RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere also objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere. Edgemere also objects to this request to the extent it is duplicative of Request No.4.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 8: All Documents and Communications concerning any in-person meeting among You, Lifespace, and/or UMB, including but not limited to emails, invitations, agendas, summaries, etc.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere also objects to this request as overly broad and unduly burdensome to the extent it seeks documents unrelated to Edgemere or unrelated to issues, claims, and defenses in this lawsuit. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control relating to in-person meetings among Edgemere, Lifespace, and/or UMB relating to Edgemere.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 9: All Documents and Communications concerning the impact of COVID-19 on Edgemere's financial condition and residential occupancy and retention rates.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 10: All Documents and Communications concerning the Historical Financial Condition, including, but not limited to, audited and unaudited financial statements.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere. Edgemere further objects to this request as unduly burdensome in that it seeks documents already in Defendants' possession, custody, or control, or that are equally available to Defendant as Edgemere.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 11: All Documents and Communications concerning Your Historical Financial Condition that You shared with Your residents.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request as unduly burdensome in that it seeks documents already in Defendants' possession, custody, or control, or that are equally available to Defendant as Edgemere.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 12: All Communications between You and any third-party concerning Intercity and/or Kong, including, but not limited to, Communications with regulatory agencies, media outlets, or bond rating agencies.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 13: All Documents and Communications concerning any activity of Intercity and/or Kong that You claim to be unlawful or tortious in the Complaint.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere further objects to this request as unduly burdensome in that it seeks information already in Defendants' possession, custody, or control, or that is publicly available or equally available to Defendants as Edgemere.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 14: All Documents and Communications concerning Your ability to meet Your obligations under the Lease, including, but not limited to, Your obligations to pay rent pursuant to the Lease.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere further objects to this request as unduly burdensome in that it seeks information already in Defendants' possession, custody, or control, or that is publicly available or equally available to Defendants as Edgemere.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 15: All Documents and Communications concerning Your disclosures of Your Historical Financial Condition, including, but not limited to, disclosures to regulatory agencies and to any other third-party. This request includes, but is not limited to, disclosures and/or filings made or required pursuant to 28 Tex. Admin. Code § 33.302, 28 Tex. Admin. Code § 33.303, 28 Tex. Admin. Code § 33.307(a)-(c).

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere. Edgemere further objects to this request as unduly burdensome in that it seeks information already in Defendants' possession, custody, or control, or that is publicly available or equally available to Defendants as Edgemere.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 16: All Communications with any resident or resident association concerning:

h) Intercity,
i) Kong,
j) Any Dallas Morning News article,
k) the Lawsuit,
l) Disclosures to residents or potential residents of the Edgemere, or
m) Complaints by residents or potential residents of the Edgemere.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request as overly broad and unduly burdensome to the extent it seeks documents unrelated to Edgemere or unrelated to issues, claims, and defenses in this lawsuit. Edgemere also objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 17: All Documents and Communications between You and any governmental or regulatory authority, including but not limited to the Texas Department of Insurance or the Office of the Attorney General for the State of Texas, concerning:

a) the Property,
b) the Lease,
c) the Forbearance Agreement,
d) any other forbearance agreement or other agreement concerning the Bond Documents.
e) the Bankruptcy,
f) the Restructuring,
g) the Historical Financial Condition,
h) Intercity,
i) Kong,
j) Any Dallas Morning News article,
k) the Lawsuit,
l) Disclosures to residents or potential residents of the Edgemere, or
m) Complaints by residents or potential residents of the Edgemere.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request as overly broad and unduly burdensome to the extent it seeks documents unrelated to Edgemere or unrelated to issues, claims, and defenses in this lawsuit. Edgemere also objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 18: All Documents and Communications supporting Your contention in paragraph 39 of the Complaint that Intercity or Kong "openly discussed Edgemere's Confidential Information obtained under the NDA, including non-public information about Edgemere's financial condition and strategic plans" with Your residents.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere. Edgemere also objects to this request as unduly burdensome in that it seeks information already in Defendants' possession, custody, or control.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 19: All Documents and Communications supporting Your contention that Intercity or Kong released Confidential Information to The Dallas Morning News or other third parties in violation of the NDA.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere. Edgemere also objects to this request as unduly burdensome in that it seeks information already in Defendants' possession, custody, or control.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 20: All Documents and Communications supporting Your contention that Intercity and/or Kong interfered with Your contracts with residents and bondholders, as described in Count 3 of the Complaint.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere. Edgemere also objects to this request as unduly burdensome in that it seeks information already in Defendants' possession, custody, or control.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 21: All Documents and Communications concerning prospective contracts, including, but not limited to, prospective residential contracts, with which You allege Intercity and/or Kong interfered, as described in Count 4 of the Complaint. This request is inclusive, but not limited to, any Communication with any prospective resident that concerns a residential contract You allege was lost due to improper conduct by ICI or Kong.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere. Edgemere also objects to this request as unduly burdensome in that it seeks information already in Defendants' possession, custody, or control.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 22: All Documents and Communications supporting Your contention that Intercity and/or Kong committed civil conspiracy, as described in Count 4 of the Complaint.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere. Edgemere also objects to this request as unduly burdensome in that it seeks information already in Defendants' possession, custody, or control.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 23: All Communications between You and any attorney or law firm not representing You concerning:

a) the Bonds,
b) the Property,
c) the Lease,
d) the Forbearance Agreement or any proposed extension thereof,
e) any other forbearance agreement or other agreement concerning the Bond Documents,
f) the Bankruptcy,
g) the Restructuring,
h) the Historical Financial Condition,
i) Intercity,
j) Kong,
k) Any Dallas Morning News article,
l) the Lawsuit, or
m) any Disclosure Statement.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere. Edgemere also objects to this request as unduly burdensome to the extent it seeks information already in Defendants' possession, custody, or control.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 24: All Communications between You, Thomas R. Califano, Sidley Austin, and/or DLA Piper that were disclosed to any third-party concerning

a) the Bonds,
b) the Property,
c) the Lease,
d) the Forbearance Agreement or any proposed extension thereof,
e) any other forbearance agreement or other agreement concerning the Bond Documents,
f) the Bankruptcy,
g) the Restructuring,
h) the Historical Financial Condition,
i) Intercity,
j) Kong,
k) Any Dallas Morning News article,
l) the Lawsuit, or
m) any Disclosure Statement.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere. Edgemere also objects to this request as unduly burdensome to the extent it seeks information already in Defendants' possession, custody, or control.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 25: All Documents and Communications between You and Lifespace concerning:

a) the Bonds,

b) the Property,
c) the Lease,
d) the Forbearance Agreement or any proposed extension thereof,
e) any other forbearance agreement or other agreement concerning the Bond Documents,
f) the Bankruptcy,
g) the Restructuring,
h) the Historical Financial Condition,
i) Intercity,
j) Kong,
k) Any Dallas Morning News article,
l) the Lawsuit, or
m) any Disclosure Statement.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 26: All confidential information identified in response to Interrogatory No. 13.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere also objects to this interrogatory because it seeks confidential personal information that Edgemere has an independent obligation to maintain in strict confidence.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere states that its residents' personal identifiable information sought in Interrogatory No. 13 is confidential. As a result, Edgemere will produce documents implicated by Interrogatory 13 and this request only in aggregate form or in a manner that redacts personal identifiable or confidential information of individual residents or their estates to comply with Edgemere's independent confidentiality obligations.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 27: All documents concerning efforts to maintain the confidentiality of the information referenced in response to Interrogatory No. 13.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 28: All Communications and Documents regarding infusion of capital or borrowing of funds between January 1, 2020 to present date, including but not limited to funds received in accordance with the Paycheck Protection Program or CARES Act.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 29: All Communications with any potential or prospective resident concerning:

a) the Bonds,
b) the Property,
c) the Lease,
d) the Forbearance Agreement or any proposed extension thereof,
e) any other forbearance agreement or other agreement concerning the Bond Documents
f) the Bankruptcy,
g) the Restructuring,
h) the Historical Financial Condition,
i) Intercity,
j) Kong,
k) any Dallas Morning News article,
l) the Lawsuit, or
m) any Disclosure Statement.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere. Edgemere also objects to this request because it seeks documents beyond the scope or the allegations in the Complaint or not germane to a claim or defense in this lawsuit.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 30: All Communications or Documents referenced in response to Interrogatory No. 13, and any Communications with any prospective resident that Edgemere believes it lost as a result of any alleged action by Intercity or Kong.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere. Edgemere also objects to this interrogatory insofar as it is compound and seeks documents on multiple discrete, unrelated issues.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere states that its residents' personal identifiable information sought in Interrogatory No. 13 is confidential. As a result, Edgemere will produce documents implicated by Interrogatory 13 and this request only in aggregate form or in a manner that redacts personal identifiable or confidential information of individual residents or their estates to comply with Edgemere's independent confidentiality obligations. The balance of this request is duplicative of Request No. 21.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 31: All resident contracts for each Unit at Edgemere pertaining to the current resident(s).

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request as overly broad and unduly burdensome to the extent it seeks documents unrelated to issues, claims, and defenses in this lawsuit. Edgemere further objects to this request as unduly burdensome to the extent it seeks to impose a burden disproportionate to the needs of the case – Defendants do not reasonably need access to individual resident Life Care Agreements to defend against the allegations in the Complaint. Edgemere objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere. Edgemere also objects to this interrogatory because it seeks confidential personal information that Edgemere has an independent obligation to maintain in strict confidence.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere states that its residents' Life Care Agreements and the personal identifiable information included therein and attached thereto is confidential. As a result, Edgemere will produce documents that reveal aggregate or consolidated information regarding Edgemere residents, including aggregate financial or statistical information regarding the residents. Edgemere will not produce individual Edgemere Life Care Agreements.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 32: All resident contracts for which there is a current refund presently due and owing.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request as overly broad and unduly burdensome to the extent it seeks documents unrelated to issues, claims, and defenses in this lawsuit. Defendants do not reasonably need access to individual resident Life Care Agreements to defend against the allegations in the Complaint. Edgemere objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere. Edgemere also objects to this interrogatory because it seeks confidential personal information that Edgemere has an independent obligation to maintain in strict confidence.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere states that its residents' Life Care Agreements and the personal identifiable information included therein and attached thereto is confidential. As a result, Edgemere will produce documents that reveal aggregate or consolidated financial information regarding the refunds currently due to former residents. Edgemere will not produce individual Edgemere Life Care Agreements.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 33: All agreements with any resident pertaining to entrance fees and/or refunds of entrance fees.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request as overly broad and unduly burdensome to the extent it seeks documents unrelated to issues, claims, and defenses in this lawsuit. Edgemere further objects to this request as unduly burdensome to the extent it seeks to impose a burden disproportionate to the needs of the case – Defendants do not reasonably need access to individual resident agreements to defend against the allegations in the Complaint. Edgemere also objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce the materials identified in response to Request Nos. 31 and 32, which will reveal financial information regarding Edgemere's refund obligations.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 34: Any Document or Communication compiling the entrance fees paid to Edgemere by any resident.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 35: Any Document or Communication compiling or concerning: (a) how much was paid for each residential unit at Edgemere and/or (b) how much of the amount paid for each residential unit at Edgemere was refundable.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere objects to this request as overly broad and unduly burdensome to the extent it seeks documents unrelated to issues, claims, and defenses in this lawsuit. Defendants do not reasonably need access to individual resident Life Care Agreements or individual unit cost and refund information to defend against the allegations in the Complaint.

Edgemere objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere. Edgemere also objects to this interrogatory because it seeks confidential personal information that Edgemere has an independent obligation to maintain in strict confidence.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere states that its residents' Life Care Agreements and the personal identifiable information included therein and attached thereto is confidential. As a result, Edgemere will produce responsive documents, if any, that reveal aggregate or consolidated unit cost information and associated refund obligations, only if Edgemere can do so without revealing confidential or personal identifiable information. Edgemere will not produce individual Edgemere Life Care Agreements.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 36: Any Document or Communication compiling or concerning the age of each individual resident at Edgemere as of the date of this request.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere. Edgemere also objects to this interrogatory because it seeks confidential personal information that Edgemere has an independent obligation to maintain in strict confidence.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any, in a form that redacts resident names or other personal identifiable or otherwise Confidential Information. Edgemere will not produce documents that identify individual residents or their age.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 37: Any actuarial report of the resident population.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 38: For the period of March 31, 2018 to present, all current cash flow budget to actual variance report(s).

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere. Edgemere further objects to this request as overly broad because it seeks documents for a time period beyond the scope of the allegations in the Complaint. Edgemere also objects to the extent that this request seeks information that is publicly available, that is already in Defendants' possession, custody, or control, or that is equally available to Defendants as it is to Edgemere.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 39: In Excel format, Historical Quarterly Financial Statements from March 31, 2018 to present. To the extent that Excel format does not exist, please produce in the format that does exist.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere. Edgemere further objects to this request as overly broad because it seeks documents for a time period beyond the scope of the allegations in the Complaint. Edgemere also objects to the extent that this request seeks information that is publicly available, that is already in Defendants' possession, custody, or control, or that is equally available to Defendants as it is to Edgemere.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any, for the time period from January 1, 2020 through the most recent available period before the date of the Complaint

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 40: All meeting minutes of, or documents provided to the Board of Directors at or in advance of, any Board meeting for the period January 1, 2017 to present.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere further objects to this request as overly broad and unduly burdensome in that it purports to seek "all meeting minutes." The request is not reasonably related to the allegations in the Complaint and therefore imposes a burden on Edgemere that is disproportionate to the needs of the case. Edgemere also objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere. Edgemere further objects to this request as overly broad because it seeks documents for a time period beyond the scope of the allegations in the Complaint.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents related to Edgemere's Board of Directors that remain in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any, for the time period from January 1, 2020 through the most recent available period before the date of the Complaint.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 41: All evidence that "as Edgemere's sales have since collapsed [due to "Defendant's improper conduct"] which directly imperils Edgemere's restructuring prospects," as stated in Dkt. 58 at p. 9 of 34.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 42: In Dkt. 58 at p. 9 of 34, Edgemere states "[t]ere is already strong evidence of Edgemere's claims." Produce all evidence referred to by Edgemere in this quoted sentence.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 43: For the period of January 1, 2017 to present, all Documents and Communications regarding or concerning Edgemere's historical trends involving "new Residency Agreement[s]."

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, or the attorney work product doctrine. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere. Edgemere further objects to this request as overly broad because it seeks documents for a time period beyond the scope of the allegations in the Complaint. Edgemere also objects to the extent that this request seeks information that is publicly available, that is already in Defendants' possession, custody, or control, or that is equally available to Defendants as it is to Edgemere.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, for the time period from January 1, 2020 through the present.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 44: For the period of January 1, 2017 to present, all Documents and Communications regarding or concerning "call volume from prospective residents."

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, or the attorney work product doctrine. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere. Edgemere further objects to this request as overly broad because it seeks documents for a time period beyond the scope of the allegations in the Complaint.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, for the time period from January 1, 2020 through the present.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 45: For the period of January 1, 2017 to present, all logs of prospective tenant calls.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, or the attorney work product doctrine. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere.

Edgemere further objects to this request as overly broad because it seeks documents for a time period beyond the scope of the allegations in the Complaint.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, for the time period from January 1, 2020 through the present.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 46: For the period of January 1, 2017 to present, all Documents and Communications regarding or concerning "tours among prospective residents."

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, or the attorney work product doctrine. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere. Edgemere further objects to this request as overly broad because it seeks documents for a time period beyond the scope of the allegations in the Complaint.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, for the time period from January 1, 2020 through the present.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 47: For the period of January 1, 2017 to present, all logs of tours of Edgemere "among prospective residents."

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, or the attorney work product doctrine. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere.

Edgemere further objects to this request as overly broad because it seeks documents for a time period beyond the scope of the allegations in the Complaint.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, for the time period from January 1, 2020 through the present.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 48: For the period of January 1, 2022 to present, all Documents and Communications showing that "referrals of existing Residents to higher levels of care with the Community decreased."

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, or the attorney work product doctrine. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 49: For the period of January 1, 2022 to present, all Documents and Communications showing that "individuals committed to joining the Community postponed closing on their contracts."

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, or the attorney work product doctrine. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 50: All Documents showing the "48 [resident] closings" by Edgemere in 2021.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, or the attorney work product doctrine. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 51: All Documents showing the number of resident closings by Edgemere in November and December 2021.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, or the attorney work product doctrine. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 52: For the period of January 1, 2017 to present, Documents and Communications showing Edgemere's historical number of "resident closings" on an annual basis and, if available, on a monthly basis.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, or the attorney work product doctrine. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control for the time period from January 1, 2020 through the present.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 53: For the period of January 1, 2022 to present, all Documents and Communications showing that any resident left Edgemere and/or ended his/her/its business relationship with Edgemere due to anything said or done by ICI and/or Kong.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere objects to this request as overly broad and unduly burdensome to the extent it seeks documents unrelated to issues, claims, and defenses in this lawsuit. Edgemere objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere. Edgemere also objects to this interrogatory because it seeks confidential personal information that Edgemere has an independent obligation to maintain in strict confidence.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere states that its residents' Life Care Agreements and the personal identifiable information included therein and attached thereto is confidential. As a result, Edgemere will produce responsive documents that reveal aggregate or consolidated information regarding existing or prospective residents that terminated their relationship with Edgemere, only if Edgemere can do so without revealing confidential or personal identifiable information.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 54: For the period of January 1, 2022 to present, all Documents and Communications showing that any prospective resident was "deter[red] from joining the Community" as stated in Dkt. 58 at p. 25 of 34.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere objects to this request as overly broad and unduly burdensome to the extent it seeks documents unrelated to issues, claims, and defenses in this lawsuit. Edgemere objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere. Edgemere also objects to this interrogatory because it seeks confidential personal information that Edgemere has an independent obligation to maintain in strict confidence.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere states that its residents' Life Care Agreements and the personal identifiable information included therein and attached thereto is confidential. As a result, Edgemere will produce responsive documents that reveal aggregate or consolidated information regarding prospective residents that terminated their relationship with Edgemere, only if Edgemere can do so without revealing confidential or personal identifiable information.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 55: All Documents and Communications with legal counsel regarding or concerning the terms of the Lease, including but not limited to the time at which "Edgemere then discovered the mistaken and improper language within the text of the remedies provisions in Section 8.2 of the Lease" as stated in Dkt. 58 at p. 32 of 34.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege or the attorney work product doctrine.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 56: All reporting to Lifespace regarding: (a) "new Residency Agreements"; (b) difficulty with respect to securing "new Residency Agreements" and/or the reasons therefore; (c) "tours among prospective residents"; (d) decreased "tours among prospective residents" and/or the reasons therefore; (e) "call volume from prospective residents"; and (f) decreasing "call volume from prospective residents" and/or the reasons therefore.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere further objects to this request to the extent it can be read to seek documents regarding entities or facilities other than Edgemere. Edgemere also objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 57: All Documents and Communications concerning funds transferred between Edgemere and any other entity owned, operated, or managed by Lifespace, including but not limited to The Stayton at Museum Way or Querencia at Barton Creek.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere objects to this request as overly broad and unduly burdensome to the extent it seeks documents unrelated to issues, claims, and defenses in this lawsuit. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 58: For the period of January 1, 2022 to present, all Documents and Communications showing that any prospective resident was "deter[red] from joining the Community" as stated in Dkt. 58 at p. 25 of 34.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request because it is duplicative of Request No. 54. To the extent a response is required, Edgemere directs Defendants to Edgemere's response to Request No. 54.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 59: For the period of December 31, 2019 forward, the Entrance Fee Summary (see example reference in the March 31, 2018 quarterly financials posted on EMMA at page 7).

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere. Edgemere further objects to this request as overly broad because it seeks documents for a time period beyond the scope of the allegations in the Complaint.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, for the time period from January 1, 2020 through the most recent period available prior to the date of the Complaint.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 60: For the period of December 31, 2019 forward, the Sale and Occupancy Overview (see example reference in the March 31, 2018 quarterly financials posted on EMMA at pages 8-10).

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere. Edgemere further objects to this request as overly broad because it seeks documents for a time period beyond the scope of the allegations in the Complaint.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, for the time period from January 1, 2020 through the most recent period available prior to the date of the Complaint.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 61: For the period of December 31, 2019 forward, the Payor Source Margin Analysis (see example reference in the March 31, 2018 quarterly financials posted on EMMA at page 11).

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere. Edgemere further objects to this request as overly broad because it seeks documents for a time period beyond the scope of the allegations in the Complaint.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, for the time period from January 1, 2020 through the most recent period available prior to the date of the Complaint.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 62: Documents and Communications regarding or concerning Edgemere's conversion rate for "new Residency Agreements" following prospective resident contact i.e., phone calls or tours.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 63: Metrics and analysis regarding or concerning "new Residency Agreements," Edgemere's conversion rates in connection with prospective resident contact, "new Residency Agreement" forecasts and related variables, and/or market conditions impacting Edgemere.

RESPONSE: Edgemere objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, or the common interest privilege. Edgemere further objects to this request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Edgemere.

Subject to and without waiving any objection, Edgemere will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 45(c), (d), (e), and (g) (Effective 12/1/13)
(made applicable in bankruptcy cases by Rule 9016, Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure)

(c) Place of compliance.

(1) For a Trial, Hearing, or Deposition. A subpoena may command a person to attend a trial, hearing, or deposition only as follows:

(A) within 100 miles of where the person resides, is employed, or regularly transacts business in person; or

(B) within the state where the person resides, is employed, or regularly transacts business in person, if the person

(i) is a party or a party's officer; or

(ii) is commanded to attend a trial and would not incur substantial expense.

(2) For Other Discovery. A subpoena may command:

(A) production of documents, or electronically stored information, or things at a place within 100 miles of where the person resides, is employed, or regularly transacts business in person; and

(B) inspection of premises, at the premises to be inspected.

(d) Protecting a Person Subject to a Subpoena; Enforcement.

(1) Avoiding Undue Burden or Expense; Sanctions. A party or attorney responsible for issuing and serving a subpoena must take reasonable steps to avoid imposing undue burden or expense on a person subject to the subpoena. The court for the district where compliance is required must enforce this duty and impose an appropriate sanction — which may include lost earnings and reasonable attorney's fees — on a party or attorney who fails to comply.

(2) Command to Produce Materials or Permit Inspection.

(A) Appearance Not Required. A person commanded to produce documents, electronically stored information, or tangible things, or to permit the inspection of premises, need not appear in person at the place of production or inspection unless also commanded to appear for a deposition, hearing, or trial.

(B) Objections. A person commanded to produce documents or tangible things or to permit inspection may serve on the party or attorney designated in the subpoena a written objection to inspecting, copying, testing or sampling any or all of the materials or to inspecting the premises — or to producing electronically stored information in the form or forms requested. The objection must be served before the earlier of the time specified for compliance or 14 days after the subpoena is served. If an objection is made, the following rules apply:

(i) At any time, on notice to the commanded person, the serving party may move the court for the district where compliance is required for an order compelling production or inspection.

(ii) These acts may be required only as directed in the order, and the order must protect a person who is neither a party nor a party's officer from significant expense resulting from compliance.

(3) Quashing or Modifying a Subpoena.

(A) When Required. On timely motion, the court for the district where compliance is required must quash or modify a subpoena that:

(i) fails to allow a reasonable time to comply;

(ii) requires a person to comply beyond the geographical limits specified in Rule 45(c);

(iii) requires disclosure of privileged or other protected matter, if no exception or waiver applies; or

(iv) subjects a person to undue burden.

(B) When Permitted. To protect a person subject to or affected by a subpoena, the court for the district where compliance is required may, on motion, quash or modify the subpoena if it requires:

(i) disclosing a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information; or

(ii) disclosing an unretained expert's opinion or information that does not describe specific occurrences in dispute and results from the expert's study that was not requested by a party.

(C) Specifying Conditions as an Alternative. In the circumstances described in Rule 45(d)(3)(B), the court may, instead of quashing or modifying a subpoena, order appearance or production under specified conditions if the serving party:

(i) shows a substantial need for the testimony or material that cannot be otherwise met without undue hardship; and

(ii) ensures that the subpoenaed person will be reasonably compensated.

(e) Duties in Responding to a Subpoena.

(1) Producing Documents or Electronically Stored Information. These procedures apply to producing documents or electronically stored information:

(A) Documents. A person responding to a subpoena to produce documents must produce them as they are kept in the ordinary course of business or must organize and label them to correspond to the categories in the demand.

(B) Form for Producing Electronically Stored Information Not Specified. If a subpoena does not specify a form for producing electronically stored information, the person responding must produce it in a form or forms in which it is ordinarily maintained or in a reasonably usable form or forms.

(C) Electronically Stored Information Produced in Only One Form. The person responding need not produce the same electronically stored information in more than one form.

(D) Inaccessible Electronically Stored Information. The person responding need not provide discovery of electronically stored information from sources that the person identifies as not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. On motion to compel discovery or for a protective order, the person responding must show that the information is not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. If that showing is made, the court may nonetheless order discovery from such sources if the requesting party shows good cause, considering the limitations of Rule 26(b)(2)(C). The court may specify conditions for the discovery.

(2) Claiming Privilege or Protection.

(A) Information Withheld. A person withholding subpoenaed information under a claim that it is privileged or subject to protection as trial-preparation material must:

(i) expressly make the claim; and

(B) Information Produced. If information produced in response to a subpoena is subject to a claim of privilege or of protection as trial-preparation material, the person making the claim may notify any party that received the information of the claim and the basis for it. After being notified, a party must promptly return, sequester, or destroy the specified information and any copies it has; must not use or disclose the information until the claim is resolved; must take reasonable steps to retrieve the information if the party disclosed it before being notified; and may promptly present the information under seal to the court for the district where compliance is required for a determination of the claim. The person who produced the information must preserve the information until the claim is resolved.

(g) Contempt. The court for the district where compliance is required – and also, after a motion is transferred, the issuing court – may hold in contempt a person who, having been served, fails without adequate excuse to obey the subpoena or an order related to it.

For access to subpoena materials, see Fed. R. Civ. P. 45(a) Committee Note (2013)

EXHIBIT A

I. INSTRUCTIONS

1. The requested documents are to be produced for inspection and copying, at the offices of Jackson Walker, LLP, 2323 Ross Avenue, Suite 600, Dallas, Texas 75201, unless otherwise agreed between the parties.

2. If you object to any of the following Discovery Requests, you must state the legal and factual basis for each objection. If you object to only a portion of a Discovery Request, you must identify the specific portion of the Discovery Request to which you object and must respond fully to the remainder of the Discovery Request.

3. If a requested document is a document created from any of the programs in the Microsoft Office Suite (including, but not limited to, Microsoft Word, Excel, PowerPoint, Access, Project or Outlook) that exists in its native format (e.g., .doc, .xls, .ppt, .msg, .pst) or can be readily converted into a format reasonably accessible via a program in the Microsoft Office Suite (e.g., a document created from another commercially available electronic mail, word processing, spreadsheet or database program), then produce such document in its native electronic format. Documents produced in this manner should include metadata.

4. If your answer to any Discovery Request is not within your personal knowledge, you must identify each person you know who has, or may have, personal knowledge of the matter that is addressed in the Discovery Request, and the contact information and job title of such person.

5. Each Discovery Request shall operate and be responded to independently and, unless otherwise indicated, no Discovery Request limits the scope of any other Discovery Request.

6. Documents provided in response hereto shall be produced as they are kept in the ordinary course of business or shall be organized and labeled to correspond with the categories in these Requests for Production of Documents.

7. If you produce Documents in addition to, or in lieu of, providing full and complete narrative responses where permitted by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure:

    a. In producing Documents and things, indicate the paragraph and subparagraph to which a produced document or thing is responsive.

    b. In producing Documents and things, furnish all Documents or things known or available to you, regardless of whether such Documents or things are possessed directly by you or your representatives.

    c. If any requested Documents or things cannot be produced in full, produce such Documents to the extent possible, specifying which Documents or things were only partially produced.

8. These Discovery Requests are deemed to be continuing. If after answering, you become aware of any further information responsive to this document, you are required to produce such additional Documents and things and/or provide such additional information.

9. If any Documents or things requested or identified were at one time in existence but are no longer in existence, then so state, specifying for each document or thing:

    a. The type of document or thing;

    b. The types of information contained thereon;

    c. The date upon which it ceased to exist;

    d. The circumstances under which it ceased to exist;

    e. The identity of all persons having knowledge of the circumstances under which it ceased to exist; and

    f. The identity of all persons now having or who, at one time, had knowledge of the contents thereof.

10. Selection of Documents from the files and other sources in the numbering, if any, of such Documents shall be performed in such a manner as to ensure that the source of each document may be determined, if necessary.

11. Documents attached to each other should not be separated.

12. In lieu of producing originals or copies thereof, you may, at your option, submit legible photographic or other reproductions of such Documents, provided that the originals or copies from which such reproductions were made are retained by you until the disposition of this litigation.

13. If you, after investigation, determine that you have no documents that are responsive to a Request, Your statement that you have no such documents constitutes a representation that you have conducted a search for the documents and represents that you have no documents that are responsive.

14. Unless otherwise stated, the time frame covered by these Discovery Requests is from January 1, 2021 to the present (the "Relevant Time Period"). If you seek to withhold any Document, thing, or information on the basis that it is purportedly privileged or entitled to some other limitation of discovery, you are instructed to use the following procedure:

    a. You shall supply a numerical list of the Documents and things for which a privilege or other limitation of discovery is claimed, indicating:

i. the name of each author, writer, sender, or initiator of such document or thing, if any;
ii. the name of each recipient, addressee, or party to whom such document or thing was intended, if any;

iii. the date of such document or thing, if any, or an estimate thereof and so indicated as an estimate if no date appears on said document;

iv. the general subject matter as described in the document; and

v. the claimed grounds for privilege or other limitation of discovery.

II. DEFINITIONS

As used herein, the following terms have specific meanings as defined in this section:

1. "You" refers to Sidley Austin LLP, its predecessors, successors, and any agent, representative, employee, or other person acting or purporting to act on its behalf.

2. "Edgemere" refers to Northwest Senior Housing Corporation, its predecessors, successors, and any agent, representative, employee, or other person acting or purporting to act on its behalf.

3. "Intercity" refers to Intercity Investment Properties, Inc., its predecessors, successors, and any agent, representative, employee, or other person acting or purporting to act on its behalf.

4. "Kong" refers to Kong Capital LLC, its predecessors, successors, and any agent, representative, employee, or other person acting or purporting to act on its behalf.

5. The "Lawsuit" refers to the above-captioned adversary proceeding filed by Edgemere against Intercity and Kong on April 14, 2022.

6. The "Disclosure Statement" means that comprehensive document required by Tex. Health & Safety Code Ann. § 246.042 to be provided to potential residents, informing them of all aspects of living at the Edgemere, including a location and description of the community, services and fees, policies, resident qualifications, and financial information about the Edgemere, with exhibits of the Life Care Agreement, audited financial statements, financial projections, and the resident handbook.

7. The "Historical Financial Condition" means the Edgemere's overall financial condition, including but not limited to assets, liabilities, income, or losses, from January 1, 2017 through present date.

8. The "Restructuring" refers to any effort to improve Edgemere's financial position, whether through modification or reorganization of Edgemere's organizational or capital structure, or otherwise addressing existing liabilities.

9. The "Bankruptcy" refers to Edgemere's Chapter 11 bankruptcy case, styled Northwest Senior Housing Corporation, et al., Case No. 22-30659-mvl-11, currently pending in the United States Bankruptcy Court in the Northern District of Texas – Dallas Division, and related litigation, including the above-captioned adversary proceeding.

10. The "Property" refers to the approximately 16.25 acres that is subject to the Lease, and commonly known as 8523 Thackery Street, Dallas, Texas 75225.

11. The "Lease" refers to the Ground Lease between Intercity and Edgemere dated November 1999 that covers the property and improvements where Edgemere operates.

12. "Lifespace" refers to Lifespace Communities, Inc., its predecessors, successors, and any agent, representative, employee, or other person acting or purporting to act on its behalf.

13. "DMN" refers to The Dallas Morning News, its predecessors, successors, and any agent, representative, employee, or other person acting or purporting to act on its behalf.

14. "UMB" refers to UMB Bank, N.A. in its capacity as Bond Trustee, its predecessors, successors, and any agent, representative, employee, or other person acting or purporting to act on its behalf.

15. The "Forbearance Agreement" refers to the December 21, 2021 Forbearance Agreement between Northwest Senior Housing Corporation, Senior Quality Lifestyle Corporation, UMB Bank, N.A., Intercity, and Lifespace.

16. "Discovery Requests" means the requests for production of Documents contained herein.

17. "Communication" or "Communications" means a communication in any form, including, without limitation, notes, complaints, diaries, journals, datebooks, reports, calendars, telephone messages, letters, email messages, instant messages (such as but not limited to Signal, Cisco Jabber, IBM Sametime, Wickr, ICQ, Kik, BBM, Gchat, iMessage, Telegram, WhatsApp, Slack, and similar types of messages), cell phone text messages (SMS messages and MMS messages), voicemail messages, Slack messages or other internal messaging system communications, social media communications or posting on sites including but not limited to Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, Gab, or Parler (including any direct messages), website postings, internet chat-room postings, lists, correspondence, drawings, designs, telegrams, manuals, summaries or records of personal conversations, logs, minutes or records of meetings, minutes of any other type, transcripts of oral testimony or statements, affidavits, or summaries of investigations. For avoidance of doubt, the term "Communications" includes internal communications and communications with third parties. The foregoing definition is subject to any objection sustained in relation to Plaintiffs' similar definition directed at Defendants.

18. "Document" means any printed, written, typed, recorded, transcribed, taped, photographic, or graphic matter, however produced or reproduced, including, but not limited to: any letter, correspondence, or communication of any sort; electronic mail, either sent or received; file, print, negative, or photograph; sound or video recording; note, notebook, diary, calendar, minutes, memorandum, contract, agreement, or any amendment thereto; telex, telegram, or cable; summary, report, or record of any telephone conversation, personal conversation, discussion, interview, meeting, conference, investigation, negotiation, act, or activity; projection, work paper or draft; computer output or input; data processing card; opinion or report of any consultant; request, order, invoice, or bill of lading; analysis, diagram, map, index, sketch, drawing, plan, chart, manual, brochure, pamphlet, advertisement, circular, newspaper or magazine clipping; press release; receipt, journal, ledger, schedule, bill, or voucher; financial statement, statement of account, bank statement, checkbook, check stubs or register, canceled check, deposit slip, charge slip, tax return, or requisition; file, study, graph, or tabulation; and all other writings and recordings of whatever nature, whether signed, unsigned or transcribed, and any other data compilation from which information can be obtained or translated. The term "Document" also shall mean: the original and/or any non-identical original or copy, including those with any marginal note or comment or showing additions, deletions, or substitutions; drafts; attachments to or enclosures with any document; and any other documents referred to or incorporated by reference in the document. The term "Document" also specifically includes all electronic documents and other "electronically stored information" (whether stored electronically or in the form of a hard-copy, print-out, or otherwise) and all attachments thereto.

19. The term "concerning" means relating to, referring to, describing, evidencing, or constituting.

20. The present tense includes the past and future tenses. The singular includes the plural, and the plural includes the singular. "All" means "any and all;" "any" means "any and all." "Including" means "including but not limited to." "And" and "or" encompass both "and" and "or." Words in the masculine, feminine, or neuter form shall include each of the other genders.

All,
We sent the attached communication to Diamond McCarthy asking when they will provide Sidley with the results of their privilege review. If we do not receive a subsequent production, we will be moving to compel Sidley's compliance with the subpoena. In the meantime, we take the below to mean Sidley is not asserting any claims of privilege other than those to be asserted by Diamond McCarthy.

Thank you,
Christina

Heidi,

We were asked by Diamond McCarthy to withhold certain documents on the basis of privilege for their further review.
We are currently waiting to hear back from Diamond McCarthy when they have completed that review. In the event that any such documents have been identified as not privileged or otherwise subject to production, we will produce those. Otherwise, our production is complete.

Defendants, Intercity Investment Properties, Inc. ("ICI") and Kong Capital LLC ("Kong" and, with ICI, the "Defendants"), respectfully state as follows for their Supplemental Brief Regarding Lifespace Privilege Waiver and the GrayRobinson Communications.[1]

I. PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

Defendants' Motion to Compel Production by Plaintiff and Brief in Support [Adv. Proc. Dkt. 362] (the "Motion to Compel") sought to compel the Plaintiff to produce non-privileged documents. The Court instructed the parties to further meet and confer regarding the issues raised in this Brief and continued the Motion to November 29, 2023. [Adv. Proc. Dkt. 423]. Defendants and Plaintiff met and conferred by telephone on November 21, 2023, and Defendants, Plaintiff, and Lifespace met and conferred by telephone on November 27, 2023. On November 29, 2023, the Court requested supplemental briefing on two issues: (1) whether Lifespace's post-petition disclosure of documents to Edgemere served to waive privilege and/or protection over communications between Lifespace and its counsel, and (2) whether pre-petition communications between Lifespace, Edgemere, and their respective counsel with GrayRobinson—counsel to Edgemere's Board of Directors—is privileged or protected. This Brief addresses that request.

As discussed at the November 9, 2023 hearing, among other hearings, Lifespace made a post-petition disclosure of all or substantially all of its relevant documents, privileged and otherwise, to Northwest Senior Housing Corporation ("Edgemere"). This disclosure constituted a waiver of attorney-client privilege and work-product protection that may have otherwise attached to such documents. Accordingly, communications between or among any Lifespace employee or officer, on the one hand, and, on the other hand, any or all of: Dorsey & Whitney LLP, Perkins Coie LLP, Cooley LLP, Locke Lord LLP, Norton Rose Fulbright, Gilmore & Bell, P.C., Ropes & Gray LLP, and/or Stewart Wiegland & Owens PC (the "Lifespace Communications"), are not privileged.

[1] During the meet and confer process, there was some dispute whether these matters fell within the ambit of the Motion to Compel appearing at adversary docket #362. To the extent they did not—and Defendants believe they did—Defendants hereby move for the production of the Lifespace Communications and the GrayRobinson Communications as those terms are defined herein.

Also at issue is whether Lifespace and Edgemere's communications with GrayRobinson—counsel to Edgemere's Board of Directors—are attorney-client privileged or work-product protected. Those communications (the "GrayRobinson Communications") are neither privileged nor protected.

II. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

A. Lifespace Disclosed Privileged Information to Attorneys Representing Edgemere.

Lifespace and Edgemere worked together to supply a combined document production and a corresponding joint privilege log. As part of that process, Lifespace provided documents to Edgemere's attorneys, as Lifespace has explained in hearings[2] and in filings[3]. Edgemere's attorneys then reviewed the documents for privilege and protection and prepared the privilege log. In short, Lifespace provided all of its documents—even those in which Lifespace sought legal [2] Transcript of Hearing Held Jan. 25, 2023, p. 37:4-12 (E. Walker for Lifespace) (Because "Lifespace manages all of the information that could be potentially responsive to these overlapping discovery requests, Edgemere coordinated with Lifespace to perform a reasonable search to collect all information in Lifespace's possession, custody, and control that could be potentially responsive to Defendants' discovery requests. That information was reviewed for responsiveness and for privilege, and produced to Defendants, together with a comprehensive privilege log.").

[3] Lifespace Communities, Inc.'s Response to Defendants' Motion to Compel Production of Documents [Adv. Proc. Dkt. 260] pp. 5-6 ("Lifespace coordinated with Edgemere . . . to conduct a reasonable search to collect documents and other information responsive to these duplicative requests, Edgemere, as the party to this adversary proceeding, produced responsive, non-privileged documents to Defendants in the manner required by the rules . . . and prepared a comprehensive privilege log for that production."). Id. at 14 ("Just as the Edgemere production of documents is coextensive with the Lifespace production of documents, so too the privilege log provided by Edgemere is sufficient to set forth the documents withheld by Lifespace on the basis of privilege.").

guidance from Lifespace attorneys—to Edgemere. By doing so, Lifespace waived the attorney-client privilege and any work-product protection that may otherwise have attached.

B. Lifespace and Edgemere Were Adverse at the Time of Disclosure

Lifespace and Edgemere were adverse to each other at the time the relevant documents were disclosed. By the time these chapter 11 cases began, Lifespace was no longer taking management fees it was owed by Edgemere and held a resultant $5.5 million claim; Lifespace and Edgemere had separate counsel; and Lifespace and Edgemere were engaged in "arm's length" negotiations regarding a restructuring. See Claim No. 145, filed by Lifespace Communities, Inc.; Declaration of Nick Harshfield in Support of Chapter 11 Petition and First Day Pleadings [Dkt. 7] p. 7 (discussing arm's length negotiations between Edgemere and Lifespace); Declaration of Nick Harshfield [Adv. Proc. Dkt. 275] p. 5-7 (identifying the various law firms who represented Lifespace and Edgemere and Lifespace in-house counsel).

The Court has also recognized that Lifespace and Edgemere are different entities with divergent interests. See, e.g., November 7, 2023 Hr'g Tr. 45:11-17 ("[A]s I have ruled a number of times, formally and informally, these are two different entities and, without seeing all the documents I don't know, but there did come a time in this courtroom, post-petition, in which interests diverged, in which Lifespace was making deals, entering into settlements, in its own right separate from Edgemere, okay.").

Thus, Lifespace and Edgemere were adverse at the time of the disclosures. And, as explained below, the disclosures therefore served to waive any privilege or protection that may otherwise have attached to the Lifespace Communications.

III. LEGAL ARGUMENT

A. Lifespace Has Not Met its Burden to Prove that Communications Between Lifespace Personnel and Edgemere Attorneys Are Privileged.

1. Attorney-Client Privilege

The Federal Rules of Evidence apply to this adversary proceeding. See Fed. R. Evid. P. 101 (The Federal Rules of Evidence apply to proceedings in United States courts.); Fed. R. Evid. 1101(a) (the Federal Rules of Evidence "apply to proceedings before . . . United States bankruptcy and magistrate judges."); Fed. R. Evid. 1101(b) (the Federal Rules of Evidence "apply in . . . civil cases and proceedings, including bankruptcy . . . cases."); Fed. R. Bankr. P. 9017 ("The Federal Rules of Evidence and Rules 43, 44, and 44.1 F. R. Civ. P. apply in cases under the Code.").

Under Federal Rule of Evidence 501, "[i]n a civil case, state law governs privilege regarding a claim or defense for which state law supplies the rule of decision." The claims advanced in this proceeding are governed by the substantive law of Texas; consequently, Federal Rule of Evidence 501 dictates application of Texas law concerning attorney-client privilege.[4]

a. Texas Law on Attorney-Client Privilege

"If a party asserts attorney-client privilege under Texas law, they must prove that there was: '(a) a confidential communication; (b) made for the purpose of facilitating the rendition of professional legal services; (c) between or among the client, lawyer and their representatives; and (d) the privilege has not been waived.'" In re Lopez, No. 21-10098, 2022 WL 2080187, at *8 (Bankr. E.D. Tex. June 9, 2022); Hall Phoenix/Inwood v. Hallwood Group Inc. (In re Hallwood Energy, L.P.), No. 09-31253-11, 2010 WL 3211688, at *4 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. Aug. 11, 2010); see also Tex. R. Evid. 503(b). The party asserting the privilege has the burden to prove it applies.

[4] Lifespace previously has acknowledged that Texas law concerning attorney-client privilege applies in this proceeding. See ECF #370, pp. 4-6.

Peeples v. Honorable Fourth Supreme Judicial Dist., 701 S.W.2d 635, 637 (Tex. 1985) ("Any party who seeks to deny the production of evidence must claim a specific privilege against such production. The burden is on the party asserting a privilege from discovery to produce evidence concerning the applicability of a particular privilege"). "If the matter for which a privilege is sought has been disclosed to a third party, thus raising the question of waiver of the privilege, the party asserting the privilege has the burden of proving that no waiver has occurred." Jordan v. Court of Appeals for Fourth Supreme Judicial Dist., 701 S.W.2d 644, 649 (Tex. 1985).

Thus, Lifespace must prove—with evidence—that its blanket disclosure to Edgemere was (a) a confidential communication, (b) made for the purpose of facilitating the rendition of professional legal services, (c) between or among the client, the lawyer and/or their representatives, and (d) the privilege has not been waived. In re Lopez, No. 21-10098, 2022 WL 2080187, at *8 (Bankr. E.D. Tex. June 9, 2022).

b. Waiver of Attorney-Client Privilege

Under Texas law, the holder of a privilege waives the privilege if he or she "voluntarily discloses or consents to disclosure of any significant part of the privileged matter unless such disclosure itself is privileged." Tex. R. Evid. 511(a)(1); see also, e.g., Paxton v. City of Dallas, 509 S.W.3d 247, 263 (Tex. 2017); Univ. of Texas Sys. v. Franklin Ctr. For Gov't & Pub. Integrity, 675 S.W.3d 273 (Tex. 2023), reh'g denied (Oct. 20, 2023). While there is a narrow exception to this general rule in Texas Rule of Evidence 503(b)(1)(C) for communications by the client, the client's representative, the client's lawyer, or the lawyer's representative "to a lawyer representing another party in a pending action or that lawyer's representative," application of that exception still requires that the communication be "made to facilitate the rendition of professional legal services to the client" and that the communication "concern a matter of common interest in the pending action."

Here, there are two reasons why Lifespace's disclosure to Edgemere falls outside the bounds of the safe harbor in Texas Rule of Evidence 503(b)(1)(C). The first is that the disclosure was not, and could not have been, "made to facilitate the rendition of professional legal services to" Lifespace. Instead, it was merely for Lifespace's convenience in responding to a subpoena. Indeed, it could not have been for Lifespace to receive legal advice or rendition of professional legal services because Lifespace made the disclosure to Estate professionals (Edgemere's bankruptcy counsel at Polsinelli) who were foreclosed under 11 U.S.C. § 327(a)'s disinterestedness requirement from rendering legal services to a creditor like Lifespace.

Lifespace itself clearly explained that the disclosure was merely a matter of convenience, and not one intended to secure the rendition of legal services:

> So, because Lifespace manages all of the information that could be potentially responsive to these overlapping discovery requests, Edgemere coordinated with Lifespace to perform a reasonable search to collect all information in Lifespace's possession, custody, and control that could be potentially responsive to Defendants' discovery requests. That information was reviewed for responsiveness and for privilege, and produced to Defendants, together with a comprehensive privilege log.[5]

And, indeed, Lifespace and Plaintiff each doubled down on that characterization. As perhaps most clearly explained by Lifespace: "all documents were in the possession, custody, and control of both Lifespace and Edgemere" and if the companies "were to do two separate productions, they would have been identical."[6] Plaintiff agreed, responding affirmatively when the Court inquired whether "if called upon for Edgemere to do its own document gathering, it would have had access to the same documents that were pulled for it by its parent sponsor Lifespace[.]"[7]

5 Transcript of Hearing dated January 25, 2023, at 37:4–12.

6 Transcript of Hearing Held Nov. 7, 2023 ("11/7 Tran."), pp. 9:15-18, 17:9-11 (E. Walker for Lifespace).

7 11/7 Tran., p. 43:2-13 (G. Taylor for Plaintiff).

Plaintiff further clarified that the overlap in the documents extended beyond those produced and also to those withheld: "If we had done a separate privilege log, my guess is, it would have been exactly the same as Lifespace."[8] Following those representations, the Court similarly acknowledged, correctly, that "I will say I find it hard to understand how a privilege log could be prepared by Polsinelli without having seen the document[.]"[9]

As a result of this wholesale provision of arguably-privileged correspondence from one entity (Lifespace) to a separate entity (Edgemere), Lifespace waived privilege over the Lifespace Communications.

Similarly, the Court in its June 23, 2023 Order recognized that:

> The mere relatedness of the Plaintiff and Lifespace does not create the privilege. This is particularly true in cases like the present where the entities are and were then represented by separate counsel. Thus, if the Plaintiff cannot show that the entities share a common attorney or a common legal interest so as to come within the joint-client rule, the Plaintiff must demonstrate that the disclosure was made between the entities for the purpose of eliciting assistance from the attorney in rendering legal advice or services.[10]

The italicized language in the above correctly underscores why Lifespace's disclosure to Plaintiff falls squarely within the general rule: Lifespace did not disclose communications to Lifespace to elicit legal advice or to facilitate the rendition of professional legal services to Lifespace. Rather, it did so simply as a manner of convenience.

That alone is enough to resolve the issue: Lifespace's disclosure of the Lifespace Communications was not to elicit legal advice or to facilitate the rendition of professional legal services to Lifespace—it could not have been, because Edgemere's bankruptcy counsel was foreclosed from rendering legal advice or legal services to a creditor like Lifespace. But, even if that was not enough to resolve the issue, Lifespace also cannot show the "related companies exception" to privilege waiver applies here.[11] The foundation of the "related companies exception" is that a parent and its subsidiary share a unity of interest. See, e.g., In re Napster, Inc. Copyright Litig., 2005 WL 6569723 4–5 (N.D. Cal. Apr. 12, 2005); In re Teleglobe Commns. Corp., 493 F.3d 345, 370–71 (3d Cir. 2007) (intercorporate disclosures waive privilege when there is no longer a "community-of-interest" between the entities); In re Grand Jury Subpoena #06-1, 274 Fed. Appx. 306, 311 (4th Cir. 2008) ("co-client" privilege enjoyed by affiliated entities "circumscribed by the limited congruence of the clients' interests") (internal quotation omitted); see also, e.g., Restatement (Third) of the Law Governing Lawyers § 73, cmt. d (a "subsidiary corporation's agents who are responsible for affairs of the parent are also considered agents of the parent for purpose of the privilege) (emphasis added). And as the Gulf Islands Court explained: "Having chosen to operate as separate entities—and to obtain whatever advantages inure from so operating—[Lifespace and Edgemere] must be held to their burden of proving the applicability of any privilege in the same manner as two unrelated entities." Gulf Islands Leasing, Inc. v. Bombardier Cap., Inc., 215 F.R.D. 466, 474 (S.D.N.Y. 2003).

Here again, that community of interest no longer existed at the time of Lifespace's disclosure to Edgemere: it was a $5 million creditor engaged in arm's length negotiations with Edgemere. There is no proper basis for the application of the "related companies exception" under these circumstances. And, for substantially the same reasons, Lifespace and Edgemere did not share a common interest that could otherwise have changed the analysis (assuming, counterfactually, that the purpose of the disclosure was to facilitate the rendition of legal services by Edgemere's counsel to Lifespace).

2. Work-product Protection

Nor may the Lifespace Communications properly be withheld as attorney work-product. Work-product protection "works to protect the mental process of an attorney from inquiry by an opposing party" when documents are prepared in anticipation of litigation. Smith v. Diamond Offshore Drilling, Inc., et al., 168 F.R.D. 582, 583 (S.D. Tex.1996) (citing Hickman v. Taylor, 329 U.S. 495, 67 S.Ct. 385, 91 L.Ed. 451 (1947)); Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(3); In re Kaiser Alum. & Chem. Co., 214 F.3d 586, 593 (5th Cir. 2000), cert. denied 532 U.S. 919, 121 S.Ct. 1354, 149 L.Ed.2d 285 (2001). Work-product protection attaches when a document is created "for use in or in anticipation of litigation." Hodges, Grant & Kaufmann v. U.S. Govt., Dept. of the Treasury, I.R.S., 768 F.2d 719, 721 (5th Cir. 1985).

Work-product protection should be rejected when the proponent of the privilege provides only an affidavit with conclusory statements and insufficient facts to prove the privilege applies. Colardo-Keen v. Rockdale Cnty., Georgia, No. 1:14-CV-489-MHC, 2017 WL 4422349, at *2 (N.D. Ga. May 16, 2017); see also Biegas v. Quickway Carriers, Inc., 573 F.3d 365, 381 (6th Cir. 2009); Hunte v. Schneider Nat'l Carriers, Inc., No. 13-CV-2069-WSD, 2014 WL 3955723, at *4 (N.D. Ga. Aug. 13, 2014) ("The affidavit submitted by Jean Levash does not contain a factual basis for asserting the work-product privilege, and it is facially self-serving to support avoiding the production of required discovery."); Freiermuth v. PPG Indus., Inc., 218 F.R.D. 694, 699 (N.D. Ala. 2003) ("An affidavit containing mere conclusory statements that a document was prepared for the purpose of obtaining legal advice will not suffice in meeting defendant's burden.").

There are at least three reasons why the Lifespace Communications may not be withheld as work product. First, Lifespace is not a party and may not advance work product protection under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(b)(3)(A). Second, the Lifespace Communications have not been shown to have been created for use in litigation, nor is it likely that all were created even in anticipation of litigation. Third, when Lifespace disclosed the Lifespace Communications to Edgemere post-petition, such disclosure was disclosure to an adversary or potential adversary that served to waive the protection.

a. Non-parties cannot rely on Rule 26(b)(3)(A).

Work-product protection is codified at Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26, and by its terms does not extend to non-parties. Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(3)(A) ("Ordinarily, a party may not discover documents and tangible things that are prepared in anticipation of litigation or for trial by or for another party or its representative (including the other party's attorney, consultant, surety, indemnitor, insurer, or agent)."); see also Wright & Miller, 8 Fed. Prac. & Proc. Civ. § 2028 (3d ed.). Thus, Lifespace cannot claim work-product protection under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26; it must instead show that it warrants protection under the common law precepts announced in Hickman v. Taylor, 329 U.S. 495, 67 S.Ct. 385, 91 L.Ed. 451 (1947) and its progeny. To date, Lifespace has not done so.

b. Absence of a concrete litigation link.

"Only those documents truly created for use in litigation should be shielded, and documents primarily created for some other purpose (business transactions, management direction, record-keeping, archiving) should not be shielded lest more and more crucial evidence is lost to the truth-seeking process." In re Blue Cross Blue Shield Antitrust Litig. (MDL No.: 2406), No. 2:13-CV-20000-RDP, 2015 WL 10891632, at *6 (N.D. Ala. Nov. 4, 2015). Here, Lifespace has not shown and cannot show that the Lifespace Communications were "truly created for use in litigation" such that work-product protection ever attached in the first place. For work-product protection to apply, the emails "must be part of the process of seeking, developing, or conveying legal advice or strategy" or "involve the investigation of [a] claim . . . or the development of legal strategy." In re Lumber Liquidator S Chinese–Manufactured Flooring Products Marketing, No. 1:15-md-02627, 2015 WL 9474286, at *1 (E.D. Va. 2015); Coffey v. Tyler Staffing Servs., Inc., No. 7:19-CV-00015, 2020 WL 1307233, at *3 (W.D. Va. Mar. 19, 2020). Defendants do not know what the Lifespace Communications contain, but Lifespace has not yet shown that the Lifespace Communications involve discussions of legal strategy or they conveyance of legal advice.

Nor, for that matter, has Lifespace yet shown that the Lifespace Communications—or at least all the Lifespace Communications—were created in anticipation of litigation. Indeed, many of the Lifespace Communications pre-date any discussions between Edgemere and Defendants and thus pre-date any reasonable expectation of litigation between Edgemere and Defendants. It is true that they may instead pertain to Edgemere's bankruptcy case, but again many far precede the Petition Date and if it is the case that Edgemere was engaged in concrete pre-bankruptcy planning before any discussions between Edgemere and Defendants occurred, it puts the lie to Plaintiff's allegations that Defendants caused or accelerated Edgemere's bankruptcy.

Work-product protection is waived when an attorney (a) voluntarily discloses protected information to the court or does not object when it is offered, or (b) discloses protected information to an adversary or substantially increases the opportunity for an adversary to obtain the information. Shields v. Sturm, Ruger & Co., 864 F.2d 379, 382 (5th Cir. 1989) ("[T]he work-product privilege is waived when the attorney requests the witness to disclose the information or when the attorney discloses the information to the court voluntarily or makes no objection when it is offered."); 34 A.L.R. Fed. 3d Art. 5 (Originally published in 2018) ("Since using the protection to keep documents from one adversary but disclosing the documents to another adversary when it is advantageous does not serve the function for which the protection was established, a disclosure of the work-product to one adversary also operates as a waiver of the protection as to other adversaries."); Ecuadorian Plaintiffs v. Chevron Corp., 619 F.3d 373, 378 (5th Cir. 2010) ("Although work-product immunity is not automatically waived by disclosure of protected material to third parties, disclosure does waive protection if it 'has substantially increased the opportunities for potential adversaries to obtain the information.'").

Here, Lifespace waived the work-product protection by voluntarily disclosing the Lifespace Communications to Edgemere, which was its adversary or potential adversary because Lifespace was a creditor of Edgemere at the time of the disclosure. Creditors are always potential adversaries in a bankruptcy case, and Lifespace was no exception. Under Ecuadorian Plaintiffs, that is all that is required for waiver.

The Lifespace Communications should therefore be produced.

B. The GrayRobinson Communications are not privileged or protected.

The current iteration of Plaintiff and Lifespace's joint privilege log identifies a host of communications with GrayRobinson, each of which is dated in the immediate pre-petition period spanning March to April 2022. GrayRobinson represented Edgemere's Board of Directors.

As explained above, the burden of showing the application of privilege falls on the party advancing the privilege. It does not appear that any of the GrayRobinson Communications was intended to facilitate the provision of professional legal services to the Edgemere Board—GrayRobinson's client. Nor for that matter were they directed to "a lawyer representing another party in a pending action" or such attorney's representative, if for no other reason than because there was no pending action involving GrayRobinson's client, the Edgemere Board, when the GrayRobinson Communications occurred. Tex. R. Evid. 503(b)(1)(C); see also, e.g., In re XL Specialty Ins. Co., 373 S.W.3d 46, 54 (Tex. 2012) ("no matter how common XL's and Cintas's interests might have been, our rule requires that the communication be made to a lawyer or her representative representing another party in a pending action") (emphases in original). For these reasons alone, the GrayRobinson Communications were not privileged and should be produced.[12]

Even if Texas privilege law was not crystal clear on this point—and it is—the interests of the Edgemere Board were separate and distinct from those of Edgemere itself and of Lifespace. Edgemere's counsel did not "advise or counsel the Boards' members in their deliberative process regarding the discharge of their fiduciary duties to the Debtors" and it was that "distinct role" that the Debtors considered warranted the engagement of GrayRobinson as an estate professional.[13] What is more, Edgemere recognized pre-petition that the directors' distinct interests warranted engagement of separate counsel, and so Edgemere engaged GrayRobinson pre-petition to represent the directors and to advance those distinct interests.[14] As Edgemere further explained, GrayRobinson's retention was "especially critical" in Edgemere's bankruptcy case because its engagement included "providing advice and counsel to the Restructuring Committee of [Edgemere], a committee whose purpose is to address matters involving the Debtors restructuring and conflicts, and is comprised only of independent directors who are not otherwise employed by [12] To be clear, the rule mandates a pending action, not an impending one, as explained in footnotes 7 and 8 of XL and their accompanying text, in which the Court distinguished between federal concepts of the common interest exception (extending also to "potential" litigants) and the law in Texas and other states mandating "pending litigation in order for the doctrine to apply." See also, e.g., In re Dalco, 186 S.W.3d 660, 666–76 (Tex. App.—Beaumont 2006, no pet.) the Debtors."[15] And, to the extent there might otherwise be any doubt, GrayRobinson's engagement letter specifies that the firm was to serve "as counsel to the Edgemere Board and not to [Edgemere]."[16] And of course, this was wholly appropriate: while there is ample authority that the duties of a director of a wholly-owned subsidiary flow run to the subsidiary and its parent company in the ordinary context, when (as here) the subsidiary becomes insolvent the duties then run also to the subsidiary's creditors.[17]

All the same, the GrayRobinson Communications were not between GrayRobinson and the Edgemere Board. Instead, they were communications with Lifespace's outside counsel, Edgemere's outside counsel, and Edgemere's restructuring consultants. And, of course, they also included individuals who, in addition to serving on the Edgemere Board, also played leadership roles at Lifespace which, at the time, was among Edgemere's largest creditors. No privilege could have attached to the communications in the first place because there was no pending action as required under Texas law. But, even if that was not the rule, no privilege attached here because there were up to three entities (and their counsel) involved in the communications, each with separate and divergent interests in the immediate pre-petition period.

17 See, e.g., In re Central Illinois Energy Cooperative, 561 B.R. 699, 708-09 (Bankr. C.D. Ill. 2016) ("The Court sees no reason why the full panoply of common law duties and rules that apply to for-profit and other nonprofit corporations should not, as a general matter, apply equally to agricultural cooperative associations, including the special circumstances duties that occur upon insolvency" because requiring "officers and directors to consider the impact on creditors of a particular transaction or course of action when the entity is insolvent, is a normative rule tied to their position of authority unrelated to the organizational nature of the entity on whose behalf they act"); In re Lemington Home for Aged, 659 F.3d 282, 290 (3d Cir. 2011) (duties owed by nonprofit directors "are owed not only to the corporation and its shareholders, but also to the creditors of an insolvent entity"); see also, e.g., Nancy A. Peterman & Sherri Morisette, Directors' Duties in the Zone of Insolvency: the Quandry of the Nonprofit Corp., 23-Mar. Am. Bankr. Inst. J. 12, 12 (2004) ("As a result, upon entering the zone of insolvency, a board of directors has a fiduciary duty to consider all constituencies of the nonprofit corporation, including the creditors and the beneficiaries of the charitable mission of the corporation").

Nor does any claim of work-product protection fare any better. As explained above, only a party may assert protection under Rule 26, but (a) neither Lifespace nor the Edgemere Board is a party to this proceeding and (b) Edgemere has not explained and cannot explain why it is entitled to withhold work-product generated by the separate counsel to Edgemere's Board. What is more, as emphasized above, all of these communications were freely available between and among Lifespace and Edgemere in addition to Edgemere's Board, even though Lifespace was a major creditor and future adversary at the time of the GrayRobinson Communications. Thus, under Ecuadorian Plaintiffs any protection was waived because the GrayRobinson Communications were disclosed to "potential adversaries."

IV. CONCLUSION

Neither the Lifespace Communications nor the GrayRobinson Communications are privileged or protected. Same are therefore due to be produced.

Nonparty Lifespace Communities, Inc. ("Lifespace"), by and through its counsel, files this brief in opposition to the Defendants' Motion to Compel Production by Plaintiff and Brief in Support (the "Motion") at Adv. Pro. ECF No. 362[2] filed by Defendants Intercity Investment Properties, Inc. and Kong Capital LLC (collectively, "Defendants") and Defendants' Supplemental Brief Regarding the Lifespace Privilege Waiver and GrayRobinson Communications (the "Brief") at Adv. Pro. ECF No. 434. In support thereof, Lifespace respectfully states the following:

I. INTRODUCTION

Defendants' Brief is the latest in a series of aggressive litigation tactics intended to pressure and harass Lifespace, a nonparty to this Adversary Proceeding. This time, Defendants seek the extraordinary relief of obtaining access to substantially all of Lifespace's privileged communications with counsel. Defendants do not challenge the underlying privilege of any particular document withheld by Lifespace. Instead, Defendants make a sweeping argument that Lifespace's "disclosure" of privileged information to Plaintiff's counsel in coordinating responses to discovery in this Adversary Proceeding somehow constituted a wholesale waiver of Lifespace's privilege and work product protections. Defendants are wrong.

As Defendants concede, Texas Rule of Evidence 503(b)(1)(C) protects privileged communications disclosed to counsel for another party in a pending action to facilitate the rendition of professional legal services concerning a matter of common interest between the parties in that pending action. Here, Lifespace's disclosure of privileged communications to Plaintiff's counsel fits squarely within Rule 503(b)(1)(C) because it was made to facilitate the rendition of legal services in coordinating a response to duplicative discovery requests propounded by [2] All references to "ECF No." refer to the official case docket for these chapter 11 cases; all references to "Adv. Pro. ECF No." refer to the official case docket for this Adversary Proceeding.

Defendants in the Adversary Proceeding in which Plaintiff and Lifespace share a common interest—namely, to hold Defendants accountable for the significant damages they caused the Debtor and its estate. As explained below, Defendants' suggestion that Plaintiff's counsel was somehow prohibited from collaborating with Lifespace's counsel on discovery responses because Plaintiff's counsel could not have jointly represented Lifespace under 11 U.S.C. § 327 is meritless. Likewise, Defendants' argument that Lifespace could not have shared a common interest with Plaintiff in this Adversary Proceeding because Lifespace was a creditor of Plaintiff in the underlying chapter 11 case—a different legal proceeding—is wrong and should be rejected.

Defendants also fail to demonstrate that Lifespace waived its work product protection. The documents withheld by Lifespace under the work product doctrine fit squarely within the common law work product doctrine first articulated by the United States Supreme Court in its seminal case, Hickman v. Taylor, 329 U.S. 495 (1947), and more recently endorsed by the Fifth Circuit in Adams v. Memorial Hermann, 973 F.3d 343 (5th Cir. 2020), which protects from disclosure, among other things, a lawyer's research, analysis of legal theories, mental impressions, memoranda, communications and notes prepared in anticipation of litigation. Defendants fail to meet their burden to demonstrate that Lifespace somehow waived its work product protection when coordinating with Plaintiff's counsel in response to Defendants' duplicative discovery requests because they cannot show that Plaintiff was an adversary or potential adversary of Lifespace in this Adversary Proceeding.

Finally, the GrayRobinson communications are privileged and protected from disclosure because they fall squarely within the related companies' exception to waiver, which protects privileged communications shared within the corporate organization relating to issues in which the parties share a common interest. Here, Lifespace, Edgemere and Edgemere's board of directors all shared a common interest in pursuing claims against Defendants for their unlawful conduct in breaching the NDA and attempting to destroy the Edgemere community for their own financial gain.

II. BACKGROUND

Prior to its chapter 11 bankruptcy filing, Lifespace was the sole member and exclusive manager of Edgemere, responsible for managing all of Edgemere's operations and maintaining virtually all information relating to Edgemere's finances and operations pursuant to the terms of a Management Services Agreement dated August 15, 2019 between Lifespace and Edgemere (the "MSA"). See Ex. 2, App'x at 9-10. In connection with the management services Lifespace provided to Edgemere under the MSA, Lifespace maintained all information relating to Edgemere's operations and finances, including maintaining the exclusive email and document management and storage system used by Edgemere. Id. at 10. All Edgemere employees utilized a "lifespacecommunities.com" email address with which to conduct business. Id. Those emails, and all other electronic information relating to Edgemere, were stored on cloud-based information technology infrastructure operated by Lifespace (the "Lifespace Server"). Id.

On April 14, 2022 (the "Petition Date"), Edgemere filed its voluntary chapter 11 petition in this Court. See Pet., ECF No. 1. That same day, Edgemere commenced this Adversary Proceeding by a filing a complaint against its landlord, Intercity Investment Properties, Inc., and the landlord's agent, Kong Capital LLC, a private equity firm, asserting claims for breach of its non-disclosure agreement and tortious interference with existing and prospective customer and business relationships, which contributed to Edgemere's financial distress and chapter 11 bankruptcy filing. See Compl., Adv. Pro. ECF No. 1.[3]

[3] The initial adversary complaint was recently amended by Plaintiff. See First Amended Compl., Adv. Pro. ECF No. 422.

On June 28, 2022, Defendants propounded document requests on Edgemere in connection with this Adversary Proceeding. Two days later, Defendants served a Rule 45 subpoena (the "Subpoena") on Lifespace, which contained document requests nearly identical to the discovery served on Edgemere. Because of the substantial overlap of Defendants' duplicative discovery requests, the fact that all of the information responsive to these requests were likely to reside on the Lifespace Server and the common legal interest shared by Lifespace and Edgemere in the Adversary Proceeding, Lifespace coordinated its response to the Subpoena with Edgemere. Ex. 1, App'x. at 3, 4. Specifically, Lifespace coordinated with Edgemere's counsel to identify and collect potentially responsive information from the Lifespace Server, review that information for responsiveness and privilege, make a production of responsive, non-privileged information to Defendants and prepare a detailed privilege and redaction log for information withheld from production on the basis of privilege and/or work product. Id.

On August 1, 2022, Lifespace served its responses and objections to the Subpoena, and between August 4, 2022 and October 26, 2022, Edgemere produced responsive, non-privileged information to Defendants on behalf of both Edgemere and Lifespace (the "Joint Production") together with a comprehensive joint privilege log (as amended, the "Privilege Log") identifying various communications and other information withheld on the basis of attorney-client privilege, work product protection or other privileges and protections.

Over the past 16 months, Defendants have asserted no less than five challenges regarding the propriety of the Joint Production and Privilege Log. Defendants' latest gambit is their boldest yet—an attempt to deprive Lifespace of any of the bedrock legal protections provided by the attorney-client privilege or work product doctrine to create an unfair litigation advantage. As explained below, their misguided attempt must fail.

III. ARGUMENT

A. Lifespace's Privileged Communications Are Protected From Disclosure By Texas Rule Of Evidence 503(b)(1)(C).

It is axiomatic that the "attorney-client privilege is the oldest of the privileges for confidential communications known to the common law. Its purpose is to encourage full and frank communications between attorneys and their clients, and thereby promote broader public interests in the observance of law and administration of justice." Upjohn Co. v. United States, 449 U.S. 383, 389 (1981) (internal citation removed). As the Texas Supreme Court has recognized, "[t]he attorney-client privilege exists—and has been a cornerstone of our legal system for nearly 500 years—because the interests protected and secured by the promise of confidentiality are not merely significant; they are quintessentially imperative." Paxton v. City of Dall., 509 S.W.3d 247, 259-60 (Tex. 2017).

Here, Lifespace appropriately asserted its attorney-client privilege by withholding from production certain communications listed on the Privilege Log (the "Lifespace Privileged Communications"). See Ex. 1, App'x at 4-5. The Lifespace Privileged Communications are privileged under Texas law because they consist of confidential communications made for the purpose of facilitating the rendition of legal professional legal services made between and among Lifespace, its counsel and its representatives. See Tex. R. Evid. 511(a)(1). In their Brief, Defendants do not challenge the underlying privilege of any of the Lifespace Privileged Communications.[4] Instead, Defendants argue that Lifespace triggered a wholesale waiver of the privilege for all of the Lifespace Privileged Communications when they were disclosed to Plaintiff's counsel for the purpose of coordinating a response to the Subpoena.

[4] Defendants previously challenged Plaintiff's assertion of the attorney-client privilege for communications between Lifespace and Edgemere. The Court rejected that challenge, holding that the related companies' exception to waiver applied to communications between Lifespace and Edgemere and ordered an in camera review of a subset of Lifespace and Edgemere communications to determine whether those communications were made for a legal purpose or commercial purpose. See Order at 9-10, Adv. Proc. ECF No. 314 (the "June 23 Order"). Upon completing that review, the Court concluded that the vast majority of those communication were privileged and therefore protected from disclosure by the related companies' exception to waiver of privilege. See Nov. 7, 2023 Hr'g Tr. at 86:14-17.

However, as Defendants concede in their Brief (at 5), Texas Rule of Evidence 503(b)(1)(C) protects "confidential communications made to facilitate the rendition of professional legal services to the client . . . by the client, the client's representative, the client's lawyer, or the lawyer's representative to a lawyer representing another party in a pending action . . . if the communications concern a matter of common interest in the pending action." Tex. R. Evid. 503(b)(1)(C). Defendants contend that Lifespace should not get the benefit of this statutory protection because (1) the disclosure to Plaintiff for purposes of responding to the Subpoena was somehow not "made to facilitate the rendition of professional legal services," and (2) Lifespace did not share a common interest in the pending Adversary Proceeding because Lifespace was a creditor in the underlying chapter 11 proceeding. Br. at 6-9. Defendants are wrong on both points.

1. Lifespace's disclosure of the Lifespace Privileged Communications was made to facilitate the rendition of professional legal services.

The disclosure of the Lifespace Privileged Communications was not done "simply as a matter of convenience," as Defendants repeatedly contend. See Br. at 6-7. Rather, the disclosure was made to facilitate the rendition of professional legal services—i.e., to coordinate Lifespace's response to the Subpoena, which included Plaintiff's counsel assisting Lifespace and its counsel in identifying information on the Lifespace Server that could be potentially responsive to the Subpoena, evaluating that information for responsiveness and privilege, producing responsive, non-privileged information in response to the Subpoena, and preparing a comprehensive privilege and redaction log. It is difficult to understand Defendants' position that these activities are somehow not professional legal services protected under Rule 503(b)(1)(C).

Defendants' argument that Plaintiff's counsel could not possibly have assisted Lifespace in performing these professional legal services because of the disinterestedness requirement under 11 U.S.C. § 327(a) is similarly unavailing. As an initial matter, Defendants do not explain how the disinterestedness requirement for representing a debtor under section 327(a) prohibits Plaintiff's counsel from either having a common interest with Lifespace or coordinating with Lifespace and its counsel in responding to Defendants' duplicative discovery requests. Indeed, coordination among debtors and creditors is commonplace in chapter 11 cases, and communications among debtors and creditors on issues in which they have a common interest are routinely protected as privileged. See e.g. In re Cherokee Simeon Venture I, LLC, 2012 WL 12940975, at *3 (Bankr. D. Del. May 31, 2012); In re Tribune Co., 2011 WL 386827, at *6 (Bankr. D. Del. Feb. 3, 2011); In re Leslie Controls, Inc., 437 B.R. 493, 502 (Bankr. D. Del. 2010); In re Quigley Co., Inc., 2009 WL 9034027, at *4 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. Apr. 24, 2009).

Furthermore, Rule 503(b)(1)(C) does not require the party to which the privileged communications were disclosed to provide legal services to the disclosing party. Rather, it only requires that the disclosure be made "to facilitate the rendition of professional legal services to the client," even where the services are provided by the client's own counsel. Here, it is sufficient that the Lifespace Privileged Communications were disclosed to Plaintiff's counsel to facilitate the rendition of professional legal services to Lifespace by its own counsel in responding to the Subpoena.

2. Lifespace shared a common interest with Plaintiff in this Adversary Proceeding.

Defendants are wrong to suggest that Lifespace's role as a creditor in the underlying chapter 11 case precludes it from sharing a common legal interest with Plaintiff in this Adversary Proceeding. Rule 503(b)(1)(C) only requires that Lifespace and Plaintiff share a common interest "in the pending action," and not for all purposes in all other proceedings. See, e.g., Schmidt v. Rodriguez (In re Rodriguez), 2012 WL 3257889, at *6 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. Aug. 7, 2012) ("the fact that the Trustee and the Petitioning Creditors are on opposite sides of the adversary proceeding does not prevent the Trustee from invoking the privilege where the two sides share a common interest."). Here, Lifespace and Plaintiff shared, and continue to share, a common interest in the Adversary Proceeding—namely, to hold Defendants' accountable for their unlawful actions in breaching the NDA and attempting to destroy the Edgemere community for their own financial gain. See Ex. 1, App'x. at 3. Indeed, Lifespace is the largest beneficiary of the post-confirmation trust for which the Plaintiff serves as the trustee. See id. The fact that Lifespace may have engaged in arm's length negotiations with Plaintiff or was a creditor in a different proceeding does not undermine the common interest it shares with Plaintiff in this Adversary Proceeding.

B. Lifespace's Work Product Is Protected From Disclosure.

In addition to the Lifespace Privileged Communications, Lifespace also withheld from production certain documents reflecting its counsel's research, analysis of legal theories, mental impressions and notes prepared in anticipation of litigation (the "Lifespace Work Product").[5] See Ex. 1, App'x at 4. As with the attorney-client privilege, the United States Supreme Court long ago emphasized the importance of protecting an attorney's work product from disclosure in litigation:

> Were such materials open to opposing counsel on mere demand, much of what is now put down in writing would remain unwritten. An attorney's thoughts, heretofore inviolate, would not be his own. Inefficiency, unfairness and sharp practices would inevitably develop in the giving of legal advice and in the preparation of cases for trial. The effect on the legal impression would be demoralizing. And the interests of the clients and the cause of justice would be poorly served.

Hickman v. Taylor, 329 U.S. 495, 510 (1947).

[5] All of the Lifespace Work Product is also protected from disclosure by the attorney-client privilege. Accordingly, Defendants would have to defeat both Lifespace's privileges to compel disclosure of the Lifespace Work Product.

Here, Defendants are attempting to deprive Lifespace of its work product protection and force a blanket disclosure of all Lifespace Work Product to obtain an unfair advantage in this Adversary Proceeding. Defendants' advance three arguments in support of their aim: (1) Lifespace cannot obtain the benefits of the work product protection under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(b)(3)(A) because it is not a party to the Adversary Proceeding; (2) Lifespace has not shown that the Lifespace Work Product was prepared in anticipation of litigation; and (3) Lifespace waived its work product protection by disclosing the Lifespace Work Product to Plaintiff, which is or could become an adversary by virtue of the fact Lifespace was a creditor in Plaintiff's underlying chapter 11 case. All three arguments fail.

1. The Lifespace Work Product is protected from disclosure under Hickman and its progeny.

Defendants first contend that Lifespace cannot get the benefit of the work product protection under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(b)(3)(A) because it is not a party to this Adversary Proceeding. But that is an overly narrow reading of the work product protection. Indeed, Defendants reluctantly concede, as they must, that the work product doctrine can apply to Lifespace as a nonparty under Hickman and its progeny. See Br. at 10.

In Hickman, the United States Supreme Court held that the "[w]ork product of the lawyer" reflected in "interviews, statements, memoranda, correspondence, briefs, mental impressions, personal beliefs, and countless other tangible and intangible ways" must be protected from disclosure. 329 U.S. at 510-11 ("it is essential that a lawyer work with a certain degree of privacy, free from unnecessary intrusion by opposing parties and their counsel."). In Adams v. Mem. Hermann, the Fifth Circuit recognized that the work product doctrine first articulated in Hickman was only "partially codified as Rule 26(b)(3) in the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure." 973 F.3d 343, 349 (5th Cir. 2020). Indeed, despite the text of Rule 26(b)(3), several courts have recognized that a nonparty is entitled to withhold work product in responding to a subpoena. See, e.g., Carnes v. Crete Carrier Corp., 244 F.R.D. 694, 699 (N.D. Ga. 2007) ("Although the text of Rule 26(b)(3) appears to limit work product to parties, Rule 26(c), Rule 45, and Hickman suggest that the scope of protection should extend to a non-party"); Stanziale v. Career Path Training Corp. (In re Student Finance Corp.), 2006 WL 3484387 (E.D. Pa. Nov. 29, 2006) (same).

To withhold documents from disclosure under the work product doctrine in the Fifth Circuit, "a party must show that 'the primary motivating purpose behind the creation of the document was to aid in possible future litigation." United States v. Nelson, 732 F.3d 504, 518 (5th Cir. 2013). Here, the Lifespace Work Product was appropriately withheld from production because it includes documents that reflect the mental impressions, notes, legal research and legal analysis of Lifespace's counsel that were prepared in anticipation of, and to aid in, possible future litigation.[6] Ex. 1, App'x. at 4. Accordingly, these fall squarely within the work product doctrine as articulated by the Fifth Circuit.

2. The Lifespace Work Product was prepared in anticipation of litigation.

Next, Defendants emphasize that only documents created in anticipation of litigation may be protected from disclosure under the work product doctrine and that Lifespace has not yet shown that all the Lifespace Work Product was prepared in anticipation of litigation. See Br. at 11. But as set forth above, and in the Declaration of Nick Harshfield appended hereto as Exhibit 1, the Lifespace Work Product was prepared in anticipation of, and to aid in, possible future litigation with Defendants. See Ex. 1, App'x. at 4.

[6] Additionally, all of the Lifespace Work Product are also protected from disclosure by the attorney-client privilege. Accordingly, even if the Court were to find that the work product doctrine does not apply to any of the Lifespace Work Product, they are nonetheless still protected from disclosure by the attorney-client privilege.

Defendants insinuate, without any explanation or evidentiary support, that some the Lifespace Work Product could not have been prepared in anticipation of litigation because "many of the Lifespace Communications pre-date any discussions between Edgemere and Defendants." Br. at 11. But Defendants fail to explain why Plaintiff or Lifespace could only have anticipated possible litigation with Defendants after certain, unspecified discussions between Edgemere and Defendants. In any event, the Fifth Circuit has rejected Defendants' suggestion that litigation must be imminent for documents to be entitled to the protection of the work product doctrine. See, United States v. Davis, 636 F.2d 1028, 1040 (5th Cir. 1981) ("It is admittedly difficult to reduce to a neat general formula the relationship between preparation of a document and possible litigation necessary to trigger the protection of the work product doctrine. We conclude that litigation need not necessarily be imminent as some courts have suggested as long as the primary motivating purpose behind the creation of the document was to aid in possible future litigation.") (internal citations omitted).[7] The evidence demonstrates that the Lifespace Work Product was prepared in anticipation of, or to aid in, litigation and thus is entitled to protection under the work product doctrine.

3. Lifespace did not waive its work product protections by disclosing the Lifespace Work Product to Plaintiff's counsel.

Unlike waiver of the attorney-client privilege, where disclosure to any third party can result in a waiver of the privilege, work product protection is only waived when there is a disclosure to an adversary or potential adversary. As the party asserting the waiver, Defendants have the burden of proving the Lifespace Work Product was waived. See, e.g., Davidson v. Alltrade Tools, LLC, 2019 WL 13194143, at *2 (N.D. Tex. May 10, 2019) ("Importantly, the burden of proving waiver of work-product protection falls on the party asserting waiver."). Defendants fail to meet that burden here.

Defendants only argument is that Lifespace was a creditor of Plaintiff in the underlying chapter 11 case and therefore an adversary or potential adversary of Plaintiff. See Br. at 12 ("Creditors are always potential adversaries in a bankruptcy case, and Lifespace was no exception."). That argument misses the mark again because it incorrectly conflates the underlying chapter 11 case with the separate Adversary Proceeding against Defendants. Just because Lifespace may have been a creditor of Plaintiff in the underlying chapter 11 case does not make it an adversary or potential adversary of Plaintiff in this Adversary Proceeding. Indeed, as explained above and in the Harshfield Declaration, Lifespace and Plaintiff are completely aligned in this Adversary Proceeding and have a shared interest in holding Defendants accountable for their unlawful conduct. See Ex. 1, App'x at 3. Defendants have offered no evidence that Lifespace is an adversary or potential adversary of Plaintiff in this Adversary Proceeding. Consequently, Defendants fail to meet their burden of proving a waiver of the protections of the work product doctrine.

C. The GrayRobinson Communications Are Privileged

Defendants also seek the wholesale disclosure of all communications with GrayRobinson (the "GrayRobinson Communications"), outside counsel to Edgemere's board of directors (the "Edgemere Board"). In support of that extraordinary relief, Defendants allege simply that "[i]t does not appear that any of the GrayRobinson Communications was intended to facilitate the provision of professional legal services to the Edgemere Board—GrayRobinson's client." Br. at 12. That is not correct. The GrayRobinson communications were made to facilitate the rendition of professional legal services from GrayRobinson to its client, the Edgemere Board, concerning a matter of common interest in this Adversary Proceeding. Ex. 1, App'x. at 3-4. These communications are protected from disclosure by both the related companies' exception to waiver and Texas Rule of Evidence 503(b)(1)(C).

First, this Court has previously ruled that the related companies' exception to waiver applies to Lifespace and Plaintiff. See June 23 Order at 6-7. That exception includes the Edgemere Board because, like parent and subsidiary, which "are considered the same person for purposes of the privilege,"[8] the board of directors is also considered part of the corporate family for purposes of the privilege. See, e.g., In re Grand Jury 90-1, 758 F. Supp. 1411, 1413 (D. Colo. 1991) (holding that the attorney-client privilege of a company extends to the board of directors, finding that "relaying this information to the Board was merely making advice available to another part of this inanimate entity."). This conclusion is consistent with the Northern District of Texas's interpretation of the United States Supreme Court's seminal case concerning the application of the attorney-client privilege in the corporate setting, Upjohn Co. v. United States, 449 U.S. 383 (1981), which rejected a mechanistic approach to the application of the attorney-client privilege in the corporate setting in favor of a case-by-case evaluation to determine whether application of the privilege would further the underlying purpose of the privilege. See American Airlines, 2012 WL 12884822, at *5. In American Airlines, the Court agreed that the related companies' exception applied to a protect disclosure of privileged information shared between a parent and its majority-owned subsidiaries and rejected a claim of waiver for communications "shared with Blackstone employees, directors, in-house counsel, and/or outside counsel." Id. at *5 (emphasis added). Similarly, this Court has held that the related companies' exception to waiver applies to Lifespace and its wholly owned affiliate, Edgemere. See June 23 Order at 6-7 ("The Court finds that the 'related companies exception' would apply to communications between Lifespace, the Plaintiff and counsel to the extent the underlying communications were made in furtherance of legal services or are covered by some other applicable privilege."). As in American Airlines, that exception covers the directors of the Edgemere Board, who are ultimately responsible for making decisions for the Edgemere.

Defendants nevertheless attempt to separate the Edgemere Board from Edgemere and Lifespace, contending that "the interests of the Edgemere Board were separate and distinct from those of Edgemere itself and of Lifespace" and point to the GrayRobinson retention application filed in the underlying chapter 11 proceeding. Br. at 13 (citing to the purpose of GrayRobinson's retention in the chapter 11 proceeding to provide advice and counsel to the restructuring committee of the Edgemere Board to address matters involving the Debtor's restructuring and potential conflicts in the chapter 11 proceeding). Again, Defendants incorrectly conflate the underlying chapter 11 case from this Adversary Proceeding. Defendants have not offered any evidence that the Edgemere Board's interests conflicted with or diverged from the interests of Plaintiff and Lifespace in this Adversary Proceeding. Indeed, none exists. The Edgemere Board shared a common interest with the Plaintiff and Lifespace in pursuing claims against Defendants in this Adversary Proceeding. See Ex. 1, App'x. at 3.

Second, the GrayRobinson communications are also protected from disclosure under Texas Rule of Evidence 503(b)(1)(C) because they were made to facilitate the rendition of professional legal services from GrayRobinson to its client, the Edgemere Board, concerning a matter of common interest in this Adversary Proceeding. Defendants argue that these communications are not protected because there is no pending action "involving GrayRobinson's client, the Edgemere Board, when the GrayRobinson Communications occurred." Br. at 12-13. But Rule 503(b)(1)(C) does not require a pending action "involving" the client, it only requires a pending action. Here, the pending action is the Adversary Proceeding by Plaintiff against Defendants.

Finally, Defendants argue that the GrayRobinson Communications categorically are not protected by the work product doctrine. See Br. at 15. In support of that argument, Defendants simply reiterate their previous arguments with respect to work product: (a) neither Lifespace nor the Edgemere Board is a party to this Adversary Proceeding, and (b) the Edgemere Board waived its work product protections by sharing disclosing the work product to Plaintiff and Lifespace. See Br. at 15. Those arguments fail for the same reasons discussed above: (a) under Hickman and its progeny, the work product protection extends beyond just parties and includes the mental impressions, memoranda and correspondence of counsel for the Edgemere Board made in anticipation of possible litigation, and (b) Defendants have failed to meet their burden that the work product protection was waived by the Edgemere Board.

IV. CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, the Court should deny all remaining aspects of the Motion that relate to the Lifespace Privileged Communications, Lifespace Work Product and GrayRobinson Communications, and order such further and other relief as is just and appropriate.

DECLARATION OF NICK HARSHFIELD

I, Nick Harshfield, declare under penalty of perjury pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1746:

1. My name is Nick Harshfield. I am over the age of 21 years and am competent in all respects to make this declaration. Except as otherwise indicated, all statements set forth in this Declaration are based upon my personal knowledge

2. I make this Declaration on behalf of Lifespace Communities, Inc. ("Lifespace") in opposition to: (a) Defendants' Motion to Compel Production by Plaintiff and Brief in Support at Adv. Pro. ECF No. 362; and (b) Defendants' Supplemental Brief Regarding the Lifespace Privilege Waiver and GrayRobinson Communications at Adv. Pro. ECF No. 434 filed in the above-

[1] The Debtors in these chapter 11 cases, along with the last four digits of each Debtor's federal tax identification number, are Northwest Senior Housing Corporation d/b/a Edgemere ("Edgemere") (1278) and Senior Quality Lifestyles Corporation (2669). The Debtors' mailing address is 8523 Thackery Street, Dallas, Texas 75225.

referenced adversary proceeding (this "Adversary Proceeding") by Intercity Investment Properties, Inc. and Kong Capital, LLC (collectively, "Defendants").

3. I am the Chief Financial Officer of Lifespace. I also served as Director, Vice Chair, Treasurer of Northwest Senior Housing Corporation, the predecessor-in-interest to the plaintiff in this Adversary Proceeding. In my capacity in those roles, I have personal knowledge of, and am familiar with the circumstances and events leading to and occurring during this Adversary Proceeding. I am authorized to submit this Declaration, which is intended to supplement my previous declaration filed in this Adversary Proceeding on January 20, 2023, at Adv. Pro. ECF No. 275.

4. The current Plaintiff in this Adversary Proceeding is the Leif M. Clark, Trustee of the Edgemere Litigation Trust formed on the effective date of the chapter 11 plan confirmed in Edgemere's chapter 11 bankruptcy proceeding pending in this Court (Case No. 22-30659). Lifespace is the largest beneficiary of the Edgemere Litigation Trust on account of Lifespace's voluntary contribution of over $150 million in connection with the Edgemere chapter 11 plan to ensure that current and former residents were paid their entrance fee refunds in full.

5. Lifespace's interests have been consistently aligned with the interests of Edgemere and the Plaintiff in this Adversary Proceeding to hold Defendants accountable for their unlawful actions in breaching the NDA and attempting to destroy the Edgemere community for their own financial gain.

6. Likewise, the interests of the board of directors of Edgemere have been consistently aligned with the interests of Lifespace, Edgemere and the Plaintiff in this Adversary Proceeding.

7. On June 28, 2022, Defendants propounded document requests on Edgemere in connection with this Adversary Proceeding. Two days later, Defendants served a Rule 45 subpoena on Lifespace ("Subpoena"). The documents requests propounded by Defendants on Edgemere and Lifespace were substantially similar.

8. Because of the similarities in the overlapping document requests propounded by Defendants on Lifespace and Edgemere and the fact that all of the information responsive to these requests were likely to reside on the cloud-based information technology infrastructure operated by Lifespace, I understand that Lifespace coordinated its response to the Subpoena with Edgemere's counsel. Specifically, Lifespace and its counsel coordinated with Edgemere's counsel to identify and collect potentially responsive information from the Lifespace Server, review that information for responsiveness and privilege, make a production of responsive, non-privileged information to Defendants and prepare a detailed privilege and redaction log for information withheld from production on the basis of privilege and/or work product.

9. I understand that Lifespace's counsel, in coordination with Edgemere's counsel, identified and withheld from the production to Defendants documents that consisted of (a) confidential communications made for the purpose of facilitating the rendition of legal professional legal services to Lifespace (the "Lifespace Privileged Communications"); (b) documents reflecting the legal research, analysis, mental impressions, memoranda, correspondence and/or notes of Lifespace's counsel that were prepared in anticipation of, or to aid in, possible future litigation (the "Lifespace Work Product"); (c) confidential communications made for the purpose of facilitating the rendition of legal professional legal services to the Edgemere Board (the "Edgemere Board Privileged Communications"); and (d) documents reflecting the legal research, analysis, mental impressions, memoranda, correspondence and/or notes of counsel to the Edgemere Board that were prepared in anticipation of, or to aid in, possible future litigation (the "Edgemere Board Work Product" and together with the Lifespace Privileged Communications, the Lifespace Work Product and the Edgemere Board Privileged Communications, the "Privileged Information").

10. To my knowledge, none of the Privileged Information has been disclosed to a third party with interests adverse to Lifespace in the Adversary Proceeding.

11. Except as otherwise indicated, all facts set forth in this Declaration are based upon my personal knowledge, my opinion based upon my experience and knowledge of this Adversary Proceeding, and information provided to me by counsel. If called as a witness, I would testify consistently with the facts set forth in this Declaration.

Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1746, I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct.

DECLARATION OF NICK HARSHFIELD

I, Nick Harshfield, declare under penalty of perjury pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1746:

1. My name is Nick Harshfield. I am over the age of 21 years, of sound mind, and competent to testify. I swear that all the matters contained herein are true and correct and are based upon my personal knowledge.

