, at this time, if I may, I will present Mr. Harshfield as the Debtors' fact witness and submit his testimony via declaration. And then if anyone does intend to cross, I will reserve questions for redirect, of course.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much, Ms. Green.

And would you like to -- are you seeking admission of the declaration as filed or would you like to proffer it and read it into evidence now?

MS. GREEN: Your Honor, I would seek to admit it as filed.

THE COURT: All right. Does anyone have any objection to the admission of both the first day declaration and the declaration of Mr. Nick Harshfield in support of the wages motion?

MS. KIPPES: No objection, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much. And given that he is in the court and with respect to the wages motion, Mr. Harshfield, if you could stand for me.

MS. GREEN: Mr. Harshfield is actually with us via WebEx.

THE COURT: Excellent. I'm sorry. If you could say, "Testing, testing" for me, Mr. Harshfield.

MR. HARSHFIELD: Testing, testing.

THE COURT: All righty. If you could raise your right hand for me.

(The witness is sworn.)

THE COURT: All righty. Thank you very much. And were you able to review the declarations that were filed by your counsel and filed on the record?

THE WITNESS: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. And those have been proffered today. Do you have any changes or anything to add to that declaration or proffer?

THE WITNESS: I do not, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much.

Is there anyone in the courtroom that wishes to cross-examine Mr. Harshfield with respect to the wages motion?

(No response.)

THE COURT: All right. Anyone on WebEx?

(No response.)

THE COURT: All right. Well, thank you, Mr. Harshfield, for your willingness to testify today in connection with the wages motion.

(The witness steps down.)

THE COURT: Is there anyone who wishes to be heard today at all with respect to the wages motion?

MS. KIPPES: Your Honor, Meredyth Kippes on behalf of the United States Trustee.

The United States Trustee asked the Debtors to delay approval of the incentive plan until the second days and to put on a record consistent with Section 503(c)(3) with regard to the incentive plan. As you just heard, I had no cross of Mr. Harshfield and feel that the -- and I have had an opportunity to review his declaration and feel that the declaration has satisfied our concerns, and we're happy to hear the Court rule. Thank you.

THE COURT: Thank you very much, Ms. Kippes. I did recall that the issue of the sales incentive program had been pushed to the second day at your request. And so now I understand that both the Committee and the UST are signed off on this form of order?

MS. GREEN: Yes. And for the record, we did circulate a revised form of order this morning that included language with respect to Section 503(c)(3) at the request of the United States Trustee. And the Committee has confirmed that they're on board with the last-circulated revised form of order.

THE COURT: Excellent. Well, the version that I have has a Paragraph 3 that says to the extent that the Bankruptcy Code 503(c)(3) applies to the Debtors' sales incentive program, it's appropriate and justified under the facts and circumstances of the Chapter 11 cases and authorized in accordance with Section 503(c) of the Bankruptcy Code.

MS. GREEN: That's correct.

THE COURT: All righty. All right. Based upon the record before the Court and the lack of objection by both the United States Trustee and the Unsecured Creditors' Committee, and based upon the first day record as well, the Court is prepared to grant the wages order on a final basis.

MS. GREEN: Thank you, Your Honor. And this is a little out of order, so my apologies.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MS. GREEN: But I'd like to move to admit all exhibits. I don't believe -- I don't believe that I previously did so. So we can take that up now, or at the end, as you prefer, but we would like to get our exhibits admitted into evidence.

THE COURT: All righty. Let's do it now, as it might apply to, I assume -- because I recall there being some insurance exhibits and things of that nature. So, all right. In the witness and exhibit book that I have, I believe you have 17 exhibits.

MS. GREEN: Your Honor, since the delivery of the witness and exhibit list binder, we did add additional exhibits. And those exhibits are the proposed second interim order and budget at Docket No. 192 and the declaration -- the second amended declaration of Mr. Johnson at Docket No. 189.

THE COURT: Okay. I did have an opportunity to review the second amended declaration of Mr. Johnson, and I know that goes to the employment applications, and so we'll get to those. I haven't had an opportunity to review the Docket 192. Do you have the new form of budget with you?

MS. GREEN: I do, Your Honor, --

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. GREEN: -- in paper copy.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. GREEN: Obviously.

THE COURT: Do you have one for me?

MS. GREEN: Yes.

THE COURT: Excellent. You may approach. Thank you.

MS. GREEN: Your Honor, also since the delivery of the exhibit that you're holding your hand, we've made additional changes. In fact, certain changes have been made just right before the hearing, --

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. GREEN: -- at the request of the Landlord's counsel. So this morning I circulated -- or, excuse me, strike that. Yesterday, I circulated an updated form of order that addressed certain deadlines, and then this morning we've further changed those deadlines.

THE COURT: Okay. Well, when we get to the DIP motion, we'll cover those. I noticed there were some additional deadlines added to the last three paragraphs, I believe, of the DIP motion. I saw that in the redline. So we'll see if those have changed further.

But let's take a step back. Is there anyone who has an objection to the admission of the Debtors' exhibits? Let's start with the Debtors' Exhibits 1 through 17, which were part of the Debtors' amended witness and exhibit list filed at Docket 181. Any objections?

(No response.)

THE COURT: All righty. Hearing no objections, 1 through 17, as listed in Docket 181, are hereby admitted.

(Debtors' Exhibits 1 through 17 are received into evidence.)

THE COURT: And now with respect to the final two exhibits, one which is Docket 189, the second amended declaration of Mr. Johnson, any objection to the admission of that declaration?

(No response.)

THE COURT: Okay. That exhibit is also admitted.

(Second Amended Declaration of Jeremy Johnson, Docket 189, is received into evidence.)

THE COURT: And Docket 192, which is the -- which is a more recent form of further interim order on the DIP and attaching a new DIP budget to the second interim period, does anyone have any objection to the admission of that exhibit?

(No response.)

THE COURT: All right. Hearing none, all are admitted.

(Docket 192 received into evidence as Debtors' exhibit.)

MS. GREEN: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Thank you.

MS. GREEN: Mr. Johnson will take the rest of the items on the agenda.

THE COURT: Everything going pretty smoothly, Mr. Johnson.

MR. JOHNSON: Well, knock on wood, Your Honor. So, thank you, Your Honor. First time live in court since this courtroom in March 5th of 2020, so it's good to be back.

THE COURT: Welcome.

MR. JOHNSON: Your Honor, we have, I think, three matters remaining on the Chapter 11 docket, not including the adversary proceeding. So I can take, Your Honor, initially, the application to retain Polsinelli.

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. JOHNSON: Your Honor, we did solicit informal comments of the U.S. Trustee that resulted in declarations.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. JOHNSON: We filed amended declarations consistent with the limited objection filed by the Landlord.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. JOHNSON: After filing the second amended declaration last night, the U.S. Trustee requested that we put on the record -- there is a guaranty, Your Honor, that was sort of -- it's been discussed in the limited objection, the guaranty by Lifespace of legal fees up to a certain amount. Your Honor, we've agreed that we're just going to eliminate that guaranty.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. JOHNSON: So, just eliminate the issue entirely. It was -- it's got a long backstory as to why it was there. We were substituting in as counsel. There was no DIP in place or anything like that. There was substantial uncertainty. So it seemed like a good idea at the time, and we always like guaranties of our fees, if we can get them. But, again, the concept behind it was that it would burn off as fees were paid. And so we have a DIP in place, Your Honor. We expect it to burn off anyway. So we've agreed to take that out.

And I believe that that has resolved all the issues from the Office of the U.S. Trustee and from the Landlord, Your Honor. We got confirmation of that just before -- just this morning, but I can let them speak to that.

But there are no other pending objections or issues. Unless Your Honor has any questions with our retention application, we'd ask that it be entered, the order be entered.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much, Mr. Johnson.

Is there anyone who wishes to be heard, we'll start with with respect to the Polsinelli employment application?

MR. ISRAEL: Good afternoon, Your Honor. Harold Israel on behalf of the Landlord. Mr. Johnson is correct. The issues raised in our objection have been resolved with respect to both Polsinelli and FTI, to save myself a trip up.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you so much.

MR. ISRAEL: Thank you.

THE COURT: Appreciate that, Mr. Israel.

MS. KIPPES: Your Honor, Meredyth Kippes on behalf the United States Trustee. Just confirming everything that Mr. Johnson said. And we appreciate, as always, his firm's cooperation with the Office of the United States Trustee on this matter. Thank you.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much.

Okay. So, with respect to the Polsinelli retention application, prior to the hearing the Court did have an opportunity to read both the application and the objections that were filed, as well as the declarations that were filed, essentially, the further disclosures in response to the objections. And the Court is prepared to approve the retention of the Polsinelli firm on behalf of the Debtors.

In terms of the form of order, I did have an opportunity to look at that as well. My only comment was cosmetic in that the style, I don't think, has the jointly administered caption. That's it.

MR. JOHNSON: We'll make that change, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right.

MR. JOHNSON: Thank you very much.

THE COURT: Other than that, the application is granted.

MR. JOHNSON: Thank you, Your Honor.

The next item I'd like to take up, Your Honor, is the application to retain FTI.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. JOHNSON: Your Honor, I think you heard from before, you know, we have resolved the issue with the Landlord with respect to some additional disclosures that were provided, and the reply that was filed I think resolved those issues.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. JOHNSON: I don't think there are any pending issues with FTI. We have Chad Shandler, Your Honor, he is on WebEx, --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. JOHNSON: -- from FTI. He was the declarant in support of this application. And Your Honor, unless Your Honor has any questions or issues that you'd like to have heard or would like to be discussed, we'd request that the Court approve FTI's application to be retained.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much, Mr. Johnson.

Is there anyone who wishes to be heard with respect to the FTI application?

(No response.)

THE COURT: All righty. Again, I had an opportunity --

MS. KIPPES: Oh, sorry, Your Honor. Your Honor?

THE COURT: Please.

MS. KIPPES: Meredyth -- forgive me. I had a technical problem with the unmute button. Meredyth Kippes on behalf of the United States Trustee.

We did give comments to FTI regarding their employment application. They made additional disclosures at our request, and also made some changes to the form of order at our request. And based upon those, we have no further comments or questions. And, again, we appreciate FTI's cooperation with our office. Thank you.

THE COURT: Thank you very much, Ms. Kippes.

All right. Anyone else who wishes to be heard?

(No response.)

THE COURT: Okay. With respect to the FTI application, I did have an opportunity to review the application and the objections, and I noticed Ms. Kippes' handiwork in the form of order. I don't have any issues with any of that.

I do have one comment. Well, one, again, just housekeeping comment is this order as well, the retention orders probably both need the jointly administered caption. And also in this order, and this is an issue I do believe I also raised with respect to the claims agent: In the indemnification provisions, I am prepared to sign off on the indemnification provisions with one caveat. In Section C, it says, before the earlier of either confirmation or an entry of the order closing the cases, yada, yada, yada, it comes back to the Bankruptcy Court. I'm not sure if the general would overrule the specific in Section 7. However, what I would like this to read is if, prior to the entry of an order closing the cases, FTI believes it's entitled to payment of any amounts on indemnification, you come back to the Bankruptcy Court.

So, essentially, it would -- I would ask for the deletion of (i) in Section 5(c).

MR. JOHNSON: Thank you, Your Honor. We'll make those changes --

THE COURT: All right.

MR. JOHNSON: -- and submit a revised order. Thank you.

THE COURT: Mr. Shandler, do you wish to be heard with respect to the order?

MR. SHANDLER: Thank you, Your Honor. No, that's absolutely fine and agreeable to us.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much. All right. So with that one, you know, tiny change, along with the Court's one substantive change, I'm prepared to sign the form of order that was provided to the Court.

MR. JOHNSON: Thank you, Your Honor.

With that, Your Honor, I think the last issue, which I don't think is too controversial, but we'll find out, is the DIP that's teed up for today, Your Honor.

This is a motion for a second interim order. As Your Honor will recall, the first interim order only lasted through this week. We do need this order extended to get us through to the May 26th hearing, which is intended to be the final hearing on the DIP.

Your Honor, we have circulated in advance prior to the hearing a revised form of order. We've taken comments. We've made changes. I would say, Your Honor, there weren't too many material changes. There were some delineations or further detail regarding the objection deadline. Specifically at the request of the Landlord, Your Honor, we have agreed that the final order and the final budget would be filed -- the proposed final order and proposed final budget will be filed no later than on or before May 17th, Your Honor. And then we have extended the objection deadline of IC -- of the Landlord, Your Honor, to May 20th at 4:00 p.m., Your Honor. And then the standard deadlines apply. There's a recitation in there regarding witness and exhibit lists that complies with the Local Rules and doing it three days in advance.

Your Honor, the -- we have submitted a second interim DIP budget that provides for the DIP, for the usage of the cash DIP and cash collateral budget through the end -- for the week ending May 29, 2022.

Your Honor, the new budget that was submitted does not contemplate any additional borrowing, Your Honor. The original of the first interim order, we had budgeted up to $1.3 million in borrowing. We only borrowed $1 million. And we don't anticipate requiring any more borrowing during the second interim period, so we're not asking for any additional authority. We still maintain the authority up to $2 million should something happen that we need to get that taken care of, but there is no contemplation of payments of any entrance fee refunds in this budget, Your Honor, any professional fees, or anything else, really, during this interim period. It's just meant to keep the status quo.

Your Honor, I don't believe there are any objections to the form of order. I think those have all been resolved by all parties. But of course we're happy to take any questions you may have with respect to the order or deal with anything else that comes along.

Mr. Shandler is available to testify regarding the budget if necessary, if there are questions regarding this second interim budget.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much, Mr. Johnson.

Is there anyone who wishes to be heard with respect to the DIP?

MS. SPINDLER: Yes, Your Honor. This is Laurie Spindler on behalf of Dallas County. And I filed an objection to the interim cash collateral and DIP order. I was not included in the circulation of the order that was uploaded to the Court until yesterday evening Mr. Murphy sent it to me. So my objection had not been addressed.

I would like to preface my objection with this: My compliments to the drafter. I don't know who drafted this order, but I found it to be very easy to read. I have read probably -- well, it doesn't matter, right -- tens of thousands of pages of orders, and this one was very easy to understand and follow. Every -- I had -- I only had to look up one definition that was defined in the loan documents, and everything was going along great until I got to Paragraph 36. And Paragraph 36 gave me pause because it elevates unsecured administrative expense claims over the claims and liens of the DIP Lender and Trustee. I'm totally great with that. And then we get to 'and all other parties.' And suddenly Dallas County, who has retained any of its state law rights and senior lien position, such as it is, is suddenly subordinated to U.S. Trustee's fees and attorneys' fees, et cetera.

So that was my lone quibble with this. And then my usual request, please include me in the default notice, which I ask for all the time, and so far, knock on wood, haven't needed it. And hope that's the case in this situation.

I will say that my phone calls have been returned, but we've been playing phone tag. And to say that the attorneys on this case are drinking from a firehose is an absolute understatement. I understand there were a plethora of issues to be dealt with, and it's not like I came down to the courthouse to talk to anyone for the hearing, either. So I think there has been an attempt made, but we just kept missing each other.

THE COURT: Thank you very much, Ms. Spindler. I've never heard a DIP order lauded ever. By anyone.

MR. BLECK: This is Daniel Bleck. I have to stand up and give all credit to Mr. Blythe.

THE COURT: Excellent. Excellent. Well, I always appreciate that. And as a practitioner, I never took credit for anything. There was always someone that had more input into it.

So, let's talk about the Dallas County, the substantive claims.

MR. BLECK: Yes, Your Honor. This really pertains to the carve-out and the other parties that have the benefit of the carve-out. What I would suggest to the Court is if we could potentially maintain the status quo of Dallas County for today's interim hearing, --

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. BLECK: -- and then when we get to the final hearing see if we can come up with language relative to resolving this issue.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. BLECK: Because, once again, I would call this a bridge order where we're trying to maintain the status quo for everybody. So if we could put some language saying 'any other parties, subject to determination at the final hearing,' I think that would resolve the issue, I'm hoping that would resolve the issue for at least today, and see then if can go to the final hearing and come up with some language that makes sense for everybody.

THE COURT: Ms. Spindler?

MS. SPINDLER: I'm fine with that, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. BLECK: Thank you.

THE COURT: All righty. And again, with respect to the default termination, if you decide just to put them -- Dallas County in for that particular -- I mean, if you want to reserve everything for the final, --

MR. BLECK: Yeah.

THE COURT: -- that's fine, but if that one is one that's easier than the other.

MR. BLECK: Yeah. And that's fine. I can't imagine we're going to have a default termination in the next two weeks, practically speaking.

THE COURT: One would hope.

MR. BLECK: One other thing I would like to point out, Your Honor. We have circulated a form of final order except to Dallas County's attorney, and we'll get that form of final order to that attorney as well. We circulated that on May 2nd. Obviously, we're trying to collect any comments so we can avoid as many objections at the final hearing, and we'll continue to try to work with the parties so we can avoid any unnecessary objections at the final hearing.

THE COURT: And tell me, have we pushed the adequate protection issue to be heard essentially contemporaneously with the final DIP?

MR. BLECK: If it's the adequate protection with respect to the Landlord claim, --

THE COURT: The Landlord?

MR. BLECK: -- that's exactly correct.

THE COURT: Okay. Okay.

MR. BLECK: We're scheduled for May 26th on both of those.

THE COURT: Okay. That makes sense. Okay.

MR. BLECK: Okay.

THE COURT: All righty. And I find Ms. Spindler to be eminently reasonable. I think you'll be able to get a deal with her.

MR. BLECK: Well, given the fact that she's complimented the order, I find the same.

THE COURT: Excellent.

MR. BLECK: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All righty.

MS. GOODMAN: Your Honor?

THE COURT: Yes?

MS. GOODMAN: Your Honor, this is Susan Goodman, the Healthcare Ombudsman. I'd like to just appear and make a record, observing that while I'm very appreciative to Debtors' counsel and to Mr. Shandler, I think they've done a great job of reaching out to me -- Mr. Shandler has previous experience with me -- in terms of accurately budgeting what I expect to engage in this role, I just wanted to make an observation that the difference between the carve-out and the budget is substantial and just want to reserve the right to review that and, you know, file an objection to any form of final relief. Hopefully that would be something I can do by myself, but I do, you know, remark to the Court that I'm a healthcare attorney, I'm not a bankruptcy counsel. My hope is that I can engage in this role unrepresented by bankruptcy counsel. But there is quite a difference between the carve-out and the budget.

Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Well, thank you. Thank you very much. Actually, you've hit upon one of the issues that I had with the form of order. So I think that we'll probably -- one of the questions that the Court had was with respect to the carve-out and with respect to professionals, whether you intended to retain counsel. And as I hear you today, your full decision isn't made on whether or not you'll need to retain counsel?

MS. GOODMAN: Your Honor, that's correct. Ideally, I think, appearing in this role unrepresented by counsel would be the goal, to keep costs down. But, again, I recognize I'm not bankruptcy counsel. There's big discussions that need to occur relative to that gap between the budget and the carve-out. That is something I want to reserve the right to put a motion before the Court to retain counsel. Otherwise, my hope would be, as I do most of the time almost exclusively, my hope would be we could resolve whatever that gap is and I could continue to appear on my own behalf.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much. The one -- and, again, obviously, to keep costs down, and obviously at your discretion, if you choose not to seek separate counsel, that would be fine.

The one question and the one issue that I can see, because I've actually seen this occur in other cases, is that if the reports are to be filed on the docket, you'd have to have ECF privileges. And sometimes I've seen counsel retained almost only to make the filings of the reports and to file the final fee application.

So it's something to consider. I don't think we have to make that decision today. And it's something that we might even be able to consider a little ways down the road. It might be something that the Debtors can help you with. But it's something to think through and maybe even have a conversation with Ms. Kippes about, of whether or not counsel would be needed.

MS. GOODMAN: Your Honor, if I may.

THE COURT: Please.

MS. GOODMAN: I have a Texas bar license --

THE COURT: Oh.

MS. GOODMAN: -- and am admitted in the Northern District. So I appear almost exclusively by myself in the Northern District. I think, really, counsel wouldn't be for those sort of pragmatic filing reasons. It would just be more relative to advancing my interests relative to bankruptcy-type questions versus the clinical things that I focus on in the execution of my role.

Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Oh, excellent. Thank you.

All righty. So obviously we'll reserve for the final hearing any issues with respect to the budget and the carve-out as it relates to the Ombudsman.

Okay. Is there anyone else who wishes to be heard? Mr. Israel?

MR. ISRAEL: Yes. Thank you, Your Honor. Again,

Harold Israel, for the record, on behalf of Intercity as the Landlord.

With respect to the order, I appreciate the Debtors and the Lender accommodating our comments. My colleagues reminded me that there were two comments that were not made, so apologies to both. And we're hoping that they are not controversial.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. ISRAEL: The first is that if there's any deadline that gets missed -- that, for example, the budget is not filed by May 17th -- then our objection deadline would be continued kind of pro rata for every single day. So, if they file it on the 18th, we'd have until the 21st to file our objection.

THE COURT: Okay. I think that's reasonable. It was a comment and a concern of mine, Mr. Johnson, is that, you know, the Court was -- and it's fine to work it in in here into essentially an Ordered paragraph. But with respect to DIP orders, I do like to see the budget a few days ahead of a hearing. So I'd appreciate that. And in any event, even for the Court's perspective. So thank you.

MR. ISRAEL: Okay. Thank you, Your Honor. And the one other thing is we had -- we had made a request to the Debtor for supporting documentation in connection with a final budget, and we just ask that the provision of the order -- I believe it's Paragraph 48 -- be amended to include when they provide the budget that they provide the supporting documentation to the Landlord as well so we have a basis for analyzing the budget.

THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Johnson?

MR. JOHNSON: Your Honor, I don't know that I have an objection in principle to that idea. Obviously, we'd want it to be a reasonable request. We'd want to make sure that, you know, if we can sort of -- I wasn't aware that a request had been made for --

MR. ISRAEL: Oh.

MR. JOHNSON: -- for information, but if it has, I'd like to see it and make sure we can do it. I mean, obviously, I don't want to turn over, you know, the world of things as we're about to go embark on discovery somewhere else. But a reasonable, you know, reasonably necessary or supported, happy to do that. So, --

MR. ISRAEL: Okay. I believe the request was made, but we will -- we will re-forward it to you in case it got lost in the mountain of emails.

MR. JOHNSON: May have. May have. But we can -- and we can make that accommodation on the objection deadline as well. That's not the intention, Your Honor. We'll meet that 17th deadline, but just in case.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much, Mr. Johnson.

MR. ISRAEL: Okay. And Your Honor, we would like to I guess cross-examine Mr. Shandler on the budget. We have a series of questions comparing kind of the first budget to the second budget, if that is --

THE COURT: For today? Okay.

MR. ISRAEL: For today. Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Excellent. All right. So let me confirm one thing.

MR. SHANDLER: Your Honor, just as a technical point, I don't know if there's a problem with the camera regarding the podium, --

THE COURT: There is a problem, and we're going to see if we can get that fixed before we start the testimony.

With respect to -- okay. Let me do this, because I'm receiving some information from my staff as to what the issues are. So let me do this. It is 2:30, and why don't we stand in recess until 2:45. Because we're, again, we're having some issues with the mics and the cameras, and I'd like to get those fixed so that you and Mr. Shandler can have a reasonable interchange.

MR. ISRAEL: Thank you.

THE COURT: Okay. All right.

MR. ISRAEL: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE CLERK: All rise.

(A recess ensued from 2:29 p.m. until 2:45 p.m.)

THE COURT: You may be seated. All righty, ladies and gentlemen. We're going to go back on the record in Case No. 22-30659, Northwest Senior Housing Corporation.

When we last broke, we were having a little bit of technical difficulties, and I certainly apologize for those. But I understand they have been remedied, which is good news. We were in the process of calling Mr. Shandler to the stand in connection with testimony on the DIP budget. And I believe that where I was is I wanted to remind the parties that we had, as part of the admission of exhibits, admitted the declaration of -- oh, wait, I stand corrected. The declaration that was admitted by Mr. Shandler was only with respect to his --

MR. ISRAEL: Retention.

THE COURT: -- his retention. So I stand corrected.

And so, with that, Mr. Shandler, if you could raise your right hand for me.

(The witness is sworn.)

THE COURT: All right. Mr. Israel, please proceed.

MR. ISRAEL: Thank you. Before I proceed, Your Honor, I just want to clear up something from just prior. I think Mr. Johnson had a chance to review his emails during the break and found the email that we were talking about. And my understanding is that the order will be revised to reflect that the documents will be sent on the 17th. Is that correct,

Mr. Johnson?

MR. JOHNSON: That's correct, Your Honor. I think -- I need to review the email and make sure that we're okay handing over everything that's being asked. But subject to that review, you know, we can -- we can agree to provide the supporting documentation that we're willing to provide by that timeline.

So, if there's a dispute, I'm sure you'll hear about it, so --

THE COURT: I'll be the judge of that. I'm sorry.

MR. ISRAEL: You always wanted to use that line, right?

THE COURT: I'm sorry. I am full of bad puns. All righty.

MR. ISRAEL: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. ISRAEL: And since we do not have a declaration of Mr. Shandler, we'll start out with a little preliminaries before talking about the budget.

CHAD SHANDLER, DEBTORS' WITNESS, SWORN

CROSS-EXAMINATION

BY MR. ISRAEL:

Q Good afternoon, Mr. Shandler. How are you today?

A Good. How are you?

Q Good, thank you. You are a senior managing director of FTI, correct?

A I am.

Q And how long have you been at FTI?

A Since September of 2018.

Q And were you at any restructuring firms prior to FTI?

A Yes.

Q Which one? Or ones?

A I was at the accounting and consulting firm of CohnReznick, and prior to that I was at a firm called Traxi, LLC, and prior to that I was at (audio gap), LLP.

Q Okay. And so how many years have you been in the restructuring industry, more or less?

A Twenty-nine.

Q Wow. Okay. And you're also a certified public accountant, correct?

A I am.

Q Did you ever work in public accounting?

A I did.

Q For which firm?

A Arthur Anderson.

Q And for how long?

A I was at Arthur Anderson for a total of almost nine years, of which the first two I'd spent in -- actually doing audits and public accounting. As well as restructuring.

Q Thank you. When did you first learn about the Edgemere?

A I think, within the profession, I've known about it for some time, just because I do follow senior living and senior housing in general. But I first became aware of it in December of 2019. December/November 2019, give or take.

Q And how did you become familiar with it in that time frame?

A I received a phone call from Jesse Jantzen, the CEO of Lifespace.

Q Okay. And was he seeking to interview you to be a financial advisor, or just --

A Yes, he -- he had reached out to me to provide -- it was an initial discussion, and then asked me to prepare a statement of qualifications to be interviewed as the Edgemere's financial advisor.

Q Okay. Do you know if Mr. Jantzen was reaching out to you in his capacity as an officer of Edgemere or an officer of Lifespace?

A I don't know.

Q Okay. You're familiar with Lifespace?

A I am.

Q Okay. When were you engaged first by the Edgemere?

A My engagement was not directly through the Edgemere. It was through the Edgemere's counsel. At the time, frankly, it was DLA Piper. And I believe that was February of 2021.

Q Okay. And did you do work between December 2019 and February 2021?

A Let me correct that. I think it was actually December, November/December of 2020, not '19.

Q Okay.

A That was my pandemic brain, if you will.

Q Understood.

A No, I had not.

Q Okay. So the FTI team started in February of '21; is that right?

A That's correct.

Q And what was the nature or scope of that engagement?

A To perform an analysis of the Edgemere in terms of its operations and cash flow, to determine whether or not there are improvements that could be made to the operations of the company, and to prepare cash flow forecasts and operating projections.

Q And were you on site?

A Because of the pandemic, we were not.

Q Okay. Did you spend -- how did you go about preparing that analysis? Did you --

A Well, as I stated, because of the pandemic and because it is -- being a healthcare institution, during that period of time, and for a lot of the time since, there were restrictions on nonessential people being involved or being on site at a healthcare -- at a healthcare location. So most of it was done either through virtual site visits, virtual interviews of the staff at the Edgemere, as well as interviews of certain Lifespace key personnel from a regional as well as an operational and plant basis. All information requests would have gone through Lifespace management as the manager of the Edgemere. We do have a relatively detailed information request list which they had responded to.

Q And you feel like you got all the information you needed to provide the advice that you were being asked to provide?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And there weren't any other financial advisors for the Edgemere, right? You were the only one?

A As far as I'm aware of.

Q Okay. So you -- during the period since February 2021, the last 15 months, you've become intimately familiar with the Debtors' operations, correct?

A Yes.

Q Have you reviewed the public filings, including the EMMA reports?

A Yes.

Q So, through that investigation, you became familiar with the Debtors' cash needs, correct?

A Yes.

Q And you've worked with other CCRCs in past, correct?

A I have.

Q How many?
A Over the course of the last 16 years, I would probably stay close to 60 or 70 CCRCs, as well as other types of properties within the senior living spectrum, but heavily within the subject CCRC area.
Q So, working for those 60 or 70 CCRCs, you -- would you describe yourself as very experienced in analyzing the cash needs of CCRCs?|
A I would.
Q Okay. Have you worked with any other CCRCs owned by Lifespace or any of its affiliates?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Which ones?
A We are the financial advisors to the CCRC known as the Stayton in Fort Worth, Texas. And as a firm we have provided human resource due diligence to Lifespace in its acquisition of its Newcastle CCRC.
Q Okay. Of the 60 or 70 CCRCs you worked with, how many of them would you describe as financially distressed?
A Given the role that I'm asked to play, they would all be in some level of operational or financial distress.
Q Okay. So you have extensive experience preparing budgets for distressed CCRCs?
A Yes.
Q And you're familiar with the budget attached to the first interim financing order in this case?

A Yes, I am.

Q And you prepared that budget, correct?

A Correct.

Q And you prepared it -- you also prepared the second budget, the proposed budget that will be attached to the second interim order, assuming that that order gets entered?

A Correct.

Q When did you start preparing the budgets for these bankruptcy cases?

A I would say probably by the end of February, beginning of March of 2022.

Q Okay. And were those budgets prepared based on FTI's own analysis?

A Yes. With input from management, but yes.

Q Okay. Whom from management?

A Jesse Jantzen. Nick Harshfield. Heidi Leavengood.

Q And what were -- what were their roles in connection with the budget process?

A Well, Lifespace, as manager, is also intimately familiar with the operations and the needs of its communities, including the Edgemere. So in terms of their capacity as manager, they would review the cash flow forecasts, determine on their own volition whether or not they agree with them, whether or not there are items or assumptions that for some reason they may have had a different view of, provide us that input. And we would also verify it with John Falldine, the executive director of the Edgemere. Because there are a lot of moving parts to any CCRC, we really want to make sure that we had captured everything appropriately and budgeted it appropriately.

Q Is it fair to say that they reviewed drafts of the budget along the way?

A Drafts of the budget were provided to them to review.

Q Starting around what time frame?

A At the same time. They would have been prepared late February, beginning of March, starting at that point in time.

Q Did they provide you with comments to the budget?

A Yes.

Q And did you include their comments?

A We would talk out any potential comments that they may have had to the budget, determine whether or not they seemed appropriate or not, given the facts that are on the table, and to the extent that we agreed then they were incorporated.

Q Okay. Do you have copies of the first two budgets in front of you?

A In front of me, I have what is filed under Docket No. 35 and Docket No. 192.

Q Okay.

MR. ISRAEL: For the ease of the Court, I'd request permission to approach and ask Kendra to please put on the screen a summary of the two budgets.

THE COURT: If it's those that were filed, I have them.

MR. ISRAEL: They are.

THE COURT: But if you --

MR. ISRAEL: We just -- we just put them next to each other.

THE COURT: Oh, okay. Fair enough.

MR. ISRAEL: We thought it might assist Your Honor to --

THE COURT: Please. Thank you. Excellent. Thank you. Do you have one for my clerk, by chance?

MR. ISRAEL: I do.

THE COURT: Thank you. It's Mr. Embry. Thank you.

(Pause.)

MR. ISRAEL: Okay. I think they should be on the screen, correct?

THE COURT: Are you seeing it? Not yet.

MR. ISRAEL: Okay. I'll wait a moment.

(Pause.)

BY MR. ISRAEL:

Q Okay. Mr. Shandler, if you want to take a moment to look at the columns titled 5/8/22 First Budget and 5/8/22 Second Budget so you can confirm that they are the -- they are indeed the same budgets that were filed with the Court.

MR. JOHNSON: Your Honor, objection to this. This is not the budget -- these are not the budgets that were filed with the Court. This is not using the budgeted amounts.

MR. ISRAEL: These --

MR. JOHNSON: I don't believe.

MR. ISRAEL: These are weekly budgets. They are the exact same numbers for the budget. There's nothing -- they're not being introduced -- this chart is not being introduced as evidence. It's merely a demonstrative to assist the Court in reviewing the testimony.

MR. JOHNSON: Your Honor, we haven't had a chance to review this, this pleading, this prepared documentation. We don't -- I mean, I understand it's some sort of amalgamation they made between the two budgets, but we're not in a position to be able to verify this, much less on the fly.

MR. ISRAEL: We can certainly go through one by one, comparing to the two budgets, if that's easier for counsel.

THE COURT: Why don't you give the witness and counsel a moment with it, and I'd like to take a moment with it as well, because I, like the witness, had the two budgets before me.

MR. ISRAEL: Sure.

THE COURT: So let me just take a moment with the two budgets.

MR. ISRAEL: Sure.

THE COURT: And I assume that these first two lines are supposed to be reproductions of Week May 8th --

MR. ISRAEL: Correct, Your Honor.

THE COURT: -- from each budget. Okay.

MR. ISRAEL: Correct.

(Pause, 3:01 p.m. to 3:02 p.m.)

THE COURT: Okay. When the parties are and the witness is ready, the Court is ready.

THE WITNESS: I'm ready, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Let me give Mr. Johnson a moment.

MR. JOHNSON: I think we're ready, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. JOHNSON: Thank you.

THE COURT: And with respect to the objection as to the evidence, the Court is going to use -- is going to allow this as a demonstrative. And for sake of the record -- I know that you're going to go through this in detail with the witness -- the Court has had an opportunity to at least review the raw data in the first two columns, indicated as First Budget and Second Budget, and with the differences maybe a dollar here and a dollar there, they seem to match those documents.

MR. ISRAEL: Okay. Thank you, Your Honor.

BY MR. ISRAEL:

Q Okay, Mr. Shandler. I'd like to start first with the cash at the beginning of May 8th, which, according to the first budget, the Debtors anticipated having cash on hand of $894,865. Is that correct?

A That's correct.

Q And where did that number come from?

A That was a roll-forward based upon cash -- anticipated cash activity from the date of filing until February -- until May 8th. And even that beginning balance, I forget the -- I think -- I forget what the actual specific last actual cash balance we had was prepetition, but it was rolled forward to the petition date and then from the petition date forward to May 8th.

Q So when we started on --

A Based upon anticipated cash activity.

Q I did not mean to cut you off. I apologize. So the very beginning number, which is not on this chart, is it safe to say that was like cash in the bank accounts on the petition date?

A That was projected cash in the account at the petition date.

Q Okay. Was there a difference between the actual cash in the bank account on the petition date and the one showed on the first budget?

A Yes.

Q What was that difference?

A The difference was approximately $400,000.

Q And --

A $450,000.

Q And what accounts for that difference? Was there -- of the $450,000?

A Well, as in any bankruptcy case, as you are coming close to the petition date there's activity which will occur as a result of the filing of the bankruptcy, primarily outstanding checks which have not yet cleared. And, you know, prior to the petition date no debtor is quite certain as to which checks will have cleared or have not cleared as it's trying to reconcile to a beginning cash balance at the filing date.

In this case, there was roughly about $400,000 or $450,000 of checks that the Debtor had written prepetition that had not cleared its bank account and that those checks were now voided, stop payment was put on them, and that cash was now considered again cash in the Debtors' bank account or its book balance.

Q Okay. Thank you. So the Debtors were going to -- were -- anticipated drawing $1.4 million on the line of credit, correct? In the first budget period?

A As of what date?

Q As of -- through May 8th. There was a, I believe, an initial one million --

A Through --
Q I'll ask the question differently.
A Yes. Although it --
Q What was -- what was the first draw on the line of credit? How much?
A Projected or actual?
Q Projected.
A It was projected to be $1.1 million.
Q And how much was it actually?
A One million.
Q And have there been any draws since that time?
A There have not.
Q Okay. Have there been any other -- have there been any unanticipated revenues?
A No.
Q Did the Debtors pay the expenses outlined in the first interim budget for Week 1?
A The Debtors paid what expenses it had invoices for and were deemed appropriate to pay during Week 1.
Q Were there any variances between the Week 1 budget to actual?
A Yes.
Q Can you describe those variances, please?
A Again, like any debtor when they file for bankruptcy, they aren't quite sure how vendors will wind up treating them during the course -- as they file for bankruptcy, if they're going to be required to pay cash in advance or cash on deposit, or the timing of receipt of invoices. And obviously, as a healthcare institution, we're very mindful about providing the care to both our independent living residents and our residents in a higher level of care. In this particular case, there were a number of invoices that we anticipated receiving or had projected to be receiving or payments that were going to need to be made that, for timing purposes, or because of the timing of the filing, between pre- and postpetition, were not being made and were now being stayed.

Q Right. But my -- I guess my understanding is that there were certain -- we knew that certain -- you knew certain expenses were not going to have to be paid, right, because of the bankruptcy case? So the budget would have reflected those, right?

A The budget would have reflected all -- have anticipated to pay, but that does not mean that everything that we anticipated to pay wound up having to be paid.

Q Okay. I'll ask a little differently. If you were to look at the line of Total Operating Disbursements for Week 1 of the budget -- and you have to prepare a variance report for the Lender, correct?

A I do.

Q And that variance report would include a budget-to-actual, right?

A Yes.

Q So what was the actual -- what was the difference between budget and actual for Week 1?

A I don't recall or have that information in front of me.

Q Okay. And rather than take your time with respect to Week 2, I assume the answers would be the same if I asked the same questions with respect to which expenses were paid and not paid and the variance?

A Correct.

Q Okay. So turning to the second budget, if we look at beginning cash, it is $1.9 million. Correct?

A That's correct.

Q And there have not been any increase in revenues, right?

A That is correct.

Q And we're not sure on the variance between actual and budgeted expenses for those two weeks. Correct?

A For the total two weeks, I do know.

Q Okay. What's the total for the total two weeks?

A Approximately $670,000 of expenses that were budgeted in the first two weeks, and it's total, it's aggregate, were not required to be paid in those first two weeks.

Q And is that due to timing or is that -- is that for other reasons?

A It's a combination of both. We believe approximately $300,000 of it was due to timing, and approximately $350,000 or $370,000 of it is likely due to the timing of the bankruptcy filing and for those expenses which will now be stayed as a result of the filing.

Q Can you describe some of those expenses that are now stayed that make up that $370,000?

A Well, we are still awaiting some of those invoices, so I can't speak with exact detail of which ones will or will not. But based upon the invoices and based upon the expenses that we -- that were not paid, we've determined that roughly $300,000 of those invoices that were not paid will still need to be paid.

Q I understand that part, and I think we're going to get to that part in a little bit. But of the $370,000, because that's a fairly substantial percentage of the overall budget that expenses seem to have gone away, and we're trying to understand why those were in the budget in the first place.

A Well, I'm not sure how you determine significant and relating that to $300,000 or $370,000, or in any given month, but it will be primarily related to some of our more significant vendors, and probably the biggest one being our utility vendor. Or, sorry, our culinary vendor, Unidine.

Q Um, --

A I think Rehab Services, which is rehabilitation services, was also one that was -- that was caught up within the bankruptcy filing.

Q So I want to make -- I just want to make sure I understand what you're saying correctly. So you had budgeted -- let's just make up a number for the sake of this illustration -- to pay the culinary folks, you had budgeted them call it a hundred thousand dollars. And it turns out that you only had to pay them $50,000. And the $50,000, you'll never -- the other $50,000, you'll never have to pay again. Is that correct?

A Well, the other $50,000 would have a -- in that hypothetical scenario, and those are not the numbers, --

Q No, I understand.

A -- but that, the $50,000 in your hypothetical scenario, they would have a claim in the bankruptcy, like other unsecured creditors, and that will be dealt with in a plan of reorganization in how those claims are treated.

Q Right. So, --

A But, again, I do not have the line item detail of that budget-to-actual for the first two weeks in front of me.

Q So you're aware that the DIP credit agreement has a permitted variance of 10 percent by line item and 5 percent in the aggregate?

A I am.

Q And is it your anticipation that the Debtors are going to be within that variance after the first two weeks?

A Yes.

Q Okay. I will -- I will move on. Okay. So next I would like to move to the Salary & Wages line, where we can see that in the first budget that amount was budgeted at $434,000. Correct? More or less?

A More or less.

Q And in the second budget, I'll just be exact this time, it was $533,095?

A That's correct.

Q Which is a 122 percent increase, correct?

A I've not done the math, but I will tell you it's -- I agree with your $98,000 increase.

Q Okay. We will just use the numbers then. And what explains that $98,000 increase?

A What was included in the original salary and wages in the first two weeks would have included the reimbursement to Lifespace for the three Lifespace employees that are -- that are on site at the Edgemere. And that reimbursement did not occur during the first two weeks, and therefore that was deemed to be a timing variance which should be included in the remaining budget period.

Q But it was in the original -- it was in the first budget; it just didn't get -- in the first week? It just didn't get paid? It just got moved to the second week? Is that right?

A It was in the first two weeks.
Q Okay.
A Yes.
Q Thank you. Turning next to Employee Benefit & Taxes, the budgeted amount in the first budget was $40,858. Correct?
A Yes.
Q And the second budget was $72,521. Correct?
A Correct.
Q For a difference of $31,663, correct?
A Correct.
Q And what explains this increase?
A Timing difference. Again, was amounts that were budgeted in the first -- to be paid in the first two weeks of the case that were not that are now being -- that were now moved forward from timing purposes to be paid within this budget period.
Q With respect to employee benefits and taxes, is it fair to say that they usually track salaries and wages, as far as both going up and down?
A They do.
Q So why is there a difference, again, from a percentage basis, between the two amounts? Just, assuming my calculations are correct, that the employee benefit number is kind of 50 percent higher than the employee benefit -- or than the wages.

A Well, I wouldn't say that they track from that particular point in time, and different taxes are paid at different points in time during a given month or during a given quarter. But it is -- beyond taxes, it also relates to benefits and which particular employees those benefits relate to. So I wouldn't say that they necessarily track together in terms of the percentage changes, as you've laid it out on this schedule.

I can tell you these amounts are relatively consistent and these are the amounts that were not paid that we knew that needed to be paid, still need to be paid, and were now being projected to be paid during the current budget period.

Q Yeah. Okay. Moving on to General & Administrative, in the first interim budget we -- there's budgeted $88,711, correct?

A Yes.

Q And the second interim budget was $220,721? Again, using the numbers, that's a $132,000 difference. If you could explain that, please.

A I believe that is reimbursement to Lifespace for its -- its shared services allocation. Again, that was budgeted to be paid in the first two weeks of the budget but was not paid. Therefore, it was carried forward into -- into the following four weeks of the budget.

Q Okay. In order to move this along a little bit, if we could just go down to Leisure Services, we can see that that amount was roughly double. Is that a timing issue as well?

A Correct.

Q And Plant? Again, we have a --

A Also a timing issue.

Q And what is Plant? What goes into that?

A General upkeep of the facilities, of the building, of the grounds. General repairs and maintenance as well.

Q Okay. So if we look at total operating disbursements of $618,231 in the first budget -- correct?

A Yes.

Q And in the second budget was $919,279?

A Yes.

Q So an increase in operating expenses of $301,048. I just want to reiterate, it's your view that that difference is entirely due to timing?

MR. ISRAEL: I think we lost Mr. Shandler.

THE COURT: Ms. Jeng, can you see what's going on with Mr. Shandler's connection?

(Court confers with Clerk.)

THE WITNESS: I apologize to the Court. For some reason my computer restarted on me.

THE COURT: If it can go wrong, it will. Understood. Thank you very much, Mr. Shandler, for quickly hopping back on.

MR. ISRAEL: Okay.

THE COURT: All righty. I think you'll need to re-ask your question, Mr. Israel.

MR. ISRAEL: Okay.

BY MR. ISRAEL:

Q What I had asked is there -- so there was a net increase of operating expenses of $301,048 between the first budget and the second budget for the week of May 8th. Is that correct?

A For the week of -- well, what was being anticipated during the week of May 8th, yes. But again, those $300,000 were what was included in the first two weeks of the budget that was now being reforecasted to occur during the next four weeks.

Q Understood. So, a timing issue, is what you're saying?

A That is correct.

Q And I guess what I want to understand is -- because you told me a little earlier that you were within the variance, you were going to comply with the variance covenants in the DIP agreement, which I think is 10 percent. And I think we can agree that the differences in this budget far exceed 10 percent, even if they go the other way.

A The budget, if you look at the variances as they're described and whether or not we are in compliance with budget, from disbursement, it's actually that the disbursements on a line items basis will not exceed more than 10 percent of the budgeted amount. To the extent that we are under, that is not considered -- that is not considered an out-of-compliance variance.

Q And that's because you did not have to pay the entrance fee refunds, right? Of 292,6 --

A I'm not sure I understand that question.

Q In the first budget, you -- the Debtors had budgeted to pay $219,657, right, in entrance fee -- entrance fee refunds, correct?

A We had budgeted, yes.

Q And they were not paid, correct?

A They were not.

Q So the lack of variance is due to the fact that those entrance fees were not paid, correct?

A Well, we forecasted that potential entrance fee refund that was going to be paid, we took that out of the second interim budget for this particular point in time.

Q Correct. So they were not paid?

A They were not paid.

Q So total expenses appear to be even because those expenses -- that -- refunds were not paid?

A Right. We're talking about an actual period, which is for the period before the week ended May 8th. And we are now talking about a budget period for a period starting May 8th, for the week ended May 8th. So I think there is an apples-to-orange comparison we're trying to make from an actual period.

Q Well, I think -- I guess the numbers speak for themselves in that there's an increase in -- we talked about this already -- an increase in total operating disbursements of $300,000 between the two different budgets, and -- and that's offset by an expense that did not have to be paid.

A Well, --

Q Correct?

A -- we're -- we're being -- we're being monitored -- we'll -- assuming that this budget is ultimately approved and the second interim order is agreed to, we will be measured on this week, the week that ended on May 8th, based upon this new second interim budget, not the original interim budget. But in either case, that amount was not paid.

Q Okay. Thank you. We'll move on. I'd like to turn next to capital expenditures. Did you attend the first day hearings at this case?

A I did, yes.

Q Do you recall Mr. Harshfield testifying at that hearing regarding capital expenditures?

A I do.

Q Do you recall what he said?

A I do.

Q Okay. So how did he describe what constitutes capital expenditures?

A As I recall, Mr. Harshfield testified that they are expenditures which are more than routine replacement and repairs and maintenance-type issues, that they're items that, according to Generally Accepted Accounting Principles, can be capitalized over a period of time. And that is how he defined what is classified as capital expenditures.

Q So he -- so he had two buckets, correct? Correct?

A Can you repeat the question?

Q He had two buckets of capital --

MR. JOHNSON: Your Honor, I'd object to this. He's cross-examining --

MR. ISRAEL: Okay.

MR. JOHNSON: He's cross-examining Mr. Shandler about Mr. Harshfield's testimony at the first day hearing. If he wants --

MR. ISRAEL: Let's --

MR. JOHNSON: -- Mr. Shandler's view on something, he can ask his view on something. But I don't think trying to compare and contrast to some prior testimony makes any sense right now. Your Honor, we're talking about a two-week budget here and a final hearing in two weeks from now.

MR. ISRAEL: Let's make this a little easier, Your Honor, and put up the page of the transcript. That may -- that way, Mr. Shandler doesn't have to testify as to his memory of what was said.

THE COURT: Okay. I'm going to give you a little bit of leeway. But, again, you're asking one witness to testify about another witness's testimony, and I'm going to ask you to kind of quickly, --

MR. ISRAEL: Very quickly.

THE COURT: -- you know, show me the reason for it.

MR. ISRAEL: It'll be -- it'll be very quick.

(Pause.)

BY MR. ISRAEL:

Q Okay. I'd like to draw your attention to Lines 5 to -- 5 to 13 of this transcript. It's Page 120, yes. So, do you see on Line 7, Mr. Shandler, where Mr. Harshfield -- oh, lost it. Okay. Where Mr. Shandler -- Mr. Harshfield testified that there were two components to capital expenditure. Do you see that now?

A I see -- I see that line, yes.

Q Okay. So one component is capital repairs that they're able to capitalize under accounting rules. Is that right?

A That's what it says.

Q And then it also says that there are mid-turns as new residents move in and refresh their apartments for their move-in. Is that correct?

A That is correct.

Q And the budget had $27,554, I think, in both weeks. Do you know, as between those two categories, what the split was between what I'll call Component 1, which is the accounting rules, and Component 2, which is the mid-turns?

A There were no -- there were no resident turn expenditures anticipated within that budget. They were all related to capitalized expenses -- expenditures unrelated to resident turns.
Q What were the nature of those capital expenditures?
A For purposes of the interim budget, it was an amount that we had reserved in case -- in case significant expenditures, repairs that were more long-term in nature were going to be required. I don't think that it was anything with regard to a specific project at that particular point in time for the interim budget.
Q So were -- were those -- so they weren't spent at all during the interim period? The budget-to-actual? I just want to make sure I understand.
A I would need to go -- I would need to go back and double-check the company's cash activity for the first two weeks of the case.
Q Okay. And then my next question is, going forward, the capital expenditures budget is double. Is there something that explains why, why it's doubled going forward?
A Yes. That component of a forty-nine thousand -- twenty-seven thousand five hundred forty-four dollars of it is, again, a carry-forward of what was the original capital expenditure budget. The difference relates to an apartment renovation that a resident had paid for and that will now be -- that's now occurring. And those funds will be expensed or expended, I believe, over a six-week period of time.

Q So, my understanding from Generally Accepted Accounting Principles is that a capital expenditure is a purchase that a company records as an asset, such as property, plant, and equipment. Is that definition consistent with your understanding of capital expenditure?

A Well, in terms of what a capital expenditure is for Generally Accepted Accounting Principles, it is for an expense which is incurred but will benefit more than the current fiscal year or the next 12 months' period of time. And there are other rules associated with it. I am not an accounting expert. But that is my understanding of what a capital expenditure is.

Q So, the ordinary repair of an apartment in your view does constitute a capital expenditure, as opposed to fixing the HVAC or something like that?

A How do you define an ordinary apartment repair?

Q Painting the walls. Recarpeting. Fixing the sink.

A Well, those are different classifications. Something that, again, is longer-term in the future. Fixing a sink is a relatively immediate issue. Something that is -- that is a carpet or a wall or things of that nature is more long-term in nature.

Q Okay. Thank you. Are you familiar --
A In terms of how we're describing it here -- in terms of how we're describing it here in this cash flow forecast -- and, again, this is a cash flow, not a financial statement, not an audited financial statement -- what is classified here, and is not unusual in other CCRC cases, are expenditures that are more significant that will benefit longer periods of time or that relate to resident turnover.
Q Okay. Are you familiar with the Debtors' average capital expenditures over the last three years?
A Generally, yes.
Q Do you know about how much they were in 2019?
A I don't recall.
Q Does $6.6 million sound correct?
A I don't recall.
Q Okay. You said you had reviewed the EMMA reports, correct?
A I did.
Q Okay.
MR. ISRAEL: I'm going to ask that the 2019 Edgemere quarterly report be put on the screen.
MR. JOHNSON: Your Honor, we'd like to object. We're getting too far afield here of the expected expenditure in the next two weeks. Looking at the CapEx for 2019 is -- it's got nothing to do with the use of cash collateral over the next two weeks, Your Honor. In fact, I think that was the year that Lifespace acquired the community through an affiliation transaction. I don't know if Lifespace was in charge of it during that time period or not. There was definitely a portion of that time period where Lifespace wasn't the sponsor for this community. So I don't see how any of this is going to be relevant to an interim cash collateral order, Your Honor.

MR. ISRAEL: Your --

THE COURT: How is this relevant, Mr. Israel?

MR. ISRAEL: Your Honor, it's going to show what the three-year average capital expenses are for the last three years and where they are vis-à-vis the budget and how the building is being maintained not only for these two weeks but for the remainder.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. JOHNSON: Your Honor, but that's what -- I mean, we understand that they want to talk about capital expenditures over the course of this bankruptcy case and what's forecasted in the future, and there's a time to do that, and that would be the context of the trial in two weeks, Your Honor.

I mean, the capital expenditures, I just think we're going too far afield here. We can have that fight, and I know they want to have the fight about whether or not we're properly maintaining the building, we're prepared to have that discussion. But that's not -- no CapEx is before the Court. No evidence regarding CapEx is before the Court. No objection regarding CapEx was filed as part of this process.

MR. ISRAEL: Your Honor, we'll hold off on this line of questioning until the final hearing.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you, Mr. Israel.

MR. ISRAEL: You're very welcome.

BY MR. ISRAEL:

Q Final question, Mr. Shandler. Are there any -- are there any rent payments in the budget, in the second interim budget?

A No, there are not.

Q Okay.

MR. ISRAEL: Nothing further. Thank you, Mr. Shandler.

THE COURT: Thank you, Mr. Israel. Mr. Johnson, do you wish to perhaps redirect?

MR. JOHNSON: Yes, --

THE COURT: Although there was no direct.

MR. JOHNSON: -- Your Honor. A few things, Your Honor. Thank you. I didn't know if anybody else had any questions for Mr. Shandler. I thought maybe we'd do all the cross first.

THE COURT: Before the Debtor asks his questions, is there anyone else who wishes to examine Mr. Shandler with respect to the DIP?

(No response.)

THE COURT: Mr. Johnson?

MR. JOHNSON: Thank you, Your Honor.

REDIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. JOHNSON:

Q Good afternoon, Mr. Shandler.

A Good afternoon.

Q You've previously testified that you've been -- how long have you been representing CCRCs or folks with interests in CCRCs in your career?

A Since 2006.

Q Since 2006? So about 16 years; is that correct?

A That's correct.

Q And you testified earlier that you've been a financial advisor, a CRO or otherwise, regarding approximately 60 to 70 of these communities during that time period?

A Yes.

Q In your experience, in your -- how many budgets have you prepared during that time period, if you can estimate that number for us?

A Well in excess of 60 or 70. Probably into the hundreds, given the lengths of some of these cases.

Q Thank you. So is there anything that you -- that you're seeing in this budget or you're seeing in the variances in the cash flow in the first three weeks of this case that is any different than what you've seen in other CCR cases, CCRC cases?

A No, there isn't.

Q There were questions regarding the variance amounts involved in the budget. Was there a variance report prepared by your firm?

A There was.

Q There was? And does that variance report measure things on a weekly basis? Or every -- or every two weeks?

A It -- every two weeks.

Q And why is that?

A Because that's the reporting period that's required within our DIP financing documents and within the DIP order.

Q Okay. Thank you.

MR. JOHNSON: One second, Your Honor.

(Pause.)

MR. JOHNSON: That's all I have, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Thank you very much, Mr. Johnson. Mr. Israel, anything further on behalf --

MR. ISRAEL: Nothing further, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much.

(The witness steps down.)

THE COURT: All righty. Is there anyone else who wishes to be heard with respect to the DIP motion or the form of the DIP order?

(No response.)

THE COURT: Okay. Hearing none, so I want to better understand, Mr. Israel, and based upon the questions of Mr. Shandler, I thought Intercity didn't have an objection to the DIP. Am I wrong?

MR. ISRAEL: Your Honor, we do (faintly) object.

THE COURT: Please. Thank you.

MR. ISRAEL: Your Honor, we did file a placeholder objection to the second interim order, and we are --

THE COURT: Right.

MR. ISRAEL: We are consenting to the entry of the order on an interim basis --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. ISRAEL: -- for these two weeks.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much. I appreciate that. Thank you.

All right. Mr. Johnson?

MR. JOHNSON: Thank you, Your Honor.

Your Honor, we appreciate that statement. Your Honor, I don't think that there are any other pending objections with respect to the order. I know that we have submitted some redlines regarding it. I don't think we changed anything materially. We will make a couple of the changes discussed earlier today.