2. I make this Declaration on behalf of Debtor Northwest Senior Housing Corporation ("Edgemere") and Lifespace Communities, Inc. ("Lifespace") relating to the following motions filed in this adversary proceeding (this "Adversary Proceeding") by Intercity Investment Properties, Inc. and Kong Capital, LLC (collectively, "Defendants"): (a) Motion to Compel Plaintiff's Production of Documents [Dkt. No. 226] (the "Edgemere Motion"); and (b) Motion to Compel Lifespace Communities, Inc.'s Production of Documents [Dkt. No. 238] (the "Lifespace Motion" and, together with the Edgemere Motion, the "Motions"). The Motions are set for hearing on January 25, 2023.

3. I obtained my B.S.B.A from the University of Louisville in 1993.

4. I am currently a Director, Vice Chair and Treasurer of Edgemere, the Plaintiff in this Adversary Proceeding. I am also Chief Financial Officer of Lifespace. I have over fifteen years of experience in elder healthcare, including with continuing care retirement communities ("CCRCs"). I have served as a Vice President, Chief Financial Officer, and Chief Compliance Officer for multiple CCRCs for over a decade. I have experience serving as an officer of non-profit multistate healthcare service providers that cater to senior adults. The organizations I have worked with have included CCRCs, and have offered skilled nursing, assisted living, adult day centers, home health, and multi-level retirement to seniors. I also have experience in developing strategic growth and capital plans for CCRCs.

5. In my capacity as Director, Vice Chair and Treasurer of Edgemere and as Chief Financial Officer of Lifespace, I have personal knowledge of, and am familiar with, the business affairs, day-to-day operations, books and records and organizational structure of both Lifespace and Edgemere, and I am authorized to submit this Declaration.

6. Edgemere is a Texas nonprofit corporation and is exempt from federal income taxation as a charitable organization described under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended. Edgemere owns and operates a best-in-class senior living community known as Edgemere located in Dallas, Texas (the "Community").

7. Lifespace is Edgemere's sole member. Lifespace is an Iowa not-for-profit corporation exempt from Federal income taxes under IRC Section 501(c)(3). Lifespace is authorized to do business in Texas and other states. Lifespace, directly or through affiliates, owns and operates 17 other senior living communities in seven states. Attached hereto as Exhibit A is a chart reflecting the corporate structure of Edgemere and its affiliates.

8. In June 2019, Lifespace affiliated with and became the sole member of Debtors Edgemere and Senior Quality Lifestyles Corporation ("SQLC"), among other entities, pursuant to an affiliation agreement, dated as of May 10, 2019, by and between Lifespace and SQLC (the "Affiliation Agreement"). SQLC was formerly the sole owner of Seniority Inc. ("Seniority"), a California corporation that specialized in developing, operating, and managing CCRCs. Previously, Seniority managed the day-to-day operations of Edgemere and other CCRCs affiliated with SQLC. Under the Affiliation Agreement, Lifespace took over the management of Edgemere.

9. Pursuant to a Management Services Agreement, dated as of August 15, 2019 (the "MSA"), Lifespace serves as the exclusive manager of Edgemere's day-to-day operations. The services provided by Lifespace include: (a) determining operating policies, procedures, and standards; (b) developing and executing a sales plan; (c) establishing food and beverage policies; (d) establishing all employment policies, including wage and salary terms, benefits, retirement plans, and bonuses; (e) hiring, promoting, supervising, directing, training, transferring, and discharging all of Edgemere's employees; (f) negotiating and consummating such agreements as Lifespace deems necessary or advisable for furnishing all utilities, services, supplies, food, beverages, equipment, and other materials and supplies for the maintenance and operation of the Community; (g) establishing bank accounts as needed for the operation and maintenance of the Community; (h) developing annual business plans and budgets; (i) managing and overseeing the Community's investment portfolio; (j) providing cash management, accounting, bookkeeping, and record keeping software and services for the Community; (k) risk management and compliance services; and (l) any other services as may be required by the Community and mutually agreed by Edgemere and Lifespace from time to time in connection with the development and operations of the Community's business. A copy of the MSA is attached hereto as Exhibit B.

10. In connection with the management services Lifespace provides to Edgemere under the MSA, Lifespace maintains all information relating to Edgemere's operations and finances. For example, Lifespace provides and maintains the exclusive email and document management and storage system used by Edgemere. All Edgemere employees are provided with a "lifespacecommunities.com" email address with which to conduct business. Those emails, and all other electronic information relating to Edgemere, are stored on cloud-based information technology infrastructure operated by Lifespace. In my experience, it is typical and customary in the senior living industry for a management company to provide and maintain all information relating to the operations and finances of the senior living community that it manages.

11. In connection with this Adversary Proceeding, I understand that both Edgemere (a party to this litigation) and Lifespace (a non-party) were each served with similar written discovery requests seeking the production of documents relevant to the issues in this Adversary Proceeding (i.e., information relating to the historical operations and financials of Edgemere). Because Lifespace maintains all of the information that would potentially be responsive to both of these overlapping discovery requests for Edgemere under the MSA, Edgemere coordinated with Lifespace to conduct a reasonable search for potentially responsive documents and timely made a production of responsive, non-privileged documents to Defendants in response to the overlapping discovery requests. All of the documents produced to Defendants were in the possession, custody and control of Lifespace and Edgemere, pursuant to the terms of the MSA. As a result of the fact that Lifespace maintains all of the electronic records for Edgemere, all of the documents responsive to Defendants' discovery requests made to Lifespace were produced by Edgemere. I understand that no responsive documents collected in response to these discovery requests were withheld on the basis that they belonged to Lifespace rather than Edgemere.

12. Both Edgemere and Lifespace have retained a number of outside law firms to provide legal advice and counsel at different times for different issues:

- Polsinelli PC was retained by Edgemere to provide counsel regarding the potential restructuring, the Chapter 11 cases, and this Adversary Proceeding.

- Before Polsinelli PC was engaged, Edgemere was represented by DLA Piper and Sidley Austin LLP regarding the potential restructuring, including the potential Chapter 11 filings.
- Perkins Coie LLP and Cooley LLP represent Lifespace in connection with the Chapter 11 cases and this Adversary Proceeding.
- Dorsey & Whitney previously represented Lifespace with respect to general legal advice and counseling, including outside general counsel services, and currently represents Lifespace in various financing and acquisition matters.
- Norton Rose Fulbright previously represented SQLC and Edgemere in connection with the Affiliation Agreement with Lifespace.
- Locke Lord LLP was retained by both Lifespace and Edgemere to provide joint counsel regarding issues involving Texas Department of Insurance arising from Lifespace's affiliation with Edgemere and other SQLC communities.
- Thompson Knight (n/k/a as Holland & Knight LLP) was retained by Edgemere in connection with its development through the time of Lifespace's affiliation with Edgemere. Thompson & Knight provided general legal advice and counsel to Edgemere regarding its operations, and provided legal advice and counsel to SQLC and Edgemere with respect to Lifespace's affiliation with Edgemere.
- Ropes & Gray LLP was retained by Lifespace in connection with its affiliation with Edgemere. In connection therewith, Ropes & Gray retained Houlihan Lokey to provide advice in connection with Lifespace's affiliation with Edgemere.
- Stewart Wiegland & Owens PC was retained by both Lifespace and Edgemere at various points to represent those entities in litigation.

13. Sandra Parker and Abdul Shakoor were in-house counsel to Lifespace during certain periods of time relevant to this Adversary Proceeding, bondholder and lease restructuring negotiations, pre-filing disputes with Defendants, and general restructuring.

14. The above-mentioned firms and attorneys communicated with representatives of Lifespace and/or Edgemere to provide legal advice and counsel to Edgemere concerning matters relevant to the present litigation, bondholder and lease restructuring negotiations, pre-filing disputes with Defendants, and general restructuring. After Lifespace's affiliation with Edgemere, Lifespace and Edgemere have shared common legal, financial and other interests with respect to the matters discussed between them and their respective counsel.

15. A chart containing the names of titles of the representatives that communicated with in-house and outside counsel regarding matters relevant to the present litigation, bondholder and lease restructuring negotiations, pre-filing disputes with Defendants, and general restructuring is attached hereto as Exhibit C.

16. Based on my experience and familiarity with Lifespace's and Edgemere's respective operations, the individuals and roles identified on Edgemere's privilege and redaction logs primarily include senior executives, finance management and personnel, and other similar personnel that would be expected to be involved in attorney-client communications.

17. As Edgemere's sole member, Lifespace employs numerous people that serve in dual roles for both Edgemere and Lifespace. Although Defendants have not identified any specific communications they are challenging on Edgemere's privilege or redaction logs, I personally reviewed many of the communications between representatives of Lifespace and/or Edgemere and their respective counsel. Based on my experience with the operations of both Lifespace and Edgemere, it is my understanding and belief that these conversations were consistent with typical communications soliciting and obtaining legal advice and attorney work product.

18. Except as otherwise indicated, all facts set forth in this Declaration are based upon my personal knowledge, my review of relevant documents, my opinion based upon my experience and knowledge of the Edgemere's and Lifespace's respective operations and financial condition, and information provided to me by advisors or other representatives of Edgemere and/or Lifespace. If called as a witness, I would testify consistently with the facts set forth in this Declaration.

Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1746, I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct.

ECF No. 362; and (b) Defendants' Supplemental Brief Regarding the Lifespace Privilege Waiver and GrayRobinson Communications at Adv. Pro. ECF No. 434 filed in the above-

[1] The Debtors in these chapter 11 cases, along with the last four digits of each Debtor's federal tax identification number, are Northwest Senior Housing Corporation d/b/a Edgemere ("Edgemere") (1278) and Senior Quality Lifestyles Corporation (2669). The Debtors' mailing address is 8523 Thackery Street, Dallas, Texas 75225.

referenced adversary proceeding (this "Adversary Proceeding") by Intercity Investment Properties, Inc. and Kong Capital, LLC (collectively, "Defendants").

3. I am the Chief Financial Officer of Lifespace. I also served as Director, Vice Chair, Treasurer of Northwest Senior Housing Corporation, the predecessor-in-interest to the plaintiff in this Adversary Proceeding. In my capacity in those roles, I have personal knowledge of, and am familiar with the circumstances and events leading to and occurring during this Adversary Proceeding. I am authorized to submit this Declaration, which is intended to supplement my previous declaration filed in this Adversary Proceeding on January 20, 2023, at Adv. Pro. ECF No. 275.

4. The current Plaintiff in this Adversary Proceeding is the Leif M. Clark, Trustee of the Edgemere Litigation Trust formed on the effective date of the chapter 11 plan confirmed in Edgemere's chapter 11 bankruptcy proceeding pending in this Court (Case No. 22-30659). Lifespace is the largest beneficiary of the Edgemere Litigation Trust on account of Lifespace's voluntary contribution of over $150 million in connection with the Edgemere chapter 11 plan to ensure that current and former residents were paid their entrance fee refunds in full.

5. Lifespace's interests have been consistently aligned with the interests of Edgemere and the Plaintiff in this Adversary Proceeding to hold Defendants accountable for their unlawful actions in breaching the NDA and attempting to destroy the Edgemere community for their own financial gain.

6. Likewise, the interests of the board of directors of Edgemere have been consistently aligned with the interests of Lifespace, Edgemere and the Plaintiff in this Adversary Proceeding.

7. On June 28, 2022, Defendants propounded document requests on Edgemere in connection with this Adversary Proceeding. Two days later, Defendants served a Rule 45 subpoena on Lifespace ("Subpoena"). The documents requests propounded by Defendants on Edgemere and Lifespace were substantially similar.

8. Because of the similarities in the overlapping document requests propounded by Defendants on Lifespace and Edgemere and the fact that all of the information responsive to these requests were likely to reside on the cloud-based information technology infrastructure operated by Lifespace, I understand that Lifespace coordinated its response to the Subpoena with Edgemere's counsel. Specifically, Lifespace and its counsel coordinated with Edgemere's counsel to identify and collect potentially responsive information from the Lifespace Server, review that information for responsiveness and privilege, make a production of responsive, non-privileged information to Defendants and prepare a detailed privilege and redaction log for information withheld from production on the basis of privilege and/or work product.

9. I understand that Lifespace's counsel, in coordination with Edgemere's counsel, identified and withheld from the production to Defendants documents that consisted of (a) confidential communications made for the purpose of facilitating the rendition of legal professional legal services to Lifespace (the "Lifespace Privileged Communications"); (b) documents reflecting the legal research, analysis, mental impressions, memoranda, correspondence and/or notes of Lifespace's counsel that were prepared in anticipation of, or to aid in, possible future litigation (the "Lifespace Work Product"); (c) confidential communications made for the purpose of facilitating the rendition of legal professional legal services to the Edgemere Board (the "Edgemere Board Privileged Communications"); and (d) documents reflecting the legal research, analysis, mental impressions, memoranda, correspondence and/or notes of counsel to the Edgemere Board that were prepared in anticipation of, or to aid in, possible future litigation (the "Edgemere Board Work Product" and together with the Lifespace Privileged Communications, the Lifespace Work Product and the Edgemere Board Privileged Communications, the "Privileged Information").

10. To my knowledge, none of the Privileged Information has been disclosed to a third party with interests adverse to Lifespace in the Adversary Proceeding.

11. Except as otherwise indicated, all facts set forth in this Declaration are based upon my personal knowledge, my opinion based upon my experience and knowledge of this Adversary Proceeding, and information provided to me by counsel. If called as a witness, I would testify consistently with the facts set forth in this Declaration.

Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1746, I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct.

COUNSEL TO THE DEBTORS
AND DEBTORS IN POSSESSION

IN THE UNITED STATES BANKRUPTCY COURT
FOR THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF TEXAS
DALLAS DIVISION

In re: Northwest Senior Housing Corporation, et al.,[1] Debtors.	Chapter 11 Case No. 22-30659 (MVL)
Northwest Senior Housing Corporation, Plaintiff, v. Intercity Investment Properties, Inc., and Kong Capital, LLC, Defendants.	Adv. No. 22-03040 (MVL)
Intercity Investment Properties, Inc., Counter-Plaintiff, v. Northwest Senior Housing Corporation, Counter-Defendant.

[1] The Debtors in these chapter 11 cases, along with the last four digits of each Debtor's federal tax identification number, are Northwest Senior Housing Corporation (1278) and Senior Quality Lifestyles Corporation (2669). The Debtors' mailing address is 8523 Thackery Street, Dallas, Texas 75225.

DECLARATION OF NICK HARSHFIELD

I, Nick Harshfield, declare under penalty of perjury pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1746:

1. My name is Nick Harshfield. I am over the age of 21 years, of sound mind, and competent to testify. I swear that all the matters contained herein are true and correct and are based upon my personal knowledge.

2. I make this Declaration on behalf of Debtor Northwest Senior Housing Corporation ("Edgemere") and Lifespace Communities, Inc. ("Lifespace") relating to the following motions filed in this adversary proceeding (this "Adversary Proceeding") by Intercity Investment Properties, Inc. and Kong Capital, LLC (collectively, "Defendants"): (a) Motion to Compel Plaintiff's Production of Documents [Dkt. No. 226] (the "Edgemere Motion"); and (b) Motion to Compel Lifespace Communities, Inc.'s Production of Documents [Dkt. No. 238] (the "Lifespace Motion" and, together with the Edgemere Motion, the "Motions"). The Motions are set for hearing on January 25, 2023.

3. I obtained my B.S.B.A from the University of Louisville in 1993.

4. I am currently a Director, Vice Chair and Treasurer of Edgemere, the Plaintiff in this Adversary Proceeding. I am also Chief Financial Officer of Lifespace. I have over fifteen years of experience in elder healthcare, including with continuing care retirement communities ("CCRCs"). I have served as a Vice President, Chief Financial Officer, and Chief Compliance Officer for multiple CCRCs for over a decade. I have experience serving as an officer of non-profit multistate healthcare service providers that cater to senior adults. The organizations I have worked with have included CCRCs, and have offered skilled nursing, assisted living, adult day centers, home health, and multi-level retirement to seniors. I also have experience in developing strategic growth and capital plans for CCRCs.

5. In my capacity as Director, Vice Chair and Treasurer of Edgemere and as Chief Financial Officer of Lifespace, I have personal knowledge of, and am familiar with, the business affairs, day-to-day operations, books and records and organizational structure of both Lifespace and Edgemere, and I am authorized to submit this Declaration.

6. Edgemere is a Texas nonprofit corporation and is exempt from federal income taxation as a charitable organization described under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended. Edgemere owns and operates a best-in-class senior living community known as Edgemere located in Dallas, Texas (the "Community").

7. Lifespace is Edgemere's sole member. Lifespace is an Iowa not-for-profit corporation exempt from Federal income taxes under IRC Section 501(c)(3). Lifespace is authorized to do business in Texas and other states. Lifespace, directly or through affiliates, owns and operates 17 other senior living communities in seven states. Attached hereto as Exhibit A is a chart reflecting the corporate structure of Edgemere and its affiliates.

8. In June 2019, Lifespace affiliated with and became the sole member of Debtors Edgemere and Senior Quality Lifestyles Corporation ("SQLC"), among other entities, pursuant to an affiliation agreement, dated as of May 10, 2019, by and between Lifespace and SQLC (the "Affiliation Agreement"). SQLC was formerly the sole owner of Seniority Inc. ("Seniority"), a California corporation that specialized in developing, operating, and managing CCRCs. Previously, Seniority managed the day-to-day operations of Edgemere and other CCRCs affiliated with SQLC. Under the Affiliation Agreement, Lifespace took over the management of Edgemere.

9. Pursuant to a Management Services Agreement, dated as of August 15, 2019 (the "MSA"), Lifespace serves as the exclusive manager of Edgemere's day-to-day operations. The services provided by Lifespace include: (a) determining operating policies, procedures, and standards; (b) developing and executing a sales plan; (c) establishing food and beverage policies; (d) establishing all employment policies, including wage and salary terms, benefits, retirement plans, and bonuses; (e) hiring, promoting, supervising, directing, training, transferring, and discharging all of Edgemere's employees; (f) negotiating and consummating such agreements as Lifespace deems necessary or advisable for furnishing all utilities, services, supplies, food, beverages, equipment, and other materials and supplies for the maintenance and operation of the Community; (g) establishing bank accounts as needed for the operation and maintenance of the Community; (h) developing annual business plans and budgets; (i) managing and overseeing the Community's investment portfolio; (j) providing cash management, accounting, bookkeeping, and record keeping software and services for the Community; (k) risk management and compliance services; and (l) any other services as may be required by the Community and mutually agreed by Edgemere and Lifespace from time to time in connection with the development and operations of the Community's business. A copy of the MSA is attached hereto as Exhibit B.

10. In connection with the management services Lifespace provides to Edgemere under the MSA, Lifespace maintains all information relating to Edgemere's operations and finances. For example, Lifespace provides and maintains the exclusive email and document management and storage system used by Edgemere. All Edgemere employees are provided with a "lifespacecommunities.com" email address with which to conduct business. Those emails, and all other electronic information relating to Edgemere, are stored on cloud-based information technology infrastructure operated by Lifespace. In my experience, it is typical and customary in

11. In connection with this Adversary Proceeding, I understand that both Edgemere (a party to this litigation) and Lifespace (a non-party) were each served with similar written discovery requests seeking the production of documents relevant to the issues in this Adversary Proceeding (i.e., information relating to the historical operations and financials of Edgemere). Because Lifespace maintains all of the information that would potentially be responsive to both of these overlapping discovery requests for Edgemere under the MSA, Edgemere coordinated with Lifespace to conduct a reasonable search for potentially responsive documents and timely made a production of responsive, non-privileged documents to Defendants in response to the overlapping discovery requests. All of the documents produced to Defendants were in the possession, custody and control of Lifespace and Edgemere, pursuant to the terms of the MSA. As a result of the fact that Lifespace maintains all of the electronic records for Edgemere, all of the documents responsive to Defendants' discovery requests made to Lifespace were produced by Edgemere. I understand that no responsive documents collected in response to these discovery requests were withheld on the basis that they belonged to Lifespace rather than Edgemere.

12. Both Edgemere and Lifespace have retained a number of outside law firms to provide legal advice and counsel at different times for different issues:

- Polsinelli PC was retained by Edgemere to provide counsel regarding the potential restructuring, the Chapter 11 cases, and this Adversary Proceeding.

- Before Polsinelli PC was engaged, Edgemere was represented by DLA Piper and Sidley Austin LLP regarding the potential restructuring, including the potential Chapter 11 filings.
- Perkins Coie LLP and Cooley LLP represent Lifespace in connection with the Chapter 11 cases and this Adversary Proceeding.
- Dorsey & Whitney previously represented Lifespace with respect to general legal advice and counseling, including outside general counsel services, and currently represents Lifespace in various financing and acquisition matters.
- Norton Rose Fulbright previously represented SQLC and Edgemere in connection with the Affiliation Agreement with Lifespace.
- Locke Lord LLP was retained by both Lifespace and Edgemere to provide joint counsel regarding issues involving Texas Department of Insurance arising from Lifespace's affiliation with Edgemere and other SQLC communities.
- Thompson Knight (n/k/a as Holland & Knight LLP) was retained by Edgemere in connection with its development through the time of Lifespace's affiliation with Edgemere. Thompson & Knight provided general legal advice and counsel to Edgemere regarding its operations, and provided legal advice and counsel to SQLC and Edgemere with respect to Lifespace's affiliation with Edgemere.
- Ropes & Gray LLP was retained by Lifespace in connection with its affiliation with Edgemere. In connection therewith, Ropes & Gray retained Houlihan Lokey to provide advice in connection with Lifespace's affiliation with Edgemere.
- Stewart Wiegland & Owens PC was retained by both Lifespace and Edgemere at various points to represent those entities in litigation.

13. Sandra Parker and Abdul Shakoor were in-house counsel to Lifespace during certain periods of time relevant to this Adversary Proceeding, bondholder and lease restructuring negotiations, pre-filing disputes with Defendants, and general restructuring.

14. The above-mentioned firms and attorneys communicated with representatives of Lifespace and/or Edgemere to provide legal advice and counsel to Edgemere concerning matters relevant to the present litigation, bondholder and lease restructuring negotiations, pre-filing disputes with Defendants, and general restructuring. After Lifespace's affiliation with Edgemere, Lifespace and Edgemere have shared common legal, financial and other interests with respect to the matters discussed between them and their respective counsel.

15. A chart containing the names of titles of the representatives that communicated with in-house and outside counsel regarding matters relevant to the present litigation, bondholder and lease restructuring negotiations, pre-filing disputes with Defendants, and general restructuring is attached hereto as Exhibit C.

16. Based on my experience and familiarity with Lifespace's and Edgemere's respective operations, the individuals and roles identified on Edgemere's privilege and redaction logs primarily include senior executives, finance management and personnel, and other similar personnel that would be expected to be involved in attorney-client communications.

17. As Edgemere's sole member, Lifespace employs numerous people that serve in dual roles for both Edgemere and Lifespace. Although Defendants have not identified any specific communications they are challenging on Edgemere's privilege or redaction logs, I personally reviewed many of the communications between representatives of Lifespace and/or Edgemere and their respective counsel. Based on my experience with the operations of both Lifespace and Edgemere, it is my understanding and belief that these conversations were consistent with typical communications soliciting and obtaining legal advice and attorney work product.

18. Except as otherwise indicated, all facts set forth in this Declaration are based upon my personal knowledge, my review of relevant documents, my opinion based upon my experience and knowledge of the Edgemere's and Lifespace's respective operations and financial condition, and information provided to me by advisors or other representatives of Edgemere and/or Lifespace. If called as a witness, I would testify consistently with the facts set forth in this Declaration.

Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1746, I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct.

DEFENDANTS' MOTION TO COMPEL PLAINTIFF'S PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS

TO THE HONORABLE MICHELLE V. LARSON, UNITED STATES BANKRUPTCY JUDGE:

Defendants Intercity Investment Properties, Inc. ("ICI") and Kong Capital LLC ("KC") (collectively, "Defendants") hereby file their Motion to Compel Plaintiff's Production of Documents pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 37.

1. Plaintiff Northwest Senior Housing Corporation d/b/a Edgemere ("Plaintiff") failed to meet its discovery obligations in at least three respects. First, Plaintiff refuses to produce documents and communications with non-attorney third parties on the basis of attorney-client privileges, despite the fact that the communications were not made to facilitate the rendition of professional legal services to Plaintiff. Second, Plaintiff improperly redacted non-privileged information from hundreds of communications based on the impermissible basis that the redacted information is simply "irrelevant." Lastly, Plaintiff asserts a blanket privilege over all communications with non-party Lifespace Communities, Inc., and thereby withheld and redacted hundreds of documents, based solely on the corporate relationship between the two entities. Case law is clear that an independent source of privilege is necessary to withhold documents and communications exchanged between two entities—regardless of whether the entities are related companies. Those grounds for Defendants' motion are fully set forth in their accompanying brief and appendix.

CONCLUSION

2. For those reasons, and those shown in Defendants' brief and supporting appendix, Defendants respectfully request that the Court: (1) GRANT Defendants' Motion to Compel Plaintiff's Production of Documents, (2) overrule Plaintiff's objections, (3) order Plaintiff to fully comply with Defendants' discovery requests within ten (10) days of the date of the Court's Order, and (4) order Plaintiff to pay Defendants' attorneys' fees necessitated by its refusal to produce responsive documents and information.

Respectfully submitted,

/s/ Michael S. Held

Adversary Defendants Intercity Investment Properties, Inc. ("ICI") and Kong Capital LLC ("KC") (collectively, "Adversary Defendants") hereby file their Motion to Compel Plaintiff's Production pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 37. Adversary Defendants respectfully show the Court as follows:

I. INTRODUCTION

This Motion seeks this Court's intervention to compel Northwest Senior Housing Corporation d/b/a Edgemere (the "Adversary Plaintiff" or "Edgemere") to produce three (3) categories of documents in response to discovery requests issued in July: (1) documents and communications with third-party "consultants" purportedly retained by Edgemere's counsel and its parent company Lifespace Communities, Inc. ("Lifesapace"), which are being withheld on the basis of attorney-client privilege (the "Consulting Privilege Communications"); (2) documents and communications exchanged between Lifespace and Edgemere, which are being withheld on the basis of the "related companies" privilege ("Edgemere/Lifespace Communications"); and (3) unredacted documents and communications that were produced but improperly redact "irrelevant information" ("Redacted Documents").

II. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

Adversary Defendants issued their discovery requests to Adversary Plaintiff on July 1, 2022, pursuant to the expedited discovery schedule proposed by Adversary Plaintiff. Plaintiff's objections and responses to Defendants' First Set of Written Discovery are attached hereto as Exhibit A, App. 1-55. In the following weeks, counsel for Adversary Defendants and Adversary Plaintiff conferred regarding a list of agreed-upon search terms in order for the parties to efficiently accomplish the collection, review, and production of electronically stored information.

On August 5, 2022, Adversary Plaintiff produced its first set of documents in response to Adversary Defendants' discovery requests, and further acknowledged that there were additional documents that would need to be produced.

On September 16, 2022, Adversary Plaintiff provided a privilege log and redaction log, both of which were amended on September 26, 2022, and Adversary Plaintiff produced a Second Amended Privilege Log on October 26, 2022 (the "Second Amended Privilege Log" and the "Amended Redaction Log" (together, the "Amended Logs"). See Plaintiff's Second Amended Privilege Log, attached hereto as Exhibit B, App. 56-513 (3820 total entries); Plaintiff's Amended Redaction Log, attached hereto as Exhibit C, App. 514-757 (3160 total entries).[2]

1. Meet and Confer Communications

Pursuant to Rule 37(a)(1), Adversary Defendants' counsel ("LP") and Edgemere's counsel ("Polsinelli") have engaged in multiple meet-and-confer communications regarding the issues addressed herein, including four (4) letters from LP, two (2) response letters from Polsinelli and two (2) conference calls (the "Meet and Confer Communications").[3] On the last call, which took

[2] Defendants have provided the Court clerk with a USB drive of the three privilege logs discussed in this Motion (Exhibits B, C, and J) in native Excel format, if the Court would prefer to view the logs in a digital medium.

[3] The specific Meet and Confer Communications are as follows: On October 4, 2022, LP sent a letter to Polsinelli related to various unresolved issues regarding Edgemere's Second Amended Privilege Log (Exhibit D, App. 758-762); on October 18, 2022, LP sent a letter to Polsinelli related to the Padic Communications, as that term is defined below (Exhibit E, App. 763-766); on October 19, 2022, Polsinelli sent a letter to LP responding to the October 4 and October 18 LP (Exhibit F, App. 767-772); on October 24, 2022, counsel for both parties engaged in a meet-and-confer conference call to discuss the issues raised in the foregoing letters; on November 7, 2022, LP sent a letter to Polsinelli following up on remaining issues previously addressed in the above-referenced letters and the October 24 Call (Exhibit G, App. 773-778); on November 7, 2022, LP sent a letter to Polsinelli related to various unresolved issues regarding Edgemere's Amended Redaction Log (Exhibit H, 779-782); on November 11, 2022, counsel for both parties engaged in a meet-and-confer conference call to discuss the issues raised in the November 7, 2022 letters (the "November place on November 11, 2022 (the "November 11 Call"), all counsel agreed that they were at a standstill regarding all outstanding issues, and that further meet-and-confer communications would be futile. The specific details of the Meet and Confer Communications as it relates to the discovery issues addressed herein are set forth below.

A. The Consultant Communications

The Amended Logs show that Edgemere is withholding 29 communications from 2018 and 2019 by and between Edgemere, Lifespace and the third-party, Houlihan Lokey, a financial business consultant (the "Houlihan Lokey Communications"), and 17 communications with Padic, Inc ("Padic"), a private investigation firm (the "Padic Communications") on the basis of attorney-client privilege. See, e.g., Ex. B at App. 265-67 (entries 1584-1606), App. 471 (entries 3636-3642); Ex. C at App. 573 (entry 601), 576 (entry 624), 588 (entry 768) (non-exhaustive). Through the Meet and Confer Communications, Adversary Defendants requested additional context to support Edgemere's assertions of attorney-client privilege and work product for these communications, including the terms of the engagements of Houlihan Lokey and Padic. See Ex. D at App. 759; Ex. E at App. 764-766.

As it relates to the Padic Communications, LP's October 18 Letter (Ex. E at App. 764-766) referenced the specific communications produced with redactions, which appear to show, if anything, that the redacted Padic Communications were related to a factual investigation into potential residents, as they include communications from October 2021 with potential residents forwarded to Padic by Lifespace's in-house counsel, Sandra Parker, a redacted response by Padic, 11, 2022 Call"). On November 15, 2022, Polsinelli sent a letter to LP, reiterating its positions set forth in the November 11 Call (Exhibit I, 783-789).

and Ms. Parker's response thereto.[4]

Edgemere's position in response is as follows:

- Padic Communications: Polsinelli's October 19 Letter states, "Padic was retained through Tom Califano, who was at DLA Piper at the time, to provide Mr. Califano with consulting services and advice regarding relationships among and between various parties involved in the formation and early operations of Edgemere to aid Mr. Califano's representation of Edgemere. Given that counsel-retained role, Edgemere maintains its position that its communications with Padic are privileged." Ex F at App. 770. However, neither Mr. Califano nor DLA Piper are included in any of the Padic Communications. In its November 15 correspondence, Polsinelli writes "[u]pon review, we are not aware of a written engagement letter pertaining to [Padic]…because Padic acted under the guidance of counsel and provided work product that allowed counsel for Edgemere to provide legal advice to its client, [its] reports and communications are privileged and will not be produced." Ex. I at App. 786.

- Houlihan Lokey Communications: Polsinelli's October 19 Letter states, "because Houlihan Lokey was retained by counsel to assist counsel in providing legal advice to Lifespace relating to that transaction [Lifespace's acquisition of the SQLC assets, including Edgemere], communications with Houlihan Lokey and Lifespace's counsel are generally protected by the attorney-client privilege." Ex. F at App. 768. However, Polsinelli's November 15 Letter acknowledges that Houlihan Lokey was engaged by Lifespace (not Lifespace's counsel) "during its [Lifespace's] acquisition of Edgemere and other SQLC properties in 2018. At that time Edgemere and Lifespace were adverse entities. As such, any requests concerning communications between Lifespace or its counsel and [Houlihan Lokey] should be directed to Eric Walker, as counsel for Lifespace." Ex. I at App. 784.

B. The Redacted Communications

The parties' positions with respect to the Redacted Communications are set forth below:

- Redactions not included in the Redaction Log: On November 7, Adversary Defendants notified Edgemere that there were at least a handful of redacted documents produced that were not included in the Redaction Log. On the November 11 Call, Polsinelli acknowledged that the Amended Log inadvertently failed to include 600-700 documents that were produced with redactions. In its November 15 correspondence, Polsinelli states that it expected to produce an amended redaction log by November 18, 2022. Ex. I at App. 787. On November 18, 2022, Polsinelli provided a Supplemental Redaction Log, listing another 698 redacted documents, attached as Exhibit J, App. 790-846.

- Improper redactions of all names of residents and residents' representatives. Despite the Protective Order entered in this case, Edgemere has redacted every single name of its residents and residents' representatives in responsive and relevant communications. See generally Ex. C, App 514-757 (over 325 entries providing the description of redaction as "Redacted portions contain personally identifying, irrelevant information of residents and residents' families"). Edgemere claims it is "not willing to produce documents detailing residents names" "due to separate confidentiality obligations and significant and well-founded concerns over the potential unnecessary harassment of Edgemere residents." Ex. I at App. 787. Edgemere has not produced any information regarding its "separate confidentiality obligations." See id.

- Improper redactions of other "irrelevant" information. Edgemere also redacts other information deemed "sensitive business information relating to non-party, Lifespace-affiliated entities" contained in responsive (and relevant) communications. According to Edgemere, "[t]his information is not relevant to the present suit in any way and Edgemere is not at liberty to disclose this information." Ex. I at App. 787. Again, Edgemere has not provided any information to support why it is "not at liberty to disclose this information." See id.

C. The Edgemere/Lifespace Communications

LP's October 4 Letter addresses the following Edgemere/Lifespace Communications, all of which the Amended Logs improperly identify as "attorney-client privileged" and/or "work product" despite the fact that Edgemere and Lifespace are represented by separate and distinct counsel: (1) internal communications between Edgemere and Lifespace without counsel; (2) emails between Lifespace's in-house counsel and "Edgemere representatives"; and (3) emails between Lifespace and third-party consultants. Ex. D at App. 760-761.

Edgemere supports the withholding of these communications as protected by the "attorney client privilege" by claiming that "Lifespace provided Edgemere with legal support, among other shared services. Ex. F at App. 769. "Lifespace's in-house counsel was therefore representing both Lifespace and Edgemere with respect to their unified legal interest." Id. According to Edgemere, "[t]hose interactions, as well as interactions with outside counsel, [are] in furtherance of Lifespace's and Edgemere's common legal interests…." Id.

For the reasons set forth below, Edgemere's positions laid out in the Meet and Confer Communications are insufficient to support its failure to produce the communications at issue, and Edgemere should be compelled to produce same. Alternatively, Adversary Defendants respectfully request that this Court perform an in camera review to determine whether the documents have been appropriately withheld from discovery.

III. ARGUMENT

1. Legal Standard.

Pursuant to Rule 37(a)(3)(B), a party seeking discovery may move for an order compelling production against another party when the latter has failed to produce documents requested under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 34. Fed. R. Civ. P. 37(a)(3)(B)(iv). For purposes of Rule 37(a), "an evasive or incomplete disclosure, answer, or response must be treated as a failure to disclose, answer, or respond." Fed. R. Civ. P. 37(A)(4).

Additionally, Fed. R. Civ. P. 37(a)(5)(A) provides that, if a motion to compel discovery is granted, the Court must, after allowing an opportunity to be heard, require the party whose conduct necessitated the motion, or the party or attorney advising that conduct, or both to pay the movant's reasonable expenses incurred in bringing the motion. If the motion is granted the Court may, after allowing an opportunity to be heard, apportion the reasonable expenses for the motion. Id.

2. The Consultant Communications are not confidential communications made to facilitate the rendition of professional legal services to Edgemere.

Texas Rule of Evidence 503(b)(1) provides that the attorney-client privilege only protects communications between a client, its lawyer and each of their representative when such communications are "confidential communications made to facilitate the rendition of professional legal services to the client." Franklin Ctr. For Gov't v. Univ. of Texas Sys., 03-19-00362-CV, 2020 WL 7640146, at *6 (Tex. App. Dec. 22, 2020) (citing Tex. R. Evid. 503(b)(1) (emphasis added). As the party seeking to exclude the Consultant Communications from discovery on the basis of attorney-client privilege, Edgemere has the burden to produce evidence concerning the applicability of that privilege for each communication. Employment Opportunity Comm'n v. BDO USA, L.L.P., 876 F. 3d 690, 695 (5th Cir. 2017) ("Determining the applicability of the privilege is highly fact specific inquiry, and the party asserting the privilege bears the burden of proof…Ambiguities as to whether the elements of a privilege claim have been met are construed against the proponent."). It is not sufficient that the purported consultants were retained by an attorney if the actual communications at issue are not for the purpose of providing legal advice. S.E.C. v. Microtune, Inc., 258 F.R.D. 310, 315 (N.D. Tex. 2009) ("the [attorney-client] privilege does not protect documents and other communications simply because they result from an attorney-client relationship").

a. The Padic Communications

Edgemere seems to admit that it directed Padic to investigate residents of Edgemere, so its communications with Padic are not privileged. Padic's website indicates that it is a "full service private investigation firm," and Edgemere's Second Amended Privilege Log Counsel Key provides that Padic is an "Attorney-Retained Consultant of Edgemere to provide consulting services and advice regarding relationships among parties involved in the formation and early operations of Edgemere." Padic Inc. Private Investigation, , https://padic.com/home/ (last visited Nov. 18, 2022); Ex. B at App. 513. The Amended Privilege Logs identify 17 Padic Communications withheld or redacted on the basis of "attorney-client privilege." See, e.g., Ex. B at App. 265-67 (entries 1584-1606), App. 471 (entries 3636-3642); Ex. C at App. 573 (entry 601), 576 (entry 624), 588 (entry 768) (non-exhaustive).

Edgemere has not produced evidence sufficient to meet its burden to withhold the Padic Communications under the attorney-client privilege. Instead, Edgemere only asserts conclusions that Padic was retained for the generic purpose of "providing legal advice." This is insufficient. See BDO USA, 876 F.3d at 696. (stating that "simply describing a lawyer's advice as 'legal,' without more, is conclusory and insufficient to carry out the proponent's burden of establishing attorney-client privilege"); see also, Exxon Mobil Corp. v. Hill, 751 F. 3d 379, 382 (5th Cir. 2014) (noting that where there is a mixed discussion of business and legal advice, courts should consider the "context… is key," ultimately seeking to glean the "manifest purpose" of the communication").

If anything, the limited context provided by the redacted Padic Communications and Polsinelli's October 19 Letter suggest that these communications are not made for the purpose of providing legal advice, but rather to conduct factual and/or routine investigations into potential residents and their families, which do not fall into the category of attorney-client privilege. See Franklin Ctr. For Gov't, 2020 WL 7640146, at *6 ("The record does not support UT System's assertion that Kroll [the attorney-retained investigator] was hired to assist in the rendition of any legal services. Rather, undisputed evidence demonstrates that Kroll was hired to conduct an independent investigation…"); In re Texas Farmers Ins. Exch., 990 S.W.2d 337, 340 (Tex. App. 1999) (finding communications were not privileged where attorney was acting in capacity as investigator and conducting a routine investigation of a fire of suspicious origin).

What is more, Polsinelli concedes in the October 19 Letter that Padic was retained to provide "consulting services and advice regarding relationships among and between various parties involved in the formation and early operations of Edgemere." Ex. F at App. 770 (emphasis added). Edgemere also is unable to locate any engagement letter with Padic to further explain the terms of its engagement and it has provided no information as to when the engagement took place, whether the initial engagement was related to the communications at issue, and how the attorney-client privilege extends to communications when DLA Piper – the law firm that apparently retained Padic – is not included in any of the Padic Communications. Without this most basic information pertaining to the engagement, Edgemere cannot meet its burden to apply the attorney-client privilege to the Padic Communications, and they should be produced.

b. The Houlihan Lokey Communications

Houlihan Lokey's website holds itself out to provide business consulting services, including corporate finance, financial restructuring and financial and valuation advising. See

Houlihan Lokey Services, https://hl.com/services/ (last visited Nov. 18, 2022). While Polsinelli initially claimed that Houlihan Lokey was retained by Lifespace's outside counsel, it later conceded that it was retained by Lifespace (not through counsel) at a time where Lifespace's interests were "adverse" to Edgemere and that Adversary Defendants would have to obtain any additional information from Lifespace (not Edgemere).

To be clear, the Houlihan Lokey Communications are in Edgemere's Second Amended Privilege Log, which means that Edgemere has already represented that these communications are in the possession and control of Edgemere and that Edgemere is not producing these documents because they fall under the attorney-client privilege. Ex. B. Even if Houlihan Lokey was retained by outside counsel, that would be insufficient to claim the privilege for the reasons set forth above related to the Padic Communications, but there can be no doubt at this point that Edgemere has not met its burden to withhold the Houlihan Lokey Communications on the basis of attorney-client privilege, especially given the fact that Lifespace's engagement with Houlihan Lokey was apparently adverse to Edgemere. See Ex. I at App. 784.

To the extent that these documents may, at one point, have been privileged, where Lifespace has produced otherwise privileged communications to a party to which it was adverse at the time, it has waived any claim of privilege that Edgemere might be attempting to assert on its behalf. Bailey v. State, 469 S.W. 3d 762, 774 (Tex. App. 2015) ("Consistent with Rule 511's acknowledgement that consent to disclosure of 'any significant part' of a privileged matter may constitute waiver of the whole, a privilege may not be waived selectively to disclose only such evidence as may be beneficial to the party holding the privilege.").

Accordingly, Edgemere has not met its burden with respect to the application of the attorney-client privilege of the Consultant Communications.

3. The Redacted Communications

It is well-established that parties "cannot properly redact nonprivileged information from any responsive document." McKinney/Pearl Rest. Partners, L.P. v. Metro. Life Ins. Co., No. 3:14-CV-2498-B, 2016 WL 98603, at *7 (N.D. Tex. Jan. 8, 2016) (finding that Defendants improperly redacted information from various responsive documents on the asserted basis of confidentiality, notwithstanding the existence of a confidentiality order, especially where confidentiality order contained "additional level of 'Attorneys' Eyes Only' protection to cover Defendants' concerns that led to its producing redacted, responsive documents.").

Nonetheless, despite the existence of a confidentiality order that allows the additional level of "Attorneys' Eyes Only" protection, Edgemere contends that it is entitled to redact nonprivileged information from responsive documents, including the names of Edgemere residents and resident family members and information related to other Lifespace entities. Edgemere further asserts that such information is "irrelevant." Ex. I at App. 787. However, these redactions are improper and the documents should be re-produced without redactions.

As an initial matter, the "relevancy" of the redacted information is not the threshold issue because, as set forth above, where a document has been produced (and therefore "relevant"), a privilege (i.e., attorney-client, work product) is the only proper basis to redact information contained therein – not relevancy. McKinney, 2016 WL 98603, at *7. Moreover, Edgemere's assertion of "irrelevance" to the redacted information fails to take into account that for discovery purposes, relevant information encompasses "any matter that bears on, or that reasonably could lead to other matter that could bear on, any issue that is or may be in the case." Merrill v. Waffle House, Inc., 227 F.R.D. 467, 470 (N.D. Tex. 2005). As Adversary Defendants' counsel advised Edgemere's counsel during the November 11 Call, the names of Edgemere's residents and family representatives and other information related to other Lifespace entities can lead to the identification of individuals with relevant information related to the effect of Adversary Defendants' alleged conduct on Edgemere and its residents, and any claim for damages.

This information is particularly relevant given this Court's Order Granting in Part and Denying in Part the Adversary Defendants' Motion to Dismiss the Complaint (the "Order"), which states in relevant part as follows:

> [T]he Plaintiff has not identified any prospective contract that the Plaintiff had a reasonable probability of entering into but for the alleged tortious conduct. The Plaintiff merely pleaded that "[t]here is a reasonably probability that Edgemere would, with future prospective residents of the Community, enter into life care contracts and/or residency agreements and form business relationships." The Plaintiff further argued that, by disclosing negative information to current residents, that fact had an adverse effect on those residents recommending the Edgemere to prospective residents. Yet, the Plaintiff has not identified any prospective resident with which the Plaintiff would have contracted but for the alleged tortious conduct…
> …Plaintiff can seek leave to amend to reassert its tortious interference claim or plead a similar cause of action that better suits the facts of the case [if that information becomes known in discovery].

Dkt. 99, p. 15.

Therefore, even though Adversary Defendants need not prove the "relevancy" of such information, it is undoubtedly relevant.

Further, the confidentiality order entered in this case allows Edgemere to apply the Attorneys' Eyes Only designation to any of the communications that it deems contains "proprietary" or "confidential" information, which would ensure that such information would not end up in the hands of Adversary Defendants. Therefore, the redactions of purportedly "irrelevant" information must be produced.

4. The Edgemere/Lifespace Communications

As set forth above, the Amended Logs also show that Edgemere has withheld thousands of communications by and between Edgemere and Lifespace with in-house counsel, outside counsel, and even without counsel based on a purported "related companies" theory. However, Edgemere's position fails to consider that the mere relatedness of entities does not create a privilege. To be sure, it is axiomatic that a substantive privilege (e.g., common interest, joint defense, etc.) must be proven to create a privilege between related entities. Am. Airlines, Inc. v. Travelport Ltd., Case No. 4:11-CV-244-Y, 2012 WL 12884822, at *4 (N.D. Tex. July 16, 2012) (requiring a finding of substantive privilege before applying the related-companies exception).

This is especially true where related companies are represented by separate counsel. See, e.g., Bowne of New York City, Inc. v. AmBase Corp., 150 F.R.D. 465, 491 (S.D.N.Y. 1993) ("courts have upheld the privilege for communications shared by the parent with its wholly-owned subsidiary, but . . . only upon a showing that a common attorney was representing both corporate entities or that the two corporations shared a common legal interest and thus came within the joint-client rule.") (emphasis added). The related companies' theory does not protect the documents and communications at issue between Edgemere and Lifespace and/or their separate counsel because it is not a standalone privilege; rather, it as an exception to a waiver of privilege. As the court made clear in Gulf Islands Leasing, Inc. v. Bombardier Cap., Inc., 215 F.R.D. 466, 473 (S.D.N.Y. 2003), the party asserting privilege between related companies "must still prove a common legal interest and may not rely solely on the fact that the entities at issue are affiliated with each other.". The Gulf Islands court continued, as follows:

> [t]he mere existence of an affiliate relationship does not excuse a party from demonstrating the applicability of the common interest rule. Having chosen to operate as separate entities—and to obtain whatever advantages inure from so operating— [the affiliated subsidiaries] must be held to their burden of proving the applicability of any privilege in the same manner as two unrelated

Id. at 474 (emphasis added).

Edgemere's explanations have yet to address why the communications and documents at issue are protected by a common interest, joint defense, or other valid standalone privilege or how the privilege could apply to communications where each party is represented by their own counsel. See, e.g., Bowne, 150 F.R.D. at 491 ("separate representation indicates an apparent recognition that the legal interests of the [subsidiary] were distinct from those of [the parent].")

Because Edgemere has failed to assert any basis for privilege between Lifespace and Edgemere beyond their corporate relation, Adversary Defendants respectfully request that this Court compels Edgemere to produce these communications.

IV. CONCLUSION

For the reasons set forth herein, Adversary Defendants Motion to Compel Adversary Plaintiff to produce the Consultant Communications, Redacted Communications and Edgemere/Lifespace Communications should be GRANTED and Adversary Plaintiff's objections should be overruled. Alternatively, Adversary Defendants respectfully request that this Court perform an in camera review of the foregoing communications in order to determine whether they have been appropriately withheld from discovery.

Respectfully submitted,

COUNSEL TO THE DEBTORS
AND DEBTORS IN POSSESSION

IN THE UNITED STATES BANKRUPTCY COURT
FOR THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF TEXAS
DALLAS DIVISION

Northwest Senior Housing Corporation, Plaintiff, v. Intercity Investment Properties, Inc., and Kong Capital, LLC, Defendants.	Adv. No. 22-03040 (MVL)

PLAINTIFF'S RESPONSE TO DEFENDANTS' MOTION TO COMPEL PRODUCTION FROM PLAINTIFF

Debtor Northwest Senior Housing Corporation ("Plaintiff"), through its undersigned counsel, files this response (the "Response") to Defendants' Intercity Investment Properties, Inc. ("Intercity") and Kong Capital, LLC ("Kong" and together with Intercity, the "Defendants")

[1] The Debtors in these chapter 11 cases, along with the last four digits of each Debtor's federal tax identification number, are Northwest Senior Housing Corporation (1278) and Senior Quality Lifestyles Corporation (2669). The Debtors' mailing address is 8523 Thackery Street, Dallas, Texas 75225.

Motion to Compel Plaintiff's Production ("Defendants' Motion"). In support of the Response, Plaintiff respectfully represents the following:

I. INTRODUCTION

Defendants' Motion is built on a mischaracterization of the law regarding attorney-client and work product privileges between a parent company and its wholly-owned subsidiary. In their Motion, Defendants cite to two federal district court cases from New York to attempt to attack the privilege between Plaintiff and its sole member, Lifespace Communities, Inc. ("Lifespace"). However, courts through the Fifth Circuit have unequivocally held that privileged communications between a wholly-owned subsidiary (like Plaintiff) and its corporate parent (like Lifespace) are protected from disclosure by the attorney-client and work product privileges.

Defendants' Motion also raises several issues that directly concern Lifespace, namely communications with Houlihan Lokey, a counsel-retained consultant that assisted Lifespace in its acquisition of Edgemere and other SQLC assets in 2018 and 2019, as well as redaction of information regarding non-Edgemere facilities contained in certain internal Lifespace documents. These issues should be addressed and resolved with input from Lifespace.

Finally, Defendants seek production of certain other protected documents, including communications between Edgemere, its counsel, and Padic, a consultant engaged through counsel to assist with, among other things, certain issues around the initial Edgemere lease negotiations and formation. Although Plaintiff's objections to production of these protected documents are well founded, in the interest of streamlining the issues at the hearing, Plaintiff is prepared to produce certain documents subject to appropriate redactions for work product and attorney-client concerns.

Plaintiff should not, however, be compelled to produce the names and other personally identifiable information of Edgemere's residents, as Defendants have not articulated a reason why the residents should be dragged into this litigation, the risks for abuse of this sensitive information are high, and this information is subject to Plaintiff's separate confidentiality obligations to residents. Likewise, Plaintiff should not be compelled to produced unredacted versions of documents revealing highly sensitive financial and operational information regarding other facilities in Lifespace's portfolio with no bearing or relevance of any kind to this litigation.

II. ARGUMENT AND AUTHORITIES

A. Consultant Communications

1. Padic, Inc.

Defendants move to compel production of Plaintiff's communications with Padic, Inc. ("Padic"), a third-party consultant Plaintiff's counsel engaged to conduct an investigation into, among other things, the circumstances giving rise to the subject Lease between Plaintiff and Defendant Intercity Investments, Inc. Although the results of Padic's investigation are properly withheld as work product, Plaintiff is prepared to produce the Padic-related documents with appropriate redactions for attorney-client, consulting expert and work product privileges, and provided that such production does not constitute a waiver of such privileges.

2. Houlihan Lokey Communications Have Been Produced, or, Alternatively, Should be Addressed by Lifespace.

Defendants have sought production of documents relating to Houlihan Lokey ("HL"). As Plaintiff has advised Defendants, HL was retained by Lifespace's counsel in 2018 to advise Lifespace in connection with the proposed Affiliation Agreement that ultimately resulted in, among other things, Lifespace becoming the sole member of Plaintiff. See Plaintiff counsel's letter to Defendants' counsel dated November 15, 2022, a copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit A. Because the HL communications and other documents predate the facts giving rise to the claims, defenses and counterclaims in this Adversary, such communications and documents are irrelevant. Nevertheless, Defendants continue to push for their production.

Despite their irrelevance, Plaintiff has produced communications between HL and Plaintiff (and SQLC) and its (their) counsel arising before consummation of the Affiliation Agreement as such communications are not privileged. At that time, Plaintiff and Lifespace were technically adverse because Lifespace had not yet acquired Plaintiff.[2] At Lifespace's direction, however, Plaintiff has not produced communications and other documents between HL and Lifespace and its counsel relating to the Affiliation Agreement because such communications and documents are protected by the attorney-client, work product and consulting expert privileges. Because these privileges are held by Lifespace, Defendants should resolve this dispute in consultation with Lifespace.

B. Redacted Communications

1. Resident Names and Information Have No Bearing on Claims and Defenses at Issue in this Adversary.

Defendants have demanded that Plaintiff produce unredacted copies of documents disclosing the names and other personally identifiable information of Edgemere's residents. To date, however, Defendants have not articulated a legitimate reason why they need individual resident names and other private personal information to pursue their claims and defenses. That should end the inquiry.

Plaintiff has continued to express concern over providing this information due to prior instances of Defendants (primarily Kong) reaching out directly to residents and harassing them in pursuit of their goal of wresting control of the Community away from Plaintiff. Although the unredacted documents might be produced on an "Attorneys Eyes Only" basis under the governing Protective Order, Plaintiff is concerned about the extent to which Defendants' counsel have been directly involved in, or otherwise privy to, Defendants' improper conduct, as reflected in documents produced in discovery showing counsels' active involvement in communications with Defendants' PR firm, The Monument Group, and The Dallas Morning News in connection with Defendants' media smear campaign against Edgemere.

Given these legitimate concerns, the lack of an articulated basis why Defendants need disclosure of resident names and other personally identifiable information, and Plaintiff's separate confidentiality obligations to its residents under the Health Information Portability and Accountability Act and the residents' Lifecare contracts, Defendants should be denied discovery of resident names and other information.

In an analogous case, In re Houstonian Campus, LLC, a Texas appellate court considered whether a trial court discovery order requiring a private club to disclose all names of its members in a defamation suit brought against the club was overly broad and not related to any issue to be tried in the suit. In re Houstonian Campus, L.L.C., 312 S.W.3d 178 (Tex. App.—Houston [14th Dist.] 2010, orig. proceeding). There, the defendant had previously produced documents with the names of its members redacted. Id. The plaintiff then sought and obtained an order from the trial court requiring defendant to produce unredacted copies. Id. On appeal, the appellate court held that the discovery order was not reasonably tailored to the issues relevant to the pending case and therefore outside the boundaries of discovery. Id.

Similarly in this matter, Defendants have not provided any legitimate need for resident names and contact information to support their claims and defenses. As such, the Court should refuse to require Plaintiff to produce the resident information.[3]

[3] If the Court orders Plaintiff to produce unredacted copies of documents disclosing resident names and other personally identifiable information, the Court should authorize Plaintiff to produce the documents with an

2. Plaintiff Should Not be Required to Produce Redacted Information Regarding Irrelevant Lifespace-Affiliated Entities

Plaintiff has produced several documents containing information relating to Lifespace-affiliated entities other than Edgemere (in addition to information concerning Edgemere). These documents contain sensitive and proprietary financial and operational information with no connection or relevance to the claims or defenses here. To protect this irrelevant proprietary and confidential information regarding these non-Edgemere entities , Plaintiff has, at the Lifespace's direction, redacted the portions of the documents relating to non-Edgemere Lifespace-affiliated entities.

As noted, none of the information contained in these redacted portions is relevant to this Adversary. To the extent any of the subject documents involves inter-company funds transfers between Edgemere and another Lifespace-affiliated entity, those documents have already been produced without redactions. As such, Defendants' attempt to discover this information is not reasonably tailored to the issues relevant to the present case and, therefore, outside the bounds of discovery. Further, Defendants are unable to articulate why they need the information to pursue their claims and defenses. These communications were primarily prepared for the benefit of Lifespace's corporate officers and Board of Directors. As such, because these documents implicate privilege and confidentiality issues directly concerning Lifespace, the issue is not appropriately raised in a motion to compel filed against Edgemere and should only be decided after direct input from Lifespace.

"Attorneys' Eyes Only" designation and bar Defendants or their counsel from issuing subpoenas to, or otherwise contacting, the residents without entry of a further order of the Court authorizing such subpoenas or other contact with appropriate procedural safeguards. The Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors or other resident representatives should be allowed to comment on the necessary procedural safeguards.

C. Communications between Lifespace and Plaintiff are Protected from Disclosure by Well-Established Fifth Circuit Precedent

As highlighted above, upon consummation of the Affiliation Agreement in 2018, Lifespace became and continues to be Plaintiff's sole member. Defendants do not dispute this fact. Nevertheless, Defendants argue that all communications that include Edgemere and Lifespace representatives and their respective in-house and outside counsel are not privileged and should be produced. In advancing this argument, Defendants ignore case law in the Fifth Circuit and instead cite two inapplicable Southern District of New York cases.

There are myriad examples of cases in (and outside) the Fifth Circuit upholding the proposition that a majority or wholly-owned subsidiary shares a privilege with its parent company. See, e.g., Pasadena Refining Sys. Inc. v. United States, No. 3:10-CV-0785-K(BF), 2011 WL 1938133, at *2 (N.D. Tex. Apr. 26, 2011) (holding "corporations related through common ownership or control are treated as one entity for attorney-client privilege purposes."); and U.S. v. Mobil Corp., 149 F.R.D. 533 (N.D. Tex. 1993) (holding that a letter from tax counsel for a subsidiary to tax counsel for a parent was protected from disclosure by the attorney-client and work product privileges); Zapata Gulf Marine Corp. v. Puerto Rico Maritime Shipping Auth., No. 86-2911, 1989 WL 149227, at *2 (E.D. La. Dec. 5, 1989) (holding "the corporation which retained the attorney, its parent, and its subsidiaries are considered the same person for purposes of the privilege."); United States v. Am. Tel. and Tel. Co., 86 F.R.D. 603, 616 (D.D.C. 1979) (stating that the attorney-client protection provided for corporate clients includes the corporation who retained an attorney, its parent, and its wholly-owned and majority-owned subsidiaries collectively);. This overwhelming authority undermines Defendants' request for production of the privileged communications between Edgemere, Lifespace and their respective counsel.

Indeed, even the solitary case Defendants cite from this Circuit undermines their position. See American Airlines, Inc. v. Travelport Limited, Civil Action No. 4:11-244, 2012 WL 12884822, at * 5 (N.D. Tex. July 16, 2012). There, the district court was asked to determine whether the attorney-client privilege protected communications between representatives and counsel of the defendant and Blackstone, a third-party and the majority-owner of the defendant at the time the disputed communications were made. Id. at * 5. The court held that "corporations related through common ownership or control are treated as one entity for attorney-client privilege purposes." See Id. (citing Pasadena Refining Sys. Inc. v. United States, No. 3:10-CV-0785-K(BF), 2011 WL 1938133, at *2 (N.D. Tex. Apr. 26, 2011)). Further, though not implicated here, the American Airlines court found that the defendant need not even be a wholly-owned subsidiary in order to share a privilege with its parent company; rather, Blackstone's majority ownership was sufficient to maintain the attorney-client privilege between Blackstone and the defendant. Id.

Defendants cite this case for the proposition that the "related companies" exception only applies if the underlying communication is privileged. This is not the case. There, the court simply granted American Airlines' motion to compel as to two exemplar documents because they were not privileged on their face,. Therefore, because these documents were not protected by the attorney-client or work product privileges, the court ordered that they be produced. Obviously, if relevant requested documents are not privileged, such documents could not be withheld regardless of the "related companies" exception.

As to the two Southern District of New York cases on which Defendants principally rely, both apply substantive New York state law on privilege. See Gulf Islands Leasing, Inc. v. Bombardier Capital, Inc., 215 F.R.D. 466, 470 (S.D.N.Y.2003) ("State law provides the rule of decision concerning the claim of attorney-client privilege.") and Bowne v. AmBase Corp., 150 F.R.D. 465, 470 (S.D.N.Y.1993) ("This action involves only state-law claims and defenses; accordingly under Fed.R.Evid. 501 it is state law that defines the elements of the attorney-client privilege.") As such, these cases are not applicable to this Adversary.

Further, in their citation to Bowne, Defendants omit the second clause of the referenced sentence, which reads in full:

> A number of courts have upheld the privilege for communications shared by the parent with its wholly-owned subsidiary, but they have done so only upon a showing that a common attorney was representing both corporate entities or that the two corporations shared a common legal interest and thus came within the joint-client rule, or that the disclosure was made to an employee of the subsidiary for the principal for sole purpose of eliciting assistance to the attorney in rendering legal advice or other legal services.

Bowne, 150 F.R.D. 491 (emphasis added and internal citations omitted). As such, even under the non-precedential logic of Bowne, companies are not required to show that they shared a common attorney or a common legal interest[4] to meet the "related companies" exception if the communication was made between the parent and subsidiary to elicit assistance to the attorney in rendering legal advice or services.

Finally, Gulf Islands dealt with a claim of privilege between two companies that were both subsidiaries of a common owner, rather than a parent company and its wholly owned subsidiary as is the case with Lifespace and Plaintiff. As such, Gulf Islands is not probative.

[4] Lifespace and Edgemere plainly share a common legal interest here. To the extent this Court should hold that the parent-subsidiary relationship is insufficient to support a unity of privilege, the implicated materials are nevertheless shielded from disclosure under the common legal interest doctrine.

Based on the foregoing, there is no basis for Defendants to obtain production of the privileged communications between Plaintiff and Lifespace and their respective counsel. Accordingly, the Court should deny the Motion.

III. CONCLUSION

For the reasons set forth above, the Court should deny Defendants' Motion and should grant such further and other relief as the Court deems just and appropriate.

Re: Northwest Senior Housing Corporation; Response to November 7, 2022 Letters

Dear Lisa:

We are in receipt of your letters dated November 7, 2022, and in continuation of our meet and confer obligations regarding the parties' respective anticipated motions to compel, we write to respond to the alleged deficiencies identified by Defendants with respect to Plaintiff's production, privilege log, and redaction log.

COMMUNICATIONS WITH HOULIHAN LOKEY

As an initial matter, we did not represent on the October 24th call that we would produce an engagement letter with Houlihan Lokey ("HL"). We have been advised that HL was retained by Lifespace as a consultant during its acquisition of Edgemere and other SQLC properties in 2018. At that time Edgemere and Lifespace were adverse entities. As such, any requests concerning communications between Lifespace or its counsel and HL should be directed to Eric Walker, as counsel for Lifespace. But as indicated on our November 11, 2022, meet and confer discussion, we have requested a copy of Lifespace's engagement letter or agreement with HL and will provide it, or ask Lifespace's counsel to provide it in the event it is located.

Further, non-privileged communications with HL have been produced to Defendants. Though the HL communications predate the relevant time period at issue in the present suit and are irrelevant to the claims, defenses and counterclaims at issue here, we have nonetheless reviewed and produced non-privileged communications with HL that involved Edgemere, SQLC, or their respective counsel.

POLSINELLI

EDGEMERE/LIFESPACE COMMUNICATIONS

As stated in our prior letter, all documents produced by Plaintiff in this matter were produced by Edgemere, though some custodians or email participants may have had dual roles at both Lifespace and Edgemere or may have been Lifespace corporate employees that provided corporate services to Edgemere. On November 11, 2022, I provided to you a spreadsheet identifying by name and email address each email participant on Edgemere's privilege or redaction log that was involved with a document withheld or redacted on the basis privilege. That spreadsheet confirms each individual's position and primary location of employment.

To be clear, Edgemere's production set includes documents from persons with Lifespace email domains ("@lifespacecommunities.com"). Since the acquisition of Edgemere by Lifespace in 2018, nearly all representatives of Edgemere have been issued Lifespace email domains. We are confirming the precise timing and process, but the "@edgemeredallas.com" email domain appears to have been phased out at the time of the acquisition or shortly after the acquisition was complete. At this point, there are no separate Edgemere email servers.

We are unaware of what specific entries you are referring to concerning your assertion that there are "several entries referencing emails with individuals with Lifespace email addresses – none of whom are attorneys." But as we described during our November 11, 2022 telephone conference, those emails would generally appear on our privilege and redaction logs in situations where the email among non-attorneys reflects or reveals legal advice provided by an attorney in a different setting.

COMMUNICATIONS BETWEEN EDGEMERE, LIFESPACE, AND/OR THEIR RESPECTIVE EXTERNAL COUNSEL

As you know, Lifespace is Edgemere's corporate parent. While you have continued to cite to irrelevant, non-precedential case law outside of the Fifth Circuit, relevant case from courts in the Fifth Circuit provides that otherwise privileged communications between Lifespace and its counsel and Plaintiff and its counsel are protected by the attorney-client privilege or, as applicable, the work product doctrine. See, e.g., American Airlines v. Travelport Ltd., Not Reported in Fed. Supp. 2012 WL 12884822 *5 (N.D. Tex. 2012) ("the attorney client privilege protection provided for corporate clients includes the corporation who retained an attorney, its parent, and its wholly-owned and majority-owned subsidiaries collectively.") (citing Zapata Gulf Marine Corp. v. Puerto Rico Maritime Shipping Auth., No. 86-2911, 1989 WL 149227, at *2 (E.D. La. Dec. 5, 1989)); U.S. v. Mobil Corp., 149 F.R.D. 533 (N.D. Tex. 1993) (holding that a letter from tax counsel for a subsidiary to tax counsel for a parent was protected from disclosure by the attorney-client and work product privileges); see also United States v. Am. Tel. and Tel. Co., 86 F.R.D. 603, 616

POLSINELLI

(D.D.C. 1979) (holding that the attorney-client privilege applied collectively to a corporation and its wholly-owned and majority-owned subsidiaries).

As such, the communications Defendants have identified are privileged and will not be produced. Further, while we believe it is unnecessary due to the clear privilege between Lifespace and Edgemere, we reserve the right to assert the common legal interest doctrine as a basis for extending privilege to these communications as well.

PADIC, INC. COMMUNICATIONS

Upon review, we are not aware of a written engagement letter pertaining to Padic, Inc. ("Padic"). As we stated on our October 24, 2022 call, and reiterated on our November 11, 2022 call, Padic was retained to investigate issues regarding the terms or enforceability of the lease for Edgemere's counsel so that counsel could provide legal advice. As such, because Padic acted under the guidance of counsel and provided work product that allowed counsel for Edgemere to provide legal advice to its client, these reports and communications are privileged and will not be produced.

Further, it is interesting that Defendants have taken the position that any documents and communications with Padic must necessarily be non-privileged due to the presence of factual issues, as Defendants have broadly asserted privilege over their factual communications with The Monument Group.

EDDIE FENOGLIO CUSTODIAN STATUS

We are in the process of gathering the relevant ESI from Mr. Fenoglio to determine if it contains any responsive, non-privileged and non-duplicative documents. If so, we will produce such documents to you as soon as reasonably possible. Based on ongoing work on several ESI fronts, I expect that it will be mid-December before this production is complete. We will of course endeavor to complete it sooner if the collection and review process is not as cumbersome as I currently expect, or if the resulting volume of non-duplicative documents is not substantial.

SIDLEY PRIVILEGE LOG

We are in the process of drafting a privilege log for the documents produced by Edgemere on behalf of Sidley. We anticipate that this log will be produced to you by December 9, 2022.

POLSINELLI

FTI PRODUCTION AND PRIVILEGE LOG

On November 9, 2022, we produced the remaining FTI documents. Any remaining production of FTI documents will only be produced solely due to clean up of the privilege log review. As such, you have received substantially all non-privileged, relevant FTI documents at this time.

We are in the process of drafting a privilege log and a redaction log for the documents produced by Edgemere on behalf of FTI. We plan to provide FTI's privilege log by November 18, 2023, with FTI's redaction log to follow on November 23, 2022.

Of note, we are still awaiting production of relevant, non-privileged documents from the subpoena issued to Defendants' former counsel, Bryan Cave, nearly five months ago.

REDACTIONS NOT INCLUDED IN REDACTION LOG

As we discussed during our November 11, 2022 telephone conference, we discovered that a technical issue resulted in several hundred redacted documents being inadvertently omitted from Edgemere's redaction log. We are in the process of updating the log to address that issue. We expect to produce an amended redaction log by November 18, 2022.

REDACTION OF RESIDENT AND REPRESENTATIVE NAMES

As we also advised during the November 11, 2022 telephone conference, due to separate confidentiality obligations and significant and well-founded concerns over the potential unnecessary harassment of Edgemere residents, Edgemere is not willing to produce documents revealing resident names or other personally identifiable information.

REDACTION OF IRRELEVANT INFORMATION

The referenced communications were redacted because they contain sensitive business information relating to non-party, Lifespace-affiliated entities. This information is not relevant to the present suit in any way and Edgemere is not at liberty to disclose this information. To be clear, we have not redacted information addressing any inter-company transfers involving Edgemere and another Lifespace community. But all other non-Edgemere facility information is beyond the scope of discovery, highly confidential and proprietary, and warrants protection from disclosure of any kind in unrelated litigation. As such, these documents will not be produced without redactions.

AEO REDACTIONS

The forthcoming amended redaction logs will contain a separate column identifying the basis for AEO designations. We will likewise provide an amended privilege log with the same column. In addition, as part of our re-review of the AEO designations, we have determined that some are more appropriately designated as "Confidential" rather than AEO. We will adjust those entries on the privilege and redaction logs and provide a replacement production of the documents we are re-designating.

LIFESPACE BOARD OF DIRECTORS COMMUNICATIONS

It appears that the document Bates labeled as Edgemere0043876 was part of the technical issue referenced above that resulted in some redacted documents not appearing in Edgemere's redaction log. That issue is being addressed and this document will appear on the forthcoming amended redaction log.

Other than the single example provided, we are unaware of what additional entries underlie your assertion that there are "communications among Lifespace's Board of Directors" that were "not identified in your Redaction Log." Defendants broadly assert that Plaintiff "must produce unredacted versions of all communications between Lifespace's Board of Directors because (1) they are not privileged and (2) you have not even provided an alleged basis for the redactions." If there are specific log entries in addition to the single example you provided, or other examples of which you are aware, please identify the specific log entries or documents at issue and we will review and respond accordingly.

REDACTIONS IN RESIDENT DISCLOSURE STATEMENT

The limited redactions appearing in disclosure statements were made to shield information regarding non-Edgmere Lifespace communities. But because these materials can be accessed publicly, we agree that those redactions should be removed. We will provide a replacement production for documents Bates labeled as Edgemere0026251; Edgemere0034645; Edgemere0035086; Edgemere0035417; Edgemere0040402; Edgemere0040496; Edgemere0040576; Edgemere0040702; Edgemere0041378; and Edgemere0045929 without redactions.

REDACTION OF FTI COMMUNICATIONS

We have made consistent efforts to ensure that non-privileged communications with FTI involving the gathering of facts or discussion of factual issues were produced to Defendants. Any redactions of communications with FTI were made because such communications contain privileged and confidential analysis provided by FTI under the guidance of counsel. These redactions were not made to conceal unfavorable communications as alleged in your letter, but rather to preserve the privileged status the redacted statements or information. As such, these documents will not be produced without redactions.

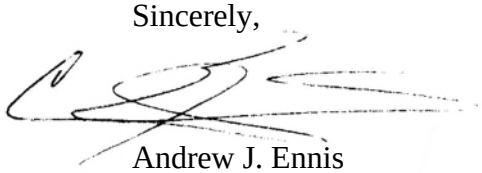
COMMUNICATIONS WITH LIFESPACE



Your allegations related to the redactions of the document Bates labeled as Edgemere0043919 are misplaced and inaccurate. The redactions on the single example provided contains both communications with counsel, including attorneys from Polsinelli and Perkins Coie and attorney retained consultant FTI, as well as personally identifying, irrelevant information of a resident. The email address referenced was redacted because it contains the name of a resident. The remaining redacted portions of this document appropriately protect information subject to the attorney client privilege.

REDACTED ATTACHMENTS

The referenced attachments were attached to correspondence within an email chain that was privileged. As such, any attachment to these privileged communications would also be privileged. To the extent that these documents were forwarded to a third party or part of a discrete non-privileged email, they have been produced.

Please let me know if you have any questions concerning these matters.

Sincerely,

Andrew J. Ennis

In re: NORTHWEST SENIOR HOUSING CORPORATION, et al.[1] Debtors.	Chapter 11 Case No. 22-30659 (MVL)
Leif M. Clark, Trustee of the Edgemere Litigation Trust Plaintiff, v Intercity Investment Properties, Inc., and Kong Capital LLC, Defendants.	Adv. Pro. No. 22-03040 (MVL)

DEFENDANTS' REPLY TO THE RESPONSE OF LIFESPACE COMMUNITIES, INC.'S TO DEFENDANTS' MOTION TO COMPEL PRODUCTION OF THE LIFESPACE COMMUNICATIONS AND GRAYROBINSON COMMUNICATIONS

[1] The Debtors in these chapter 11 cases, along with the last four digits of each Debtor's federal tax identification number, are Northwest Senior Housing Corporation (1278) and Senior Quality Lifestyles Corporation (2669). The Debtors' mailing address is 8523 Thackery Street, Dallas, Texas 75225.

Defendants moved for, among other things, production of the Lifespace Communications and the GrayRobinson Communications.[1] The Lifespace Communications and GrayRobinson Communications were withheld first by Edgemere and now by Plaintiff based on misguided assertions of attorney-client privilege and work product protection. Lifespace alone responded, and its response shows that the documents were, and are, improperly withheld.

I. Disclosure of the Lifespace Communications waived the attorney-client privilege.

Lifespace does not dispute that it furnished all the Lifespace Communications to Edgemere's counsel post-petition. Lifespace's chief argument is that Tex. R. Evid. 503(b)(1)(C) excepts the disclosure from the general privilege waiver rule because Lifespace and Edgemere were aligned in this adversary proceeding. More particularly, Lifespace advances that "the underlying chapter 11 case" was "a different legal proceeding" from this adversary proceeding and that the "fact Lifespace may have engaged in arms' length negotiations with Plaintiff or was a creditor in a different proceeding does not undermine the common interest it shares with Plaintiff in this Adversary Proceeding." (Emphasis in original).

Lifespace's argument is self-defeating—it confirms that the disclosure waived privilege because the waiver exception embodied in Texas Rule of Evidence 503(b)(1)(C) applies only if the disclosing party and the receiving party[2] each are parties to the same "pending action." Lifespace insists that its disclosure was made as part of this adversary proceeding, that this adversary proceeding is distinct from the bankruptcy case, and that Lifespace is not (and never has been) a party to this adversary proceeding. Consequently, the disclosure was not made "to a lawyer representing another party in a pending action or that lawyer's representative," such that Texas Rule of Evidence 503(b)(1)(C) could apply.

[1] Capitalized terms not defined herein have the definitions ascribed to them in Defendants' Supplemental Brief Regarding the Lifespace Privilege Waiver and GrayRobinson Communications, ECF 434. The term Lifespace Communications means those communications between Lifespace and its outside counsel; the term "GrayRobinson Communications" means those communications between GrayRobinson and Edgemere, Lifespace, and/or Edgemere or Lifespace's respective professionals.

[2] More particularly, the Rule requires that disclosure be made to the lawyer for another party in a pending action or that lawyer's representative—not to the party itself.

Case authorities support this plain language interpretation of Rule 503(b)(1)(C). In In re XL Specialty Ins. Co., 373 S.W.3d 46 (Tex. 2012), an injured employee brought a "bad faith" action against his employer's worker's compensation insurer. The trial court ordered that communications between the insurer's attorney and the employer made during the underlying administrative proceeding were discoverable, and the insurer and employer petitioned for a writ of mandamus holding that such communications were covered by the attorney-client privilege, relying chiefly on Texas Rule of Evidence 503(b)(1)(C). The Texas Supreme Court agreed with the trial court and held that the communications were not covered by the attorney-client privilege.

The In re XL Court characterized Rule 503(b)(1)(C) as an "allied litigant doctrine" narrower in scope than the corresponding federal "common interest" doctrine, in that "Texas requires that the communications be made in the context of a pending action." 373 S.W.3d at 51-52. In "jurisdictions like Texas, which have a pending action requirement," the Court held, "no commonality of interest exists absent actual litigation." Id. at 52. "Accordingly," Texas's "privilege is not a 'common interest' privilege that extends beyond litigation" nor "is it a 'joint defense' privilege, as it applies not just to defendants but to any parties to a pending action." Id. (emphasis added).

The Court continued to hold that the communications at issue were not covered by Rule 503(b)(1)(C) because the insurer was not a party to a pending action: "no matter how common XL's [the insurer's] and Cintas' [the employer's] interests might have been, our rule requires that the communication be made to a lawyer or her representative representing another party in a pending action." Id. at 54 (emphasis in original).

Shortly after In re XL, another Texas court applied In re XL's holding to conclude that documents exchanged between defendants in a pending action, on the one hand, and a bank the plaintiff-borrower sought to have added as a defendant to that action, on the other hand, were not protected under Rule 503(b)(1)(C) although (as argued by the relators) the defendants and the bank had a "common interest" in the outcome of the pending litigation, the plaintiff's "bankruptcy proceeding," and a second lawsuit by the plaintiff. In re Park Cities Bank, 409 S.W.3d 859, 875 (Tex. App.—Tyler 2013, no pet.). The court rejected the assertion of privilege because the parties claiming privilege "did not apply the 'pending action' requirement of Rule 503." Id. Although the lawyer and lawyer representatives to the communications each represented parties to pending litigation, they were not parties to the same litigation, so the privilege claim failed. Id.

Perhaps the clearest statement of the limitations of Rule 503(b)(1)(C) comes from Benson v. Rosenthal, 2016 WL 3001129 *4 (E.D. La. May 25, 2016) in which the court held that "Texas case law indicates that [Rule 503(b)(1)(C)] protects only persons who are co-litigants, either plaintiffs or defendants, in the same pending action, not in separate cases." (Citing XL, supra). In short, the Texas Supreme Court, a Texas intermediate court of appeals, and a federal court applying Texas law each have concluded that for Rule 503(b)(1)(C) to apply, the disclosure at issue must be between those representing parties to the same litigation.

Here, Lifespace emphasizes that this adversary proceeding is "a different legal proceeding" from the underlying bankruptcy. At the same time, though, Lifespace concedes that it is not and never has been a party to this adversary proceeding. Consequently, Lifespace's own analysis compels that its disclosure of the Lifespace Communications to Edgemere waived privilege.

While that is dispositive of the privilege issue, there is yet another, second, basis for the same result. To be privileged, the disclosure of the communication must also have been made to "facilitate the rendition of professional legal services to the client," Lifespace. (Emphasis added). Disclosing the Lifespace Communications to Edgemere's counsel did not and could not facilitate the rendition of professional legal services to Lifespace. Lifespace had its own counsel and all the tools necessary to review the document set for privileged communications. Instead, it turned over the entire universe of documents—including the Lifespace Communications—to Edgemere for privilege review. But as explained in Defendants' opening briefing, Edgemere's counsel was engaged by the Estate and could not render legal services to Lifespace, a major Estate creditor.

Lifespace attempts feebly to argue that Rule 503(b)(1)(C) "does not require the party to which the privileged communications were disclosed to provide legal services to the disclosing party" but rather that the Rule requires only that "the disclosure be made 'to facilitate the rendition of professional legal services to the client,' even where the services are provided by the client's own counsel." The flaw in this argument is that it is entirely unsupported by any Texas authority or by any showing that the disclosure in fact facilitated the rendition of professional legal services to Lifespace by Lifespace's counsel. Quite to the contrary, there was no proper reason for the Lifespace Communications ever to have been disclosed to Edgemere; Lifespace could simply not have done that, and instead reviewed and provided a privilege log for the Lifespace Communications on its own.[3]

[3] According to Nick Harshfield's declaration submitted with Lifespace's response, Lifespace reasoned that disclosure of the Lifespace Communications to Edgemere's counsel was warranted because the discovery issued to Lifespace was "substantially similar" to that issued to Edgemere and that all responsive documents "were likely to reside" on Lifespace's server. Put otherwise, rather than undertake its own search for responsive documents and to review same for privilege, Lifespace elected instead to dump all responsive documents on Edgemere's bankruptcy counsel and shift the cost of privilege review from Lifespace to Estate professionals.

In summation, Lifespace's own arguments demonstrate that Rule 503(b)(1)(C) does not apply here. Lifespace further omits to advance any other reason why its post-petition disclosure of the Lifespace Communications to Edgemere did not waive privilege. Consequently, the claim of privilege should be overruled and the Lifespace Communications should be produced.

II. The Lifespace Communications are not protected work product.

Defendants have little quibble with Lifespace's characterization of the work product doctrine. The problem with Lifespace's position is its failure to support legal argument with facts.

Lifespace claims the Lifespace Communications were prepared in anticipation of litigation. Purportedly in support of that notion, Lifespace submits a declaration from Nick Harshfield. Harshfield's declaration nowhere states that he reviewed or knows the substance of the Lifespace Communications withheld as work product. Harshfield's declaration similarly nowhere states the Lifespace Communications withheld as work product were created in anticipation of litigation. Instead, he advances that Lifespace's counsel and Edgemere's counsel coordinated to identify and withhold "Lifespace Work Product"—a fact over which he claims no personal knowledge and to which he is incompetent to testify—but never avers that the documents ultimately withheld as work product are, in fact, among the documents he defines as "Lifespace Work Product."

Harshfield's failure to offer more specificity with respect to the "Lifespace Work Product" is fatal to Lifespace's claim for work product protection. First, as explained in Defendants' opening briefing, affidavits providing only conclusory statements are insufficient to support a claim of work product protection.[4] Second, some of the documents over which Lifespace claims protection pre-date this litigation by well over a year and, particularly considering the allegation that Defendants caused Edgemere's bankruptcy through their acts and omissions in late 2021 and early 2022, it is unclear how such communications could have related to this litigation. As characterized by Lifespace at page 10 of its brief, the "Lifespace Work Product" purportedly was created in anticipation of "future litigation with Defendants," but nowhere does Harshfield or Lifespace explain how Lifespace's counsel was preparing for litigation with Defendants before any of Defendants' alleged acts or omissions even had taken place. Either the allegations of the Complaint are false or the assertions in Harshfield's declaration are false; as the entity seeking to withhold documents, it is Lifespace's burden to show which set of conflicting assertions is false.[5]

What is more, even if the Lifespace Communications were once protected work product, their disclosure to Edgemere destroyed any such protection. As explained in Defendants' prior briefing, disclosure of work product even to a potential adversary destroys the protection. And Lifespace and Edgemere certainly were at least potential adversaries for the reasons explained before (and for the additional reasons that will be shown through the evidence at the upcoming January 12, 2024 evidentiary hearing). Among those reasons: Lifespace was a major creditor and, during the one-year pre-petition period, had drained millions of dollars of liquidity from Edgemere in preferential or fraudulent transfers, as explained by Nick Harshfield during Edgemere's meeting of creditors under section 341(a).

Lifespace urges that the disclosure is irrelevant because it was made as part of the adversary proceeding, not as part of the underlying bankruptcy case. That distinction makes no difference in 218 F.R.D. 694, 699 (N.D. Ala. 2003) ("An affidavit containing mere conclusory statements that a document was prepared for the purpose of obtaining legal advice will not suffice in meeting defendant's burden.").

5 Hodges, Grant & Kaufmann v. U.S. Govt. Dept. of the Treasury, IRS, 768 F.2d 719, 721 (5th Cir. 1985) ("The burden of establishing that a document is work product is on the party who asserts the claim").

this context and Lifespace cites no authority for the proposition. Edgemere and Lifespace were potential adversaries, and whether Edgemere may have advanced claims against Lifespace in this adversary proceeding, in another one, or through the claims administration process is wholly irrelevant. What matters under established Fifth Circuit precedent is that Lifespace disclosed the Lifespace Communications to Edgemere, a potential adversary. See Ecuadorian Plaintiffs v. Chevron Corp., 619 F.3d 373, 378 (5th Cir. 2010) ("Although work-product immunity is not automatically waived by disclosure of protected material to third parties, disclosure does waive protection if it 'has substantially increased the opportunities for potential adversaries to obtain the information.'") (Emphasis added).

III. The GrayRobinson Communications are not privileged.

For many of the same reasons that the production of the Lifespace Communications are not properly withheld on privilege grounds, neither are the GrayRobinson Communications. Before explaining why, though, Defendants first note that Lifespace utterly fails to identify its standing to advance privilege or work-product protection over the GrayRobinson Communications when Lifespace was not GrayRobinson's client. In fact, Lifespace lacks standing to do so, and Lifespace's arguments about the GrayRobinson Communications may and should be rejected for that reason.

Even if Lifespace was a proper party to claim privilege over the GrayRobinson Communications, the GrayRobinson Communications are not and were never privileged.[6] Each pre-dates the commencement of this proceeding and, consequently, was not made by or to another party in a pending action, as required for Texas Rule of Evidence 503(b)(1)(C) to apply—all as further addressed above with respect to Lifespace. Lifespace recognizes and acknowledges this requirement in its briefing, but inexplicably opines that the requirement is met because this adversary proceeding began after the GrayRobinson Communications occurred, effectively rewriting the Rule by substituting the word "impending" for the word "pending," and flatly contrary to In re XL, Park Cities, and Benson, supra. Lifespace identifies no authority holding that later-commenced litigation serves to cloak pre-litigation communications in privilege and none exists.

[6] To be clear, some of the GrayRobinson Communications are solely between GrayRobinson attorneys and some or all of Jesse Jantzen, Nick Harshfield, and Eddie Fenoglio. Given the multiple roles those individuals played and Lifespace and Edgemere's refusal to distinguish between which of those individuals' communications were on behalf of which entity, Lifespace has failed to demonstrate that those individuals were communicating in their capacities as Edgemere Board members here.

That issue—the absence of pending litigation—is dispositive. But, even if it was not, Lifespace's other arguments are equally infirm. Lifespace first argues that the Court already has concluded that the "related companies" exception to waiver applies to all communications between Lifespace and Plaintiff. That is both false and irrelevant. False because the Court's referenced order includes no such holding, and irrelevant because the GrayRobinson Communications are not with Plaintiff.[7] What is more, Lifespace cites no Texas authority even for the existence of a "related companies" exception to waiver under Texas law, much less facts supporting that it applies here.

Lifespace relatedly argues that Edgemere and its board are one and the same for purposes of privilege. The opinions Lifespace cites in support of this proposition are distinguishable, though. Here, unlike in Lifespace's cited cases, GrayRobinson's engagement letter specifies that its client was only the Edgemere Board, and not Edgemere itself. As explained in Defendants' earlier brief, "GrayRobinson's engagement letter specifies that the firm was to serve 'as counsel to the Edgemere Board and not to [Edgemere].'" Applying Lifespace's rule—that a company and its board are always the same for privilege purposes, even if the board engages separate counsel—would foreclose board counsel from providing confidential advice to its board client without that advice being equally available to company officers.[8]

Lifespace's argument also fails because even if it was right—that is, even if the Edgemere board and Edgemere are the same for privilege purposes—the GrayRobinson Communications still would be due to be produced because the "weight of authority . . . holds that a dissolved or defunct corporation retains no privilege." S.E.C. v. Carrillo Huettel LLP, No. 13 CIV. 1735 GBD, 2015 WL 1610282, at *2 (S.D.N.Y. Apr. 8, 2015). Here, Edgemere dissolved upon the plan effective date.[9] So too, therefore, did the privilege.

Lifespace finally argues, equally weakly, that the interests of Edgemere and its Board were at all times aligned. Aside from being immaterial given the absence of a pending action, this argument also is unsupported. The Board sought to engage its own counsel specifically to manage its own distinct duties. What is more, the Board's duties no longer ran to Edgemere, but to the creditor body at large. Lifespace offers no facts to the contrary, or at least no meaningful ones. The only support offered is Nick Harshfield's conclusory and untested statement in his new declaration that "the interests of the board of directors of Edgemere have been consistently aligned with the interests of Lifespace, Edgemere, and the Plaintiff in this Adversary Proceeding." Such conclusory assertions are not enough to carry Lifespace's burden, as the (improper) entity asserting privilege, to prove application of the privilege.

[8] Such a rule would be wholly unworkable. Customary board functions include the selection and removal of key officers—like presidents and CEOs—and fixing their compensation. Under Lifespace's proposed rule, a board could not discuss those matters with its counsel without the very same officers about whom the advice pertains also having access to those communications.

[9] See Fourth Amended Plan, Bankr. Dkt. 1241, § 4.6 ("The Plan shall constitute a decree of dissolution with respect to each of the Debtors"); Notice of Effective Date, Bankr. Dkt. 1620 ("Therefore, June 13, 2023, is the Effective Date of the Plan").

The GrayRobinson Communications are not privileged. They are due to be produced.

IV. The GrayRobinson Communications are not protected work product.

As with the Lifespace Communications, Lifespace fails here to show that the GrayRobinson Communications are protected work product:

First, as identified above with respect to privilege, Lifespace has no standing to assert work product protection on behalf of GrayRobinson's client. Second, as identified above with respect to the Lifespace Communications, Lifespace omits to advance facts supporting the application of the protection. Third, as explained in Defendants' prior briefing and never refuted by Lifespace, the GrayRobinson Communications were freely available between and among Lifespace and Edgemere in addition to Edgemere's Board, even though Lifespace was a major creditor and future adversary at the time of the GrayRobinson Communications. In short, each of the GrayRobinson Communications was disclosed to at least a potential adversary, if not an actual one.

Any protection that may once have attached to the GrayRobinson Communications has been waived, Lifespace is not a proper party to assert the protection anyway, and the GrayRobinson Communications are due to be produced.

* * *

For the foregoing reasons, for those reasons set forth in Defendants' earlier briefing, and based on the additional facts that will be adduced during the January 12, 2024 evidentiary hearing, all claims of privilege or protection over the Lifespace Communications and the GrayRobinson Communications should be overruled, and those documents ordered to be produced immediately.

Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 45(c), (d), (e), and (g) (Effective 12/1/13)
(made applicable in bankruptcy cases by Rule 9016, Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure)

(c) Place of compliance.

(1) For a Trial, Hearing, or Deposition. A subpoena may command a person to attend a trial, hearing, or deposition only as follows:

(A) within 100 miles of where the person resides, is employed, or regularly transacts business in person; or

(B) within the state where the person resides, is employed, or regularly transacts business in person, if the person

(i) is a party or a party's officer; or

(ii) is commanded to attend a trial and would not incur substantial expense.

(2) For Other Discovery. A subpoena may command:

(A) production of documents, or electronically stored information, or things at a place within 100 miles of where the person resides, is employed, or regularly transacts business in person; and

(B) inspection of premises, at the premises to be inspected.

(d) Protecting a Person Subject to a Subpoena; Enforcement.

(1) Avoiding Undue Burden or Expense; Sanctions. A party or attorney responsible for issuing and serving a subpoena must take reasonable steps to avoid imposing undue burden or expense on a person subject to the subpoena. The court for the district where compliance is required must enforce this duty and impose an appropriate sanction — which may include lost earnings and reasonable attorney's fees — on a party or attorney who fails to comply.

(2) Command to Produce Materials or Permit Inspection.

(A) Appearance Not Required. A person commanded to produce documents, electronically stored information, or tangible things, or to permit the inspection of premises, need not appear in person at the place of production or inspection unless also commanded to appear for a deposition, hearing, or trial.

(B) Objections. A person commanded to produce documents or tangible things or to permit inspection may serve on the party or attorney designated in the subpoena a written objection to inspecting, copying, testing or sampling any or all of the materials or to inspecting the premises — or to producing electronically stored information in the form or forms requested. The objection must be served before the earlier of the time specified for compliance or 14 days after the subpoena is served. If an objection is made, the following rules apply:

(i) At any time, on notice to the commanded person, the serving party may move the court for the district where compliance is required for an order compelling production or inspection.

(ii) These acts may be required only as directed in the order, and the order must protect a person who is neither a party nor a party's officer from significant expense resulting from compliance.

(3) Quashing or Modifying a Subpoena.

(A) When Required. On timely motion, the court for the district where compliance is required must quash or modify a subpoena that:

(i) fails to allow a reasonable time to comply;

(ii) requires a person to comply beyond the geographical limits specified in Rule 45(c);

(iii) requires disclosure of privileged or other protected matter, if no exception or waiver applies; or

(iv) subjects a person to undue burden.

(B) When Permitted. To protect a person subject to or affected by a subpoena, the court for the district where compliance is required may, on motion, quash or modify the subpoena if it requires:

(i) disclosing a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information; or

(ii) disclosing an unretained expert's opinion or information that does not describe specific occurrences in dispute and results from the expert's study that was not requested by a party.

(C) Specifying Conditions as an Alternative. In the circumstances described in Rule 45(d)(3)(B), the court may, instead of quashing or modifying a subpoena, order appearance or production under specified conditions if the serving party:

(i) shows a substantial need for the testimony or material that cannot be otherwise met without undue hardship; and

(ii) ensures that the subpoenaed person will be reasonably compensated.

(e) Duties in Responding to a Subpoena.

(1) Producing Documents or Electronically Stored Information. These procedures apply to producing documents or electronically stored information:

(A) Documents. A person responding to a subpoena to produce documents must produce them as they are kept in the ordinary course of business or must organize and label them to correspond to the categories in the demand.

(B) Form for Producing Electronically Stored Information Not Specified. If a subpoena does not specify a form for producing electronically stored information, the person responding must produce it in a form or forms in which it is ordinarily maintained or in a reasonably usable form or forms.

(C) Electronically Stored Information Produced in Only One Form. The person responding need not produce the same electronically stored information in more than one form.

(D) Inaccessible Electronically Stored Information. The person responding need not provide discovery of electronically stored information from sources that the person identifies as not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. On motion to compel discovery or for a protective order, the person responding must show that the information is not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. If that showing is made, the court may nonetheless order discovery from such sources if the requesting party shows good cause, considering the limitations of Rule 26(b)(2)(C). The court may specify conditions for the discovery.

(2) Claiming Privilege or Protection.

(A) Information Withheld. A person withholding subpoenaed information under a claim that it is privileged or subject to protection as trial-preparation material must:

(i) expressly make the claim; and

(B) Information Produced. If information produced in response to a subpoena is subject to a claim of privilege or of protection as trial-preparation material, the person making the claim may notify any party that received the information of the claim and the basis for it. After being notified, a party must promptly return, sequester, or destroy the specified information and any copies it has; must not use or disclose the information until the claim is resolved; must take reasonable steps to retrieve the information if the party disclosed it before being notified; and may promptly present the information under seal to the court for the district where compliance is required for a determination of the claim. The person who produced the information must preserve the information until the claim is resolved.

(g) Contempt. The court for the district where compliance is required – and also, after a motion is transferred, the issuing court – may hold in contempt a person who, having been served, fails without adequate excuse to obey the subpoena or an order related to it.

For access to subpoena materials, see Fed. R. Civ. P. 45(a) Committee Note (2013)

EXHIBIT A

SUBPOENA TO PRODUCE DOCUMENTS, INFORMATION, OR OBJECTS AND TO PROVIDE DEPOSITION TESTIMONY TO LIFESPACE COMMUNITIES, INC.

I. INSTRUCTIONS

1. The requested documents are to be produced for inspection and copying, at the offices of Jackson Walker, LLP, 2323 Ross Avenue, Suite 600, Dallas, Texas 75201, unless otherwise agreed between the parties.

2. If you object to any of the following Discovery Requests, you must state the legal and factual basis for each objection. If you object to only a portion of a Discovery Request, you must identify the specific portion of the Discovery Request to which you object and must respond fully to the remainder of the Discovery Request.

3. If a requested document is a document created from any of the programs in the Microsoft Office Suite (including, but not limited to, Microsoft Word, Excel, PowerPoint, Access, Project or Outlook) that exists in its native format (e.g., .doc, .xls, .ppt, .msg, .pst) or can be readily converted into a format reasonably accessible via a program in the Microsoft Office Suite (e.g., a document created from another commercially available electronic mail, word processing, spreadsheet or database program), then produce such document in its native electronic format. Documents produced in this manner should include metadata.

4. If your answer to any Discovery Request is not within your personal knowledge, you must identify each person you know who has, or may have, personal knowledge of the matter that is addressed in the Discovery Request, and the contact information and job title of such person.

5. Each Discovery Request shall operate and be responded to independently and, unless otherwise indicated, no Discovery Request limits the scope of any other Discovery Request.

6. Documents provided in response hereto shall be produced as they are kept in the ordinary course of business or shall be organized and labeled to correspond with the categories in these Requests for Production of Documents.

7. If you produce Documents in addition to, or in lieu of, providing full and complete narrative responses where permitted by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure:

    a. In producing Documents and things, indicate the paragraph and subparagraph to which a produced document or thing is responsive.

    b. In producing Documents and things, furnish all Documents or things known or available to you, regardless of whether such Documents or things are possessed directly by you or your representatives.

c. If any requested Documents or things cannot be produced in full, produce such Documents to the extent possible, specifying which Documents or things were only partially produced.

8. These Discovery Requests are deemed to be continuing. If after answering, you become aware of any further information responsive to this document, you are required to produce such additional Documents and things and/or provide such additional information.

9. If any Documents or things requested or identified were at one time in existence but are no longer in existence, then so state, specifying for each document or thing:

   a. The type of document or thing;

   b. The types of information contained thereon;

   c. The date upon which it ceased to exist;

   d. The circumstances under which it ceased to exist;

   e. The identity of all persons having knowledge of the circumstances under which it ceased to exist; and

   f. The identity of all persons now having or who, at one time, had knowledge of the contents thereof.

10. Selection of Documents from the files and other sources in the numbering, if any, of such Documents shall be performed in such a manner as to ensure that the source of each document may be determined, if necessary.

11. Documents attached to each other should not be separated.

12. In lieu of producing originals or copies thereof, you may, at your option, submit legible photographic or other reproductions of such Documents, provided that the originals or copies from which such reproductions were made are retained by you until the disposition of this litigation.

13. If you, after investigation, determine that you have no documents that are responsive to a Request, Your statement that you have no such documents constitutes a representation that you have conducted a search for the documents and represents that you have no documents that are responsive.

14. Unless otherwise stated, the time frame covered by these Discovery Requests is from January 1, 2020 to the present (the "Relevant Time Period"). If you seek to withhold any Document, thing, or information on the basis that it is purportedly privileged or entitled to some other limitation of discovery, you are instructed to use the following procedure:

a. You shall supply a numerical list of the Documents and things for which a privilege or other limitation of discovery is claimed, indicating:

i. the name of each author, writer, sender, or initiator of such document or thing, if any;
ii. the name of each recipient, addressee, or party to whom such document or thing was intended, if any;

iii. the date of such document or thing, if any, or an estimate thereof and so indicated as an estimate if no date appears on said document;

iv. the general subject matter as described in the document; and

v. the claimed grounds for privilege or other limitation of discovery.

II. DEFINITIONS

As used herein, the following terms have specific meanings as defined in this section:

1. "You" refers to Lifespace Communities, Inc., as successor master trustee and successor bond trustee, its predecessors, successors, and any agent, representative, employee, or other person acting or purporting to act on its behalf.

2. "Edgemere" refers to Northwest Senior Housing Corporation, its predecessors, successors, and any agent, representative, employee, or other person acting or purporting to act on its behalf.

3. "Intercity" refers to Intercity Investment Properties, Inc., its predecessors, successors, and any agent, representative, employee, or other person acting or purporting to act on its behalf.

4. "Kong" refers to Kong Capital LLC, its predecessors, successors, and any agent, representative, employee, or other person acting or purporting to act on its behalf.

5. "UMB" refers to UMB Bank, N.A., its predecessors, successors, and any agent, representative, employee, or other person acting or purporting to act on its behalf.

6. The "Lawsuit" refers to the above-captioned adversary proceeding filed by Edgemere against Intercity Kong on April 14, 2022.

7. The "Property" refers to the approximately 16.25 acres that is subject to the Lease, and commonly known as 8523 Thackery Street, Dallas, Texas 75225.

8. The "Restructuring" refers to changing the way that Edgemere is organized for the purpose of attempting to improve Edgemere's financial position.

9. The "Bankruptcy" refers to Edgemere's Chapter 11 bankruptcy case, styled Northwest Senior Housing Corporation, et al., Case No. 22-30-659, currently pending in the United States Bankruptcy Court in the Northern District of Texas – Dallas Division, and related litigation, including the above-captioned adversary proceeding.

10. The "Historical Financial Condition" means the Edgemere's overall financial condition, including but not limited to assets, liabilities, income, or losses, from January 1, 2015 through present date.

11. The "Bonds" refers to any and all outstanding bonds on which Edgemere currently owes, including, but not limited to, the bonds for which UMB Bank, N.A. is the bond trustee.

12. The "Lease" refers to the Ground Lease between Intercity and Edgemere dated November 15, 1999 that covers the property and improvements where Edgemere operates.

13. The "Forbearance Agreement" refers to the December 21, 2021 Forbearance Agreement between Norwest Senior Housing Corporation, Senior Quality Lifestyle Corporation, UMB Bank, N.A., Intercity, and Lifespace.

14. "Discovery Requests" means the requests for production of Documents contained herein.

15. "Communication" or "Communications" means a communication in any form, including, without limitation, notes, complaints, diaries, journals, datebooks, reports, calendars, telephone messages, letters, email messages, instant messages (such as but not limited to Signal, Cisco Jabber, IBM Sametime, Wickr, ICQ, Kik, BBM, Gchat, iMessage, Telegram, WhatsApp, Slack, and similar types of messages), cell phone text messages (SMS messages and MMS messages), voicemail messages, Slack messages or other internal messaging system communications, social media communications or posting on sites including but not limited to Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, Gab, or Parler (including any direct messages), website postings, internet chat-room postings, lists, correspondence, drawings, designs, telegrams, manuals, summaries or records of personal conversations, logs, minutes or records of meetings, minutes of any other type, transcripts of oral testimony or statements, affidavits, or summaries of investigations. For avoidance of doubt, the term "Communications" includes internal communications and communications with third parties. The foregoing definition is subject to any objection sustained in relation to Plaintiffs' similar definition directed at Defendants.

16. "Document" means any printed, written, typed, recorded, transcribed, taped, photographic, or graphic matter, however produced or reproduced, including, but not limited to: any letter, correspondence, or communication of any sort; electronic mail, either sent or received; file, print, negative, or photograph; sound or video recording; note, notebook, diary, calendar, minutes, memorandum, contract, agreement, or any amendment thereto; telex, telegram, or cable; summary, report, or record of any telephone conversation, personal conversation, discussion, interview, meeting, conference, investigation, negotiation, act, or activity; projection, work paper or draft; computer output or input; data processing card; opinion or report of any consultant; request, order, invoice, or bill of lading; analysis, diagram, map, index, sketch, drawing, plan, chart, manual, brochure, pamphlet, advertisement, circular, newspaper or magazine clipping; press release; receipt, journal, ledger, schedule, bill, or voucher; financial statement, statement of account, bank statement, checkbook, check stubs or register, canceled check, deposit slip, charge slip, tax return, or requisition; file, study, graph, or tabulation; and all other writings and recordings of whatever nature, whether signed, unsigned or transcribed, and any other data compilation from which information can be obtained or translated. The term "Document" also shall mean: the original and/or any non-identical original or copy, including those with any marginal note or comment or showing additions, deletions, or substitutions; drafts; attachments to or enclosures with any document; and any other documents referred to or incorporated by reference in the document. The term "Document" also specifically includes all electronic documents and other "electronically stored information" (whether stored electronically or in the form of a hard-copy, print-out, or otherwise) and all attachments thereto.

17. The term "concerning" means relating to, referring to, describing, evidencing, or constituting.

18. The present tense includes the past and future tenses. The singular includes the plural, and the plural includes the singular. "All" means "any and all;" "any" means "any and all." "Including" means "including but not limited to." "And" and "or" encompass both "and" and "or." Words in the masculine, feminine, or neuter form shall include each of the other genders.

LIFESPACE COMMUNITIES, INC.'S RESPONSES AND OBJECTIONS TO SUBPOENA TO PRODUCE DOCUMENTS, INFORMATION OR OBJECTS AND TO PROVIDE DEPOSITION TESTIMONY

Pursuant to Rule 45 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, as made applicable to this adversary proceeding by Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9016, non-party Lifespace Communities, Inc. ("Lifespace") responds and objects below to the Subpoena to Produce Documents, Information, or Objects and to Provide Deposition Testimony to Lifespace Communities, Inc. (the "Subpoena") propounded by adversary defendants Intercity Investment Properties, Inc. and Kong Capital LLC (together, "Defendants"). Lifespace responds and objects to the discovery requests (the "Requests" and each a "Request") and examination topics (the

[1] The Debtors in these chapter 11 cases, along with the last four digits of each Debtor's federal tax identification number, are Northwest Senior Housing Corporation (1278) and Senior Quality Lifestyles Corporation ("SQLC") (2669). The Debtors' mailing address is 8523 Thackery Street, Dallas, Texas 75225.

"Topics" and each a "Topic") set forth in the Subpoena based on the information currently available to it and reserves the right to supplement, amend, or modify these responses and objections.

GENERAL OBJECTIONS

1. Lifespace objects to Defendants' "Definitions" and "Instructions" to the extent they are vague, misleading, or overbroad. Lifespace further objects to Defendants' "Definitions" and "Instructions" and to each and every Request and Topic to the extent they seek to impose obligations beyond those mandated by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure and the Local Rules of this Court.

2. Lifespace objects to each and every Request and Topic as overbroad and unduly burdensome to the extent they purport to require the production of documents or disclosure of information in the possession, custody, or control of persons or entities other than Lifespace.

3. Lifespace objects to each and every Request and Topic as cumulative, duplicative, or unduly burdensome to the extent that Defendants have made the same request for production, sought the same documents or communications and/or sought the same information from some other source that is more convenient, less burdensome, or less expensive, including Northwest Senior Housing Corporation, d/b/a Edgemere ("Edgemere"), a party to the litigation.

4. Lifespace objects to each and every Request and Topic to the extent it is irrelevant or not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence.

5. Lifespace objects to each and every Request and Topic to the extent it seeks the disclosure of confidential, sensitive, or proprietary information or information protected by constitutional, statutory and/or common law rights to personal privacy and confidentiality.

6. Lifespace objects to each and every Request and Topic to the extent it is duplicative, overbroad, or unduly burdensome or requires Lifespace to search for, or otherwise gather or collect, publicly available information or information that is otherwise available to Defendants.

8. Lifespace objects to each and every Request and Topic to the extent it seeks to search areas that are not reasonably accessible or logical repositories of information and to the extent that it requests Lifespace to perform more than a reasonable search.

9. Lifespace objects to each and every Request and Topic to the extent it seeks the production of documents or disclosure of information protected from disclosure under independent confidentiality obligations imposed by law or agreement.

9. Lifespace objects to each and every Request and Topic to the extent it seeks the production of documents or disclosure of information protected from discovery by the attorney-client privilege, work product doctrine, common interest doctrine, or any other doctrine, privilege or immunity.

SPECIFIC OBJECTIONS AND RESPONSES TO DOCUMENT REQUESTS

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 1: All Documents and Communications concerning Intercity, Kong, or the Lawsuit.

Response to Request for Production No. 1: Lifespace repeats and incorporates by reference its General Objections. Lifespace further objects to this Request on the grounds that it is overbroad and unduly burdensome because it seeks "all" documents and communications "concerning" Intercity, Kong, or the Lawsuit, without any limitation. Lifespace further objects to this Request as cumulative, duplicative, and unduly burdensome to the extent that Defendants have made an identical or similar request to Edgemere and/or it is possible to obtain the information sought in this Request from another source or party to the litigation that is more convenient and less burdensome, namely, Edgemere or Defendants. Lifespace further objects to this Request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure by the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, the common interest privilege or any other applicable doctrine, privilege or immunity. Subject to and without waiving the foregoing objections, Lifespace will respond to Request No. 1 by way of Edgemere, who will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Lifespace's and Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 2: All Documents and Communications concerning the Lease, including, but not limited to, communications concerning Edgemere's obligations under the Lease as written, as well as any proposals to modify the Lease.

Response to Request for Production No. 2: Lifespace repeats and incorporates by reference its General Objections. Lifespace further objects to this Request as cumulative, duplicative, and unduly burdensome to the extent Defendants have made an identical or similar request to Edgemere and/or it is possible to obtain the information sought in this Request from another source or party to the litigation that is more convenient and less burdensome, namely, Edgemere or Defendants. Lifespace further objects to this Request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure by the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, the common interest privilege or any other applicable doctrine, privilege or immunity. Subject to and without waiving the foregoing objections, Lifespace will respond to Request No. 2 by way of Edgemere, who will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Lifespace's and Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 3: All Documents and Communications concerning the Forbearance Agreement.

Response to Request for Production No. 3: Lifespace repeats and incorporates by reference its General Objections. Lifespace further objects to this Request as cumulative, duplicative, and unduly burdensome to the extent Defendants have made an identical or similar request to Edgemere and/or it is possible to obtain the information sought in this Request from another source or party to the litigation that is more convenient and less burdensome, namely, Edgemere or Defendants. Lifespace further objects to this Request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure by the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, the common interest privilege or any other applicable doctrine, privilege or immunity. Subject to and without waiving the foregoing objections, Lifespace will respond to Request No. 3 by way of Edgemere, who will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Lifespace's and Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 4: All Documents and Communications concerning the Bonds from January 1, 2015 to present, including, but not limited to, refinancing the Bonds, the Bond ratings or changes thereto, and any of Edgemere's potential or actual defaults on the Bonds.

Response to Request for Production No. 4: Lifespace repeats and incorporates by reference its General Objections. Lifespace further objects to this Request as cumulative, duplicative, and unduly burdensome to the extent Defendants have made an identical or similar request to Edgemere and/or it is possible to obtain the information sought in this Request from another source or party to the litigation that is more convenient and less burdensome, namely, Edgemere or Defendants. Lifespace further objects to this Request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure by the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, the common interest privilege or any other applicable doctrine, privilege or immunity or independent confidentiality obligations imposed by law or agreement. Subject to and without waiving the foregoing objections, Lifespace will respond to Request No. 4 by way of Edgemere, who will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Lifespace's and Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 5: All Documents and Communications concerning the Restructuring or Bankruptcy, including, but not limited to, Edgemere's Historical Financial Condition, circumstances, and considerations leading up to the filing.

Response to Request for Production No. 5: Lifespace repeats and incorporates by reference its General Objections. Lifespace further objects to this Request on the grounds that it is overbroad and unduly burdensome because it seeks "all" documents and communications concerning the "Restructuring or Bankruptcy" without any limitation. Lifespace further objects to this Request as cumulative, duplicative, and unduly burdensome to the extent Defendants have made an identical or similar request to Edgemere and/or it is possible to obtain the information sought in this Request from another source or party to the litigation that is more convenient and less burdensome, namely, Edgemere or Defendants. Lifespace further objects to this Request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure by the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, the common interest privilege or any other applicable doctrine, privilege or immunity. Subject to and without waiving the foregoing objections, Lifespace will respond to Request No. 5 by way of Edgemere, who will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Lifespace's and Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 6: All Documents and Communications concerning Edgemere's financial condition from January 1, 2020, to present, including, but not limited to, due diligence documents and financial statements.

Response to Request for Production No. 6: Lifespace repeats and incorporates by reference its General Objections. Lifespace further objects to this Request as cumulative and duplicative because it requests documents and communications already requested in Request No. 5. Lifespace further objects to this Request as cumulative, duplicative, and unduly burdensome to the extent Defendants have made an identical or similar request to Edgemere and/or it is possible to obtain the information sought in this Request from another source or party to the litigation that is more convenient and less burdensome, namely, Edgemere or Defendants. Lifespace further objects to this Request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure by the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, the common interest privilege or any other applicable doctrine, privilege or immunity. Subject to and without waiving the foregoing objections, Lifespace will respond to Request No. 6 by way of Edgemere, who will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Lifespace's and Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 7: All Documents and Communications concerning impacts of COVID-19 on Edgemere's Historical Financial Condition and residential occupancy and retention rates.

Response to Request for Production No. 7: Lifespace repeats and incorporates by reference its General Objections. Lifespace further objects to this Request as cumulative, duplicative, and overly burdensome to the extent Defendants have made an identical or similar request to Edgemere and/or it is possible to obtain the information sought in this Request from another source or party to the litigation that is more convenient and less burdensome, namely, Edgemere or Defendants. Lifespace further objects to this Request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Lifespace. Lifespace further objects to this Request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure by the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, the common interest privilege or any other applicable doctrine, privilege or immunity. Subject to and without waiving the foregoing objections, Lifespace will respond to Request No. 7 by way of Edgemere, who will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Lifespace's and Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 8: All Communications between You and any third- party concerning Edgemere, Intercity, or Kong, including, but not limited to, Communications with regulatory agencies, media outlets, or bond rating agencies.

Response to Request for Production No. 8: Lifespace repeats and incorporates by reference its General Objections. Lifespace further objects to this Request on the grounds that it is overbroad and unduly burdensome because it seeks "all" communications with third parties concerning "Edgemere, Intercity, or Kong" without any limitation. Lifespace further objects to this Request as cumulative, duplicative, and unduly to the extent Defendants have made an identical or similar request to Edgemere and/or it is possible to obtain the information sought in this Request from another source or party to the litigation that is more convenient and less burdensome, namely, Edgemere or Defendants. Lifespace further objects to this Request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure by the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, the common interest privilege or any other applicable doctrine, privilege or immunity. Subject to and without waiving the foregoing objections, Lifespace will respond to Request No. 8 by way of Edgemere, who will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Lifespace's and Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 9: All Communications between You and any attorney or law firm not representing You concerning Edgemere, including, but not limited to, Thomas R. Califano.

Response to Request for Production No. 9: Lifespace repeats and incorporates by reference its General Objections. Lifespace further objects to this Request on the grounds that it is overbroad and unduly burdensome because it seeks "all" communications with attorneys or law firms concerning "Edgemere" without any limitation. Lifespace further objects to this Request as cumulative, duplicative, and unduly burdensome to the extent Defendants have made an identical or similar request to Edgemere and/or it is possible to obtain the information sought in this Request from another source or party to the litigation that is more convenient and less burdensome, namely, Edgemere or Defendants. Lifespace further objects to this Request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Lifespace. Lifespace further objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure by the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, the common interest privilege or any other applicable doctrine, privilege or immunity. Subject to and without waiving the foregoing objections, Lifespace will respond to Request No. 9 by way of Edgemere, who will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Lifespace's and Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 10: All Documents and Communications among You, Dorsey, and any third-party concerning:

a) the Property,
b) the Lease,
c) the Forbearance Agreement,
d) the Bankruptcy,
e) the Restructuring,
f) the Historical Financial Condition,

g) Intercity,
h) Kong,
i) the Lawsuit.
j) Disclosures to residents or potential residents of the Edgemere, or
k) Complaints by residents or potential residents of the Edgemere.

Response to Request for Production No. 10: Lifespace repeats and incorporates by reference its General Objections. Lifespace further objects to this Request as cumulative, duplicative, and unduly burdensome to the extent Defendants have made an identical or similar request to Edgemere and/or it is possible to obtain the information sought in this Request from another source or party to the litigation that is more convenient and less burdensome, namely, Edgemere or Defendants. Lifespace further objects to this Request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Lifespace. Lifespace further objects to this Request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure by the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, the common interest privilege or any other applicable doctrine, privilege or immunity. Subject to and without waiving the foregoing objections, Lifespace will respond to request No. 10 by way of Edgemere, who will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Lifespace's and Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 11: All Documents and Communications concerning any in-person meeting among You, Edgemere and/or UMB, including, but not limited to, a Fall 2021 meeting held in Massachusetts.

Response to Request for Production No. 11: Lifespace repeats and incorporates by reference its General Objections. Lifespace further objects to this Request as cumulative, duplicative, and unduly burdensome to the extent Defendants have made an identical or similar request to Edgemere and/or it is possible to obtain the information sought in this Request from another source or party to the litigation that is more convenient and less burdensome, namely, Edgemere.

Lifespace further objects to this Request as vague and overly broad to the extent it could be read to seek records or materials in the possession, custody, or control of entities other than Lifespace. Lifespace further objects to this request to the extent it seeks materials shielded from disclosure by the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, the common interest privilege or any other applicable doctrine, privilege or immunity. Subject to and without waiving the foregoing objections, Lifespace will respond to Request No. 11 by way of Edgemere, who will produce non-privileged responsive documents in Lifespace's and Edgemere's possession, custody, or control, if any.

SPECIFIC OBJECTIONS AND RESPONSES TO MATTERS FOR EXAMINATION

1. Your knowledge of Edgemere and its Historical Financial Condition over the past five (5) years preceding, leading up to, and during the Restructuring and Bankruptcy.

   Response: Lifespace incorporates by reference its General Objections. Lifespace further objects to this Topic as vague and overly broad in that it seeks an examination regarding Lifespace's "knowledge of Edgemere" without any specificity. Lifespace further objects to this Topic as cumulative, duplicative, and unduly burdensome to the extent Defendants have made an identical or similar request to Edgemere and/or it is possible to obtain the information sought in this Topic from another source or party to the litigation that is more convenient and less burdensome, namely, Edgemere. Lifespace further objects to this examination topic to the extent it seeks information shielded from disclosure by the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, the common interest privilege or any other applicable doctrine, privilege or immunity. Subject to and without waiving the foregoing objections, and subject to additional specificity regarding what "knowledge of Edgemere" Defendants intend to examine, Lifespace will produce a witness to be examined on this topic on a mutually agreeable date.

2. Your knowledge of the Restructuring and Bankruptcy, including the events, circumstances, and discussions or negotiations with involved third parties (including but not limited to UMB, Edgemere, and Intercity) leading up to and during the Restructuring and Bankruptcy.

RESPONSE: Lifespace incorporates by reference its General Objections. Lifespace further objects to this Topic as cumulative, duplicative, and unduly burdensome to the extent Defendants have made an identical or similar request to Edgemere and/or it is possible to obtain the information sought in this Topic from another source or party to the litigation that is more convenient and less burdensome, namely, Edgemere. Lifespace further objects to this examination topic to the extent it seeks information shielded from disclosure by the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, the common interest privilege or any other applicable doctrine, privilege or immunity. Subject to and without waiving the foregoing objections, Lifespace will produce a witness to be examined on this topic on a mutually agreeable date.

3. Your knowledge of the Lease and Edgemere's ability to perform its obligations under the same.

RESPONSE: Lifespace incorporates by reference its General Objections. Lifespace further objects to this Topic as cumulative, duplicative, and unduly burdensome to the extent Defendants have made an identical or similar request to Edgemere and/or it is possible to obtain the information sought in this Topic from another source or party to the litigation that is more convenient and less burdensome, namely, Edgemere or Defendants. Lifespace further objects to this examination topic to the extent it seeks information shielded from disclosure by the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, the common interest privilege or any other applicable doctrine, privilege or immunity. Subject to and without waiving the foregoing objections, Lifespace will produce a witness to be examined on this topic on a mutually agreeable date.

4. Your knowledge of the development, coordination, and/or implementation of any strategy related to any potential modification of, reformation of, recharacterization of, repudiation of, or any other change in treatment of the Lease or Property, and your knowledge of discussions with or disclosures of same with any third party.

RESPONSE: Lifespace incorporates by reference its General Objections. Lifespace further objects to this Topic as cumulative, duplicative, and unduly burdensome to the extent Defendants have made an identical or similar request to Edgemere and/or it is possible to obtain the information sought in this Topic from another source or party to the litigation that is more convenient and less burdensome, namely, Edgemere. Lifespace further objects to this examination topic to the extent it seeks information shielded from disclosure by the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, the common interest privilege or any other applicable doctrine, privilege or immunity. Subject to and without waiving the foregoing objections, Lifespace will produce a witness to be examined on this topic on a mutually agreeable date.

5. Your knowledge of conversations with Intercity concerning arguments that the Lease was in any way illegal, void against public policy, and/or subject to recharacterization.

RESPONSE: Lifespace incorporates by reference its General Objections. Lifespace further objects to this Topic as cumulative, duplicative, and unduly burdensome to the extent Defendants have made an identical or similar request to Edgemere and/or it is possible to obtain the information sought in this Topic from another source or party to the litigation that is more convenient and less burdensome, namely, Edgemere or Defendants. Lifespace further objects to this examination topic to the extent it seeks information shielded from disclosure by the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, the common interest privilege or any other applicable doctrine, privilege or immunity. Subject to and without waiving the foregoing objections, Lifespace will produce a witness to be examined on this topic on a mutually agreeable date.

6. Your knowledge of any modifications or amendments to any Disclosure Statement or any other information made publicly available to residents or potential residents of the Edgemere or any regulatory or governmental authority.

RESPONSE: Lifespace incorporates by reference its General Objections. Lifespace further objects to this Topic as cumulative, duplicative, and unduly burdensome to the extent Defendants have made an identical or similar request to Edgemere and/or it is possible to obtain the information sought in this Request from another source or party to the litigation that is more convenient and less burdensome, namely, Edgemere. Lifespace further objects to this examination topic to the extent it seeks information shielded from disclosure by the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, the common interest privilege or any other applicable doctrine, privilege or immunity. Subject to and without waiving the foregoing objections, Lifespace will produce a witness to be examined on this topic on a mutually agreeable date.

7. Your knowledge of any conversations with any governmental or regulatory authority concerning the Lease, Intercity, Kong, or any Disclosure Statement of the Edgemere.

RESPONSE: Lifespace incorporates by reference its General Objections. Subject to and without waiving the General Objections, Lifespace will produce a witness to be examined on this topic on a mutually agreeable date.

8. Your understanding of any disclosure concerning Edgemere's Financial Condition to any third party.

RESPONSE: Lifespace incorporates by reference its General Objections. Lifespace further objects to this topic of examination as vague and overly broad in that it seeks examination regarding "any disclosure concerning Edgemere's Financial Condition to any third party" without any specificity. Subject to and without waiving its General Objections, and subject to additional specificity regarding what disclosures concerning Edgemere's Financial Condition to what third party(ies), Lifespace will produce a witness to be examined on this topic on a mutually agreeable date.

9. The nature of Your relationship with Edgemere.

RESPONSE: Lifespace incorporates by reference its General Objections. Lifespace further objects to this topic of examination as vague and ambiguous. Subject to and without waiving the foregoing objections, and subject to further clarification and specificity on this topic of examination, Lifespace will produce a witness to be examined on this topic on a mutually agreeable date.

10. Your efforts search for, collect, and produce documents and communications responsive to this subpoena.

RESPONSE: Lifespace incorporates by reference its General Objections. Lifespace further objects to this examination topic to the extent it seeks information shielded from disclosure by the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, the common interest privilege or any other applicable doctrines or privileges. Subject to and without waiving the foregoing objections, Lifespace will produce a witness to be examined on this topic on a mutually agreeable date.

ORDER REGARDING THE PRODUCTION OF

Before the Court is the Motion to Compel Lifespace Communities, Inc.'s Production of Documents[1] and Brief in Support[2] (collectively, the "Lifespace Motion") filed by Defendants Intercity Investment Properties, Inc. ("Intercity") and Kong Capital LLC ("Kong") (collectively, the "Defendants") on November 29, 2022. In the Lifespace Motion, the Defendants request the Court enter an order compelling Lifespace Communities, Inc. ("Lifespace"), a non-party to the above-captioned adversary proceeding (the "Adversary Proceeding") and the parent of the Northwest Senior Housing Corporation (the "Debtor" or "Plaintiff"),[3] to produce documents pursuant to Rule 45 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure (the "Rules"), as made applicable by Rule 9016 of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure (the "Bankruptcy Rules"). On December 20, 2022, Lifespace filed its Response to Defendants' Motion to Compel Production of Documents (the "Response").[4] In the Response, Lifespace contends that it complied with the Defendants' subpoena for production, asserting any applicable privileges and objections, and that requests by the Defendants to further designate the production are outside the scope of Rule 45.[5] On January 3, 2023, the Defendants filed their Reply Brief in Support of Defendants' Motion to

As part of the confirmed plan, the parties were to appoint a litigation trustee for the purposes of prosecuting these causes of action and managing certain assets described in the plan. Id. at 20. Defendants provide no authority for this heightened burden they attempt to force upon Lifespace—and none exists.").

Compel Lifespace Communities, Inc.'s Production of Documents,[6] by which the Defendants again assert that Lifespace failed to comply with Rule 45.

Carried alongside the Motion to Compel was a discrete issue arising out of the Defendants' Motion to Compel Plaintiff's Production of Documents (the "Motion to Compel"),[7] filed on November 22, 2022, by which the Defendants request the Court order production of communications between Lifespace and the Plaintiff.[8] The Plaintiff withheld communications with its parent company, Lifespace, based off the entities' corporate relatedness. The Defendants argue that no privilege exists between Lifespace and the Plaintiff and that the mere relatedness of the entities does not create a privilege.[9] In the alternative, the Defendants request that the Court conduct its own in camera review of the communications.[10]

On January 25, 2022, the Court held a hearing on the Lifespace Motion and the remaining issue under the Motion to Compel. Counsel for the Defendants, Lifespace, and the Plaintiff appeared. After hearing the testimony of Nick Harshfield, the Chief Financial Officer of Lifespace, and the arguments of counsel on the underlying issues, the Court took the matter under advisement. Notably, on the same day, the Court heard argument on a request by the Plaintiff to temporarily stay the Adversary Proceeding.[11] The Court granted that request to temporarily stay the Adversary Proceeding and subsequently entered an order reflecting the same.[12] Notwithstanding the stay, the parties requested that the Court rule on the issues underlying this Order given the issues had been fully briefed and argued prior to the issuance of the stay.

I. Jurisdiction and Venue.

The Court has jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1334(b), and the matter is a core proceeding within the meaning of 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2)(B). Venue is proper in this district pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1409(a).

II. Factual and Procedural History.

On April 14, 2022, the Debtor filed a voluntary petition for bankruptcy under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code.[13] On the same day, the Debtor filed its Complaint alleging certain causes of action against Intercity and/or Kong.[14] Central to that Complaint were allegations that certain information disclosed in connection with a Forbearance Agreement between the parties and covered by a Non-Disclosure Agreement (the "NDA") was disclosed by the Defendants to various parties in an effort to further damage the business of the Plaintiff and capitalize on an alternative business opportunity.[15]

On June 30, 2022, the Defendants served a subpoena on Lifespace, the direct parent and sole member of the Plaintiff.[16] Lifespace had appeared and been heard throughout the bankruptcy

[13] Voluntary Petition for Non-Individuals Filing for Bankruptcy, Case No. 22-30659-MVL, Dkt. No. 1 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 2022).

[14] Dkt. No. 1. Specifically, the Plaintiff asserted seven (7) causes of action, including breach of contract, promissory fraud, tortious interference with existing contractual and business relations, tortious interference with prospective contractual and business relations, civil conspiracy, equitable subornation, and reformation of the Ground Lease. See id. The Plaintiff has since withdrawn its cause of action for tortious interference with existing contractual and business relations. Dkt. No. 58 at 23–24. The cause of action for tortious interference with prospective contractual and business relations has also been dismissed by Order of this Court. Dkt. No. 99 at 12–15.

[15] Dkt. No. 1 at 2 ("Despite being under a non-disclosure agreement with Edgemere, and in possession of Edgemere's confidential information, Defendants directly contacted the press . . . all for the singular purpose of trying to manufacture an improper basis to terminate Intercity's 52-year ground lease with Edgemere and wrongfully retake the property on which the Community sits – all so that they can repurpose it to make a windfall profit.") (emphasis added). The Plaintiff has alleged a cause of action for breach of the NDA against Intercity. Id. at 17–19.

[16] Dkt. No. 279-1 (Ex. 13 - Defendants' sealed subpoena on Lifespace); Dkt. No. 260 at 7 ("Lifespace is the direct parent and sole member of Edgemere. Lifespace manages the operations of Edgemere pursuant a Management Agreement, through which Lifespace maintains virtually all information relating to the finances and operations of Edgemere."). The Defendants also served a nearly identical subpoena on the Plaintiff.

case, but is a non-party to the Adversary Proceeding. On August 1, 2022, Lifespace responded to the subpoena with its objections and responses asserting that it would produce documents by way of the Plaintiff.[17] The Plaintiff began its production shortly thereafter and did not distinguish between documents produced by the Plaintiff and Lifespace.[18] The Plaintiff produced its privilege log which also did not distinguish between Lifespace and Plaintiff documents, nor did it distinguish between which party held the privilege.[19] On November 29, 2022, the Defendants filed the Lifespace Motion, asserting that Lifespace had failed to comply with the subpoena because (1) the Defendants could not identify Lifespace specific documents in the Plaintiff's production, and (2) the Plaintiff's privilege log inadequately identified documents withheld based on Lifespace's privilege.

III. Analysis.

There are two primary questions before the Court. First, the Court must determine whether the parent-subsidiary relationship between Lifespace and the Plaintiff excepts any waiver of an attorney-client privilege as to communications and documents shared between them. Second, the Court must determine whether Lifespace has complied with the Defendants' subpoena pursuant to Rule 45. Specifically, the Court must answer whether Rule 45 requires Lifespace to respond separately and whether the Court should further order the designation of documents as "Debtor" or "Lifespace" documents. The following constitutes the Court's analysis.

[17] Dkt. No. 239 at 5; Dkt. No. 260 at 7 ("On August 1, 2022, Lifespace served its responses and objections to the Subpoena, in which it agreed to conduct a reasonable search and produce non-privileged documents in response to each of the document requests subject to its objections. In its response, Lifespace made it clear to Defendants that it was making its production through Edgemere for efficiency and to avoid unnecessary duplication.").

[18] The Plaintiff and Lifespace were both separately served with their own subpoenas. Those subpoenas were virtually identical.

[19] It is the Court's understanding that the Plaintiff has amended its privilege log twice but that the issues underlying this Order remain. See Dkt. No. 227 at 5.

A. Related Companies Exception

The Plaintiff claims that a majority or wholly-owned subsidiary shares a privilege with its parent company; accordingly, the Plaintiff has withheld communications by and between the Plaintiff, Lifespace, and their respective legal counsel.[20] The Defendants seek an order from this Court compelling production of these communications or, in the alternative, providing the communications in camera for the Court's review.[21] The Defendants argue that the "mere relatedness" of entities does not create a privilege and that the Plaintiff has failed to meet its burden of establishing a privilege exists.[22] The Court finds that the "related companies exception" would apply to communications between Lifespace, the Plaintiff, and counsel to the extent the underlying communications were made in furtherance of legal services or are covered by some other applicable privilege.

The attorney-client privilege applies to communications if it can be shown that: (1) the communication was confidential; (2) made to a lawyer or his subordinate; (3) for the primary purpose of securing either legal opinion or legal services, or assistance in a legal proceeding.[23] The burden of proof is on the privilege claimant.[24] Determining the applicability of the privilege is a highly fact-specific inquiry by the Court.[25] Because the effect of the attorney-client privilege is to restrict or withhold relevant information from the fact-finder, it has been interpreted narrowly by the Fifth Circuit where only necessary to achieve its purpose.[26]

The Plaintiff asserts that it is undisputed that, upon consummation of an Affiliation Agreement in 2018, Lifespace became the Plaintiff's sole member.[27] As such, the Plaintiff claims that communications between Lifespace and Plaintiff representatives, as well as their respective in-house and outside counsel, are privileged.[28] The Court has reviewed the relevant caselaw and finds that, as to this legal question, the Plaintiff is correct. Courts have found that corporations related through common ownership or control are treated as one entity for purposes of the attorney-client privilege.[29] This is commonly referred to as the "related companies exception" and applies such that "the corporation which retained the attorney, its parents, and its subsidiaries are considered the same person for purposes of the privilege."[30] This means that "the disclosure of communications between a parent and its majority-owned subsidiaries does not result in a waiver of the attorney-client privilege."[31]

However, the Court cannot determine if an exception to the waiver of the attorney-client privilege applies until the substantive privilege has been established. The mere relatedness of the Plaintiff and Lifespace does not create the privilege.[32] This is particularly true in cases like the present where the entities are and were then represented by separate counsel.[33] Thus, if the Plaintiff cannot show that the entities share a common attorney or a common legal interest so as to come within the joint-client rule,[34] the Plaintiff must demonstrate that the disclosure was made between the entities for the purpose of eliciting assistance from the attorney in rendering legal advice or services.[35] The communication must, in itself, fall within the purpose of the attorney-client privilege.[36]

Though only persuasive authority and involving affiliates, the Court finds the Defendants' citation to Gulf Islands Leasing, Inc. v. Bombardier Cap., Inc.[37] instructive. In Gulf Islands, two subsidiaries claimed communications between the entities were privileged. The court conducted an in camera review and found the proponent failed to meet its burden of showing the communications were made for the purpose of rendering legal advice.[38] The court found that the entities' relatedness alone did not provide for a privilege:

> Some cases state the broad proposition that disclosure of attorney-client privileged information to an affiliated company does not waive the privilege—thereby obviating the need to invoke the common interest rule. But it appears that in such cases no waiver was found because the entities were represented by a common attorney or shared a common legal interest. In this case, however, [the subsidiaries] utilized different attorneys and held different interests of a commercial, not legal, nature. The mere existence of an affiliate relationship does not excuse a party from demonstrating the applicability of the common interest rule. Having chosen to operate as separate entities—and to obtain whatever advantages inure from so operating—[the subsidiaries] must be held to their burden of proving the applicability of any privilege in the same manner as two unrelated entities.[39]

[34] The Plaintiff argues that it shares a common legal interest with Lifespace and that such an interest shields production notwithstanding the Court's ruling as to the parent-subsidiary relationship. Dkt. No. 250 at 9 n.4 ("Lifespace and Edgemere plainly share a common legal interest here. To the extent this Court should hold that the parent-subsidiary relationship is insufficient to support a unity of privilege, the implicated materials are nevertheless shielded from disclosure under the common legal interest doctrine.").

The Gulf Islands opinion is particularly instructive to this Court for two reasons. First, in that case, the district court conducted in camera review of the communications prior to ruling.[40] Second, the Gulf Islands court made it clear that the communications needed to be for the purpose of rendering legal services and of a legal, not commercial, nature.[41] That understanding is also the prevailing standard in the Northern District of Texas.[42]

Accordingly, in order to determine whether a privilege exists as to a particular piece (or type) of communication, the Court must conduct an in camera review of the communications based on the substantive privileges claimed. To the extent the Plaintiff claims an attorney-client privilege inures to the benefit of its parent, or vice-versa, or more accurately that the two entities should be treated as one for privilege purposes, the Court will need to review the communications at issue to determine whether they were made for legal purpose.[43] If and when applicable, the Plaintiff will need to be able to show how a communication from its counsel, for example, to Lifespace's separate counsel either falls under the common interest privilege or in itself was for the purpose of rendering legal services. There were numerous examples provided to the Court of instances in which the entities diverged, including the proof of claim filed by Lifespace in the Debtors' bankruptcy case[44] and certain internal communications which appeared to evidence a strategy, in certain instances, of "distancing" Lifespace from the Edgemere's financial difficulties.[45] The Court must be able to ascertain the extent that a common interest prevails, particularly in light of these apparent divergences.

[43] The Plaintiff concedes the same in its response to the Motion to Compel. See Dkt. No. 250 at 9 ("[E]ven under the non-precedential logic of Bowne, companies are not required to show that they shared a common attorney or a common legal interest to meet the 'related companies' exception if the communication was made between the parent and subsidiary to elicit assistance to the attorney in rendering legal advice or services.") (emphasis added).

However, in light of this ruling,[46] the Court orders that the Litigation Trustee, the Plaintiff, Lifespace, and the Defendants confer to narrow their issues before submission in camera to the Court. As Plaintiff's counsel insisted at the hearing, objections should not be general to any and all claimed privileges.[47] The Court does not intend to review every document that is being withheld as privileged by Lifespace and the Plaintiff; rather the Court intends to review a reasonable subset of disputed documents or exemplars of categories thereof. Therefore, the Court hereby orders the parties to meet and confer to narrow their issues and particularize their objections prior to any submission of documents in camera to the Court.

B. Compliance with Rule 45

Lifespace responded to the Defendants' subpoena by producing documents "by way of Edgemere."[48] Lifespace contends that it produced all responsive and non-privileged documents to the Defendants in full compliance with Rule 45, albeit through the Plaintiff.[49] Simply put, Lifespace asserts that it maintains a cloud-based email and document management system and Edgemere does not maintain a separate system; thus, "the documents produced by Edgemere were all in Lifespace's possession, custody and control" and are in fact the "very same documents

[46] To the extent that there was an objection to the mere legal existence of a related companies exception, the Court herein has overruled that objection. This should narrow any potential in camera review.

[47] Dkt. No. 294 at 32 ("I think it's also important to note on this motion that Defendants have made this challenge generally. They have just said, hey, we think maybe Lifespace's presence on some of these communications could be a problem, and we think maybe generally, you know, your log is deficient because of that. They have not identified a single specific document from our privilege log that they are challenging as not actually privileged. So when we talk about this notion of in camera review, I think we're a little bit ahead of ourselves, because as I see it, the issue is more generally is there a unity of privilege or not. And if there is not, then we -- well, if there is, then I think the log is sufficient as it exists and there is nothing further to do. If there is not, I think then there would need to be another step before there could possibly be any kind of in camera review, because no particular documents have been brought forth and challenged at this point.").

Lifespace would produce independently."[50] The Defendants claim this production is inadequate to comply with Rule 45.[51] The Defendants seek an order compelling Lifespace to provide: (1) information to distinguish between Lifespace documents and Plaintiff documents; (2) confirmation that Lifespace is not in possession, custody, or control of additional documents responsive to the subpoena that have not already been produced by the Plaintiff; and (3) confirmation that the records produced by Edgemere are Lifespace's records.[52] As to issues (2) and (3), Lifespace's counsel confirmed that all responsive documents have been produced, and both Lifespace and the Plaintiff's counsel confirmed that all Edgemere's records reside on Lifespace's server and that all Edgemere employees are Lifespace employees. Thus, all Edgemere records are Lifespace records. Accordingly, the remaining issue is solely whether Lifespace must distinguish "Lifespace only" records.

Rule 45 explicitly contemplates the use of subpoenas in relation to non-parties.[53] Rule 34 governs requests for production of documents and Electronically Stored Information ("ESI") from a party and provides that, "[a]s provided in Rule 45, a nonparty may be compelled to produce documents and tangible things or to permit inspection."[54] Under Rule 45, a subpoena may command production of documents, ESI, or tangible things at a place within 100 miles of where the person resides, is employed, or regularly transactions business in person.[55]

At the hearing on the Lifespace Motion, the Defendants argued that they were placed in a difficult position by Lifespace's choice to produce documents only by way of the Plaintiff's production. The Defendants hypothesized that they would be unable to defend against the Plaintiff's claims and pursue their own counterclaims without knowing which statements were made by the Plaintiff and which were made by Lifespace.[56] Further, the Defendants claimed there was no reason to believe that the documents produced by the Plaintiff were the sole documents responsive to Lifespace's subpoena. While Lifespace is the custodian of all Edgemere documents, the Defendants surmised that there had to be some documents that did not fit into both "buckets", meaning documents that were non-privileged and solely belonged to Lifespace. In fact, when the Court inquired of Lifespace's counsel whether Lifespace would stipulate that all Edgemere documents were Lifespace documents, and vice-versa, counsel would not so stipulate. Frankly, the Court believes counsel could not stipulate as such because it is inherently conceivable that Lifespace possessed some documents to which the Plaintiff did not have access. Counsel described the relationship as a Venn diagram of sorts, and rightfully so; there is bound to be some production that falls only within the Lifespace "circle."

Lifespace did not file any request to quash or modify the subpoena, nor did it attempt to enter into a protective order as to the same.[57] Rather, Lifespace unilaterally chose to produce through the Plaintiff.[58] As such, Lifespace was required to comply with the subpoena. It simply did not, nor did it meet its burden to show that the requests were an undue burden.[59] The production [56] Dkt. No. 239 at 12 ("[I]f Defendants are forced to guess whether something was being done by Lifespace, or on behalf of Lifespace, as opposed to Edgemere, Defendants could not do so. Edgemere is in the convenient position of being able to say at trial that certain statements or actions were not done by Edgemere, but rather by Lifespace, perhaps avoiding liability entirely on the counterclaims pending against it. Where Defendants not only must defend against certain claims, but also where the Landlord has alleged that Edgemere slandered title of its property in its counterclaim, it is crucial that Defendants be able to distinguish between what are purportedly separate legal entities.").

[57] Fed. R. Civ. P. 45(d)(3)(A) ("On timely motion, the court for the district where compliance is required must quash or modify a subpoena that (i) fails to allow a reasonable time to comply; (ii) requires a person to comply beyond the geographical limits specified in Rule 45(c); (iii) requires disclosure of privileged or other protected matter, if no exception or waiver applies; or (iv) subjects a person to undue burden.").

[58] Dkt. No. 260 at 9 ("Lifespace timely provided complete written responses to the Subpoena and produced responsive and non-privileged documents to Defendants by way of Edgemere.") (emphasis added).

[59] See Fed. R. Civ. P. 45(d)(3)(A). Even if Lifespace had filed a motion to quash or modify the subpoena, it would be Lifespace's burden of proof to demonstrate that compliance with the subpoena would be unreasonable and oppressive. HCAPS Conroe Affiliation Inc. v. Angelica Textile Servs. Inc., No. 3:15-MC-60-N-BN, 2015 WL 3867923, at *2 (N.D. Tex. June 22, 2015) (citing Wiwa v. Royal Dutch Petroleum Co., 392 F.3d 812, 818 (5th Cir. 2004)).

does not comply with basic practice regarding ESI.[60] The Defendants allege that Lifespace did not provide sufficient information to identify how the documents were stored and whether the documents originated with the Plaintiff or Lifespace.[61] In practice, the failure to designate the actual source of the production improperly ties the Defendants' hands in this Adversary Proceeding. For example, the Defendants would likely be unable to properly depose certain Lifespace witnesses without knowing if the document was sent on behalf of Lifespace or the Plaintiff. Even impeachment evidence could be improper unless the Defendants could establish which entity owns the documents.

Based on the foregoing, the Court hereby orders Lifespace to remedy its production as follows. First, Lifespace shall designate which, if any, documents originated with Lifespace and not the Plaintiff, if separate servers are maintained. To the extent possible, the Defendants need to be able to determine the owner of the documents produced. Of course, this could simply mean Lifespace confirms whether certain documents are both Plaintiff and Lifespace documents. Nonetheless, if a Lifespace representative is responding to a communication in his capacity as a Lifespace employee, and not in his capacity as an Edgemere representative, the Defendants are entitled to know that.

The Court is sympathetic to Lifespace's concerns about the added expense of production, particularly since it is a non-party to the Adversary Proceeding. Nonetheless, much of that expense [60] See, e.g., McKinney/Pearl Rest. Partners, L.P. v. Metro. Life Ins. Co., 322 F.R.D. 235, 250-51 (N.D. Tex. 2016) ("[T]he producing party must provide information about where the documents are kept and how they are organized. For documents stored on a computer or external storage device, this means providing system metadata indicating at least the file name and path for produced files. The files and system metadata, must be organized in a manner that 'permits systemized retrieval' of files based on the metadata. In other words, the requesting party must be able to search for and readily access files with particular characteristics….").

[61] Dkt. No. 239 at 13 ("Defendants cannot determine from Edgemere's production whether a document was stored on an Edgemere server or a Lifespace server, as all documents produced have Lifespace file paths, regardless of custodian. Based on the metadata provided, there is no way for Defendants to readily access files belonging to Lifespace, and therefore, this discovery deficiency should be remedied, yet Lifespace has dismissed Defendants' concerns.").

could have been avoided if Lifespace had sought to modify the subpoena or if the proper designations had been made in the first place. Simply put, Lifespace cannot "have its cake and eat it too." Either all documents are one in the same—Lifespace's and Edgemere's—or the production must be carved back to allow for the Defendants to ascertain which documents belonged solely to one entity. Lifespace could simply allow the Defendants to use the documents produced for all purposes, but if not, the Defendants must be able to determine to which party the document belongs. The Court takes the Defendants at their word that they are not seeking duplication of anything already produced. Rather, they are looking for further designation and, as detailed above, anything that would have solely belonged to Lifespace.

Accordingly, the Court finds the above remedial measures proper and sufficient to resolve the inadequacy of Lifespace's production under Rule 45 and so orders Lifespace to remedy its production as set forth above. The parties shall meet and confer as to the timing.

V. Conclusion.

The Court encourages the Defendants and Lifespace, as well as the Plaintiff and incoming Litigation Trustee, to continue to work towards a resolution of the discovery issues. Accordingly, based upon the foregoing and the record before the Court, it is hereby ORDERED that the Motion to Compel[62] is GRANTED, in part; the parties shall meet and confer as to narrow the remaining disputes as to the privilege log in light of this Order; the parties shall submit the remaining disputed documents (or exemplars of categories thereof) for review by the Court in camera; it is further ORDERED that the Lifespace Motion[63] is GRANTED, in part, as set forth above.

CAME FOR CONSIDERATION Lifespace Communities, Inc.'s ("Lifespace") Motion to Clarify the Order Regarding the Production of Documents by Lifespace Communities, Inc. (the "Motion", ECF No. 372). This Court having jurisdiction over this matter under 28 U.S.C. §§ 157 and 1334; having found that this is a core proceeding under 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2); having found that venue of this proceeding and the Motion in this District is proper under 28 U.S.C. §§ 1408 and 1409; having reviewed the pleadings on file and having considered the Motion and any related responses, including oral argument from the parties at the hearing held on November 7, 2023; the Court is of the opinion that the Motion should be GRANTED as more particularly set forth herein. IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED THAT:

1. Lifespace is deemed to have complied with the Order Regarding the Production of Documents by Lifespace Communities, Inc. (ECF No. 314) (the "Lifespace Order") through Lifespace's stipulation and the Plaintiff's agreement that, for purposes of this Adversary Proceeding, (1) Lifespace's and Plaintiff's respective documents productions would have for all purposes been identical, and (2) all documents produced by Lifespace and Plaintiff to Defendants are owned by both Lifespace and Plaintiff;

2. Unless otherwise agreed by the parties, Lifespace and Plaintiff are directed to provide to Defendants (1) amended privilege and redaction logs by no later than November 17, 2023, and (2) any documents (or portions thereof) over which Lifespace and Plaintiff no longer claim privilege or protection pursuant to this or prior Orders of this Court by no later than November 28, 2023. Except as clarified by this Order, the Lifespace Order remains in full force and effect; and

3. All other relief, including Defendants' request for an award of sanctions against Lifespace in the form of an award of Defendants' attorneys' fees, is DENIED.

(Proceedings commenced at 10:05 a.m.)

THE COURT: All right. And so now I'll call the adversary, Case Number 22-3040, Leif Clark, Trustee of the Edgemere Litigation versus Intercity Investment Properties, Inc. and Kong Capital.

I'll take appearances for the record.

MR. TAYLOR: Greg Taylor for the Trustee for the Edgemere Litigation Trust. With me today is Steven Loden who will be sitting next to me, Drew Jones and Chris Johnson. We bring so many people just in case you have questions. We're still learning the case, and so we'll try to answer.

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: Good morning, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Good morning. And I'll note for the record by electronic roll call Mr. Diamond is on the WebEx, as well.

MR. TAYLOR: Oh, I'm sorry. And one other thing, with us today also is the Trustee himself, Judge Clark.

THE COURT: Welcome back. I understand that there -- was your vacation fabulous?

MR. CLARK: Fabulous. Much more interesting than I intended.

THE COURT: Oh, goodness.

(Laughter)

THE COURT: Well, there's obviously a story there. Well, welcome back. As you probably know, we are one man down.

Mr. Embry essentially concludes his clerkship at the end of the week, but he has already left for his honeymoon to Europe, so.

Yes. So he is off to better places.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Well, it was a pleasure working with him, also.

THE COURT: Thank you very much.

All right, and further appearances. Ms. Vandesteeg?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor.

Elizabeth Vandesteeg and Eileen Sethna of Levenfeld Pearlstein, and Elizabeth Pittman of Jackson Walker on behalf of both adversary defendants, Intercity Investment Properties, Inc., and Kong Capital, LLC. Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. Thank you very much.

All right. And, again, for the record, I'll note that there's already been an appearance made for Mr. Ennis who I assume will be here for the adversary proceeding on behalf of the former counsel for the debtors.

And also to the extent for the adversary, I have WebEx appearances for Mr. Eric Walker, Mr. Sam Rabuck with Cooley on behalf of Lifespace Communities.

And --

MS. WALSH: Hi, good morning, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Thank you, Ms. Walsh. I was just about to say the same for UMB because it's just coming to the forefront of my mind that with respect to the discovery issues, you may be appearing for that, as well. Thank you.

MS. WALSH: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: You're welcome.

So, again, for UMB, I have Ms. Kaitlin Walsh and Mr. Frasher Murphy, as well.

All righty. Thank you guys in advance for the notice of the agenda of the matters and the detail that was put in to that given that we have four discovery orders that I understand are in various stages of address.

So with that, how should we start? Mr. Taylor? Ms. Vandesteeg? What makes sense?

MR. TAYLOR: It's your motion.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Your Honor, I think it would make the most sense to go through the issues as presented in the notice of agenda. There was a motion that was filed in terms of a scheduling order --

THE COURT: Right.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- that defendants then sought to have heard on an expedited basis, which technically is also up today.

THE COURT: Yes.

MS. VANDESTEEG: However, I think it may make more sense to walk the Court through where we are with respect to those orders that had already been entered, figure out if there's additional assistance that may be needed from the Court, and also just lay the stage at least with respect to compliance with those orders as I think that will feed then into a broader discussion as to what are now competing scheduling orders in front of the Court for consideration before we leave the courtroom today.

THE COURT: And I appreciate that, and I think that does make sense, Ms. Vandesteeg since a lot of the dates in the defendants' form of scheduling order cue off of when the discovery matters will conclude. So let's start there.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Excellent.

And, Your Honor, we did print out a few extra copies of the notice of agenda. Should anyone need a hard copy, we do have them.

THE COURT: I think we are good.

Do you have one, Mr. Burns?

MR. BURNS: Yes.

THE COURT: Excellent. We're good.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Excellent.

So, Your Honor, with respect to the notice of agenda, what we had done was lay out each of those four orders that came down just before and during the stay at the litigation to apprise the Court of progress that has been made and/or further compliance that may still be necessary.

The first order up for discussion is the order that was entered on December 29th, 2022 at Docket Number 262.

Pursuant to that motion to compel, the defendants were seeking production of certain, several certain discrete buckets of things that had either been withheld or redacted by plaintiff. The Court went through in order and dealt with in the order five different buckets.

The buckets were, number one, communications between plaintiff and Paddock who had been a private investigatory firm. The second bucket were documents containing personal identifying information, PII, of certain residents. The third bucket were documents regarding certain intercompany transfers between different Lifespace entities. The fourth were communications with Houlihan Lokey. And the fifth were communications between and amongst plaintiff and Lifespace Communities and their respective counsel.

The order, Your Honor, went through and addressed certain production obligations with respect to the first three buckets, and we have now confirmed that supplemental productions that had been made by plaintiff just leading up to the stay did address those three buckets. So it is our understanding that those supplemental productions that had been made in December addressed those first three issues.

With respect to issue five, I'm going to jump ahead to issue five, those Lifespace-Edgemere communications, those were addressed by subsequent court order that came down in June. So, Your Honor, the only outstanding issue still with respect to the December 29, 2022 order is that fourth category of documents that defendants sought to have produced that had been previously withheld and/or redacted which were communications with Houlihan Lokey.

Your Honor, we had already, the parties collectively had already briefed and argued these issues. It was defendants' and is still defendants' position that any remaining Houlihan Lokey communications should be produced. Lifespace had taken the position, and obviously Mr. Walker and Mr. Rabuck are available, that any remaining communications that had been withheld are subject to a privilege between Houlihan Lokey and Lifespace.

Houlihan Lokey had been an investment banker retained in connection with the Lifespace acquisition of the Edgemere assets back in 2019-2020. We don't believe that these communications are privileged any longer even if they were at the time. In the first instance, we don't believe that there has been sufficient evidence presented to this Court to demonstrate that there was any existing privilege at the time between Lifespace and Houlihan Lokey.

Moreover, and we'll come to this again in connection with the broader order on Lifespace and Edgemere, Your Honor, at this point in time, the position has been taken that all documents are both Lifespace and Edgemere documents collectively. So, Your Honor, it's our position that to the extent there had been any privilege that could have been asserted by Lifespace by providing these documents to Edgemere and now making them Edgemere documents and producing them to Edgemere and now protecting them by Edgemere, that privilege has been waived.

And, Your Honor, I do think there is still some pending confusion and we'll come to this in more detail again in connection with the Lifespace-Edgemere productions and any potential privileges that may apply there. But, Your Honor, we don't see that there is any remaining privilege with respect to these communications. And we'd ask that these documents now be ordered to be produced.

THE COURT: Okay. I remember the initial way that the motion came to me. As I recall, and I think this was Docket 226, and I don't have this pulled. I remember we addressed Paddock, PII, and I think the irrelevant information at the hearing by oral ruling. Correct?

MS. VANDESTEEG: No, Your Honor. It was not by oral ruling. There was a separate written ruling.

THE COURT: It was part of 262?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Correct.

THE COURT: Okay. Okay.

So all of those have been addressed. And so when you say that the Houlihan Lokey issue has been fully addressed, I seem to recall that the debtors had filed a response to that initial 226. Has the Houlihan Lokey issue specifically been fully briefed?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Your Honor, my recollection is that the way this happened is that there were written positions taken by both defendants and by plaintiff. And then subsequently at our hearing on the issues, there was oral argument by all three parties; by defendants, by plaintiff, and by Lifespace. I do not believe that with the exception of the Lifespace position that Lifespace included in the agenda that Lifespace has further briefed this specific issue.

THE COURT: Okay. Because I remember you guys asking me to put a pin into certain of them with respect to a ruling, so I just want to make sure that if I were to expect any further briefing with respect to the Houlihan Lokey issue that we set that out.

MS. VANDESTEEG: I think, Your Honor, we'd need to defer then to Lifespace --

THE COURT: Of course.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- to determine whether Lifespace would want a further written position on this and we could then determine whether further written rebuttal and/or hearing would be necessary, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much.

Thank you, Ms. Vandesteeg.

So at this point, I think it probably does make sense for me to turn to Mr. Cooley [sic] or Mr. Rabuck for their position.

MR. RABUCK: Good morning, Your Honor.

For the record, Sam Rabuck of Cooley, LLP, on behalf of Lifespace Communities, Inc.

Your Honor, what Ms. Vandesteeg said with respect to Lifespace's position is accurate. We do take the position that those communications with respect to Houlihan Lokey do remain privileged, notwithstanding their disclosure to Edgemere because of the related companies exception that Your Honor wrote about at length in the June 2023 order.

Our understanding as well is that that issue has not been fully briefed. And if Your Honor does request further briefing on it, we would be amenable to going further into those issues in writing.

THE COURT: Well, I do believe that it would probably -- I mean the question of whether or not further briefing is necessary is really a question for Lifespace. Do you want to further brief the issue or do you believe that the existing briefing and the existing evidence is sufficient for the Court to rule?

MR. RABUCK: Your Honor, I would want to confer with my co-counsel, Eric Walker, on that specific point.

THE COURT: Fair enough.

MR. RABUCK: He had been handling that as of December

29th. That predates my involvement with the case, so I wouldn't want to make a representation based on something that I might not be fully aware of at this time. But that's something that we could confer on very quickly.

THE COURT: Okay. All right. Well, I'll let you confer on that, and if we need to take a recess at some point, we will. Because I believe that that's a bit of a gating item of whether or not you as the entity that will be producing the documents is prepared for the Court to go on the face of the current briefing.

I do not recall this issue being fully briefed, but that's not to say that it wasn't and that the parties just asked me to put a pin in it for a while while there were further discussions as part of the broader Lifespace portion of that particular motion. So I'll let you confer with Mr. Cooley -- excuse me, Mr. Walker and, to the extent necessary, your client.

MR. RABUCK: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: You're welcome, Mr. Rabuck.

Is there anyone else who wishes to be heard with respect to the Houlihan Lokey documents?

MR. TAYLOR: We do not. It's not our fight.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you, Mr. Taylor.

All right. Ms. Vandesteeg?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor.

So I suppose a pinch I'll go back into that for the moment. I believe that Mr. Walker was on earlier, but we don't see him on WebEx now.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: So that may just be something that we will need to revisit in connection with --

THE COURT: I bet you Mr. Rabuck has his number.

MS. VANDESTEEG: I do too, Your Honor.

So let's move on then to our second order on the agenda, and that order, Your Honor, is the one that was entered on February 6th, 2023 at Docket Number 303. This order addressed competing motions to compel, one that was the plaintiff's motion to compel defendants to produce certain additional discovery, and that was at Docket 98, as well as then defendants' motion to compel discovery from plaintiff and also defendants' motion to compel discovery from UMB.

The thrust of all three of these motions, Your Honor, was with respect to different asserted privileges between and among the different parties involving consulting expert privileges and common legal interest privileges. The order that came down did grant in part and deny in part the different motions and required that the defendants produce certain categories of documents, one chunk that was from the outset of the relationship between the defendants through February 23rd, 2023 and subsequently then a second bucket of documents that were in the time frame of February 202- -- I'm sorry, February 24, 2023 to the petition date and date of filing of the adversary.

In accordance with that order, Your Honor also determined that there was no common legal interest between UMB and plaintiff and Lifespace and held that those documents would also need to be produced.

We are making progress collectively on this order, Your Honor. Defendants have received a production from UMB. We understand that that production does pertain both to a supplemental production that UMB was on the cusp of producing prior to the stay as well as documents that UMB had previously withheld on the basis of that common legal interest. So that supplemental production is in hand, Your Honor. Review is underway, and we will be in communication with UMB as necessary should we believe that any further production may still be outstanding.

We have also very recently, defendants very recently received a supplemental production from plaintiff which we again believe is related to compliance with this order. Review of that is underway, as well. I believe that that supplemental production was only approximately 90 documents. So I am unclear, Your Honor, on whether plaintiff believes that that is complete compliance with now producing documents that were previously withheld under common legal interest.

And we've not had the opportunity to determine from the Lifespace perspective whether Lifespace believes that there would be any supplemental discrete Lifespace production on those grounds. That is an open issue.

With respect to the productions that defendants will be required to undertake, that is also underway. The Court's order put in place several thousand additional documents that we are working through in terms of review and compiling for production. We propose, defendants propose that all supplemental productions from any party with respect to this February 6th, 2023 order be complete by September 15th, 2023.

THE COURT: And, Ms. Vandesteeg, have the defendants produced their documents to the plaintiff that address the common legal interest with Kong?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Your Honor, that is part of the several thousand documents that I just referenced.

THE COURT: Oh, so that you're saying by the 15th --

MS. VANDESTEEG: Correct.

THE COURT: -- is what you're proposing.

MS. VANDESTEEG: We're working on complying --

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- with both of those time periods that Your Honor identified under different asserted privileges --

THE COURT: Yes.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- collectively for compliance in total by September 15th.

THE COURT: Okay. And so you said that's thousands. Okay. Those were the thousands. Gotcha.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Correct. We've identified a couple of thousand.

THE COURT: Okay.

Okay. And so now anything further on this point before I hear from the other parties?

MS. VANDESTEEG: No, Your Honor. Thank you.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

So just to give a little order to it, I'll ask UMB first, any comment on the facts as Ms. Vandesteeg laid them out, Ms. Walsh?

MS. WALSH: No, Your Honor. Thank you.

We did -- as Ms. Vandesteeg pointed out, we did make a production. And my understanding is our belief is that the production is complete and we've satisfied our requirements. But we haven't had any further discussions with ICI on this point.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you. Thank you very much, Ms. Walsh.

MS. WALSH: Thank you.

THE COURT: All right. Mr. Taylor?

MR. TAYLOR: I am new to these issues, of course. My job has been sort of to ride herd on the whole thing just with all the people that formerly were on my side to get these documents out as quick as we can. And I know that we have produced as far as I know everything that there is on this. But it's possible that there's still some review going on, but if there's people from Polsinelli that are on the call, they would be able to fill you in better on where we are.

All I can tell you is from my perspective as the current counsel for plaintiff. We're just trying to get the documents out as quick as we can, but it is a little bit like trying to surf on a big wave --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. TAYLOR: -- because there's a lot of stuff.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. TAYLOR: So I'm trying my best to get on top of it.

THE COURT: Excellent.

MR. TAYLOR: But we are pushing. And like they said, the defendants have made a production. We're going through that. But I expect that if we have any issues, I'm going to try and work it out with them before we would trouble you. And hopefully we'll get the same.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much, Mr. Taylor.

Mr. Ennis?

MR. ENNIS: Good morning, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Welcome back.

MR. ENNIS: Just brief -- yeah, thank you. Glad to be back. Just briefly for the plaintiff's side of this, we have -- I think there have been two rounds of a rolling production that have come out from Edgemere. We have a small set of additional documents that we need to review. When I say small, I think fewer than 150 that are left in our cue to review for Edgemere. We'll get those out certainly by September 15th and likely sooner.

In addition to the Edgemere piece of this, of course, we help coordinate the FTI and Sidley productions that were part of the process. We coordinated with those folks. And my understanding is Sidley has made an initial production and I think is complete but Sidley may have a small, again, chunk of material left to review. And FTI I believe is largely complete, as well.

And so we're sort of involved with all of those processes, but all of them are if not entirely complete, right on the cusp. So the September 15th date that Ms. Vandesteeg mentioned won't be any issue for the production. There will be some updating that we have to make to the privilege logs and redaction logs based on these productions. That will happen after the productions are complete. And so there will be another step in the process before we're all the way finished. I expect that can be done within a couple of weeks of final -- of that September 15th date.

So that's the update from me.

THE COURT: All right. Thank you very much, Mr. Ennis. Nice to see you.

MR. ENNIS: Nice to see you. Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: You're welcome.

Ms. Vandesteeg?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor.

A couple of follow-up points then on the collective input on this Docket Number, what were we at, 303. The first point of clarification raised by my team, I referenced a couple of thousand records that we have under review. I want to clarify that that includes attachments, so it's likely under a thousand entries from the privilege log.

THE COURT: Sure.

MS. VANDESTEEG: But when we talk about families and total documents, that's the larger number, just managing expectations.

THE COURT: Sure.

MS. VANDESTEEG: With respect to Sidley, yes, Your Honor, defendants did receive a production from Sidley late on Monday night.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: That has been loaded at this point into our Relativity database. My understanding is that is comprised of only a couple of hundred documents, Your Honor, whereas my recollection is that the total number of Sidley documents that had previously been either withheld or redacted on their logs was substantially higher than that.

So given that this did just come in, Your Honor, we have not yet had a chance to put our eyes on it. But I suspect that we're going to have some follow-up questions with Sidley on this and, again, hopefully we won't need court intervention. But --

THE COURT: But, again, some of those obviously are privileged, right?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes, Your Honor. How --

THE COURT: Maybe that explains the delta?

MS. VANDESTEEG: I'm not sure, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Oh, okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: My recollection, again, and it's been in the last 48 hours, is that I had anticipated that the number would be higher. So we'll just leave it TBD.

THE COURT: So privilege log will tell the tale, I got you.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Correct.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Correct. Reconciliation underway.

And on FTI, same. FTI, the bulk of the FTI production came in through Polsinelli right as we were heading into the stay period. That one is a fairly voluminous production. So if and as further follow-up is necessary, TBD on that one, Your Honor, but that one is a much more voluminous production.

THE COURT: Okay. All righty.

And do you have any issue with Mr. Ennis' estimate of updating the privilege log within a couple of weeks after the close of the delivery?

MS. VANDESTEEG: No, Your Honor. I think everyone agrees that there will need be that time in that process. And with ours actually being an even more substantial, it's going to take some time then to be able to provide an updated and cleaned up --

THE COURT: Sure.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- privilege log from defendants, as well.

THE COURT: Okay. All righty.

Anything further on this point, Mr. Taylor?

MR. TAYLOR: Not for us. Thank you.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

Ms. Vandesteeg?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor.

I believe that brings us to Item Number 3 on our agenda which is the order entered on April 13th, 2023 at Docket Number 309. This was the order compelling production of certain additional communications with the Monument Group.

Your Honor, I'm pleased to report that I think that compliance with this order has been completed and satisfied. We -- defendants produced documents on August 9th, and the counsel for the Monument Group itself had an additional subsequent production. I believe that was on August 14th. It was the following Monday, Tuesday, Your Honor. So it's our understanding and belief that compliance with this order has been completed in full, pending any additional questions or concerns raised by plaintiff.

THE COURT: All righty. Thank you very much.

Does anyone else wish to be heard with respect to what's noted as Agenda Item 3 which is the motion to compel production from the Monument Group which is at Docket 309?

MR. TAYLOR: We have nothing further, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Thank you very much, Mr. Taylor.

Ms. Vandesteeg?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you. Thank you, Your Honor.

So this brings us to Item Number 4 on our notice of agenda, which is ECF Number 314, which was an order entered on June 23rd, 2023. And what likely comes as no surprise to anyone, this has been the most complicated. As Your Honor will recall, there was a motion to compel filed regarding a number of issues that the defendants raised with respect to what has been a collective Edgemere/Lifespace production of documents.

As Your Honor will recall, the defendants asserted both that that was improper under the Federal Rules and also that there is no way for defendants to be able to designate and understand which documents came from which party which we believe created significant evidentiary issues for the defendants.

Your Honor's order addressed all of the arguments raised by the parties. And Your Honor identified that there were two additional then steps, and I'll distill them from my perspective. I kind of do them in reverse order. Your Honor determined that Lifespace needed to, to the extent that it did want to say that any of those documents consisted of Lifespace only documents rather than the collective Lifespace-Edgemere documents, that counsel for Lifespace must identify those that it sought to protect, withhold, or designate as Lifespace only, acknowledging that the parties, that Edgemere and Lifespace were not always fully aligned.

Step two, Your Honor addressed the related companies privilege that had been asserted by and between Edgemere and Lifespace. As Your Honor will recall, Lifespace had taken the position that all communications involving Lifespace and Edgemere and/or their respective or collective counsel and/or their internal counsel were all designated, blanket designated as privileged under a related companies privilege.

Your Honor identified that such a privilege could exist. However, it in and of itself is not a global privilege. It is an exception to what would otherwise be a waiver of privilege between two separate parties. And Your Honor encouraged and ordered the parties to meet and confer to try to narrow the objections and come up with certain subcategories of the thousands of documents that have been withheld or redacted to then provide a subset of certain documents for in-camera review for Your Honor to determine whether there was an underlying separate privilege in that correspondence that could then be further cloaked under the circumstances under a related companies privilege.

Your Honor, we have been attempting to engage and have been engaged with counsel for Lifespace for over a month on those issues. We have tried to in the first instance focus on the designation issue thinking it to be in some ways the faster simpler issue. It took us up until last Sunday night, Your Honor, and we did attach the correspondence back and forth so Your Honor could understand that we have been trying to make progress on this for counsel to Lifespace to finally get back to us with a statement.

And, Your Honor, we attached this as Exhibit B to the notice of agenda so that everyone can be very clear now on the position that has been taken, which is -- and I'll read it:

"Counsel, as a follow-up to the Court's June 23rd, 2023 order on defendants' motion to compel and our meet and confer conference conducted on August 7th 2023, Lifespace will stipulate that for purposes of this adversary only, all of the documents produced by Edgemere on behalf of Lifespace constitute both Lifespace and Edgemere documents. Lifespace and Edgemere reserve all rights to object to the use of these documents for any purpose on any other grounds including evidentiary objections that may be appropriate."

Your Honor, we're glad that we finally have a substantive position from Lifespace and Edgemere on this. However, this position in and of itself raises some questions and concerns. If we cannot -- if we are still going to be subject to certain evidentiary objections as to whose records these are, who was speaking on behalf of whom, are we going to have impeachment issues, we still have thousands and thousands of documents that could provide some evidentiary issues.

Your Honor, we also have not yet had the chance to make any meaningful progress, unfortunately, on the second part of what must be done now in terms of actually trying to drill down into all of the documents that have been withheld or redacted on the related companies issue. So while we're a month in since we were last here on status, Your Honor, I don't

-- this one is still going to be I think slow and difficult as we continue to try to make progress.

I'd love some guidance from the Court in terms of maybe helping us put an internal benchmark by which the parties must meet and confer on this separate second step that must be taken and also how Lifespace and Edgemere would propose that we try to work within the confines of their proposed limitation while still saying that everything is one and the same. Perhaps it would make sense to try to set that for two weeks out. To the extent the parties cannot make meaningful cooperative progress, Your Honor, I know that we're back up on status then for our monthly status that I'd love to just keep a cadence in that.

Perhaps then, what the Court would like is to the extent the parties have not come to consensus, perhaps a further written report to be provided to the Court with the parties' respective positions again on these issues perhaps a week ahead of that hearing so that we can try to continue to make incremental progress with respect to what is a substantial universe of documents, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. So let's take it in parts.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you.

THE COURT: Without forcing me to re-read my own order again, as I recall with respect to the related companies exception, the Court essentially stated what is the course of the law is that for the related companies exception to apply, the correspondence must be of a legal not a commercial nature.

In that way, is it really -- I mean do we jump to in-camera review? And I know you guys love that part. Does it start with a revision of the privilege log?

MS. VANDESTEEG: We requested that, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Oh, okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: We believed that a revised privilege log both to address this issue in terms of the commercial nature or legal nature of communications overall on the related companies, as well as we thought it would also apply to, to the extent there would be anything specifically designated for Lifespace, we thought an amended privilege log would be a great place to start.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: We don't have agreement on that issue.

THE COURT: Unanimity on that one? Okay. Excellent. Thank you, Ms. Vandesteeg.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: So let me go next to Mr. Rabuck, and then I'll hear from any other parties.

Mr. Rabuck or Mr. Walker, who's ever addressing?

MR. WALKER: Good morning, Your Honor.

Eric Walker for Lifespace. Can you hear me?

THE COURT: I can. Good morning.

MR. WALKER: Apologies. I had to step out of the hearing for an emergency on another matter, but I am back now and I think I caught most of Ms. Vandesteeg's production.

With respect to the one outstanding issue for Lifespace on the production of documents, we did meet and confer earlier this month and, as Ms. Vandesteeg read into the record, Lifespace has agreed to stipulate that for purposes of the adversary, just as we stated, documents can be treated as both Lifespace and Edgemere documents, which reflects as the Court may recall the fact that, of course, Lifespace was a third-party manager for Edgemere prior to closing of the sale on this bankruptcy case.

And accordingly, all the employees were Lifespace employees. Lifespace provided the cloud kind of virtual IT environment where all those documents were stored. So for all practical purposes, those documents are one and the same. Obviously, producing documents is just the first step of the discovery process. We have oral discovery depositions where defendants are free to ask questions about who was saying what in what documents and, of course, your order didn't require nor are we prepared to waive any objections we may have as we proceed down the typical discovery process. But we believe what we've done is consistent with the Court's order.

With respect to a revised privilege log --

THE COURT: But before you move on from there, Mr. Walker --

MR. WALKER: Yes.

THE COURT: -- so that I understand, so your reservation in that email to include evidentiary objections as may be appropriate are not evidentiary objections to say that's Edgemere only, not Lifespace only. This is evidentiary objections that go to essentially admission, not to whether or not they can be used for impeachment and the like? I mean, because if not, we really do need to drill down on that.

MR. WALKER: Sure. No, I understand.

I think the reservation of rights is for anything other than simply the fact that this was an Edgemere document versus this was a Lifespace only document, which was the basis of the Court's ruling. So I think we're clear on that.

And then with respect to a revised privilege log, we had understood the Court's order to require the parties to meet and confer to designate a subset of the privileged documents to be then submitted to the Court for in-camera review. We're happy to -- I think the defendants have proposed in their agenda that we conduct that meet and confer by September 15th. That's a three-person or three-party meet and confer. It's the two parties to the litigation, Edgemere, now the post-confirmation litigation trust, and the defendants but also my client, the non-party Lifespace.

We have no objection. We're happy to schedule that meet and confer. I think -- as I understand it, we have not been involved in the prior in-camera reviews. I know there have been a lot in this case. What I understand is typically the way that works is the non-producing party, so in this case, the defendants would look at the privilege log, select a sample of 50 I think is the number that has been used which sounds like a reasonable sample to me. We would pull them, package them, or I think more technically the litigation trustee would pull them and package them and submit them to the Court for review.

So that's what we understood to be the next step. We haven't been invited to a meet and confer yet. We're happy to participate in one. And I think from my reading of the Court's June 23rd order, that was my understanding of the next step. If we want to proceed down a different path, certainly, we'll do what the Court thinks is most efficient here.

THE COURT: Well, I mean I guess the question for me, Mr. Walker, would be would it not -- okay, so let's take it in parts.

Would it not make more sense for Lifespace to review the privilege log to determine which of those documents fall under the legal and not commercial nature exception to the exception or are you saying that that's already been done? You already think all of the communications were legal in nature and so that you think that you're ready to go in terms of selecting documents for in-camera review?

MR. WALKER: We're happy to take that first step to re-review. It's been a couple of months. I can't imagine that any documents that were strictly of a commercial nature were designated as privileges because they don't meet the basic qualification as privilege in the first place. But we're happy to take that preliminary review just to make sure that we're not burdening the Court with an unnecessary in-camera review.

THE COURT: Well, I do believe that makes sense.

MR. WALKER: We're happy to do that and -- okay. And we're happy to do that and that probably makes sense to do that in advance of the meet and confer. And we're happy to proceed that way.

THE COURT: Well, I think that makes sense, Mr. Walker. I mean, look, I'm not assuming for a second that you reviewed each of these documents yourself. I don't believe that likely happened. So I mean if you can just speak with the review team to figure out what their process was, provide them a copy of the order and they can determine at that time whether they believe that they're already in compliance with this, just as it relates to the related company exception, or if an updated review or amendment to the privilege log is required.

And then I think that would make the meet and confer all the more productive.

MR. WALKER: I think that's a great idea. That makes sense to us. Thank you.

THE COURT: Okay. You're welcome.

And have you had an opportunity now that I have you, Mr. Walker, because I think that Mr. Rabuck was going to confer with you on what was set out on the first issue which was the Houlihan issue and if Lifespace wanted any further time to brief that?

I have had an opportunity since then to pull that original order, and my order says, "With respect to the defendants' request for communications with Houlihan Lokey, the motion remains under advisement by the Court and it's carried for further hearing." And, again, I know that we've punted it for lack of a better word since then. So the question for Lifespace is do you believe it's fully briefed and fully -- and that I heard every bit of evidence you have or would you like any further hearing or briefing on that?

MR. WALKER: Thank you, Your Honor.

That issue was an issue that was litigated between the plaintiff and the defendants. Lifespace wasn't part of that briefing. My recollection is it was fully briefed, and my understanding is the Court already effectively ruled on that legal issue which is the related companies exception applies which was in the Court's June 23rd order.

But if the Court would indulge me, I would like to go back and double check. If the Court is going to enter a ruling on this and that impacts Lifespace's privilege with Houlihan Lokey, then I want to make sure that we've had an ample opportunity to make sure the appropriate arguments are made. So --

THE COURT: Well, why don't --

MR. WALKER: -- we would ask for --

THE COURT: Yeah. After this hearing, why don't you do the necessary on your end from the Lifespace perspective to take a look at what was briefed. My recollection is a good one. The briefing on the Houlihan issue was fairly minimal, and so take a look at what was already asserted by the debtors. I agree with you. I don't believe that Lifespace took a position in and of itself on those documents at the time.

And then if you require further briefing, if you require further hearing, confer with the defendants' team and then together you can get with Ms. Harden if you need a further hearing date. Okay?

MR. WALKER: Thank you. Will do.

Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All righty.

Ms. Vandesteeg?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor.

A few follow-up points that I suspect we'll need further guidance from Court and likely from Mr. Walker, as well. I'm still confused, and I want to get a lot of clarity around the who's documents they are and for what -- I'm still not clear on the impeachment issues.

And the reason why this is one that I want to make sure I've got clarity on is when these issues were argued back in January, we were hearing a different analysis involving Venn diagrams of documents where the majority of these, you know, we agreed that the Edgemere production lived on the Lifespace servers but everyone acknowledged that there were periods in time when the parties' interests were not fully aligned. So wouldn't there be an assumption and presumption that there would be some additional universe of documents that would really be Lifespace documents?

We now have finally again last Sunday gotten confirmation that, no, the circles are perfectly aligned. And I'm struggling again to make sure I understand then for purposes of using these documents is the only restriction on what Lifespace is proposing now is that there need not be a fight over is this a Lifespace document or an Edgemere document or can we really say that it is the position of both the parties or are there other additional issues that we're going to be wrangling with this position.

So I want to get additional clarity on that. And also, with respect to -- I think that ties then into also the Court's suggestion and now counsel's agreement to go back and take another look at what are really substantial privilege and redaction logs. My recollection is that each of them is hundreds of pages long with thousands of entries.

So I do think that given now this new position that could impact, so I agree, Your Honor, that that would be a good first step. I hear counsel that it shouldn't have appeared there if it wasn't otherwise subject to privilege. But in light of these rulings, in light of the guidance provided by the Court, I think that's important. And given that everyone is trying to keep this process moving, I would very much like to try to keep some specific deadlines and timelines in place for how we can continue to keep moving that ball.

THE COURT: Well, I mean I do recall the hearing and Mr. Ennis and Ms. Lutz did painstakingly take me through the privilege log.

(Laughter)

THE COURT: And I do recall that the privilege log as prepared by Lifespace and Edgemere was fairly detailed. And so I do believe that there's going to be the ability to kind of take a look at it and see again if by nothing other than who the parties are on the emails, I'm hoping that things of a commercial nature wouldn't have Mr. Califano, Mr. Johnson, or Mr. Cooley on them.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Correct.

THE COURT: But I could be wrong on that. So I think that that's number one with respect to the privilege log. So I do believe that that is the better way to go is to really understand what the process of review was to start with.

With respect to the stipulation, I understand your hesitancy. But, again, this is a decision to be made by Lifespace. And as essentially the manager of Edgemere, if Lifespace is willing to stipulate for purposes of this adversary that all the documents produced by Edgemere on behalf of Lifespace constitute both of their documents, then that's their stipulation to make.

And I agree with you it was not made at the last hearing. This is if not a change, a clarification at most. So it's theirs to make. But I agree with you that we do need to know that it is for all purposes other than the evidentiary objections that Mr. Walker described.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Correct.

THE COURT: And so, again, I mean I take Mr. Walker at his word, if that's the stipulation they're willing to make, then that's where we are. But I agree, and I think Mr. Walker having sat through that same hearing which was lengthy, understands what that means, that at that point if somebody who was a Lifespace employee only is making a statement, then that's going to be attributed to Edgemere by the defendants.

MS. VANDESTEEG: And vice versa.

THE COURT: And vice versa. So --

MS. VANDESTEEG: Okay.

MR. WALKER: Your Honor, if I may be heard on that, please?

THE COURT: Of course.

MR. WALKER: So I think there's an important distinction there, and I think we're getting a little far ahead of where we need to be. What we understood the Court's order is to allow Lifespace to either designate a subset of documents that are Lifespace only documents versus documents that were Lifespace and Edgemere. And we have stipulated that for purposes of this adversary proceeding, all of the documents that were produced can be considered a Lifespace document and an Edgemere document.

Now Lifespace may have a document that is -- that represents a communication from somebody who is not at Lifespace. It could have a document from one of its vendors, right, its food vendor, and the food vendor says we overcharged you $200. That doesn't mean that statement was made by Lifespace. It just means that document was both a Lifespace and an Edgemere document. That's why we reserve the right to make any of the evidentiary objections that we need to make, and that's precisely what the purpose of deposition discovery is.

THE COURT: Okay. Well then I --

MR. WALKER: So there is an important distinction.

Every document that was produced --

THE COURT: There is a distinction to be made, Mr. Walker, and that's why I'm pushing back a little bit because I want to give Lifespace every opportunity to draw that line for me because if you recall during the hearing, I think I understood the line that was drawn and I was given a list of who the employees are and things of that nature. But then during testimony, we realized it was a little bit more fluid than that and perhaps than the list we were provided would show.

And so I am still giving Lifespace the opportunity to take its documents that it reviewed and basically say documents 1, 20, 342, and 5,306 are Lifespace only documents. These are Lifespace directors talking about budgetary issues. This is not a document that Edgemere would have had access to and, therefore, they are Lifespace only documents. They can't be used against Edgemere, for example, for impeachment. Okay.

And I do believe you and know it to be a fact that Lifespace is going to have those documents from vendors that you're going to have thousands of documents that have nothing to do with the Edgemere at all because you run so many communities. So what I'm giving you the opportunity to do is to call those and to take the position.

And I know that's a pain in the neck sort of work, but that's your opportunity to still do that, to pull those out and say this isn't Edgemere, this is Lifespace only. And so if you --

MR. WALKER: And --

THE COURT: Please, go ahead.

MR. WALKER: I'm sorry, I didn't mean to interrupt, Your Honor.

I understand that and I understand that that ruling relates only to who has possession of the document, and that is the stipulation that we were prepared to agree to is that Lifespace and Edgemere both in a perfect circle, concentric circles had possession of the documents that were produced.

Now just because Lifespace has possession of a document does not mean that document is a Lifespace document insofar as it represents a position of Lifespace because, again, Lifespace has a bunch of documents that relate to Edgemere and are responsive and it's in its possession because it relates to Edgemere but doesn't necessarily articulate a position of Lifespace.

And that is precisely the purpose of deposition discovery, which is they will have an opportunity to send a Lifespace representative down and say did you send this email, is this the position of Lifespace. But to pre-judge that now or to put Lifespace in a box now where we have to pre-determine which documents are not just documents in the possession of Lifespace that were produced but also reflect a position that Lifespace is conveying in the document, that's what oral discovery is for. That's what depositions are for.

And we only understood the Court's order to clarify the possession of the document. Did Lifespace possess documents that Edgemere did not possess? Is there a subset universe of documents that Lifespace would have produced on its own and not given it to Edgemere to produce together with the Edgemere production?

And our stipulation was simply the possession of the document itself is the same for Lifespace and the same for Edgemere because of the management relationship that the two entities have. And that's what the Court's order said.

THE COURT: Give me a minute.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Your Honor, I feel like I'm having deja vu here. These were the issues that were argued in January. These issues were argued by Mr. Walker and by my partner, Ms. Lutz. This is exactly what came up. Ms. Lutz argued about how that makes no sense, we cannot be wasting all of our deposition time on this. This doesn't comply with what they must do pursuant to the Federal Rules. Of course, they need to pre-designate in advance whose documents these are. This is exactly what your order went to --

MR. WALKER: And that's what we've done. That's what we've done, Your Honor. We're stipulating that these documents are both Lifespace and Edgemere documents. That does not mean these documents represent the position of either Lifespace or Edgemere because the documents could be third-party documents that are in the possession of both Edgemere and Lifespace.

On Page 13 of the Court's order, the Court said, "Of course, this could simply mean Lifespace confirms whether certain documents are both Lifespace plaintiff and Lifespace documents."

THE COURT: And then the next line --

MR. WALKER: And that's precisely what we intended to do --

THE COURT: And the next line says, "Nonetheless, if a Lifespace representative is responding to a communication in his capacity as a Lifespace employee and not in his capacity as an Edgemere representative, the defendants are entitled to know that."

MR. WALKER: Correct. And --

THE COURT: And so is it your position they're not going to know that until the deposition?

MR. WALKER: That's -- it depends on what document because a bunch of documents will have information that aren't necessarily a Lifespace or an Edgemere representative.

MS. VANDESTEEG: How are we supposed to be able to know that, Your Honor?

MR. WALKER: By taking a deposition. We will not object on foundation grounds, like this is not a document that was a Lifespace document. You can ask all the questions you want. That's precisely the purpose of deposition discovery.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Your Honor, without having this basic information --

MR. WALKER: We're not going to object and say you can't ask the witness that question because that's not a Lifespace document. That is the purpose of our stipulation here, right, which is to facilitate continuing down the path of typical discovery, right. We're not going to play a game that says you can't ask the witness that question. It's a --

THE COURT: Typically in discovery, Mr. Walker, you make your production and at that time, the plaintiff would have made its own production. You guys unilaterally determined amongst yourselves to make the production together. I don't want to go any further on this because we're dangerously into motions for reconsideration, motions for clarification, all of which are unfiled.