And as I had mentioned earlier, Your Honor, we did modify slightly the deadlines for certain deliverables in Paragraph 48. We'll modify that again to talk about the supporting documentation. Again, we will agree to provide that, along with the budget, to the extent we think it's reasonable, and we'll comply with any reasonable such requests.

Your Honor, with that, I don't know if Your Honor has any questions about the interim order, but we would request that it be entered.

THE COURT: Thank you very much, Mr. Johnson. From my perspective, obviously, we will -- we'll reserve the Dallas County -- we'll reserve Ms. Spindler's objections for final. We'll reserve Ms. -- is it Ms. Goodman? Okay. Ms. Goodman's reservations, we'll reserve those for final as well. And obviously I'll encourage both you and Mr. Bleck to get with those counsel between now and final.

Other than that, the Court has had an opportunity to review the redline form of order that was provided prior to the hearing, and I don't -- as I said, I shared the concern with respect to Ms. -- well, both Ms. Spindler, because I knew that the objection was there, and also with respect to Ms. Goodman, in that if there is any issue with respect to professionals' fees or anything like that, you might want to button that up in a final form of order.

I didn't have any other substantive comments. I did note one little nit. At the end of Paragraph 48(c), I think there's just a couple of extra letters. But other than that, I don't have any comments and I'm prepared to sign the DIP order.

MR. JOHNSON: Thank you, Your Honor. We will be submitting slight modifications. We did catch that typo.

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. JOHNSON: We did adjust the timing of the objection --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. JOHNSON: -- that's due from ICI on May 20th --

THE COURT: Okay. Right.

MR. JOHNSON: -- from noon to 4:00. We will add Ms. Spindler to the --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. JOHNSON: -- notice list. The things we can handle. We'll -- and we'll get a redline to you as quickly as we can.

THE COURT: Okay. I appreciate that. And also one bust, and I'll take as much credit for it as the folks who uploaded it. The budget was inadvertently not attached to the first DIP order, I believe, on ECF. And, again, if so, that's my bust in signing it as well as uploading it. So let's make sure when we upload the final form of DIP order for the second interim that we attach the budget.

MR. JOHNSON: We will, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Thank you.

MR. JOHNSON: Thank you very much.

Your Honor, just for clarity, though, we will be attaching a 13-week budget, and then a summary final budget, I think. In other words, at least when we get to that point. I haven't discussed it on our side. But we'll have the regular 13-week budget under the form of the order that we'll -- and then we'll have a final budget, I believe, so -- which shows -- which forecasts it through the end --

MR. BLECK: I'm sorry, Your Honor, to interject here.

MR. JOHNSON: Yeah.

MR. BLECK: I believe what you're talking about is the budget for this two-week period attached to the second interim order.

THE COURT: Right. I believe -- I believe that the first interim DIP order has --

MR. BLECK: Right.

THE COURT: The last page, it says Exhibit 1.

MR. BLECK: Yep.

THE COURT: And there's nothing after Exhibit 1.

MR. BLECK: Yeah.

THE COURT: Which is just, again, a mistake. I just want to make sure that when the second interim order is attached and it says, I hereby approve the budget attached as Exhibit 1, there is an Exhibit 1.

MR. BLECK: Right. So, it will be that bridge order that -- I mean, bridge budget we're talking about --

THE COURT: Right.

MR. BLECK: -- attached.

THE COURT: The one that has been filed I think now at 192, correct?

MR. BLECK: Yes. Yeah. It'd be.

THE COURT: All righty.

MR. BLECK: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. We're on the same page.

MR. BLECK: I apologize for interrupting.

THE COURT: Thank you.

MR. JOHNSON: Thank you, Your Honor. I think that's it for the main case, Your Honor. There is a motion in the adversary.

THE COURT: All righty.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Your Honor, before we move on to the adversary, I actually do think that there is a point of procedural and housekeeping that we need to address in the main proceeding in advance of one of the matters set for hearing on May 26th.

THE COURT: Okay. Please.

MS. VANDESTEEG: So, Your Honor, the Debtors -- one of the motions that the Debtors have filed that is up for hearing on May 26th is the Debtors' motion for entry of an order authorizing the Debtors to suspend the payment of rent under 11 U.S.C. 365(d)(3).

THE COURT: Right.

MS. VANDESTEEG: And Your Honor, that one is at Docket 127.

THE COURT: Right.

MS. VANDESTEEG: ICI filed a response to that brief at Docket 152, --

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- asserting that the requested relief under 365(d)(3) would not apply --

THE COURT: Right.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- because the lease was a residential and 365(d)(3) applies only to nonresidential leases.

THE COURT: I saw that.

MS. VANDESTEEG: So, Your Honor, we then received --

(Interruption.)

THE COURT: Could you mute that --

MS. VANDESTEEG: And on last Friday, May 6th, two replies were then filed. Yes?

THE COURT: Pardon me, Ms. Vandesteeg. Could you mute that line, Ms. Jeng? Thank you very much. We're getting a little bit of feedback off of WebEx, so if you could be careful to mute your lines.

Thank you, Ms. Vandesteeg. Please.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Of course, Your Honor.

Last Friday, two replies were filed, one by the Debtors and one by UMB.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: And in connection with those replies -- and I appreciate, again, this is not set for hearing today, and the Court may well have not have had the chance to review those replies -- but in those replies both UMB and the Debtors generally and broadly assert, okay, we will concede that the lease is residential for purposes of characterization in connection with this proceeding, --

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- and they instead pivot and raise entirely new arguments, now alleging in connection with their replies that what they are not -- they are no longer seeking their 60-day rent holiday under 365(d)(3), but instead are requesting now that, as residential, they not be required to pay the rent for the duration of the case pursuant to 365(d)(2) and 503(b)(1).

Now, Your Honor, in my experience, this is simply not procedurally proper in terms of raising entirely new arguments in connection with a reply. I don't know if the Court would prefer to agree that we will set aside and not address new arguments made in reply at the hearing set on the 26th, or if the Court would prefer that ICI instead go through the process of filing a surreply, if the Court would prefer that. But obviously I would never presume to file a surreply without leave of Court and wanted to make sure that I bring this to your attention today and see how the Court would like to address it ahead of the hearing that is otherwise scheduled for the 26th.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you, Ms. Vandesteeg. Mr. Johnson, Ms. Green? That was quite the pivot.

MR. JOHNSON: It's quite the -- quite the position taken in the objection, Your Honor.

Your Honor, I think -- you know, ICI adopted that position in their objection to the motion. They chose to elect to say, you know, we're a residential lease, not a nonresidential lease. And that carries with it certain consequences under the Bankruptcy Code.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. JOHNSON: So our reply was not a new argument in the sense that we didn't assert that they were residential from the start, but we are responding to their position that they took.

And Your Honor, I don't know that it requires any further briefing. ICI took that position. If they'd like to file a surreply, we would like to file a double surreply or whatever the word is for it.

But Your Honor, I think folks staked out their position. Now, I don't know if Your Honor is going to be prepared at this hearing to take a position whether it's residential or not.

THE COURT: No.

MR. JOHNSON: And if you were to take the position that it's residential, then we think there's another set of relief that kicks into play that we aren't -- we won't be seeking you approve that day, but I think it changes the consequences. And it most importantly eliminates the obligation to timely comply with rent that's in 365(d)(3) because that applies to nonresidential properties, as we briefed.

But Your Honor, this issue was a surprise. I mean, we certainly didn't discuss this in the request for meet-and-confer by ICI that we had just the other day. So we would have appreciated a heads up on a request like this. I think that's what meet-and-confers are about.

If Your Honor wants more briefing on this, we're happy to do more. We don't think it's necessary. We think the issues are all in front of you and that there are some interesting ones for two weeks from now.

THE COURT: Okay. Let me look at the calendar. (Pause.) Remind me when the Debtors' pleading was filed, Ms.

Vandesteeg, that you consider the pivot.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes, Your Honor. Both the Debtors and UMB's replies were filed last Friday, May 6th.

THE COURT: May 6th? Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: And Your Honor, I do have the docket numbers if that would be of assistance.

THE COURT: No, I'm just looking for a day. I'm just trying to calculate when a response would be filed.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Absolutely.

THE COURT: All right. Could you file your response by the 18th?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All righty. If the Debtor is going to file any sur-sur-sur-surreply, let's have that filed by the 23rd.

Also, if the Committee or any other party intends to weigh in on this issue, I'd like that briefing on the 23rd as well. Okay?

MR. SCANNELL: That would be fine, Your Honor. Thomas Scannell for the Committee, Your Honor. I would note for the record we currently have an agreement with the Debtors and the Landlord that any Committee response will be filed by the 16th, ten days before the hearing. But we're happy to modify that. I just -- I didn't want that to be altered without the Court knowing that there was a separate agreement on the Committee's deadline for a response. But we're happy to accommodate the Court.

THE COURT: Okay. Well, if the -- if you already have otherwise an agreement to file it by the 16th, that is fine. If the filing by -- so, let's do this. I don't want to intrude into the parties' agreements. Let's keep your filing date of the 16th, but given that the -- I'm going to give ICI until the 18th to respond, after that response, if you believe that there is any necessity of a reply to that, let's have it on file by the 23rd.

MR. SCANNELL: If the 16th works for the Court. We don't want to inconvenience the Court in any way by the Committee's weighing in on this.

THE COURT: No, the 16th definitely works for me. My thought was, again, trying to back up from the 26th, that me and my clerks have enough time with the briefs.

MR. SCANNELL: Indeed, Your Honor. Thank you.

THE COURT: Excellent. Thank you.

All right. So let me write down what I said. (Pause.) All right. For, again, for sake of the record, the ICI reply as it relates to the issue of whether or not the lease is a residential or a nonresidential lease, that shall be due on May 18th. And any further briefing subsequent to that ICI reply will be due May 23rd.

Again, there's a number of legal issues that are floating around in those briefs as it pertains to adequate protection and as it pertains to 365, and so the Court would like sufficient time with the briefs. And I think that giving myself two business days is probably pushing it for Mr. Embry, so --

All righty. So, if anyone -- if there are no other issues in the main case, anyone who wants to drop off now is welcome to do so as it pertains to the main case.

For sake of this hearing, the Court will now turn to what's listed as the next matter on the docket, which is the adversary, Case No. 22-3040, Northwest Senior Housing versus Intercity Investment Properties. All right. We have the motion to extend time to file an answer.

And I don't believe there's any necessity to take new appearances, Ms. Jeng, unless you tell me otherwise. The gang's all here? All righty.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Good afternoon, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Thank you.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Actually, for purposes of addressing the adversary, there is a slight need, I think, for new appearances --

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- in that, Your Honor, Elizabeth Vandesteeg for the record in the adversary representing both Defendants, Intercity Investment Properties, Inc. as well as Kong Capital.

THE COURT: Okay. Well, if we'll do that, then let's be fulsome. Who else wants to make an appearance with respect to the adversary? Thank you, Ms. Vandesteeg.

MS. GREEN: Trinitee Green of Polsinelli on behalf of the Debtors.

THE COURT: Okay. All righty. Anyone else?

MR. BLECK: Your Honor, Daniel Bleck from Mintz Levin representing the Master Trustee, the Bond Trustee, with respect to this matter. We did file a motion to intervene --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. BLECK: -- with respect to the adversary proceeding. I believe it was going to be scheduled for the next omnibus beyond the May omnibus hearing date, --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. BLECK: -- which is June. But I wanted to note the appearance for those purposes.

THE COURT: Thank you very much.

MR. BLECK: Thank you.

THE COURT: I appreciate it. All right. Anyone else?

All right. Ms. Vandesteeg, please.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor.

Your Honor, we have filed a motion seeking an extension of the deadline to respond to the complaint. I realize that in connection with the recent objection filed by Debtors to our motion for extension they've raised the question as to whether our requests pertain to both Defendants.

For a point of housekeeping and perhaps then as an oral motion, Your Honor, we do intend for our extension, the requested extension, to apply to both Defendants. At the time we filed the motion, we had not yet been able to confirm that one of the Defendants, Kong Capital, had been properly served, and was at issue for purposes of our filing the motion.

Your Honor, in full disclosure, the registered agent was CSC, and CSC sent an email with respect to that service. Kong, not having been sued before, did not recognize that that was an email and did not notice until a follow-up email, which was several days after we had even filed this motion.

But we do intend for the extension that we're seeking to apply to both Defendants. And I would imagine that, for judicial economy, when the responsive pleading, the two Defendants are addressing the same allegations, the same potential legal defenses, it wouldn't really be efficient either for counsel or for the Court to be addressing, then, two different deadlines involving these two Defendants and these causes of action. So, just for clarity, we do intend it to apply to both.

Your Honor, our request, our request for three weeks is, to our view, not at all unreasonable and is entirely in accordance with the types of extensions that are routinely granted, in my experience, when dealing with complaints of substantial length, complexity, and some pretty serious allegations leveled at these two Defendants.

We're not seeking to delay here. And I think, Your Honor, and particularly given now UMB's recent motion to intervene -- which I think we might also want to front and address today after we address the Debtors' complaint, just so that we can get some briefing schedules in place -- I think it's very difficult for the Debtors to say with any sort of a straight face that they are going to be prejudiced by the three weeks that we are requesting as opposed to the ten days that they have already agreed to.

There is another party that is seeking to come in. I don't know if the Court has had the opportunity to review the proposed complaint by the Trustee. It in large part parrots the same allegations with respect to alleged wrongdoing of the Defendants in the Debtors' adversary. And the discovery, the legal defenses to the allegations in both of those complaints are substantially similar. And where there is now this request for UMB to intervene, which is going to necessarily add a little bit of delay here, I think it's even more difficult for the Debtors to say with any real foundation that the additional time requested by ICI is unwarranted and is prejudicial.

Your Honor, in their objection, so far as we understand their objection, it again does not go toward prejudice. It is a knock on counsel for being so efficient and prepared thus far in terms of our involvement in this proceeding. And Your Honor, I simply don't think that that is an appropriate or equitable ground for them to object to what is very much a relatively routine and reasonable request for an extension of time to respond to a complaint of this nature.

Thank you.

THE COURT: What is the cause for the extension, Ms. Vandesteeg?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Sure. Your Honor, the complaint is one of -- I believe it's 108 different paragraphs and allegations. We are addressing seven different causes of action, numerous of which are highly complicated. We are intending to file a motion to dismiss on all counts, Your Honor. A number of those causes of action involve not only issues of bankruptcy law but also Texas state law. So we are in the process of making sure that we have ample opportunity to make sure that we have addressed our legal defenses to each of those very detailed causes of action.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you, Ms. Vandesteeg.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you.

MS. GREEN: Your Honor, I had the same question that the Court had after I read the motion. What's the reason why they need an additional 21 days? And I was expecting to hear something different today, but it's the same. The complaint is long and the allegations are complex. That is not an excuse. It is not a reason to justify the request, the requested relief.

The Landlord filed the motion asking for 21 additional days, which is the same request that they made to the Debtors before the motion was filed. And as we stated in our response, we agreed to give ten days, which the Debtors submit to the Court today is reasonable under the circumstances, the circumstances being everyone knows this litigation is a critical component of the Chapter 11 cases. And so moving forward with the adversary and commencing discovery is critical.

There is no reason for delay. I haven't heard a reason today that justifies an additional 21 days. And so the deadline, if it is extended at all, should not be extended beyond May 26th.

And for the record, Defendant Kong has not requested an extension, unless, of course, the Court considers the request made about five minutes ago. No motion was filed on behalf of Kong. No request was made informally on behalf of Kong. And until about five minutes ago, I had no idea that the Landlord counsel would request this extension on behalf of Kong today.

To be fair, we never questioned in our motion whether Kong made a request, because Kong did not make the request.

And as it relates to the motion to intervene, the Debtors have expressed to Haynes and Boone and will represent today that we are not in agreement with extended deadlines in the adversary, and to the extent that the motion to intervene being heard in June would push out those deadlines, then we do have a problem with it.

But we've communicated to Haynes and Boone that we do not have a problem with the motion to intervene being heard in June, so long as our deadlines in the adversary as it relates to the Defendants are maintained and that the adversary commences quickly.

THE COURT: Okay. Ms. Vandesteeg?

MS. VANDESTEEG: If I may, Your Honor?

THE COURT: Yes.

MS. VANDESTEEG: I am perplexed by the repeated assertions that resolution of the adversary against these Defendants is critical to this bankruptcy proceeding. Your Honor, we've heard indirectly from counsel at the first day hearing, and I think we've seen some references in some of the various pleadings, that the Debtors appear to be in need of resolution of this particular litigation, with the hopes that a recovery in connection with this litigation will in some way fund, then, their reorganization.

And I'm not sure if that's exactly what I'm hearing, but it sounds like that's what I'm hearing. And that just, that raises a whole issue of other questions in my mind with respect to --

THE COURT: You don't think the resolution of this adversary proceeding is significant in any way to the restructuring?

MS. VANDESTEEG: And that, Your Honor, is why -- again, what we're talking about is a complex complaint here. And to the extent there is no other fundamental need to in some way accelerate or fast track, this is not -- this is not an adversary in which Debtors' counsel is seeking to address a lien priority. This is not an adversary in which we're talking about a basic preference or a fraudulent transfer. This is an adversary that is, as I said, contains seven different causes of action, atypical in a bankruptcy proceeding of this nature, involving issues of both bankruptcy and state law.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MS. VANDESTEEG: And the request for the additional three weeks is, again, it's not atypical or unreasonable, because we're talking about a complicated issue and a complicated complaint. And I think that these statements about how a resolution of this is critical to the restructuring are just not well-placed.

Your Honor, with respect to Kong, again, I should have filed a second motion. I had it in my mind that, of course, these two things were linked. It wasn't until the issue was raised and I again went through the timeline of how Kong eventually did confirm that they had been timely served and was on this track. Here we are.

Again, I don't see a prejudice here, Your Honor, to them, in terms of keeping these things linked. Again, the allegations are the same, the defenses that we're going to raise are the same, the pleadings are going to be the same.

THE COURT: Again, you know, one of the big issues -- and I am certainly paying attention to your presentation. What I was doing was pulling up the complaint. And as I recalled, what my memory was, there's an equitable subordination count in Count Six of the complaint.

I recognize that there are certain of these counts that may be more of just straight-up litigation, you know, between the parties. But an equitable subordination count seems to me -- and, you know, I haven't seen a plan; there is no plan on file -- but it seems like that might be something essential to an overall restructuring.

I will treat your motion as a motion to extend the deadline as to Kong as well. And obviously, I think you've already recognized the motion should have filed with respect to both Kong and Intercity. We are talking about an adversary proceeding with two defendants, not 22 or 202. It seems like Intercity, being so familiar with the adversary, maybe should alert Kong, hey, look, this is out there, you sure you didn't get served?

But, again, I will treat them together.

You know, I have to tell you, it doesn't please me that we're at this stage in the case and we're already having scuffles over extensions. We are very early in a case.

I'll say that, you know, the pleadings in this case filed to date by the Landlord are fulsome. The Landlord appears to have a very considerable handle on the historical facts leading up to this case. If I were a betting gal, I would say that the adversary proceeding wasn't altogether a surprise to you guys, although I say that with full recognition that you completely and utterly dispute let's just say everything in it.

With that, I recognize that there are milestones built into what is admittedly at this juncture an interim DIP and that require this case to keep moving with pace. And although it is early, at least, like I said, I'm just looking at one count without the benefit of having looked at it at length, but it seems to be that it is a critical part of that. I mean, today I have expedited your hearings, I have had my staff work nights to sign orders, I think I've been fair and reasonable with deadlines.

And what I'll say to Ms. Green and Mr. Johnson is a word of caution, right? I consider myself a fair person, and I very, very, very much live by the philosophy of what's good for the goose is good for the gander. This is not going to be the first request for an extension in this case by parties.

And so what I'm going to do is -- it's 4:07 -- I'm going to take a ten-minute recess and I'm going to come back at 4:17 and I'll be prepared to rule. But I'm going to give the parties time to think about this for just one moment. And I recognize that I think we can all agree that an answer is not the most difficult thing to prepare. A motion to dismiss maybe a little bit different. But I'll tell you. From Intercity's perspective, I look for cause for an extension. But, again, I'll come back at right around 4:17. Because I do have -- I have a clerk reception to get to at SMU this evening at 5:30 that's important because it's my new incoming fall clerk. I'd like to start out on the right step with them. I've ruined it with these guys.

So, again, if you guys could come back at 4:20. Tell me if you can reach a resolution. If not, the Court will be prepared to rule.

THE CLERK: All rise.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor.

(A recess ensued from 4:08 p.m. to 4:17 p.m.)

THE CLERK: All rise.

THE COURT: Please. Be seated. We're going to go back on the record in Case No. 22-3040, adversary proceeding entitled Northwest Senior Housing Corp. versus Intercity Investment Properties and Kong Capital. Parties?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Good afternoon again, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Yes.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Elizabeth Vandesteeg on behalf of Adversary Defendants ICI and Kong Capital.

Your Honor, we have conferred in the hallway and the parties have agreed that the responsive pleadings for both Defendants will be due on June 1st.

THE COURT: Oh, for -- I'm sorry, I was thinking Intervenor when you said both Defendants. Thank you very much.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Of course, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Yes.

MS. VANDESTEEG: And with respect to the motion for intervention, counsel for the Trustee and I briefly spoke. We plan to meet and confer on some likely briefing schedules and deadlines ahead of the May 26th hearing and anticipate being able to report back to the Court with some agreed dates at that time.

THE COURT: Okay. So the motion to intervene is not set for the 26th?

MR. BLECK: That's correct, Your Honor. I believe it's going to be set for the June omnibus hearing date.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. BLECK: So we'll come into court on the 25th or the 26th.

THE COURT: 26th. Either way.

MS. VANDESTEEG: The 25th. Correct. Is the next omnibus.

MR. BLECK: I think we have two hearings.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. BLECK: So the 25th, with hopefully an agreed-to schedule.

THE COURT: Okay. Fair enough. Thank you.

MR. BLECK: Great. Thank you.

THE COURT: And if you have that, and to the extent the parties wish signatures on scheduling orders and things of that nature, I'd be willing to accommodate the parties in that way.

MR. BLECK: Perfect. Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Thank you so much.

MR. BLECK: I appreciate it.

THE COURT: Thank you.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Ms. Green?

MS. GREEN: The Debtors agree with everything that she said. In the past 20 seconds.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Totally fair caveat.

THE COURT: Fair enough. Okay. Well, the Court is very pleased that the parties were able to reach an agreement with respect to the motion to extend the answer deadline. Again, we're all big boys and girls, and I would hate for a lack of an extension to catch up with you.

MS. GREEN: Fair enough.

THE COURT: Because, you know, these things tend to multiply. We have very, very serious allegations in the complaint, very serious matters that are set forth, but we're also, like I said, moving with pace through some milestones and everything, like fat on a DIP order that's set to potentially go final on May 26th. So I'm happy to see that the parties are working cooperatively towards the deadlines. And so, Ms. Vandesteeg, I'll look to you to upload a form of order with respect to your motion.

To the extent that those deadlines are extended in any way by agreement, here's something that I'll let the parties know for sake of adversary proceedings and things like that before me. If you say in your motion that they can be extended by the agreement of the parties without the necessity of further order, I will honor that. Okay? But if you don't say that in your pleadings, then I'll require further orders.

Now, if they come to me in terms of agreed scheduling orders, I will sign them typically as a routine matter. But that's just something for parties to know. Some folks want to put Rule 11s on the docket or anything like that. To the extent that you agree amongst yourselves, then that's no harm, no foul to the Court, with the exception of obviously if we have an upcoming hearing. Okay? The Court would just like the heads up. And so if you just let Ms. Harden or Ms. Jeng know, whoever's covering Settings at the time, then we'll be good there.

MS. GREEN: Understand.

THE COURT: All righty?

MS. GREEN: Thank you.

THE COURT: You're very welcome. Mr. McCartin?

MR. MCCARTIN: Thank you, Your Honor. The Committee has been uncharacteristically quiet today. I just wanted the Court to know, all the parties were very gracious and cooperative in kicking and extending the final hearings today for the more substantive matters, --

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. MCCARTIN: -- the DIP and rent and escrow and cash collateral. We're working hard to catch up. Everyone is being really helpful to get us up the learning curve. And, again, I thought it was important for the Court to know everyone is really being cooperative to help the Committee catch up.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much, Mr. McCartin.

MR. MCCARTIN: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: I gathered as much by just looking at the deadlines and the extensions on the agenda. It looks like, you know, that parties were working. And I was pleased to see that the Committee was able to get up to speed, at least with respect to things like insurance, taxes, wages, and look at those ahead of time.

So, unless the parties -- do the parties have anything else for me? All right. I am going -- the Court will stand adjourned for the rest of the day. I'm going to take a moment, stay on the bench, and gather up my things, because, like I said, I have to run to a reception. So thank you all very much. Safe travels for those of you who traveled here.

ALL COUNSEL: Thank you, Your Honor.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. Is that everyone?

Okay. I just wanted to give a quick introduction to what this meeting is for parties that are on this call that are unfamiliar with what this is. This is the Section 341(a) meeting of creditors. At this meeting -- the meeting is a meeting that debtors -- that Chapter 11 debtors must attend in any bankruptcy proceeding. It's held outside of the presence of a judge and it permits the trustee or in this case the representative of the United States Trustee the chance to review the debtors' petition and schedules with the debtor.

The debtor is required to answer questions under penalty of perjury, and any other matter that may affect the administration of the case or the debtors' right to a discharge. In addition, the United States Trustee's representative may ask questions to ensure that the debtor understands the bankruptcy process.

With that, we will proceed. Okay, so Mr. Harshfield can you please -- what is your title with the debtor?

MR. HARSHFIELD: With the debtor, I'm the vice chair and treasurer.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. Can you --

MR. HARSHFIELD: As well as a board member.

MR. BUBLICK: -- please. Okay. Very good. And I recognize your name is the name that signed the petition -- oh, excuse me, the schedules and statement of financial affairs. So I appreciate that. So you will be the -- will you be the only person appearing as -- to testify here today?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yes.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. Can you please raise your right hand?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Okay.

(Oath Administered; witness sworn)

MR. BUBLICK: Thank you. Okay. I'm just going to quickly note from -- from the outset, I noticed that there were some global notes written that tried to include language about omissions and errors that may exist in the schedules. But I just want to make it clear here that -- did you review the schedules before signing them -- I'm going to repeat my question.

Sir, did you review the schedules before signing them under penalty of perjury?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yes, I did.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. Did you list everything in the world that the debtor owns and everyone to whom the debtor owes money?

MR. HARSHFIELD: To the best of my knowledge.

MR. BUBLICK: Are there any -- and are there any amendments necessary at this time?

MR. HARSHFIELD: None that I'm aware of.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. Did you review the statement of financial affairs before signing them under penalty of perjury?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yes, I did.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. Are there any amendments necessary at this time?

MR. HARSHFIELD: None that I'm aware of.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. So -- so we can both agree that regardless of what those -- what's written in those global notes, you signed those schedules and those statement of financial affairs under penalty -- under penalty of perjury, correct?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yes, I did.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. Thank you.

Okay. So I just want to quickly go over some administrative items and then we can go ahead and review these -- the schedules here.

Okay. Okay, so I do see here that counselors did serve -- did file their certificate of service for today's meeting and that's reflected on docket number 151.

Okay. Is the debtor currently operating at the moment, sir?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yes.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. And how many employees does the debtor have at the moment, approximately?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Approximately 200.

MR. BUBLICK: Are those all full time?

MR. HARSHFIELD: It would typically be a mix of full time and part time.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. What would you say is --

MR. HARSHFIELD: Primarily. Primarily full time, though.

MR. BUBLICK: So what's the breakdown, then? Like, two-thirds full time or -- roughly?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Oh, I don't recall that at this point. It's -- that's something -- information we can follow up with.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. All right.

I'll just note right now that it's -- you said it's mostly full time of the 200?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yes.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. Is your payroll current?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yes, it is.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. Are your payroll taxes current?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yes, they are.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. Is your post-petition debt current?

MR. HARSHFIELD: I'm not sure of the definition of post-position -- post-petition debt. Is that --

MR. BUBLICK: Debt that --

MR. HARSHFIELD: Is your debt payable or what it is it you're --

MR. BUBLICK: Debt that you've accrued after filing.

MR. HARSHFIELD: I believe -- to my understanding, the only debt would be --

MS. DOLPHIN: Mr. Bublick, I'm sorry.

MR. BUBLICK: Yep.

MS. DOLPHIN: This is Brenna Dolphin. Mr. Bublick, I apologize. I don't, I don't want to get off to the wrong foot but I -- I do believe you're asking for a legal conclusion in your question.

MR. BUBLICK: I'm just asking the simple question, whether, you know, if the debtor has taken out debt post-petition and whether it's current or not. It's -- it's part of our routine questions. I don't know what's at issue here.

MR. HARSHFIELD: So the -- correct me if I'm wrong, Brenna, the only new debt that would be involved would be what was approved by the court under the debtor-in-possession financing.

MR. BUBLICK: Mm-hmm.

MR. HARSHFIELD: Am I thinking correctly?

MS. DOLPHIN: Yes, Mr. Harshfield. You're the fact witness, so absolutely. If that is -- if that is your testimony, then thank you for that.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay.

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yes. I just want to make sure that I'm understanding the definition of debt. Not the -- it's not just straight payables but it's true financial debt. So that would be the -- that would be the only new debt and it is current since there's no -- no payments are required on it at this time.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. Very good. And -- okay, so I'll note for the record here that you're attorney -- is the lead attorney on this case Ms. Trinitee Green?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yes.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. And there was a retainer of $400,000 and then it looks like another one of $300,000 pre-petition; is that right?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yes, that's what we have.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. Have you made any -- made any post-petition payments to your attorney?

MR. HARSHFIELD: I don't recall. You know, as far as -- as far as timing of those payments. That's something I'll have to get back with you on that.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. I -- I could imagine without court's permission -- the court's permission, you wouldn't have -- you would have not made any payments after the filing to your attorney but --

MR. HARSHFIELD: Oh, right. I just --

MR. BUBLICK: That's fine. If you're -- if you're not certain --

MR. HARSHFIELD: Again, we -- we have -- we have the interim debt approved.

MR. BUBLICK: Mm-hmm.

MR. HARSHFIELD: But again, I just -- I don't know the most payments that we may or may not have made --

MR. BUBLICK: Okay.

MR. HARSHFIELD: -- to the attorney.

MR. BUBLICK: All right. I'll note that the motion to employ the Polsinelli firm is at docket entry number 39. Do you anticipate needing to hire -- hire any professionals in this case? Like, special counsel or an accountant?

MR. HARSHFIELD: None beyond what the -- the advisors that we already have in place which would be FTI Consulting and Polsinelli.

MR. BUBLICK: Right. Okay.

MS. DOLPHIN: There is the retention application pending -- this is Brenna Dolphin of Polsinelli -- related to Gray Robinson, counsel for the board of the debtor.

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yes.

MR. BUBLICK: Mm-hmm.

MS. DOLPHIN: Just to be clear.

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yes, that is correct.

Thank you, Brenna.

MR. BUBLICK: For board of the debtor. Okay. All right.

So now we're just going to go over a few of the administrative requirements that you probably received an email for from the analyst at our office. So that would be right here.

Okay. So first, for the insurance -- for the outstanding insurance items, I note that we are still waiting on a general liability insurance policy. We've received a certificate of insurance but that's not sufficient for our purposes. We need a binder of the declaration policies. We -- we provide -- we received some auto insurance information. But again, we need the actual declaration pages that show the coverage amounts and the vehicles covered.

For workman's compensation --

MR. HARSHFIELD: Okay.

MR. BUBLICK: -- we need the declaration pages as well, there. Professional liability, we need -- again, we need a sufficient proof of the insurance. And if you have any cyber liability policy, you know, please provide a sufficient proof of that as well. So again, you know, sufficient proof doesn't -- consist of the binder or the declaration pages and a certificate of insurance is not sufficient.

MR. HARSHFIELD: Okay.

MR. BUBLICK: For the bank accounts, have you closed your existing bank accounts and transferred those to a debtor-in-possession account?

MR. HARSHFIELD: No, we have not. We still have our operating accounts in place.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. Do you have an -- do you have an -- an idea of how soon you may get that converted?

MR. HARSHFIELD: I believe our cash management petition was approved.

Brenna, again, I might need some help on insight on that process.

MS. DOLPHIN: A cash management request is approved on an interim basis. We're still working through some issues. This is Brenna Dolphin for the record. We're still working through some issues raised by counsel for the Committee. So the cash management motion has not -- the relief requested there, has not been granted on a final basis at this time.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. So does that -- okay, so does that -- did the court grant permission then to not open a debtor-in-possession account? I just -- I'm not familiar with that -- with that order provides in relation to that.

MR. HARSHFIELD: Again, with my unfamiliarity with -- with this process, what we have on an interim basis is the use of our current operating cash accounts.

MR. BUBLICK: Oh, okay. Okay, and I'm pulling that up here now. Okay. I see that now. Okay. Okay, and for the monthly operating reports, those were due -- and the first monthly operating report was in fact due yesterday. Do you -- who will be preparing those?

MR. HARSHFIELD: With the assistance of FTI Consulting, preparing those with my accounting staff.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. Yeah, so just, you know, be aware that the -- the first one was due yesterday for the period of May -- April 14th through April 30th. And we're also -- in addition, you're also required to file periodic reports as required by Rule 2015.3. And that report should be filed no later than seven days from now. And just be aware that --

MR. CHANDLER: Sorry. This is Chad Chandler from FTI. Just so -- just so you're aware, while the -- and this -- well, the first monthly offering report was technically due yesterday. We did get an extension until the end of the month.

MR. BUBLICK: Oh, okay. Thank you for noting that.

And the last thing I'll note here is that your quarterly -- United States Trustee quarterly fees will be delinquent as of July 31st, 2022. Okay. Okay, so I'm just going to -- do you have your schedules and statement of financial affairs in front of you?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yes, I do.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. So there's a lot of parties online. So in the interest of everyone's time, I'm going to try and go through my questions very quickly, and leave enough time for everyone to ask their questions. Again, we're going to -- we have a hard stop at two hours, but if there's still plenty of questions and stuff to go through, we will definitely continue the meeting.

So with that, if you could please, for the record, note -- what was the reason for filing bankruptcy?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Liquidity. Lack of liquidity for operations.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. All right.

So now turning to your schedules, I'm looking at Schedule A/B. So actually, for everyone's convenience, let me actually provide a page number and all that. Okay, so that's going to be docket 240 -- question -- so that'd be -- okay, so I'm looking at docket 240, page 16, accounts receivable.

How much of that 1.2 million, that's 90 days old or less, do you expect will be collectible?

MR. HARSHFIELD: We expect all of it to be collectible. We have third-party payers that at times the -- the claims require resubmittal but -- but we do -- we do expect to collect.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. And for the amounts that are over 90 days old?

MR. HARSHFIELD: I'm sorry. What's the question?

MR. BUBLICK: So there's about $1,000 that are in accounts receivable that are over 90 days old. How likely is that to be collectible?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yes. Yes, we expect to collect that.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. Okay, so now I'm turning to page 17 of docket 240. So that's referring to the non-publicly traded stock. So for the Augustine Home Health and the Ziegler Link-Age, so you noted a -- you provided a book value of 186,000 for Augustine and 316,000 for Ziegler Link as book value. When you say book value, what is that? Is it, like, the face value of the stock?

MR. HARSHFIELD: So the -- for the Ziegler Link-Age, that would be the amount that has been invested in that equity fund. And then for the Augustine, that would be -- primarily be the earnings that that joint venture has accumulated over the life of the joint venture.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. So that's not the value -- the current -- it's not -- that's not, like, a market value. That's just what you've earned in that joint venture up till now with Augustine -- in that Augustine joint venture?

MR. HARSHFIELD: That's correct.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. Okay, so now I'm looking at page -- let's see, so that -- I'm looking at the -- the vehicles referred to in response to question number 47. So those are all the vehicles listed on page 36. So you got, like, a bunch of Cadillacs. What are those vehicles typically used for?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Resident transportation.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. And the values -- it says the valuation method is book value, but the valuation -- the value of the debtors' interest is unknown. Was it not possible to use Kelley Blue Book to derive the values?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Quite possibly. We just -- we did not go through that exercise.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. I would ask that you amend because, I mean, it just seems, you know, that there's stuff here that -- you know, I don't know what the value is, for instance, of a President Bus or a motor -- it looks like a motorcoach. But mostly of these seem like they're readily ascertainable through Kelley Blue Book, these Cadillacs and these personal vehicles. Do we have a deal on that?

MR. HARSHFIELD: I'm sorry, the question. Or I just made a note, that yes, if you would like us to amend -- you would like to amend?

MR. BUBLICK: Yeah, you know to -- you know, to provide, you know, actual values for, you know, it looks like these --

MR. HARSHFIELD: Okay.

MR. BUBLICK: -- dozen cars and busses and motorcoaches. I'm not really sure what that is. Some very large -- a very large bus?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Okay.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay.

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yes.

MR. BUBLICK: And -- okay. So now I'm looking at -- okay, so I'm looking at page 23, of docket 240. So you have resident contracts of $10.8 million here. How did you determine that value?

MR. HARSHFIELD: So that was a value that was determined prior to my appointment with -- with Lifespace and Edgemere. That was -- that was an entry that was recorded as a part of the purchase accounting back in 2019 when Edgemere was acquired. And I don't have -- I don't know the methodology that the ten million was used to arrive at. I do know that that amount has been audited by our independent auditors for a couple years now. So it's been affirmed by them. But I -- I'm not able to tell you exactly how that number was arrived at.

MR. BUBLICK: Huh? Okay. I guess, what's your best definition then of what resident contract denotes?

MR. HARSHFIELD: So it is essentially the -- the future economic value to Edgemere for those agreements. And that amount is amortized annually over -- for a straight-line method. But if you need more details, that's something I would have to follow up with.

MR. BUBLICK: That's fine. I just wanted to have it clear on the record what that -- what that meant. Okay. Okay, so for -- okay, so I'm looking now at Schedule D. So that's going to be page 27. I'm looking at this $101 million secured claim. It says here that the value of the collateral that supports this claim is unknown. So why is that amount unknown?

MR. HARSHFIELD: We have not had a recent appraisal done on the property.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. Okay, I'm going to pull up the statement of financial affairs now. So that's going to be docket 241. And we're still on the lead case for Northwest. Okay. And oh, actually, one quick -- other question back to the schedule. So I'm looking at Schedules E/F, that's docket 240 and I'm looking at page 39. And so referring to line 3.66. So for Lifespace Communities, there was a -- there's an unsecured claim for 1.8 million. When was that claim incurred?

MR. HARSHFIELD: So that is the result of since October of 2021, Lifespace has not been collecting the home office allocation. So that's an accumulation of -- over the month of the home office allocation that has not been paid by Edgemere to Lifespace.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. So that's accumulated for -- since October of 2021, you said?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Correct.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. And what does home office allocation comprise?

MR. HARSHFIELD: So home office allocation is -- so Lifespace is not a management company. So there isn't -- there isn't a management fee. Lifespace is the parent company. So for the services rendered by the home office, which is everything you can think of from -- the corporate office would provide. Those expenses are allocated across all the communities that Lifespace owns and -- and that allocation is simply an allocation of the corporate office expenses.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. Okay, so back to the statement of financial affairs and then we will move on to -- I'll open the floor to questions. So looking here at the -- go to SOFA 2. Okay, so I'm looking at the -- at the sources of income and that's on page 14. And what is -- what are the -- sorry. What is the source of the non-operating income for the debtor?

MR. HARSHFIELD: So those are the results of the resident contracts. There is a refundable portion and a nonrefundable portion. So if you have say a 90 percent return on capital contract, 90 percent of that is refundable to the resident when contingencies are triggered. The nonrefundable portion which would be the 10 percent is amortized over the life of the resident.

And so the non -- the other non-operating income is the -- is the amortization of the nonrefundable portion of all the resident contracts on an annual basis.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. Okay, and I'm looking at the transfers now that occurred within 90 days before filing this case. And that's going to be on page 36 of docket 241. So for all of these contractors and providers, are any of those people -- insiders or affiliates of the debtors or its officers or directors?

MR. HARSHFIELD: No, I wouldn't say any persons -- obviously the Lifespace -- transfers to Lifespace are transfers to the parent for reimbursement of expenses. But all other vendors there would not be any insiders or related parties.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay.

MR. HARSHFIELD: That I'm aware of.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. So I'm going to pull up the -- okay. So then, I don't think I saw any further 90 days to Lifespace, but I did see within the one year.

MR. HARSHFIELD: That is correct.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. So then the next question -- same thing for the -- for the next question, which is starting on page 53, for the transfers made within one year. Are any of those transfers made to -- well, clearly the -- like you said the Lifespace. But aside from Lifespace, are any of those transfers made to any affiliates or insiders of the debtors or its officers or directors?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yes. So towards the -- no officers, directors, towards the end of that schedule, you'll see some transfers to Querencia and Stayton. Those are affiliates.

MR. BUBLICK: Querencia?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yeah, right after Lifespace Communities in the last page, you'll see -- it starts with Q. Querencia.

MR. BUBLICK: Oh, okay. With a Q, okay.

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yeah. Seniority and Stayton. Those transfers are the result of our cash management --

MR. BUBLICK: Oh, okay.

MR. HARSHFIELD: -- system. So we -- we originally had a policy -- we still do have a policy across our communities that quarterly, any of those inner-company payables are cleared quarterly. But then in September for Edgemere, we started clearing those inner-company transactions on a monthly basis. That's why you see there's no longer any -- of course, there's a little $30. It looks like it may have been -- been an error. But those inner companies are now cleared on a monthly basis.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. So for the amounts that are going to Lifespace, are those part of the -- what did we call those? The home office fees, or is that something different?

MR. HARSHFIELD: So the home office fee -- yeah, so the Lifespace it's going to be a combination of home office allocation, salary reimbursement, which is -- there's two employees of Edgemere that are Lifespace employees that are reimbursed from Edgemere, back to Lifespace.

And then there's the shared services reimbursement. And what those are is for any consolidated billing that we would have at the corporate office. Some good examples would be insurance policies, software subscriptions, our benefits program, are all billed and managed at the corporate level. And then we allocate -- it's not even allocation, it's a direct charge to the communities for their portion of those expenses.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. Okay, so in the interest of time, I'm going to reserve any other questions I have at the end, if there are -- and see where we're at with time. So I want to make sure that we give people who are not represented a chance to ask questions. Otherwise, they'll drop off.

But I also want to make sure the Committee has -- so I guess, let me start like this. For people that are on this call that are not represented on the -- on the Committee, or on the Residents Committee -- can anyone identify themselves who are on the call right now that qualify in that situation, that are just on this call, and they're not represented by the -- well, actually, there's only one secured party. So I guess everyone qualifies for the presence on the Committee.

All right. So you know what? Let's just start off -- I just talked myself through that. Okay. Let's just start off with -- I'm going to give the Committee 30 minutes first. And then we'll give the Residents Committee 30 minutes. And then we'll -- then we'll open up the floor.

Okay, so again, the Unsecured Creditors Committee, if that person could just identify themselves and you can proceed with questions for 30 minutes.

MR. MCCARTIN:: Yeah. This is Steve McCartin on behalf of the Unsecured Creditors Committee. We actually have retained a financial advisor, Ankura, to assist the Committee and Ankura has been engaged with FTI the financial advisor for the debtor. And they are -- FTI's working with Ankura to provide Ankura with the benefit of this previous learning curve at Edgemere. So we're getting a data dump, if you will, by FTI, that's helping our financial advisors get up the learning curve much quicker.

And we've been in constant contact with Edgemere's counsel, Polsinelli. So we don't really have a lot of questions for today. We really have been asking our questions informally and getting information informally from the debtor or from FTI and its counsel right now.

We do -- I would like to tell people on the call, the Unsecured Creditors Committee, is -- includes, I think, almost exclusively former residents and current residents. There are -- there are -- so the Unsecured Creditors Committee does in fact, represent anyone with an unsecured claim, and that would include a resident refund claim, or a trade creditor.

The vast majority of the unsecured creditor claims listed by the debtor on the schedules filed recently are, of course, resident related claims. I think out of proximately $160 million worth of claims, you know, 156 million-ish are resident claims. A little less than 2 million or insider related claims of Lifespace. And then less than $2 million are trade creditors, you know, people that provided goods and services to Edgemere.

And so there is no separate official residence committee in the case. There's really one Committee, and it represents all unsecured creditors, whether you have a resident refund claim or someone that cut the grass and didn't get paid. But clearly 99.9 percent of the claims are resident claims. And so I wanted to clear that up, if that helps.

MR. BUBLICK: Thank you.

MR. MCCARTIN:: We intend -- we do intend to have a town hall meeting at the Edgemere pretty soon, where the Committee will make itself available to the residents to explain what our role in the case is and what we in fact are doing to represent the interest of residents and unsecured -- other unsecured creditors, and to answer any questions about the bankruptcy process, the probable timeline, any financial questions that we can answer.

We hope to do that in the next couple of weeks, which I think will be pretty helpful to people to really provide a forum to informally ask questions and get our responses. But having said that, I don't really want to take everyone's time up today with asking questions that quite honestly, we're -- we think we're getting answers to on a cooperative basis right now.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. Well, that -- okay, that helps a lot. Like, that -- hopefully, we can get through with today's meeting then.

All right. So I guess before I open up the floor, one question I just saw on my list that I wanted to ask the representative was -- so I'm looking back again, sir, at the -- at your schedules document, docket 240.

So you know, you've got assets of about 15 million, liabilities of 261 million. And where are the deposits from the current and past residents?

MR. HARSHFIELD: I'm not -- not sure of the question. I have to maybe walk you through the business model of the CCRC. But you know, the deposits are -- contingent liabilities are on the liability side. How far do you want me to go explaining how the economic model of the CCRC?

MR. BUBLICK: I guess --

MR. HARSHFIELD: Or --

MR. BUBLICK: Maybe this will -- this will help. So when I'm looking at your -- at the amount -- at the monies you have on hand that your bank account, you know, it's almost $800,000. Does that represent any deposits from these residents past or -- or current?

MR. HARSHFIELD: So there are deposits in escrow that are currently not on the balance sheet for residents that have moved in since September 27th. And that's sitting in an escrow account at Regions Bank. And that is separate from -- like I said, it's separate from the balance sheet of Edgemere. The deposits -- and again, I'm trying to work through -- I was trying through my mind how far you want me to go as far as explaining the business model of the CCRC to actually walk you through the cash flows of the deposits.

But, you know, typically, the deposits or entrance fees, particularly when CCRC was originally built, a substantial portion of those entrance fees are used to help capitalize the construction. And then the business model of the CCRC is intended that there is an ongoing new residents moving in, and a part of -- a big portion of their new deposits is used to fund the refund of the resident that either has moved out or to their estate for residents who have passed away.

MR. BUBLICK: So I --

MR. HARSHFIELD: I don't know if that fully answers your question or not but I'm just trying to --

MR. BUBLICK: It sounds like it's kind of like a squishy answer then. So in terms of, you know, the $800,000 that are, you know, listed here in the schedules for North -- for Northwest Senior Housing Corporation, so are some of -- does some of that money represent deposits from residents past or current?

MR. HARSHFIELD: It's -- I mean, it's operating funds that would be the result of -- yes, net. What we call net entrance fees received from residents. And then cash flow from other revenues whether it's monthly service fees or third-party fees that we earn. It all factors into our operating cash flow.

MR. BUBLICK: Mm-hmm. Okay. So I guess, whenever a resident leaves --

MR. HARSHFIELD: No, so actually the --

MR. BUBLICK: -- the money --

MR. HARSHFIELD: -- 800,000, none of that is actually, you know, designated as a resident deposit. I'm not sure if that answers your question or not.

MR. BUBLICK: So I guess, if a resident were to leave, you know, in the good times, monies would be paid to them from one of these accounts to refund them their deposit?

MR. HARSHFIELD: The way the resident contracts work is that a resident refund is triggered when two conditions are met. One condition is that the resident has either passed away or has left the community. And their independent living apartment has been repurchased by a new resident and a new deposit has been received. So once the new deposit's been received by the new resident, that triggers the refund amount to the former resident.

MR. BUBLICK: Uh-huh. And those will typically be taken out of one of these accounts, right?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yes, it all flows through the --

MR. BUBLICK: Okay.

MR. HARSHFIELD: -- operating account.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. All right. I pass the witness.

MR. HARSHFIELD: Okay.

MR. LEWIS: So this is Peter Lewis. Can I ask a question?

MR. BUBLICK: Yes, please.

MR. LEWIS: Yeah. So if I understand the testimony, so if there is a current resident at Edgemere who became a resident prior to September 27th of 2021 and they pass away or leave and there is a new resident that shows up and pays an entrance deposit for that unit that the prior resident had, is your testimony that that resident -- that former resident's estate would in fact receive the refund that I think was provided for in their contract?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Once the funds are received by Edgemere?

MR. LEWIS: Yes.

MR. HARSHFIELD: We could only have escrow -- we currently have an escrow agreement in place. So no new deposits have been received by Edgemere since September 27.

MR. LEWIS: Got it. My question is, if one -- if someone who paid their deposit prior to September 27th, 2021, passes away or leaves, and let's say, tomorrow they leave or they pass away and somebody next week buys or pays the entrance fee or entrance deposit for that unit, would the prior resident get the entrance fee refund?

Again, we're talking about somebody that was there prior to September 27th of 2021.

MR. HARSHFIELD: So the escrow is for new deposits, and those new deposits are in the escrow account held at Regions Bank and is not the property of Edgemere.

MR. LEWIS: Okay.

MR. HARSHFIELD: So those new deposits -- those new deposits have not been received, which was what would trigger a refund.

MR. LEWIS: Not talking about what's been received. I was just proposing a hypothetical, if you will. That's what I was talking about.

You had mentioned there were two conditions for an entrance fee refund or entrance deposit refund. And so I think I posited that we have both those conditions satisfied, but it was with respect to somebody who had moved in prior to September 27th of 2021. So that's what I'm referring to.

I understand that you've got an escrow arrangement for people post-September 27th.

MR. HARSHFIELD: Right.

MR. LEWIS: But what I was focused on were people that were -- became residents and paid their --

MS. DOLPHIN: Mr. Lewis? It's --

MR. LEWIS: Yes?

MS. DOLPHIN: -- Brenna Dolphin of Polsinelli. Let me help you out.

Mr. Harshfield, just answer in a yes or a no to Mr. Lewis' question.

MR. LEWIS: Thank you.

MS. DOLPHIN: If someone paid their entrance fee before September 27th lived at Edgemere, tomorrow they pass away or they leave the community. Next week a new person pays an entrance fee for that same independent living unit into the escrow account, would the entrance fee occur -- or the refund to the prior resident occur?

MR. HARSHFIELD: No, it would not.

MR. LEWIS: Thank you.

MS. DOLPHIN: Why not?

MR. LEWIS: Because the new deposit is held in escrow and is not the property of Edgemere. The refund --

MR. LEWIS: So what would happen --

MS. DOLPHIN: It's Brenna Dolphin again. Was that your -- was that -- does that address your question, Mr. Lewis? I'm trying to help you, sir.

MR. LEWIS: Yeah. Appreciate it. Thank you.

So the new deposit is not -- as I understand it, the reason is because the new deposit would not be Edgemere's property. Is that what I understood.

MR. HARSHFIELD: That is correct. While it's still in escrow, it is not Edgemere's property.

MR. LEWIS: Okay. Okay. Thank you.

MR. BUBLICK: Any other questions?

MR. TIBBLES: This is Mike Tibbles. I had a couple of questions. Do you have a copy of the current escrow agreement and what its terms are in terms of disposition of those funds?

MS. DOLPHIN: Mr. Tibble, this is Brenna Dolphin of Polsinelli. I am more than willing to email you a copy of the escrow agreement. It is an exhibit that's attached to docket number 18. It is on the docket, but if I can find your email address -- I don't know if you've entered a notice of appearance, I will handle giving it to you directly, sir.

MR. TIBBLES: Thank you. It's not necessary. I can find it with that.

MS. DOLPHIN: Oh, absolutely.

MR. TIBBLES: Thanks.

The other question that I had just for clarification of something that you just said earlier. Prior to September 27th '21, did you say that new resident deposits were put into your operating account and not in an escrow account of any kind?

MR. HARSHFIELD: So the way the process worked prior to September 27th is that the new resident deposits were actually placed into an escrow for a rescission period of seven days. And at the end of the seven days, the rescission period would expire and those funds would be transferred to the operating account of Edgemere. And then once that occurred, the refund would be triggered to the former resident.

MR. TIBBLES: So I've looked at the resident agreement, and it appeared that those funds were -- Edgemere was entitled to use those funds for purposes but until the use was necessary, they were to be held in escrow. Either that's wrong, or I misunderstood the way you did it. You're saying immediately --

MR. HARSHFIELD: So -- yeah, I really can't speak to a specific resident agreement. My statement is the general way that the entrance fee deposits and the refunds, our process operates.

MR. TIBBLES: Which is to be clear on the eighth day, it went straight into operating to be used as any ordinary revenue.

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yes.

MR. TIBBLES: And when a new resident, again prior to 9/27/21 arrived, who directed them to which particular unit they would be placed in? In other words, was there any effort to place them into a residence that matched up with the oldest deceased claimant, I'll call them, nonresident estate?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Not that I'm aware of.

MR. TIBBLES: Do you chronologically treat them or did they just randomly, I'd like this unit because of where it is? And even though that might have been the last resident to pass away, that resident would get the money ahead of someone else is my question.

MR. HARSHFIELD: I am not aware of any directing based on chronology. My understanding is that the units are sold based upon the customer preference.

MR. TIBBLES: That's the only questions I have.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. Next person, please identify yourself and ask your question.

MR. THOMAS: So this is Stuart Thomas, on behalf of the Milden Estate. How many units are empty and not occupied currently?

MR. HARSHFIELD: I don't have that exact number.

MR. THOMAS: I'll take an approximation.

MS. DOLPHIN: Mr. Thomas, this is Brenna Dolphin of Polsinelli. Can we please connect with you and provide you with accurate information than just to speculate?

MR. THOMAS: For sure. I'm just -- yeah, that's fine. I'm trying to get a sense for how many are in the same boat that my client's in where they're waiting for -- the resident died. They're waiting for someone to buy the unit and move into it in order to receive their deposit back. And I'd like to know how many -- what's the supply and demand like? Are there applications out there with available inventory, or do we have inventory and no demand? Can you give us a sense of that?

MR. HARSHFIELD: So --

MS. DOLPHIN: Mr. Harshfield, if you're prepared to answer that, go ahead, please.

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yeah. I certainly am not. I'd prefer to provide more specific information if we can as a follow up.

MR. TIBBLES: This is Mike Tibbles. When you do, please copy me on that. I'll give you my information.

MR. ADAMS: This is James Adams -- this is James

Adams, please copy on me.

MR. WILLIAMS: This is Benton Williams. Please copy Benton Williams as well. Thank you.

MR. LEWIS: And Peter Lewis -- and Peter Lewis.

MR. CRAFTON: And Michael Crafton for the Callaways (Ph.) Brenna, I think you have my information.

MS. DOLPHIN: I certainly do, sir. Nice to see you again.

MR. CRAFTON: Nice to hear from you.

MR. FRIEDMAN: And Alan Friedman.

MR. BUBLICK: The United States Trustee would also like to copied on this.

MS. DOLPHIN: Wouldn't dream of leaving you out.

MR. BUBLICK: Thank you.

MR. THOMAS: So this is Stuart Thomas, just a follow-up question. What is the triggering event under the new escrow agreement that would allow the deposit once it's been sold to a new resident who has moved in and their money has gone to the escrow agreement, what allows the money to be released to the prior owner under the deposit refund program?

MR. HARSHFIELD: I would say -- so I don't misspeak on the, you know, the legal language of the escrow agreement, I would certainly prefer to have everyone directed back the escrow agreement as it is provided so you can actually see the language itself instead of me interpreting.

MR. THOMAS: Okay.

MS. SHUM: This is Jennifer Shum on behalf of the current resident Phyllis Lisdal. Just a general question. Why are the deposits of a tenants considered unsecured when they have individual contracts that are already in place?

MR. HARSHFIELD: I believe that's a legal question that, frankly, I'm not prepared to answer.

MR. ADAMS: This is James Adams. Mr. Harshfield, does Edgemere currently intend to accept or reject the residents' contracts?

MR. HARSHFIELD: I don't know that I'm in a place to answer that question.

MS. DOLPHIN: Mr. Adams, this is Brenna Dolphin of Polsinelli. I would ask that you review the first day declaration that was submitted on the first day of the case. I will give you the docket number in a moment. It is docket number 7. Within the first day declaration, there's representations related to Edgemere's intentions related to the residency agreement.

MR. ADAMS: Is that the declaration of Mr. Harshfield?

MS. DOLPHIN: Yes, it is, sir.

MR. ADAMS: Thank you.

MR. ISRAEL: Good afternoon, Mr. Harshfield. Before -- this is Harold Israel on behalf of Intercity.

Before I ask my questions, I want to make sure all the residents have had the opportunity to ask their questions.

Okay, I'm hearing none. Again, my name is Harold Israel, of Levenfeld & Pearlstein. My firm represents Intercity Investments. I have a few follow-up questions on the schedules and SOFA. Starting with the schedules, I'd ask you to please turn to page 9 of Schedule A/B, which I believe is 22 of 54, where it lists buildings and improvements. And please let me know once you're there.

MR. HARSHFIELD: I'm there.

MR. ISRAEL: Thank you.

You see item 55.1 which states that the debtor owns 100 percent of the buildings and improvements?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yes.

MR. ISRAEL: That's not true, is it?

MR. HARSHFIELD: I'm not sure why that wouldn't be true but --

MR. ISRAEL: Well, who owns the building?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Edgemere owns the buildings.

MR. ISRAEL: The Edgemere owns the buildings. My understanding was my client Intercity owns the buildings, owns the property and the Edgemere leases the property; isn't that correct?

MR. HARSHFIELD: So my understanding is that Edgemere leases the land from Intercity.

MR. ISRAEL: But if the -- what happens to the building in the event of a default under the lease?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Well, in an event of default, I really -- frankly I'm not prepared to interpret the lease for this call.

MR. ISRAEL: Okay. Have the debtors determined whether they were going -- are going to assume or reject the lease?

MR. HARSHFIELD: That is not an answer I'm prepared to answer or a question that I'm prepared to answer at this time.

MR. ISRAEL: Okay. That's all. That's all I have on the schedules.

Turning to the SOFA, can you please turn to page 1 where you see that the SOFA states that revenues for the period of January 1, 2022, through the petition date are about 9.2 million?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yes.

MS. DOLPHIN: Mr. Israel, this is Brenna Dolphin. Would you mind -- which page of 57 is that? I apologize for being slow.

MR. ISRAEL: Oh, I'm sorry. We're on page 1 of the SOFA, Ms. Dolphin. Or whatever the PDF -- the first page after the note, page 13 of the --

MS. DOLPHIN: Sorry. I apologize. Thank you.

MR. ISRAEL: No, no worries. So we're on page 13 of 57 and the income year to date before the bankruptcy was 9.2 million. And annualized, that would be about 32.3 million, correct?

MR. HARSHFIELD: I'm going to trust your math. I did not annualize that number.

MR. ISRAEL: Okay. Assuming my math is correct, 2021 revenues were 29.2 million, correct?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yes.

MR. ISRAEL: What accounts for the increase in revenues on an annualized basis between 2021 and 2022?

MR. HARSHFIELD: So I would say generally -- I don't have the specifics of that, but generally we have seen some improvement in our sales, in occupancy.

MR. ISRAEL: Has the monthly rent been increased?

MR. HARSHFIELD: And what I would say is that most of that improvement occurred during the fourth quarter of 2021 and had some improvement in January. Yes, there was a rate increase January 1st.

MR. ISRAEL: Can you tell us about the approximate percentage increase?

MR. HARSHFIELD: The approximate was three percent.

MR. ISRAEL: Okay. Thank you.

Now, I would like to turn to PDF pages -- page 55 of 57. And please let me know once you're there.

MR. HARSHFIELD: I'm there.

MR. ISRAEL: Thank you. All right.

I want to make sure I understand the answer you told to the U.S. Trustee on this to make sure I have it right. The payments to the affiliates, Querencia and Stayton, did you say they were pursuant to a policy regarding inner companies? Did I understand that right?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Well, the policy is a result of the timing. So these amounts are due to -- and again, it's part of our cash management and that we have consolidated cash management. And on an interim period, prior to September, there could be funds going from one community to the next to help us with our cash management process. And that those inner companies would be cleared on a quarterly basis.

So these are -- what these would represent -- and so for instance, you look at Querencia, 7/15 there was a transfer of $1.1 million. That's because at June 30, there was money owed from Querencia -- or by Edgemere to Querencia. So in July that was money was paid back to Querencia from Edgemere.

MR. ISRAEL: Okay, and then I think I think I heard you say that the policy changed from quarterly to monthly; is that right?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yes.

MR. ISRAEL: When did that change?

MR. HARSHFIELD: I believe it changed in September or October of '21.

MR. ISRAEL: And -- and why did it change?

MR. HARSHFIELD: That was something that I asked my accounting team to make sure that we had inner companies cleared on a monthly basis.

MR. ISRAEL: Was there a particular reason or just a change in policy?

MR. HARSHFIELD: It was a change of direction, frankly. I would prefer the inner companies to be cleared and trued up on a monthly basis regardless of the community.

MR. ISRAEL: Understood. Is this -- is there a written policy?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Honestly, I'm not sure if there is a written policy.

MR. ISRAEL: If there is a written policy, we would appreciate a copy of the policy.

MR. HARSHFIELD: Okay.

MR. ISRAEL: At the time of the repayments, were either Querencia or Stayton aware of Edgemere's pending bankruptcy?

MR. HARSHFIELD: I'm not sure you would -- I'm not sure how to answer that, frankly.

MS. DOLPHIN: Mr. Israel, it's Brenna Dolphin of Polsinelli. So Mr. Harshfield's here today in his capacity as the treasurer of Edgemere. He's testifying on Edgemere's behalf. I would -- it's a little uncomfortable because Mr. Harshfield wears a number of hats and his counsel who represents him when he wears his other hats is not here on the call. So can we please stick to the personal knowledge he has in his capacity as a representative of Edgemere?

MR. ISRAEL: Sure. Can you just describe what other hats he's wearing? What other -- what his -- what his other positions are?

MS. DOLPHIN: Mr. Harshfield, what is your position with Lifespace Community?

MR. HARSHFIELD: With Lifespace Communities I'm the chief financial officer and treasurer and secretary.

MS. DOLPHIN: Mr. Harshfield, do you have a relationship with the Stayton?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yes, with the Stayton, I'm a board member, vice chair and treasurer.

MS. DOLPHIN: Mr. Harshfield, with respect to Querencia -- no, I apologize, Mr. Israel, I'll pass the virtual podium over to you.

MR. ISRAEL: Okay. That's okay. You can go ahead, Ms. Dolphin.

MS. DOLPHIN: Okay. Mr. Harshfield, would you describe your relationships with each of the affiliates here?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yes, I'm -- for the affiliates, the current CEO of the Stayton. I'm the -- again, the vice chair, treasurer, and board member of those affiliates.

MR. ISRAEL: And just so I'm clear, you're not prepared to testify about what Querencia knew in certain circumstances nor about the Stayton. Is that what Ms. Dolphin was referring to?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Correct.

MR. BUBLICK: Well, we also don't want to turn this into a 2004 examination, right? Let's keep this within the scope.

MR. ISRAEL: Understood. Understood.

Do you, Mr. Harshfield, have a position with Seniority?

MR. HARSHFIELD: So Seniority is essentially a disregarded entity. This amount in Seniority was a legacy inner company that needed to be cleared since Seniority is not even an operating entity any longer.

MR. ISRAEL: Okay. The last subject to completion -- the last thing I'd like to go to the very last page of the SOFA, page 57 of 57. You can let me know when you're ready for -- when you're there.

MR. HARSHFIELD: I'm there.

MR. ISRAEL: Okay, so these relate to payments made by the debtor related to bankruptcy; is that correct?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yes.

MR. ISRAEL: And there are payments to FTI Consulting dating back to April 26th, 2021, correct?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Correct.

MR. ISRAEL: And payments related -- made to Sidley Austin dating back to September 25th, 2021, correct?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Correct.

MR. ISRAEL: It looks to me that over $1.4 million in bankruptcy fees were paid before January 1st, 2022; is that correct?

MR. HARSHFIELD: I did not total the numbers.

MR. ISRAEL: From an eyeball, does that look pretty close?

MR. HARSHFIELD: I would have to trust your math.

MR. ISRAEL: Okay. Thank you. I've got nothing further.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. Are there any other parties that would like to ask a question?

MR. TIBBLES: This is Mike Tibbles, I just wanted one clarification regarding an apparent distinction between use of post 9/27 funds. Did I understand you correctly, that the initial resident deposit is in escrow, but the monthly rent or fees that each of those post-27 new residents pays is going into the operating account and now into the debtor-in-possession account?

MR. HARSHFIELD: So for residents who have moved in since September 27th, their entrance fee deposit is in escrow.

Their monthly service fees are paid directly into our operating account. And we do not have a debtor-in-possession account established at this point since we do have an interim approval from the court (indiscernible).

MR. TIBBLES: And the intention is that those revenues will go into the DIP account when it's created, correct?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Whatever we are instructed to do by the court is how we'll do that.

MR. TIBBLES: Thank you.

MR. ISRAEL: Mr. Harshfield --

MR. BUBLICK: Go ahead.

MR. ISRAEL: I'm sorry. Were you done? Okay.

MR. BUBLICK: Identify yourself, though. I'm sorry, whoever's speaking now, just identify yourself for the record.

MR. ISRAEL: I'm sorry. Harold Israel on behalf of Levenfeld & Pearlstein.

MR. BUBLICK: And if someone has background music going on, if you could just mute that or mute yourselves because it's -- okay. Go ahead, sir.

MR. ISRAEL: Okay. I'd like to just pick one of the payments for right now, just to make sure I understand. And I'm, again, going back to the payments to the affiliates just so I can understand where we are at.

So on April 25th, the Edgemere repaid the Stayton 1.2 million, correct?

MR. HARSHFIELD: April 25?

MR. ISRAEL: July -- July 15th. I'm sorry. I misspoke.

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yes. Yes.

MR. ISRAEL: And that was that was a repayment of services provided, correct? Bookkeeping entry?

MR. HARSHFIELD: No, it was not a payment of services provided as it says repayment of short-term advance. Again, it's part of our cash management process. If there was an advance from the Stayton to the Edgemere at the end of June, that was repaid by Edgemere back to the Stayton in July.

MR. ISRAEL: Was there interest?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Not that I'm aware of.

MR. ISRAEL: Okay. And was there a set due date? In other words, did the Stayton have an obligation to repay the 1.2 million on July 15th, 2021?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Well, the Stayton did not repay. Edgemere repaid it to the Stayton.

MR. ISRAEL: Edgemere repaid. Guys, I read it wrong. Did the Edgemere have an obligation to repay the Stayton on July 15th.

MR. HARSHFIELD: Not that I'm aware of. There's no financial instrument in place that outlines terms and conditions of the advances.

MR. ISRAEL: Okay. And what was the source of the repayment?

MR. HARSHFIELD: I can't tell you exactly, but generally it would be cash.

MR. ISRAEL: Okay. And -- okay, and then who makes the decision to request an advance from the other entities?

MR. HARSHFIELD: It's our cash management team and finance team just essentially on a daily basis.

MR. ISRAEL: So it's done at Lifespace?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yes.

MR. ISRAEL: And did -- does, for example, does Stayton ever make a demand to repay the Edgemere repay -- loan? The advance?

MR. HARSHFIELD: I'm -- frankly, I'm not sure how that -- they do that but --

MR. ISRAEL: Or is it just made by --(crosstalk)?

MR. BUBLICK: Because again, these are temporary cash advances so I'm not real sure how to answer your question.

MR. ISRAEL: Okay. Did the Stayton have the right to say, Edgemere, I advanced you 1.2 million in June, you need to repay it back to me today?

MS. DOLPHIN: Mr. Israel, this is Brenna Dolphin of Polsinelli. You asked this question once already.

MR. ISRAEL: I'll pass. What's the current amount available to the Edgemere to borrow from its affiliates?

MR. HARSHFIELD: There is no -- there is no set amount. And again, these are -- these are -- these transactions you're seeing here are really a process. It's not we're lending money. It's not a fact of lending money, because there's an immediate cash need. It's a process of our cash management system.

MR. ISRAEL: Okay. So could these advances back and forth happen during the bankruptcy?

MR. HARSHFIELD: We are not doing any advances back and forth at this time.

MR. ISRAEL: And there's no -- is there an intention to do so in the future?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Not that I'm aware of.

MR. ISRAEL: Okay. And I think my last question is going to be, did the Edgemere make advances to any of the other entities during the year prior to bankruptcy?

MR. HARSHFIELD: I'm not aware of any, but I would have to go back to our accounting records to validate that.

MR. ISRAEL: Okay. Nothing further. Thank you.

MR. CRAFTON: This is Michael Crafton of behalf of the Callaways. I just had a couple of questions related to the definitions on the Lifespace Communities' reason for payment or transfer on page 53 and 54 of the SOFA.

Can you please define, whenever you get there, what the shared services reimbursement would be?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yes, so the shared services portion is what I had mentioned earlier that -- typically that is for consolidated billing. A good examples of that would be insurance policies, software subscriptions, employee benefits programs, where those are built and managed at the corporate level. And then each community is charged directly for their share of those billings.

MR. CRAFTON: Okay. And can you define the home office allocation?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yes. So the home office allocation is simply an allocation of the corporate office expense that is allocated across all communities of Lifespace.

MR. CRAFTON: All right, and last one, the salary reimbursement, please?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yes. There are two -- I believe two, maybe three leaders at Edgemere that are employees of Lifespace. And they are directly reimbursed for their salaries and benefits back to Lifespace.

MR. CRAFTON: Okay. Thank you. I have nothing further at this time.

MR. BUBLICK: Awesome. This is Asher Bublick again with the U.S. Trustee's Office. I had a couple of questions that came to mind real quick.

When -- are units ever sold for less than what the previous owner bought it for?

MR. HARSHFIELD: I would say typically no, but I could not affirmatively say that it never happens.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. So -- so I guess my next question is -- so it -- so there are times then when a unit is sold for more than what the previous owner paid, right?

MR. HARSHFIELD: That is the typical case. Yes.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. And in an ideal world before bankruptcy, whenever the right things would occur to entitle that former resident to a refund, it would go into that account. And then 90 percent of that amount that you received from the sale -- or I guess 90 percent that that former resident is entitled to base on their contract, they would just -- so money would go into your account and money would go out as soon as it would be received essentially, right?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yes. I mean, there would be some days -- we do have days to issue the refund, but essentially what you're saying is true.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. Okay. So it's kind of like a one-and-one transactions, like you get paid for the sale of the unit and then it's only then that you can actually refund the amount that is owed for that unit to the former resident; is that right?

MR. HARSHFIELD: That's correct.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. Are there any other questions?

MS. DOLPHIN: Mr. Bublick, this Brenna Dolphin of Polsinelli.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. We have the time everyone.

MS. DOLPHIN: I have to clarify something.

MR. WILLIAMS: (Indiscernible) from the Estate of Patricia Adams.

MR. BUBLICK: We still have time everyone so let's --

MS. DOLPHIN: I have to clarify.

MR. BUBLICK: Please, go ahead --

MS. DOLPHIN: Yeah.

MR. BUBLICK: -- if there's any clarification.

MS. DOLPHIN: Sorry. Mr. Harshfield, this is Brenna Dolphin of Polsinelli. Do new residents purchase units from Edgemere? Do they actually buy the unit from Edgemere?

MR. HARSHFIELD: No, it's not a few simple transactions.

MS. DOLPHIN: So just now with Mr. Bublick, you were using shorthand, correct, when you're discussing --

MR. HARSHFIELD: That's true. That is true.

MS. DOLPHIN: Okay.

MR. HARSHFIELD: Thank you for clarifying.

MR. TIBBLES: This is Mike Tibbles. Going back to your last answer from the U.S. Trustee, as I understand it there's a -- as much as a 37-day period from the time you receive a new resident deposit to the time that you are obligated to use those funds to repay a deceased or departed resident. During that time, is it your practice to use those funds for normal operating expenses and possibly deplete those funds?

MR. HARSHFIELD: I would say, no. Normally we -- our practice is generally to repay the refund as soon as practical once the dollars are released from escrow.

MR. TIBBLES: Thank you.

MR. WILLIAMS: This is Benton Williams for the Estate of Patricia Adams. Mr. Harshfield, who are the three employees you mentioned, the Lifespace employees that work at Edgemere?

MR. HARSHFIELD: So the two that I know for sure, would be the executive director, and the administrator.

MR. WILLIAMS: Who are they -- what are their names?

MR. HARSHFIELD: So John Faldeen (Ph.) is the executive director. And Bobby Jo -- I think her name is Cocker or Coker is the healthcare administrator.

MR. WILLIAMS: Is Ann Joyce (Ph.) a former --

MR. HARSHFIELD: Oh, yes.

MR. WILLIAMS: -- Lifespace employee?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yes. I knew there's a third. Thank you. So Ann Joyce with Edgemere, but yes, that would have been the third person. That would have been a reimbursement back to Lifespace. That -- she has now been replaced with a new person in frankly, her name escapes me, who the new assistant executive director is at Edgemere.

MR. WILLIAMS: No further questions.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. I just wanted to confirm, again, whether there are other questions. Okay, I'm hearing none. So I just wanted to, again, Mr. Harshfield, make you aware of the outstanding administrative items, mainly the insurance documents that we are waiting on.

MR. HARSHFIELD: Yes.

MR. BUBLICK: Are you able to -- do you think a week would be enough time to get that done? Or do you need more time?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Oh, sure. Sure, absolutely. I'm -- I'll follow up with my team. Getting the document -- those documents should not be a problem.

MR. BUBLICK: Okay. So one week from today would be the 31st of May. So we have an agreement on that. And if you need more time to get us those insurance documents, you know, just please be in touch and we can certainly work with you.

So again, thank you, everyone. We finished early, so I'm just going to open the floor one last time. Are there any other questions before I conclude this meeting?

(No audible response.)

Okay, hearing nothing, that will conclude this meeting. Thank you, everyone. Have a great day.

(Whereupon these proceedings were concluded at 1:08 p.m.)

In Re: NORTHWEST SENIOR HOUSING CORPORATION, et al.[1] Debtors.	Chapter 11 Case No. 22-30659 (MVL)
Northwest Senior Housing Corporation, et al. Edgemere, v. Intercity Investment Properties, Inc. and Kong Capital, LLC, Defendants.	Adv. Pro. No. 22-03040 (MVL)

PLAINTIFF'S OBJECTIONS AND RESPONSES TO DEFENDANTS' FIRST SET OF WRITTEN DISCOVERY

Plaintiff Northwest Senior Housing Corporation d/b/a The Edgemere ("Edgemere") submits the following objections and responses to Defendants' First Set of Written Discovery (the "Discovery Requests").

GENERAL OBJECTIONS

1. Edgemere will respond to the Discovery Requests in compliance with the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure, Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, and the Rules of this Court and will, to the extent possible, construe the Discovery Requests consistent with the ordinary use of the English language and the words used in the interrogatories and requests for production according to their usual and customary meaning. The information provided is based upon the information presently available to and known by Edgemere. Edgemere will supplement its responses if necessary consistent with the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

[1] The Debtors in these chapter 11 cases, along with the last four digits of each Debtor's federal tax identification number, are Northwest Senior Housing Corporation (1278) and Senior Quality Lifestyles Corporation (2669). The Debtors' mailing address is 8523 Thackery Street, Dallas, Texas 75225.

2. Edgemere objects to the Discovery Requests to the extent they seek disclosure of communications, documents or other information that constitute communications between Edgemere and its attorneys or information protected from discovery by the common interest privilege or the work product doctrine. Edgemere responds to Discovery Requests assuming Defendants do not intend Edgemere to disclose any such communications, documents, or other information that implicates or may implicate any privilege or the work product doctrine.

3. Edgemere reserves all objections to the admissibility at trial of any information provided herein. The production of any information or identification or production of any document will not constitute an admission by Edgemere that such information or document is relevant to the pending litigation. Accordingly, Edgemere reserves the right to object to further inquiry with respect to the subject matter of any information or document provided. Discovery and trial preparation continue, and therefore Edgemere reserves the right to introduce any information or documents subsequently discovered and located and to assert additional information if necessary. Thus, to the extent consistent with the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, the following responses are provided without prejudice to Edgemere's right to produce evidence, documentary or otherwise, of any subsequently discovered facts and/or documents.

4. Edgemere objects to the Discovery Requests to the extent they purport to create an obligation to provide information or identify or produce documents in a manner not required under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure or other applicable law. Edgemere objects to any attempt to impose any greater obligation to collect documents or information beyond that imposed by law or regulation.

5. Edgemere objects to the Discovery Requests to the extent they are overly broad in and seek information or documents not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence or not germane to any claim or defense.

6. Edgemere objects to the Discovery Requests to the extent they impose an undue or disproportionate burden on Edgemere to the extent they seek information or documents already in Defendants' possession or that are publicly available.

7. In a good faith effort to comply with the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure concerning discovery, and to err on the side of inclusiveness, Edgemere may provide information that falls within the purview of objections specifically stated herein or elsewhere. Such identification should not be deemed a waiver of these objections, and Edgemere expressly preserves each and every objection.

8. Unless otherwise defined herein, capitalized terms shall have the meanings ascribed thereto in Edgemere's adversary complaint (the "Complaint").

OBJECTIONS AND RESPONSES TO INTERROGATORIES

INTERROGATORY NO. 1: Identify any professionals You consulted, engaged, or otherwise hired to evaluate Your financials since June 1, 2020, including but not limited to the "professionals" described in paragraph 18 of the Complaint.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this interrogatory to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere also objects to this interrogatory as vague and ambiguous insofar as it seeks information regarding professional retained to "evaluate [Edgemere's] financials."

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere states that on or around February 1, 2021, it engaged FTI Consulting, through counsel, to assist with an analysis of various financial issues, including projected financial performance. Edgemere further states that it has consulted with attorneys at DLA Piper, Sidley Austin LLP, and Polsinelli PC regarding its financials.

INTERROGATORY NO. 2: Identify any and all terms of the Lease You allege are unenforceable or violate applicable law and when You became aware of the alleged issues.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this interrogatory to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege or the attorney work product doctrine. Edgemere further objects to the extent this interrogatory calls for Edgemere to reach a legal conclusion.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, and although Edgemere's investigation continues, Edgemere states that sections 8.2 and 9.4 of the November 1999 Ground Lease (the "Lease") are unenforceable as a result of the parties' mutual mistake or are void as against Texas public policy because they would allow for Intercity Investment Properties, Inc. ("Intercity" or "ICI"), an entity not licensed to operate a Continuing Care Retirement Community in the State of Texas, to either assume Life Care Agreements of Edgemere residents, or allow Intercity to evict Edgemere residents from the Community and deny those residents refunds of the substantial entrance fees they previously paid. As alleged in the Complaint, Edgemere was not fully aware of the mutual mistake or the public policy concerns, including the legal impediments to Intercity assuming resident contracts, evicting residents, or retaining resident entrance fees, until September 2021, when Intercity sought to terminate the Lease and threatened to invoke the remedies described in sections 8.2 and 9.4 of the Lease and transition Edgemere to a different financial model and use. Though Edgemere's investigation continues, its investigation to date reveals that those issues may have come to light more generally as early as March 2021.

INTERROGATORY NO. 3: Identify any individuals who participated in discussions among You and Intercity, Lifespace, and/or UMB regarding the Lease.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this interrogatory to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere also objects because this interrogatory seeks information already in Defendants' possession or that is publicly available or equally available to Defendants as it is to Edgemere.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere states that documents produced in response to Intercity's requests for production will provide information responsive to this interrogatory. Subject to Edgemere's forthcoming document production, Edgemere states that the following people, among others, but excluding counsel, were involved in discussions about the lease among and between Edgemere, Intercity, Lifespace, and UMB:

- Jesse Jantzen, Lifespace CEO and Edgemere Chairman, President and CEO
- Nick Harshfield, Lifespace CFO and Edgemere Vice Chairman and Treasurer
- Eddie Fenoglio, Lifespace COO and Edgemere Secretary
- Members of the Edgemere Board of Directors
- Members of the Lifespace Board of Directors
- Chris Jordan, Intercity President

- Nick Hannon, Intercity Executive Vice President
- Irina Palchuk, UMB Senior Vice President
- Virginia Housum, UMB Senior Vice President

INTERROGATORY NO. 4: Identify any individuals or entities with whom You allege Intercity and/or Kong discussed Confidential Information.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this interrogatory to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege or the attorney work product doctrine. Edgemere further objects to this interrogatory because it seeks information already in Defendants' possession or that Defendants are uniquely positioned to know.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere states that documents produced in response to Intercity's requests for production will provide information responsive to this interrogatory. And although Edgemere's investigation continues, Edgemere further states Intercity and Kong Capital, LLC ("Kong") disclosed Edgemere's Confidential Information, or used Edgemere's Confidential Information to wrongfully compete with Edgemere in violation of the September 7, 2021 Confidentiality and Nondisclosure Agreement (the "NDA"), in conversations or communications with The Dallas Morning News, The Texas Department of Insurance, the Texas Attorney General's Office, The Edgemere Resident Board, and Edgemere residents Jim Smith and Charles and Hilda Simmons.

INTERROGATORY NO. 5: Identify: (a) any Confidential Information that Intercity and/or Kong allegedly shared in violation of the NDA and (b) any third-party with whom You shared the identified Confidential Information.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this interrogatory to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere further objects to this interrogatory because it seeks information already in Defendants' possession or that Defendants are uniquely positioned to know. Edgemere also objects to this interrogatory insofar as it is duplicative, in part, to Interrogatory No. 4.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere states that documents produced in response to Intercity's requests for production will provide information responsive to this interrogatory. And although Edgemere's investigation continues, Edgemere further states that Defendants disclosed Edgemere's Confidential Information consisting of forward-looking financial projections and related information, including the existence and details of Edgemere's restructuring efforts, or used those categories of confidential financial information to wrongfully compete with Edgemere in violation of the NDA. Edgemere further states that on April 17, 2022, Intercity filed in the Chapter 11 cases a confidential Operational and Financial Assessment prepared by FTI Consulting (the "FTI Report"), which Edgemere had previously provided to Intercity under the terms of the NDA (Dkt No. 61). The Dallas Morning News accessed and downloaded the publicly-filed confidential report and later published certain information from that report in a May 1, 2022 article in both print and online format where it remains available to the general public. Edgemere further states that none of the confidential materials disclosed to Defendants under the terms of the NDA had been previously disclosed to third parties not also subject to a non-disclosure agreement or covered by the attorney-client or common interest privileges.

INTERROGATORY NO. 6: Identify any steps that You took to address or remedy any alleged sharing of Confidential Information by Intercity and/or Kong.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this interrogatory to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege or the attorney work product doctrine. Edgemere further objects to this interrogatory in that it seeks information beyond the scope of the Complaint and not germane to any claim or defense in this action.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere states that documents produced in response to Intercity's requests for production will provide information responsive to this interrogatory. And although Edgemere's investigation continues, Edgemere further states that Intercity and its representative Kong, not Edgemere, had a contractual obligation under the NDA to remedy their violations of the NDA. Nevertheless, Edgemere's counsel notified Intercity's counsel on February 23, 2022 of Intercity's and Kong's violations of the NDA and demanded that Intercity and Kong cease and desist from any additional disclosure of Edgemere's Confidential Information and immediately take the actions required under the NDA to immediately remedy their violation of the NDA. In addition, Edgemere's executive team ceased all direct interaction with Intercity and Kong, including any further dissemination of Confidential Information to Intercity or Kong, at least as early as February 22, 2022. Edgemere then filed this Adversary proceeding seeking remedies for Intercity's and Kong's wrongful conduct. And after Defendants publicly filed the FTI Report in the Chapter 11 cases, Edgemere also demanded, in a May 10, 2022 letter from Edgemere's counsel to Intercity's counsel, that Intercity immediately cease and desist from further harmful disclosures of Edgemere's Confidential Information.

INTERROGATORY NO. 7: Identify any false statement that Intercity and/or Kong allegedly made concerning You.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this interrogatory to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege or the attorney work product doctrine. Edgemere further objects to this interrogatory in that it seeks information beyond the scope of the Complaint and not germane to any claim or defense in this action.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, and although Edgemere's investigation continues, Edgemere states that Kong's statements to The Dallas Morning News regarding Edgemere's financial position, future viability, and approach to new resident entrance fees were false, misleading, and disparaging.

INTERROGATORY NO. 8: Identify all existing contracts with which Intercity and/or Kong allegedly interfered, including but not limited to any specific resident contracts.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this interrogatory to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege or the attorney work product doctrine. Edgemere further objects to this interrogatory in that it seeks information beyond the scope of the Complaint and not germane to any claim or defense in this action. Edgemere further objects to this interrogatory as vague and ambiguous because the word "interfere" is undefined. Edgemere also objects to this interrogatory because it seeks confidential personal information that Edgemere has an independent obligation to maintain in strict confidence.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere states that documents produced in response to Intercity's requests for production will provide information responsive to this interrogatory. Subject to Edgemere's forthcoming document production, and although its investigation continues, Edgemere states that Intercity's and Kong's wrongful disclosure and misuse of Edgemere's Confidential Information interfered with contracts with Edgemere residents or otherwise improperly caused Edgemere residents to take actions damaging to Edgemere insofar as certain residents in Edgemere's Assisted Living area provided contractually required notice and moved out of the Edgemere Community.

INTERROGATORY NO. 9: Identify all prospective resident contracts with which Intercity and/or Kong allegedly interfered with and/or otherwise caused Edgemere to lose.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this interrogatory to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege or the attorney work product doctrine. Edgemere further objects to this interrogatory insofar as it seeks to improperly narrow the scope of Edgemere's claim for tortious interference with a prospective contractual and business relations. Edgemere further objects to this interrogatory as vague and ambiguous because the word "interfere" is undefined. Edgemere also objects to this interrogatory because it seeks confidential personal information that Edgemere has an independent obligation to maintain in strict confidence.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere states that documents produced in response to Intercity's requests for production will provide information responsive to this interrogatory. And although Edgemere's investigation continues, Edgemere further states that Intercity and Kong tortiously interfered with prospective Edgemere residents, including, but not limited to, those that had scheduled tours of the Edgemere community and canceled, those that had paid a deposit to secure residency at Edgemere but then deferred closing, and those that had demonstrated interest in or commitment to joining Edgemere but elected not to do so. Edgemere further states that Intercity's and Kong's wrongful conduct also interfered with and damaged Edgemere's relationships with key referral sources.

INTERROGATORY NO. 10: Identify the reasons You failed to pay principal of and interest on the Bonds due since October 2021 as set forth in the February 24, 2022 UMB letter and the reasons You failed to maintain a Debt Service Coverage Ratio of at least 1.0x as of December 31, 2020 and December 31, 2021.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this interrogatory to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, or the attorney work product doctrine. Edgemere further objects to this interrogatory in that it seeks information beyond the scope of the Complaint and not germane to any claim or defense in this action. Edgemere also objects to this interrogatory insofar as it is compound and seeks answers on several discrete, unrelated issues.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere states that documents produced in response to Intercity's requests for production will provide information responsive to this interrogatory. Subject to Edgemere's forthcoming document production, Edgemere states that Lifespace, UMB, Intercity, and Edgemere entered into a Forbearance Agreement dated December 21, 2021 (the "Forbearance Agreement"), to address, among other things, certain liquidity challenges facing Edgemere. Edgemere further states that its specific financial decisions in October 2021 and December 2021, and otherwise, were undertaken openly, in consultation with its stakeholders (including ICI, and later Kong), to preserve liquidity, prioritize community operations, and protect Edgemere residents.

INTERROGATORY NO. 11: Provide a list of any in-person meetings held among You, Lifespace, UMB, and/or Thomas R. Califano concerning Your financial condition, the Bonds, the Lease, the Bankruptcy, the Restructuring, the Historical Financial Condition, any Disclosure Statement, or this Lawsuit.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this interrogatory to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere further objects to this interrogatory.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere states that documents produced in response to Intercity's requests for production will provide information responsive to this interrogatory. Subject to Edgemere's forthcoming document production, Edgemere states that Edgemere executives met on November 2, 2021 with representatives of UMB at UMB's counsel's offices in Boston, Massachusetts.

INTERROGATORY NO. 12: Identify any third-party, other than your legal counsel, with whom you have discussed the Lease, ICI, Kong, or the claims set forth in the Lawsuit, and describe such communications.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this interrogatory to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere further objects to this interrogatory in that it seeks information beyond the scope of the Complaint and not germane to any claim or defense in this action. Edgemere also objects to this interrogatory to the extent it seeks information for the period after the Chapter 11 cases and this proceeding were filed.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere states that documents produced in response to Intercity's requests for production will provide information responsive to this interrogatory. Subject to Edgemere's forthcoming document production, Edgemere states that before the Chapter 11 cases and this proceeding were filed, it generally discussed the Lease or the claims in this lawsuit at a high level with, among others, UMB, FTI Consulting, Lifespace, the Edgemere Resident Board and committees to that Board, Edgemere residents, Edgemere employees, Edgemere's auditors (CliftonLarsonAllen LLP), the Texas Department of Insurance, and the Texas Attorney General's Office. Those communications consisted of periodic town hall meetings with residents, town hall-style meetings with Edgemere employees, meetings with Edgemere management teams, and one-on-one meetings with individual residents, among other meetings, where Lifespace or Edgemere leadership provided high level information regarding the negative press campaign initiated by Intercity and Kong, Edgemere's overall financial position, and, after the Chapter 11 cases were filed, general restructuring issues. The communications with regulators and Edgemere's professionals were informational discussions regarding Edgemere's financial position and the potential restructuring.

INTERROGATORY NO. 13: With respect to each unit at Edgemere, list: (a) the amount paid for each residential unit (last transaction); (b) the amount of the entrance fee paid connection with the last transaction on each residential unit, which is refundable; (c) date of entry resident moved into Edgemere; and (d) the current age of each resident residing in each residential unit at Edgemere:

Unit No.	The Amount Paid for Each Residential Unit (Last Sale)	The Amount of the Entrance Fee Paid in Connection with Last Sale of Each Residential Unit, Which is Refundable	Date of Entry Resident Moved into Edgemere	Current Age of Each Resident Residing in Each Individual Unit

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this interrogatory to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere further objects to this interrogatory in that it seeks information beyond the scope of the Complaint and not germane to any claim or defense in this action. Edgemere also objects to this interrogatory because it seeks confidential personal information that Edgemere has an independent obligation to maintain in strict confidence.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere states that documents produced in response to Intercity's requests for production will provide information responsive to this interrogatory in aggregate form or in a manner that redacts personal identifiable or confidential information of individual residents or their estates to comply with Edgemere's independent confidentiality obligations.

INTERROGATORY NO. 14: As of the present date, list all Edgemere's resident refunds that are currently fully liquidated and not contingent and the amount thereof by individual/estate:

Individual/Estate Name	Edgemere's Current Obligation

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this interrogatory to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere further objects to this interrogatory as overly broad in that it seeks information that is not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence. Edgemere further objects to this interrogatory in that it seeks information beyond the scope of the Complaint and not germane to any claim or defense in this action. Edgemere also objects to this interrogatory because it seeks confidential personal information that Edgemere has an independent obligation to maintain in strict confidence. Edgemere further objects to the extent this interrogatory seeks information that is now publicly available (in redacted form) or already in Defendants' possession, custody, or control (in redacted form).

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere states that documents produced in response to Intercity's requests for production will provide information responsive to this interrogatory in aggregate form or in a manner that redacts personal identifiable or confidential information of individual residents or their estates to comply with Edgemere's independent confidentiality obligations.

INTERROGATORY NO. 15: Set forth Edgemere's debt schedule by CUSIP# including description, amount, rate, term, covenant(s), and payment terms.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this interrogatory as overly broad in that it seeks information that is not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence. Edgemere further objects to this interrogatory in that it seeks information beyond the scope of the Complaint and not germane to any claim or defense in this action. Edgemere also objects to this interrogatory because it seeks information that is publicly available or already in Defendants' possession, custody, or control.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere states that Edgemere already filed this information in conjunction with its Statement of Assets and Liabilities filed in the Chapter 11 cases. Edgemere further states that documents produced in response to Intercity's requests for production will provide information responsive to this interrogatory.

INTERROGATORY NO. 16: Identify any information produced by Edgemere to either ICI and/or Kong under the NDA that contained information that had not been disclosed to a third-party by Edgemere.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this interrogatory to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere also objects to this interrogatory insofar as it is duplicative, in part, to Interrogatory No 5.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere states that documents produced in response to Intercity's requests for production will provide information responsive to this interrogatory. Subject to that forthcoming document production, Edgemere further states that none of the confidential materials disclosed to Defendants under the terms of the NDA, including but not limited to Edgemere's confidential, forward-looking financial projections (including the FTI Report) and related confidential financial information, including the existence and details of Edgemere's restructuring efforts, had been previously disclosed to third parties not also subject to a non-disclosure agreement or covered by the attorney-client or common interest privileges.

INTERROGATORY NO. 17: State the amount of monetary damage Edgemere allegedly suffered as a result of any allegedly wrongful conduct engaged in by ICI and/or Kong, including how such purported monetary damage was calculated, i.e., the exact calculation to yield the claimed monetary damage figure and the inputs for the calculation.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this interrogatory to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, or the attorney work product doctrine.

Edgemere also objects to this interrogatory as premature. The specific measure and amount of damages will be the subject of expert analysis and testimony in this case.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere states that it will disclose its expert's damages analysis as specified in the Court's scheduling order.

OBJECTIONS AND RESPONSES TO REQUESTS FOR PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 1: All Documents and Communications concerning Intercity, Kong, or the claims in this Lawsuit.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere further objects to this request as overly broad and unduly burdensome in that it purports to seek "all Documents and Communications concerning Intercity [and] Kong." The request is not reasonably related to the allegations in the Complaint and therefore imposes a burden on Edgemere that is disproportionate to the needs of the case. Edgemere further objects to this request as unduly burdensome in that it seeks documents already in Defendants' possession, custody, or control, or that are equally available to Defendant as Edgemere.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 2: All Documents and Communications concerning the Lease, including, but not limited to, communications concerning Your obligations under the Lease as written, as well as any proposals to modify the Lease or buy the Property.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. DALLAS, TEXAS - MARCH 7, 2023 - 2:00 P.M.

THE CLERK: All rise. The United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, Dallas Division, is now in session, The Honorable Michelle Larson presiding.

THE COURT: Please. Be seated. Good afternoon, everyone. We're here on our 2:00 o'clock docket. We have a handful of matters on the docket, all in the same case, so I'll go ahead and call Case No. 22-30659, Northwest Senior Housing Corporation. I'll take appearances for the record, and start with those folks in the courtroom.

MS. GREEN: Good afternoon. Trinitee Green of Polsinelli on behalf of the Debtors. Here with me is Mr. Johnson. Thank you.

THE COURT: Thank you.

MR. MURPHY: Your Honor, Frasher Murphy with Haynes and Boone for UMB Bank. And from the Mintz firm we have Dan Bleck, Eric Blythe, and Kaitlin Walsh.

THE COURT: All righty. Thank you.

MR. MCCARTIN: Good afternoon, Your Honor. Steve McCartin and Tom Scannell on behalf of the Committee.

THE COURT: Good afternoon.

MR. WALKER: Good afternoon, Your Honor. Eric Walker of Cooley on behalf of Lifespace Communities, Inc.

MS. WALKER: Good afternoon. Adrienne Walker, with Matthew Davis, of Locke Lord, on behalf of Bay 9 Holdings.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Good afternoon, Your Honor. Elizabeth Vandesteeg, Eileen Sethna, and Harold Israel of Levenfeld Pearlstein; Ivan Gold of Allen Matkins; and Elizabeth Pittman of Jackson Walker; on behalf of Intercity Investment Properties, Inc.

THE COURT: All right. Now I'll turn to -- oh, please. Mr. Williams.

MR. WILLIAMS: Thank you, Your Honor. Benton Williams on behalf of former residents: The Estate of Patricia Adams, Pamela Siviglia, and Andrew L. Adams. Thank you.

THE COURT: Good afternoon.

Okay. Now I'll turn to WebEx. I have, with the UMB firm, one additional appearance, and that's Ms. Catherine Lombardo with the Mintz firm.

(Echoing.)

THE COURT: All righty. I also have an appearance by Ms. Susan Goodman with Pivot Health Law, the Health Care Ombudsman in this matter.

Is there anyone else on WebEx who would like to make an appearance today?

MS. LAMBERT: Lisa Lambert for the United States Trustee.

THE COURT: Good afternoon, Ms. Lambert.

All right. Anyone else?

Okay. I know we have confirmation openings set for today, and as of yesterday we had an emergency motion to strike that was set as well. So, has that been resolved, or is that where we should start?

MS. GREEN: Good afternoon, Your Honor. Trinitee Green for the Debtors.

No, it has not been resolved. Shocker. And I think we'll get there, but first I want to accomplish a couple of things before we get to the motion to strike --

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. GREEN: -- and before we get into the heart of the confirmation hearing.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. GREEN: First and foremost, I would like to thank the Court. If I recall correctly, the Court is taking time off from her time off to keep these cases on track, so thank you.

THE COURT: You're welcome.

MS. GREEN: And next is I think it makes sense for the Debtors to kind of lay out the road map for how we see the next day and a half proceeding.

The Plan Sponsors and the Debtors did not anticipate an emergency motion to strike --

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MS. GREEN: -- when a one-and-a-half-day hearing was arranged about two weeks ago. And so we were already pushing it to get everything in within a day and a half, and now we have the motion to strike.

And so, as a reminder, Mr. Harshfield is the witness for the Plan Sponsors. He's our Section 1129 witness. He is also the witness for Lifespace. And he's available today. He is not available tomorrow. Andres Estrada of KCC is our other declarant in support of confirmation. He's available both today and tomorrow. But the goal is really to get through Mr. Harshfield's testimony today.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. HENDRICKS: And in light of the motion to strike and that goal, we think that it is imperative that openings be skipped, that we dive right into evidence. That way, parties will have ample opportunity to address all of the issues in closing arguments, as we initially anticipated. Adequate assurance, sale, confirmation. It can all be addressed at closing, and then we can move into the Donosky matter. And I've spoken to Mr. Hendricks, or I should say we've emailed, and Mr. Hendricks is agreeable to deferring closing arguments on the Donosky matter until everything with respect to confirmation has been completed.

And so that's sort of a road map for how we see things going. But I wanted to bring a couple of items to the Court's attention before we go into the motion to strike.

So, the good news is we have made progress on the property condition ruling. We gave an update at the sale hearing, and I have an additional update.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. GREEN: So, on the items that were ordered -- there were five orders for us to address as Debtors -- we have, on the corroded pipe, it was scheduled to be replaced, but then weather -- and because of weather, it had to be rescheduled, so that will take place on March 9th.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. GREEN: The Court also asked the Debtors to address -- ordered the Debtors to address rust on the cooling towers. This will be completed tomorrow.

There was one smashed gutter identified in Photograph 48, and they've already come out, came out to the property, they took measurements, but they need to fabricate a new gutter. That's going to take a little bit of time, so we're looking at about two weeks.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. GREEN: On the carbon monoxide detectors in the parking garage, we're almost complete. We are about 90 percent complete there, and expect to be a hundred percent complete by this Friday. I don't know how you can be 90 percent and 100 percent complete, but I'm sure that they do.

(Laughter.)

MS. GREEN: And then finally, Your Honor, the small tear in the membrane, a two-inch tear, this is where we're running into some problems. And this was identified in Photograph 40 presented by the Landlord in connection with the testimony of Mr. Hull of Terracon. We have attempted to locate the two-inch tear and we have failed miserably. This roof is 60,000 square feet, I'm told, and so it's a little bit like looking for a needle in a haystack.

So the Debtors reached out to -- or, I should say counsel for the Debtors reached out to counsel for the Landlord just to confirm that it was okay for us to contact Terracon, who seemed like the best person or party to assist us with locating the tear so that it could be repaired.

We were surprised when we received the following response: "We confirmed with Terracon that the photo of the tear in the modified bitumen was representative, not exhaustive, of the condition of the flat roof at The Edgemere as of mid-July 2022. We therefore recommend that a complete and thorough inspection of the roof be undertaken and repairs made. Please send us the engagement letter, contract, and evidence of completion."

The testimony of Mr. Hull was that there was one tear. There was one photograph of one tear. And this is, we believe, an example of overreaching in general, but more specifically with respect to the Court's ruling.

More importantly, this is not what we understood the Court's order to be. And so while the Landlord is attempting to impose these additional requirements on Edgemere rather than just assisting Edgemere with locating the tear so that it can be repaired, I think it's important to note a couple of things.

The plan objection filed by the Landlord complains about how we won't know the cure amount, the potential property cure amount by the time of the confirmation hearing. We're trying to do that. And so I want to make that point.

This, Your Honor, is what the parties who've been attempting to reach a resolution in these cases, quite frankly, have been dealing with for over a year. And unfortunately, we need the Court's guidance. We can't comply with the ruling because we can't find the tear. But we also think that it's very important to demonstrate this response -- or, to highlight this response because it demonstrates something. I think it demonstrates the true intentions behind the assertions of the property condition defaults, because we are attempting to cure this two-inch tear that we can't find and we have a Landlord that's complaining about the tear on the one hand and standing in the way of us curing the default on the other. Those things don't work together.

And I think it's important to bring this up because the Landlord has had every opportunity to assert and reassert property condition defaults, and if the Landlord wanted to address this gap in time between the Court's ruling and the assumption date, that probably should have been done in connection with the cure trial, not the plan objection. But because it was asserted as a ground for objecting to confirmation, I thought, as a point of equity, the Court ought to know what we're dealing with.

THE COURT: All right.

MS. GREEN: Now, that being said -- and I am apparently not a fast learner. I need water.

THE COURT: Take your time.

(Laughter.)

MS. GREEN: That being said, we heard the Court, and we negotiated a second amendment to the APA.

THE COURT: Right.

MS. GREEN: It was filed this morning. Hopefully, Your Honor has had an opportunity to review it.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MS. GREEN: But we believe that it expressly deals with the hypothetical that the Court raised in denying the Rule 52(c) motion. Ms. Walker will address the second amendment, but before she does I just want to reiterate the point with respect to the property condition, because it does keep coming up.

Paragraph 39 of the plan objection states, "The Court's failure to include certain property conditions as defaults in its ruling doesn't mean that Bay 9 doesn't have to comply with the lease."

It is like a bad song stuck on repeat. Your Honor expressed the same or similar concerns with ICI's attempts to keep replaying the same old song when it acknowledged that continued litigation, either now or one day after the closing, would not be tolerated.

So, while we don't think that property condition is appropriate at this juncture and we do think that Section 365 and our obligations to cure under Section 365 have been fully litigated and are not appropriate at this juncture, we still heard the Court and we took every attempt that we could with the second amendment to the APA to answer the Court's questions.

And so, with that, I would cede the podium to Ms. Walker to talk about the amended APA, if it pleases the Court.

THE COURT: Okay. Just give me one moment.

(Pause.)

THE COURT: Just give me one moment.

THE COURT: One more thing.

(Pause.)

THE COURT: So, one thing with respect to the counsel table: If anyone has their phone on the counsel table, just kind of scoot it away from the mics. There's a little bit of feedback that's being picked up. It happens.

So the only other thing that I want to do is, before -- all righty. Find my APA and amendment. Got it. I'm ready. Thank you very much for your opening, Ms. Green.

Is there a consensus as to whether openings will be had, or is there no consensus?

MS. GREEN: I would assume there's no consensus.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much, Ms. Green.

MS. GREEN: Thank you.

THE COURT: So, Ms. Walker?

MS. WALKER: Adrienne Walker for Bay 9. And Your Honor, because I tend to work, I'm more of a pictorial person, I have a bit of a demonstrative that might help walk through just the APA amendment.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. WALKER: May I approach?

THE COURT: Yes.

MS. WALKER: And Your Honor, how many copies would you like?

THE COURT: Two, please. Thank you very much.

MS. WALKER: And Your Honor, I think it's because I come from the great Commonwealth that we are the home of the Dunkin' Donut, which has these little Munchkins that fill doughnut holes. So, Your Honor, ICI claimed that there were a bunch of doughnut holes to this APA, and we didn't think so. However, Your Honor did put forward a hypothetical.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MS. WALKER: And so what we've tried to do is address that in the APA amendment that was just filed this morning at 1325 as an exhibit. And so how we have addressed this is we've looked at, okay, what are all the property -- there are property conditions.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MS. WALKER: And then they fall into known and unknown categories. So we take our flow. For the unknown categories, there's two solutions. Bay 9 has amended the asset purchase agreement at 2.3C(i) to say, okay, we're going to assume unknown property conditions. This was the hypothetical, if you peel back the roof and you saw that there was some damage underneath with some framing, we're going to take that. Mrs. Hatch already testified that, as a matter business, we're going to do that. We've put that in there to hopefully put to rest that concern.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MS. WALKER: Two, there was the other suggestion if there was a slip-and-fall, for example, today, pre-close, but what can they do down the road? So we've worked into the asset purchase agreement if you need someone to tender to because we're in the great state of Texas and it's not a direct action state, what do you do? We have a mechanism in there to address the Landlord's concern. That's at 8.2D of the asset purchase, the Amendment 2. And there'll be some language in the confirmation order as well. It's not in the current form of the confirmation order, --

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MS. WALKER: -- but it'll be addressed.

So now we have the unknowns. And I think you have categories of -- you have known knowns, known unknowns, and unknown unknowns. We can't deal with the unknown unknowns, in any case. So we have dealt with the known unknowns. The known knowns. Known -- on the left of the chart. Known conditions the Landlords cure. There are two universes that Your Honor decided at the bench ruling. We had a list of, I don't know, I didn't count them, but 50 different conditions. It's actually at 8.2 --

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MS. WALKER: -- C, Schedule 8.2C to this amendment. We took every condition that was at the property condition trial and we went through Your Honor's bench ruling and we said, okay, did Your Honor say this was a default or a nondefault? Everything that was a default, Debtors' counsel has already advised what they're doing.

THE COURT: So you took the cure chart that ICI had in their brief? Okay.

MS. WALKER: Correct. We took out whether it was Plante Moran, Terracon, and the dollars.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MS. WALKER: We just said all the conditions. Because all those conditions were before the Court in the trial, known conditions that Terracon or someone said were there.

You have two buckets that could fall into. It's either going to be cured or it's not a default. And what do you do with that?

For the cured situation, again, you come down, you follow, the green are the Debtor and the blue are Bay 9 on this bottom chart. The seller is going to do -- the Debtor is going to do two things. They're going to satisfy by a certification. They've already given feedback to the Court of where they're at. And they're going to -- there's eventually going to be something certified saying, We have cured these.

Now, there are a couple of conditions that were of higher elevation that needed some more investigation. At the prior hearing about a week and a half ago, Debtors' counsel advised what we're doing. So there's an engineer out there doing an investigation. There's been one day of testing. There's been some weather and intervening business. They're going to come back and do a second day.

THE COURT: And that's SOCOTEC?

MS. WALKER: SOCOTEC. Exactly. And SOCOTEC is doing both the expansion joint as well as the façade. So you see on here, and those buckets of joint and façade are 16, 20, and 24 on that big schedule.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MS. WALKER: So, you see at the APA amendment at 2.4G, 2.5D, and I've identified expressly where you're going to find how those have been addressed. And largely it's going to be those conditions are going to be certified, great. We know there's going to be -- Your Honor has asked to see those summary reports and we know there's going to be further -- hopefully a further agreement. But then you wanted to see that. So we know that that's going to be addressed down the road because that's what the APA says.

Okay. What happens to those nondefault items on adequate assurance? We understand it's adequate assurance, but we also understand they're not in default today.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MS. WALKER: So this was the untenable situation of, if we close tomorrow, am I going to -- is my client going to get hit by a default notice the next day? This is a way we think we've addressed it.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MS. WALKER: If it's not a default today and the condition does not change, it is not going to be a default tomorrow or five years from now if the condition doesn't change.

If the condition changes to a level that would be a default under the lease, that's our responsibility. That's exactly what adequate assurance is about. And of course, we had an entire trial about how we're going to be adequately assuring that performance.

So we think we've taken known and unknown, brought it down, provide for insurance for one, provide for us just assurances that Bay 9 is going to take care of it. On the cures, most of that is being handled by the Debtor. We know we have a few more things to take care of down the road. And that hopefully, with the delineations of where you're going to find those expressly in that amendment --

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MS. WALKER: -- when Your Honor has an opportunity to take a look at the second amendment, we think that that will address it.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. WALKER: And I'm not here for argument on that. I was just trying to walk through it.

THE COURT: I appreciate that.

MS. WALKER: Thank you.

THE COURT: I appreciate the demonstrative.

MS. WALKER: Thank you.

THE COURT: Thank you. All right. Before I turn to ICI with respect to the motion to strike and their position on openings, is there anything from the Plan Sponsors, from UMB? And of course Lifespace as well, to the extent you want to make an opening, Mr. Walker.

Please.

MS. WALSH: Thank you, Your Honor. For the record, Kaitlin Walsh on behalf of UMB.

Just that I'm prepared to argue UMB's motion to strike the witness and exhibit list when the Court would like to hear.

THE COURT: Okay. Yes?

MS. GREEN: I just wanted to clarify. That was not an opening. That was just addressing housekeeping matters.

THE COURT: No, I --

MS. GREEN: And -- okay.

THE COURT: Oh, okay.

MS. GREEN: Okay.

THE COURT: No, I recognize.

MS. GREEN: To the extent we do have openings, I have more to say.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

So, anything else of housekeeping? Mr. Walker?

MR. WALKER: No, Your Honor, I just -- Eric Walker on behalf of Lifespace. I'm just rising to support the Debtors' and Plan Proponents' position on the way to move forward. We don't have anything else to add at this point.

THE COURT: Okay. And in terms of opening, Lifespace doesn't want a --

MR. WALKER: Correct.

THE COURT: -- separate opening today?

MR. WALKER: We're happy to defer it. We would like to get the evidence in.

THE COURT: Right.

MR. WALKER: Mr. Harshfield is here, available this afternoon. We would like to get him on and off the stand today because he's unavailable tomorrow.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. WALKER: So we think that's the most efficient way to proceed.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you, --

MR. WALKER: Thank you.

THE COURT: -- Mr. Walker. Mr. Bleck?

MR. BLECK: It's like a parade of lawyers coming up. Come on up. So, Your Honor, Daniel Bleck representing UMB Bank as the Initial Plan Sponsor, the DIP Lender, and the Bond Trustee.

So, I'm kind of pausing here, because it's a strange situation we're in today. And I'm going to step back for a second, because I think you know how everybody -- how hard everybody has worked to get to where we are today. Extremely hard. And we got to a point where we have a global settlement on the table that really addresses all the issues that the Court has been concerned about as well as other people are concerned about. And those issues concern the community itself and the fact that the community is going to remain open. And it's transitioning to a structure that everybody has agreed to has to be transitioned to, which is a rental community.

Everybody has acknowledged the fact that we have a ground lease here. There is an end term to the ground lease. That it has to be converted to a rental model. And that's something that we've been able to accomplish through this plan.

The second issue was the resident refunds. And it was a significant sum of money that was owed to the residents, roughly $144 million of a contingent refund obligation. And under this settlement, once again, Lifespace has become a party to the settlement agreement, a party to the plan, which provides that the refunds will be paid in full over a period of time. But in full. So we've taken care of the resident refunds. Taken care of residents in general relative to the community. We've taken care of the resident refunds.

Also, the community is being transferred to a stronger owner and an operator that no one has questioned in terms of the capabilities of the operator that's going to step in here, which is another key component.

And then, lastly and most importantly for my purposes, the Bondholders receive a recovery of roughly forty cents. And although that's still a significant, a significant reduction of their claim, they have supported this plan. They've put up the money, they've put up the time, and they've put up the effort to come together to propose a plan that resolves all the issues, and they're taking a sixty percent discount, which is a significant discount.

And now we're -- this plan is in jeopardy because of the tactics of ICI. Clearly, they're throwing every single objection against the wall in an effort to run out the clock on this case. I think as Your Honor is aware, we have a DIP. We've extended it twice now. We have a DIP that's running through the end of April. And we've all been running hard relative to getting this case confirmed by that time.