All I will forewarn you at this juncture, Mr. Walker. is I get the line that you're reading out of my order. I suggest you start reading back at Page 10 and move forward through it and understand the import of what I ordered and not just the one line that you're reading back to me. I don't mean to be flippant in that regard. I just mean that I thought that based upon what was argued that day I issued a ruling that the parties could understand. And I'm not sure that we're on the same page as we sit here today, Mr. Walker.

It was within your control whether to make the stipulation. Only you know your documents. I haven't looked at all of your documents, thankfully. It appears I might at some juncture. But it's within your control at this point whether to make the stipulation that the Court gave you the option to make. But I'm not sure that making it with a "provided however" or with a footnote is really in keeping with the Court's order.

So that's all I'll say today because I think we're veering towards advisory opinions, if we're not square in the middle of them.

MR. WALKER: Understood, Your Honor. Thank you.

And certainly our intent as we made very clear in the stipulation that we offered was not to waive all of the evidentiary objections that we're entitled to under the Federal Rules. So we will revisit that.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. WALKER: We will re-review your order as we have many times very carefully and confer with defendants on the right way to proceed from here.

THE COURT: Right. And, again, and with respect to the meet and confer, I'll allow you guys to continue to kind of fluidly get to where you need to get with respect to any in-camera production if there is a disputed set, which there very well may be. But the next time that the Court engages with it, I'll engage with it on a motion. All righty?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: You're welcome.

MR. WALKER: Thank you, Your Honor.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Well, Your Honor, I think that's actually a fairly helpful segue into competing scheduling orders --

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- unless Your Honor has more questions on point number five which I think is going to simply for the time being remain subject to further discussion between counsel and quite likely additional motion practice.

THE COURT: Okay. So let me see. So, okay, so number five is the scheduling order.

Okay. Let me get my things set for me.

(Pause)

THE COURT: All righty. Does anyone need a brief recess before we get to the scheduling portion of the hearing?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Your Honor, I'd take a five-minute recess, although I don't know that we're going to have -- well, we may. We may have a bit more back and forth for you on the scheduling order.

THE COURT: All righty. Why don't we take a five-minute recess. Does anybody need anything longer than that?

MR. TAYLOR: No.

THE COURT: All righty. Thank you so much.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE CLERK: All rise.

(Recess at 11:05 a.m./Reconvened at 11:14 a.m.)

THE CLERK: All rise.

THE COURT: Please be seated.

We'll go back on the record in Case Number 22-3040.

Okay. So I believe that that takes us to the defendants' scheduling motion.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor.

Yes. For the record, Elizabeth Vandesteeg on behalf of adversary defendants.

Your Honor, all of the discussion that we just had back and forth on just the pending orders on various different discovery disputes really helps to set the table on why the defendants believe that the proposed scheduling order from the plaintiff is simply not going to be feasible.

We've just heard Mr. Walker trying to walk back certain of the Court's orders. We suspect that further motion practice on these issues is going to be necessary, and we continue to re-tread ground that we thought we covered months ago and were met with delays.

So we also appreciate that the Diamond McCarthy team is new to this case. We were just chatting about that on our brief break. And we appreciate that they're going to try to be framing this in a new light. But we have been living this case, both the bankruptcy and the adversary, for a long time, as has Your Honor. And we think that we've got a pretty good bead on what is feasible and realistic given the outstanding still pending issues and what is not. And we're again trying to be very pragmatic about this.

What we don't want is another situation where we put in place a scheduling order that is on an expedited basis really for no specific reason this time around, Your Honor. We don't have DIP expiration. We don't have a plan that is any way purportedly tied to this litigation. So we think that what we have proposed in accordance with the proposed schedule attached to our discovery motion which was at, where were we, Docket 333 --

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- Your Honor, is going to be realistic. We think that it's going to be important to still leave us sufficient time to complete written discovery as well as what is going to be necessary with additional motion practice and likely in-camera review by the Court and accordance with same. We think that it's going to be important then to provide additional sufficient time for oral discovery.

While plaintiff may be taking the position that this is not a complicated matter, Your Honor, granted there are only three of the affirmative counts that were originally seven counts -- no, I'm sorry, five still remain. We believe that two should be knocked out at this point in time.

And while the issues raised in those allegations may be to their view not complicated. Your Honor, the allegations in play raise extraordinarily complicated issues surrounding causation and damages. We have asserted numerous affirmative defenses that go toward those complicated factual causation and damages issues. We've asserted counterclaims of our own. There has been and will be additional expert discovery.

So, again, we're trying to propose a schedule here that won't require us to come back and rewrite it in a few months. We're hoping we can all work together then towards these deadlines that we have proposed that we think would be realistic. The parties did submit competing orders for Your Honor's consideration.

There had been an additional compromise schedule circulated by the Diamond McCarthy team just ahead of this hearing. We're still standing on the schedule that we've proposed, and we're happy to discuss it with the Court in terms of additional questions as to why we think that's going to be appropriate.

We would also ask, Your Honor, that in addition to the deadlines, the more general deadlines within the scheduling orders respectively that had been proposed that whatever order we enter today as well, Your Honor, puts in place some specific additional deadlines in terms of those additional Lifespace issues that we discussed on the record in terms of additional briefing on Houlihan Lokey, for example. I don't know, Your Honor, if we think we can get briefing done to set that for supplemental hearing on our next status. I don't know if four weeks is going to be sufficient.

I'd also ask that we make sure that we do have some specific timelines in play in terms of that supplemental review of the privilege log and other things again discussed on the record so that should further motion practice by defendants on those issues be required, we can also get those moving in short order, Your Honor, because they will take time to address.

THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you. Does the court have any questions with respect to the defendants' proposed scheduling order?

THE COURT: Not yet. So I'm doing two things. Ms. Harden is currently sending me all of my proposed -- I don't think they've been set in stone yet, but we're close to having our trial schedule set for next year so that we can talk -- I have it now.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: She's kind of amazing. And so I've got that. The first thing that I want to do is before we get into the nitty-gritty of comparing the scheduling orders and I want to hear from Mr. Taylor and his team, is I know based upon the last hearing or status where Ms. Sethna took the lead that there were certain months where parties had conflicts that the parties who were going to be essential to the trial had conflicts for various vacations or the like.

So I want to get those out so that we don't start working from those, because as I understand I think the plaintiffs are at May and your draft is currently -- is that December?

MS. VANDESTEEG: October, Your Honor.

THE COURT: October, okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: We came back with a revised.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Oh, and Your Honor?

THE COURT: May and October.

MS. VANDESTEEG: That --

THE COURT: Do I have that?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay, I do. Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: That was the one that we had submitted in redline form as Exhibit B.

THE COURT: Got it, 331.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Correct.

THE COURT: Yeah, 333-1. Gotcha.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Your Honor, there's -- thank you for that reminder. That also reminds me of another issue that came up in connection with the last status hearing that Ms. Sethna was covering, which is the Court had raised a question as to consent --

THE COURT: Oh, yes. Yes.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- in terms of jurisdiction of the Court.

THE COURT: Exactly. Exactly.

MS. VANDESTEEG: And, Your Honor, as you may have -- I think you indicated, yes, the defendants had included a statement of non-consent in our answer and affirmative defenses.

THE COURT: Right.

MS. VANDESTEEG: And that's currently where we're sitting.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: So that would require further attention on that. Your Honor, that is an issue that we will talk to the Diamond McCarthy team about first also before we come back to the court. I know that both parties anticipate that there's going to be an opportunity for amended pleadings. I think it would make sense for us to discuss with Diamond McCarthy whether there would be any contested nature of whether these are core or non-core proceedings.

So let's just put a pin in that. It would still be helpful to know the Court's trial calendar, but it may end up in district court in any event. But I think that that's a conversation that counsel still needs to undertake together collectively first.

THE COURT: Right. And, again, and we can go off of it. I mean I know that both of your firms have probably done this before in terms of the way that it's typically handled in the Northern District. What you both may or may not be familiar with is essentially this Court would prepare the case for trial. When the matter is trial ready, I would alert the district court that it is ready for trial.

And so usually what I do, and I think that you've set it out in here -- let me look, yes -- is we set our a pretrial conference and at that point the parties tell me if they are trial ready or not. I address any motions in limine and the like. And then I let the court know that it is trial ready. And so from that perspective, I am prepared to do that. But to assume that the trial court would put you on their trial schedule like that, I'm not sure what that means in terms of timing, nor will I for quite some time.

But I can certainly based off of the dates you give me make sure that we block out and don't consider if, okay, that trial week follows I think your daughter had a wedding I want to say?

MR. TAYLOR: Correct.

THE COURT: Okay. Things of that nature. We will not --

MS. VANDESTEEG: Certainly.

THE COURT: We will not set trial during that time, things of that nature. So I just want to see if there's any kind of blackout dates in terms of both the pretrial conference and the trial week, recognizing that if the district court were to hear this, then all bets are sort of off in terms of when the trial would actually occur.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Understood, Your Honor.

I don't know that I'm aware of any specific of those blackout dates --

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- that Your Honor has referenced. We're far enough out that it would be my expectation that at the very least, the legal team would be able to accommodate and plan in advance. My daughter's only 13, so if she tried to plan a wedding for next year, we'd have bigger problems.

MR. TAYLOR: We're not waiting for her to get to the right age, to be clear.

(Laughter)

MS. VANDESTEEG: So I suspect that again when it comes to counsel, we'd be able to accommodate. I still think

May is not necessarily realistic, but I'm pre-argument a little bit more on that.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: With respect to our client team, we'd need to then simply determine whether there are any unknown vacations or that have been planned that I'm not yet aware of.

THE COURT: Okay. And so for the record, I will give you guys these dates and we'll start in May. My trial weeks, and again this is not for me to hear it, it's just to -- in fact, I'll just give you the trial docket calls and then that may be more helpful to you guys.

So the TDCs which is essentially what we build the time from are May 7th, June 4th, July 2nd -- good luck going to trial that week -- August 6th, September 3rd, and October 1st. So, again, since we're -- at least at this juncture and likely looking at a district court trial, those are my trial docket calls. That's when essentially you would tell me that you were trial ready if not a pre-trial conference a week or so before then so --

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: -- that's the time frame that we're looking in.

MS. VANDESTEEG: May I ask not hoping that we go beyond even an October date, but if we --

THE COURT: The next one is November 5th and December 3rd.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Of course.

All right. So with that, does anyone have any blackout dates? I remember, Mr. Taylor, you had the wedding, is that June?

MR. TAYLOR: April 27. I don't think --

THE COURT: April. It's April.

MR. TAYLOR: I don't think it's now going to be an issue.

THE COURT: Yeah. I hope the wedding's still going forward.

(Laughter)

THE COURT: And I hope you're still invited.

MR. TAYLOR: Probably since I'm paying for it.

(Laughter)

THE COURT: That is one way to assure your invitation.

So April's a no-go, but we're beyond that.

MR. TAYLOR: At the moment, I'm not aware -- can I speak?

THE COURT: Please, Mr. Taylor, any other dates from your -- from anybody key to your team?

MR. TAYLOR: Since I've just been provided with the dates, I'm going to have to check.

THE COURT: Yes, okay.

MR. TAYLOR: But I'm not aware of any others. And we have enough people on the team to where we should be able to accommodate.

THE COURT: Excellent.

MR. TAYLOR: So I just want to take a second --

THE COURT: Yes.

MR. TAYLOR: -- just to talk about what our perspective is.

THE COURT: To frame the plaintiff's position.

MR. TAYLOR: So the only other time I was here on this case was the last time, and we talked about dates to try it. And we wanted it to go as quick as we could. We understand that there were going to be some issues, and so we talked to the Court and they talked about October. I was probably talking about something earlier, but we started to settle on May and you had given us some dates in May.

I think this is on July 26th. So later that day, I proposed a May schedule. That's the one you have. I have another copy if you need it.

THE COURT: I have yours.

MR. TAYLOR: But -- so I have this May schedule, and I will say I do listen whenever I'm here in court and there are some document issues that I might not have been fully aware of.

But it does seem to me like we should be able to work most of them out and one some of the Lifespace stuff, well, I might have some conversations, as well, to help move that along.

But I don't think that we should try and be held hostage by thinking we'll never resolve the document issues. But here's the thing. So I sent them my May schedule on the day of our hearing, and then I didn't hear back from them for a while. I think they were busy and finally got back. And essentially what I got was their motion here which attached their October day which is what we had been talking about previously.

And so I filed a response that included the May date because that's what we had. But on the day I filed the response, I gave them another schedule that anticipated an August trial.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. TAYLOR: And you have August 6th. I think your next one is September 3 or something.

THE COURT: Yes.

MR. TAYLOR: Okay. So based on those two dates, my August schedule still had a few things we were doing in the early part of August. So based on your dates, September 3 will be it. But I would just for whatever it is, I'd be happy to show you the compromise that I did if only to show that I'm trying to be reasonable with the other side and work this out without having to trouble you. But --

THE COURT: Okay. Oh, so this --

MR. TAYLOR: Oh, so this is the --

THE COURT: -- that goes to August or September.

MR. TAYLOR: -- the compromise. This one goes to August because I didn't realize --

THE COURT: August.

MR. TAYLOR: -- what your August date was. Actually, the trial is to be determined. I had a docket call going August 19 on this one.

THE COURT: Okay. Yeah, I think that trial week would be August 12th, but again we're talking about preparation for --

MR. TAYLOR: Do you have that?

THE COURT: Yeah. If you have an extra one, I'll give it to Mr. Burns. Thank you.

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: May I approach?

THE COURT: Of course.

All righty. So I've got that.

MR. TAYLOR: So I'm not backing off on May, I guess, but -- because that's what we --

THE COURT: Yeah.

MR. TAYLOR: -- had originally proposed. And I thought that is what we were asked to do. And when I was trying to work on May dates, the only response I got was it's just unrealistic and we can't do it and so October it is. And I felt like I'd been here arguing about that exact issue. We got a May date, so I tried to hit it.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. TAYLOR: And it would be aggressive.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. TAYLOR: I grant you that it would. But it would have to be to hit a May trial. But I think if we were to split the difference and do this thing where we wound up everything in August and if we tried whether we could hit the August date or whether we could hit a September date.

To me, every additional day we don't have to do this later is better. So I don't want to wait for October if it's possible not to. And based on what I've heard right now, even with the document fights, I don't see that we can't hit a date in August.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. TAYLOR: So our September 3 or whatever it was. So our position is that we should do a compromise on one of those lines. And here's the other thing. If you want to just take your dates that you've given us, September 3 or August whatever it is and say I would like for this to be the day, then I don't know for sure, but I mean I can certainly try to work everything else out with the other side without you having to go through all the nitty-gritty. But if we want to go through it, I'm ready to grit some nits, so.

THE COURT: Thank you.

MR. TAYLOR: Thank you.

THE COURT: All righty.

All right. So let's -- I've got the September, the May, and the October here.

MR. TAYLOR: One more thing, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Of course.

MR. TAYLOR: I'm told that my client does have a conflict in June, so we won't --

THE COURT: June.

MR. TAYLOR: -- we won't ask for it in June.

THE COURT: Okay.

Well, and I think you guys alluded to it at the beginning, June and July are very difficult to plan trials for because of folks' vacation schedules. The glory of the school system, they give us so very little time and so many of us are still at the mercy of that, so. All righty.

Okay, let's see. So it looks like everyone is around the same time with respect to meet and confers. It looks like you're going to need the end of the month or maybe a little bit after that, supplemental disclosures.

Okay. So it looks like the plaintiff's version -- excuse me, the defendants' version has the supplemental disclosures. I do believe it's probably a good idea to put in a date for the supplemental disclosures just to keep parties on track. But given that we've got a little bit of float in there with the Houlihan on the Lifespace issues, I'd like you to confer with them and kind of figure out what the go-forward plan is going to be before we put a date certain in that.

MS. VANDESTEEG: I think that makes sense, Your Honor. I think we could also acknowledge that the Lifespace-specific issues are ones that we may just need to acknowledge and accept may very likely go beyond September 29th.

THE COURT: Yeah. I mean and we could put a "unless the Court otherwise orders or the parties otherwise agree," something of that nature. Also, with respect to I think I may have said this at the last hearing, I'm sure that Ms. Vandesteeg's team knows this.

With respect to scheduling orders, to the extent that it doesn't already say so, I am perfectly happy for folks to agree to change deadlines and things like that by agreement without the necessity of a further court order if just put something along the lines of a Rule 11 agreement on the docket so that we can keep track, so long as you're not crunching the Court's time.

If you're going to crunch the Court's time for review and things of that nature, I may want to know about that. But other than that, anything that happens by agreement, I tend to sign off on.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor.

We did incorporate that in our proposed draft of order at Paragraph 18, and I believe that it has been included and copied by plaintiff's counsel in their proposed orders, as well.

THE COURT: Excellent. Excellent.

All righty. So written fact discovery, we've got --

MR. TAYLOR: Could I address that issue?

THE COURT: Of course.

MR. TAYLOR: Okay. That is one area of potential disagreement. The defendants want there to be a written discovery cutoff and that we can't do oral discovery until all of the written discovery is done. And I think what they mean by that is they want to make sure that they've gotten the full document production before they have to go take depositions, which I don't quarrel with.

But I don't like there to be a written discovery cutoff per se because sometimes as you're going through the case and you're in depositions, something will happen and you need additional written discovery. You found that there's some additional trove of evidence somewhere or maybe you want to send admissions because of things that have happened.

You shouldn't have just on discovery, all written discovery has to end by a certain date. The way I typically do it is I have a fact discovery cutoff, and that's what it is. And so whichever version that you do --

THE COURT: Keep that in mind.

MR. TAYLOR: -- I would just want you to keep that in mind.

THE COURT: Okay. Ms. --

MR. TAYLOR: The other thing I will just offer --

THE COURT: Oh, I'm sorry. Mr. Taylor, keep going.

MR. TAYLOR: The other thing I'll just offer is I might could agree to October if they would agree that we can do it in this court. I haven't been offered that.

THE COURT: Right. And that's -- I mean obviously just in terms of timing, that would be quicker here just obviously getting on a district court's trial calendar. But that's obviously -- that's a consent issue that I won't weigh in on necessarily.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor.

And we'll take that under consideration.

Your Honor, with respect to discovery and why it is our preference to break it out between the written and the oral, let me say this first. We're not precluding that oral discovery not be permitted to commence until after the written discovery is completed.

However, given production issues that have historically been an issue in this case, Your Honor, what we're looking to do is put a specific deadline out there for the parties' very best efforts to have all written documents produced. We do include in ours at Paragraph 3 where we put the closing deadline of November 15 that the parties can agree to continue beyond, but it's not going to impact the trial date. So we do put that caveat in there.

Your Honor, again, given the allegations that have been raised and the affirmative defenses and counterclaims, the number of depositions in this case, fact depositions is going to be extensive, Your Honor. We've got multiple parties. As you know, we have issues that we're going to try to resolve around in what capacity are certain individuals acting at various different points in time. But it's going to be extensive.

And so we wanted to separate those to have our target deadline for completion of written to the very best of everyone's abilities with a focus then on depositions which we think is pretty aggressive from that November 15 to January 26th because it's over the holidays, as well.

THE COURT: Right.

MS. VANDESTEEG: So we're going to be scheduling likely in excess of -- I don't want to put numbers out there, Your Honor, but it's going to be a lot. So a lot of depositions during that two-and-a-half-month time frame where we need to work around travel, holidays, school schedules.

THE COURT: Well, I mean what I'll say is this is less judge, more practitioner, historically, I have always worked off of one fact discovery deadline, okay, and the reason for that is I don't want someone to argue, well, I can't go forward with this deposition because written discovery is still open or I can't -- or vice versa, because there could be witnesses where all that discovery is completed and you're ready to go, like let's example Paddock.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Sure.

THE COURT: All of the Paddock discovery is already in and if I wanted to interview anyone with respect to -- I mean, excuse me, depose anyone with respect to that, I could go right ahead. I understand the thought process around an iterative deadline for the existing production issues subject to existing court orders. That makes sense to keep that process going. Other than that, I think you only need one deadline.

And, yes, that requires a lot of backup deadlines and calendaring on your own perspective. But at the end of the day, one deadline means this. You know the date by which you will have to have proposed your written discovery so that you can get it by that deadline. So I do prefer that. If the parties want to otherwise agree, then sure you can do the two deadlines. But from the Court's perspective, I would only impose one.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Very well, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Then we would say that that should be the January 26th deadline to give the parties sufficient time to complete all outstanding fact discovery, both written; and on written, not only those that are presently subject to court order but also other third-party subpoenas for which defendants are still working toward compliance in light of the lifting of the stay, with then all fact discovery to conclude at the end of January 2024.

THE COURT: All righty.

(Pause)

THE COURT: Okay. Let's move forward because I don't disagree with Mr. Taylor. Really, it becomes a point to where you look at the last -- you look at the end and then you build backward. So let's look at the other differences that might occur in your scheduling orders and we'll pick a date.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Excellent.

THE COURT: We'll pick some dates along them.

MS. VANDESTEEG: And, obviously, I'd welcome Mr. Taylor to come up if we want to just be able to go back and forth.

MR. TAYLOR: Sure.

MS. VANDESTEEG: I've got all three of them here in front of me. Your Honor, I think that the next point of difference just in terms of timing is that plaintiff would propose that there be only one week -- yes, approximately one week between close of fact discovery and production of supplemental or amended expert witness lists. We thought that a three-week time period would make more sense to allow the parties to complete review of any necessary transcripts and update or prepare new expert reports as necessary. So that is a point of disagreement in terms of how much time would be necessary.

MR. TAYLOR: I think my amended one --

THE COURT: Yes, your September 1 gives between the 26th of January and February 16th.

MR. TAYLOR: Right. So I built in a little additional time there. And here's the other thing. I mean lawyers can take -- I'm guilty of it --

THE COURT: They will fill up the time allotted.

MR. TAYLOR: Exactly right.

THE COURT: Yes.

MR. TAYLOR: And so what we need to do is we just need to work quickly on those things. It's just like I appreciate the point that there will be a lot of people that want to -- that may potentially be deposed, but if you know you've got to get them all done in this period of time, that might decrease the number of the ones that are super necessary.

THE COURT: It does. But, again, I like to be realistic when I go in. I'm looking at Thanksgiving, and --

MR. TAYLOR: And Christmas.

THE COURT: -- the Christmas holidays and, like I said, I know folks have precious little time to travel with their families.

MS. VANDESTEEG: So I think Your Honor actually given --

THE COURT: Until they have to pay for weddings.

(Laughter)

MS. VANDESTEEG: All of those things. I think that --

MR. TAYLOR: Don't remind me.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- we are then aligned if we're going to do a single date, we're aligned on the January 26th and then February 16th. And I'm working now just between Docket 333-1 and the compromise.

THE COURT: I've got them all, yeah.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Great.

So rebuttal experts, then we have a week difference there, Your Honor.

MR. TAYLOR: Where are you? March 22?

MS. VANDESTEEG: 22nd.

MR. TAYLOR: Yeah, I was just moving it.

THE COURT: Okay. So rebuttals March 22nd versus March 15th.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. To exchange rebuttal reports.

MR. TAYLOR: I think I was just building in more time to make sure that expert discovery was completed after we got the rebuttals, but --

MS. VANDESTEEG: I think that's right. We actually have a disagreement where we believed, defendants believed expert discovery could be completed sooner on April 5th, whereas, plaintiff --

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- requested that they be completed, that all expert discovery be completed toward the end of April on April 26th.

THE COURT: Okay. So if we have -- okay, so --

MR. TAYLOR: Here's my thought on that, by the way.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

MR. TAYLOR: I think that expert issues are going to be a big driver in this case. And so I wanted --

THE COURT: That was my guess from the complaint.

MR. TAYLOR: And so I wanted to make sure that we had plenty of time. But if we needed to go -- if we've got rebuttals coming in in March 15 and they want to do April 5, you said, I mean we can back it up from April 26th. Just I'd like as much time as possible because I think that those -- I'd like as much time after I get the rebuttal reports to think about what I need to ask their experts. That's all it is.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Well --

THE COURT: Yeah. So I think it looks like ICI and Kong have like two weeks built in between the reports and the conclusion of what I assume to be the expert depositions.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Correct.

THE COURT: That does seem tight.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Correct.

THE COURT: Yeah.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Your Honor, I'm comfortable with pushing that date out a little. I think thematically we're approaching then the point where we diverge. So --

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- it's important from defendants' perspective that we have a reasonable period of time between close of expert discovery and filing of dispositive motions.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: As this Court knows, it's our position that we think the vast majority if not all allegations raised by plaintiff are going to be resolved on summary judgment. So --

THE COURT: I do know that you think that. You've told me.

MS. VANDESTEEG: So we have baked in from our perspective a four-week period of time to be able to meaningfully prepare for what we think should be truly dispositive motions. In our schedule, what we have done is we have also stepped and done sequentially the dispositive motion practice and then depending on ruling, the Daubert process.

Plaintiff, on the other hand, has put together a much shorter timeline to get from close of expert discovery to dispositive motions and proposes a simultaneous tracking of dispositive motion practice and Daubert motion practice. That seems inefficient.

MR. TAYLOR: Here's why I do that. Because to me, from the plaintiff's side, the Daubert stuff and motions for summary judgment are the same. You're trying to keep us from being able to go forward. And so to me, they ought to -- they already know what the issues are going to be.

They don't have to wait until the end of expert discovery to figure out what are our key things that we think that we're going to be moving for summary judgment on, and they don't even need until the end of expert discovery to figure out if I don't think these experts are qualified. So they can be working on those motions while we're still in the process.

If we had to give them another week or something like that to file dispositive motions, I guess we could, but here's how I did the dates. What I tried to do was go from -- I tried to go from what we thought would be the likely trial date and then I think you had said at the last hearing you wanted four weeks between that date and the time that summary judgment stuff ended.

And so I thought, well, we'd give her the four weeks. We end summary judgment and Daubert and everything with that period of time. You've got the time to decide what you need to do, and then we go to trial. And so I backed it up a bit, and so I got the dates I did.

I mean all these dates could go a week or two. I mean I'm not -- but I do think that Daubert doesn't have to be after you figured out what you argued on summary judgment because it's -- I mean you might have moved for summary judgment saying you're not going to have any expert evidence because I'm going to Daubert your guy out. But then I need the Daubert motion so I can handicap that, you know.

So I think they ought to be the same, and I've done a lot of cases where they are the same. But I'm not saying I haven't done them where they were different, too. So --

THE COURT: Okay. All right.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Your Honor, and it's been my experience that it makes more sense to allow the dispositive motion practice to be completed so that we're not all spending limited time and resources on another substantive drafting hearing issue until we know what is actually at issue.

If, for example, Your Honor, one or more of the counts gets knocked out that completely obviates the need for any expert report on that count, why undertake the expense of process of briefing and arguing? It makes more sense to know what exactly is at issue as we gear up for trial on those issues before we undertake Daubert, motions in limine, and further pretrial briefing before we know what are the issues that are going to remain to be tried.

THE COURT: I don't mind there be some staggering of the dates, but I mean let's just talk turkey. If you fully -- let's just say we hear a motion for summary judgment, looking at your October deadlines, if I hear a motion for summary judgment on June 21st, for example --

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: -- you're assuming that you have to file your Daubert motion by July 12th.

MS. VANDESTEEG: We would start working, Your Honor.

THE COURT: You would start working on it let's just say July 1.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Correct.

THE COURT: Okay. You won't have a summary judgment decision by that time.

MS. VANDESTEEG: No, Your Honor. But --

THE COURT: I can promise you that.

MS. VANDESTEEG: But what it does, Your Honor, is what we did in terms of that three weeks there was to try to, to your point to stagger.

THE COURT: Yeah.

MS. VANDESTEEG: The Court has requested four weeks.

THE COURT: Yeah.

MS. VANDESTEEG: So it keeps the process moving while not still exposing the entire universe of cost.

THE COURT: Right.

MS. VANDESTEEG: That was what we intended to be, a staggered compromise on that, Your Honor.

MR. TAYLOR: And from my perspective, it's totally up to you on how you'd like to --

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. TAYLOR: -- approach these things. But you're going to get a lot of briefing that's going to get dumped on you.

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. TAYLOR: And you're going to have several weeks to decide it. And I think we should just give it all to you. And if you're going to be able to resolve the case based on those outstanding motions, let's have you looking at all that stuff at the same time.

THE COURT: I do think it makes good sense because I mean I have had in a handful of my last adversary proceedings, there's a dispositive motion that is filed and there's some attack on the expert. So if there's going to be an attack on the expert, I would -- whether I do that under summary judgment or I do it under -- I can barely say Daubert.

MR. TAYLOR: That's how we pronounce it.

THE COURT: I know it's --

MR. TAYLOR: That is correct.

THE COURT: I think it's actually -- I have been told that it's Daubert. I was going to say Daubert, and I'm just going to --

MS. VANDESTEEG: We'll go French. Done.

THE COURT: I'm just going to do it.

(Laughter)

MR. TAYLOR: I will not --

THE COURT: I'm just going to do it.

MR. TAYLOR: I will not tell --

THE COURT: That's not how Mr. Daubert or Ms. Daubert --

MR. TAYLOR: Right.

THE COURT: -- pronounced their child's name, but it doesn't matter.

MR. TAYLOR: Other than --

THE COURT: It's voir dire and it's Daubert. I don't know what else to say.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Done.

(Laughter)

MR. TAYLOR: I'm trying. I can't agree with you on those. But I respect you for your position.

MS. VANDESTEEG: (Indiscernible).

THE COURT: Exactly. Exactly.

(Laughter)

THE COURT: So in any event, if you want to build a little bit of time in, I think that it probably makes sense for those to come closely so that we -- at the end of the day when we're hitting that pretrial conference, that we are as close to me giving you rulings on anything that's outstanding as possible.

So I don't -- because I suspect in this case that a motion for summary judgment could involve expert testimony and whether there's an attack on an expert for any reason, it's probably good to have that laid out in the Daubert motion a little bit more fulsomely than we might otherwise see in an MSJ.

All righty. So, again, they don't have to be identical. If you want to give yourself a week or so just to be able to stagger your legal teams, but I don't think that there's any reason to space them out a month or so apart because they'll all come into probably under advisement at the same time.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Follow-up question on that, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Sure.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you for the guidance. Would the Court prefer at the very least if we're going to compress, even if stagger a little bit, one consolidated hearing then or would you prefer -- if we're only going to be a week or two apart?

THE COURT: A consolidated hearing is totally up to you guys. Again, I do like with motions of this magnitude to have a couple of weeks with all of the documents basically from the reply to the hearing. If you want to do it and you guys are prepared to, we just need to make sure that we book enough time --

MS. VANDESTEEG: Understood.

THE COURT: -- to hear everything. And, again, but if these are going to be lengthy and just kind of exhausting, I'm happy to do more than one hearing day.

Mr. Taylor?

MR. TAYLOR: Yeah, it's more of a question, really.

I have had some Daubert hearings where I mean there was evidence. We put on evidence. And, of course, at a summary judgment hearing, you would not.

THE COURT: Right.

MR. TAYLOR: And so I mean from a -- could we do it all at one time? I could. I would probably even appreciate only having to do it the one. But I'm just --

THE COURT: It is two different hearings.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Correct.

MR. TAYLOR: I'm observing --

THE COURT: Yes.

MR. TAYLOR: -- and with different rules.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Correct.

THE COURT: No, it's different hearings and different rules.

MS. VANDESTEEG: It's just trying to preserve the Court's calendar.

THE COURT: So obviously, no evidentiary -- I mean there could be objections to the evidence used in a motion for summary judgment and things of that nature, but --

MR. TAYLOR: There will be that.

THE COURT: Yeah, I suspect there will be. But at the end of the day, the summary judgment hearing is oral argument only. I know you guys are all experienced practitioners, but for this district, we typically do do oral argument on summary judgment which is different than you'll see in the district court, et cetera.

And so, again, absent consent, I would do that on a report and rec basis which is another reason that I asked for a little bit more time because report and recs take longer than just straight summary judgment orders. So based on that, if you do want to have one hearing, yes, you're right, one would be evidentiary, one would not. and we could actually take them in whatever order that you'd like to accommodate witnesses and the like.

MR. TAYLOR: Okay.

THE COURT: All righty.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Just something for us to think about for scheduling purposes.

THE COURT: Of course.

MR. TAYLOR: Right.

MS. VANDESTEEG: So by the time we've done our different proposals on that, that brought us to our respective Paragraphs 10 which have us about a month apart --

THE COURT: Yeah.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- in terms of filing and service of witness and exhibit lists. I think also part of what causes then the conflation here for plaintiff leading up to an August trial date versus defendants leading up to our September is the filings that come into play with Paragraphs 11, 12, and 13.

Plaintiff proposes that those additional filings be done ahead of service of witness and exhibits lists and things of that nature; whereas, defendants propose that we go in the order that we have proposed and continue to stagger those things leading up then to being trial ready by end of September.

MR. TAYLOR: From my perspective, I like to do the exhibit list and the witness list first just because the other things, the findings of fact and conclusions of law, trial briefs, and sometimes motions in limine, they just from my perspective, they require a whole lot more effort than the witness list.

THE COURT: Yeah.

MR. TAYLOR: And while they might not require a whole lot more effort than the exhibit list, I like to get the exhibits done as quick as possible because if there's going to be objections to things, it gives you more time to work them out.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Your Honor, I agree. That's why we stagged it the way we did in our proposed schedule. The plaintiff's proposed schedule has those items coming ahead of the witness and exhibit list. So we're going back in time --

MR. TAYLOR: Oh, I see.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- in July.

MR. TAYLOR: No, actually, I agree with her.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. TAYLOR: I agree with her on that.

THE COURT: Okay. All righty.

All right. And I've seen these all happen at one time, and I've seen them stagger. I believe just from an allocation of bodies, it probably does make sense to kind of stagger them. And I don't disagree that culling together your various witness and exhibit list will speak to whether or not you need motions in limine. And it will also determine to some nature whether or not there is any sort of --

MR. TAYLOR: Yeah.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Correct.

THE COURT: -- joint.

MR. TAYLOR: Looking at my proposed one, I mean I just sort of flipped those dates and used the --

THE COURT: Yeah, sure.

MR. TAYLOR: -- July 22 for the ones on the witness list and exhibit list and then go to the later July date or whatever, even August 5th for the others.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. TAYLOR: One thing that we did have a -- well, maybe this is for us to discuss further. I did build in a mediation deadline --

THE COURT: I saw that.

MR. TAYLOR: -- just because I think it's a good idea for people to sit down beforehand. But it's up to the Court and if they don't want to do it, they don't have to do it, I guess.

THE COURT: Right.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Your Honor, I don't think that we're in a position to consent to a mandatory mediation in this scheduling order. We appreciate that counsel had raised this as something they would be interested in. It's something that we've taken under consideration and that we have discussed and will continue to discuss. But I don't think that it's appropriate to make this a mandatory item in a scheduling order.

THE COURT: It may make sense to at least pencil in any mediation shall occur by.

MS. VANDESTEEG: I think that makes sense, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Something like that.

MR. TAYLOR: I'll just observe. I've had a lot of scheduling orders that had a mediation date.

THE COURT: No, I understand. I'm not going to impose one absent consent. I rarely do that absent, like I said, the agreement of the parties, should I say.

But do I believe mediation of this particular case might be a good idea? I do, at some point. And I recognize that it would be at a point which is I think that you've established which is -- well, after the close of discovery. Whether or not it's that date or at some point a little bit later to give parties time to see the evidence, hear the witnesses, and perhaps see dispositive motions.

I won't put my thumb down on when it should be, but I do believe that if you're going to include a mediation, just a mediation by X date is a good idea.

MR. TAYLOR: Okay.

THE COURT: And this district is full of great mediators, so.

MR. TAYLOR: We certainly are. Some of them are sitting in this courtroom. But we can't use him.

THE COURT: You probably can't. I don't think he can do that.

MR. TAYLOR: I know we can't.

(Laughter)

MR. TAYLOR: Okay. And so then that just -- I guess that just puts us up to when would we have the pretrial conference. I was just trying to have it a few weeks before we would start, but --

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. TAYLOR: How do you want this to work? I mean we're going through all these dates. Do you want us to come back and see if we can give you an agreed one? If we did, then I guess what I would want from you is can we agree today at least on what trial date are we trying to hit? Are we trying to hit September 3 or are we trying to hit August 6th?

THE COURT: Right.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Or are we trying to hit October?

MR. TAYLOR: We're not trying to hit October.

(Laughter)

MS. VANDESTEEG: I would say this, Your Honor. Not having had the opportunity to consult with my team or with even counsel now in light of some of the guidance you've provided, to me, it may make sense on this scheduling order to take a brief recess and allow counsel to discuss.

THE COURT: Yeah, I'm happy to allow for that. I do want to -- and I don't want to cut you off. I'll get to your last point.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: I do want to tell Mr. Taylor with respect to the pretrial conference, in a case of this magnitude, I typically would have called for a pretrial conference about a week to two weeks ahead of the trial. I like some time with the pretrial order by that point.

And my intention would be at a pretrial conference I would give you any and all outstanding rulings. If I've got Daubert motion still under advisement, any summary judgment, any motions in limine, any objections to evidence, we'd work it out at that pretrial conference. And so that's typically the way I set it out.

Just so you know, in terms of trial docket calls in my court, that's a five-minute nothing hearing. So you'd want to set a real pretrial for something of this magnitude if we were going to do that. But that's what I use them for. I have the time with the JPO as well as the proposed findings of fact and all of that kind of good stuff. And that's the day usually that I could either -- I could hear and determine or just determine depending on how you want to do your motions in limine.

Ms. Vandesteeg, you had another point.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes, but first I have one more question, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: With respect to the JPO, the final pretrial conference, and the docket call hearing, my recollection is that for that pretrial conference, the last time around, you wanted that one week before docket call because docket call is one week before trial, correct?

THE COURT: That's fine, yes.

MS. VANDESTEEG: So just to understand them going the reverse way, is one week between JPO and pretrial conference sufficient or is that where you'd look to have two weeks?

THE COURT: The JPO, I would like -- I mean a week is fine --

MS. VANDESTEEG: Okay.

THE COURT: -- before the pretrial conference.

MS. VANDESTEEG: I just wanted to make sure I understood that.

THE COURT: Yeah, I think -- I'm just looking at the September draft. It's August 5th and 12th. That deadline is fine. Oh, I see yours was TBD.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Correct.

THE COURT: But it said one week before docket call.

So, yes. And then -- yeah. So just build in a week because essentially, I would have everything that would allow me to determine the case is trial ready in my hand.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Understood.

THE COURT: And the ability to make any rulings.

MS. VANDESTEEG: So then the other question that I raise in terms of further procedure goes back to where we started which is how best to bake in then additional deadlines around Lifespace obligations in particular --

THE COURT: Sure.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- that are specific in light of discussions had on the record today, may not be appropriate for a general scheduling order. How would the Court like to address to make sure that we can keep those issues moving with respect to Houlihan Lokey, the amendment of the privilege log, and making sure that we've got a further statement from Lifespace as to these issues as to potential designation of Lifespace-Edgemere documents?

THE COURT: I think that what you have in yours is that all the supplemental disclosures to discovery responses required by court order are due September 29th.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: You also have the amendment deadline that day, which also ties to Mr. Taylor's draft, as well. I don't have a problem with September 29th, but if it turns out to be short, I think you're going to need to confer with Mr. Walker specifically because we'll need to find out if there's further briefing. And hopefully, on the Houlihan issue, I could bench rule on that one and not provide a -- I mean not take that under advisement and giving more weeks of delay there.

On the issue with respect to the Lifespace designation, I don't want to pre-judge that. And with respect to if in-camera review is required, I would certainly seek to do that expeditiously. Let me look at when.

(Pause)

THE COURT: I mean I think that the Lifespace issues even if we brief and hear Houlihan and we have to address in-camera issues, I don't see why that's not done by what you would have otherwise had and here is an iterative deadline in November, because, again, your fact discovery you guys come to the same road. It's just the question of whether there's iterative deadline.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Correct.

THE COURT: If you were banking off of November 15th, I don't see why the Lifespace issues aren't fleshed out by the 15th such that you still have sufficient time to conclude all of your fact discovery by January 26th.

MS. VANDESTEEG: I would ask then that perhaps what may make further sense because what troubles me is that September 29th deadline in light of these Lifespace issues that we are encountering, so perhaps if we could by agreement insert a footnote that would, for example, exempt potentially from that September 29th deadline that's otherwise out there in terms of amendment of pleadings, any amendment of pleadings that might otherwise involve Lifespace.

Because, Your Honor, it comes as no secret I don't think that we also have some concerns as to whether there are allegations or causes of action involving Lifespace. And to the extent that we were going to seek to amend to include some sort of a third-party claim of any sort, I would not want us to be precluded to do so because we would not yet have the documents that might give us further basis ahead of that September 29th deadline, Your Honor.

So perhaps we could simply exclude Lifespace.

THE COURT: Let's leave September 29th in there, Ms. Vandesteeg, and let's cross that bridge when we get to it.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Understood.

THE COURT: And if this deadline needs to be extended because you haven't received X or Y and you need to extend that amendment deadline, let's cross that bridge then.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Got it. Thank you. I just wanted to get the issue out there.

THE COURT: No. We're not on a clean slate every hearing. I think I'll remember.

MS. VANDESTEEG: So with that, unless the Court has further questions, I think a brief recess to discuss may make the most sense.

THE COURT: Fair enough. All righty. The Court will take a ten-minute recess?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes. Thank you, Your Honor.

MR. TAYLOR: Thank you.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

THE CLERK: All rise.

(Recess at 12:05 p.m./Reconvened at 12:36 p.m.)

THE CLERK: All rise.

THE COURT: Please be seated.

All righty. We're going to go back on the record in Case Number 22-3040. I think when we last left, the parties were going to confer with their co-counsel and then with each other after that. My computer went to sleep. Just one moment.

(Pause)

THE COURT: All righty. Any updates?

Mr. Taylor? Ms. Vandesteeg?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor.

For the record, Elizabeth Vandesteeg on behalf of the adversary defendants.

In great news, we've taken a moment to confer and we have now come to an agreed upon scheduling order which will have us gearing up to be trial ready for your trial docket call --

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- on September 3rd.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Your Honor, we could go through all of these internal dates should you like. However, we are also just as happy to take our collective notes in various different colors and come back to you with a clean draft. What's your preference?

THE COURT: Oh, I think you guys coming up with an agreed form of order would be the best.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Okay.

THE COURT: Yep.

MR. TAYLOR: Great. I just want the record to reflect that opposite sides in this case actually were able to reach an agreement today.

THE COURT: I've got each of the times this happened marked on my calendar.

(Laughter)

THE COURT: We have little internal parties.

MR. TAYLOR: This is one of those times.

THE COURT: I am kidding. I am kidding. There's been a lot of professionalism in this case, and I recognize that the way that the adversary commenced was quite trying on the parties. So I understand where people are coming from. I have represented clients in my life, so it's okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: So, no, I think that's a great idea. Just prepare a form of order. Heaven forbid, and I hate to even put it into the universe, but if there is any point of contention, what I'd ask that you do is just send me the two competing forms of order. I'll pick a date and I'll fill in it. Just send them to me in Word.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: And then I'll select the date. Okay?

MS. VANDESTEEG: As a matter of housekeeping before we go because you know we love housekeeping, can we confirm that we can set the adversary for status on our upcoming I think it might technically still be an omnibus date in the bankruptcy, but it was for September 19th?

THE COURT: Let me look. I think that Ms. Harden had sent me a note on this one. Just one second.

(Pause)

THE COURT: We do have -- okay, so she confirmed that we have September 19th at 2:00 p.m. set for an hour and a half. There is no omnibus docket, per se, set for September. And we do have another matter set at that same time. So I don't think the other matter will take --

THE CLERK: (Clearing throat).

THE COURT: -- longer than an hour. But I think Ms. Jeng is (clearing throat) me. Just one moment.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you.

(Pause)

THE COURT: Okay. So, again, Ms. Harden just confirmed as well that there's no September omnibus at current. The hearing that we've set for September 19th is a special setting. We do have another matter set that afternoon.

So if the estimate is beyond an hour and a half, we may need to pick a different date.

MS. VANDESTEEG: I think my preference would be to pick a different date where we could just set the adversary for status. I suspect as we continue to get off the ground here and there are still additional --

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- outstanding issues that may arise, I don't want to cut into Mr. McCartin's time on --

THE COURT: Right.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- his resident trust issues.

THE COURT: Okay, right. And I know the motion's filed. I don't know the breadth of them to figure out how much time that will take and whether it will be contested.

So why don't you and Mr. Taylor confer and then you can just talk to Ms. Harden about a setting. We should have plenty of time to give you.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor. I appreciate that. And then with respect to that upcoming status hearing, date TBD, is it helpful to the Court for the parties to provide that kind of detailed notice of agenda ahead to the extent that there are specific issues that we think we'll need discussion with the Court?

THE COURT: I know that they are a lot of work. They are quite helpful to the Court. And so if you have anything detailed but, again, I mean I have to say this. I don't want to turn status conferences into unfiled motions, so I am more than happy to talk through issues with folks so that we can cut through and not extend further legal fees on motion practice. I'm happy to do that, but I don't want to impinge upon parties' otherwise rights to be able to consider issues and address them by motion.

And so what I would say is if you come to an issue and one side or the other says I think this is a motion to compel or I think this is X, I'd prefer it not to be just hoisted upon the status conference.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Understood, Your Honor. I appreciate that. And I'm sorry, one additional question.

Going back then again to some of the Lifespace discussion that we had in terms of additional briefing on the Houlihan Lokey, for example, is there a date certain by which you would like to make sure get that briefing kicked off or are we leaving that up to the parties?

THE COURT: I think I'd leave that up to the parties.

But if it becomes an issue and parties are not gelling on when that issue is going to kind of come to fore, I'll address it. You can file a motion requesting a setting or a schedule or something like that. But I'd like to allow the parties to confer.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor. Hopefully, we'll have specific updates for you.

THE COURT: Yeah, the issue doesn't seem incredibly complicated. But, again, just re-reading that prior motion, it did say that the Houlihan issue would be set for further hearing which leads me to the assumption that it wasn't either fully adjudicated in terms of evidence and I don't know. I know Lifespace never responded independently in terms of briefing.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Correct. And, obviously, that's just one of the issues. The bigger issue is the one with respect to the designation.

THE COURT: Of course, absolutely.

MS. VANDESTEEG: So we will follow up. We will continue our meet and confers and hopefully have made progress ahead of our status hearing TBD in September.

THE COURT: Excellent. And I think we reflected on the record you've picked up your prior in-camera documents that your clients have provided.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: And to the extent that the plaintiffs want to retrieve or for the Court to dispose of any prior in-camera documents, just let us know.

MR. TAYLOR: Okay. We will let --

THE COURT: Yeah.

MR. TAYLOR: I don't have those.

THE COURT: Exactly. Yeah, Mr. Ennis can fill you in on the prior in-camera review and whether or not anybody wants those anymore.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Excellent.

THE COURT: All righty.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you so much again for your patience.

THE COURT: Thank you.

MR. TAYLOR: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: You guys have a great day. The Court will stand in recess until 1:30.

THE CLERK: All rise.

(Proceedings commenced at 9:59 a.m.)

THE COURT: Okay. The final matter on the docket, speaking of discovery disputes, is Case Number 22-3040, Leif Clark, Trustee of the Edgemere Litigation Trust, versus Intercity Investments and Kong Capital. I'll take appearances for the record.

MR. TAYLOR: For the Trustee, it's Greg Taylor and Drew Jones of Diamond McCarthy. I think we've also got Chris Johnson's probably on the line, but I don't expect him to say anything unless I get something wrong.

THE COURT: There you go. Save all those options.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Good morning, Your Honor, Elizabeth Vandesteeg and with me Eileen Sethna of Levenfeld Pearlstein on behalf of adversary defendants Intercity Property -- Intercity Investment Properties, Inc. and Kong Capital, LLC.

THE COURT: Good morning. Is there anyone else who wishes to make an appearance this morning?

(No audible response)

THE COURT: All right, hearing no takers, Ms. Vandesteeg, I think we're here on your motion.

MS. VANDESTEEG: We are, Your Honor, thank you. We are here on defendant's motion to modify the scheduling order which was filed at Docket 347. Thank you for taking this up on an expedited basis. To clarify, the plaintiff did agree to the expedited setting, but has not consented to the relief sought in the motion.

THE COURT: Sure.

MS. VANDESTEEG: As Your Honor may recall, we raised some concerns with respect to the amended pleading deadline of September 29th as it relates to potential third party claims against Lifespace in particular. And as Your Honor may recall at the hearing on August 23rd, it was the Court's preference at that time not to expressly exclude potential claims against Lifespace from that September 29th deadline, but rather to cross that bridge if and when we were to come to it. And, Your Honor, we're here today to go ahead and cross that bridge.

As outlined in our motion, Lifespace has still failed to furnish defendants with information necessary to fully analyze whether claims may exist against Lifespace or whether those are more properly asserted as counterclaims against Edgemere. Unfortunately, not much has substantively changed in terms of where we are in our discovery disputes with Lifespace since we were last in front of this Court at the end of August.

As matters stand now, there are still three outstanding disputes that we have with respect to Lifespace that necessitate the requested extension of time here. First, as Your Honor will recall, Lifespace produced documents pursuant to the subpoena issued against Lifespace through, by and through the Edgemere document production. It has been impossible to determine which documents were Edgemere documents and which were Lifespace documents.

And, as Your Honor will recall, in advance of our hearing in August, Lifespace had offered a restrictive and confusing, to my view, stipulation that it would agree that any documents produced could be considered records of Lifespace and Edgemere, but only for purposes of authentication. We had some time back and forth with counsel for Lifespace on the record at that hearing and we still haven't made much progress, Your Honor.

We have gotten a response back from Lifespace now where they have proposed another stipulation which appears to be substantially similar, if not identical to the last one. Suffice it to say that meeting and conferring continues on this issue and we suspect that we may have more to discuss on the topic at next week's status hearing, but we do not yet have resolution on this, Your Honor.

And, again, for example, we have thousands of e-mails that have been produced by and through Jesse Jantzen as a custodian and he was both president and CEO of both entities. So we still find ourselves with no clarity as to which entity he was speaking on behalf of in those different contexts. Again, Your Honor, meeting and conferring continues.

The second and third issues that we still have outstanding here relate to Lifespace's decision to withhold certain documents on the related company's privilege exception.

And at the last hearing, again, in August, Lifespace had advised that they were going to re-review the production in the first instance to confirm that there were no documents that were being withheld that would be more properly deemed commercial communications, as opposed to attorney/client privileged communications.

Lifespace has now confirmed as of last week that no documents were, quote, intentionally withheld, but we still don't necessarily have clarity around that. However, we believe that we are coming close to meeting and conferring to then be in a position to provide the Court with documents for in camera review.

With respect to those documents that will have to be produced for in camera review, the first issue that still is outstanding is with respect to Houlihan Lokey. As Your Honor may recall at the August hearing, counsel for Lifespace said that they wanted the opportunity to determine whether further briefing on the Houlihan Lokey issue would be in order as Lifespace had not yet had the chance to respond in writing with respect to that issue.

We received word last week from Lifespace that they do not plan to submit any supplemental briefing and that they consider the issue resolved. I believe, Your Honor, again, further meeting and conferring necessary, I believe what that means is that the issue is resolved, they're going to stand on the related company's privilege and we will need to produce certain of those documents to the Court for in camera review for the Court to determine whether that applies.

And the broader issue then is also the universe of the documents withheld overall between Edgemere and Lifespace on related company's privilege which now we believe also a meet and confer is necessary to come up with the broader buckets of those big universe of documents withheld for in camera review. Again, meeting and conferring continues.

However, in the interest of getting in front of this issue with the pending September 29th deadline, we wanted to bring this to the Court's attention in an abundance of caution and seek an extension of that deadline as it relates to those potential third party claims against Lifespace. Because we're still awaiting potential additional information critical to evaluating those potential claims and despite our diligent efforts to get to that resolution on those remaining outstanding documents, we find ourselves here a few days before that deadline, again, seeking to extend that out.

While it is the Lifespace, the potential third party claims against Lifespace that are really critically at issue, we were seeking to extend all deadlines with respect to defendants' amended counterclaims and potential third party complaint, third part (sic) claims to simply streamline the process. We would seek to have that date extended to November 15th subject, obviously, to further potential extension if and whether necessary depending on what progress we can make with Lifespace in the meantime and, also, obviously, pending the Court's ability to undertake and complete its in camera review of the documents that it will be receiving.

We have conferred with counsel to the Litigation Trustee and we acknowledge and appreciate their willingness to try to work with us and come to a compromise on a deadline here. The Litigation Trustee had proposed that there be an extension for all parties to serve amended pleadings on or before October 16th. But given where we are in the process and in the calendar year, we just don't think that it's going to be likely that we're going to have that resolution on the Lifespace issues ahead of that October 16th proposed deadline from the Litigation Trustee.

So, again, we would seek to extend out the defendant's deadline to amend counterclaims and assert third party claims to November 15th. Thank you.

THE COURT: Thank you, very much, Ms. Vandesteeg. Mr. Taylor?

MR. TAYLOR: Thank you, Your Honor. I was happy to hear that of all the discovery disputes that were just going through in this presentation that I didn't hear our name come up in it. We are trying our best to make sure that we produce what we're supposed to produce and we have made our entire database, I think, available to Lifespace so that if they feel like that they've got something in there, they can look at it.

This is not my dispute and I understand where they are. When this issue came up, the request that was made to us was they wanted a rolling date so many days after they got their documents from Lifespace. I opposed that because when we started our negotiations about the scheduling order we currently have, that's what I wanted and I was told you can't have it, we must have a set date.

I do hear now that they're arguing for a set date of November 15, but it's too long. I offered them October 16. That's more than two weeks away from now. And so I don't see why we couldn't just do that. And here's the other reason, though, that we oppose.

So, when we all agreed on the scheduling order and you signed it recently, the deadline for the plaintiffs to amend and for the defendants to amend was the same. And so based on this dispute, what the other side wants us to do is we should go forward on the 29th and amend everything like we said that we would, but they're going to get -- it was going to be indefinite, now they want until November 15.

That's an advantage for them that's not built into the scheduling order. And so from a position of fairness, my position is whatever their date is should be our date, too. And, frankly, it ought to go -- it's not really, I don't think, it shouldn't really be just for the pleadings because discovery responses and I think disclosures are supposed to be amended at the same time. I'm not really sure why we have that deadline because I think we could amend those at any time anyway. But there is the deadline. And so it doesn't make sense to me that we would have to amend those things before we would have to amend the pleadings, as well.

So, my position is, it doesn't have to be until November 15. But here's how I know it doesn't have to be. A week ago Friday, the defendants produced documents to us that we had never seen before, 2,500, more than 2,500. Okay. I'm still planning to file my amendment on Friday. But if they're going to get additional time, to me the fair thing to do is whatever time they get, we get that, we make the disclosures and discovery that same date, and I say that date ought to be October 16 and now they're at November 15.

So, that's where we are, but I'm really just here -- I'm not trying to be difficult, but I am trying to move the case fast as we can and I think that it should be fair on both sides.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you, very much, Mr. Taylor. Ms. Vandesteeg, here's what I want to -- I want to keep this moving. You guys sat through the last hearing. I guess apparently it could be worse. One thing --

MR. TAYLOR: I did like your ruling that you can't compel discovery before they've sent it. I did appreciate that.

THE COURT: It's the one authority and capacity I don't have. No. My question for you, Ms. Vandesteeg, is this. So, I've issued a couple rulings already with respect to the Lifespace discovery. I won't go into that any further. You're entitled to everything that I have already ordered. But my question is this.

As I understood, your and Ms. Lutz's original argument, I mean, it has much more to do about depositions. It has much more to do about trial in terms of these documents because you have the documents. What you don't have is the answer to whose documents are whose and the like. So, my question is why do we need so much time with respect to the amendment because you have, again, as I understand it, you have the meat of the documents, with the exception, I guess, of anything that's been withheld for privilege.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Correct. So, let me clarify that a little bit. We don't have the documents, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: We have thousands and thousands of entries on a privilege log and also on a redaction log --

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- many of which involve the very issue that is still a live, hot issue as to this related company's privilege. The correspondence that remains outstanding is extensive --

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- that is covered by that argument and by that assertion. I don't have the privilege log up in front of me, Your Honor, but I don't think that I'm going out of line to say that it is the majority of the documents listed on that privilege log. So, this is a big issue with respect to documents, as well.

We also don't know on that privilege log who it is that is asserting the privilege. And that is important, also, for analysis as to claims where we don't know which document, which statement, which representation is made by which entity.

Your Honor, I think that there is a compromise position here which is we can bifurcate the amendment of counterclaims as they exist now against Edgemere. We've already drafted that amendment. And we can strip out just the third party claims that may exist against Lifespace and stick to the pending September 29th for filing of amended affirmative defenses and amended counterclaims. But what we're really seeking to do is as we raised at the August 23rd hearing to put in that exclusion as it relates to potential third party claims against Lifespace.

The only reason why we said let's just do all of it was to have a single, unified amended then responsive pleading.

But we can absolutely two-step it if the Court believes that that would be the better course of action to both keep the process moving which we also want to do. Let's remember that it's been maybe not four years, but about 18 months almost since we issued that subpoena to Lifespace.

So, we absolutely want to keep it going, but we're trying to be realistic in terms of how long will it take to get to the meet and confer, to get to the identification of the specific buckets of documents, to provide those documents to the Court for in camera review, have a supplemental production and then still have the ability to then assert those potential third party claims. That, Your Honor, is why we're looking for it's really only about six weeks from now which is really not that much time to accomplish all of those steps, Your Honor.

So, that is why we are looking for that. That is why those documents are important. It is not just a deposition issue here.

THE COURT: Okay. No, and I appreciate the clarification on that. To Mr. Taylor's points about the dates being co-equal, is there any opposition to that?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Your Honor, that's why I just proposed the compromise I did which is let's stick then with the 29th for amended allegations to be brought by plaintiff and amended counterclaims and affirmative defenses to be asserted by defendants. And then we'll just put that little proviso into the scheduling order that now does carve out and extend the deadline vis-a-vis Lifespace third party claims. And I think that keeps us even-steven.

THE COURT: And what date would you propose? Okay. So, you still propose the November 15th for third party and then you said everyone live with the 29th? Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: I think, yes, Your Honor, that would be my proposal.

THE COURT: Mr. Taylor?

MR. TAYLOR: I still think it's too long. I think it's easier if we have one date that we have to do everything. If we have to split, we can. But I think it's easier and I think October 16 is plenty of time for them to do whatever they need. I mean, remember, the parties at issue here and even counsel other than us have been dealing with all these issues since before there was a bankruptcy.

So, if there's a claim here against Lifespace that the defendants have, they ought to at least know what the claim is and I don't think that they need until November 15 to figure it out. And whatever has been withheld on privilege may be, but that's not my issue. But I don't think that there's something in there that is so dramatic that it would result in something being totally different, you know, some new claim they hadn't thought of.

And if that did happen, they could always come in and say we need to amend and here's why, but just another six-week delay on any part of the case really. I mean, I need to know what claims they're going to bring so that I know how we're supposed to react. So, I think they should be the same. I think it should be all even.

I'm willing to do October 16 from our perspective, not my -- it's not my vote, it's yours. But I'm trying to be reasonable and I'm also, I like the idea of it all being at one time, as opposed to split. But I'll do whatever it takes to move the case. So, that's my position.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Your Honor, I guess I'm a little confused as to why it is that debtor's counsel is concerned, is so concerned about potential third party claims and the time that we may need to assert them against a different party. I think what we're trying to agree to here is vis-a-vis these two parties, the plaintiff and the defendants, we can stick to our Friday deadline. But we do need the time and we do know that it will take time to come together, to figure out what documents need to be reviewed and to allow the Court to review. And I don't think that six weeks is a big ask for that and I don't see how the debtor is prejudiced by it.

THE COURT: Mr. Taylor?

MR. TAYLOR: I don't know what the nature of the --

MS. VANDESTEEG: And, I'm sorry, I'm using the term debtor imprecisely now. I should say the plaintiff. I don't understand how plaintiff is prejudiced by it. Thank you.

MR. TAYLOR: I just don't know the nature of what they're going to bring. And I don't know if whatever they bring is going to require us to do something in response to that or not. And I would just like to get beyond the pleading stage so that we can get to the next stage. That's -- it's as simple as that.

THE COURT: Okay. All right. I do believe that it makes sense to keep, again -- we have moved on from the the parent subsidiary, sponsor subsidiary, or however you would look at where. We've moved on from that relationship where we are talking about two different entities now.

I do find Ms. Vandesteeg's argument reasonable. Let's stay with the deadline we have and then do something different for the third parties. But I believe that what that's going to cause, and this is less about argument and a little bit about experience, is that we're going to have two different tracks. And when it comes to discovery, I don't want there to be hiccups in discovery given that for example, Lifespace might be deposed at one time, before claims are asserted or after claims are asserted. I'd like to just kind of keep this ball rolling. And I know that I have eminently experienced counsel that can move through all that.

Let's do this. In terms of amendments, I'll give you, essentially, what the motion asked for. I'll extend as to all parties until October 31st, 2023. We'll keep the deadlines the same for the plaintiff and for the defendant. I'll leave it up to you to work with the iterative deadlines. I think we had proposed maybe 14 days after that for responsive pleadings and the like. I'd like to keep it moving, so if we kind of stay tight with about a 30-day extension, that will keep things moving.

And you said, Ms. Vandesteeg, that we have status next week with respect to this case. Okay. Well, that's good because I really would like --

MS. VANDESTEEG: We do, Your Honor.

THE COURT: -- the Lifespace and the Houlihan issues to push forward. If we're going to look at things in camera, then let's get the documents to the Court. It's been now, let me look at my, date of my ruling. Yes. I mean, we're three months since my last ruling.

So, we certainly need to if not get me the documents, we need a quick plan on when I'm going to get those documents because, if not, again, the Court needs time with them. And, as you know, that's time that -- the Court's going to have to do that away from the bench. So, I want to get those. So, obviously, I don't think that Lifespace is on today, but I'd like that to get done quickly.

MR. TAYLOR: And could I just ask one point of clarification?

MS. VANDESTEEG: We could not agree with you more, Your Honor. And we also note that Lifespace is not on, that we will make certain that we reach out to them in the interim time. We're already planning on, like I said, further meeting and conferring on these issues and we will make sure that they hear your request for promptness, as well. And we will continue doing everything that we can to try to push this issue to the top.

THE COURT: Well, and I'll get to you, Mr. Taylor. I mean, let's just make it as plain as this. I think we are on, Ms. Harden just told me, for October 3rd at 2 p.m. I want a decision --

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes.

THE COURT: -- by then, okay. I want to know what the actual plan is. If we are still further fighting, then let's bring it into court and I'll decide it. I'll decide everything for everybody that day.

MR. TAYLOR: Great.

THE COURT: I don't think that's probably a good idea, but I will. Okay. But I want a decision.

If that day you come to me and say, well, Lifespace will produce X by Y deadline, et cetera, that's fine. I don't need to be handed documents that day. But I do want the plan on when I'm going to be handed documents so that we can push this forward because there's, it's like I said, I've got -- it's not like it was early in the case and there were reasons at the time that one party might have been pushing and one party was saying, well, let's hold off, and let's get a stay and things of that nature. There were reasons for all that. That's not the case anymore.

I've got two parties willing to go, to be colloquial, so please express to Lifespace that it is the Court's sincere desire that we have answers on the 3rd at the next status conference. Mr. Taylor, you were waiting to tell me something?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Your Honor, I'll do one better and make sure that counsel gets a copy of the transcript, okay? We'll order it for next day and make sure.

THE COURT: Every time you guys do those transcript requests, I have to read those. So -- no, I'm kidding. That's fine. That's fine. Please, Mr. Taylor.

MR. TAYLOR: The only point of clarification I wanted was if the pleading deadline is moving now to October 31, can we have that same deadline for the disclosure and discovery supplementation which are related to the pleadings?

THE COURT: Okay. So, let me put that scheduling order back in front of me. So, that's not actually a hard deadline in the scheduling order now?

MR. TAYLOR: Oh, I thought it was.

THE COURT: Is it?

UNIDENTIFIED ATTORNEY: Thought it was.

MS. VANDESTEEG: No. My recollection is that all of that interim stuff got stripped out with simply a close of fact discovery on January 26th of 2024.

MR. TAYLOR: Okay. Well, then great, it's --

MS. VANDESTEEG: I don't think that there was then any interim iterative.

MR. TAYLOR: Okay. Good.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. TAYLOR: Then in that case not an issue --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. TAYLOR: -- because I still say I can amend those at any time.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. TAYLOR: So --

THE COURT: Yes, so we've got, right, in terms of hard deadlines, we've got the amendment and the responsive deadlines in one and then the next thing that we go to is straight to the completion of fact discovery by January 26.

MR. TAYLOR: Great. Perfect. Thank you.

THE COURT: Okay. Excellent. Thank you, very much. All right. So, again, with that, the motion to amend the scheduling order, we'll push that amendment date out to October 31st. We'll do the responsive pleadings upon the parties' agreement about 14 days thereafter. But, again, we'll make it consistent with the existing scheduling order. We'll make that both, the same for both parties. All right?

MR. TAYLOR: Thank you, Your Honor, and Happy Halloween to all, October 31.

THE COURT: Well, if there is -- hey, if you want to push it to November 1st --

MR. TAYLOR: No, no, no.

THE COURT: -- or October 30th --

MR. TAYLOR: I like Halloween.

THE COURT: -- and you guys can trick-or-treat to your heart's content.

MR. TAYLOR: I like Halloween. I like Halloween.

THE COURT: I did have one partner who actually sent discovery with pumpkins, so there we go. I don't recommend. All right.

MR. TAYLOR: Thank you.

THE COURT: Anything else, ladies and gentlemen?

MR. TAYLOR: Not for the Trustee.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Your Honor, would you simply like us to submit a proposed order to follow once we've had the chance to run it by plaintiff's counsel or do you want to handle this by minute order? What is the Court's preference in terms of the order with respect to the motion?

THE COURT: With respect to the motion, I think we can do it one of two ways. We can either, you guys can agree to a form of order the way you did it. It may actually make sense to just upload an amended scheduling order per this hearing because in my experience if you're moving deadlines and you're working off that same order, it's probably easier to have it all in one.

So, I'll do it whatever way you want. I do need an order one way or the other because I've now received at least four chats that says order, order, order. The clerk's office loves their orders to resolve the motion. But, in any event, so either an order similar to what you had in your pleading or if the parties would prefer, just a new form of amended order changing that one deadline.

MR. TAYLOR: Okay. We'll talk about that.

THE COURT: All right.

MR. TAYLOR: Thank you.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Okay.

THE COURT: Thank you, very much. You guys --

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, very much.

THE COURT: -- have a great day. Court will stand in recess until 1:30.

COURTROOM DEPUTY: All rise.

MR. TAYLOR: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Have a good one.

(Proceedings commenced at 2:40 p.m.)

THE COURT: I'm going to go ahead and call the next matter which is Case Number 22-3040, Leif Clark, Trustee of the Edgemere Litigation versus Intercity Investment Properties and Kong Capital. And I'll take appearances for the record.

MR. TAYLOR: This is Greg Taylor for the Trustee.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Good afternoon, Your Honor. Elizabeth Vandesteeg and Eileen Sethna of Levenfeld Pearlstein on behalf of both adversary defendants, Intercity Investment Properties, Inc., and Kong Capital, LLC.

THE COURT: Good afternoon. I'll now take WebEx appearances.

MR. WALKER: Good afternoon, Your Honor.

Eric Walker of the Cooley Law Firm on behalf of Lifespace Communities, Inc. Joining me today are my colleagues Robert Earles who you met briefly earlier, and Sam Rabuck. Thank you.

THE COURT: Thank you, Mr. Walker.

And to Mr. Earles, I am sorry that I gave you a hard time there, Mr. Earles. As you guys have probably have heard, we've got new WebEx appearance guidelines for remote participation. And normally I'm in don't ask/don't tell mode.

But when I have a witness testifying of something such a sensitive nature, I was a little attune to closing off the WebEx in that particular circumstance. So again, sorry to pick on you, Mr. Earles. Your name was new to me. So I appreciate it.

MR. EARLES: Not at all, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Thank you. Is there anyone else who wishes to make an appearance today?

(No audible response)

THE COURT: Hearing no takers. We are here on a further status conference. I did have an opportunity to review the lengthy notice of agenda matters for today. And thank you all again for your patience waiting through the early portions of the docket. Obviously, those were hard ones.

So I'm ready when you are, Ms. Vandesteeg.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor. Again for the record, Elizabeth Vandesteeg on behalf of adversary defendants.

Your Honor, we did take you up on your offer from our last hearing at the end of August and submitted another, as you said, lengthy notice of agenda. We do think that that helps to frame the issues for the Court, and also give you a preview as to where the disputes presently lie, as well as give you some guidelines as to where you think we may still have additional disputes.

I think it makes sense to take in the order as we have it laid out and allow, then, everyone to weigh in as we have different voices to weigh in on the different issues that we've outlined on the notice.

THE COURT: Sure.

MS. VANDESTEEG: With respect to the first matter of business, we still have outstanding, as Your Honor will recall, issues surrounding the withholding of certain documents and certain communications with Houlihan Lokey, who is an I-Banker, for certain periods of time. This particular issue was addressed but put in abeyance with the Court's December 29, 2022, order. This Court had afforded, at our August hearing, Lifespace the opportunity for further briefing.

Just to remind the Court, this was an issue that in the first instance, these documents were and still are listed on Edgemere's privilege log, as we only have a single privilege log notwithstanding this collective production of documents by both Edgemere and Lifespace. And each of the entries on that log references that the communications took place between Edgemere representatives and various different outside counsel of some sort pursuant to a key that we'll get into later this hearing.

With respect to Houlihan Lokey, again because those communications were identified as being ones that were with Edgemere representatives, the original motion to compel the production of those communications was filed and directed to, at that time, the debtor. As Your Honor will recall in connection with and leading up to the hearing on that original motion which culminated in that December 29 order, the debtor said not ours, those are Lifespace's.

Lifespace said yeah, we're going to say that those are ours, that we, Lifespace, retained Houlihan Lokey, and determined that there would be some privilege. Lifespace did not then submit any further briefing on its own. And at our August hearing in this courtroom, Your Honor gave Lifespace the opportunity to submit that briefing.

They've not yet done so. In subsequent meet and confers, most recently then last Friday, they have now said that they do want to undertake additional briefing with respect to Houlihan Lokey. And I believe the parties are at an impasse as to what an appropriate amount of time may be.

It is our view that these issues, and I believe that the issues of the related company privilege waiver exception, will come in play with respect to Houlihan Lokey as well, Your Honor. These issues have been in place since your order was issued in June.

Lifespace was given this opportunity to file this briefing back in August. It is now October 3rd, Your Honor. We think that this briefing could be completed in a week. We understand that they would prefer to have two weeks to get this done. As you will see later in the agenda, we are trying to get all additional motion practice related to outstanding discovery disputes in front of this Court in short order and resolved by the end of this month.

I will defer now to Mr. Earles to layer over with whatever I may have misstated or gotten wrong with respect to the parties' disputed positions on this issue.

THE COURT: Okay. Before I get to Mr. Earles, Ms. Vandesteeg, didn't you tell me at the last status conference that Lifespace didn't want to brief this, or was that your understanding at the time?

MS. VANDESTEEG: That was our understanding at the time.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: We learned for the first time last Friday, Your Honor, that they do now wish to take advantage of that. What we had previously been told is that Lifespace believed that Your Honor's June order agreed that the related company's privilege exception applied and that the issue had been resolved.

THE COURT: Oh, okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Needless to say, we think that's why we're here today, more broadly. So they have now indicated that they would like to submit further briefing.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much, Ms. Vandesteeg. Mr. Earles?

MR. EARLES: You know actually, Your Honor, I'm going to hand it back to my partner Eric Walker who --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. EARLES: -- has more context on this issue than I do. So, Eric, you can go ahead and take it.

THE COURT: Tag, Mr. Walker.

MR. WALKER: Thank you. Good afternoon again, Your Honor. Eric Walker on behalf of Lifespace. So the Court will recall this issue was initially raised as between the debtor and the defendants. Lifespace was not initially involved in the briefing.

The issue was partially resolved with a supplemental production that was more recently made by the plaintiff. And we have conferred, as Ms. Vandesteeg said, with the defendants to try to resolve the issue with respect to the remainder of the documents.

And we're talking about 52 documents here. So the volume is relatively small. And these are 52 documents that are privileged as between Lifespace and Houlihan Lokey and are from after Lifespace's affiliation with the Edgemere back in 2019.

Despite our efforts to try to resolve these issues with defendants in our meet and confer, we've been unable to resolve it. So we would like an opportunity to submit a supplemental brief on behalf of Lifespace with respect to the privilege over these remaining Houlihan Lokey documents.

Ms. Vandesteeg is correct that we had initially proposed 14 days. They came back and asked for seven days. We're willing to meet them in the middle and agree to submit a supplemental brief by next Friday, October 13th, if that works for the Court.

THE COURT: When you are ready, Ms. Vandesteeg, I'll hear from defendants. He's proposed, I don't know if you -- oh, you did hear? Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: I did hear, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Excellent.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you. I do think it's interesting that, again, the position is that these are documents over which Lifespace claims privilege. But we'll come back to that again in a moment.

With respect to the briefing schedule, I think that a seven-seven briefing schedule on this could work. We had proposed, in connection with broader motions to compel, that all of them be filed next Friday which would be the 13th, with any then responses due seven days thereafter. And depending on, then, the Court's availability.

We have reached out to Ms. Harden ahead of time. Appreciate her always willingness to advise as to the Court's availability. She indicated that the Court would have availability on October 24th.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: The afternoon thereof. So we would propose wrapping this Houlihan briefing into any other briefing that may remain with respect to discovery disputes on that October 13, October 20, October 24 cadence.

THE COURT: Okay. So opening briefs on the 13th, responsive briefs on the 20th, hearing on the 24th.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. That works for the Court.

Does that work for you, Mr. Walker?

MR. WALKER: I believe that does, Your Honor. I may have a conflict on the 24th, but I certainly will confer with my team. And we'll make sure someone's available to argue that motion at that time.

THE COURT: Just so you know, I just got a message from Ms. Harden that said you can call me Ms. Johnson.

(Laughter)

THE COURT: That's what they do to me during these serious hearings. So if you ever see too much dimples for the moment, that's what they do to me. But --

MS. VANDESTEEG: Keeping you on your toes.

THE COURT: -- do you need me to give you a specific time on the 24th?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Your Honor, Ms. Harden had said that you were available at 2:00 p.m.

THE COURT: 2:00 p.m.

MS. VANDESTEEG: So if that still is the case, that is what we had proposed in the notice of agenda, and --

THE COURT: Oh, okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- that works for us.

THE COURT: Okay. So 2:00 p.m. if you're available at that time, Mr. Walker.

MR. WALKER: Thank you, Your Honor. I'm sure we will make sure someone is available at that time.

THE COURT: Okay. I appreciate it. Thank you so much. So, and I'm not surprised about the request for briefing. I mean, the Houlihan Lokey point was touched very tangentially as part of the original briefing that I think at that point was hitting eight or ten things.

And I've always kind of had a pin, and I don't think this was ever resolved. So it's good to see that we'll get to that. And again, being 52 documents, I will certainly endeavor to be able to have a ruling that day.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor. That does have a nice segue into the broader issue which is the biggest, although certainly not the last of the additional items that remain on the agenda.

And, Your Honor, this issue is the one that relates to the motion to compel, motions to compel filed by defendants against both Lifespace and Edgemere in connection with the vast number of documents withheld on the bases of privilege, redacted on the bases of privilege, and then also the documents produced that were produced collectively by Edgemere and by Lifespace by and through Edgemere with no designation as to whose documents were whose.

We cannot believe that we are back here again on these issue. Fundamentally, from our view, Lifespace is asking this Court again to reargue and reconsider the same issues that have already been presented in detail and ruled on by this Court.

These issues were briefed over ten months ago. They were argued over nine months ago. Your order was entered over three months ago. Additional clear direction was provided by this Court right here on August 23rd. And we are still facing what we view to be a willful misunderstanding of this Court's order.

Again, Lifespace is fundamentally asking this Court for reconsideration or clarification without a motion on file, directly contrary to the guidance that this Court provided, again in August. We do now have a scheduling order in place, Your Honor.

It's time for Lifespace to stop stalling. If it needed the reconsideration, if it needed clarification of that order, it could have asked at any time in the last three and a half months, particularly after August's hearing when Lifespace was again admonished for failing to read the order holistically rather than simply picking out certain provisions.

We're going to get into some weeds on this today, Your Honor. And we're going to need some close attention to be paid to some of the shifting positions that have been taken by Lifespace that really impact where we are today and where we're going to ask the Court to go in terms of next steps.

These are complicated issues around privilege and different parties and different counsel and different periods of time. They're complicated by what has been produced versus what has been withheld versus what has been redacted. And we're going to try to keep it really simple to walk you through how Lifespace has been playing what is a complicated shell game trying to move these pieces around hoping the rest of us can't follow to track their movement in a game they're trying to stack in their favor playing with privilege.

So let's set the stage. As this Court will recall, as you've seen, Lifespace has taken the position that nearly every opportunity in these cases that Lifespace and Edgemere are separate corporate entities with Lifespace acting as nothing more than the third-party member/manager. Edgemere and Lifespace have been represented, as you have seen, by separate outside counsel, and have been at all relevant points in time.

They have taken differing legal positions. And they've asserted different legal interests in connection with important issues in these cases such as claims against one another. As you know, Lifespace filed a proof of claim against the debtors. They've taken different legal positions with respect to things like the legal obligation to undertake the repayment of hundreds of millions of dollars in residents' deposits.

And to be clear, as you've already heard a little bit today, Lifespace and Edgemere still assert differing legal interests in some of certain, specific contested discovery issues such as Houlihan Lokey. Lifespace again today has said we retained Houlihan Lokey. And for those documents that still continue to be listed on Edgemere's privilege log, Edgemere's privilege log referring to Edgemere representative communications with Houlihan Lokey, they're saying those are Lifespace privileged communications.

We're having that issue also with respect to the Point Group, a PR firm that we understand and we have been informed was retained by Lifespace. And communications with the Point Group have been withheld on the basis of privilege. They appear on Edgemere's privilege log referencing communications that Edgemere representatives are having with the Point Group. And yet these are documents, and this is a group, that Lifespace has claimed privilege over, that Lifespace has said is directing the production or withholding of those documents.

These will continue to come up over the course of our broader discussions today. We believe that Edgemere will not be presenting any arguments with respect to Houlihan Lokey or the Point Group, for example, because again, while Lifespace doesn't want to identify those documents as Lifespace records, which we'll come back to again in a moment. They nonetheless want to say that those are Lifespace privileged. But they've been produced to Edgemere and produced by Edgemere.

THE COURT: Correct me if I'm wrong.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes.

THE COURT: Did I already rule in this case that the Monument Group documents had to be produced?

MS. VANDESTEEG: You did.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

MS. VANDESTEEG: And, Your Honor, because we still have this impasse on the Point Group, unfortunately while we are still meeting and conferring, and we'll come to this in our agenda, I suspect that motion practice nearly identical to that that the Court has already undertaken with respect to the Monument Group is going to be back in front of the Court again with respect to the Point Group.

But yes, you have already on this particular issue addressed the nature of whether the media-consulting privilege can apply in any instance. But the finer point we're putting on this one is who gets to claim that privilege.

THE COURT: No, and I understand that. It just came to my mind.

MS. VANDESTEEG: You are exactly correct. But this issue, we think, has been in large part already addressed from a legal perspective as to that privilege by the Monument Group ruling.

So, again, Lifespace, beyond its statements in court, has not asserted any of those privileges. We'll see what kind of argument we get with respect to this briefing to come on Houlihan Lokey. But for purposes of today, we are going to need to, like I said, come back to the over 8,000 documents that have been either withheld as privileged or redacted, purportedly on the grounds of privilege asserted by Edgemere and a related company privilege waiver exception argument raised by Lifespace.

Before we get to the privilege log that's been withheld, let's turn first to the documents that have already been produced, Your Honor, because --

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- there are disputes that remain with respect to those, as well. About 9,400 documents have been produced, tens of thousands of pages, during that collective collection and production of both Lifespace and Edgemere documents by Edgemere, of which approximately 4,000, so nearly half of them do contain redactions.

These prior productions, these prior collective productions have included emails, financial information, sales information, sure. All stuff, that kind of stuff, that is readily apparent in our review to be Edgemere-specific information and production.

However, those prior productions also include things like correspondence between Jesse Jantzen who, the Court may recall, there are a small number of very high-level individuals who held high-level positions both at Lifespace and at Edgemere. So Jesse Jantzen, for example, CEO of Lifespace, also the CEO and board member at Edgemere.

So also in the productions that have been produced are things like correspondence between Jesse Jantzen and members of the Lifespace board of directors. Not the Edgemere board of directors. That would be a conversation between Jesse and Jesse. And, Your Honor, don't get me wrong, there actually are a number of emails from Jesse to Jesse that show up on the privilege log. But that's neither here nor there. These are communications between Jesse Jantzen and Lifespace board members.

THE COURT: And these are produced.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: There are also some that have been withheld that we'll come down to when we talk about the privilege log.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: But there are some that have been produced, albeit typically with some redactions of some sort. In what capacity is Jesse corresponding with the Lifespace board? As the Edgemere CEO and board member, as the Lifespace CEO?

Indeed, from certain documents that have already been produced, it appears that Jesse himself is very aware that he sits in two different roles vis-a-vis these two purportedly separate organizations. And, Your Honor, I've got one that I wanted to read a quick excerpt for the Court.

THE COURT: Sure.

MS. VANDESTEEG: However, these productions were all scanned confidential subject to protective order. So what I'd ask is instead I approach and I can simply flag the Court to take a look at one as a demonstrative. I have a copy here to show to Counsel, as well.

THE COURT: Is there anyone in the Court that's not part of the protective orders? Oh, I guess we have ten. Is Mr. Hardy part of your team?

MS. VANDESTEEG: He is.

THE COURT: Dawn Harden, SRB, those are part of my team. Ms. Sethna is part of your team. Mr. Earles. Is there anyone, Ms. Jeng, that you don't recognize as part of --

THE CLERK: 512, the last two digits 1-0.

MR. WALKER: Your Honor, this is Eric Walker on behalf of Lifespace. Could I be heard for a moment on this?

We don't have a copy of this document. It wasn't provided to us in advance of the hearing. Not clear to us what's contained in it and who else might be in the courtroom that isn't subject to the privilege. I know you're going through that now. But we would obviously want an opportunity to look at it before it's discussed in open court.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Mr. Walker, it is Bates stamped. It's an Edgemere document that has an Edgemere Bates stamp on it. I'm happy to provide that to you, and I'm sure you can pull it up from your production.

MR. WALKER: Yeah. We would like if someone on your team could provide it to us before we're talking about it in open court. Thank you.

THE COURT: If someone could email it to him, perhaps?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: I could do that.

THE COURT: If you can give -- (indiscernible) have that Bates stamp number.

The 512 number, can you identify yourself?

MS. FORD: This is Kate Ford with Kong Capital.

THE COURT: Thank you very much, Ms. Ford, for identifying yourself. And the 773 number, is that with Reorg Research?

MS. HOCKBERGER: This is Heidi Hockberger of Levenfeld Pearlstein.

THE COURT: Oh, okay. Thank you very much.

MS. VANDESTEEG: And I have just hit send on a copy of the PDF of this document to Mr. Walker.

THE COURT: Okay. Just one moment.

Ms. Jeng, I don't understand your last comment.

THE CLERK: I just don't know who it is. It just says Jeremy.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Can you confirm that's Jeremy Koster?

THE COURT: And, I'm sorry, there's a caller that's identified as Jeremy.

MS. VANDESTEEG: We are confirming that that is Jeremy Koster of the Kong team. Please give us one moment and we'll confirm that.

THE COURT: Sure.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you.

MR. KOSTER: Jeremy Koster with the Kong Group.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much, sir. I appreciate it.

And G. Jordan, that's with your team, as well?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes it is, Your Honor. Thank you.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

Anyone else, Ms. Jeng?

THE CLERK: No.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much for the exercise.

MS. VANDESTEEG: May I approach?

THE COURT: Please approach, yes.

MR. WALKER: Your Honor, this is Eric Walker again. I would just note I haven't received anything yet.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. WALKER: And --

THE COURT: We're waiting for you to receive it to discuss it.

MR. WALKER: Thank you. I've just taken a step back. We understood this to be a status conference. We didn't realize we would be going through documents and arguing the merits of the issues as it appears that Counsel is embarking on here. So I would just note that for the record.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much, Mr. Walker. I'm going to give Ms. Vandesteeg a little bit of leeway because I think she's giving me an example which will color the comments for the defendants.

MR. WALKER: Thank you, Your Honor. Still waiting to receive --

THE COURT: Yes.

MR. WALKER: -- the document.

THE COURT: We'll give it a minute.

(Pause)

THE COURT: If you could go ahead and maybe send those to Mr. Earles and Mr. Rabuck at the same time if you have their contact information.

MS. VANDESTEEG: I am not certain that I do. But I will forward it to one of my colleagues and ask that they --

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- pull that up quickly and do so.

THE COURT: Okay, thank you.

(Pause)

MS. VANDESTEEG: And it appears, at least from my end, that the message has been delivered. I'm not sure if Mr. Walker can confirm that.

MR. WALKER: Correct. I just received it. I'm reading through it now.

THE COURT: Yeah. Take your time. I'll give you a moment.

(Pause)

MR. WALKER: Your Honor, this is an extensive email. It's Eric Walker again on behalf of Lifespace. I think what I've read so far gives me concern that there may be in fact privileged information in here that was inadvertently produced. And so I am particularly hesitant to discuss this in open court without a full opportunity to review it and decide whether we need to, you know, seek to have that inadvertently produced document clawed back.

I'm not saying that's necessarily the case. I'm just reading it in real time. We were not given advanced notice of it. And it is six pages long with a lot of information that I'm reading through in real time here.

THE COURT: Okay. Well, let --

MS. VANDESTEEG: Your Honor, there is no counsel on this email.

THE COURT: Okay. Well let's take a step back.

MR. WALKER: That's not the standard for privilege, though. If they're discussing legal advice that has been provided by counsel, then it constitutes attorney/client privileged information. I'm concerned that this document contains that information, and I haven't had an opportunity to review it and was not aware that we would be discussing it in open court.

THE COURT: Why don't we talk about it more generally because maybe I was getting ahead of you, Ms. Vandesteeg, because I thought your point was going to be something different because I thought this was a point that Ms. Lutz took us through in detail as we went through the hearing. The various types of documents, the types of dialogues that were going on which is framed a part, an important part of the Court's last order back on June 23rd.

So why don't, if there is the possibility of an inadvertent production, why don't we talk about it more generally?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Let's talk about it more generally, and particularly --

MR. WALKER: Thank you, Your Honor.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- Your Honor, there's one back-and-forth within this that is, again, Mr. Jantzen stating his position as to the different roles that the different companies take. And in explaining that to a board member upon a question, he explains that he and other members wear various hats, and that they need be careful in meetings to make sure that when conversing with one counsel they are wearing one hat, and then they turn, take that hat off, put on a different hat and then are in a different role.

And that is something that the individual business people understood. And one would think that is certainly something that their respective outside counsel would understand.

And this, again, does drive, Your Honor, it's just one more bases for why we have made the multiple requests that we did which is if there are documents or communications that are those that are made by Edgemere or people who wear two hats, which hat are they wearing, let us know. You need to tell us Edgemere or Lifespace.

We've asked. Lifespace had declined. Your June 23rd order was crystal clear on this, Your Honor. If a Lifespace representative is responding to a communication in his capacity as a Lifespace employee and not in his capacity as an Edgemere representative, the defendants are entitled to know that.

Lifespace, again, has had over three months to decide what they want to do to comply with that order. Instead they stalled. They dragged their feet on responding at all. They proposed confusing and incomplete stipulations which we addressed at the hearing on August 23rd, which they have raised again, to our view largely exactly the same, the same stipulation.

As of today, with respect to those documents that have been produced, we understand that Lifespace is resting on its position that there is a single, unified circle of documents. Remember, no Venn diagram. Just a single circle of documents that comprise both Lifespace and Edgemere documents with nothing that is Edgemere only and nothing that is Lifespace only.

And that's fine. But then the Court should order that Lifespace must be held to that stipulation on those terms without a provided however, without a footnote which adds all of that uncertainty. And Your Honor addressed that when we were here in August.

So that's the universe on the already-produced documents. And I want to put a pin on that because now we understand in connection with the agenda that we had filed, that now they do want to file a motion for clarification on the already-produced documents.

But before we come back to that, I want to turn then to the documents that have been withheld on the privilege log, or redacted which is a slightly different but related issue. And this is where, again from our view, that the shells are moving fast.

Lifespace, despite our request, has chosen not to provide an updated or amended privilege log. Therefore, the only privilege log that the defendants have withholds documents that are between only, "Edgemere representatives and outside counsel." Edgemere representatives, outside counsel.

Now, we have a key which we got a demonstrative to go through in a minute. But there's a key that expressly makes clear that some of those outside counsel are Edgemere outside counsel. Some of them are Lifespace outside counsel.

And there are documents that have been withheld and/or redacted that are strictly between Edgemere representatives and Lifespace outside counsel, Edgemere representatives and Edgemere outside counsel, Edgemere representatives and a whole slew of other counsel, sometimes both Edgemere and Lifespace, sometimes Lifespace and another law firm that perhaps was representing individual board members. It's tricky, Your Honor.

Yet, all of these are on Edgemere's privilege log referencing communications with Edgemere representatives over which Lifespace now is trying to claim privilege without actually identifying which of those are Lifespace privileged. No claim of privilege has been made on behalf of any Lifespace representatives.

We hear counsel saying well, those Houlihan Lokey documents, those are Lifespace privileged. But they're on Edgemere's privilege log referencing Edgemere representatives. Lifespace did not want to have to go through the exercise of designating or explaining which of these are Lifespace documents.

This Court -- only Lifespace can identify and claim its own privilege, even in connection with the related companies' privilege waiver exception. And it is nearly impossible for this Court, let alone the defendants, to determine whether the exception applies and what the scope of it may be without a better understanding of who's wearing what hat.

So pursuant to the Court's June 23rd order, defendants have sorted through the entries on the privilege log and documents that have been redacted. We did our best to parse them, as the Court requested, into subcategories, which was tricky. And some of them we think might fall into some.

And we selected representative samples from several of them for this Court to take in for in camera review to determine whether any of the claimed privileges or privilege waiver exceptions asserted by Edgemere or Lifespace may apply.

I have a demonstrative that I'd like to pass up to kind of guide the Court through some of it because the numbers are a bit confusing and the categories are a bit confusing. But this provides the basis for why we have asked what we have asked of Lifespace and Edgemere with respect to documents to be produced for in camera review.

THE COURT: Okay. So when you hand me the demonstrative, I'll hand you these documents.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you very much.

MR. WALKER: Your Honor, Eric Walker again on behalf of Lifespace. We would like to see, obviously, a copy of the demonstrative. It wasn't provided to us --

MS. VANDESTEEG: We're going to be sharing this one on the screen too, Your Honor.

MR. WALKER: -- in advance of the hearing.

THE COURT: We'll be sharing this one.

MR. WALKER: Excuse me?

THE COURT: They will be sharing it on the screen. And just as a matter of housekeeping, Mr. Earles and Mr. Kutcher, I received your pro hac vice and I've signed those orders today.

MS. VANDESTEEG: I believe that everyone should now be able to see it up on the screen.

THE COURT: I think so.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Okay. Let's get started. The upper left-hand top table references counsel key. This was a key that was provided by Edgemere and Lifespace in connection with their first amended privilege log when we asked that this information be provided because prior to getting this, we had no idea who the different parties were and who represented whom.

The key indicated, as we stated, that there are multiple law firms in play for Edgemere. For example, we see outside counsel to Edgemere is Polsinelli who this Court is familiar with based upon their work here in court in connection with the Chapter 11 cases, as well as Sidley Austin and DLA who were counsel, right here it says outside counsel to Edgemere. Those were the two firms who represented the Edgemere pre-petition.

We also have multiple different firms listed specifically as outside counsel to Lifespace including, for example, Dorsey & Whitney, Perkins Coie, Mr. Walker's former firm, as well as Cooley, his current firm. We see Stewart Weigand Owens, we see Robinson Gray, we see Locke Lord. There are a number of different counsel on here, and they are clearly delineated between Lifespace and Edgemere.