And what they're doing here as well -- they being ICI -- is they're increasing the costs of this case significantly. And maybe it's on the mistaken assumption that every dollar that they incur with respect to their legal costs and advisors are being reimbursed by the estate. And I think that's one of the problems we have here. We have a situation where the Landlord is going to throw everything against the table and simply say, for every dollar that we incur, the estate is going to reimburse us. And to be quite frank, it comes out of my clients' recovery. Residents still receive a hundred percent. The community still moves forward. And every day, my clients' recovery just reduces.

And I think they're thrown up this issue, and they've mentioned it before, relative to the feasibility of the plan. I mean, at the monetary -- excuse me, on the trial regarding the monetary cure claim, I think Your Honor heard testimony where the suggestion now is we're going to have to escrow a hundred percent of the net proceeds to cover our potential monetary claim. A hundred percent. After we funded this, after we're taking a sixty percent reduction, they're asking for a hundred percent escrow.

And so I think, Your Honor, we need some guidance here from you relative to the extent of the monetary claim. I think you heard before that we were, at the end of November, we were at $8 million for the Landlord claim. That jumped to $12 million in two months, the end of January. I can't even imagine what we're here today. We could be $15, $16 million.

And so, Your Honor, I just -- we're concerned that we're just not going -- we need some guidance from the Court relative to the extent of the monetary claim, because we're not going to be in a position to be able to support a plan where we're going to be escrowing a hundred percent of the proceeds here.

Thank you.

THE COURT: Thank you.

MR. MCCARTIN: Last one, I think, Your Honor. Steve McCartin on behalf of the Committee.

We are fine waiving opening. We are prepared to put on evidence, testimonial evidence with regard to our support of the proposed settlement incorporated into the plan. You know, evidence on the 9019 elements to create a record for the reasonableness of the settlement.

We also -- that same evidence will also be offered in support of our limited objection to the plan with regard to the fee cap in 2.2. So, to avoid duplication of effort and try to fit within the time constraints, we're fine waiving opening.

THE COURT: Thank you, Mr. McCartin.

With that, so I'll turn to ICI. I'd like to hear your position on opening, any other housekeeping matters that you have, and then we'll move to the motion to strike thereafter. Ms. Vandesteeg?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor. For the record, Elizabeth Vandesteeg on behalf of Intercity Investment Properties, Inc.

Your Honor, in the past thirty minutes I think we actually heard a few openings, albeit brief, and we're going to go ahead and plan to provide a brief opening to the Court as well. I'm going to defer to Mr. Gold to that, and want to know if the Court would like for me first, however, to address certain of the comments made by counsel for Debtor with respect to the roof, for example. We're not -- well, I'll defer to the Court in terms of the order in which you'd like for us to take things up.

THE COURT: Well, given the way that it's transpired, I'll let you respond on property condition briefly. I'll let you respond to that. With respect to the APA, I think we're probably going to get there.

To be honest, I would like ICI's response to the amendment to the APA at a time in which you feel that you've had enough time with it. I know it's fairly new in terms of filings, and given that I don't believe it's an agreed form of APA and there's still a contest, I would like you to have a little bit of time with it to see what, if any, of your objections that it might satisfy or at least touch upon.

But with that said, you can make your brief opening I think in the way that the other folks have, and then we'll move to the motion to strike thereafter. So, please.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Well, Your Honor, if we're going to turn to the opening first, then I will defer to Mr. Gold, and then come back to the property condition details thereafter.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you.

MR. GOLD: Thank you and good afternoon, Your Honor.

Ivan Gold of Allen Matkins, co-counsel for ICI.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. GOLD: As Ms. Vandesteeg said, and I'll reinforce it, I'll be brief. Just a quick overview. And I will give a quick reaction to the APA. But with the Court's -- mindful of the Court's indulgence, we'd like a little more time to digest.

You've heard our arguments on the proposed sale, both in my opening in the adequate assurance portion of the proceedings and as well as in the 52(c) motion I made at the conclusion of Bay 9's evidence. I'm clearly not going to repeat those today.

We've previously identified problems with the structure of the APA, and many of them have been addressed or attempted to be addressed through the APA, the second amended APA that was filed this morning at 9:45.

But that's the point. I listened to Mr. Bleck talk about costs and attacking ICI and tactics. Why was that filed at 9:45 this morning? The issues we raised were raised weeks ago in briefs. That filing this morning fundamentally was a response to an email I sent the Debtors on February 20th, fifteen days ago. We had to have a trial. We had to have multiple days in court to get to things I suggested be done over two weeks ago. Sometimes those who accuse are guilty.

THE COURT: Well, --

MR. GOLD: So let's have some balance --

THE COURT: -- Mr. Gold, --

MR. GOLD: -- and some equity.

THE COURT: -- maybe it's a little vanity on the Court's part, but I believe that that APA was amended in response to the Court's comments. It's like I said, --

MR. GOLD: Your Honor?

THE COURT: -- maybe I'm just that vain.

MR. GOLD: Your Honor? Your Honor, maybe we can have some competition, because if I showed you the February 20th email, we'd say great minds think alike.

THE COURT: Okay. All righty.

MR. GOLD: So, but the point is Your Honor's comments weren't yesterday.

So now we're in the confirmation phase. And we've previewed our issues regarding plan feasibility and the Lifespace contribution. And we had previously talked about some of our concerns regarding plan releases. And one of the things that Ms. Walker said we are going to need, whatever that final form of second amended APA is -- and I'll tell you right now, it's got typos in it. There are some section references that are wrong. There's concerns about the liquidation -- the Litigation Trust. It has to be conformed to the Litigation Trust agreement. It's going to need some work. But it's also going to need some work in your order --

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. GOLD: -- to fix some of the plan release language. So that concern remains.

But we still have some additional concerns, and I'll run through them real quick.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. GOLD: The 363(m) findings in Paragraphs 9 and 12 of the recitals are something we will be looking at.

1129(a)(1) as it relates to compliance with 365 is still on the table.

We believe there are classification and valuation issues under 1129(a)(9).

The consequences of the Debtors' dissolution, which we had previously raised, probably fixed with the second amended APA, but again, there are going to be some tweaks that are going to be necessary in other places.

Whether this Court can approve the Lifespace settlement under 9019 is still before the Court.

And how this all fits in, and we've already heard that from Mr. Bleck, the expiration of debtor-in-possession financing.

We believe when Your Honor hears the evidence, you'll find you cannot confirm this plan as proposed. But I want everyone to be clear. We're not saying you can't confirm any plan. It's this one that has the problems. Are they solvable? That is up to the Plan Sponsors. Or perhaps other parties. But there are flaws in this plan that merit, particularly given the consequences of confirmation, a full exploration.

Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Thank you, Mr. Gold.

Mr. Williams?

MR. WILLIAMS: Thank you, Your Honor. Benton Williams on behalf of former residents: The Estate of Patricia Adams, Pamela Siviglia, and Andrew L. Adams.

I just rise to give a brief lay of the land on how several of us who are residents feel. We voted in favor of the plan. We have opted in the plan. We support confirmation. And this is nothing we haven't mentioned before, but we want to see this plan confirmed.

As an item of clarification, I would expect Mr. Johnson and the Debtors to mention this: We were concerned by a paragraph in their omnibus reply brief at ECF 1247.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. WILLIAMS: Specifically, Paragraph 99, where it says, --

THE COURT: Right.

MR. WILLIAMS: -- in order for the plan to go effective, it does not require this mandatory lump sum payment.

I was able to confer with Mr. Johnson and others, and it didn't seem like that was an issue. We -- if that were a position, we would respectfully disagree with it. We would ask for some clarification.

Other than that, we -- you know, I simply rise to say that we support confirmation and we support this plan.

THE COURT: Thank you, Mr. Williams.

MR. WILLIAMS: Thank you.

THE COURT: Okay. Now, unless anyone else has anything else, I'll turn to Ms. Vandesteeg, and she said she have a little bit of counterpoint to the property condition issues.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor. For the record, Elizabeth Vandesteeg on behalf of Intercity Investment Properties, Inc.

Your Honor, with respect to the roof and the tear in the roof, we also find ourselves, candidly, uncertain of how to proceed.

We did check in with Mr. Hull of Terracon, who advised us that that photograph was one of a number of representative samples of the condition. He urged us again to reach out and advise the Debtor that they should be walking the entire roof and to be looking for those tears after the debris that we had also showed pictures of was addressed.

That is where we find ourselves, Your Honor. Could we send Mr. Hull or a member of his team to go back up to try to locate the one particular photograph, where that was? Yes. But I think even when you go back and you look at the testimony that he did provide, and I pulled it up here from that hearing on January 23rd where we talked about it, and there were reference to cuts, multiple.

So I'm not quite certain what the next step would be. Again, our suggestion was that provided by Terracon of the once you've cleared the debris, walk the roof, look for the tears and patch them.

THE COURT: Well, okay. Well, let's take a step back.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. And I realize maybe I'm the only one that has this handy, but I'm looking at the photographs.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Okay.

THE COURT: Okay? And the photograph of the debris, which was Photograph 36, was the -- and the testimony was there was some sheet metal and there was some tools left on the roof. Okay? Obviously, they found this tear without moving the debris. I'm sure Terracon wasn't cleaning up the place, right?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Correct, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: That's my -- that's certainly my understanding as well.

THE COURT: And so -- well, and I'll ask you, Ms. Green. Is it The Edgemere's position that they couldn't find this tear, or any tear? Mr. Johnson?

MR. JOHNSON: Thank you, Your Honor. I'm the one who was dealing with the company with respect to this.

THE COURT: Fair enough.

MR. JOHNSON: They walked the roof in an attempt to find this tear.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. JOHNSON: So, and I believe the testimony, the same testimony we reviewed, you know, Mr. Hull was asked, "Did you and your team observe any tearing or cuts?" "Yes." "Did you take any photographs?" "I believe one of my members took a photograph and that instance has been shown to me." "Let's turn to 40."

That was the photograph. And in your ruling, you said, Fix the tear in Photograph 40.

So, again, Your Honor, we can go walk it again and try and find it. We didn't know if they had notes on where they took the photographs or how it worked. But the response was, well, there's cuts everywhere, so just go fix them all. And I don't think that was consistent with the testimony or the ruling. So, --

THE COURT: It was not consistent with the ruling.

MR. JOHNSON: So, but --

THE COURT: I'll confirm that.

MR. JOHNSON: But yes, Your Honor, that is exactly what they did. They went and walked the -- I believe it's two roofs, 60,000 square foot approximately, --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. JOHNSON: -- to try and find it. And it was a tear supposedly near the perimeter. And so -- and I don't know that they saw any other tears. I didn't hear any -- they didn't come back to me and say, we found a bunch of other things.

THE COURT: Right.

MR. JOHNSON: So, again, I appreciate the fact that they took a lot of photographs and they may not have geopositioned every one to know exactly where it was taken on the roof --

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. JOHNSON: -- or anything like that. That's fine. We're just trying to -- we're just trying to do the right thing here without --

MS. VANDESTEEG: And I think that's probably part of the disconnect, Your Honor, is that the testimony was also that that's a representative sample of the photographs. Could the Terracon team -- the roof members, Mr. Hull tried to reach them, were out of town last weekend over the weekend, which further exacerbated, then, that specific individual's ability to identify because Mr. Hull wasn't able to reach them.

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. JOHNSON: Well, Your Honor, I would say I've just -- I just read the testimony that talked about the cuts. After that, we went into talking about why a cut is bad. I don't know that there's -- you know, is this photo an accurate depiction of that observation of the torn membrane? Yes. Why are there tears? Then it went on to that. I don't think there was any testimony that this one photograph is representative of multiple tears along the building.

MS. VANDESTEEG: We can go back into the testimony and I can try to find it. I am certain that there were specific questions as to the photographs overall being representative samples of those taken.

THE COURT: Right. Well, I don't intend to rehash that particular trial. My ruling, although oral, I'm definitely sure you have a transcript of it because you guys have transcripts of everything.

MR. JOHNSON: Very quickly. Very quickly.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes, Your Honor.

MR. JOHNSON: Get them the same day. So, --

THE COURT: Yes. Let the record reflect a transcript is being requested right now. I'm joking.

But obviously the ruling was that, based on the evidence provided, it was to fix this tear. I'll just ask the Debtors again to do their level best. It's obviously along the perimeter. I tried my best Penelope Garcia to try to geoposition on the roof. I cannot. And then maybe once the roofing specialists get back in town, they can look at that figure.

Obviously, I think the gentleman who took it with his pen probably knows who took it. Maybe he will remember kind of where he was on the roof.

And I do understand the greater part of ICI's argument that it is a sign of -- it's one picture of many things.

I don't believe that, based upon the Court's view of the totality of the testimony, that it was indicative of many tears on the roof. I believe it was indicative of Mr. Hull's overall position that the roof was in poor condition, primarily due to age. And I'm looking back at Photo 31, which was the view of the modified bitumen roof where he basically said anything that is dark basically is showing missing granules. And of course the Court's ruling was it's indicative of an older roof; it's not necessarily indicative of something that is not in good condition per the terms of the lease.

So, again, I'll ask the Debtors to make their best attempt to find this tear along the perimeter. I know that it is made more difficult when we do have rain because the colors on the roof tend to change.

And so, again, if Mr. Hull's team -- and I don't remember the name of the roofing specialist -- but if Mr. Hull's team member can help with that, that'd be great.

MR. JOHNSON: We'll report back, Your Honor. We do plan on submitting a certification of sorts, you know, --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. JOHNSON: -- from the folks saying that they fixed the things that were identified when that happened.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. JOHNSON: So hopefully we can find it with more information, but that's kind of where we are. Thank you.

THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

Thank you, Ms. Vandesteeg.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you.

THE COURT: Anything. Okay. That was it?

MS. VANDESTEEG: I think that's it with respect to the property condition, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: We're not looking to retry that, either.

THE COURT: Okay. Appreciate it. Thank you.

I'll go to Ms. Walsh with respect to the motion to strike.

MS. WALSH: Thank you, Your Honor. For the record, Kaitlin Walsh on behalf of the Initial Plan Sponsors.

As this Court is well aware, we are currently in the final phase of the trifurcated confirmation trial, the confirmation and sale hearing that commenced on February 21st. With this Court's guidance, the parties determined that the sale and the adequate assurance portion of the sale and confirmation hearing should go first. And it did, from February 21st through February 24th.

Unfortunately, it took more than anticipated, longer than anticipated, to complete the sale and adequate assurance portion of the trial, so we have adjourned the confirmation hearing until today. But the portion of the hearing that related to the sale and adequate assurance was closed on February 24th.

Consistent with the practice throughout this trifurcated process, Mr. Fields of RBC was called, he was cross-examined, the Court further examined him, and he was dismissed. And yet on Thursday, March 2nd, ICI filed a notice of a trial subpoena and a request for documents on Mr. Fields.

UMB contacted ICI and objected to service of the subpoena. ICI then backed away from the subpoena, presumably acknowledging that it was improper, and instead sought a runaround, to file a new witness and exhibit list, acting as though we are now in an entirely new hearing and adding Mr. Fields as a witness.

Your Honor, ICI cross-examined Mr. Fields on exactly the issues identified in the subpoena: the bidding process and the diligence provided to potential bidders. ICI did not reserve rights to recall Mr. Fields for any reason. They should not get another bite at this apple.

THE COURT: Thank you, Ms. Walsh. Ms. Walker?

MS. WALKER: Adrienne Walker for Bay 9.

Your Honor, we filed a joinder. We stand on the position of UMB. Thank you.

THE COURT: Thank you. Response, Ms. Vandesteeg?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor. For the record, Elizabeth Vandesteeg on behalf of ICI.

Your Honor, Local Rule 9014-1(c)(2) does state that at least three calendar days before the scheduled hearing date parties are supposed to submit their witness and exhibit lists.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MS. VANDESTEEG: As has been common practice throughout this process, Your Honor, in advance of each one of the newly-scheduled and continued hearing dates, the parties have submitted witness and exhibit lists.

So, we had concerns, given that we did have a new hearing date set to commence today and tomorrow and the 9th, with a new set of openings, Your Honor, that in the event we did not file that witness and exhibit list we may have been in some way precluded from having called witnesses and exhibits. And the majority of that witness and exhibit list is identical to the one that we filed for the hearing, and we stated on that last witness and exhibit list for the hearing starting February 21st and continuing. So, again, following practice.

So, what was new? What was new was the addition to our witness and exhibit list of Mr. Fields. We didn't realize that Mr. Fields was a sale-only witness. He had not been identified in that form. Counsel even, in connection with the hearings that took place last week on the sale and adequate assurance issues, said that he was primarily there for sale issues.

So, much like Mr. Harshfield, who had been included, as was Mr. Fields, on the Plan Sponsors' witness and exhibit list for the sale and confirmation, Mr. Harshfield is going to be present today and was present last week. And indeed, this Court cut off some of the questioning that ICI was engaging in with Mr. Harshfield --

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- because we were planning on continuing him here to today. Again, no indication on the last witness and exhibit list from Plan Sponsors as to whether he was there for one or the other or for both.

So our issue here, Your Honor, is yes, we did question Mr. Fields with respect to the sale issues. However, certain of his testimony that came to light last week gave us some concerns about confirmation-related issues, as to whether there was potentially not equitable access to information provided either to Bay 9 or to any other third-party bidders. So we were concerned, then, that we had additional questions to ask in connection with potential issues around bad faith or collusion.

Weeks ago, we had asked the Debtor for an updated form of that document, the single document that we got in connection with plan discovery. We were told no. We were then informed for the first time two Fridays ago that there was an error in it, but we hadn't been provided with any indication that that was the case.

Now, UMB did advise us when we sent out our notice of subpoena that Mr. Fields was beyond the geographical scope. We understand that. And we told UMB at the time that we would not seek to compel his physical presence because we understand the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. But we still wanted to make it very clear that we had more questions. And more importantly, we did request additional documents, in light, again, of the testimony that came to light last Friday, where we really heard for the first time that that document was incorrect.

So if the Plan Sponsors and Mr. Fields are going to rely on those geographic limits, there's nothing we can do about it. But we let them know that we were still going to include Mr. Fields on our witness and exhibit list, mirroring the fact that he had been on theirs. We included the notation that WebEx is available. He doesn't have to be physically present here.

And we also want to make it very clear that, again, the Rules are what they are in terms of this Court's subpoena reach, but we don't think that that testimony that we're seeking nor the documentation that we're seeking is irrelevant. We think what he has to say is very relevant when it goes toward the good-faith findings that this confirmation order is seeking to have this Court find under both 1129(a)(3) and 363(m), squarely put into issue, we believe, by Mr. Fields' testimony from last week.

We also added to our witness and exhibit list the Debtors' -- the Plan Sponsors' other witness, Mr. Estrada, just to confirm that yes, as we're going into this, to the extent that he's going to be providing testimony, we want to ask questions of him.

With respect to the exhibits that we added to the amended witness and exhibit list, because we did add a few exhibits as well, Your Honor, this again has been the typical course of practice in terms of supplementing as we go into our next phase of hearing. There were --

THE COURT: Was there any objection to the exhibits? I didn't see any objection to the exhibits.

MS. VANDESTEEG: It was a motion to strike it in its entirety, Your Honor, so we're not quite sure, either. It wasn't limited to striking or quashing --

THE COURT: Oh, okay, the whole witness and exhibit list.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- the subpoena as to RBC. They're seeking to strike the entire thing.

THE COURT: Are there objections to the new exhibits?

(Pause.)

THE COURT: Give them a second to look at things first.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Of course.

(Pause.)

MR. WALKER: Your Honor, from Lifespace's perspective, to the extent the question is, do we object to their admission into evidence right now?

THE COURT: No.

MR. WALKER: Okay. I just want to be clear. We're not --

THE COURT: No. No. Just --

MR. WALKER: We're not stipulating to that at this stage?

THE COURT: Just the addition of any exhibits to an exhibit list at this juncture. Not admission themselves. We're going to deal with that on the fly.

MS. VANDESTEEG: If and when.

MS. WALSH: Thank you for clarifying that. Yeah. I mean, in terms of admission, of course, we don't stipulate to admission of any of these exhibits. But in terms of being listed on the exhibit list, an amended exhibit list, UMB has no objection.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

All right. Ms. Vandesteeg?

MS. VANDESTEEG: So that sounds to me, Your Honor, a little different than a motion to strike the witness and exhibit list in its entirety, but instead is an attempt to excise Mr. Fields' --

THE COURT: Mr. Fields from being called again for confirmation?

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- listing.

THE COURT: That's the way I read it. Yes.

MS. VANDESTEEG: And Your Honor, again, we think this is much ado about nothing. We think he has relevant testimony. But if he's not capable of being here, so be it. We would have loved the additional documents that we requested in a timely basis ahead of this continued hearing and ahead of this confirmation hearing this week. We don't have them. We're not going to have his testimony. And we're prepared to proceed without it, Your Honor. We just didn't want to have to agree to the striking in its entirety of our witness and exhibit list.

THE COURT: All right. So, Ms. Vandesteeg, as I understand it, what you would like to elicit from Mr. Fields is further testimony with respect to good faith, whether that be 363(m) or 1129(a)(1)?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Correct, Your Honor. However, for purposes of confirmation, it's with respect to 1129(a)(3).

THE COURT: (a)(3). Excuse me. I apologize.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes.

THE COURT: All right.

MS. VANDESTEEG: However, you know, at the end of the day, some of the standards and the factors that a court may consider for those two provisions may be -- may have substantial overlap.

THE COURT: Okay. Do you have any argument pursuant to 1129(a)(3) or any line of questioning that you wanted to ask Mr. Fields that is not part and parcel of that which you would ask him under 363(m)?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Your Honor, we, in the meantime, have started trying to scope that out. I believe that we do. And that is why we wanted to get the documentation and then again bring him back for that testimony, in light of, again, what we believe to be somewhat confounding testimony provided two Fridays ago.

THE COURT: Well, I understand that you found it confounding.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: What I don't understand is what Mr. Fields has to bring to the confirmation hearing. I think to the extent that you wanted to question him on 363(m), I think the time was when he was on the stand in connection with that portion of the hearing. And so my question is, what does he bring special and unique to confirmation that you wouldn't have already asked him about?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Certainly, Your Honor. And I think that the 1129(a)(3) standards are slightly different. And I apologize, as I'm pulling up some notes here a little bit on the fly right now, --

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- in that certain of the issues with respect to 1129(a)(3), as opposed to 363(m), go to the integrity of the process more broadly --

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- and whether the plan itself was proposed and brought in good faith.

And while, yes, this sale is a part of this plan, it is not its entirety. And some of what I think started to really come to light in connection with the hearings of last week when we were talking about sale and adequate assurance issues are who was in charge of even the plan promotion process as we went along? Who was in control of the different entities?

Who was getting additional information from RBC? Did someone have unique access in terms of, then, the development of this plan overall and where we were going as we get to confirmation?

THE COURT: Who would that be? I do understand your argument. And let me not say this to where it sounds worse than it is. I understand your collusion argument, for example. Okay? So as I understand ICI's argument, the question is, well, did Bay 9 have a leg up in some way?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Correct.

THE COURT: Okay. But my question for you is, how is that ICI's problem?

MS. VANDESTEEG: I hear you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay? So as I understand this, if -- let's just assume parade of horribles -- Bay 9 were to have more information than everyone else, aren't you protecting against some bidder that -- I mean, if they did get the Plante Moran report, if I believe everything that ICI has told me, the Plante Moran report would make it worse, not better. So there's no bidder that wanted to bid that didn't. We didn't have a competing bidder.

MS. VANDESTEEG: I know that we didn't, Your Honor. I know that we didn't. And I appreciate that some of this is indeed unknown to all of us, because in large part we've not gotten some of this documentation that we have now asked for because we had no reason to believe that it may have been out there to give us more evidence. We have been told from the outset, Here is one page of what is being provided in this data room to all these potential bidders. It's the one thing that was provided to us by the Plan Sponsors in response to our plan discovery.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MS. VANDESTEEG: It's not until last week that we hear, oh, no, that's not true, but don't worry, we were out there telling all these people that they could come in and talk to these other people.

And we're also hearing in the background at the same time, Your Honor -- and I don't want to get too much into things that we're still working on in terms of potential closings and tying dots together -- but the other things that we heard last week in connection with assumption and assignment from Bay 9's perspective are that they are involved and they have been involved for potentially up to seven years and that they held a 23 percent interest in the underlying bonds and that at some point they were getting this information. They knew about when the default happened on the ground lease. They knew ahead of time that the bankruptcy was going to be filed. They knew ahead of time that the adversary was going to be filed. They were involved in the prior plan process. They've been involved all along, and at some time they traded their hats --

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- as we were coming up with this now-collective plan process going forward.

And the sale and the plan are tied together. Certain of the other feasibility issues that we're going to hear about in connection both with the sale and marketing, as well as to other feasibility issues, tied in, then, to Bay 9's financial advisors, their management, The Long Hill -- let's just use the name -- those projections going forward.

So our concern is that there may be issues here. There may have been other correspondence and communications going on from RBC.

Remember, RBC was UMB's retained professional, not the Debtors'. We never had any information here about disclosure, about any other sort of -- who else they may have been working for. We did hear from Long Hill that at some point RBC retained Long Hill. At some point, UMB retained Long Hill. At some point, Bay 9 retained Long Hill.

These are things that we think started to come to light last Friday, which is why we sent the subpoena seeking more documentation and would have loved to have had the chance to talk to Mr. Fields in connection with the confirmation process.

But, again, Your Honor, we let them know we appreciate if you're telling us that he is outside of geographical scope, we cannot compel him.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you, Ms. Vandesteeg.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Absolutely. Thank you.

THE COURT: Appreciate it. Mr. Johnson?

MR. JOHNSON: Thank you, Your Honor. I feel compelled to come up and address it, because it was brought up twice in the argument, discussion regarding the discovery that was propounded upon the Debtors that we responded to with one single page of information.

Your Honor will recall that there were initially 2004s proposed by ICI that were ultimately withdrawn because it wasn't the appropriate vehicle by which to get confirmation. There was a whole schedule and deadline by which they had to provide -- like, make discovery requests, and they sent certain discovery requests to the Debtor. We, of course, didn't have any information regarding Bay 9's ability to do various things under the plan or what their projections may be or anything else like that. The only document we had in our possession was a dated version of a printout from RBC, who ran the document room. So we provided that as our discovery. We did provide one document.

They came back to us, they being the Landlord's counsel, came back to us and said, please go get us an updated version of this schedule. And I said in my response, in my email, there was -- we don't control the data room. We didn't produce the document. You know who has the document and information. That's RBC. Go to them. This is back in December, Your Honor, --

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. JOHNSON: -- when we were dealing with plan discovery.

So all this coming out later that we just didn't have enough information, it all sort of surprised us. There were probably some decisions that could have been done differently or discovery that could have been handled a little bit differently back in December, and maybe they would have that information. But they couldn't get it from the Debtor, and we weren't being obstructionist, we just didn't have it.

So, but, you know, this is not really my issue, Your Honor, so I'm going to defer to the Bondholders with respect to the motion to strike, but I do think the good-faith findings, the word is good faith in both 363 and 1129, but they mean different things. One is how the sale process is run and the other is how the plan is negotiated and proposed. We did not negotiate with Dave Fields from RBC regarding any element of the plan. The plan disposes of the proceeds in a certain fashion, and there were significant negotiations between the Debtors and Lifespace, the Committee and the Bondholders regarding that. That is the good-faith nature of the plan and how it was proposed.

So I think those are the same words but two different standards, but I think Your Honor was getting to that, and I'd defer to UMB for the balance of the argument. Thank you.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you, Mr. Johnson. Ms. Walsh?

MS. WALSH: Thank you, Your Honor. We are the Initial Plan Sponsors because it was initially our plan. Right? So, of course it was -- it makes sense that RBC was the investment banker and was involved in the sale process on behalf of UMB. There is nothing nefarious about this. And frankly, I'm perplexed by those innuendos.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MS. WALSH: Also, as Mr. Johnson noted, Mr. Fields has been involved in the sale from the beginning, of course, and RBC, but he had nothing to do with the plan. So there's no testimony that he would -- that he would be able to provide that relates to the plan.

And I also want to note that this idea that there was some sort of revelation during Mr. Fields' testimony regarding the Plante Moran report not being in the data room is disingenuous. On January 3rd, in response to the Initial Plan Sponsors' motion to strike ICI's initial cure claim, ICI noted that, despite the Plante Moran report being listed on that same sheet of paper that we've been speaking about, they were informed that it was not actually in the data room. And that's Docket #988, Paragraph 9.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. WALSH: So this is all a red herring, and I think, really, at bottom, I don't understand what this has to do with the Landlord anyway.

THE COURT: Thank you.

All righty. For purposes of the record, the Court has before it Docket 1311, which is designated as a Motion to Strike the Witness and Exhibit List. Based upon the argument today, it doesn't appear that the entirety of the witness and exhibit list is sought to be struck. Stricken. It's too late in the day to conjugate verbs. But in any event, what the Court will rule is that the Court does not feel that recalling Mr. Fields for purposes of confirmation is appropriate if Mr. Fields does not -- whether this was a motion to quash a subpoena or whether this was in line of a motion to strike, the Court does not find that Mr. Fields has the requisite touch to confirmation that he would need that, in the limited time that we have to conclude confirmation, that we would have Mr. Fields recalled.

From ICI's perspective, I am not precluding any arguments with respect to good faith, whether that be 363(m) or 1129(a)(3). For all the arguments that you've raised and for the facts and evidence that you've already adduced via your examination of Mr. Fields, the Court will allow that for purposes of argument. But I don't believe that there is anything left to be gained from further examination of him for confirmation purposes. And if that were the case and that were the plan, I would have expected that ICI would have sought to reserve the right to recall him at the conclusion of his testimony.

So that will be the Court's ruling with respect to the motion to strike. And I'll look for the Plan Sponsors, if you could get me a real simple form of order on that.

Okay. So, as I understand it from ICI's perspective, and please correct me if I'm wrong, you are willing to forego a fulsome opening today with respect to confirmation?

MR. GOLD: You've heard it.

THE COURT: Okay. Well, good. I think that's all to the good in terms of kind of staying on track. And obviously I'll give everyone time for very fulsome closings.

So, with that, are we ready to call our first witness?

MS. GREEN: Before we call our first witness, I'd like to move to admit the Plan Sponsors' exhibits. The only exhibit that's been admitted so far is Exhibit 20, the declaration of Dave Fields.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. GREEN: And it would hopefully be more efficient to just knock them out in one fell swoop.

THE COURT: All right. Let's everyone get them in front of them so that -- so I think I have now, with the new exhibits, I have 1 through 30. Are there any ones that I don't have in front of me?

MS. GREEN: That's correct.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. GREEN: 1 through 30.

THE COURT: So, ICI, let me know when you're ready.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Ready, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All righty. Ms. Green?

MS. GREEN: So, Your Honor, we filed our amended witness and exhibit list because we had additional filings, --

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MS. GREEN: -- Exhibits 1 through 30. I don't believe any of these are going to be objectionable, given that they're filings on the docket.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. GREEN: So, --

THE COURT: All right. Give Ms. Vandesteeg a moment.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Are we -- are we referring to the second amended witness and exhibit list as --

MS. GREEN: Correct.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- Docket 1318?

MS. GREEN: Yes.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you.

(Pause.)

THE COURT: I'm just waiting for ICI to --

MS. GREEN: Okay. Well, while we wait for ICI, --

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. GREEN: -- another request.

THE COURT: All righty.

MS. GREEN: I'd like the Court to take judicial notice of a publication affidavit with respect to the bar date notice --

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. GREEN: -- at Docket #427.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Counselor? Is that Ms. Green? Before you move on to that certificate, can you remind me, which of the collective on second amended witness and exhibit list at Docket 1318 were you looking to admit in the first instance?

THE COURT: 1 through 30, right?

MS. GREEN: 1 through 30, with the exception of 20, which has already been admitted.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Okay.

(Pause.)

MS. VANDESTEEG: Your Honor, in the first instance, no objections to Exhibits 1 through 12, which are all on the docket. Give me one moment to check the others.

THE COURT: All righty. For sake of the record, Plan Sponsors' Exhibits 1 through 12 are hereby admitted. And I believe, I want to confirm that those can be found at Docket 1220. Yes.

(Plan Sponsors' Exhibits 1 through 12 are received into evidence.)

MS. GREEN: If it's helpful, Ms. Vandesteeg, Exhibits 13 through 17 are attachments to the filing that is Exhibit 12.

THE COURT: And for sake of the record, the Court will confirm that Exhibits 1 through 12 are all found at Docket 1220.

MS. VANDESTEEG: No objection, then, to those exhibits, Debtors' Exhibits -- sorry, Plan Sponsors' Exhibits 13 through 17.

THE COURT: Okay. Plan Sponsors' Exhibits 13 through 17, also found at Docket 1220, are hereby admitted.

(Plan Sponsors' Exhibits 13 through 17 are received into evidence.)

MS. VANDESTEEG: Your Honor, no objection, ICI has no objection to any of the remaining exhibits through Plan Sponsors' Exhibit 30. Thank you.

THE COURT: Okay. Excellent.

MS. GREEN: Thank you.

THE COURT: All right. Plan Sponsors Exhibits 18 through 30 are also hereby admitted. Exhibit 18 can be found at Exhibit 1220. And the remainder, I'm not sure about the remainder of 19 through 30.

(Plan Sponsors' Exhibits 18 through 30 are received into evidence.)

THE COURT: Ms. Green, I'll ask you to make a note, and if those haven't already been uploaded to the docket, to do so, so that we can have those for the record.

MS. GREEN: I apologize profusely. I was listening to the wrong person. Can you please repeat yourself?

(Laughter.)

A VOICE: Well played.

MR. JOHNSON: It's the perfect time to get away with that --

THE COURT: Have to go back to the Carly Simon song there for a minute.

Okay. With respect to Plan Sponsors' Exhibits 19 through 30, at quick glance I can't find those on the docket, the physical exhibits. So if you could just make sure that those are on the docket so --

MS. GREEN: Absolutely. Thank you.

THE COURT: -- that we have it. I appreciate that. All right. So Plan Sponsors' Exhibits 1 through 30, again, are hereby admitted.

And you asked the Court to take judicial notice of Docket 427, and I think Ms. Vandesteeg wanted to take a look at that.

MS. GREEN: Sure. It is a publication affidavit with respect to the bar date notice.

(Pause.)

MS. VANDESTEEG: No objection, Your Honor. Thank you.

THE COURT: Thank you very much, Ms. Vandesteeg.

(Counsel confer.)

MS. GREEN: Okay. Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. GREEN: I think we are ready to call our first witness. Mr. Johnson will take care of that.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you, Ms. Green.

And so, for sake of the record, without opposition, the Court will take judicial notice of Docket 427 from this Court's docket, and that's the publication of the bar date notice. Thank you.

MR. JOHNSON: I just wanted to confirm, Your Honor. I believe all the other parties have waived openings.

THE COURT: Yes. I take that to be the case. And so, again, the Court will give fulsome time for closing arguments, but it's probably good that we can get through as many witnesses as we can today.

MR. JOHNSON: Thank you, Your Honor. As Ms. Green had previewed, I believe that the case-in-chief on the Debtors' side, and the Plan Proponents' side, rather, is two witnesses, Nick Harshfield and Andres Estrada from KCC. Your Honor, Mr. Harshfield is available on WebEx. He is -- I understand he is dialed in and present with us today. There has been an agreement to submit his testimony by declaration. The declaration was filed at Docket #1243. It is the very standard 1129 declaration, just dealing with the 1129 issues. Doesn't address any particular objections. But as we clarified, everybody clarified in the hearing, that when we do this it is also subject to additional direct. And so I believe that the plan would be, once his declaration gets admitted, then counsel for Lifespace would like to take some direct of Mr. Harshfield, and then open him up to cross from the various parties.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much, Mr. Johnson.

Is there any objection to the Court admitting the declaration that is filed at Docket 1243 as a portion of Mr. Harshfield's direct testimony? Mr. Gold?

MR. GOLD: If I may, Your Honor?

THE COURT: Of course.

MR. GOLD: We have no objection, but we have individual objections to some paragraphs simply as being conclusory. We can address those however the Court wishes. I think some are self-evident. Whether that's done through cross, whether that's done through objections after the testimony, however you want to proceed.

You know, I would say at this point it's admitted subject to some specific objections about a few paragraphs. I don't think -- we'll need some foundation probably from him in terms of his personal knowledge or what sources he's relying on. Some of them are noncontroversial. Some perhaps more so.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you, Mr. Gold.

Mr. Johnson?

MR. JOHNSON: Your Honor, we have no objection. That's what cross and redirect are for, I think, so we're happy to -- and we intend to make him available, obviously, for that. So I think if his declaration could be admitted, subject to cross-examination and objections after the fact, we're fine with that.

THE COURT: Okay. I think that that is probably the most efficient way to go.

So the Court will admit the declaration of Nick Harshfield that's found at Docket 1243 as a portion of Mr. Harshfield's direct testimony for sake of the record. And any objections essentially to whether these are conclusions by the witness are hereby reserved on behalf of ICI.

MR. JOHNSON: Thank you, Your Honor. I think Mr. Harshfield is available on WebEx if you want to call him to the virtual podium.

THE COURT: All right. Mr. Harshfield, can you say "Testing, testing" so that you'll appear on the screen?

MR. HARSHFIELD: Testing, testing, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Good afternoon.

MR. HARSHFIELD: Good afternoon.

THE COURT: All right. Mr. Harshfield, I'll go ahead and swear you in. If you could raise your right hand for me.

(The witness is sworn.)

THE COURT: All righty. Thank you very much. And just in terms of housekeeping, if you could state your name for the record.

THE WITNESS: Nick Harshfield.

THE COURT: All right. And as you may have heard, Mr. Harshfield, we just had an the opportunity to admit a declaration that was filed on February 17th at Docket 1243 of the docket. Did you have an opportunity to review that declaration before you signed it?

THE WITNESS: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. And if called to testify upon direct, would it be your direct testimony?

THE WITNESS: Yes.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much.

So, with that, the foundation will be laid to the extent there's any objections to the declaration in cross. So, thank you very much, Mr. Harshfield.

Please. Mr. Walker?

MR. WALKER: Thank you, Your Honor. For the record, Eric Walker on behalf of Lifespace Communities.

NICK HARSHFIELD, PLAN PROPONENTS' WITNESS, SWORN

DIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. WALKER:

Q Good afternoon, Mr. Harshfield.

A Good afternoon.

Q Thank you for being with us again today. In addition to your position at Edgemere, you hold a position at Lifespace Communities, Inc., correct?

A That is correct.

Q What position is that?

A Chief financial officer.

Q How -- when did you first start working at Lifespace?

A June of 2020.

Q And have you been the chief financial officer the entire time?

A Yes.

Q Have you held any other positions at Lifespace?

A I have not.

Q Can you generally describe for the Court what the business of Lifespace Communities, Inc. is?

A Lifespace Communities, Inc. is the owner or sole member of 18 communities in seven states, retirement communities in seven states.

Q Is Lifespace a for-profit or a non-for-profit organization?

A Not-for-profit. 501(c)(3) designation.
Q Thank you. What is Lifespace's relationship to Edgemere?
A Lifespace is the sole member of Northwest Housing -- Senior Housing Corporation.
Q So Northwest Senior Housing Corporation is the Debtor in this case, correct?
A Correct.
Q And it goes by the name of Edgemere, right?
A That's correct.
Q So when we're talking about Northwest Senior Housing Corporation and Edgemere, you understand we're talking about the same entity, correct?
A Yes. Yes.
Q When did Lifespace become the sole member of Edgemere?
A June of 2019.
Q So that was before you joined Lifespace?
A Correct.
Q So did you have any involvement in Lifespace's affiliation with Edgemere back in 2019?
A I did not.
Q In addition to Lifespace's membership interest in Edgemere, does Lifespace own membership interests in any other entities that own senior living communities?
A Yes.
Q Approximately how many?

A Seven other communities.
Q Seven of those 18 communities that you testified about earlier?
A Correct.
Q Now, does Lifespace itself directly own any senior living communities?
A Yes. Ten.
Q So, the balance of the communities that you testified about earlier?
A Correct.
Q Mr. Harshfield, can you generally describe your job responsibilities as the CFO of Lifespace?
A I'm responsible for oversight of the financial operations and capital structure of Lifespace.
Q Mr. Harshfield, as the CFO, are you also responsible for all of the debt financings of Lifespace?
A Yes.
Q Are you responsible for the bond financings of Lifespace?
A Yes.
Q Okay. I'd like to ask you a few questions now about the financial health of Lifespace. Starting, how would you generally describe the financial health of Lifespace?
A I would say Lifespace is a strong -- financially strong organization.
Q What is the approximate current value of Lifespace's assets, in total?

A Approximately $1.7 billion.

Q That was billion with a B?

A Yes.

Q Okay. Do you know what the current credit rating is for Lifespace?

A BBB by Fitch.

Q What does triple -- what does a BBB credit rating mean to you?

A It's an investment-grade credit rating.

Q What do you mean about -- what do you understand investment-grade credit rating to mean?

A It is considered the top tier of credit ratings and investors can have confidence in investing in -- specifically with Lifespace and the bond issuances that Lifespace does from time to time.

Q Do you know when the last time Fitch affirmed Lifespace's BBB investment-grade credit rating?

A September of '22.

Q So, September of last year, about, what is that, five months ago now? Is that right?

A Yes. Correct.

Q So that was several months after Edgemere filed its Chapter 11 bankruptcy petition back in April of 2022; is that right?

A That's correct.

Q Mr. Harshfield, can you --

THE COURT: Just one moment.

MR. WALKER: Of course.

THE CLERK: I've got it.

THE COURT: You've got it? Thank you. All righty.

MR. WALKER: Mr. Harshfield, can you just saying "Testing" real quick so we can get you back on the screen for the Court?

THE WITNESS: Yes. Testing, testing.

MR. WALKER: There we go.

THE COURT: Thank you.

BY MR. WALKER:

Q So, Mr. Harshfield, could you give the Court a sense of the amount of unrestricted cash and liquid securities that Lifespace currently has on its balance sheet?

A Approximately $188 million.

Q $188 million? Okay. Thank you.

Mr. Harshfield, I'd now like to ask you a few questions about the Chapter 11 plan that is up for confirmation this week, as well as the Lifespace settlement and contribution agreement that is an aspect of that plan.

Mr. Harshfield, you're generally familiar with the Chapter 11 plan that's been proposed in this case?

A Yes, I am.

Q Are you familiar with Lifespace's contribution under that plan for the Bond Trustee?

A Yes.

Q And could you describe your understanding of that for the Court, please?

A For the Bond Trustee, approximately $16.5 million is to be contributed at the effective date.

Q And that contribution is from Lifespace to the Bond Trustee under the plan as a recovery for Bondholders?

A Correct.

Q When is that contribution due to be funded under the plan, if this Court confirms the plan?

A My understanding is at effective date.

Q On the effective date of the plan?

A Yes.

Q Thank you. Mr. Harshfield, are you also familiar with the settlement and contribution agreement that has been entered into by Edgemere, the Creditors' Committee, and Lifespace in this case?

A Yes, I am. Yes, I am.

Q Did Lifespace agree to contribute any additional funds under that settlement agreement?

A Yes.

Q Do you know approximately how much?

A Approximately $145 million over 18 years.

Q Thank you. And to which entity is that Lifespace contribution or that Lifespace funding to be made under the settlement agreement and the plan?

A To a third-party trust specifically for purposes of the resident entrance fee refunds.

Q Okay. So, for further questioning today, I'm going to refer to that as the "Residents Trust," which many of us have referred to it --

A Okay.

Q -- throughout this case. So when I say Residents Trust, you'll understand I'm talking about that trust that you just described?

A Yes.

Q And how, to the best of your understanding, how is the funding that Lifespace makes under the settlement agreement to that Residents Trust, how is that structured to be made?

A So, over time, there will be a combination of subordinated debt issuances as well as excess cash flow from operations.

Q Okay. Is that how you anticipate that funding -- that contribution will be funded by Lifespace?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And my question is a little different, which is what's your understanding of how the payment from Lifespace to the Residents Trust will be made, as structured under the settlement agreement?

A Are you referring to the payment plan that's part of the settlement agreement?
Q I am.
A Okay. Yes. So, there is a stated annual payment -- well, there's a -- there is a contribution to the Resident Trust at the effective date, and then there's annual contributions thereafter that are explicitly stated as part of the settlement agreement.
Q And is that, the payment schedule that you referred to, is that an actual schedule that's amended as an exhibit or an attachment to that settlement agreement?
A Correct.
Q And you've reviewed that and you're generally familiar with that, correct?
A Yes.
Q So there is an effective-date payment that is made by Lifespace to the Residents Trust, right?
A Right.
Q And then there are subsequent annual payments that are to be made over I think you said 18 years; is that right?
A That is correct.
Q What's your understanding, Mr. Harshfield, of the purpose of the contributions that Lifespace is making or has agreed to make to the Residents Trust under the settlement agreement? What's the purpose of those funds?

A So, my understanding is three main purposes. One is to provide refunds of -- entrance fee refunds to residents. And a second is to allow residents to actually use the refunds to help subsidize their life care benefit as if their life care benefit was still in place. And then a third is to cover the administrative costs of the trust.

Q Thank you. Mr. Harshfield, why is Lifespace making such a significant contribution for the benefit of residents of The Edgemere community that will be sold to a third party, will effectively be divested of the Lifespace portfolio? Why is Lifespace agreeing to make such an extraordinary contribution under this agreement?

A So, it always is our intent, is to look out for the best interests of our residents. But in this situation, the -- the structure, particularly with the land lease, was a very extraordinary concern from the standpoint of essentially like Edgemere is not able to continue as a life care community. With a terminable lease that's nonrenewable, it simply cannot continue as, you know, effectively as a life care community.

So, essentially, with such an extraordinary problem to solve, Lifespace decided to come up with an extraordinary solution, and the solution was to provide this funding to support the residents in their -- their expected entrance fee refunds.

Q Thank you. Does Lifespace -- the 17 other communities that Lifespace owns, either directly or indirectly through affiliates, are any of them subject to a land lease like The Edgemere?

A Oh, no.

Q Mr. Harshfield, is Lifespace receiving anything in exchange for its agreement to fund this Residents Trust under the plan?

A Yeah. The release. Releases of any future claims.

Q Would Lifespace have agreed to make these contributions without the benefit of these releases under the plan?

A No.

Q Mr. Harshfield, does Lifespace intend to comply with the terms of the plan and the settlement agreement that it's entered into?

A Oh, yes.

Q Mr. Harshfield, do you know if Edgemere residents were entitled to vote on this plan that's before the Court for confirmation?

A Yes, they were.

Q Do you know how that vote turned out, the resident vote?

A Yeah. My understanding is that all the residents with potential refunds voted -- they all voted, it was unanimous, for the plan.

Q They all voted unanimously to support the plan? Is that what I heard?

A That's my understanding, yes.

Q Thank you. Do you know if any Edgemere residents that are entitled to an entrance fee refund elected to opt out of the releases that are proposed under the plan?

A My understanding is that no one opted out.

Q Okay. Mr. Harshfield, I want to ask you a few questions now on the funding for the Lifespace settlement and contribution agreement that we've touched on a little bit. Just to revisit some of your early testimony, remind me the amount of the initial contribution Lifespace has agreed to contribute to the Bond Trustee on the effective date of the plan.

A $16.5 million.

Q Okay. And remind me again, what's the amount of the initial contribution Lifespace has agreed to fund into the Residents Trust on the effective date of the plan?

A Approximately $52 million.

Q Okay. So I think it's a little over $52 million, just under $52.5 million. Does that sound right to you?

A Yes, it does.

Q In fairness, I did ask for an approximation, so I think you answered the question correctly.

So, by my math, the $16-1/2 million plus the $52-1/2 million, that's approximately $69 million that Lifespace has agreed to fund on the effective date of the plan. Does that sound right to you? Is that consistent with your understanding?

A Yes, it is.

Q How does Lifespace intend to fund that initial contribution of approximately $69 million?

A So, the initial funding, we are -- expect to fund that with subordinated -- with a subordinated debt issuance.

Q Okay. Let me ask you this. What's your understanding of when the effective date of the plan will occur, should the Court confirm the plan relatively soon?

A My understanding is at the end of April, maybe early part of May.

Q Okay. So I think you just testified that Lifespace intends to fund that initial $69 million contribution through the issuance of subordinated debt. Do I have that right? Did I remember that correctly?

A That is correct.

Q Okay. Does Lifespace have sufficient unrestricted cash and liquid securities on its balance sheet to fund the entire amount of that initial contribution?

A Yes.

Q And do you expect that Lifespace will have sufficient unrestricted cash and liquid securities to fund that approximately $69 million initial contribution when the effective date occurs at the end of April, maybe early May?

A Yes.
Q And I think you testified earlier, Lifespace has approximately $188 million of cash, unrestricted cash and liquid securities on its balance sheet; is that right?
A That is correct.
Q So, if Lifespace has all of this cash and liquid securities on its balance sheet, why does it intend to fund that initial contribution through a subordinated debt issuance?
A Simply to optimize the capital structure of the organization.
Q Okay. Thank you. Is Lifespace working with any advisors to help it issue this subordinated debt before the effective date?
A Yes. We're working with HJ Sims and Goldman Sachs.
Q Okay. I think most of us are familiar with Goldman Sachs, but -- and some of us may be familiar with HJ Sims, but they're a little more of a specialty adviser. Can you explain for the Court who HJ Sims is and what they do?
A Sure. They are an investment banker, primarily in the education and senior living space. They do a lot of investment banking relative to tax-exempt bond issuances.
Q So when you say tax-exempt bond issuances, would that be for like nonprofit entities like Lifespace?
A Correct.

Q Okay. Approximately when did Lifespace begin the process of working with these advisers to issue the subordinated debt financing?

A We began discussions several months ago.

Q Is that process still ongoing?

A Oh, yes.

Q When do you expect to obtain the subordinated debt financing? When do you expect to close on it?

A We expect -- yeah. We expect closing to occur mid-April.

Q Mid-April of this year, right? 2023?

A Yes.

Q Have any of your advisors, Mr. Harshfield, either HJ Sims or Goldman Sachs, expressed any concerns to you about Lifespace's ability to close on the proposed subordinated debt financing prior to the effective date at the end of April?

A No. They continue to have confidence that we will be able to close.

Q How about you personally, Mr. Harshfield, as the CFO of Lifespace? Do you have any concerns about Lifespace's ability to close this subordinated debt issuance before the effective date at the end of April?

A I do not.

Q Mr. Harshfield, are you aware that Fitch has placed Lifespace on a negative rating watch?

A Yes, I am.

Q Can you help explain for the Court what that means? What's a negative rating watch?

A So, it is a -- it's a condition of which Fitch is waiting to see and understand the outcome of the financing, the subordinated debt financing, as well as the final settlement, and outcome of The Edgemere reorganization. And at that point they will issue a final -- final report on Lifespace's credit rating.

Q Okay. Has Lifespace [sic] actually changed Lifespace's credit rating as we sit here today?

A No. Fitch has not changed the credit rating.

Q So Fitch is still rating Lifespace as investment-grade BBB. Correct?

A Correct. That's correct.

Q Do you expect, Mr. Harshfield, that this Fitch rating watch will have any impact on Lifespace's ability to close this subordinated debt financing?

A I do not.

Q Have the investment bankers, Goldman Sachs and HJ Sims, that you're working with that are leading this subordinated debt offering for Lifespace, have they expressed any concerns to you regarding this rating watch by Fitch?

A They have not.

Q Mr. Harshfield, even if Lifespace was unable to secure the subordinated debt financing, does Lifespace have sufficient cash and liquid securities to fund the full $69 million payments that are due on the effective date under the proposed plan and the settlement agreement?

A Yes.

Q Would that trigger any defaults under Lifespace's other bond documents or other financings?

A No. My understanding is no.

Q So we've talked a lot about that initial contribution that would be due on the effective date of the plan, should the Court confirm the plan and approve that settlement agreement. But generally speaking, do you understand what the amount of those future annual payments are that are due under the settlement agreement?

A Yes, I do.

Q And can you -- I know it's attached as an exhibit, so the Court has those specific amounts, but just for the benefit of the confirmation hearing today, can you generally describe your understanding of kind of the amount of those annual payments moving forward?

A Yes. I think the first annual payment after the initial contribution is approximately $11 million, and then over the course of time, you know, in year three or four, it goes down to $8 or $9 million, and then eventually it goes down to less than a million on an annual basis.

Q At the present time, Mr. Harshfield, how does Lifespace intend to fund those future -- or finance or fund those future contributions, annual contributions that you just talked about?

A Generally expect to fund those with excess cash flow from operations.

Q And Mr. Harshfield, does Lifespace have enough unrestricted cash and liquid securities to fund all of those payments?

A Yes.

Q Do you have any concern, as the CFO of Lifespace, about Lifespace's ability to fund those future payments?

A I do not.

Q Thank you, Mr. Harshfield. I think that's all the questions I have for you on direct.

THE COURT: Thank you very much, Mr. Walker.

I'll allow, whether it's the Plan Sponsors or the Debtors, if you have any further questions for Mr. Harshfield, or even the Committee, of course, before I turn to ICI.

MR. JOHNSON: Nothing further from the Plan Proponents, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much.

MS. WALSH: Nothing from us, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you. Mr. McCartin?

MR. MCCARTIN: Just a few questions, Your Honor, if I may.

CROSS-EXAMINATION

BY MR. MCCARTIN:

Q Good morning, Mr. Harshfield. Or good afternoon, Mr. Harshfield. Steve McCartin on behalf of the Committee. I just had one or two clarifications with regard to your declaration. Do you have a copy of that in front of you?

A I do.

Q I'd like to turn your attention to Paragraph 26 of your declaration.

A Okay.

Q I'll paraphrase Paragraph 26 as your testimony that it is your understanding that the Litigation Trustee will be vested with authority to enforce all rights to commence and pursue any and all causes of action of the Debtors that are otherwise expressly released in the plan.

Paraphrasing that, I read that to basically say that you believe all causes of action that are not settled by the estates will be transferred to the Litigation Trust; is that fair?

A That is my understanding.

Q Just for the record, now, that would not include the rights under the settlement agreement between Lifespace and the Debtors? Those -- any causes of action under the settlement agreement with Lifespace are being transferred to the Residents Trust, not the Liquidating Trust, correct?

A Yes. That'd be my understanding as well.
Q Okay. And so would you modify your testimony with regard to Paragraph 26 to exclude causes of action arising under the Lifespace settlement which will be transferred to the Residents Trust?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Thank you. And then if I can turn your attention to Paragraph 37 of your declaration. And, again, I know you're not a lawyer and I'm not trying to trip you up with these questions, but I think it's important for the record. I think Paragraph 37 of your testimony basically provides that it is your understanding that the plan provides for payment in full of all allowed administrative expense claims and -- is that correct, what you think --
A Yes.
Q -- Paragraph 37 says?
A Yes. Yes.
Q I will represent to you that Paragraph 2.2 of the plan attempts to put a cap on estate professional fees, which would be administrative expenses, at $1.5 million. Are you familiar at all with that cap?
A I am familiar with that, yes.
Q So when you read -- when you're thinking of a cap, then Paragraph 37 that appears to say it's your understanding that the plan provides for the payment of all administrative expense claims, allowed administrative expense claims, that's not technically correct, is it? In other words, --

A Um, you know, --

Q Let me rephrase that. Wouldn't it be more accurate to say in your Paragraph 37 that the plan provides for the payment of all allowed administrative expense claims other than allowed administrative expense claims of professionals of the estate, which are capped at $1.5 million? Isn't that a more accurate statement?

A You know, I don't know that I can answer that on the spot, Mr. McCartin. My understanding is that the sale proceeds are sufficient to cover all allowed claims or allowed administrative claims. So, to answer your question on the spot, I'm not prepared to do that.

Q Okay. But when you -- when you're swearing in testimony to Paragraph 37, you didn't really factor in the cap of 2.2; is that --

MR. JOHNSON: Objection, Your Honor.

MR. MCCARTIN: Or did you?

MR. JOHNSON: Objection, Your Honor. I think this is calling for legal speculation that counsel is asking him if it includes allowed claims or allowed claims over the cap. I think the testimony was that the fees that would be approved by the Court would be allowed, and whatever those fees are, whether there's a cap on them or not, would be -- it's a legal analysis of what I guess the term "allowed" would mean in the context of a cap, and I don't know that Mr. Harshfield can answer that.

MR. MCCARTIN: I would disagree with what he just said. I think the Court can allow administrative expense claims at -- in any amount it determines that it wants to, but the plan restricts the payment of those allowed claims to $1.5 million.

So I know we're getting into some legalese, but I didn't want the record to proceed without cross-examination. It seems like the Debtors' witness is saying all allowed administrative expense claims are being paid, to the best of his understanding, and I want to point out for the record that that's not what the plan says.

THE COURT: Well, I'm going to sustain the objection to this point, Mr. McCartin. A couple times when you were asking him what it said, I think you inserted some words.

MR. MCCARTIN: Uh-huh.

THE COURT: You said does it allow for the payment of administrative claims in full. You're saying does it provide for the payment of all allowed administrative expense claims. I mean, your objection is preserved, and I understand your objection very well. I'm just not sure that you can get much more out of it from this witness. I guess there is a bit of a chicken and an egg: Does the plan do it or is there not sufficient proceeds and things of that nature? But I understand your objection. I'm just not sure you're getting anywhere with this particular witness on that.

MR. MCCARTIN: Right. That's all I needed, Your Honor, is to preserve that for the record.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you, Mr. McCartin.

MR. MCCARTIN: Thank you. Thank you, Mr. Harshfield.

THE COURT: All righty.

THE WITNESS: Thank you.

THE COURT: Are we prepared to go to cross-examination at this point? From ICI?

MR. GOLD: Perhaps after a quick break and a quick question for the witness regarding his access to exhibits.

THE COURT: Okay. So, Mr. Harshfield -- what exhibits are you going to be calling upon so we can -- just in case we need to get something sent to him over the break. Or will you be pulling them up on the screen? We have lots of choices here.

MR. GOLD: Well, that may beg the question, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. GOLD: Mr. Harshfield, you may recall from your testimony in court we had a whole bunch of exhibit binders spread all over the place, and I assume, going out on a limb, I'm assuming, your hotel room, you don't have all those exhibit binders with you.

THE COURT: That's a lot of baggage fees.

THE WITNESS: I in fact have -- I in fact have a very large box that was sent to me.

MR. GOLD: Excellent.

THE WITNESS: So, I may be able --

MR. GOLD: Okay.

THE WITNESS: I may be able to find what you're asking for, but I wouldn't guarantee it, but I'll do my best.

MR. GOLD: Okay. Well, if you have a big box, we'll operate on that basis, and we'll use a screen backup, if that's okay with the Court.

THE COURT: Fair enough.

MR. GOLD: And that's -- thank you for that answer. If we could just take maybe a ten-minute recess and --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. GOLD: -- dive right now.

THE COURT: So, Mr. Gold, Mr. Williams has arisen.

MR. GOLD: Oh, certainly.

THE COURT: But yes, I'll give you a ten-minute recess --

MR. GOLD: Oh.

THE COURT: -- before ICI's cross-examination. Thank you, Mr. Gold.

Mr. Williams?

MR. WILLIAMS: Thank you, Your Honor. Just one quick question.

CROSS-EXAMINATION

BY MR. WILLIAMS:

Q Mr. Harshfield, good afternoon. My name is Benton Williams. I represent several former residents. And we have voted in favor of the plan and support the plan and support confirmation.

I had a quick question for you, if you could answer it for me. You mentioned earlier there's $188 million, roughly, in unrestricted cash reserves. Did I hear that right, or can you correct me if I'm wrong?

A Correct.

Q And will Lifespace --

A That is correct.

Q I apologize. Thank you. Will Lifespace make the effective-date payments on the effective date with its cash reserves regardless of whether the bonds close in mid-April?

A Yes. The commitment is to make the payments on the effective date.

Q Regardless of whether the bonds close?

A Yes.

Q Thank you. Thank you very much.

MR. WILLIAMS: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Thank you, Mr. Williams.

Again, anyone else have any cross-examination of the witness other than ICI before we break?

MR. WALKER: I guess I should have done this earlier, Your Honor, but I obviously reserve for redirect.

THE COURT: Of course.

MR. WALKER: I may have a follow-up question or two, depending on how the cross goes.

THE COURT: Yes.

MR. WALKER: But I wanted to make that clear for the record.

THE COURT: Yes.

MR. WALKER: Thank you.

THE COURT: You'll have that opportunity.

MR. WALKER: Thank you.

THE COURT: And given this is a little out of the ordinary, I'll give you and the Debtors and Plan Sponsors the opportunity for redirect. But anything further before I get to ICI?

Okay. It is 3:55-ish, so we'll return at 4:05.

MR. GOLD: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE CLERK: All rise.

(A recess ensued from 3:54 p.m. until 4:12 p.m.)

THE CLERK: All rise.

THE COURT: Please. Be seated. We're going to go back on the record in Case No. 22-30659. When we last took a break, Mr. Harshfield was in the midst of testimony. So I'll remind you, sir, that you're still under oath. And if you can say, "Testing, testing" to appear back on the screen. Mr. Gold?

THE WITNESS: Testing, testing.

MR. GOLD: Perhaps a little louder, Mr. Harshfield. You're not all the way up.

THE WITNESS: Yes. Testing, testing, testing.

MR. GOLD: There we go.

THE COURT: Thank you, Mr. Harshfield.

MR. GOLD: Thank you, sir. And you still have your box?

THE WITNESS: It's right here next to me.

MR. GOLD: Okay. Thank you. Again --

If I may, Your Honor?

THE COURT: Please.

MR. GOLD: Okay.

CROSS-EXAMINATION

BY MR. GOLD:

Q Again, good afternoon, Mr. Harshfield. Ivan Gold of Allen Matkins, co-counsel for ICI.

You had told Mr. Walker in your testimony a few moments ago that the primary source of funding of the Residents Trust is through a subordinated bond issuance. Is that correct?

A Primary source of funding for the initial contribution to the trust, yes.

Q Yes. The $53 million and change?
A Yes.
Q And the --
A That's our -- that's our plan.
Q Okay. And the $16-1/2 million directly to the Bondholders is also through that same debt offering?
A Correct.
Q Okay. And you said that the cash on hand is your, for lack of a better term, backup plan?
A Correct.
Q Now, you refer to that cash on hand as unrestricted. I believe you used the number $188 million. Is that correct?
A Yes.
Q How much of that --
A Yes.
Q How much of that $188 million, sir, represents entrance fee deposits on other properties?
A Oh, my goodness. I mean, that's -- not sure that's a relevant question from a standpoint of required reserves for entrance fee deposits.
Q Well, what are your required reserves for entrance fee deposits?
A So, it depends on the state. So, Florida, we do have some minimum liquidity reserves. But other states -- also other states we don't. So it's a fairly complicated question.

Q Well, what's the aggregate?
A As far as--?
Q Across the seven states. What's the minimum liquidity you're supposed to maintain for refund of entrance fee deposits?
A So, most of -- or, a significant portion of our entrance fees -- contracts in Florida are actually traditional contracts, which they don't have refunds. And then others are. So, again, it'd be difficult for me to answer that question on the spot.
Q It's not shown on your balance sheet?
A Well, there's certainly contingent liability on the balance sheet.
Q And what's that contingent liability?
A I'd have to look at -- to give you an approximate number. Just -- Q What would you look at to find that approximate number?
A I would look at our EMMA filings that we use for the Obligated Group.
Q Okay. Well, let's talk about the Obligated Group. Or --
A Sure.
Q -- my favorite definition in the whole case, the OG. Who is the Obligated Group?
A The Obligated Group is a collection of ten communities that are collectively combined together to support the credit of the bond issuances.

Q Okay. So the OG is a subset of the 18 Lifespace Communities; is that correct?

A Yes. Actually, I'm sorry, it's 11 communities, not 10.

Q Okay. So these 11 communities, that didn't include The Edgemere, did it?

A It does not, no.

Q Okay. So, when you say it's the balance sheet of the Obligated Group, it's not the balance sheet of Lifespace Communities, Inc., correct? You said you were looking for the --

A Correct.

Q -- entrance fee deposits.

A Yes.

Q Okay. And do you have that handy in one of your binders that you could give me a quick estimate? Or where --

A Uh, I could --

Q Or where else would you look?

A I could look at our most recent EMMA filing to give you a number.

Q Okay. Can you do that?

A Sure.

MR. WALKER: Your Honor, I'd just interpose an objection here. If there is an exhibit that Mr. Gold would like to direct the witness to to ask a question, I think that's legitimate. But I'm not sure -- he's asking him to try to find something.

MR. GOLD: He said where he'd look. And if it's easier for him to find it on EMMA, which is -- he's got a computer right there. He's referring to it.

MR. WALKER: I don't --

THE COURT: I think I'm going to sustain the objection.

MR. GOLD: Okay. We'll circle back to this.

THE COURT: Yes.

MR. GOLD: We'll circle back to this.

THE COURT: Let's act like we would be in court right now without a computer in front of you.

BY MR. GOLD:

Q You had mentioned -- you referred to -- well, let's do it this way. Do you have ICI's exhibit binder handy in your box?

A I have a binder labeled "ICI's Witness and Exhibit List for Confirmation Hearing."

Q Do you --

A Is that what you're referring to?

Q Do you have a fatter binder saying, "ICI Witness and Exhibit List for Hearing Scheduled for February 21, 22, and 23"?

MS. GREEN: Your Honor, I think I can help out a little bit. We prepared these binders. They're not going to look exactly like your binder. So it might be more helpful if we can just direct him to the exhibit number, if you have one.

MR. GOLD: Our 10.

MS. GREEN: So that probably was the correct binder. If it has Exhibit 10 in it, that might make sense to approach it that way.

BY MR. GOLD:

Q Did you hear that, Mr. Harshfield? Look for Exhibit 10 in the binder you referred to.

A I was -- I had my head in a box, so I'm not real sure. So --

Q And it's a big box.

A Yes. Do I go to Tab 10? Is that what I'm looking for?

Q It's Exhibit 10, is entitled -- this is Landlord's Exhibit 10. This is the "Continuing Disclosure Report for the Year Ended December 31, 2022 for Lifespace Communities."

A Sorry. My binder's falling apart. One moment. I see Landlord's Exhibit 10, February 21 to 23.

Q Sounds like you're on the right trail.

A Yep. I'm there.

Q Great. So let's start with the first page, the cover, where it says, "Continuing Disclosure Report for the Year Ended December 31, 2022." Do you have that in front of you?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And so this identifies the Obligated Group; these are the 11 properties that you refer to?

A Correct.

Q Next page, this is a certificate you're giving in accordance with the 2010 master trust indenture for Lifespace. Is that correct?

A Yes.

Q And that's your -- I'll call it your authorized electronic signature?

A Yes.

Q If you turn a few pages back, you'll see, Summary of Units. You'll see a --

A Correct.

Q -- Comparative Analysis of Gross Revenues. And then we'll get to some balance sheets. Do you see that?

A Yes.

Q Okay. So this is year end '22. So in terms of your testimony regarding the $188 million you had on hand as of today, March 7, what does that correlate to in terms of the 2022 balance sheet entry? Is it the first two categories, Cash, Cash Equivalents, and Investments?

A It's there as well as -- it's primarily there, yes. But it's not quite that simple. That's why you have to refer back to the last page that calculates the covenant calculations that gives you the actual unrestricted cash and investments.

Q And when you say the covenant calculations, is that the final page of this report entitled "Obligated Group Selected Historical Financial Information"?

A That is correct.

Q Okay. So turning to that page, if you could point us to the categories on this page you're talking about that approximate, recognizing we're three months -- or excuse me, two months and a week distant from 12/31/2022 -- where does -- what categories include the $188 million in unrestricted cash you testified to?

A So, if you go toward the middle of the page, it says -- you see bold on the left --

Q Uh-huh.

A -- Cash to Debt. Right below that, Unrestricted Cash and Investments, $188,338,000.

Q Okay. Now, if I read the footnote -- because that refers to Footnote A, does it not?

A Yes.

Q Okay. Just to tie your testimony together, it says Cash, Cash Equivalents, Investments, and the Florida Operating and Renewal and Replacement Reserve Funds. Do you see that?

A Yes.

Q How are Florida Operating and Renewal and Replacement Reserve Funds unrestricted?

A Because they are available for renewal and replacement of reserves.

Q But payment of a settlement to a group of residents that have property in Texas is not replacement and renewal of a reserve for Florida residents, is it?
A No, it's not.
Q So how is it that that cash is available to satisfy obligations of The Edgemere undertaken under the plan?
MR. WALKER: Objection, Your Honor. Misstates prior testimony.
MR. GOLD: This is the $188 million he's talking about, Your Honor. It's got a footnote. I'm asking him to explain the footnote.
THE COURT: I'm going to sustain the objection, but I'll allow you to inquire further.
BY MR. GOLD:
Q Are there restrictions on the use of the cash related to Florida Operating and Renewal and Replacement Reserve Funds?
A Yes.
Q And how much are those funds?
A I do not know off the top of my head. It is a fraction of the number, but I would not know that number.
Q Is it in the tens of millions?
A I'd say it's less than tens of millions.
Q But as you sit here today, you don't know what that number is?

A I don't.
Q Would you --
A Not -- not specifically.
Q And you'd agree with me those funds are in fact restricted?
A They are restricted for Florida purposes, yes.
Q Well, they're -- are they allowable for Texas purposes?
A So, I would say they are intended for the use within the State of Florida.
Q Let's stay on this report for a moment.
A Sure.
Q How much money did Lifespace Communities lose in 2020?
A So, if you look at the Excess of -- or Deficit of Revenues Over Expenses, it was a negative $86 million.
Q Eighty-six? That's 2022, isn't it?
A Correct.
Q Okay. And what was it for 2021?
A Negative $32 million.
Q And 2020 was $7 million; is that correct?
A Correct.
Q So your math is way better than mine, but that's $125 million approximately over the last three years in losses?
A Yes.
Q Are you aware of any Lifespace Communities that are currently in covenant defaults under their debt service coverage or occupancy or liquidity ratios?

A We have an affiliate that, yes, is currently under a forbearance agreement.

Q Is that The Stayton?

A Correct.

Q That's in Fort Worth?

A Correct.

Q And am I correct, Lifespace bought The Stayton in 2019?

A There was an affiliation, yes.

Q And that project was put through a prepackaged bankruptcy in this very court in late 2019; is that correct?

A That's my understanding, but I was not at Lifespace at the time.

Q Does Lifespace have an unfunded liquidity support agreement in connection with the acquisition of The Stayton that's still in place?

A Yes.

Q How much is that?

A The unfunded portion currently is approximately $2.4 million.

Q How many days cash on hand does Lifespace Communities currently have?

A At 12/31/2022, had 232 days cash on hand.

Q And is that -- did that increase or decrease in 2022?

A It decreased in 2022.

Q Do you know what the average day's cash on hand is for a BBB-rated company with Fitch?

A So the medians have changed over time, but typically some -- somewhat over 300 days' cash on hand.

Q So it's fair to say, even without the specific number, it's your understanding you're below industry average?

A We currently are, primarily as a result of investment losses, which is obviously impacting everyone right now.

Q Well, in terms of everyone being impacted, you'd agree this is not a particularly good time historically for the municipal financing market?

A I don't think I could speculate on that. That would be total speculation on my part.

Q Well, you'd agree that when you go to market to raise capital in the debt market in 2022, you're going to pay a lot higher interest rate than you paid in 2019. Would you agree with that?

MR. WALKER: Objection. Lack of foundation. He just testified he's not qualified to talk about it.

MR. GOLD: He's out raising money in the capital markets. I could ask him. I think he's sitting in New York right now. You're not familiar with -- the witness is not familiar with interest rates, how it affects his ability for his company to raise cash?

MR. WALKER: I believe the prior testimony is he's working with investment bankers who are leading that process for him.

MR. GOLD: So does he have an understanding?

MR. WALKER: I think he just testified that he didn't, but if he has an understanding, he can answer.

MR. GOLD: I'll -- if I may rephrase it that way, Your Honor?

THE COURT: Rephrase it. Please.

BY MR. GOLD:

Q Do you have an understanding as to whether it is harder to raise funds in municipal debt financing in 2022 than it was in 2020 or 2019?

A I don't -- frankly, I don't know that I can answer that affirmatively or not.

Q Okay. Do you know whether or not the interest rate that would be expected on Lifespace's issuance of new debt in 2023 would be higher than it would be in 2019? Do you have an understanding as to that?

A Yes, I do.

Q And what is that understanding?

A So, I would -- my understanding is it's probably a couple percentages higher than what it was in 2019.

Q Does that couple percentages mean, in the context of actual numbers, twice as much?

A I wouldn't say that. I mean, certainly, you know, I really can't recall back in 2019 what the interest rates were, frankly. But my recollection is that they're certainly not double -- I don't think they are double what they would be in 2019. But again, that's speculation on my part without facts in front of me.

Q Now, you had mentioned the BBB, your current Fitch rating is investment-grade. Is that correct?

A Correct.

Q Is that the lowest of the investment grades under the Fitch rating system?

A No. BBB- would be the lowest investment-grade rating.

Q Okay. And how many investment-grade ratings are above your rating, if you know? Four?

A Actually, I don't know how many.

Q Okay. So is it like --

A Three or four.

Q Three or four? Okay. Now, you mentioned the Fitch ratings watch alert in response to questioning earlier from -- now, when did it -- to your understanding, when does that Fitch negative ratings watch -- when was that issued?

A I believe that was issued in February of this year.

Q And was the ratings watch specific to the plan to raise money to pay the resident contribution under the Residents Trust through bond financing? Was it specific to the Edgemere?

MR. WALKER: Objection, Your Honor, to the extent he's asking this witness to testify to the basis for Fitch's rating watch. Lack of foundation.

MR. GOLD: If he's familiar with it, he read it, and that's the first sentence. So I'm just asking the witness, is that -- do you understand that that's why they did it?

MR. WALKER: If he'd like to ask him questions about an exhibit, he's welcome to do it. That wasn't his question.

MR. GOLD: Well, I'm asking his understanding without the exhibit, Your Honor. If he has an independent recollection, I'm entitled to it.

THE COURT: I'm going to sustain the objection. You can't ask this witness why Fitch did or didn't do something. If you want to ask him if he's reviewed something that stated what Fitch's reason was for the watch, that's different.

MR. GOLD: That's exactly my question. Do you have a --

THE COURT: That's the question you want to ask.

BY MR. GOLD:

Q Do you have an understanding of why Fitch issued a negative ratings watch for Lifespace?

A To my understanding, it's relative to the financing as well as the settlement.

Q So the financing is the proposed issuance of subordinated bond debt to finance the Residents Trust contribution at The Edgemere under the plan before the Court; is that correct?

A That is my understanding, yes.
Q And it's your understanding that's the specific reason Fitch gave? Is that your understanding?
A That is my understanding.
Q And do you have an understanding as to whether Fitch commented on what the impact of the settlement and deposit into the Residents Trust would -- what that impact would be on the cash on hand for Lifespace?
A So, they raised concerns. They didn't have any specific -- my understanding or recollection, they didn't have any specific measures of what they expected to happen, but they just raised concerns of what the impact may be.
Q Okay. Can you refer to the Landlord's Exhibit 20, please?
A I'm sorry. It's pretty far back and I have a binder that has malfunctioned on me.
A VOICE: Nontechnical difficulties, I guess.
BY MR. GOLD:
Q A certain member of our team can identify with you, so I'm not going to judge, Mr. Harshfield. These are big binders.
A I appreciate it. I was worried you were going to judge me on that, so --
Q Not at all. Yeah. Actually, as you flip through, there's actually a declaration that precedes this as 20, and it'll either be labeled 21 or 20A, but it simply says

"Fitch places" --

A So, I'm looking at -- sorry, go ahead.

Q It says, "Fitch places Lifespace Communities, Inc. on negative watch -- on rating watch negative."

A Yes.

Q You have it?

A Yes.

Q Okay. So I'd like you to flip to Page 2, where it -- under the bold left heading, "Key Rating Drivers, Analytical Conclusion." So, following up on your recent answer, "Fitch has placed the" -- you've seen this document before; is that correct? This is the document you're referring to?

A Yes.

Q Okay.

A Correct.

Q "Fitch has placed the ratings on rating watch negative due to Lifespace's plan to fund approximately $143 million of interest-free refunds for residents of Northwest Senior Housing Corporation d/b/a Edgemere, Edgemere, a nonobligated group entity which Lifespace purchased in 2019, as part of Edgemere's bankruptcy restructuring. Lifespace currently contemplates funding this liability through a combination of the proceeds from subordinated debt to be issued by the Lifespace Obligated Group, Lifespace OG, in an amount not to exceed $100 million, likely about $82 million, and internal cash flows of the Lifespace OG." Do you see that?

A Yes.

Q Okay. So what is the correlation -- tell me where the $82 million comes from.

MR. WALKER: Objection, Your Honor. Lack of foundation. This is, again, a Fitch document, and I don't think counsel has established a foundation that this witness is able to testify competently as to where it came from.

BY MR. GOLD:

Q Do you know where the Fitch $82 million came from?

A Yes, I do.

Q Where?

A It came from our investment bankers and myself.

Q Now, you had testified we're looking at $53 million and change --

A Uh-huh.

Q -- plus $16-1/2 million for the Lifespace payment to the Bondholders. So I've got those two numbers in mind, and that comes to just under $70 million. Is that correct?

A Correct.

Q What's the other $12 million, to your understanding?

A To also finance the installment that is due to be contributed 12/31/2023.

Q So then the intent is the subordinated bond offering is not just for the initial effective-date payments, but also the first of the installments under the Lifespace settlement and contribution agreement; is that correct?

A That is correct.

Q Okay. The first sentence of the next paragraph, or not even the whole sentence, "It is anticipated that, should the Edgemere Residents Trust result in a reduction of Lifespace's cash on hand to below 250 days, that portion of the payment may be deferred."

That's your understanding of the operation of the Residents Trust, that if your cash on hand at a time payment is due falls below a certain metric, that that payment can be deferred. Is that correct?

A Correct.

Q But is it fair to say you're budgeting for that at year-end '23 by raising that additional $12 million?

A No. We're raising the additional $12 million again as part of our overall capital structure, just optimizing our capital structure.

Q Do you see Fitch's comment on the next page that says, "Fitch nevertheless believes payment of these liabilities will materially inhibit Lifespace's cash flow growth over the next several years"? Do you see that comment?

A I do.

Q Do you agree or disagree with it?

A So, I would -- I think the word "materially" is probably a judgment. I would -- my assessment is that Lifespace will continue to grow and strengthen, even with the payment plan as outlined within the settlement agreement.

Q Well, let's look at the next sentence. "Fitch sees this as a negative, given that Lifespace's cash flow is already constrained due to recent declines in independent living unit occupancy." Do you see that statement?

A I do.

Q Is the second half of that true, to your understanding? Are -- is Lifespace's cash flow constrained due to recent declines in the independent living occupancy of your properties?

A I would say that it, again, it depends on your definition of constraint. If we had high occupancy, would we have more cash? Absolutely. Are we generating cash? Yes, we are. So I'm not sure if that answers your question or not, but this is certainly Fitch's assessment, but that is their assessment, not my assessment.

Q Well, let's look at the next paragraph. This refers to the fact that the subordinate bonds are not being issued in the interests of a revenue-producing project. Do you see that?

A Yes.

Q So isn't it true that the Obligated Group, this basket of 11 properties, is having bond debt issued secured by its properties to pay off an obligation of a member of the Lifespace Communities family that is not part of the Obligated Group? Is that correct?

A So, this is a settlement with -- with Lifespace Communities, Inc., so I don't know. I think we're -- maybe we're getting more of a legal question here that I'm not sure if I'm prepared to answer.

Q We're mortgaging the OG's properties to pay the Edgemere's debts; is that true?

MR. WALKER: Objection. Calls for a legal conclusion.

BY MR. GOLD:

Q Is that your understanding of this transaction?

THE COURT: I'll allow the witness to answer.

THE WITNESS: I would say at this point there is no intent to have a mortgage involved.

BY MR. GOLD:

Q Are you -- is -- will the bond issuance be -- will there be any form of pledge or security granted to support the bonds?

A So, this is where I'm concerned about confidentiality, because currently this is being approached as a private placement and the terms of the bonds are under nondisclosure agreements with individual investors.

Q Do you understand that the bonds are going to be secured by the property of the OG, of the Obligated Group, by their plant, property, equipment, and real property?

A I again would have to -- I'd have to restate my answer again. Those are provisions under proposed term sheets that are confidential at this point.

MR. WALKER: Yeah, Your Honor, and I would just interpose an objection here to the extent that the line of questioning is going into a bond offering that's currently out to market on a confidential basis as a private placement. Obviously, there's some concerns about what we can disclose publicly about that.

MR. GOLD: These bonds are being used to finance a critical provision of this plan. If they're secret, it's a "Trust me plan."

MR. WALKER: I don't see how whatever security or the specific terms of the bond offering is relevant to the Landlord's interest in confirmation of this plan. The Landlord isn't a party to the settlement agreement. The Landlord isn't a party to the Residents Trust. Doesn't impact the Landlord. So --

MR. GOLD: Except we have multiple witnesses in this case who testified that the subsidy created by the Landlord's trust is in the projections of the buyer.

MR. WALKER: I disagree with that. I think the testimony was the opposite. From the proposed manager for Bay

9, Long Hill, who testified here two weeks ago and said that whether or not the Lifespace funding was actually made to the Residents Trust would not impact their projections moving forward.

MR. GOLD: I don't think that was the testimony. I think the documents say what they say, --

MR. WALKER: They --

MR. GOLD: -- and we have a competing expert who has a different view who also testified.

THE COURT: Right. And, again, I don't think that we're necessarily hitting upon those. If you want to, in closing, make your points about the fact that we don't have the particularities of the bond issuance that you've pointed out and that the witness is either unable or unwilling to give us at that point, you can do so, but I think you've covered this point.

MR. WALKER: Thank you.

BY MR. GOLD:

Q So, without reference to the terms of the bonds, Fitch says that the incurrence of this additional debt will erode Lifespace's cash-to-adjusted debt, which is already relatively low for the ratings category due to additional borrowings Lifespace has transacted in order to finance its substantial campus redevelopment plan.

Do you see that statement?

A I do.
Q And do you believe that the incurrence of this additional debt in the form of the bonds to support the Residents Trust obligation will erode Lifespace's cash-to-adjusted debt?
A I would say, in isolation, if there were no other business dynamics, that that would be -- that I would agree with that statement. But I would -- my judgment is that the business plans that we have in place, that the settlement agreement, while it's a substantial commitment, will not erode the strength of Lifespace's balance sheet.
Q In the next paragraph rating sensitivities, Fitch -- or, do you understand that Fitch says that if you go ahead with this transaction you will -- could be downgraded, and in fact, a multi-notch downgrade to below-investment-grade is a possibility? Are you aware of that?
A Yes.
Q Are interest -- is the interest payments under the bonds -- do you understand the interest payments under the bonds will be capped, given Lifespace's financial situation?
A Again, we're getting into terms -- confidential terms of the bonds.
Q So, liquidity ratios and occupancy ratios and all that are all confidential in terms of this bond offering?
A Yes.
Q Given Lifespace's financial performance over the last few years and the subordinated nature of this debt, do you know, have you received pricing information from your investment banker as to what interest rate is likely for these bonds, or is that confidential, too?

MR. WALKER: Yeah. Your Honor, I'm going to object

THE WITNESS: That is --

MR. WALKER: -- on confidentiality issues.

MR. GOLD: Well, I'm asking if the witness knows it's confidential. I don't need Counsel's objection. It was directly in my question.

THE COURT: Okay. Let's take it down.

MR. GOLD: I believe the witness answered yes, it's confidential.

THE COURT: I know he answered yes, it's confidential, but let's set a few ground rules. If counsel to a witness -- and this is the CFO of Lifespace; this is counsel to Lifespace -- if counsel is recognizing that something is confidential and directing his client not to answer for whatever reason, that is a legitimate objection, Mr. Gold.

MR. GOLD: It is, Your Honor, but my question asked is it confidential or not. The witness can answer that question.

THE COURT: I understand, and there was a bit of a protective objection there, but let's relax a little.

BY MR. GOLD:

Q What is your understanding of the claims that are being released through the contribution agreement? Settlement and contribution agreement for the Residents Trust?

A My understanding are any claims relative between residents and Lifespace.

Q Well, you say any claims. Are you aware or do you have an understanding of specific claims that have been asserted or threatened?

A I'm not aware of any.

Q Are you aware of whether any were outlined in any previous pleadings or disclosure statements in this case?

A I am not aware of any.

Q How about claims relating to the $16.5 million that's being paid to the Bondholders? Did you negotiate that amount?

A Primarily that was negotiated with attorneys.

Q What role did you play in those negotiations?

A I would say primarily working with our CEO and determining what amounts we felt were appropriate. But certainly, we were not involved in the active negotiations. That was more with the attorneys.

Q Do you have an understanding of what claims you were settling with the Bondholders? What the Bondholders were, for lack of a better word, threatening Lifespace with that triggered a settlement?

A I'm not aware of any claims.

Q You're not aware of any claims that the Bondholders hypothetically asserted against Lifespace that led you to agree to pay them $16.5 million?

A I mean, again, I'm not aware of any claims.

Q Is it your understanding that the funding for either the Residents Trust or -- well, let me break this into two questions. Strike that, please.

Is it your understanding that the funding of the Residents Trust with an initial contribution of over $52 million is a condition to the effectiveness of the plan in this case?

A My understanding is that those are two separate agreements.

Q Is it your understanding that Lifespace gets a release under the plan even if it doesn't fund the Residents Trust?

MR. WALKER: Objection, Your Honor. It's calling for a legal conclusion.

MR. GOLD: I asked his understanding, Your Honor.

THE COURT: He can give his lay understanding.

THE WITNESS: So, yes, my understanding is that those -- the release of those claims would still be in place. Yes.

BY MR. GOLD:

Q Same questions for the Bondholders. Is it your understanding that your settlement with the Bondholders and the releases are effective even if you don't pay the $16-1/2 million to the Bondholders?

A Actually, I can't answer that question. I don't know the answer to that question.
Q This turns to an earlier question, or an earlier answer. Are you familiar with the operating projections going forward prepared by The Long Hill Company?
A I'm not.
Q Did anyone on your team engage with Long Hill to help them prepare the projections, if you know?
A No. Not that I'm aware of.
Q What role did you play in the plan solicitation process?
A I did not. Maybe I need to understand better a plan solicitation process, but --
Q Okay. Fair response. Let me --
A That was primarily handled by -- yeah. Go ahead. I'm sorry.
Q Did you attend any resident meetings or generically "town halls" regarding the proposed plan or the Residents Trust settlement at the Edgemere?
A I attended a town hall, but I did not participate in it.
Q When did the town hall you participate -- you attended and did not participate in, when approximately was that?
A I actually cannot recall. I know it did not occur until we were allowed to do that, but I just -- I don't recall exactly when it happened, when it occurred.
Q Was it late '22 or early '23, using Christmas or New Year's as a marker?

A It was, yeah, yes, it was late '22, early '23.

Q Okay.

A I just don't remember exactly when, but --

Q Okay. And who made the presentation?

A Our present CEO as well as legal counsel.

Q Did you have any role in the preparation of the content that was delivered at that town hall meeting?

A I don't believe so. I think it was primarily a preparation with legal counsel.

Q Do you know if residents were told they would recover a hundred percent on account of their entrance fee claims at that meeting?

A I don't specifically recall that, no.

Q Do you recall how -- whether any statements were made at that meeting regarding how Lifespace was obtaining the funding to pay the entrance fee claims?

A No. We wouldn't discuss that.

Q Well, what do you recall the benefits of the plan being described to the residents at the town hall? Was it a -- or let me withdraw that question. I'll ask it in a second. Was it a presentation format? Was it question-and-answer format? How did the town hall go?

A So it was primarily a presentation, a verbal presentation. There may have been a few slides. And then opened up to questions at the end.

Q And in the course of that presentation, is it your recollection that how Lifespace was going to pay for the proposed Residents Trust settlement was not discussed?

A So, how we're going to pay it, but I do -- I do believe, yes, that the commitment under the settlement agreement was discussed.

Q And when you say the commitment under the settlement agreement, that would be the funding of the --

A Yes.

Q -- initial payment and then the subsequent installment payments? The structure of the settlement?

A Correct. Yeah, the structure. I don't think we actually put numbers up there. We may have, or actually -- actually, yes, there was a slide with numbers. But yes, that was discussed.

Q Did you tell the residents how you were going to pay for it? Not you personally, the presentation by the CEO?

A Well, it talked about how we're -- you know, the funding schedule. Not necessarily how it was going to be funded, no.

Q Okay. On the petition date in this case, Lifespace owed approximately $111 million to the Bondholders of the Edgemere bond debt; is that correct?

A Not Lifespace. Edgemere.

Q Edgemere. The Edgemere entity.

A Edgemere, yes.
Q Okay.
A Lifespace did not owe it.
Q Right. I'm sorry. The Edgemere entity owed -- the Debtors owed $111 million approximately to the Bondholders; is that correct?
A Sounds about right, yes.
Q Okay. And they were secured?
A Yes.
Q And do you have an understanding of what they were secured by? What was the security for the bond debt?
A I couldn't tell you specifically what the bond documents said, but typically it's going to be all assets and revenues --
Q Okay.
A -- of the Debtor.
Q So, as they call it, property, plant, and equipment. So, or FF&E -- the health care equipment, the furniture in the common area, office equipment -- that's all part of the Bondholder security?
A That would be my understanding, but again, I don't know the specifics of those bonds.
Q Okay. And are they secured by the ground lease? Do you know that?
A I don't know that detail, no.

Q Okay. Do you know that at one point in this case the Debtors filed a motion to value the Bondholder collateral? Are you aware of that?

A I don't recall that, no.

Q Are you aware that the Debtors were going to hire Gordon Brothers Asset Advisors to assist them in this valuation? Are you aware of that?

A I don't know that I've heard of Gordon Brothers Asset Advisors, no.

Q Did you know the Debtors were going to use Ankura, who at the time was the Committee's financial advisor, to assist them in that effort? Are you aware of that?

A I'm sorry. Let me -- let me -- okay. I'm -- is that GB Riley? Gordon? Is that --

Q Well, there's --

A When you said Gordon Brothers, --

Q They're competitors. There's B. Riley and there's Gordon Brothers.

A Yeah. B. Riley. Okay. Okay. So, I'm sorry. I was trying to make sure I understood. So, Ankura, I know that there were some conversations, but I actually don't recall, you know, the details of those conversations with Ankura.

Q You don't recall that those conversations made it so far as that a motion was filed with the Court to engage in that valuation?

A I don't recall that, no.
Q Since the filing of this case, has -- have the Debtors commissioned, to your knowledge, an appraisal of the ground lease?
A Since the filing of the -- say that again?
Q Since the petition date, since the filing of the bankruptcy.
A I'm sorry. Say the whole question again.
Q Sure. Since the petition date, have the Debtors gotten an appraisal of the ground lease?
A No, not that I'm aware of.
Q Since the petition date, have the Debtors received an appraisal of the personal property and equipment on the Edgemere campus?
A I don't specifically recall, no.
Q In your declaration, which was premised on the third amended plan, and I know there is a fourth amended plan which has some modifications, but with respect to the third amended plan and the subject of your declaration, are you aware whether or not that that plan attempts to value the Bondholders' collateral in any way?
A Not that I'm aware of, no.
Q Bear with me. We're going to switch exhibits. I'm going to test your exhibit retrieval skills. (inaudible) the podium, so I tested mine. See if you can find ICI's Exhibit 27, please.

A Mine ends at 25. Hold on.

(Counsel confer.)

MS. GREEN: I only have exhibits through 25, so that would explain why the witness doesn't have it. Can we put it on the screen?

MR. GOLD: Oh, certainly.

MS. GREEN: Yeah. Thank you.

MR. GOLD: Certainly.

THE COURT: Yes. I think these were filed on the 3rd, maybe.

MR. GOLD: Yes.

MS. VANDESTEEG: We're working on it.

THE COURT: Yeah. Thank you. I think it -- well, never mind. I was going to give you a docket reference, but they're probably not being pulled up on the docket. I apologize.

MR. GOLD: I've got 1311-2, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Yes. Yes. Oh, I have it. I have it. I was offering to help Ms. Pittman find it, but she does not need my help.

MR. GOLD: Yeah, but now we have to find the page, which is the real challenge here.

BY MR. GOLD:

Q If you could turn -- well, let's put it on the screen.

Can you see the screen, Mr. Harshfield, the document on screen?

A Yes.

Q Okay.

A It's very small, but I can see it.

Q We'll work on that, too, once we get to the page.

MR. GOLD: Ms. Pittman, if you could go to what is Page 26 at the PDF, numbered Page 17 at the bottom?

BY MR. GOLD:

Q And while we do that --

MR. GOLD: If you could go a little further, a little further up the page, please. There we go. Perfect.

BY MR. GOLD:

Q I'll represent to you, if you didn't -- I don't know how much time you spent looking at the first page of this document before we went to the page, but this is the Tarrant County Cultural Education Facilities Finance Corporation Series 2017 Official Statement for the Northwest Senior Housing Corporation Edgemere Project Bond Issuance. Are you familiar with this document generally?

A I am not, no.

Q In the course of your preparations for negotiating with the Bondholders or working on the plan, did you have any occasion to look at this document?

A I did not.

Q Okay. Are you familiar, as part of your work on the plan, with your -- with the provisions of the bond offering and the scope of the security?

A No, I'm not.

Q In negotiating the $16.5 million settlement with the Bondholders that is part of the plan, did you have occasion to reference or look at this document in terms of the scope of the security the Bondholders had?

A No, I did not.

Q Now, the third amended plan, as well as the fourth amended plan, provide for a sale of the Debtors' assets to Bay 9 Holdings. Is that correct?

A That's my understanding, yes.

Q And you understand Bay 9 is owned by Lapis Advisors -- indirectly owned by Lapis Advisers through intermediate entities? Do you understand that?

A That is my understanding, yes.

Q Do you know who Lapis Municipal Opportunity Fund IV is?

A I'm familiar with them.

Q Okay. And what is your familiarity? You just understand them to be in that family tree, or do you have any more specific understanding?

A Well, maybe not specific to Family IV or whatever you may have called it. I'm familiar with Lapis as far as investors in senior living debt. That's the extent of my understanding.

Q And --
A Or familiarity.
Q And do you understand that Lapis Municipal Opportunity Fund IV is one of the bondholders of the Edgemere bonds?
A Again, I'm familiar that Lapis is. Specific to Fund IV, I'm not aware of that, no.
Q Okay. Is it true that the Debtors did not hire an investment banker to sell the Debtors' assets?

MR. JOHNSON: Objection, Your Honor, based upon the fact that we discussed this earlier at the beginning of the case. This is going to the nature of the sale process. Evidence was taken on that 10 days ago. Mr. Harshfield testified. He was cross-examined by Mr. Gold, I don't know how long, but fairly extensively about this. If he wanted to ask questions about the sale process, that would have been the time.

MR. GOLD: That was my only question, Your Honor. I'm just trying to put this in context. I'm not revisiting the earlier testimony.

THE COURT: Okay. I'll overrule the objection to the extent that that's all we're going to do on this line. Did the Debtors hire an investment banker?

BY MR. GOLD:
Q Did the Debtors hire an investment banker here?
A Not to my knowledge, no.

Q Okay. And is it your understanding the investment banker was hired by the Bondholders?
A That is my understanding, yes.
Q As part of the plan, formulation of the plan, did you ever see an allocation of the purchase price --
A No.
Q -- for the sale?
A Sorry. I have not.
Q Okay. So, to your knowledge, does the plan distinguish between what assets are Bondholder collateral and those that are not?
A I have no knowledge of that.
Q So what is your understanding what the $16-1/2 million being paid to the Bondholders directly is for?
A My understanding, it's a contribution to the plan to support Bondholder recovery.
Q Is it a settlement of any claims the Bondholders have against Lifespace?
A I'm not sure what the legal answer is to that. What I just -- the answer I just gave is what I know. It is a contribution to the plan.
Q Well, it's -- you understand it's not a contribution to the creditors generally of Edgemere; it's a contribution to the Bondholders, a class or subset of the creditors? Do you understand that?

A I understand that it is a contribution to the plan.
Q Who owns The Edgemere trademark?
A I have never asked that question.
Q Okay. Let me -- let me ask a --
A I can only assume.
Q Let me ask a broader question. Do you -- does The Edgemere have intellectual property that it carries on its balance sheet?
A I am not aware of intellectual property carried on the balance sheet.
Q Okay. And how about -- I think we've heard some testimony about this, but the website, for example, is owned and hosted by Lifespace; is that correct? The Edgemere's website?
A Yes. I think that's right. Well, again, you're getting into legal details that I'm not real sure how to bifurcate between what trademarks are out there or what copyrights are in place. I simply don't know the details of that. But the website for Edgemere is supported by Lifespace and is hosted by a third party.
Q I think it was Mr. Lawlor who testified that there was some transition going on with the website because The Edgemere brand goes with the sale but the website is part of the Lifespace internet infrastructure. Is that consistent with your understanding?
A That sounds right.

MR. GOLD: Your Honor, if I may ask for a quick break just to confer with my colleagues. I think we're almost at the --

THE COURT: Fair enough.

MR. GOLD: -- clubhouse turn.

THE COURT: It's almost 5:20. How long do you need, Mr. Gold?

MR. GOLD: Five or ten minutes tops, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. GOLD: I believe the Court had -- and I want to respect the Court and staff, definitely.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. GOLD: With respect to our time today, did I recall you correctly is we're looking at 6:00?

THE COURT: Let me --

MR. GOLD: And I'm not asking for indulgence.

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. GOLD: I'm just asking what was everybody's understanding.

THE COURT: Just one second. Yes, we can go to at least 6:00.

MR. GOLD: Okay.

THE COURT: It all depends on -- I think that what I'll do is, once we complete Mr. Harshfield, we'll see kind of where we are and if we contemplate substantial cross of Mr.

Estrada.

MR. GOLD: Okay.

THE COURT: All righty?

MR. GOLD: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. Thank you. We'll be in recess until 5:30.

THE CLERK: All rise.

(A recess ensued from 5:18 p.m. until 5:33 p.m.)

THE CLERK: All rise.

THE COURT: Please. Be seated. All right, ladies and gentlemen. We're going to go back on the record in Case No. 22-30659. When we broke, Mr. Harshfield was still on the witness stand, and so I'll just remind you that you're under oath still.

Mr. Gold?

MR. GOLD: Thank you, Your Honor.

Mr. Harshfield, if you could say "Testing" or a word of your choice to come back up on the screen?

THE WITNESS: Yes. Testing, testing, testing.

MR. GOLD: Thank you.

If we could put Exhibit 10 back up on the screen, please, for Mr. Harshfield.

CROSS-EXAMINATION, RESUMED

BY MR. GOLD:

Q Mr. Harshfield, you had talked about the $188 million in available cash that provided the opportunity, if you needed to, to fund both the Lifespace Residents Trust settlement and the Bondholder settlement under the plan, the aggregate $69 million, $70 million. And it was your --

A Yes.

Q It was your testimony that, if necessary, you could pay that out of available cash on hand. Is that correct?

A Yeah. Unrestricted cash and investments.

Q Okay. Would the payment of that, those two obligations, from cash on hand trigger any covenants under the Obligated Group's existing secured indebtedness or bond debt?

A It would not.

Q So you have, what, the OG has about $500 million in existing debt; is that correct?

A Yes.

Q And it's your testimony that the payment of those funds from available cash now would not trigger any covenants, --

A That's correct.

Q -- negative covenants? And what would your --

A Correct.

Q Have you run a model as to what your cash on hand would be, your DCOH metric would be, if you had to make that payment?

A Though I haven't specifically done that calculation, what I have done is what is the amounts available before we trip covenants.

Q And what would trip covenants on that calculation?

A We have approximately $90 million of available cash and investments before we would come near to a Days Cash on Hand covenant.

Q So, the $90 million plus the $70 million, $160 million, you'd still be below, correct? Is that your testimony?

A I'm sorry. Say that again?

Q That you said you have $188 million, and it wouldn't be triggered to $90 million, so $188 million minus $70 million is still above $90 million. Is that basically the formulation?

A So, the formulation would be we have -- we would be able to provide upwards of $90 million of liquidity before we would trip any covenants. So the $90 million is available to pay the $70 million.

Q Okay. So you'd be within $20 million of tripping the covenant?

A Approximately. There's a little -- we -- when I do the calculations, there's a little cushion built in there, but approximately $20 to $30 million.

Q Based on the operating losses that you had for 2022, what was the cash burn per day?

A So, those operating losses are a combination of cash and noncash.

Q Investment losses?

A Investment losses. Depreciation. Amortization.
Q So, --
A And to clarify, in 2022, from a cash perspective, --
Q Uh-huh.
A -- were it not for the investment losses, the cash for the Obligated Group actually would have slightly increased during the year 2022.
Q But taking into account the full range of your operations, you still lost $86 million, correct?
A Yes. According to the GAAP financial statements, that is correct.
Q Okay. Was there a what's called a voluntary disclosure call with the Obligated Group's bondholders in January of this year?
A Yes, there was.
Q Did you participate in that call?
A Yes, I did.
Q Did you make a presentation during that call?
A We, yes, outlined the overall settlement agreement.
Q So when you say the top line, was the settlement agreement -- you described to existing Obligated Group bondholders The Edgemere settlement? Is that correct?
A Yeah, at a high level. We certainly didn't go into details.
Q Did you -- well, in terms of details, did you mention the amount?

A Yes.

Q Did you mention that there was a settlement to the residents and a settlement with the Bondholders?

A We mentioned the settlement to fund the Resident Trust and there was a contribution to the restructuring plan.

Q It's not a restructuring plan, is it, sir? It's a liquidating plan, is it not?

A Sir, now you're getting into legal terminology that I'm just not familiar with. I would call it a restructuring plan, but whatever the fact is is --

Q Okay. Your -- it's fair to say your understanding, your terminology is it's a restructuring plan?

A That's what I generally call it, yes.

Q Okay.

A But certainly I'm no attorney.

Q So, on the January 11th call, how would you characterize the sentiment from the bondholders?

A There was certainly a lot of questions.

Q Was the --

A And I addressed those questions as transparently as I could.

Q Was the sentiment positive or negative?

A I'd say there was one -- one investor that was concerned about the plan. I wouldn't necessarily call the overall call negative. I think it was -- the investors were appreciative of our transparency and proactive -- being proactive in communicating what our plans were.

Q We had talked about the daily cash on hand figure. And I believe you testified that it's currently -- I think the EMMA filing that we looked at said it was 232 days. So is it still approximately in that range?

A Correct.

Q Now, you're aware --

A Yeah, generally.

Q -- that under the settlement agreement with the residents, there is -- and here, actually, it's on the screen right here -- so it's 232 presently, that's where that number comes from, days of unrestricted cash and investments on hand? Do you see that on the screen?

A I do.

Q Okay. So you're aware that certain obligations can be deferred or postponed or forgiven under the Lifespace settlement if your daily cash on hand goes below a certain number? Is that correct?

A Correct.

Q And that's at a future date?

A Yes.

Q Do you know what year?

A I believe it's the 2025 contribution. That's my understanding --

Q So, --

A -- is where it begins.

Q -- hypothetically, if your cash on hand situation did not improve from today through 2025, payments would be excused under the settlement; is that correct?

A For up to two years consecutively, yes.

Q And what happens if it goes for two years consecutively, to your understanding?

A My understanding is the third year we're required to catch up any deferred payments to the Trust.

Q And what if you can't? Again, your understanding.

A I'm not sure which you mean by can't.

Q If you can't raise the money or you don't have the liquidity to make the catch-up payments, what is your understanding of what happens?

A So, my understanding is that if there -- as long as we're above our covenant thresholds, we make the payments.

Q But if -- it also provides, doesn't it, that if any portion of the Lifespace trust contribution would trigger an event of default under your master trust indenture, then it can be deferred, potentially for multiple years, so as to prevent a default?

A Yes. That's correct.

Q And that could extend four, five, six, seven years or more; is that correct? There's no limitation?

A You're speaking hypothetically? Yeah, I mean, you're certainly speaking in hypotheticals, but yes, there is no limitation with regards to triggering a default.

Q Okay. And with respect to the 250 days' cash deferral mechanism, you're under that number today. Is that correct? That's the 232 we were just looking at.

A Yes.

Q Okay.

A Yes. Today, we are.

MR. GOLD: I want to look at a number on here, if we could scroll. Thank you.

BY MR. GOLD:

Q Okay. So, we started, we had our -- it's the Obligated Group information. And can you tell from this presentation here what your aggregate entrance fee refund obligations are? Is that on this page or another page of this report?

A That would be on a different page.

Q Okay. And that's, I believe, on Page -- let's go to that earlier -- I think it's Page -- let's see, here we go. Yes. So, when we refer to you having $188 million in unrestricted cash, and we talked about the Florida footnote, if you will, what is the relationship of that $188 million to this entry that we see here of refundable entrance and membership fees of $543 million? What are those?

A So, those are contingent liabilities under the resident agreements.

Q And when you say contingent liabilities, do you mean are those contractual liabilities? Are those statutory liabilities? I mean, what's the difference between the restrictions you talked about in Florida which you said were no more than maybe $10 million and this $543 million we see here?

A $543 million is the contingent liability of refunds for residents at a future date.

Q So it's the -- across all state lines, across all properties, --

A Yes.

Q -- and it's a contingent liability just because somebody hasn't asked for it yet?

A That is not true.

Q Okay. So why is it characterized as a contingent liability?

A Because, generally speaking, our residency contracts, three things have to occur. One is the resident must either move out of the community, or obviously pass away. Their apartment that they originally occupied needs to be re-occupied by a new resident. And the entrance fee from the new resident also needs to be paid.

So, those three things have to occur before those contingent liabilities become contractual liabilities, I guess you would call it.

Q Okay. Or those contractual liabilities are conditioned on the three events you just described?

A Yes.

Q And is that number separate and apart from the Florida footnote? Is the Florida obligation included in the $543 million, or not, if you know?

A So, the Florida footnote, again, is -- it's a state requirement. It really has -- it had -- my understanding, it has nothing to do with the entrance fee contingent obligation.

Q Okay. So it's just a statutory reserve? Or a regulatory reserve?

A Yes. Regulatory reserve for (inaudible) replacements. And to support capital expenditures.

Q Does -- with respect to the new debt that you are proposing to issue, are there restrictions on who you can sell that debt to?

A Not that I'm aware of, no.

Q For example, is it limited to institutional investors or can it be sold to accredited retail investors?

A So, you're probably -- you're probably getting into details that I'm not -- I can't really give you an affirmative answer on. My understanding is that the issuance itself is not restricted. But, again, I'm not bond counsel, so I couldn't answer the question affirmatively.

Q I have a good joke about bond counsel we'll all share later.

If -- you had testified earlier that you believe the settlement amount with the Bondholders was appropriate. Do you recall that testimony?

A I said that was part of our assessment, that it -- was it appropriate? Did it make sense for the overall negotiations?

Q But in making the determination of whether or not it was appropriate, you're not aware of any potential claims the Bondholders had against Lifespace?

A I'm not aware of any claims the Bondholders have against Lifespace.

Q Do you know, for purposes of the plan, what the accrued administrative fees are for The Edgemere? Sections 2.1 and 2.2. One is broad administrative fees and then professional fees. But if we had to fill out like a closing statement -- a lot of lawyers would call it a waterfall -- what numbers would, to your knowledge at this point as the plan declarant, what numbers get plugged in there? And I'm, look, please, I understand, I'm asking for your best estimate.

A Yeah. I don't know. I have not seen that.

Q You have not seen that number?

A I haven't seen the waterfall or the schedule or --

Q Okay. You also said in your direct that you thought that the Lifespace residents settlement provided an extraordinary solution for an extraordinary problem. Was that your testimony?

A Yes.

Q Isn't it that the extraordinary problem was the insolvency of The Edgemere?

A No, actually, the extraordinary problem is that a life care community was capitalized, partially capitalized with a third-party land lease with a termination date and no ability to extend. That's the extraordinary problem.

Q But isn't that -- again, it predates your tenure, but isn't that a, --

A It does.

Q -- as our British friends would say, an own goal or a self-inflicted wound or a problem that could have been predicted?

A Well, I certainly was not part of the structuring twenty years ago when Edgemere was originally put together.

Q So when you say that's the extraordinary problem, it wasn't that the financial situation of The Edgemere had created an environment where, as part of the conversion that you said was necessary, it didn't have the funds to pay back the resident deposits? It had to go to outside sources?

A No, I think the extraordinary problem is that The Edgemere cannot continue as a life care contract community.

Q But The Edgemere had to look to outside sources to solve the problem?

A Had The Edgemere -- had The Edgemere had a different capital structure such that it could continue as a perpetual life care contract community, my estimation is it would not have needed to seek outside support for the residents.

Q That wasn't -- I understand that. That's not my question. Is the extraordinary problem was not just the structure of The Edgemere but the fact that The Edgemere did not have liquidity such that it had to rely on outside sources, including potentially bond financing by other entities, to solve the extraordinary problem?

MR. WALKER: Objection, Your Honor. I think this has been asked and answered by Mr. Harshfield. What was the extraordinary problem? I think he's reiterated it a couple times now.

THE COURT: Mr. Gold?

MR. GOLD: I'll withdraw the question, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

MR. GOLD: A couple exhibits for housekeeping, and then maybe a follow-up.

(Counsel confer.)

MR. GOLD: Oh, yes. I'd like to turn to one last question about Exhibit 10, then I'll actually move to admit Exhibit 10, Your Honor.

BY MR. GOLD:

Q But Mr. Harshfield, this is -- we put up on the page --

MR. GOLD: And actually, scroll down so we get the title.

BY MR. GOLD:

Q This is the balance sheets of the Obligated Group. Is that correct?

A Correct.

Q Okay. And we're looking at 2022. And the Obligated Group is who will be the issuer of the bonds if everything goes according to plan. Is that correct?

A Correct.

Q Okay.

MR. GOLD: And if we'd scroll, please.

BY MR. GOLD:

Q So, am I correct that the total assets of the Obligated Group, which you told us were the 11 entities that are identified at the front of this report, it appears that they have assets of approximately -- well, let's see, this is in thousands. So is that about $1.2 billion? Is my math correct there?

A Yes.

Q Okay.

A For the Obligated Group, approximately $1.2 billion.

Q Okay. And what about the liabilities of the same group?

Am I seeing that the total liabilities --

A So, including the -- yeah. So, including the contingent liabilities of the refundable entrance fees, one -- almost $1.5 billion.

Q Okay. So, it's a negative number. Correct?

A A negative number for what?

Q That there is -- if the liabilities exceed the assets, that's a negative net worth, correct?

A Correct.

MR. GOLD: So, again, Your Honor, I'd like to admit #10, which itself is a Lifespace document signed by Mr. Harshfield. I'd like to admit that into evidence, please.

THE COURT: Any objection?

MR. WALKER: No objection, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

MR. GOLD: Also, another document --

THE COURT: ICI Exhibit 10 is hereby admitted.

MR. GOLD: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. GOLD: I jumped the gun before you gave me the good news.

(Intercity Investment Properties, Inc.'s Exhibit 10 is received into evidence.)

MR. GOLD: And the second document I would like to seek admitted is one we've referred to. That's Exhibit 20-A, which is the Fitch Negative Watch, call it warning.

MR. WALKER: Your Honor, I do have an objection to the admission of this exhibit. It's an incomplete exhibit. I think if you scroll through the exhibit, part of the document is obscured. It looks like it's an Internet printout. It says, "We use cookies to deliver our online services," I think we see if you go down to I think it's Page 3. And there was some direct questioning from Mr. Gold to the witness, was questioning of about a paragraph that is incomplete because it's blocked by what looks to be cookie blocker that obscures the complete nature of the document. So we would object on that basis.

MR. GOLD: One, it's -- I guess it's curable. So we can provide the full copy if that's the problem, use another device to print it. I didn't ask the witness any questions about the obscured text or the sentence that appears to be partially obscured.

MR. WALKER: And I would just state for the record that Mr. Gold did question the witness about a paragraph. Part of the paragraph was obscured by this copy of the exhibit. We object to the admission of this exhibit.

MR. GOLD: Your Honor, the full hyperlink is in the declaration that we submitted, so it's instantly curable. We submitted Exhibit 20, which is an authentication declaration as to where this can be found. And the full hyperlink is there. So, in that sense, it's only technically incomplete from a copying perspective, but the entire document is available through the hyperlink that you'll see in the declaration.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. GOLD: And as I said, we can -- we can cure that.