We also note that there are two attorneys listed, Sandra Parker and Abdul Shakoor as in-house counsel to Lifespace, and certain professionals that appear to have a blended role like FTI potentially here with respect to attorney retained consultant of Lifespace and Edgemere.

So using this key that had been provided to us by Edgemere and Lifespace, we took a very deep dive into a very extensive privilege log, Your Honor. I think it's important to note here, as we put together the category key for privilege log entries, that there are 4,182 documents that were withheld in their entirety as privileged.

Again, each and every one of them on the long referenced Edgemere representatives. Not one referenced Lifespace representatives. And let's remember also that what we have heard from Counsel and how this collective production came to be is that Lifespace directed its IT to do the collection of documents off Lifespace's servers and turn them over in their entirety to Edgemere, with Edgemere then responsible for review, tagging, production, determining what was privileged in its entirety.

On this privilege log, the first category that we identified that we believe is troubling and indicates a waiver, and requires in camera review for the Court to determine whether there may be any waiver exception, it's category one, communications that are listed as communications between Edgemere representatives and outside counsel. And, Your Honor, that is Lifespace outside counsel communications only.

We identified approximately 660 entries, 660 documents that were communications on Edgemere's privilege log that were communications between Edgemere representatives and Lifespace outside counsel.

THE COURT: So Edgemere only representatives and Lifespace counsel?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Correct, Your Honor, because --

THE COURT: After Edgemere has retained its own counsel?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Correct, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: The second subcategory that we identified were those communications that appear to have -- we've listed as the outside combo. Some they are listed as, again, communications that Edgemere representatives were having with outside counsel. But in using the counsel key, we were able to identify that there were counsel from outside counsel for both Edgemere and Lifespace or both for Lifespace and for independent directors, or for Edgemere outside counsel and independent directors.

For those combo outside counsel with Edgemere representatives, Your Honor, we identified approximately 750 documents listed on the privilege log which again, you know, I suppose some of those, since they at least do involve what purport to be Edgemere counsel could also potentially be subject to the privilege waiver exception. And we believe that it's necessary for the Court to conduct an in camera review of those.

There are additional Houlihan Lokey communications, not just on the redaction log but 20 that still remain on the privilege log withheld in their entirety. We believe that an in camera review is going to be necessary on those, notwithstanding the fact that we have additional briefing coming. But if Your Honor would like to put a pin in in camera briefing on those, that's certainly something that we are more than willing to accommodate.

Your Honor, in some ways, subcategory number four -- I don't know, subcategory number one is really troubling. But number four is also troubling from our perspective in that we identified approximately 800 entries on the Edgemere privilege log that were withheld on the basis of privilege or work product on which no counsel is present on the communications, Your Honor. They are strictly communications between internal business people.

And, look, I appreciate perhaps there could be an instance in which there were a communication from counsel lower down in the chain, and it was forwarded on. Well, Your Honor, that should be on a redaction log with then the information from counsel redacted out but still evidencing that business people were forwarding it. And we do see a number of those on the redaction log. We do see a number of those.

These are different. These have been withheld in their entirety on the grounds of privilege or work product where no attorneys are present.

THE COURT: Well, those also could be situations where hypothetically Jeremy Johnson sends them a memo and employees start discussing that legal memo inter-office, so to speak.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Of course, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Right.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Of course. However, again, I would expect those to be on a redaction log, again to at least show the inbound from counsel and then the back-and-forth, even if the privileged nature of communications therein are redacted out. If it's just someone receiving a memo, and passing it on saying FYI to another business person, the legal advice will be redacted. The memo can be redacted. But that FYI is not further sharing of legal advice.

And maybe there is still some in that 800, Your Honor. But nonetheless, that's one --

THE COURT: You're just saying the number's high.

MS. VANDESTEEG: The number's high.

THE COURT: Right.

MS. VANDESTEEG: I mean, it's 20 percent of the total privilege log. So we believe that in camera review is critical on those, Your Honor.

We were also able to identify a subcategory for other third party communications. Now, it's not a large number. It's 30. But these were a random smattering of third parties that did not appear to be counsel, that included, you know, a different PR firm, Ground Floor Media.

They included HIMS Sims -- HJMS Sims (phonetic), various different other third parties that we don't see a basis for privilege. So we think that those are going to be ripe for in camera review.

I want to put a pin in six. We're going to come back to that one. The seventh category that we were able to identify as a subcategory are Paddock (phonetic) communications that were on the privilege log. Now, as Your Honor may recall, you did produce -- you did order the production of Paddock communications that may have then been subject to further redaction.

And also, I can represent to the Court that we did, in supplemental productions, receive some additional Paddock correspondence that was redacted. However, since we have no amended privilege log, we can't know for certain whether all of these were produced or whether there is still anything that does remain outstanding or subject to privilege.

We've not called out any of those for review right now, but we may need at least further guidance from the Court in terms of a clean up order of that log to at least confirm that production is complete. Likewise, with respect to subcategory eight, UMB communications, to the extent there were communications with UMB, Your Honor did determine that there was no common legal interest that applied there.

Again, there have been supplemental productions. But there are still 55 of these that are listed on the privilege log. Not on the redaction log, but on the privilege log, and on the privilege log that still contain reference to the common interest privilege which Your Honor has held doesn't apply.

So we don't know about those. And we believe that a small sub-sampling for review of those would be appropriate to determine whether there are additional communications that should have been produced and have not yet been produced.

The next subcategory that we identified were communications with Gray Robinson only. Now --

THE COURT: Is that the board counsel?

MS. VANDESTEEG: We think, Your Honor. But we don't know. They're not listed on the counsel key.

THE COURT: Yeah.

MS. VANDESTEEG: But the Court may recall that there was an application filed --

THE COURT: I do recall.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- to retain them. But that was denied. So we don't know. There are -- what do we have here? Oh, I'm sorry. It was 85 communications with UMB that remain outstanding.

THE COURT: Right.

MS. VANDESTEEG: And 55 with respect to Gray Robinson only. To be clear --

THE COURT: Right. If they're Gray Robinson only with those board of directors, it's going to be a hard time persuading me to produce those.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Which I understand. But --

THE COURT: Right.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- we don't know --

THE COURT: Right.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- Your Honor, and we also don't know which hat was being worn at the time because again, if those individual board members wanted to claim privilege over those, they shouldn't have produced them through Edgemere. But nonetheless, there is a subset there to review. And also, there's correspondence that includes Gray Robinson within that bucket number two combo counsel, Your Honor.

Subcategory number ten is the Point Group communications. We're not including any from the point group in our request for in camera review because I think that those will likely be addressed either by separate meet and confer or by separate motion to compel. So we'd rather keep those separate because we think they have been addressed by the Monument Group order.

And finally, there are communications with the Lifespace board of directors on Edgemere's privilege log. Some of those, Your Honor, do include Lifespace outside counsel. Some of them do not. So again, we're perplexed as to how those communications could be withheld and claimed as privileged by Edgemere if they are communications by and among the Lifespace board of directors. So we believe that those are also ripe for the Court's in camera review as to whether the privilege exception, waiver exception could apply to them.

What we've done here, Your Honor, In these three columns is lay out for the Court's consideration, because we believe that we've taken a very measured view here in terms of what we've selected. The overall number may appear to be high, and then it's 300.

However, it's spread over these various categories. It comprises only 7.17 percent total. And you can see it broken down in that second column, the proposed number for review are the number that we have designated and identified of the total estimated numbers for each one of those columns.

So looking, for example, at Lifespace outside counsel communications only, category one, in our count, by our count on the privilege log, there are approximately 660 entries in that category of which we had selected and designated 77 for in camera review which is approximately 11.67 percent of those communications.

So as this Court goes through and considers what it is we're asking, again, the total request is for 7.17 percent of the total withheld as privileged documents.

Now, when it comes to the redaction log and our requests there, it's a little more complicated. It's not quite as easy to parse it out just upon counsel key. And there are different issues that are in play that may not be as easily parseable as just email addresses back and forth.

Now, to be clear, the redaction log is 4,041 documents. We did identify some issues on the redaction log in terms of redactions in terms of correspondence with UMB which we don't believe is proper and is in violation of this Court's prior order. We don't know if all of those have now been produced in unredacted form.

We identified certain documents that the defendants had prepared and sent which were provided back to us in redacted form. We identified correspondence with third parties like insurance salespeople or individual residents that had been redacted. Lots of the logs -- well, all of the logs again had the same issue that they only identify communications by Edgemere residents with no reference to Lifespace residents or Lifespace claiming any privilege over those redacted documents.

So we think that there were a number of overreaches on the redactions, as well. And we went through and we proposed a review of redacted documents totaling 169 over three different redaction logs that had been produced, an original and two supplementals. So that constitutes a universe of only 4.18 percent of the total redacted documents.

So again, I know that Your Honor had raised a question when we were here last week about aren't we done with the documents, isn't it just designation on those that have been already produced. And no, Your Honor. It's clearly not. We're talking about a total of 8,223 documents, half of which have been completely withheld and half of which have been redacted.

And let's remember again, we're talking about Edgemere claiming privilege, Lifespace claiming an exception to the waiver of that privilege. And these are sophisticated parties who appreciate the importance of outside counsel for separate entities when separate entities' interests are in play.

Lifespace has taken the recent position in meet and confer correspondence that this Court has already agreed that the related companies' exception applies to Lifespace and Edgemere. But this is simply untrue. It is a blatant and intentional misreading of the Court's June 23rd order which I do want to bring back front and center here.

THE COURT: I have it. You don't have to -- I've lived it.

MS. VANDESTEEG: And turning the Court's attention, in particular, to the discussion on Pages 7 through 10 of that order, Your Honor correctly identified that this Court cannot determine if an exception to the waiver of the attorney/client privilege applies until the substantive privilege has been established. The mere relatedness of plaintiff and Lifespace does not create the privilege. This is particularly true in cases like the present where the entities are and were then represented by separate counsel.

That is what we have here, Your Honor. We've got separate counsel representing separate entities, this is what they continue telling us. So where they want to try to claim that there is still the sharing of a common attorney, or if they cannot show -- I'm sorry, I'm misspeaking -- that the entities share a common attorney or common legal interest so as to come to a joint client situation, the plaintiff must demonstrate that the disclosure was made between the entities for the purpose of eliciting assistance from the attorney and rendering legal advice or services.

I think it's important for the Court to consider the communications that have been withheld and the nature of the communications with the separate counsel to determine again whether this waiver can stand. Again, it cannot be claimed as a stand alone privilege on its own.

Lifespace has been given every opportunity to try to create a record whereby it could try to assert the existence of this. Again, Your Honor pointed out on Page 9 of your order that in order to determine whether a privilege exists as to a particular piece or type of communication, the Court must conduct an in camera review of the communications based upon the substantive privileges claimed.

To the extent the plaintiff claims an attorney/client privilege inures to the benefit of its parent or vice versa or, more accurately that the two entities should be treated as one for privilege purposes, the Court will need to review the communications at issue to determine whether they were made for legal purpose.

That is where we are. Given that Lifespace has chosen to task Lifespace IT department with collecting and providing its documents wholesale to Edgemere, leaving Edgemere with the burden of reviewing, tagging, producing, and withholding, while providing a log that references only Edgemere representatives and only claiming Edgemere privilege and not any Lifespace representatives, to the extent that any correspondence or communications provided to Edgemere that may have otherwise been protected by privilege, that Lifespace privilege has been waived and all of that correspondence should be produced.

Unfortunately, this leaves the Court with the unenviable position of being asked to undertake an in camera review of a substantial quantity of documents over a number of different categories because that is how they have been presented and produced to us. And Lifespace can only hope that the in camera review will make up for its shortcomings and its privilege waiver.

Your Honor, we have in connection --

THE COURT: And you gave me seven days to do it.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Well, that is exactly where I'm going next, Your Honor. We have, in connection with our notice of agenda, proposed certain dates for the in camera review process. We took the liberty of reaching out to Ms. Harden. But needless to say, we're looking for guidance from the Court.

We are not in any way trying to impose our universe, our wish list on the court. However, we are mindful that this Court, in connection with our last hearing, set the October 31st deadline for all amendment to pleadings including what we believe could be triggered by further in camera review and supplemental production with respect to these Lifespace issues.

We're trying to balance both of those things, Your Honor. But we are obviously more than open to whatever changes in this proposed schedule the Court believes would be necessary and appropriate.

THE COURT: Well, I think it's ironic that y'all want to give me a gift on October 6th because that's my birthday.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Happy almost birthday, Your Honor.

THE COURT: And it appears that as a gift, I will receive 500 documents in a bit of irony. No, I'm kidding with you guys.

Anything further before I turn to Mr. Walker?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Not unless the Court has questions.

THE COURT: No, I don't. I mean I do, I understand the process. And but I'll look to Mr. Walker. The one question I do have, Ms. Vandesteeg, is obviously when it comes to the various nature of the communications that you laid out in your demonstrative, well for both the privileged and the redacted documents, have you already gone through in your meet and confers with counsel, whether that be the plaintiff or Lifespace, to try to reach any sort of a --

MS. VANDESTEEG: Your Honor, what we have done is we --

THE COURT: -- of a narrowing.

MS. VANDESTEEG: We have provided our request, our requested universe to counsel. This has all been happening, as you can appreciate, very quickly. We had our most recent meet and confer Friday late afternoon. We spent the weekend putting together the exemplar and our proposed list of documents. It was provided to counsel for Lifespace on Sunday and counsel for the Trustee yesterday.

We understand that Lifespace, and obviously Mr. Walker's going to speak for himself, we understand that Lifespace believes a universe of approximately 50 documents would be more appropriate.

THE COURT: Right. I saw that in the notice.

MS. VANDESTEEG: And no, we have not had the opportunity for further meet and confer on those issues --

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- which is why we prepared what we did to try to give further guidance as to why we believe what we have selected is reasonable, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. With that, Mr. Walker?

MR. WALKER: Thank you, Your Honor. Eric Walker on behalf of Lifespace Communities.

THE COURT: And I would like you to address the issues in the same order. I'm kidding.

MR. WALKER: I was going to say there was a lot included in Ms. Vandesteeg's extensive presentation there. So you know, and before I begin, I do have to note for the record there are a lot of embellishments, a lot of mischaracterizations, and a lot of frankly aspersions that have been cast Lifespace's way, which we, as you might expect, categorically disagree with.

And there are a lot of I think issues that are being argued on the merits when there's no motion that's been filed and really no relief that has been requested in the proper procedural way by the defendants here. But I do want to address the two issues that have been teed up for the status conference today.

And I think the way that I want to proceed, if it's okay with the Court, is to first address kind of the Lifespace Edgemere document issue --

THE COURT: Yes.

MR. WALKER: -- and then move onto the privilege log issue. Does that make sense?

THE COURT: Yes. Please.

MR. WALKER: Thank you, Your Honor. Okay. So starting with the Lifespace Edgemere document issue, so we have engaged in extensive back-and-forth with the defendants to try to resolve this issue. We didn't rush into court to file a motion for reconsideration or motion for clarification.

We've been trying to resolve this directly with the defendants, and we've spent an extensive amount of time trying to do that. And we've proposed several different ways to try to do that which we think is consistent with the Court's order and consistent with the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure as incorporated to this adversary proceeding by Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure.

We've offered to have Lifespace make a new production of all non-privileged documents responsive to their document subpoena with a separate Lifespace privilege log. We've offered that. They have repeatedly rejected it.

Alternatively, we've offered to stipulate that all of the documents produced by Edgemere were in the possession, custody, and control of both Lifespace and Edgemere, and thus constitute both Lifespace and Edgemere documents for purposes of this adversary proceeding to avoid the unnecessary duplication that may result from the separate production that we've also offered. We're happy to do it either way.

And we've proposed several versions of a stipulation that we think are entirely consistent with the Court's June 23rd order. And at every turn, the defendants have said that's not good enough, we want more. They keep, in our view, moving the goalpost on us.

And it's become clear that none of these options appear satisfactory to the defendants. At our last meet and confer conference late Friday afternoon, as Ms. Vandesteeg said, just on September 29th, defendants counsel told us that they believe that Lifespace is required to go through each of the thousands of documents that have been produced, and for each statement and each document identify who was making that statement on behalf of which entity or person.

Now, we've carefully reviewed many times the June 23rd order that the Court entered on this issue. We've reviewed the federal rules of civil procedure that govern this document subpoena that the defendants issued on a third party.

And we've extensively researched the case law on this issue. And we have found no support for this extraordinary new demand that the defendants are now making on Lifespace as a third party in this litigation.

We went back and looked at their document subpoena. We went back and looked at their motion to compel. They did not seek that relief then. They are moving the goalpost to try to get additional information that is not supported by the rules, not supported by case law, and not supported by the Court's previous June 23rd order.

We asked them both during that meet and confer conference on Friday and in follow up correspondence immediately after it to identify any legal support from that position, and they've provided us with nothing. We don't believe that any such authority exists, and we don't think the Court's June 23rd order requires us to engage in that extraordinary and unprecedented exercise.

I guess at this point, Your Honor, as you saw form our position set forth in the agenda, unfortunately it appears that notwithstanding our extensive efforts, that the parties just have a fundamental disagreement on what is required under the June 23rd order. We think we have complied. We think that the alternatives that we have proposed to the defendants complies with that order. They do not think we've complied.

Defendants haven't filed a motion for any further relief from the Court. There's nothing pending for the Court to rule on. So we think instead of continuing to debate these issues at a status conference and invite the Court to make advisory opinions on this issue, we think at this point that the best path forward may be for Lifespace just to file a motion for clarification on what further action, if anything, is required for compliance with the Court's June 23rd order.

That way, the Court can have the benefit of further briefing on this issue with legal support and an opportunity to enter a written order clarifying what else, if anything, is required for Lifespace to comply with a third-party document subpoena, a subpoena asking for the production of documents.

They have the documents. We are now arguing about whose documents are whose. We've made the proposals we've made. We can reproduce it. We can enter into a stipulation regarding whose documents are whose.

At this point, that doesn't appear to be good enough for the defendants. They didn't ask for more relief in their motion to compel or in their subpoena. But now they are even though they haven't filed a motion seeking additional relief. But at this point, we've been at these status conferences now a couple times. We've gone back and forth on this issue.

Instead of trying to argue it at a status conference without the benefit of briefing or further legal support, and without asking the Court to issue an advisory opinion on what else is required under the order or what the order means, I think that may be the best path forward at this point. And that is what we propose subject to, you know, the Court's feedback on that.

As Ms. Vandesteeg said, these are complicated issues. And when we are preparing to appear at a status conference to discuss these issues and we come to the status conference, we're seeing documents for the first time. We're hearing arguments for the first time, we're seeing demonstratives for the first time.

We feel a little bit like it's litigation by ambush. So we think instead of continuing to debate these issues in the context of a status hearing, that the most appropriate way would be to do this the right procedural way which is to give the Court further briefing on it. We're happy to file the motion for clarification. We're happy to do that relatively quickly.

We do want to move past this. This is just the beginning stage of discovery. We think that these issues are more appropriate to be debated and discussed and this information, you know, produced and further -- as we move further down the discovery path.

So I'll pause there, Your Honor, to see if the Court has any questions. And I'm happy to move into the privilege log issues.

THE COURT: Well, Mr. Walker, I must say these issues have been going on for quite some time. And I appreciate that the parties are working together. But my ruling's now been out there since June. I now see from -- I understood from notice of the status conference, I see from the demonstrative that there are at least what appears to be 15 sub-issues within the production.

I'm trying to understand, I'm not opposed to a motion for clarification because it seems to me, and again I haven't had the benefit of your motion for clarification. But it seems to me that to date, Lifespace is asking me to tell essentially the defendants to accept the same stipulation that I declined to order back in June which is here are the documents, and then when you depose the folks you can ask them what capacity they were in.

But essentially this is again what Ms. Lutz on behalf of the defendants went through at the hearing. If Mr. Harshfield says X and we know Mr. Harshfield wears multiple hats or Mr. Jantzen says X and we know Mr. Jantzen wears a number of hats, which one of those is, for example, an admission.

And I want to be practical here, and I want to be helpful to the parties because I do understand the complexity. I do understand that Lifespace provided every employee there.

And so there is probably very few communications that would have some overlap of a Lifespace-paid employee that is providing the communication. So I want to be practical here.

But I have to recognize, as I did in my original opinions, that these are two different parties. These are two different parties that had different counsel, they took different proceedings right before me, and clearly probably took differing positions in the pre-petition conduct that led to this litigation.

So I am open to a suggestion that reaches a resolution. But I honestly say I haven't heard one yet. That's all I'll say about it. So I'm not opposed to a motion for clarification. And, again, if the defendants want to respond to that motion for clarification, but if they want to counter at all, that's fine and the plaintiffs can weigh in because at the end of the day, we need to get somewhere.

And I will hear from Ms. Vandesteeg as to whether or not it makes sene to do a new production. I realize we're fairly late in the game to start anew in terms of production, but as you can see from her list of 1 through 11, it is a lot of different folks that we're talking about just in terms of Lifespace counsel, Edgemere's counsel, board counsel, and the like, and who's on these communications and who's claiming the privilege.

So I don't know another way to kind of get through those, but I'm open --

MR. WALKER: Understood, Your Honor.

THE COURT: -- to your motion.

MR. WALKER: Thank you. I appreciate that, and we will prepare that motion and file it and hopefully we can reach a conclusion on this issue. We are certainly -- you know, as a third party to this litigation and one who thought that the Chapter 11 bankruptcy case with the substantial contribution from Lifespace, it's successfully concluded where we would like to get this resolved as quickly as anyone else in the courtroom. So we appreciate that, and we will proceed in that fashion.

THE COURT: And I appreciate that.

MR. WALKER: Does it make sense to --

THE COURT: And I know that Lifespace has already made its $52-million initial contribution. I have heard from very happy residents. And so --

MR. WALKER: Good. We're very happy to hear that.

THE COURT: Exactly. So I'm very happy about that, but, again, we still have this serious piece of litigation that's going on.

MR. WALKER: Of course.

THE COURT: Ms. Vandesteeg has taken the podium.

Ms. Vandesteeg?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor.

The notion of a separate production I think you're getting a little bit of gamesmanship here. We have been advised on multiple different occasions, Your Honor, that a separate production would be nothing more than a mirror image copy of the production we already have by simply putting the Bates stamp Lifespace on it. We have been told that there will be on a supplemental production, no separation or designation between Edgemere and Lifespace. They're being a little too cute with this again, Your Honor.

Again, this is about reading the June 23rd order. This is not about going back for a motion for clarification or for reconsideration. It is not about new legal support that they may want to give to you. It is about complying with the terms of an order that was entered in June of this year, Your Honor, that we continue to spin our wheels on an incessant and expensive meet-and-confer and motion practice.

And, Your Honor, I thank you for your patience with my heated response here. Your Honor has seen me here at this podium many times. This is a source of endless frustration. We see a waste of the Court's resources and time. We see a waste of our client's resources and time for an issue that was laid out in black and white in Your Court's order. If Lifespace representatives want to do this, then they must designate.

THE COURT: And I understand, Ms. Vandesteeg.

MS. VANDESTEEG: If they want to stipulate --

THE COURT: I understand your frustration. I certainly thought that this would have been worked out by now.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes.

THE COURT: Mr. Walker has heard me be stern before. And the answer is if there was a motion for clarification that was needed, I would have expected it before today. I recognize that.

MS. VANDESTEEG: It was 30 days, Your Honor.

THE COURT: I understand that. But the other thing is this. I do believe if -- and I realize that everyone is representing their own clients, and I've always said I appreciate zealous representation. But if the defendants' position is take your entire production and tell me who's speaking and in what voice they're speaking each time, I think that that's probably aggressive, as well. That's a liberal reading of my order, as well, because we have to accept the realities that everyone is Lifespace-Edgemere.

Now maybe they're talking in a different voice. And I mean Mr. Harshfield testified in connection with the hearing leading to this I can't tell you what hat I'm wearing right there because he would prepare, as I recall in the evidence, he would prepare a budget for Edgemere. Then that budget goes up to the board of directors that he's on, as well, okay. And then the question is so what hat are you doing, are you advocating for Edgemere here or are you reading this as a board member.

And so I understand where that puts you guys as defendants and seeking to know what party is speaking here. I don't have the look into your legal strategies nor am I asking for them, of course, to understand why there needs to be such a black and white line at certain times on every single document.

So the reason that I'm willing to accept a motion for clarification, because I'm willing to hear reasonable minds tell me -- and, again, I'm just throwing this out, and I'm -- this is not the Court's recommendation -- that perhaps there are documents where you guys have gone through them with a fine-tooth comb and said I need to know who's talking here.

I need to know that maybe -- and I'm not trying to put a burden on the defendant, because I've issued my orders. But maybe that if the defendant says I need -- these are my documents, these are the ones where I don't know who's speaking and in what voice -- I'm not trying to put the burden on you to call those and then ask them. But, likewise, I don't think if one production was made of all the Lifespace and Edgemere documents that going through each time and saying who's talking and in what roll are they talking -- because, again, they're all Lifespace and Edgemere employees.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Well, yes and. Let me put a --

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- a finer point on from our perspective. This is where privilege comes into play, Your Honor. And we are mixing a little bit right now apples and oranges in terms of those that have been produced, pursuant to which no one apparently is claiming a privilege. And for those, it's our view that if Lifespace and Edgemere want to say those that have been produced, we're going to say they're both, that's what we're going to do, there's a unity of interest there, okay.

THE COURT: No, right.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Then for those --

THE COURT: And for the related-company exception, I think that -- that's always what I understood the -- Lifespace and Edgemere to be arguing. There is a unity of interest. There is a -- the related-company exception applies. And I recognize what you said, because you have to hit that legal nature first.

I understand that. But that if a -- if either lawyers is on there, it is privileged. Now, that's their argument. But that depends on if the related-company exception applies.

MS. VANDESTEEG: And if they are agreeing to take the position definitively that there is a unity of interest. And this is, Your Honor, where both in the documents that have been produced as well as those that have been withheld there is this constant shuffle between do we have a unity of interest or are we separate companies?

And, Your Honor, there have been arguments made to this Court, for example, that, hey, what we've done here is nothing dissimilar than, you know, what happens in the hotel industry or the restaurant industry. But, Your Honor, it is. And give me a -- indulge me for a moment to give a slightly different example that helps me clarify. Because they're flipping it. LIfespace is flipping this on its head.

Take, for example, I stay at Marriott Hotels here in Dallas every time, all Marriott all the time. So let's imagine that we have an issue with a specific Marriott hotel.

THE COURT: Marriott --

MS. VANDESTEEG: And I won't name names.

THE COURT: It's Marriott like Chariot now.

MS. VANDESTEEG: It's Marriott like Chariot now?

THE COURT: Yes. They've changed their name.

MS. VANDESTEEG: So let's say that we have a dispute with a specific hotel. And let's say that all of that hotel still uses the Marriott back end, has Marriott employees, uses Marriott email addresses, has their financials. Go up to the Marriott parent company.

We have a dispute with that specific hotel. And we say, hotel -- I'm not going to name -- well, I'll use my hotel. We stay at the Adolphus down the street. And we have a dispute. And we say, Adolphus, you need to turn over to us all of your documents with respect to these issues. And also, Marriott, to the extent that you've got documents with respect to this particular entity that fit within the parameters of our thing, turn them over.

What we're talking about here, Your Honor, would be an -- it would be an instance in which Marriott corporate says to their IT group, just grab everything, anything that involves anything. Send it over to the Adolphus. Let them sort through it. Which includes communications that may otherwise be internal, privileged communications that go toward Marriott's broader global strategy not just with respect to this hotel.

But, belatedly, what I'm hearing with Mr. Walker now with respect to the document that we passed up is we've never seen this before. Your Honor, that document was produced last year, purportedly, in connection with the process that Lifespace put into place to produce -- to call and produce its documents by and through Edgemere.

It gave them to Edgemere. Maybe it reviewed them for privilege first. If it didn't, shame on Lifespace.

Those documents were provided to Edgemere. They were reviewed by Edgemere, I guess in accordance with both the document requests and the subpoena, which, Your Honor, were different. Lifespace likes to conflate them. They were different.

All of those documents were reviewed. Some were redacted. They were produced to us. We have gone through them and reduced them and produced them and want to be able to use them.

And now we're hearing a year after this document was produced, oh, inadvertent privilege waiver by Lifespace with respect to a privilege log that Lifespace still hasn't claimed as its own. Is this now the one document find that Lifespace is going to point to and say, just kidding, we don't have a unity of interest here; you just found the one outlier document that we weren't able to previously designate.

It's exhausting, Your Honor, because they use these tricks. They use these words. They use unity of interest here, separate corporations here. They use privilege over here, but then over here, no, no, no, it's just Edgemere.

This is what we're trying to cut through, Your Honor. And the stuff that's been produced, if they now want to stipulate that those are Edgemere and Lifespace documents, great. Let's just do that. But then you can't simultaneously be claiming separate privileges.

You can't then have a privilege log that's only on behalf of one that you want to say, no, some of those are Lifespace, not Edgemere, Lifespace privilege. Or maybe they're related companies. But there still needs to be an underlying Lifespace privilege to claim for that exception and still simultaneously say there's no difference between the documents, there's no differences in these productions, and we're not actually a unity of interest on those, but also we're not going to tell you which of those we aren't.

So, Your Honor, do we want someone to have to go through and separately go through all of these emails to figure out whose was what? It's going to be timely and expensive, but we -- this is not a problem of our making. And yet we find ourselves consistently in front of this Court trying to get compliance with your order or, at least, a stipulation in accordance with the hearing last time that make the stipulation. They're for both of you. What's been produced?

But no provideds. No footnotes. For purposes of what the -- what's been produced, it's been produced. And then for what's been withheld or redacted -- Your Honor, you got to get through that, because -- and I agree. A week is not long to get through 500 documents. But for those documents that have been withheld, I think that cuts straight through the games that we're seeing, that we have been provided with in terms of this whole what's privileged, what's not, are we unity of interest, are we not.

Because, Your Honor, let's put a real fine point on it. Unity of interest has other legal implications. And if they want to say we have a unity of interest for the purpose of claiming privilege, Edgemere privilege over communications that appear to be strictly related to Lifespace legal interests, well, that opens a whole different can of worms that we'd want to be able to explore.

But you can't say we have a legal interest, a unity of interest for purposes of this but then not for other issues that may arise in terms of what that may imply. That is where we find ourselves. We don't believe that any further briefing is necessary with respect to the designation.

It would be our view that the only thing that's necessary would be a rule to show cause to order compliance with that or to actually put a stipulation out there that represents the reality what -- of what I think it is that they're trying to say, which is these documents are both. If they're not both, tell us what's not.

And with respect to the privilege log, please take a look. Let us know if you think that there is any basis for this asserted related-companies privilege exception waiver.

THE COURT: Right. And I think Mr. Walker is going to get to the privilege log next.

MR. WALKER: Thank you, Your Honor.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Thank you, Ms. Vandesteeg.

MR. WALKER: I think I got cut off (indiscernible) on the privilege log.

THE COURT: So on the privilege log, Mr. Walker?

MR. WALKER: Thank you, Your Honor. So on the privilege log, I think the Court has it right. So in the Court's June 23rd order, it required the plaintiff, the defendants, and Lifespace to meet and confer to try to narrow the remaining issues that were related to the privilege log.

We met with the defendants to discuss this issue on Friday, September 29th. We proposed having them identify approximately 50 documents for us to review and attempt to narrow for in-camera review to determine whether or not those documents discussed legal advice or whether they were just commercial in nature. We had proposed 50 documents, because that's what we had understood had previously been approximately the scope of documents that had previously been submitted for in-camera review to the Court.

They indicated that they intended to identify hundreds of documents for potential in-camera review. We asked (sic) them, okay, we think that sounds like a lot, but please send us what you're proposing, and we'll review it. We got that Sunday afternoon. They sent us a list of approximately 500 items from the privilege log that they designated from review.

They suggested on Friday that they were also going to prepare a memorandum that they would kind of unilaterally file to the Court, kind of a quasi brief, I think, to argue what the Court should look at with respect to these documents. We had objected to that, or we asked to at least see a copy of it before it was filed. They didn't commit to do that.

That list of about 500 items they just sent to the plaintiffs yesterday. We haven't had a chance, the three of us, to meet and confer to kind of go over those. That number, 500 documents, that seems unreasonably high. We think that should be reduced.

But I think, more importantly, in line with what the Court suggested, we think that the plaintiff and Lifespace should take whatever the number is -- if it's 500, I guess we'll have to go through 500. But if it's some more reasonable number, give the plaintiff and Lifespace, who've claimed the privileges in those different categories, give us an opportunity to review them. And for each of those documents, maybe we can reach an agreement on it. Maybe we can agree to produce it or say, you know, this one of the thousands that were reviewed was not appropriately tagged as privileged.

So let us go through and do what, you know, the parties should typically do before burdening the Court with an in-camera review. We're happy to do that. And we think the plaintiffs, who obviously have a privilege they're asserting here too, needs that opportunity as well. I won't speak for Mr. Taylor, but he can let the Court know the plaintiffs' opinion.

And then whatever is remaining that the parties can't agree on, then those can be submitted for in-camera review for the Court to determine, you know, do these documents -- do they discuss or pertain to legal privilege? Do they meet the legal definition of privileged?

So that's what our position on it is. I think we've communicated that to defendants' counsel. We received an email shortly before the hearing from one of Ms. Vandesteeg's colleagues I think agreeing to that approach, which is go through our 500 documents and let us know which ones you think, you know, we could reach an agreement on.

Again, 500 seems unreasonably large to us. We think it should be narrow. So that's Lifespace's position. We'll defer to the court on how many of these documents you want to review on your birthday, so --

THE COURT: Well, I mean, I'm just --

MR. WALKER: With that, I'll take any questions.

THE COURT: I mean, I'm just looking at -- and I recognize it was a suggestion that the defendants were throwing out. I mean the proposition is to give them to me on the 6th.

Monday is a federal holiday. I'll be working. But, again, Monday is a federal holiday. I'm in trial at least two days next week. And I've got dockets, I think, every day that week.

So, again, I want to be helpful here. Before --

MR. WALKER: And I guess that -- right. One other thing I would add, Your Honor, if I may interject, is if it is 500 or 400 documents, I mean, we're going to need more than three business days. I assume the plaintiffs will need more time than that too. But that -- you know, that's going to take some work to go through and see if we can narrow it down.

THE COURT: Okay. Well, let me see if Mr. Taylor wants to take any positions or add to the discussion today.

Mr. Taylor?

MR. TAYLOR: I'm beginning to have severe second thoughts about having gotten involved with this case, as you told me that I might. So just --

THE COURT: I prepared a sua sponte transfer, but I was threatened by our chief judge. No. I'm kidding.

MR. TAYLOR: Just to be clear, I mean, our -- the plaintiff is not trying to cause a problem here. We are riding along on these issues. I think that -- and the list of 500 or whatever it is that people have been talking about, I mean, we got that yesterday evening, as I recall.

THE COURT: True.

MR. TAYLOR: So I'm not ready to talk about all those. But I will say, I understand what the issues are, but I don't think that they're -- it's not as clear cut as what some arguments here show. Because I think you can have separate companies that are related for purposes and have a unity of interest for purposes.

And if they're -- and if they are sharing documents that include their counsel's advice and discussing them on the related issue, I think that would be privileged. And I don't think that it necessarily has to have a counsel on it, because the people that are both Lifespace on one half of their brain and Edgemere on the other half of their brain might be thinking about the legal issues and talking to other people that have the same brain split. And that could be privileged even though there's not a counsel on there.

I don't have a solution on how to solve the problem that the defendants feel like something super important is being withheld from them. But I also don't think that we have to start with 500 documents. They've given us the categories. They could give us a smaller number than 500 to start with to see. And then, that way, something a little more manageable could be presented to you if we're going to have to do in-camera review.

But I will say that the stipulation that has been offered -- and I say it as long -- my position is, if there's a document that we have had control over as Edgemere and Lifespace, it counts for both for me, you know? And so you can use it in a deposition however you want. And then what -- what the document contains, that'll be something that'll come up. And if there's some problem or if there's some privilege or whatever it is, it'll come up at that time.

But they've had access to the document. They can use it for all purposes going into depositions. And then we see if there's even something to argue about left. I mean, I get it.

THE COURT: Well, Mr. Taylor, let me interrupt you. I don't know if you've had an opportunity to review the transcript of the original oral argument on this particular motion. Okay?

MR. TAYLOR: I have not, but I can.

THE COURT: Okay. And so because this is the situation that I think a lack of clarity of whose document is whose provides. I've got 20 Nick Harshfield emails. I got 20 Jantzen emails. In a deposition, do you expect that the defendant will have to say, okay, Mr. Harshfield, please identify the exhibit, please tell me what hat you were wearing when you said this?

MR. TAYLOR: I --

THE COURT: I mean, because that's essentially -- without any clarity, which I think the rules provide for, because I've said so in my June 23rd order, without that clarity, that's what they have to do. Because, essentially, that was Mr. Walker's argument. And no aspersions being cast. All due respect. That was the argument, that that is what the deposition discovery does, is you go through your documents, you ask them to identify them, and then you discuss them.

And so what you're saying -- what the argument would have to be is that with each of these employees, because they're going to be virtually all of them, you have to go letter by letter, dot for dot, and say who were you representing when you said this. That seems incredibly cumbersome.

MR. TAYLOR: It might also be impossible. They might not know who they were representing at the time.

THE COURT: And --

MR. TAYLOR: I mean, I don't -- I can't undo the fact that Lifespace employees were performing the stuff for Edgemere. I mean, that is what it is. But I will say that not every document or every issue turns on a specific thing of who were you thinking of at the time.

THE COURT: Well, no. Not every one does. But I think that the question is, if there is going to be an instance in which a Lifespace board member, director, employee says that's only at Lifespace, Edgemere would have never seen that, that's only in my role as a board member, isn't the defendants entitled to know that?

MR. TAYLOR: They --

THE COURT: What if they -- hypothetically, someone only at the Lifespace level speaking only to other Lifespace board members says something negative about Edgemere and says, oh, blah, blah, blah -- I'm not going to put it out there, because it would be my luck that it would be repeated back to me. Just says something negative. Okay? And do you want that being held as a party admission on behalf of your client that that was Edgemere talking?

MR. TAYLOR: I guess I'm going to have to wait to see what it is. But I will say this. I've taken a lot of depositions where I had an issue about who somebody represented in the document, and I just asked what it was. And if your position is it's too cumbersome to have to do it for every document, yeah, it probably would be.

But I don't think that, in the real world, you would do it for every document, because most of the time it doesn't matter. You know, you'll just -- it'll count for both, and it'll count for both. And if there's something where somebody thinks that it should only count for one than the other, there's going to be a gillion lawyers there, so I feel sure we're going to work it -- you know, at least figure out what it is, so if there's somebody to bring a -- if a motion needs to be brought, we can come here.

But I will say this for today's sake. I've missed, I guess, the entire Rangers game that's being played right now. And we are ahead, by the way. But I've missed the entire game on a hearing where there's not even a motion. So it's a --

THE COURT: And you're getting to my end game. I do understand.

MR. TAYLOR: It's a weird thing for me. And if you look at the rest of the agenda, we're only on item two. The rest of them really -- I mean, they're issues that you might see someday, but it's -- other than just putting them on your radar, I'm not even really sure why we're talking about them.

But I'll address those as we need to. And I've spoken too long now, because I told somebody I would only have five minutes for my whole presentation, so --

THE COURT: All right. No.

MR. TAYLOR: Thank you.

THE COURT: You're fine. You're fine. Thank you.

MR. TAYLOR: Unless you've got anything else, I -- that's what I have to say.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you, Mr. Taylor.

MR. TAYLOR: Thank you.

THE COURT: On the point, essentially, that was raised as part of the demonstrative and -- so with this privilege and with this Lifespace versus Edgemere dichotomy, here's what I say. I'll look forward to the motion to clarify. I'll allow the defendants to respond as appropriate.

I realize how incredibly difficult this is. I realize how important it is to the defendant. And I think the defendant's -- I don't know that the goal posts are being moved. But I do believe that we need to come to some reasonable resolution here. And so I'll look forward to the motion for clarification.

In terms of the in-camera review, Ms. Vandesteeg, I actually do agree with Lifespace. The in-camera review that the Court invited was on the related company's exception. The in-camera review that I invited was to basically determine if this is legal or commercial.

I recognize that in your demonstrative you've got a number of essentially great points on here in terms of the no counsel in communication, the other third-party communications Paddock (phonetic), UMB, Pointe Group, things of that nature. But I think that where we've gotten is either reach an agreement or file a motion to compel. Okay?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Okay. Well, Your Honor, I guess I'm confused, because the categories that have been identified do go specifically to whether there can be the related-companies privilege waiver.

THE COURT: No counsel on communications, other third-party communications, Paddock, UMB, Pointe Group. All of these issues -- this is not a related-company issue. This is whether or not it's privileged at all issue. Whether or not correspondence with UMB, correspondence with third parties, all of this is whether or not those should have been produced at all.

If you have an issue with their privilege log, then bring it to me on a motion to compel. I think that's different than what we've been doing.

MS. VANDESTEEG: I agree with some point, Your Honor, where some of those specific third parties that you referenced are on there because Lifespace is trying to claim privilege over them through their related-companies privilege. So with respect to the -- I suppose the no counsel at all, we could try to parse that out as a separate. However, what we're saying is that each and every one of these has been identified, as to our knowledge, blanket designation of all of this is subject to related-companies privilege.

So we can carve out that third party. But for the Lifespace correspondence, Lifespace only correspondence --

THE COURT: No, no, no.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- the multiple buckets --

THE COURT: And what I'm telling you is on number four, number five, number seven, number eight in your redaction list, no counsel on communications, other third-party communications, Paddock communications, UMB communications, Pointe Group communications --

MS. VANDESTEEG: That one I think we need to except out, because Lifespace has been claiming privilege over that one, much like Houlihan Lokey.

THE COURT: No, no. And that's fine if --

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yeah.

THE COURT: I mean, then file a motion to compel.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Okay.

THE COURT: Okay? And I think -- I mean, basically, put the stone in their pocket that at some point identify the documents. If they've been claimed as privilege and you don't believe that they are such, then they will either produce or they'll take the second look. Okay? I don't believe it is me to take that look right away. Let them do their diligence. Okay?

And I think the same of, in your redaction log, correspondence with UMB, correspondence with third parties, documents that you prepared and sent. Now, I can see how there's a possibility you could send a document. There could be something privileged, analyzing what you had sent them on top or something. But the redactions of communications to the recused board member, maybe that was redacted on relevance. I don't know.

But I think it's time for them to respond. Because, I mean, I don't disagree at some point that we're having a lot of status conferences. And I want to be helpful to the parties. But at some point, let's act under a motion.

So on those, I find those separate from related companies. Because if it's only the related company, then I'm going to need to think long and hard of how it's privilege just because it's between two companies. So that's what I would say on that point.

With respect to this Court's review, again, I think the bulk of what you're asking for of the 500, the highest number was no counsel on communications. I think that's something they need to look hard at. Okay? If there is no counsel there, and they're being withheld for privilege, I certainly believe that there could be some reasons for that. But to the tune of 800 is high. It's high in my estimation.

So I don't think I need to look at 117. All right? Let's let them do their diligence first and see if they can bring that number down. Okay?

And but other than that, I thought I would be looking at 50. I thought I would be looking -- and I'm willing to -- whether it's 50 or 100 to look at on the related-company side, just to make sure that what's being withheld is legal in nature. That was my initial review.

If because of your motion to compel, which I believe that would be forthcoming, if there's another in-camera review that needs to be done, then I will do it. I can't promise it on a seven-day turnaround. I will do my best to produce them quickly.

But that's what I will say. On these other issues, all I can say to Lifespace -- and I know this is less of an issue for the plaintiff -- is, Mr. Walker, this has been going on a long time. And I realize that you're meeting and conferring.

But at some point, identify the documents. These are the ones we have -- these were the ones we have a problem with. And I do believe that it's time the defendants get some definitive answers of how and why they are privileged. And if not, bring those to me in a motion. Okay? Bring them to me in the categories that you've brought them to me here today.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Your Honor, to put a fine point on that, because again with respect to how Lifespace might bring this forward, in the existing privilege log, Lifespace has not asserted privilege over anything. So for purposes of meeting and conferring and determining what Lifespace believes it has asserted privilege over such that then the privilege waiver could happen, I don't know without providing the Court with the documents that the Court can determine, because, again, we have so many communications that would otherwise be Lifespace privileged but for that they have not claimed it, and they're not on the privilege log.

Is that just an issue for Mr. Walker to attempt to address and elucidate in further briefing?

THE COURT: Well, I mean, if they're being withheld -- okay. So let's just take an example.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Well, would it be helpful for me just to share the privilege log --

MR. WALKER: Could I --

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- so that Your Honor could see it?

MR. WALKER: Could I be heard on this, Your Honor, before we go down another rabbit's hole here, briefly?

THE COURT: Please.

MR. WALKER: Okay. I think the Court's direction is right, which is it's -- the in-camera review that is currently before the Court is with respect to the related-companies exception to the waiver of privilege and whether or not those documents, about 50 to 100, are concerning legal advice or whether they're strictly commercial in nature to determine whether they satisfy the privilege to begin with.

There are a bunch of other issues that are being discussed right now by counsel where there is no motion to compel that is pending. If they have a question about documents that are on the privilege log, then they should come to both the plaintiff and Lifespace and raise those issues on a document-by-document basis. We can look into them, and we could determine whether we can agree on it or not.

And with respect to the amount of time that has transpired, we got this list from them on Sunday afternoon. So we have had one business day before the hearing today to try to start that discussion.

So, you know, we've been in this hearing now for several hours. I think the issue that has been teed up that is, you know, the subject of the Court's June 23rd order, we understand that direction. That makes sense to us.

I think on the other issues, the parties should attempt to work together to figure out what those issues are, and if they are issues for the Court to decide, then tee it up the right procedural way with a motion. Thank you.

THE COURT: Thank you, Mr. Walker.

So, Ms. Vandesteeg, looking at your list --

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: -- you've got number one and number two, Lifespace outside counsel communications only, Lifespace/Edgemere and/or board members outside counsel combo. Right there you've got, looks like, 1,410 entries. Okay?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: And --

MS. VANDESTEEG: We sought review of 138 of those.

THE COURT: Right. Those two categories -- and, I mean, you can put the list back up for Mr. Walker's benefit. Those two categories --

MR. WALKER: Thank you, Your Honor. I was going to ask if someone from Ms. Vandesteeg's team could actually send me a copy of that, so I could follow along.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: We will do so.

THE COURT: Okay. Those two categories seem to me to be the heart of the related-companies exception that was laid out in the Court's June 30 order. Okay? Because Houlihan Lokey's going to be the subject of a different motion, okay?

And I think that whatever I decide there, we're going to be able to -- so if you could -- Ms. Sethna, if you could push down to where he can see that category key for the privilege log entries? And on down.

MS. SETHNA: It's just slow.

THE COURT: Oh, I'm sorry. Yeah. It's just slow. I apologize.

So, again, that nature of communication category one, category two, those seem, to me, to be related-company exception. Again, the no counsel on it, the third-party communications, that seems to be an issue of how is that privileged altogether. Then we get down, Paddock and UMB again, subject to a motion to compel.

GrayRobinson, if that's the board counsel, I don't think that's a related-company issue as has been identified to me in prior briefing. So that would probably be the subject of a motion to compel.

And then Lifespace board of director communications, again, that's a different subject.

So I'm thinking that this 138 documents that you proposed is the bulk of where I saw the June 30, excuse me, in-camera review going.

MS. VANDESTEEG: There may be one other fine point with respect to the Lifespace board of directors communications in that some of those did also involve communications then with Lifespace outside counsel. And they are also -- even in those Lifespace board of directors communications, again, they reference correspondence between Edgemere representatives and outside counsel on the privilege log, Your Honor. So simply because there's this conflation, I -- at least to what has been given to us --

THE COURT: Right. And that's your number six. And you've got zero --

MS. VANDESTEEG: No. That would be the number 11.

THE COURT: Oh, number 11?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Correct.

THE COURT: Okay. The Lifespace board -- okay. Well, I mean, again, that's only a smaller group of --

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes, it is.

THE COURT: And, again, so if you guys want to select a group of documents of like -- of maybe 50 to 100 there, okay, I'll take those for in-camera review. All right? And, again, the in-camera review that I'm talking about is the one that I referred to in my June 30th order. And that is to determine whether or not the nature of the correspondence in these documents is legal in nature and not commercial in nature.

And that's what I agreed already to do. But we are -- we'll determine what the go-forward process will be with respect to how, if at all, we need to separate these companies. Because if we don't, we don't. And then everyone's going to have to -- but, again, I'll await the motion for clarification before I do something deeper on that.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Can we talk about timing then, Your Honor, with respect to how the --

THE COURT: Yes.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- Court would prefer these things be staggered both in terms of clarification as well as provision then of documents for in-camera review as well as subsequent motions to compel, all with an eye to that October 31 deadline? And do we need at this point to recognize that perhaps vis-a-vis Lifespace, again as we raised last week, that deadline may simply not be feasible --

THE COURT: Right.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- understanding that we can still proceed with respect to any amendments as they may need to be done between defendants and plaintiff, but appreciating that there is still a substantial amount of work to be done in terms of resolving these issues with Lifespace, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. So we've got the Houlihan issue. We've said 13, 20th, 24th. Okay? With respect to identifying these documents, have you identified the documents that you proposed for review to Lifespace and the plaintiff yet?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes, we have.

THE COURT: You have? Okay. And how long either

Lifespace or --

MR. WALKER: Well, Your Honor, if I can -- sorry. If I can jump in there. They sent us on Sunday, and I think they sent the plaintiff yesterday, the 500 documents. I think what I heard the Court say is this in-camera review is limited to 50 to 100 documents in categories one and two on this demonstrative.

THE COURT: Right. But, of course --

MR. WALKER: So I --

THE COURT: In those categories, let's -- if you look at the front numbers, there are 1,410 documents. They're asking for some subset of them. So have you already -- so what have you given to Lifespace and the plaintiff thus far?

MS. VANDESTEEG: We have provided them with a spreadsheet that lays out on a document-by-document-specific basis the entire 469 documents that we proposed be reviewed --

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- in camera, both the 300 total --

THE COURT: Yep.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- the seventy-seven sixty-one seven one-seventeen, et cetera, et cetera, as well as the 169 documents that had been redacted.

THE COURT: Okay. So I think that what -- and how long, Mr. Walker or Mr. Taylor, whoever is going to pull them, how long does it take to pull those documents to get them to the Court?

MR. WALKER: Well, so I guess are we -- I guess I'm a little confused. So are we first identifying the subset of documents for the plaintiff and for Lifespace to review, see if we can limit them on the ones that are disputed, and then submit them to the Court for review?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Your Honor, what we could do is simply provide a -- the culled list of the 138 from number one and two which itself would be less than 10 percent. So if the Court would be willing to even accommodate the 138 that we've already identified in painstaking detail --

THE COURT: No. I'll be honest, Ms. Vandesteeg. I don't want to review documents that Lifespace and the plaintiff are going to turn around and say these are not privileged. I don't want to do that.

MR. WALKER: That's my point.

THE COURT: And I hear and you -- I see your frustration. I understand.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Because counsel was invited to do that last time and said he had already done so, and there was nothing that remained that --

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- from their view was not already --

MR. WALKER: That's not true, Your Honor. That's just not true. We got the list of the documents they specifically have questions about Sunday night. We have not had a chance to look at these documents to determine whether or not they really are a disputed document that the Court needs to rule on. So that's not true.

THE COURT: So one more time. So right now, we have got an order that says, okay, based on the facts that Lifespace and Edgemere claim to be related companies and, thus, any communication between Lifespace and Edgemere with counsel that is legal in nature is privileged. Okay? And I've already ruled that the precursor to everything is that it's legal in nature, not commercial in nature.

The defendant has asked that -- for me to do that ex parte review. So I certainly would have assumed that since June 23rd Lifespace and Edgemere would have conducted their own review to determine whether it was commercial or legal. Has that been done?

MR. WALKER: Yes. From Lifespace's --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. WALKER: -- position, we have confirmed that nothing was intentionally withheld on a strictly commercial nature. Now, there are thousands of documents. So if one was incorrectly labeled, we would like a chance to look at it to say, oh, this was a mistake, we'll give it to you before the Court has to review it.

We have not gone through every single document in the privilege log. We have confirmed based on the process we set up that there was nothing pulled that was only commercial in nature intentionally.

THE COURT: The exasperation is about to get contagious, because I'm getting exasperated. Let's do this. They've identified the 138 documents that they would propose for the Court's review. We established that it's number one and two, right? Or was it also number 11?

MS. VANDESTEEG: I would also recommend that we include the ones from number 11, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. So the 146 documents.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: I'm going to ask that the defendants, ICI and Kong, give the list of the 146 documents to Lifespace and the plaintiff. Okay? I'm going to -- when can you give them that list?

MS. VANDESTEEG: I would imagine that we can give them that list culled list if not later tonight, tomorrow, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Okay. You'll get it to them tomorrow. That's 10/4. All right. I'm going to give the plaintiff and Lifespace seven days -- it'll be October 11th -- to do a further internal review of whether any of those 146 -- if the privilege assertion is being withdrawn, and those can be turned over at that time.

If not, you can send -- I still only want 100 documents. Okay? You can send 100 of those documents, and I'll allow the -- ICI and Kong to pick them. And maybe less at that point if any have been narrowed. To send those to the Court on the 12th or the 13th.

Let's just say they'll be sent to me by the 13th. And those are -- that will be the plaintiffs or the -- Lifespace to send to me by the 13th. Send those in hard binders. And the Court will endeavor to have those reviewed by the 24th.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor.

MR. WALKER: Thank you, Your Honor.

MR. TAYLOR: Thank you.

THE COURT: And that, again, is going to be on the legal versus commercial issue. I am going to -- with respect to the motion for clarification, when can you get that on file, Mr. Walker?

MR. WALKER: I'm looking at the calendar right now, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Yes.

MR. WALKER: We could do it in two weeks, if that works for the Court. We understand we don't want to drag this out any longer than it needs to be dragged out.

THE COURT: So we're on the 3rd. So you're saying you can file it by the 17th?

MR. WALKER: Sure.

THE COURT: How long do you want to respond? Fourteen days? How long? How long do you --

MS. VANDESTEEG: Fourteen days should be fine for us too, Your Honor, so long as we can then again address the, from our perspective, looming wall --

THE COURT: Well, let --

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- of 10/31.

THE COURT: Okay. Right. Okay. So that'll be the response. And in the -- so what I'll also -- I mean, I don't like to do this. I'm going to order the -- I don't want to do a deadline. I'll order the parties to meet and confer, okay -- it'll be necessary if you're going to file a motion to compel anyway, Ms. Vandesteeg -- with respect to these other issues, the issues that are brought up by categories number four and number five, number seven, number eight, these other issues of like essentially where does the privilege come from. Okay?

So I'm not going to put a hard deadline on that, but I would like to keep these various motions, the motion for clarification, et cetera, on a similar timeline. So theoretically, if we could get any motion to compel, if there were going to be one, on file by the 17th, which again is two weeks from now, but that again kind of backs up everything else that needs to occur with respect to the motion --

MS. VANDESTEEG: Meet and confers?

THE COURT: -- to the meet and the confer. So I'm not going to order and I'm not going to put a hard deadline on that, because, again, I want to give the opportunity for people to reach agreements and consensus. But ideally we would have those on similar timelines.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Understood, Your Honor. Thank you. Would the Court want to move the Houlihan dates then also to match up with the ones that we've just proposed on these others, or maintain the faster schedule on those? Just trying to be efficient, Your Honor.

THE COURT: I'm happy to move them. I mean, again, this is -- Mr. Taylor, do you see any reason why we need that issue decided ahead of time --

MR. TAYLOR: No.

THE COURT: -- from the others? No? I didn't think so. Okay. We'll move them to accommodate the -- so that we'll use the -- we'll use Houlihan for briefing. It'll be they'll file their motion by the 17th. You'll respond by the 31st. And then we'll have a hearing thereafter. So that won't be on the 24th anymore.

MR. TAYLOR: Thank you.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: You're welcome.

MR. TAYLOR: That makes sense to me. Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay?

MS. VANDESTEEG: And, Your Honor, as we laid out in our notice of agenda, and taking into account the fact that we are at 4:42, the remainder of the -- well, let me stop there for a moment.

Your Honor, are there more issues from the Court's perspective that should be discussed with respect to the dates and the motions that we have presently set before we further address issues on the agenda and then also seek to figure out the Court's availability for an actual hearing date on this and potential other issues?

THE COURT: Okay. So you want to -- let me see if Ms. Harden can tell us what we have available probably the week of November 6th. I'm going to have -- so we have November 7th at 2:00. We've got essentially half a day available on that day. Would that day work for folks?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Your Honor, defendants can make themselves available on that day. November 7 at 2 p.m. Thank you.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. WALKER: Your Honor, that works for Lifespace. Thank you.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. TAYLOR: We will do whatever is required.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you, Mr. Taylor.

So we'll -- that way if there's any slippage --

MR. TAYLOR: That is election day.

THE COURT: That is election day.

MS. VANDESTEEG: That's fine.

THE COURT: Would you all prefer the 9th?

MS. VANDESTEEG: I can vote by mail.

MR. TAYLOR: I will already have voted.

MS. VANDESTEEG: We can accommodate whatever is the Court's preference, Your Honor, I believe.

THE COURT: Okay. We have the 7th and the 9th.

MR. TAYLOR I'm fine with the 7th. I just -- I didn't know if it impacted things here.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Your Honor, candidly, we would love to keep things moving. We will need to, as I mentioned, figure out how to address the Lifespace pleading deadline. But every two days --

THE COURT: Right.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- that we can try to make further progress would be great.

THE COURT: Okay. We'll keep it on the 7th then. So we have your issues 3 through 11?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes, Your Honor. These --

THE COURT: Oh, wait.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes.

THE COURT: I say that -- we need to take a five-minute recess for a convenience break for the staff.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor.

COURTROOM DEPUTY: All rise.

(Recess at 4:45 p.m./Reconvened at 4:51 p.m.)

COURTROOM DEPUTY: All rise.

THE COURT: Please be seated. We'll go back on the record in Case Number 22-3040.

Ms. Vandesteeg?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor. I think that we were taking a moment to address in the first instance -- I think my preference would be to talk about the amended Lifespace pleading deadline and then go quickly through the remaining issues that were otherwise laid out on the agenda which should not, Your Honor, take very long.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: So where we're at today, Your Honor, there will be more motion practice.

THE COURT: Right.

MS. VANDESTEEG: There will be in-camera review. We suspect that there will be further in-camera review after the additional motion practice. We appreciate trustee's counsel's comments made in court last week that they would like to be able to move in some form in pari-passu with respect to amendments to the asserted claims and potential amendments to the counterclaims the defendants have asserted and may need to amend with respect to the plaintiff. And we are fine with that.

And should Your Honor wish, we can keep that date on October 31st. I think we could move it up even if the Court wanted to.

With respect to Lifespace, we are challenged today much as we were when we were in front of the Court last week where we are chasing a bit of an unknown outside target. We would love to keep this moving as quickly as possible. We are going to work and continue to work our hardest to make as much progress as we can with counsel for Lifespace over these next few weeks.

October 31st, obviously, given that we're not even going to have a hearing on further motions, is not going to be plausible. I would be fine with trying to find an outside date potentially toward the end of November. I would be fine, Your Honor, also to put that amended deadline on a status for our hearing on November 7th and determine at that point if we have sufficient clarity around whether an end of November date is practical and feasible or whether instead we need to just put this one out there as a 14 days after completion of the briefing and the in-camera review and supplemental production.

I'm open to guidance from the Court on that issue. I think either would be okay so long as we recognize that through no -- that it may need to be continued if we choose an outside-of-November deadline.

THE COURT: Mr. Taylor?

MR. TAYLOR: We are opposed to extending the deadline any further. October 31 is plenty of time. I understand if they want more time to figure out if they're going to sue Lifespace. I understand why they want it.

But I am -- even based on what I've heard today, I'm unconvinced that if they believe they have a claim they couldn't figure that out with the documents that they have available to them. Because I don't think that there's some conspiracy here to hide documents from them that would let them know if they have a claim or not.

But if they don't have enough and we have our plea deal on the 31st and then they come up with some new documents and suddenly they realize they have a claim, well then they can move to add. And how are we going to really oppose it, you know?

But I don't think that we need to keep moving to -- it seems to me like every time that we're here there's an attempt to push things back further. And this is not new to me in litigation. But I don't have to like it, and I don't. And I think that October 31, we still have the whole month to go, is plenty of time to figure out do you have a claim or do you not and to make your pleading.

THE COURT: Thank you, Mr. Taylor.

Ms. Vandesteeg?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Your Honor, first -- in the first instance, I don't particularly understand why the plaintiff is concerned about potential third-party claims that we may want to make against Lifespace.

THE COURT: Well, it is your deadline to file counterclaims as well.

MS. VANDESTEEG: It is. And that's why, Your Honor, I propose that we bifurcate.

THE COURT: Uh-huh. Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: And we already have pending three counterclaims. We've already drafted amendments to those counterclaims, the pending counterclaims. We were ready to go with the Court's September 29th deadline. We can absolutely proceed with plaintiff for amending pleadings by October 31st. They amend their claims. We amend our counterclaims vis-a-vis the plaintiff.

What we're talking about here, Your Honor, are the potential third-party claims against Lifespace. We raised this issue in August that we're concerned that these are two slightly different tracks. We can absolutely stay on track. We want to keep moving with respect to the claims and counterclaims with respect to the plaintiff.

But, Your Honor, we have been stalled and delayed with respect to Lifespace. The issue is finally now, we are grateful, coming to a head, and it looks like we are going to be able to make some meaningful progress over the next few weeks.

But that's not going to happen by our hope of having supplemental documents for in-camera review and rulings by the 17th of October to allow us to make that determination as it relates to Lifespace. And what we're seeking to carve out is Lifespace and its representatives. That's all we've asked for as we've raised this issue numerous times.

THE COURT: Okay. So you're willing to stick with the 10/31 deadline with the exception of a third-party claim -- counterclaim against Lifespace?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: With the slight caveat that should it require slight amendment then to potentially add Lifespace -- well, what -- how am I phrasing it in my head? There may -- it may also dovetail in that some of the asserted counterclaims may also be framed in the same light, but they would be against Lifespace or Lifespace representatives, which, as I'm talking myself through it, Your Honor, would indeed be third-party claims that might allege the same underlying operative facts and/or different ones. Yes.

THE COURT: Okay So, Mr. Taylor? And perhaps I didn't have the clarity that I now do when I called you here before. Is she's proposing to maintain the deadline for counterclaims and third-party claims against anybody but Lifespace for 10/31 and move just that one out.

MR. TAYLOR: I still think that they should be the same, because let's say we get all of our pleadings done on October 31. We start taking depositions. You know they're taking a deposition on this Friday. I mean, they're starting up now.

THE COURT: Yeah.

MR. TAYLOR: And so if I'm Lifespace, I might complain if there's a bunch of discovery that's been done without me being in the case and now, all of a sudden, I'm going to be in it. So I don't -- it has the potential ripple effect. You had described it as being two tracks previously. That's probably about the best way to look at it.

But things are going to change if they bring them in. And that's why I want them to bring them in now if they're planning to do it.

And there is one other issue that they have listed on number 11, I think it is, that -- I didn't realize that they were going to put it on, because I'm starting to talk to them. And I'm still hoping that I will get to an agreement with them. But just to put it on your calendar, in the next week or two at the most, we'll probably have to file a motion on this.

There is a current protective order in the case --

THE COURT: Right.

MR. TAYLOR -- that has this attorney's eyes only stamp on it. And if I want to have a potential expert or consultant look at those documents, I have to tell them who those people are. And under the federal rules, I do not have to do that.

THE COURT: Right. And the answer to number 11 is file a motion, so --

MR. TAYLOR: And that's what we'll do.

THE COURT: Okay. That's going to be the answer to number 11. So I'll just short-circuit that.

MR. TAYLOR: Right.

THE COURT: With respect to this counterclaim, et cetera, deadline, let me look at my dates. Given where we are in the hearing date, I'm going to move that deadline to November 13th.

To be honest, I don't plan on moving it again. I'll just let you know. I mean, at some point, it's time for us to get the litigation going.

And I'm not sure that there's a -- I mean, at any regular litigation juncture, you put forth your third-party counterclaims. If you want to amend later because you get new documents, you get new documents. But I do believe we need, this far down the road, to set the stage as to who the players are going to be. Because it also is going to change the tenor of how the depositions are taken, whether you're taking party depositions, whether you're taking third-party depositions and the like.

And so because of that and where we are and when documents will be produced, I'm going to give you a little bit of an extension here, Ms. Vandesteeg. And I'll keep the deadlines together as Mr. Taylor had asked. But I'm going to do November 13th, which is a Monday.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor, for that accommodation.

THE COURT: Yep. And so now we have -- we're at kind of a -- it looks like a series of one-offs.

MS. VANDESTEEG: That's correct, Your Honor. We wanted to simply give the Court an overview of the additional disputes that are currently pending and brewing out there. These are all at various different stages of meet and confer. There are a number of them that we have put requests out to plaintiffs' counsel to respond to us, and we hope that we are able to get a response and make some progress on those in short order, Your Honor.

And I point you to, on that -- on those issues, number three, Sidley Austin discovery. Sidley did provide, as we updated the Court on last time, a supplemental production. However, certain documents remain outstanding that we have been informed by Sidley have been still further withheld by the Diamond McCarthy team.

We have asked for them to provide us with an update and guidance on that. We've not yet received it. Meet and confer will continue.

However, we don't want this to be an endless meet and confer process, Your Honor. So to the extent that further motions are necessary, we are going to try to get them on file in short order to follow up on these issues.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Likewise, with respect to the two accounting firms, CliftonLarsonAllen and Lane Gorman, we had issued subpoenas on these as well last year that were frozen. Those accounting firms have advised us now as we have reopened that they cannot provide us the documents that we have subpoenaed without specific taxpayer consent. That they view that that would put them in breach of certain other IRS code obligations that they have.

We have sought that consent from the Diamond McCarthy team. We have not yet received a response. Hopefully, we will. If not, motion will be filed on that issue, Your Honor.

With respect to point five, the interrogatory responses, we have identified and requested that plaintiffs' counsel update interrogatory responses to specify the business records that are identified in those various different interrogatory responses pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure Rule 33(d). Specifically, Your Honor, we're having trouble identifying certain very limited, targeted interrogatories where the production lines up.

Let me give you an example. One of our interrogatories goes to the heart of identify those specific documents that plaintiff asserts were marked as confidential and subject to NDA that were provided to the defendants. We don't know, Your Honor. And we've got 10,000 documents that have been produced. Again, tens of thousands of pages. Plaintiff has yet to comply with the rule to provide us that clarity around what they believe constitutes their response to those specific interrogatories.

We've put this out there in writing again. We are awaiting a response. And we will meet and confer. Motion practice may be necessary to get clarity on that.

With respect to point six, the UMB discovery, UMB had withheld or redacted documents, as we said, based upon certain attorney/client privileges and work product doctrine. They identified a joint defense agreement with the individual bond holders.

We are in active meet and confer with UMB. I believe that I saw correspondence most recently yesterday or late last week. One of my colleagues is in charge. Meet and confers are in progress. And, hopefully, motion practice won't be necessary, but if it is, we'll get there.

Eddie Fenoglio. Oh, sorry. I skipped over FTI. We are still in the meet and confer process with respect to outstanding privilege and redaction issues. We received last Friday afternoon another supplemental production both on behalf of FTI as well as on behalf of Edgemere. We have sought clarity as to what are these documents. I believe that we received also a supplemental FTI privilege log on Friday afternoon. There are outstanding issues, Your Honor, that we continue to meet and confer on, but motion practice may be necessary with respect to that outstanding discovery.

Eddie Fenoglio. Mr. Fenoglio was one of those key individuals who was both high-level Lifespace as well as high-level Edgemere. He was, to our knowledge, the former COO of Lifespace and also an officer/director of Edgemere. We believe that he, for whatever reason, was no longer employed by Lifespace as of June, so we issued a subpoena to him directly. We believe that he might have specific, relevant, responsive information on his own.

We were informed by Mr. Walker, who has claimed dominion over Mr. Fenoglio for purposes of subpoena response, that there may be additional documents that he may have and that he will reach out to him to determine whether there are such documents that may need to be produced. Meet and confer continues.

The Pointe Group discovery and also potentially GroundFloor Media are ones that I suspect the Court is going to see further motion practice on. The Pointe Group and Ground Floor Media both were issued subpoenas. LifeSpace has claimed privilege over the Pointe Group and has said that they will be representing the Pointe Group in connection with their subpoena responses and document productions.

There was a production. It did not come with a privilege log. But documents were redacted, and we believe others were withheld. We have been in correspondence.

There are also, correspondingly, documents and communications with respect to the Pointe Group that, as Your Honor is now very aware, are listed on Edgemere's privilege log. So we suspect that motion practice on this will be necessary very much in line with the motion practice that this Court has already seen with respect to The Monument Group.

Likewise, with respect to GroundFloor Media, we are still in the meet and confer process with their counsel. And you will likely be seeing a motion to compel those documents as well.

The final order, I believe, number 11 has already been addressed by the trustee. And we will await motions on that. I don't know if the Court wants to set specific deadlines or simply allow the trustee to file it. I believe within a week or two is what was stated. I don't know if we want to put some specific deadlines around that or simply address them once we see the motion on file.

Defendants are indifferent. We will address it as necessary when it's filed.

THE COURT: Right. Again, that's something where I don't want to determine, when the operative deadline to file that is. That's something brand new. So I don't think I want to set a deadline. These others, there's reasons to set deadlines, because it's been going on for a little while.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Understood. And thank you, Your Honor. We had put out these proposed upcoming dates. These may now make more sense to be shifted more in line with some of the dates that we now have in place for other motions, and it likely makes sense --

THE COURT: Sure.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- on these as well to just further meet and confer but, to the extent possible, perhaps try to align them with the other filing and hearing dates that we've talked about. Which would mean that, I think at least from our perspective, pending anything further from my team, I would ask that what we do then is set the matter overall for further status potentially at the upcoming hearing time that we now have blocked off on the other motions to be filed and discovery issues on November 7th.

THE COURT: Well, my gut tells me and my extensive experience with this case tells me we're going to have a lot to do on the 7th. So I don't want to clog up the 7th with anything other than motions, because I do believe that it appears some of these motions are going to be meaty and take some time. I mean, again, experience being a guide, the original hearing on the motion to compel that resulted in the June 30th order went for a while.

MS. VANDESTEEG: It did, Your Honor.

THE COURT: So I don't want to clog it up too much. I mean, if we have related motions that have the same witnesses or evidence or argument, I'm happy to have those stacked on the 7th. But I don't want to be -- because the 7th, we have three hours that afternoon. The 9th, like I said, we have more time.

And I don't want to require travel. I don't want to bifurcate things too much. But I also want to be cognizant of what the docket can lend to.

MS. VANDESTEEG: I greatly appreciate that guidance and that insight. And from our perspective, what -- to the extent that the Court is willing to accommodate putting a hold on some time then also for the 9th either for overflow for additional motions to compel that we suspect are going to be necessary and/or for just further status overall on the adversary, defendants' team can accommodate having those two days -- the 7th -- afternoon of the 7th and whatever time works for the Court on the 9th with that gap in between. It is what it is.

THE COURT: Right. Well, just confer amongst the parties. And if you guys want to reserve any time on the 9th -- right now, Ms. Harden tells me that we have all day on the 9th. So if you want the morning or you want the afternoon, just let us know.

But, again, let's also understand and do the ticklers on your calendars if you want the 9th, back up when you're going to have to file your motions too. Because I hear the plaintiff, and I hear Lifespace. And they're very good at their craft, and they're being subtle with the status conferences and how much we're tacking on to status conferences. And maybe they're not being so subtle. But maybe I get it.

So I'd like to proceed as much as we can by motion practice. I don't want to add to the attorney's fees ticker in this case. But I think that parties are entitled to be able to think about the legal issues, get them out in writing, respond, and -- because sometimes the motion practice itself brings folks to the table and gets things produced and what so.

So if you want some time on the 9th, just give Ms. Harden a call tomorrow and --

MS. VANDESTEEG: Or, Your Honor, while we have the parties here and with that further clarity around the three hours on the 7th or all day on the 9th -- and I believe we had all said that we are relatively indifferent -- perhaps would be better, understanding the greater availability on the 9th and understanding that we're likely going to have more motions to be filed in the meantime, perhaps makes more sense then to turn away from the 7th and instead try to block off the 9th for as much of the time as the Court can accommodate for what we do anticipate will be further motions.

THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Taylor? Mr. Walker?

MR. TAYLOR: That sounds like a day of torture to me. I'd just as soon come in on the 7th, have the Houlihan and the clarification stuff done then. And then if we have to do the 9th, then we will.

I mean, I am going to file the motion on the protective order.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. TAYLOR: And I'm going to do that sooner than later so that we can get it heard sooner than later. Because I need that.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. TAYLOR: But so I'm not -- I'm not opposed to coming down on the 9th for a hearing on that. But I just don't want to commit to a whole bunch of other stuff right now. And let's just get them done.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Your Honor, we will be filing the additional motions to compel against Lifespace, so there will be more issues that will be up for hearing beyond simply those that we've identified today.

THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Walker?

MR. WALKER: Thank you, Your Honor. I guess I'm a little surprised that we're already going to file motions to compel before we've had a chance to meet and confer and try to resolve it, but I guess maybe that's part for the course.

Scheduling wise, you know, we're open. I tend to agree with Mr. Taylor. I don't know if we need to commit to a multi-day hearing before we know what's actually up and what actually we are going to need to work through at that point.

THE COURT: Well, I will -- as the parties wish, I will leave what we've got set for the 7th on the 7th. I mean, just by way of example, today's setting was an hour and a half. It has not gone only an hour and a half. And these -- we have lots of parties in these hearings, lots of great counsel, and these tend to get extended.

So let's leave what we've got on the 7th. If you file more motions and they need to be put on the 9th, so be it. But, I do believe that we need to -- I'm just hesitant to, like I said, put a status conference on top of existing motions, because we'll never get to the status conference.

Because I think that we do need to keep this case going, because, again, I'm trying to make that scheduling order be as realistic as possible. Okay? And I know that was already hard fought. So let's do what we can to stay within that.

I think all I can say is I understand the defendants are now aggressively moving towards wrapping up these discovery issues. I know that the plaintiffs' side would like to aggressively stick to the scheduling order. And I know that Lifespace would like to aggressively get past all this.

So all I can say is work together towards your ends. Okay?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Anything else?

MR. TAYLOR: The Rangers did win.

THE COURT: Excellent. Excellent. That was my former client, you know?

MR. TAYLOR: Is that right?

THE COURT: Yes. I actually confirmed the Ranger case, so --

MR. TAYLOR: Oh, that's cool.

THE COURT: So back when they were debtors. But I do take credit for them, at least, I mean, that one World Series run. Because that's basically what we did in the bankruptcy, so. Anyway, anyway.

MR. TAYLOR: Cool.

THE COURT: I am diverging. I think that's all that we have for today. Well, I thank you very much for your time today. I will see you on the 7th if not sooner, because I do think we have some other issues coming up in Edgemere. But it was good to see you guys.

And the Court will stand adjourned for the day.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor.

MR. TAYLOR: Thank you, Your Honor.

COURTROOM DEPUTY: Thank you, Your Honor.

(Proceedings commenced at 9:37 a.m.)

THE CLERK: All rise. The United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas Dallas Division is now in session; the Honorable Michelle Larson presiding.

THE COURT: Please be seated.

Good morning, everyone. We are here in our 9:30 docket. We have one matter on the docket this morning, and that's Case Number 22-3040. I'll take appearances for the record, and I'll start with those in the courtroom.

MR. TAYLOR: This is Greg Taylor and Drew Jones for the Trustee.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Good morning, Your Honor.

Elizabeth Vandesteeg, Eileen Sethna, and Ryan Hardy of Levenfeld Pearlstein, as well as Elizabeth Pittman of Jackson Walker on behalf of both adversary defendants, Inner City Investment Properties, Inc., and Kong Capital, LLC.

THE COURT: Good morning.

All right. On WebEx, I do have an electronic roll, and I'll start with that. On behalf of UMB Bank, I have Mr. Tom Zavala of the Haynes and Boone Law Firm. And on behalf of Lifespace Communities with the Cooley Law Firm, I have Samuel Rabuck and Christopher Andrews.

Are there any other appearances this morning?

MR. ANDREWS: That's right, Your Honor. This is Chris Andrews from Cooley. I would just also note that we represent the Point Group, Inc., and Eddie Fenoglio, as well. Thank you.

THE COURT: Thank you very much. I appreciate that. Speaker 4

MS. Good morning, Your Honor. This is Joanna Travalini from Sidley Austin. I am appearing here this morning on behalf of non-party FTI Consulting, Inc.

THE COURT: All right. Good morning, Ms. Travalini.

MS. TRAVALINI: Good morning.

THE COURT: All right. Mr. Coffman, I think you're still on mute.

MR. COFFMAN: I apologize, Your Honor.

This is Heath Coffman from Brackett & Ellis. I'm here on behalf of non-party Lane Gorman Trubitt.

THE COURT: All right. Good morning.

MR. COFFMAN: Good morning.

THE COURT: All right. I know we have a number of motions set for hearing this morning. Have the parties discussed the best order to take those up then?

MR. HARDY: Your Honor, Ryan Hardy for the defendants. We haven't. My suggestion would be, though, that we first take up the carryover matters from Tuesday because we have competing orders on that; second, the defendants' motions and, third, the plaintiff's motion would be my proposal.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARDY: But, obviously, we'll do it however Your Honor wants us to do it.

THE COURT: All right, thank you. Mr. Taylor?

MR. TAYLOR: We don't care.

THE COURT: You're out of your bunker.

(Laughter)

THE COURT: All right. Anyone else have any input on the order that we take up the matters?

(No audible response)

THE COURT: Okay. With that, what I'll do is we just printed the orders this morning.

Mr. Calkins, if you could grab those for me, I'd appreciate it.

(Pause)

THE COURT: Thank you.

Okay, so I now have both before me, both two forms of proposed order on the motion to clarify and the two supplemental orders with respect to the defendants' motion to compel production. I will be completely honest and I did not read these prior to the hearing this morning.

So, please, Mr. Hardy.

MR. HARDY: Thank you, Your Honor.

I think it probably makes sense to start with the proposed order on the motion for clarification.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARDY: And so we had circulated a draft early in the day, just we thought as a matter of convenience. The Cooley Law Firm circulated a competing order. We accepted some editorial nits, so what came to you from us included some of the Cooley revisions, but we did not accept some of the, we'll call them substantive provisions.

And I think probably the best way to address that is by addressing what it was that their order excludes that was included in our order. And, in particular, we had language in there regarding the scope of this stipulation about the combined Edgemere-Lifespace production. And what we had proposed was that that stipulation, that each document produced by Lifespace and plaintiff is owned by both Lifespace and plaintiff, discharges Lifespace's obligations under the prior order, right. That's the clarification part.

Provided that the stipulation may not be used as a sword and a shield, borrowing your language from Tuesday, and that absent exceptional cause, the Court will later entertain argument that a particular document is exclusively a Lifespace document or exclusively an Edgemere document but, instead, that all those documents can be used as documents of either or both companies for all purposes, including party admissions.

That provided language that we included in there to, we thought, address your direction that, you know, hey, this stipulation is not going to be subject to a whole bunch of caveats, was excised from the Cooley version.

A smaller but still important, I think, matter was addressing the amended and restated privilege logs that were promised during the Tuesday hearing and have been promised to us for a couple of weeks now. We proposed that those would be provided on or by November 10th, since there was a representation made that they were already drafted, with documents to follow November 14th. Those deadlines also are not included in Cooley's proposed order, and we consider that they should be.

THE COURT: All right. Thank you very much, Mr. Hardy.

Rabuck?

MR. RABUCK: Yes, Your Honor.

Sam Rabuck on behalf of Lifespace for the record.

We understood that the Court directed Lifespace to prepare a draft order granting the motion for clarification, and as Mr. Hardy noted, they sent us a draft of their own iteration of that order for us to review yesterday during the middle of the day.

And our position is that draft form of order included additional deadlines and requirements regarding a revised privilege log and production of documents that were not ordered by the Court at the hearing on Tuesday. We believe that our iteration of the form of order is more appropriately tailored to what the Court ruled on Tuesday, that the motion to clarify was granted on account of the stipulation that we offered by LifeSpace that for purposes of the adversary proceeding, all documents produced by LifeSpace and plaintiff to defendants are owned by both LifeSpace and the plaintiff.

We did not add any provided "howevers" or other conditions or provisos to that stipulation. And we think that the defendants' iteration actually does include those provided "howevers" and provisos that we were specifically instructed not to include and that we agreed were not a part of our stipulation. And so we believe that the stipulation should stand on its own as this Court had asked and as we agreed to without any conditions or "provided thats" that look at things that haven't been before the Court.

The issue was simply whether or not we were complying with the Court's June 23rd order by making a straight stipulation about the ownership of the documents and that's what our form of order does.

THE COURT: All right. And so with respect to the privilege log and any documents to be turned over, do you or do you not have alternative dates?

MR. RABUCK: Your Honor, we are prepared to produce the nine or ten documents that were deemed to be commercial rather than legal in nature from the in-camera review to defendants by tomorrow. And we are prepared to produce the Houlihan Lokey documents that were subject to the supplemental briefing by next Friday, the 17th.

But to be clear, we believe that that was separate and aside from the motion for clarification and the order on that. That would be something that would be handled either in the Houlihan Lokey briefing or in the instances of providing a supplemental privilege log and those discussions. Those were part of discussions that have been ongoing between the parties and that wasn't before the Court and that wasn't something that we understood the Court ruled on on Tuesday.

THE COURT: No, I did not rule on it. I asked you guys to talk about it. So apparently this is you guys talking about it.

All right. So, okay, so the in-camera you said by 11/10, the Houlihan by 11/17. And what about the documents -- we talked about the subset of 150 that became the hundred that were given over to the Court for in-camera review. Have everything that you culled out and determined either not to be privileged, I want to say there were 32 but don't quote me on that, Ms. Jeng.

And have those already been turned over?

MR. RABUCK: So our understanding is that was in process with the plaintiff, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. RABUCK: I'll defer to Mr. Hardy if they have or have not received them. If they have not, we will work quickly to get those turned over to them.

MR. HARDY: Yeah, Your Honor, we have not. And since we've moved over into the other order, you know, obviously, we proposed November 10th as well for --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARDY: -- the documents that were culled from the initial in-camera review, the ones we were just talking about, and the documents that the Court concluded following in-camera review were not privileged. But also, and this is where we differ from LifeSpace's proposed order, other than on editorial points, also November 10th for the Houlihan Lokey documents.

As Your Honor will recall, that's a pretty limited universe.

THE COURT: That's a separate order. Right.

MR. HARDY: Yeah, yeah. What we actually did, we submitted --we submitted one order on the in-camera documents and the Houlihan Lokey documents because --

THE COURT: Understood.

MR. HARDY: -- both of those issues tied back to the same motion to compel

THE COURT: Understood.

All right. So I have your comments on both of those and your arguments. I'll prepare that form of order. Any further argument with respect to what's entitled the supplemental order which I now understand will govern both the Houlihan documents and everything with respect to the motion to compel that I had taken the in-camera documents on? Any other argument with respect to those orders?

MR. HARDY: No, Your Honor, not with respect to those. I don't know if you're opening the field to the motion for clarification again.

THE COURT: No.

MR. HARDY: Okay.

THE COURT: No.

MR. HARDY: I won't comment on that, then.

THE COURT: I am sure that I have heard all I need to know on that.

MR. HARDY: I understand.

THE COURT: And I do appreciate it.

All right. So I will take each of your two forms of order and you will get one form of order from the Court that'll be the order. All right.

MR. RABUCK: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: You're very welcome.

Okay. Now we have -- so If you could give me by docket number what we're starting with I would appreciate it.

MR. HARDY: I sure will, Your Honor. I think as a housekeeping matter, I just want to confirm.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARDY: They had a motion to expedite --

THE COURT: Right.

MR. HARDY: -- on file with respect to the supplemental motion to compel FTI. The motion to expedite appeared at 388 on the docket.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARDY: And there is a notation that that was granted orally. So I believe that's off the docket.

THE COURT: Yes.

MR. HARDY: But I just wanted to confirm as a matter of housekeeping. Incidentally, I believe Mr. Taylor had a motion to expedite as well. I don't have the docket number on that, but that was also marked as orally granted.

THE COURT: Right. And as a matter of course, what is typical and at least in this Court is motion to expedite is filed, I require a conference to be indicated on the face of the document whether or not it is opposed or not. I typically always wait 24 hours to receive either formal or informal objections to that motion to expedite.

Informal means something is coming, in letting the Court know and, if so, I wait further time. And if not, I rule on them. And by oral order is really a gift to you that you guys don't have to draft one more order. I recognize the motion to expedite is already a cumbersome enough process.

So with that, it is typical just to see the minute entry indicating the expedition. So we do have the two expedited motions on tap for today, which are I think 375 and 386.

MR. HARDY: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right.

MR. HARDY: I appreciate the gift. And we can jump into the substance then.

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. HARDY: I said yesterday that I hoped we could be done by lunch and everybody laughed at me and I guess we're going to find out whether I was right.

THE COURT: The proof is in the pudding.

MR. HARDY: So we will kick off unless the Court prefers we proceed otherwise with the omnibus motion to compel which is at ECF 363.

THE COURT: Got it, ready.

MR. HARDY: So the omnibus motion to compel, Your Honor, sought relief against six third-party subpoena respondents. And I am pleased to report that with respect to the first one, Sidley Austin, we have reached a resolution. So the outstanding issue there was that various Sidley Austin documents had been withheld on grounds of privilege or protection.

What we learned during the meet-and-confer process, as you would expect, is that it wasn't Sidley Austin saying, hey, these are Sidley protected documents, they were saying no our client --

THE COURT: Right.

MR. HARDY: -- has a work-product or attorney-client privilege interest in these documents. But we, Sidley Austin, are not in fact handling that issue. That's Diamond McCarthy, go talk to Diamond McCarthy.

So the way that we worked things out with Sidley Austin was to confirm, and there's a stipulation on the docket to this effect, it's a 404 --

THE COURT: Right.

MR. HARDY: -- that Sidley has turned over all responsive Sidley documents to the Diamond McCarthy firm, whether privileged or non-privileged. And with that representation, we agreed to withdraw any relief as against Sidley because, of course, now the plaintiff has those documents, we can seek those documents from the plaintiff. And, in fact, we're going to address that when we get to the motion to compel against the plaintiffs.

THE COURT: All right.

MR. HARDY: So that's number one on the omnibus motion to compel. It's withdrawn.

THE COURT: Okay. And I do believe it makes sense to take these up as you said essentially it's almost it could be six motions. I don't want six motions. But on that one, your stipulation 404 if either Sidley or the defendants want that as an order, then you'll need to put that in a form of order that I can sign right now. The signature block is at the bottom here. The signature blocks go at the top.

MR. HARDY: Oh, it needs to go up to the top.

THE COURT: So to the extent you guys want that as a stipulated order, you'll need to submit it and just logistically change the format.

MR. HARDY: Okay. I'll confer with the Sidley team on that.

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. HARDY: As it happens, the Sidley lawyer who's on now --

THE COURT: Right.

MR. HARDY: -- is a different Sidley lawyer from the Sidley lawyers --

THE COURT: No worries.

MR. HARDY: -- handling the Sidley subpoena, so. Well, I will discuss that with them, though.

If it's okay with Your Honor, I'd like to address the second and third respondents, Clifton Waterson and Lane Gorman --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARDY: -- together because they are both --

THE COURT: Accountants.

MR. HARDY: -- accounting firms. And the issues with respect to those subpoenas are overlapping.

So what happened was we served subpoenas asking for accounting records, naturally, pertinent to the debtor. And the accounting firms responded very understandably, no, absolutely not. There is a federal law that says we cannot provide this to you unless we have taxpayer consent or there's a court order telling us that we can do so. Very understandable, wouldn't expect them to do anything different.

So we reached out to the plaintiff to see if we could get the consent and, you know, right or wrong, the plaintiff didn't consider that he actually had the authority to grant the consent. So we took a different approach, and we said is there any objection to the accounting firms producing these documents. Plaintiff said no, we went to the accounting firms. The accounting firm said, well, hey, we can't consent but we're not going to oppose.

And I do want to say for the benefit of Mr. Coffman and his client, they did not consent.

THE COURT: Right.

MR. HARDY: They're just not opposing. But in the absence of any objection to the production of these documents, which I'll note by the way, we did narrow the request to the files pertaining to Edgemere, okay.

THE COURT: Right.

MR. HARDY: In the absence of any objection, I'd ask that the Court order those productions. We did, however, get I don't know if it's a limited objection or a reservation of rights from Lifespace saying essentially, if I understand it correctly, it's okay for you to turn over those documents accounting firms, even though they're not ours, but we get to see them first so that we can assess whether our information is contained in them.

I don't have any objection to Lifespace receiving the documents at the same time. That's fine. But I don't perceive that it's appropriate for them to have a preview of those documents or veto power over whether we get those documents for a couple of reasons. One is we don't have the time for that. Two is parsing out what's going to be Lifespace versus Edgemere information in this context is going to be an absolute nightmare. And it's going to invite more litigation just as we saw with this combined production.

Third, we've limited the request to just the files on Edgemere. So to the extent that there is any Lifespace information in those files, it's going to be there because it was important to the Edgemere's accounting. And Edgemere's accounting is what we need. There is an allegation in this case that we caused Edgemere's bankruptcy, the defendants caused Edgemere's bankruptcy, that the defendants caused astronomical damages.

And, naturally, we need to know the financial condition of the debtor during the pre-petition period to be able to suss out, one, whether the causation accusation is true, never mind, whether we actually did anything wrong. But also, number two, if it is, the extent of damages. So it may well be, I don't know, that there's Lifespace information in the Edgemere accounting files. But if it's there, it's because it needs to be there and we need to be able to see it.

And at any rate, these are Edgemere files. Lifespace doesn't get a veto over it. They're not the same company. So, again, I don't have any objection to Lifespace getting the documents at the same time. That's fine. But we should get them simultaneously.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much, Mr. Hardy.

Mr. Rabuck or Mr. Andrews.

MR. ANDREWS: Thank you, Your Honor. We object to the defendants receiving the documents at the same time because they've already limited their requests to just Edgemere files and so they, you know, have not asserted any entitlement to Lifespace information. To the extent that they're saying there would be some time delay in reviewing these documents, we object to that and would review the documents quickly and --

THE COURT: What's quickly?

MR. ANDREWS: -- expeditiously in order to get them

-- well, we don't know the volume or the amount yet, but we would do it in such a time to ensure that there's no delay and making sure that any production gets to defendants immediately.

The only issue here for Lifespace is Lifespace obviously understands best what information it has that's specific to it and not Edgemere. And so in order to make sure that there is no Lifespace information in this production, Lifespace would like to take a review to ensure that it has the right to object because once, you know, sort of the documents get out, it's prejudicial to then have to retract them to say this information that happened to be in Edgemere's working file was actually not just limited to Edgemere, it actually was Lifespace information. So that's why Lifespace seeks to reserve the right --

THE COURT: Well, I guess where I'm confused, Mr. Andrews, is because you started out by saying you can't tell me how much time you need because you don't know what's in the documents and then you ended with Lifespace is in the best position to know what's in the documents. So which is it?

MR. ANDREWS: Your Honor, I would clarify my last statement is that to the extent that Lifespace is in the best position to view a document and understand whether it contains Lifespace information. That's what I meant by understanding whether Lifespace information is not -- is in the documents. It's not something that we know now but looking at a document, we're best in position to understand whether it contains Lifespace information.

THE COURT: Did either of these accounting firms prepare consolidated returns?

MR. ANDREWS: I don't have that information handy, Your Honor, but we could certainly provide it to you. And I'm not sure if Lane or any of the accounting firms, you know, on the line now know that offhand.

MR. HARDY: Your Honor, may I speak briefly?

THE COURT: Before I come back to you --

MR. HARDY: Okay.

THE COURT: -- I'm going to hear from Mr. Coffman.

Mr. Coffman, any position on this narrow dispute with -- or any clarification you can give the Court as to at least on the Lane Gorman side what types of accounting information Lane Gorman holds?

MR. COFFMAN: Thank you, Your Honor.

We're not taking any positions here. We're just attending to see what the Court directs us to do, and we'll follow that. As far as your question about can we provide any clarification, it's my understanding that there's tax return and audit information, but it's not related to Lifespace. But that's not a question I've specifically asked my client to say, hey, is there anything in the work papers that would? overlap between the two entities. So I can't tell you definitively how that breaks out.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much.

Mr. Hardy?

MR. HARDY: Your Honor, I should have mentioned this earlier, I suppose. I mean, obviously, we served these subpoenas nearly a year ago, maybe more than a year ago now, now that I think about it. Naturally since they sought documents, we posted -- we filed notices of the subpoenas. Lifespace has had a year, a year to advance any objections that they might have to this production, and they haven't. The ship has sailed. And you're not hearing that there actually is any information or really even that they have reason to believe that there is Lifespace information in these files as narrowed.

Again, I don't mind a simultaneous production. But I don't think we should be required to wait on Lifespace to review these documents. And they could have launched this objection a long time ago, undertaken a review of the files to the extent that they have any right to view the files of Edgemere, and worked this through particularly given, you know, we have a -- you're going to hear me say this a lot, we have a January close of fact discovery in this case. We can't just keep waiting and waiting and waiting.

Oh, and interestingly, I'm informed that the Lifespace obligating group under the bonds has their own accounting records and audited financials separate on EMMA, which is like the municipal bond public information repository. So, there we go. They have their own accounting records and audited financials.

THE COURT: All right. Well, from the Court's perspective, I'm at a little bit of a handicap in that I don't know for certain what these accounting firms hold. And I'm reticent to issue an order that would require the turnover of tax records if they could potentially belong to another entity.

But with that, these subpoenas have been out there a very long time. I've got a response from at least one of the third parties in Lane-Gorman.

I'm going to order that the accounting records be turned over to LifeSpace and to the defendant simultaneously. And if there is any issue with any of the accounting information being what I would consider to be consolidated information, right, obviously, LifeSpace runs this community or ran this community as well as many others, if there's any of that information, then the Court's not ordering that to be produced.

So I think that what I'm going to ask for is that the order that comes to me granting this portion of the motion to compel be very specific, that these accounting firms are to turn over the Edgemere accounting records. If there is a question, then I'll wait for LifeSpace to make that objection.

MR. HARDY: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Because I'm not ordering LifeSpace's information turned over and without their ability to review it. Now, granted, I don't have any evidence. I don't have any witnesses, which is becoming a very disturbing pattern. But I have to assume, for purposes of what's before me, that the client of Lane Gorman, that the client of Clifton is the Edgemere entity, is Northwest Senior Housing Corporation, and that is the file that I am ordering turned over.

Again, I don't know if these firms do any kind of consolidated reporting because, of course, I don't believe that absent a better showing that what the accounting records of the other communities that LifeSpace were to run should be turned over in any way. And I don't think you're asking for that, and I recognize that.

MR. HARDY: No.

THE COURT: So I'm not trying to put a kink in the process, but I'm just dealing with the lack of evidence before the Court. So with that, again, I will order them turned over simultaneously.

There are protective orders in place. LifeSpace, I agree with you, had a considerable amount of time to figure out if any of their information was there and what they could have done. So if there's anything further to be done, I'll expect it will be done in accordance with the protective order in place.

MR. HARDY: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARDY: We appreciate that. And I'm not an accountant, but I will try my very best to write a proposed order that makes sense with these guardrails. Thank you very much. So --

THE COURT: There was a point in my life when I was a CPA. I think I can help.

MR. HARDY: Oh, okay. That's great.

All right, so that takes care then --

MR. COFFMAN: Your Honor?

THE COURT: Oh, wait, Mr. Coffman.

MR. COFFMAN: I was just going to interject. That's the only issue that involves my clients. May I be excused from the hearing?

THE COURT: Yes. And I'll also ask that any proposed form of order be passed by both you and Mr. Andrews' team prior to uploading.

MR. HARDY: Absolutely, Your Honor. Of course.

THE COURT: Thank you.

MR. COFFMAN: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Thank you. Have a great day.

MR. COFFMAN: You, too.

THE COURT: I appreciate it.

MR. HARDY: So, Your Honor, we're halfway through the omnibus. That's three of six right there.

If it's okay, I'd like to go out of order then and go to the back of the omnibus motion --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARDY: -- to Eddie Fenoglio --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARDY: -- who was a former officer --

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. HARDY: -- of the company, because I think this is a pretty simple one. We're given to understand from Mr. Walker and his colleagues that Mr. Fenoglio has a very small smattering of documents --

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. HARDY: -- in his possession and control.

THE COURT: Who is Mr. Fenoglio?

MR. HARDY: He's one of the former officers of the company. I think he was the COO.

THE COURT: Of Edgemere?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you for letting me step in, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Sure.

MS. VANDESTEEG: For the record, Elizabeth Vandesteeg. Mr. Fenoglio is one of the several individuals that we have identified who are in that very special role of being directors and officers of both Lifespace and Edgemere at all relevant times.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: It is our understanding that Mr. Fenoglio was previously the chief operating officer of Lifespace Communities, Inc. During that same period of time, he was also officer and director for Edgemere.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: It is our understanding that Mr. Fenoglio left that role at Lifespace sometime in approximately June of 2022 --

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- which is why he required a separate individual subpoena. We have also sought specific production of documents in his role as a custodian within the combined Lifespace-Edgemere production. However, those are in limited form. We have also then filed the specific subpoena against Mr. Fenoglio in his individual capacity, since we understand that he is no longer employed by either of those entities.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you.

THE COURT: Thank you.

All right. Anything further, Mr. Hardy?

MR. HARDY: Thank you, Your Honor. She said it a lot faster than I could have, so that was great.

So, again, there's this small subset of documents. I'm informed it's somewhere between 10 and 20.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARDY: And we've been told since September that these would be coming and that they would be coming, but they keep not arriving.

THE COURT: September of 2023, because we are now at the point where we have to establish the years.

MR. HARDY: Yes, yes.

THE COURT: All right.

MR. HARDY: So the subpoena issued back in 2022, but then there was the stay.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARDY: And so, but yeah.

THE COURT: All right.

MR. HARDY: I'm talking now about September of 2023.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARDY: So they just haven't arrived. And so what we're asking for at this point is an order so that we can fix a deadline for their arrival, because we've been hearing now for, you know, a couple of months that we're going to get them and we keep not getting them.

So what I'd ask for is a week, because that's what I'm going to be asking for on all of these, and we think that's appropriate given the small production and the amount of time that's already been allotted.

THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

Mr. Andrews, Mr. Rabuck?

MR. ANDREWS: Your Honor, there's no dispute that we are working with Eddie to identify exactly what he has. I know Ryan mentioned a small universe of documents. We're still confirming with Mr. Fenoglio that there's anything to be produced. And, again, because this is an individual subpoena, he's going through his individual documents to assess what he has.

So we agree that we will produce whatever documents he has in short order but feel that it's not necessary for the Court's attention or any prophylactic order to compel Mr. Fenoglio to produce documents by a certain date. And we're happy to, you know, again, meet and confer with the defendants and set a deadline but don't think it's necessary at this point to set a court-ordered deadline for Mr. Fenoglio to produce these documents, which he already -- to the extent any exist, he's already agreed to produce.

MR. HARDY: Your Honor, I mean, we've been hearing about this limited universe --

THE COURT: I think I've got it, Mr. Hardy.

MR. HARDY: I'll stop. Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Thank you very much.

All right. I'll order that Mr. Fenoglio produce the documents -- just one moment, let me get a calendar in front of me -- by the 17th.

MR. HARDY: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Oh, no, no. Excuse me. Wait, wait, wait. I have to figure out what week we're in. I apologize. I intended to give -- produce them by the 22nd.

MR. HARDY: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: I'll be clear, I thought it was November 2nd when I was writing this.

MR. HARDY: With the way this year's been going, that's a very understandable mistake.

THE COURT: You're probably a little new to me, Mr. Hardy, unless you've been listening on the line and you recognize that dates and directions befuddle me.

So, by the 22nd, please. Thank you.

MR. HARDY: We're on the same page there, Your Honor.

All right, so that takes us through four of the six.

The fourth and fifth respondents, Your Honor, in the omnibus motion to compel are the Ground Floor Media and Ground Floor Media. And what I'm going to do is discuss the Point Group first because they were the ones probably who are a bit more significant, and then a lot of what I say with respect to the Point Group is going to apply with equal force to Ground Floor Media.

THE COURT: Okay. Before you go too far --

MR. HARDY: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: -- Mr. Hardy, do we have any evidence today with respect to the Point Group and Ground Floor Media? Because it will paint how I take opening versus evidence.

So, I'll ask, obviously, Mr. Andrews and Mr. Rabuck, do you have any evidence today?

MR. ANDREWS: Your Honor, we submitted an affidavit from the CEO -- from the president and COO of the Point Group. It's Exhibit 9 to our witness and exhibit list. And it goes through the issues which I expect Mr. Hardy to discuss, which are, one, production of -- defendants' requests for production of additional documents from SharePoint and Microsoft Teams and then, second, materials withheld from the Point Group production based on attorney-client privilege and work product.

THE COURT: Okay. With that then, Mr. Hardy, I'll allow, since we don't have any witnesses per se other than the declaration, which we will get to in Mr. Andrews' case, I'll let you give probably what I consider the more fulsome argument. So, go ahead.

MR. HARDY: Thank you, Your Honor.

MR. ANDREWS: Your Honor, one more point. Excuse me. I would just add, in addition to the declaration, there also are two engagement letters that we also submitted with our witness and exhibit list. One of those covers the Point Group, and the second covers Ground Floor Media. So, with those three documents, that rounds out what we intend to present to the court.

MR. HARDY: Your Honor, it's not entirely clear to me if these are being offered right now because, if they are, I'm going to have to object.

THE COURT: No, I'll let Mr. Andrews -- well, I mean, if Mr. Andrews wants to do any offers, we can. If not, I would do them in his case.

MR. HARDY: Okay. Very good. I'm likely to touch on the substance, but I am going to object to the admission of the declaration, because the witness isn't here to be cross-examined.

THE COURT: I had a sneaky feeling.

MR. HARDY: Yeah, and neither of the engagement letters have been authenticated, among other issues. But, anyway, we can set that to one side. We can talk about the substance. So --

THE COURT: All right.

MR. HARDY: -- with respect to the Point Group, there were two chief issues with their production, and Counsel has previewed them for you. The first was the Point Group's decision to withhold documents on attorney-client privilege and work-product grounds. Again, it wasn't the Point Group saying, these are our privileged documents but, rather, these are documents that our client, Lifespace, may claim a privilege or may claim protection over.

The second issue was the Point Group's failure to collect and produce documents, as noted, for Microsoft SharePoint and Microsoft Teams. And just by way of background there, because I don't know what software the Court uses, but Microsoft SharePoint is like a document storage system that allows for collaboration in working on files, and Microsoft Teams --

THE COURT: I'm aware.

MR. HARDY: Okay, great.

THE COURT: Thank you.

MR. HARDY: So, turning first then to privilege and protection, you're about to hear a lot of things that you've heard before, because this same issue came up with respect to the defendants' media relations consultant, the Monument Group. And the Court, with respect to the Monument Group, held that those documents were not privileged, were not protected, and the same result is going to obtain here.

The Point Group, or at any rate, the person advancing privilege, the person claiming privilege, of course, has the burden to show through evidence that the privilege attaches and it hasn't been waived; likewise with work product. And that showing has not been made here, cannot be made here.

The opposition brief relies chiefly on the same cases discussed with respect to the briefing on the Monument Group.

We take that as a compliment. We cited all the right cases for that position. But what's largely, though not entirely ignored, is this Court's order at ECF 309, disposing of those issues. And what I'd like to do is take a spin through that order and its specific provisions and then tie it back to the substance of what the Point Group would propose to show.

THE COURT: I'm ready.

MR. HARDY: So 309, "The question is not whether the defendants worked hand in hand with Levenfeld in developing litigation-related communications. The question is whether Levenfeld needed Monument in order to render legal advice."

Next, relying on the Copper case, did Monument as agents of defendants possess "information needed by the corporation's attorneys to render informed legal advice to the clients." That is, is there evidence that Monument had access to information not available to the defendants' attorneys that was necessary to the attorney's ability to render informed legal advice to the defendants?

Next, whether Monument "was retained to ensure the company's public statements would not result in further exposure to litigation from the scandal." Whether the firm's assignment was distinguishable from, on the one hand, standard public relations work, and that its target audience was not the public at large, but rather focused on, for instance, to the case that the Court was analogizing to at the time, the message that reached prosecutors and regulators with respect to a criminal case so that the firm client could obtain a fair trial.

The core of the Court's holding, Your Honor, is that at any rate, the question is whether the communication be made in confidence for the purpose of obtaining legal advice. And on that score, the Court analogized to the Calvin Klein trademark case where it was held, it may be that the modern client comes to court as prepared to massage the media, as to persuade the judge, but nothing in the client's communications for the former purpose constitutes the obtaining of legal advice or justifies a privileged status.

So let's apply those lessons here. What's the justification for privilege here? There isn't one. So to start with, Your Honor has already reviewed some of the communications between Lifespace and Edgemere on the one hand and the Point Group on the other as part of its in-camera review. And we discussed on Tuesday and -- as we discussed on Tuesday, and we concluded that the communications weren't privileged because they were not in aid of the rendition of professional legal services. They were pure PR communications. And we have every reason to believe that the same is true of the withheld communications writ large.

And TPG's, the Point Group's submissions haven't suggested otherwise. We have an unauthenticated April 11th, 2022 engagement letter and a declaration. With respect to the engagement letter, it postdates all but six of the logged documents, so it couldn't shed meaningful light on the application of privilege or work product to the vast majority of the documents anyway. And at any rate, neither the declaration nor the engagement letter states that the engagement was to facilitate the rendition of legal services.

The declaration states that the Point Group was to manage crisis communications relating to Edgemere and, in particular, communications regarding Edgemere's then forthcoming bankruptcy. The declarant states also that she understood it was anticipated that Edgemere would file for bankruptcy and that Lifespace would be making public statements regarding Edgemere's bankruptcy filing, unquote.

You have heard also that the Point Group worked "at the direction of Lifespace counsel to manage communications regarding Edgemere's bankruptcy filing and restructuring." Whatever facial appeal that that may have, it doesn't stand up to the test that this Court enunciated in its prior order. Nowhere in that declaration does the declarant advance that Cooley needed the Point Group services to render legal services. Nowhere in that declaration does it say that the Point Group was in possession of information that Cooley couldn't obtain on its own necessary to provide legal services.

The declaration doesn't say that the declarant was targeting a specific audience rather than the public at large. And, in fact, the scope of work annexed to the engagement letter identifies the target audiences, and it includes the public at large. And, finally, the declaration doesn't say that the Point Group was engaged to ensure that LifeSpace's public statements wouldn't result in liability. Yes, of course they're going to make public statements, but it doesn't say that the Point Group's engagement was to ensure an absence of liability. That's something that Cooley most surely was capable of assessing itself.

You gave a clear direction in your Monument Group order as to what's required to establish privilege in this context. And neither the Point Group nor anybody else has supplied that information here. There was no privilege.

And I want to pause very briefly here on work product as well, because that has also been advanced. That doesn't apply here, Your Honor. Work product is governed by Civil Rule 26(b)(3), and Rule 26(b)(3) limits the protection of the work product doctrine to parties. Here's Wright and Miller, Section 2024 on this very issue. Documents prepared for one who is not a party to the present suit are wholly unprotected by Rule 26(b)(3), even though the person may be party to a closely related lawsuit in which he will be disadvantaged if he must disclose the present suit. Citations to that at Footnote 49 of the cited provision.

So work product doesn't apply here either, never mind questionable whether this would even be work product at any rate. Further, even if the communications were at one point privileged or at one point work product protected, that's been waived now. And you haven't heard anything to explain, you won't hear anything to explain why it is that that waiver hasn't occurred. And we have four points, four points where that waiver could have occurred.

The first is due to late compliance with the subpoena. As Your Honor knows, Rule 45 mandates responses and objections within the time to comply. Subpoena required compliance November 15th. No objections until November 23rd.

Second, Rule 45 says if you're going to claim privilege or you're going to claim work product, you need to claim that -- make that claim expressly, and you need to support the claim. Well, number two, we didn't get a privilege log until October 6th of 2023, Your Honor, nearly a year after compliance was due.

Number three, when we got that privilege log, it was deficient. It did not explain, for instance, who was claiming privilege. It did not explain, for instance, why the third-party disclosures appearing on the face of the log, including to FTI or Sidley, neither of which was or was claimed to be a representative of Lifespace, why those third-party disclosures didn't serve to waive the privilege.

And then fourth, as we discussed on Tuesday, and we're going to discuss again later today, Lifespace post-petition handed over all of its documents to Edgemere for that combined production. Now, at that point, you have two companies related by separate counsel. One is a creditor of the other to the tune of some $5 million. According to Nick Harshfield's first day declaration, they were already engaged in arm's-length negotiations.

Your Honor, Lifespace turned over all of its purportedly privileged documents to its adversary. That is as clear a waiver as one could conceivably run across. So we have a situation where these were not privileged, were not protected. To the extent they ever were, those were waived. And you're not going to hear any evidence to support otherwise. None.

So that's issue one. I told you there was two issues, right? Privilege and protection. We're done with that.

The other one was a more pedestrian objection, right, and that's undue burden and lack of proportionality. Okay. And, you know, same burden applies, right? If you're going to claim undue burden, disproportionality, you have to prove that through evidence. It has to be a specific claim. But also, before we even get into that, there's a waiver issue, because like with privilege, those objections have to be advanced when?

By the time of subpoena compliance.

And as noted, we didn't get objections until after the time compliance was due. But, leaving that to one side, the declaration does not support that compliance with the subpoena would be unduly burdensome or disproportionate. The declarant advances -- well let's back up. The declaration explains that what the Point Group did to comply with the subpoena was to pull responsive documents from its email systems. Not from SharePoint, not from any other file sources that they may have had, not from Teams, but from its email system. Okay.

The declarant advances that email correspondence is the Point Group's primary source of relevant information. She never says it's the only source. The declarant doesn't explain how much information is missing or advance that it's immaterial or unimportant information or even she's actually undertaken to find out how much information or what kind of information or how important the information is. There's nothing in the declaration about it.

So at Paragraph 9, the declarant avers the Point Group's SharePoint is unlikely to contain much unique information regarding the Point Group's engagement relating to Lifespace. So we can tell from that statement that there's some unique information, we don't know how much, it might be a lot of unique information. But we don't know because she doesn't tell us.

Likewise, with the Teams messages, that's at Paragraph 10 of the declaration, she says, oh the Teams messages would be this -- not that they would be the same as what was already produced but, rather, that their substance would likely be cumulative or duplicative. Did she check? She doesn't say. Instead, she advances an unsupported and unquantified claim that producing those documents from SharePoint and from Teams would demand substantial time and resources -- how much, we don't know -- from the Point Group's single information technology employee who we note did not provide a declaration.

How much time and resources? And how are we to compare that time and resource against the potential value of what would be produced when the declarant hasn't said how much is out there or what it is? We can't. The Point Group has given the court nothing, nothing to weigh this as is going to be required in an undue-burden analysis or a disproportionality analysis.

So, Your Honor, these documents aren't privileged. They're not protected. To the extent they ever were, the privilege and the protection were waived. The production is not unduly burdensome. It is not disproportionate. There will be no evidence to the contrary. And even if there was, those objections also were waived.

We are asking that the Point Group's responsive documents be produced in full.

THE COURT: Thank you very much, Mr. Hardy.

MR. HARDY: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Mr. Andrews, Mr. Rabuck?

MR. ANDREWS: Thank you, Your Honor.

I'll start by giving some background about the Point Group. The Point Group is obviously a third party to this action. It provides public relations strategies, including crisis management, and it's a very small company. They have seven professionals and additional support staff, including just a single information technology professional.

We discussed earlier the engagement letter from the Point Group. The Point Group was hired by Lifespace, then general counsel. And the engagement started on March 28, 2022. The defendants issued a subpoena on the Point Group and, in that subpoena, they requested a broad set of documents, anything about the engagement with Lifespace, Edgemere's financial condition, the restructuring and bankruptcy.

And to clarify one point that Mr. Hardy has asserted, he said that the Point Group waived its responses and objections by serving them late. That is factually incorrect, Your Honor. On November 15, Mr. Walker emailed Michael Heald and requested an extension for responding to the subpoena. Then Ms. Jamie Burns responded, asking how much additional time the Point Group needed to respond. And then we spoke to Ms. Burns from Mr. Hardy's firm and agreed upon a later date. That's why the responses and objections were served on November 23. So what Mr. Hardy just told you is factually incorrect. And I'm happy to send you the underlying documents to show you that.

So with the waiver issue out of the way, the Point Group responded under Rule 45 by identifying with the available resources that, you know, the Point Group has, the source is most likely to contain responsive information. And the Hurtado Declaration demonstrates that, that electronic communications that the Point Group has in its possession, custody, and control related to the subpoena are most likely going to be in the emails.

The Point Group produced over 700 documents, comprising over 1,100 pages. And now defendants also seek for the Point Group to identify potentially responsive documents from both SharePoint and Teams. And Your Honor, that -- Your Honor should deny that request for either of two reasons. One, under Rule 45, it's burdensome to conduct this additional review.

As Ms. Hurtado Declaration bears out, there's a single information technology employee there. He's already spent time identifying over 700 emails and collecting additional materials from SharePoint and Teams. To the extent it's even possible for him to do so would be really burdensome. So it's likely that the Point Group would have to identify a third-party vendor to assist with this, which, you know, given the Point Group's resources, would really be burdensome.

In addition to all that, under Rule 26, it's not proportional to the needs of the case. The burden or expense on the Point Group of getting these additional documents really outweighs any benefit to the case, and it would be unreasonably cumulative and duplicative of what the Point Group's already produced.

As Your Honor knows, people use SharePoint to review and edit documents. Ms. Hurtado has said at Paragraph 9 of her declaration that any documents on SharePoint were likely to have been exchanged either internally or externally through email. These are documents that already would have been produced with Teams. There's a chat function there, but the Point Group primarily communicated -- well, it's electronic communications primarily occurred over email rather than using this chat service. So the substance of any communications that may be on Teams would already be cumulative or duplicative of what the Point Group has produced.

And so when you take that significant burden, whether you have one employee at the Point Group to the extent he could even do this, and that the Point Group has already produced emails reflecting the source of communications, defendants -- the burden and expense outweighs any benefit. And defendants don't identify any need for these documents. And so it doesn't comply with Rule 45 or Rule 26 to ask the Point Group, the third party to this case, to spend even more time and resources from other projects to find every single potentially responsive document to defend and subpoena.

They've taken no steps to reduce the burden and expense on the Point Group. I'll stop there with respect to the request for Teams and SharePoint, unless Your Honor has any questions, and turn to attorney-client privilege and work product.

THE COURT: I don't --

MR. ANDREWS: So to provide some general background --

THE COURT: Just one moment, Mr. Andrews. I guess the question is, you know, obviously I think it originates from an opinion that Judge Horan at the district court issued. Typically what we are looking for in connection with an objection that a production is unduly burdensome is an affidavit establishing what the cost would be to the third party and again, and why that cost is unduly burdensome.

Do I have anything like that?

MR. ANDREWS: Your Honor, Paragraph 11 of the declaration, Ms. Hurtado declares that they would need to retain a third-party vendor to collect, process, and host these materials. And, you know, third-party vendors would charge for that. And for a small company like the Point Group, you know, we expect that those charges would be significant given, you know, what they've all, the resources they've already expended in producing over 700 documents in response to the subpoena.

THE COURT: All right. So let's let's go on to your privilege argument.

MR. ANDREWS: So to provide a high-level background here, as I noted the Point Group was hired by Lifespace counsel for an engagement to start on March 28. The Ground Floor Media is a public relations firm based in Denver and was also hired by Lifespace counsel on March 1st. And as a general matter, Lifespace objects to the production of attorney-client privilege or work-product materials in the Ground Floor Media and Point Group production.

Your Honor, as I've noted here, the Point Group has not withheld every single document in its production, its produced documents. Ground Floor Media has likewise produced documents. As to the volume of documents withheld, of the Point Group's production, there are about 14 documents completely withheld from the production. About 110, a little bit more than that, have privilege-based redactions. For Ground Floor Media, there's about 36 documents withheld and another 8 contain privilege-based redactions.

So in total, to give Your Honor a sense of the volume, there's about 170 documents we're talking about here. And these documents are protected by the attorney-client privilege, the work product, or both. As Your Honor knows, the United States v. Kovel case outlines that for attorney-client privilege, communications are protected when they're made by a third-party professional in confidence for the purpose of the client obtaining legal advice from the lawyer.

And here, LifeSpace counsel needed to advise LifeSpace about its public statements relating to Edgemere's restructuring and bankruptcy. And then to provide legal advice about what LifeSpace could say, LifeSpace counsel needed the help of crisis communications experts. So it hired the Point Group on March 28th as the declaration and engagement letter show. LifeSpace counsel hired Ground Floor Media on March 1st, 2022.

And the timing shows that this was happening just weeks before Edgemere filed for bankruptcy. So this is not months before like it was in the Monument case. This is literally weeks before Edgemere filed for bankruptcy. And as demonstrated at Paragraph 6 and 7 of the Hurtado Declaration, from that point on, the Point Group acted at the direction of counsel and intended for communications to remain confidential.

So I'd like to touch now on why the factual circumstances here are distinguishable from those in Monument with respect to the Court's order relating to Monument. This court held that Monument assisted defendants with going on the offensive and really supporting the defendants' reputational goal. Of course, here, LifeSpace is the sole member of an entity that's filing for bankruptcy. So it's managing a crisis here related to this restructure.

These statements were also not, you know, to the public at large to really just improve the view of LifeSpace for it to appear like a white knight, as this Court held was the defendants' goal. Rather, LifeSpace as the sole member of Edgemere, its public statements were going to impact the restructuring and bankruptcy filing. And the goal was to make statements in order to have a fair and just result in those proceedings.

And there are two other differences here that are important. One, in the Monument circumstance, there was no declaration like we have here from Brenda Hurtado, the president and COO of the Point Group, explaining the nature of the relationship, why the Point Group was higher. And then, fourth, the Court actually took the documents withheld in in-camera review and determined that those documents did not reflect attorney-client privilege or work-product protection. So we, you know, invite the Court to do the same here should it need to take an extra step and not just reject defendants' request out of hand.

Turning to the work-product Product doctrine, Your Honor, this is broader than the attorney-client privilege. And documents are protected if the primary motivating purpose of the document is to aid in possible future litigation. And the factors courts consider here all point towards work-product protection. As the Hurtado Declaration shows, the Point Group was retained by counsel.

Lifespace counsel, you know, obviously had the same approach with Ground Floor Media given the timing and the parallel nature of the relationship. And it was happening in anticipation of litigation related to Edgemere's restructuring and bankruptcy. In light of that work product protection, defendants haven't identified any need, let alone a compelling one.

And so I'd like to address a couple of points that defendants note with respect to alleged waiver of the work product. I've already touched on the first one that, you know, it's factually incorrect that the late compliance with the subpoena. Two, the Court is happy to take in-camera review of the documents. Third, the defendants have not requested an amended privilege log further clarifying any assertion of privilege. They just requested all of the -- they moved before you for this omnibus motion to compel to get all the underlying documents asserting that this situation is no different from Monument.

So it seems that their main goal is to get these underlying documents, not to get an amended privilege log with more clarity about the assertions of privilege. And then they've made an assertion that there's been a waiver of privilege related to handing over any privileged documents. My understanding is that Tuesday's hearing was demonstrating that all the documents between Lifespace and Edgemere's production were one and the same. And I think that principle is relevant here, as well.

And so, finally, with respect to work product, defendants haven't asserted any need at all to overcome this work-product protection. So with that, Your Honor, I would say that these documents are protected by the attorney client privilege and/or work product. And unless Your Honor has any questions, I'll stop there.

THE COURT: All right. Thank you, Mr. Andrews.

Mr. Hardy.

MR. HARDY: May I briefly? Thank you, Your Honor, Ryan Hardy for the defendants.

I want to talk first about the waiver issue because the last thing I want is for an inaccurate statement to go uncorrected.

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. HARDY: So while we were here, Ms. Vandesteeg checked on the correspondence and, as represented to you by Mr. Andrews, indeed, Ms. Burns of our firm agreed to a production early next week on November 17th and the responses are dated November 23rd. So it was close, but --

THE COURT: Certainly.

MR. HARDY: -- I was inaccurate on that, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARDY: And I apologize for it.

More substantively, Your Honor, we heard a lot about what the evidence would show to demonstrate that this was different from the Monument Group. I didn't hear anybody move to introduce any evidence, so I haven't yet objected to that introduction. As matters now stand, the record is still empty of evidence, just argument of counsel.

The only other point that I wanted to touch on, because I think the question of non-party status and work product is dispositive. That is a bright-line rule that is applicable here. Non-parties cannot invoke that protection. But as Mr. Andrews explained, assuming that it could apply in the first instance, it applies only to documents created to aid in possible future litigation. Leave aside for a moment that there's no evidence here, but what has been otherwise proffered doesn't show that anything generated by the Point Group was to be used in litigation.

And there's really no obvious answer as to why it would have been. Surely, a public relations firm is not going to be drafting things to be filed in a bankruptcy court. That is a completely implausible proposition. So, Your Honor, work product couldn't possibly apply. It doesn't apply.

And then with respect to waiver, the post-petition waiver, Mr. Andrews is right. We had a stipulation that is, you know, I think doing a lot of work as a legal fiction that, you know, all these documents belong to both of these entities, and that's fine. But that doesn't change the fact that the disclosure, what created the problem that led to that stipulation was a disclosure by Lifespace post-petition to Polsinelli, right, to Edgemere. That's what did it.

And at that point, I mean, we could talk about common interest, we could talk about related companies, but all of that depends -- that's all waiver doctrine, but all of that depends on a community or a unity of interest. That's the central question. And we have a situation here where Lifespace just handed everything over to its adversary, right. These were not related companies anymore. It was a creditor and a debtor-in-possession.

So Your Honor, that's all I have to say on that. I would ask that -- Mr. Andrews is right, I'm not asking for an updated privilege log, I'm asking for the documents. And that is what I'd ask the Court to order.

THE COURT: Thank you very much, Mr. Hardy.

Any final words, Mr. Andrews?

MR. ANDREWS: Yes, Your Honor. I mean, to the extent that Mr. Hardy is representing that, there is no evidence in the record, we would like to introduce the Ground Floor Media engagement letter, the Point Group engagement letter, as well as the declaration.

THE COURT: All right. I believe he's moving for admission of Lifespace, excuse me, the Point Group's Exhibits 6, 7, and 9.

MR. HARDY: Thank you, Your Honor. We object. We object to the admission of the declaration because the witness is not present for cross-examination. We object to the engagement letters because they have not been authenticated. Even if, by the way, the declaration were to be admitted, it doesn't authenticate the Point Group declaration. And we would object also to the engagement letters on the grounds that they are hearsay and that they are statements not made in this court being introduced, as far as we can tell, for proving the truth of the matter asserted.

THE COURT: Mr. Andrews?

MR. ANDREWS: Your Honor, both Exhibits 1 -- and to be clear, these are Exhibits 1 and 2 of the record, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Yes, and thank you for correcting me, Mr. Andrews. Ms. Jeng was already in the process, I think, or maybe Mr. Calkins, of correcting me as well for the record.

So I do want to be clear. I think Mr. Hardy spoke to the documents themselves, but it is Exhibit 2 that is the engagement letter between the Point Group and Lifespace. It is exhibit nine that is the declaration of Ms. Brenda Hurtado, which, again, Mr Hardy spoke to. And then, finally, is Exhibit 1 the final exhibit, Mr. Andrews, the statement of work and (indiscernible)?

MR. ANDREWS: Yes.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. ANDREWS: It's Exhibits 1, 2, and 9.

THE COURT: Okay, thank you.

MR. ANDREWS: Point Group's --

THE COURT: So, if you could speak to those. And I appreciate the correction. Thank you.

MR. ANDREWS: Your Honor, we would say that Exhibits 1 and 2 are plainly business records that we've produced based on the Point Group and Ground Floor Media's production; and that with respect to the declaration, Your Honor, it's under the penalty of perjury under 28 U.S.C. Section 1746. And on that basis, we would request that the Court consider it.

MR. HARDY: Your Honor?

THE COURT: Anything further, Mr. Hardy?

MR. HARDY: Yeah, just briefly. I've been alerted that my objection to the declaration might not have been entirely clear. It is a hearsay objection at its heart because the witness is not available for cross-examination.

The only other point is Mr. Andrews has, you know, referred to these engagement letters as business records, but there's been no foundation laid for the application of that exception to the hearsay rule.

THE COURT: Okay. I think I'll end where I began, which is are there any witnesses? And so, I won't admit as evidence Exhibits 1, 2, and 9 without a witness. To establish what is a business record, I need a witness. To establish -- I mean, Ms. Hurtado needs to be available for cross-examination on what is unduly burdensome, what did the Point Group do. So I cannot admit those, which brings me to the bigger issue.

Each of you pointed me to my prior order at 309, and each of you skillfully went through the various pieces of case law and authority that I considered as part of the Monument Group discussion. But as of today, the biggest thing that the Court would point to is at Page 6. The burden of proof is on the privilege claimant, and the applicability of the privilege is a highly fact-specific inquiry by the Court. Because the effect of the attorney-client privilege is to restrict or withhold relevant information from a fact-finder, it's been interpreted narrowly by the Fifth Circuit.

And as I said then, and I will say today, it's important to note that the defendants opted not to put on any witnesses to describe Monument's relationship to litigation, instead opting for the Court to review the documents in camera. I don't have any evidence, again, here today. And I'll return to the issue of privilege. It is the exception. And if I am going to restrict discovery, I have to have a reason to do that, and the reason has to be through evidence, not through argument.

I said then and I'll say again, because I'm pretty sure I said this at the hearing with respect to Monument, if you read Kovel, if you read Grand Jury, if you read Copper, and if you read Calvin Klein, the biggest issue in those cases was the court had an evidentiary hearing. The court heard from witnesses. The court reviewed documents. And then each of those courts made their decision of whether or not those various accountants and PR firms, et cetera, were, number one, A, retained by counsel, and then B, were integral to the proliferation of legal services.

I grant you, Mr. Hardy, that there is an argument that certain of these PR firms might have been in a bent of a different bet than the Monument group was. The Monument Group was hired pre-litigation, and at least there was assertions in the pleadings of when the Point Group or Ground Floor Media were hired. And perhaps, there are certainly instances in which a crisis management communications group could be protected by the privilege. But I don't know any court doing that without evidence, and that's what I don't have today.

I don't have any evidence to support a privilege. And so the Court is left with no option than to grant the motion of compel as filed by the defendants. And, again, I would just reiterate, parties had the benefit of the court's prior order at 309. I mean, this issue was not only highlighted -- say what you want about the Court's lengthy status conferences. I know they are the favorite of Mr. Taylor, specifically.

But, I mean, say what you will, but you do have the benefit of highlighting things and knowing what's coming down the pipe and knowing -- go and read the Court's prior order and see what the Court said there. And the Court said there was no evidence, and there was nothing then but the in-camera documents. So the Court is left to review documents in a vacuum. And I can only make so many inferences that the Court feels comfortable with without witnesses, without understanding the broader scope of what's going on at the time.

So with that, the court will grant the defendants' motion to compel with respect to the Point Group. I don't believe that there was an objection with respect to Ground Floor Media, correct?

MR. HARDY: I --

MR. ANDREWS: Your Honor, because Lifespace holds the privilege of the documents, Lifespace objected to documents produced from Ground Floor Media's production.

THE COURT: Okay. Oh, okay.

MR. ANDREWS: But, yes, Your Honor, Ground Floor

Media itself did not object.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARDY: Your Honor, I think I can spin through Ground Floor Media pretty quickly.

THE COURT: Okay, so let me let me do this. So, again, my, my ruling will be then specific to the Point Group. I'll order those documents produced.

Now, let's talk specifically -- so, again, anything that's being withheld based on privilege grounds is to be produced. Let's talk specifically to SharePoint and Teams. I am going to order that the SharePoint documents be be produced. With respect to the Teams, I mean, we're talking about a chat feature.

So I recognize there's an evidentiary issue here, Mr. Hardy. But the chat feature, I mean?

MR. HARDY: The only reason that we asked for it --

THE COURT: It's like a bunch of gifts to me.

MR. HARDY: Yeah, no. It's not that we're really that interested in how people's weekends were. But the emails that were produced to us from times that, you know, sometimes like Teams will send you an email when --

THE COURT: Yes. Yes.

MR. HARDY: -- you get a Teams message. So what we were able to see from that is that often attachments were being sent through Teams.

THE COURT: Oh.

MR. HARDY: That's why we're interested in the Teams messages.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARDY: Not because I want to see, you know, pictures of people's cats, though, you know, I'd take that, too.

(Laughter)

THE COURT: There's at least one member of my group whose ears just perked up with interest.

All right. So, again, with respect to SharePoint, I'm going to order those produced with respect. I'll order the production of the Teams, as well. But I'm going to take a very restrictive view of relevance there, okay. I'm not expecting, hey, we've got Edgemere this weekend. Let me tell you about the game. I don't want this -- I'd like them to look for the more pointed chats in terms of relevance, okay, on the Teams.

MR. HARDY: I will endeavor to craft an order that can do that.

THE COURT: Well, I --

MR. HARDY: Yeah.

THE COURT: I'm saying that for the benefit of Mr. Andrews to give that to the benefit of the Point Group and their --

MR. HARDY: Sure.

THE COURT: -- and their view. If documents are being shared on Teams, then those documents need to be produced. And perhaps, if an email is being sent, it's the best way to search your Teams.

MR. HARDY: Okay, that's great.

THE COURT: All right.

MR. HARDY: And in terms of timing, what would you like me to put in there?

THE COURT: In terms of timing, Mr. Andrews, do you have a proposal on when this review can take place?

MR. ANDREWS: Your Honor, I don't yet. I'm happy to get back to Mr. Hardy in short order. I think we have to obviously engage a third party to collect the information. But I would expect we'd be able to do it, you know, towards the end of the month --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. ANDREWS: -- is my best guess without having the benefit of understanding the actual --

THE COURT: Is there a deposition that is scheduled for --

MR. HARDY: Well, no, there's no deposition set for the Point Group, but there's a reason for that. And the reason is that we don't have the documents. And this is part of a broader concern that I have is, you know, we're still going through these issues. We're still waiting on documents. And even with this order, we're still going to be waiting on documents for some period of time.

And we have all these depositions to take between now and January. With Thanksgiving and Christmas sitting in the middle of it, you know, we're on a really tight timeline. And I can appreciate where Mr. Andrews is. And if I was in his shoes, I would probably also be asking for the end of the month. But this is not -- the current schedule that we're on can't afford that.

THE COURT: Well, again, I'm going to order the production of the documents that have already been culled and been and been withheld on privilege. So you will get that. I mean, again, it's a small amount at the whole. I am going to give TPG through to December 1st, which is the last Friday of this month to turn over the SharePoint and Teams messages, recognizing that if there is one IT professional, which I do believe everything that Mr. Andrews just told me, that it's going to take a little bit of time. So I'll give them to that time to produce those additional SharePoint and Teams messages.

MR. HARDY: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: That which has already been culled and simply withheld, I'll put that on the same timeline as the others. So let me look back in my notes, just give me one moment.

MR. HARDY: I'm told it was the 22nd, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Pardon?

MR. HARDY: I'm told it was the 22nd.

THE COURT: Oh, yes. Right. On the Fenoglio's, right. I gave that a little bit of time because, I mean, technically, counsel doesn't have those yet. So give me a moment.

(Pause)

THE COURT: Given that these documents have already -- the documents that are already in the hands of counsel should be produced by the 17th, November 17th.

MR. HARDY: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. So for sake of the record, again, anything that's already been withheld by privilege and the privilege assertion has been denied due to lack of evidence and motion compel, granted. If it's already been pulled, it's due November 17th. If it is not and it needs to be pulled, like the SharePoint and Teams messages by the Point Group, it'll be December 1st.

All right. So we were, I believe, going to Ground Floor Media?

MR. HARDY: Ground Floor Media, and this one is the last one in the omnibus, and it's going to be an easy one since we already did the heavy lifting with the Point Group.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARDY: With respect to Ground Floor Media, again, we have a media consulting firm. So everything that I said about privilege before applies with equal force; likewise with work product protection. Subpoena-required compliance by November 15th. I'll skip the part where I talk about when we got objections, just in case.

But one thing that I am confident in is that we did not get a privilege log until October 6th of 2023. So we have a timeliness issue there as well third-party disclosures, post-petition disclosures, so on, so forth.

And I do want to report some good news, which is that during the meet-and-confer process with the good Floors -- other outside, like their outside counsel, the regular outside counsel, they confirmed that for the time period at issue, Ground Floor only withheld documents for privilege or work product. So we don't have to talk about, you know, undue burden, proportionality, anything like this.

Everything has already been pulled, as I understand it. And the only thing we're talking about is whether Lifespace can sustain its claims of privilege. As noted, the only thing that has been set forth in the witness and exhibit list on that score is the engagement letter. I would object to its admission where it offered. I guess I'll wait until it's actually offered before I do that.

But that's the preview. That's the presentation. We would ask for all of Ground Floor Media's responsive documents to be produced and all claims of privilege or work product overruled.

THE COURT: Thank you, Mr. Hardy.

Mr. Andrews.

MR. ANDREWS: Your Honor, not to reiterate many of the points I stated with the Point Group, but we would again, you know, say that the timing and circumstances of the hiring demonstrate attorney-client privilege. And also that there's work product reflecting attorney's impressions in these documents that, you know, we would assert privilege over.

And with that, I won't repeat my prior presentation, but we'll just, you know, notify the Court that our positions are similar there, as well.

THE COURT: Okay, thank you very much, Mr. Andrews.

For the exact same reasons that the Court declined to -- excuse me, for the same reasons that the Court granted the motion to compel with respect to the Point Group, the Court will grant the motion to compel with respect to Ground Floor Media, burden of proof with respect to privileges is on the claimant. And that being a fact-specific inquiry, the Court does not have sufficient facts before it to grant the narrow applicability of privilege to these documents.

And all that I can say is if the Monument Group order wasn't a red flag and a guidepost to how the Court views privilege, let this be the same. I recognize, again, that crisis media and PR firms, there are times in which those entities can be protected by the privilege, but the burden is on the claimant. So the Court will grant the motion to compel. If those have already been and pulled together, the Court will order that production by the 17th.

MR. HARDY: Thank you, Your Honor.

(Pause)

THE COURT: And I'll just say for the record before we move on, I've said before that the Court doesn't care for discovery disputes. I know no one cares for discovery disputes. And the Court doesn't take privilege lightly. But I think that I, from the Court's perspective, can only be consistent and fair.

I'm sure that the defendants didn't like my Kong order, didn't like my Monument order, and I'm sure that LifeSpace and others don't like this order. But I believe that it's extremely important that the Court be consistent in its ruling. So that is a big factor in the decisions today.

And given the number of discovery disputes as we have and how long these things take, it's also the reason that I'm ruling from the bench today. But a lot went into our reading and preparation for today, because I not only reviewed everything that had been reviewed before in connection with the Monument order, but also reviewed, I think, the Stardock and Kirkpatrick decisions that were cited by the Point Group's counsel in preparation today. So all of that went into the Court's ability to bench rule today.

So where do we go from here, Mr. Hardy?

MR. HARDY: Well, Your Honor, my proposal would be to go to the supplemental motion to compel as against FTI. It's Docket Number 386. And the reason I'm proposing that is because we're still in third-party land that way. And also, there is no objection filed, so I think we can spin through it pretty fast.

THE COURT: All right. Let's go.

MR. HARDY: Okay. So by way of background, as the Court's aware, FTI Consulting is a turnaround firm, business management firm, that was a retained professional in the bankruptcy case and did some pre-petition consulting, as well.

As identified in our motion, we had two primary issues with FTI's production. The first was that it didn't produce its documents in native format, which meant that our ability to assess whether the production was complete was impaired, and we couldn't slice and dice the searches quite the way we wanted to and that we should be able to when documents are produced natively.

And the second was, again, privilege and protection issues. There were documents that, in our view, were improperly withheld or redacted. So FTI is now represented by the Sidley Austin Law Firm.

So with respect to the first issue, the native production, we've been working with Sidley to try to work that out. I don't understand, as I said, no objection's been filed. There's no objection, as far as I know, to the production of native documents. It's just a matter of figuring out how best to do it. And Sidley might be able to speak better to it than I can. But my understanding is that FTI no longer had a copy of what it sent to Polsinelli way back in the day when the subpoena was initially served, so they couldn't assess what wasn't produced natively versus what was image filed.

So we provided to Sidley a link to what we received. And we understand that since then, Sidley and Diamond McCarthy have been working together to figure out what's needed to complete a native production. Obviously, I don't want to impose any more burden on FTI than is absolutely necessary. And if they're working with the Diamond folks to get this done, I think that's great. No objection there.

Really what I'm looking for is to fix a deadline as to when that's going to be completed. And, you know, I do want to say that I very much appreciate how easy Sidley Austin has been to work with on this matter and their diligent attention to our requests.

In terms of the second issue, privilege and protection, Sidley directed us to the Diamond McCarthy Law Firm. As I've already said, FTI isn't claiming that these documents are FTI privileged or FTI work product. That is something that Edgemere is claiming, so we've been directed to the Trustee. So we have our motion to compel production of the privileged and -- or allegedly privileged and work product documents.

I can spin through that, but there's also been no objection filed. So if we can save the time, I'll just save the time. I'll leave it up to Your Honor.

THE COURT: Well, I grant that no objection's been filed. We also had a whopping eight days' notice of this. So the Court is usually fairly flexible with respect to objection deadlines when it comes to expedition.

MR. HARDY: Sure.

THE COURT: It's why I love expedited motions. Certainly aids in the court preparation. So let me hear from counsel. I'll start with Sidley's counsel, and then I'll move to the Trustee's team.

Ms. Travalini?

MS. TRAVALINI: Thank you. Thank you, Your Honor.

So we have, on behalf of FTI, we have no objection to the production of native documents and any documents that may have been withheld on the basis of privilege and working through that. But, again, as to the privilege issue, I will defer to Diamond McCarthy as the privilege does not belong to FTI. And FTI will agree by the privilege calls of its ultimate client.

On the native issue, just to provide you with some additional color, Sidley is now doing a three -- what I'll call a three database comparison. So we have now the original set of documents that we retrieved back from FTI, comparing that to third party access to Diamond McCarthy's database, which we received to try and determine what was produced. And then to the extent that there were any database glitches between what Polsinelli had and what Diamond McCarthy received, we now also have the benefit, as Mr. Hardy indicated, of the Jackson Walker database or set of documents that we are also comparing.

So the process is certainly underway. This is a little bit more of a, what I'll call a metadata comparison exercise to try and match documents that don't only appear on their face to be similar but actually are the same document, since that is the way that, you know, we're trying to match the original native to what was produced. So my understanding is there are about 6,300 pages, at least, of documents that were produced. And we are working through it as quickly as we can with our team here and certainly I have no objection to it.

I would say, in terms of timing, if the Court would afford FTI until the November 22 time frame that I've heard on this status conference is being afforded, we should be able to meet that deadline.

THE COURT: Okay, thank you very much, Ms. Travalini.

I'll now hear from Mr. Taylor on privilege.

MR. TAYLOR: My understanding is the privilege log -- this is Greg Taylor for the Trustee.

My understanding is that the FTI privilege log was prepared by the firm that was on this prior to us.

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. TAYLOR: I think there's like 200 and something documents on the log. There's been a lot of stuff that's been flying around in this case. So I can't say for sure, but I do not recall having any significant meet and confer on which ones people are saying shouldn't be privileged and which ones aren't. I'm not trying to hold stuff back as privilege if it's not. And I'm trying as hard as I can to work with people to get stuff done.

So I want to be helpful to the process, but I need to I need to talk with the other side to see exactly which ones it is that they think are a problem. And then we'll look into that as quick as we can in the Thanksgiving time frame. But yes.

THE COURT: Thank you.

Mr Hardy? And I'll let you speak to both the proposed November 22nd deadline that, I'll give you a preview, sounds very reasonable to me, and then with respect to the privilege issue.

MR. HARDY: Sure. And to us, too.

THE COURT: Okay. Excellent.

MR. HARDY: As far as the date goes.

So, Your Honor, when we started the meet and confer process with respect to the FTI subpoena, that was back in 2022. And we sent a detailed letter to FTI's general counsel identifying the defects that we had spotted in that production. Obviously, the case was then stayed. And when it thawed out, we reached out again. That was when we learned that, you know, okay, well, Sidley is representing them. Sidley advised us that the privilege issues were Diamond McCarthy's.

So when we unfroze that, sent the new letter to FTI's general counsel, it was again detailed. And it's in your one of your binders. And, you know, subsequent to Sidley Austin's instruction that, you know, really, we need to talk to Diamond McCarthy about this, you know, naturally, we reached out to Diamond McCarthy about it. So, you know, I can't agree that there hasn't been an adequate opportunity to meet and confer. I think that our discussions and what we've identified about the defects are detailed. But I can summarize them here.

First, it appears that at least some of the communications weren't about legal strategy at all. I mean, FTI is a business consultant, so we can expect that at least some of these communications were chiefly for business purposes rather than legal purposes. And really, the timing of that bears it out, too. I mean, we're not talking about documents that are limited just to that immediate pre-petition phase, but also, you know, much, much older as well, going back to 2021, as I recall.

Many of the entries on the log state that the documents contain, for instance, work product regarding projections, audit schedules, and or accounting, right. And this is back in August and September of '21 that we're seeing these entries. So when we're seeing schedules, you know, we're not talking about bankruptcy schedules there. I mean, we're talking about just purely business work, it appears.

For another thing, a number of the communications include the Point Group and Ground Floor Media, suggesting that, you know, one, they concern chiefly media strategy rather than legal strategy, and two, that there is a waiver there because those people are not in the circle of secrets, right.

And, you know, what's more, if the Court were to look through the Dallas Morning News articles that are attached as exhibits to what's now the plaintiff's complaint, the Court would see that it was FTI's Rachel Chesley that was providing statements to the press. And as it happens, as a matter of fact, that's what she does. She is an in-house media person for FTI who provides services to FTI's clients. So, you know, it's pretty clear that these communications are not limited to legal communications. We have business, financial, PR communications, as well.

The log also shows that FTI wasn't just communicating with Edgemere and its counsel, right. Remember, FTI was engaged as an estate professional here. So it was an Edgemere engagement. But it was also corresponding with Lifespace and its counsel. And while that could have been conceivably appropriate at times, by the time that we reached the pre-petition period, the immediate pre-petition period, it certainly wasn't. And we've discussed this already with respect to the post-petition waiver of privilege.

But, you know, in the immediate pre-petition period, it was no longer the case that, you know, all of Edgemere's duties were owed to Lifespace, its sole owner. It was insolvent. It had duties to creditors. Lifespace was a $5 million creditor. They were, according to Nick Harshfield, already in negotiations. So that was not a period when there was this community or unity of interest that would support any sort of exception to that general waiver that, you know, when you're disclosing information to your adversary, it's not privileged, it's not protected.

A lot of the entries in the log identify work product as a basis for withholding. Again, we have communications dating back to February 21. So that's long before any litigation conceivably could have been contemplated. I just, I don't see it, and I don't think that it's going to meet the 26(b)(3) burdens. I don't think it could.

Related but distinct, we also have doubts about the accuracy, frankly, of the descriptions in the privilege log. And I want to be really clear right now and say I understand that Mr. Taylor did not do this log. I understand that his firm did not do this log, okay, so I'm not trying to say anything about him. But the very first entry in the log is dated February 3, 2021, and is described as containing attorney-client privilege and work product regarding restructuring bankruptcy adversary proceeding and/or communications regarding the same.

Your Honor, the bankruptcy cases in this adversary proceeding were filed in April of 2022. And I'm hard pressed to believe that there was communications about those back in February of 2021, over a year before it happened. The next -- this isn't isolated. I mean, the next 17 entries are substantially the same. And not to put too fine a point on it, but when a company like FTI says that it was communicating about restructuring bankruptcy or the adversary, that kind of amounts to saying nothing at all. I mean, really all that says in the context of a company like FTI that does what FTI does is we were working, right, because that's like the only things that it's going to communicate about.

So, you know, we have an issue as well as to whether this was adequately preserved, adequately described. There's also, and we're going to talk about this again later and I think it's -- it sounds like it's probably partly due to a misunderstanding, but there's a ton of communications with UMB that are still being withheld based on a common-interest privilege identified in this log. That has already been resolved. That was resolved in the Court's February 6th, 2023 order when the Court found that UMB and the debtor were not acting in concert and that the common-interest exception to waiver didn't apply. So those need to come out, too.

So, Your Honor, we're in an issue here where, you know, we don't have a timely assertion of privilege. We have the late response issue again, you know, and there's been no establishment that these documents are privileged or protected. And consequently, you know, we submit that, you know, they ought to be produced. We're mindful of the plaintiff's position. You know, to the extent that the Court requires or thinks it's advisable to do an in-camera review, I mean, I think for this one, we'd be willing to do it. But I'm just not seeing that the log supports the privileges and protections that are being advanced here or that there's, you know, other evidence to support it, as is required.

THE COURT: Well, I'll hear from Mr. Taylor, but I'll just go ahead and just put it out there. You've listed nine things. The Court's not going to review in-camera nine sets. So I'll hear from Mr. Taylor of how we can narrow this dispute, but I won't be taking in -- I mean, at some point, folks need to do their own discovery.

And so let me hear from Mr. Taylor how we can narrow this because there's a lot out, that's a lot of points.

MR. TAYLOR: I'm going to make sure that you don't have to look at these things in camera, because you shouldn't have to. I mean, there's a -- here's the problem with some of this stuff.

So from what I understand, and maybe I'm not the most knowledgeable person on the issue, but I've heard there's like four different privilege logs relating to FTI. And so what needs to happen first is I need to make sure what is the one that everybody is looking at, how many documents are on there. I think that answer might be 240. And then we'll just -- give me some time to just go through the thing. If their position is they're all bad, this follows a trend that every other prior party seems to have, which is they want us to redo all this work.

But I'm happy to go look at it and give them some. I'm not trying to hold things for privilege. If there's UMB documents on there that aren't supposed to be on there, I'll give it to them. And you certainly don't have to look at that.

THE COURT: No.

MR. TAYLOR: And on anything else, if we came up to something that was a close call, hopefully it's a handful and I can just come up to a hearing and show them to you. But I am trying to help, but I'm just afraid with all the things that everybody wants that people are going to try and make me do everything, you know, before Thanksgiving. And unlike a lot of firms here, I don't have that army.

THE COURT: Right.

MR. TAYLOR: So I'm going to go as fast as we can. If I could have to the end of the month on this one just to figure it out and to deal with them to see what they want and to try and make sure that I have or I'm not even sure I have all the documents. I'm supposed to have them. I'm supposed to have all the FTI documents. But whether I have all the documents that were previously pulled for privilege, I don't know. That should be an easy thing for me to get, but what I am finding in this case is just because something should be easy, it isn't always.

So I am trying to help them on this. And I just need to make sure I understand which is the log. He's given me this stuff now, but if I can go find whatever the prior letter was that he's referring to, we'll dig into that.

THE COURT: Okay, thank you, Mr. Taylor. I'll hear from Mr. Hardy.

I mean, there appears to be a few of just what I'll call low-hanging fruit on here is based upon the Court's orders today with respect to the Point Group and with Ground Floor

Media, based upon the Court's prior orders with respect to UMB, those might be easy.

But with that, again, I'll hear from you, Mr. Hardy, in terms of a proposal with respect to timing, but I want, I expect, and I require folks to work together on these. And so if it's -- given the related company issues, given the business versus commercial purpose issues, I understand why. And the other issues that you've factually noted with respect to 2021 correspondence, talking about bankruptcies and adversaries, I understand how you could be quizzical about those.

But at the same time, this is exactly what meet and confers are. Here's what we've highlighted, here's where we think these are obviously not privileged. Diamond McCarthy, please look at these and see is the privilege log busted or do these just need to be produced? And so given that you've highlighted eight different issues, I would suggest, like I said, that you start with the low-hanging fruit and then see if UMB, TPG, or Ground Floor Media folks are listed on them. Maybe that is the answer, so long as that's correct.

But other than that, I want and require a little bit more cooperation and conferences regarding these documents so that if -- and the Court's not opposed to a limited -- I can't bold, highlight, and italicize that word enough -- a limited review of in-camera documents, not dissimilar to what I did in the past, looking at what's commercial versus what's legal.

I've done that with Monument. I've done that with Lifespace. But just to take nine topics, I won't do that. There needs to be something that happens before that.

So what is your proposal, Mr. Hardy?

MR. HARDY: Well, I suppose what I would propose is to do what precisely what Your Honor is saying.

THE COURT: That's a good proposal.

MR. HARDY: Yeah, thank you. I came up with it myself. I'm thinking through this right now.

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. HARDY: But here's my concern, and I don't have quite the history that some other people in the courtroom --

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. HARDY: -- have with this proceeding. But, you know, as I've mentioned, you know, we're on a tight time frame here. I want to keep things on a leash. I mean, I understand that, you know, back when, you know, the stay was being lifted, you know, there was some discussion about when this trial was going to happen, and we wanted it in December of '24. And, you know, the other side was saying, well, we're going to be ready March of, you know, March of '24, March of '24, I suppose.

So, you know, I'm deeply concerned about the delay here. But that being said, I hear you loud and clear. We need to meet and confer. So what I would propose to do is to go ahead and maybe sort the FTI documents into buckets like we did for the LifeSpace-Edgemere documents and run through it like that. And I'm going to make one of my colleagues very, very upset, I'm sure. Maybe we'll get that list by?

MS. VANDESTEEG: We'll figure it out.

MR. HARDY: We'll get that list to the Trustee very, very quickly.

THE COURT: Right. And so I mean, I know that there's ongoing issues with privilege log, trying to find the right privilege log, trying to do it. But I believe, again, and I'm not asking, I'm not putting all the onus only on you or only on Mr. Taylor. Obviously, Mr. Taylor's here he's listening, okay? He knows that if UMB is on a document, that's subject to a prior order. He knows if Ground Floor Media and the Point Group are listed on documents, well, that's it. There's no privilege there anymore.

MR. HARDY: Sure.

THE COURT: Okay. So get those -- so the only thing that has to happen is find those references on the proper privilege log, look at the actual documents just to make triple sure, and let them go. Everything else, I'd ask that you kind of make your -- send your proposals over to the Trustee and then we get that done. If we want, we can continue this matter.

When do you want, and then to allow you guys to make some headway? And at that point, I can set a firm deadline, but I will expect some headway to have been made.

MR. HARDY: Yeah. We can continue this to, I think that week following Thanksgiving, if the Court is available, and that's going to give us an opportunity I think also to give a status on the supplemental productions that have been ordered with respect to the omnibus motion to compel.

THE COURT: Let me see what we have. I think that is the week of the 27th, but we know I can't read dates, so let me see what we have.

(Pause)

THE COURT: Does the 28th look good, Ms. Jeng, the morning?

(Court and Clerk confer briefly)

THE COURT: Let me look. So, Ms. Harden, if you could look for some time, are we looking for about an hour of time?

MR. TAYLOR: Sure.

THE COURT: Let's look, the week of the 27th, Ms. Harden. It looks like we have some free mornings on the 28th or the 29th, and then maybe we have some free time the afternoon of the 30th, as well.

She's going to look at those dates. Are there any preferences?

MR. TAYLOR: Go ahead.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Your Honor, in a brief huddle on this side while not having confirmed with everyone, we believe that the morning of the 29th would be preferable for us.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. TAYLOR: Fine for me.

THE COURT: Okay, we have November 29th at 9:30.

MR. HARDY: Thank you, Your Honor.

Would you like an -- we'll put that in the order, I suppose.

THE COURT: Yes, if you would.

MR. HARDY: Because we're going to say that the FTI motion is continued to that date.

THE COURT: Right. Exactly.

MR. HARDY: And for further status, yeah, right. Yeah.

THE COURT: Yeah. So I guess the housekeeping question really is, okay, so we'll have an FTI order continuing to that date. Do you want a separate order setting a status on that date at the same time where we can follow up on the --

THE COURT: No, you can put -- I guess from an FTI perspective, we have the 11/22 to provide the native documents and we've got the -- and then we will continue this hearing to 11/29.

MR. HARDY: Right. Yeah. Yeah, the reason I'm thinking of a status on 11/29 is because we have people who are going to be producing documents and we want to make sure, I mean, if there hasn't been compliance or if there's anything, I'd like to have a placeholder. We can also discuss this at the end of the hearing. We don't need to raise it now.

I'm just trying to figure out if in the order I need to be, if I need to be separating these out into different orders.

THE COURT: I don't think we -- we don't necessarily need -- yes, Ms. Harden, is the answer to your question is reserve the whole morning to be safe.

With respect to the continuance of the hearing, we can just do that by a follow-up notice of hearing.

MR. HARDY: Okay.

THE COURT: And whether you call it status, whether you call it continuance, I mean, we're going to kind of look at these issues fresh once they are narrowed.

MR. HARDY: Okay.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARDY: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. So I think that -- does that take us through 386?

MR. HARDY: That takes us through the omnibus and FTI. We still have our motion against the plaintiff.

THE COURT: I understand.

MR. HARDY: I want to note that it's 11:40. I haven't missed my target yet.

MR. TAYLOR: But it's not looking good.

(Laughter)

MR. HARDY: Just stay quiet back there, Mr. Taylor, and I'll get through this really fast.

Ms. Travalini?

MS. TRAVALINI: And, Your Honor, I'm sorry, this is -- if I may interject, I believe this is the last matter that relates to FTI, so if I may be excused from the hearing.

THE COURT: Take me with you. No, I'm kidding.

(Laughter)

THE COURT: One day these transcripts will come back to bite me.

(Laughter)

MS. TRAVALINI: Thank you very much.

THE COURT: Thank you very much, Ms. Travalini. You have a great day.

MS. TRAVALINI: Thank you very much.

THE COURT: All right.

MS. TRAVALINI: Thank you, you too.

THE COURT: Okay, so we have two motions remaining, right?

MR. HARDY: We only have one defendants' motion remaining. We have the plaintiff's motion, as well.

THE COURT: Right. And then --

MR. HARDY: Yeah.

THE COURT: So we're now going to 362?

MR. HARDY: 362, yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. I'm ready.

MR. HARDY: Okay, so this is it.

THE COURT: Does anybody need -- wait, let me be kind here. Does anyone need a convenience break; staff or litigants?

MR. TAYLOR: I would like five minutes.

THE COURT: All right. We will do that. We'll come back at 11:55.

MR. HARDY: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE CLERK: All rise.

(Recess at 11:42 a.m./Reconvened at 11:58 a.m.)

THE CLERK: All rise.

THE COURT: Please be seated. We can go back on the record in Case Number 22-3040. And I think when we broke for a recess, we were going to do the motion to compel filed at Docket 362.

MR. HARDY: Thank you, Your Honor. Ryan Hardy for the defendants. Yes, we were at 362. It is a motion to compel against the plaintiffs. There's three separate issues raised in this motion. And the first is the sufficiency of the interrogatory responses that have been provided to us.

And the particular issue that we have is we'll ask a question. And among other things, the answer we'll receive is your responsive information can be found in the accompanying document production, right, which refers back to that whole 66,000 page mess that we talked about on Tuesday.

To be clear, and I've told Mr. Taylor this, there's absolutely nothing wrong under 33(d) with referring to business records for a response. And I'm taking it on faith that all of these documents that have been produced in this combined Lifespace/Edgemere production are in fact business records.

But the problem that we run into is 33(d) only allows for that, when the responding party specifies the records that need to be reviewed to ascertain the answer, "In sufficient detail to enable the interrogating party to locate and identify them as readily as the responding party could," and give "the responding party a reasonable opportunity to examine all of the records and to make copies," et cetera, et cetera.

THE COURT: So you're asking for a Bates range?

MR. HARDY: I'm asking for a Bates range. Yes. That's right, Your Honor. And I saw Mr. Taylor's response, and it was not a surprise to me, because we had talked about that as he represented. And he said, can I have 30 days from the amended pleading deadline to supplement.

And I can see some reason for that. I get it. The pleadings are going to change. But here's the issue that we have. Once again, we are on a tight schedule. We have a lot of depositions to take. Unless there's going to be a giant change in these pleadings, we need to get them started.

And that means that with respect to, for instance, alleged violation of the NDA, we need to know what specifically we did to violate it. It's not enough to say, well, you had confidential documents, and you knew you had confidential documents, and you knew which confidential documents they were. No. We need to know specifically, what information did we disclose. That's something that we're entitled to. The 33(d) reference does not provide for that, and the timing doesn't work.

We have a lot of depositions we need to take. We need this information now. Not later, but now. And we've been asking for it for a couple of months now. And to be clear also, I can appreciate that we have between Mr. Taylor and me, two relative newcomers to this case, right. And he's been in the case I understand since June.

I think my pro hac was granted in September, right. But also, it's been since June. So I mean, if there are factual bases for these allegations, we're entitled to know specifically what documents in that 66,000 document set are the ones that are supporting the claims. And that's all I have to say about that.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you, Mr. Hardy.

MR. HARDY: Do you want me to run through the whole thing, or do you want to go issue by issue like we did on the omnibus --

THE COURT: Let me remind myself of the other issues that we're going to hit.

MR. HARDY: I think what you're going to find is probably going issue by issue is going to be the --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARDY: -- best way.

THE COURT: Then if that's the case, then let's go.

Mr. Taylor?

MR. TAYLOR: Greg Taylor for the Trustee. As you know, I did not actually prepare the answers for interrogatories --

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. TAYLOR: -- that we're talking about. But I understand his point. These answers for interrogatories were done early in the case, 2022. At that time, it is a very common thing for litigants, if they get interrogatories at the beginning of the case, to say everything that we have is going to be in the documents we produce. Here's how I know -- other than just the fact that I'm old -- here's how I know it's common. Let me show you, for example, if I can approach. And do you want me to --

THE COURT: Is this going to be your attachments A and B? Or is it going to be something different?

MR. TAYLOR: It is going to be my attachments A and B.

THE COURT: I have those.

MR. TAYLOR: Okay.

THE COURT: I'm with you.

MR. TAYLOR: I'm looking at -- and I can't remember if it's A or B -- I'm looking at Kong Capital LLC's answers to our interrogatories. And specifically --

THE COURT: Yes.

MR. TAYLOR: -- I'll just direct your attention to Interrogatories 2 and 3, because they make the point that I want to make. When asked to produce the things that are responsive to 2 and 3, what their response, after they objected to a bunch of stuff was, "Notwithstanding the foregoing objection, and subject strictly thereto, Kong shall produce any nonprivileged documents in answer to this interrogatory." I don't see a Bates range there. And I wouldn't expect to see one. Because everybody's at the beginning of discovery at the time that these things come out.

Now, since the time all these things have come out, I think a whole whopping one deposition has been taken. So we're still pretty much at the beginning of discovery, although, I mean, obviously, there's been a lot of documents that were exchanged, but they were exchanged a long time ago too. I'm just saying, the way that we answered interrogatories is similar to the way that they did.

Now, are they entitled to get what I think are the key documents? Of course they are. Of course they are, and I'm going to give it to them, but our amendment -- our deadline to amend the pleadings, I think might be Monday. And so what I told them was let me get my amended pleading out. There are going to be some changes.

And then the way that we put together these pleadings is we gather the documents that are going to support what we're pleading. So once I'm done with the pleading, I'm going to have a pretty good list of at least the main documents that are at issue.

And so what I'll do after that is I'll be able to give him a Bates range list of, it's at least these, and there may be more, and I'm still going to be looking because here's the other thing that's so weird about this case. So our case is they got a lot of confidential information under an NDA. And then they used it for purposes that were not allowed under the NDA. That's our case.

THE COURT: Right.

MR. TAYLOR: The people who know the most about exactly all the documents that were given, would be Lifespace and the defendants. And the people who know how the defendants used the documents, other than what we can see through some documentation, are the defendants. They know how -- what documents they got. And they know how they used those documents. And part of my job in discovery is to make sure that I know all those things, too.

I know some of those things, and I'm not trying to hide them. And we're going to have a very fulsome complaint that gets filed next week. And then I'm going to amend even though -- I say even though right now, there's not a specific deadline that says when I'm supposed to amend. I can amend our interrogatory answers at any time, throughout all the way up until the end of discovery. A lot of lawyers, and sometimes me, do it not very long before trial, just so everybody knows this is what we're playing with here.

But I am going to amend, and I have told them that I would amend. I just want to have 30 days to get all that stuff together, see if there's anything else to do. And then I've also got Thanksgiving coming up as well. So I don't want to -- my position isn't I won't amend. I'm trying to work with them. They just want me to amend quicker.

And my position is given that we're getting ready to change the pleading, I don't think 30 days is unreasonable. And by the way, if you -- I mean, let me just -- just one other thing to show you. If I could -- could I approach?

THE COURT: Is it in the same exhibits or no?

MR. TAYLOR: It probably is one of the exhibits that might have been referenced in the brief itself. I don't know if -- oh, no, it wouldn't have been attached. I'm just going to bring it to you because it's marked confidential.

THE COURT: Oh, okay. Yes, please.

MR. TAYLOR: Okay. So can I --

THE COURT: Yes.

MR. TAYLOR: Can I approach real quick? This is just --

MR. HARDY: Are we -- whoa, whoa, whoa. Can we briefly be heard? For one thing, if this document is marked confidential, and we still have folks on the line, I don't know who all is subject to the protective order and who's not. Second, I can't fathom what relevance this has to the question of whether the interrogatories ought to be amended. And third, this wasn't disclosed to us on a witness exhibit list.

MR. TAYLOR: All I said was I would provide -- I would provide examples so that you can see what we're talking about. That's all this is.

THE COURT: Can't make a ruling until I see the document. And what -- so let me see the document and let me run through who is on the line. Obviously, we have Mr. Rabuck, Mr. Wolfenbarger, Mr. Hardy. Do we know who the observer is?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes, Your Honor. I suspect that is Chris Jordan, on our side. I will confirm momentarily.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. TAYLOR: I'm not going to reveal the defense --

THE COURT: I didn't think you were, but I'm going to do it just for the sake of the record, just so that we know. Because I know the next motion does deal with confidentiality --

MR. TAYLOR: Sure.

THE COURT: -- issues and whether or not we're going to touch on them, so.

And are there any phone numbers, Ms. Jeng?

THE CLERK: No.

THE COURT: Okay. No phone numbers today. And is there anyone other than those that I called, Ms. Jeng, that we need to look -- you have a different view than I do.

THE CLERK: The only person is the (indiscernible).

THE COURT: Just the observer. Okay. Thank you.

(Pause)

THE COURT: I'm going to give it one more minute. And then I'm going to need you to disconnect that one line, because as the order that is now on the line. Okay. And I'm just going to say this for the record, Ms. Vandesteeg. We now have an order out there that if we're going to take evidence at hearings, that essentially no third parties. And so it does require that the Court be able to do this quickly. And I understand that Mr. Jordan, or other members of your team sometimes put observer on there. If they could at least let you guys know early on.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Understood, Your Honor.

THE COURT: If they're going to do that, because if not, by virtue of the new remote rules, we're to disconnect them. I don't do that for obvious reasons. And I always want to give parties as much flexibility as I can, but I appreciate you --

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you.

THE COURT: -- being able to identify. So we'll go forward. So why don't you tell me what you're going to tell me about this document to address the movants.

MR. TAYLOR: Right. The only reason I'm showing it to you, is to show that I'm not putting him in a bad spot by them not knowing what documents are at issue. Because in this particular document, the very one of the last things it says on the first page is attached is an index of the documents we've received. Let us know if we're missing any. And then if you go to the next to last page, there's their index of documents that they have relating to Edgemere, at least as of this date. I don't want to go through all the stuff because I'm not trying to reveal anything.

All I'm saying is, I can tell by looking at this, that some of the stuff they are going to have received under the NDA. And I don't know if they got all of it from it, but some of it did. So if we're looking for a universe of documents, the type of documents involved, they already have this list.

And so if they just wait for me to amend, and then I give them another list, and I will also say any list I give them, even if I give them by Bates number, it's always going to say, and it's also subject to change as we've learned more stuff. So that's really my point is I am willing to answer the interrogatories and I have proposed a time to do it.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. TAYLOR: And so that's why we're here.

THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

Mr. Hardy.

MR. HARDY: Thank you, Your Honor. If the question in this case was whether the defendants received documents under the NDA, I would agree that we know that information. This would not be much of a case if that was the only question. The question is not whether we received information under the NDA. The question is whether we violated -- or violated the NDA by disclosing or using that information. That is what we're asking for. That is what we're looking for. And that is what the Trustee has persistently refused to provide to us.

We just deposed Natalie Walters, as counsel just asked, that reporter from the Dallas Morning News.

THE COURT: Right.

MR. HARDY: We'll talk a little bit more about that momentarily. And the fact that confidential documents were shared with her without first making her a signatory to the protective order. We're going to talk about that.

But Ms. Walters, because we asked her. Because, right, the whole theory here is oh, you told this information to Natalie Walters. She published these stories, and she tanked the Edgemere, notwithstanding that they only had 60 days of cash on hand. Notwithstanding that they were already in default on their bonds. Notwithstanding that they were already lying to their residents about their financial position. Notwithstanding that they couldn't make resident refunds.

Notwithstanding all of that, you told Natalie Walters at the Dallas Morning News about our confidential information and that caused the Edgemere's bankruptcy. So naturally, I asked Ms. Walters what confidential information did you get? What information were you provided by ICI or Kong or anybody representing ICI or Kong that wasn't publicly available? That wasn't supported by a citation to a public source like EMMA? It's confidential, but I can tell you the answer is not helpful to Mr. Taylor's case.

So I understand and I appreciate that there are some practical reasons to defer amending the interrogatories. But these are issues that are so fundamental that it warrants immediate revision, so that we can start getting these depositions on. Even if it's not complete, frankly, as long as we have a better idea of what specifically we're alleged to have done, we at least start the process. We can start noticing things up and start doing deposition outlines. All the things that we need to do.

For right now all we have is this complaint. And it's pretty, pretty light on the facts, Judge. So we would ask for a seven-day turn. I understand that counsel is at 30 days from the amendment date. That's where we reached the impasse.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARDY: And so that's why we're here.

THE COURT: Thank you, Mr. Hardy.

MR. HARDY: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Mr. Taylor, anything further?

MR. TAYLOR: The only thing further is, it's unfair to say that all they have is the complaint. Because I sent him a list in connection with the next motion you're going to hear of 50 something documents that had attorneys eyes only that I asked him to undesignate. And I even gave him another list of maybe 150 documents that I wanted them to undesignate. And they know that that's because I want to use those in some way. So it's not like I'm hiding relevant documents from them.

And I just don't want to -- I don't want there to be -- I don't want to make it look like I'm hiding behind a rock here because I am not. I'm going to give them more documents. And I have -- that's already 200 right there I've identified for them. So that's all I have, Judge.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you. All right. With regard to the motion, a lot of the issues that were discussed today don't come as a surprise to the Court from the standpoint of I heard the issues with the privilege log, and the issues with the interrogatories before at prior hearings.

I have heard and I do believe there is something fair, Mr. Taylor, to the argument that at some point it's going -- there comes a time from the plaintiff's perspective to -- I mean, we know documents were given to them under the NDA. And we know there were conversations with the media, but at some point, we need to figure out where's the cause of action? What is the breach? And I do believe that it's fair that the defendants have a more concrete understanding of what the breach is that they are alleged to have done.

I mean, I think from what the Court has seen -- and not obviously correspondence -- but from what the Court has seen, it's not been much other than you took our forward looking projections. You took information that was given to us by FTI, and essentially, that you gave that to the media. So I think that there does come a time.

Now with that, and I'll pick up on something that's in the pleadings. Because if you don't know, I do read these. And so for example, in your Paragraph 10, Mr. Hardy, you talk about Interrogatories 8 and 9 talk about disclosure of the existing and prospective contracts with which defendants allegedly interfered tortiously. Well, those are dismissed claims.

And so that -- when you consider that, you go back to what Mr. Taylor is saying, which is I'm about to amend. Why don't we take a fresh look at the interrogatories once there is an amendment. And so I agree with that statement, so then it becomes a question of timing. Okay. And so it sounds to me you're saying -- and I don't know these dates off the top of my head, Mr. Taylor, that you're going to amend on the 13th?

MR. TAYLOR: For status, I think that is the current date. Yeah.

THE COURT: Okay. So if that is the date, that will be the day. In my experience, people don't do it ahead of time.

MR. TAYLOR: Assuming I can.

THE COURT: So with that, let me look back at -- let me make some of these dates consistent so y'all don't have dates all over your calendars. Let's just say December 1st.

MR. TAYLOR: Easy for me to remember. It's my anniversary.

THE COURT: Oh, well then that might be something you want to do one day ahead of time, free yourself up.

MR. TAYLOR: Probably will.

THE COURT: You know the old happy life joke.

MR. TAYLOR: I do know that.

THE COURT: Not having litigation emergencies on your anniversary is a quick way. So with respect to that, I will given this is not admitted and marked confidential, I'm going to give you this back. Oops.

And so Mr. Calkins, if you have one, if you could give that back to --

MR. CALKINS: I don't.

THE COURT: Okay. There you go. And anything else on this point that buttons up this one issue, correct, Mr. Hardy?

MR. HARDY: No, Your Honor. I don't.

THE COURT: All right.

MR. HARDY: I don't think so. I mean, obviously, we would prefer an earlier date. But I think Your Honor has made her decision.

THE COURT: No. And I understand there's a -- but I do believe you're entitled to an answer to the question. But I'm going to allow for a couple of weeks after the amendment.

MR. HARDY: Thank you, Your Honor. In that instance, the next item on the agenda, the next item in the motion to compel pertains to the Sidley Austin documents that we talked about a little bit earlier today.

THE COURT: Right.

MR. HARDY: So Sidley has now shipped those all over to Diamond McCarthy. They hold all of it. And of course, some of the documents are still being withheld on grounds of privilege. The reason we had initially reached out, as I said, was because when the stay lifted, and the UMB order was entered, the order was saying that there's no common interest with UMB.

Sidley started what was described to us as a rolling production of the documents that were no longer to be considered privileged or protected. And that stopped after one installation. And so we reached out, and we were like, hey, what's up? Why did this stop? And they told us well, Diamond McCarthy told us to stop. So obviously, we sorted everything out with Sidley, and we've been in discussions with the Diamond McCarthy team, including yesterday.

And actually, I think where we are now is we've landed in these -- on these 240 documents that Mr. Taylor was referring to earlier, I think he was mixed up when we were talking about FTI. This is -- these are the Sidley documents. And they provided us with a color-coded spreadsheet that Sidley provided them that sort of broke down these documents that we'd specifically identified that we considered to be nonprivileged and nonprotected when we were talking to Sidley.

So Sidley took that list and coded it green for the ones that had been produced subsequent to the UMB order, and I understand it's now yellow for the ones that Diamond McCarthy advances are privileged or protected, and then white for the ones that were just like residual Sidley had initially claimed privilege or protection, but I guess wasn't further advancing it because that was Diamond McCarthy.

So that's what brings us to today. And here's what I think the best way to proceed is. And I'm reluctant to introduce any delay to this, because we've already specifically identified the documents. The vast majority are communications that include either UMB or Mintz. Mintz was UMB's counsel. So with respect to the vast majority, those documents are coming to us. I think Your Honor has already made that clear. So I would ask that when we draft the order on this motion, we'd be permitted to include that the UMB communications be produced. Full stop. Easy enough.

I found one communication on that log that was between a Sidley Austin lawyer and another Sidley Austin lawyer. It was the very first entry. I don't think we're going to claim that one's not privileged. But the balance, Your Honor, are this mix of Sidley and FTI and Dorsey and Lifespace. And Your Honor, we would ask that those be produced.

We've specifically identified them. We don't perceive that it is likely under the circumstances that those are privileged, were privileged, or to the extent, frankly, that they have been privileged in the first place. That the privilege has survived the waiver of disclosure to Edgemere post-petition.

THE COURT: So wait. Let me take a step back. There's the whole -- doesn't that go straight to the related companies exception, that pre-petition, the argument has been that Lifespace and Edgemere are working together. And so the counsel that you have noted, would be counsel to each side. And that that would be part of the related companies conception and therefore privileged. I don't know that I understand that you think it's just definitely busted?

MR. HARDY: I understand the confusion, Your Honor. So let me back up a little bit. So we have a couple issues. One is we have FTI involved, right. So we have this question, as ever, was it a legal communication or not? THE COURT: Sure.

MR. HARDY: Right. And that's been addressed by the in-camera review. And I think fair to say the answer was sometimes.

THE COURT: Right.

MR. HARDY: Sometimes not. Right.

THE COURT: That was fair.

MR. HARDY: And in instances where FTI was not involved, we do get into, I think, a thornier question, a more challenging question of whether, in fact, the related companies exception applied. And of course, the key there is, I mean, aside of course, for the companies being related, is that they continue to have that unity of interest, that community of interest, as the case has put it. And their interests had diverged fairly clearly.

So when we look at the cases on community of interest, a lot of them will cite back to the line of federal cases identifying that a parent and a subsidiary cannot conspire to violate the Sherman Act, right? The reason being that a wholly-owned subsidiary, all of its duties are owed up to the parent. Right. So its only duty is to do what the parent tells it to do. So there's this unity of interest. That means that they're really just acting as one.

It's a very different situation when what we're dealing with is an insolvent company. When we have an insolvent company, the duties are not owed exclusively to the shareholders. They're owed to the creditors. And what's more, one of the creditors was Lifespace, when it was wearing its management hat, right. It also had its full parent hat, but also had its manager hat. So we have these divergent interests. And in my estimation, it has not been established by evidence or otherwise.

THE COURT: Nor has it been tried. Let me stop you. We haven't had this issue tried. The assertion has been that they're related companies, and the divergence that you were talking about, is a post-petition divergence, not a pre-petition divergence.

And so it's my understanding that the vast majority, if not singularly, given the current causes of action, we'll see what the amended complaint shows, was that everything happened pre-petition. So from that perspective, it hasn't been shown otherwise. So if you're asking for relief based upon the fact that there were not related companies, then that has to be tried.

MR. HARDY: And thank you, Your Honor. So two points on that. The first one is part of the purpose of this motion of bringing the motion to compel and raising these issues about the Sidley production is going to come up again, with respect to some of the Lifespace documents is to test that. We've heard you loud and clear when you're saying, okay, you got to bring this in at an appropriate time, bring it by motion. So we filed the motion.

If Your Honor wants to have a separate evidentiary hearing on that, I suppose we can talk about that. But I want to test to also the idea that the interests didn't diverge until post-petition. I respectfully disagree with that, and so too, does Nick Harshfield in his testimony, both during the January evidentiary hearing in this proceeding, and in his first day declaration. And he said that Lifespace and the debtor were already in arm's length negotiations. They already had a debtor-creditor relationship.

Lifespace, of course, had already stopped taking its management payments at the insistence of UMB, because UMB wasn't getting paid, either. I mean, these were adverse parties. Were they rowing in the same direction on some discrete issues? Perhaps. I mean, maybe.

But when you start looking at even under the more lenient analyses of the related companies, the common interest privilege, Judge Carey's opinion in Tribune for instance, they still operate on the assumption that there is a significant common legal interest. And once those duties diverge, and it happened pre-petition, then that's done. That's done.

THE COURT: And to be certain, I'm not telling you they didn't diverge before that. What I'm telling you is it hasn't been heard. Okay.

MR. HARDY: Understood.

THE COURT: And what I'm talking about is -- and obviously there's not an order out there or an opinion out there on the Lifespace issue. There is for others for UMB, but the question here, and the divergence that I have spoken about in prior hearings, was all post-petition. Okay. Because those are the divergencies that the Court sees. Okay.

I recognize that at various times, I've seen two emails that talk about wearing different hats or divergence and distance. Okay. I get it. I mean, I do remember these things.

MR. HARDY: Hats and Venn diagrams, Your Honor.

THE COURT: There you go. And so but at this juncture, I'm not prepared today to hit that issue, if we want to tee that up. But again, I think that that's part of the culling of the documents as a whole. And if you are going -- if your client is going to assert to buss the privilege at that level, I think that needs to be briefed. And heard.

MR. HARDY: Very good, Your Honor. I hear you loud and clear. So what I'll do then, with respect to the Sidley documents when we're drafting the order, I won't continue the hearing because it sounds like you want more briefing. What I'll do instead is grant it in part as to the UMB communications, deny in part without prejudice.

THE COURT: Well, first, I'm going to hear from Mr. Taylor on the Sidley documents to start with. So let me start --

MR. HARDY: But I got everything right, Your Honor.

THE COURT: But you were doing so well. You were in complete agreement.

Mr. Taylor.

MR. TAYLOR: It's a very interesting discussion, most of which has nothing to do with the pending motion. If you look at Paragraph 13, I think it is of their motion, it says this is what we're asking for.

THE COURT: Right.

MR. TAYLOR: They want all the Sidley documents. And if you're going to keep any of them back for privilege, we want a privilege log.

THE COURT: Right.

MR. TAYLOR: Okay. So the first thing they're trying to compel is that we produce all the Sidley documents that we agree are not privileged. This has already happened.

THE COURT: Right. That's what I understand from the papers.

MR. TAYLOR: So if somebody is aware of documents that I have to know are not privileged, then I will produce those documents. Now, Sidley then made a subsequent production, once there was the ruling about UMB and the like, and there was a rolling privilege on that, and they produced some of those documents. I have found out at least this week, what those documents are, because we asked them for their log, and we asked them to tell us what had been done and what hadn't.

I heard the statement about we had told Sidley to stop. All I can say is, that might not be entirely accurate, but it would be hearsay, whatever it is. That I am not -- I'm not telling people to stop, but people do tend to dump documents on me and then tell them you need to deal with this stuff now.

So I'm going to deal with the rest of it now. So what we've -- in our own meet and confer, we've given them the stuff that Sidley gave us. We've highlighted what it means and asked them for their comments on it. We are in the middle of meet and confer on the privilege issue and the privilege issue is not up today.

So I say what's up today is have I produced the documents that I know to be not privileged. I have. So I don't need an order that compels me to do something I've already done. And then the rest of it needs to wait until we have an actual argument over privilege because I might agree with them. So that's what we're looking at. We are looking at those documents right now. And then we will make a subsequent production based on that. That's what I know about that issue.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you, Mr. Taylor.

Mr. Hardy.

MR. HARDY: One moment please, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Sure.

(Pause)

MR. HARDY: My papers are getting out of control. I've been up here long enough that everything's just sort of flying around. Your Honor, Mr. Taylor pointed the Court to Paragraph 13 of our motion, which does indeed, as he said, ask that plaintiff produce a copy of the files. And if they intend to withhold documents based on privilege to go ahead and give us a log of that. That's fair.

Here's the problem. The very next paragraph under the header C, "Plaintiff must produce the withheld nonprivileged documents. We are asking for the plaintiff to produce the withheld nonprivileged documents." You got to get past 13 and get to 14.

So we identified a number of different -- and I don't want to get too far ahead of myself, because I was going to treat this as the next component of the motion. But they do go hand in glove, that there are going to be certain categories of documents that just need to be produced and obviously fall into it.

So what Ms. Vandesteeg has put up on the screen -- and I'm sorry, I just received this yesterday. This is the log that Mr. Taylor just referred to, the one from Sidley. And if we were to scroll up, you'd see that it is color coded with the green for the documents produced. The yellow for the ones that haven't been produced, that Diamond McCarthy is withholding, and the white for ones that just haven't been produced. And if you look through the whites, you'll see if we were to do a search. Mintz. Mintz. Mintz. UMB. Mintz. Over and over and over and over again. So I can appreciate what I've heard from the Court. Okay. The UMB documents need to be produced. We've heard it, I think now in like three different respects at this point. But I simply can't agree that Mr. Taylor says we haven't asked him for these documents and our motion doesn't seek the disclosure of these documents. It does.

We asked for the withheld nonprivileged documents that these very clearly fall within that. Very clearly. In fact, we call out the UMB documents specifically in the next section. I'm happy to jump into that now if that's -- if it's a good time to do that. Otherwise, if we want to keep with sort of working in these discrete chunks, I'm happy to do that, too. Burt we're going to see similar issues with Paddock, with GrayRobinson, with UMB, and others.

THE COURT: Okay. Well, we can speak about the Mintz documents, I guess -- excuse me, the USB documents. I thought that I've ruled on this multiple times.

MR. HARDY: I thought so too.

MR. TAYLOR: I think you have.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. TAYLOR: So we'll produce those as quickly as possible. I just need -- I need to pull them up to see why they're on here. But that's part -- to me, that's part of the whole meet and confer is for them to tell me what did I get wrong? But --

MR. HARDY: I can't see the documents. They've been withheld. All I can see is that Mintz Levin was on them.

THE COURT: Well, I mean, at a minimum, you can certainly say -- I mean, it's what's done all the time. You take the privilege log, you highlight them and say look, none of these can be privileged because the word Mintz is on them.

None of these can be privileged because XYZ third party is on them.

MR. HARDY: It is the Mintz exception to privilege.

THE COURT: But I mean, again, from a delay standpoint, first of all, I'm going to assume you already have them from Mintz, but I mean -- no? Mintz has not delivered them either?

MR. HARDY: So --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARDY: -- we have documents collected from UMB. But that -- what that's not going to include and why this is important is this is the log of Sidley documents, right. So it includes communications between Sidley and Mintz –

THE COURT: Right.

MR. HARDY: -- that UMB didn't have. Right?

THE COURT: Oh, I see.

MR. HARDY: We haven't served a subpoena on -- we haven't served a subpoena on Mintz, have we?

MS. VANDESTEEG: No.

MR. HARDY: No, we haven't served a subpoena on Mintz.

THE COURT: So you served on -- you served -- well, never mind. I'm not going to say what I'm thinking. I'm just going to hold that.

MR. HARDY: Okay.

THE COURT: So in terms -- so if they're -- so that I understand factually what's happening between counsel, you have sent a list of documents that you do not believe are privileged that are contained on a privilege log. You sent that list and requested those documents when?

MR. HARDY: That was directed to Sidley. And I don't know precisely when it was. It predated my time with the firm. So it was at least a couple months ago.

THE COURT: Okay. It looks like --

MS. VANDESTEEG: I believe that request was sent in July.

MR. HARDY: July.

THE COURT: Wait, wait, wait, wait, wait. I'm reading your document. And it says the email was dated to Sidley on September 18th that was seeking to resolve the impasse. Okay. So that's September 15th this year. All right. Month and a half ago.

And so -- and then at some point, Sidley puts the obligation in Diamond McCarthy's pocket. And I understand that is frustrating for you guys, as you've told me. So then the question is, when did you ask Diamond McCarthy for the production of these specific documents?

MR. HARDY: So to go back, the correspondence that you're seeing from September is a follow up. We had previously --

THE COURT: I know.

MR. HARDY: Okay. Okay.

THE COURT: I get that.

MR. HARDY: All right. All right. So this list that you're seeing here, absent the color coding, is what we provided to Sidley and what Sidley then provided over to Diamond McCarthy.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARDY: When we got word from Sidley that Diamond McCarthy was taking over the privilege issues, that was when we reached out. It was as I recall the next day, and I'm pretty sure I'm the one who sent that communication. THE COURT: Okay. And so that is -- okay. So that's the September 18th from Sidley to LP saying talk to Diamond McCarthy. Am I right?

MR. HARDY: I believe that is the date when Sidley told us talk to Diamond McCarthy. Yes.

THE COURT: Okay. And so when did you talk to Diamond McCarthy?

MR. HARDY: That's what I'm saying. I believe it was the next day.

THE COURT: You believe it was the next day.

MR. HARDY: As I recall. I'm trying to pull up --

THE COURT: Okay. Let me look at Exhibit J. I'll have to pull it up. Just one moment. It might even -- let's see.