MR. WALKER: Our objection to the admission of 20-A stands.

THE COURT: Thank you. I am going to overrule the objection and allow a replacement exhibit that is complete without any lines cut off to be submitted. Absent the ability to submit it in whole, then the Court wouldn't admit it. So if you want to remedy that overnight, --

MR. GOLD: We can scrub it through a PDF and --

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. GOLD: -- certainly get that to the Court and get that on the docket tomorrow, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Thank you.

MR. WALKER: And Your Honor, I would -- I have no doubt that they'll be able to remedy it. I would just reserve the right to review it before it's actually admitted. And if we have any objection to the renewed exhibit, we'd just reserve our rights.

THE COURT: Yes. We'll put a pin in 20-A and then we'll address it before --

MR. GOLD: Okay.

THE COURT: -- at a minimum, before closing.

MR. GOLD: Okay. And so with that, Your Honor, I would -- that -- we just talked about 20-A. So I would move, just so the record is clear, since we talked about the declaration, I would move to admit 20 and 20-A.

THE COURT: I'm going to put a pin in 20 as well, since all it is is attaching that. So let's just do them when they're together. And, again, there's no -- I'll allow you the ability to fix 20 and 20-A because I believe the affidavit will have to be remedied and ordered because it'll have to pulled up again.

MR. GOLD: Yes.

THE COURT: So, --

MR. GOLD: We will do that.

THE COURT: All righty. Any other exhibits?

MR. GOLD: That's it, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Oh.

MR. GOLD: Oh, wait, wait. The exhibit maven has one more.

MR. WALKER: I heard that was it, Your Honor.

MR. GOLD: Oh, oh, we'd also like to admit a document we've briefly referred to, Your Honor. Exhibit 27, which was the bond statement. While this witness said it was before his tenure, it is a public record under 803(8) of the Rules of Evidence.

THE COURT: Any objection to the admission of Exhibit 27?

MR. WALKER: No objection, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Exhibit 27 is hereby admitted.

MR. GOLD: Thank you, Your Honor.

(Intercity Investment Properties, Inc.'s Exhibit 27 is received into evidence.)

THE COURT: All righty. Redirect? I'll let you decide amongst yourselves who goes first.

MR. WALKER: Your Honor, I just have a few questions. I'll defer to the Court whether the Court wishes to ask any questions prior to redirect. I'm happy to go now.

THE COURT: Apparently, I have a pattern.

(Laughter.)

THE COURT: I don't think I have any questions of the witness today. So, please, Mr. Walker.

MR. WALKER: Thank you, Your Honor. Eric Walker on behalf of Lifespace.

Could we pull up Exhibit 10, please? And go to the last page of that exhibit. Perfect. Thank you.

REDIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. WALKER:

Q Mr. Harshfield, do you see this Landlord's Exhibit 10 that has been admitted into evidence, the last page? Do you see it on your screen?

A I do.

Q And do you see the top line, Excess Deficit of Revenue Over Expense numbers for 2022, 2021, and 2020 and 2019 that Mr. Gold asked you about on cross? Do you see that?

A I do see that.

Q Are those numbers operating revenue for the Lifespace Obligated Group?

A No. They're not.

Q What are they?

A They are, again, according to the Generally Accepted Accounting Principles, the net of revenues and expenses, both cash and noncash.

Q Thank you. Do those numbers include the net entrance fees that were received by Lifespace during those same time periods?

A They do not.

Q Do you know if Lifespace in fact did receive net entrance fees in addition to its operating revenue during these time periods?

A Yes. In fact, the number is listed several rows below that, right above the Income Available for Debt Service. You see a row right above that, it says, Entrance Fee Proceeds Less Refunds. If you look at 2022, that number is $81.6 million.

Q Thank you. So, for year 2022, this document says that, in addition to the operating revenue that the Lifespace Obligated Group received during that time period, it also received over $81 million of net entrance fees during 2022. Right?

A Correct.

Q And as you go across, for year 2021, 2020, and 2019, that shows the net positive entrance fees that Lifespace received during those time periods. Is that right?

A Correct.

Q Thank you.

MR. WALKER: Would you mind putting back up Exhibit 20-A? And if you could scroll down to the rating sensitivity section that's maybe four pages in Mr. Gold had some questions about. Right there. Perfect. Thank you.

BY MR. WALKER:

Q Do you see that, Mr. Harshfield? Exhibit 20A, 20-A, the Fitch report that Mr. Gold asked you some questions about? Do you see that in front of you?

A I do see that.

Q Okay. What is your understanding, Mr. Harshfield, as to whether Fitch said a multi-notch downgrade was likely?

A No, they did not say it was likely. They said it was possible. If you look toward the middle of the paragraph, it says, The downgrade is likely to be limited to one notch.

Q And what would a one-notch downgrade, what resulting credit rating would Lifespace have if Fitch ultimately did instituted a one-notch downgrade? What would the credit rating be?

A It would be a BBB-.

Q Do you know if that's still considered --

A And would still be considered --

Q I'm sorry. I didn't mean to cut you off. What were you saying?

A Yes. That's okay. And that would still be considered investment-grade.

Q You beat me to it. Thank you.

I'll direct your attention, Mr. Gold asked you some questions about whether you agreed with some of Fitch's statements here. And I think he didn't complete the rest of the sentence here, where it said, "While a multi-notch downgrade to below-investment-grade is a possibility, it is not the likely outcome, given Lifespace's considerable credit strength as one of the largest and most geographically-diverse life plan community systems in the country."

Do you see that?

A Yes.

Q Do you agree that Lifespace has considerable credit strength and is one of the largest and most geographically-diverse life plan community systems in the country?

A I do agree with that statement.

Q Okay.

MR. WALKER: I have no further questions, Your Honor. Thank you.

THE COURT: Thank you, Mr. Walker.

Anything further?

MR. JOHNSON: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Mr. Johnson?

MR. JOHNSON: Very quickly, Your Honor.

RECROSS-EXAMINATION

BY MR. JOHNSON:

Q Mr. Harshfield, you were asked a few questions about a town hall meeting related to the plan solicitation process. You testified you couldn't remember when that meeting was held. Would it refresh your recollection if I told you that meeting occurred on December 16th?

A Sounds about right. A lot has happened since December 16th, but --

Q That's -- I couldn't agree more.

A I just -- yeah. I just remember that, you know, the critical gating event was that the disclosure was approved. So once that was approved, we moved forward with the town hall meeting.

Q That's all I needed.

MR. JOHNSON: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Thank you, Mr. Johnson.

MR. GOLD: A tiny follow-up, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Mr. Gold?

MR. GOLD: Thank you.

RECROSS-EXAMINATION

BY MR. GOLD:

Q If we could refer you back, Mr. Harshfield, to Exhibit 10, again, please, which was the last page we were just looking at. They're calling that up. And I want to -- Mr. Walker referred to the Entrance Fee Proceeds Less Refunds figure, that $81.585 [million]. Do you see that?

A Correct.

Q For 2022?

A Yes.

Q Now, that doesn't say "net," does it?

A I'm sorry?

Q The word "net" is not used in the description of that line; is that correct?

A It is not, but that's what's inferred by "Less Refunds."

Q Well, what --

A That's the same as net.

Q What about up top where we have a Negative Entrance Fee Earned figure of $33,521,000?

A So, that is noncash revenue amortization.

Q So it's a noncash amortization of which figure? The $81 million? Or another number?

A It's another number.

Q What --

A Amortization of the nonrefundable portions of entrance fees.

Q And where are those -- where is that macro number? Does that appear on this page or on another financial statement? The aggregate nonrefundable?

A That would be on the -- the balance sheet, under Liabilities.

Q Even though they're nonrefundable? It's still shown as a liability?

A Correct.

Q Okay.

A That's right. Welcome to my world of accounting.

MR. GOLD: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Thank you.

MR. GOLD: Thank you, Mr. Harshfield.

MR. WALKER: Nothing further, Your Honor. Thank you very much.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much. And I appreciate your testimony today. The Court doesn't have any further questions, Mr. Harshfield. And based upon the room, that's a surprise.

THE WITNESS: All right.

THE COURT: So, again, but thank you very much for appearing in court today. You may be excused --

THE WITNESS: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: -- from the proverbial stand.

(The witness steps down.)

THE COURT: All righty. It is 6:10. How much time do we think that we would take for Mr. Estrada? And I do appreciate how you guys have color-coordinated for Polsinelli.

MS. GREEN: It was accidental.

THE COURT: Really, really brings it into focus. I appreciate --

MR. JOHNSON: We noticed that in the lobby.

MS. GREEN: And I almost wore purple, so --

We don't think that we'll need much time at all. He's actually on WebEx waiting now.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. GREEN: We were going to offer his direct testimony by declaration.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MS. GREEN: So I know there are some limited questions I understand that may be asked by ICI, but I don't anticipate any other cross-examinations. So I think we can get him worked in.

THE COURT: Well, let me check with Ms. Vandesteeg.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Ms. Green's understanding is correct. We do have very limited cross based upon Mr.

Estrada's declaration.

THE COURT: Okay. So you think we can get done by like 6:30?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes, ma'am.

THE COURT: Okay. Let's go. Ms. Green?

MS. GREEN: Thank you, Your Honor. Trinitee Green of Polsinelli for the Debtors.

We would like to offer the declarations, plural, of Mr. Estrada in lieu of direct testimony. They are Plan Sponsors' Exhibits 8 and 18.

THE COURT: Which were previously admitted, correct?

MS. GREEN: Correct. This is the solicitation certificate and the amended balloting report at Docket 1218.

THE COURT: All righty. Is there anyone who objects to the use of these declarations as the direct testimony of Mr. Estrada? Ms.? Have I gotten that wrong?

MS. GREEN: No.

THE COURT: Oh, okay. So, no objections? Okay. Thank you.

MS. GREEN: And so we would also, for the record, reserve the right for redirect.

THE COURT: Okay. And so what I'll do is, Mr. Estrada, if you could say, "Testing, testing," so that you appear on the screen.

MR. ESTRADA: Testing, testing.

THE COURT: And turn your camera on, please, if you can. Thank you very much, sir. All righty. If you can raise your right hand for me.

(The witness is sworn.)

THE COURT: Thank you very much. And by way of housekeeping, did you have an opportunity to review the two declarations that were filed with the Court? Specifically, your declaration dated on or about December 27, 2022 that's filed at Docket #978 and -- oh, wait, I may have gotten that wrong. Let me --

(Pause.)

THE COURT: Okay. Excuse me. So it'll be your certificate of service dated December 30, 2022 filed at 978, and then your amended certification filed on February 16, 2023 at 1218. Did you have an opportunity to review those before they were filed?

THE WITNESS: I did.

THE COURT: All right. And are they still true and correct, to the best of your knowledge?

THE WITNESS: They are.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much.

Ms. Vandesteeg, whenever you have a moment.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you so much. For the record, Elizabeth Vandesteeg on behalf of Intercity Investment Properties, Inc.

ANDRES ESTRADA, DEBTORS' WITNESS, SWORN

CROSS-EXAMINATION

BY MS. VANDESTEEG:

Q Hello, Mr. Estrada. A few questions for you. You are aware that the solicitation of voting was for the Plan Sponsors' third modified plan, Docket 933. Correct?

A Correct.

Q And the ballots that were received and reported as collected by KCC were also for that third modified plan. Correct?

A That's correct.

Q You are aware that the Plan Sponsors have now filed a fourth modified plan at Docket 1241, correct?

A Correct.

Q KCC has not resolicited votes for the current proposed fourth modified plan, correct?

A That's correct.

Q Are you aware of any discussion with any of the Plan Sponsors as to whether a resolicitation would be appropriate or required?

A No. No, I'm not aware.

Q And you, KCC, has not been involved in any decision as to whether a resolicitation would be appropriate or required, correct?

A That's correct. We have not been.

Q Thank you.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Nothing further.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much, Ms. Vandesteeg.

MS. GREEN: We have no questions, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. The Court has no further questions of Mr. Estrada, either. Thank you very much for your testimony today, sir. Appreciate it.

THE WITNESS: Of course. Thank you.

THE COURT: Thanks for waiting around with us.

(The witness steps down.)

THE COURT: All right. Okay. So, in terms of tomorrow, what are we anticipating?

MR. MCCARTIN: Your Honor, the Committee has an hour to an hour and a half of testimony.

THE COURT: Testimony? Okay.

Anything further from the Plan Sponsors or ICI for tomorrow?

MR. JOHNSON: Nothing further for the Plan Sponsors that I'm aware of, Your Honor.

THE COURT: From an evidence perspective.

MR. JOHNSON: Except, obviously, reserving for rebuttal witnesses if necessary.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

Ms. Vandesteeg?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor. ICI would plan to call Daniel Polsky --

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- as a rebuttal witness tomorrow.

THE COURT: Right. Okay. All righty. So do we anticipate that the Committee's witness plus Mr. Polsky would take up the greater part of the morning and that we would close in the afternoon?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Your Honor, not knowing exactly how long everything will go, I heard counsel for the Committee say that he anticipates about an hour. I suspect that we'll have about an hour on direct with Mr. Polsky. Not knowing how long folks might want to cross on either one of those, I think it's reasonable to anticipate that the morning will be, for the most part, consumed, and maybe a little bit slosh over after lunch.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: But I would anticipate that thereafter folks would be ready to commence closing.

THE COURT: Okay. So let's think about closings. I know that the Committee probably has a good amount of its closing that will be directed at the fee cap. So about how long are you anticipating?

MR. MCCARTIN: I think if we take an hour, hour and a half on the testimony, our closing wouldn't need more than ten or fifteen minutes.

THE COURT: Oh, okay. All righty. And then what about Lifespace?

MR. WALKER: I think Lifespace would like an opportunity for closing argument, but ten, fifteen minutes, --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. WALKER: -- pretty similar to the Committee, nothing more than that.

THE COURT: All righty. And then Bay 9?

MS. WALKER: Yes. And I think we have the majority of the evidence, so I was thinking about forty minutes.

THE COURT: About forty minutes? Okay.

Debtors?

MR. JOHNSON: Four hours, Your Honor.

(Laughter.)

MR. JOHNSON: No, Your Honor. About thirty minutes, I would expect, Your Honor. And that would be as to closing. We also have the Donosky, --

THE COURT: That's what I --

MR. JOHNSON: -- which is going to be a separate universe, I guess, --

THE COURT: Exactly.

MR. JOHNSON: -- a separate small closing and separate for each side on that. I don't know if Mr. Hendricks is on the phone. But --

THE CLERK: Not anymore.

THE COURT: Not anymore. He bagged. So, essentially, for Donosky, just that issue, do we think a good total hour?

MS. GREEN: Yes, Your Honor. I don't want to speak for Mr. Hendricks, but that seems reasonable.

THE COURT: He is a man of few words. He is anything if not concise. Okay. All righty. So I'll just budget just about an hour.

Okay. Plan Sponsors?

MR. BLECK: Eighteen minutes and thirty seconds.

MR. GOLD: Only because he's --

THE COURT: Ms. Walsh, talk fast.

(Laughter.)

THE COURT: ICI?

MR. GOLD: Since it includes adequate assurance issues as well, Your Honor, I would estimate 45 minutes to an hour or something in there. Certainly, the APA helps us a little bit, so --

THE COURT: All right. Plan Sponsors, put you in what? Thirty? Forty? Or you think you can do it in eighteen?

MR. BLECK: No, twenty minutes.

THE COURT: Twenty minutes? Okay.

MR. BLECK: Twenty minutes.

THE COURT: All righty. Let's see. Okay. By my rough math, that puts us, you know, the ability to close tomorrow, with the only contingency being if, well, if the Court gets mouthy or if Mr. Polsky and the Creditors' Committee's evidence kind of flows into the second half.

Ms. Green?

MS. GREEN: One solution, if we do run into that issue, --

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MS. GREEN: -- is the proposal would be for Chuck and I to handle the closing arguments on a separate date when the Court is available. I don't know that that's okay with him.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MS. GREEN: But it would certainly be okay with Debtors.

THE COURT: Okay. Look, I think that we probably have the ability to finish it tomorrow. I certainly hope so. Because, again, the Court recognizes that time is of the essence to get a ruling and things of that nature. So I do want to maximize all the time that we do have and try to get it in if possible.

So, but I do believe that's a good kind of cut point, Ms. Green, if something happens and we can't. And that's also something that we could do virtually if we had to.

Well, and this helps the Court. I was just trying to get a good feel.

Mr. Williams, do you intend to present any closing, sir?

MR. WILLIAMS: Your Honor, I don't anticipate presenting any closing at this time. If I may reserve just a moment or two, if necessary.

THE COURT: Fair enough.

MR. WILLIAMS: Thank you.

THE COURT: Thank you.

MR. JOHNSON: I would also note for the record, Your Honor, I think the Patient Care Ombudsman was here earlier.

THE COURT: Yes. Ms. Goodman. Thank you.

MR. JOHNSON: She had reached out to me before and she said she was going to -- I think she's got just a couple sentences to say.

THE COURT: Yes. In fact, actually, we got an email, Ms. Harden did, while we were in court, and I think she had some trouble kind of hopping on.

What I may do is allow her to have her time early in the hearing tomorrow. So if she logs on at 9:30, we may hear from her first before breaking into the Committee's evidence or Mr. Polsky. All righty?

MR. JOHNSON: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: But thank you for reminding me on that. She is eminently judicious, so I don't expect a great deal of time.

All righty. Anything else, ladies and gentlemen?

All right. The Court will stand adjourned for the day, and I'll see you guys tomorrow at 9:30. I'll be on the bench for a minute.

MR. GOLD: Good evening, Your Honor. Thank you.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Thank you.

(Proceedings commenced at 9:34 a.m.)

THE CLERK: All rise. The United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas Dallas Division is now in session; the Honorable Michelle Larson presiding.

THE COURT: Please be seated.

Good morning, everyone. We'll go ahead and call Case Number 22-30659, Northwest Senior Housing Corporation.

I'll take appearances for the record, and I'll start with those in the courtroom.

MR. JOHNSON: Thank you, Your Honor. Jeremy Johnson and Trinitee Green from Polsinelli on behalf of the debtors.

MR. MURPHY: Your Honor, Frasher Murphy with Haynes & Boone for UMB Bank. And from the Mintz firm. Dan Bleck, Eric Blythe, Eric Blythe, and Kaitlin Walsh.

MR. SCANNELL: Good morning, Your Honor. Tom Scannell and Steve McCartin for the Committee.

MR. WALKER: Good morning, Your Honor. Eric Walker of Cooley on behalf of Lifespace Communities, Inc.

With me today is my colleague Sam Rabuck on WebEx. This morning we filed a pro hac vice application for him at Docket Number 1332. I know it was just filed with the Court's indulgence, should Mr. Rabuck need to participate in the hearing today, I would ask the Court's permission to do so.

THE COURT: Absolutely. Thank you so much.

MR. WALKER: Thank you very much.

MS. WALKER: Good morning, Your Honor. Adrienne Walker. I'm here with Matthew David of Locke Lord for Bay 9 Holdings.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Good morning, Your Honor. Elizabeth Vandesteeg, Eileen Sethna, and Harold Israel of Levenfeld Pearlstein, LLC; Ivan Gold of Allen Matkins; and Elizabeth Pittman of Jackson Walker on behalf of Intercity Investment Properties, Inc.

MR. WILLIAMS: Good morning, Your Honor. Benton Williams on behalf of the Estate of Patricia Adams, Pamela Siviglia, and Andrew L. Adams. Thank you.

THE COURT: Okay. Is there anyone on WebEx who would like to make an appearance? If you're on a phone, you can press --

MS. LAMBERT: Lisa Lambert for the U.S. Trustee.

Lisa Lambert for the United States Trustee.

THE COURT: Good morning.

MS. GOODMAN: Good morning, Your Honor. Susan Goodman, the health care ombudsman.

THE COURT: Good morning, Ms. Goodman. And we're going to start with you today. I understand that you have a report to give to the Court. We'll start with you today once we finish appearances and any housekeeping matters.

MS. GOODMAN: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: You're welcome.

Is there anyone else who would like to make an appearance today?

(No audible response)

THE COURT: Okay. Hearing no further appearances, are there any housekeeping matters, any matters of logistics that we need to take care of before we go to Ms. Goodman?

(No audible response)

THE COURT: All righty.

Ms. Goodman, the floor is yours.

MS. GOODMAN: Thank you, Your Honor. And I'll try to be brief.

Your Honor, this may largely be moot. I have to confess that these have been very complex lengthy hearings that largely haven't involved me. So whatever analogy you want to use, I've been on the sidelines, I've been in the back seat. And as such, I'll try to keep this brief because it may not be a big deal.

What prompted my wanting to talk to you yesterday, I engaged in my fifth site visit yesterday and, frankly, I have been extending times between site visits. My last site visit was mid-December, so we were almost three months out. This is the first time that the resident counsel, representatives, and other people have really expressed concern about the stress level being reported by residents.

And I know there was a hearing early on that I attended at least part of where there were assurances given that people weren't going to lose their homes, et cetera, et cetera. So, you know, again, I don't want to paint a "sky is falling" picture, but I do want to paint a "storm clouds are concerning me" because this is a difference from where I had been on previous site visits.

And, again, there's not a prohibition on hiring or recruiting, but imagine that, you know, fortunately the skills unit, you know, when I -- my first site visit they had 38 patients and residents. This site visit, they had more than 50. So there's, you know -- there's needs to add additional staff and certainly in the health care arena, there's certain staffing positions like certified nursing assistants or, you know, people in server/dishwasher/dietary role.

But appreciate, too, that there's this huge pause button where more so I think with the clinical staff, it's not a money issue in recruiting, but you're trying to bring people in. And, you know, as a practical matter, whatever transition is going to occur here, there's going to be different policies and procedures and different onboarding and different titles and different insurance and different pay raises. And so there's this kind of this pause button going on.

And I was trying to think of a good analogy. And maybe because I'm not at the level of all the esteemed professionals in this case of understanding all the ins and outs of, you know, the protected litigation. It's as though that I am in the back seat of a car and we're going through the tunnel and we all know it's good luck to hold your breath when you're in the tunnel until you get to light on the other side of the tunnel.

And I just want you to know that there's me and 106 people in the tunnel, and we're out of breath. And so if you have questions for me, you know, I know there's a distinct challenge in my role because I'm clinical. I'm clinically-focused. I'm operationally-focused. You guys are in a whole different mindset. So the courts will often say to me, Ms. Goodman, our patients safe or unsafe, you know, is it -- it feels -- I know it feels to you like it's this line between safe and unsafe.

It feels like a zone for me, and I guess I just want to say I don't like the direction I feel like the zone is moving. But, no, there's -- I mean, you know, patients are being taken care of, people are being fed. And I'm really not wanting to add any fuel to whatever fight is here that I don't pretend to completely understand. But I do want to have a way to communicate that this was my first visit where I'm like I've got some concerns.

So I'll leave it at that. Do you have questions for me, Your Honor?

THE COURT: I don't think that I have any questions. I mean, obviously, I've been reading your reports, and I always trust that if there is a concern, you would bring it to the Court. And I certainly appreciate this one.

I can only imagine -- I mean I've done -- I did restructuring for many many years before taking the bench, and I know just at the employee level, at the customer level, it is very disconcerting to be in limbo, so to speak. And I certainly can only imagine when this is your home and we've had a lot of press. We've obviously had a lot of litigation here.

It is the Court's intention to rule just as quickly as we can when we conclude confirmation which hopefully will conclude today in terms of closing arguments. And whether it be because we have a DIP that matures, whether it be because -- I recognize that there are regulatory approvals that have to be had, and those take at least 30 to 45 days. And I'm aware of other cases where sometimes that gets extended.

Or whether it be the people factor which is the most important factor of all. Whether it because these are the residents, they are the ones that pay the bills. Or whether it's just because I'm a human and at the end of the day, you want to do what's right by people.

So I do intend to rule just as quickly as I can giving it the time that it takes to give credence to all of the various parties and the time that they've put into their legal arguments.

And so all I can say is from the judge, if they're looking for anything from me, that I hope to move as quickly as possible so that they do have -- that the direction doesn't seem as rudderless, which I'm sure that sometimes it does when everyone just kind of sees litigation.

So I hope that we can get to a conclusion soon, and that's the Court's intention. I don't know, depending on if we finish today, if I can promise a date. But I certainly hope that I can get something out next week. I just don't know that I'll be able to get something out fulsome and written versus one of those times where everybody gets to dial in and listen to me talk.

So in any event, I appreciate --

MS. GOODMAN: Yeah. And --

THE COURT: I appreciate what you're saying. I take it to heart that you took the time to come here today. And it's certainly disconcerting that the stress level is rising, and I think that all that I can do is try to rule as quickly as possible.

MS. GOODMAN: Yes. And forgive me, I'm constantly bounded by HIPAA, and there's certain fact patterns that it would not be appropriate to discuss. But I think if there are any assurances surrounding -- confirming that people aren't going to lose their home, and maybe those assurances don't exist today.

Again, this has been a case that's different from many of the others that I have appeared on in a CCRC. But I think much of the stress level is still the feeling that they could be given notice and essentially be evicted from their home. So to the extent that there's any of those assurances that can be reiterated, I think that would be helpful.

If this does -- I mean, you know, again, I will certainly file my report. And if this does seem like it's going to linger further, I'll go ahead and visit sooner than I would have planned on, you know, prior to feeling like there's a lot of moving parts with this last visit.

So I appreciate your time. And with your permission, I won't stay on for -- I think if I had attended all these hearings, my ombudsman rate would be four times what I'm trying to pace it at. So with your permission, if no one has any questions for me, I'd like to be dismissed.

THE COURT: Okay. Is there anyone that has any questions of Ms. Goodman today?

(No audible response)

THE COURT: Okay. No one in the courtroom.

Again, I can't thank you enough, Ms. Goodman, for appearing. And, no, please -- there's going to be a lot of legal talk today. You literally have more important things to do. So thank you so much.

(Pause)

THE COURT: She's going to go off and do health and welfare people stuff. There we go.

All righty. When we broke yesterday, I believe that we had some evidence that was going to be put on by the Committee as well as rebuttal expert in the way of Mr. Polsky on behalf of ICI. Is there anything new and unexpected?

MR. MCCARTIN: Your Honor?

THE COURT: Yes.

MR. MCCARTIN: Excuse me, Steve McCartin on behalf of the Committee.

The landlord has asked that we switch up the order. If Mr. Polsky could go first, he's got something this afternoon.

THE COURT: Fair enough.

MR. MCCARTIN: If that's all right with the Court.

THE COURT: Fair enough. Works for me.

Any issues on behalf of the plan sponsors or anything with going a little out of order?

(No audible response)

THE COURT: Okay.

So are you prepared to call Mr. Polsky?

MS. VANDESTEEG: I am, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Shall I grab your exhibits?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes, please, Your Honor.

And ICI would like to call Daniel Polsky.

THE COURT: Please have a seat, Mr. Polsky.

Nice to see you again, sir.

MR. POLSKY: Nice to see you, as well.

DANIEL POLSKY, ICI'S WITNESS, SWORN

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you so much.

I've got your exhibit binders, Ms. Vandesteeg. If we move to any other exhibits, just let me know so I can retool.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor.

And I should have approached the witness bench before Mr. Polsky took it. May I approach to --

THE COURT: Of course.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- give him the exhibits?

THE COURT: Of course.

(Pause)

DIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MS. VANDESTEEG:

Q Good morning, Mr. Polsky. Welcome back.

A Thank you. Good morning.

Q Seeing as how we've already gone over your qualifications previously, I think we can skip most of that today.

But suffice it to say, you have a substantial number of years of experience in the senior living and CCRC industry. Correct?

A Yes. Approximately two weeks more than I did the last time I testified.

Q And you typically are acting in a financial advisory or chief restructuring officer-type role in connection with your engagements in this industry. Correct?
A That's correct.
Q And you've represented debtors.
A Yes.
Q Correct?
A Yes.
Q And committees?
A Forty-three creditors committees, I believe.
Q Did any of those cases involve settlement of litigation?
A Many. Many of those cases.
Q In your experience, do settlements typically involve the resolution of claims or causes of action between parties?
A Yes. That's the essence of the nature of a settlement.
Q In your experience, have you ever seen a settlement where one party had not identified those claims or causes of action against the other?
A I don't recall any.
Q Are you familiar with the Lifespace settlement and contribution agreement related to the plan in this case?
A Yes.
Q To your knowledge, what is the purpose of that settlement agreement?

A It's several things, one of which is to fund the residents' trust so the residents can receive repayment of their refundable entrance fees. Second feature is to provide $16.5 million in the form of a payment to the bondholders. And the third item is for Lifespace to receive a release from those parties.

Q What is your understanding for how Lifespace intends to fund its settlement contributions?

A Up until yesterday, my belief was that it was going to come straight from a bond offering that Lifespace would issue in the municipal bond market.

As of yesterday, it appears that an alternative mechanism is being considered which is for Lifespace to use its own unrestricted cash to make those payments.

Q What is the first payment that will become due under the Lifespace settlement agreement?

A That would be a confirmation, an effective date payment of approximately $52 million.

Q Who does that payment go to?

A That payment goes to the residents' trust.

Q And what about that bondholder payment that you referenced?

A The $16.5 million would go directly to the bondholders.

Q you were here in court yesterday during Mr. Harshfield's testimony. Right?

A Yes.
Q And you heard Mr. Harshfield testify yesterday that Lifespace had approximately 188 million in unrestricted cash and investments as of 12/31/22. Correct?
A That's what I heard, yes.
Q Can you take a look at ICI Exhibit 10?
Do you know where -- do you recall where Mr. Harshfield got that $188 million number from?
A Well, I'm sure he knows it from a number of sources, but the source that is listed here happens to be in the middle of the last page of this document which is entitled "Obligated Group Selected Historical Financial Information."
Q And where on this document do we see that 188 million?
A It's under the December 31st, 2022 column. It's the first line under the section entitled "Cash To Debt." And it's entitled "Unrestricted Cash and Investments" with a parenthetical A. And it's the first entry; 188,338,000.
Q You also heard from Mr. Harshfield yesterday that he believes the obligated group has approximately 90 million available in free cash before any of the obligated groups' covenants under its indenture agreements are triggered. Correct?
A That's what I heard him say, yes.
Q Do you agree with that analysis?
A I don't think that's accurate.

Q Why not?

A Well, I mean there are several reasons, the first of which involves, if you scroll this page to the bottom, there's a reference to a certain amount of cash that is related to the Florida operating and renewal and replacement reserve funds, which is part of the $188 million.

We don't know how much that is. Mr. Harshfield apparently did not know how much that was. I believe it's material enough to be listed here as an item. He said it was not in the tens of millions of dollars, but he didn't say how many millions of dollars it was. If it's not in the tens of millions of dollars, I would have to make an assumption as to how much this represents.

Ten of millions would normally be at least two tens of millions or twenty million. He said tens in plural, so I'm not really sure what he meant by that. But if it's not tens of millions and not even ten million, let's assume for an example that maybe the number is eight million. So the 188 would be reduced by that 8 million. That's only 180 million would be available.

Q Do you know what the indenture agreement requirements are that could be triggered without sufficient cash on hand?

A So there's a covenant default built into the master trust indenture. I believe that it is 120 days cash on hand is the threshold trigger point.

Q How do we know what 120 days cash on hand looks like?
A It's a calculation that does a lookback at a measurement date. In the particular instance here, you would look at the December 31st numbers which would be for this purpose $811,000 of daily expenses times 120 days.
Q Where do we see daily expenses?
A That is in the -- a little further down in the cash-to-debt section. There's underneath department operating expenses and so forth, you see daily expenses. And it's reflected as $811,000 per day for the 2022 measurement period.
So if you take that number and you multiply it by 120 to get the 120-day threshold, it calculates out to about 97 or 98 million dollars.
Q The daily expenses line appears to be increasing over time from 2019 to 2020, 2020 to '21, and 2021 to 2022. Why do you think that is?
A Well, it's increased every year probably for a number of reasons, some of which includes growth in Lifespace's business, some of it may be certainly in the more recent periods inflation-driven as well as growth and other factors.
Q So taking all of these numbers that you see here together, why is it that you think that Mr. Harshfield's analysis that he has 90 million of available cash on hand before any covenants are triggered is incorrect?
A Well, the first part of our discussion reduced that 90 million of availability to $82 million based on the example. And if you were to extrapolate some increase from this trend line going forward because we're in a very highly inflationary period, as well as Lifespace intentions to grow their business, this $811,000 number on a daily basis is very likely to increase in 2023 such that it could be as high as maybe $900,000 per day this year.

If you were to then take 120 days times $900,000, you are going to get a number of approximately $108 million. So 120 days means something different in each year.

If you were then to take the difference between 180 million and the 108 million dollars, the free cash is approximately $72 million which is substantially less than the $90 million that Mr. Harshfield discussed yesterday.

Q Regardless of whether it's 72 million or 90 million available before any covenants are triggered, do you think it would be a prudent business decision to pay 69 million in cash out of those funds?

A I personally would find it to be highly questionable if not absolutely irresponsible to use 40 percent of your entire cash for this particular purpose.

Q What do you mean by this particular purpose?

A To fund the -- the settlement agreement.

Q Looking at the top of this exhibit, and specifically at that top line of excess deficit of revenues over expenses, did you also hear from Mr. Harshfield yesterday that it was his belief that this negative $86,480,000 is not actually what Lifespace lost in 2022?

A If you turn to the profit and loss page of this document.

Q Is this the page that you're referencing?

A It is.

Q And what is it on this page that you want to point out to us?

A In addition to the $86,480,000 of reported loss which is the deficit of revenues over expenses from continuing operations, there's also a line item below which is contributions to Lifespace Communities, Inc. of $22.2 million, resulting in an aggregate loss of $108.7 million for the year, not the 86 million.

Q Twenty-two million dollars more?

A Yes.

Q Well, didn't Mr. Harshfield testify yesterday that that number might be misleading because it includes non-cash expenses?

A It does. It includes depreciation and amortization which are non-cash items. So approximately perhaps 60 or 65 million dollars' worth of non-cash items within that P&L structure.

Q So how do you think that impacts then what the actual losses were?

A Well, the actual losses from a profitability standpoint are as they reported. I think the key consideration is that Lifespace is in an investment period. They are spending according to their own reported information approximately over the last five years 167 percent of depreciation in terms of capital spending.

Q How do we know that?

A It's reported in this document.

Q Can you point us where?

A I don't have the page marked, but --

Q What if you take a look at Page 15 of 18 if you're looking at the bottom numbers?

A The first full paragraph on that page presents a statement that relates to the five-year historical view to assess capital expenditures. And the five-year historical ratio for the obligated group at December 31st of '21 is 167 percent which is higher than the range, the range being 70 percent to 130 percent which is a typical range for replacement capital as it relates to depreciation.

THE COURT: And where are you pointing to, Mr. Polsky?

THE WITNESS: This is the first full paragraph on Page 15 of 18 --

THE COURT: Okay.

THE WITNESS: -- in the exhibit.

THE COURT: Yes, thank you. I always follow on paper. I was following on the screen this one time.

Thank you.

BY MS. VANDESTEEG:

Q Mr. Polsky, did you also hear yesterday from Mr. Harshfield testimony about the obligated groups' negative net worth as of 12/31/22?

A Yes.

Q And can you point us again to where those numbers are within this document?

A So that is on the balance sheet. It covers two pages. These particular pages are not marked with page numbers on the bottom.

THE COURT: I've got it.

THE WITNESS: But they're towards the beginning of the document.

BY MS. VANDESTEEG:

Q Is this the first of the two pages?

A Yes, it is.

Q And what does this tell us?

A The sum total of assets at December 31st of '22 is approximately $1.2 billion.

Q And liabilities on the next page?

A The liabilities on the next page reflect that there are approximately $1.5 billion of liabilities.

Q What would the financial impact of either adding $100 million in bond debt or paying 69 million in cash have on this balance sheet?

A In either case, they're either taking cash and using it for a third-party purpose or they're borrowing money and then taking the cash and using it for that third-party purpose for the settlements and so forth.

In either instance, it would exacerbate the negative net-asset position and make it worse. So, for example, if they raised $100 million and spent $100 million, the $300 million deficit would go to a $400 million deficit.

Q Mr. Polsky, when we were here together last in connection with adequate assurance, you spent some time talking about the longhill projections. Do you recall that?

A Yes.

Q And what is it that we were talking about when we were talking about the longhill projections?

A Well, we covered a lot of ground on the longhill projections. But I think if you're referring to the impact of the Lifespace settlement and contribution payments with respect to the residents and their attitudes.

Q So that's exactly where I wanted to go.

Based upon your recollection of Mr. Lawlor's testimony and the longhill projections, do you think that those projections would be negatively impacted if Lifespace did not make the payments as required under the settlement agreement?

MS. WALKER: Objection, Your Honor. This goes directly to the sale and the adequate assurance hearing. I don't understand how this is a plan matter. I think he's bringing in and having a second bite at the apple, and I think that that date has passed.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Your Honor, this is exactly where we were stopped at adequate assurance because the Court found that this line of questioning went toward confirmation issues as to what the residents' potential thoughts may be on a go-forward basis. All I'm trying to do is pick up where we were stopped last time, Your Honor.

MS. WALKER: Your Honor, that question was asked at the time of the sale. He asked about the projections. Mr. Lawlor gave us his direct testimony. It wasn't baked into their projections, and we're just trying to get a second bite at that apple.

THE COURT: I'm going to overrule the objection. I think that there was a pin put in the adequate assurance testimony as it applied to confirmation issues. I think that we've now had the witness testify at length about the residents' trust and the contribution to the bondholders.

So I'm going to allow the testimony today. Thank you.

THE WITNESS: It's hard to assess what the impact would be. I can tell you it would not be a positive impact.

As to what negative impacts would be experienced, it could be a range of things. People may decide to leave. People may decide to withhold rent. Some people may actually run out of money along the way. It's very hard to understand what the implications are.

I am pretty sure that there are not going to be positive implications.

BY MS. VANDESTEEG:

Q And when we were here last week, you were talking about your personal expectations and what you would be thinking about in determining what kind of a residence you would want to move into. Correct?

A Yes. But not for another 20 years or so.

But the circumstances of what you're asking about here given the termination date of the lease in 2054, I previously testified that my believe is that regardless of what model is employed, under these circumstances, there's a high probability of failure at some point prior to the expiration of the lease.

Q Is there a solution for that?

A Not as long as the lease is in effect.

Q So would your thinking and analysis be the same if the lease were no longer in effect?

A If the lease was no longer in effect and the facility could run to perpetuity, then, yes, my conclusion would be different.

Q What would your conclusion be then?
A That it could be a sustainable model on a go-forward basis to perpetuity.
Q But that only happens without that ground lease, right?
A Correct.
Q Going back to the contribution and settlement and your listening in on Mr. Harshfield's testimony yesterday, what is your understanding as to why the bondholders are being paid the 16-5 under the settlement agreement?
A I'm not exactly sure I can answer that question.
Q Why not?
A There doesn't appear to be any particular claims by the bondholders against Lifespace or causes of action for which a settlement or payment would be required, necessary, or explainable.

MS. VANDESTEEG: No further questions from me. Thank you.

THE COURT: Thank you very much, Ms. Vandesteeg.

All right. Cross-examination?

MR. WALKER: Good morning again, Your Honor.

Eric Walker on behalf of Lifespace Communities.

CROSS-EXAMINATION

BY MR. WALKER:
Q Good morning, Mr. Polsky.
A Good morning, Mr. Walker. How are you?

Q I'm well. How are you?
A Good.
Q Mr. Polsky, have you ever been a CRO of a CCRC?
A Not of a CCRC.
Q Okay.
MR. WALKER: Could we pull up Exhibit 10 again, whoever the master of the exhibits are?
And go to that last page of Exhibit 10, Landlord Exhibit 10.
BY MR. WALKER:
Q Mr. Polsky, you heard Mr. Harshfield's testimony yesterday regarding Lifespace's financials. Correct?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And there were some questions regarding the first number on this Exhibit 10, the last page of this Exhibit 10, the excess parenthetical deficit of revenues over expenses where in 2022, it says a little over $86 million negative, right? Do you recall that?
A Yes.
Q And you recall Mr. Harshfield's testimony that that was reflecting the operating expenses of the Lifespace Communities. Correct?
A Well, I think it reflects the line item that appears on the P&L.
Q Right. And if you drop down, you heard Mr. Harshfield's testimony yesterday regarding the net entrance fee revenues that Lifespace collected in that same period. Correct?

A Yes.

Q And how that number is a little over $81 million as shown right towards, right above the income available for debt service line. do you see that, 81.5 million?

A Which page are we on now?

Q The last page of Landlord Exhibit 10.

A I'm just looking for the number.

Q It's --

THE COURT: It's immediately above the subtotal underlined.

THE WITNESS: Okay. I see that now.

BY MR. WALKER:

Q And you recall that that number reflects the net entrance fees revenue that Lifespace collected in 2022. Correct?

A Yes.

Q And that amount is in addition to the operating revenue and expenses that's reflected in the top of that column --

A It's one --

Q -- the $86 million loss. Correct?

A Yes. It's one of about a dozen modifications to that number to drive to an ending cash balance.

Q Mr. Polsky, you understand that many of the Lifespace Communities are entrance-fee life care communities. Correct?

A Yes.
Q And you're familiar with that model, right, based on your experience in the industry?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And you understand that Lifespace receives entrance fees from new residents who move into those communities. Correct?
A Yes.
Q And Lifespace also accrues contingent entrance fee refund liabilities relating to those new residence. Right?
A Yes.
MR. WALKER: And if we could go to the balance sheet on this same exhibit that we were looking at just a moment ago.
Could we go to the liability section, please?
BY MR. WALKER:
Q And you see on the balance sheet that there is a little over half a billion, over $500 million of contingent entrance fee refunds that are on the balance sheet. Right?
A Yes.
Q Okay.
MR. WALKER: And if we could scroll up to the assets.
BY MR. WALKER:
Q There is no entry on the asset portion of the balance sheet reflecting future entrance fees that Lifespace can expect to collect from new residents that move in. Right?

A It would not be appropriate under GAAP accounting.
Q Yeah. You understand that Lifespace reasonably expects that they're going to be collecting a significant amount of entrance, new entrance fees from the residents as they move into those communities, right?
A It's part of the business model, yes.
Q Thank you.
Mr. Polsky, have you talked to any of the residents at the Edgemere?
A No, I have not.
Q Do you know what their attitudes are regarding the Lifespace settlement and contribution?
A I would think that they would be extremely excited to receive it.
Q But you haven't talked to any of them, right?
A No.
Q So your testimony today about how you think residents would react to the Lifespace settlement and contribution agreement depending on what might happen in the future, that's just pure speculation on your part, right?
A Well, I think it's educated speculation on my part.
Q But you haven't talked to any residents to really know how they feel about it, right?
A No. I've spoken to residents in other facilities, but I haven't spoken to residents in this one.

MR. WALKER: That's all the questions I have, Your Honor. Thank you.

THE COURT: Thank you, Mr. Walker.

MR. JOHNSON: No cross from the debtors, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you, Mr. Johnson.

MR. JOHNSON: They still --

THE COURT: Yes.

MR. JOHNSON: -- remain, plan sponsors are still --

THE COURT: Understood.

(Pause)

MS. WALSH: No questions from the initial plan sponsors, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay, thank you, Ms. Walsh.

Does anyone else wish to cross-examination Mr. Polsky before?

(No audible response)

THE COURT: Okay. Just one moment.

(Pause)

THE COURT: Okay. The Court doesn't have any questions.

Any redirect, Ms. Vandesteeg?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Very briefly. Thank you.

REDIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MS. VANDESTEEG:

Q Mr. Polsky, were you here in the courtroom when the patient care ombudsman, Ms. Goodman, gave her report just earlier this morning?

A Yes, I was.

Q And what was the overall nature of the concerns that she raised?

MR. WALKER: Your Honor, I object to this line of questioning. I think it's outside the scope of my cross, so I don't understand how it's appropriate for redirect.

BY MS. VANDESTEEG:

Q Did Ms. Goodman just provide us with a report as to resident concerns at the Edgemere?

MR. WALKER: Same objection, Your Honor.

THE COURT: I think same objection. I'm waiting for your response to the objection.

MS. VANDESTEEG: It goes -- oh, I'm sorry, Your Honor. It goes directly to the "how does he know," how does he have any personal knowledge of what the residents might be feeling and we just received that earlier this morning, Your Honor.

THE COURT: I'll overrule the objection.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you.

BY MS. VANDESTEEG:

Q Go ahead, Mr. Polsky.

A It's consistent with my understanding in this situation and consistent with my prior experience.

Q How is it consistent?
A That elderly people living in CCRCs going through this kind of a circumstance experience significant anxiety which can have adverse health effects as well as upset people in various other ways.
MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor.
Thank you.
THE COURT: Thank you, Ms. Vandesteeg
Any further cross?
MR. WALKER: Not from Lifespace, Your Honor. Thank you.
THE COURT: Okay, thank you.
MS. VANDESTEEG: We would release the witness.
THE COURT: All righty. Thank you very much for your testimony, Mr. Polsky. I hope you can make it to your next gig.
MR. POLSKY: Thank you.
(Witness excused)
THE COURT: All right. If there's not any further evidence from the plan proponents, I think we'd be prepared to move to the Committee portion. Does anyone need a break before we reshuffle?
MS. PITTMAN: Briefly, Your Honor. Just 30 seconds.
THE COURT: Yes.
MS. PITTMAN: Elizabeth Pittman with Jackson Walker on behalf of ICI. Before we moved on to the UCC, I did just want to clarify a piece of evidence from the adequate assurance part of the hearing.

After discussing with counsel for Bay 9 regarding the three remaining objections in the Kyle DeHenau deposition transcript --

THE COURT: Right.

MS. PITTMAN: -- both parties have decided to just waive those three objections.

THE COURT: Okay. Yes, I reviewed them, as well. I think we're all good. Reviewed all of them.

MS. PITTMAN: And in Amended Exhibit 20 and 20-A regarding the Fitch article, we also discussed with counsel for Lifespace and they approved the new PDF of the Fitch article and that was uploaded on to the docket this morning.

THE COURT: Okay. All righty. We'll print that out.

Based on the new 20-A, Mr. Walker, do you have any further issues? I don't assume we want to recall Mr. Harshfield for that purpose?

MR. WALKER: (No audible response)

THE COURT: Okay. I think the Court can read it.

MR. WALKER: I was told to speak into the microphone this time. Yeah, no issues from Lifespace. We've reviewed it. We've confirmed it's a complete copy, so we don't have any objection to --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. WALKER: -- the admission.

THE COURT: Thank you, Mr. Walker.

Ms. Vandesteeg?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Good morning, Your Honor.

One other housekeeping point to raise, we did connect with counsel for the debtor after the hearing yesterday with a further update with respect to Terracon and the roof. We have relayed to the debtor team that te roof expert believes that those mod-bit (phonetic) tears were in the light well near the cooling tower. So we've given that information to Mr. Johnson and hopefully that will provide them with additional guidance as to where to go to locate the tear from that photograph from July 2022.

THE COURT: All righty. Excellent.

MR. JOHNSON: Just to further update that update, Your Honor, real time here from about an hour ago, we forwarded that information from ICI through Terracon through ICI yesterday. They found the tear this morning. They're fixing it. So thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: I half expect a picture of a selfie with a guy with a tear.

(Laughter)

MR. JOHNSON: Putting band-aids on it (indiscernible).

THE COURT: Exactly. I don't mean to joke, but it's still a little funny.

All righty. Okay. So I'm ready for the Committee when you are.

MR. SCANNELL: Thank you, Judge. The Committee calls Steve McCartin.

THE COURT: Please feel free to take a seat, Mr. McCartin. Obviously, you're an officer of the Court, and I'll dispense with the oath.

MR. MCCARTIN: Thank you, Your Honor.

MR. SCANNELL: Possibly the smallest binder in the case.

THE COURT: You know, Mr. Hendricks wins for purple, and you win for smallest so there you go. Bay 9 tried, but you beat them this time.

MR. SCANNELL: Well, they had a lot more to cover.

We can swear Mr. -- oh, did we --

THE COURT: No, no, no. I'll dispense with -- see, you're questioning his -- okay, I see that.

(Laughter)

MR. SCANNELL: Well, after having spent ten years as his associate, Judge, I think --

THE COURT: It was a close call for me, too, but --

MR. SCANNELL: -- that's a valid concern.

THE COURT: Please proceed.

MR. SCANNELL: Thank you, Judge.

DIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. SCANNELL:

Q Mr. McCartin, for the record, can you please state your full name and briefly describe your educational background?

A Excuse me. Steve McCartin. I received an undergraduate degree from the School of Business Indiana University and a law degree from Indiana University in 1980.

Q And can you briefly describe your professional experience?

A I've specialized in complex business bankruptcy proceedings for -- since then, basically.

THE COURT: Mr. McCartin, can you pull the mic a little closer?

THE WITNESS: Oh, sure. Sorry, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Thank you.

THE WITNESS: I've specialized in business, complex business bankruptcy proceedings since 1980.

BY MR. SCANNELL:

Q And for the record, what was your role in these bankruptcy proceedings?

A Foley & Lardner was retained as counsel for the Official Unsecured Creditors Committee, and I was lead counsel.

Q Did the Committee investigate and analyze the estate's potential claims against Lifespace?

A We did.

Q Can you describe generally the potential Lifespace claims?

A I can.

We -- we divide the potential claims against Lifespace in the proceedings as -- in two buckets. One would be what we considered to be estate causes of action, and the second would be direct causes of action by individual residents. We analyze the estate's causes of action. We did not analyze any direct causes of action that individual residents may or may not have.

With regard to the estate's causes of action, that can be generally described I think as a breach of contract claim. The claims would arise from the affiliation agreement in 2019. In that affiliation agreement, you know, I'll summarize for the record, but the claim would be that Lifespace agreed to assume the obligations of Edgemere to the residents for the entrance fee refund claims. There were provisions or a specific provision in the affiliation agreement where Lifespace agreed to honor the Edgemere entrance fee refund claims.

In addition to the affiliation agreement, there were two EMMA filings. One was on the date that the affiliation agreement was signed; one was on the date that the affiliation agreement was closed. And both of those public filings expressly stated that Lifespace had assumed all refund obligations of Edgemere to the resident existing at that time. And that I think becomes important because that was in 2019.

We've done a little bit of due diligence. We don't have an exact number, but it's our understanding that the refund claims existing at the time of the affiliation agreement closing and which still remain outstanding are approximately $100 million. As the Court knows and the parties have talked about quite often, the current refund claims are approximately $145 million. So there's a difference in the amount that the purported claim would assume they would allege that Lifespace assumed at about $100 million versus the $145 million that's outstanding today.

Q Are you aware of Lifespace's position on those claims?

A Yeah. I mean we -- we believe that those claims are highly disputed and that Lifespace can and would point to other provisions of the affiliation agreement that limit Lifespace's assumption of liabilities to a particular amount that would not be anywhere near this amount of claim.

So we -- we view it as a highly disputed cause of action or claim, a viable cause of action but certainly not a slam dunk. Certainly, it would be a hard-fought liability claim.

Q And, Mr. McCartin, did you on behalf of the Committee review the viability of the potential claims of the estate against Lifespace in connection with your determination of a fair and reasonable settlement value on those claims?

A Yeah. The Committee made a determination as to the viability of the claim and the difficulty of the claim, the uncertainty of the claim in determining how to negotiate a settlement what the Committee would accept or believe would be a fair settlement to -- to reach and recommend to the constituents.

Q Did you negotiate the terms of the Lifespace settlement incorporated into the fourth amended plan subject to this confirmation hearing?

A I did along with Erle Nye who's chairman of the Creditors Committee. He and I negotiated with Mr. Jantzen, Jesse Jantzen who's in charge of Lifespace as well as Eric Walker, attorney for Lifespace.

Q Is the first amended and restated settlement and contribution agreement included as Committee's Exhibit 2 a true and correct copy of what we're referring to here today as the Lifespace settlement, as amended?

A It is. It's -- there was an original settlement and contribution agreement reached and executed earlier with -- and then there were some objections by former residents at the disclosure statement hearing and some issues were raised. We negotiated a resolution of those issues and then rolled them into an amended and restated settlement agreement along with other tweaks to tighten up the terms of the settlement. But this is -- Exhibit 2 is a true and correct copy of the fully executed current settlement agreement.

Q Does the Committee support the approval of a Lifespace settlement and believe it to be fair and equitable, reasonable, and in the best interest of the estates?

A It does.

Q What did the Committee consider to make that determination?

A In reaching -- in reaching that conclusion, the Committee took a number of things into consideration. Of course, you know, we looked at the -- at the particular facts. We did -- we did an analysis of the facts. We did an analysis of what we thought were the applicable law. We factored in our estimate of the probability of success, taking into consideration the uncertainty of any litigation.

We -- we looked at the complexity of the litigation and the duration of the litigation. We looked at the cost of these claims. We factored in the anxiety of the residents that we believed protracted litigation would cause if we as a Committee elected not to settle and, instead, supported a plan that preserved those causes of action that would be pursued post-confirmation.

We factored in that the residents would -- that would be very unsettling, we thought, for the residents to -- to have that open-ended litigation for years to come. And then, lastly, but not least, we factored in our other options throughout the bankruptcy proceeding. We didn't look at the settlement of the Lifespace claims in a vacuum.

We really early on identified two simultaneous goals in the bankruptcy proceeding, and one was of course to maximize the dividend to unsecured creditors but, also, to preserve the financial health of the ongoing operations of Edgemere to protect the health and welfare of the residents.

We weren't just looking solely for a big dividend and ignoring the fact that it was important to the creditors that Edgemere survive and can operate in a financially healthy way, so that the residents weren't, again, afraid of, as Ms. Goodman testified to earlier, losing their home, having to move. That's very traumatic on seniors.

Q You mentioned the Committee's other options in this case. It may be helpful to step through the evolution of these proceedings. If you could turn to Tab 1 with me in the Committee's binder.

A Right.

Q So let's first discuss the landlord litigation.

It looks like the debtors filed this bankruptcy and the landlord litigation on April 14th of 2022. Is that correct?

A I think that's right.

And this kind of goes into the analysis of our options and that really evolved chronologically over time as we were looking for the best and the most reasonable settlement of the claims and baking that into our plan options.

Very early on in the case, as soon as -- really as soon as the Committee was appointed, Mr. Jantzen and the debtors communicated to the Committee that it was their goal to assume the residency agreement and to honor the entrance fee obligations in a go-forward restructured, reorganized Edgemere. We -- Mr. Jantzen informed us early on along with, of course, our financial advisor and industry experts that in summary, it would be very difficult to, if not impossible, to assume the residency agreements unless Edgemere could continue as a refundable entrance fee model.

Some people have called it the legal Ponzi, but it's basically it's difficult to repay old refunds unless you're obtaining new entrance fees from new residents and the cycle continues. And that was -- and that continuing and entrance fee model, a refundable entrance fee model was difficult if not impossible continuing to operate Edgemere under the existing lease because it has a termination and can't go on into perpetuity, as plenty of people have testified.

So it was explained to us very early on by the debtor that it was their goal of assuming the residency agreement and honoring the refunds but that they would need to have a substantial modification to the lease in order to do that and that's what they hoped to acquire through the landlord litigation. So that's how the landlord litigation fit within our options.

At that point in time, we didn't know, and the debtor hadn't defined exactly what kind of modifications or what kind of relief it needed in the landlord litigation to be able to do that. That wasn't quantified yet. Those were general goals and a general what we called a litigation path.

Q Was the Committee concerned about the debtor's ability to achieve those goals on the litigation path?

A Yeah. We looked at the litigation and had a number of concerns.

One was timing. As the Court knows, there was a DIP loan approved with milestones in the DIP loan that, you know, basically required the litigation to be fully tried and won and a plan of reorganization filed and confirmed by the end of the year. The DIP loan also matured on 12/31. So our first major concern that we communicated immediately to the debtor was we weren't sure they could get the litigation fully tried and won before they ran out of money.

We had no assurance at that time that the lenders -- the DIP lender would extend the DIP or increase the DIP amount for any delays. The debtor assured us that they could try it within that period of time, that they had asked and obtained from the Court an expedited trial schedule before the Court. So that was one concern.

And we also were concerned about what we thought was extraordinary relief requested in the landlord litigation. The relief being asked for appeared extraordinary and not common in those kind of proceedings. So based on that, we -- we communicated our concern but told the debtor we knew we had not, the debtor had not seen the results of discovery yet and that we would keep an open mind but we were insistent that the parties work on a worse-case scenario Plan B what if it didn't go as planned, what if the litigation didn't go as planned, what if it couldn't be tried in time or the estate ran out of money.

We wanted to protect the health and welfare of the residents. Again, we had two goals, you know, maximize dividend but also protect the operations. And so we had urged all parties to work with us to develop what we called a safety net worse-case scenario Plan B while the debtor was marching down the litigation path.

Q So, again, in the context of looking at this timeline and evaluating what the Committee's options were and getting a return for the residents, what happened next? What was the next step within that context?

A So that was our formulated position and the debtor's position April, early May that we were talking about this. We then went the next three, three and a half months where the debtor pursued the landlord litigation. We continued our best efforts to develop a Plan B.

That wasn't going well for a number of reasons. One, the landlord didn't want to talk to us about a Plan B for fear of litigation claims without permission of the parties, the main constituents, or court authority. We weren't -- the parties did not want to get their permission of the other constituents in the case for the landlord to talk with us. We filed a motion with the Court and eventually the parties agreed that we could -- that the landlord could talk to us without fear of litigation.

We needed the debtor's cooperation to develop the Plan B. We needed data. We needed help from FTI and the debtor. Initially, the debtor indicated they would do that, that they would help us. But when it really, you know, came time to roll up our sleeves, the debtor decided that that -- that they didn't want to pursue that because that would send the wrong message to the landlord or indicate some weakness possibly in the landlord litigation to try to develop an alternative plan, if you would.

So that really took us through probably early August. The debtor, as I mentioned, had some milestones and deadlines under the DIP loan to file a plan. So on August 3rd, the debtor filed its proposed plan of reorganization, what we'd referred to as the litigation plan.

Q Can you generally describe that plan for us?

A Yeah. And we referred to that kind of as our option one. As I talked about earlier, we were evaluating our options as we went along which informed us or helped inform us about what was available and what a reasonable settlement would be.

And so what I consider option one was the debtor's litigation plan. And it -- you know, it followed what they had expressed to us at the beginning of the case. It proposed to continue a refundable entrance fee model at Edgemere, at reorganized Edgemere. It proposed to assume the residency agreements and honor the deposits, the entrance fee refund claims.

It proposed to settle all Lifespace litigation claims of the estate in exchange for Lifespace's sponsorship of that plan. Lifespace was in that plan proposed to contribute $13.5 million of new cash to reorganized Edgemere. It was going to provide a $6 million liquidity support agreement, and it was going to provide waivers or deferrals of substantial management fees that Lifespace had accrued and would charge in the future.

It proposed to raise 30 million of new capital by new bonds, issuing new bonds for the reorganized debtor. It proposed to exchange -- issue new bonds of about $93 million and exchange those for the $110 million it owed the bondholders pre-petition. So it had a -- it provided for about $123 million of debt on reorganized Edgemere coming out of bankruptcy.

And all of this continuing the entrance fee model, assuming our residency agreements, honoring our refunds, raising that kind of money, new money, you know, hundred -- aggregate the 30 and the 93, about $123 million worth of debt was all subject to and conditioned upon winning the landlord litigation.

And for the first time --

MS. SIRI: Sorry, would you say that again?

(Laughter)

THE WITNESS: Not me this time.

I think that I'm being critiqued by Siri.

(Laughter)

BY MR. SCANNELL:

Q Could you indeed say that again?

A For the first time -- so this was again August 3rd. For the first time, winning the landlord litigation was defined. The plan was subject to and conditioned upon a successful outcome. A successful outcome in summary was analyzed by the Committee as requiring an economic win and having a value of abut $114 million.

So a substantial, what we considered to be a huge win was as a condition precedent in the landlord litigation. That's a big-picture summary of that plan.

Q Thank you.

What did the Committee think about that litigation plan?

A Again, we had serious concerns that -- I mean, first, we loved the part about assuming the residency agreements and honoring the refunds. That was awesome. We, of course, as I said, always had two goals, not only get the highest dividend but also having a financially healthy reorganized Edgemere. We were concerned with, again, timing, that litigation had to be tried quickly. We were concerned with the probability of success, winning that large of a victory.

And we were concerned with the cost of the litigation, both the administration fees for the estate that we saw were accruing in pursuing the litigation as well as if things didn't go well, what the cure might or might not end up being. We knew the landlord would allege that it was entitled to reimbursement of it fees in defending the lawsuit.

We were very concerned with the size of the leverage of reorganized debtor. 123 million dollars; worth of debt we considered to be substantial for reorganized debtor and really didn't view it a de-leveraging, using this bankruptcy proceeding to de-leverage the company, Edgemere at all.

So we weren't too excited about that plan.

Q Well, given those concerns, you had mentioned earlier a Plan B. By this point, what progress had the Committee made on working with the debtor and landlord and other constituents in the case to formulate a Plan B?

A Yeah. Again, as I've said, we were making really no progress on a Plan B. And we believed the debtors -- with regard to timing of the litigation, we believed the debtor was getting bogged down in discovery disputes, not unpredictable but when you're picking on someone like the landlord with the landlord's financial resources. But it appeared the litigation, while, you know, the original plan was to stay on a schedule, get it tried by the end of the year, it appeared that that was being substantially bogged down in discovery disputes.

Q Did the Committee reach out to the landlord to pursue a potential Plan B?

A Again, we had previously and that had really not worked out.

Right after the debtor filed the plan on I think August 3rd, a week later or the next week, the debtor then filed a motion to extend exclusivity.

And at that time, the debtor then announced to the case, the parties, and the Court that it couldn't try the landlord litigation by December 31st and that it needed -- it wanted to reschedule that I think for February, the trial for February. I think the landlord objected and said really April would be the earliest that landlord thought it should be tried.

So the debtor asked for an extension of exclusivity and was simultaneously asking the DIP lender to extend the maturity of the DIP from December 31st to a later time and the debtor needed an additional $6 million in DIP financing to finance the case and primarily really the litigation path past December 31st.

Q What did the Committee do in response to that motion?

A Well, by then, we had completely lost confidence in the debtor's strategy and the litigation path, the litigation plan for all of those reasons. And we believed it was important that the exclusivity be terminated and the parties be able to file competing plans, open it up for other ideas and other plans.

So the Committee felt like the debtor had a failed strategy, and we wanted exclusivity opened up for anyone to file a plan. And so we opposed the motion to extend exclusivity. And by then, it became even more apparent because the landlord -- or, I'm sorry, the DIP lender had announced that it did not intend to extend the DIP and loan the debtor another $6 million to finance that litigation path. So the bondholders also and the DIP lender joined us in opposing the extension of exclusivity.

Q And are you aware of how the Court ruled on that proceeding?

A Yeah. On October 13th, the Court entered an order in essence terminating exclusivity as of December -- or, I'm sorry, October 27th, so we -- on the 13th, we knew exclusivity was going to be terminated at that time.

Q With that ruling, what steps did the Committee take to explore or to continue exploring those Plan B options?

A Really not Plan B. Plan B we considered to be the safety net worse-case scenario. That had fallen by the wayside. We were now trying to figure out an alternative to Plan A, or I call it plan one, the option one. the debtor's original litigation path plan or litigation plan.

So the Committee immediately initiated conversations with both the bondholders and Lifespace. The bondholders were interested in filing a joint plan with the Committee, and we began exploring that and simultaneously started exploring a Lifespace sponsored plan, a plan that Lifespace would be involved in and sponsor. So those were going on at the same time.

Q And did the bondholders end up filing a plan?

A Yeah. The bondholder's plan was basically what we call a sale plan, and we considered that to be option number two for the Committee and something that we negotiated seriously.

THE COURT: Ms. Walsh?

MS. WALSH: Your Honor, we object to relevance. This line of questioning has absolutely nothing to do with the plan that we are here to confirm today.

MR. SCANNELL: Your Honor, the relevance of this line of questioning has to do with the context and how we go to where we are today. It's impossible to understand fully why the settlement proposed under this plan is a good deal to the Committee without knowing all of the other options available to the Committee and how we got to where we are today.

Under 9019, we need a record to approve the settlement, and that's what we're trying to do today.

MS. WALSH: Mr. McCartin already testified regarding the settlement. The history of the case is something that we've lived through and does not need to be rehashed here now.

(Laughter)

MR. SCANNELL: If that context is helpful to Your Honor, we're happy to provide it, again, part of the record. I think it's relevant to understand the other alternatives that were available to the Committee.

THE COURT: I do believe that you've laid the foundation to establish the various factors that the Court would need for a 9019 as it applies to the residents' litigation and the residents' trust under the plan, for example.

Why don't we fast forward to the case that -- and, obviously, from the Court's perspective, I certainly appreciate the walkthrough of what was happening outside of the courtroom. I think I have a good idea of what was happening. But there are certainly things that don't happen in here that happen out there.

So why don't we fast forward to that which is the crux of the Committee's objections. Again, anything with the 9019 factors I want you to be able to make your record. Just from the basis of the testimony thus far, I think that we've probably hit on everything that the Committee did to get comfortable with the settlement that was made.

So why don't we get to the part where we're dealing with the plan issues.

MR. SCANNELL: Let's talk about the settlement itself.

THE COURT: Perfect.

BY MR. SCANNELL:

Q So, Mr. McCartin, fast forwarding now to the settlement, spoiler alert, the Committee ultimately did reach a settlement with Lifespace. Correct?

A It did.

Q Can you please turn with me to Tab 2 in the Committee's binder?

A Okay.

Q And can you generally describe the settlement for the Court?

A Yeah. The Committee had filed a joint plan, a competing plan to the bondholders originally proposed sale plan. The Committee had filed a joint plan with the debtor initially that contained a proposed settlement and a reorganization of the debtor. And that plan provided for Edgemere to continue forward with a modified entrance fee model. It was a model with a lower entrance fee amount but nonrefundable. And that plan contained a proposed settlement with Lifespace, and that was -- that provided the Committee a 20 percent in cash on the effective date and 20 percent five year after the effective date.

After that was filed, within a couple of weeks, Lifespace said that they had a market study and didn't believe the market would support that kind of a model. And we, therefore, said if that plan's not going to work, we should negotiate a compromise of settlement directly with Lifespace outside of a reorganization plan.

So Mr. Nye and I did that, started those negotiations with Mr. Jantzen and Mr. Walker in mid-November, early to mid-November and that kind of went up through Thanksgiving.

And to explain that settlement, for the record, we divide it into really two areas to describe. One would be the contributions, and one would be the distributions. We would form a residence trust and the participating residents would become beneficiaries. We didn't know who would participate in that settlement since we had an opt-out provision. We always anticipated an opt-out option for residents.

So the contributions -- Lifespace had agreed to settle by making contributions to that trust in an amount equal to the allowed refund claims of the residents in this case. That is approximately $143 million. We negotiated that that would be spread, th $143 million of contributions would be spread over 18 year and in annual amounts that were arrived at by an actuarial study and an actuarial report which predicted when residents would vacate the facility in which year and how much their refunds would aggregate in each year.

So that's how we came up with the contribution schedule spread over the 18 years.

Q Turning to the contribution schedule, if you can turn with me to the last page of Exhibit 2, it's entitled "Lifespace Trust Contribution Schedule."

A Yeah. And as I said, we spread the contributions over 18 year. The first column would be what I was talking about before. That's -- the first column is the refund amounts based on the timing of the actuary when residents will be vacating the facility. As you can see, that here adds up to about $142 million.

We had -- we discovered after we negotiated this schedule that we'd inadvertently left off three residents and that three residents' refunds would be about a million-five. And so we fixed that with Footnote 1 in the amended schedule. So with that million-five, it's about 143-5 in total refunds.

Lifespace had agreed and wanted to be able to provide contributions in the full amount of the allowed refund claims so that the trust could distribute to the residents the full amount of their refund claims when they became due under the settlement agreement. And, of course, if the trust had to pay its own expenses out of those contributions, that might not allow us to pay 100 percent of the refund claim.

So we negotiated and Lifespace agreed to contribute an additional million-five for expenses. Expenses aren't limited to a million-five. They could be less; they could be more. But that was the negotiated contribution to the trust to cover expenses. And we just spread those per capita, you know, equally in each year. And that then, you know, ends up with our aggregate annual contributions that would be made by Lifespace.

So those are -- that's the source of funds, if you will. The -- I guess we should talk about the -- how those contributions may or may not be paid or deferred, I guess.

Q Sure. Are these firm obligations and payment commitment dates?

A The settlement agreement provides that the first two required payments are not subject to any financial conditions. They are firm promises to pay on the effective date in 2024. And so those amounts are firm.

Starting in 2025 and thereafter, Lifespace can defer any portion of the annual payment that would cause its daily cash on hand to drop below 250. And so the testimony earlier I heard people were saying could defer the payment, and that's not exactly true. You can only defer the portion of the payment that would require it to drop below 250 days cash on hand.

That can only be deferred for two years. That deferral is only allowed for a maximum of two years. And the deferred amount would then be due in year three unless any portion of that payment would cause a default under the Lifespace master trust indenture, basically its loan agreements with its bondholders. If so, then the payment -- any portion of the payment that would cause a default could then be deferred until the payment would not cause the default.

We believe that's a lower standard. The first deferral of two years is 250 days cash on hand with a maximum of a two-year deferral. And the third year, it has to be paid. Any deferred payment has to be paid unless it would trigger a default under the master trust indenture. And we believe those -- that's a lower bar.

For example, I think Mr. Polsky testified today, and it's our understanding, it's an event of default under their master trust indenture if their daily cash on hand drops below 120, 120 days, not 250 days. So it's a -- hopefully, it's a lower bar for a default under their master trust indenture than it would be the 250 days that allows the first two-year deferral.

So they're not firm unconditional obligations to pay. There are conditions.

Q So we've covered the contributions. I'd like to discuss the distributions now. Can you explain how funds are to be distributed to participating residents?

A Yeah. To really understand the distribution to residents, we start with dividing the refund claims into four categories or four buckets. We have former residents who no longer live at the facility. And former resident claims divide into subcategories. One would be former residents whose units have been re-occupied or re-leased already. And one would be former residents whose units have not been re-leased or re-occupied.

Then with current residents, we have current residents who have their deposits in escrow because they moved in after Edgemere started escrowing resident deposits, I think, maybe September of 2021. And then we have current residents whose money is not in escrow. I think there are 24 current residents whose money is in escrow, about $16 million.

Those people are under the plan getting a refund of their escrowed money from the escrow, not from the residents' trust. So they're not taking care of in the residents' trust. The current residents who don't have money escrowed will look to the resident trust for their distributions, and that's the bulk. There's 220 of them, we think, with approximately $105 million worth of refund claims. That becomes important in how the trust gets administered later.

The distributions were -- the settlement agreement was crafted with an attempt to resemble the pre-bankruptcy residency agreement scheme for refunds. And so this is where the settlement agreement gets a little more complex. And we define what's called a refund trigger date, and that's the date that the refund is triggered and will be paid from the trust.

For example, generally, it's when a resident vacates the community, either by death or moving out, and that resident's unit is re-leased and if the trust has sufficient funds after reserves to make that payment to make a distribution, then that resident would be entitled to a distribution.

At the disclosure statement hearing, some former residents objected and said one of those elements of when the unit is released was, you know, outside the control of the residents, they were concerned it would -- that there would be reasons why their units weren't released for some period of time. So we negotiated a resolution of those concerns.

And now for former residents, residents who have already moved out, their refund trigger date is the earlier of when their unit is re-leased but no later -- no later than October of 2025. There's an outside deadline of when their refund is triggered and then they would be due a refund if the trust has sufficient cash after reserves to make the payment.

For current residents -- that was former residents, they have a definitive date. For former residents, it's when their unit -- it's the earlier of when their unit is re-leased or three year from when they vacated the facility. And so current residents, they have a deadline, also, for when they would get their money back.

Q Under the settlement agreement, are you familiar with the concept of a life-care subsidy?

A Yes.

There has been incorporated into the settlement and the distribution scheme from the residents' trust what we've been referring to as a life-care subsidy, we define as a life-care subsidy. It was meant to resemble, not mirror, not exactly duplicate what we call life-care benefits under existing residency agreements.

And under existing resident agreements, there are certain life-care benefits that we tried to incorporate something similar to that into the settlement agreement. Again, we thought it would be more acceptable to the residents and resemble what they've had before the current agreements are rejected. And, you know, I think of that as an advance on their refund.

So before they move out, before they vacate, before there's a refund trigger date, there's a way to get an advance from the trust which is a, you know, a credit against their eventual refund amount.

For current residents, one category that we have are certain current residents of Edgemere are already receiving life-care benefits from Edgemere. And we didn't want to cut that off. So the trust provides that if someone is a current resident and you're getting a life-care benefit, the resident trust will provide that same reimbursement of what you're getting now economically.

If someone's in an assisted-living unit that it -- well, let me state it another way. If someone was in an independent living unit that they were paying $8,000 for and they moved into a higher level of care, an assisted-living unit, and that unit cost $10,000 a month, and they're currently getting only being charged 8 because they're getting a $2,000 life-care benefit so they're in a $10,000 unit only paying 8, that's a $2,000 benefit.

Those people getting current benefits would be reimbursed from the trust the same dollar amount of that benefit they're getting now which would again be a credit against or a setoff against their ultimate refund. I'm told that that's not a huge number. We've done some due diligence, and it looks like that's -- the residents receiving current life-care benefits is about a million-two is our information, a year.

Then we have another category of life-care subsidy which would be if you're currently in an independent living facility and you need to move to a higher level of care, assisted living or nursing facility or memory care, and the resident requests the trust to provide it a reimbursement for any increased costs for moving to the higher level of care, then the trust will do that as an advance or a credit against their ultimate refund.

And then there's a third category and general category of indigent residents. If a resident that lives at Edgemere becomes indigent and can prove to the satisfaction of the trustee that that resident can't afford any portion of their cost of being at Edgemere, they can apply for an advance of their refund in order to pay and stay at Edgemere.

Now these are three general descriptions. There's a lot of different iterations of what can happen, and so we've built into the residents' trust a flexibility discretion for the board and the trustee to fulfill the spirit and intent of this life-care subsidy. But they're really advances against refunds is really what it is.

Q Now the way these distributions have been structured, is there the potential for a queue to build up?

A There is.

As I've said, we basically have established the contributions based on projections of when people will vacate. Well, they could vacate a lot faster than projected, and that would cause the contributions maybe not to catch up with the -- with the refund trigger dates that were coming up. So that would be one way the trust might not have enough money to pay the refund distributions.

We -- another way would be the trust -- you know, that Lifespace could defer -- well, could, A, default on a payment o defer a payment under the conditions of the settlement and that might cause the trust not to have as much money as it needs to keep up with the refund trigger obligations.

So, you know, we -- realizing that this could happen, we have built into the structure of the trust that no refund is due unless the trust had sufficient cash after adequate reserves for both projected expenses and life-care subsidy payments. We don't -- you know, they come first. We don't want to run out of life-care subsidy payments for people that are living there.

And if it's true that we can't -- that the trust doesn't have the funds, then the residents get in line, they get in a queue and they get paid when the trust does have the money in the chronological order that their refund trigger date occurred. So they could be in a queue, yes.

Q All right. So now that we've got our hands around the settlement, let's talk just logistically how the settlement was to be approved. What mechanism did we use to propose, approve, and get these proposed releases of the debtors and hundreds of residents to be obtained by the Court?

A Yeah. The mechanics of proposing the settlement, we -- as I said, we had a joint plan filed between the Creditors Committee and the debtors that became what we called the Lifespace-sponsored plan that became unworkable or, you know, we were withdrawing because of market condition.

You know, Lifespace of course wanted to get a release for these contributions and this settlement. Lifespace wanted not only a release from the estate but releases from individual residents also from any and all causes of action they might have, any direct causes of action. That really the most efficient way to do that was through a plan of reorganization where residents were provided an opportunity to opt out or otherwise they would be deemed to give releases of their claims to participate in the trust.

To be able to get money out of the trust, they had to not opt out and provide Lifespace with the releases of a plan. We didn't have a plan. Our joint plan with the debtor didn't work any longer, so Lifespace approached the bondholders to ask for permission to roll the Lifespace settlement into the bondholders' sale plan. And that again now we're at Thanksgiving, over Thanksgiving of last year.

And that's what I think a lot of people have testified about that in exchange for a Lifespace settlement of $16.5 million to the bondholders, the bondholders agreed to allow the Lifespace settlement to be incorporated into their plan that allowed a mechanism to propose the plan to all the 400 residents, former and current residents, and a mechanism for Lifespace to obtain the releases they needed under the settlement.

So that -- that merged plan was then filed I think December 6th right after Thanksgiving.

Q Did you or the Committee have anything to do with the negotiations between Lifespace and the bondholders to include settlement in the plan?

A We were -- we were not involved at all in those discussions and the arrangement, the deal reached between Lifespace and the bondholders that allowed -- in which the bondholders agreed to amend their plan to incorporate the Lifespace settlement.

And, you know, just for the record, that became a joint plan proposed by the bondholders and the debtors. But Lifespace negotiated rolling the settlement into that plan, yes.

Q Was the Committee or its professionals ever asked to approve the $16.5 million payment to have the settlement rolled into the plan?

A No. We weren't involved in those discussions. I mean we -- I'm sorry, restate your question. I was thinking of something else.

Q Yeah. Was the Committee or its professionals ever asked to approve the $16.5 million payment to have the settlement incorporated into the plan?

A No, we weren't. We weren't involved in those negotiations. We don't -- we weren't involved in how they arranged -- arrived at those numbers.

Q Was the Committee or its professionals ever asked to approve fee cap that got put into the plan?

A Yeah. The original bondholder sale plan filed originally had a Section 2.2 that provided for the payment of all allowed administrative expense claims including allowed professional fees with no cap.

When the -- when the amended bondholder plan was being filed that incorporated the settlement, there was a modification to Section 2.2 which imposed a $1.5-million fee cap for estate professionals incurred on or after December 1st, 2022 through the effective date. That --

Q But you weren't part of the negotiations to include that?

A No. We -- we were not. We were -- we were informed of that -- of the discussion of a fee cap before the plan was filed.

I think Mr. Walker copied me on a string of emails where they were negotiating the deal to roll the settlement into the end of the bondholders' plan. But we -- we were never part of those negotiations, nor did we consent to any terms of the -- of those -- of that deal.

Q Are you aware of the debtor or Polsinelli participating in those discussions?

A My understanding is they were not materially involved in any of those discussions.

Q Mr. McCartin, has the Committee agreed to a fee cap in this case?

A We -- immediately upon learning of a discussion of a fee cap even before the plan was filed, the current proposed plan was filed on December 6th, we informed the parties that the Committee had not and would not agree to a fee cap and, in fact, provided that communication to at least the debtors before the plan was filed I think on December 1st. So we knew.

Again, the discussions were going on over Thanksgiving. By December 1st, we'd heard about it. We'd been copied on the emails, and we provided in writing notice that we didn't agree to that fee cap.

Q Can you turn with me to Committee's Exhibit 3?

A Yes.

Q Is this the email you're referring to?

A It is, where I was being asked for a fee estimate for the new DIP budget, and I mentioned that's the period that we knew Lifespace and the bondholders to talk about a fee cap and that we didn't agree to a fee cap.

Q And this is before the bondholder sale plan got filed. Correct?

A Right. The plan didn't get filed until the 6th.

Q All right. Did it end there?

A It is. Section 2.2 does have a fee cap.

Q Oh, I'm sorry. Did it end there? So what happened next?

A Oh, well, the bondholder amended plan, joint plan with the debtors was filed on December 6th.

Q And is that the -- this email that you sent on December 1st, is that the last time you voiced your opposition to the fee cap?

A No. After the plan was filed and it included the fee cap, I notified -- I communicated to the parties numerous times that we did not agree to a fee cap and, in fact, sent many emails reiterating that we didn't want any confusion. We did not consent to the fee cap.

Q Can you turn with me to Committee's Exhibit 5?

A Yeah. Exhibit 5 is part of -- is really part of a email string that goes along with what's the email behind Exhibit 6. But, again, now we're -- you know, now we're in early January, and I'm once again informing the parties that we object to the cap.

Q Did it continue?

A We --

Q Did your discussion on this topic continue?

A We had some -- I had some email correspondence with one of the plan proponents, Mr. Johnson, for the debtors, in which I reiterated again in January that we didn't agree to a fee cap. He responded that he -- it was his understanding that we had agreed. I responded I didn't know -- "I don't know why you think that. For the record, let's clear it up. I never have, and haven't. The Committee nor its professionals were agreeing they're consenting to a fee cap."

We then -- we filed very early on well before the deadline for objections to the plan, we wanted to get on a more formal record that we did not agree to the fee cap. So we filed a limited objection to the plan I guess on January 11th just to get on the record and let all the parties know that we weren't consenting to that. We read 1129(a)(9) as requiring allowed professional fees, administrative expenses to be paid unless the parties consent. And we wanted to be absolutely on record that we were not consenting.

Q Is that the only thing the Committee filed to voice its objection?

A Well, we also filed an objection to the DIP, the extended DIP loan, because it seemed to be starting to implement that cap in the budget team. So we filed an objection to it, also, and in that objection pointed out that we weren't agreeing to a cap.

Q Can you turn with me to Committee's Exhibit 10?

A Yes.

Q And is this the last exchange you had on this topic?

A Certainly an email. I don't know if it was the last. We had been talking about it every day for a few weeks now.

But, yeah, on February 16th, the attorney -- one of the attorneys for the bondholders asked -- we were providing some input into the amended plan language. And we didn't mark up Section 2.2, and he was responding does this mean you no longer object to the fee cap. And I responded, no, I just thought marking it up would be a waste of time because I understood they weren't changing it.

Q Mr. McCartin, did the Committee sent a solicitation letter to the creditors in this case in support of a Chapter 11 plan?

A We did.

Q And so I'm confused. Help me understand how you can send a letter recommending support of the plan, yet you object to a provision of it. How do those two -- how do you reconcile those two?

A Yeah. I mean we clearly support the settlement agreement incorporated into the plan. And we clearly support the sale to Bay 9. What we didn't support was what we thought was an improper attempt by plan proponents to modify the requirements of the Bankruptcy Code for confirmation of a plan.

We didn't want to get into that kind of detail with our solicitation letter. This has been a very complex, very confusing, high-anxiety case for the residents. And we wanted to -- and quite honestly, the plan and disclosure statement we think are difficult to understand. For a layman, it's hard to parse through and understand what's going on.

So we really wanted to provide a solicitation letter that, A, provided a simple general summary of the plan provisions that we thought would communicate important information to the residents, and we didn't want to jump that up with a bunch of legal arguments, if you would. So we elected to send the solicitation letter urging our constituents to vote for the plan and we would just rely on our -- our limited objection and 1129(a) requirements to hopefully fix 2.2.

Q And just to be clear, you are not asking the Court to allow your fees today. Are you?

A No. No. We're only asking that 1129(a)(9) be complied with.

Q And, finally, turning back to the settlement, does the Committee believe the Lifespace settlement is fair and equitable, reasonable, and in the best interest of creditors?

A We do.

Q Is this true even with the possibility that Lifespace could defer payments to the trust?

A Yeah. I mean that's a good point, and we've heard some arguments about that.

The settlement agreement is effective -- the settlement agreement is subject to and conditioned upon the plan becoming effective, being confirmed and becoming effective. It is not subject to and conditioned upon the $52.5 million effective date payment being made to the residents' trust.

The plan -- the settlement can become effective with confirmation of the plan and the effective date of the plan. And if Lifespace defaults on the effective date payment or any payment thereafter, the resident trust has under the plan the authority to enforce the settlement terms and would have a lawsuit against Lifespace.

Q Why would you not require that effective date payment to be a condition to the effectiveness of the settlement?

A Well, we currently have -- before the settlement, we have a highly-disputed claim against Lifespace. The estate owns a highly-disputed, unliquidated claim against the estate that if not settled would be subject to heated defense, expensive defense, and it would take quite a bit of time to work its way through the Court to liquidate liability, to take it from a disputed unliquidated claim and establish liability.

This settlement agreement does that. We have now taken the estate causes of action and what could be dozens if not a hundred resident claims against Lifespace and we've compromised and settled those. We've provided releases in exchange for what we think is very valuable consideration, and that would be Lifespace's agreement to affix liability of the $145 million to the trust. That has huge value to us.

We still have collectibility issues, and we certainly understand that there could be defaults, there could be deferrals of payment. But we think that we -- we want the settlement agreement effective because we accomplish quite a bit in the settlement agreement and we -- you know, it's not a condition precedent to the effectiveness of the releases or the settlement that that first payment be made.

Q And ultimately, Mr. McCartin, considering your prior testimony on the history of the case, all of the alternatives available to the Committee and to the creditors in this case, do you believe this settlement represents the best return to creditors in this case?

A Yeah. And I think that couldn't be clearer from, quite honestly, the debtors -- the Committee filed a joint plan, proposed a joint plan along with the debtors, what we call the Lifespace-sponsored plan in which we agreed to be the proponent of a plan that provided to settle the Lifespace claims in exchange for significant Lifespace financial contributions to the reorganized debtor which would allow the reorganized debtor to pay a dividend of 40 cents to residents, 20 percent in cash on the effective date, 20 percent in five years.

That 20 percent in five years had some risk, of course. That's five years off. When it -- when that plan didn't work, we failed upward, if you will. When we left that plan and we then went into negotiations, we went from 40 cents to 100 cents. Now we went 100 cents over 18 years is not a shorter period of time, but a substantially better result we believe for the residents which I would like to say was due to the -- you know, the Committee's, you know, lawyers.

But it had a lot to do with Lifespace made we think a business decision to step up and had -- I take Mr. Jantzen at his word that he wanted to honor the refund obligations to residents. But we think it's also -- it wasn't altruistic. I think we thought it was in Lifespace's best interest, also.

They run a lot of other CCRCs. They have a lot of other refundable entrance fee models. And it would not, in our opinion, have been good for business if there was a lot of litigation and negative publicity about Edgemere residents getting stiffed for their entrance fees.

So it really those -- all those factors came together that provided us with what we believe will be 100 percent recovery of entrance fee refunds.

MR. SCANNELL: Your Honor, I reserve the right for any redirect that may be necessary, but I'll pass the witness at this time.

THE COURT: Thank you very much, Mr. Scannell.

MR. SCANNELL: Thank you, Judge.

THE COURT: Is there cross-examination?

Mr. Blythe.

MR. BLYTHE: Good afternoon, Your Honor.

Eric Blythe on behalf of the bond trustee.

CROSS-EXAMINATION

BY MR. BLYTHE:

Q Good afternoon, Mr. McCartin. How are you?

A Not yet afternoon.

(Laughter)

BY MR. BLYTHE:

Q So this keeps on getting me because --

A Eastern Time.

Q -- my computer still says 12:30, so you know, good morning.

I want to take you back to November of 2022 which is I think about 30 years in this case. Two competing plans at that time, correct?

A Correct.

Q There is the bond trustee's sale plan, and then there is the UCC debtor Lifespace plan. Correct?

A Correct.

Q And you said a moment ago that under the UCC debtor Lifespace plan that residents were going to receive about 20 percent of their refund claim on the effective date and then 20 percent in five years. Correct?

A I think, yeah, that's my memory of that provision.

Q And Lifespace ultimately determined that that plan would not work. Correct?

A Yes.

Q Now you also mentioned that during that time, you were having negotiations with Lifespace about otherwise resolving the resident refund claims. Correct?

A Well, they were -- we had our plan, our joint plan, which I call the Lifespace sponsored plan. It's when Lifespace came to us and said they had obtained the results of a market study and they had serious concerns about whether the market would accept their modified entrance fee non-refundable model that allowed that plan to -- to work, that the market wouldn't be open to that, it may not work in the marketplace and said -- so that plan's not going to work but don't leave the table, let's talk about a settlement, nevertheless.

So they were kind of sequential.

Q Uh-huh.

A Not at the same time.

Q And you did ultimately reach a settlement outside of the confines of the UCC debtor Lifespace plan?

A Right.

Q Correct?

A Right.

Q And the bond trustee wasn't involved in the negotiations of that settlement, correct?

A No, sir.

Q And I think you testified that Lifespace determined it needed a release to implement that settlement, correct?

A Yes.

Q And I also think you testified that Lifespace thought the best way to accomplish that was to roll the settlement into the bond trustee's plan?

A That's my understanding.

Q So on November 25th, you may recall, the day after Thanksgiving, we had a joint call between the Committee, the debtors, Lifespace, and the bond trustee. Do you remember that call?

A I don't. You can refresh my memory. I mean we had a lot of calls, but --
Q That was the global call or the call where we discussed the global resolution whereby Lifespace would, as we just testified, roll the settlement into the bond trustee's plan?
A I don't recall the call. I'm not saying we didn't have it, but I'm sorry.
Q Do you recall an email from Mr. Walker, Lifespace's counsel, around the time of Thanksgiving that summarized the global resolution that would ultimately be incorporated into the plan?
A I do. It's -- I don't think that's the correct description the way I read the email. It was an email chain that he had -- apparently there had been -- the day before Thanksgiving, I think, the email chain started.

And I -- the way I read the email chain was a summary of the proposed deal. When I say deal, the proposed agreement to allow Lifespace to roll this settlement into your plan, the bondholder plan. My memory was it started with what -- an email from you summarizing what the bondholders would be willing to do.

And that email, if my memory is correct, proposed that the bondholders would agree that the estate would be responsible for the first million-five of these professional claims we're talking about and that Lifespace would be on the hook for the next million-five of professional claims after December 1st. Then I remember that Mr. Walker responded to that with an email that said this is what Lifespace would agree to do, that for the first time I was copied on. So that's how I got the thread.

And in that email, the way I read it was thank you for your offer, but here's what we'd be willing to do. And then that email said cap the fees at a million-five, but it had -- did not have Lifespace agreeing to pay the next million-five. So as I read it, it didn't appear that you guys came to an agreement on how to treat this issue.

And so the next thing I saw was that plan that got filed only provided for a cap of a million-five paid by the estate but not a second million-five being picked up by Lifespace.

Q So you just referenced two emails, one from me and then one from Mr. Walker. Do you remember having a call in between those two emails?

A I don't. I'm sorry. I refreshed my memory before these hearings. I thought your email started the day before Thanksgiving on the 24th, and Mr. Walker's email that he copied me on was the day after Thanksgiving on the 26th. But I actually had to ask him to send me that email to refresh my memory, because I couldn't remember it.

Q Do you recall that that email began with: "To follow up on the call earlier today"?

A I do recall that.
Q So one would presume that there was a call before Mr. Walker's email of that day on November 6th (sic)?
A Yeah. But I just don't know if I was on it. But you -- you're saying I was. I don't -- I just don't recall it. I'm sorry.
Q Okay. Do you believe any member of the committee representing the committee was on that call?
A If I wasn't, I can't imagine who would have been.
Q So you don't recall today whether you were on any global call between Lifespace, the bond trustee, the debtors discussing the initial global resolution to roll the Lifespace settlement into the bondholder plan?
A Yeah. As I said, I may have been on one or more or -- calls. I just don't recall this call you're talking about.
Q But you were copied on the November 26th email that detailed the global resolution from Mr. Walker?
A I was.
Q And that email explained that the Lifespace UCC resident settlement would be incorporated into this -- into the plan?
A Yeah. They were the terms that you guys were negotiating with -- I always viewed it as the cost of the entry into your plan. Because you guys had your sale plan, and you were farther along.

Q And it included the $16.5 million Lifespace contribution?
A It did.
Q It included the $1.5 million cap on estate professional fees?
A It did.
Q And you were copied on that email?
A Yes.
Q Now, you mentioned on direct that you notified the debtor that you objected to the fee cap in writing?
A Yes.
Q Prior to the filing of the first amended plan, did you ever object to the bond trustee with regard to the fee cap?
A You know, I went back and looked at that December 1st email. Well, let me start with a lot was going on over Thanksgiving with regard to our joint plan failing. Not failing. Being withdrawn, pivoting into a direct conversation to settle with Lifespace which was, you know, pretty difficult negotiation over that Thanksgiving holiday or up to that Thanksgiving holiday.

So I can't remember all the conversations we had. As I said in one of my emails to Mr. Johnson, as I've expressed numerous times, we're not agreeing to this, I think I expressed every time someone talked to me about it. I don't recall the bondholders -- any of you guys consulting me with regard to this term. I think it was just something you and Lifespace talked about and stuck in your term sheets, and I wasn't advised nor consulted about it.

Q So you don't recall objecting to the bond trustee to the inclusion of the fee cap in the first amended plan?

A You know, I can't remember ever -- I can't say, yeah, on December 2nd I called you and said heck no, heck no, I'm not doing it. I just remember -- well, I don't remember. I went back and looked at my emails, and I see that the first time I provided my objection in writing was December 1st. And I think that looked like it was only to Mr. Johnson and Ms. Green -- Attorney Green. It didn't look like you were on that particular email.

Q And between November 25th and December 6th, the parties worked on amending the first -- the bondholder plan that was on file to incorporate the global resolution, correct?

A Sure. It got amended, so I'm sure that -- I don't know what you mean by the parties. I was -- yeah, I wasn't really -- you guys really weren't consulting me on your plan.

Q So the first amended plan and disclosure statement were filed on December 6th?

A Yes.

Q And the committee is a plan supporter under that plan, correct?

A I don't know what that means. You guys listed it as a plan supporter. We didn't object to that, because we do recommend and support the plan.

Q But plan supporter is a defined term in the first amended plan, correct?
A Well, you said it was Lifespace and the committee. But, yeah, we didn't -- we don't dispute that we supported it. No one --
Q You are listed as a --
A No one called us and said may we list you as a plan supporter. It just appeared, and we didn't object to it.
Q You reviewed drafts of the first amended plan before it was filed, correct?
A I'm sure I did, but I don't recall. But I'm sure I did.
Q And those first amended plan drafts included the committee listed as a plan supporter, correct?
A Yeah. Yes.
Q And you did not strike --
A Did not. And never raised any issue with regard to it.
Q And the drafts of the first amended plan that you saw also included the Lifespace UCC settlement, correct?
A It did. Yeah.
Q And that was really important to you to make sure that was accurately portrayed in the first amended plan, correct?
A It was accurately portrayed, because you guys were saying you were imposing it. But we never agreed to it.
Q To be clear, the Lifespace UCC resident refund settlement, that portion of the plan, it was important that was accurate in the first amended plan, correct?

A Yes. Yes. That's a better way of saying it. We were providing, I'm sure, input with regard to making sure that settlement agreement was incorporated and the language was correct.

Q Right. It was pivotal to the UCC resolution ultimately that it be accurately described in the first amended plan?

A I don't know what you mean by pivotal and accurate, but sure. We wanted it to be accurately described in your plan.

Q So you reviewed it carefully, I assume?

A I think so.

Q And also in the draft first amended plans, there was the $16-and-a-half million Lifespace settlement contribution?

A I think so.

Q And Section 2.2, I think you referenced earlier, the fee cap provision, was in the first -- the draft first amended plan that you received, correct?

A I would assume so.

Q And you didn't make any comments to Section 2.2 prior to its being filed?

A Again, I objected to it to the parties.

Q When you say parties, you don't mean the bond trustee, though?

A The debtors were plan proponents. I was really -- I mean,

I understand the argument being you guys must have consented by not marking it out. I didn't feel that would be productive, because, A, I had no conversations with the bondholder's counsel about this. You guys never called nor asked me if that would be a deal we would agree to. And as soon as I heard about it, I objected to one of the plan proponents through Mr. Johnson, who I talked to a lot more often during that period of time than I talked to you guys.

Q You didn't think it would be productive to raise the objection to Section 2.2 of the plan prior to being filed with the Court?

A I raised an objection.

Q But not to the bond trustee?

A You weren't on my -- I don't know that I didn't. I assume I kind of did whenever we talked, but I don't -- I can't testify under oath we had a conversation on December 2nd and I told you heck no, heck no. What I can remember from going back, looking at my emails, that I put it in writing to one of the plan proponents on December 1st.

Q Okay. But you did not comment on Section 2.2 in the first amended plan prior to it being filed?

A I think that's right. I mean, I --

Q Okay.

A I mean, at one point in time, as recently as early February when I think you were working on your fourth amended plan, I provided you with comments, and you, Mr. Blythe, responded to me, in essence, you didn't mark up 2.2, does that mean you're agreeing to it? And my response was, no, why would I mark it up when I know you're not changing it. That was my thought.

Q This was at the fourth amended plan stage?

A Uh-huh. I'm sure that led -- that was my thinking throughout, that you guys were standing firm on the million-five. And, in fact, you were telling us, I think, if your -- if you go over a million-five, call Lifespace. Because you -- I was informed that it was the bondholder's position that Lifespace agreed to pay fees in excess of a million-five up to an additional million-five.

I asked Lifespace about that. They said it was proposed and rejected, and we never agreed. And the bondholder's counsel informed me we think they did agree; they just changed their mind. But that was never in 2.2. That didn't get into the first draft.

MR. BLYTHE: Thank you, Mr. McCartin.

No further questions, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Thank you, Mr. Blythe.

Mr. Walker?

MR. WALKER: Thank you, Your Honor.

CROSS-EXAMINATION

BY MR. WALKER:

Q Good morning, Mr. McCartin.
A Good morning.
Q In negotiating the settlement agreement that is before the Court on confirmation in connection with the plan this week, Lifespace volunteered to contribute funds sufficient to pay entrance fee refunds for Edgemere residents in full, provide life care benefits for those residents through a subsidy, and even pay the administrative costs of administering that settlement, correct?
A Correct. But that statement made it sound like Lifespace agreed to make contributions in an amount equal to the refund claims plus money for the life care subsidy, and that's not completely accurate. It's -- I would say it a different way. Lifespace agreed to make contributions in an amount equal to the allowed refund claims plus expenses, and part of the negotiation was we would use those funds to advance life care subsidy payments.
Q Thank you for that clarification. But it was important to Lifespace that there be a mechanism in the settlement agreement to allow residents to use their entrance fee refund claims to help subsidize the life care benefits as they continued their residency at Edgemere as part of the settlement, correct?
A Correct.
Q And you understand that Lifespace wanted the settlement to mirror as closely as possible the existing residency agreements that those residents had, correct?

A I think that's right. I use the word "resemble," because I don't want to misrepresent that it's even close to mirroring, because I don't -- I'm not fully familiar with the life care benefits under the contracts that currently exist. I think I understand them generally.
Q Sure. And my question was Lifespace wanted the settlement to mirror as closely as possible the existing residency agreements, which I think is synonymous with your testimony to resemble as much as possible the --
A Yeah.
Q -- residency agreements.
A Correct.
Q And that's because the residents have to sign new agreements in connection with this plan with the new owner of the community should the plan be confirmed and the sale closed, correct?
A I don't see how those are linked. I don't understand that.
Q Well, the plan could not assume the residency -- the existing residency agreements as is in connection with the sale, right?
A Right. But Bay 9 has made it clear, and we've agreed in the settlement agreement, that Bay 9 is not a part of this transaction. And if the Resident Trust wants to reimburse a resident for a cost, it has to do that directly. And Bay 9 can't be in a position where Bay 9 has to collect from the Residents Trust any portion of a resident's bills.

Q Sure. But in connection with the sale, you understand that Edgemere is transitioning from an entrance fee model CCRC to a rental model CCRC, correct?

A Correct.

Q And as a result of that transition, the plan could not just assume the existing residency agreements as is, right, because it's transitioning to a rental community. And so there isn't the entrance fee structure in place to fulfill the obligations under the existing residency agreement, correct?

A Correct.

Q And I think as you testified earlier, Mr. McCartin, Edgemere has to make that transition to a rental model because it can't continue to operate as an entrance fee model CCRC because of the finite term of the land lease that Edgemere is subject to, right?

A Right.

Q And that's the extraordinary problem for Edgemere as a life care community that Mr. Harshfield testified to yesterday, right?

A Correct.

Q For which Lifespace, through the settlement now, is providing an extraordinary solution, right?

A Right.
Q And, Mr. McCartin, you believe that execution of the settlement agreement itself is sufficient consideration for the settlement to be approved and for the releases to be approved under the plan, correct?
A Correct.
Q And that's because the so-called estate causes of action, as I think you described them earlier in your testimony, against Lifespace are disputed and uncertain, to say the least, right?
A Correct.
MR. WALKER: I don't have any further questions, Your Honor. Thank you.
THE COURT: Thank you very much, Mr. Walker.
Ms. Walsh, any -- oh, I'm sorry. We heard from Mr. Blythe. I apologize.
Anything from ICI?
MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes, Your Honor.
THE COURT: Okay. Please.
And, Mr. Williams, you're going to have some questions as well?
MR. WILLIAMS: I was trying to make a comment to my colleague, Mr. Scannell, but --
THE COURT: Oh, okay. Thank you.
MS. Vandesteeg?

MS. VANDESTEEG: One moment, please. Sorry.

THE COURT: No worries.

CROSS-EXAMINATION

BY MS. VANDESTEEG:

Q Good morning, Mr. McCartin.

A Good morning.

Q Made it in just before noon. You just mentioned that Bay 9 was excluded, I think, from the subsidy payments that will come due -- that may come due under the settlement agreement, correct?

A I don't know what you mean by excluded, but Bay 9 specifically had said we, Bay 9, do not want to be in a position to -- being told by a resident I'll pay you X dollars, but you need to go collect the rest from the Residents Trust. Bay 9 wanted it clear that the resident was responsible for the Bay 9 charges under the new residency agreement. And if that resident has a right to be reimbursed any portion of that from the Residents Trust, that's between the resident and the Residents Trust.

Q Was Bay 9 directly involved in the negotiations regarding the settlement contribution agreement?

A No. I think that was a comment that Bay 9 asked -- or had when it reviewed the original settlement agreement, and it -- I think it was a requested modification that rolled into the first amended. That's my memory.

Q You mentioned at some length back in connection with prior iterations of plans throughout this process -- did the UCC have meetings with bondholders in connection with prior iterations of plans or the plan that is currently here set for confirmation?

A We certainly had meetings with counsel for the bondholders with -- when we -- as I testified, once exclusivity was terminated, and we -- the committee wanted to pursue discussions with both the bondholders as well as Lifespace with regard to new plans, competing plans to the debtor's then existing plan, we -- you know, we -- we being counsel for the committee -- would have met and talked with counsel for the bondholders. And at one point, the bondholders and a representative from Bay 9 and, I think, a representative from Long Hill came and met with committee members at Edgemere.

Q Do you remember when that meeting took place?

A It had to have been between exclusivity being terminated and the bondholder sale plan being filed. So it's probably early November if I had to guess.

Q You mentioned a committee plan solicitation letter.

MS. VANDESTEEG: I'm going to ask that we put up on the screen Docket 904.

BY MS. VANDESTEEG:

Q This is the filing of a notice of committee plan solicitation letter. And if we flip through to the exhibit, is this the committee plan solicitation letter that you were referencing?

A Yes.

Q And --

A I mean, I'm assuming what we filed with the Court didn't change in any material respect what's actually included in the package that went out, but I'm sure it's very similar if not identical.

Q And this was filed on December 13, 2022, right?

A Yes, ma'am.

Q Let's go forward to page 2 of the solicitation letter. And this committee plan solicitation included reference to the settlement as part of the reason behind why the committee was encouraging creditors to vote for the third amended plan, correct?

A Correct.

Q So looking at the subheading for Residents Trust and Lifespace settlement.

A Okay.

Q And specifically looking at that second bullet point: "In exchange for the releases of claims, Lifespace has agreed to pay to a Residents Trust created under the plan for the benefit of residents an aggregate amount equal to the residents' claims payable in annual payments over 18 years as reflected on Exhibit 1."

Did I read that correctly?
A Yes.
Q Again, that's referencing an agreement to pay, correct?
A Correct.
Q And the third amended plan, that was the one -- as we got confirmation from KCC yesterday, was the one that was solicited and voted on, right?
A Yes.
Q The third amended plan contained certain definitions. Do you recall that as part of those definitions, Section 1.9 provides that: "Lifespace resident contributions means the annual payments that will be made by Lifespace into the Residents Trust subject to certain financial conditions pursuant to the terms of the Lifespace settlement and contribution agreement in substantially the form attached to the disclosure statement as Exhibit 3."
That was the original agreement, right?
A Sounds like it. I mean, I think I followed you.
Q And referenced a Lifespace resident contribution scheduled attached to the disclosure statement as Exhibit 4. Do you remember that contribution statement -- the schedule was originally Exhibit 4 to the disclosure statement?
A I recall it was an exhibit. I don't remember the number.
Q And it went on to say, "The Lifespace resident contribution schedule attached to the disclosure statement as Exhibit 4 provides that the $52,460,094 is the 'effective date payment' to be made by Lifespace to the Residents Trust."

And to your knowledge, did that -- Exhibit 4 to the disclosure statement, is that the same as what is now Debtor's Exhibit 30? Did that change when it was attached to the amended settlement contribution agreement?

A Yes. The footnote. There was a footnote added to take the three -- the three people we inadvertently omitted. I think that's what changed.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Okay. Can we pull up, please, Debtor's Exhibit 30?

BY MS. VANDESTEEG:

Q Do you recognize this to be the contribution schedule attached to the amended settlement agreement?

A Yes.

Q And I'm looking up at that top line here in this chart. It still states on that top line "Effective date payment," correct?

A Correct.

Q So confirming your testimony from earlier, the plan releases are all effective on the effective date, correct?

A Correct.

Q Including the Lifespace release?

A Correct.

Q Correct?

A Yes.
Q Even if Lifespace does not make the effective date payment on the effective date, correct?
A Correct.
Q And I think what you said is that residents will be left with a breach of contract action against Lifespace, correct?
A No. The Residents Trust will be left with it.
Q Thank you. Do you residents, to your knowledge in your role as committee counsel, understand that privity of contract and a cause of action against Lifespace is not a guaranteed payment?

MR. SCANNELL: Objection. Foundation. She's asking him what he knows -- what the residents know. He's counsel for the committee not the residents themselves, not the individual residents' knowledge.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Let me come at it a different way.

BY MS. VANDESTEEG:

Q There are several current residents on your committee, correct?
A Yes.
Q Those current residents, to your knowledge, are they aware and do they understand that a privity of contract and a cause of action against Lifespace is not the same as guaranteed payment?
A Yes.

Q Do you know, based upon your conversations with those residents, if the residents at the Edgemere collectively have that same understanding?

A All 350 of them? No, we don't know that.

THE COURT: Pull closer to the mic, Mr. McCartin.

THE WITNESS: Oh, I'm sorry.

THE COURT: Thank you.

BY MS. VANDESTEEG:

Q You had previously mentioned in your testimony contingency planning with the landlord, correct?

A Correct.

Q And do you understand that to mean planning for the possibility that the debtors, or now the plan sponsors, might not be able to confirm what we have previously in this courtroom referred to as a capital P, Plan, such that possession of the property along -- of the people living there would revert to the landlord? Is that the contingency planning that we were referencing -- that you were referencing earlier?

A Yes. I mean, any number of circumstances which, I guess, worst-case scenario could have occurred. But, yeah, it was contingency planning for any set of circumstances in which the Court felt it necessary to lift the stay and allow the landlord to terminate the lease.

Q And last summer, you asked that the landlord engage in that contingency planning with you, right?

A Right.
Q And is it your recollection that the landlord was amenable to that but was concerned about further potential exposure to attack if it engaged in that planning with the committee at that time?
A Yes.
Q And the landlord urged you to get authorization from the debtors and the bondholders to allow for the landlord to engage in that contingency planning, correct?
A Correct.
Q You weren't able to get that authorization right away, correct?
A Not right away.
Q And, in fact, on September 22, 2022, you filed an emergency motion for an order, one, authorizing the committee to engage in plan formulation and contingency planning negotiations with the landlord and related parties and, two, holding such parties harmless pursuant to Sections 105(a) and 1103(c)(3) of the Bankruptcy Code at Docket 365. Do you recall that?
A Yes.
Q And an order was entered on October 5th allowing for that contingency planning to take place between the committee and the landlord, correct?
A Correct.

Q Indeed, you had a meeting with ICI and Kong to commence that contingency planning just the following week after entry of that order, correct?
A Sounds right.
Q And there were subsequent meetings and discussions as well, correct?
A Correct.
Q And you were provided by the landlord team with a list of the information and documentation that would be necessary for them to begin any sort of meaningful contingency planning, correct?
A Correct.
Q You were never able or willing to provide that information, though, correct?
A Correct. Well, both probably true. We felt it was overkill, way too much, way too much to ask the debtor to provide. We thought it was a little intrusive. Well, we though it was quite a bit intrusive, to be honest with you.
Q Who's we that you're referencing?
A The committee.
Q Did Lifespace and the debtor also have a say in not providing that information to the landlord?
A Well, we didn't -- we, the committee, didn't have the information. We were an intermediary. We would have gone to the debtor and asked the debtor to provide that information and to -- we would have been a broker trying to get the debtor to cooperate with the landlord for this Plan B.

And as I said earlier, initially the debtor agreed that a Plan B was a good idea. But as the case kind of evolved, the debtor changed its mind and said we really don't want to pursue a Plan B with you and the landlord, because we think it sends the wrong message.

And by then -- so by then, the committee had come to the opinion that the Plan B development was just not going to work but that there were too many bad feelings, the litigation, the personalities. It just wasn't going to come together.

Q Do you recall at that time that Lifespace promised that if such a transition back to the landlord were to happen that Lifespace would make itself available for a period of three months to provide transition services?

A I remember an offer of transition service. I don't remember the specifics of how many months and how it worked.

Q Do you know if that offer for transition services from Lifespace would still be on the table?

MR. SCANNELL: Your Honor, I'm going to object. I think we're getting into the content of settlement negotiations here. And I'm also a little -- I let this go. I don't know how this relates to the scope of my examination.

THE COURT: Ms. Vandesteeg?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Your Honor, I'm just about done, and

I think it was opened as part of the process of talking about how we got here. I have just a couple questions left.

THE COURT: Okay. I'll overrule the objection since we're nearing the end.

Mr. Scannell?

MR. SCANNELL: Also watch the content on settlement negotiations. I think (indiscernible) --

THE COURT: Oh, okay. I bet that your witness is adept at avoiding confidential --

THE WITNESS: I'll take any help I can get, Your Honor.

THE COURT: -- settlement communications. But you know what?

THE WITNESS: Could you restate that question?

BY MS. VANDESTEEG:

Q Why don't we move on from that one, and I'll go to a different one. Mr. McCartin, isn't it fair to say that the landlord has continued to make itself available to you and to the committee to continue contingency planning throughout this case?

A Yes.

Q And isn't it fair to say that that offer has remained on the table even with this pending sale and process in place?

A Yes.

Q And even as recently as yesterday, Mr. McCartin?

A Yes.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you. Nothing further.

THE COURT: Thank you very much, Ms. Vandesteeg.

MR. SCANNELL: I have a brief redirect unless Your Honor has any questions you'd like --

THE COURT: Just one moment. I just want to make sure that Mr. Williams doesn't have any questions.

MR. WILLIAMS: Your Honor, I had a question for Mr. Scannell.

THE COURT: Okay. Take a moment.

(Counsel confer)

MR. WILLIAMS: Your Honor, it appears I do have two quick questions.

THE COURT: Fair enough.

MR. WILLIAMS: Benton Williams on behalf of the Estate of Patricia Adams, Pamela Siviglia, and Andrew L. Adams.

CROSS-EXAMINATION

BY MR. WILLIAMS:

Q Good afternoon, Mr. Scannell. Excuse me. Mr. McCartin. Two quick questions. First, talking about life care subsidies, how much do you anticipate the life care subsidy payments to be in year one?

A Full 12-month period, we have anticipated a million-two.

Q Earlier when you were testifying, I think you mentioned there's three general categories --

A Yes.
Q -- of those beneficiaries. I may have misheard you, but I thought you mentioned -- or testified that 1.2 is as to that first category which are existing residents currently receiving life care benefits. Is that --
A Yeah. Sorry. I may have misspoken. We've not done a deep dive into this, but we've spoken with management at Edgemere, Mr. Falldine specifically, to try to get a general idea for our projections and planning. And our understanding of what he said was that the current residents are currently receiving approximately a million-two of all life care benefits, including all categories.