(Pause)

MR. HARDY: Oh, Your Honor, I think I found it. It's Tab 27 in the binder. And it looks like -- if you look at my October 11th email, which is in response to Mr. Taylor's October 10th email. Note among other things Number 1. "What did Sidley say in response to the Trustee's directive" -- that is the directive that Sidley is to produce their documents with their privilege log. "Will all responsive nonprivileged documents and a log be produced? If so, when?"

And if we go back a little bit further down that same exhibit to Page 5 of it, Ms. Vandesteeg's October 6th email. The first item there is the Sidley production. Sidney hasn't completed its production because they've been told not to produce certain documents pending privilege review. "Given that defendants first reached out to Sidley on July 25th, 2023, more than four months ago, to meet and confer on their failure to comply with the subpoena served on them, plaintiff has had more than sufficient time to perform this review."

So Your Honor, I understand the frustration. And let me say, Mr. Taylor has certainly been willing to meet and confer. And we've tried to reach agreement where we can. I don't fault him for lack of trying, and I hope he doesn't fault me for lack of trying. But sometimes you reach an impasse. And in this instance, we've got an impasse.

THE COURT: Well, I'm not sure emails are the best way to meet and confer. I'll just say that. I recognize that that is very much the state of current litigation. But at some point, it seems to me that the answer is lines blank through blank on a privilege log appear to us to be not privileged. That's what we're asking for production of. Okay.

And that send the request document by document and at that point, pick a time when it's mutually convenient, within all reason, and talk through them. Because what I'm seeing is an October 11th dispute, October 16th motion. At some point we have to talk and we have to start to reach these issues before we get to hearings.

And so with respect to the UMB documents that I have obviously already determined there was no common interest there. These are not privileged. That subject of an existing order, the Court is going to order those produced. I'm going to give you a date. I'll do those on the 17th. That's UMB and Mintz.

All right. It is 12:47. I don't know how else better to say this, and I'm hungry. So --

MR. HARDY: I am, too.

THE COURT: Yeah. I don't like to cut motions or to cut hearings in half, but it is -- I have to watch out for my staff. Because everyone -- they are often at my mercy. So that's why I will now be Ming the Merciful. So with that, what time do the parties want to return?

MS. VANDESTEEG: At whatever time is convenient for the Court, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. We do now have a working cafeteria in the building. It's pretty fancy. And it's actually pretty good.

Any timing issues, Mr. Taylor?

MR. TAYLOR: No. I mean, I think we're going to have to move around. So that's --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. TAYLOR: What's your preference?

THE COURT: My timing on return? I mean, I -- we can be back as early as 1:30.

MS. VANDESTEEG: We can accommodate, Your Honor.

MR. TAYLOR: Can we make it 2?

THE COURT: Oh, yeah. To come back at 2?

MR. TAYLOR: Yeah.

THE COURT: Yes, we can.

MR. TAYLOR: Yeah. Let's come back at 2.

MS. VANDESTEEG: If possible, if counsel could adjust, we do have travel obligations on this side of the courtroom. So a sooner start time would be better for us if at all possible.

MR. TAYLOR: Whatever. Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you.

THE COURT: Okay. Well, we'll come back at 1:45. Is that possible, Mr. Taylor?

MR. TAYLOR: I'll make it work. I'll make 1:30 work. Whatever we need. Whatever we need.

THE COURT: Well, let me -- let's give you a little bit more time. You want to do 1:45?

MR. TAYLOR: Okay.

THE COURT: Okay. We'll do 1:45. We'll return at that time. And we'll be in recess until then.

THE CLERK: All rise.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor.

MR. TAYLOR: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: You're welcome.

(Recess at 12:49 p.m./Reconvened at 1:48 p.m.)

THE CLERK: All rise.

THE COURT: Please be seated. All right. We're going to go back on the record in Case Number 22-3040. I think when we broke, we were motivating ourselves through Docket 362, which would have been the plaintiff's motion to compel.

MR. HARDY: Thank you, Your Honor. That is correct. We are on the motion to compel against the Plaintiff Docket 362. Thank you for the break.

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. HARDY: Did not realize I needed one, but in fact, I did. So the final component of this motion has been previewed for you already. And that is the request for production of the nonprivileged documents. These are going to fall into several buckets. We can add those to the hats and the Venn diagrams.

The first is communications without counsel. We understand. We acknowledge the absence of counsel is not dispositive of the issue. But fully 660 of the logged documents have no attorneys and we're hard pressed to believe that in fact, all of those are privileged or otherwise protected. So we are asking that the plaintiff be ordered to revisit those documents and verify the original privilege log. I understand from Mr. Taylor's response and from Tuesday, that that is in the works. And we have, of course, an order forthcoming on when we're going to see that.

The second bucket is communications with the GrayRobinson –

THE COURT: Right.

MR. HARDY: -- law firm. We --

THE COURT: That's counsel to the board, right?

MR. HARDY: We understand GrayRobinson to be counsel to Edgemere's independent directors.

THE COURT: Right.

MR. HARDY: And you'll recall that they secured their own counsel, sought to have them paid out of the estate. That was denied. But the reason that they sought the counsel, as they explained, was because they have different duties and different concerns than did Edgemere in its capacity as Debtor In Possession and before that, as in its capacity as an insolvent entity, with duties again to creditors, rather than to shareholders, like a typical entity would have.

There's been no demonstration made of a common legal interest to support that the communications between Lifespace or Edgemere are on the one hand, and the independent directors and their counsel on the other hand, are privileged. And so we are asking that those communications be produced.

The third bucket is more generally communications with other third parties. And we put that generally because of course, there's been no showing that any communications with a particular third party are privileged in this instance, but there are three that we want to call out with specificity. The first is Paddock Incorporated.

THE COURT: Right.

MR. HARDY: It's a private investigation firm. And if the name sounds familiar, it's because there's already an order that those communications are discoverable. The second is UMB. I'm just not going to talk about it again. And then the third is the Point Group.

THE COURT: Right.

MR. HARDY: Which, again, we've already discussed, so those documents should be produced. And then there's that blanket July 2022 waiver that I think we need to address. Because of course, there's a number of documents on that log that are not, as we discussed before between and among say Sidley, FTI, and Dorsey, but between Lifespace and Dorsey, right.

This isn't a question of joint interest or common interest or co-client or related companies. This is very simply Lifespace privilege that was disclosed post-petition when there was a clear adversity of interest that served to waive the privilege.

So when we're talking about those communications between Lifespace or its representatives, on the one hand, and Dorsey or any other Lifespace attorneys, I can't remember who Dorsey's predecessors were at the moment, we are asking that those documents be produced because that privilege has been busted.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARDY: Unless the Court has questions, that is all I have to say about the remainder of that motion.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARDY: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Thank you, Mr. Hardy.

Mr. Taylor.

MR. TAYLOR: Since the document universe that I've been dealing with is composed of documents that are both Edgemere and Lifespace, as we know, we have -- between me and the people at Cooley, we have been dividing and conquering on some of these issues. And so Cooley, whenever these issues have come up, Cooley has taken the lead on these things.

And my position, and I have told the defendants this is, I'm going to let Cooley negotiate the issues with you. And then if there's still a problem at the end, let me know, but I'm going to adopt what they do. And then we're going to do whatever the Judge tells us both to do.

So I don't really have anything else to say, because that is still playing out, as we know, from yesterday. And so I'm waiting to hear where does that come out? And then, if they reach agreement, I will reach agreement. And if there's a dispute among them, then I will have to decide do I agree with Cooley or not? And if there's a dispute anyway, we'll be in front of you. And I'm going to do whatever you say. But I don't have anything additional to add that's not already under discussion, as far as I know, between them and Cooley.

THE COURT: Okay. And in terms of -- okay. Well, then, if the lead is being taken by the Cooley Law Firm with respect to the privilege log, let me go to Mr. Rabuck on that. And then we'll circle back to these issues.

MR. TAYLOR: Okay.

THE COURT: So Mr. Rabuck, obviously, I want you to respond to Mr. Taylor and Mr. Hardy's arguments, but I guess the other question that I have for you is obviously, the issues of the privilege log have been in the works. I think that Mr. Walker said that it would be done fairly shortly. But I know we haven't put a date to that yet. And that's what the order that I will enter will do will be to put a date certain to that.

So where are we on the -- on privilege? And obviously, you now hear these various other issues. So let me know the breadth of what you're already undertaking and then your position on when you can undertake this consideration in review.

MR. RABUCK: Thank you, Your Honor. Sam Rabuck for the record. May I just have a moment to review a few emails and records before I respond? I just need two minutes.

THE COURT: Fair enough.

MR. RABUCK: Thank you.

THE COURT: While he's doing that, Mr. Calkins, do you have that draft order with you? Can you grab it? Thank you.

(Pause)

THE COURT: Just for sake of the record, I know that --

MR. RABUCK: Okay, Your Honor. I'm -

THE COURT: Just one moment, Mr. Rabuck. We will be -- I know that, for at least for probably purposes of the next motion we'll be closed. The young lady who's entering is an extern so she's already subject to the Court's confidentiality.

So Mr. Rabuck, please.

MR. RABUCK: Thank you, Your Honor. Sam Rabuck on behalf of Lifespace for the record. Our understanding is we're continuing to work through those issues with the defendants, and that we are able to submit a revised privilege log to the extent it needs to be revised by next Friday, 11/17.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. RABUCK: And I believe that is what we have. That's I understand we have proposed to defendants on, but they wanted us to do it sooner than that is my understanding.

THE COURT: And I do understand that. Okay. And so with respect to documents, how quickly can documents be provided to the extent that they're either subject to prior court orders, or you determine based upon your revisiting and amending the privilege log, how soon thereafter can documents actually be produced? And I'll put that same question to Mr. Taylor's team, if they're in charge of the repository.

MR. RABUCK: Sure. And I would defer to Mr. Taylor, because we certainly are able to work with the plaintiffs on these document issues and on productions, as we have been already in getting things to the defendants. But I would certainly defer to any timing constraints that Mr. Taylor has. But I would say that we could work quickly to try to get defendants whatever it is that they are entitled to by court order, in addition to the things that we discussed at the top of the hearing first thing this morning.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you, Mr. Rabuck.

Mr. Taylor, if a privilege log is done by the 17th, how many times you have to get the documents?

MR. TAYLOR: End of the month.

THE COURT: End of the month? Okay. All right.

Mr. Hardy, any further comments? And I know that we still have to discuss the individual issues.

MR. HARDY: Yeah. Okay. Yeah, if we're limiting it simply to timing of the amended privilege log and the supplemental production, no, I suppose I don't. You're not going to be surprised to learn that we would prefer a tighter time line. Mr. Cooley -- or Mr. Cooley. I'm so sorry. Mr. Walker advised that there's a draft of this revised privilege log already prepared. I'm not sure what the holdup is. I would expect that that could get turned faster. But if there is, I guess I'd rather get good than fast.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARDY: So there's that. I guess my only comment is I'd like to see it faster.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARDY: And that's it. And we've set out those deadlines in our iteration of the proposed order, but what we had contemplated as I recall, was production of the privilege log tomorrow, since it had already been drafted. With a follow on production, I believe it was at the end of next week.

THE COURT: So in other words, a seven-day turnaround on the documents.

MR. HARDY: Correct, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. All right. Thank you. Okay. So the timeline that's going to be part of the Lifespace order, okay, will be the amended and privilege and redaction logs provided by the 17th, and documents will be provided by the 28th. Okay. That's what the days will be.

So now, with that, Mr. Rabuck, as part of your review of those documents, were you able to hear Mr. Hardy's presentation about these various issues? GrayRobinson, I mean Paddock, UMB, and the Point Group, I don't intend to further discuss. That's already been decided a handful of times. And so essentially the GrayRobinson issue and the issue of Lifespace and handing over its documents that were privileged between it and Dorsey over to the plaintiff, after July 2022.

MR. RABUCK: Your Honor, I don't know that I understood what the question was. I apologize. So I'm sorry. What about the argument that was made? I just want to make sure I understand so I can answer it correctly.

THE COURT: Do you agree with it? Or do you disagree with it?

MR. RABUCK: I'm sorry, agree with what?

THE COURT: The defendants take the position that if GrayRobinson, which is the counsel to the independent board members is listed on a document that that is not privileged. What is your position given these are Lifespace board members? And I can only assume that Lifespace has asserted the privilege.

MR. HARDY: Edgemere board members, Your Honor.

MR. RABUCK: That would be our understanding, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Oh, excuse me. They're Edgemere board members. That is my mistake. That was my mistake.

MS. VANDESTEEG: For GrayRobinson, those we believe are the independent --

THE COURT: I know --

MS. VANDESTEEG: -- director's counsel.

THE COURT: -- who the firm was because I remember the retention application.

MS. VANDESTEEG: We had a separate bucket that we had identified that did address documents within listed on the Edgemere privilege log that did specifically include communications with the Lifespace board of directors.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: That was a separate bucket. I think that was Bucket 12 under our prior key, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. So let me just go back to the motion. Just one moment. Okay. In the motion, Docket 362, Paragraph 14, says, "The plaintiff's privilege and redaction logs indicate that certain nonprivileged documents have been withheld for privilege. For example, numerous communications on the privilege and redaction logs either do not include counsel, include individuals from GrayRobinson, PA, assumed to be counsel to the independent board of directors of the debtor. Include individuals from the Point Group, the debtor's communication consultant, or include other third parties."

And it goes on to assert that, "The defendants do not believe that these are privileged." And so I'm assuming, given that Cooley is taking the lead on the privilege and redaction log, that it is your assertion of privilege. So I'll start with the independent board members, counsel.

MR. RABUCK: Yes, Your Honor. Sam Rabuck for the record. My -- I understand now. Thank you for the clarification.

THE COURT: No worries.

MR. RABUCK: My understanding is that as part of our ongoing review process of those 11 different buckets, some of which we had already provided to the Court for in-camera review, we are still reviewing certain documents and analyzing the privilege and that we believe that the privilege log was correct.

But in doing our continued work on it, in light of the orders, in light of everything that's been going on and what we were going to produce by next Friday, that we will confirm that any of the other buckets, whether it's Paddock or GrayRobinson, would also still be privileged. But we will undertake that further review. And to the extent that they are not, we would produce them with any other documents that we're required to produce by the 28th.

THE COURT: Okay. So here's what the Court expects. The Court expects that as part of your November 17th privilege log, you will address the various buckets of documents and arguments that the defendants have set forth today, including the GrayRobinson issue, Paddock, UMB, and the Point Group, and the issue of the Lifespace communications with its counsel having been given obviously to Edgemere at this juncture. Okay.

That you will address that from the perspective of your privilege log. And that if you assert the privilege, okay, then at that point, the Court will have a further hearing and/or review the documents in camera or both, because I'll need to understand.

Because it has not yet been articulated to the Court or briefed before the Court the GrayRobinson issue, and this essentially waiver argument of the defendants with respect to providing Lifespace only communications with counsel over on to Edgemere. And I say Lifespace only and I realize that that's not Lifespace only because each entity has the same documents. So that's what I'll expect and so we'll -- just one moment. There seems to be an issue.

Okay. Not yet, Ms. Jeng, but we will for the next hearing.

All right. So essentially, Mr. Hardy, we're putting a pin in that to that issue with respect to those, because I would expect that that's going to be part of the privilege review process, okay, that is going to yield a log on the 17th, if not earlier, and documents on the 28th, if not earlier. And at that point, after a meet and confer and a real one, okay, if the Court needs to hear A, further argument, or B, a in-camera review, we can deal with it at that time.

And I'd like the parties to be thinking about this during the privilege review process. I'm not trying to add another month or two of time for these issues to come before the Court. I'm not begging to hear them. Please, please, do not get it twisted. But if these issues are going to be out there, Mr. Rabuck, Mr. Taylor, you already know what the defendants' position is. So it is the one time that I would expect the motion process and the hearing process to come in short course if there continues to be a dispute after the review of the privilege log.

MR. HARDY: Okay. Thank you, Your Honor. In terms of the order, would you like me to characterize this aspect of the motion as continued denied without prejudice? What would you like to see on that score?

THE COURT: Just put that whatever issues are not -- with respect to the GrayRobinson issue, and this July 2022 issue. That those are carried to be determined if they're still live after the provision of the privilege log and the production of the documents.

MR. HARDY: Okay.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARDY: Thank you. If that's all, I am very pleased to report that that's the end of my motions.

THE COURT: All right. Okay. So for the next hearing, I know that the issue is that it's going to be with respect to the removal of the designation of certain either confidentiality or attorneys eyes only and things of that nature.

So by the very nature of the hearing, if not the nature of this being an adversary proceeding, I'm going to again make sure that the courtroom is closed to only those under protective order. In terms of the live parties, I see it's the same parties. And so I see that I have -- I assume the observer is still Mr. Jordan --

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes.

THE COURT: -- or somebody from his team. Okay. I recognize Ms. Ford's name. The last one is Jeremy. Do we know which?

MS. VANDESTEEG: Checking on that right now. I believe I do.

THE COURT: Okay. I didn't think it was Mr. Johnson, but he would normally have his full name.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Yes, Your Honor, I can confirm that as Jeremy Koster. I'm going to ask him to update his name accordingly.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you. All right. So with that, I thought perhaps because it was a Polsinelli reference that there might be somebody from Polsinelli. But I'm glad to have the specifics. Thank you, Ms. Vandesteeg.

So with that, Mr. Taylor, we'll be taking up plaintiff's Docket 375.

MR. TAYLOR: So I've been trying to think how to shortcut this. Because I mean, I've got examples of documents to show you marked confidential. It would be the same thing. I'm not actually going to offer them.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. TAYLOR: I'll just be showing them to you as examples, and then I'd take them back from you. But I'd like to see if we can figure out a way not to have to do that today.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. TAYLOR: Because when I filed this motion, my real issue was there was a lot of documents that had been designated attorneys eyes only. And under the provisions of this protective order, that means my own client can't see them.

THE COURT: Right.

MR. TAYLOR: And we are going to be relying on some information from such documents in the preparation of our complaint, and the client needs to be able to see the documents. And so happily, after I filed this, the other side agreed to de-designate the ones that I had given them that were attorneys eyes only. So now I don't have that issue. So my big issue -- and remember, my new pleading is due Monday. Okay. So at least as of the last day or so our client has been able to review.

But here's my other thing. So there's a lot of smart people here in this room. And I am not among the smartest ones. And so I use people to help me as I am going through cases, and especially at the beginning when I'm figuring out how I'm going to pitch them, and then later as we get closer to the trial. Most of the time when I have to do trials it's jury trials, and so I have jury consultants that help me.

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. TAYLOR: But there's people like that whether you have a jury or not. And so I use consultants. They are not testifying experts. And I cited some cases in the motion. They're not subject to disclosure. But the problem is based on the wording of the protective order, I can't show them a confidential document, not just attorneys eyes only, just any confidential, and here's the real rub.

Lots of times on protective orders the way it'll start is they'll say all the documents that are produced in this case can only be used for purposes of this case. And then here's some additional categories that are even more than that. This protective order does not have that. So as a result, almost every document in this case has been marked confidential. And it's --

THE COURT: That I believe.

MR. TAYLOR: And it's a two-way street. It's not just them. I mean, our sides apparently done it too, all the way, even the recent productions. And so I was looking at, why would that be? And the reason is because the parties are trying to bring this under the protective order.

THE COURT: Well, I think that there was a reason, and I'll riff a little bit right here, Mr. Taylor, because I do -- I think in order of appearance, it's Levenfeld Pearlstein me at this juncture in terms of longevity to the case. But I mean, there was a time where -- and from a bankruptcy perspective, because of the ongoing bankruptcy, and because of the situation that each of the parties found themselves in, that a lot was confidential, because there was essentially the potential for competing bidders --

MR. TAYLOR: Exactly.

THE COURT: -- who was going to operate, who was going to run. So I -- having read everything, I'm with you. I believe that there was a time where everything was confidential, and they probably aren't to the same extent as before. Now, I'm not going to broad brush everything, because I haven't seen any of the documents for the most part. But I do believe it's time to take a deeper look. But I hear what you're saying. Yours is even more nuanced.

MR. TAYLOR: Here's what I'm saying, for purposes of today. Okay. There may come a time when we need to have a hearing and we'll just -- we'll literally go through documents that I think should be de-designated, if the other side is unwilling to do it.

THE COURT: Right.

MR. TAYLOR: But I would prefer not to do it today, since I know they got a plane to catch. But what I need today, is I need the ability to show confidential documents to people on my team, that includes consultants that I have that are not disclosed.

Because under the current rules, and I even said in the brief that it might have made sense during the bankruptcy, but under the current rules, I'm supposed to give them name, address, and a resume of anybody that might look at it. And for -- because they're a prospective expert or consultant. I'm not even sure -- these terms are not even defined. I don't want to get in trouble for violating the protective order.

At the last deposition of the Dallas Morning News, it's a trial deposition, the woman is not going to be present, because she's not within the jurisdiction. We're taking it as a trial deposition. I'm showing her exhibits. I'm noting that they're marked confidential. I even made a statement, we can seal the deposition. Okay.

But on every one I was -- there was an objection that I was violating the protective order. I'm not trying to violate the protective order. But I can show a witness in the trial any document in the case, and that's what that witness was.

So I'm feeling the same way about a consultant. I think I can hire a consultant. And I think I shouldn't have to tell the other side who it is, as long as they're part of my team working for me. And then I can make sure that they know what they'll sign off on the protective order. And I can even do something else that says anybody who's on my team can't use the document for any other purpose.

I mean, I'm willing to be reasonable on how to do it. But I have got to be able to have my full team help me with this. And that includes reviewing documents that are marked confidential, since every document is. So I guess for now, what I'd like to do is see if there's any way we can reach some agreement on that, before I go into these various categories and try and do it some different way. Because I think this -- it's way easier, and it impacts a lot fewer people if we do it this way.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you, Mr. Taylor. I mean, I'm certainly glad to hear that there's an agreement with respect to the client. Because if not, the order would have been that there's really no basis by which you can't share anything with the litigation trustee at this juncture.

But please, Mr. Hardy.

MR. HARDY: Thank you. Thank you, Your Honor.

Ryan Hardy for the defendants.

And as Mr. Taylor noted, we've been having ongoing discussions about this order, and I think that they've been productive. We have reached some agreements with respect to the 50 AEO documents as he described. As well, we have agreed that provided the Trustee has executed the protective order, the little attachment, that the Trustee can view AEO documents because that is in our estimation a manageable risk.

I do want to underscore though that our agreement there is limited to the Trustee himself. Our concern is that there's this trust oversight committee, and the trust oversight committee, unlike the plaintiff, is not composed of retired judges, right. It is composed of a UMB person and two Lifespace people. So naturally, we don't want the AEO documents getting to them.

So I think that this is workable. And I think -- Mr. Taylor, I think we're in agreement on that. From there, it gets a little bit trickier. And let me begin by saying, Mr. Taylor is right. That in the ordinary course, one does not need to disclose their consulting experts. I can't disagree with that. I mean, the rule is, in my view, a little bit more limited, right? It is a restriction on discovery of the opinions of consulting experts.

But in any event, this is not a case that's governed by the general rule. It is governed by the stipulated protective order. The stipulated protective order that everybody agreed to. The stipulated protective order that everybody has been following. And so when everybody else has needed to consult with an expert, they've done this disclosure.

And it's not just us. It's nonparties too, right? I mean, UMB designated documents as confidential, substantially all of them, as Mr. Taylor said. And before I forget, I agree with him that there's been some over inclusions, for good reason at the time, as you identified. But UMB did that. Edgemere did it. Lifespace obviously did it as well. As did the Point Group and everybody else.

So we have people who have been reliant on the terms of this protective order. And I don't think that it's appropriate to change the rules of the game now, after the productions have already been made, particularly when none of those folks are here -- well, actually, I think the UMB lawyer might have been on earlier -- but otherwise, none of those folks are here.

I think it's concerning and I don't think that it is a frivolous provision either, as is being suggested. It is part of the district court's form protective order, which suggests to me that somebody's given it some thought and it's used uncontroversially fairly frequently. I don't know that. I don't practice here all the time. But it's a local form, right. So there's that.

And then there's just the practical reality that when we have confidential information in play, this disclosure clause enables the disclosing parties, the producing parties, to keep track of where their information is, right? Without it, if there are slips, we can't track where they came from. And sometimes it's going to come up and be obvious, because it's going to be somebody putting a confidential document in front of a reporter at a deposition, right?

I'm there and I can see it, and we can be like, whoa, no, no, no. Like, stop. And we're dealing with that now. And we're going to see if we can't figure out some sort of separate nondisclosure agreement that she could sign.

But I do think that it's serving a valuable purpose, and it shouldn't be amended. And well, that's what I have to say about the request to amend the protective order. I think that it needs to remain in place, subject to the understanding where I think we both are. There needs to be a revisit made to the confidential designations.

THE COURT: Okay. Well, so what I will do, Mr. Taylor, unless you have anything further, I mean, we can look at individual document at this time. Obviously, only those of the defendants if you want to push this issue forward. If not, I think that what I hear Mr. Hardy saying is he'd like -- well, let me strike that.

I mean, I guess the question that I have then, Mr. Hardy, and as I understand your position, but this is a motion to amend the protective order. And so I guess my question is when you say -- I recognize that all the parties aren't here. But what do you want Mr. Taylor to file, if not a motion to amend the protective order?

MR. HARDY: I'm sorry. Maybe I wasn't clear. I'm saying that the motion to amend the protective order should be denied.

THE COURT: Oh, okay.

MR. HARDY: Yeah. I mean, we had some points of agreement, but that the protective order should be amended in the manner requested is not among them.

THE COURT: So you believe that, for example, a jury consultant, a trial consultant, you believe that they shouldn't be able to see what's probably going to be virtually all the documents in the case?

MR. HARDY: Well, that's not the request that's been made, Your Honor. If it was limited to jury consultants, for instance, that might be something that we can work with. But that's not the request that's been made. It's any consulting expert, and we don't know who that is. We don't know if it's Lifespace. We don't know if it is any other Kong competitor that might be out in the market. That's our concern. That's our worry. It's not some jury consultant who does this stuff all the time. I don't care about that.

THE COURT: I mean, because I'm looking at the list of documents. Similar to the way I looked at your lists of your documents in your motion, I'm looking at the list of documents that was set forth in Mr. Taylor's motion and documents between Kong and ICI before they -- before you entered into the 1231 agreement. Documents with Monument Group, the Dallas Morning News, other documents relating to a media campaign to facilitate the takeover plan. And I'm using obviously, the plaintiff's language. Tell me how those are confidential?

MR. HARDY: Well, Your Honor. Let me back up, because I think that I misunderstood an earlier question. I thought we were talking specifically about the amendment of the protective order. If we're moving into the question of whether these particular -- or these categories of documents ought to be de-designated, that's something to address separately.

THE COURT: Well, no, no. It's all part of the same motion. I mean --

MR. HARDY: Well, no. It is --

THE COURT: -- because we're either going to categorically -- I mean, we have to address whether or not it's time for modification. And I grant you, that it -- we should probably have UMB here. We should probably have the other folks who've signed on to the confidentiality order, who have produced documents, and say before we de-designate your documents, before we change the rules of the game of the entirety of the protective order, everyone should be here.

And I mean, I recognize this is coming to me on expedition. So there's that. But at the same point, I've got to -- we've got to get to the point where we're actually talking turkey. We're talking about the fact that we probably do have -- because this has come up at more than one time in the case, thousands upon thousands -- I bet of the 66,000 documents, we probably have a good 25,000 documents or more, it's up okay, that are marked as confidential. And there was a time for that. I'm just not sure that time is still here. And there isn't -- there is the ability under that order to change it. And so if the time is not now, when?

MR. HARDY: Sure. I understand. So with respect to your question about why are these categories --

THE COURT: Yeah.

MR. HARDY: -- of documents confidential? It's challenging to answer because it's not always entirely clear to us what documents fall into those categories. But let me say -- and I should amend that. The plaintiff did provide to us a link to the specific documents that would fall into that category -- into those categories two days ago, and we just haven't had time yet to review those. Right.

So I have to speak in generalities here a little bit. And what I can do is express my concern. And so for instance, one of the categories is communications between Kong, ICI and Levenfeld Pearlstein prior to a particular date, December, whatever it was. So those communications -- and I understand that there's been a holding that there was not a common legal interest.

THE COURT: Correct.

MR. HARDY: And consequently, there was no privilege.

THE COURT: Correct. Not to mention it was before that they were retained, but yeah.

MR. HARDY: Right. Right. But nonetheless, I think that in your review of those documents, I -- at least I hope you saw that everybody believed that this was confidential. These discussions were thought to be confidential. As it turned out, they were wrong. It wasn't privileged. Right.

But that was the expectation.

So sensitive information was discussed, was exchanged in those communications. And the fact that it was later held while there was no privilege, I don't think that answers it. There was sensitive information discussed. We're talking about Kong's modeling, and things like this. I mean, things that it uses to make sure that it has an edge over other players in this market. So I mean, yes, that is problematic for us.

Likewise, the other three categories relate broadly to this scheme to take over the Edgemere and kick out all the nice old people. It's very difficult for us to ascertain what those documents are because we don't acknowledge that any such scheme existed. That's never what was happening here.

What we had here was a situation where ICI had a lessee that was in default. And it needed to exercise its remedies or not under the lease, and it needed to be sure that if and when it did, there was a replacement operator so that they would not have to displace these people. So --

THE COURT: Well, I understood the entire safety net argument that was made --

MR. HARDY: Sure.

THE COURT: -- in the bankruptcy.

MR. HARDY: Okay.

THE COURT: And I understand what the counter argument of that is. My question is whether it's confidential?

MR. HARDY: And the answer is, there's nothing about that category itself that says it is or it isn't confidential. It just cannot be analyzed on that access. It could, depending on what the particular documents are, it could contain modeling. It could contain third-party communications to try to secure financing.

These are things that are generally contained within the realm of confidential documents. But these categories that have been identified, the theory seems to be that, oh, if they fall into this category, they're definitely not confidential. They couldn't be confidential. But it just doesn't work that way.

THE COURT: Okay. Well --

MR. HARDY: So that's our response there, and I suppose in the alternative, I guess I'll point this out. We do have ten days to respond under the protective order. They provided us with the documents two days ago.

THE COURT: Right.

MR. HARDY: So we at least have eight more days yet, and then the Local Rule 7.1 meet and confer.

THE COURT: So here's what we're going to do. If you want to discuss anything particularized today, then we will discuss only the particular documents. If not, we're going to carry the motion to November 21st at 9 -- at 9:30. We'll carry it with the other one. I forgot what we carried already, but

--

MS. VANDESTEEG: I believe that one's November 29th, at 9:30, in my notes anyway. And I have that down as the further meet and confer with respect to issues with respect to the FTI requests.

THE COURT: Okay. That's what I get for trying to look back at an old set of notes. Okay. So we'll carry this to -- I mean, unless you want to seek an earlier date, and --

MR. TAYLOR: Can I?

THE COURT: Please.

MR. TAYLOR: I'm happy to carry the motion. Because I think that if we're going to get to that point, I've already given them like 150, plus another 50 of documents that I'd say shouldn't have any designation on them at all.

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. TAYLOR: So if we're going to use a hearing to go through that, and have witnesses or whatever, then that's what we'll need to do. I'm hoping that we won't have to, but that's -- we can do that. But I am going to just ask one more time, that at least in the meantime, I can have consultants that work for me, at least look at documents that were produced by the defendants. That way we won't have to deal with UMB. We won't have to deal with some other third parties.

But if there's documents that have been produced by the defendants and marked confidential, I need to be able to show those to the people on my team. And so I would ask that we get that accommodation. And then I think we can probably work out almost everything else. But maybe I'm being too hopeful. That's my hope.

THE COURT: Mr. Hardy.

MR. HARDY: Thank you, Your Honor. Ryan Hardy.

Obviously, if our only concern about the proposed amendment to the protective order was its impact on third parties, we wouldn't be objecting. Of course, we're concerned about its impact on us. And here's why. In some ways, I think that Mr. Taylor and I have reached an impasse that probably can't be solved between us.

It is I am concerned that he's going to show confidential documents to consultants who are industry competitors, or who are otherwise poised to take advantage of that information. That could be solved by him telling me who the consultants are. But that disclosure is precisely what he objects to, because he's not required to make that disclosure under Civil Rule 26. Right. So you can see why we find ourselves at loggerheads here.

And where I break on it is, look, this is the order that's been in place. Everybody's been relying on it. It was stipulated. It should continue to bind. I mean, certainly, there's nothing in Rule 26 that mandates that one cannot agree as plaintiff's predecessor did, to disclose their consulting experts under a protective order. That's where we land on.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you, Mr. Hardy.

(Pause)

THE COURT: Well, at this juncture, I don't think that I can -- without seeing what documents that we're talking about, I don't know that I can understand the breadth of what the de-designation would be. Because as I said, looking at some of these documents, these categories of documents as were listed in the motion, I have a hard time understanding how they're confidential. Okay.

I do understand and I have put guardrails around Kong's modeling, for example. I think that is industry specific. And I don't know what types of consultants that we're talking about. I mean, I understand the general designation, but if it -- what's interesting to me is I'm not sure -- and obviously, you're still in the breadth of amending the complaint -- I'm not sure how Kong's modeling at all is going to necessarily be utilized, let's just say by the plaintiff, and if that's the kind of information that we're talking about.

So I think that what I'll need to -- I'll need to understand more directly, number one, what categories or types of documents we're talking about providing to a retained consultant. And then I would want to see exactly what language in the second amended stipulation that you're seeking to change.

And if you're seeking to change it, then I'd want everyone whose documents might be -- if you only want it for the defendants documents I understand that that's more mano y mano. But I need to understand the import on the entirety of the protective order. So we can do that today or we can reset and you guys can further confer on whether to amend the stipulated -- the second stipulated order or not.

MR. TAYLOR: Well, we're definitely going to do that.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. TAYLOR: We're definitely going to be conferring because between now and the next time we're here, hopefully, we'll figure out a way to get it resolved.

THE COURT: Right.

MR. TAYLOR: And I might even be able to -- I don't have it in front of me. The thing that everybody signs that says they understand the protective order.

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. TAYLOR: But we might can modify that language to say that whoever they are, they can't use it for anything that doesn't have to do with this case. Because his point about the fact that there's people on an oversight committee, I mean, I might not need to show these documents to such people immediately. But during the course of the case, if they're going to provide oversight, they're part of the client. And that was set up whenever the whole trust was set up.

THE COURT: Right.

MR. TAYLOR: So that's a known thing. And they have to be able to function. And to be able to function, they're going to have to be able to see some documents. So the main reason that I put this on today was so that we can be thinking about how can we solve this problem?

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. TAYLOR: I had a huge immediate problem on the attorneys eyes only thing, but now that that's solved at least --

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. TAYLOR: -- for my client, the one I needed to -- I need to be able to use my team. That's what I need.

THE COURT: Right.

MR. HARDY: Your Honor, may I correct the record on something that I said earlier? I'm sorry. It's --

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. HARDY: -- causing some heartburn. I intended to specify when I was discussing concerns about industry competitors, that we were concerned about Kong's industry competitors. ICI does not have industry competitors.

THE COURT: I understand.

MR. HARDY: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: I understood that based upon the prior issues, but I appreciate that.

MR. HARDY: Thank you.

THE COURT: Thank you.

(Pause)

THE COURT: All right. Here's what the Court's going to do. I don't feel comfortable taking a scalpel, more or less a blunt instrument, to the terms of the stipulated protective order in isolation. We can do one of things. We can -- you can either provide me with a redline of what you're looking for, okay, in terms of a change to this order, so that the other side can see it and that you guys can more meaningfully confer, I think on this.

There may be a way to get there with respect to certain types of consultants. And I would hope there would be. And there certainly should be a way to get past certain types of confidential information. I'm not trying to get you to discuss at length, your varying trial strategies and things of that nature, but I am trying to not on expedition and an extremely limited record to redo a confidentiality and protective order that has been in place for probably the better part of a year or two. So I'm just not comfortable doing it on a limited record.

I'm again, happy to see that the Attorneys Eyes Only issue has been worked through at least as it regards the Trustee. Given that the Trustee is part of a litigation oversight, I mean, a trust oversight board, I'll be honest with the defendant, you're going to have to do some talking there. Everyone can be subject to an NDA.

Everyone has their own fiduciary duties and duties to this Court that created them, as well as to the fact that they're -- so these issues, I'm not saying they should have been contemplated at the time of confirmation, but these boards were created. And at some point, they oversee the Trustee, and he has reporting obligations.

And so if there comes a time where counsel needs to report to the board as to what the litigation strategy is, whether you settle, whether you don't. All of the things that go into that, they may have to see certain things.

Now, do they have to see 40,000 documents? No. And that's why I think it's going to be important for there to be a reasonable list of what documents we're talking about. And also a better discussion of who it is, what types of firms. I'm not trying to expand the amount of disclosures necessary, nor retract them. But I'm not comfortable changing the rules of the game, like I said, on expedition on a limited notice.

So I'm going to ask the parties to continue to confer. You have a little bit of my thoughts, at least on the order. I am not -- I'll be frank with you, Mr. Hardy. I'm not as tied -- look, obviously, this isn't mine. This is what the parties agreed to. And as I and most other judges tend to do with these protective orders, if that's what you agree to, you live within these rules.

And I know that you weren't here when this -- when these decisions were made. But I also want to be cognizant that there's certain of these rules that make sense for a Bankruptcy Court to try a case. It's always been my understanding, with respect to -- from the defendants' perspective, that the intent is to take this to a district court and/or a jury at some point.

So with all of that, it probably does make sense to kind of consider that in light of where you guys are headed. But from the confidentiality perspective, I don't have to think. I know that everyone's been way overbroad with the confidential designation. But the defendants are not alone in that. And as you've probably seen, the plaintiffs have done that historically, as well. So I'm going to ask that you continue to confer.

If the 29th puts you too far out, Mr. Taylor, we can get you a date earlier than that, with the understanding that you're going to be hitting Thanksgiving week. But we, I think, probably have some time on the Monday. So you tell me where you want to go from here in terms of a further hearing. But I'm telling you that I want to know more. And I want you to confer more before I make a ruling on this.

MR. TAYLOR: Thank you, Your Honor. And I do want to confer further. One thing that I also would like for you and the other side to consider is perhaps we could de-designate confidential information, but make it into a new category that would just apply to the stuff that was de-designated that would say, you can't use it for a purpose outside of the litigation.

THE COURT: And I think that's definitely something for the parties to talk about. Is that something that like you said, that puts some handcuffs around how it could be used. But I think that that's probably something that the Levenfeld team would probably want to discuss with Kong very concretely, given that it is primarily their modeling and their confidential information at least in this regard that they're -- they don't want to leak out and what they can get comfortable with.

And if not, we come in and the Court decides that, and that's where I make the big bucks. But I think it's worth further discussion. I think that you now after this hearing, have a better idea of kind of where the bitmask is. And I certainly would appreciate you guys thoughtfulness and creativity in that regard.

What are you looking for, with that said, Mr. Taylor, in front of -- in terms of a further hearing? I've got time -- Tuesday the 14th seems quick. But I do have time on Monday the 20th. And then Monday the 27th, which is right after Thanksgiving. I'm not sure how many people are traveling and such. Although I would entertain seeing Ms. Vandesteeg's new travel location if you're going back to that cabin.

MS. VANDESTEEG: I don't know about that one this year, Your Honor.

MR. TAYLOR: So my answer to your question is we have the 29th as a failsafe.

THE COURT: Yes, and we have that.

MR. TAYLOR: And so what I'd kind of like to do, is see if I can talk to these guys and reach some agreement. And if it becomes clear that there's no way around it, then can I reach out to the Court and say, I'll --

THE COURT: Of course.

MR. TAYLOR: I'll take that date on the 20th.

THE COURT: Right. Yeah. So we're going to --

MR. TAYLOR: Why don't you intend to put me down for it?

THE COURT: Ms. Harden is next level Superman at her job. And so trust me, she's already probably booked a fair amount of time for you guys on the 29th. And so if you want it -- if you want to put it there, then it's going to -- it'll be set, but for now we'll just basically put that it's going to be carried without date, pending further reset.

MR. TAYLOR: Okay. And then also, if I end up sending you things to look at in advance, it'll have the whole sealed envelope and stuff.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. TAYLOR: Okay.

THE COURT: And obviously, anything that you send to me, obviously copied to the other side.

MR. TAYLOR: Right. Of course.

THE COURT: Anything else, ladies and gentlemen?

MR. HARDY: Your Honor, thank you for granting my pro hac motion. Appreciate you having me in your court today. Nothing further for the defendant.

THE COURT: Absolutely.

MR. TAYLOR: I was going to make a comment, because you were looking askance at me about having complained previously about the length of status conferences. And I was going to say, well, I wasn't complaining. I was just observing. But now I've decided, I think I was complaining. Thanks very much. Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: You're very welcome. All right. So with that, the Court will -- before I adjourn, obviously, I know that there -- I'd ask that you guys and counsel for Lifespace work together on the various orders. I will try to do to give you my help via my minutes. You'll see orders come out on your motions to clarify in the supplemental orders.

With respect to Houlihan and in camera, those are going to be entered today. In fact, the one on the in camera and Houlihan documents is already in my box. The one with respect to the motion to clarify I've already drafted as we discussed on the record. The dates will be provided the amended privilege and redaction log by the 17th and the documents by the 28th. But there will be a little bit further clarification and adjustment in there. But other than that, court will stand adjourned for the day. Safe travels.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE CLERK: All rise.

MR. TAYLOR: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: I'll be on the bench for a minute.

(Proceedings adjourned at 2:53 p.m.)

(Proceedings commenced at 9:35 a.m.)

THE CLERK: All rise. The United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas Dallas Division is now in session; the Honorable Michelle Larson presiding.

THE COURT: Please be seated.

Good morning, everyone.

COUNSEL: Good morning.

THE COURT: We are here in our 9:30 docket. We have one matter on the docket this morning, and that's Case Number 22-3040, Leif Clark versus Intercity Investment and Kong Capital. I'll take appearances for the record.

MR. TAYLOR: Greg Taylor and Drew Jones for the Trustee.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Good morning, Your Honor.

Elizabeth Vandesteeg, Eileen Sethna, and Ryan Hardy of Levenfeld Pearlstein on behalf of both adversary defendants, Inner City Investment Properties, Inc., and Kong Capital, LLC.

MR. WALKER: Good morning, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Good morning.

MR. WALKER: Eric Walker on behalf of Lifespace Communities, a non-party in the adversary proceeding. With me today virtually are my colleagues, Christopher Andrews and Sam Rabuck of the Cooley Law Firm. And we also have with us this morning our new co-counsel on this matter, Mr. James Muenker of DLA Piper.

THE COURT: You look familiar, sir.

MR. MUENKER: It's good to see you again, Your Honor. Good morning.

THE COURT: It's nice to see you.

MR. MUENKER: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. Let me take one look at the electronic roll, and it looks like the electronic role is just announcements that Mr. Walker already made, Mr. Sam Rabuck, Christopher Andrews, and Mr. Matthew Kutcher.

All right. Is there anyone else on WebEx who would like to make an appearance this morning?

And if you're on the phone, you can press *6 to unmute.

(No audible response)

THE COURT: All right. Hearing no further takers, Mr. Hardy?

MR. HARDY: Good morning, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Good morning.

MR. HARDY: Ryan Hardy for the defendants. Thank you for hearing us today. Unless the Court prefers that we proceed otherwise, what I'd like to do is give a brief update on where matters stand following the November 9th orders, there was a number of productions made, and then move into some agreements that we have and what I think are some fairly limited areas of dispute that remain.

THE COURT: Agreements are new.

MR. HARDY: Agreements are new. I don't want to oversell it too much, but --

THE COURT: Uh-oh.

MR. HARDY: -- I think they're material.

So as noted in the agenda, Your Honor, it appears that all of the productions required under the November 9th orders have been made. I say it appears because we're still working through the productions ourselves, and we're expecting to receive a further amended privilege log. The one that we received back on the 17th still included some references to UMB and Mintz Levin documents, the Pointe Group, folks like that.

I have conferred with Mr. Walker this morning, and I understand that a forthcoming privilege log will confirm that in fact those documents have been produced except with I understand a pretty limited subset that are in queue for production today?

MR. WALKER: That's correct, Your Honor. Eric Walker on behalf of Lifespace.

It's a total of five documents that were just stragglers that we're producing by the end of the week, and then we're taking all of those entries off the log. They're kind of Legacy entries for documents that were already produced that just slipped through the cracks on the review. So we're going to clean it up and send a fourth amended privilege log by the end of the week.

THE COURT: Fair enough. Thank you.

MR. WALKER: Thank you.

MR. HARDY: Your Honor, in conferring with Mr. Jones of the Diamond McCarthy team earlier this morning as well, I understand that there will be an additional forthcoming production of communications with Rachel Chesley of FTI, their PR person. So that will be forthcoming, also.

Those November 9th orders required also that the parties meet and confer on three topics. The first was whether any communications with FTI are properly withheld and, if so, which ones. As I've previewed for you, we have a partial agreement there. We still have some more work to do, though.

The second is whether any communications with GrayRobinson, counsel to Edgemere's board of directors, are properly withheld and, if so, which ones; and, third, whether Lifespace's post-petition turnover of documents to Edgemere served to waive the attorney-client privilege and work-product protection.

So we did meet and confer on a couple of occasions, first, by telephone with the Diamond McCarthy team on I believe it was the 17th, and then upon Mr. Walker's return on Monday, we conferred with the Diamond McCarthy team and the Cooley team on Monday. And we have some agreement, not total agreement.

I understand that we have agreement that communications with third parties other than FTI and GrayRobinson are due to be produced, so that's including the UMB, Paddock, Point Group, Ground Floor Media communications, and their respective counsel. I understand as expressed already that those productions already have been completed or are in the works and forthcoming.

To be clear, that agreement about third-party disclosures again other than with respect to FTI and GrayRobinson extends not only to those documents originally produced or withheld by Lifespace and Edgemere but also to those originally produced or withheld by FTI and Sidley, which Your Honor will recall, as we were resolving things at the last one, FTI and Sidley turned over their documents to plaintiff so that we could have the argument with plaintiff rather than with these third parties.

THE COURT: Fair enough.

MR. HARDY: So, for instance, I spoke with Mr. Taylor's firm about the Sidley privilege log and we walked through that document-by-document except for the ones that I confusingly highlighted to show which ones I was not challenging.

(Laughter)

MR. HARDY: And his firm then produced what I understand to be a full production of, for instance, all the documents that were sent or received by anybody with a UMB.com or the Mintz.com domains. So we've been working through that, and our expectation is that other than FTI and GrayRobinson, communications with third parties are going to be produced.

So as I said, we do still have some disagreements and I'll dive into those. You'll recall, Your Honor, that a number of the documents on the combined Edgemere-Lifespace privilege log identified no counsel as sending or receiving the communications. We've been referring to them as the no-counsel communications. As expressed before, we understand that the absence of counsel is not dispositive. They still could be relaying legal advice or mental impressions of counsel. But there's a lot of them, and we're frankly skeptical that all of them do.

So in consultation with the plaintiff, what we propose to do with the Court's approval would be to select some of those documents for delivery to identify to the plaintiff and the plaintiff would then deliver them to the court for in-camera review.

THE COURT: I'm about to hire a court discovery expert in this case, I tell you what. I do love in-camera documents, though. What can I say? Oh goodness.

MR. HARDY: So in our discussions, we had discussed 50 as being the number, but I don't want to assume that that's going to be acceptable to the Court.

THE COURT: So 50 on the no-counsel issue?

MR. HARDY: Correct.

THE COURT: Okay. And what is the sample size? I mean, excuse me, what is the -- how many documents on the privilege log are noted as privileged but have no counsel on the stip?

MR. HARDY: So the last time we ran the count, it was a little over six -- it was over 600.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARDY: I haven't re-run the count since we got the amended, but from a glance, it doesn't look like it materially changed.

THE COURT: Okay. Fifty seems fine, then. I imagine there's some dupes in there.

MR. HARDY: Probably so.

Second, there are the GrayRobinson communications and Lifespace's post -- what we characterize as Lifespace's post-petition waiver.

THE COURT: Right.

MR. HARDY: You will probably not be surprised to learn that the parties do not agree on that score.

THE COURT: And correct me if I'm wrong, have I seen any briefing on those issues yet, Mr. Hardy?

MR. HARDY: No.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARDY: So in looking over the last transcript, what we saw was in fact you did ask for supplemental briefing.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARDY: And so during the course of our meet and confers, we raised that issue. And here's where we are. The defendants are prepared to file their briefing on those issues by Friday.

THE COURT: December 1st?

MR. HARDY: That's correct.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARDY: Lifespace has requested, and I suppose plaintiff too, has requested 21 days to respond, followed up by an evidentiary hearing in January. We have concerns about that timetable naturally because we have a close of discovery in January and we still have depositions to do. So we would like to compress that schedule a fair bit, but we recognize as well that the Court will likely be expecting to receive evidence on this. And I don't want to purport to set an evidentiary hearing without the Court's buy-in.

So what we would like to do, when I say we, I'm saying the defendants here, like to do would be to set it for an evidentiary hearing in mid-December, but I understand from Mr. Walker that there may be witness availability issues and things like that that he can speak to better than I.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you. Do you want a break and I'll hear from Mr. Walker now?

MR. HARDY: I think that makes sense, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Please, Mr. Walker.

MR. WALKER: Thank you, Your Honor. Eric Walker for Lifespace. We did have a meet and confer on Monday, as Mr. Hardy mentioned. We did discuss, after reviewing the transcript from the last hearing, it was very clear that the Court said if we're going to -- if the defendants are going to challenge and try to bust the entire privilege that Lifespace has asserted here, we're going to need briefing on that issue, we're going to need to try that issue.

As the Court can appreciate, that's a serious issue for my client, Lifespace. So we would like an adequate opportunity to make sure we fully brief it and also have time to prepare our witnesses, to present our witness at an evidentiary hearing. So in looking at the calendar, considering the holidays that are approaching, we thought that three weeks was more than reasonable to give us an opportunity to review their brief. We've asked them for legal authority on this position. We haven't received any yet. They say they're going to file their brief on Friday.

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. WALKER: That's fair. We'd like three weeks to review it and then prepare our brief in response. And that brings us to December 22nd, of course, the holidays right there, end of year. And so we thought finding a time that would be acceptable for the Court sometime in January to conduct the evidentiary hearing made sense for a timetable from Lifespace's perspective.

THE COURT: Okay. Thank you, Mr. Walker.

MR. WALKER: I just don't see frankly how we could rush to an evidentiary hearing sometime in the next week or two on an issue of this magnitude.

THE COURT: Okay. I appreciate that.

MR. WALKER: Thank you.

THE COURT: Mr. Hardy?

MR. HARDY: Thank you, Your Honor. Ryan Hardy for the defendants. We can certainly appreciate Mr. Walker's position, and it's not our intention at all to jam anybody up. This has been a live issue for some time and, of course, it came up on November 9th. As the party with the obligation to support its assertion of privilege and protection, we would have expected that Lifespace would already know the bases and be prepared to present testimony on that even without our briefing. But what I'm hearing is that that's not the case.

We would request an evidentiary hearing, if there's going to be one, in mid-December, understanding of course that it's up to --

THE COURT: Yes, in mid-December, I mean the issue right now that I have, Mr. Hardy, is mid-December is my trial week.

MR. HARDY: Sure.

THE COURT: And the way that we work logistically is we have a -- and you may know this, you may not know this, but we have a trial docket call the week ahead of our trial week and we find out if cases are trial ready. And so I don't know today if I have -- I know at least I have maybe four adversaries that are set for trial the week of December 11th, but I don't know if anything is going to go yet and if those are going to be two-day trials, if they're going to be -- I doubt I have a week-long trial during that week.

But all that to say I tend to agree with Mr. Walker on this one that it does seem rather quick to have this briefed and ready to go for an evidentiary hearing the week of the 11th. And the only good news in this is I'm glad that folks are talking about an evidentiary hearing because I do believe that that's important in this case, both with respect to the GrayRobinson issue.

I've touched on this in the bankruptcy at least one time with respect to GrayRobinson as being counsel to the board members, as I recall. And I think that the issue of whether or not Lifespace essentially, I think to take your words, busting privilege by handing over the documents post-petition is a considerable one. And so I want to give that the time that it should have.

And so I think that what I -- I could probably -- let me -- I'm going to speak out loud to Ms. Harden who is listening in. I think I can give you something the first non-holiday week of January, which is the week of the 8th.

So I'll take a look and see what I have that week.

MR. WALKER: I guess, Your Honor --

THE COURT: She'll probably respond and say I'm still waiting for you to approve the calendars, so.

(Laughter)

THE COURT: Mr. Walker.

MR. WALKER: Yeah, thank you. Eric Walker for Lifespace. I think one potential recommendation is maybe we get two potential evidentiary hearing dates and then we can go back to our witnesses and figure out.

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. WALKER: I just don't have their --

THE COURT: Right.

MR. WALKER: -- calendar in front of me, so if we could get one or two or maybe even three options, then we can --

THE COURT: Okay. So --

MR. WALKER: -- we can figure out which one's going to work.

THE COURT: Ms. Harden has reminded me that the week of the 8th is also my trial week. It's my trial week in January, and I have three matters up for hearing. Let me look at those right quick.

The answer is let's take a step back. You guys need a day, right?

MR. HARDY: I can't imagine it would take more than a day.

MR. WALKER: I agree with that, yeah.

THE COURT: Okay. All right. So I am fairly certain that even if I were to have something that's ready to go in January, which would be a rarity, that I couldn't carve out a day that week. So why don't you get with -- obviously get together, get some dates, talk to your witnesses and things of that nature.

And get with Ms. Harden and see if you can request one day between the 8th and the 12th of January for a hearing. And then she'll get back with me and we will see -- even if it's a Wednesday, if I have to do a trial for two days and handle you guys and come back on Thursday, I could do that. So let's do that.

And then in terms of a briefing schedule, I'll allow the parties to essentially work it out if you're going to file on the 1st, if they would like 21 days, and when your response deadline would be, so long as your response deadline if you want to file a reply, in other words, so long as it's a couple two, three days before the hearing, it will be fine with the Court. So whatever works for you. I recognize your team's holidays have been ruined at least once, so -- last year.

MR. HARDY: Thank you, Your Honor. I think that's clear. So we will coordinate with the Court to locate a date that first non-holiday week of January. We will work with our witnesses to make sure there's availability, and we will collaborate on a briefing schedule that ensures that the non-movants will have 21 days to respond. And to the extent we are going to reply, that reply will be filed at least I think you said three days before the --

THE COURT: Yes.

MR. HARDY: -- evidentiary hearing.

THE COURT: Exactly. So if you could file it by maybe like the 4th, I would appreciate it. But, again, the parties can just work out when that deadline will be. That's fine with me.

So when is the close of fact discovery?

MR. HARDY: I believe it's January 26th.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARDY: January 26th.

THE COURT: All right. Again, so the more time that I have with your reply brief, the better because that is hopefully the more likely that I would be prepared to be able to rule from the bench that day, given where the close of fact discovery is and kind of keep things moving. And we'll do our best to endeavor to do that. It is an evidentiary hearing, though, so I always have to --

MR. HARDY: Of course.

THE COURT: -- recognize that I may not be prepared to rule that day.

MR. HARDY: Fully understood, Your Honor. Thank you.

So that brings us to the third area where we still had some outstanding matters, and that is with respect to the FTI communications.

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. HARDY: As mentioned, we do have some limited agreement as to Rachel Chesley which was welcome and -- I'm sorry, I've been passed a note.

THE COURT: Uh-oh.

MR. HARDY: Your Honor, I'd like to return to the prior issue just briefly.

THE COURT: Uh-huh.

MR. HARDY: In light of that January 26th close of fact discovery, we have as of earlier this week solicited deposition dates for some corporate designees and some fact witnesses, and there may be some overlap there. We were aiming, we hope to take those in December.

But if there's obviously a potential for a significant document production in January in light of this, we question whether it would make sense to begin those depositions in December and leave them open so that in the event that there is a document production in January, we can follow up and ask about new documents that may be produced. I understand you're hearing this for the first time right. Mr. Walker is too.

THE COURT: And Mr. Taylor.

MR. HARDY: And Mr. Taylor. But as a conceptual matter, I think that that's something that we're going to need to be able to do in order to keep with the current fact schedule. Otherwise, I just don't see how we can jam in all these depositions in January because, I assume at some point, the plaintiff is going to want to take some also.

THE COURT: Mr. Taylor, anything to add on this topic?

MR. TAYLOR: I don't have anything to add today since I'm -- I'm aware of the issue that January 26th is pressing. And so my plan is to see how far we get. And then when we get -- if we're going to have to do something to push that date, I'll probably be reasonable and I would like to be able to approach the Court. But I mean since we haven't talked about it at all --

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. TAYLOR: -- I'm unwilling at this juncture of the case to push the trial, but we might be able to push a deadline or two like that --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. TAYLOR: -- just because there's still plenty of time between now and September whenever the trial is, so. I'm going to be reasonable, but I don't think it's reasonable to have people give depositions twice. So I'm going to be against that proposal. But that doesn't mean we can't figure out some way around it.

THE COURT: Right. And there's lots of ways I'm sure -- you guys work your litigation magic and take depositions that may not require these documents and things of that nature. So there's that. There's also the point of realism that we need to get to is I have had an opportunity to review the amended complaint, the answer, and the amended counterclaims and, as we know, recognizing that the defendants have not consented to the entry of final orders by this Court.

So at some point, I'll prepare this case for trial most likely, and then it will be sent to the District Court. So September is a placeholder for this Court, and we will prepare and push that way, but we're recognizing that at some point, we would have to get on a District Court's calendar. And I'm not sure it's September is what I'm telling you.

So with that, I think that we -- I'm not encouraging folks to push dates. I just want to say that out loud, as well as I do think, Mr. Hardy, I mean obviously I'm not going to move a deadline today. But it is something to consider. We'll have to consider, number one, the breadth of the documents, who the potential deponents are, and whether or not these documents are necessary for every single deponent and maybe you front in some.

But, again, it's part of the magic that you guys do, so, of the order of depositions and what. So I don't want to get in the sauce.

MR. HARDY: I understand, Your Honor. Thank you.

Moving again, then, to the FTI communications.

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. HARDY: As noted, we have agreement on Rachel Chesley's. The bigger point of disagreement, and I'm going to veer from the update portion of this into the argument portion of this, is communications with FTI's Chad Shandler --

THE COURT: Right.

MR. HARDY: -- who you might recall was FTI's lead and served as financial advisor to the debtor, both pre-petition and post-petition. In the defendants' view, Mr. Shandler's communications are due to be produced for a few reasons.

The first one is that many of them pre-date any reasonable anticipation of litigation, so to the extent there's a work product claim advanced over them, they should be -- that should be overruled and they should be produced nonetheless. These communications, Your Honor, go all the way back to February 2021, over a year before the petition date. So we cannot believe that that was done in anticipation of litigation.

The second is that according to Mr. Shandler's testimony, including for instance his declaration at ECF 657 in the main case, he and FTI served as financial adviser to Edgemere. And it stands to reason that a fair number of his communications are primarily business communications rather than legal ones. So again, we've talked about this distinction before. You've done some in-camera review on a similar issue before. It's that same thing where he's primarily for legal purposes or primarily for business purposes because this is a financial adviser we're talking about, after all.

The third is that Mr. Shandler was a testifying expert for Edgemere in the main bankruptcy case, so his communications and those of his colleagues are discoverable under Civil Rule 26(b)(4)(C) to the extent that they identify facts or data provided to FTI that were considered in forming his opinions or identified assumptions provided to FTI that were considered in forming his opinions.

And those opinions and the subject matter of his testimony were very broad. I mean that declaration that I referenced a moment ago at 657 which is in support of a motion to extend exclusivity identified that Mr. Shandler had been serving as FA since February of 2021. He had reviewed the financial statements of the debtor, observed management in his daily business, discussed the business with employees and debtors' counsel and boards of directors, that the facts in his declaration were based on his personal knowledge and his discussion with employees and directors, et cetera, his review of the books and records.

And he goes on to testify through that declaration that the debtors anticipated post-petition operating losses in part as a result of pre-petition actions and misconduct of Intercity Investment Properties, Inc. and Kong Capital, LLC, as alleged in the adversary complaint against defendants. And he goes on to explain that since before the petition date and since, the debtors have evaluated various models and explored multiple alternatives for reorganization and that they need finally more time because this was a motion to exclude exclusivity -- extend exclusivity.

So we have an exceptionally broad scope of testimony subject matter and an exceptionally broad scope of what he relied on to reach those conclusions. And in our estimation, that means that substantially all of his communications, if not all of them given the breadth of this, are discoverable under Civil Rule 26. So --

THE COURT: But before you go on, Mr. Hardy, because I want to understand what the big ask is here, is it your position that any time Mr. Shandler is on a communication that it's not privileged or are you talking about so, for example, if it is -- I recognize that Sidley was pre-petition counsel for some time -- if it's Tom Califano and Chad Shandler talking, are you saying that it's busted because it's Chad Shandler or are you saying that if it's only Chad Shandler and other people, then there's no privilege? I need to understand what we're talking about.

MR. HARDY: No, I understand. And it's the former, Your Honor. It is both with counsel and without counsel, the reason being that in Mr. Shandler's own telling, his opinions were based on, among other things, his discussions with debtors' counsel. And to the extent that those discussions form the basis for his opinions or provided assumptions that he used in forming his opinions, then they are fair game.

What we don't have, Your Honor, is of course because we never would is access to these to assess them ourselves.

THE COURT: Of course.

MR. HARDY: But given the breadth of what Mr. Shandler was testifying to and given the breadth of what he says he relied on in reaching those opinions, it strikes us that all of these communications are subject to discovery.

THE COURT: Well, I'm going to tell you I doubt it. I'm just laying it out there because I believe that there are going to be -- and this is as much for both sides. I believe there are going to be some communications that Mr. Shandler is on with counsel that are going to be privileged. And I believe because they are going to deal with legal strategy.

I mean I can't divorce what I know about FAs and bankruptcy work from a litigation discussion. And an FA, especially in the role that Mr. Shandler played in this particular play, he is going to be on communications, he is going to be in the room when legal strategy is being discussed and he is going to be a player in that. And I think and likely those would still be privileged.

With that said, if Mr. Shandler is on communications and it's about how many linens we're going to order for the dining room and he's dealing with ops issues, finance issues, well, we're getting in a different area. So I believe that there is going to be a continuum. And so a wholesale production, I don't know that you're going to get me there, Mr. Hardy. But I do believe you've certainly brought up some issues that the anticipation of litigation issue, that's an evidentiary issue.

And I don't think you're going to get me to say that it's absolutely not anticipation of litigation because I don't know that it's ever been before me over the course of the couple of years of this case of whether or not there was a bankruptcy filing that was anticipated any other time and whether or not that might be anticipation of litigation. I don't know. Maybe it's not. Maybe they were just in a true financial advisory role at that time.

So the long story short is before I'm going to be prepared to rule on an FTI issue, do we have full briefing on this? I don't recall that we do. Maybe I'm wrong. I know that there was some issue because, as I recall, there was like Lifespace should retain FTI. Is that correct, Mr. Walker? No. Sidley had retained --

MR. WALKER: Correct.

THE COURT: -- FTI. My bad. Okay.

MR. HARDY: Right.

THE COURT: So please, go ahead.

MR. HARDY: No, I understand where you are. You asked a question as to whether the issue --

THE COURT: Yes, thank you.

MR. HARDY: -- had been briefed. It had been in an earlier iteration. What you're hearing now is topics that were discussed during the meet-and-confer process --

THE COURT: And confer, okay. That makes sense.

MR. HARDY: -- right as we had more clarity on what it was that we were disputing and then what it is we're not. So you raised a fair point there, and I suppose what I can propose to do would be to add FTI to the list of the post-petition disclosure and the GrayRobinson documents and we could take it up. We have an evidentiary hearing that's going to be set. We could take it up at the same time, perhaps --

THE COURT: Let me --

MR. HARDY: -- time permitting.

THE COURT: Let me hear from the other folks, Mr. Hardy, and then we'll talk about how to approach next steps.

Mr. Taylor.

MR. TAYLOR: I don't think we've fully conferred about these issues.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. TAYLOR: We have started talking about it. And as a result of the beginnings of our discussions, you've heard this. Some of this stuff that I'm hearing today and the reasons why they want the FTI documents, if we talked about them previously, I guess I didn't hear it.

What needs to happen from my perspective is I need to call up Mr. Chandler --

THE COURT: Shandler.

MR. TAYLOR: -- and talk to him about what was going on and what he thinks about the issues. And then we'll go back and look. I need to figure out some way to narrow down which documents to start looking at, if there's a lot of them, so that we can make a view on whether this stuff can be turned over or not, because I share your view that I think it's very unlikely that there should be a wholesale here's everything FTI has.

THE COURT: Right.

MR. TAYLOR: So I need a way to be able to do it. As far as -- because the issues may involve these evidentiary issues that may have to be part of an evidentiary hearing, I don't have any problem with having such a hearing. I don't have any problem with briefing. I don't think we filed a brief on this issue.

THE COURT: Well, this issue goes back last year in the same pleading that dealt with some of the Lifespace issues that's been percolating. I mean, essentially there was a swath of maybe like seven different things. There were the Houlihans, the FTIs, UMBs, all of these things were kind of teed up at one time. I don't know that we've ever received fulsome briefing on this. If we have, I don't recall seeing it. But, again, there's been a lot of discovery disputes --

MR. TAYLOR: What I --

THE COURT: -- so I could have missed on.

MR. TAYLOR: What I would like to do is talk to them to make sure I understand --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. TAYLOR: -- exactly which of these issues that they're pressing, then brief those issues, really.

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. TAYLOR: And then if we have to have a hearing, then we'll have a hearing.

THE COURT: Sure. Well, again, I'll allow the parties to confer. I think that essentially the defendants have probably crystallized their arguments with respect, at least as Mr. Hardy laid out at least three issues, and to confer further. And if this is something that, A, the parties want to go in camera or, B, that the parties want to have the evidentiary hearing, then I'll have you confer on that.

If it's an in-camera, then contact the Court and we'll see if we can work that out through the Court's courtroom deputy. If it is further briefing and a hearing, then I'll allow y'all to discuss that at the same time that we're talking about the GrayRobinson and the post-petition turnover issue. All right?

MR. TAYLOR: Thank you.

THE COURT: Thank you, Mr. Taylor.

And as I understand it, this is not a Lifespace issue. Thank you.

Mr. Hardy.

MR. HARDY: Thank you, Your Honor.

In light of that, I think what I'm going to do, there was a third reason that we considered there needed to be production --

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. HARDY: -- of FTI documents. And that was those that included Lifespace's outside counsel.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARDY: That touches on common-interest questions.

THE COURT: Sure.

MR. HARDY: And I think given what you just said, it's probably best that we --

THE COURT: Yeah.

MR. HARDY: -- yeah, treat that with the other thing. So we'll go ahead and do that. I'll speak with Mr. Taylor and, given Lifespace outside counsel on that one, I'll talk to Mr. Walker about it, also.

In that instance, that concludes the defendants' agenda items. Mr. Taylor has his protective order issue. I assume that he prefers to speak first on that. So unless the Court has questions for me at this point, I'm going to go sit down for a moment.

THE COURT: I don't think I do. I think that -- I had had an opportunity to review the agenda, I appreciate that, prior to the hearing. And so I appreciate you walking me through that and where the other meet and confers have led us.

With respect to -- so where we landed when you were talking about the -- on the one thing that I don't think that I put a date to is on the ex parte documents on the no-counsel documents. So 50 documents is fine. Did we land on a date for that?

MR. HARDY: Your Honor, I don't think we did.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARDY: Before I sent over a list of documents to the plaintiff, I wanted to make sure that we had the number pinned up.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. HARDY: But we can go ahead and get that done this week. And I think last time it was a week after that they were submitted to the Court. If that works Mr. Taylor?

MR. TAYLOR: Fine.

THE COURT: Okay. All right.

MR. HARDY: So submission by next Friday.

THE COURT: All right.

MR. HARDY: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Merry Christmas, Court.

(Laughter)

THE COURT: All right. Mr. Taylor.

MR. TAYLOR: I'm going to give you a good Christmas present. Pretty good, not completely as good as it could be but better than most.

So I delivered to the Court yesterday --

THE COURT: Yes.

MR. TAYLOR: -- confidential information. It's got a big stamp on it --

THE COURT: Got it.

MR. TAYLOR: -- that says how confidential it has to be. I had to follow the --

THE COURT: Super confidential.

MR. TAYLOR: I had to follow the protective order just to get this, and I don't even know what it means no prejudice, but that's required by the order so here it is.

I sent this over. I --

THE COURT: Before you go further, Mr. Taylor, do we need to close the hearing?

MR. TAYLOR: Yes. Oh, yes, we do.

THE COURT: Okay. I thought we did. Okay. And Ms. Jeng was on it.

Okay. Let's see, we've got a lot of Lifespace folks. I don't recognize the name "Dragic" (phonetic).

Ms. Vandesteeg.

MR. DRAGIC: Hi, Your Honor. Yes, I'm with Kong Capital.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: Your Honor, point of precision, however. Mr. Dragic is a recent addition. We have not yet brought him under the guise of the protective order.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. VANDESTEEG: So, unfortunately, for this, he will need to be excluded.

THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Dragic, if you could disconnect for this, I'd appreciate it.

All right. I recognize Mr. Blythe, Mr. Jordan,

Mr. Hannon.

THE CLERK: Everyone else is --

THE COURT: Oh well, then thank you, Ms. Jeng. She's ahead of me, again. All right.

MR. HARDY: Pardon me, Your Honor. I ask just because I don't know. Is DLA Piper under the protective order yet?

MR. MUENKER: Do you want me to sign it?

MR. HARDY: Yeah, okay.

THE COURT: Okay. All right.

MR. WALKER: Can we make a representation?

MR. MUENKER: Yeah, Your Honor. I'm happy to sign it. I have not seen the protective order. I just subbed in on Monday.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. MUENKER: But as counsel for Lifespace, I'm happy to sign it.

THE COURT: All right. Any concerns, Mr. Hardy?

MR. HARDY: Yes, many. But in light of the representation and provided that a signature is forthcoming.

THE COURT: Okay. If you could get that to me by the of the day, Mr. Muenker, I would appreciate it.

MR. MUENKER: Will do, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Thank you. To the extent that it comes back I'd say to me. If you could get it signed by the end of the day, I would appreciate that.

MR. MUENKER: Yeah.

THE COURT: Thank you.

INTRODUCTION[2]

On April 14, 2022, Edgemere and SQLC commenced their Chapter 11 Cases, seeking relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. The major constituencies in these Chapter 11 Cases have reached a global resolution which is set forth in this Fourth Amended Chapter 11 Plan of the Plan Sponsors Dated February 17, 2023 (as may be further amended, supplemented, or otherwise modified from time to time, the "Plan"). This Plan is supported by the following parties (collectively, the "Plan Supporters"): (i) UMB Bank, N.A., in its capacity as successor bond trustee and master trustee for the Original Bonds (together, the "Trustee"), (ii) UMB Bank, N.A., in its capacity as lender under the DIP Credit Agreement (the "DIP Lender" and, together with the Trustee, the "Initial Plan Sponsors"), (iii) Northwest Senior Housing Corporation d/b/a Edgemere ("Edgemere"), (iv) Senior Quality Lifestyles Corporation ("SQLC" and together with Edgemere, the "Debtors" and together with the Initial Plan Sponsors, the "Plan Sponsors"), (v) Lifespace Communities, Inc. ("Lifespace"), and (vi) the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors (the "Committee"). The Plan Sponsors propose this Plan pursuant to Bankruptcy Code sections 1125 and 1129 for the resolution of outstanding Claims against, and Interests in, the Debtors.

Reference is made to the Disclosure Statement for a discussion of the Debtors' history and assets, a summary and analysis of this Plan, and certain related matters, including the Distributions to be made under this Plan and the risk factors relating to consummation of this Plan. Other than materials approved by separate order of the Court, no materials other than the Disclosure Statement, this Plan, the Plan Supplement, and any and all exhibits and/or schedules attached thereto or hereto have been authorized by the Plan Sponsors for use in soliciting votes of acceptance with respect to this Plan.

Copies of this Plan and the Disclosure Statement and all other documents related to the Chapter 11 Cases are available for review without charge, on the website for the Chapter 11 Cases at: https://kccllc.net/edgemere.

This Plan will implement the Sale Transaction, pursuant to which substantially all the Debtors' assets will be sold to the Purchaser that will continue running the Community as a going concern. A Purchaser has been selected by the Plan Sponsors and the parties have agreed to an Asset Purchase Agreement that was approved by the Bankruptcy Court, subject to higher and better bids, including through a potential Auction, pursuant to the Bidding Procedures Order. The Purchaser has offered to purchase the Community for $48.5 million, subject to certain adjustments set forth in the Asset Purchase Agreement. The remaining assets of the Estates shall be transferred to a Litigation Trust to be liquidated for the benefit of holders of Litigation Trust Interests.

Consultants have concluded that the Community cannot continue to operate solely as an entrance fee community. An entrance fee model, in the opinion of such consultants, is not feasible and will exacerbate the financial struggles of Edgemere. Accordingly, the Asset Purchase Agreement contemplates the conversion of the Community to a rental model. Pursuant to the Asset Purchase Agreement, all Residency Agreements will be rejected and, subject to regulatory approvals and/or requirements, all Current Residents will be offered a new monthly rental agreement which shall provide similar services to Current Residents as provided prior to the Closing Date.

This Plan will also establish a Litigation Trust, as noted above. With the exception of Residents Trust Assets, all assets of the Debtors not purchased through the Sale Transaction, including the Landlord Litigation and other Retained Causes of Action, will be transferred to the Litigation Trust. The Litigation Trustee will prosecute and liquidate the Litigation Trust Assets, with the proceeds from such liquidation distributed on a Pro Rata basis to Holders of Allowed General Unsecured Claims pursuant to the terms and conditions of this Plan and the Litigation Trust Agreement, a draft of which has been included in the Plan Supplement.

This Plan includes a settlement of all potential Estate, Trustee, DIP Lender and Resident claims against Lifespace in exchange for (i) a $16.5 million payment to the Trustee on the Effective Date for Distribution to current holders of the Original Bonds, pursuant to the terms of the Original Bond Documents, and (ii) subject to certain conditions, annual payments made into a Residents Trust, pursuant to the schedule attached to the Disclosure Statement as Exhibit 4, which funds shall be used to pay Participating Residents for Refund Claims as further described herein. In exchange for the Lifespace Resident Contributions and the consensual releases provided under Section 8 of this Plan, Lifespace will be entitled to a Pro Rata distribution of Litigation Trust Assets, in accordance with the terms of this Plan and the Litigation Trust Agreement.

NOTWITHSTANDING ANYTHING HEREIN, OR IN THIS PLAN, OR IN ANY OTHER AGREEMENT OR DISCLOSURE TO THE CONTRARY, the Purchaser shall have no obligation, duty or other requirement to participate in any aspect of the Residents Trust, including accepting any payments from the Residents Trust, other than to provide periodic reporting to the Residents Trust as required under the Asset Purchase Agreement. Any future rental agreement with any Current Resident will not relate in any way to the Residents Trust, the Lifespace Settlement and Contribution Agreement, or any other provision of this Plan, including but not limited to any payments or adjustments contemplated to Participating Current Residents described herein or otherwise.

ALL HOLDERS OF CLAIMS ENTITLED TO VOTE ON THIS PLAN ARE ENCOURAGED TO READ THIS PLAN AND THE DISCLOSURE STATEMENT FILED CONTEMPORANEOUSLY HEREWITH IN THEIR ENTIRETY BEFORE VOTING TO ACCEPT OR REJECT THIS PLAN.

SECTION 1. DEFINITIONS AND INTERPRETATION

A. Definitions.

The following terms used herein shall have the respective meanings below:

1.1 "2015 Bond Documents" means the 2015 Bond Indenture and any bonds, loan agreement, mortgage, security agreement, document, agreement, or instrument executed or delivered in connection with the issuance of the Series 2015 Bonds, including the 2015 Loan Agreement.

B. Interpretation: Application of Definitions and Rules of Construction.

Unless otherwise specified, all section or exhibit references in this Plan are to the respective section in, or exhibit to, this Plan, as the same may be amended, waived, or modified from time to time. The words "herein," "hereof," "hereto," "hereunder," and other words of similar import refer to this Plan as a whole and not to any particular section, subsection, or clause contained therein. A term used herein that is not defined herein shall have the meaning assigned to that term in the Bankruptcy Code. The rules of construction contained in Bankruptcy Code section 102 shall apply to this Plan. The headings in this Plan are for convenience of reference only and shall not limit or otherwise affect the provisions hereof. Unless otherwise provided, any reference in this Plan to an existing document, exhibit, or schedule means such document, exhibit, or schedule as it may have been amended, restated, revised, supplemented, or otherwise modified. If a time or date is specified for any payments or other Distribution under this Plan, it shall mean on or as soon as reasonably practicable thereafter. Further, where appropriate from a contextual reading of a term, each term includes the singular and plural form of the term regardless of how the term is stated and each stated pronoun is gender neutral.

C. Computation of Time.

In computing any period of time prescribed or allowed by the terms of this Plan, the provisions of Bankruptcy Rule 9006(a) shall apply. Any references to the Effective Date shall mean the Effective Date or as soon as reasonably practicable thereafter unless otherwise specified herein.

D. Controlling Document.

In the event of an inconsistency between this Plan and the Disclosure Statement, the terms of this Plan shall control in all respects. In the event of an inconsistency between this Plan and the Plan Supplement, the Plan Supplement shall control. In the event of an inconsistency between this Plan, the Plan Supplement and the Confirmation Order, the Confirmation Order shall control.

SECTION 2. TREATMENT OF ADMINISTRATIVE CLAIMS, PRIORITY TAX CLAIMS, AND U.S. TRUSTEE FEES

2.1 Administrative Claims. Unless a holder of an Allowed Administrative Claim and the Plan Sponsors before the Effective Date agree to less favorable treatment, each holder of an Allowed Administrative Claim will be paid the full unpaid amount of such Allowed Administrative Claim in Cash: (i) if such Allowed Administrative Claim is based on liabilities that the Debtors incurred in the ordinary course of business after the Petition Date, on the Effective Date or in accordance with the terms and conditions of the particular transaction giving rise to such Allowed Administrative Claim, in the Plan Sponsors' discretion, and without any further action by any holder of such Allowed Administrative Claim; (ii) if such Allowed Administrative Claim is due on the Effective Date, or, if such Allowed Administrative Claim is not due as of the Effective Date, on the date that such Allowed Administrative Claim becomes due or as soon as reasonably practicable thereafter; (iii) if an Administrative Claim is not Allowed as of the Effective Date, on the date that is no later than thirty (30) days after the date on which an order allowing such Administrative Claim becomes a Final Order of the Bankruptcy Court or as soon as reasonably practicable thereafter; or (iv) at such time and upon such terms as set forth in a Final Order of the Bankruptcy Court.

To be eligible to receive Distributions under this Plan on account of an Administrative Claim that is not otherwise Allowed by this Plan, a request for payment of an Administrative Claim must be filed with the Bankruptcy Court on or before the Administrative Claims Bar Date. Any Administrative Claim that is not asserted in accordance herewith shall be deemed disallowed under this Plan and shall be forever barred against the Debtors, the Debtors' Estates, or any of the Debtors' Assets or property, and the holder thereof shall be enjoined from commencing or continuing any action, employment of process or act to collect, offset, recoup or recover such Claim. For the avoidance of doubt, holders of the DIP Facility Claims, the Escrow Resident Claims and the Diminution Claim shall not be required to file an Administrative Claim for the allowance and satisfaction of such Claims.

2.2 Professional Claims. All Professionals seeking payment of Professional Claims shall (i) file their respective final applications for allowance of compensation for services rendered and reimbursement of expenses incurred in the Chapter 11 Cases by the date that is forty-five (45) days after the Effective Date and (ii) be paid (a) the full unpaid amount as is Allowed by the Bankruptcy Court within five (5) Business Days after the date that such Claim is Allowed by order of the Bankruptcy Court, or (b) upon such other terms as may be mutually agreed upon between the holder of such an Allowed Professional Claim and the Plan Sponsors; provided however that Professional Claims, other than Claims of KCC, shall be cumulatively capped at $1.5 million from the period of December 1, 2022 through the Effective Date, with holders of Professional Claims, other than Claims of KCC, sharing Pro Rata in the $1.5 million in the event such Professional Claims exceed the cap. Any Professional Claim that is not asserted in accordance with Section 2.2 of this Plan or that exceeds the cap shall be deemed disallowed under this Plan and shall be forever barred against the Plan Sponsors, the Debtors' Estates, or any of the Debtors' Assets or property, and the holder thereof shall be enjoined from commencing or continuing any action, employment of process or act to collect, offset, recoup or recover such Claim.

2.3 Priority Tax Claims. In accordance with Bankruptcy Code section 1123(a)(1), Priority Tax Claims have not been classified and are treated as described in this Section 2 of this Plan. Unless otherwise agreed by the holder of an Allowed Priority Tax Claim, any Person holding an Allowed Priority Tax Claim will receive, as determined by the Plan Sponsors in their sole discretion and in full satisfaction of such Claim, payment in Cash in full on the later of (i) the Effective Date, or as soon as reasonably practicable thereafter as determined by the Litigation Trustee, or (ii) the first Business Day after the date that is thirty (30) calendar days after the date on which such Priority Tax Claim becomes an Allowed Priority Tax Claim, or as soon thereafter as is reasonably practicable.

2.4 U.S. Trustee Fees. U.S. Trustee Fees will be paid in full by the Debtors and the Litigation Trustee, as applicable, as they become due and owing.

2.5 Escrow Resident Claims. As of the Petition Date, the Entrance Fee Escrow held $15,844,326. As of October 31, 2022, the Entrance Fee Escrow balance held for the benefit of Residents, which excludes interest earned, is $16,494,326. Within ten (10) days of the Effective Date, funds in the Entrance Fee Escrow shall be returned to those respective Residents that deposited such funds in full satisfaction of the Escrow Resident Claims.

2.6 DIP Facility Claims. The DIP Facility Claims shall be deemed Allowed Secured Claims and superpriority Administrative Claims in the full amount due and owing under the DIP Credit Agreement as of the Effective Date. The DIP Facility Claims shall be satisfied in full from Cash available on the Effective Date.

2.7 Diminution Claim. The Diminution Claim shall be deemed an Allowed superpriority Administrative Claim in the full amount due and owing under the DIP Orders as of the Effective Date. The Diminution Claim shall be satisfied in full from Cash available on the Effective Date. Such Diminution Claim is at least the amount due under the DIP Facility.

2.8 Dallas County Claim. The Dallas County Claim shall be deemed an Allowed Secured Claim as of the Effective Date. The Dallas County Claim shall be satisfied in full from Cash available on the Effective Date.

SECTION 3. CLASSIFICATION AND TREATMENT OF CLAIMS AND INTERESTS

3.1 Classification and Specification of Treatment of Claims. Pursuant to Bankruptcy Code sections 1122 and 1123, Claims (other than Allowed Administrative Claims, Priority Tax Claims, Professional Claims, DIP Facility Claims, the Dallas County Claim, the Escrow Resident Claims, the Diminution Claim and U.S. Trustee Fees) are classified for all purposes, including, without limitation, voting, confirmation and Distribution pursuant to this Plan, as set forth herein. A Claim or an Interest is classified in a particular Class only to the extent that the Claim or Interest qualifies within the description of that Class and is classified in other Classes to the extent that any portion of the Claim or Interest qualifies within the description of such other Classes. A Claim or an Interest also is classified in a particular Class for the purpose of receiving Distributions under this Plan only to the extent that such Claim or Interest is an Allowed Claim or Allowed Interest in that Class and has not been paid, released, or otherwise satisfied prior to the Effective Date.

This Plan is premised upon the substantive consolidation of the Debtors solely for the purposes of voting, determining which Classes have accepted this Plan, confirming this Plan, and the resultant treatment of Claims and Interests and Distributions under this Plan.

3.2 Classes of Claims and Interests.

Class	Claim	Estimated Allowed Claims	Status	Voting Rights
1	Other Priority Claims	$19,182.99	Unimpaired	Deemed to Accept
2	Bond Claims	$111,728,919.22	Impaired	Entitled to Vote
3	Other Secured Claims	$0	Unimpaired	Deemed to Accept
4	General Unsecured Claims	$206,313,419[4]	Impaired	Entitled to Vote
5	Participating Former Resident Refund Claims	$37,101,059.29	Impaired	Entitled to Vote
6	Participating Current Resident Refund Claims	$106,809,920.49	Impaired	Entitled to Vote
7	Intercompany Claims	$5,221,798.74	Impaired	Deemed to Reject
8	Interests in Debtors	N/A	Impaired	Deemed to Reject

[4] Includes (i) an estimated Bond Deficiency Claim of $60,902,439.22 based upon the initial Purchaser's offer and the Lifespace Bond Contribution (after payment of other amounts set forth in the Plan), (ii) the $143,910,979.78 Lifespace Resident Claim (subject to opt-out adjustment), and (iii) vendor claims of approximately $1,500,000.

3.2.1 Class 1 — Other Priority Claims. In accordance with the Proofs of Claim on file, there are asserted priority claims in the amount of $19,182.99. To the extent that such Claims have been or will be Allowed, Class 1 Claims will be Unimpaired and not entitled to vote on this Plan. Except to the extent that a holder of an Allowed Other Priority Claim has agreed to a different treatment of such Claim, each such holder shall receive, in full satisfaction of such Allowed Other Priority Claim, Cash in an amount equal to such Allowed Other Priority Claim, on or as soon as reasonably practicable after the later of (i) the Effective Date; (ii) the date the Other Priority Claim becomes an Allowed Claim; or (iii) the date for payment provided by any agreement or arrangement between the Plan Sponsors and the holder of the Allowed Other Priority Claim.

3.2.2 Class 2 — Bond Claims. Class 2 is Impaired and entitled to vote on this Plan. This Class consists of all Bond Claims and includes all Claims of the holders of the Series 2015 Bonds and the Series 2017 Bonds, which Claims shall be deemed Allowed pursuant to this Plan in the aggregate principal amount of $109,185,000, plus accrued and unpaid interest as of the Petition Date in the amount of $2,543,919.22. On the Effective Date, the Net Sale Proceeds after payment of Allowed Administrative Claims, Priority Tax Claims, Professional Claims, DIP Facility Claims, the Dallas County Claim, the Diminution Claim and U.S. Trustee Fees, shall be paid to the Trustee, which funds shall be disbursed to holders of the Bond Claims in accordance with the Original Bond Documents. Further, the Lifespace Bond Contribution will be paid to the Trustee on the Effective Date, which funds shall be disbursed to holders of the Bond Claims in accordance with the Original Bond Documents. Assuming no competing qualified bids are received and the Sale Transaction with the initial Purchaser closes, Holders of Bond Claims are estimated to receive Distributions of approximately 40% of their Bond Claims. The Bond Deficiency Claim shall be treated on a Pro Rata basis with holders of Allowed General Unsecured Claims.

3.2.3 Class 3 — Other Secured Claims. This Class consists of all Other Secured Claims against the Debtors. In accordance with Debtors' books and records, no Class 3 Claims exist. To the extent that such Claims have been or will be asserted and Allowed, Class 3 Claims will be Unimpaired and not entitled to vote on this Plan. In full satisfaction of an Allowed Other Secured Claim, on the later of the Effective Date and the date on which the Other Secured Claim is Allowed, each holder of an Allowed Other Secured Claim shall receive, at the sole and exclusive option of the Plan Sponsors: (i) Cash equal to the amount of such Claim; (ii) return of the underlying collateral related to their Claims; or (iii) treatment of such Allowed Other Secured Claim in any other manner that renders the Claim Unimpaired, including Reinstatement.

3.2.4 Class 4 — General Unsecured Claims. Class 4 is Impaired and entitled to vote on this Plan. This Class consists of all General Unsecured Claims, including Class 5 and 6 Refund Claims of Residents who OPT OUT of the Lifespace Settlement and the releases under Section 8 of this Plan, and including vendor claims of approximately $1,500,000, the Bond Deficiency Claim and the Lifespace Resident Claim. Allowed General Unsecured Claims shall be paid a Pro Rata share of the Litigation Trust Proceeds. Holders of Allowed General Unsecured Claims are estimated to receive Distributions ranging from 0% to 50% of their Allowed General Unsecured Claims, depending on the outcome of the Landlord Litigation and the liquidation of other Litigation Trust Assets.

3.2.5 Class 5 — Participating Former Resident Refund Claims. Class 5 is Impaired and entitled to vote on this Plan. This Class consists of the Refund Claims of Participating Former Residents, who, for the avoidance of doubt, no longer reside at Edgemere as of the Voting Record Date. The Residency Agreements of Former Residents shall be rejected, and the holders of Allowed Class 5 Claims who OPT OUT of the Lifespace Settlement and the releases under Section 8 of this Plan shall receive a Class 4 General Unsecured Claim in an amount equal to their Refund Claim. Former Residents who do not OPT OUT of the Lifespace Settlement and the releases under Section 8 of this Plan (i.e. Participating Former Residents) shall receive payment in an amount equal to their Refund Claims no later than sixty (60) days after the Refund Trigger Date.[5]

3.2.6 Class 6 — Participating Current Resident Refund Claims. Class 6 is Impaired and entitled to vote on this Plan. This Class consists of the Refund Claims of Participating Current Residents, who, for the avoidance of doubt, reside at Edgemere, as of the Voting Record Date. The Residency Agreements of Current Residents shall be rejected, and the holders of Allowed Class 6 Claims who OPT OUT of the Lifespace Settlement and the releases under Section 8 of this Plan shall receive a Class 4 General Unsecured Claim in an amount equal to their Refund Claim. Current Residents who do not OPT OUT of the Lifespace Settlement and the releases under Section 8 of this Plan (i.e. Participating Current Residents) shall receive Cash from the Residents Trust within sixty (60) days of the Refund Trigger Date in an amount equal to their Refund Claim.[6]

3.2.7 Class 7 — Intercompany Claims. Class 7 is Impaired and not entitled to vote on this Plan. This Class consists of all Claims held by Lifespace against the Debtors. Class 7 Claims shall be waived and released and Lifespace, as holder of such Claims, shall receive no Distribution on account of Class 7 Claims.

3.2.8 Class 8 — Interests in Debtors. Class 8 is Impaired and deemed to reject this Plan. This Class consists of Interests of Lifespace, as the sole member of the Debtors, which Interests shall be terminated on the Effective Date.

3.3 Acceptance or Rejection of this Plan.

3.3.1 Acceptance by an Impaired Class. In accordance with Bankruptcy Code section 1126(c) and except as provided in Bankruptcy Code section 1126(e), an Impaired Class of Claims shall have accepted this Plan if this Plan is accepted by the holders of at least two-thirds in dollar amount and more than one-half in number of the Allowed Claims of such Class that have timely and properly voted to accept or reject this Plan.

3.3.2 Presumed Acceptance of this Plan. Classes 1 and 3 are conclusively presumed to have accepted this Plan pursuant to Bankruptcy Code section 1126(f).

[5] The Residents Trust shall be informed of units which have been re-leased semi-annually by the Purchaser, which shall be the date the Residents Trust is deemed informed of units which have been re-leased for purposes of the Refund Trigger Date.

[6] The Residents Trust shall be informed of units which have been re-leased semi-annually by the Purchaser, which shall be the date the Residents Trust is deemed informed of units which have been re-leased for purposes of the Refund Trigger Date.

3.3.3 Presumed Rejection of this Plan. Classes 7 and 8 are Impaired under this Plan and will receive no Distributions and, thus, are conclusively presumed to have rejected this Plan pursuant to Bankruptcy Code section 1126(g).

3.3.4 Voting Class. Classes 2, 4, 5 and 6 are Impaired under this Plan and were entitled to vote to accept or reject this Plan.