I think he said -- for example, indigent is one category. But I think he told us there may be one person that's getting any benefits under the indigent clause. Maybe another application is pending. So not a big -- not a very big number.
Q But as to category two of the current residents, which would be, from what I think I understand, which is current residents who aren't currently receiving life care benefits, but if they move into a more expensive unit after plan confirmation, they can submit a request to the trust for the deficit to be paid, and that will be paid?
A I'm trying to be careful, because --
Q You bet.
A Yeah. Not a more expensive unit. A higher level of care.

Q Okay.
A So they would have to be moving up to a higher level of care. And then they could request the delta if it's more costly, which I submit it would be.
Q Is that -- are those aggregate amounts included in that 1.2 or -- okay.
A Yes.
Q Thank you. Second question. How will reserves be calculated for year one?
A I don't know.
Q Do you have an understanding as to how much reserve could be needed in year one?
A I haven't spent really any time thinking about that. I don't know. I mean, it's the concept that, of course, the trust doesn't want to blow all its money out the door, not have money for either projected life care subsidy payments in the future or the payment of trustee fees and costs and expense. And that will probably change if there's -- for example, some unforeseen litigation pops up. I mean, then the reserves will have to be bigger.
Q Could it be more than, say, $52 million? Excuse me. I don't mean to be -- A I'll go out on that limb. I don't think so.
MR. WILLIAMS: Okay. No further questions. Thank you.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you, Mr. Williams.

Okay. Any further cross before we head back to Mr. Scannell for redirect?

All right. Mr. Scannell?

MR. SCANNELL: Thank you, Judge.

REDIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. SCANNELL:

Q Mr. McCartin, can you turn back with me to Committee's Exhibit 7.

A I have it.

Q So this is an email from you to counsel to the plan sponsors dated January 10th. Is it your understanding that the bondholder plan on file at that time contained the Section 2.2 fee cap?

A Yes.

Q And on January 10th, you voiced your objection to the fee cap, correct?

A Yes

Q And the plan was subsequently amended after January 10th, was it not?

A Yes.

Q In fact, it was amended more than once, correct?

A I'm not sure. I can't remember the dates. It went from -- I mean, there's a fourth amended plan right now. I don't remember the dates that they were all -- that they all -- so it may have been more than once after January 10th. I can't recall.

Q And did those subsequent amendments still contain the same Section 2.2 fee cap?

A Yes.

Q So I want to get the timeline here. So after you voiced your objection on January 10th, the subsequent plan amendment still had the same provision you objected to?

A Yes. And, you know, I was concerned about a argument of some type of implied consent. And that's why in this communication I said to avoid any representation to the Court to the contrary. I wanted -- I was trying to cut off what I believed may be happening today.

Q So get this straight. The plan sponsors had an opportunity to remove the fee cap after you voiced your objection, but they didn't?

A Sure. They had an opportunity not to put it in the first place when I voiced my objection on December 1st, but the -- it got filed December 6th with it.

Q But specifically the bondholders had a chance to remove it after you voiced your objection, but they didn't?

A Yes. Yes.

Q Mr. McCartin, were you ever specifically asked to approve the fee cap?

A No.

Q Did you ever voice your agreement to the fee cap?
A No.
Q And although there were -- there seems to be a lot of discussions about it, was an agreement ever reached on the fee cap from the committee's perspective?
A Not with the committee or Ankura, nor Foley.
MR. SCANNELL: No further questions, Your Honor.
THE COURT: Thank you.
Any other recross based upon redirect?
MR. BLYTHE: No, thank you, Your Honor.
THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much.
All right. Mr. McCartin, you may step down.
THE WITNESS: Thank you.
THE COURT: Thank you so much. Thank you for your testimony.
All righty. One housekeeping matter. Going back to Exhibit 20 and the attachment thereto, 20-A, I failed to clarify. I assume ICI is seeking the admission of Exhibit 20 and Exhibit 20-A?
MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes, Your Honor.
THE COURT: All right. Based upon the fact that it's now the full copy of both the affidavit, which has been updated, and the Fitch Rating, any objection to the admission of 20 and 20-A?
MR. WALKER: One second, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Take your time. And I have a hard copy if it's easier.

MR. WALKER: I would like to see -- I assume I'm not going to have an objection. What was emailed to me this morning was just the new 20-A, so I haven't seen the revised Exhibit 20. I'm sure it's acceptable. I just haven't seen it yet.

THE COURT: Okay. So we --

MR. WALKER: So I'd like to review it before --

THE COURT: We can take that up after lunch. Do you have the ability to access, okay, over lunchtime --

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes, Your Honor. Happy to do that.

THE COURT: Okay. That's fine.

So before we break for the lunch hour, where are we in terms of evidence, you know, prior to closing arguments? Is there any other evidence?

Ms. Walker?

MS. WALKER: Just as a matter of technicality, we did file an amended second amendment to the APA. It was pointed out that there were two tiny little typos that are going to --

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. WALKER: -- get corrected.

THE COURT: All right.

MS. WALKER: We're going to probably do that over lunch. And to fairness to Mr. Gold, he said he might have something else. So I just wanted to confer. I do think Your Honor can take judicial notice of something when we file it on the docket. I just want the record to not have the second amendment.

THE COURT: Fair enough.

MS. WALKER: Thank you.

MR. GOLD: Good afternoon, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Good afternoon, Mr. Gold.

MR. GOLD: I guess I'm the first one who gets to say that. Ivan Gold on behalf of ICI. The second amended asset purchase agreement has already been uploaded and is on the docket. I identified, as Ms. Walker said, there were a couple internal references that were incorrect.

It resolves most but not all of our issues. We will continue to discuss. There's some loose ends with respect to the APA. If not, it'll just be a matter for argument that there's still some loose ends. But in terms -- I think the record -- it is in the record. It wasn't authenticated by anybody. But it is proffered as the agreement just like the plan is proffered.

So we don't have any objection to being considered in the record. But as said, unless we resolve some of the stray issues with the APA and, perhaps even more importantly, its relationship to other plan provisions --

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. GOLD: -- that haven't been corrected to deal with the APA, that'll certainly be part of our argument this afternoon.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you, Mr. Gold.

MR. GOLD: Okay. Thank you.

THE COURT: All righty. In terms of putting a pin in Exhibit 20 and 20-A and the issue with the amended APA, are parties satisfied, you know, from an evidentiary perspective that all of the exhibits they want to get admitted are admitted and things of that nature?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Your Honor, what may make sense on the exhibit front is allowing everyone to take a look at that over lunch, going back through our notes, instead of while we're here in the courtroom. That may end up being more efficient.

THE COURT: Yep. That's fine. And if when we come back we want to, you know, do a double check of what the Court has versus what the parties have, that'd be great. Anything else?

How long do you folks want for lunch?

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: Two hours.

(Laughter)

THE COURT: I always ask, and I'm always sincere.

(Counsel confer)

THE COURT: So let me look back at how much we need for argument.

Ms. Green, do we intend to take up Donosky? Have you had an opportunity to speak with Mr. Hendricks as well?

MS. GREEN: Yes, Your Honor. I spoke with Mr. Hendricks yesterday and again today. And based on the time estimates that we went through yesterday --

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MS. GREEN: -- and then allotting for any questions of the Court, Mr. Hendricks and I are anticipating that the earliest that he should be here is 3:30.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. GREEN: I told him that if it looks like that's going to change for earlier or later, I'll let him know. But if we start at 1:30, that would give us two hours, and I think that works perfectly with Donosky starting at 3:30 by my very rough math.

THE COURT: Right. So I have got -- I've got about, you know, right here under four-and-a-half hours estimated based upon your time estimates. You've never been wrong.

MS. GREEN: But I'm wrong right now?

THE COURT: I just want to let you know.

MS. GREEN: Thanks. I agree with you.

THE COURT: And so I think that, you know, based upon, you know, what I'd say is probably, you know -- or an easy five-and-a-half hours that it will take -- why don't we come back at 1:30 just to be safe. I don't want to impose upon my staff too much into the evening. And I want to give us time for Donosky if we can, because I'd like to close the whole thing if at all possible. So let's return at 1:30, and we'll be ready to go.

MS. GREEN: Thank you.

THE COURT: You're welcome.

THE CLERK: All rise.

(Recess at 12:21 p.m., recommencing at 1:41 p.m.)

COURTROOM DEPUTY: All rise.

THE COURT: Please be seated. All right. We're going to go back on the record in Case Number 22-30659. I think when we broke one of the things that we wanted to make sure that we've -- that everyone has the various exhibits admitted that they want considered for part of confirmation and sale. And I know the, at least the first one that we wanted to touch upon was ICI Exhibit 20 and the attachment 20-A. Have you had an opportunity to review that?

MR. WALKER: I have, Your Honor, and we have no objection to its admission into evidence now.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you. All right. So for sake of the record, ICI Exhibit 20 and 20-A is hereby admitted.

MR. WALKER: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Is there any other evidentiary issues that we need to cover?

(No audible response)

THE COURT: No? Okay. Have the parties had an opportunity to talk about the order of closings?

MR. JOHNSON: Good afternoon, Your Honor, Jeremy Johnson. Your Honor, we understand we got an e-mail from Ms. Lambert from the U.S. Trustee's Office who I believe is on Webex. She has an issue or two I think she'd like to take up at the top.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. JOHNSON: And she just e-mailed us probably 10 minutes ago about that. So we told her that would be fine. But in terms of the order for the closings, Your Honor, I think we're all agreed on this. This is the order we had proposed, unless Your Honor has something different in mind, is the debtors would start off, Your Honor. We would -- I'm assuming most parties will save a moment for rebuttal the time that we had said we would stick to. So we intend to do that on behalf of the debtors. Bay 9 would go second, the Unsecured Creditors Committee, Lifespace, UMB and then ICI.

THE COURT: Okay. And then we'll do Donosky.

MR. JOHNSON: Donosky would be like a separate, just those two issues at that particular time and I imagine, you know, we can --

THE COURT: And that will be Bay 9, the debtors and --

MR. JOHNSON: Counsel --

THE COURT: -- Mr. Donosky.

MR. JOHNSON: -- Donosky, yes.

THE COURT: Okay. And, Mr. Williams?

MR. WILLIAMS: Your Honor, if the select former residents may just have one or two minutes if that's okay?

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you. So for sake of the record, the former residents may ask for a small amount of time in closing, as well.

MR. JOHNSON: Yeah, I think we popped them in between UMB and ICI or after ICI, whatever the case may be.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. BLECK: I couldn't resist coming next to you. No, no, no. I just have one small point with respect to the UMB closing. Mr. Blythe is going to handle that little discrete issue relative to the Committee objection on the fee cap and then I'll follow up from there.

THE COURT: Fair enough.

MR. BLECK: Thank you.

THE COURT: Thank you. Okay.

MR. JOHNSON: So I think that order works, Your Honor, and --

THE COURT: Yes.

MR. JOHNSON: -- again, we'd, Ms. Lambert I think has a few comments.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you, very much, Mr. Johnson, I appreciate that. All right. Ms. Lambert?

MS. LAMBERT: May it please the Court, Lisa Lambert for the United States Trustee. Subject to the arguments that the Court's going to hear today, United States Trustee had two comments in regard to the proposed order and one the Court needs to make the call on. The first is that the proposed trust for the benefit of the residents does not contain the name of the trustee and the U.S. Trustee had asked that the name be included either on the confirmation order or in the filed version (indiscernible) who they should contact.

The second item is in connection with the releases, I think the Court's probably noticed that the proposed confirmation order has the Highland Capital gatekeeping language in it, but it provides the release to the debtor. And separately we had agreed to change the language because this is a liquidating debtor that the debtor would not receive a discharge. And so United States Trustee contends that the language correspondingly should be changed for the debtor in the language in the confirmation order. And those are the two points that the United States Trustee wanted to raise for the Court's consideration.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you, Ms. Lambert. So that I understand, it is the UST's position that the debtor should receive neither a discharge nor release?

MS. LAMBERT: Yes, Your Honor. The release is substantively similar to a discharge and for that reason they don't really need it. It's liquidating anyway --

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. LAMBERT: -- they're fully liquidating. So for that reason, the United States Trustee asks that that language be changed.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you, very much, Ms. Lambert. Okay. With that, Mr. Johnson?

MR. JOHNSON: Sorry, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Take your time.

MR. JOHNSON: Well, I guess, Your Honor, let's start by taking those two points up top. I think I would say this. I mean, at least one is a complete surprise regarding the trustee. The original plan did contemplate the appointment of the Residence Trust Trustee and the Litigation Trust Trustee by the confirmation order or by the confirmation hearing. It was changed to being 10 days prior to the effective date under the proposed plan.

I think that we just talk to the parties here. I think that I was advised that the Committee is ready to name the Residents Trust Advisory Board. They would probably need two weeks to name somebody. We could file a notice of that and same for the Litigation Trustee, Your Honor. Those various trusts are being managed by other parties, not the debtor. So we're sort of here as a messenger on that, but we didn't get a formal objection as to this until a few minutes ago.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

MR. JOHNSON: Second, Your Honor, with respect to the releases, Your Honor, I just -- we don't agree with that position by the United States Trustee. We did remove the discharge language as requested by the Office of the U.S. Trustee. We did include the Highland Capital limitation on exculpation and we did include the Highland Capital gatekeeping language that to be consistent with the latest jurisprudence in this case. We didn't receive an objection with respect to this, Your Honor.

I don't think there was any cross-examination regarding the testimony in support of the releases. I think the releases are fair and appropriate and that you've got the debtor, you've got the debtor's board, you have the debtor's professionals. I think that, you know, trying to expand it into covering all sorts of releases for any sort of discharge is a bit of an overreach, but we're a little bit at a disadvantage here because we didn't recognize that this entire objection was coming, nothing was filed with respect to this.

We did lay out in our brief the basis for the releases and there was no objection filed. With respect to that, I would request, Your Honor, that we, you know, we could address certain of these issues later in the hearing perhaps, but I will say, Your Honor, we didn't know that there -- we thought the releases were good. We thought the releases were reasonable. We worked pretty hard to make them reasonable in this case and make them not overreaching. We spent a lot of time making them opt out releases and getting opt out notices even to parties that don't have claims.

There were a few parties who did opt out, Your Honor. We spent a lot of time trying to comply with Fifth Circuit Law and make the releases as consensual as possible. So I think we've got consensual third party releases here and I think they can be approved.

THE COURT: With respect to the debtor's position that it's essentially the Highland Capital releases and essentially that is the Highland Capital releases as they were addressed by the Bankruptcy Court on remand from the Fifth Circuit?

MR. JOHNSON: That's correct.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. JOHNSON: And we adopted the Christian Care Centers language that was --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. JOHNSON: -- just used recently. And to paraphrase it, it limits exculpation to a very small group of parties. We did have a classic exculpation clause which exculpated an awful lot of people. Now it does the debtor, the debtor board members, the Committee, the Committee members. I think that's the limitation of it. But it's been reduced.

We tracked the language in Christian Care Centers and we reviewed the decisions of Highland Capital, as well. I think it's all, that's sort of becoming the new normal down here as that's what happens when the Fifth Circuit says something. So and then we also had the gatekeeping language in there saying that anybody who wants to bring an exculpation claim has to come back to the Court first and we copied the language from the other, from Christian Care.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

MR. JOHNSON: So, Your Honor, I'll turn to my closing-in-chief, I guess, and we'll save the thank yous and everything for the end. I know we're all going to thank you for the courtesies you've extended us and for us taking advantage of that quite often. We do appreciate that. I'm sure all the parties will echo my thanks for the Court for all that. There's been a lot of work in this case and we recognize that we've kept you and your staff and the court staff around a lot longer than you wanted to be on some Thursday nights or Wednesday nights and we do appreciate that time trying to get this done as quickly as we can.

In my 15 years of working with CCRC bankruptcies, Your Honor, I think you're going to hear something similar from Mr. Bleck because we both did our first CCRC bankruptcy in front of Judge Jernigan here in 2008, the Edgemere presents a new one, a challenging one, one that is unlike any of the other CCRC bankruptcies I've handled over the last several years.

Your typical CCRC problems you have, I mean, there's various problems that can impact the CCRC, but typically you either build up a refund queue, a queue of triggered refunds that you can't pay because you need to use that money for operations and so you'll have situations in other cases where there's this big backlog of refunds that you have to deal with. That's not our situation here. The triggered refunds were by and large all paid with the exception of some higher level of care refunds that tricked along the situation.

The second situation you often see is a balance sheet restructuring, you know, sort of your typical. Even in non-CCRC cases, you've got a CCRC operating more or less at capacity, making the money it should be making, the margins it should be making and it just can't satisfy the debt and so the balance sheet needs to be altered.

This one is a very different situation. As Mr. Harshfield testified, the extraordinary problem here is the lease and the landlord's conduct that is the subject of the adversary proceeding, not the subject of confirmation. The lease is a problem that was inherited by Lifespace a little less than four years ago. I think, Your Honor, that I think the parties had an original expectation that they would either be able to win a judgment with respect to this landlord or obtain some equitable relief or settle in some way that would extend the lease or provide an offer to purchase and none of those things came to fruition either in the pre-petition portion or since the bankruptcy case.

We understand that, Your Honor. The landlord, as was their right to do, refused to agree to a commercial solution and instead embraced the strategy that was, to say the least, aggressive which led to the claims in the adversary proceeding. But we also have here an unusual and somewhat unprecedented outcome. I'm not sure that I've ever seen a case where a sponsor has come in and said we're going to write the check for the full amount of the resident refunds. You don't often see entrance fee communities get converted into rental communities. But, unfortunately, there was little choice.

As Mr. Harshfield testified, given the issues associated with the lease and the particular issues at Edgemere, Edgemere can no longer be run as an entrance fee community anymore. But the conversion was -- created a problem and conversion creates a problem because you have no new entrance fees to satisfy the refund obligations owed to the current residents. So somebody had to solve for that and Lifespace thankfully rushed into that gap.

I think Mr. McCartin testified there was a little bit of falling upwards here and I think that's probably true. We started out with a 100-cent plan that was supported by Lifespace, the bondholders and the debtors. We ended up with two plans that was probably a zero percent plan and a 40 percent plan for the creditors and we ended up back at 100 cents on the dollar, Your Honor.

So it's sort of an interesting evolution to get to this process. Maybe that means the process worked. Maybe it means it doesn't. I'm sure a lot of people are going to take credit for the success in the case, but we did get to a point where Lifespace came in and is writing some checks. Bay 9 came in and is paying a substantial amount of money for the proceeds. So we have a plan that ultimately deals with the distribution of about $200 million in funds to solve the problems at Edgemere and take care of the residents.

The voting results show overwhelming support for the plan, 95 percent plus of the bondholders, 100 percent plus on both resident classes, 97 percent of the general unsecured creditors. We don't have a cram down here, Your Honor. We have universal support, even from the parties that are bearing the financial burdens of the plan of reorganization or plan of liquidation, Your Honor.

And, Your Honor, I think the success of this case, while somewhat improbable at certain points, what's important is that we have protected the Edgemere as a home for the residents, we've protected the refunds owed to the residents which in many cases these refunds represent their life savings. We've maximized the value for secured creditors and done the best with a difficult situation.

On top of all this, Your Honor, I think the ombudsman reports have shown throughout the case is that the quality of care was never impacted by the bankruptcy or the problems. Top tier quality and standard of care was provided to the residents throughout the cases.

The only two parties with rejections at the end of this case are the brokers who would very much like to keep collecting their annuity for helping set up this transaction 25 years ago, that's being handled with a separate closing, and the landlord, who has raised some technical objections to confirmation and adequate assurance which we submit should be overruled.

I'd like to turn now, Your Honor, to the 1129 requirements. I think, Your Honor, most of the evidence we saw at the prior trial to the last two days relates to the adequate assurance issues which I could arguably bleed into some of the feasibility issues. But there are relatively few objections to the plan itself and the confirmation of the plan. And what I propose to do is I'm only going to address the subsections of 1129 that I think are subject to a live objection, either a formal or informal objection, made by ICI.

And then I would submit that with respect to the other 1129 sections, unless you have questions or issues that need to be discussed, I would say that nobody's challenged our compliance with the majority of 1129 sections and the testimony and the brief support confirmation. So I'm not going to go through those unless the Court wants to hear about that sort of thing. And I assume that would be the case.

So, Your Honor, very quickly to summarize the 1129 objections, ICI asserts an objection to 1129(a)(1), specifically related to classification. Your Honor, their argument, to the extent I understand it, it appears to argue that the debtors haven't established the value of the secured lenders' collateral. And, Your Honor, there was some argument of this in the brief.

There was some evidence or some attempted cross-examination, you know, regarding I think primarily two points, number one, that there was some discussion at some point earlier in the case that people were considering taking a position that the collateral may not be worth what the collateral was worth. I would submit with respect to that, Your Honor, those were some litigation theories that were never fully prosecuted and not presented in ICI's objection. I don't see how they're relevant here.

And the second piece of evidence is referring to a risk factor in a prospectus related to the bonds that say that the collateral may have little value. Your Honor, I just don't think that's a sufficient basis to find that these assets have very little value. I do understand it's a risk. Bonds always have significant risk factor sections, just like disclosure statements. But, in this case, the risk factors are somewhat unique because there is a land -- there's a ground lease and there's a lien on that particular ground lease.

So if the ground lease were terminated, which almost happened pre-petition, I think the secured creditors would have a very serious problem with the value of their collateral because I think it all goes out the window upon lease termination. But suffice it to say, Your Honor, I think that this ignores the best evidence of value as we laid out in our brief. We have a party that's willing to pay $48.5 million for the collateral. I think that's the strongest evidence as you can get regarding this.

And I do think, Your Honor, there's some allegations regarding a classification of the claim. Just for explanation, just for purposes to sort of give some context, we did classify the bond claim as the face amount of the bonds as a secured claim, but their recovery under that class is only relates to two things. It relates to, number one, the Lifespace contribution and the net sale proceeds.

We know what the Lifespace contribution is. That's a, you know, a liquidated number. The net sale proceeds is going to be a moving target for a lot of other reasons. So to the extent that that money doesn't come in to class -- to the secured creditor class, that deficiency claim is then shifted into the general unsecured claim. So there's no double counting of the claims at that point. But that's the classification issue.

ICI asserts an objection to 1123(d), namely claiming that the plan doesn't comply with Section 365. Again, Your Honor, I'm basing this on the objection that was originally filed, the supplemental objection and the very short opening at the very beginning of the case. So that's why we're going to be reserving a few minutes at the end if we have a misunderstanding of the arguments. But, Your Honor, it's the debtor's view, the plan proponents' view that the plan does comply with 365.

We think there are three trials that are going to get us to the answer of what is necessary to comply to 365. We think that's appropriate. The property conditions trial we've talked enough about today. And but Bay 9 will discuss it a little further regarding the second amendment of the APA when that time comes. And, Your Honor, we have made continued efforts to resolve the Court's issues as you've heard ad nauseam about rusting and cracks and gutters that we're trying to get fixed.

With respect to pecuniary loss trial, obviously, this is a significant variable given the amounts asserted by ICI's professionals and the Court's ruling is going to have an impact on the distribution of the net sale proceeds when that time comes. Your Honor will also recall the debtors are seeking reimbursement for matters on which the debtors were the prevailing party. That's also part of that calculation, as well, that will need to get addressed at some point. And then there's the adequate assurance trial.

With respect to 1129(a)(9), Your Honor, there's an objection. ICI asserted an inability to pay for cure claims. They didn't really directly cross Mr. Harshfield on this, but his testimony was after payment of the DIP, there would be nearly 33 million in cash to satisfy the administrative claims. Your Honor, the cure claims, the administrative claims and the small amount of priority claims, those are all slightly moving targets.

We're fairly confident and the testimony is that we think the 33 million would be sufficient, but we can't tell. If the pecuniary loss is a $20 million number, then we're going to be entering the danger zone. But that is understandably an issue. We do think there are sufficient proceeds on the admin claims to make distributions to admin creditors.

With respect to feasibility, Your Honor, ICI makes two arguments. To summarize them at a very high level, Bay 9 can't satisfy the lease obligations. That will be addressed by Bay 9 as part of the adequate assurance closing, Your Honor.

And that Lifespace can't fund the settlement obligations. That will be addressed by Lifespace with respect to those obligations. But I would note for the record, Your Honor, that this is a sale plan.

So feasibility is, it's our position, is simply not a confirmation issue in a sale case. In Heritage, which is at 375 B.R. 230, Judge Houser noted that Courts either adopt one of two different views in interpreting feasibility in the context of a sale plan. The narrow reading is that feasibility is inapplicable at all where liquidation is proposed so that feasibility simply isn't an issue. But the broader interpretation is that feasibility is applicable only as to the liquidation itself. So, in other words, if the transaction can close, then it is by definition feasible.

And, Your Honor, I think that the evidence from Bay 9 that was educed by Bay 9 as part of the adequate assurance trial is that the sale proceeds are already funded and there's commitments for the other things, but the sale proceeds themselves are funded. So barring a regulatory problem, it would appear that if the Court's inclined to approve the sale and the plan, there would be no issue as to the closing. So we think feasibility is a minor issue here at best.

And with respect to Lifespace, Your Honor, I think Lifespace's counsel will address this as well, we don't think feasibility applies to Lifespace's contributions under the settlement agreement because the issue with feasibility is will this plan, if confirmed, likely result or potentially result in another Chapter 11. If there's a default under the Lifespace settlement agreement, at some point in the future that will be litigation between the Resident Trust Trustee and the Lifespace at that appropriate time. That document creates the legal rights. So we don't think that feasibility really exists as an issue with respect to that second piece, as well.

Your Honor, there were a few informal objections made by ICI, as well, that we'd like to address very quickly. There have been some issues regarding the 363(m) finding and the 1129(a)(3) findings and what good faith is and how it works. We addressed this a little bit I think yesterday, Your Honor. But I think at the end of the day, you know, there was testimony by Mr. Harshfield who said, look, I have no collusion, no involvement with Bay 9. We have nothing to do with them. We had nothing -- we didn't collude or propose this in some improper fashion.

And, more importantly, Your Honor, I think the record shows that 1129(a)(3) is complied with because you've had multiple plans by multiple parties and I think collusion or inappropriate cooperation has been less of an issue than consensus. I think everybody's been doing their own thing and we finally got to this part. So, Your Honor, I think that I don't see an issue with respect to the plan. The plan's being proposed in good faith.

In terms of solicitation procedures, Your Honor, there was some evidence educed as part of the cross-examinations that there was a change between the fourth amended and the third amended plan. Your Honor, we're happy to go through the elements of the third and fourth amended plan, the redline. It was filed at Document Number 1242. It is the debtor's view and the plan proponents' view that the changes are not material. They're mostly conforming changes to update the facts and update the orders that have been entered subsequent to the original approval of the disclosure statement and plan. It did change the notification regarding the trustee identification, but the only sort of larger change that we do not believe is material, Your Honor, is a modification to the treatment of former residents.

And, Your Honor, we do believe that this modification (a) is an improvement to the former residents. It improves their treatment under the plan and this specifically addressed all the residents that, all the former residents that said, hey, you may never rent our property to somebody else which means our refund may never get paid. And to put it sort of broadly, the changes that the refund trigger is three years after they leave or three years after October 25th if they're already gone.

So that's just at a very high level what the summary is, Your Honor, and that's an improvement. So we think, Your Honor, under 1127(a) and Bankruptcy Rule 3019(a) if, first of all, if the change is disclosed to the creditor it's impacted, the creditor is involved in negotiating the language and the modification is not likely to change the vote, the change is either material or it's appropriate even after solicitation if those factors exist. And that is, Your Honor, Reagor-Dykes Motors, 18 -- I'm not going to use that one, Your Honor. So that cite's too hard for me to say. So In re American Solar King Corp., 90 B.R. 808 (Bankr. W.D. Tex. 1988). And there's multiple authorities in the Ninth Circuit and other circuits for this particular proposition.

THE COURT: I can just call Judge Jones if I need him. I'm good.

MR. JOHNSON: I think you can, Your Honor. And then, Your Honor, there's a solicitation certificate that was submitted and there's a town hall -- and the one last thing I want to discuss, the town hall meeting. We did specifically, and counsel for the Committee can verify this, as well, we -- the Committee members and the residents were champing at the bit to get up and talk about this plan when it was filed when this final plan, the third amended plan was filed.

We specifically maintained, as did the Committee, we said, look, you can't solicit this plan until the Court has approved the disclosure statement. So there was no town hall until we had the hearing before Your Honor where you approved the disclosure statement on the record. Town hall was the next day, Your Honor. And so just to be clear on that, there was no solicitation in advance of approval on that particular issue.

And, Your Honor, the last thing I have is the approval of the Lifespace settlement under 9019. I think Your Honor made a fair -- there was a fairly extensive record made today, more than sufficient to survive, to satisfy, rather, the 9019 standard or the lowest standard of reasonableness for approval of this. Your Honor, the debtors played a role in this, but a sideline role in this particular issue. This is Lifespace's money and how the residents got it. Mr. Harshfield did testify he thought it was a better outcome for the residents than not giving them $143 million. So, Your Honor, we think that that is in the best interest and we think it's a reasonable agreement to approve as part of the deal.

So, Your Honor, I would just say in closing and I would reserve a few minutes at the end if there's some things we need to respond to, but I would say that I'm happy to say that we are protecting the residents' interest in this. This is the closest we've ever gotten to not being able to protect the residents' interests. So I commend all the parties involved at working hard and keeping that as part of the focus this thing and we think that the plan is a great success for Edgemere and for the residents and, frankly, for all parties involved.

So thank you, Your Honor. Unless you have any questions, I'd cede the podium to the next party.

THE COURT: Thank you, Mr. Johnson. I just have one question and it's with respect to your 1127(a) argument of the creditors' involvement and essentially what you've argued is an enhancement or an improvement in treatment. Is it your position that the Creditors Committee's involvement is the involvement of the creditors themselves?

MR. JOHNSON: I would say, Your Honor, the Creditors Committee's involvement, it was also the individual creditors.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. JOHNSON: Mr. Williams has been in front of Your Honor several times --

THE COURT: Yes.

MR. JOHNSON: -- but if you'll recall at the disclosure statement hearing, there were, you know, maybe seven or eight other lawyers.

THE COURT: Mr. Williams, Mr. Sutherland, yes, okay.

MR. JOHNSON: Yeah, Mr. Siegel, all those folks.

THE COURT: Exactly.

MR. JOHNSON: They were all included as part of the resolution with respect to that.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. JOHNSON: So we think under 1127(a) and 3019(a),

Your Honor, we think that that creditor improvement, they've disclosed they had input on the language and we think it, you know, it's unlikely to change their votes. We're giving them what they wanted so that they don't get locked up on accident here for some period of time. So thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Thank you, Mr. Johnson. You always test the bounds of how quickly I can write.

MR. JOHNSON: I'm Iowa born, New York raised, so, Your Honor, I don't understand.

THE COURT: You know, I'm going to challenge that Iowa birth certificate. All right. Ms. Walker?

MS. WALKER: Thank you, Your Honor, Adrienne Walker for Bay 9 Holdings. And, Your Honor, I think we're like the infant in this courtroom as far as this process goes, so I want to thank you for allowing us to participate as much as we have.

And I do have one bit of I think we like to call it housekeeping in this court before I'm going to start my clock and that's just to alert the Court in the fourth amended plan there's Section 4.1.4 that is bracketed. Deals with non-solicitation, an injunction on Lifespace to not solicit the residents or the employees. That is also in the asset purchase agreement as a condition precedent. It will remain in the asset purchase agreement as a condition precedent. It's going to be removed from the plan. We have not reached that agreement.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. WALKER: Similar, there was a couple of footnotes in the plan about requesting Bay 9 to be part of the releasing parties of Lifespace and at this point we didn't -- we're not in agreement of that, so that footnote's going to be removed. So it will just be cleaned up rather than having brackets in a plan.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you, very much.

MS. WALKER: Thank you. And, Your Honor, I do want to echo a bit of what debtor's counsel says and this sale puts the residents first. At the outset of the trial on February 21st, we previewed this exactly to the Court that the sale would be a new day for Edgemere and now two weeks later we're here more than ever ready for that new day to start.

And unlike all the other parties here, when that confirmation order comes in with a sale, that's our day one. So we're just getting at the starting blocks here and we are eager and ready to go forward with the residents. And as Mr. Harshfield testified just yesterday, nearly all the current residents of the Edgemere support the plan and the cornerstone of that plan is a sale of the Edgemere to Bay 9.

Now with all the evidence now before the Court, the overwhelming weight of the record before the Court is that Bay 9, through its manager Long Hill at Edgemere, bring to the table a brighter future for the Edgemere where it's going to operate as a premier senior rental living community in the Dallas area. And make no doubt, a rental community is precisely what ICI said it wanted before this case even started. So the very structure of this sale provides another layer of assurances to ICI.

I should have organized a little bit more before I started.

THE COURT: Take your time.

MS. WALKER: Okay. Thank you. But for the residents, each will enter into a new rental contract at each of the various levels of their living needs from independent living to the residents in the Plaza. And we anticipate that the residents will continue to be surrounded by their valued care team. The APA requires, and as Mr. Lawlor testified, it's our expectation that nearly all of the existing employees will transition to Bay 9 and be offered new positions with Bay 9 and this is to benefit both the employees and the residents and gives all of us assurances that the same trusted team will be meeting the needs of the Edgemere's residents and the current and future residents to come.

So the adequate assurances really has been the cornerstone of our conversations which is the cornerstone of the plan, goes to the experience, the expertise and the financial resources of Bay 9, Fund IV, Lapis Fund IV, and Long Hill, and particularly the principals of each of these entities that we've heard from and their decades of proven success in this highly specialized industry.

Now as to experience, this Court has been well advised and we're going to get into a little bit more, but let me just frame it. I'm not going to go into the briefs. I think both ICI and Bay 9 have laid out the framework of the legal standard for adequate assurance, but just a few because I do think that there is a slight distinction that we want to highlight for the Court.

So a case Your Honor has already touched on in the property conditions bench ruling is the Senior Care Centers case. And in that case before Judge Jernigan, the Court expressly stated that providing adequate assurances does not require a demonstration that the obligations under the lease that we're going to thrive, that we're going to make a profit or we're going to guarantee performance.

We believe all of that, but that's not what adequate assurances require. Instead, the relevant demonstration is whether the obligor can meet its rental and other lease obligations. We understand there's rent. We understand now, everyone understands now there's other obligations under the lease.

And the Court is to engage in a very fact-specific analysis. There is no one size fits all with regard to adequate assurances of future performance. As I said in the opening, it's a more likely than not standard. No party has found a case that has required an escrow or prepayment of rent and contrary to the landlord's reliance in the 2300 Wholesale case, it didn't require it. The parties actually opted into that and the debtor agreed to escrow the sale proceeds and so did the buyer.

So when we're assessing when an assignee is more likely than not, you need to go forward and do a very factual intensive process. Now that's precisely what we did. And unique -- not unique, I don't think, to this case, Bay 9 is a special purpose entity and that's not unique. But in the case law when you have an SPE, many -- which many bankruptcy sales are, the law is clear. You're going to look to the appropriate support behind that SPE.

Here, we have two forms and it's primarily what we presented to the Court. We have Lapis Fund IV and we have Long Hill. When you look to the supporting entities of this structure that we put together, it's crystal clear that Bay 9 is more likely than not going to meet its obligations. And, Your Honor, the case law C.W. Mining, the Service Merchandise Company case, and even the Bigraph (phonetic) case that ICI relies upon recognized the value of looking towards these supporting entities.

So now let's look at them. We're going to look at the experience, the expertise and the financial resources that Bay 9 has brought to this, as well as with Long Hill. Lapis' experience, Ms. Hatch testified that Lapis, through its funds, including Fund IV, has invested in over 50 senior living projects to-date representing over 18,000 living units for approximately $580 million par value. These investments include both projects that offer entrance fees and rental structures. These projects also include ground leases, as well as fee interests. They are across the board in different jurisdictions.

It's not disputed that most of Lapis' experience is as a debt investor. Ms. Hatch testified that they're infrequently passive investors, however. However, Lapis' approach is to develop a deep level of knowledge of their credits in the industry and then they offer highly specialized debt structures to fit what many investors would call underperforming, distressed or special situations.

A significant percentage of Lapis' holdings are municipal and tax exempt bond financing. As Ms. Hatch testified, given the tax attributes of these financing structures, most of the borrowers are non-profits. And these borrowers tend to have a close relationship with their bondholders. Ms. Hatch also testified the majority of these senior living projects they invested in also require capital investment. So Lapis has deep experience in providing the resources to improve a project that can return to a competitive place in the market.

While it's less common for Lapis to take direct ownership, you did hear the testimony that they have. And Ms. Hatch discussed Lapis' successful turnaround of a senior living project outside of Reading, Pennsylvania. And in that project, they built a personal care building and they took advantage of a tax situation when they exited that project.

Long Hill's experience. Bay 9 selected Long Hill particularly because of its experience leading as an independent manager for the Edgemere. And as Mr. Lawlor testified, Long Hill was formed in 1999, but it's owned by the United Methodist Homes which has been around since 1874. It provides services in the senior living industry.

Now Mr. Lawlor testified that Long Hill provides a range of consulting and management services to both strong and struggling senior living communities. Notably, his testimony across the board, including even from ICI's witnesses, that everybody thought Long Hill was reputable and capable. I don't think anyone has impugned the experience or the reputation of Mr. Lawlor and his abilities to run the Edgemere. And he has behind him a team of professionals and have experience in a highly regulated industry.

And, Your Honor, I think I want to pause on this. As you learned from ICI's own principal, Mr. Hannon, the two most important things he looks for when he's considering someone who's coming into a project is whether that new operator has the experience in the industry and has experience in Texas. And he testified to that on February 23rd, Page 90 of the transcript. This is precisely what Long Hill has.

As Mr. Lawlor testified, Long Hill presently operates two projects in Texas, one is an eight-community project called Cardinal Bay in the greater Houston area and that has over 1,000 units, and the other is Stoney Brook closer to the Waco area, taking this depth and decades of experiences you need to apply to the expertise you need at the particular situation.

So applying these, the first steps that Bay 9 did was to produce a business plan. That business plan comes with three elements. The first is we looked to Long Hill and asked Long Hill to build out an operational business plan, the Long Hill model. And that model is going to reintroduce the Edgemere as a rental community.

A large portion of the testimony you heard two weeks ago surrounded the structure of the Long Hill model and I am not at all going to get into any of the minutiae, particularly the confidential assumptions that were discussed. And I just want to remind that those were still confidential and I don't think we want to cut this open session.

Mr. Lawlor testified the model was realistic. He had projections over the next five years of an operational business plan. He applied his extensive evidence. There was extensive evidence regarding how they came at the assumptions. We heard at length about why those assumptions were reasonable and that they are realistic and he has his, based on his experience, are going to be particularly focused on turning around the Edgemere as this new rental product.

So neither Bay 9 or Long Hill are going to stand up and say to you that's a guarantee of performance. I wish we could, but no one can predict the future. And so taking all other considerations to play, the Long Hill model is a reasonable assessment for this business.

And, notably, Mr. Polsky was the rebuttal witness to this model. However, we heard Mr. Polsky has limited experience in senior living situations and while he offered some anecdotal thoughts to the senior living industry, it's crystal clear his evidence and his sensitivity analysis was not based on his opinions of the future trends in the industry. Rather, his sensitivity analysis said if this particular assumption in the Long Hill model is not achieved, then this is the result.

While Mr. Polsky's analysis was mathematically exact, it provides the Court with limited value in challenging the underlying assumptions that the Lawlor team put together when developing the model. But, ultimately, even Mr. Polsky's testimony acknowledged that if everything goes wrong in the Long Hill model as he outlined in his sensitivity analysis, Bay

9 would still have the resources available to meet its projected business needs. And if you look at his sensitivity analysis which you can suggest will everything go wrong? Probably not. But even if it did, we have enough cash and commitments to meet the needs.

Applying this experience, next we have the business plan, next the property conditions. This sale hearing was thankfully not all about the property conditions. However, it still was actually a significant amount of the evidence before the Court and perhaps even more than was at the property conditions hearing. The important factor for this sale and adequate assurance hearing is why did Bay 9 want this information and what did it do with the information once it had it.

You heard from Ms. Hatch that she carefully considered these assessments as one of the tools necessary to understand the physical plant, they do the a fair job, these property condition reports, of highlighting property conditions that may need to be planned in the future for repair or replacement. You heard from Mr. Hull of Terracon, Mr. Winnecke of ARCH and through the deposition testimony of Mr. DeHenau of Plante Moran that the operator or the responsible party in this case should plan for various capital expense needs in the future. And this is exactly what Bay 9 has done.

While Bay 9 would need to do much more in assessing any particular capital campaign, Bay 9's business plan took the property condition and said if ARCH's analysis turns out to be what is needed for the Edgemere, we should plan for it. So Bay 9 folded into their business plan the ARCH projected capital needs of the community at Exhibit 10, Bay 9's Exhibit 10. This is precisely what a prudent owner would do when they're building out a business plan.

So now we have a business plan. How are we going to support it? We need that third element of this, the financial resources. So we have the experience, the expertise, now the financial resources. With a solid business plan, the first step is we need to capitalize Bay 9. First part, as soon as Bay 9 was appointed the stalking horse, there was about approximately $2.5 million that was put into an escrow for the sale. That money had been funded now months ago. Ms. Hatch testified as to that there was a financial commitment letter at the time in December for enough resources to satisfy the purchase price.

We heard at the time of her testimony that another $55 million was cash advanced as a capital commitment completion to Bay 9. So now Bay 9 is sitting on approximately 57 and a half million dollars of cash in a bank account and a deposit. Ms. Hatch also testified that sponsor has provided direct commitments to Bay 9 in the amount of $15 million for CapEx or any working capital shortfalls. Basically, whatever

Bay 9 determines it needs in its business decision and determination, it can ask the sponsor.

You also heard from Ms. Hatch that the sponsor has never failed to meet a commitment to any of its credits. This includes as a DIP lender, this includes as a capital funder for capital projects, working capital. It has never missed its commitment and it would not do so here. It doesn't make good business sense, but it's also not what they have done in their history. So Bay 9's Exhibit 8 is that commitment letter that provides those details to that $15 million.

There was also particularlized $1 million for the rent. So if there's -- and while that 15 could be used for the rent, Bay 9 wanted a particular assurance to say to ICI you also have this. I understand it is not a direct privity. That was intentional. However, it is direct to Bay 9 and Bay 9 has provided those assurances.

So now after the sale closes and the purchase price is paid, Bay 9's balance sheet will still have about $9 million of cash available to fund this business. It will also have $16 million in commitments from its sponsor to satisfy and meet its needs in the future should they come to be. However, with all of that, we still had a trial because ICI, I think, will never be satisfied with Bay 9 because as they outlined ICI thinks the law requires a little bit more.

They want I think in their original request, I don't know if this is still where they are, they wanted $52 million set aside in a reserve that kind of matched the Plante Moran. They wanted a year of rent prepaid or in some other assurances. Yet the evidence is clear that you heard in trial the lease does not require any security deposit or other financial assurances. That was the original deal.

You also heard testimony that when this original deal was put in place in 1999, there was no requirement either for that, for those assurances. They said, Graystone, put up 3 million. And I've run the numbers. I'm sure Your Court can do, too. Three million dollars in 1999 is still far less than $9 million today. And so ICI was fully aware at the time that that was the deal they were cutting. But because you're in bankruptcy doesn't mean you get more. It means you have to get assured that someone's going to meet the needs of your lease.

So what happened at different increments of time before today with the lease? You heard testimony back in 2015 at the expansion project that Edgemere is expanding, taking on significant additional debt. And yet while the lease didn't require it, ICI never asked for anything more either. Didn't say, you know, you're going to be putting in all this debt, I'm not sure where we're going, give me more. No, they didn't ask. Maybe it's because they just accepted that's what the lease said and moved on.

However, in 2019, when Lifespace came in, the lease said this is a change in your member. Gave them, I think the reading of the lease says gave them an opportunity to make that ask, but they didn't. Doesn't mean, you know, it doesn't mean that it would have been granted or not granted, but we don't know. But we do know there was an opportune time for ICI, yet they did nothing. They took it on their face value and -- but, however, now they want to rewrite the lease. That's not what Section 365 is about. The test is about adequate assurances, is the offer enough to meet the needs under the lease more likely than not. So that's the bulk of the adequate assurance.

I do want to touch briefly upon the good faith and the sale requirements, that the sale was negotiated in good faith and at arm's length. Yesterday, for the first time, ICI suggested that they think there may be some facts to suggest bad faith in the sale process. Frankly, these suggestions to Bay 9 are offensive. That's not what the testimony said. That's not what we heard for a week. The uncontroverted testimony of the parties, and I made sure to stand up and ask at every increment, was that this process was incredibly transparent.

The first witness was Ms. Hatch and she talked about the corporate structure right at every level, how Fund IV is a bondholder in this case, how, yes, of course, they track different projects across the board and, yes, of course, they take it to their business to learn as much as they can. That is just prudent business. That is not collusion, that is not bad faith.

And there's nothing in the record to suggest otherwise. Rather, the evidence is plain, Bay 9 is not an insider, Bay 9 has had no other involvement as a debt investor. When they decided to change their hats and to also be a bidder in this process, they were excluded for certain conversations, they were excluded from certain parts of the process. You heard the testimony how access to the debtor room was only permitted once the debtor owns up for everybody else. Doesn't mean and Ms. Hatch testified that yes, she had some information as the bondholder, she had some information from just the public domain as well. But, collusion under the bankruptcy code requires some discussion among bidders to change the sale price to fix it, to get less value. There weren't any other bidders here, that's what Mr. Fields testified to. There was no collusion and there was no bad faith, I expressly asked those questions of Mr. Fields as to his involvement.

So, the negotiations to the sale, yes, of course, because the sale started as the bondholders' sponsored sale plan in early November, the negotiations were only with the bondholder and the bond trustee's counsel at that time. It doesn't mean they weren't robust in arms length because we were all there. I recall how many versions of an asset purchase agreement went to and you heard the testimony about how Ms.

Hatch had specific requests to change the base case or the form asset purchase agreement. Critically, were to put the cures on the seller, the adequate assurances on the buyer. That was critical. There were many other aspects to it, but that was negotiated at the time, back in November and, Ms. Hatch told you the reasons for that. And as well as I said, Bay 9 hired its own independent counsel, they acted independently at all time for the sale and were prudent to do that because they're no stranger to bankruptcy insolvency. These professionals have done this, they know how to do it and they act prudently.

So, then after we finished the first round of negotiations, the plan sponsors get a second bite at the apple because now they've conceded in having a global settlement which is fantastic for the residents, however, that means we just an opportunity to now negotiate directly with the debtors, and they did. Yes, through counsel, both counsels. Both Polsinelli and our firm negotiated probably another felt like ten versions of an asset purchase agreement. I actually think the footer reads like 25 or 26. There were strenuous arms length negotiations on many, many aspects. I think I know much more about IT property interests than I otherwise wanted to. But there's no suggestion in the record that there was anything but good faith, arms length negotiations among the bidders. Mr. Fields own uncontroverted evidence as the broker for the project said that the value offered by Bay 9 and the process that was run was fair, transparent and there was certainly no fixing of the price that would warrant any suggestion that 363(m) or (n) are imprudent in this confirmation order.

Two more points that I have. One, there are no donut holes to this asset purchase agreement. To the extent we had any, we truly do think we took the Court's thoughts and concerns at heart. As we were in the, as I, I speak in the royal way, were in the Uber back to the airport on Friday evening, already planning how we're going to address this. Now, of course, we got lots of lawyers and have talked about the arms length transactions that we have, yes, it took into the evening of Monday to get to a signed asset purchase agreement, however, we think that that is exactly what is necessary for this situation.

I'm not going to get in -- unless Your Honor has questions, I'm not going to get into all the ins and outs of all the asset purchase agreement terms except for to say, the second amendment, we think and the demonstrative tries to outline how it fills any donut hole there might be as to the gap for ICI and that was our sincere intent. But, it was also our sincere intent to not have this argument happen a day after closing. That is critical. What buyer would want to come to this court, pay $50 million to know it's going to get sued? It has watched this story, it does not want that story for itself. It is not fair to the residents of Edgemere to have to have this story continue.

So, we say, it is abundantly prudent and appropriate and worthwhile of an order to have this order say, if you did not see a default and either because they didn't prove it or it didn't exist or for whatever reason, they did not prove a default to that property condition, if the property stays the same, there should be no default. If the property condition changes, that's for a different story and whether or not that rises to a level of default, that will be addressed. Ms. Hatch gave the testimony of how she intends to run the business and those assurances are why we're here today.

So, I think while we might be the infant to this deal, I think it's pretty clear to us what this case is really about at this point because we have tried to come and prove everything we can do, yet it's not enough. And so, I think ICI's goals have been laid bare by this process. The Court has heard testimony from Mr. Hannon how months before the Chapter 11 case even started, they formed a business partnership with Kong Capital to take over the Edgemere. If Kong Capital wanted to bid, would have put up $50 millions and would have bid, but it didn't. What is it doing? We think that this a part of a process, the first proposal by the creditors before the bankruptcy case. Maybe that was altruistic by ICI and Conn to try and work something better out for the community. However, that contingency planning was happening just yesterday with the olive branch that I just said in the last examination of Committee's counsel. That's still going on. And, yes, contingency is important but I think there's a little bit more than contingency going on here. I think they would like to get the community for free and that's, you know, that's their business plan, that's fine, I don't think that this is what is best for the residents and it's certainly not what this bankruptcy plan is about. So, after all the evidence has been put forth in the sale, as to the sale itself, that needs to move forward. Bay 9 would like to just own this community, would like to actually have a wonderful relationship with the landlord for the next 30 years, put this to rest but until that time, to draw a metaphor from the Monster Verse movies that I watched as a child, Godzilla and King Kong are still fighting and I meant that pun intentionally. And I fit in to the ancient documents and I know the hearsay rules and I know who won that movie at the end. So, where do we go from here?

I want to return to a time where I started, to the residents. The residents are fatigued by this process, we heard from the ombudsman this morning. We've heard it from the Committee members and, frankly, even Bay 9 is a little bit fatigued, even if it's the newest member to this party. But Bay 9 is truly enthusiastic to obtain the Court's approval to move forward with the sale, which includes as I said for Bay 9, just getting out of the starting blocks. We have regulatory approvals, Your Honor even noted as 30, 45 days in the future. So, we just want to get started. We need to get started to move forward if we're to get out of this before the DIP ends. We're already working but we can't submit regulatory approvals until we know if we're going to be the successful winner. I don't even think we could if we wanted to. But, we, technically, probably can't.

So, we believe we put on a compelling opportunity for a new day at the Edgemere for its residents. We believe we've submitted ample evidence to provide Bay 9 has provided a level of adequate assurances that far exceeds most that you see in a sale case but, particularly, here for ICI. They are getting a financially supported, healthy new company with the experience of Long Hill that's going to manage this. They have been committed. The day we found out that we were going to be the successful winner, they were boots on the ground at the Edgemere, they were talking to residents, they were talking to the executive director. They tried, and I actually think, had a healthy conversation with the landlord. I'm not getting into any of the merits of it, of course, but that's the kind of people that are going to lead the Edgemere and the residents going forward.

And, so, we ask the Court to approve this sale, to approve the assignment of the lease to Bay 9 with the adequate assurance package it has offered to ICI and to confirm this Chapter 11 plan. I understand Your Honor has a lot of work it do, too, in the future, so I am not, even though you can hear my eagerness for an order, I understand that that's going to be in the pipeline and I know you're working on it but it truly is a new day for the residents. And unless Your Honor has any questions, I will cede, perhaps, depending on what is said, maybe a moment or two for further.

THE COURT: Thank you very much, Ms. Walker.

MS. WALKER: Thank you.

THE COURT: I don't have any questions. Appreciate it. Mr. McCartin.

MR. McCARTIN: Thank you, Your Honor. I want to address two things, the Lifespace settlement as well as the fee cap in the plan. But, I'd like to start with bragging, if I may about my Committee in this case. Not really my Committee, it's your Committee.

We had numerous former and current residents on the Committee. Mr. Nye chaired the Committee. All Committee members were sophisticated, educated and fully engaged in the process, more so than I've ever seen a Committee be involved. Mr. Nye informs me that we had 32 separate meetings over the last year, most of which lasted a minimum of two hours. And, in addition to that, most of the members monitored almost every hearing by WebEx, which was amazing.

I won't duplicate my testimony earlier today but I was looking at the 5th Circuit case of Cajun Electric and the court said that the bankruptcy court should determine that the settlement was the product of an arms length bargain and not fraud or collusion. And, you know, clearly the settlement was negotiated between Lifespace and the Committee and, certainly, no fraud or collusion.

The 5th Circuit also said that the court should consider the best interest of creditors with proper deference to their reasonable views. As the Court knows, we've had overwhelming support in the voting and not one opt-out. Not on resident decided, I don't like this settlement, I'd rather take my chances in court which, I think, speaks volumes.

With regard to the fee cap, Your Honor, I think the evidence establishes pretty clearly how that evolved, The bondholders sale plan that was originally filed in Section 2.2 had no fee cap. Only when Lifespace approached the bondholders to negotiate an entree into the bondholder plan, was the fee cap introduced and, clearly, the bondholders and Lifespace negotiated a price, if you will, for admittance into the bondholder plan for Lifespace to be able to use the bondholder plan as the vehicle to propose and obtain approval of the settlement as well as third party releases, as part of the settlement. It was a necessary step that, quite honestly, the bondholders charged Lifespace for. The Committee was not involved in those negotiations. The Committee was not invited to participate in those negotiations. That was a bondholder, Lifespace negotiated deal and they eventually arrived at a deal where Lifespace agreed to pay $16.5 million to the bondholders for entree into the bondholder plan.

The bondholders, apparently, attempted to manage the administrative expense claims of the estate, of professionals, by introducing into those negotiations a cap on professional fees. The problem is, Lifespace, of course, would have been okay with that, they're not Lifespace professionals, they're not Lifespace fees, they're third party fees of the Committee and the debtors. They were negotiating with the wrong party. They did not include the Committee and they did not include Foley. They did not include Ankura, and Foley and Ankura are, in fact, the holders of these particular claims and 1129(a)(9)(a) says that except to the extent the holder of a particular claim has agreed to a different treatment. Foley never did, Ankura never did. There's no evidence that there was ever any agreement to a different treatment. The argument is, yes, but you saw drafts of plans, you were provided an opportunity to redline and submit proposed modifications to the plan, to the plan proponents and you didn't bang on tables hard enough. Your four or five e-mails weren't enough to put us on notice that you weren't consenting, or, it's somehow an implied consent. We dispute that that could possibly be the proper legal outcome.

And, if, in fact, this is how it works, if, in fact, this is allowed in this case, won't every plan proponent begin drafting into plans caps of administrative expense claims, caps of gap period claims, caps of any other claims that 1129(a)(9) provides, have to be paid in full, in cash, on the effective date unless the holder agrees to a different treatment? This just can't be. A plan proponent can't be allowed to usurp and rewrite Congress' statutory requirement of confirmation of a plan. 1129(a)(9) says, the court shall confirm a plan only if the holder of a particular claim has agreed to a different treatment, unless that holder is being paid in cash, in full, on the effective date for its allowed claim. The court clearly can have a hearing, the parties can clearly object to fees and the court gets to determine what was reasonable, what provided value, what didn't provide value. But, we don't think it's fair in a case that, quite honestly, the Committee and its professionals are proud of their contribution, to be forced to work a couple, three months free, just to manage the bondholders recovery, to increase the bondholders recovery.

Now, we're not the only professionals included in 2.2. It's estate professionals and our first clarification was that KCC, who, quite honestly, has a pretty hefty fee, would be an estate professional and the parties have agreed to exclude KCC from their attempted cap. But the debtors' professional are included and that would include, of course, FTI and Polsinelli. And I think it's interesting to point out that a co-proponent of the plan, the debtors are co-proponents of the plan. The debtors are represented by Polsinelli and the proponents of the plan, including Polsinelli as counsel, have put forth a plan that includes 2.2, that they don't agree to, which is unique also. So, you have Polsinelli who is saying we agree with the Committee, this cap is not lawful, is not legal and is not appropriate under 1129, but it's in a plan we proposed. I understand why, I understand that there was a difference of opinion between Lifespace and bondholders. The allegation is that the bondholders agreed to pay the first 1.5, Lifespace was supposed to be responsible for the next 1.5. As the evidence showed, we were provided copies of those e-mails, it just didn't look like the parties ever came to an agreement. So, what happened was, they only put in the first 1.5 as a cap and not the second, which no one became responsible for the fees over and above 1.5.