3.4 Subordinated Claims. The allowance, classification, and treatment of all Allowed Claims and Interests and the respective Distributions and treatments under this Plan take into account the relative priority and rights of the Claims and Interests in each Class in connection with any contractual, legal, and equitable subordination rights relating thereto, whether arising under general principles of equitable subordination, Bankruptcy Code section 510(b), or otherwise. For purposes of Bankruptcy Rule 7001(8), this Plan provides for subordination. The Litigation Trustee, as set forth herein, shall have the right to subordinate any Claim in accordance with any contractual, legal, or equitable subordination relating thereto under the Bankruptcy Code as long as such treatment is consistent with the terms of the Litigation Trust Agreement. Subordinated Claims shall not receive a Distribution under this Plan until any and all senior Allowed Claims are paid in full.

3.5 Cramdown. If all applicable requirements for confirmation of this Plan are met as set forth in Bankruptcy Code section 1129(a) except subsection (8) thereof, the Plan Sponsors shall request that the Bankruptcy Court confirm this Plan in accordance with Bankruptcy Code section 1129(b) on the bases that this Plan is fair and equitable and does not discriminate unfairly with respect to each Class of Claims or Interests that is Impaired hereunder, and has not accepted or is deemed to reject, this Plan.

SECTION 4. MEANS FOR IMPLEMENTATION OF THIS PLAN

4.1 Sale Transaction.

4.1.1 Sale Transaction. Consistent with the Asset Purchase Agreement, substantially all of the property in the Estates shall be sold to the Purchaser, free and clear of all Liens, Claims, charges, or other encumbrances pursuant to section 1123(a)(5)(D) of the Bankruptcy Code, with all such Liens, Claims, charges or other encumbrances attaching automatically to the Net Sale Proceeds in the same manner, extent, validity and priority as existed on the Closing Date, with the Net Sale Proceeds to be distributed pursuant to this Plan; provided, however, that ad valorem personal property tax liens arising and attaching to the subject property by operation of law on January 1, 2023 shall remain attached to the Assets and ad valorem personal property taxes for tax year 2023 shall be the responsibility of the Purchaser, subject to being Pro Rated pursuant to Section 2.6 of the Asset Purchase Agreement and subject to any defenses available under applicable Texas Law; the Taxing Authorities shall retain the right to enforce their liens and take all actions provided by applicable Texas Law. The Purchaser's initial purchase offer in the amount of $48.5 million (subject to the adjustments in the Asset Purchase Agreement) was approved, subject to higher and better bids. Because no competing qualified bid was received by February 3, 2023 at 4:00 p.m. (prevailing Central Time), an Auction was not necessary to determine the winning bidder. Upon the Closing of the Sale Transaction, all Net Sale Proceeds therefrom after payments required under the Plan to pay any unpaid Allowed Administrative Claims, Priority Tax Claims, Professional Claims, DIP Facility Claims, the Dallas County Claim, Diminution Claim and the U.S. Trustee Fees, shall be paid to the Trustee for Distribution to holders of Original Bonds, pursuant to the terms of the Original Bond Documents.

4.1.2 Monthly Rental Agreements. The Asset Purchase Agreement contemplates the rejection of all Residency Agreements, provided that, subject to regulatory approvals and/or requirements, any Purchaser shall offer to all Current Residents a monthly rental agreement which, subject to regulatory approvals and/or requirements, shall provide similar services to Current Residents as provided prior to the Closing Date.

4.1.3 Transition to Purchaser. The Asset Purchase Agreement contemplates both the rejection of the Debtors' agreement with Lifespace to manage the Community, and the Purchaser receiving all regulatory approvals to operate the Purchased Assets at or prior to the Closing Date. Prior to the Closing Date, the Debtors and Lifespace shall provide prompt and reasonable assistance in connection with the approval or implementation of the Asset Purchase Agreement or any ancillary agreements, including, without limitation, providing information in connection with Purchaser's seeking of regulatory approvals necessary to own and operate the Community.

4.1.4 [Injunction Against Solicitation. The Asset Purchase Agreement contemplates that the Purchaser will continue to operate the Community as a senior living community. In consideration for being a Released Party, Lifespace, on behalf of itself and any of its affiliates, subsidiaries, representatives, or agents, agrees that, without the prior written consent of Purchaser, (i) from the Confirmation Date and until the second anniversary of the Effective Date, Lifespace shall not hire or solicit for employment any individual that was an employee of the Community at any time from November 2, 2022 to the Effective Date; provided, however, Lifespace shall not be prohibited from hiring any individual that responds to a general public solicitation made by Lifespace regarding employment opportunities that is not specifically targeted at such persons, and (ii) shall not solicit by direct contact (as opposed to marketing to the public generally) any individuals that are or were Residents of the Community at any time from November 2, 2022 to the Closing Date for movement or relocation to any other senior living community located in Texas; provided, however, Lifespace shall not be prohibited from responding to any direct inquiry from a Resident regarding potential movement or relocation to such other senior living community in Texas.][7]

4.1.5 Transfer of Assets to Litigation Trust. On the Effective Date, all of the Estates' assets not sold in the Sale Transaction, with the exception of Residents Trust Assets, shall be transferred to the Litigation Trust and administered as set forth more fully below.

4.2 Creation of the Litigation Trust and Appointment of the Litigation Trustee and Litigation Trust Oversight Committee.

4.2.1 Creation of the Litigation Trust. On or prior to the Effective Date, the Debtors shall execute the Litigation Trust Agreement. On the Effective Date, the Litigation Trust shall become effective and shall be deemed to be valid, binding and enforceable in accordance with the terms and provisions of this Plan and the Litigation Trust Agreement. After the Effective Date, the Litigation Trust Agreement may be amended in accordance with its terms without further order of the Bankruptcy Court. The Litigation Trust Agreement shall be satisfactory in form and substance to the Plan Sponsors.

[7] The Purchaser has requested this provision.

4.2.2 Purpose of the Litigation Trust. The Litigation Trust shall be established for the purposes of (i) liquidating any non-Cash Litigation Trust Assets; (ii) maximizing recovery of the Litigation Trust Assets for the benefit of the holders of Litigation Trust Interests; (iii) distributing the proceeds of the Litigation Trust Assets to holders of the Litigation Trust Interests in accordance with this Plan and the Litigation Trust Agreement, with no objective to continue or engage in the conduct of a trade or business, except only in the event and to the extent necessary for, and consistent with, the liquidating purpose of the Litigation Trust; (iv) prosecuting or otherwise resolving the Retained Causes of Action for the benefit of the holders of the Litigation Trust Interests; and (v) winding down the Chapter 11 Cases as provided in this Plan.

4.2.3 Funding of the Litigation Trust. On the Effective Date, Cash in the amount of $500,000 will be funded Pro Rata by the Trustee and Lifespace. The Cash will be set aside for the sole purpose of paying Litigation Trust Expenses to be incurred by the Litigation Trust.

4.2.4 Transfer of Litigation Trust Assets to the Litigation Trust. As of the Effective Date, pursuant to the provisions of sections 1141(b) and (c) of the Bankruptcy Code, the Debtors and the Estates shall preserve, transfer and assign all of their respective right, title and interest in and to all of the Litigation Trust Assets, which shall automatically vest in the Litigation Trust free and clear of all Claims, Liens, encumbrances, charges, Interests and other interests, subject only to the Allowed Claims of the holders of Litigation Trust Interests as set forth in this Plan and in the Litigation Trust Agreement.

4.2.5 Appointment of the Litigation Trustee. On the Effective Date, the Litigation Trustee shall be deemed the Estates' representative solely with respect to the Litigation Trust Assets in accordance with section 1123 of the Bankruptcy Code and shall have all powers, authority and responsibilities specified in this Plan and Litigation Trust Agreement solely with respect to the Litigation Trust Assets, including, without limitation, the powers of a trustee under sections 704 and 1106 of the Bankruptcy Code and Bankruptcy Rule 2004.

4.2.6 Governance of Litigation Trust. The Litigation Trust shall be governed by the Litigation Trust Agreement and administered by the Litigation Trustee who shall report to the Litigation Trust Oversight Committee in accordance with the terms of this Plan and the Litigation Trust Agreement.

4.2.7 Tax Treatment. Except to the extent allocable to Disputed Claims, consistent with the principles of Revenue Procedure 94-45, 1994-2 C.B. 684, as of the Effective Date, for federal income tax purposes, (i) the Debtors will be deemed to transfer the Litigation Trust Assets to the holders of the Litigation Trust Interests, (ii) the holders of the Litigation Trust Interests will be deemed to transfer such Assets to the Litigation Trust, (iii) the Litigation Trust will be treated as a "liquidating trust," as defined in Treasury Regulation section 301.7701-4(d), and as a "grantor trust" within the meaning of Internal Revenue Code sections 671-679 and (iv) the holders of the Litigation Trust Interests will be treated as the "grantors" of the Litigation Trust.

4.2.8 Securities Registration Exemption. The Plan Sponsors intend that the Litigation Trust Interests shall not be deemed "securities" under applicable laws, but to the extent such units are deemed to be "securities," the Plan Sponsors believe the issuance of such units under this Plan is exempt, pursuant to section 1145 of the Bankruptcy Code (except with respect to an entity that is an "underwriter" as defined in section 1145(b) of the Bankruptcy Code).

4.2.9 Rights, Powers and Duties of the Litigation Trust and the Litigation Trustee. The Litigation Trustee will act for the benefit of holders of Litigation Trust Interests in a fiduciary capacity and shall have comparable authority as a bankruptcy trustee of the Debtors, as the exclusive representative of the Estates under section 1123(a)(5)(B) of the Bankruptcy Code or any corresponding federal or state laws with respect to the Litigation Trust Assets and shall succeed to all the Debtors' and the Estates' rights with respect thereto, subject to the provisions of this Plan and the Litigation Trust Agreement. The Litigation Trust is the successor to the Debtors and their Estates. The powers, rights and duties of the Litigation Trustee shall arise on the Effective Date and shall include, all subject to the terms and conditions of the Litigation Trust Agreement, the following:

(a) commencing, pursuing and liquidating all of the Litigation Trust Assets;

(b) engaging attorneys, consultants, agents, employees and any other professional persons to assist the Litigation Trustee with respect to the Litigation Trustee's responsibilities;

(c) paying the fees and expenses of the attorneys, consultants, agents, employees and other professional persons engaged by the Litigation Trust and paying all other expenses;

(d) compromising and settling Claims without notice or Bankruptcy Court approval, other than Claims relating to Resident Claimants in Class 5 and Class 6;

(e) calculating and implementing Distributions of Litigation Trust Assets for the benefit of the holders of the Litigation Trust Interests;

(f) resolving issues involving Claims and Interests in accordance with this Plan;

(g) consulting with members of the Litigation Trust Oversight Committee regarding the prosecution and/or settlement of Retained Causes of Action and reporting to the Litigation Trust Oversight Committee regarding such matters, and seeking approval from the Litigation Trust Oversight Committee regarding the prosecution and/or settlement of each Cause of Action, to the extent set forth in the Litigation Trust Agreement;

(h) investing Cash in accordance with section 345 of the Bankruptcy Code, and withdrawing and making Distributions of Cash to holders of Litigation Trust

Interests holding and paying taxes and other obligations incurred by the Litigation Trustee in connection with winding down the Estates in accordance with this Plan;

(i) coordinating the turnover of property, if any, subject to rejected executory contracts or abandonment or liquidation of any Litigation Trust Assets;

(j) taking possession of all books, records, and files of the Debtors and their Estates; and providing for the retention and storage of such books, records, and files until such time as the Litigation Trust determines, in accordance with the Litigation Trust Agreement, that retention of same is no longer necessary or required;

(k) overseeing compliance with the accounting, finance and reporting obligations;

(l) paying taxes or other obligations incurred by the Litigation Trust;

(m) preparing financial statements and U.S. Trustee post-confirmation quarterly reports, and filing such reports on the docket of the Chapter 11 Cases until such time as a final decree has been entered;

(n) overseeing the filing of final tax returns, refund requests, audits and other corporate dissolution documents, as required;

(o) performing any additional corporate actions as necessary to carry out the wind down and liquidation of the Estates;

(p) exercising such other powers as may be vested in or assumed by the Litigation Trustee pursuant to this Plan, the Litigation Trust Agreement or other Order of the Bankruptcy Court or as may be needed or appropriate to carry out the provisions of this Plan; and

(q) undertaking all administrative functions of the Chapter 11 Cases, including the payment of fees payable to the U.S. Trustee and the ultimate closing of the Chapter 11 Cases.

4.2.10 Litigation Trust Interests. Holders of Allowed General Unsecured Claims shall, by operation of this Plan, receive a Pro Rata share of the Litigation Trust Interests in accordance with the terms of and priorities set forth in this Plan. Litigation Trust Interests shall also be reserved for holders of Disputed Claims which, if Allowed, would be entitled to participate in Distributions from the Litigation Trust, and such reserved Litigation Trust Interests shall be held by the Litigation Trustee pending allowance or disallowance of such Claims. No other Person shall have any interest, legal, beneficial or otherwise, in the Litigation Trust Assets upon the assignment and transfer of such assets to the Litigation Trust. As set forth in the Litigation Trust Agreement, Distributions from the Litigation Trust on account of Litigation Trust Interests shall be made from the Litigation Trust Assets after paying, reserving against or satisfying, among other things, the Litigation Trust Expenses. The Litigation Trust Interests shall be uncertificated and shall be nontransferable except upon death of the holder or by operation of law. Holders of Litigation Trust Interests shall have no voting rights with respect to such interests.

4.2.11 Pending Adversary Proceedings. Without the need for filing any motion for such relief, in connection with the Litigation Trust Assets, the Litigation Trust or the Litigation Trustee (as applicable) hereby shall be deemed substituted for the applicable Debtor (i) in all pending matters including, but not limited to, motions, contested matters and adversary proceedings in the Bankruptcy Court; and (ii) with respect to any Retained Causes of Action pending before the Bankruptcy Court or any other court.

4.2.12 Preservation of Right to Conduct Investigations. The preservation for the Litigation Trust of any and all rights to conduct investigations pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 2004 is necessary and relevant to the liquidation and administration of the Litigation Trust Assets. Accordingly, any and all rights to conduct investigations pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 2004 held by the Debtors prior to the Effective Date shall vest with the Litigation Trust and shall continue until dissolution of the Litigation Trust.

4.3 Creation of the Residents Trust and Appointment of the Residents Trust Trustee and Residents Trust Oversight Committee.

4.3.1 Upon the Plan Effective Date, a Residents Trust will be formed. The Residents Trust shall receive and distribute the Lifespace Resident Contributions pursuant to the terms of the Lifespace Settlement and Contribution Agreement, the Plan and the Residents Trust Agreement. Holders of Residents Trust Interests shall consist of Participating Former Residents and Participating Current Residents.

4.3.2 Creation of the Residents Trust. On or prior to the Effective Date, the Committee and the Debtors shall execute the Residents Trust Agreement. On the Effective Date, the Residents Trust shall become effective and shall be deemed to be valid, binding and enforceable in accordance with the terms and provisions of the Plan and the Residents Trust Agreement. After the Effective Date, the Residents Trust Agreement may be amended in accordance with its terms without further order of the Bankruptcy Court. The Residents Trust Agreement shall be satisfactory in form and substance to the Committee and Lifespace.

4.3.3 Purpose of the Residents Trust. The Residents Trust shall be established for the purposes of (i) receiving the Lifespace Resident Contributions and the Estates' rights to enforce the terms of the Lifespace Settlement and Contribution Agreement; and (ii) distributing the proceeds of the Residents Trust Assets to Participating Former Residents and Participating Current Residents in accordance with the terms of the Plan, the Lifespace Settlement and Contribution Agreement and the Residents Trust Agreement. The trustee of the Residents Trust (the "Residents Trust Trustee") will act for the benefit of holders of Residents Trust Interests in a fiduciary capacity. Holders of Residents Trust Interests shall consist of Holders of Participating Former Residents and Participating Current Residents. Holders of Residents Trust Interests shall receive a distribution from the Residents Trust in accordance with the terms of the Plan, the Lifespace Settlement and Contribution Agreement and the Residents Trust Agreement.

4.3.4 Funding of the Residents Trust. Residents Trust expenses incurred by the Residents Trust shall be paid from Residents Trust Assets.

4.3.5 Transfer of Rights under the Lifespace Settlement and Contribution Agreement to the Residents Trust. As of the Effective Date, pursuant to the provisions of sections 1141(b) and (c) of the Bankruptcy Code, the Debtors and the Estates shall preserve, transfer and assign all of their respective right, title and interest in and under the Lifespace Settlement and Contribution Agreement, which shall automatically vest in the Residents Trust and Residents Trust Trustee free and clear of all Claims, Liens, encumbrances, charges, Interests and other interests, subject only to the Allowed Claims of the holders of Residents Trust Interests as set forth in the Plan and in the Residents Trust Agreement.

4.3.6 Appointment of the Residents Trust Trustee. On the Effective Date, the Residents Trust Trustee shall be appointed by a three-member Residents Trust Oversight Board appointed by the Committee and shall be deemed the Estates' representative solely with respect to the Residents Trust Assets in accordance with section 1123 of the Bankruptcy Code and shall have all powers, authority and responsibilities specified in the Plan and Residents Trust Agreement solely with respect to the Residents Trust Assets, including, without limitation, the powers of a trustee under sections 704 and 1106 of the Bankruptcy Code and Bankruptcy Rule 2004.

4.3.7 Governance of Residents Trust. The Residents Trust shall be governed by the Residents Trust Agreement and administered by the Residents Trust Trustee who shall report to the Residents Trust Oversight Committee in accordance with the terms of the Plan and the Residents Trust Agreement.

4.3.8 Tax Treatment. Except to the extent allocable to Disputed Claims, consistent with the principles of Revenue Procedure 94-45, 1994-2 C.B. 684, as of the Effective Date, for federal income tax purposes, (i) the Debtors will be deemed to transfer the Residents Trust Assets to the holders of the Residents Trust Interests, (ii) the holders of the Residents Trust Interests will be deemed to transfer such Residents Trust Assets to the Residents Trust, (iii) the Residents Trust will be treated as a "liquidating trust," as defined in Treasury Regulation section 301.7701-4(d), and as a "grantor trust" within the meaning of Internal Revenue Code sections 671-679 and (iv) the holders of the Residents Trust Interests will be treated as the "grantors" and deemed owners of the Residents Trust.

In Revenue Procedure 94-45, the IRS states that a liquidating trust's term is generally not more than five (5) years from the date of creation and that is reasonable based on all fact and circumstances. Although the Residents Trust's term is expected to be eighteen (18) years or slightly longer, it is believed that such term is reasonable to carry out the intent of the Residents Trust as a liquidating trust if structured as a liquidating trust.

4.3.9 Securities Registration Exemption. The Plan Sponsors intend that the Residents Trust Interests shall not be deemed "securities" under applicable laws, but to the extent such units are deemed to be "securities," the Plan Sponsors believe the issuance of such units under the Plan is exempt, pursuant to section 1145 of the Bankruptcy Code (except with respect to an entity that is an "underwriter" as defined in section 1145(b) of the Bankruptcy Code).

4.3.10 Rights, Powers and Duties of the Residents Trust and the Residents Trust Trustee. The Residents Trust Trustee will act for the benefit of holders of Residents Trust Interests in a fiduciary capacity and shall have comparable authority as a bankruptcy trustee of the Debtors, as the exclusive representative of the Estates under section 1123(a)(5)(B) of the Bankruptcy Code or any corresponding federal or state laws with respect to the Residents Trust Assets and shall succeed to all the Debtors' and the Estates' rights with respect thereto, subject to the provisions of the Plan and the Residents Trust Agreement. The Residents Trust is the successor to the Debtors and their Estates. The powers, rights and duties of the Residents Trust Trustee shall arise on the Effective Date and shall include, all subject to the terms and conditions of the Residents Trust Agreement, the following:

(a) engaging attorneys, consultants, agents, employees and any other professional persons to assist the Residents Trust Trustee with respect to the Residents Trust Trustee's responsibilities;

(b) paying the fees and expenses of the attorneys, consultants, agents, employees and other professional persons engaged by the Residents Trust and paying all other expenses;

(c) compromising and settling Claims of Resident Claimants in Class 5 and Class 6 without notice or Bankruptcy Court approval;

(d) calculating and implementing Distributions of Residents Trust Assets for the benefit of the holders of the Residents Trust Interests pursuant to the terms and provisions of the Plan, the Lifespace Settlement and Contribution Agreement and the Residents Trust Agreement;

(e) determining, in the exercise of his or her discretion, after consultation with the Residents Trust Oversight Committee, when a Life Care Subsidy (defined in section 6 of the Lifespace Settlement and Contribution Agreement) payment to a Participating Current Resident is appropriate pursuant to the purpose and spirit of the Lifespace Settlement and Contribution Agreement and the Residents Trust Agreement;

(f) consulting with members of the Residents Trust Oversight Committee regarding the administration of the Residents Trust pursuant to the terms of the Plan and the Lifespace Settlement and Contribution Agreement;

(g) investing Cash in accordance with the terms of the Residents Trust Agreement, and withdrawing and making Distributions of Cash to holders of Residents Trust Interests and paying taxes and other obligations incurred by the Residents Trust Trustee;

(h) overseeing compliance with the accounting, finance and reporting obligations;

(i) paying taxes or other obligations incurred by the Residents Trust; and

(j) exercising such other powers as may be vested in or assumed by the Residents Trust Trustee pursuant to this Plan, the Residents Trust Agreement or other Order of the Bankruptcy Court or as may be needed or appropriate to carry out the provisions of this Plan.

4.3.11 Residents Trust Interests. Holders of Allowed Class 5 and 6 Claims that do not OPT OUT of the Lifespace Settlement and the releases under Section 8 of this Plan shall, by operation of this Plan, receive a Pro Rata share of the Residents Trust Interests in accordance with the terms of and priorities set forth in the Plan. Residents Trust Interests shall also be reserved for holders of Disputed Claims which, if Allowed, would be entitled to participate in Distributions from the Residents Trust, and such reserved Residents Trust Interests shall be held by the Residents Trust Trustee pending allowance or disallowance of such Claims. No other Person shall have any interest, legal, beneficial or otherwise, in the Residents Trust Assets upon the assignment and transfer of such assets to the Residents Trust. As set forth in the Residents Trust Agreement, Distributions from the Residents Trust on account of Residents Trust Interests shall be made from the Residents Trust Assets after paying, reserving against or satisfying, among other things, the Residents Trust expenses. The Residents Trust Interests shall be uncertificated and shall be nontransferable except upon death of the holder or by operation of law. Holders of Residents Trust Interests shall have no voting rights with respect to such interests.

4.4 Entrance Fee Escrow. As of the Petition Date, the Entrance Fee Escrow held $15,844,326. As of October 31, 2022, the Entrance Fee Escrow balance held for the benefit of Residents, which excludes interest earned, is $16,494,326. Within ten (10) days of the Effective Date, funds in the Entrance Fee Escrow shall be returned to those respective Residents who deposited such funds in full satisfaction of the Escrow Resident Claims.

4.5 Corporate Action. Upon the Effective Date, all actions contemplated by this Plan (whether to occur before, on, or after the Effective Date) shall be deemed authorized and approved in all respects, and all matters provided for in this Plan involving the corporate structure of the Debtors and any corporate action required by the Debtors in connection with this Plan shall be deemed to have occurred, without any requirement of further action by the directors or officers of the Debtors.

On or (as applicable) before the Effective Date, the appropriate officers of the Debtors or the Litigation Trust, as applicable, shall be authorized and directed to issue, execute, and deliver the agreements, documents, securities, certificates of incorporation, operating agreements, and instruments contemplated by this Plan (or necessary or desirable to effect the transactions contemplated by this Plan), including all documents necessary to consummate the Sale Transaction, in the name of and on behalf of the Debtors or the Litigation Trust, as the case may be, and any and all other agreements, documents, securities, and instruments relating to the foregoing.

4.6 Dissolution of Debtors. Debtors shall not be Reorganized Debtors. Upon the Effective Date, Debtors shall each be deemed to be dissolved without any further action by the Debtors or the Bankruptcy Court, including the filing of any documents with the secretary of state of Texas. The Plan shall constitute a decree of dissolution with respect to each of the Debtors. For the avoidance of doubt, Debtors shall each be deemed to remain intact solely with respect to the preparation, filing, review, and/or resolution of applications and motions to be filed following the Effective Date for, among other things, the assertion of Professional Claims or to satisfy any obligations of the Debtors contained in the Asset Purchase Agreement or related documents.

4.7 Section 1146 Exemption from Certain Taxes and Fees. Pursuant to Bankruptcy Code section 1146(a), any transfer of property and any issuance, transfer, or exchange of a security in connection with or pursuant to this Plan shall not be subject to any stamp, mortgage recording, or other similar tax, charge, or governmental assessment in the United States, and the Confirmation Order shall direct and be deemed to direct the appropriate state or local governmental officials or agents to forgo the collection of any such tax, charge, or governmental assessment and, as applicable, to accept for filing and recordation instruments or other documents pursuant to such transfer of property or to permit the issuance, transfer, or exchange of a security without the payment of any such tax, charge, or governmental assessment. Such exemption specifically applies, without limitation, to (i) the sale of the Assets pursuant to the Asset Purchase Agreement effectuated under this Plan; (ii) the creation and recordation of any mortgage, deed of trust, lien, or other security interest; (iii) the making or assignment of any lease or sublease; and (iv) the making or delivery of any deed or other instrument of transfer under, in furtherance of, or in connection with this Plan, including: (a) any merger agreements; (b) agreements of consolidation, restructuring, disposition, liquidation, or dissolution; (c) deeds; or (d) assignments executed in connection with any transaction occurring under this Plan.

4.8 Preservation of Causes of Action of the Debtors. In accordance with Bankruptcy Code section 1123(b), and except where such Causes of Action have been expressly released (including, for the avoidance of doubt, the Exculpated Claims against the Exculpated Parties and the Debtor Released Claims against the Released Parties), the Litigation Trustee shall be vested with the authority to enforce all rights to commence and pursue, as appropriate, any and all Causes of Action of the Debtors, whether arising before or after the Petition Date, and the Litigation Trustee's right(s) to commence, prosecute, or settle such Causes of Action shall be consistent with the terms of the Litigation Trust Agreement. The Litigation Trustee is the sole party that may pursue such Causes of Action, as appropriate, in accordance with the best interests of the holders of the Litigation Trust Interests. No Person may rely on the absence of a specific reference in this Plan or the Disclosure Statement to any Cause of Action against such Person as any indication that the Debtors or the Litigation Trustee, as applicable, will not pursue any and all available Causes of Action against such Person. Except with respect to Causes of Action as to which the Debtors have released any Person on or before the Effective Date (including pursuant to the Releases by the Debtors or otherwise), the Litigation Trustee, as applicable, expressly reserves all rights to prosecute any and all Causes of Action of the Debtors against any Person, except as otherwise expressly provided in this Plan. Unless any Causes of Action against a Person are expressly waived, relinquished, exculpated, released, compromised, or settled in this Plan or by an order of the Bankruptcy Court, the Litigation Trustee expressly reserves all Causes of Action for later adjudication and, therefore, no preclusion doctrine, including the doctrines of res judicata, collateral estoppel, issue preclusion, claim preclusion, estoppel (judicial, equitable, or otherwise), or laches, shall apply to such Causes of Action upon, after, or as a consequence of the confirmation or consummation of this Plan. For the avoidance of doubt, nothing in this Section 4.7 shall affect the "Releases by the Debtors" provided in Section 8.2 of this Plan.

Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, the Residents Trust Trustee shall be vested with the authority to enforce the terms of the Lifespace Settlement and Contribution Agreement, which are being assigned to the Residents Trust and the Residents Trust Trustee pursuant to this Plan.

4.9 Dismissal of Challenges. On July 12, 2022, the Committee filed the Original Complaint, commencing Case No. 22-03073-mvl and challenging the Bond Claims and related Liens under Bankruptcy Code section 544 (the "Committee Challenge"). The Committee Challenge has been abated on multiple occasions, most recently on November 29, 2022 for an additional sixty days. Furthermore, challenges were filed by certain Former Residents and their estates against the Initial Plan Sponsors' Liens, security interests, and adequate protection granted under the DIP Orders and the Entrance Fee Escrow Order (collectively, the "Resident Challenges"). See Docket Nos. 448, 449, 456, 457, 467, 544. On September 2, 2022, the Court abated the Resident Challenges pending further notice of the parties. See Docket No. 605. Upon the Effective Date, the Committee Challenge and the Resident Challenges will be dismissed with prejudice.

SECTION 5. EXECUTORY CONTRACTS AND UNEXPIRED LEASES

Entry of the Confirmation Order shall constitute a Bankruptcy Court order approving the assumptions or rejections of such Executory Contracts or Unexpired Leases as set forth in this Plan or the Plan Supplement, all pursuant to Bankruptcy Code sections 365(a) and 1123. Unless otherwise indicated, all assumptions or rejections of Executory Contracts and Unexpired Leases pursuant to this Plan are effective as of the Closing Date. Each Executory Contract or Unexpired Lease assumed pursuant to this Plan or by Bankruptcy Court order and assigned to a Purchaser shall vest in and be fully enforceable by the Purchaser in accordance with its terms, except as such terms may have been modified by such order. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in this Plan, the Plan Sponsors reserve the right to alter, amend, modify, or supplement the list of Executory Contracts and Unexpired Leases identified in the Plan Supplement at any time before the Effective Date. After the Effective Date, the Purchaser shall have the right to terminate, amend, or modify any contracts, leases, or other agreements without approval of the Bankruptcy Court, subject to the terms thereof. For the avoidance of doubt, Section 5 of this Plan shall apply to all Executory Contracts and Unexpired Leases except as otherwise provided herein and to the extent addressed and decided by an order of the Bankruptcy Court.

5.1 Rejection of Residency Agreements. On the Closing Date and as set forth in the Asset Purchase Agreement, the Debtors shall reject the Residency Agreements of all Residents. Any Current Resident that desires to remain at the Community may do so, subject to regulatory approvals and/or requirements, by entering into a new monthly rental agreement which agreements will provide similar services to such Current Resident as provided under their prior Residency Agreement.

Notwithstanding anything herein to the contrary, for the sake of clarity and to avoid confusion, upon the rejection of the Residency Agreements, the holders of Refund Claims are not required to file Rejection Claims if such Resident Claimants agree with the proposed amount of the respective Resident Claimant's Refund Claim, as set forth in the Resident Claim Cover Letter accompanying the Resident Claimant's Ballot. Unless an additional Rejection Claim is filed by any Resident Claimants, all Resident Claimants shall be deemed to hold Allowed Class 5 or Class 6 Claims (unless they OPT OUT of the Lifespace Settlement and the releases under Section 8 of this Plan, in which case they would hold Allowed Class 4 Claims) in the amount of their Refund Claim, as set forth in the Resident Claim Cover Letter accompanying each Resident Claimant's respective Ballot and/or solicitation materials, without the need to file a Rejection Claim for such Refund Claim. If any Resident Claimants disagree with the amount of their respective Refund Claim, as set forth in the Resident Claim Cover Letter accompanying each Resident Claimant's respective Ballot, then the Resident Claimants shall be required to file a Rejection Claim on or before the Rejection Damages Bar Date.

5.2 Assumption and Rejection of Executory Contracts and Unexpired Leases. Unless assumed and assigned under the Asset Purchase Agreement, on the Closing Date the Debtors shall reject all Executory Contracts and Unexpired Leases. Resulting Rejection Claims will be treated as Class 4 General Unsecured Claims.

5.3 Assumption of the Ground Lease. On the Closing Date and as set forth in the Asset Purchase Agreement, the Ground Lease shall be assumed, subject to the rights of the Litigation Trustee as set forth in this Plan and assigned to the Purchaser. The Landlord shall have an Allowed Administrative Claim for the amounts due and owing from the Petition Date through the Effective Date, subject to final approval of the Bankruptcy Court and the rights of parties in interest to challenge the asserted Administrative Claim amount. Nothing herein shall be construed as a waiver of the Litigation Trustee, the Plan Sponsors, the Committee or any third parties to pursue any and all Claims against the Landlord. The cure amount associated with the Ground Lease shall be funded from the Net Sale Proceeds into the Cure Escrow pending further order of the Bankruptcy Court as to the Allowed amount of such cure amount, with any balance following such order being distributed to the Trustee for distribution to holders of Bond Claims.

5.4 Claims Based on Rejection of Executory Contracts or Unexpired Leases. All Proofs of Claim with respect to Claims arising from the rejection of Executory Contracts or Unexpired Leases, if any, must be filed no later than the Rejection Damages Bar Date; provided, that any such Claims arising from the rejection of an Unexpired Lease shall be subject to the cap on rejection damages imposed by Bankruptcy Code section 502(b)(6). Any Claims arising from the rejection of an Executory Contract or Unexpired Lease that is not timely filed with the Bankruptcy Court (other than Refund Claims) will be automatically disallowed and forever barred from assertion and shall not be enforceable against the Debtors, the Estates, or the Debtors' property, without the need for any objection by any party or further notice to, action by, or order or approval of the Bankruptcy Court. All Allowed Claims arising from the rejection of the Debtors' Executory Contracts or Unexpired Leases, other than with respect to Resident Claimants, shall be classified as Class 4 Claims and shall be treated in accordance with this Plan.

5.5 Cure of Defaults for Assumed Executory Contracts and Unexpired Leases. Any provisions or terms of the Debtors' Executory Contracts or Unexpired Leases to be assumed under the Sale Transaction that are, or may be, alleged to be in default, shall be satisfied solely by cure or by a waiver of cure agreed upon between the Purchaser and the applicable counterparty. Except with respect to Executory Contracts or Unexpired Leases in which the Purchaser and the applicable counterparties have stipulated in writing to payment of cure or with respect to Residency Agreements or the Ground Lease, the following procedures shall be established for determining cure with respect to the proposed assumed Executory Contracts or Unexpired Leases (the "Proposed Assumed Contacts"):

(a) Within five (5) days after entry of the Bidding Procedures Order, the Plan Sponsors will file with the Bankruptcy Court and serve a notice to the counterparties to Executory Contracts and Unexpired Leases, other than Residents that are party to a Residency Agreement as of the Petition Date, (each, a "Non-Resident Contract Counterparty"), setting forth the Plan Sponsors' calculation of each Non-Resident Contract Counterparty's cure amount, if any, that would be owing to such Non-Resident Contract Counterparty if the Debtors were to assume or assume and assign such Executory Contract or Unexpired Lease, and alerting such Non-Resident Contract Counterparty that its agreement may be assumed and assigned to the Purchaser (the "Cure and Possible Assumption and Assignment Notice"). Any Non-Resident Contract Counterparty that objects to the cure amount set forth in the Cure and Possible Assumption and Assignment Notice, must file an objection (a "Cure Objection") no later than January 10, 2023 at 4:00 p.m. (prevailing Central Time), which Cure Objection must be served on the following by e-mail: (a) counsel for the Initial Plan Sponsors, Daniel Bleck, dsbleck@mintz.com, Eric Blythe, erblythe@mintz.com, and Kaitlin Walsh, krwalsh@mintz.com; (b) RBC Capital Advisors, David Fields, david.fields@rbccm.com; (c) counsel for the Debtors, Trinitee G. Green, tggreen@polsinelli.com and Jeremy Johnson, Jeremy.johnson@polsinelli.com, and (d) counsel for the Committee, Stephen A. McCartin, smccartin@foley.com, Thomas C. Scannell, tscannell@foley.com, and Mark Moore, mmoore@foley.com (collectively, the "Notice Parties").

(b) If a Non-Resident Contract Counterparty does not timely file and serve a Cure Objection, that party will be forever barred from objecting to the proposed cure amount. Where a Non-Resident Contract Counterparty files a timely Cure Objection asserting a higher cure amount than the amount listed in the Cure and Possible Assumption and Assignment Notice, and the Non-Resident Contract Counterparty and the Plan Sponsor are unable to consensually resolve the dispute, the amount to be paid under Bankruptcy Code section 365 (if any) or, as the case may be, the Debtors' ability to assign the agreement to the Purchaser, will be determined at the Confirmation Hearing.

(c) After the filing of a notice to designate the winning bidder and the selection of the Purchaser, the Plan Sponsors shall file with the Bankruptcy Court and serve on the Notice Parties and Contract Counterparties a further notice (the "Assumption Notice") identifying the Purchaser, stating which Executory Contracts or Unexpired Leases may be assumed and assigned to the Purchaser, and providing such Contract Counterparties with the Purchaser's assurance of future performance. Any Contract Counterparty that objects to the adequacy of the assurance or assumption and/or assignment of its Executory Contract or Unexpired Lease set forth in the Assumption Notice must file an objection with the Bankruptcy Court (a "Contract Objection") and serve the Contract Objection on the Notice Parties prior to the Confirmation Hearing. If a Contract Counterparty does not file a Contract Objection prior to the Confirmation Hearing, such party will be forever barred from objecting to the adequacy of the assurance to be provided by the Purchaser and assumption and assignment to the Purchaser. Where a Contract Counterparty files a Contract Objection prior to the Confirmation Hearing, and the parties are unable to consensually resolve the dispute, the adequacy of the assurance provided by the Purchaser or raised issues regarding the potential assumption and assignment will be determined at the Confirmation Hearing.

(d) For the avoidance of doubt, this section does not address Residency Agreements although the Residency Agreements are Executory Contracts. As provided above, any Purchaser must provide detail regarding the treatment of Residency Agreements with the Debtors' Current Residents. To the extent a potential Purchaser includes the assumption of the Residency Agreements, the potential Purchaser will be required to satisfy the related cure costs and provide adequate assurance of future performance. The Assumption Notice shall include a description of the Purchaser's proposed treatment of Residency Agreements.

(e) Except as specified herein, assumption or assumption and assignment of any Executory Contract or Unexpired Lease pursuant to this Plan or otherwise shall result in the full release and satisfaction of any Claims or defaults on the part of the Debtors or the Estates, whether monetary or nonmonetary, including defaults of provisions restricting the change in control or ownership interest composition or other bankruptcy-related defaults, arising under any assumed or assumed and assignment Executory Contract or Unexpired Lease at any time prior to the effective date of assumption or assumption and assignment.

5.6 Insurance Policies. Notwithstanding anything herein to the contrary, as of the Closing Date, and unless specifically rejected by the Purchaser, the Debtors shall assume all of the Insurance Policies, including director and officer and general liability policies, identified by the Plan Sponsors in the Plan Supplement pursuant to Bankruptcy Code section 365(a). Entry of the Confirmation Order shall constitute the Bankruptcy Court's approval of the Debtors' foregoing assumption of each of the Insurance Policies.

5.7 Modifications, Amendments, Supplements, Restatements, or Other Agreements. Unless otherwise provided, each Executory Contract or Unexpired Lease that is assumed shall include all modifications, amendments, supplements, restatements, or other agreements that in any manner affect such Executory Contract or Unexpired Lease, and all Executory Contracts and Unexpired Leases related thereto, if any, including all easements, licenses, permits, rights, privileges, immunities, options, rights of first refusal, and any other interests, unless any of the foregoing agreements has been previously rejected or repudiated, or is rejected or repudiated under this Plan.

Modifications, amendments, supplements, and restatements to prepetition Executory Contracts and Unexpired Leases that have been executed by the Debtors during the Chapter 11 Cases shall not be deemed to alter the prepetition nature of the Executory Contract or Unexpired Lease, or the validity, priority, or amount of any Claims that may arise in connection therewith, unless such Executory Contract or Unexpired Lease has been previously assumed by the Debtors.

5.8 Reservation of Rights. Nothing contained in this Plan or the Plan Supplement shall constitute an admission that any such contract or lease is in fact an Executory Contract or Unexpired Lease or that the Debtors have any liability thereunder.

5.9 Nonoccurrence of Effective Date. If the Effective Date does not occur, the Bankruptcy Court shall retain jurisdiction with respect to any request to extend the deadline for assuming or rejecting Unexpired Leases under Bankruptcy Code section 365(d)(4), unless such deadline(s) have expired.

SECTION 6. PROVISIONS GOVERNING DISTRIBUTIONS

6.1 Timing and Calculation of Amounts to Be Distributed. Except as otherwise provided in this Plan, on the Effective Date or as soon as reasonably practicable thereafter (or if a Claim is not an Allowed Claim on the Effective Date, on the date that such a Claim becomes an Allowed Claim, or as soon as reasonably practicable thereafter), each holder of an Allowed Claim against the Debtors shall receive the full amount of the Distributions that this Plan provides for Allowed Claims in the applicable Class and in the manner provided herein. In the event that any payment or act under this Plan is required to be made or performed on a date that is not a Business Day, then the making of such payment or the performance of such act may be completed on the next succeeding Business Day, but shall be deemed to have been completed as of the required date. If and to the extent that there are Disputed Claims, Distributions on account of any such Disputed Claims shall be made pursuant to the provisions set forth in this Plan. Except as otherwise provided for in this Plan, holders of Claims shall not be entitled to interest, dividends, or accruals on the Distributions provided for herein, regardless of whether such Distributions are delivered on or at any time after the Effective Date.

6.2 Disbursements. Except as otherwise provided in this Plan, all Distributions under this Plan shall be made by the Litigation Trustee. For the avoidance of doubt, after the Effective Date, the Litigation Trustee shall have the authority and duty to satisfy post-Effective Date obligations, including the payment of outstanding Allowed Administrative Claims.

6.3 Rights and Powers of Litigation Trustee regarding Disbursements. The Litigation Trustee shall be empowered to: (i) effect all actions and execute all agreements, instruments, and other documents necessary to perform its duties under this Plan; (ii) make all Distributions contemplated hereby; (iii) employ professionals to represent it with respect to its responsibilities; and (iv) exercise such other powers as may be vested in the Litigation Trustee by order of the Bankruptcy Court, pursuant to this Plan, or as deemed by the Litigation Trustee to be necessary and proper to implement the provisions of this Plan.

6.4 Payments and Distributions on Disputed Claims. Distributions made after the Effective Date to holders of Disputed Claims that are not Allowed Claims as of the Effective Date (but that later become Allowed Claims), shall be deemed to have been made on the Effective Date.

6.5 Special Rules for Distributions to Holders of Disputed Claims. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Plan and except as may be agreed to by the Plan Sponsors or the Litigation Trustee, on the one hand, and the holder of a Disputed Claim, on the other hand, no partial payments and no partial Distributions shall be made with respect to any Disputed Claim until all Disputed Claims held by the holder of such Disputed Claim have become Allowed Claims or have otherwise been resolved by settlement or Final Order.

6.6 Delivery of Distributions in General. Except as otherwise provided in this Plan, Distributions to holders of Allowed Claims shall be made to holders of record as of the Distribution Record Date by the Litigation Trustee, including the Distribution to the Trustee of the Net Sale Proceeds as provided in this Plan. Distributions to holders of Allowed Claims will be made at the address of each such holder as set forth in the Debtors' books and records, except that, in the case of holders of the Original Bonds, Distributions will be made by means of book-entry exchange through the facilities of the Depository Trust Company in accordance with the customary practices of the Depository Trust Company, as and to the extent practicable. Distributions under this Plan on account of Allowed Claims shall not be subject to levy, garnishment, attachment, or like legal process, so that each holder of an Allowed Claim shall have and receive the benefit of the Distributions in the manner set forth in this Plan. The Litigation Trustee shall not incur any liability whatsoever on account of any Distributions under this Plan except for gross negligence, willful misconduct, or fraud.

6.7 Undeliverable Distributions and Unclaimed Property. If any Distribution to any holder is returned as undeliverable, the Litigation Trustee shall use reasonable efforts to determine the current address of such holder. No Distribution to such holder shall be made unless and until the Litigation Trustee has determined such holder's then current address, at which time such Distribution shall be made as soon as practicable; provided, however, that such Distributions shall be deemed unclaimed property under Bankruptcy Code section 347(b) and forfeited at the expiration of six months from the later of (i) the Effective Date and (ii) the date of the initial attempted Distribution. After such date, all "unclaimed property" or interests in property shall revert to the Litigation Trust (notwithstanding any applicable federal or state escheat or abandoned or unclaimed property laws to the contrary), and the Claim of any holder to such property shall be discharged and forever barred.

6.8 Withholding and Reporting Requirements. In connection with this Plan and all instruments issued in connection therewith, the Litigation Trustee shall comply with all applicable withholding and reporting requirements imposed by any federal, state, or local taxing authority, and all Distributions under this Plan shall be subject to any such withholding or reporting requirements.

6.9 Setoffs. Except as otherwise provided herein and subject to applicable law, the Debtors shall, pursuant to the Bankruptcy Code (including Bankruptcy Code section 553), applicable non-bankruptcy law, or as may be agreed to by the holder of a Claim, setoff against any Allowed Claim (which setoff shall be made against the Allowed Claim, not against any Distributions to be made under this Plan with respect to such Allowed Claim), any claims, rights, and Causes of Action of any nature that the Debtors may hold against the holder of such Allowed Claim, to the extent such claims, rights, or Causes of Action against such holder have not been otherwise released, waived, relinquished, exculpated, compromised, or settled on or prior to the Effective Date (whether pursuant to this Plan or otherwise), and any Distribution to which a holder is entitled under this Plan shall be made on account of the Claim, as reduced after application of the setoff described above. In no event shall any holder of a Claim be entitled to setoff any Claim against any claim, right, or Cause of Action of the Debtors unless such holder obtains entry of a Final Order authorizing such setoff or unless such setoff is otherwise agreed to in writing by the Debtors and a holder of a Claim; provided, that, where there is no written agreement between the Debtors and a holder of a Claim authorizing such setoff, nothing herein shall prejudice or be deemed to have prejudiced the Debtors' right(s) to assert that any holder's setoff rights were required to have been asserted by motion to the Bankruptcy Court prior to the Effective Date. This Section 6.9 shall not be applicable to any Distributions to be made to or for the benefit of the beneficial holders of the Original Bonds.

6.10 Insurance Claims. No Distributions under this Plan shall be made on account of an Allowed Claim until the holder of such Allowed Claim has exhausted all remedies with respect to the Debtors' Insurance Policies. To the extent that one or more of the Debtors' insurers agrees to satisfy in full a Claim, then immediately upon such agreement, such Claim may be expunged without an objection to such Claim having to be filed and without any further notice to, action by, or order or approval of the Bankruptcy Court.

6.11 Applicability of Insurance Policies. Except as otherwise provided in this Plan, Distributions to holders of Allowed Claims shall be made in accordance with the provisions of any applicable Insurance Policy. Except as expressly provided in this Plan, nothing contained in this Plan shall constitute or be deemed a waiver of any Cause of Action that the Debtors or any Person may hold against any other Person, including insurers under any policies of insurance, nor shall anything contained herein constitute or be deemed a waiver by such insurers of any defenses, including coverage defenses, held by such insurers.

6.12 Allocation of Distributions Between Principal and Unpaid Interest. With the exception of any Distributions on account of the Original Bonds, which shall be treated as provided in Class 2 herein (other than the Bond Deficiency Claim), to the extent that any Claim entitled to a Distribution under this Plan is comprised of indebtedness and accrued but unpaid interest thereon, such Distribution shall, for U.S. federal income tax purposes, be allocated on the Debtors' books and records to the principal amount of the Claim first and then, to the extent the consideration exceeds the principal amount of the Claim, to the accrued but unpaid interest.

6.13 Interest on Claims. Unless otherwise specifically provided for in this Plan, postpetition interest will not accrue or be paid on Claims, and no Claim holder will be entitled to interest accruing on or after the Petition Date on any Claim. Similarly, unless otherwise specifically provided for in this Plan, postpetition interest will not accrue or be paid on any Disputed Claim in respect of the period from the Petition Date to the date a final Distribution is made thereon if and after such Disputed Claim becomes an Allowed Claim.

SECTION 7. PROCEDURES FOR RESOLVING CONTINGENT, UNLIQUIDATED, AND DISPUTED CLAIMS

7.1 Prosecution of Objections to Claims. The Litigation Trustee shall have the exclusive authority to file, settle, compromise, withdraw, or litigate to judgment any objections to Claims as permitted under this Plan and the Litigation Trust Agreement, other than Claims relating to Resident Claimants in Class 5 and Class 6 which will be addressed by the Residents Trust Trustee. From and after the Effective Date, the Litigation Trustee may settle or compromise any Disputed Claim without approval of the Bankruptcy Court, but subject to the terms and conditions of the Litigation Trust Agreement. The Litigation Trustee reserves all rights to resolve any Disputed Claim outside the Bankruptcy Court under applicable governing law.

7.2 Allowance of Claims. Except as expressly provided in this Plan or in any order entered in the Chapter 11 Cases before the Effective Date (including the Confirmation Order), the Litigation Trustee after the Effective Date will have and retain any and all rights and defenses held by the Debtors with respect to any Claim as of the Petition Date. All Claims of any Person against the Debtors shall be disallowed unless and until such Person pays, in full, the amount it owes the Debtors. For the avoidance of doubt, this section is not applicable to the Trustee or the beneficial holders of the Original Bonds.

7.3 Distributions After Allowance. As soon as practicable following the date that the order or judgment of the Bankruptcy Court allowing any Disputed Claim becomes a Final Order, the Litigation Trustee shall provide to the holder of such Claim the Distribution (if any) to which such holder is entitled under this Plan, without any interest to be paid on account of such Claim.

7.4 Estimation of Claims. The Plan Sponsors (before the Effective Date) or the Litigation Trustee (on or after the Effective Date) may, at any time, and from time to time, request that the Bankruptcy Court estimate any Disputed Claim pursuant to Bankruptcy Code section 502(c) regardless of whether an objection was previously filed with the Bankruptcy Court with respect to such Claim, or whether the Bankruptcy Court has ruled on any such objection, and the Bankruptcy Court will retain jurisdiction to estimate any Claim at any time during litigation concerning any objection to any Claim, including during the pendency of any appeal relating to any such objection. If the Bankruptcy Court estimates any Disputed Claim, that estimated amount will constitute either the Allowed amount of such Claim or a maximum limitation on such Claim against any party or Person, as determined by the Bankruptcy Court. If the estimated amount constitutes a maximum limitation on such Claim, the Litigation Trustee may elect to pursue any supplemental proceedings to object to any ultimate Distribution on such Claim. All of the objection, estimation, settlement, and resolution procedures set forth in this Plan are cumulative and not necessarily exclusive of one another. Claims may be estimated and subsequently compromised, objected to, settled, withdrawn, or resolved by any mechanism approved by the Bankruptcy Court. This Section of this Plan shall not be applicable to the Trustee or the beneficial holders of the Original Bonds.

7.5 Resident Claimant Claims. The rights and procedures for resolving contingent, unliquidated, and disputed Claims by the Litigation Trustee, outlined in sections 7.1 through 7.4 herein, shall be provided, and equally applicable, to the Residents Trust Trustee, who shall have exclusive authority to file, settle, compromise, withdraw or litigate to judgment any objections to Claims relating to Resident Claimants in Class 5 and Class 6.

SECTION 8. SETTLEMENT, RELEASE, INJUNCTION AND RELATED PROVISIONS

8.1 Compromise and Settlement of Claims, Interests and Controversies. Pursuant to Bankruptcy Code section 1123 and Bankruptcy Rule 9019 and in consideration for the Distributions and other benefits provided pursuant to this Plan, the provisions of this Plan shall constitute a good faith compromise of all Claims, Interests, and controversies relating to the contractual, legal, and subordination rights that a holder of a Claim or Interest may have with respect to any Allowed Claim or Interest, including with respect to any challenges to the Bond Claims, or any Distribution to be made on account of such Allowed Claim or Interest. The entry of the Confirmation Order shall constitute the Bankruptcy Court's approval of the compromise or settlement of all such Claims, Interests, and controversies, as well as a finding by the Bankruptcy Court that such compromise or settlement is in the best interests of the Debtors, their Estates, and holders of Claims and Interests and is fair, equitable, and reasonable. In accordance with the provisions of this Plan, pursuant to Bankruptcy Code section 363 and Bankruptcy Rule 9019(a), without any further notice to, action by, or order or approval of the Bankruptcy Court, after the Effective Date, the Litigation Trustee may compromise and settle Claims against the Debtors and Causes of Action against other Persons.

8.2 Releases by the Debtors. PURSUANT TO BANKRUPTCY CODE SECTION 1123(b), AS OF THE EFFECTIVE DATE, AND EXCEPT AS OTHERWISE SPECIFICALLY PROVIDED IN THIS PLAN, THE PLAN SUPPLEMENT, OR THE CONFIRMATION ORDER, FOR GOOD AND VALUABLE CONSIDERATION, INCLUDING THE INVESTMENT AND SERVICE OF THE RELEASED PARTIES TO FACILITATE THE EXPEDITIOUS REORGANIZATION OF THE DEBTORS AND THE IMPLEMENTATION OF THE RESTRUCTURING CONTEMPLATED BY THIS PLAN, THE RELEASED PARTIES ARE DEEMED RELEASED AND DISCHARGED BY THE DEBTORS, THE REORGANIZED DEBTOR, AND THE ESTATES FROM ANY AND ALL CLAIMS, INTERESTS, OBLIGATIONS, RIGHTS, SUITS, DAMAGES, CAUSES OF ACTION, SETOFFS, RECOUPMENTS, REMEDIES, ENFORCEMENT RIGHTS AND LIABILITIES WHATSOEVER, INCLUDING ANY DERIVATIVE CLAIMS ASSERTED OR ASSERTABLE ON BEHALF OF THE DEBTORS, WHETHER KNOWN OR UNKNOWN, FORESEEN OR UNFORESEEN, EXISTING OR HEREAFTER ARISING, IN LAW, EQUITY, OR OTHERWISE, THAT THE DEBTORS, THE REORGANIZED DEBTOR, THE ESTATES, OR THE RELEASED PARTIES WOULD HAVE BEEN LEGALLY ENTITLED TO ASSERT IN THEIR OWN RIGHT (WHETHER INDIVIDUALLY OR COLLECTIVELY) OR ON BEHALF OF THE HOLDER OF ANY CLAIM OR INTEREST, OR OTHER PERSON, BASED ON OR RELATING TO, OR IN ANY MANNER ARISING FROM, IN WHOLE OR IN PART, ANY ACT, REPRESENTATION, OMISSION, TRANSACTION, AFFILIATION, EVENT OR OTHER CIRCUMSTANCE TAKING PLACE OR EXISTING ON OR BEFORE THE EFFECTIVE DATE (INCLUDING BEFORE THE PETITION DATE) IN CONNECTION WITH OR RELATED TO THE DEBTORS, OR THEIR RESPECTIVE ASSETS, OPERATIONS, FINANCES, PROPERTY AND ESTATES, THE CHAPTER 11 CASES OR THE NEGOTIATION, FORMULATION, OR PREPARATION OF THIS PLAN, THE DISCLOSURE STATEMENT, THE PLAN SUPPLEMENT OR RELATED AGREEMENTS, INSTRUMENTS OR OTHER DOCUMENTS, THE DIP FACILITY, OR THE SALE TRANSACTION (COLLECTIVELY, THE "DEBTOR RELEASED CLAIMS"), OTHER THAN CLAIMS OR LIABILITIES ARISING OUT OF OR RELATING TO ANY ACT OR OMISSION OF A RELEASED PARTY OR A FORMER OFFICER OR DIRECTOR OF THE DEBTORS THAT CONSTITUTES WILLFUL MISCONDUCT (INCLUDING FRAUD) OR GROSS NEGLIGENCE. NOTWITHSTANDING ANYTHING TO THE CONTRARY IN THE FOREGOING, THE RELEASE SET FORTH ABOVE DOES NOT RELEASE ANY PARTY WITH POST-EFFECTIVE DATE OBLIGATIONS UNDER THIS PLAN OR ANY DOCUMENT, INSTRUMENT, OR AGREEMENT (INCLUDING THE PLAN SUPPLEMENT) EXECUTED TO IMPLEMENT THIS PLAN FROM THOSE POST-EFFECTIVE DATE

OBLIGATIONS. FOR THE AVOIDANCE OF DOUBT, THE LITIGATION TRUSTEE AND THE RESIDENTS TRUST TRUSTEE SHALL NOT HAVE AUTHORITY TO PURSUE ANY DEBTOR RELEASED CLAIM(S) FOR THE BENEFIT OF ANY PARTY AS SUCH CLAIMS ARE RELEASED PURSUANT TO THIS PLAN AND, AS SUCH, DO NOT AND WILL NOT CONSTITUTE LITIGATION TRUST OR RESIDENTS TRUST ASSETS.

8.3 Releases by Holders of Claims. AS OF THE EFFECTIVE DATE AND EXCEPT AS OTHERWISE SPECIFICALLY PROVIDED IN THIS PLAN, THE PLAN SUPPLEMENT, OR THE CONFIRMATION ORDER, FOR GOOD AND VALUABLE CONSIDERATION, EACH RELEASING PARTY SHALL BE DEEMED TO HAVE CONCLUSIVELY, ABSOLUTELY, UNCONDITIONALLY, IRREVOCABLY, AND FOREVER RELEASED AND DISCHARGED THE DEBTORS, THE REORGANIZED DEBTOR, THE ESTATES, LIFESPACE, THE INITIAL PLAN SPONSORS, AND ALL OTHER RELEASED PARTIES FROM ANY AND ALL CLAIMS, INTERESTS, OBLIGATIONS, RIGHTS, SUITS, DAMAGES, CAUSES OF ACTION, ENFORCEMENT RIGHTS, SETOFFS, RECOUPMENTS, REMEDIES, AND LIABILITIES WHATSOEVER, INCLUDING ANY DERIVATIVE CLAIMS ASSERTED OR ASSERTABLE ON BEHALF OF THE DEBTORS, WHETHER KNOWN OR UNKNOWN, FORESEEN OR UNFORESEEN, EXISTING OR HEREAFTER ARISING, IN LAW, EQUITY, OR OTHERWISE, THAT SUCH PERSON WOULD HAVE BEEN LEGALLY ENTITLED TO ASSERT IN ITS OWN RIGHT (WHETHER INDIVIDUALLY OR COLLECTIVELY) OR ON BEHALF OF ANY OTHER PERSON, BASED ON OR RELATING TO, OR IN ANY MANNER ARISING FROM, IN WHOLE OR IN PART, ANY ACT, REPRESENTATION, OMISSION, TRANSACTION, AFFILIATION, EVENT OR OTHER CIRCUMSTANCE TAKING PLACE OR EXISTING ON OR BEFORE THE EFFECTIVE DATE (INCLUDING BEFORE THE PETITION DATE) IN CONNECTION WITH OR RELATED TO THE DEBTORS, OR THEIR RESPECTIVE ASSETS, OPERATIONS, FINANCES, PROPERTY AND ESTATES, THE CHAPTER 11 CASES OR THE NEGOTIATION, FORMULATION, OR PREPARATION OF THIS PLAN, THE DISCLOSURE STATEMENT, ANY PLAN SUPPLEMENT OR RELATED AGREEMENTS, INSTRUMENTS OR OTHER DOCUMENTS, THE DIP FACILITY, OR THE SALE TRANSACTION (COLLECTIVELY, "CREDITOR RELEASED CLAIMS"), OTHER THAN CLAIMS OR LIABILITIES ARISING OUT OF OR RELATING TO ANY ACT OR OMISSION OF A RELEASED PARTY OR A FORMER OFFICER OR DIRECTOR OF THE DEBTORS THAT CONSTITUTES WILLFUL MISCONDUCT (INCLUDING FRAUD) OR GROSS NEGLIGENCE. FOR THE AVOIDANCE OF DOUBT, THE LITIGATION TRUSTEE AND THE RESIDENTS TRUST TRUSTEE SHALL NOT HAVE AUTHORITY TO PURSUE CREDITOR RELEASED CLAIMS.

NOTWITHSTANDING ANYTHING ELSE TO THE CONTRARY IN THIS PLAN, THE DIP LENDER, THE TRUSTEE AND HOLDERS OF THE ORIGINAL BONDS SHALL ALL BE RELEASING PARTIES SOLELY WITH RESPECT TO ANY AND ALL CLAIMS RELATING TO THE DEBTORS (OTHER THAN CLAIMS OR LIABILITIES ARISING OUT OF OR RELATING TO ANY ACT OR OMISSION THAT CONSTITUTES WILLFUL MISCONDUCT (INCLUDING FRAUD) OR GROSS NEGLIGENCE), BUT NOT WITH RESPECT TO ANY OTHER CLAIMS SUCH HOLDERS MAY HAVE

UNRELATED TO THE DEBTORS, INCLUDING BUT NOT LIMITED TO ANY OBLIGATIONS OWED TO BONDHOLDERS IN CONNECTION WITH BONDS ISSUED BY LIFESPACE.

8.4 Exculpation. UPON THE EFFECTIVE DATE, THE PLAN SPONSORS AND THEIR OFFICERS, DIRECTORS, EMPLOYEES, ATTORNEYS, INVESTMENT BANKERS, FINANCIAL ADVISORS, AND OTHER PROFESSIONAL ADVISORS AND AGENTS WILL BE DEEMED TO HAVE SOLICITED ACCEPTANCES OF THIS PLAN IN GOOD FAITH AND IN COMPLIANCE WITH THE APPLICABLE PROVISIONS OF THE BANKRUPTCY CODE, INCLUDING BANKRUPTCY CODE SECTION 1125(E).

EXCEPT WITH RESPECT TO ANY ACTS OR OMISSIONS EXPRESSLY SET FORTH IN AND PRESERVED BY THIS PLAN, THE PLAN SUPPLEMENT, OR ANY RELATED DOCUMENTS, THE EXCULPATED PARTIES SHALL NEITHER HAVE, NOR INCUR ANY LIABILITY TO ANY ENTITY FOR ANY PREPETITION OR POSTPETITION ACT TAKEN OR OMITTED TO BE TAKEN IN CONNECTION WITH, OR RELATED TO FORMULATING, NEGOTIATING, PREPARING, DISSEMINATING, IMPLEMENTING, ADMINISTERING, CONFIRMING, OR EFFECTING THIS PLAN OR ANY CONTRACT, INSTRUMENT, RELEASE, OR OTHER AGREEMENT OR DOCUMENT CREATED OR ENTERED INTO IN CONNECTION WITH THIS PLAN, THE FILING OF THE CHAPTER 11 CASES, THE PURSUIT OF CONFIRMATION OF THIS PLAN, THE ADMINISTRATION AND IMPLEMENTATION OF THIS PLAN, THE DISTRIBUTION OF PROPERTY UNDER THIS PLAN, OR ANY OTHER RELATED AGREEMENT OR ANY OTHER PREPETITION OR POSTPETITION ACT TAKEN OR OMITTED TO BE TAKEN IN CONNECTION WITH OR IN CONTEMPLATION OF THE RESTRUCTURING OF THE DEBTORS; PROVIDED, THAT THE FOREGOING "EXCULPATION" SHALL HAVE NO EFFECT ON THE LIABILITY OF ANY ENTITY THAT RESULTS FROM ANY SUCH ACT OR OMISSION THAT IS DETERMINED IN A FINAL ORDER TO HAVE CONSTITUTED GROSS NEGLIGENCE OR WILLFUL MISCONDUCT (INCLUDING FRAUD); PROVIDED FURTHER, THAT EACH EXCULPATED PARTY SHALL BE ENTITLED TO RELY UPON THE ADVICE OF COUNSEL CONCERNING HIS, HER, OR ITS DUTIES PURSUANT TO, OR IN CONNECTION WITH, THIS PLAN OR ANY OTHER RELATED DOCUMENT, INSTRUMENT, OR AGREEMENT. FOR THE AVOIDANCE OF DOUBT, THE LITIGATION TRUSTEE AND THE RESIDENTS TRUST TRUSTEE SHALL NOT HAVE AUTHORITY TO PURSUE ANY CLAIMS DESCRIBED IN SECTION 8 OF THIS PLAN AGAINST ANY EXCULPATED PARTY.

8.5 Discharge of Claims. PURSUANT TO BANKRUPTCY CODE SECTION 1141(D), AND EXCEPT AS OTHERWISE SPECIFICALLY PROVIDED IN THE BAR DATE ORDER, IN THIS PLAN, OR IN ANY CONTRACT, INSTRUMENT, OR OTHER AGREEMENT OR DOCUMENT CREATED PURSUANT TO THIS PLAN, THE DISTRIBUTIONS, RIGHTS, AND TREATMENT THAT ARE PROVIDED IN THIS PLAN SHALL BE IN FULL AND FINAL SATISFACTION, SETTLEMENT, RELEASE, AND DISCHARGE, EFFECTIVE AS OF THE EFFECTIVE DATE, OF ALL CLAIMS AND CAUSES OF ACTION OF ANY NATURE WHATSOEVER, INCLUDING ANY INTEREST ACCRUED ON CLAIMS FROM AND AFTER THE PETITION DATE, WHETHER KNOWN OR UNKNOWN, AGAINST, LIABILITIES OF, LIENS ON, OBLIGATIONS OF, AND RIGHTS AGAINST THE DEBTORS OR ANY OF THEIR ASSETS OR PROPERTIES, REGARDLESS OF WHETHER ANY PROPERTY SHALL HAVE BEEN DISTRIBUTED OR RETAINED PURSUANT TO THIS PLAN ON ACCOUNT OF SUCH CLAIMS, INCLUDING DEMANDS, LIABILITIES, AND CAUSES OF ACTION THAT AROSE BEFORE THE EFFECTIVE DATE, ANY CONTINGENT OR NON-CONTINGENT LIABILITY ON ACCOUNT OF REPRESENTATIONS OR WARRANTIES ISSUED ON OR BEFORE THE EFFECTIVE DATE, AND ALL DEBTS OF THE KIND SPECIFIED IN BANKRUPTCY CODE SECTIONS 502(G), 502(H), OR 502(I), IN EACH CASE WHETHER OR NOT: (I) A PROOF OF CLAIM BASED UPON SUCH CLAIM, DEBT, OR RIGHT IS FILED OR DEEMED FILED PURSUANT TO BANKRUPTCY CODE SECTION 501; (II) A CLAIM BASED UPON SUCH CLAIM, DEBT, OR RIGHT IS ALLOWED PURSUANT TO BANKRUPTCY CODE SECTION 502; OR (III) THE HOLDER OF SUCH A CLAIM HAS ACCEPTED THIS PLAN. EXCEPT AS OTHERWISE PROVIDED HEREIN, ANY DEFAULT BY THE DEBTORS WITH RESPECT TO ANY CLAIM THAT EXISTED BEFORE OR ON ACCOUNT OF THE FILING OF THE CHAPTER 11 CASES SHALL BE DEEMED CURED ON THE EFFECTIVE DATE. THE CONFIRMATION ORDER SHALL BE A JUDICIAL DETERMINATION OF THE DISCHARGE OF ALL CLAIMS SUBJECT TO THE EFFECTIVE DATE OCCURRING, EXCEPT AS OTHERWISE EXPRESSLY PROVIDED IN THIS PLAN.

8.6 Injunction. FROM AND AFTER THE EFFECTIVE DATE, ALL ENTITIES ARE PERMANENTLY ENJOINED FROM COMMENCING OR CONTINUING IN ANY MANNER, ANY SUIT, ACTION, OR OTHER PROCEEDING, ON ACCOUNT OF OR RESPECTING ANY CLAIM, DEMAND, LIABILITY, OBLIGATION, DEBT, RIGHT, CAUSE OF ACTION, ENFORCEMENT RIGHT, INTEREST, OR REMEDY RELEASED OR TO BE RELEASED AGAINST ANY RELEASED PARTY PURSUANT TO THIS PLAN OR THE CONFIRMATION ORDER.

FROM AND AFTER THE EFFECTIVE DATE, TO THE EXTENT OF THE RELEASES AND EXCULPATION GRANTED IN THIS PLAN, ALL RELEASING PARTIES SHALL BE PERMANENTLY ENJOINED FROM COMMENCING OR CONTINUING IN ANY MANNER AGAINST THE RELEASED PARTIES AND THE EXCULPATED PARTIES AND THEIR ASSETS AND PROPERTIES, AS THE CASE MAY BE, ANY SUIT, ACTION, OR OTHER PROCEEDING ON ACCOUNT OF, IN CONNECTION WITH, OR WITH RESPECT TO ANY CLAIM, DEMAND, LIABILITY, OBLIGATION, DEBT, RIGHT, CAUSE OF ACTION, ENFORCEMENT RIGHT, INTEREST, OR REMEDY RELEASED OR TO BE RELEASED PURSUANT TO THIS PLAN.

EXCEPT AS OTHERWISE EXPRESSLY PROVIDED IN THIS PLAN, THE PLAN SUPPLEMENT, OR RELATED DOCUMENTS, OR FOR OBLIGATIONS ISSUED PURSUANT TO THIS PLAN, ALL PERSONS WHO HAVE HELD, HOLD, OR MAY HOLD CLAIMS OR INTERESTS THAT HAVE BEEN RELEASED, DISCHARGED, OR ARE SUBJECT TO EXCULPATION, ARE PERMANENTLY ENJOINED, FROM AND

AFTER THE EFFECTIVE DATE, FROM TAKING ANY OF THE FOLLOWING ACTIONS: (I) COMMENCING OR CONTINUING IN ANY MANNER ANY ACTION OR OTHER PROCEEDING OF ANY KIND ON ACCOUNT OF, IN CONNECTION WITH, OR WITH RESPECT TO ANY SUCH RIGHTS, CLAIMS OR INTERESTS; (II) ENFORCING, ATTACHING, COLLECTING, OR RECOVERING BY ANY MANNER OR MEANS ANY JUDGMENT, AWARD, DECREE, RELIEF OR ORDER AGAINST SUCH PERSONS ON ACCOUNT OF, IN CONNECTION WITH, OR WITH RESPECT TO ANY SUCH CLAIMS OR INTERESTS; (III) CREATING, PERFECTING, OR ENFORCING ANY ENCUMBRANCE OF ANY KIND AGAINST SUCH PERSONS OR THE PROPERTY OR ESTATE OF SUCH PERSONS ON ACCOUNT OF, IN CONNECTION WITH, OR WITH RESPECT TO ANY SUCH CLAIMS OR INTERESTS; AND (IV) COMMENCING OR CONTINUING IN ANY MANNER ANY ACTION OR OTHER PROCEEDING OF ANY KIND ON ACCOUNT OF, IN CONNECTION WITH, OR WITH RESPECT TO ANY SUCH CLAIMS OR INTERESTS RELEASED, SETTLED, OR DISCHARGED PURSUANT TO THIS PLAN.

THE RIGHTS AFFORDED IN THIS PLAN AND THE TREATMENT OF ALL CLAIMS AND INTERESTS HEREIN SHALL BE IN EXCHANGE FOR AND IN COMPLETE SATISFACTION OF ALL CLAIMS AND INTERESTS OF ANY NATURE WHATSOEVER, INCLUDING ANY INTEREST ACCRUED ON CLAIMS FROM AND AFTER THE PETITION DATE, AGAINST THE DEBTORS OR ANY OF THE DEBTORS' ASSETS, PROPERTY, OR ESTATES. ON THE EFFECTIVE DATE, ALL SUCH CLAIMS AGAINST THE DEBTORS SHALL BE FULLY RELEASED AND DISCHARGED, AND THE INTERESTS SHALL BE CANCELLED (EXCEPT AS OTHERWISE EXPRESSLY PROVIDED IN THIS PLAN).

EXCEPT AS OTHERWISE EXPRESSLY PROVIDED FOR IN THIS PLAN OR IN OBLIGATIONS ISSUED PURSUANT TO THIS PLAN FROM AND AFTER THE EFFECTIVE DATE, ALL CLAIMS AGAINST THE DEBTORS SHALL BE FULLY RELEASED AND DISCHARGED, AND ALL INTERESTS SHALL BE CANCELLED, AND THE DEBTORS' LIABILITY WITH RESPECT THERETO SHALL BE EXTINGUISHED COMPLETELY, INCLUDING ANY LIABILITY OF THE KIND SPECIFIED UNDER BANKRUPTCY CODE SECTION 502(g).

ALL PERSONS SHALL BE PRECLUDED FROM ASSERTING AGAINST THE DEBTORS, THE DEBTORS' ESTATES, THE LITIGATION TRUST, ALL OTHER RELEASED PARTIES AND EACH OF THEIR RESPECTIVE SUCCESSORS AND ASSIGNS, OFFICERS, DIRECTORS, EMPLOYEES, ATTORNEYS, INVESTMENT BANKERS, FINANCIAL ADVISORS, AND OTHER PROFESSIONAL ADVISORS, AGENTS AND EACH OF THEIR ASSETS AND PROPERTIES, ANY OTHER CLAIMS OR INTERESTS BASED UPON ANY DOCUMENTS, INSTRUMENTS, OR ANY ACT OR OMISSION, TRANSACTION, OR OTHER ACTIVITY OF ANY KIND OR NATURE THAT OCCURRED BEFORE THE EFFECTIVE DATE.

NOTWITHSTANDING ANYTHING TO THE CONTRARY IN THIS SECTION, HOLDERS OF CLAIMS THAT OPT OUT OF THE RELEASES UNDER SECTION 8.3 OF

THIS PLAN WILL NOT BE SUBJECT TO THE INJUNCTION WITH RESPECT TO PREPETITION CLAIMS AGAINST NON-DEBTOR ENTITIES.

NOTWITHSTANDING ANYTHING TO THE CONTRARY CONTAINED HEREIN, NO RELEASES OR EXCULPATIONS CONTAINED HEREIN SHALL RELEASE LIFESPACE FROM ITS OBLIGATIONS TO THE RESIDENTS TRUST CONTAINED IN THE LIFESPACE SETTLEMENT AND CONTRIBUTION AGREEMENT, WHICH SHALL BE PRESERVED AND ASSIGNED TO THE RESIDENTS TRUST AND THE RESIDENTS TRUST TRUSTEE PURSUANT TO THE TERMS OF THIS PLAN.

8.7 Term of Injunctions or Stays. Unless otherwise provided in this Plan or in the Confirmation Order, all injunctions or stays in effect in the Chapter 11 Cases pursuant to Bankruptcy Code sections 105 or 362 or any order of the Bankruptcy Court, and extant on the Confirmation Date (excluding any injunctions or stays contained in this Plan or the Confirmation Order) shall remain in full force and effect until the Effective Date. Upon the Effective Date, all injunctions or stays contained in this Plan or the Confirmation Order shall be in full force and effect in accordance with their terms.

8.8 Protection Against Discriminatory Treatment. Consistent with Bankruptcy Code section 525 and the Supremacy Clause of the U.S. Constitution, all Persons, including Governmental Units, shall not discriminate against the Litigation Trustee or the Purchaser or deny, revoke, suspend, or refuse to renew a license, permit, charter, franchise, or other similar grant to, condition such a grant to, or discriminate with respect to such a grant against, the Litigation Trustee, the Purchaser or another Person with whom the Litigation Trustee or Purchaser have been associated, solely because the Debtors have been debtors under Chapter 11, have been insolvent before the commencement of the Chapter 11 Cases (or during the Chapter 11 Cases but before the Debtors are granted or denied a discharge), or has not paid a debt that is dischargeable in the Chapter 11 Cases.

8.9 Release of Liens. Except as otherwise provided in this Plan or any contract, instrument, release, or other agreement or document created pursuant to this Plan, on the Effective Date and concurrently with the applicable Distributions made pursuant to this Plan and, in the case of a Secured Claim, satisfaction in full of the portion of the Secured Claim that is Allowed as of the Effective Date, all mortgages, deeds of trust, Liens, pledges, or other security interests against any property of the Estates shall be fully released and discharged, and all of the right, title, and interest of any holder of such mortgages, deeds of trust, Liens, pledges, or other security interests shall revert to the Litigation Trustee. For the avoidance of doubt, except as otherwise provided in this Plan, all mortgages, deeds of trust, Liens, pledges, or other security interests against any property of the Estates shall be fully released and discharged on the Effective Date without any further action of any party, including, but not limited to, further order of the Bankruptcy Court or filing updated schedules or statements typically filed pursuant to the Uniform Commercial Code.

SECTION 9. CONDITIONS PRECEDENT TO CONFIRMATION AND THE EFFECTIVE DATE

9.1 Conditions Precedent to Confirmation. It shall be a condition precedent to the confirmation of this Plan, such that the Confirmation Order shall not be entered, until each of the following conditions precedent have been satisfied or waived pursuant to the provisions of this Plan:

(a) The proposed Confirmation Order shall be in form and substance reasonably satisfactory in all respects to the Plan Sponsors, Lifespace and the Purchaser; and

(b) This Plan and the Plan Supplement, including any schedules, documents, supplements and exhibits thereto shall be, in form and substance acceptable in all respects to the Plan Sponsors and Lifespace.

9.2 Conditions Precedent to the Effective Date. It shall be a condition precedent to the Effective Date that each of the following provisions, terms, and conditions shall have been satisfied or waived pursuant to the provisions of this Plan:

(a) The Bankruptcy Court shall have entered the Confirmation Order containing findings of fact and conclusions of law satisfactory to the Plan Sponsors, Lifespace and Purchaser, which Confirmation Order shall not be subject to any stay, and which Confirmation Order shall include or provide, among other things:

(i) all provisions, terms and conditions of this Plan and related documents are approved; and

(ii) all Executory Contracts or Unexpired Leases assumed and assigned by the Debtors during the Chapter 11 Cases including under this Plan shall remain in full force and effect for the benefit of the Purchaser or their assignee(s) notwithstanding any provision in such contract or lease (including those described in Bankruptcy Code sections 365(b)(2) and (f)) that prohibits such assignment or transfer or that enables, permits, or requires termination of such contract or lease;

(b) The Bankruptcy Court shall have entered a Final Order approving the Disclosure Statement as containing adequate information within the meaning of Bankruptcy Code section 1125;

(c) On the occurrence of the Effective Date, the conditions to effectiveness of the Sale Transaction shall have been satisfied or waived and the Closing Date has occurred;

(d) All actions, documents, certificates, and agreements necessary to implement this Plan, including, without limitation, the Asset Purchase Agreement and documents related to the Sale Transaction, shall have been effected or executed and delivered to the required parties and, to the extent required, filed with the applicable governmental units in accordance with applicable laws;

(e) All payments and transfers to be made on the Effective Date shall be made or duly provided for;

(f) All authorizations, consents, and regulatory approvals required, if any, in connection with the consummation of this Plan shall have been obtained; and

(g) All other actions, documents and agreements necessary to implement this Plan shall be in form and substance acceptable to the Plan Sponsors, and shall have been effected or executed.

9.3 Effect of Failure of Conditions. If the Effective Date does not occur, this Plan shall be null and void in all respects and nothing contained in this Plan or the Disclosure Statement shall: (i) constitute a waiver or release of any claims by the Plan Sponsors or Claims by or against the Debtors or Lifespace; (ii) prejudice in any manner the rights of the Plan Sponsors, any holders of Claims, or any other Person; or (iii) constitute an admission, acknowledgment, offer, or undertaking by the Plan Sponsors or any other Person in any respect.

SECTION 10. MODIFICATION, REVOCATION OR WITHDRAWAL OF THIS PLAN

10.1 Modification and Amendments. Except as otherwise specifically provided herein, the Plan Sponsors reserve the right to modify this Plan and seek confirmation consistent with the Bankruptcy Code and, as appropriate, not re-solicit votes on such modified Plan. Subject to certain restrictions and requirements set forth in Bankruptcy Code section 1127 of the and Bankruptcy Rule 3019 and those restrictions on modifications set forth in this Plan, the Plan Sponsors expressly reserve their rights to alter, amend, or modify materially this Plan one or more times, after confirmation, and, to the extent necessary, may initiate proceedings in the Bankruptcy Court to so alter, amend, or modify this Plan or remedy any defect or omission, or reconcile any inconsistencies in this Plan, the Disclosure Statement, or the Confirmation Order, in such matters as may be necessary to carry out the purposes and intent of this Plan. For the avoidance of doubt, nothing in this Section 10.1 shall be deemed to supplant or supersede the requirements of Bankruptcy Rule 3019.

10.2 Effect of Confirmation on Modifications. Entry of the Confirmation Order shall mean that all modifications or amendments to this Plan occurring after the solicitation thereof are approved pursuant to Bankruptcy Code section 1127(a) and do not require additional disclosure or re-solicitation under Bankruptcy Rule 3019.

10.3 Revocation or Withdrawal of this Plan. The Initial Plan Sponsors reserve the right to revoke or withdraw this Plan before the Effective Date. If the Initial Plan Sponsors revoke or withdraw this Plan, or if confirmation does not occur, then: (i) this Plan shall be null and void in all respects, (ii) any settlement or compromise embodied in this Plan (including the fixing or limiting to an amount certain of any Claim or Interest or Class of Claims or Interests), assumption or rejection of any Executory Contract or Unexpired Lease effected by this Plan, and any document or agreement executed pursuant to this Plan, shall be deemed null and void, and (iii) nothing contained in this Plan shall: (a) constitute a waiver or release of any Claims or Interests; (b) prejudice in any manner the rights of the Plan Sponsors or any other Person; or (c) constitute an admission, acknowledgement, offer or undertaking of any sort by the Plan Sponsors or any other Person.

SECTION 11. RETENTION OF JURISDICTION

Notwithstanding the entry of the Confirmation Order and the occurrence of the Effective Date, on and after the Effective Date, the Bankruptcy Court shall retain jurisdiction over the Chapter 11 Cases and all matters arising out of or related to the Chapter 11 Cases and this Plan, including, without limitation, jurisdiction to:

(a) allow, disallow, determine, liquidate, classify, estimate, or establish the priority, secured or unsecured status, or amount of any Claim or Interest, including the resolution of any request for payment of any Administrative Claim and the resolution of any and all objections to the secured or unsecured status, priority, amount, or allowance of Claims;

(b) decide and resolve all matters related to the granting and denying, in whole or in part, of any applications for allowance of compensation or reimbursement of expenses to Professionals authorized pursuant to the Bankruptcy Code or this Plan;

(c) resolve any matters related to: (i) the assumption, assumption and assignment, or rejection of any Executory Contract or Unexpired Lease to which any Debtor is party or with respect to which the Debtors may be liable in any manner and to hear, determine, and, if necessary, liquidate any Claims arising therefrom, including Rejection Claims, cure Claims pursuant to Bankruptcy Code section 365, or any other matter related to such Executory Contract or Unexpired Lease, (ii) any potential contractual obligation under any Executory Contract or Unexpired Lease that is assumed, (iii) the Litigation Trust or Purchaser amending, modifying, or supplementing, after the Effective Date, any Executory Contracts or Unexpired Leases on the list of Executory Contracts and Unexpired Leases to be assumed or rejected, and (iv) any dispute regarding whether a contract or lease is or was executory or unexpired;

(d) ensure that Distributions to holders of Allowed Claims are accomplished pursuant to the provisions of this Plan;

(e) adjudicate, decide, or resolve any motions, adversary proceedings, contested or litigated matters, and any other matters, and grant or deny any applications involving the Debtors that may be pending on the Effective Date;

(f) adjudicate, decide, or resolve any and all matters related to any Cause of Action;

(g) adjudicate, decide, or resolve any and all matters related to the Asset Purchase Agreement;

(h) adjudicate, decide, or resolve any and all matters related to Bankruptcy Code section 1141;

(i) resolve any avoidance or recovery actions under Bankruptcy Code sections 105, 502(d), 542 through 551, and 553;

(j) resolve any cases, controversies, suits, disputes, or Causes of Action that may arise in connection with the consummation of this Plan or any Person's obligations incurred in connection with this Plan;

(k) issue injunctions, enter and implement other orders, or take such other actions as may be necessary or appropriate to restrain interference by any Person with consummation or enforcement of this Plan;

(l) resolve any cases, controversies, suits, disputes, or Causes of Action with respect to the discharge, releases, injunctions, exculpations, indemnifications, and other provisions contained in this Plan and enter such orders as may be necessary or appropriate to implement such releases, injunctions, and other provisions;

(s) hear and determine matters concerning state, local, and federal taxes in accordance with Bankruptcy Code sections 346, 505, and 1146;

(t) hear and determine all disputes involving the existence, nature, or scope of the Debtors' discharge, including any dispute relating to any liability arising out of the termination of employment or the termination of any employee or retiree benefit program, regardless of whether such termination occurred before or after the Effective Date;

(u) enforce all orders previously entered by the Bankruptcy Court;

(v) hear any other matter not inconsistent with the Bankruptcy Code; and

(w) enter an order concluding or closing the Chapter 11 Cases.

SECTION 12. MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

12.1 Immediate Binding Effect. Notwithstanding Bankruptcy Rules 3020(e), 6004(h), or 7062 or any other Bankruptcy Rule, upon the occurrence of the Effective Date, the terms of this Plan and the Plan Supplement shall be immediately effective and enforceable and deemed binding upon the Debtors and any and all holders of Claims or Interests (irrespective of whether such holders of Claims or Interests are deemed to have accepted this Plan), all Persons that are parties to or are subject to the settlements, compromises, releases, exculpation, discharges, and injunctions described in this Plan, each Person acquiring property under this Plan, and any and all non-Debtor parties to Executory Contracts and Unexpired Leases with the Debtors.

12.2 Additional Documents. On or before the Effective Date, the Plan Sponsors may file with the Bankruptcy Court such agreements and other documents as may be necessary or appropriate to effectuate and further evidence the terms and conditions of this Plan, subject to the consent of the Trustee. The Debtors and all holders of Claims receiving Distributions pursuant to this Plan and all other parties in interest shall, from time to time, prepare, execute, and deliver any agreements or documents and take any other actions as may be necessary or advisable to effectuate the provisions and intent of this Plan.

12.3 Dissolution of the Committee. On the Effective Date, the Committee shall dissolve, and members thereof shall be released and discharged from all rights and duties from or related to the Chapter 11 Cases.

12.4 Reservation of Rights. Except as expressly set forth in this Plan, this Plan shall have no force or effect unless the Bankruptcy Court shall enter the Confirmation Order. None of this Plan, any statement or provision contained in this Plan, or any action taken or not taken by the Plan Sponsors or other Person with respect to this Plan, the Disclosure Statement, or the Plan Supplement shall be or shall be deemed to be an admission or waiver of any rights of the Plan Sponsors or other Person with respect to the holders of Claims or Interests before the Effective Date.

12.5 Successors and Assigns. The rights, benefits, and obligations of any Person named or referred to in this Plan shall be binding on, and shall inure to the benefit of, any heir, executor, administrator, successor or assign, affiliate, officer, director, manager, agent, representative, attorney, beneficiary, or guardian, if any, of such Person.

12.6 Votes Solicited in Good Faith. Upon entry of the Confirmation Order, the Plan Sponsors will be deemed to have solicited votes on this Plan in good faith and in compliance with the Bankruptcy Code and any applicable non-bankruptcy law, and pursuant to Bankruptcy Code section 1125(e), the Plan Sponsors and their respective affiliates, agents, representatives, members, principals, shareholders, officers, directors, employees, advisors, and attorneys will be deemed to have participated in good faith and in compliance with the Bankruptcy Code in the offer, issuance, sale, and purchase of securities offered and sold under this Plan, and, therefore, will have no liability for the violation of any applicable law, rule, or regulation governing the solicitation of votes on this Plan.

12.7 Closing of Chapter 11 Cases. The Litigation Trustee shall, promptly after the full administration of the Chapter 11 Cases, file with the Bankruptcy Court all documents required by Bankruptcy Rule 3022 and any applicable order of the Bankruptcy Court to close the Chapter 11 Cases.

12.8 Notices. All notices or requests in connection with this Plan shall be in writing and given by mail and email addressed to:

All notices and requests to Persons holding any Claim in any Class shall be sent to them at their last known address or to the last known address of their attorney of record in these Chapter 11 Cases. Any such holder of a Claim may designate in writing any other address for purposes of this Section 12.8, which designation will be effective upon receipt by the Plan Sponsors.

12.9 Headings. The headings used in this Plan are inserted for convenience only and neither constitute a portion of this Plan nor in any manner affect the construction of the provisions of this Plan.

12.10 Severability. If, prior to confirmation, any term or provision of this Plan is held by the Bankruptcy Court to be invalid, void, or unenforceable, the Bankruptcy Court shall have the power to alter and interpret such term or provision to make it valid or enforceable to the maximum extent practicable, consistent with the original purpose of the term or provision, and such term or provision shall then be applicable as altered or interpreted. Notwithstanding any such holding, alteration, or interpretation, the remainder of the terms and provisions of this Plan will remain in full force and effect and will in no way be affected, Impaired, or invalidated by such holding, alteration, or interpretation.

12.11 Validity and Enforceability. The Confirmation Order shall constitute a judicial determination and shall provide that each term and provision of this Plan, as it may have been altered or interpreted in accordance with the foregoing, is valid and enforceable pursuant to its terms. Should any provision in this Plan be determined by the Bankruptcy Court or any appellate court to be unenforceable following the Effective Date, such determination shall in no way limit the enforceability and operative effect of any and all other provisions of this Plan.

12.12 Plan Supplement. Any exhibits or schedules not filed with this Plan may be contained in the Plan Supplement and the Plan Sponsors reserve the right to alter, modify, or amend the Plan Supplement through and to the Confirmation Hearing.

12.13 Governing Law. Unless a rule of law or procedure is supplied by federal law (including the Bankruptcy Code and the Bankruptcy Rules) or unless otherwise specifically stated, the laws of the State of Texas, without giving effect to the principles of conflicts of laws, shall govern the rights, obligations, construction, and implementation of this Plan and the restructuring transactions consummated or to be consummated in connection therewith.

12.14 Request for Confirmation. The Plan Sponsors request entry of a Confirmation Order under Bankruptcy Code section 1129(a) and, to the extent necessary, Bankruptcy Code section 1129(b).

12.15 Reservation of Rights in Favor of Governmental Units.

Governmental Units, Texas Health and Human Services Commission and Texas Department of Insurance, have indicated that they will object to any Order confirming this Plan that does not include the following language:

> "Nothing in this Order or the Plan discharges, releases, precludes, or enjoins: (i) any liability to any governmental unit as defined in 11 U.S.C. § 101(27) ("Governmental Unit") that is not a "claim" as defined in 11 U.S.C. § 101(5) ("Claim"); (ii) any Claim of a Governmental Unit arising on or after the Confirmation Date: (iii) any police or regulatory liability to a Governmental Unit that any entity would be subject to as the owner or operator of property after the Confirmation Date; or (iv) any liability to a Governmental Unit on the part of any non-debtor. Nor shall anything in this Order or the Plan enjoin or otherwise bar a Governmental Unit from asserting or enforcing, outside this Court, any liability described in the preceding sentence. Notwithstanding any provision of the Plan, this Order, or any implementing or supplementing plan documents, Governmental Units' setoff rights under federal law as recognized in section 553 of the Bankruptcy Code, and recoupment rights, shall be preserved and are unaffected. Nothing in this Order or the Plan divests any tribunal of any jurisdiction it may have under police or regulatory law to interpret this Order or the Plan to adjudicate any defense asserted under this Order or the Plan."

Dallas County has also requested the following language be included in this Plan:

> "Notwithstanding any other provisions of this Plan, any agreements approved hereby, or any other orders in these Chapter 11 Cases, any statutory liens (collectively, the "Tax Liens") held by Dallas County or any other ad valorem tax authority (the "Taxing Authorities") for prepetition and postpetition taxes shall not be primed nor made subordinate to any liens granted to any party hereby to the extent such Tax Liens are valid, senior, perfected, and unavoidable, and all parties' rights to object to the priority, validity, amount, and extent of the claims and liens asserted by the Taxing Authorities are fully preserved. With respect to the Tax Authorities' prepetition Secured Claims for ad valorem property Taxes for the 2022 tax year, to the extent such Claims are Allowed, the Taxing Authorities' prepetition Claims shall be paid in full with all applicable and accrued interest no later than the earlier of the Closing of the Sale Transaction or the Effective Date or otherwise in the ordinary course of business unless an objection to the Claim has been filed. The Taxing Authorities' Claims shall be paid with interest from the Petition Date through the Effective Date and from the Effective Date through the date of payment in full at the applicable state statutory rate of 1% per month pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 506(b), 511, and 1129. In the event of a claim objection, the Taxing Authorities' Claims shall be entitled to interest that accrues while the Claim objection is pending. The Taxing Authorities shall retain their Liens until all Taxes and related interest, penalties, and fees (if any) have been paid in full. In the event of a default under this Plan, the Taxing Authorities shall send notice of default to counsel for the Debtors/Reorganized Debtor and the Purchaser, as applicable, via facsimile or electronic mail, and the Debtors and/or Purchaser shall have 15 days from the date of such notice to cure said default. After the Effective Date, in the event of failure to cure the default timely, the Taxing Authorities shall be entitled to pursue collection of all amounts owed pursuant to applicable nonbankruptcy law from the Debtors/Reorganized Debtor or the Purchaser, as applicable, without further recourse to the Bankruptcy Court."
